Mrs. Aaron Hurt in Accident

Mrs. Jack Aaron was painfully injured Saturday morning April 13 when the late model station wagon she was driving went out of control and overturned three-fourths mile west of town on Farm to Market road 338.

Her 6-year-old daughter, Chris, was uninjured. The two were on their way to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lacy at Buck Creek.

Mrs. Aaron is in St. Joseph's Hospital receiving treatment for a broken left hand and severe bruises.

It is believed a rear tire went down on the station wagon, causing it to go out of control, Mr. Aaron said.

The vehicle hit a small tree then landed on its top in the edge of a field, according to Sheriff John Rainey. There was considerable damage to the station wagon, he added.

MRS. TEXAS AND HER FAMILY

Wellington honored its Mrs. Texas, Mrs. B. M. Sims, in a coronation ceremony Thursday, April 11. Watching were three of her biggest boosters, her husband and their five-year-old twins, Richard, left, sporting a black eye from a baseball accident, and Randall. Lennie Lou and Billy Mac Sims will leave Wellington during the week end for Miami Beach, Fla., where she will compete for the honors of Mrs. America and Mrs. Savings Bonds.

There will be a children's reading hour from 4 to 5.

Sponsor of this observance of Library Week, April 22 to 27, is the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

"The public is invited to the open house," said Mrs. Zook Thomas, federation president. "We want you to know the library and what is available in it. It is a county institution and the librarian's salary is provided by the taxpayers."

Mrs. Don Van Pelt of Samnorwood, a member of the 1924 Study Club, will be the reader for the story hour, to which all children 5 through 8 years are invited.

A Silver Anniversary

Sisters of St. Joseph's Recall 25 Years Service

The days since April 1 have been days of reminiscence for the Dominican Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital, for this marked the silver anniversary of their activities here.

The day itself saw the inspection of the hospital by a representative of the Joint Committee on Accreditation of Hospitals. Already approved by the committee, it is the only hospital between Amarillo and Wichita Falls to hold that status.

It had begun with Holy Mass offered by Father Pat Burke for the intentions of the Sisters.

In a ceremony that afternoon, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, under the direction of Post Commander Herbert Bearden and Sheriff John Rainey presented the hospital with a flagpole and new flag.

Sister Mary Adele, administrator, received the flag from Louis Berg, VFW quartermaster. It was raised by Donald Settle and Lonnie Roark of the local National Guard unit, and "The Star Spangled Banner" was played by the high school band under the direction of Tubal Cain.

During the evening, the Hospital Auxiliary, under the supervision of Mrs. John Sherman and Mrs. J. W. Wells, served the traditional birthday dinner.

Sister Adele has recalled the coming of the Dominican Sisters to Wellington. She and Sister Rita, again on the hospital staff, along with Sister Damien and Mother Ceslaus, the Mother General of Illinois Congregation of the Dominican Order, arrived in Amarillo by Train April 1, 1938. They had come from the Sacred Heart

Hospital Auxiliary Sets Essay Contest

An essay contest on the subject, "Why Choose a Hospital Career," is open to all high school students in Collingsworth county, Mrs. Ernest Harwell, contest chairman, announced Tuesday.

The contest is sponsored by St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary and the deadline for turning in entries is May 6.

The winner will be announced during National Hospital Week May 12 to 18.

A prize of $5 cash will go to the winner, Mrs. Harwell said. Entries may be turned in to her or to Sister Mary Adele at the hospital.

"The essay may refer to nursing, x-ray or laboratory technology or related hospital professions," Mrs. Harwell said. Judging will be by persons with a hospital background.

Each essay is to be from 250 to 300 words, written in simple style and answer the question contained in the title.

Owens & Scott Announce New Store Building

On the 14th anniversary of the establishment of Owens & Scott Grocery in Wellington, the owners, Steve Owens and George Scott, announced that work will begin this week on construction of a new building in a new location.

The store will be on the north side of the 1100 block of 8th Street and store and parking yard will occupy the entire one-half block between 7th and 8th, according to George Scott, manager.

The store will be 100 by 100 feet, approximately three times the size of the present store in the 1400 block of 8th Street.

The owners will do the building themselves, using local labor, according to Scott.

The front of the new building will be of Mexican brick and glass and the other three walls will be tile. It will be set at the back of the lot.

In front of the store will be enough off-street parking to accommodate 300 cars at a time.

Scott estimated that construction will be completed and the store moved into its new home by August 1.

"We are indeed proud to be able to make this announcement on our 14th anniversary," Owens and Scott said. "Our customers have been good to us through these years and we

Jury Awards Lloyd Holloway $35,000 Damages

A jury in 100th District Court awarded Lloyd Holloway $35,000 in damages in his suit against the Chickasha Cotton Oil Company, which was concluded Wednesday, April 10, Judge Luther Gribble reported.

The suit grew out of injuries received by Holloway when a bale of cotton fell on him at the Wellington Gin in 1961.

Judge Gribble said that in addition, Chickasha Cotton Oil Co., agreed to pay an additional $3,000 hospital and doctors' expenses.

The verdict filed in the office of county-district clerk Lorene Jenkins, shows that the jury allowed $15,000 for physical pain suffered by Mr. Hololway; $12,000 for future pain he will suffer; $2,000 for loss of earnings and $6,000 for future loss of earnings.

The case started Tuesday morning, April 9, with Judge Gribble presiding.

In a criminal case tried on Wednesday, a jury found Dane Klincole guilty of burglary and sentenced him to two years in prison, Judge Gribble said. He was charged with burglarizing Bob's Food Market.

4-H Contests Slated for April 20

A series of contests for 4-H Club members are slated for Saturday, April 20, when winners will be named to represent the county in the District I contests a week later.

The four contests named by Mrs. Kathryn Barjenbruch, the county agent, are favorite food, food educational activity, public speaking and share the fun.

Part of these contests will be held at the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative Inc., building beginning at 9:30 a.m., and the location of the other contests

Arrest Follows Sunday Affray

L. D. Jackson, who operates the Blue Moon Cafe in the flats, was arrested on a complaint of assault with intent to murder after his wife, Lena, was hit on the head with a piece of stove wood, Police Chief Troy Marsh reported.

The incident occurred Sunday, April 14, about 3 a.m., at the cafe, during a family argument, Marsh added.

The woman suffered a cut about six inches long in her head and was hospitalized until Monday in St. Joseph's, he continued. The stick, about five feet long and two and a half inches around, was broken in two.

First Golf Tournament Here This Week End

Wellington will witness its first city-wide golf tournament Saturday and Sunday, April 20 and 21, under sponsorship of the Wellington Golf Association.

The tournament will be played at Marian Municipal Golf Course, Charles Allen, association president, announced.

"We invite the public to come out and watch the tournament as it progresses," Allen added. "You can see just what goes into a golf tournament."

While this is billed as a city-wide tournament, anyone in the county who plays golf is eligible to participate.

The finals will be played on Sunday afternoon.

Five handsome trophies will be awarded, according to Allen. There will be a medalist trophy given the player who shoots the lowest score on the qualifying rounds of 18 holes.

There will be four trophies awarded to the winners of each of the four flights. Since players of different abilities and experience will be playing in the various flights, the winners of these divisions will not compete against each other.

A consolation bracket was set up, to be played similar to the championship bracket. Winner of each of the consolation flights will receive a prize.

"Those entering the tournament should play their qualifying 18 holes during the week of April 14 through 19. This qualifying score should be played in a foursome with each man playing the full 18 holes," Allen explained.

Players should sign the score card and turn it in to a member of the Association: Allen, H. L. Duncan, secretary, or Cal Hurst, Henry Sullivan, Jimmy Cochran, Bob Choice or Lyndon Crelia.

Players will then be placed in the proper flight as indicated by their qualifying score and the names of the pairs drawn. Each pair will play 18 holes of matched play Saturday, April 20 and the winner will meet one of the other winners in his flight for 9 holes on Sunday.

Winners of the first 9 holes Sunday will be in the finals and the final 9 holes will be played that afternoon.

There will be 8 players to each flight and this will be a 36-hole "matched play" tournament, Allen explained. This means, he continued, that each hole will be played separately to determine the winner and the total score for the match has no bearing on who wins it.

"We believe this will give the beginning golfers—and that is what most of us are—a much better chance," Allen added.

Leader Gets Awards at Panhandle Press

The Wellington Leader received recognition in two divisions of the newspaper contests sponsored by the Panhandle Press Association at its annual convention April 12 and 13.

The paper received third place for the best news pictures and honorable mention for general excellence among papers with more than 1,500 circulation.

In the latter division, all parts of the paper are considered—advertising, news, makeup and presswork.

The award for the best use of news pictures was given for the first time this year and was sponsored by the Texas Press Association.

The Wellington Leader competed with newspapers in such larger Panhandle towns as Perryton, Hereford, Dumas, Borger, and weekly papers in Amarillo and Plainview.

The convention got under way Friday morning, when Charley Guy, publisher of the Lubbock Avalanche Journal, was the keynote speaker.

There were other sessions on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. A barbecue dinner

Two 1959 Fords had considerable damage but both drivers escaped without injury in an intersection collision at the southeast corner of the square Saturday about 6 p.m., Police Chief Troy Marsh reported.

He said that Morris Barton was driving east on 9th Street while Charles Boen of Quail was going south on East Avenue.

The front of Barton's car and the right side of Boen's car were damaged, according to the police chief.

Vicki Glenn, B&PW Club girl of the month for March, and Virginia Ann Kennedy, of Quail, chosen for the honor in April, were honored at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday, April 9, in the community building.

Miss Sara Jones gave the program, "Women in Government." She told of women holding top appointive offices in the national government, such as Dr. Beatrice Atchison, director of transportation in the Post Office, and Miss Ruth Bacon, at the U.S. Embassy in Wellington, New Zealand, as well as women engaged in research and space duty for the government.

There are 17 women in the House of Representatives and two in the Senate, one a Democrat and the other a Republican.

On the state level, there are three women in the House of Representatives and one in the state Senate, Mrs. Nevell H. Colson.

Turning to the county level, Miss Jones reminded that Collingsworth county has three women elective officers, one member of the city council, a county librarian and Welfare Department representative.

She urged women to put their power behind good government.

"We have had the vote for 40 years and the government is still in a mess," she said. "If we would use our power properly, we could outvote the men because there are more of us. Or we could get on the side of the men who believe like we do." Later she added:

"Women ought to inform themselves, especially if they are business women."

Both girls-of-the-month have participated in extracurricular activities.

This year Vicki Glenn was Miss Basketball, co-captain of the team, and on the all-district team, officer of Beta Club, a class officer and she was voted Best All Around Girl and Personality Queen.

She also has been an officer in FHA, and last year she was FFA Sweetheart, football Queen, and representative to Girls State.

Outside of school, she has worked with the Junior Music Club, Junior Hospital Auxiliary, is a member of the Methodist Choir, and organist of the church. She is president of the Methodist Young People, a subdistrict officer and co-counselor of the Junior American Legion Auxiliary.

Vicki has played in the National Piano Auditions 10 years, and is working on her high school diploma in music.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Glenn.

Virginia Kennedy is one of the county's outstanding Homemaking students. She has held most offices, including that of president. She was named the Betty Crocker Homemaker for Quail school and received her FHA State Degree of Achievement.

Virginia sings in the high school chorus, is an officer of the Beta Club and Future Teachers, secretary of the senior class, editor of the Quail Echo, and photo editor of the annual. She was named to Who's Who in Homemaking and in Music.

Outside of school, she was runner-up for Farm Bureau Queen, attended the American Legion Bluebonnett Girls State, is a junior chairman of the American Legion Junior Auxiliary and is pianist and assistant Sunday school secretary of Quail Baptist Church.

Famous Libraries Discussed for Club

Mrs. R. R. Crawley was hostess to members of the 1924 Study Club at her country home Thursday, April 11, for a study of "Literary Pathways."

Mrs. Don Van Pelt discussed famous libraries, both in the United States and in Europe. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Rose, a Morton teacher.

Her first was the one nearest home, the Browning Library at Baylor University, Waco, started by the late Dr. A. J. Armstrong, head of the English Department of that university. It contains the largest collection of Robert Brownings works in the world.

Mrs. Van Pelt then told of the John Crerar Library in Chicago, the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C., the Library of Congress and the New York Public Library.

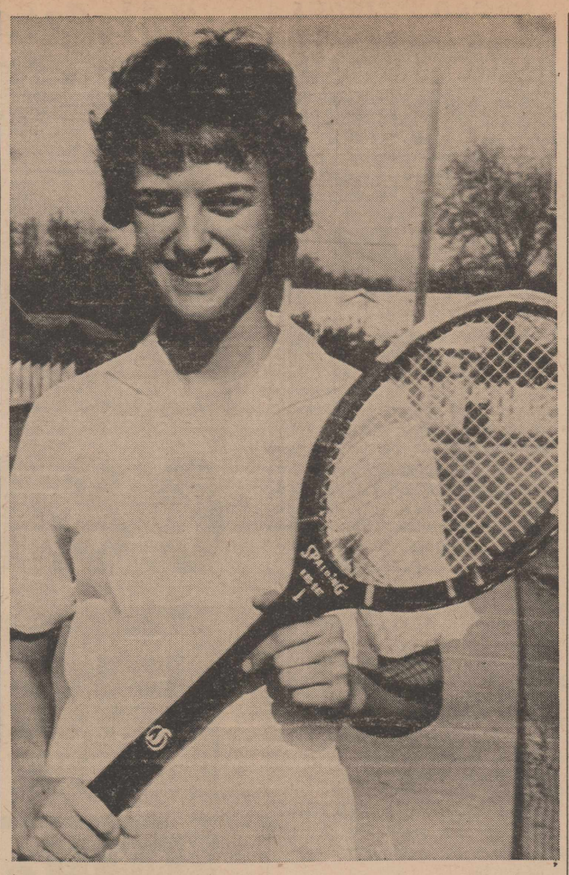

"Although the United Nations library is situated geographically in the United States, it is of the world," she said. While it is primarily for United Nations personnel, it is opened to specialized agencies, the press, radio, and certain other non-governmental organizations, and to scholars and writers.

Foreign libraries included in the discussion were the Vatican Library in Rome, the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris and the British Museum in London. "No other library approaches the range and completeness of its sets of magazines and periodicals," she said of the latter.

Mrs. B. M. Sims directed the business meeting, in which Mrs. Jennie Holcomb was elected an honorary member.

Mrs. Crawley served a dessert plate using an Easter motif to Mmes. Rose, Don Beck, Chester Fires, Ed White, Ed Bawcom, Sims, J. F. Michael, Van Pelt, Howard Riggs, Velman Warrick, Mack Bush, D. C. Cook, Don Wells and Miss Sara Jones.

Buford Wheeler of Irving was here during the Easter week end to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wheeler. Other guests were another son, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Wheeler of Portales, N.M., and on Sunday, dinner guests were Sandra Rogers and Marlyn Hopkins, who are students in Abilene Christian College.

Statement said, "We think this contest has brought about a greater understanding of the problems of the handicapped in Texas. This understanding has contributed much to the successful rehabilitation and employment of the handicapped in gainful occupations throughout the state."

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

AID FOR CAPITALISM

Preoccupation on the part of presidential advisors and federal bureaucrats with "public sector" activity can serve to steer American influence the wrong way.

Some examples of our own boon-doggling are bad enough, but the American people would not, if they had the choice, provide favors for governments having ideologies they disapprove. It is as if government officials, frustrated by their inability to grab full power over private industry, go off to other countries with taxpayers' money to experiment with developments in the "public sector." Something surely is wrong with our thinking if we seek to promote good will for America by encouraging Socialist revolutions.

Administration leaders usually show little strength when Latin American countries decide to expropriate American-owned firms, as Castro did soon after he came to power in Cuba. Perhaps some of these countries think that government take-over is part of the game, representing progress and the wave of the future.

New Frontier VIP's, incidentally, should not equate the Latin American changes in government with the American Revolution. Such excesses, repressions and seizures can delay the development of real progress.

Capital Needed

A few weeks ago the U.S. suspended its economic aid to Ceylon, cutting off about $4,000,000 in loans and grants because that country had failed to compensate two American oil companies it seized last June. But there seems to be no reason why this action, taken slowly in this instance, could not have been speeded up. It would do no harm, in our view, if the President would occasionally make public statements about such actions by foreign countries.

Let us, and let our neighbors who receive aid, support the idea of integrity with regard to business property and relationships.

When the basic problem of many under-developed lands is really sought, we may find it is related to the lack of private investment and private capital.

This was underscored recently in the case of Latin America through the studies of a special Commerce Department advisory committee that has been evaluating the Alliance for Progress.

J. Peter Grace, president of the Grace Steamship firm and the committee's chairman, has predicted that the Alliance will fail dismally unless emphasis is put upon investment of private capital.

Flight of Capital

The 10-year Alliance, now funneling a billion per year into Latin America, cannot succeed in its present form, Mr. Grace said, because it emphasizes government-to-government assistance. The basic fault, he said, is that we have not required "self-help" measures that would utilize "all the skills and resources of the private sector, local and foreign." Increasingly, we hear that dollars we send to Latin America are finding their way across the Atlantic to prosperous Western Europe where capital is presently attracted by investment opportunities.

The suggestion is that even $1 billion is too small an amount of aid, if it is to be handed over to governments that insist only upon social welfare experiments (encouraged by our do-gooders), rather than stimulating capital to action. Not only does government to government aid tend to displace private activity, it encourages political systems that show no warmness toward the idea of private economic development.

Instead of improving living standards and supporting freedom, our aid in some instances prolongs inefficient government activities and actually encourages trends toward Marxism.

Other business leaders on this committee studying the Alliance issued a memorandum that commended land reforms and other efforts to achieve income distribution, but they also declared the only solution "is to put primary stress on improvement in general business climate as a prerequisite for social development and reform." So far, they said, little has been done to arrest the flight of capital.

They called upon President Kennedy to make a major address stressing our opposition to nationalizing of industries, unstable money systems, trade restrictions, price controls, and various other practices that weaken the economic structure and prolong insecurity.

Whether the President will thus get to the root of the Latin American problem is the question. It may be too much to expect that he will withhold aid from countries known to discourage private investment. But it does seem that the Alliance for Progress ought to be teaching the Latins the advantages we have discovered in and the blessing enjoyed from freedom of enterprise and business investment.

Electric Controls Will Make Farm Work Easier

COLLEGE STATION.—Electrical control devices now available make possible the substitution of machinery for manpower and are being utilized on dozens of farm jobs, reports W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer.

Controls which react to changes in temperature, humidity, pressure, time and light are now available. They can be used to operate heaters, motor driven equipment, lights, and other devices to maintain desired conditions, the engineer explains.

Thermostats and humidistats are used to control electric hotbeds, brooders, ventilating systems and supplemental heaters. Pressure switches which respond to changes in pressure in liquid, air or gas may automatically control electric pump equipment and air compressors. A form of pressure switch is also used to operate equipment that automatically operates feed grinding and conveying systems, Allen says.

Three types of time controls are in use—time clocks, recycling timers and timers. The time clocks are used to control, automatically, lights in poultry houses, automatic feeders for poultry, aeration systems and other equipment.

The photo-electric relay control is sensitive to change in light and is used on yard lights and in poultry houses to control lighting and are adapted for counting operations and many other applications, says the engineer.

Other electrical control devices are float and limit switches, solenoid valves and time-delay and electromagnetic relays.

Allen says such controls are essential items in the design of automatic systems for the farm and home. Systems are now in use in Texas which automatically blend, grind and mix ingredients of a grain ration for livestock and poultry and deliver it to the feeders. Prospects are good, he adds, for more varied uses to be developed as automation on the farm and in the home cintinues.

IT'S THE LAW ★ in Texas ★

A Public Service Feature by the State Bar of Texas

A TAX AUDIT

More and more taxpayers are getting audited as a part of the government's revenue collection. If selected, you may well ask, "Why pick on me?"

Well, you may have made an arithmetic mistake, deducted too much, claimed a large refund compared to your income, had a big income, had too small an income. Or you may have been picked out by chance.

There are many audits. An auditor may ask you to bring in your records to talk over your return. Often one talk is enough. Again you may have several talks before the matter is closed. You may bring your lawyer along if you like, or anyone who helped you make out your last return.

Sometimes a federal agent may come to your home or place of business to check your records in person. Just showing the agent your records may satisfy him. But he may "adjust" your return. You then must take steps to pay, or to challenge his conclusions.

When a special agent comes to see your records, it may be well to have your lawyer on hand.

As a rule most honest differences over taxes are settled without suits. But not always. Whenever taxes are challenged, take prompt steps to protect your interests. People have lost good defenses or claims by failing to act within the times set by law.

The workload of the tax offices has brought on automatic data processing. Magnetic tapes and other devices may store and analyze returns on each taxpayer, say, by 1970 or sooner. Then more audits.

TEACHERS NEEDED

Texas now needs 7,000 teachers as replacements for those now employed who do not meet the minimum requirements of certification.

Miss Carol Cummings of Austin spent several days during the Easter holidays in the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. W. Neeley.

Tax Cut Sought for Sulphur, Banks

AUSTIN.— While legislators begin consideration of tax increases to help finance state government activities, mainly the growth in higher education, two industries are about to get tax cuts.

Both Houses of the Legislature passed a bill to reduce the tax on sulphur producers.

House also has passed, and favorable Senate action is expected on a bill to exempt state banks from the sales tax and the corporation franchise tax.

Both groups are putting up persuasive arguments. Sulphur lobbyists say that Louisiana's tax on sulphur is only $1.03 a ton, so Texas should cut its rate to that level.

IMPORTANT TO LOCATE SCREWWORMS IMMEDIATELY

Knowing immediately where every screwworm case in the Southwest is located has become so important to the eradication program that arrangements have been made so livestock producers can call the Mission headquarters collect when a case is found.

Producers are urged to call day or night, JUstice 5-1646, Mission, whenever an infestation is found. They are asked by the program officials to do two things—collect about ten worms from the wound, place them in water or alcohol and hold for instructions, and report the infestation by telephone to Mission.

University Status for a School That Has Served Collingsworth

The granting of University status to West Texas State College is a matter of pride to the entire Panhandle, an indication of this area's educational growth and the stretching of its intellectual limits.

A school does not gain the rank of Uniersity without meeting certain rigid requirements and high standards. Nor can it do so without students of fine mental calibre.

The Panhandle has need of a university. To the north, the nearest university is in Denver; to the west, Eastern New Mexico University; to the south, Midwestern at Wichita Falls; and to the east, Oklahoma City. The new university keeps step with the Panhandle that is growing both population wise and economically.

West Texas State has left its indelible mark on Collingsworth, on both the education of the students who studied there, and on the schools of the county. It is safe to say that in the last half century, a majority of the teachers of this county's schools have done at least some of their work in West Texas.

There are a number still here who knew their first thrill of higher education at West Texas Normal, still many, many more who took degrees from "the Teachers College at Canyon," and for the last 25 years, who attended West Texas State College.

There will be a note of pride in each voice that now says, "I went to West Texas State University."

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where Washington is going to use force to stop these Cuban exiles raiding and otherwise pestering Castro and Russia's new Western hemisphere colony.

Seems these vandalous acts make the communists mad, and the No. 1 aim of our modern, sophisticated war fighters is to keep the enemy happy.

My peopleology expert neighbor says this is likely a very cultural type of war strategy, but has the slight drawback that you can't win with it, due to a Law of Nature which says you can't whip anybody without irritating him a little.

My reluctant taxpayer neighbor says many items of news here lately have bothered him, but just the other day he found one that really hurt his feelings.

Says it was about the sumptuous $30,000 party that Kid King Hassan II threw while in Washington on a mooching mission.

Neighbor says he feels slighted because he had just mailed in a check to the government for enough money to run this fancy blowout for 2 minutes and 12 seconds, and he didn't get an invitation.

I see where some very high officials in Washington got all lined up to take lie detector test, but somebody decided this would be a dangerous thing to start.

My scientizzy neighbor says anyhow nobody will ever invent a better lie detector than a Republican during a Democratic administration, and vice versa.

Says, now, a horse-sense detector would be useful, but probably too expensive, as it would have to be a mighty sensitive instrument to get any reading in Washington.

Final Rites Friday for Mrs. Ida Porter

Mrs. Ida L. Porter, who formerly lived here, died in the Mary E. Bivens Nursing Home in Amarillo Wednesday, April 10, about 3:30 p.m. She was 86 years of age and had lived away from here most of the time for about 10 years.

Funeral services were conducted at First Methodist Church Friday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Davis Edens and the Rev. J. F. Michael, and burial was in the family plot in West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were grandsons, Calvin Lacy, Rodney Porter, Billy Lacy and Farrell Tibbetts.

Mrs. Porter was born Oct. 6, 1876, in Scott county, Ark. She was married to James Kenny Porter Sept. 6, 1893, at Cauthron, Ark., and in 1900, they moved to Texas, locating at Clarendon.

Forty-six years ago they came to near Wellington where they farmed until his retirement.

Mr. Porter preceded her in death Feb. 26, 1952.

She had been a devoted member of the Methodist Church since she was 12 years of age and she also was a member of the Rebekah Lodge.

Surviving Mrs. Porter are two sons and four daughters: Marshall Porter of Bell, Calif.; Wilson Porter of Wellington; Mrs. A. B. Smith of Borger; Mrs. M. F. Tibbetts of Lefors; Mrs. Minette Propes of Dallas and Mrs. Ova Gadd of Denver, Colo.

There are 20 grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren.

Loan Shark Bill Groups Disagree

All Texans were invited to appear and testify about the so-called "loan shark" legislation.

Enough Texans accepted to make it a three-hour session, with the House Banks and Banking Committee. There were two major points of disagreement. One—the insurance provisions of Senate Bill 15 (passed by the Senate). And two—the maximum loan to be made for a company to fall under the act, and thus be allowed to charge more than 10% interest.

Witnesses representing the insurance companies generally protested that the new commissioner, to be called for under the act, would have too much power. Especially over rates.

On the maximum loan proposition, opinions varied widely. Bill specifies $1,500. Some witnesses would like to lower it to $300. Others thought it should be raised to $3,000 or more.

Women's Rights Status Reported

Legislation to provide equal rights for women is in this status in the Texas Legislature: Senate Joint Resolution No. 2, which is what the women want, has passed the Senate. It was heard by the House Constitutional Amendments Committee and sent to a subcommittee.

If the resolution gets thru the Legislature, it will have cleared perhaps its biggest hurdle. Next stop calls for passage of a contitutional amendment, by vote of the people. Amendments usually receive public approval.

However, even after that, all questions of women's rights would not be defined. A good bit of legislation still would be required.

Former Attorney General Will Wilson, in testimony before the House committee, said that if the amendment is passed, "the Legislature will have its work cut out for it in the next session."

This Is Your Money

but Everything It Buys Isn't in Those Packages

- Goods and Services are only a part of what our money buys when we spend it.
- About one-third of it goes to help pay for schools, churches, protection, conveniences, and other elements of community life.
- Logically, then, we get nothing we can use for this substantial part of our money, except when we spend it at home.

The Collingsworth County Home Demonstration Clubs and Home Demonstration Council are sponsoring a style show Friday night, April 19, in the Wellington school cafetorium.

The show begins at 7:30 p.m. according to Mrs. Kathryn Barjenbruch, home demonstration agent.

Included in the style show will be garments made by county women and girls in home demonstration and 4-H workshops. Garments they have bought also will be shown, and these will be studied for accessories, care and fitting problems.

There will be a talk on help-yourself dry cleaning, fabrics and finish.

All the educational information will be provided by research people from this area and elsewhere, Mrs. Barjenbruch said.

The public is invited to attend.

More Taxes Due If Bill Passed

Some $43,000,000 in additional revenue would be gained during the next two years by adoption of a House Revenue and Taxation Committee substitute for House Bill 106 in the Texas Legislature.

Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, chairman of the subcommittee that revised the proposed tax law to comply with Governor Connally's program, said the bill as now drawn would incorporate a one-year extension of the state franchise tax to April 30, 1965. This would net the state $11,200,000. Repeal of the exemption of outer clothing under $10 would get $20,400,000. Bringing motor vehicles under the sales tax with an increase from 1½% to 2% would provide $6,100,000. Other minor changes would round up additional millions.

Holiday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Scott were their son and daughter, Randall Scott of Plainview, and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby McCutchen and children of Liberal, Kan.

Mrs. O. A. Terry returned last week after visiting two children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley and children at Artesia, N.M., and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Terry and daughters at Albuquerque, N. M.

Pat Starr Joins Cast of Summer Theatre

When Theatre Sandy Shores opens in Corpus Christi July 4, a former Wellington girl, Pat Starr, will be a member of the cast.

During the Easter holidays she visited her mother, Mrs. Mildred Starr of Amarillo. She is also ahe granddaughter of Mrs. G. N. Scruggs and P. E. Starr.

This year, Miss Starr is teaching in the drama department of Delmar College, Corpus Christi, and working with a children's theatre in that city.

At present, she is also serving as representative of the professional musical summer stock theatre-in-the-round, the only one of its kind in the Southwest.

The season will last from July 4 until August 31. Theatre Sandy Shores will present "Gypsy," "The Music Man," "Show Boat," and "The King and I."

The theatre itself is brand new this season, although the project has been planned for three years. It was endorsed and aided by the chamber of commerce of that city as an outstanding project to attract the tourist trade. The theatre is supported privately and by business enterprises.

Jeannine Hager is director, and also head of the drama department of Delmar College. She and Miss Starr have been friends for several years.

Before going to Delmar College, Miss Starr was a member of Paul Baker's Dallas Theatre Center Troupe. Last summer she played summer stock in North Carolina.

NEW AUTHORITY

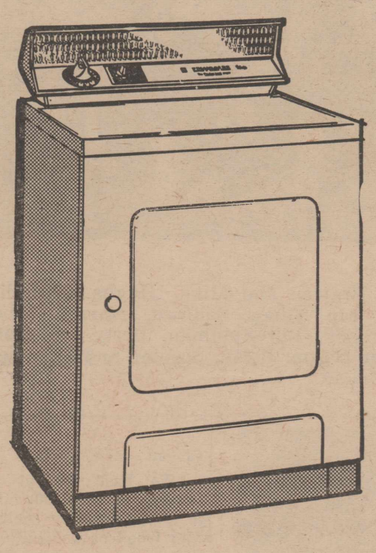

A measure affecting the Gulf Coast was introduced into the Texas House of Representatives by Rep. Leroy Wieting of Portland, setting in motion a "pilot program" of regulation by the Teras Game and Fish Commission over the wildlife resources of Aransas county.

It might have far-reaching effects, giving the commission authority to fix seasons on game birds, game animals and fresh and salt water fish and shellfish, excluding shrimp.

After an argument, a London man left home and took the stove with him.

Each year during that period, improvements have been made in the store. This year, however, effort has been turned toward getting ready for the new construction program.

In naming the store's employees, it was pointed out that every man on the staff is a local man.

These include Carroll Daves, assistant manager; Jimmy Thompson, stock manager; Dee Holliman, butcher; Stanton Trimble, butcher-helper; and James Field, Dwayne Poteet and Olan Moore, stockers.

Library

Mrs. Richard Bailey, treasurer.

Mrs. R. H. Isbell, librarian, will answer questions and explain the library program.

Alternating in assisting during the afternoon will be delegates to the federation from the member clubs.

A library board, with Mrs. Chester Fires as chairman, governs the library policy.

"We have 4,327 volumes in the library—on all subjects," Mrs. Isbell said. But a few minutes later she added that only about 200 books are checked out each week.

"We have several regular readers in their 80s who walk to town and select their books," Mrs Isbell said. "Quite a lot of the books are used here, especially the reference books that are used by college students while at home."

The library itself came into being in 1924, when Mmes. Lee O'Neil, A. B. Smith, J. B. Stevenson, W. R. Orr, J. W. Harper and the late Mmes. Walter Campbell, W. O. Richards, and Miss Katherine Boverie gathered up a few books and set up the library in the basement of the Methodist Church. Miss Boverie was librarian without pay.

Upon the organization of the City Federation in 1927, it took over the library and a room was rented upstairs in the O'Neil building for $10 a month.

The commissioners court in 1929 considered paying the librarian's salary but nothing was done until 1931. The county pays the salary today.

Upon Miss Boverie's death in 1957, Mrs. Isbell was appointed to the post, and in that year, the Katherine Boverie memorial reference room was established.

Firemen Get Two Calls

The Wellington Fire Department received a call from Quail Monday night but before they could reach there, they were notified the fire had been extinguished. It was in a lead-in electric line to a stucco building in Quail.

The department answered a call Tuesday afternoon to extinguish a grass fire started by a fire at the city dump grounds. A strip of grass north of the dump was destroyed but the fire department succeeded in extinguishing the fire before it reached the river.

Sisters

Convent in Springfield, Ill., at the invitation of the Most Reverend Robert E. Lucey, Bishop of Amarillo. and Dr. E. W. Jones, who owned and operated the Hospital.

"We stepped off the train into the worst sandstorm imaginable. We could hardly get from the train to Father Daly's car," she recalls. The Rev. James Daly had driven to Amarillo for them.

"It was the worst sandstorm we had ever seen—in fact it was the first one. And we were amazed at the tumble weeds."

Members of the original staff were Mother Ceslaus, Mother General of the Order, Sister Damien, superintendent of nurses; Sister Rita, receptionist; Sister Mary James, night supervisor; Sister Adele, anesthetist aid obstetrical supervisor; Sister Helen Marie, surgical supervisor and x-ray and laboratory technician; Sister Mary Bernardo and Sister Rosanne, nurses.

Lay members of the staff were Mrs. Ernest Harwell, Miss Mary Boles and Miss Dorothy Preuit.

Shortly after the arrival of the sisters, the hospital was placed under the patronage of St. Joseph, and has since been known as St. Joseph's Hospital.

In 1950, Dr. Jones deeded the entire hospital property to the Sisters. Two years later an addition was made to the original building, making it possible for the Sisters to carry out all the functions of a complete hospital unit.

"It is the ambition of the Sisters now serving at St. Joseph's to emulate the work of those six pioneer Sisters who sacrificed much to make a Silver Anniversary possible," Sister Adele said this week.
