SHOVELS SNOW
Typical scene by Joe Bunch here this morning

Roads Slick But Snow Welcome

Soft falling snow may have been hazardous for motorists, but it brought welcome moisture to farm and ranch lands, as well as to suburban lawns and gardens. From two to four inches of snow was reported in various parts of the county, with average of about two inches in Big Spring.

Light sleet began falling in Big Spring about 11:30 a.m. Thursday, and later turned to snow. Most of the fall melted until about 6 p.m. when the ground turned white. By midnight a full blanket covered the area.

NO POWER LOSS
No power difficulties were reported in the immediate Big Spring area, but Texas Electric Service Co. reported momentary interruption of power at Otis Chalk. Telephone service remained normal.

Streets were icy when the snow began to stick on pavement, and traffic compressed it into ice sheets, causing several accidents and running property damage high.

The Big Spring Experiment Station gauge showed .10 of an inch of moisture out of one to one and a half inches of snow. The thermometer at the station fell to 20 degrees around 3 a.m. Friday and remained there until after 8 a.m. By mid-morning the downtown temperature stood at 31 degrees, although the snow had started melting and the streets were slushy.

HEAVIEST
The heaviest moisture in the area was reported at Coahoma, Ackerly and Otis Chalk with approximately .30 inch in each place.

Reports to the southwest showed from .10 to .20 inch; north, from Fairview to Acker-

ABSENTEES ON UPSWING

Approximately 1,400 students, out of more than 7,400, were absent from Big Spring schools this morning, Dr. Charles Almsworth, director of elementary education, reported. Attendance stood at 82 per cent as compared to an average of 83.6 per cent.

Absenteeism at most schools showed about the same percentage. Gay Hill and Kentwood schools showed the best attendance percentage. Two Northside schools showed a 30 per cent absenteeism.

"Today is Friday and, along with the weather, possibly added to the absenteeism," Dr. Almsworth said.

A passing motorist took Taylor when they car turned over after hitting an icy spot on FM 2212 about four miles south of Ackerly at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, highway patrolmen said. The young men were traveling north on the road, and Taylor was driving the vehicle at the time of the accident, officers said. Damage to the car was estimated at $500 to $600.

Rash Of Wrecks Injure 5 Persons

Fourteen traffic accidents including four in which five persons were injured, occurred during and after the snowfall between noon Thursday and 10 a.m. today.

Police blamed most of the accidents on hazardous road conditions. City crews spread gravel over many of the slick spots at intersections and on inclines.

ROAD BLOCKED
US 87 south became impassable about 11:45 p.m. Thursday when two semi-trailer trucks stalled near Cosden Lake, according to highway patrolmen, who called highway department crews to spread gravel on the slick road. Another large truck "jack-knifed" in front of the Sands Motel on US 80 west about 4:15 a.m., blocking one lane of westbound traffic, according to police. Officers also reported several cars were abandoned at various points around the city.

Injured in accidents were: Lonnie Taylor, 20, Route B, La Mesa; Ike Wasson, 20, Vealmoor; Ralph Rolly Gordon, 30, Lubbock; Mrs. Melba Castleman, 23, 107 Cottonwood, and Ralph McConnell, Webb AFB.

Taylor and Wasson were injured when their car turned over after hitting an icy spot on FM 2212 about four miles south of Ackerly at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, highway patrolmen said. The young men were traveling north on the road, and Taylor was driving the vehicle at the time of the accident, officers said. Damage to the car was estimated at $500 to $600.

One Juror Selected In Jack Ruby's Trial

Deadly Game, China Warned

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Johnson, shaking a finger at Communist China, said today that outsiders supporting Communist guerrillas in South Vietnam are "playing a deeply dangerous game."

At the same time, Johnson argued that communism's troubles around the globe actually are more acute than those facing the United States. He said U.S. problems are eclipsed by "the spreading civil war among Communists"—a reference to the policy rift between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

The President gave his foreign policy views in an address prepared for an outdoor convocation at the University of California at Los Angeles, held to honor Johnson and visiting President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico.

GOOD WILL TALKS

This was the prelude to two days of Mexican-American good will talks at the desert resort of Palm Springs, 90 miles away.

Lopez Mateos, in remarks prepared for the campus ceremony, called on educators and scholars to help "abolish the cold war, wipe out the origins of international tension and to increase understanding among peoples and governments."

The Mexican leader said some may think it Utopian to "completely do away with the ominous atmosphere that already seems to be dissolving." But he contended that "it is realistic to consider such goals as being imminent.

Johnson reaffirmed American determination to support the independence of South Vietnam. He described this as a 10-year-old commitment "we will continue to honor." But he said the Vietnamese war "is first and foremost a contest to be won by the government and people of that country for themselves."

VIET NAM

The President did not name Communist China in his discussion of Viet Nam. But his meaning was clear in saying that "those engaged in external direction and supply (of the guerrilla war) would do well to remember that this type of aggression is a deeply dangerous game."

Johnson said that "in our foreign policy today there is room neither for complacency nor for alarm."

And, after citing difficulties in Viet Nam, Cyprus, Panama and Cuba, he said:

"Larger than the troubles I have noted is the spreading civil war among Communists."

He did not elaborate on this statement. Declaring that "there is no panic on our agenda," Johnson said that if the nation's adversaries offer deeds of peace, "our own response will be swift."

PEACE HOPE

He said "our unrelenting policy is to do all that strengthens the hope for peace." Aided he said "nothing will make us weary in these tasks."

Ticking off trouble spots one by one, Johnson first cited Viet Nam, then Cyprus where strife between Greeks and Turks threatens to erupt in an Eastern Mediterranean war.

Johnson pledged anew that the United States, though not directly involved, "will do all we can to find a solution" to the Cypriot problem.

"I appeal for an end to bloodshed, before it is too late," he said.

"It is the task of statesmanship to prevent the danger in Cyprus from exploding into disaster."

Myers Begins Trial Defense

The state of Illinois has completed presentation of its case against John Edwin Myers, charged with murder, and the defense is expected to start its case at once.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said he had been in contact by telephone with the prosecutor from Belleville several times Thursday.

He was informed that three mental experts—two psychiatrists and a psychologist—from the Texas State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, have been summoned as witnesses. These men also testified in the trial of Myers in Cherokee County for the murder of Arthur DeKraal.

Two of these will be defense witnesses, Jones said, and one will appear for the state, probably as a rebuttal witness.

Myers is being tried in Illinois for shooting Carol Ballard, 10, to death. She and her 47-year-old father, George Ballard, were slain on the shore of a lake near Belleville Aug. 30, 1961.

West Texas Bank Hearings Slated

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Banking Board will meet March 5 to hear applications for four new state banks and to take action on two pending applications from Midland.

Scheduled for hearings are the proposed Granbury State Bank, Guaranty Bank at Lubbock, First Bank and Trust Co. at Austin, and the Texas State Bank at Abilene.

The Midland applications are for the Texas State Bank and the First State Bank.

MAX E. CAUSEY
... first on jury

Long Stay In Tiny Room For Juror

DALLAS (AP)—Max Causey's new home is an eight-foot square, windowless room on the eighth floor of the Dallas County Records building.

The engineer, 35, was chosen Thursday as the first juror in the Jack Ruby murder trial.

Until other jurors join him, or the trial is transferred, his only companion will be a court bailiff, W. W. Mabry. He can communicate with his wife and two sons only through messages—which are read by the bailiff.

RUBY THING

Before Causey left for the courthouse, he told his wife "I bet this is about this Ruby thing." But she said he believed he could be an impartial juror.

"I'm not happy about his being selected," Mrs. Causey said. "Having him away from home is going to be a long ordeal."

How long, no one knows.

Mabry said he expects Causey to live in the courthouse longer than any previous juror. In 1958, one juror was confined more than a month.

"We'll play a lot of dominoes I'm sure," Mabry said.

WITH LOUNGE

Causey's room, like others built for jurors, opens off a hall with a lounge at one end. The lounge is furnished with card tables, chairs and games.

Lawyers can give permission for Causey to watch censored television. Newspapers, for example, will be shut off. Newspapers will also be trimmed of any stories relating to the trial, and books and magazines containing articles relating to criminal cases will not be allowed.

Spelling Bee Booklets

Copies of the official "Words of Champions" spelling book and the rules for the Second Annual Howard County Spelling Bee are now available at the office of the Daily Herald.

All boys and girls who plan to enter the Bee should have a copy of the practice book and the official rules.

The price is just 15 cents.

Seven Challenges Used By Defense

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's lawyers used up two more peremptory challenges in his murder trial today during a thunderous session in which Judge Joe Brown warned one of the defense attorneys about the possibility of citing him for contempt of court.

It was the defense's seventh peremptory challenge out of its allotted 15.

Ruby's lawyers employed the challenge to reject Herbert Goellner. He said he has served as a juror in Buffalo, N.Y. Goellner said he was a juror "in a murder case, a couple of rape cases and things of that nature."

Joe Tonahill of the defense tried hard to shake Goellner's statement that he has no fixed opinions in the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald by Ruby.

A shouting match developed between Tonahill and Asst. Dist. Atty. Jim Bowie.

At one point, the judge said, "Mr. Tonahill, I don't want you to raise your voice any more. We are only five feet apart. I can hear you in a whisper."

Tonahill apologized and said, "I can't help it if I react as strongly as I do at what I see going on in this court."

He had previously said, "The position of the district attorney staggers credulity. There is more desperation in the district attorney's position than is conceivable."

A moment later, another storm arose when Bowie asserted that Tonahill "had violated all the rulings of the court."

The judge halted the questioning and said, "Mr. Tonahill, I don't want to have to hold you in contempt. I sustain an objection to your question, and you back into it another way."

Tonahill apologized and replied that he might "unconsciously be in contempt" but that he would try not to be.

One juror of the 32 candidates questioned has been accepted. Today's session began with the defense peremptorily rejecting Bill Bohannon, 36, a husky, curly haired salesman.

The state followed by using its second peremptory challenge, on James C. Bland, 42, a store manager.

Watching the proceedings for a short time were the wife and child of chief defense counsel Melvin Belli. Mrs. Belli and her son, Caesar, sat in the rear row of the jury box.

Bohannon said he had not seen the televised shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of President Kennedy. The assistant defense attorney, Joe Tonahill, insisted the salesman had "fixed opinions" and could not come into the jury with an open mind.

At one point, Tonahill addressed Bohannon as "Mr. Causey." Max E. Causey, 35, an electronics analyst, was selected Thursday as the first juror.

A peremptory challenge is one in which the challenger is not required to state his reason. Roth sides have 15. The prosecution has used only one peremptory challenge.

Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown said before court began today that he planned to hold a Saturday session.

Juror Causey "is just what we've been looking for," Belli said after both sides agreed on him, Thursday.

Causey, 35, holds a master's degree in education. Under questioning, he said he was familiar with the names of some prominent psychiatrists, mentioned by Belli, and knew about books they have written. He did not indicate he had read the books.

Ruby's defense against a charge of murder with malice will be based on temporary insanity. Causey said he has an open mind about what Belli called "transient insanity."

Ruby killed Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy, as Oswald was being transferred from a Dallas jail.

Prior to Causey's appearance Thursday—fourth day of the trial—all prospective jurors summoned for questioning had been rejected.

Causey, square-jawed, shouldered and muscular, with crew-cut hair, is a former Air Force pilot. Working Saturdays, he received his master's degree at East Texas State College about two years ago. His wife, Rosemary, has a master's degree in physical education. They have two sons.

The moments before Causey became the first juror were electric with drama.

Belli's manner of questioning had indicated he might agree to seat Causey.

First, Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade accepted the juror.

When Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown asked the decision of the defense, Ruby's attorneys went into a huddle around him. They asked his opinion of Causey and said he replied, "He looks all right to me."

U Thant Delays Debate On Cyprus

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant today obtained a delay in U.N. Security Council debate on Cyprus until Monday while he continued talks on his plan to ease the crisis.

Council members agreed to Thant's request for the delay and the next meeting was scheduled tentatively for Monday afternoon.

General agreement on broad objectives was reported from private negotiations on Thant's proposals for an international peace force, an impartial mediator to seek a political accord between the feuding Greek and Turkish Cypriots, and a Security Council guarantee of Cypriot independence and territorial integrity.

A Cyprus government representative said there was general agreement that a mediator should be named and that the international force should be linked to the council through a committee headed by Thant.

However, discussions were continuing on the nations that should be asked to supply the troops, which Thant reportedly wants to draw from British Commonwealth and nonaligned nations.

Disagreement was reported on whether the Security Council resolution should refer to the 1960 treaty by which Britain, Greece and Turkey guaranteed the independence of Cyprus and the maintenance of the island republic's constitution.

Greek Cypriots want no mention of the treaty because it permits Greece, Turkey and Britain to intervene militarily. The Greek Cypriots want to end the Turkish Cypriot minority's veto over legislation, and they fear a Turkish invasion to partition the island between the two communities. Britain, Turkey and the United States are insisting that the council take cognizance of the treaty.

RED STOCKING REVUE OPENS HERE TONIGHT

Tickets were still available this morning for both performances of the Red Stocking Revue, which opens tonight in the City Auditorium. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. today and Saturday.

Tickets are available at the box office of the auditorium at $2, or from any member of the Webb AFB Officers Wives Club, the sponsoring agency. Brisk sales were reported all week, and residents are encouraged to pick up tickets early. All seats are reserved.

With a cast of about 50 officers and their wives, the production is being directed by Joe Landis, of the Jerome H. Cargill Production Organization of New York.

Some 18 musical numbers are included in the show, with musical direction by George Laubmeier. Temple dancers, the Charleston, hep kittens, and flappers make up some of the dance routines.

A highlight of the revue includes the selection of a maharajah. Nine candidates, representing as many local service clubs, are entered in this competition. They will be introduced at tonight's performance and the winner named Saturday night. Residents may vote for their favorites, with each vote costing one penny.

All proceeds from the production will go to the welfare fund of the Webb OWC.

DEAR ABBY

Your Mother Knows Best

DEAR ABBY: I am 24, attractive (I'm told) and work in a large plant. I am supporting a three-year-old son by a former marriage. A man I work with took a liking to me. He is in his late 40's, nothing to look at, but he has been wonderful to me. He paid up most of my bills and gives me cash when I need it. He is married, but his wife treats him rotten. Abby, this man says he thinks of me as his daughter and he wants nothing from me. My mother has an evil mind. She says it looks "bad" and could lead to his divorce. I need his friendship. How can I get my mother off my back? I have to live with her because she takes care of my child while I work.

MOTHER ON MY BACK
DEAR GIRL: Your mother's judgment is better than yours. You have no business accepting favors from a married man. There isn't any Santa Claus, and it could be rough sledding on the snow job he's giving you.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and my best friend is without a boy friend. My boy friend has a best friend that is without a girl friend. Should I ask my boy friend if his best friend would like to have a girl friend? Or should I keep my mouth shut?

HESITATING:
DEAR GIRL: Ask your boy friend to bring his best friend around some time when your best friend is there. Then let his friend make up his own mind.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has engaged in heated arguments on numerous occasions, and she is usually wrong. She makes some idiotic statement, then proceeds to defend it. When we get home I am told, "If you loved me, you would have stuck up for me!" I told her I will stick up for her only when she is right. She says I should stick up for her, right or wrong, or else I reach all former students.

No Political Ties, Claims Lady Gunner

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Stone, jailed in a shooting incident involving a man she believed to be a senatorial candidate, says her political activity has been confined to voting.

She said in an interview that she has no political connections and did not personally know her intended victim, Gordon McLendon, a radio executive opposing Ralph Yarborough for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

WILD SHOT

The 47-year-old divorcee fired a wild shot at a man who turned out to be W. W. Dyer, 48, of Dallas. She told officers she had been upset since the assassination of President Kennedy.

She was charged with attempted murder.

McLendon said he did not know the woman, although she attempted to see him at his office earlier this week when he was out of town.

McLendon said he will ask Dallas and federal authorities to investigate Mrs. Stone's background and determine whether she is a member of the Fair Play for Cuba committee.

"I want to know if she, like Lee Harvey Oswald, is not part of that ultra-left wing element which seeks to destroy anything in its path by whatever motive," the candidate said.

Mrs. Stone said she belonged to no organization.

A detective quoted her after the shooting as saying she intended to kill McLendon because "he is a Communist and fools around with Cosa Nostra."

In the interview she said she favored no other senatorial candidate but opposed McLendon because "he is a bad man who controls a bad gang."

About the President's death, Mrs. Stone said: "It is most tragic and unfortunate that the assassination martyred a President who made many serious mistakes. If he had lived, he would not have been so popular."

NO DETAILS

She declined to discuss details of the shooting.

The woman said she was "delighted" to have the security of a jail cell, and explained that locks had been broken from her doors recently.

She said she had talked to a number of newsmen, and: "I said to myself I am going to be completely businesslike and dignified and show them I am in complete control of the situation."

The shooting occurred at the Dallas air terminal after the woman asked officials to page McLendon on the public address system.

Sentenced To Prison Term

Maurice Lester Madden, indicted for theft over $50, pleaded guilty before Judge Ralph Caton in 118th District Court Thursday afternoon.

Madden had been arrested in connection with the theft of an automobile. Judge Caton assessed his punishment at two years in the state penitentiary.

More Births

LAMESA (SC) — Births outnumbered deaths by more than 7-to-1 here in January with 63 births and eight deaths recorded for Dawson County.

Long Count In Chicago

Wary Chicago policemen count and count—hour after hour, all night, all day long—what may be more than $1,000,000 in bills, coin, and some bonds today in Chicago. Loot was picked up in a raid on home of alleged gambling operator. Woman (bottom of photo) watches the count which began Thursday night after raid disclosed money and gambling paraphernalia. She says she is the wife of Lawrence Wakefield, who died shortly after the raid. (AP WIREPHOTO)

FHA Assists With Easy Loans

LAMESA (SC)—Credit to purchase livestock and equipment and to meet other farm operations helped 54 Dawson and Borden County families to increase their income in 1963, the Farmers Home Administration has reported.

The FHA supervisor here said his agency made operating loans totaling $348,980 to farmers in the two counties. Loans are made only to farmers who are unable to obtain credit from conventional lenders. They may be used for purchasing machinery and equipment, livestock, feed, seed and fertilizer, to pay other farm and home costs and to re-finance debts.

Mentally Shaken People Drawn To Ruby Drama

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Four persons have been taken into custody in connection with the Jack Ruby trial since it began Monday.

Authorities believe all four suffer from mental disturbances. One had a loaded pistol. He came from Oregon.

Courtroom Shakedown Thorough—And Ticklish

DALLAS (AP)—It's easier to get a longhorn through the eye of a needle than it is to get into the Jack Ruby courtroom.

Every reporter and spectator is frisked every time he enters the room through the public's doorway. From stem to stern, top to bottom uniformed sheriff's deputies probe.

Seeks Panama Dispute Aid

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Costa Rica's President Francisco J. Orlich is trying to mediate the dispute over the Panama Canal Zone, but neither the United States nor Panama appears to expect much from his intervention.

Orlich offered his good offices at a secretly scheduled 90-minute meeting with Panama's President Roberto Chiari at the border village of Paso de Canoas Thursday. Later, Orlich said the United States and Panama had accepted his offer in principle.

In Washington, the State Department said the United States appreciated the Costa Rican's friendly interest but added: "There has been no agreement as to mediation as far as we are concerned."

A five-nation Organization of American States committee returned to Washington from Panama Tuesday after failing to win concessions from either side. Panama still insists on a U.S. commitment to rewrite the 1903 canal treaty, while the United States wants restoration of diplomatic relations before it discusses Panamanian complaints.

Six Officers Here Promoted

Webb Air Force Base was notified this week that six captains here were selected for temporary promotion to major.

There were 4,023 captains selected for temporary appointment in the Air Force.

Selected at Webb were Capt. George Aubrey Jr., 3560th Pilot Training Wing, and Capt. Glen Lingemfelter, 3561st Student Squadron. Four others stationed here include Capt. Robert Daley, former wing staffboard chief, who is now attending the Royal Air Force Staff College as a USAF exchange officer; Capt. Howard D. Austin, former 3560th Pilot Training Squadron assistant operations officer, now at Laon Air Base, France; Capt. James W. Shattuck, former 3561st Pilot Training Squadron instructor pilot, now at Bentwaters Air Base, England; and Capt. Alain G. Boughton, formerly with the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron now stationed at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Some 275 of the more than 4,000 will pin on the new rank March 1. The remainder becomes effective during the first quarter of fiscal year 1965.

Another told officers he had seen Ruby and Lee Harvey Oswald together many times. "I saw Ruby and Oswald cut a man in two," he told a sheriff's deputy. He's from Mississippi.

TOO UNUSUAL

A third recently was granted leave from a Texas mental institution. "He was pacing around outside the courtroom. His mannerisms were too unusual," a deputy said.

The fourth, a 70-year-old woman from Arizona, said she was an authority on the Cosa Nostra and wanted to testify.

Sheriff Bill Decker's office is trying to contact relatives of the four and send them home. He said commitment to a mental institution might be necessary if relatives can't be found.

"The Dallas County Records Building (where Ruby is being tried) has become a magnet for them," said special deputy Charles Player.

UNBALANCED

Dr. Robert E. Stoltz, head of the department of psychology at Southern Methodist University, commented that proceedings on the magnitude of the Ruby

JUST NEED BLIND MEN

DALLAS (AP)—A Cincinnati housewife Thursday offered a solution to one of the legal wrangles of the Jack Ruby trial.

"What's wrong with all these lawyers? Why don't they use their heads?" asked Mrs. Philip Steiner in a telephone call to the Dallas News.

"If they want a jury that has not seen the Oswald shooting on television, why not pick a jury of 12 blind men?"

New Plant Set

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A $2 million plant to manufacture industrial refrigeration equipment will be installed in Chihuahua by Frick Company of Mexico, a subsidiary of Frick Company of Waynesboro, Pa. A spokesman said the plant would be in operation before the end of the year.

Warship Due

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The 10,000-ton French Navy cruiser-schooner "Jeanne D'Arc" will arrive at the Pacific Coast port of Acapulco next Monday for a one-week operational routine visit, the French Embassy said today.

Farm Bill Attacked

WACO (AP)—Texas congressmen have been asked to vote against the compensatory payment approach in proposed farm legislation.

C. H. DeVaney, head of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation said Texas farmers and ranchers oppose compensatory or direct payments. In a letter, he listed these points of opposition to compensatory payments (difference between depressed market price and government-set "fair" income):
Market price system would be destroyed, leading to socialization of all agriculture.
Farmers would become dependent upon government appropriations for an ever-increasing part of their income.
Plan would place a ceiling on opportunity and level farm income downward.
Plan would create "cheap" food and fiber philosophy by forcing consumer to pay part of grocery and fiber bill through taxation.

Since 1925
The sheriff said he has never seen tighter security. He has been a Dallas law enforcement officer since 1925 and sheriff since 1949.

Twenty-one officers—both sheriff's deputies and police detectives—maintain security at the trial under Decker's direction.

"The No. 1 homicide (the assassination) has to result in the top trial protection," Decker believes.

"We're trying to protect the public and the prisoner, and do it in as nice a manner as we can," he said.

SEARCHES
Traffic in and out of the courtroom is controlled by Capt. F. M. Buckalew, a Decker aide. He and seven other uniformed deputies search spectators and newsmen. They also form a human wall to seal off a corridor when Ruby goes to and from his jail cell and the courtroom. Buckalew's squad searches for prohibited items such as weapons, cameras, tape recorders, food and drink.

"Everyone so far has cooperated with us to the letter," he said.

PINT OF WINE
"One spectator had a pint of wine in his pocket and gladly gave it to us. We gave it back to him when he came out of the courtroom," Buckalew said.

Dallas law enforcement officers winced at mention of Ruby's shooting to death of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused slayer of President John F. Kennedy.

"We're doing all that's humanly possible to prevent a repetition of that," Decker says.

McNamara Silent About Barbs From Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is absorbing in silence Sen. Barry Goldwater's increasingly sharp slings and arrows.

McNamara is not counter-punching in public—and the defense secretary's associates indicate he's unlikely to do so.

McNamara is not normally a man to turn the other cheek, or avoid a scrap.

But he is said to feel that making any new public statements in reply to Goldwater would only give the Arizona Republican another peg on which to hang his attack.

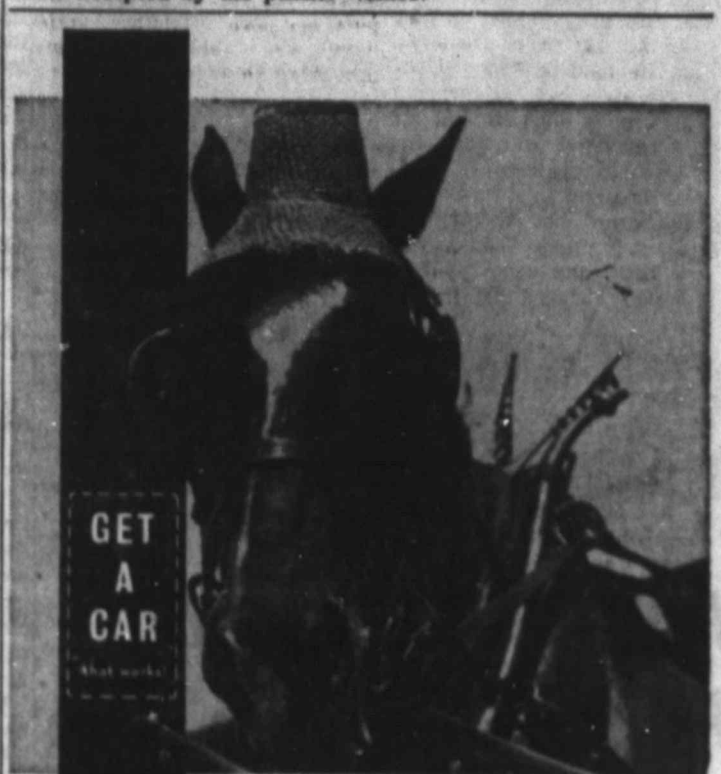

There were those among McNamara's associates who reportedly advised against issuing a biting statement he put out on Jan. 9.

That statement came several hours after Goldwater said for the first time in his campaign for the GOP presidential nomination that U.S. missiles are not dependable.

The Pentagon chief was said to have felt that that was the time to challenge Goldwater's allegations—before they became accepted by the public.

McNamara called those Goldwater remarks, made at a New Hampshire news conference, "completely misleading, politically irresponsible and damaging to the national security."

Goldwater, a major general in the Air Force Reserve, has been volleying at McNamara ever since.

DOROTHY MALONE

Feel Beautiful By Pretending You Are

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—"It is gratifying to feel beautiful though you are plain and distressful, to be beautiful and feel plain. At one time I had a terrible feeling of inferiority," Dorothy Malone told me.

"It takes years to heal psychic scars inflicted during impressionable years. I was told that I would have to work to develop my personality because when it came to looks I was a complete wash-out," Dorothy said.

go together so that you don't have to apologize for your appearance."

STOP TENSION
Tension is a great beauty killer. It destroys vitality and shortens life. If you need to relax but can't bring yourself to completely let go, let Leaflet M-98, "How to Release Nervous Tension," aid you. For your copy send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles, California 90053.

Hollywood Beauty

When Dorothy left home and went to Broadway, she accepted all flattery as polite compliments.

"At a very low period in my life, I read that if you feel beautiful you will project it. Even if you don't like what you see in the mirror, you must try to feel desirable as you walk into a room. I remember the first time I tried it. I went to a party and I pretended that I was the most beautiful girl in the world. One person after another paid me compliments. This was my first big breakthrough.

"It's a sad mistake to accept another person's evaluation of you. Only when you knowingly do something wrong should you agree with other people's criticisms. If in your heart you know you are right, then don't let others make you unhappy."

Dorothy spoke of wives who run around all day in hair curlers and a sloppy housecoat.

"I think all men are considerably influenced by appearance. I have never understood the attitude of a woman who works overtime to have her house spotless and never finds time to look in a mirror. You don't have to be 'done up' all the time. You don't even have to wear make-up, but your hair should be tidy.

"What you are wearing should be fresh and the colors should

Bride-Elect Honored

Mrs. Waldeen Butler was honored with a pre-nuptial luncheon shower Thursday noon in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club by members of the Cosden Birthday Club.

Mrs. Bomar Fincher was hostess, and presented the honoree with a corsage of peppermint carnations.

The luncheon table was decorated with a blue glass centerpiece. A special guest was Mrs. D. C. Read, mother of the bridegroom-elect, William Landers Read.

The wedding date will be announced later.

Willing Workers Hear Scriptures

Scriptures quoted by each member opened the Tuesday evening meeting of the Willing Workers class of Midway Baptist Church.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. A. R. Groves who led the opening prayer. Following the closing prayer by Mrs. Woodrow Robinson, refreshments were served by the hostesses to nine members.

Hyperion Club Hears Talk By E. V. Spence

How the Colorado River Municipal Water District came into being was outlined by E. V. Spence, manager for CRMWD, when he was guest speaker for the 1948 Hyperion Club. The group met at 2 p.m., Thursday in the Big Spring Country Club with Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. Ross Boykin as hostesses.

"Let Us Take Time For a Civic Challenge," was the February program theme expressed by Mrs. R. W. Whipkey as she introduced the speaker.

Spence said that it was known in 1946 that there was a serious limitation to the water supply for this area. The project which includes Lake J. B. Thomas started in 1951 with five cities participating in the original plan. Colorado City and Midland later withdrew.

Big Spring, Snyder and Odessa remained in the district which Spence said had surpassed all expectations. The program requires no federal help and is self-sustaining. Some of the water is sold for use in oil field repressuring.

Spence concluded his talk by explaining the long-range plans of CRMWD to provide water for West Texas in future years. He displayed a map of the area which showed the region of the watershed, lakes, and proposed location of pipelines.

Mrs. Luin King vice president, conducted the business meeting, introducing Joanna Patterson and Merry Lee Dillrell. They said that the student council at Big Spring High School is endeavoring to raise enough funds to bring a foreign student here as part of the exchange program. The council is enlisting the aid of local clubs in providing the amount of money needed.

Named to a nominating committee which will present a slate of officers at the next meeting were Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs. G. H. Wood, Mrs. Zollie Boykin and Mrs. C. M. Adams.

A dessert was served to the 14 attending.

Mrs. Worth Peeler will be hostess and Mrs. John Hodges, cohostess, March 19.

Missionary Work Told

Mrs. Don Williams gave a program, "The State of Orrisa in India," at the Thursday meeting of the Rosa Ann Parks Circle of First Christian Church. She told of Keith Hall, the church sponsored missionary, and his work in India.

Mrs. Ed Kohanek, chairman, opened the meeting with the Christian Women's Fellowship prayer. Mrs. Earl Zetsche detailed the CWF prayer sessions to be held each Wednesday morning before Easter in the prayer chapel at the church. Members of the Rosa Ann Parks Circle will be hostesses March 18 with Mrs. R. E. Hoover in charge.

Mrs. Ron Hansen, wife of the new associate minister and educational director of the church, was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Anton Coy gave the worship service on personal thanksgiving. Mrs. Kohanek worded the closing prayer, and Mrs. Hoover served as hostess.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Save Those Skillets From Rust Problems

Dear Folks:

Mary Weaver, a home economist from one of the biggest manufacturers of cast-ironware has come to our rescue with complete directions for the care of those lovely iron skillets, etc.

She says that if the instructions are followed, any cast-iron utensil can be put into a serviceable condition.

USE AND CARE OF CAST-IRONWARE:
Cast-iron utensils require slightly different handling in the home than utensils of some other materials.

Cast-ironware is pre-seasoned. This means that there is no anti-rust lacquer to remove and that the seasoning is started at the factory. For most cooking purposes no further seasoning is necessary and all that is needed is to wash and thoroughly dry the utensil.

(Strong detergents should not be used, however, as they tend to remove seasoning.)

This is true of skillets, griddles and regular pot roasting where no water is added. But if new dutch ovens and chicken fryers are to be used for stews or simmering, etc., a little more grease may be needed while they are still new to prevent rust caused by condensing moisture.

Always remove the cover if you are not ready to serve food immediately after cooking, so that condensing steam does not cause rust on the sides. This may occur with very moist foods when a cast-iron utensil is new. After using several times there should be no trouble with rust in cooking.

A cast-iron utensil should never be scoured. If it is scoured, the seasoning may be removed and rusting or a metallic taste may result. If for any reason scouring or scraping becomes necessary, do as little as possible and then use slightly more grease than usual when the utensil is next used.

After each use, wash in hot soapy water. Rinse and wipe dry, then cover inside of utensil with a coating of unsalted shortening and when ready to use next time wipe the inside of the pan and the cover with a dry cloth or paper towel. Grease again with shortening and cook food as usual. Follow the plan of coating utensil before and after using first few times. Many successful cooks always coat the inside of a cast-iron utensil with fat before putting foods in to cook.

(Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Mrs. Earl Wilson, 2304 Roberts Drive, was hostess.

Mrs. Ted Hull registered 40 guests at a table decorated with a bouquet of white carnations. Other cohostesses were Mrs. J. D. Leonard, Mrs. Harold Bell, Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, Mrs. Tom McAdams, Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. Melvin Newton, Mrs. Dwain Henson and Mrs. J. L. Swindell.

White candles flanked an arrangement of blue and white chrysanthemums and carnations at the refreshment table. Wedding bells were used for accent and the appointments were in crystal and silver. Mrs. Petty, Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Henson alternated at serving the guests.

Mrs. McAdams and Mrs. Newton were in charge of the gift display where an arrangement of blue daisies in a crystal container served as decoration. Flowers throughout the house carried out the blue and white color scheme.

Special guests were Miss Foster's mother, Mrs. Dee Foster Jr., Mrs. Lawrence Clifton and Kay of Big Lake, mother and sister of the prospective bridegroom, and Mrs. Dick Biddison of Denison.

The honoree wore a two-piece blue wool suit with black accessories and a white carnation corsage presented by the hostesses. Also, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Clifton wore similar corsages.

The wedding will be at 3 p.m. Feb. 29 at the First Methodist Church.

Missing Mute Boy Located

RICHARDSON, Tex. (AP) — Police found a missing mute boy late Thursday night, two miles from home and shivering under a bush in near-freezing temperatures and snow.

Dennis McKinley, 5, disappeared shortly after noon. More than 700 persons joined in the search.

Doctors at Spring Valley hospital said the boy, who lost his shoes during his 11-hour escape, suffered from exposure but was otherwise all right.

A policeman said he heard a noise near an apartment house, in this Dallas suburb, and found Dennis curled up under a clump of bushes.

Awards Dinner Scheduled Today At State Hospital

Dr. George Constant, Victoria psychiatrist and member of the board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools, will address an employees appreciation and awards dinner at Big Spring State Hospital this evening.

Dr. C. J. Ruilman, Austin, director of mental health and hospitals for the state board, also will be here for the occasion.

One of the highlights of the affair will be the presentation of a plaque to some unit at the hospital for an outstanding record of achievement. There are 13 departments in the hospital, and each was examined by six inspection teams. Among things checked were general appearance of the ward, cleanliness of floors, general cleanliness and orderliness (checked on 16 separate points), care of sharp instruments, fire extinguishers, portable stretchers, emergency lanterns, apparent care and appearance of patients, general attitude of ward, general attitude of personnel.

Woodrow Grant will be master of ceremonies and Dr. Preston E. Harrison will introduce the speaker. Dinner music will be furnished by Frank Wharton, music therapist, at the auditorium of the Allred Building starting at 7:30 p.m.

The bidding:

6♥ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠

The proper technique for winning 12 tricks eluded every declarer but one in today's hand taken from a recent tournament. A simple game contract in hearts was reached at most tables, but the North-South pair whose auction is depicted in the diagram were subjected to drastic preemptive measures by West.

When his opponent leaped to three spades, North was pushed into the four level in order to show his diamond suit. After his partner's rebid of four hearts, North felt that he had not yet done justice to his holding valued at 16 points including the top two trump honors, so he made a slam try by overbidding the game. South interpreted the five heart call as a request for controls in the other two suits and, since he held both black aces, he proceeded to six hearts.

West opened the king of spades which was taken by declarer's ace. Altho the opening lead had exposed him to the loss of a spade trick with the ace of diamonds still to be dislodged, declarer's outlook was not altogether hopeless. West's preemptive bid appeared to mark him with a seven card suit which meant that East had only a singleton spade. If he also held the ace of diamonds, South would have time to develop that suit for an eventual spade discard, for East would be unable to reach his partner when he obtained the lead.

Inasmuch as declarer had no recourse but to proceed on this favorable assumption, he planned his campaign so as to utilize every one of dummy's entries for the establishment of the diamonds. The queen of hearts was cashed followed by a heart to the king. A diamond was led to the closed hand and, when East ducked, declarer's queen held the trick. A diamond was returned, and the jack was covered with the king in order to keep West out of the lead.

East was in with the ace and he returned his last trump to the dummy. A diamond was ruffed by declarer and the North hand reentered with the queen of clubs in order to trump out East's remaining diamond. Dummy was reentered with the king of clubs, and declarer's losing spade was discarded on the established seven of diamonds.

At the other tables, the declarers drew all the trumps before starting to develop the diamonds and were unable to reach dummy by the time the suit was established.

Eight Die In Home Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—A flash fire, set off by a burning mattress, swept through a West Side home today, killing seven children and a man who perished in a futile attempt to rescue the four boys and three girls.

The parents of the children and their eighth child escaped from the fast spreading flames. The father, Detective James Alford, 37, suffered serious burns and smoke inhalation as he failed in attempts to rescue the children from the top floor of the 1½-story brick bungalow. He was reported in serious condition.

Alford's wife, Gloria, 35, and the couple's oldest child, Keith, 13, escaped with only minor cuts.

The Alford's are Negroes. The man killed in the fire was Leroy Robinson, 41, a Negro, Alford's cousin who lived with the family.

Mrs. Alford told firemen that the fire started in Robinson's mattress in his room on the first floor, where she and her husband were sleeping in another bedroom.

Found Innocent In Murder Trial

FORT WORTH (AP)—Ronnie Blankenship, charged in the death of a 27-year-old divorcee last March, is free today after being found innocent on a murder charge.

A criminal district court jury deliberated less than two hours Thursday before returning its verdict.

Blankenship and the body of Mrs. Leota Green were found last March 24 inside Mrs. Green's burning home.

Misunderstanding Christ on Baptism

Many people look upon baptism as a ceremony devoid of meaning. They cannot see beyond or beneath the outward physical act.

To others baptism is thought of primarily as a "church ordinance" — an official requirement of church membership.

The carnal mind conceives of baptism as a mere "ducking" in water, an outward form of religion, a religious formality. In like manner, the term "water salvation" is applied to all who adhere to Christ's teaching on the necessity of baptism.

These materialistic, legalistic misconceptions of baptism are clear examples of "crushing pearls" — a description given by Christ to those incapable of comprehending spiritual truth (Matthew 7:6). Such views fail to grasp the deep spiritual significance of baptism.

Only two accounts in all of the Bible teach mankind what Christian baptism is, and both of them describe baptism as a burial. These two accounts are:

"Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection" (Romans 6:3-5).

"Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead" (Colossians 2:12).

From these scriptures we can discern the spiritual side of baptism. In baptism we are united with Christ in his death, burial, and resurrection. Since the death, burial, and resurrection of Christ are the principal facts of the gospel, it follows that we obey the gospel of Christ by reproducing or re-enacting in our lives, symbolically, the death, burial, and resurrection of the Lord. As a man is buried in water he presents to the world a picture of the death, burial, and resurrection of Christ, thereby demonstrating his faith in Christ's death. This is the "form of doctrine" alluded to by Paul in Romans 6:17.

Baptism, therefore, is the very act through which we are brought spiritually into Christ and his spiritual body (Galatians 3:27; 1 Corinthians 12:13).

The teaching of baptism is inextricably connected with the remission of sins made possible by the shed blood of Christ (Matthew 26:28). Peter told the believing Jews on Pentecost to "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins" (Acts 2:38). Paul was instructed to "Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins" (Acts 22:16). Jesus taught the necessity of baptism when he declared, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" (Mark 16:16).

This is not "water salvation," for water cannot save! Peter teaches, "The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God), by the resurrection of Christ" (1 Peter 3:21).

Baptism, then, is not a ceremony or formality. It must be spiritually discerned in order to be properly understood. Baptism is the divinely appointed means by which we are united with Christ in his death, burial, and resurrection. When we are baptized into his death, we gain the benefit of his shed blood: the remission of our sins. When we are raised with him, we gain the benefit of his resurrection: the promise of eternal life.

A Devotional For The Day

God shows no partiality. (Romans 2:11. RSV.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee that Thou dost love all persons despite their race or nation or condition. Lead us all to respond to Thy love by loving one another as Thy Son loves us. In His name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Stassen Isn't Passin'

A couple of Pennsylvanians, Harold Stassen and Gov. William Scranton, present an interesting study in contrasts. Scranton, who is considered by some liberal Republicans to be the one man who can win the GOP presidential nomination from Senator Goldwater, does not seem interested in making the race. Stassen, who is not regarded by anyone as likely to win is red hot to run.

Until recently it was thought the youthful governor's reluctance was part of his political strategy. Now some of those who think he should run suspect that he honestly does not want to. His rejection of the New Hampshire primary race gives some support to this conclusion. He also has turned down numerous speaking engagements, including a $100-a-plate dinner in Baltimore.

Stassen, who has about the same chance of winning the Republican nomination that the Beatles have of being invited to play with the Philharmonics, is the eagerest candidate of all. The former wonder boy of Minnesota has been on the political skids ever since being governor of that state. Thomas E. Dewey beat him to the presidential nomination in 1948. He failed again in 1952. In 1958 he lost the Pennsylvania gubernatorial nomination to Elmer A. Latta. The following year he badly lost the contest for mayor of Philadelphia. Yet now he is hoping for a crack at the top spot.

If Stassen were as reluctant as Scranton and Scranton as willing as Stassen, some Republicans would be a lot happier. But then "if" is not the sort of word one can depend on in politics. The only real dependable is the eternal availability of Harold Stassen.

Field For Expert Teachers

Many people talk about teaching communism to high school students, but few do anything about it. Another shove in the right direction came recently from Dr. Roger Swearingen of the University of Southern California's research institute on Communist strategy and propaganda.

"The sad fact is that we, as a nation, have been too naive, too complacent, too timid, too confused, too preoccupied, and often too charitable to take the Communist challenge seriously," Swearingen said. "Moreover, the subject has regularly been regarded by educators as too complicated, too controversial, and so an 'overcrowded curriculum' became a ready excuse for avoiding the whole matter."

To this Swearingen may have added the shadow of Joseph McCarthy which still lingers on the academic landscape, the chronic lack of curiosity among many Americans and the extreme shortage of qualified teachers for courses in communism.

Of course any red-blooded American may feel that he knows just about all there is to know about communism and is thus well qualified to teach it. What emerges all too often, though, is propaganda or counter-propaganda. This leaves the intelligent student yawning. What he wants to know is how and why communism has been accepted by perhaps a third of the world's people. It's not a very easy question to answer.

Any instruction worthy of the name pertaining to communism must be factual, objective and unemotional. Swearingen insists, "on the assumption that the facts speak for themselves."

"There are two tests that communism can never pass: The first is the test of truth, the second is the test of comparison," Swearingen said.

Not many universities in this country are qualified to produce good teachers of communism, though. Years of reading and study are necessary, for you are dealing with at least a part of the history of two great nations, Russia and China. Without historical background there can be no full appreciation of why communism appealed to the Russian and Chinese mind. But the shortage of competent teachers should not be an excuse for doing nothing. At the least teachers colleges should begin immediately to train the needed teachers.

The necessity for a good background knowledge of communism for all Americans is suggested by asking this question: How is it possible for the United States to fight communism successfully if Americans know very little or nothing at all about one of the great social and political phenomena of history?

Marquis Childs Goldwater Learns In N. Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H.—One thing clearly revealed in this confused New Hampshire primary race is the nature of the Goldwater candidacy. Win, lose or, more likely, draw, the Senator from Arizona will have learned a lot that should help him in the primaries still to come.

What is evident is that his fanatical followers invested him with qualities which he did not have and which he does not want to acquire. Reading his books—notably "Why Not Victory?"—and the wide range of opinion expressed in his newspaper writing, they endowed him with a magic that he has been at pains to disclaim.

IN THE STYLE of the TV Westerns Goldwater often shoots from the hip the moment the bad guys come in sight. He never has any doubts about who the bad guys are.

During his previous tour of New Hampshire as a wire service reporter came up to him with the news that the Castro regime in Cuba had shut off the water for the Guantanamo base. What action would the Senator advocate? He said he wanted to think about it. Approached again an hour later he advised sending in a company of Marines who would quickly get the water turned on again and that would be that.

BUT GOLDWATER does not go into orbit for his fanatical followers. He is not in any sense a demagogue. While his opinions are often startling—such as his proposal to sell the Tennessee Valley Authority—they are expressed in an understated, almost offhand fashion.

He is credited with taking an unequivocal stand on many of the most controversial questions in the political arena. Acting on this assumption, his principal rival, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, gave the staff of poll takers he has working for him in New Hampshire an unusual assignment. They were to interview Republicans favoring Goldwater on a dozen of these controversial issues.

AMONG THOSE favoring Goldwater 61 per cent were opposed to the United States withdrawing from the United Nations even if Communist China is admitted. Seventy-five per cent believed we should continue to maintain diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

On Social Security the response seems particularly significant. Of the sample of Goldwater supporters polled 78 per cent favored compulsory Social Security. In this state where the ratio of persons over 65 is one of the highest in the nation Rockefeller is hitting the Social Security issue hard and usually he draws applause for his stand.

HERE IS THE reality of present-day political life. Ardent Goldwaterites on the far right might like to abolish the Social Security system. They may have believed that the Goldwater magic was all that was necessary to do just that. But as a candidate he is learning that for a great many people, including those who consider themselves conservatives, old-age pensions and medical aid are important.

Billy Graham

The Bible says that everything is working out for good, but this I can't believe when I think of my own life, and also the things that happen in the world. L. C.

The Bible has never promised us that everything works out for good. What God has promised us in His Word is that "All things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to His purpose." Actually, this is one of the most wonderful promises in the Bible. But, it has a condition: we must love God and try to do His will. When we truly love Him, then it is true that all things work together for our good. This means that even in sickness and sorrow, trouble and bereavement, joy or want; that particular set of circumstances is working out for our good. You may ask how this can be? It is because Almighty God, Who knows everything—the past, the present and the future—directs the experience of our life so that, whatever it may be, it is for our best. Suppose God takes a beloved child, one in whom you had great hopes for the future. God knew best because He saw the future. Your child is safe with Him now and will be for all eternity. Suppose you become ill. God has permitted this for some good reason; it may be that this experience will make you stop and think about Him and learn anew to read your Bible and to pray. Just be sure of this one thing: love Him and trust Him completely, then nothing can go wrong, from God's standpoint.

'WHAT'RE YOU DOING IN A PLACE LIKE THIS?'

James Marlow Mansfield Love Affair Faces Acid Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Mike, we love you."

This from the Republican leader of the Senate, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, to Mike Mansfield of Montana, leader of the Senate Democrats, a few years ago on a Mansfield birthday. He's 60 now.

The love affair between Mansfield and the other 99 senators will undergo a fierce test in the next few months as the Senate's Southern Democrats try to kill the civil rights bill with a filibuster.

THE SENATE may start on this bill, already passed by the House, next week. It's the toughest bill of its kind the Senate ever confronted.

Thursday night Mansfield asked how long he thought the Southern filibuster might continue before an attempt was made to stop it. He said: "Months."

To cut off the Southerners would require a vote by two-thirds of all the senators present on the floor when the vote was called for. If all 100 were there, it would mean 67 senators, no easy number to come by.

SEN. HUBERT Humphrey of Minnesota and other liberal Democrats will do the actual leading of the fight for the bill. But Mansfield, as Senate leader, said he will have to be on the floor almost all the time.

The captain of the Southerners, Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, a veteran of other civil rights fights going away back into the 1940s, said his group is prepared "to be there 24 hours a day."

He said "we don't mind around the clock sessions." Some advocates of civil rights legislation have long felt that wearing the Southerners down in around-the-clock sessions is the only way to smash a filibuster.

BUT MANSFIELD plans to keep the Senate in session only from 10 in the morning until 10 at night. He said Thursday night around-the-clock sessions are out unless some extraordinary situation develops, and he doesn't foresee that.

Asked if this was because he feared some of the older Senate members might collapse under the strain, he said this was only one consideration and then emphasized this:

"The only purpose of 24-hour sessions would be attrition on the Southerners. But attrition works both ways, and perhaps more on the other side than on the filibusterers."

"I AM NOT going to turn the Senate into a circus."

This concern about not letting the Senate get a carnival look is an old theme with Mansfield. Last year, in defending his record as Senate leader from some extremely harsh criticism, he had said:

"I am neither a circus ringmaster, the master of ceremonies of a Senate night club, a tamer of Senate lions, or a wheeler and dealer. I confess freely to a lack of glamour."

Once, reflecting on his life and hard times in the Capitol, he admitted: "Actually, the Senate leadership is a headache. You can't please everyone. Every senator is a prima donna in some way."

Hal Boyle Tiresome Middle-Age Prattle

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks of a middle-aged man gets tired of hearing:

"You go first. Age before beauty."

"Take it easy going up these stairs. Remember, you're not as young as you used to be."

"Oh, Joe is a stickler for doing things the old way. After he leaves the office, go ahead and do it any way you want to. By tomorrow he will have forgotten all about it."

"DON'T FORGET your muffer, dear. It may turn cold."

"No Joe, I don't think you should have any dessert. You know what the doctor told you fat could do to you at your age."

"Mr. Fogey, I hear so much kidding these days about President McKinley's times. What was McKinley really like—and did you ever talk to him?"

"Who was your last pinup girl, Joe—Mary Pickford?"

"He's learning his ABC's all over again, but this time they stand for aspirin, bicarbonate of soda and cholesterol."

"WHY GIVE the promotion to him? At his age he isn't likely to leave the firm."

"I'm sure it's nothing serious. Ethel. But you know how stubborn Joe is. He insisted on putting in the tomato plants again this year, and all of a sudden he couldn't straighten up."

"I don't care if your feet are killing you. This is a lovely party, and we're not going home until I am darn good and ready. So quit yawning, and for heaven's sake try and look alive."

"Here's a funny joke in the newspaper, dear. It says middle age is that time of life when it takes a man longer to clear his throat in the morning than it does to shave."

"QUIT YOUR grumbling. You ought to be glad that Janice wants us to come over and baby-sit our grandchildren now and then."

"Boy, how I envy you, you've got it made. All you have to do is keep your nose clean for a few more years, and then you can start collecting it back from Uncle Sam."

"It's all in the mind, Joe. If you approach them with the right attitude, the middle years can be the most rewarding period of life."

To Your Good Health Some Of The Factors Involved In Twinning

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: According to my understanding, fraternal twins are the result of a double ovulation (two ova, or eggs, instead of the usual one, in that cycle). The mother is the sole factor in their creation, other than fertilization itself.

However, when one fertilized egg divides and forms identical twins, does the heredity of the mother cause this, or can the heredity of the father also be responsible?—D. M. K.

What's this, an invitation to join the battle of the sexes? If so, I ask to be excused. Anyway, whether twins are the influence of the mother, or the father, there isn't anything that either can do about it.

However, we know a few things, although not all, about the numerous factors which are involved in twinning. Some women have several sets of twins.

But don't shortchange papa, either. It is believed that the father carries a gene which is capable of making a single egg split early to produce identical twins. It is also believed that the father's sperm can have certain characteristics which cause double fertilization when two ova are present.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do candy and sweets cause children to have pinworms? If one child has them, can the others get them from the stool in the bathroom? I know a child who had them and was kept in the hospital for a week. Meantime the other children all got them, and a few months later they all got them again.—Mrs. E. P.

Candy doesn't cause pinworms. It is pinworm eggs! A child (or an adult) swallows the eggs, which are too small to be seen. Then the eggs hatch, and more pinworms appear. They in turn move down to the outlet of the bowel and lay more eggs.

That's the story of pinworms. Underclothes, bedclothes, and bedding are the logical places for the eggs to be found, but they can then be shaken onto the floor or wherever. Busy childish fingers touch them. And sooner or later some of the eggs are swallowed, and the whole annoying cycle begins again.

If we could just teach children to wash after going to the bathroom, and before eating anything, and never to touch the mouth or lips, the pinworm problem probably would become a minor one.

But you know how kids are!

Dear Dr. Molner: When my son was a baby, we lived in a house with a concrete floor. He was just learning to walk and took some spills that caused small swellings and blue marks on his head. These disappeared after two or three days.

How can I be sure that these falls left him with no brain damage? Do I have cause to worry?—Mrs. P. T.

I guess all children collect some black and blue spots and bumps. When they are just beginning to walk, I much favor keeping them on a rug or carpet, because concrete floors are uncomfortable to fall on. But I think you are worrying needlessly. The skull, even of a toddler, is a pretty rugged bone. Bruises of the scalp don't mean that damage has occurred inside the skull. I'd just forget about it.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald for a copy of the leaflet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped, envelope and five cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Max Mixed 'Em Up

Somewhere along every basketball season, we get to reminiscing a little, and it always brings to mind the saga of Max Palmer.

Max was a freak, to use a harsh but accurate term. He was the centerpiece of one glowing, controversial and sometimes laughable basketball season back in 1947. One night in particular, he set the noble city of Memphis, Tenn., on its sports-minded ear.

LOCAL CIVIC promoters got Ole Miss to move its home game with Kentucky to Memphis, Kentucky that year had Ralph Beard, Alex Groza, Wah-Wah Jones, and a couple of other headliners. Ole Miss had—well, they had five boys in uniform.

As a preliminary, the local leaders wanted a top-notch high school game. Central High of Memphis was the best in the city that year and readily agreed. A tiny little school in the red clay north Mississippi hills—Walnut High—seemed a likely foe.

Sports buffs knew that Walnut had one sensational player—Max Palmer—who was averaging 30 to 35 points a game. Mind you, this was in the days when many high school teams were fortunate to score 30 points.

CLOSE TO FIVE thousand people were jammed in barn-like Ellis Auditorium that cold winter night in 1947, and Central High's resplendent Warriors took the floor to warm up. Then out trotted seven sneaky country boys from Walnut, followed by the coach and the eighth team member—Max.

There was a gasp and a stunned silence from everyone. Max was eight feet, two inches tall. He weighed something like 360 pounds.

There was anguished wailing and screams from the Memphis school's coach, long and heated conferences in which Central at first refused to play, but finally the game went on.

WALNUT HIGH used no imagination or finesse with big Max. He was merely stationed under the goal and his four tiny mates handled all other phases of the game. On offense, they worked the ball to throwing distance of Max, lobbed it to him, then the giant took one board-rattling step, eased to his tiptoes and dropped in two points.

Central High stood in serious danger of taking a real drubbing. But in the second half, the Memphians went to work on Max, cruelly fouling him time and again—and nobody had bothered to teach the big man how to shoot a free throw.

CENTRAL FINALLY won by something like 53-51 after Palmer scored 42 points. Walnut won its class B district in Mississippi, but by that time, coaches had figured out how to hold down Palmer's effectiveness by using a fast break on offense and a back court press on defense.

Max was 19 years old then and in the ninth grade. It was his only season as a high school basketball player, as he soon joined Ringling Brothers circus. Somebody finally put a tape measure and step-ladder to use and claimed he was a fraud—he was just 7-foot-10, not 8-2. And there was some question of his scholastic eligibility, since his grammar schooling was extremely hazy.

But Max was a huge, slow and likeable man who gave Memphis a basketball show that Adolph Rupp and Kentucky couldn't touch.

How About A Nose-Punching Cruise?

My friend, the lady with the whim of iron, eased a slice of lemon into her tea, gave the cup a decisive stir and said, "I am toying with the idea of becoming a travel agent, or rather a cruise director."

"Good grief, Lucy, you haven't a smidgen of experience!" I reminded her. "That's work for the experts."

"YES, I KNOW," she agreed. "But you agree with me that frustrations are bad for us, don't you? You've absorbed enough cracker-barrel psychology to agree that inhibitions and suppressions are the curse of the thinking class?"

"Instant Freud," I sniffed. "But what has that got to do with your sudden decision to become a travel expert?"

"EVERYTHING! You know as well as I do that this is the age of super-specialization in everything, including travel. If your prime interest in life is gardening, you can go on a tour of Europe that ignores everything except pesticides, mulch and privet as a substitute for passion, as in English gardens."

"And if you're a real snobby gardener, you can find a tour that deals only with rhododendrons or, more to the point, with orchids. Or take bird watchers—"

"Get to the point," I urged. "Get back to the frustrations!"

"WELL, FOR A long time now I have been dreaming about punching Kwame Nkrumah on the nose," she began. "And, again, it's Sukarno. Oh, the dream is always the same: it's just that the dramatic personae changes as a new crisis develops on the front pages. Sometimes I'm landing a knockout blow on Castro, and again it's Ulbricht and sometimes I've penetrated into the heart of the Kremlin."

"But I can dream, can't I?" countered my friend, and her face brightened. "There's no law against putting Nkrumah away on ice in my sleep. And my house has never been so immaculate."

The Court And The Constitution

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court of the United States can certainly throw a monkey wrench into the machinery. Within the last two days, the country has been told by one of the justices that almost all of the members of the present House of Representatives may have been illegally elected and that this is what the latest Supreme Court opinion means.

Just what does this do to the validity of the legislation passed by this Congress? And what about the acts of previous Congresses which were elected in the very same way that the Supreme Court now denounces?

THE NATION has again been given an example of the almost incredible power which the Supreme Court of the United States assumes to exercise over the other branches of the government merely by the use of what is called "judicial interpretation."

Justice John M. Harlan explained—more clearly than any layman could—the meaning of the 6-to-3 decision rendered by the Court this week on the subject of reapportionment of congressional districts. In his minority opinion, he said:

"I HAD NOT expected to witness the day when the Supreme Court of the United States would render a decision which casts grave doubt on the constitutionality of the composition of the House of Representatives. It is not an exaggeration to say that such is the effect of today's decision. The Court's holding that the Constitution requires states to select representatives either by elections at large or by elections in districts composed as nearly as practicable of equal population places in jeopardy the seats of almost all the members of the present House of Representatives."

THERE ARE many arguments in favor of changing the systems of representation in Congress so that a state's population will be equitably divided into districts for picking members of the House of Representatives. But the real question today is not whether the districting system that has been used by any state is inequitable, but whether the Supreme Court shall prescribe the method of change. Justice Harlan called attention to the simple wording of the Constitution itself, which says:

"The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators."

JUSTICE HARLAN declared that there is nothing to indicate any limitation whatsoever on this grant of plenary initial and supervisory power, "and that the power thus granted by the Constitution to Congress and the states is exclusive."

Plainly, there are defects in the present system of establishing congressional districts, but this ought to be remedied by constitutional amendment, which should clearly set forth a basis on which apportionment should be made in order to prevent inequities. Justice Harlan said:

"THE CONSTITUTION does not confer on the court blanket authority to step into every situation where the political branch may be thought to have fallen short. The stability of this institution ultimately depends not only upon its being alert to keep the other branches of government within constitutional bounds but equally upon recognition of the limitations on the court's own functions in the constitutional system . . ."

"By yielding to the demand for a judicial remedy in this instance, the Court in my view does a disservice both to itself and to the broader values of our system of government."

Two Nations Spice Laredo Celebration

LAREDO (AP) — George Washington's birthday takes on the flavor of an international holiday Saturday in this Texas border city.

The anniversary of the colonial leader's birth will be observed for the 67th time in Laredo's Washington Birthday celebration, launched Thursday night by a panorama of fireworks.

A multitude of visitors flock to Laredo and its Mexican counterpart, Nuevo Laredo, for the fiesta.

It features the grand international parade, which this year will include 115 parade entries and about 5,000 persons.

"We will not be surprised if the number of spectators in the streets of Laredo Saturday morning exceeds 125,000," says R. N. Freeman, celebration chairman.

The occasion also is used to demonstrate friendship between the two Laredos and between the United States and Mexico.

'The Group' Most Sought At Library

"The Group," a novel by Mary McCarthy, is the most sought after book now in the Howard County Library, according to Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian.

She said that the one copy of the book which the library has never gets back on the shelves. As soon as one reader finishes it, another is standing by to take over.

"We have a waiting list of seven for the book on hand," she said. "We'll probably have more. I don't know why the sudden demand for this novel, but it has been going on for some time."

Second in demand at the library are cookbooks. Mrs. McDaniel said the chief applicants for these books are the students enrolled in the Manpower Training Program (cooking class) now under way at the Howard County Junior College.

She said the library has placed 240 new books on the shelves since Jan. 1.

"These cover a wide variety of subjects," the librarian explained. "We have made sure to include a sizable number of mystery stories—these are the books for which the demand never diminishes."

27 Accidents

LAMESA (SC) — City police solved 42 per cent of all reported offenses, jailed 87 persons and investigated 27 accidents in January. The mishaps caused property damage in excess of $7,000 and injured four persons. In addition, Dawson County deputies recorded 65 January arrests.

Fencers Depart

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Three Mexican fencers have left for New York and the International Fencing Tournament sponsored by New York Athletic Club, Feb. 21-24.

Horse Leads Them To Drink

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal Revenue Service agents used old-fashioned horse sense to solve an Oklahoma moonshine case.

A horse was found tied near an unattended liquor still near McAlester, Okla., the agency said Thursday in reporting on 1963 activities of alcohol and tobacco tax officers.

The agent released the horse and followed him to a nearby house, where a farmer admitted ownership of the horse—and the still.

Apartment Slated

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—An 11-story high rise apartment under construction here will house persons 52 years of age and older, and will cater to personnel such as retired military officers. Owners are Vannie E. Cook Jr. of McAllen and J. A. Martin of Dallas.

Boosters Plan Cherry Pie Sale

Big Spring Choir Boosters will celebrate Washington's birthday Saturday with a cherry pie sale. Students, supervised by adults will be selling cherry pies, along with other kinds, at Furr's, Piggy Wiggly, Safeway (College Park Shopping Center), and Hull & Phillips No. 1 on Scurry. The Boosters will continue the fund-raising activities with a car wash Feb. 29, with the place to be announced later. On the weekend of March 7, a rummage sale will be staged. Proceeds from all the projects will go to help pay for the senior high school choir's trip to Los Angeles in April. It will also help pay for needed robes and equipment for the two junior high school, and senior high choirs.

Cutting Squadron's Cake

Lester Morton (left), elected Thursday as commander of the new Air Force Association chapter here, slices the cake with assistance from Joe Draper, San Antonio, Texas Wing secretary, Joe Shoshid, Fort Worth, regional vice president of the AFA (next to Morton), and Col. A. F. Taute, Webb's Wing commander, look on.

Air Force Association Chapter Launched

The Big Spring Squadron of the Air Force Association was off to a flying start today, after an organizational meeting Thursday night.

Some 70 persons braved snowy weather to hear officials discuss the aims and purposes of the organization, and at the conclusion of the session, there were 43 charter members signed—more than twice the required minimum.

The Big Spring Squadron is the 13th in Texas, and Joe Shoshid of Fort Worth, regional vice president, called it the best organizational meeting he has ever witnessed.

Shoshid and Joe Draper, San Antonio, secretary of the Texas Wing, were principal speakers.

OFFICERS NAMED
Officers were named to lead off the new squadron, as follows:

Lester Morton, commander; Walton Morrison, vice commander; Bill Crocker, secretary; and A. J. Stalser, treasurer. H. H. Weaver was named program chairman and Jack Cook, membership chairman. A campaign is to be launched immediately to enroll additional members, and the group approved March 20 as the date for a meeting to observe receipt of the squadron charter.

Shoshid explained that the AFA was organized in 1948, with such notables as General Jimmy Doolittle and General Hap Arnold among its leaders. Today there are 250 squadrons in 27 states with some 82,000 members.

It is basically a civilian organization, Shoshid said, and military members have associate membership rating, with no voting privilege.

NON-PARTISAN
AFA is dedicated to the proposition of helping maintain the nation's aerospace strength, Shoshid said, and concerns itself only with Air Force affairs, he said.

Shots Fired At Premier

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A Turk fired three shots at Premier Ismet Inonu today as he was entering his official car in front of his office. All shots missed and police grabbed the man.

Festive Fire House Raked

NEW YORK (AP)—Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson, blazing mad over reports that women "allegedly ill repute" have frequented a Manhattan firehouse, has suspended five firemen, including the company captain.

"The reputation of the department could be at stake," Thompson said.

He said an investigation begun last month showed that more than once "unauthorized civilians, both male and female," had visited the firehouse of Engine Co. 35 on East 119th St.

Thompson said the women were in the firehouse more than once, but he declined to give further details. The third floor quarters of the firehouse reportedly was involved.

Half of the company's 30 firemen have been quizzed thus far, Thompson said, adding: "All of the men in this company are not evil men, but they will all be questioned."

Formal allegations will be filed against the suspended firemen next week for a departmental hearing. The commissioner said the hearing will be open.

The suspended fire captain Joseph J. Sosa, 45, of Floral Park, N.Y., is a 22-year veteran with two heroism awards.

Also suspended were: Martin Buchalter, 33, of Staten Island; Alfred W. Cordes, 35, and John J. McHugh, 27, both of the Bronx; and William Allen, 31, of Richmond Hill, Queens.

"I hope I kill him!" police said the would-be assassin shouted as he opened fire with a pistol. "It would be for the good of the country."

The man was identified as Mesut Suna, 35, an opponent of the military revolution of 1960 that overthrew the Menderes regime.

The premier, 79, had just left his office to go to the National Assembly a short distance away when the shots rang out.

Unruffled, he got into his car and proceeded to the assembly.

Police said Suna admitted he had fired his pistol with intent to kill.

Suna came to Ankara two days ago from Kayseri, 165 miles southeast of Ankara, where he is a foreman of a power station.

Informed sources said he is a supporter of the outlawed Democratic party of the late strongman premier, Adnan Menderes. Menderes and other leaders of the party were executed after being convicted of crimes against the state.

Inonu is an elder statesman known for his political skill. His experience dates back half a century and includes 14 years as premier under Kemal Ataturk, founder of modern Turkey.

When Ataturk died in 1938, Inonu succeeded him as president. He brought his country through World War II unscathed and lined up with the Allies toward the close of the war.

Inonu was swept out of office by the Democratic party of Adnan Menderes after the war in the first free election held in Turkey.

When Menderes was ousted by the army in May 1960, Inonu returned as premier, heading a wobbly coalition. He resigned last December.

FIVE INJURED

lor and Wasson to Medical Arts Clinic Hospital, officers said, adding Taylor was released after treatment, but Wasson remained in the hospital with a back injury.

Mrs. Castlemay may have sustained a whiplash injury of the neck, according to attendants at Howard County Hospital Foundation. She was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Wilmet Wilkerson, 114 Anna, Driver of the other vehicle was Charles Robertson, 426 Hillside. Police said the collision occurred while the Castlemay vehicle was parked at the intersection of Fourth and Goliad, waiting on an emergency vehicle that was en route to another accident.

The other accident occurred three minutes earlier—1:58 p.m. Thursday—on US 80 east. Gordon, a truck driver for Texaco Oil Co. of Midland, narrowly escaped death in this accident, police said. He was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation for treatment of a bump on the head and released.

Gordon said he was traveling west on the highway and hit his brake to avoid hitting a car parked in the middle of the road. His truck—an 8,275 gallon capacity tank truck—skidded into the guard rail on the north side of the highway, then plunged 15 feet into a ravine.

Gordon said he was en route from Hamlin to Midland at the time of the accident. Damage to his truck was estimated by police at $4,500, and damage to the guard rails was estimated at $1,500.

McConnell, the airman, received minor facial cuts, about 4:45 a.m. today when his small foreign car was in collision with an oil transport truck at Northeast Twelfth and the Snyder Highway. Nalley - Pickle ambulance took him to the base hospital for treatment.

5 OF 14

Five of the 14 accidents occurred between 6-9 a.m. this morning. Locations of the mishaps that occurred Thursday and drivers involved: Fifteenth and Russell, Mrs. Frank McCleskey, 1407 Aylford, and Mrs. Pauline Talton, 1401 Tucson; Tenth and Bell, Louis Branham, 1009 N. Bell, and Augustia Munoz, 306 NW 10th; 3611 Hamilton, David Budke, 3621 Dixon, and parked car of James York, 2404 Cheyenne; Northwest Third and Gregg, Louie Morrow, 1110 W. 2nd, and Eduardo Ramirez, 611 N. San Antonio; Second and Benton, John Jackson, Midland, and Robert Thomas Jr., 602 NE 10th; Eighteenth and Gregg, Loria Casad, Ellis Homes, and Jennie Denny, Morton.

The car of Thomas Whitworth, 1306 Marjio, slipped from its handbrake and rolled down the street into the house of M. K. Britton, 2400 S. Monticello. The damaged house is one house east of the James Alford residence, which was damaged recently when a runaway milk truck crashed into the living room. A faulty handbrake was blamed also for the previous accident. Mrs. Britton said the Thursday accident "took the corner" off the house.

Police reported numerous cars skidded on the slippery streets Thursday and Friday before a bright sun began melting the snow. One car skidded into a gas meter, and workmen were summoned to repair the break, police said.

Ex-Con Says U.S. Agents Offered Him Full Pardon

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—An ex-convict from Detroit testified today he was promised a presidential pardon to work as a government undercover agent against Teamsters President James R. Hoffa.

Frederick M. Shobe, testifying over angry government objections at Hoffa's jury-tampering trial, said he was employed by Walter Sheridan, special consultant to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, from May 1962 through January 1964. Shobe, a Negro, said he was not assigned to the present case until June 1963.

Asked if he was promised any compensation by the government, Shobe replied, "Mr. Sheridan had my FBI record. I was told he was working on a presidential pardon for me, but I later found out that a presidential pardon wouldn't do any good since my convictions were on state offenses."

Shobe said he had served prison sentences for armed robbery, burglary and forgery and was on parole at the time he said Sheridan hired him.

Walker testified against Thomas E. Parks of Nashville. Parks is one of five men on trial with Hoffa on charges of seeking to influence the union leader's 1962 conspiracy trial jury in Nashville.

The defense also has called the estranged wife of Edward G. Partin of Baton Rouge, La., in the case.

The government's chief witness in the case.

"We insist she has no relevant testimony," said James F. Neal, chief prosecutor.

"I have talked with her and her testimony certainly is competent," insisted James Hagerty, attorney for Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union.

Partin, a Teamsters local official at Baton Rouge, linked Hoffa and most of his five co-defendants to alleged attempts to fix the jury in Hoffa's 1962 trial at Nashville on a conspiracy charge. He testified he enjoyed Hoffa's confidence during that trial but reported "almost daily" to the government on the labor leader's activities. The trial ended with a hung jury.

Hoffa's plans to testify in his own behalf today were postponed by the decision to call Mrs. Partin. His appearance now is set for Monday, start of the trial's sixth week. The other defendants testified this week. All denied they did anything wrong.

The bulletin was issued at the Royal Palace after fears for the 62-year-old king's life had steadily mounted in Athens. It gave no indication of how long the operation lasted.

"The operation went very well," Dr. N. Tsamoulas told newsmen assembled outside the Tatol Palace 26 miles north of Athens.

"The king is all right now," the doctor added without elaboration.

He was one of five doctors who signed the medical bulletin.

In his last official act before the operation, the king signed a decree Thursday naming Constantine, 23, the crown prince, as regent. As such, Constantine will perform all the royal duties, at least until the monarch has recovered.

Members of the royal family were at the palace. They included Queen Frederika; Crown Prince Constantine, 23, who Thursday was named regent for his ailing father; Princess Sophie and her husband, Prince Juan Carlos of Spain, and the king's younger daughter, Princess Irene.

King Paul's illness was disclosed at midnight Wednesday in a medical bulletin which said he was suffering great pain from recurrence of an old ulcer.

The first announcement of the king's illness explained that it had been kept secret so as not to upset the populace during the election of a new Parliament last Sunday.

Services for James R. Bennett, father of Margaret Bennett and Mrs. Boise Fletcher of Big Spring, were to be held today at 2 p.m. at Zora Baptist Church in Baton Rouge, La., with Welch Funeral Home in charge. Mr. Bennett, who had been ill for several weeks, died Thursday morning.

Prison Sentenced
Morris Lester Madden, accused of stealing a car from Mrs. Alice Hold, last Nov. 1, pleaded guilty to the theft indictment against him late Thursday. Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, accepted the plea and sentenced Madden to serve two years in the state penitentiary.

House OKays Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved the $16.9-billion defense authorization bill, including $92 million in research funds not asked by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Approval of the largest defense authorization in history came late Thursday on a 336-0 roll call vote.

The $92 million is intended for research on a manned bomber and a manned interceptor plane. The House Armed Services Committee had recommended the money on the advice of Gen. Curtis LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, although it had not been included in McNamara's requests.

Since it is an authorization bill, it really includes no money at all. It simply sets the maximum limits for later appropriations by Congress.

And even if Congress later appropriates the $92 million for research, there is nothing in the law that can force McNamara to spend it if he doesn't want to.

MORE THAN A SOFT DRAWL

Energetic Lady Bird's Personality Rises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Close friends say Lady Bird Johnson is much more of a personality than her soft Texas drawl implies.

They say the five-foot, four-inch brunette, who punctuates her conversation with "m'am" and urges "y'all come back soon now, hear," is a self-disciplined, strong-willed and dedicated person. For years she has managed two homes—a Washington residence and a Texas ranch—reared two daughters and built a lucrative radio-television business on her own.

From the day she borrowed $10,000 from her father to launch Lyndon's first campaign for Congress in 1937, she has placed her husband's future and welfare "first in her thinking."

BOTH ROLES

She has been campaigner and critic for the nation's 36th President and is expected to continue in both roles. Ten months remain in the term turned over to Johnson by a tragic moment in history. His wife may have only brief time as First Lady before she resumes active politicking with her husband.

From the record of her experience, indefatigable interest in causes and charities, her own desire to be "an extra pair of eyes and ears" for her husband, and her redoubtable energy, friends predict Lady Bird will follow the pattern of Eleanor Roosevelt.

She has pitched in through the years, holding a stop watch to Lyndon's speeches, gently easing him through thousands of handshakes, standing by in every crisis, ever applauding from the sidelines.

CAMPAIGNING

Beside that, when the chips were down, she flung herself into campaigning and barnstormed through 39 states and 55,000 miles for the Democratic ticket in 1960.

Lady Bird admits "I'm not deeply informed on politics" and leaves the discussion to Lyndon, but key Democrats confirm her impact on the voters.

If you ask "What's Lady Bird like?" her friends say she's warm, intuitive, thoughtful of everyone else, has a poetic way of speaking, probably the result of reading and re-reading the classics in childhood.

She never loses her temper and never loses a friend. "I can't recall a time when 'Bird' lost her disposition," a Senator's wife and fellow campaigner said, "and I have seen her under some tough pressures. She's the most disciplined person I have ever known in my life."

TOO GOOD

"When you describe her to anyone else, she turns out sounding too good to be true—but she's like that."

Johnson, often commenting on her knack of saying the right thing at the right time, dubs his wife "My own Madison Avenue."

A Memphis newspaperman watching her campaign in 1960 described Mrs. Johnson as "a blend of feminine charm and shrewd practicality."

A lawyer, who has handled her business affairs, notes "she can pick up a balance sheet and look at it with the same discernment another woman displays toward a piece of cloth."

Mrs. Johnson, who inherited wealth from her mother's Alabama cotton landowner family, gets much of the credit for handling the LBJ financial interests.

In addition, she was the owner of a million dollar radio-television business in Texas. She turned her interests over to trustees when her husband succeeded to the presidency.

After 20 years of building up her own broadcasting enterprise, the nation's First Lady has settled down to operating a 132-room domain where costs come to some $680,000 a year. Her 29 years of partnership in marriage and politics with Lyndon Johnson make her perhaps better prepared than any other First Lady for the exacting demands.

OWN CREDOS

Mrs. Johnson, 51, has some credos of her own. One thing she preaches is that "in the space age, passive citizenship is a luxury no one can afford."

She proved she can take a courageous stand when needed. An Arab diplomat recently protested her honorary sponsorship of a cause marking the 15th anniversary of Israel's independence. The then vice president's wife replied that the easiest course for the wife of a public official "would be, of course, never to lend name, hand or heart to any endeavor, charitable or commemorative."

"I have, for whatever small value it may be, tried to be accessible and available to as many as possible without distinction as to religion, race or region and certainly including all states of the Middle East. I shall continue to do so."

Lady Bird's idea of relaxing is a bridge game, a friend says, "but it never happens."

HECTIC LIFE

Even her hairdresser, Jean Louis, who did Mrs. Kennedy's coiffure in past years, recognized Mrs. Johnson's hectic life and saw that she got peace and quiet when she made her usually twice-weekly visits to his salon. Now he goes to the White House. In an effort to get away for a breather, Mrs. Johnson sneaked off last July for a two-week incognito vacation in New Mexico with her closest brother, Antonio Taylor, 59, of Santa Fe, and his wife.

Lady Bird, who thinks there is need for bonds of understanding and language with Latin America, has been studying Spanish six hours a week for two years with a small group of Washington friends. She spoke Spanish most of the two weeks in homes of her brother's friends and in remote areas.

Antonio, who has been in the international importing business for 37 years, is Lady Bird's tie with her childhood. Her father, Thomas Jefferson Taylor, and another brother, T. J. Jr., died several years ago.

Lady Bird was born in the East Texas hamlet of Karnack, near where her father owned 18,000 tenant-farmed acres, operated cotton gins and a general store, with a sign proclaiming he was a "dealer in everything."

EAST TEXAS

He and his wife, Minnie Lee Pattillo, moved from Alabama to East Texas just before 1900. There were two sons and then Lady Bird, born about Dec. 22, 1912.

Actually, she was named Claudia Alta Taylor, after an uncle, Claude Pattillo, considered "the man of strength" of her mother's family.

A Negro nurse, Cindy Gibson, said the infant was "pretty as a lady bird," and launched the lifelong nickname.

"I would have liked to have kept Claudia," Antonio says, "but that was hopelessly lost," even though Lady Bird occasionally tried to protest her nickname.

Lady Bird's mother was a woman of culture whose family was among the largest cotton land holders in their homestead of Billingsley, Ala. She was the well-read one, whose books filled the family's ante-bellum brick house in Karnack.

She died when Lady Bird was almost 6, leaving a share-and-share-alike inheritance to her three children.

IN ALABAMA

The two boys already were in boarding schools. Lady Bird was sent to stay with Alabama relatives. Later, an unmarried aunt, Effie Pattillo, came from Alabama to help rear her. The two shared an apartment for a time in nearby Jefferson, while Lady Bird went to school in Marshall, 14 miles from their isolated farm home.

The influence of the Alabama relatives on Lady Bird was great. Aunt Effie was the closest. Uncle Claude, who knew she might someday be managing her mother's holdings, each Christmas sent his teen-age niece special gifts of books on property management and business methods. Lady Bird read them. Both Effie and Claude left Lady Bird inheritances, too, mainly Alabama cotton and timber land interests.

Lady Bird, returning to Marshall, recently to make a service club speech, recalled the shyness of her school days and how she feared she might get top grades in her class and thus be called on to make the high school commencement speech. "But I was saved, I came in third," she said.

SPEAKING

Lady Bird took a 10-week public speaking course to try to overcome her stage fright, but she confessed to her Marshall friends:

"Here I am, 10,000 barbecues and several hundred speeches later, and I am still scared."

Always a good student, Lady Bird finished high school with honors at 15 and went to St. Mary's Episcopal School for Girls in Dallas before entering the University of Texas. There, she majored in history as her daughter, Lynda Bird, 19, has been doing. Graduating in 1933, she went another year to earn a bachelor of science degree in journalism.

Lyndon and Lady Bird moved from smalltown Texas to big-time Washington. She was 21 and just out of college when she met and married Johnson, then 26 and starting his political career as executive secretary to a Texas congressman. They like to recall now that Lyndon proposed on the first date. But, when it came to the wedding two months later, Nov. 17, 1934, in St. Mark's Episcopal Church in San Antonio, Lyndon forgot the ring. A friend was dispatched and purchased one in a hurry. Sentimental Lady Bird has never let Lyndon replace that modest ring.

RADIO STATION

With some of the inheritance from her mother, Lady Bird, who always wanted to buy a newspaper, finally invested in a debt-ridden Austin radio station.

REPLACING BRACEROS

California Begins Drive To Induce Farm Hands

WASHINGTON (AP) — California agriculture is embarking on a massive domestic recruitment program for farm workers to take the place of Mexican and other foreign workers. These have been brought into this country for many years to meet seasonal farm needs.

Agricultural leaders in California will not seek another extension of the bracero law authorizing importation of seasonal workers from other nearby countries. The law expires Dec. 31.

Sharp opposition to the program has developed in this country, particularly in view of the high level of unemployment in many rural and farming areas.

The bracero program affects agriculture in many other states including Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Florida, and a number of Southern cotton producing states.

The Council of California Growers asked the state Board of Agriculture to help in making a shift to an American farm work force. The council said the state's farms intend to embark upon a "massive intra- and interstate domestic recruitment program for qualified agricultural workers."

Court Knocks Out Penalty For No-Passport Entries

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A federal appeals court has ruled unconstitutional a federal law penalizing U.S. citizens for leaving and re-entering the country without a valid passport. The government cannot say to its citizen, standing beyond its border, that his re-entry into the land of his allegiance is a criminal offense, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of appeals said Thursday. A three-judge appellate court panel threw out a lower federal court conviction of Negro journalist William Worthy for allegedly illegally re-entering the United States after going to Cuba in 1961. Worthy, whose home is at Boston, is a correspondent for the Baltimore Afro-American. He is the only American citizen indicted for re-entering the country of his birth without a passport. Worthy said he had "long hoped that the 5th Circuit judges would not blanch in the face of these arbitrary and unconstitutional laws."

Congress Ignores Holiday To Tackle Pressing Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pressure for an election-year farm bill and threat of a long filibuster on civil rights caused Senate leaders to revise today their traditional celebration of George Washington's birthday.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., asked opening debate on a combined cotton and wheat bill in an effort to push the measure through the Senate next week.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, and Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., the ranking GOP member, are opposed to the new farm bill.

"I'm against the cotton section," Ellender said. "It's too costly. I have no objections to the wheat section."

COTTON FARMER

Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., who is a cotton farmer when home, will be floor manager for the bill and explain its cotton provisions.

Aiken, a veteran of Senate farm battles, said "There is no need for either the cotton or wheat proposals."

"The cotton plan is merely a handout for our domestic textile mills and the cotton farmers will get little if anything from it."

The main feature of the new cotton program is a provision which would allow domestic mills to buy cotton at the same price available to foreign cotton buyers.

Cotton has been supported under the recent government program at about 32½ cents a pound with export sales at 24 cents. The new plan would reduce supports to 30 cents and permit both domestic and foreign sales at world levels of about 24 cents.

SUBSIDY

"This means that both the mills and producers will be getting a subsidy," Aiken said. "And I predict this subsidy will increase because world cotton prices will fall because of the plan."

The cotton program would operate for the next four years. The wheat program would permit payments under a cer-

Chubby AF Officer Still Two Pounds Over Limit

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—Air Force Capt. Harold K. Sacane has fasted, gone on diets and taken reducing pills, but an excess two pounds today jeopardize his military career.

A board of three Air Force colonels Thursday recommended dismissal of the 221-pound, 11-year veteran for being "defective toward his duty to maintain a prescribed standard of fitness."

The hearing was said to be the first of its type involving a commissioned officer.

New weight regulations issued last August for Air Force officers called for Sacane, a 6-foot, 2-inch, 31-year-old, to reduce his 235 pounds down to 219. His latest reported weight is 221—two pounds over the prescribed minimum.

Sacane testified at the hearing saying he fasted several times, sometimes as long as five days. But, he added disconsolately, one four-day fast took off only one and a half pounds. He also charged that Lt. Col. Hugh B. McManus Jr., a medical officer, "did practically nothing for me. He denied me medication and did not give me a diet as I requested."

McManus, then on duty at Pease Air Force Base, Portsmouth, currently is assigned to Guam.

Sacane, whose hometown is Sunnyside, Pa., called "fictitious and false" the claim that his attitude was "defective" on the weight reducing matter.

"As near as I can figure," he said, "the entire thing was made up."

The husky bombardier-navigator said he was currently under the care of a Brookline physician "and at my own expense."

Lt. Col. Jennings O. Larson, squadron commander, testified that Sacane was one of the best bombardier-navigators in the squadron.

Final decision on the board's recommendation will be made by the secretary of the Air Force following review by Air Force headquarters in Washington.

Usage Down

LAMESA (SC)—Water consumption here was far off the pace set a year ago. Only 37,766,000 gallons were used in January, about four million gallons less than last year when an extended cold spell caused a number of water main breaks and loss of several thousand gallons of water.

BACKGROUND FOR MARRIAGE

Next year George will be a civil engineer from Tech. And Meredith is studying Home Economics at State. If you were their parents, wouldn't you consider that a pretty good background for marriage? Boy with a promising profession! Girl with a sound grasp of the family budget!

But should we be so naive? What they study in college is foreground, not background. It equips our sons and daughters for the immediate opportunities and obligations the future presents.

The permanence of love is not rooted in engineering or economics. Designing bridges and planning menus are not keys to a lasting happy marriage.

Personal character determines the ability of a man and woman to meet the demands of sacrifice and unselfishness that marriage requires. The Church molds character as it builds faith. For character is one of the by-products of faith...

... The ability to love unselfishly is another!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Daughter Tried, So Mom Enters Beauty Contest

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP)—The mother of a recent Miss America contestant wants to become this year's Mrs. America.

Jewell Malick, 43, a blonde, said she entered the Mrs. America competition "because I'm sure it will be lots of fun, and I'm a pretty good homemaker."

The New Jersey judging, with eight contestants, will be held March 5 and 6 in this Camden County community not far from metropolitan Philadelphia.

"I'm really excited about it," she said. "And so is my family"—husband, Gordon, and four children.

Her eldest daughter, Georgia, 19, was Miss New Jersey in the 1962 Miss America pageant and won a $1,000 talent scholarship as a pianist. She now is a freshman at Rutgers University.

"Georgia thinks it is hilarious," Mrs. Malick admitted. "She says I'll know how it feels to be on public view, and to smile prettily all the time."

The other children are Kip, 14, James, 8, and Heidi, 2. What does her husband, an insurance supervising adjuster say?

"He thinks it's kinda cute," Mrs. Malick laughed. "Anyway he always called me Mrs. America. I guess all husbands call their wives that."

Three Miners Die

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Three miners were reported killed Thursday in an explosion in San Juan de Ixtahuatl, State of Mexico. The miners' dynamite charge went off before they could leave the area.

U.S. To Base Polaris Subs On Spain's Coast

MADRID (AP)—The United States is going to base eight Polaris submarines at the U.S.-Spanish naval base at Rota, on Spain's southern Atlantic Coast, within easy reach of the Mediterranean.

The submarine tender Proteus is expected to arrive Monday at Rota from Holy Loch, Scotland, only other U.S. Polaris submarine base in Europe, to become mother ship to the new squadron.

The pending assignment of the nuclear submarines to Rota had been an open secret in the area for weeks. There was no formal announcement in Madrid, but the commander of the Polaris squadron at Holy Loch, Capt. David Bell, confirmed the reports Thursday in disclosing the departure of the Proteus.

The United States has had Polaris submarines on patrol in the Mediterranean almost a year. With a range of 1,725 miles, their missiles are capable of penetrating deep into the Soviet Union.

A tactical reason for the assignment of the submarines is the withdrawal of obsolete intermediate-range ballistic missiles from Turkey and Italy. Groups in both countries had objected to the presence of the U.S. missiles on the ground they made Italian and Turkish soil targets for Soviet attack.

Spanish sources considered the U.S. decision a compliment to Spain's political stability and its relations with the United States.

However, a problem is visible in Spain's growing trade with Cuba. On Tuesday, the U.S. State Department said Spain will get no new U.S. aid until it replies to an inquiry on what steps it is taking to curtail this trade.

Lima Trial Data Begins

HOUSTON (AP)—Testimony began today in the second trial of Carolyn Ann Lima, charged in the 1961 slaying of a Houston real estate man.

The final juror was chosen late Thursday after 50 citizens were summoned from downtown streets to Criminal Dist. Judge Miron A. Love's court.

They were called as prospective jurors because the state and defense attorneys had obtained only eleven jurors before exhausting a special venire of 300 men and women who were called Monday.

Miss Lima, who was saved from the electric chair last year by a federal court order which granted her a new trial, will be 21 years old Sunday.

She and her companion, Leslie Douglas Ashley, now 26, were given the death penalty in 1961 by a district court jury which convicted them of the gun-torch slaying of Fred A. Tones, 41, Feb. 6, 1961.

Says Rural Area Slighted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says the nation's economic cards are stacked against most rural communities.

A report in the department's publication, The Farm Index, says that since 1950 more than 3 million agricultural workers have been forced out of farming.

In trying to find jobs in cities, these displaced rural workers run up against what the department called a seniority system employed by industry in hiring workers.

"Before a man from the country is hired, he must wait until the roster of laid-off city employees is exhausted before his application is ever considered," the report states.

The migration of displaced workers from rural areas creates problems for those who remain, the report said.

"Rural people frequently face higher costs for local government services. The more rural a county is, the more likely it is that it lost population during the past decade. This population loss means that fixed costs of running government must be divided among a smaller number of people."

Texas Family Moved Fast To Aid LBJ

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—A Texas oil and real estate developer and his wife spent a hectic two weeks moving out all their belongings—including the food in the refrigerator—to provide a desert White House for President Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Taubman relaxed today at the fashionable Racquet Club and the Johnsons had spent their first night in the Taubmans' six-bedroom home with its spectacular desert view, including picturesque boulders, cactus and palm trees.

WORKING WELL

Everything seemed to be working well, including the 14 telephones that were installed to meet presidential needs. The Navy mess unit had taken over the double kitchen to provide early morning breakfast in time for the 8 a.m. scheduled departure of the Johnsons on what was to be a 15-hour long day with visiting president of Mexico and Mrs. Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Because the Johnsons will be hosts at a dinner party for about 14 guests tonight, Mrs. Taubman rushed to buy 14 "matching and impressive chairs."

BEAUTICIAN

She even arranged for a beautician to come in this afternoon to do the First Lady's hair.

U.S. chief of protocol Angier Biddle Duke picked the Taubman house for the presidential visit, Mrs. Taubman said, mainly because it has a dining room.

In this resort area, most people don't go in for formal dining. Across the street, singer Gogi Grant moved out of her house, too, to accommodate members of the Secret Service traveling with the Johnsons.

New PASO Chief

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Charles Albright Jr. of San Antonio is new executive secretary-treasurer of the state Political Association of Spanish-speaking Organizations (PASO), succeeding Albert Fuentes Jr. Fuentes, a candidate for lieutenant governor, resigned last Friday.
