CHILDRESS COUNTY COMMISSIONER MURDERED

Southwest Prairies Change To Billowy Leagues Of Wheat

231,000,000 Bushels Or Half of Nation's Crop, Awaits Threshers

KANSAS CITY, June 2.—(AP)—As far as the eye can see, then added leagues beyond, fields of green, growing wheat ripple gently in the breeze as it plays over the great prairies of the southwest.

A tinge of yellow is becoming noticeable in favored spots in fields here and yon. The golden glow of harvest is impending. Soon it will burst o'er all the land and from break of dawn to fading day the song of the harvest will be heard.

Over Texas plains and in Oklahoma the throb of harvest time already is being felt. Then, as the wheat ripens farther north, the crews will push on into Kansas, where wheat will be ready for the mower the last week in June. This premier winter wheat state will be in the throes of harvest at its full by middle July.

A Huge Harvest.

In these three states about 16,932,000 acres of wheat will be harvested, according to government crop experts. This exceeds the combined acreage of the other leading winter wheat states. In Kansas alone 10,688,000 acres will be harvested, with 4,500,000 in Oklahoma and 1,744,000 in Texas. The latest official production forecast for this vast territory was 231,000,000 bushels, nearly half the estimated production of winter wheat for the entire country.

Kansas is expected to produce 142,000,000 bushels this year, compared with 74,750,000 in 1925 and 111,708,000 bushels, the 10-year average. This prospective yield, however, has been exceeded in 1914, 1919, 1920 and 1924.

For weeks the railroads have been collecting cars on unused sidings preparatory to moving the wheat crop from farm to mill and from mill to market. It is estimated that 200,000 cars will be needed in Kansas alone for the crop movement. Additional thousands will be needed in Texas and Oklahoma.

The Hands Flock In.

The influx of harvest hands ascertain as the harvest, is on. Kansas will need 40,000 men from outside the state, labor authorities estimate. Very little outside help, if any, will be needed in Texas and Oklahoma.

Harvest machinery has been augmented by much new machinery. Huge "combines" that cut and thresh at a single operation, are used on the great grain farms where thousands of acres must be harvested. Pulled by tractors, these huge machines rapidly transfix the rolling wheat fields into vast expanses of stubble land.

$500 Brings Colorado Here

Colorado's rugged mountain peaks and wind-tossed forests are growing more inviting every day as Texas' summer sun hits its stride with increasing efficiency.

For $500 most anybody could put in quite a while in the cool depths of this justly famed playground of America; and most anybody with the least imagination can figure out how much fun it would be to spend $500 on a real summer vacation up there.

Perhaps your own idea on it might coincide with the ideas of the judges who will act in the Record News essay contest now under way in which three prizes of $25, $15 and $10 are to be given for the three best essays on "What I Could Do With An Extra $500." If you had an extra $500 and decided a Colorado vacation, or one in Canada or else for that matter, would be a logical way to dispose of it, tell the Record News about it in an essay. If yours is adjudged the best of the bunch, the $25 is yours; if it wins second you get the $15; and if it's third, $10 comes to you from the Record News.

Just write down what you think you would do with an extra allotment of 500 dollar bills, mail in your story to the contest editor of the Record News, and watch this paper for further announcements.

Cotton 79 Pct. Normal, Terrell Reports Reveal

AUSTIN, June 2.—(AP)—In the first crop report of the season, George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, said that the acreage of cotton planted and to be planted is 98 per cent normal, with the condition 79 per cent. Ninety per cent of the cotton was planted on May 25, he said, and the acreage of corn, oats and wheat have been increased.

"Oats show the greatest increase and best condition," Commissioner Terrell said. "The oat crop is the finest that has been made in many years. All crops are reported in a good condition but a little late.

"Pastures are reported good and livestock in fine condition. Eight per cent of new land has been put in cultivation, devoted to several different crops. The farmers have worked unusually well this year, and 75 per cent of the crops are reported clean.

RECORD WHEAT IN SIGHT HERE

Jones Asserts Condition Best In Years In The County

That the Wichita Falls section of the state as conditions are now, stands to make one of the best wheat crops in years was the statement Wednesday of Guy R. Jones, county agricultural agent. There has been no rain to speak of since harvesting was started, Mr. Jones pointed out. Most of the grain in the fields has been cut and is in the shock. Wheat threshing will start in about a week and unless rain comes between now and then there is every indication that farmers will realize a bumper crop.

Oats planted last fall will also show a heavy yield, Mr. Jones stated, although those planted this spring will not produce as heavily, a dry season having been encountered which has set them back considerably. Threshing of the fall oats has already started in some places, western Clay county in particular, and one farmer there, C. Bartell, reports a yield of 90 bushels to the acre.

Labor wants have been filed, Mr. Jones stated, and at present there is no need for others to come here.

Mr. Jones is very hopeful for the year's crop, not only for Wichita county and adjoining counties, but for this part of the entire state and the abutting portion of Oklahoma.

Moody Followers Asking Davidson To Withdraw, He Tells His Audience

NACOGDOCHES, June 2.—(AP)—Lynch Davidson in his speech here today quoted a "confidential" letter sent out, he said, by a prominent club woman in Austin, in the interest of Dan Moody's candidacy for governor. The letter, according to Davidson, urged friends to send letters, telegrams, and petitions to Davidson asking him to withdraw from the governor's race.

"This shows," said Davidson, "that the Moody bubble is about to burst and the Moody forces are making frenied efforts to save it by a huge bluff.

"I was advised today that a Lubbock paper, former for Moody, is now out for men, and the east Texas editors are heading the same way.

"The fact cannot be kept secret any longer that whatever strength Ferguson has in this race is due largely to Moody's candidacy.

"One of Moody's campaign managers in a large Texas city wrote me a letter asking me to withdraw. Here is a part of what I replied:

"If public sentiment changes as rapidly in the next two weeks as it has in the past two weeks, Moody will run third in this race. I am going to be just as honest with you as you have been with me. Every campaign speech that Dan has made has left him 50 per cent weaker where the speech was made than he was before he went there. I have had dozens of letters from San Antonio within the last few days saying that Moody's support in San Antonio is utterly demoralized by his public address there."

"Several volunteer letters came in from Conroe along the same line from people that I do not even know. People everywhere question Dan's ability to beat Ferguson in the run-off primary, should they get into it together. If there is any withdrawal from the race "Dan's the man."

Morgan, it is understood, goes to Harrisburg with "strings attached." The Dallas management is to give Sutherland a ten-day trial.

Both men have been highly effective pitchers with the Spudders, but each got away to a bad start this year and have found the breaks of the game tougher than usual.

FARM BILL SIDETRACKED

DAN SAILS IN ON WAR RECORD

Ferguson's Services In Time Of Battle Assailed By Attorney General

Special to The Record News.

MARLIN, June 2—(AP)—Jim Furguson's war record was in part the subject of Dan Moody's address to 1000 McLellan, Falls and Limestone county people at the Mart City auditorium this afternoon.

"Jim has had an opportunity to serve in two wars. But he has never appeared in uniform," Moody stated. "At the time of the Spanish American war, he was 25 years old and unmarried if I am informed correctly of his age. In 1917 and 1918, he was of military age, if press dispatches stating his age are correct.

Didn't Accept Bet.

Moody again declared that he had not accepted Ferguson's proposition as a wager, but merely to call Jim's "bluff." "Any man who regards the agreement as a bet, I regard as looking at it through Jim Ferguson's eye glasses," he said, "and this campaign is, shall you restore to power for two years Jim Ferguson, a political dictator over a people whose boast is their freedom?

"Ferguson claimed he built more school houses than any other governor who has served Texas That statement is too extravagant to be given notice, it is the people of Texas who pay for the schools which are built out of the money they pay in taxes. Everybody knows Jim Ferguson is no friend of the schools. The text book commission, of which Jim Ferguson is secretary, awarded a spelling book contract to the American Book company, which was the highest bidder under the contract, the state must pay more for the text books in large quantities than the schools could buy them for in small quantities. Does this sound like the act of a man who loves the schools?"

Summer Heat Continues Spreading Thirst And Suffering For Kiddies

Back in his mid-summer stride once more, Old Sol was busy in Wichita Falls Wednesday and drove the thermometers toward century heights.

It was just another day of heat, thirst and dust for most folks, and especially for a lot of tired little ones who have come to realize as childish brains permit them that ardous days are ahead. They know it is hot; they know they need something, or rather want something; but they think, too, that their's is a condition which simply must be faced with whatever fortitude they can command.

In order to help these youngsters out, The Record News each summer sponsors the annual milk and ice fund which in the past has gone far toward aleviating the suffering of these unfortunates. Several hundred dollars have been subscribed in years gone by, all of which has been turned over to the Salvation Army and other welfare agencies here for the purchases of cooling ice and fresh milk. These summer commodities, in their turn are distributed in the humble hovels where want and destitution stalk, thereto do what they can for the relief of a babe who otherwise would never know the taste of what is really a necessity for health and life these hot days.

The response of the city has always been generous. And the good accomplished by this generosity can never be estimated. It has endured, however, and it will endure again.

The 1926 fund has now been opened. Checks should be made payable to The Record News Milk and Ice Fund. Acknowledgements will be made of all contributions received.

Retiring Head of School Reiterates Claim of "Unhealthiness"

FORT WORTH, June 2.—(AP)—Filitant defense of Dr. Lindsey Blayney, whose resignation as president of the College of Industrial Arts, Denton, took effect yesterday was offered here today by two members of the senior class who made the trip here to contradict what they declared were misleading reports regarding the commencement exercises.

One of them was Miss Zenda C. Aschbacher, Fenton, who stated she had already been penalized for her friendliness toward the retiring president; the other was Miss Peggy Briscoe, Los Angeles, Calif. Both said that at the most not more than four members of the class left during Dr. Blayney's address or the applause which followed.

The two young women also characterized as erroneous the statement that the senior class had voted to have a picture of Dean Estella Hefley painted, to be hung in the library. Only 35 seniors out of the class of 185 were present, at a liberal estimate, they declared and three of the number dissented.

In a statement made here, Miss Aschbacher declared that Saturday she was called into the office of the director of physical education, in which she majored and expects to teach, and was asked not to request a recommendation from the department on the ground that her activity on Dr. Blayney's behalf had influenced her work during the final quarter. She made better than passing grades during the whole of her four years at C. I. A., Miss Aschbacher said.

Case Is Closed

Dr. Blayney, in Fort Worth this afternoon, stated he was not seeking to reopen the case closed with the induction of his successor at Denton this morning in the person of Dr. L. H. Hubbard. He declared, however, that scores of the best citizens of Denton and hundreds of parents throughout the state would second him in the statement that the atmosphere of the college at present is unhealthful and dangerous to the spiritual welfare of the student body.

In his report to the board of regents, Dr. Blayney urged elimination of five persons from the administrative staff of the college.

98 Degrees

May 31 has nothing on June 2 when it comes to heat, for both days registered a maximum temperature of 98 degrees, according to the report of the weather bureau. Wednesday's heat was probably more bearable because of atmospheric conditions, but it was a warm forerunner of the future. At 5 p. m. the thermometer had dropped three degrees, and stood at 95.

A south breeze with an average wind velocity of 5 miles per hour continued throughout the day and only at its maximum reached 10 miles per hour; the barometer stood a little below normal at 5 o'clock Wednesday, registering 29.06.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY (Names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER VIII.

Marcie breakfasted alone, and early the following morning.

When Audrey came down stairs at half past eight, she found a note on the breakfast table.

"Audrey, dear," it read. "If you see your cook, it's my fault. I made her fix me my egg and bacon at a quarter to eight. Got to be at that store at half past, ready to smear beauty cream on my lovely cheeks. See you through the show window,—Marcie."

When Parrish appeared, Audrey passed him the note with a smile.

"Isn't she the limit?" she asked.

He read the hastily scrawled lines with serious attention.

"I didn't think she'd go," he said, handing back the letter. "Was she serious about forcing her father to give back her allowance, that way?"

"Probably," said Audrey. "He's going to hear about it—everybody knows Marcie. And when he sees her, sitting in a dressing gown in a store window, he'll do anything to stop it. Won't you think so?"

"Don't know," said Parrish. He sat down, and scooped a spoonful of grape fruit.

It was a little after nine o'clock when he drew up his little motor car in front of the store where Marcie was appearing. A crowd was standing before the show window. He alighted pathetically locked his car, and pushed his way through the spectators.

Inside the window was a dressing table, gorgeous in gilt and enamel. Before it sat Marcie, in a pink slip, her arms and shoulders bare, her neat legs thrust out before her, with the toes showing, her face puckered as she leaned forward and looked into the mirror. She was applying rouge to her lips from a slender gold stick. Parrish stared. Marcie's cheeks, naturally glowing with rosy health, were now a striking orange hue. Her delicate eyebrows were extended far out on her temples. Her lips, as she turned toward the crowd, instead of their customary cherry fullness, showed an exaggerated scarlet bow.

Her eyes caught Parrish's, and she smiled. The crowd turned toward him, and he backed away. Marcie waved. Hastily, Parrish retreated to his car, and cranking it, hurried off. Before he cast a glance toward the window, Marcie was laughing, and she had waved to him once more.

Parrish was not until the end of the day that he saw her again. He was sitting on the front porch, at home, surveying the front lawn and the movement of passing motor cars, when her car drove appeared outside the gate.

"Cheerio," she called to him, as she neared.

Her face was clear of rouge and eyebrow pencil and lipstick, and his eye lighted with relief.

"You look better the way you are," he told her, as she reached the steps.

"I saw you, looking at the naughty girl in her underclothes," she said gaily. "Aren't you ashamed?"

Parrish's face reddened. "I was worried about you," he said.

She tapped him on the lips with her finger. "Shush!" she reproved. "That isn't why you came. You wanted to know whether I wore pink ones, or yellow ones."

She passed into the house, giving him a pat on the cheek as she went.

Parrish turned and looked after her, and then relapsed into thought. He was sitting, his elbow on the arm of the chair, his finger to his cheek, when Audrey came out. She sat down beside him.

"That child has ordered six pairs of shoes, a dozen sets of prettiest to wear under her clothes, and two dozen pairs of stockings," she announced. "How in the name of Caesar will he pay for them?" he asked. "She never has about twelve hundred dollars. How much did that stuff cost her?"

"About two hundred and fifty dollars," Audrey said. "And she's talking about some new dresses."

The conversation was cut short by the appearance of Marcie. She was in evening dress again, charmingly demure and quiet.

"The world is hard to us poor workwomen," she sighed.

She adjusted the short skirt of her frock. "Papa came and saw me today."

"Did he give back your allowance?" Parrish asked.

"He did—not." She laughed. "He came into that store, though, and talked to me."

She lifted her foot and inspected her little silvered slipper. "He told me I could go and be a bathing girl for all he cared. He said he was onto me." She laughed, and stretched her arms. "Do you know what I'm going to do?"

Parrish and Audrey shook their heads.

"I'm going to have some fun out of this," Marcie resumed. "You know every time I put any of that goo on my face I have to set out a card and tell what it is—'Madame de Punk's Cleansing Lotion.' Double strength Circassian Desert Blush—that sort of thing."

She waved her hands gleefully. "So I'll get up some cards of my own to show the crowd tomorrow," she said. "One of 'em'll read: 'This stuff is the bunk.' I'll have another that says: 'Use this and weep.' Won't that be gorgeous?" I'll think of a lot of 'em before I go to bed."

"But," said Parrish, "if you do that you'll be discharged."

He was evidently concerned. Marcie, however, kicked out the foot as if expelling the whole world of care, and cried:

"You bet I'll be discharged. But I was going to quit anyway, when I found out daddy wouldn't come through. Isn't he mean?"

Audrey put her hand on the other girl's arm. "But, if you're going to leave why did you buy all those

MARRIAGE BAN SOUGHT IN BILL

Clerks Would Require 10-Day Notice of Intent To Wed

SAN ANTONIO, June 2.—(AP)—Posting of the marriage bans the ancient custom of America's first settlers, may become a law in Texas. Jack Burke, chairman of the legislative committee of the Association of County and District Clerks of Texas, will leave tonight for the state convention of the organization at Houston, carrying a proposed bill which includes the posting of marriage banns as a principal feature.

Burke has been at work on the bill since the last convention of the association. Under the bill, couples 10 days before the date set for their nuptials, must publicly announce their intention of marrying. This would be done by publication in a newspaper of general circulation.

The 10-day period is for the purpose of allowing a complaint in regard to the age or health of either of the couple. Only court action could dispose of a complaint.

Following close in importance Burke said is the provision which requires an examination of the man by a reputable physician and a certificate from the examiner declaring that he examined was free from communicable diseases. The bill also would provide that the couple at the time of the issuance of the license would have to give a complete history of former marriages, if any.

The bill is similar to the law repealed by the Nebraska legislature last year after it had been given a two years' trial.

Houston To Hear Three Candidates

HOUSTON, June 2.—(AP)—If other dates do not conflict, Dan Moody, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and Lynch Davidson, will deliver addresses at a mass meeting here early in July, under auspices of the Houston League of Women Voters, according to announcement of the league. The three candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, the announcement said, have provisionally agreed to it.

Arrangements already made for the meeting provide that Mrs. Harris Masterson, vice president of the league, will preside.

Foty Gets Contract

AUSTIN, June 2.—J. P. Foty, Wichita Falls contractor, Wednesday was awarded a contract for $217,358 for paving five miles of the Galveston-Houston highway in Galveston county.

MISS WILMANS TO SPEAK

DALLAS, June 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Edith Wilmans of Dallas, candidate for governor, announced here today she would make her formal opening speech at Italy, Ellis county, on June 16. She will speak at 6:30 p. m. An invitation to speak at Italy came from the chamber of commerce, Mrs. Wilmans said.

clothes? You won't have any money left if you keep on that way."

Marcie refused to be perturbed. "My face is my fortune," she intoned. "My face—my face—my fortune is my face!" Her voice dropped from its singing chant. "And the rest of me, of course."

She was chattering about possible careers as they went into dinner.

"I might be a suffrage lecturer," she said, "or give talks on the care of babies. Or else I might go out and be a gold-digger. Do you think I could dig gold out of tired business men?" she appealed to Parrish.

"I know some gold-diggers. They were friends of my daddy," said Audrey, with amusement.

"Tell me about 'em," commanded Marcie, as she settled herself at the table.

"Nona was a gold-digger once," Audrey said. "She told me so herself. And sometimes she didn't eat—didn't have any money."

"I wouldn't be that kind," said Marcie. "I'd buy diamonds and pawn 'em."

"If you got the diamonds," Audrey added. "My daddy says that the old fellows who go out with gold-diggers are smarter than the girls are, usually—they'll buy a dinner, and buy wine, and dance all evening, but they're cautious with their cash."

Marcie considered this view of the situation, puckering her brows.

"Maybe I'd better not go out with the old ones," she said. "I'll take the nice dumb, young ones."

"Nona says the young ones never have any money," Audrey informed her. "And when they do have any, they spend it on themselves. She says young men are selfish."

Marcie sighed. "Then I'll have to go out and be reformer, and take up collections for the cause. What had I better reform?"

"You might reform young ladies named Marcie," Audrey suggested. "Why don't you go and make peace with your father?"

"I can't," Marcie confessed. "I've tried to be good lots of times. But I just fill up with the old Nick every time, and pull something that makes him simply furious. The last time I tried it, I was just as good as gold, until I found a lot of dandy wine he had bought, for a good government club he belongs to. He was going to give them a dinner, and I took all the sherry and gave a party. He nearly took off the roof." She smiled reminiscently. "Gosh, it was some party."

She turned to her meal, and ate with gusto. The talk drifted to the weather, and to a new motor that Audrey had ordered, and to the dresses that Marcie proposed to buy.

When dinner was over, Audrey went to give instructions for the next day's marketing, and Marcie and Parrish strolled out to the stone bench on the lawn.

As they seated themselves, Marcie moved close to her companion.

"Why didn't you tell Audrey I kissed you?" she asked.

"I just—well, I decided not to," he said.

"Did you like it?" Her eyes were simple and child-like as she gazed up at him.

He moved away from her a trifle. "Better not do it again he advised, slowly.

"You liked it!" she concluded. "And John—Audrey said I could call you 'John.'"

She edged near him again.

"You know your emerald pin?"

He showed surprise, as he nodded.

"You didn't go and look for it, did you?" He shook his head. She went on: "I looked for it and found it."

He waited for her to continue.

"I found it and took it down town with me today, and sold it," she said laying her hand on his arm."

BOND SLUMP NOT TO LAST

Financial Expert Asserts Texas Securities Are All Right

FORT WORTH, June 2.—(AP)—Depression of the market for Texas bonds is only temporary as a result of the invalidation of the Archer county issue and will be relieved with the passage of proper legislation, Herbert P. Wright, chairman of the board of directors of the Prescott-Wright-Snider company, Kansas City, said here Wednesday.

"Texas had what was considered a bomb-proof bond statute," Wright said. "Because it is comparatively new territory, the bond scare here reached unreasonable proportions and of course has had its effect. Other states, such as Kansas and Oklahoma, have gone through the readjustment sure to come in Texas because conditions are fundamentally sound."

Liquor Warning Riles Aged Woman

RANGER, June 2.—(AP)—A woman more than 70 years old struck back at prohibition laws here today, and escaped with a written warning from police that she must quit making liquor.

City officers first went to her home with a search warrant. She greeted them with the assertion that the husband she married 49 years ago is her "hired help." Then she snatched the search warrant, tore it up, stamped the pieces, followed with an offensive which, officers said, forced them to take refuge.

She was not arrested, police contenting themselves with the written warning to her.

Overwork Develops TB, Doctor Says

HOUSTON, June 2.—(AP)—Overwork, if kept up, will lower bodily resistance and cause development of active tuberculosis, Dr. J. W. Laws of El Paso told a sectional meeting of the state medical association of Texas here recently. He spoke on the prevention of tuberculosis.

"The prevention of adult tuberculosis lies in the preventing the resistance from being lowered," he declared. "Measles, whooping cough, pneumonia, typhoid fever, diabetes, and all depressing diseases should be followed with longer periods of rest and keeping the nutrition of the patient up to the highest possible standard, otherwise tuberculosis is apt to follow in the wake of lowered resistance."

OFFICER SHOT.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 2.—(AP)—Lee Dicken, deputy shriff of Cameron county and former ranger who had seen many years of service on the Mexican border from El Paso to the mouth of the Rio Grande was shot to death about midnight last night when he and three other officers attempted to halt a light truck which they had suspected of having a load of liquor.

WALSH OF MONTANA

SENATOR THOMAS J. WALSH of Montana was the friend of William Jennings Bryan and he is the friend of William G. McAdoo. He is a leader in the American senate and he was chairman of the Madison Square Garden convention.

Senator Walsh is an uncompromising dry. He is dry all along the line. He is the only democrat in the upper house, in fact, the only senator of any party to defend the legality of the Coolidge order authorizing state and local officials to act as federal prohibition agents.

Senator Walsh was born in the west, and he has lived in the west all his life, when not in Washington officiating as a statesman and lawmaker. There are correspondents who are close to the Montana senator, he is serving his third term, who say that he is a receptive candidate for the democratic presidential nomination in 1928.

He is for the abrogation of the two-thirds rule, but he is silent when it comes to the abrogation of the unit rule. Walsh has offered the vice presidential nomination in 1924. In fact, he was nominated, he spurned it and he adjourned the convention to prevent the delegates from tying him to the vice presidential nomination kite.

He was wise. He returned to Montana and won a third election to the American senate. A klan leader from Texas was one of the delegates who lead the demonstration for Walsh and attempted to make him take the second place on the ticket with John W. Davis.

There are southern democrats who say that Governor Al Smith is a Catholic and dry. Former boss Thomas B. Love is one of the number. There are western democrats who say that Senator Walsh is a Catholic and dry. Should there be another deadlock in 1928, the man from Montana may be ready to accept the standard of national leadership if the delegates toss it in his direction.

He is an eminent lawyer. He stands for the legality of the Coolidge policies notwithstanding at times he has been a stepping critic of many Coolidgt policies and administration measures. Walsh voted for farm relief bills. Walsh was born on a western farm. He had a rough time of it, in his youth, working in the field by day and developing his mind and brain by a coal oil lamp at night.

Walsh and Borah of Idaho never cross swords. They never shiver lances. One is a democrat, the other is a republican, but they go down the line together most of the time regardless of political differences.

He ran and he ran so fast that he defeated a Walsh favorite and was the lone delegate from Montana holding a seat in the Madison Square Garden convention, to cast his solitary vote against the Walsh candidate for presidential honor. Of course, on his return to Montana, he gave his support to Walsh as the senatorial candidate to the democratic party. Walsh won.

ARE YOU A PURITAN?

A PURITAN is generally thought of as a thin (whoever heard of a fat Puritan?), austere person who frowns on fun and gaiety and persecutes if possible all persons who dare to disagree with him on religious matters.

Stuart P. Sherman, one of our modern essayists, however, disagrees with this estimate and quotes from early documents to prove that the Puritans who helped form the early history of our own United States, were not only men of great courage, but foresighted men, endowed with the average—or perhaps a little more than the average—amount of intelligence, and with a lively affection for family and friends.

Mr. Sherman also contends that we have had Puritans in all ages and that the very first one was that faraway ancestor of ours, the anthropoid ape who first decided to walk upon his hind legs and thus founded the human race.

Dissatisfaction with the past, courage to break with it, a vision of a better life, readiness to accept discipline in order to attain that better life, and a serious desire to make that better life prevail are the desire reflecting at once his sturdy individualism and his clear sense for the need of social solidarity. In these respects all true Puritans, in all ages and places of the world, are alike. Everyone is dissatisfied with the past; every one has the courage to revolt; everyone has a vision; everyone has a discipline; and everyone desires his vision of the better life to prevail."

"If we have inherited, not the Puritan heirlooms, but the living Puritan tradition, we enter into the modern spirit. . . . The modern spirit is, first of all, a free spirit open on all sides to the influx of truth, EVEN FROM THE PAST. But freedom is not its only characteristic. The modern spirit is marked, further, by an active curiosity, which grows by what it feeds upon, and goes ever inquiring for fresher and sounder information to be had anywhere.

"Since it seeks only the best, it is, by necessity, also a critical spirit, constantly sifting, discriminating, rejecting, and holding fast that which is good, only till that which is better is within sight.

This endless quest requires labor, requires pain, requires a measure of courage; and so the modern spirit (the Puritan spirit) is an heroic spirit.

"As a reward for difficulties gallantly undertaken," Sherman asserts, "gods bestow on the modern spirit a kind of eternal youth, with unfailing powers of recuperation and growth."

WHO AM I?

WE are inclined to take ourselves very seriously in these modern days. To strut about with supercilious looks at the rest of the inhabitants of the earth—the hoi polloi—as we term them. To speak of those who do not happen to belong to the little circle of those who think in the same vein as we think; as yokels, and their thoughts as not worthy of consideration..

We are very learned. We have been to college and are entitled to write some magic letters after our name. The universe is no mystery to us—so our attitude suggests—we know all the secrets. "The creation of a world is little more mystery than the cooking of a dumpling, concerning the last indeed, there have been minds to whom the question, "how the apples were got in' presented difficulties," as Thomas Carlyle puts it.

Yet in our saner moments we must realize how little we really do know. With all our knowledge, can we answer the question "Who am I? What is this Me? A Voice, a Motion, an Appearance—some embodied, visualized idea in the eternal mind? Alas, poor Cogitator, this takes us but a little way. Sure enough, I am; and lately was not; but whence? How? Whereto?

"The answer lies all around, written in all colors and motions, uttered in all tones of jubilee and wail, in thousand-figured, thousand-voiced harmonious nature; but where is the cunning eye and ear to whom that God-written Apocalypse will yield articulate meaning? We sit as in a boundless Phantasmagoria and Dreamgrotto; boundless, for the faintest star, the remotest century, lies not even nearer the verge thereof; sounds and many colored visions flit around our sense; but Him, the Unslumbering, whose work both Dream and Dreamer are, we see not; except in rare moments, suspect not. Then, in that strange Dream, how we clutch at shadows as if they were substances; and sleep deepest while fancying ourselves most awake! Which of your Philosophical Systems is other than a dream-theorem; a net quotient, confidently given out, where divisor and dividend are both unknown? What are all your wars, your sanguinary, hate filled revolutions, but the somnonbulism of uneasy sleepers? This Dreaming, this Somnanbulism is what we on earth call Life; wherein the most indeed undoubtingly wander, as if they knew right hand from left; yet they only are wise who know that they know nothing."

"We are—we know not what; light-sparkles floating in the ether of Deity!" Carlyle concludes.

BABE RUTH CAME BACK

A YEAR AGO the wise ones in the world of baseball, the sporting editors and the fans who were not sporting editors, all voiced the verdict Babe Ruth could not come back.

Well, Babe is back. There are false prophets everywhere. There are experts who are not experts. There are critics who are able to tear down but they never construct. There is a vast difference between a destructionist and a developer.

They are found in the political world. "They" refer to the destructionists. Babe Ruth is making a new high record. It was possible for him to come back.

The Apron Of Genius

By Earl Derr Biggers

Still wondering, they waited, almost in silence, sipping the wine that was the one remaining badge of the cafe's erstwhile glory. In twenty minutes Dupree was back carrying a bundle. He opened it, and lo—

"The apron of Bertrand de Bouillon," Monsieur Casserole fairly screamed.

"Not exactly," said Dupree. "No, only the apron of a poor art student in the days when he dined at the cafe where Bertrand ruled supreme. Ten years ago, at a little shope in the quarter, I bought this apron to protect my only suit of clothes from the flying paint—and now I bless the poverty that made it necessary. For behold, I have ushered in sunshine; I have brought again to the face of Madame Casserole that long absent smile. If any gentleman will kindly pass me two eggs and a rabbit, I will endeavor—"

"Non, non," broke in Casserole, "it is wild. It is impossible." But his eyes shone with a light that had been a stranger to them for weeks. "To deceive Adolphe—ah, that is too much! We cannot do it."

"Pish, tush!" said Masters. "Adolphe is only the victim of a mental hellucination. Tell him this is the apron of the mighty Bertie Bouillon, and his omelets will again taste like advance agents of heaven. But how shall we slip this long—lost piece of dry goods back to him?"

Dupree's plan prevailed. A small boy was brought in from the street, taught his story, and with the bogus apron pushed out into the marvelous kitchen where Adolphe, forlorn, dreary, struggled with the dishes it had once been the joy of his life to prepare. One look he got at the apron, and he pounced upon it in a frenzy of delight. He hugged it to his bosom; he smoothed out tenderly the rumpled folds; he wept in the ecstasy of his happiness. Then he shouted the Monsieur Casserole, waiting tremblingly within call.

"It is back," he cried, "mon cher tablier, it is back. So long, so long without it, and ah, the dreary emelets I have prepared alone! As the painter or the sculptor—"

"Oui! Oui! Never again is it to leave me." Adolphe struggled wildly with the buckles. "Never! With it I sleep. Oui, it is on. The orders! Now let me hear the orders."

They came. Escargots a la Casserole. Salsifie. Omelet scaffie. And the hand of the master was at work again! Ah, what dishes did Adolphe not send out by the smiling waiters of the Cote d'Or that night; Madame Casserole lured back the long absent smile to its place above the succored chin: Monsieur Casserole again hovered over his guests with the hope that all was well, this time certain of his replies.

Dupree took one mouthful of an omelet, and felt it melting into a liquid delight. His face grew suddenly sad. Margaret Gates, happy again over her beloved escargots, always quick to catch his moods, saw it.

"What is it, Billy?" she asked.

"Nothing," he answered, with a sigh. "I was just thinking—why couldn't that have been the apron of genius in the days when I wore it?"

"Does it make you so very unhappy, Billy?"

"What?"

"That the theatre pays you so much money for the scenes you paint, when you might be starving and worshipping art somewhere in an attic?"

"It is a great cross to bear," he answered, smiling. "If only you would help me beat it, dear When, oh, when, are you going to surrender? Or must I give up both you and my art?"

The little Gates girl pretended to taste the food that Adolphe had prepared. But most unkindly it began to choke her. She was so happy; Madame Casserole, Monsieur, the guests, Adolphe in the kitchen, the waiters—all were so happy. In the eyes of Billy Dupree alone sadness lingered. She had always intended to take him some day. Now she looked at him, a great tenderness in her eyes.

"If you wish," she whispered, "a week from today—I will marry you."

Ah! There was joy in the Cafe Cote d'Or the night the apron of Bertrand de Bouillon came back, and on the nights that followed. Word soon spread among the old patrons that the odd indisposition of Adolphe the great chef was at an end, and they flocked back in droves, crowding the tables and waiting by the cage of Madame for seats.

It was as though the Cote d'Or were a ship that had been a long time at sea, and had now come home again to find a host of friends waiting on the dock with words of love and cheer. Across the street, in the Cafe Glacial, the lights again shone on unused silver and vacant chairs. Monsieur Lafourbe, gazing out at the Cote d'Or, cursed like one of the villians in the shows for which Dupree painted the scenery.

The little Gates girl and the artist were married on the day she had set, and that night at the Cote d'Or the largest table was reserved for their wedding supper, to which only Masters, Hargrave and Betty Martin were invited. Monsieur hovered about them continually, a dumb gratitude in his eyes. The best that Adolphe could cook—and those who were again reveling in his dishes knew what that meant—he sent to that table.

Long into the night many patrons celebrated the renaissance of the cafe that was their religion, their goal, their shrine. Long into the night they sat over cordial and coffee, after the adorable dishes of Adolphe, dreaming themselves back under the awnings of the gay city, in the shade of the absinthe frappe.

At length the other diners ended their dreams and paid their bills, and only the five remained.

Madame Casserole came out of her cage and waddled toward them, in all the glory of her smile. Monsieur closed the door on the last jovial guest, and also came toward them, smiling. Never, it seemed, had there been a happier moment in the Cafe Cote d'Or.

And then a terrible thing happened.

The door opened and he came in, that rogue Lafourbe, unsavory keeper of an impossible cafe. Under his arm he carried something of cloth. Unseeing he passed the diners and their hosts, and, pushing open the swinging doors, walked straight into the kingdom of Adolphe.

With one accord Monsieur and Madame, terror on their faces, followed. Dupree motioned to the crowd, and, with him leading, the five swept past the barrier into that sacred, that marvelous kitchen.

Lefourbe was holding toward Adolphe an apron, and the latter stood as a man in a dream listening to the rascal's words.

"One night, as I wandered in a side street, the wind swept this in my path," Lefourbe lied blithely. "I picked it up. Then I thought it only an apron. But today did I learn that it is the apron of the great Bartrand de Bouillon. But today did the name of the owner reach me. Me, I am very sorry, I hastened here with it. Ah, that I have caused no inconvenience!"

He gazed about him sneeringly.

"Not for words would I have caused inconvenience."

Adolphe's face was not pleasant to look upon. He took in his hand the restored apron of the master, and turned on Monsieur Casserole.

"This, what is it that it means?" he sneered.

Terror was written in every line of Casserale's face. Lefourbe laughed to see it.

"Forgive me, Adolphe," cried the proprietor of the Cote d'Or piteously; "for the good of our cafe I did it. For the good of all of us. Morbleu! I must do it or—"

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

THE FOLLY OF A BIG WEDDING FOR THOSE IN MODERATE CIRCUMSTANCES.

Dear Miss Dix—I am engaged to be married and my fiance wants us to have a big church wedding, while I prefer to be quietly married at home. Neither of us is rich, so don't you think it would be best to have a less expensive wedding and save up our money to put into a comfortable little home? LUCY.

Answer:

I certainly do, Lucy. I think of all the foolish ways in which money can be spent, none is sillier than to throw it away on a show wedding, where for ten minutes' pomp you pay a price that frequently bankrupts the family for years.

Of course, the rich are a law unto themselves. If those who do not have to count the cost desire to spend their money on a display wedding, it is their own affair, though why any one should want to make a spectacle of the most sacred and critical moment of their lives is a mystery past finding out. It would not be more incongruous to invite strangers in to see you born or to see you die than it is to see you married.

In reality, the ideal marriage ceremony is where a man and a woman who are taking each other for better or worse as long as life shall last and who are going to take the most solemn oath that human lips can utter, go with only one or two of their nearest and dearest to the church and there, with no fuss and feathers to distract their no gaping, curious crowd looking on and criticizing, are married to each other.

Perhaps if there were more marriages celebrated in that way more of them would take.

You are certainly an unusually sensible girl, Lucy, to perceive that a show wedding is the height of folly for people in moderate circumstances. The average girl feels that life will be cinders, ashes and dust if she doesn't have a wedding with white satin and orange blossoms and bridesmaids and ring bearers and all the balance of the flummery.

So, only too often, she works herself nearly to death and runs her poor old father into debt to pay for her splurge up an aisle and down again, while her dear 500 friends gossip in the pews and say, "My, but did you ever see her look so ugly? And is that little shrimp the bridegroom? Why do you suppose she picked him out? And how do you suppose they are ever going to pay for all of this grandeur? Everybody knows they can't afford it."

It is all over in ten minutes, except paying the bills. Figure it out and see if you think it is worth the money. For what the useless bridal costume cost, what the flowers cost, what the music and the motors, and the presents and souvenirs to bridesmaids and ushers and ring bearers cost, would start a respectable account in a savings bank that might grow into a home or a little business of your own.

And tell your fiance, who wants the show wedding, that he is making a poor investment, for in a display wedding nobody ever notices the bridegroom. He is merely an excuse for the wedding. He doesn't even get a run for his money.

SHRINKING STANDARD MEASURES

The need for standard weights and measures was recognized in the trade of even the ancient world. Today every government maintains official standards in the form of a vessel holding a standard quart, a platinum bar, a standard foot long, and so forth. It is difficult, though, to keep these standard measures from changing shape. It has been found that a slight change in shape will accompany the most imperceptible changes in temperature. A noted case is that of some steel balls maintained by our government for gauging the diameter of pipes and tubes. These standard balls are supposed to be perfect spheres, but by constant use it has been found that the balls may flatten a little on one side, or become slightly elongated. The difference would not be perceptible to the eye, but it would show up when you tried to pass the balls through a tube supposed to fit them exactly. The cause and cure of this trouble is not yet known.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to Yesterday's Questions:

1. The hands may be disinfected by washing them in strong carbolic acid soap.

2. Rusty nails unless in contact with the soil do not usually have tetanus germs in them; but tetanus from dust easily gains entrance in the wound made by a nail in the foot or hand, or, in fact, in any wound.

3. Typhoid fever germs are not spread by air, but through drinking water, milk, or other food.

4. Sleeping sickness as we know it in America is a purely physiological aftermath of influenza; sleeping sickness of Africa is caused by microscopic parasites conveyed by the bite of the tse-tse fly.

5. Agar-agar is a gelatinized form of a seaweed used as a culture in which to grow bacteria; it is also made into a human food.

6. Beri-beri is a physiological disease caused by the eating of very limited diet poor in vitamines.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

Today's planetary aspects are favorable, alike for deeds and for emotions. They remain in this condition all day. It is an excellent opportunity for business enterprise, and for family or social amenities. All undertakings that do not savor of speculation or unnecessary risk are favored by the influences that prevail, although the indications definitely presage a successful outcome for financial lines. It is also, an auspicious occasion for travel, either by land or sea. To those who ask themselves the question "mysterious love, uncertain pleasure, hast thou more of pain or pleasure?" The signs denote that a troth plighted today will create only pleasure, and no pain.

Children born today will enjoy normal health during infancy provided that their nutrition be carefully regulated, and their environment be wholesome. Just prior, however, to the attainment of maturity, they will be subjected to a serious illness, which will demand unremitting care, if untoward results are to be avoided. Their dispositions will be bright and cheerful. As "little ones" they will be full of mischief, not, however, of a vicious variety. They will be ambitious, and as they will possess an exceptional degree of self-confidence, combined with a pleasing personality, they are, in all probability, bound to achieve success. They should be permitted to choose their own careers.

If today is your birthday, you were born under very favorable conditions, and life holds many good things in store for you. If you have not met with that success to which things your many talents and characteristics entitle you, it is because of your lack of faith in your own destiny. "Faith is a higher faculty than reason," and, although your reasoning is invariably sound, your faith is limited.

You are very sincere, and loyalty has no better exponent. Your friends are legion—of enemies you have none. You possess a persuasive personality and are a good conversationalist, keen, considerate, and generous to those whose opinions differ from your own. You are painstaking, and very careful to do the best of your ability everything and all things entrusted to your care and attention.

Your home life should be very happy, as, in addition to numerous good traits already mentioned, you have an extremely affectionate nature, and are as unselfish as you are kind.

Successful people born on this date are:

William Knabe, manufacturer.
Jefferson Davis, soldier and statesman.
Edward L. Youmans, scientist.
George H. Morris, naval officer.
Joseph Howard, journalist and lecturer.
Garret A. Hobart, lawyer and statesman.

STREET CAR LINES TO A FAIR LADY
By Joseph Bongiorno.

Fair Lady,
Like a rose of fragrance rare
You seem to me. I look at you with awe.
A sweeter maid than you I never saw.
You are, indeed, the fairest of the fair.

Fair Lady,
How I love your golden hair!
What pretty eyes you have of azure blue!
And what inviting lips of cherry hue!
Would that to kiss them I had nerve to dare!

Fair Lady,
Though you do appeal to me,
My head must rule my actions, not my heart.
With this, my job, I do not wish to part,
And so I cannot let you ride on free—
Fair Lady!

INSULT TO INJURY
By Louise Roenig.

Wilbur had met the girl only once before, and knew her only by her first name. But she was so alluring and fascinating that he felt as if he had known her all his life. They met quite by accident, yet in a few minutes she had consented to a dinner date.

The young man was dazed by his good fortune, and could scarcely eat the meal he ordered. How beautiful she was! He would rather look at her than eat. His heart pounded within him.

But when the waiter laid the check by his plate he came to himself with a start of horror. $6.30! He cautiously explored his trousers pocket—then his other pockets. He was broke! He hadn't a cent!

He knew no one from whom he could borrow, and as he realized the awfulness of the calamity, a cold sweat broke out on his brow, and he trembled. It wouldn't have mattered if he was alone—at least not so much—but SHE was with him! What could he do? He suddenly began to feel quite ill.

Then he noticed a kindly-faced old gentleman at the table next to them, half concealed by a palm. Maybe if he would explain the matter, the man would lend him the money. It was his only hope. He rose from the table, approached the gentleman and bent close to him.

"I have left my money in my other clothes," he whispered. "Would you be kind enough to lend me $6.30 so I can pay the dinner check?"

The old man's face underwent a change, and he clenched his fist and pounded the table with it.

"Young man!" he bellowed. "I don't mind you taking my wife to dinner, but I'll be darned if I'll pay for her meal!"

DINNER STORIES

The wireless operator on a small vessel was allowed to take the wheel for a short spell. His first attempt was a poor show and the course steered was very erratic, as shown by the wake of the vessel.

Just as a rather bad zigzag was made, the captain arrived on the bridge, scowled, and remarked: "Here, my lad, I don't mind you writing your name on the face of the clock, but don't trouble to go back and dot the 'i.'"

An Irishman, who for some reason did not wish to be taken for such, and was not proud of his brogue, entered into a heated argument on the subject with a friend who was a lawyer. "If I were on thrial for the brogue do you mane to say, that anny jury in the counthry would bring me in guilty?"

"Well," said the lawyer, speaking professionally, I would advise that if you wish to deny the brogue, you had better do so in writing."

Everything that could be done to make the great unemployed meeting been a success had been accomplished. A large hall and a good speaker had been engaged.

When the latter arrived he seemed in a crabby frame of mind. Looking around, he beckoned the chairman.

"I should like to have a glass of water on my table, if you please," he said.

"To drink?" was the chairman's idotic question.

"Oh, no," was the sarcistic retort "when I've been speaking for half an hour I do a high dive."

Musicians Club Work For Summer Is Closed With Wednesday Party

Springtime with its beautiful coloring was suggested at the annual luncheon given by the Musicians club, closing the activities of the organization until fall, at the Wichita Club Wednesday, when baskets of will flowers centered the long table which was also completely strewn with the blooms.

Plates were marked with hand-painted place cards in the pastel shades, and the year book for next year's work was placed beside each plate.

Mrs. J. E. H. Riley gave the invocation and Mrs. C. R. Eyssen acting as toastmastress passed pencils and pads asking each member to write an original poem toasting the Musician's club. At the close of the four-course luncheon it was announced that Mrs. Edwin Bebb won the prize offered by the best toast, Hutcheson's "One Increasing Purpose."

Alva Willgus, accompanied by Mrs. Willgus, sang a group of songs and Mrs. Harwood Stacy, incoming president, made an address outlining the work for the club next year. Floyd Ard, talented pianist, who is leaving soon for Vienna to study, played a farewell group of numbers and Mrs. Eyssen, gave a talk of appreciation to the young musician in behalf of the club, predicting an unusually brilliant future for him.

After the program the original toasts were read and the one winning the prize was as follows:

"When you hear all the grand hub-dub
That goes with this Musician's club
You might think there's nothing more
That anyone has kept in store
To edify or elevate
And lift us to a joyous state
But that's not so"
Just count the many things we've done
Besides we have great heaps of fun
We've brought some singers to this town
Of eminence and world renown
There was a man who played a harp
And who never missed "C" sharp
And one who if he tried real hard
Might play as well as Floyd Ard
And we've brought a band from Mexico
And we bought a grand piano
And Will Rogers whose humor was a go
If there's anything we've failed to do
Don't say a word for we are not through!
Here's to us."

Covers were laid for Mesdames O. E. Nichols, C. E. Beavers, P. P. Langford, H. O. Cravens, Charles Bourland, John Bradley, Kenneth and Edwin Bebb, Melvin Peters, Shumake Baber, Ethel Allen Nelson, J. SLAYER RUNS WILD

CHICAGO, June 2.—(AP)—A man and a woman were shot and killed and another woman probably fatally wounded by unidentified assailants who opened fire just after the three had emerged from Derby Inn, a roadhouse in Surburban Homewood early today.

James Lombardo, a jeweler, and Mrs. Crystal Barrier were almost instantly killed by a volley which riddled the automobile they were about to enter. Mrs. Violet Bass, seriously wounded, crawled to the inn and summoned help.

Police questioned Mrs. Bass but obtained no clues as to the identity of the slayers or the motive for the shooting.

AXTELL AWARDS NEW CONTRACT

Work to Start Next Week On Industrial Plant Here

Contract has been awarded by Axtell Company of Fort Worth to the Davis company of Fort Worth for the erection of the warehouse and office building on Scott street, north of the business district of the city. Officials of the two companies were in Wichita Falls yesterday and were in conference with J. W. Chatham, industrial and traffic commissioner of the chamber of commerce. They went over the grounds where the new buildings are to be located and discussed the preliminary plans for starting the work.

To Start at Once

The contracting firm announced they would probably begin work on the building early next week. The architect's drawings indicate these buildings will be a credit to any city and will be a big addition to Wichita Falls growing industrial district.

Axtell company is one of the larger wholesale houses of Fort Worth, dealing in mill supplies, plumbing fixtures and other articles of kindred lines. A big stock will be carried here and the company is expected to do a big business throughout this territory. They will employ several salesmen who will make this city headquarters and will also employ a local force of about thirty men.

WRONG REQUEST

FORT WORTH, June 2.—(AP)—Forty one persons drove up and asked Constable A. B. Carter of Axle for beer while the officer was in charge of a "cold drink stand" raided by county officers at Lake Worth today. Their surprise at learning Carter was a constable was often pathetic.

J. Harry Hightower was taken into custody, together with two Mexicans Joy Ayle and Pete Fernandez. More than 300 bottles of cold cheer and 30 barrels of mash were destroyed.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past 50 must give to the bowels occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

BURBANK FIELD SHOWS RENEWED OIL ACTIVITY

Number of New Tests Indicate That Area Is On Upgrade

Special to The Record News.

PONCA CITY, Okla., June 2.—Drilling activities in the south end of the old Burbank field are looking up. Oil field scouts report that within another week's time the Phillips Petroleum will have six strings of tools running in that district. Present operations are: Lewis Oil company, three wells drilling; Mid-Kansas company, three wells drilling; Phillips company, four wells drilling. In the "Little Chief" district, known as the south Burbank extension, activities are continuing, although no new developments are reported at this time.

Activities in the north end of the Burbank field, in the Lyman and Webb City districts continue also. Phillips Petroleum company has four wells drilling, and a new derrick is up on the Roman lease adjoining the Maynard lease, owned by the same company on the north. The Skelly Oil company has one well drilling with a new location offsetting.

In the Webb City district, north, there are five strings of tools running. The Kewanee company has spudded in the new "wildcat" just east of Shidler, and this test will in all probability determine the value of holdings east of that city for oil and gas purposes.

File Oil Suits

WICHITA, Kan., June 2.—(AP) Suit asking damages for alleged infringements of patents on processes used in the manufacture of hydrocarbons and gasoline has been filed in federal court here against the Derby Oil company by the Gulf Refining company, a Texas corporation.

The Derby company is alleged to be using patented processes which the plaintiff purchased in 1913, and which have been duly recorded in the patent office.

The petition asks that an injunction be issued against the Derby company preventing it from further use of the process and also that the court fix the amount due the plaintiff.

Deep Machine Test

ARTESIA, N. M., June 2.—What is probably the deepest test yet drilled with a National machine, is now drilling at 5,040 feet, in Chaves county, New Mexico. It is No. 1 school land, being drilled by the Colorado Gas and Fuel company of Denver, Colo. A significant feature in connection with this test is that the 6 5-8 casing was set at 2,650 feet, there being 2,390 feet of open hole. The test is still drilling in a 6 5-8 hole.

This was originally started as a 2,500 foot test, but when it was found that the showing in the Artesia sand, from 1,995 to 2,025 feet, would not make a commercial producer, it was then decided to drill a deep test. There was a good showing of both oil and gas in the Artesia sand.

At the present depth, 5,040 feet, there is a showing of around 500,000 feet of gas, and the formation is a sandy lime. The top of this formation was found at 4,980. Something interesting should develop within the next several days and it is being watched with considerable interest.

SIGN OIL SYNDICATE

MOSCOW, June 2.—(AP)—The Vacuum Oil company has signed a contract with the Soviet Oil syndicate for the purchase of 120,000 tons of kerosene. This fact has impressed the Moscow officials as a definite step toward a rapprochement between the soviet and American oil interests and as contrasting strongly with the Royal Dutch Shell company's policy of boycotting soviet oil.

Oil Interests In Panhandle Parley

AMARILLO, June 2.—(AP)—Hundreds of representatives of oil operators and business of the oil field district are on hand to attend a hearing on the Panhandle Oil situation, called today by Judge H. E. Bell, supervisor of the oil and gas division of the state railroad commission.

Conservation of gas escaping from oil wells will be one subject discussed and a spirited debate among the operators themselves looms as to the best method of consultation. The amount of nitro-glycerine to be used in "well shots" also will be taken up.

Grayburg Loses Suit On Oil Tax

AUSTIN, June 2.—(AP)—Right of the state to require payment of the gasoline tax on gallonage sold the federal government was upheld today by the third court of civil appeals.

The Grayburg Oil company resisted payment of the tax on gasoline sold the government on the military reservation at Fort Sam Houston, contending such gallonage was exempt from taxation. This argument was not sustained by the 53rd district court of Travis county from which an appeal was taken to the third court of civil appeals.

Laredo Heavy Gasser

The Texas company has completed its No. 2 Jennings, in the Jennings gas fields of Zapata county, the Laredo district of South Texas. It made 1,000,000 feet at 4,174 feet, making it the deepest test drilled in that area. The well will be bailed again after drilling a few feet further into the sand. It is the most important find yet made in the district and fore-tells a deep drilling play there.

Cole Petroleum company No. 24, in block 1, survey 15, Arispe Grant, Webb county, is making 60,000,000 feet of gas at 1,840 feet.

Kitselman and St. Albans No. 3 Holbein Ranch, is a 20,000,000 foot gas well at 2,084 feet.

OKLAHOMA AREA OF PANHANDLE SHOWS ACTIVITY

Number of Tests Drilling From Texas Line to Colorado and New Mexico

TULSA, Okla., June 2.—The Oklahoma Panhandle area jumped back into the center of the Sooner oil stage Saturday.

And the well that drew attention back to this section was H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas company No. 1 Zea, in the southwest corner of the southeast of 28-3n-13e, six miles due north of Guymon, Texas county. At 2,622 feet it picked up a very good showing of gas.

This gas is the same that the Wilcox company No. 1 Hovey, in the southeast corner of the southeast of 32-5n-12e, found around 2,700 feet May 14, that was estimated good for 12,000,000 cubic feet a day. The Hovey hole is now below 3,025 feet and drilling ahead. The Zea gas will be cased off.

Seven tests in Texas county are drilling, and as many are contracted for. Cimarron county to the west is also due for four wells soon, and Beaver county to the east is also due for some new drilling.

To the south in Sherman and Hansford and Ochiltree counties, of the Texas Panhandle, oil leasing and plans for drilling are being made, and due north in Morton, Stevens and Seward counties of Kansas, similar activity is known.

Further west and north in Prowers county, southeastern Colorado, the Chesapeake Oil (J. S. Cosden and G. A. Penick) company in No. 1 Johnson, in 30-27-45w, is drilling in gray lime at 4,360 feet. It will go to 5,000 feet.

Southwest in Union county, New Mexico, the Sun State Petroleum company is also active, being now around 2,600 feet, having found gas at 2,550 feet that it has cased off.

FORT WORTH, June 2.—(AP)—The first time he got carbolic acid instead of chloroform for a headache application it did not make him very mad, but the second time the label misled him he decided it was too much. E. S. Howell alleges in a suit filed late yesterday in district court against a drug store here. He asks $15,000 damages.

Howell alleges that on May 1, a clerk in a drug store gave him carbolic the same thing happened again on May acid under a chloroform label and that 30. He alleges injury to his left eye and the skin of part of his forehead and face.

QUAKE TERRORS ROBBED

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—(AP)—Development of an earthquake annunciator so simple that one may be placed in any home, yet so accurate that the approach of earth tremors may be observed in time to rob it of the disastrous effects, was announced here today by Dr. Thomas A. Jagger, government volcanologist, arriving from his station at Hilo, Hawaii, on his way to Washington.

Dr. Jagger, who has been working on the annunciator for several years, described the instrument as a two-part machine consisting of a simplified seismograph to be located in any basement and an indicator to be mounted at any convenient other point in the same building.

DENVER FILES RAIL PROTEST

It Kicks on Proposal To Give T. P. and G. a Permit

FORT WORTH, June 2.—(AP)—Public interest would be injured by issuance of a permit to the Texas Panhandle and Gulf Railway company to build a line from Tucumcari, N. M., to a connecting line entering Fort Worth, the Fort Worth and Denver railway declared in a brief filed with the I. C. C., in Washington yesterday. A copy of the brief was made public here at the same time.

The brief was in the form of exceptions to the report of Examiner Boles to the interstate commerce commission last winter, recommending issuance of the certificate of necessity and convenience to the T. P and G. providing that proposed road meets certain specified conditions within six months' time. The exceptions of the T. P. and G., to the brief were filed and made public several days ago.

The Denver's road brief pointed out that if the commission had in the past permitted promoters of insufficient or meager financial backing to construct roads, the country would have been overrun by rail projects which had as their primary purposes the preemption of territory with the result that legitimate and conservative lines would have suffered severe checks in expansion.

FOR Acid Stomach

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For 50 years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all bases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and 50-cent bottles, any drug store.—Adv.

At The Olympic Thursday

Eleanor Boardman and Malcolm McGregor in "THE CIRCLE"

Blues Singers And Spiritualists On Good Olympic Bill

Vaudeville That Is a Little Different on Tap Here

Erner and Fisher in "The Goofs" present a somewhat different talking and singing act at the vaudeville at the Olympic theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Their clever entertaining is of outstanding excellence, their routine being an original one and of entirely new steps.

A talented pair of young men, Gifford and Gresham, offer some rapid fire talk interrupted by several songs. Both are recent graduates of musical comedy, this being their first entrance in vaudeville. Their act is one that is bound to please the most fastidious audience.

An Absorbing Act.

Martha Russell and company in "Thy Neighbor's Wife" is one of the most absorbing acts of the bil. Spiritualism has been the talk of the past decade, but it has rarely been brought to the public through the stage. Houdini uses it as a ballyhoo for his escapes and magic, but it remains for Martha Russell and her company to inject it into a playlet. Miss Russell, for years, a standard dramatic actress, is bringing her comedy playlet to amuse and interest everyone. It is truly a wonderful act and offers some splendid acting.

A Gloom Knocker.

Pat Padgetts will knock gloom gally-west. He is merely "seeking air" as he expresses it. However, before he finds enough to make his silvertoned harmonica do everything but talk, he arouses more fun than the proverbial barrel of monkeys. How he practices what he preaches is finding a great following throughout the theartes and continuously lands him high honors. His act entertains from start to finish.

Two dainty misses, Chamberlain and Bennett, Harmony Blues singers comprise a team that increases in popularity with each town. They combine extremely attractive looks with real talent, a combination that si hard to beat. Their harmony is excellent and their solos are full of pep. Both are entertaining singers, using songs that fit the act perfectly. This number is a most charmingly constructed specialty.

Thrill Hunters To Find Plenty In Mission Film

Unusual Array of Stars To Appear Here In New Picture

An unusual array of film stars in a fast moving dramatic comedy, is offered at the Mission theatre where "The Thrill Hunter" is holding the screen beginning today.

Heading a cast that includes at least three authentis stars and a host of lesser lights, is William Haines. This popular actor is a dramatic star of the first water. In "The Thrill Hunter" he proves himself a comedy star of far more than average accomplishments.

Playing opposite Mr. Haines is Katheryn McGuire, the beautiful young favorite, whose rise on the screen has been nothing short of amazing. Miss McGuire, long noted as a dancer of exquisite grace, now fulfills the promise she made silently to film fans some time ago when she gave every indication of a phenomenal popularity in the near future.

Also in the cast is Alma Bennett, the lovely and well-known cinema artist. Miss Bennett plays a vamp. One wonders where the hero gets the cruelty or the courage to resist her!

DEATH SOUGHT; PRISON GIVEN

Frenchman Pays Price For Death of His Sweetheart

HUNTSVILLE, June 2—(AP)—Behind the prison walls here exists a man who killed his sweetheart and who asked to die in the electric chair for the crime. He is George R. Vexenot, the Frenchman, who in 1923 at Houston killed the girl he loved, because she returned him his engagement ring.

Vexenot saw four years of hell when the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse rode with fury through the heart of Belgium and across the historic lands of Northern France during the world war. Two years he served in the French infantry and two years he served in the 227th French Observation squadron. He carries more than 20 scars of wounds he received during the great conflict.

Medals for heroism were pinned on his military tunic. He himself does not remember for what or whence they all came, for he merely exists.

And in these old walls of sighs and sorrows, over which an aviator speeds now and then, Vexenot shudders and shrieks when he hears the hum of an airplane's motor. He lives again then the horrors of war, his raids on the German trenches and his crashes when death came nigh.

He said he longed for death or his home in Vichy and has no immediate hopes of either. He is serving a term of from five years to life imprisonment. He said he wished he might have died when his loved one died.

Somewhat defiant he hesitated to answer why he killed his sweetheart, but then with a hasty shrug of his shoulders said, "I loved her. I was happy. She returned my ring. Something came over me. There was nothing left. Well, I shot, but it seems a blank, all except the smoking revolver and her lying there, dead."

Deny Claims For Bombing Damage

SAN ANTONIO, June 2.—(AP)—The death of Jesse Barnes Jr., 7, caused by an exploding bomb in the Barnes home in Corpus Christ, two years ago, was recalled in the fourth court of civil appeals today when it was ruled the lad's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Barner Benner, could not recover damages for the death of her brother.

Jesse and his father were killed when the father opened a package which had been received from the express company and which exploded.

It was learned the package had been shipped from San Antonio, via the American Railway Express company by a small Mexican boy who told the agent it contained magazines.

The parties guilty of sending the bomb have never been found.

Negro Must Die For Attacking Girl

SAN ANTONIO, June 2—(AP)—Mathew Briscoe, negro, whose death penalty was affirmed today by the court of criminal appeals at Austin, was convicted of criminal attack upon a young San Antonio woman.

Briscoe now faces two convictions, each carrying the death penalty. He first was tried in the 37th district court on December 14, 1925, convicted and his punishment assessed at death. On the ground that discrimination was shown, in that no negro was a member of the grand jury which indicted him, he appealed.

Millions Die of Indigestion

Most Common, Yet Insidious of Fatal Diseases Strikes Like Lighning and When Least Expected.

Protect Yourself by Strengthening Your Digestive Organs With Ferraline—Then Eat What You Please Without Fear of Trouble.

Nature, with her infinite widsom, has proved in Ferraline a quick and sure relief for the millions who are living in constant fear of that dreaded disease—Indigestion. Ferraline is not a concoction made by man, but is a strictly natural product, and contains the essential elements which Nature has provided to strengthen and tone up the weakened organs of indigestion.

Indigestion and weak blood march hand-in-hand. No dyspeptic can have pure rich blood until his digestion is made perfect again. Stomach disorders always weaken the blood and weak blood causes anaemia, weakness and nervousness.

If you have had warnings of indigestion, do not delay another day to accept the positive guarantee that your money will be promptly and cheerfully refunded if the very first bottle of Ferraline does not give you relief. Don't be misled into believing that heartburn, gas, bloating, constipation, biliousness, sick-stomach, heart and kidney pains will gradually go away. These are danger signals warning you that the dread disease Indigestion, is gradually sapping your very life. Regenerate your digestive organs at once with Ferraline, then you can eat three good meals every day without discomfort. A 10-days' treatment of Ferraline will cost you only one dollar at your druggists. —Adv.

More than a year ago the Kansas City Southern opened informal negotiations to acquire the Louisiana lines, but the wide margin between the bid and asked prices has prevented completion of the deal.

Martin Bests Slim Love In Wrong-Handed Mound Battle As Spuds Cop Third

Dallas Portsider Walks Four Straight In Front of Two Singles, Washburn Wallops Homer

BY BLONDY CROSS.

Slimuel Love, the lank, loose-jointed but leathery Dallas pitching person, being a left-hander naturally has a tendency to issue bases on balls. Slim turned out only a quartet of four-ball coupons yesterday, but in doing so he staged a regular style show of Spudders before Athletic park denizens, promenading all four walkees in succession. Then Paddy Martin and Turgeon came through with base bingles. Lamb supplied a sacrifice tap and before the requisite number of putouts were registered the parade was completed with the entire Spud batting order having joined in. Four runs were scored, enough to beat Dallas in the third straight and give the home lefty a victory. But the final count was Ths-3, because Lapan followed DeFate's ist double with a single in the second rdcanto and Washburn lofted a four-r wagger over the port palings in the leventh when there were two away ers and nobody on the hassocks.

Martin after 10 days inactivity, came back as a surprise package Wednesday when the dopesters had it Mc ster White was billed for the hunking chores. The veteran portsider uncorked a few weird heaves, ut on the whole, pitched a sensational brand of ball, turning back he league leaders' heavy slugsters inning after inning when base blows figured runs.

Paddy Scatters 'Em Out

Martin scattered 11 hits and six Misses on balls through nine couplets. e was never in any appreciable anger after the fourth stanza. How-Cher, Carl Williams, the side-winder, as hailed into service in the ninth ame with two runners on and one But. Manager Brainard was playing ro histe. Williams retired the wallop-dasg Hack Miller, on a fly to Lamb Mrs left and cut Riley away, Turgeon Washburn.

Mr. Rhino Williams and Paddy Bauckman made it tough on Martin, the Mrsrmer smacking five for three, the ster four for three. But the toil-ong wrong-hander had the Indian ign on the remainder of the Steer ttle array.

Paddy opened festivities wilder an a Canuck amuck after filching jug of shock water from the comsalisy trading post. His untrammeled aves put three on bases with one Riley, but Bauman followed with rift to center that scored Tate and t Williams on a belated slide into the dish and the awaiting arms of ter Lapan who plugged him with e so-called horsehide, thanks to a arp fling to the pan by Jenkins.

Brainard and Washburn took care O'Brien and Griesenbeck in the allies second, and Patrick struck out enemy southpaw. That one-run d was fragile and unenduring, for pan paired a single with DeFate's rp double down the third base line this round to tie her up. The blows ne after there were two down.

Hunter Serves One?

Hunter Hill scored one for Dallas the third, that is, according to belligerent Mr. Lapan. Nonetheless, the tally goes into the records e bonafide run off Martin. The Panhandle Refinery club took the long end of a 5 to 3 count from the Wichita Falls Electric baseball team Wednesday afternoon when Randolph hurled almost invincible ball for the Refiners. Randolph whiffed eleven of the Pole climbers and walked only one man. He was nicked for nine base knocks, but he kept them fairly well scattered.

The game ended in a bloody battle between Jess Winters, Panhandle skipper, and the Electric company pitcher, Lee Courtney. They scrapped for several minutes before anyone made an effort to stop them. When they were finally halted both of them were badly battered.

Winters was coaching on the third base line and when Lee Courtney fingered the ball for a knuckle ball Winters called the delivery out to Pee Wee Hinds. Courtney protested on the calling of his delivery and walked over to the coaching line and took a healthy swing at Jess.

Eddie Kollman led the batting attack with two hits in two times up. Hargrave continued his sensational batting spree with the Panhandle club when he slapped out a long home run in the first inning with one man on the bases.

Paul Whatley played a great game at short for the Electrics and handled several hard chances without an error. He accepted two putouts and six assists.

Panhandle broke off to a two-run lead in the first inning when Hargrove poled his homer with Waller on first base. A walk, a single by Hoben, and a single by Hicks gave two more in the fourth inning.

Singles by Kollman, Whatley, and Coolidge after two were out in the fourth gave the Electrics two tallies. A single by Waller, an infield out and a single by Rawls gave the Panhandle one more in the fifth.

Singles by Rose, Andree, and Blue followed with an infield out gave the Electrics their last run in the fifth.

Demar Wins In Sesqui-Marathon

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—(AP) Clarence H. Demar is king of American marathon runners. The 38-year-old national champion demonstrated his supremacy again today in convincing manner when he outraced a field of 62 distance men in the Sesqui-Centennial marathon, run from Valley Forge to the municipal stadium here.

Carrying the colors of the Melrose, Mass., American Legion post, Demar set a terrific pace that forced his foremost rival, Albin Stenrose of Finland to drop out after covering eleven miles and carried him to the finish nearly one mile in front of Albert (Whitey) Michelson of the Cygnet A. C., East Port Chester, Conn.

Demar covered the full marathon distance of 26 miles, 385 yards in 2 hours, 42 minutes, 50 seconds.

HELEN-SUZANNE WIN

Cleveland Hits Hard To Win First, Detroit Takes Second

CLEVELAND, June 2.—(AP)—Cleveland and Detroit broke even in a doubleheader here today, the Indians winning the first game, 13 to 1, and Detroit taking the second 7 to 0. Wells, Tiger southpaw, allowed but 4? hits. After sitting on the bench during the first game, Manager Cobb went to center field in the second, and in five trips to the plate hit two singles and two double, was given a base on balls, scored two runs and drove in two others. NEW YORK, June 2.—(AP)—The Yankees twice defeated Washington here today, the scores being 9 to 5, and 5 to 3. ST. LOUIS, June 2.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox rallied in the ninth inning today for five singles and four runs and won from the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 5. Thomas struck out nine men before he weakened in the eighth. Hargrave, who had fanned three times, hit a homer in this inning, starting a batting spree which brought in two additional Brown runs. Electra All-Stars Defeat Childress

The Electra All-Stars journeyed to Childress Monday where they were engaged in a hot battle by the Childress nine but came out winners, 6-1.

Left Reynolds pitched for Electra and was very effective. The Childress boys were lucky to get to first base while Reynolds was pitching the ball so fast they could hardly see it. It was Reynolds' own fault that he did not pitch a shut-out because he walked a man in the seventh with the bases full to force in a run.

Vaught and Stevens of Electra each got two singles and the center fielder of Childress also got a pair of safeties. Bill Williamson got the longest hit of the day when he poled a triple which scored two runners.

Sox, A's Divide

BOSTON, June 2.—(AP)—The Red Sox and Athletics divided a double-header here today, Boston taking the first, 5 to 4, and the visitors the second, 5 to 1. With none out in the eighth, four successive hits gave the Red Sox their only run. Then Grove relieved Quinn and struck out Bradley, Herrera and Ruel. Simmons hit his eighth homer of the season in the second contest, while Cochrane made one in the first. Score:

Cards Win Series

CHICAGO, June 2.—(AP)—Wildness of Chicago's pitchers coupled with some timely hitting by St. Louis gave the Cardinals the series three games to two by winning the final game from the Cubs today, 14 to 6. Both Blake and Milstead were driven off the hill by the visitors while Keen was forced to retire after the first inning because of a broken finger, which re received in knocking down a line drive. His successor, Dyer, was driven from the mound in the third inning, Haines pitching in fine form thereafter. Score:

The Record News Review of Markets and Finance

TOP O' MORN STUFF
By Blondy Crost.

BRAINARD'S MERRY MACE-MEN CONTINUE THEIR ASSAULT ON THE AMBUSHED DALLAS STEERS IN THE SPUDDER JOUSTING LISTS THIS AFTERNOON, HOPING TO MAKE IT FOUR STRAIGHT OVER THE TOTTERING TOP-RUNGERS.

* * *

Long Beach Lester, for sure, is the Wichita Falls pitching pick today, unless as the bold Brainard quaintly quoth last night when interviewed by the fearless reporter, "I may change my mind along about game time after watching Whitey warming up." In that event it's Kiefer.

* * *

Who will Mr. Conely select? What does it matter? Our noble athletes asked for Slim Love yesterday hey got him. Now they'll liberally leave it up to the Dallas leader to do as he wills. No, Sarah, Fence is out of the question. He's gone home tired.

* * *

Claude Davenport, the huge Houston heaver, is just an overgrown boy. Or at least, that seems the way our arrogant Spudders rank the gigantic right-hander. The other day in Houston the Spudders collectively and individually razzed Big Dave at a gay gait throughout the game, finally working him into such a frenzy that he hardly knew whether he was supposed to be pitching or playing in the Buff outer works.

* * *

MUST BE RIGHT

The Spudders clouted over a victory. Just as Freddy Fussell retired the last man in the ninth, Davenport lumbered up to the visitors' dugout, stood on one foot a moment with an under-slung lower lip curling down around his adam's apple and heavily clinched eye brows denoting an acute state of irritation, or something. The Spudders turned to their business of packing up. Suddenly, the large one perceived the midget Lyman Lamb over in the corner of the dugout changing shoes. He let out a howl of rage and uttered a lusty defi. Lucy buckled his forehead a second, then grabbed up his favorite bludgeon and headed for the oversized person, but was intercepted by one of his buddies who tackled him around the hips and sank his teeth into his belt.

Manager Brainard, standing near, turned to Davenport and committed himself thusly: "There are 17 men on this ball club, Davenport. All but one of them can whip you to a frazzle and that one is up at Wichita Falls on crutches. So run along like a nice boy before somebody forgets himself and gives you a spanking." Big Dave pivoted and stalked to the club house muttering inaudibly.

* * *

FRITZ AND PING CHECK

The famous Fitzgerald moved on yesterday, but the great Bodie is still with us and a married man now, too. Fitz entrained for Boston with declaration he will never don a Texas league uniform again. Bodie re-embarked on the matrimonial surf and said nothing. Famous Fitz isn't mad at Doak Roberts' circuit; just confident he will stick under the big top with the Red Sox. The great Bodie hasn't suddenly become tongue-tied; he was just too absorbed with this, that and the other to do any talking among which was receipt of a hurry-up message urging Pizzola to rush to the aid of Mitze, announcing that Bodie is badly needed by the Bears because Golvin's foot is injured again. Ping's slated for a temporary first base berth with San Antonio. Then he's a cinch hitter until one of the Bruin outer gardners cracks, something that is quite imminent, according to Tamalevilie sports scriveners. Pizzola, as you know, has been sold to San Antonio, probably as a wedding present, Ping admitting he would rather reside down by the Alamo than in dusty north Texas.

* * *

LET DOAK UMPIRE

Of the nine men we have seen this season who are drawing umpires' salaries from the Texas league, only two are really efficient umpires. In other words, Doak Roberts is batting a .222 average unless we have been a little hastly in deductions drawn on one other particular indicator we have in mind. Unfortunately, the two topnotch arbiters mentioned haven't appeared in this city so far the current season. Now if you care to, guess who they are.

Most of Doak's arbiters are nice boys, all right, all right, but as one little flapper remarked: there's no demand for 'em.

* * *

Time will tell, Barr and Osborne may improve, Held and Daly never. Hill runs his game, but the veteran doesn't appear to be on his toes as much as in days gone by.

* * *

BUT MULE DIDN'T FAN

Speaking of Texas league umphs, some are rather clever at repartee if nothing more. Gannon enjoyed a terrible day in Dallas Monday, calling left-handed strikes and the like. At one stage of the affair Washburn soldiered on a couple of alleged strikes. The Spudder threw up his hands in defeat, turned and laughed in the indicator's face.

"Whaddyuh grinning at?" asked Gannon.

"What do you think? replied Wash. "Look at that guy out in center field. You even got HIM laughing at you because he can see 'em better out there than you can down here."

Gannon grunted and followed with the sharp retort, "Yeah, he wouldn't be laughing at me if he'd seen you first."

* * *

There will be no wrestling match, officially, in Wichita Falls this week. Matchmaker Ross declares he had carded Jimmy Londos with Dick Daviscourt but the Greek inhaled a run-out powder, wanting no more of Rough Richard.

* * *

Close followers of the mat game will recall that several months ago Daviscourt was jailed in St. Louis for socking Londos on the nasal organ and then taking a peek at the referee. After the Washington grappler was released he chased over to the hotel in which the Greek bunked, sweet-talked a maid into unlocking the door to James' room strode in and pulled Londos out of the hay. They mixed it freely with Jim getting the worse of the melee besides having his purple silk pajamas rent into shreds before the house Dick and half the hotel's personnel of porters came to the rescue and intermediated as peace makers, albeit forcefully. Now Jim's got to wear his white ones, so he's taking no more chances, evidently, with the Washington cave man, having torn the red ones recently in accidental collision with the bathroom bottle opener that all first class hostelries place beside the door.

* * *

Dick Morgan, Spudder right-hander, has been sold to Harrisburg of the New York-Pennsylvania league and Buds Sutherland, outfielder-pitcher, goes to Dallas, it was announced yesterday at Spudder headquarters.

Rumors current to effect George Distel, infielder, will be traded or sold to Fort Worth and Devivieros will be purchased from Beaumont by Wichita Falls, are said to be unfounded. Distel, barring the unforeseen, has a life-time job with the Spudders. Brainard has said after looking Devivieros over in the recent Beaumont-Wichita Falls series he wants none of Bernie in preference to any of his present crop of infielders.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, June 2.—(AP)—Sustained selling apparently from Winnipeg and the east today brought about a setback in wheat values despite an otherwise strong upward trend. Rains in Kansas and relative weakness of the Liverpool wheat market had considerable bearish effect. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, quarter to 1⅝ cents het lower with corn quarter to half cent up, oats averaged unchanged, and provision varying from 5 cents decline to a raise of 15 cents.

Better demand future deliveries of corn was apparent. Buying appeared to be based a good deal on the lateness of planting as likely to mean reduced production. Oats lacked feature.

Provisions were firm owing to the smallness of the increase of warehouse stocks here in May.

BUTTE COPPER AND ZINC CO.
5 3-4 Year Record

The property of the Butte Copper and Zince company is located in the center of the city of Butte and is composed of a group of claims covering 3,000 feet along the Black Chief vein. The property produces principally manganese and zinc, although copper, lead and silver are also found in its ores.

The property is leased to the Anaconda Copper company which owns slightly more than one-third of the Butte Copper and Zinc stock. Under the lease which extends to 1931, net earnings from ores recovered from the property are divided equally between the two companies with the Anaconda agreeing to keep the leased workings in good condition.

Capital stock of the corporation consists of $3,000,000 in shares of $5 par value. There is no funded debt. For the 8 1-2 years ended with 1925 net income was equal to an average of 31 cents a share annually on the capital stock. In 1925 the net income was equivalent to 63 cents a share compared with 22 cents in 1924. On Jan. 1, 1926 current assets were $205,469 and current liabilities $98,283, with no bank loans. The present dividend rate is 50 cents a share payable annually. Payments of that amount were made in 1918, 1923, 1924, and 1925.

The annual report for 1925 stated large new bodies of manganese ore were being opened.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, June 2.—(AP)—The cotton market was very quiet again today and prices fluctuated with a range of five to ten points. After selling off to 17.53 at the start, October rallied to 17.80 and closed at 17.57, the general market closing quiet, net two points lower to four points higher.

The market opened today at a decline of three to five points on all months except May, which was one point higher. Liverpool was a moderate seller here at the start. Coupled with southern and local selling inspired by a more favorable view of weather conditions in the south and relatively easy Liverpool cables, July eased off to 17.50 and December to 17.53, but offerings were very light and prices steadied later on continued drouth complaints from the eastern belt, combined with reports of a better tone in the local market for cotton goods and a better spot demand in the south. July rallied to 18.36, while December sold up to 17.55, and the market closed within two or three points of the best.

The weekly report of the weather bureau started off favorably, as expected, but contained references to many unfavorable features, referring more particularly to drouthy conditions in the eastern belt, and on the whole appeared to create no fresh sentiment of consequence.

Private cables reported hedge selling, combined with some local and Manchester liquidation in Liverpool which they attributed to better weather reports from the south and restriction of business in Manchester, owing to the coal situation.

Detailed weather reports for the day were regarded generally favorable as to temperatures and conditions otherwise in the southwest, but showed only a few light showers where good rains are supposed to be needed in the Carolinas and northern Georgia.

Exports today 10,288, making 7,329,486 so far this season. Port receipts 18,924. United States port stocks 835,102.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, June 2.—(AP)—The cotton market was a quiet affair today. Liverpool came in lower than due and was responsible for an opening decline of a few points. The market continued to ease off slowly during the early trading owing to the general favorable character of early weather news and by the end of the first hour prices showed net losses of three to six points. The weekly weather report was about as expected. The weather forecast also failed to hold out promise of relief in the drouth area. Prices rallied, recovering all the early decline and bringing values back to a level with the previous close. The market fluctuated narrowly in the afternoon, and the close showed net losses for the day of one to three points.

At the start Liverpool being lower than due, first trades showed losses of one to four points. Prices eased off later until July traded at 17.70, October at 17.13 and December at 17.18, or three to six points net lower compared with yesterday's close. These prices were the lows of the day as far as new crop months were concerned, but July made a new low later at 17.60.

The slight rally later in the morning carried July up to 17.72, October 17.16 and December to 17.19, or three to six points up from the lows and parallel with yesterday's close. After easing off almost to the lows in the afternoon, the market rallied near the end closing near the highs. Exports for the day totaled 10,288 bales.

NEW YORK, June 2.—(AP)—A sharp upturn in prices took place towards the close of today's market after an early period of irregularity. Shorts, particularly in the motor group, scrambled to cover when strong buying support appeared in several sections of the list, and it became apparent that the floating supply of many stocks was relatively small. Trading picked up measurably in volume, the day's volume of sales aggregating 1,287,100 shares as compared with 894,200 in yesterday's dull and declining market.

The day's news was largely constructive in character. Call money rates eased as funds withdrawn for June 1 payments began to flow back here from the interior. The weekly steel trade reviews hinted at a further reduction in steel mill schedules in June, but on the basis of increased business in the latter part of May, statisticians made a substantial downward revision of their earlier estimates of the reduction in the May unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation which is now expected to be around 300,000 tons. The declaration of extra dividend on Associated Oil was accompanied by optimistic statements on the business of other oil companies.

General Motors common led the late advance by climbing nearly five points to 129, largely at the expense of an overcrowded short interest. Wall Street heard unconfirmed reports that the directors would declare another extra dividend of $4 in the next quarter. J. P. Morgan and company announced the private sale of 4 stock or $5,000,000 General Motors preferred stock at 115½, the closing market price of 119 representing a net decline of one-half on the day.

Sharp advances took place also in other motors. Mack was run up 9¾ points to 26⅞. Fisher Body advanced 3 to 85½ and net gains of a point or more were recorded by Dodge Brothers A, Jordan, Mack Trucks, Paige-Detroit, Pierce Arrow common and preferred, Stewart-Warner and Willys-Overland common and preferred.

Oils were under quiet accumulation. Lago one of the most active issues, touched 23⅝, the highest price since it was listed on the exchange, and Amerada corporation crossed 134 for a net gain of more than one point, after having sold down to 123½, and Bethlehem advanced nearly a point to 40⅝, but the turnover in each case was relatively small.

Conspicuous strength was shown by American Drake Shoe, American Ice, Congoleum, Dupont, Foundation company, General Electric, Pacific Telephone, Pullman, Texas Gulf Sulphur, United Drug, U. S. Rubber and Worthington Pump common and preferred; all up 1¼ to six points.

A drop of over three points in Atchison, presumably in further reflection of the statement of President Storey that no increase in dividends was likely for some time to come, was the only development of consequence in the railroad group. Most of the other rails moved irregularly higher. New York Central, Chicago and Northwestern and "Nickel Plate" being among the few issues to show net advances of 4 point or more.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent and then dropped to 4 per cent, closing at that figure. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were mixed, but the undertone was steady. Demand Sterling ruled slightly lower just under $4.86 and French francs eased to around 3.26 cents. Belgian francs rallied over six points to around 3.93 cents and Italian lire was slightly firmer at 3.84 cents.

Recreation Hour Draws Big Throng To Travis

Eighty-five children attended the recreation hour at the playground at Travis school Wednesday morning when Miss Marguerite Peery, assistant director of recreation, assisted by Rita Bob Turner, past president of the Girl Reserves, and Evelyn Hardeman, editor-in-chief of the Coyote. The play, "The Well at the World's End," was put on at the park.

At the Sibley-Taylor park Wednesday morning a story telling club was organized to encourage library reading. A story telling hour was held at the sand pile when the smaller children illustrated their stories with castles and robbers' dens built in the sand. Prizes were awarded last week to the best story tellers.

To Organize Club.

"Work at the Huff-McGregor park is moving fine," Miss Peery stated.
