LARGE OIL DEAL IS IN PROGRESS WITH MEN HERE

C. H. Verschoyle, Newton W. Maer, M. Staniforth et al Sell Production, Acreage

$650,000 CASH

Approximately 700 Acres, With 1,000 Barrel Production Figure In Deal

Another huge oil deal with figures reported to run only a little less than three quarters of a million dollars is reported in progress between Wichita Falls oil producers and a fourth and third party whose identity has not yet been disclosed. Sibley and Kilgore of this city are acting as brokers and at present are in Chicago engineering the deal, which last night had reached a stage where all papers were signed and drafts had gone forward for payment as the final step in its consummation.

By terms of the arrangement approximately 700 acres with between 50 and 60 producing wells making approximately 1,000 barrels a day and belonging to C. H. Verschoyle, and Newton W. Maer, M. Staniforth, and P. F. Gwynn, will be passed through Sibley and Kilgore and another to a fourth party whose identity has not been disclosed but is understood to be one of the "big" companies for a consideration known to approximate $650,000.

The deal includes forty acres with seven wells making about 250 barrels a day belonging to C. H. Verschoyle, and located in section 27, A. T. N. C. L., Archer county, two twenty-acre leases in the Wilmot pool, one belonging to Maer and Staniforth and one to A. T. Sibley, and certain south Electra leases and production belonging to Maer-Staniforth-Gwynn. Fourteen wells on the Maer-Staniforth twenty acres in the Wilmot pool are understood to be making about 300 barrels a day.

While it is not known just yet who the buyer in the deal is, it is presumed that it is one of the larger companies buying in much the same manner as did the Prairie last spring when the K-M-P Oil company holdings were purchased for a consideration of $1,-250,000. Final consummation of the deal is expected some time today.

A FREAK EAR OF CORN

Perfect Pattern of Red Kernels Found On Fair Exhibit.

A freak ear of corn which a perfect pattern of red kernels stand out prominently from the field of surrounding one of conventional yellow is attracting considerable attention from farmer-callers at the office of Guy R. Jones, county agricultural agent. No one has been found yet who has ever seen anything like it before.

The tip of each kernel is colored a strawberry hue, with the discoloration being practically the same size and in the same place on each one.

The ear was found in the county agricultural exhibit building at the fair when Mr. Jones was cleaning out following the exposition.

Publicity Cost Him Day In Jail

Jones of that city must spend 24 hours in the county jail and pay all costs of the prosecution which sent him there. ## Wichita Delegate Joins Vernon And Others in "Bolt"

Political Split Rocks W. C. T. U. Convention At Houston

OVER PRESIDENT

Mrs. Van DeWatts Re-Elected but Harmony Does Not Prevail

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 16.—The jubilee convention of the Texas Women's Christian Temperance union split today over state politics.

The top delegates from San Antonio, together with the delegates from Wichita Falls, Greenville, Bay City, Vernon, Robstown and Garwood, bolted the convention following the re-election of Mrs. Claude Van DeWatts of Austin as president of the W. C. T. U. of Texas.

There was some doubt as to the exact number of delegates who bolted, some placing it as high as 24, and others as low as 17.

While the "fourth of allotment" was being staged through the downtown district, the delegations were packing their effects and preparing to leave for their homes.

Action Delayed

An effort to set up a rival organization was made at a meeting of the dissatisfied delegates during the afternoon but after some heated discussion in which Mrs. Van DeWatts was condemned by several speakers, it was decided to defer any action looking to the formation of a new temperance body.

When the election of a president was taken up, three names were placed in nomination—those of Mrs. Van DeWatts, Mrs. G. W. Jones of San Antonio, and Mrs. J. B. Ammerman of Fort Worth. Mrs. Watts received 81 votes, Mrs. Jones 23 and Mrs. Ammerman 2, making a total of 106 out of an accredited voting strength of 112.

Following the nominating ballot, Mrs. Van DeWatts and Mrs. Jones were voted on. The former received 77 votes and the latter 28.

Just before the balloting had started, leaders of the insurgent delegation from San Antonio had requested the privilege of speaking from the floor. Mrs. Ammerman, who was presiding, refused to allow the Alamo city delegates to speak until after the election, the latter charged.

Didn't Seek Office

When she was recognized by the chair, Mrs. Jones declared that she had begged that her name not be put in nomination; that she did not desire to the office of president; that the W. C. T. U. was being used to further the candidacy of "persons in league with the liquor traffic;" and that the name of the W. C. T. U. was being used by politicians, through the press, to further the political interests of the liquor traffic.

Protests against the re-election of Mrs. Van De Watts made on the ground that she had supported the candidacy of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson and the political fortunes of Jim Ferguson, was voiced by the San Antonio delegates in a brief, confused session following the election.

"We want it understood that this protest is based on principles and not personality," Mrs. Jones declared later at the Rice hotel, in discussing the matter, "the W. C. T. U. stands for clean government and believes that it can be brought into existence only through the election to office of Men who represent its principles and ideals.

The San Antonio delegation and those who withdrew with us unqualifiedly endorse Dr. Butte.

"We still hope for a reconciliation through a change of leadership."

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The republican national campaign organization had collected and expended $1,714,317 up to October 10 and the LaFollette independent organization had collected $190,535 and disbursed $135,062, according to testimony given today at the opening session of the special campaign fund investigating committee of the United States senate.

Complete figures as to operations of the democratic national organization were not obtained but Lincoln Dixon, manager of the western headquarters testified that his organization had spent $32,500 up to October 10 of which sum all except $5,000 had been furnished by the national committee. The other $5,000 was a personal contribution from George E. Brennan, democratic national committeeman from Illinois, he said. Chairman Borah, republican of Idaho, stated that he would call finance officers of the democratic national committee later.

16,902 Contribute.

W. V. Hodges, treasurer of the republican national committee told the senate investigators that the gross total contributed to the republican campaign from 16,902 individuals and organizations with twelve contributions ranging from $10,000 to a maximum of $25,000. John M. Nelson, national director of the LaFollette campaign testified that the total of $190,535 received by his organization had come from approximately 72,000 contributors in sums from $1, upward, with one contribution of $25,000 another of $5,000 and three of $1,000 each.

Manufacturers and investment and other bankers were the principal contributors in large sum to the republican fund, Mr. Hodges said. William Wrigley, Jr., of Chicago, was listed as the only person contributing as much as $25,000. James A. Patten, of Evanston, Illinois, grain dealer, gave $20,000. Fifteen thousand dollar contributions came from Payne Whitney of Manhasset, N. Y., Aldrich A. Johnson, a manufacturer of Camden, N. J., and Arthur Curtis James, of New York City, Hodges testified.

Other large contributors named by the republican national treasurer were J. B. Duke, Somerville, N. J., $12,500; Owen F. Roberts, Avon, Conn., $12,500; Mrs. Owen F. Roberts, $12,500.

Those Who Gave $10,000

Those giving $10,000 were listed as follows: Julius F. Cruchman, Montclair, N. J.; Arthur W. Cullen a grain merchant of Chicago; Albert Harris, president of a Chicago bank; Charles G. Dawes, Evanston, Illinois, the republican vice-presidential candidate; Harry F. Knight, St. Louis, and A. E. Carlton Colorado Springs, Colo.

Hodges testified that the Union League club, of Philadelphia had sent

Drastic scaling down of applications in some cases to only four per cent of the amount asked for, was regarded in Wall Street as an indication that the over subscription was close to a billion dollars. The heads of the underwriting syndicate, however, refused to revise their estimate that total subscriptions would exceed $300,000,000.

Oil Turns The Corner Is Belief

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Indications that the oil industry has "turned the corner" are seen by many market observers in the recent behavior of the oil shares which have displayed a strong tone despite the wave of selling in other quarters. Prairie's removal of pro rating in the mid-continent field, following similar action by the Texas company in the north and central Texas fields; publication of statistics showing a steady decline in production of crude and a marked increase in gasoline consumption; announcement of the president of the Texas company that the full year's dividend has been earned and the declaration of the regular Sinclair preferred dividend all have contributed to the more cheerful feeling regarding the oil industry.

Three Meetings Extol As Many Causes In Approaching Election

KLAN CONTROL SURE IF BUTTE ELECTED, CLAIM

Palace Theatre Hears Denunciation of Republican Candidate

That the republican party in Texas is secretely allied with the ku klux klan and that the election of George C. Butte as governor will mean klan dominance in politics as complete as it would ever have been under Felix Robertson was charged here last night at a rousing democratic rally staged, as one speaker expressed it, "to rally the lines and gird democracy's forces for the coming struggle with the foe."

The Palace theatre was nearly filled with a demonstrative audience that lent vigorous approval to scathing denunciation of the invisible empire. It was equally jubilant in applauding condemnation of those who forsake their party pledge and desert the democratic party in the hour of need.

Claim Butte Bound.

"George Butte is bound hand and foot, signed sealed and delivered to Zeke Marvin, Tom Love and George Butcher; and the ku klux klan will dictate his policies from first to last if he goes to the governor's chair." That was the summing up made by C. C. McDonald who, as the principal speaker of the evening, hammered away relentlessly on the klan and the secret alliance he declared existed between it and the republican executive committee of the state. Mr. McDonald's address, delivered with all the vigor and clarity at his command, was devoted mainly to treating the klan angle in the state's political machine. That he considered this a vulnerable point was apparent from the merciless manner in which he attacked it. He referred occasionally to the need of loyalty to the party pledge but left the firing of the main broadsides at that point in the hands of Judge A. H. Carrigan, Judge A. H. Brittain and W. D. Cline.

Reviews the History.

Opening his remarks with a brief history of the rise of democracy, comparing the principles of the two major parties from the origination of each—one with Thomas Jefferson and the other with Alexander Hamilton, Mr. McDonald plunged speedily into his charges involving the republicans and the invisible empire. His first sally was introduced by a reference to the recent address made here by Dr. Butte himself.

"George Butte is a republican, dyed-in-the-wool," Mr. McDonald said, "yet from this very platform ten days ago he told an audience that he was not running as a republican—and every republican on this platform with him became he disowned them. In his very next sentence he declared that he was not running on a ku klux klan platform or with ku klux klan affiliations—and every klansman in the audience cheered him for disowning them. And when he made those two statements, every republican and every klansman in the audience knew that they were not true."

Tells of Klan Meet.

Producing a manuscript with the remark that he was prepared to prove his accusations, Mr. McDonald next read what he said was a universal service report of a ku klux klan meeting held in Dallas September 18, last, in which contributions to the republican campaign fund were dropped into a wash tub. This was a short time before the meeting of the democratic state executive committee in Austin. Mr. McDonald said, and he then related how Chairman Berry of Houston, after reading the report, sent out "feelers" to each of the senatorial districts in Texas.

"He (Berry) found that that report was true," Mr. McDonald asserted, "he found that the claims of that story that the klan was working, quietly but none the less surely all over Texas against Ma Ferguson was based on fact, and as a result when the democratic committee met the call went out to Texas to be on guard. It was then that the executive committee made its open charge that the klan and the republican executive committee of Texas were functioning together."

Continuing with his presentation of evidence that such an alliance existed, Mr. McDonald read newspaper reports of the recent klonvocation in Kansas City where klansmen from all over the state pledged opposition to political candidates opposing them.

"The klansmen of Kansas paraded with a coffin labeled William Allen White, who is running for governor of Kansas on a platform in opposition to the klan; klansmen of Alabama appeared with a goat dubbed Oscar W. Underwood, who denounced the klan in his campaign for democratic nomination for president; klansmen of Oklahoma promised the defeat of Jack Walton who is running for the United States senate on an anti-klan platform; and finally the delegation of Texas klansmen pledged their support to George C. Butte who is running against the woman that beat their candidate."

Printed On Folk Press.

After charging that all of Butte's campaign literature was being printed service by the republican administration.

Pinks Disappoint Local Admirers Who Are Out $100

Courtroom Rally Hears Wheeler Never Booked For This City

MIXUP ON WICHITA

La Follette's Running Mate Headed for Kansas Instead of Here

After spending an amount which leaders here estimated to be over $100 in preparations for his coming, Senator Burton K. Wheeler's headquarters in Chicago yesterday wired local LaFollette-Wheeler supporters that the vice-presidential candidate on the pink ticket was not billed for Wichita Falls, Texas, but Wichita, Kans., this coming Saturday.

The telegram came from Davis Wills late Thursday afternoon.

Meet Last Night.

At a meeting of the "LaFollette for President" club last night at the court house about fifteen of the city's LaFollette and Wheeler followers discussed various aspects of the national campaign and made plans for carrying the fight of the Wisconsin senator into Wichita Falls. Notice of the mistake of the campaign committee in confusing Wichita, Kansas, with Wichita Falls, Texas, was read in another telegram from Wheeler himself, expressing his regrets at the mistake that had been made, but also stating his inability to change matters.

Editor is Heard.

P. B. Roberts, editor of the "People's Press," local labor paper, made a plea for getting together, and exhorted his hearers not to let the disappointment in not getting the Wheeler date come in the way of the furtherance of the campaign in Wichita Falls.

The remainder of the meeting centered around an open discussion of various attributes of Senator Robert M. LaFollette, and comparisons with other leaders of history in the past. Although there was a sparse attendance at the meeting there was an almost unanimous endorsement of the LaFollette campaign and principles, a spirit of enthusiasm over the reported progress of his fight in other sections of the country.

Wheeler In Address At Border City

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 16.—An appeal to Texas democrats to vote for the independent ticket was made tonight in El Paso by Senator Wheeler, of Montana, vice presidential candidate with LaFollette. He delivered one address here after a day of campaigning through New Mexico, during which he spoke at Albuquerque, Las Cruces, Socorro, San Marcial, and other points along the Santa Fe railroad.

"I was elected to the senate as a democrat," he said. "I attended the national convention at New York as a democrat. Yet witnessing at New York the failure of the democratic party to take the first step toward freeing the government from the control of private interest, I could not do other than take the step I have in becoming independent of the party.

Says Davis For Morgan

"What did the democratic party do with the opportunity left it in the republican party's failure to heed the revolt of the public against corruption? It nominated John W. Davis, attorney for the house of Morgan, the house of Morgan, chief among the masters of the republican party.

"Texas had a candidate before that convention, and he was the candidate of many other states. But the man named was not the one Texas wanted; it wasn't a man that any other state wanted. It was the man the interests wanted. Democrats know now they have been betrayed, sold out. I am not revealing any political secret when I tell you the democratic party is almost non-existent in the west, and that there are simply no votes whatever in the west for the democratic national ticket.

Why the Independent

"That is the explanation for our independent campaign. Independent republicans can not vote the republican ticket. A vote for John W. Davis means; 'I as a democrat, am willing that my party shall be what the party managers are willing to make it, subsidiary of the republican party.'

"Democrats in the west and democrats in the east this year are refusing to say that.

To his New Mexico audiences, Senator Wheeler promised special consideration for reclamation projects, at the same time asserting that campaign declarations by General Dawes, republican vice presidential candidate, had destroyed prospects of similar

MRS. JOHNSON RAPS PRESS OF WICHITA FALLS

Wishes City Had a Newspaper With a Conscience, Is Plea

Criticism of the press of Wichita Falls by Mrs. M. E. Johnson, admitted republican, featured a meeting of the Women's Butte for Governor club at the district courtroom last night.

Newspapers of Wichita Falls lack consciences, declared the speaker, and their editors are afraid.

Her assailment of the two newspapers of this city, the Wichita Falls Record-News and the Wichita Daily Times came as a climax to her address in which she severely denounced James E. Ferguson and the possibility of his wife, Miriam Ferguson, ever becoming governor of Texas. She had reached that part of her talk which recounted that she once contributed to a "small town newspaper," as she expressed it, when she let loose on the local dailies.

Contributed to Paper

"The newspaper to which I contributed had a conscience," Mrs. Johnson declared. "I wish we had such a newspaper here. "Small town papers sometimes dare to have a conscience, and with an editor who is not afraid. An editor who has the courage of his convictions and who is not afraid of the Fergusons and their followers."

She then recounted how the editor of the paper to which she contributed was "glad to have my little spread in his newspaper defend the state university and assist in accentuating the need of a better conductor in Austin."

Mrs. Johnson was introduced to the audience by Mrs. W. W. Silk, chairman of the program committee, who remarked that "Mrs. Johnson is a representative of the club women of Wichita Falls; she is a member of the Pen Women's club, and her views are those of a republican."

Says It's Worse and Worse

"The political situation in Texas grows worse and worse," began Mrs. Johnson. "I know that a woman can govern. Women can govern; they have had intensive training for centuries . . . But when I vote for a woman I want it to be the right woman. Not a proxy, or worse yet, a tool.

"I know what it means to have the Fergusons in power. I have spent about 17 years of my life in Texas. Some of these years were spent under the regime of the Fergusons."

Mrs. J. C. A. Guest, chairman of the club, presided. It was after some delay that the program was begun, for the lights in the court room failed to burn, and the loyal group of politicians moved into the third room before the speaking began.

Mrs. C. W. Snider, secretary of the club, read the minutes of the last meeting, telling of the selection of 20 chairmen for districts in the city of Wichita Falls. Following the reports of these chairmen, it was found that 135 new members have been added to the Butte for governor club.

Call for Reports

Mrs. W. K. Niles, district chairman called on the subchairmen for their reports. Mrs. T. R. Brunson said that 20 women of her acquaintance were working quietly for Dr. Butte, but that they considered themselves not politicians and did not wish to work publicly. Mrs. Ralph Hines told of having called 30 women with favorable results. Mrs. Silk reported that of the women she had talked to, none had disapproved of Dr. Butte's candidacy.

Mrs. J. L. Maxwell said that she had called a number of women, and in all her work, she had found only three for Mrs. Ferguson. "All the women I have talked to have been for Dr. Butte," Mrs. Orville Bullington stated enthusiastically. Mrs. Arch Dawson also reported success in the women's campaign in politics. Mrs. Lynn reported 19 names to be added to the list of members.

"I talked to one woman of average intelligence," Mrs. Guest stated, "and when I told her about the candidacy of Dr. Butte for governor and asked her to take part in the election, she told me she thought the race was over and the governor already elected."

"Uncle" Dick Crowell, a democrat all his life, spoke encouragingly to the club saying, "I have always been a democrat, but I don't think it's a disgrace to vote for a republican."

Stacey a Speaker.

"All progress, and all reforms in government are based on the God-given power of discrimination and choice," declared Harwood Stacey, another speaker.

"Our democratic form of government has been evolved by a process of choosing the good and eliminating the bad. Our highest duty is to elect the worthiest candidate for office not to vindicate party. Thomas Jefferson who founded the democratic party, founded it on the principle of freedom of conscience. If we do not exercise our reason and conscience in supporting the worthiest and best qualified candidate for office, we are nothing more than blind sheep following the instinct of the herd and not

Butte Replies To Morris Sheppard's Appeal For "Ma"

Recalls That Jim Once Was Against the League Of Nations

SPEAKS AT TYLER

Henry Edwards of the Troup Banner Sponsors Him On Stage

By S. RAYMOND BROOKS. Record News Staff.

TYLER, Texas, Oct. 16.—In six speeches today, George C. Butte, republican nominee for governor of Texas, presented candidacy to over 6,000 voters of Angelina, Cherokee and Smith counties.

Senator Morris Sheppard's appeal to Texas democrats to support the Ferguson ticket was countered by Mrs. Ferguson's republican opponent with the words of James E. Ferguson. "Senator Sheppard promised a democratic victory would mean submission of the league of nations issue to a vote," Butte said. "I am wondering what kind of support the senator expects if Ferguson is elected governor. I don't believe Sheppard knows when he asks the people to support Ferguson what Ferguson's attitude is on the league of nations issue. Here it is:

Quotes The Forum.

In the Ferguson Forum on Sept. 16, 1920, Ferguson said: "The league of nations in every day plain language means if you are in favor of United States going into partnership with the world, then you are for the league of nations, but if you are in favor of keeping us free from any foreign partnership then you are opposed to the league. In 1918, when the idea of a league of nations was first proposed and before any speech had been made for or against it, I wrote an article in The Forum denouncing the league as a fool's dream, and I am glad to say I have not changed my mind."

In an editorial in The Forum of September 30, 1920, Butte said Ferguson wrote: "Now the main issue of this election is declared by the democrats to be the league of nations and the American party agrees to the proposition. The democrats are for the league and we are against it. Mr. Wilson says it will save the nation. We say it will ruin the nation."

Edwards Was There.

Henry Edwards, editor of The Troup Banner, a democrat, introduced Butte here tonight. Dr. Butte spoke on the courthouse lawn to between 5,000 and 5,500 people, the largest political gathering here this year.

Butte spoke to about 100 persons at Alto this morning. One member of his audience tried several times to interrupt the speaker, but was ignored. Nearly 200 persons filled the district court room at Rusk when Butte spoke there. Butte addressed a club luncheon at Jacksonville and spoke to 400 in an open air meeting at 2 o'clock. He spoke from a tree stump to 25 persons at Wills, Angelina county. His will go to Center, Shelby county, Friday, and to Marshall Friday night.

HE WOULD HANG THEM

Presbyterian Minister Doesn't Agree With Caverly

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 16.—Dr. John Royal Harris, president of Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn., attending the annual conference of the Tennessee synod, Presbyterian church, U. S. A., in session here, last night at a fellowship dinner declared the verdict in the Leopold-Loeb murder case at Chicago was a miscarriage of justice and that the slayers of young Franks should have "been hanged as high as Haaman." He also paid his respects to the ku klux klan, saying it was attempting to do things in the wrong way and pleaded for law enforcement by constituted authorities.

Dr. Harris at the same time scored the modernists who he declared were attempting to change the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments and other parts of the Bible. He also scored dancing and drinking and said that a grace compound was needed to cure the social diseases of today.

TO TEACH REAL ESTATE

New Laws Proposed At Meeting of Realty Dealers

DALLAS, Oct. 16.—A licensing law for real estate dealers that will protect the people of Texas from "an influx of unscrupulous and unprincipled real estate operators that will come to this state when they are forced from other states by similar laws" was advocated here today by William E. Herren of Chicago at the opening session of the fifth annual convention of the Texas Association of Real Estate Boards.

He said such laws have been enacted in other states with success, forcing unscrupulous dealers to seek other fields and added:

"Texas is sure to be the dumping ground unless you protect yourselves, and we all know that Texas has been the victim of land swindles too much already."

Mr. Herren also advocated establishment in the University of Texas of a course in real estate practice and that a degree be given. He declared about 25 colleges have started such courses.

AN OFFICER SUSPICIONED

Killing of Husband Figures in Galveston Case

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 16. — A controversy between Jesse D. White, government repair plant foreman, and his divorced wife, Mrs. L. Young of Houston, over the possession of their 13-year-old daughter, Vera, furnished the background for the examining trial of Motorcycle Officer Morris Wells here this afternoon in connection with the fatal shooting of White last Sunday.

An attack on Wells in the vicinity of White's home preceded the shooting. Information in the hands of authorities is that White mistook Wells for one of the two other motorcycle officers whom he accused of aiding his divorced wife force an entry into his home several days previously. On this occasion Vera White was taken away. The two accused officers are now under suspension.

Grasshoppers Not Coming Again Is Experts' Opinion

A. and M. Men In City Thursday Reassure Farmers

ENEMIES BATTLE

Insects, Worms and Birds Will Eliminate The Pest

Soothing balm in the shape of expert opinion has been supplied the farmers of this territory by Drs. R. Youngblood and A. H. Leidigh, A and M. college experts who believe that the grasshopper plague of last summer will not recur again.

Drs. Youngblood and Leidigh have been in the city in connection with the new state experimental farm, just opened near Iowa Park, and when questioned concerning the grasshopper menace stated that the pests would, in their belief, be destroyed before another warm season. The natural enemies of the hoppers, other insects, worms and birds, they think, will practically eliminate them.

To a county in which thousands of dollars worth of damage was suffered by cotton and grain as a result of the hopper invasion, this is at least a pleasing possibility. While the greatest damage has already been done, the hoppers even yet in certain sections of the county are damaging wheat and other grain crops.

Reports from farmers of the county indicate that the hoppers are laying countless millions of eggs.

City Breathless; For First Time No Wind Velocity

Freak of Weather Sets Record for Wichita Falls

NO WIND AT ALL

First Time So Recorded Since Guage Was Installed

The city struggled through a breathless day yesterday.

That was true literally as well as figuratively, because for the first time on record no wind velocity was recorded by the observation bureau of the Wichita Falls Electric company. The weather report last night said: "average wind velocity 0; maximum wind velocity 0."

Observers at the weather station said that Thursday was the first day since the wind guage was installed last spring that it had failed to record at least a slight breeze. It was tested and found to be functioning normally.

A barometer reading below the average was also reported.

Advertising Went Up 20 Per Cent In Volume in 1924

American Association Of Advertising Agents Hears Report

ON FREE PUBLICITY

Discourage It When Not Real News, Is Code Outlined

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The volume of national advertising in 1924 showed an increase of 20 per cent over that of last year, according to reports submitted today to the American Association of Advertising Agents. The association was host at luncheon to the Audit Bureau of Circulation, which also opened a convention here. Six hundred attended the joint meeting.

"Our code discourages free publicity which is not real news," John Benson of Chicago, past president of the agents, told the publishers.

"It is a wise magazine publisher who encourages newspaper advertising as complimenting his own medium," he continued. "It is a wise newspaper publisher who encourages use of the mail follow-up. It is to the common advantage of the competing groups of publishers to put the advertiser first."

Reports presented to the agents showed that whereas the volume of national advertising in 1923 was to the extent of a quarter of a billion dollars, in 1924 it had increased to $300,000,000. Further increase next year was expected, according to James O'Shaughnessy, New York, secretary, and others. The opinion was expresed that advertising was on a sounder basis than ever.

The baggage, when opened, it was stated, was found to contain papers showing deals with important houses in London for the purchase of whiskey and other liquors. The papers, it was declared, also referred to the chartering of a vessel for Halifax, N. F., for the transportation of 6,000 cases of whiskey to America.

This New Treatment Never Fails To End Piles

Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained.

Central Drug Store and Smith Drug Stores, No. 1, 720 Ohio avenue, No. 2 Kemp hotel building, No. 3, 812 Eighth street, dispense MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES in the original box or can get it for you on short notice. Mail orders accepted.—Adv.

POLITICS AND PROSPERITY.

These scare headlines are taken from the Financial page of one of the leading American newspapers:

"Mid-west does not look for a boom—business proceeds at a moderate pace."

"Western business in sound condition, traffic is largest of the year, buyers seek stores in larger numbers."

"Cattle prices touch highest of the year. Beef market recovers from a demoralization of weeks, swine prices rise too."

"Farmers in no hurry to market wheat—with pressing loans liquidated disposition in belt is to hold maturing grains."

"Wheat up eight cents in a week, with oats, rye and barley, reach highest point in recent years."

"Price average rises—American index number up last week from 147 7-8 to 151 1-3."

Political propaganda is in flower. Garet Garrett, one of the ablest and cleverest writers of the day has a subtle piece of political propaganda in the current number of the Saturday Evening Post. It tells of the come-back of the northwest, the wheat section of America where Mussolini L. Follette expects to capture all the electoral votes the coming November.

Now Garet Garrett never uses the word politics or the word politician in his masterful article but it is a mighty boost for Coolidge and Dawes where ever the Post circulates. There are trained seals who do the writing for many of the great newspapers or magazines of the country.

These trained seals are fold what is expected of them. They obey orders, they write up this man or measure in a very innocent style and they write down that man or that measure with the same degree of complascence.

This is not a reflection on the great newspapers or the magazines. Business is business.

CHIDED BY HIS CHIEF.

General Charles Gates Dawes has been chided by his chief. In his opening speech in Nebraska in August, General Dawes said until production is brought more nearly in line with consumptive demand there can be no permanent betterment in the agricultural situation. He declared against continuation of reclamation projects fostered by the government in the mountain states for the reason he said, "we are already seriously embarrassed by over production in many lines."

This played havoc with the republican cause in the mountain states of the west. Republican farmers deserted the ticket in droves. Now the president is at odds with the Dawes policy on reclamation. This is his last word:

"It is my purpose to unremittingly stimulate and encourage the development of these great projects by every authority of the federal government. A country growing so fast in population as is our own, cannot limit its consideration to immediate necessities. Many people now living will see this a country of two hundred million inhabitants. The national interests will be served by prompting the widest diffusion of population."

The vice-presidential tail does not wag the presidential dog.

What Today Means to You

LIBRA.

Today's planetary aspects are very favorable until the early afternoon, in the evening they become distinctly adverse. The signs indicate that any well considered effort, especially along artistic lines, will crowned with success, as the vibrations denote an encouraging and a stimulating influence. In the evening, poise and self restraint are indispensable, as there is a tendency to nervousness and restlessness which if not properly checked will induce a general sense of dissatisfaction and querulousness.

A child born today will require more than ordinary care during infancy, and great attention must be paid to its nutrition and habits. Once past this period it will develop into a normally healthy youngster. Its character will be unselfish, its disposition lively, its mentality above the average. This child will always be a source of joy, not only to its parents, but to those with whom it is brought into contact, as its unselfish interest in others will always please, and never offend. It will, probably, display talent along artistic rather than commercial lines, and this should be encouraged, as far as circumstances may permit.

If today is your birthday, is it not a pity that you estrange so many friends and cause so many differences and disagreements, by your quick, ungovernable temper? It is all very well to be sorry thereafter, but your regrets do not remove the sting that your violence has caused. It would be so much more practical to avoid doing things that cause regret than grieve sorrow after they are done.

Temper, of the right sort, is a character asset, temper like yours, which is the wrong sort, is a tremendous character liability. The slightest little thing will cause you to go up in the air regardless of either place or time, and by this foolish indulgence in temper you not only cause yourself trouble, but bring discomfort to all around you.

Horace says: "Ira furor brevis est." Although, however, furious temper is brief, this makes it none the less unpalatable. It is neither manly nor womanly, and more often than not defeats the object for which, even indirectly, it is called into service.

Only by the exercise of that strength of character which you undoubtedly possess, can this defect in your "make-up" be remedied, and it must be patent to you that impulsive anger at no time attained any worth while results, whereas you know that self-control is essential to ultimate success.

Successful people born on this date are: Lorettus S. Metcalf, editor; Bruce Crane, artist; Childe Hassam, artist; Eric Pape, artist; Robert Lansing, ex-secretary of state; Thomas Fortune Ryan, capitalist.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

NOT THE RIGHT REMEDY

Old Jones, who was weary of life,
  Being set, every day, by the ears,
By a nagging and turbulent wife
  He had lived with for twenty-four years,
Was told that his rough matrimonial sea
  Would be blessed by the mildest of weather
And always contented and happy they'd be
  If they'd solve crossword puzzles together.

The system worked well for a while;
  Mrs. Jones would look into his eyes
And ask, with a fond winning smile,
  For a five-letter word meaning "pies."
And so strong were the bonds that united their hearts
  That they seemed beyond power to sever,
When Jones scratched his head and said presently,
  "Tarts!"
  And his wife softly crooned "Aren't you clever!"

But 'ere half of the puzzle was done,
  A break in the concord occurred,
For Jones guessed at "offspring" for "son,"
  Which proved to be quite the wrong word.
And when he had carefully lettered in "steers"
  When the obvious answer was "cattle,"
The lady broke out into ominous tears,
  And the session broke up in a battle.

Now Jones and his wife do not speak,
  Save with baleful and venomous glares,
Nor ever together they seek
  To fill out the white little squares.
No longer their wrangling runs on like the brook,
  No longer their bickerings chorus;
He bends all the night o'er a synonym book,
  And she o'er a dog-eared thesaurus!

CLUBS.

A news item reports that there is a considerable decline in men's clubs.

This is as it should be, for a club is about the dreariest place in the world. It has been described as an institution kept up by a thousand men for the benefit of ten bachelors.

The club was doubtless originally designed as a man's refuge from women.

As women are becoming more like men, and indulging nowadays in the same callings that men indulge in, men no longer want to escape.

They like to have the women always about the place. One cannot imagine why it was the men ever wanted to escape from them.

Men, when they are together, discuss their food, their work, with an unwholesome solemnity. But to lunch, even in the cheapest hotel or restaurant is to mingle with humanity in its healthiest and most cheerful mood.

Lunch, in a city club, is one of the most boring and dreary ceremonies imaginable. Men in clubs talk lugubriously in undertones. In restaurants there are laughter and romance. The office is forgotten, the recreation is complete. Staid men and women lose, temporarily, their aging lines and the lack-lustre look in their eyes gives way to a genuine sparkle as they mingle with the fresh faces of young lovers snatching precious moments over their food.

The club is an excrescence of the class idea. It is the endeavor of one kind of people to get away from the other kind. It is a phase of the instinct to escape from humanity. But there is no real joy that is not a part of humanity and a man finds out, sooner or later, that happiness runs vertically through all strata and is not confined to a single class.

JUST FOR FUN.

Let's pretend that there is a girl who lives near you, who has reached the "sparking" age, and who has never had a beau in her life. Let us suppose she isn't pretty, or stylish, or interesting and let us imagine she has a "catty" disposition, and raises old "Harry Ned" in her home all the time.

And let us suppose (now this is going to be lots of fun, so keep right with me) that the girl grows tired of her beauless life and her disagreeable manner and even turns against herself. So in her desperation she comes to us and asks us what she'd better do.

Oh, Daddy! Did anyone ever have such a chance to lay a person out as we have?

Here she is—at our mercy—and it isn't written in the book that we should spare our feelings. So we look her over, and under our breath say—"Heaven have pity on your soul" for here goes:

Us: In the first place—

The girl: I was born homely and can't help my looks.

Us: Keep quiet till we get through with you. You can improve your looks a hundred per cent. You know how to learn what to do.

You know how to improve your mind and become interesting.

You know how to make and keep your friends—you know how to attract people, both male and female.

You know style when you see it. See that you imitate it in your own clothes.

You know how to be loving and agreeable in your home, see that you are, hereafter.

The girl: But my health is poor. I am nervous and easily upset.

Us: Well, old dear, you have an instantaneous healing—go home and heed our words, and emerge next week, a gay and beautiful butterfly, loved by all of us.

We want you to join hands with us, but to get into our magic circle, you must do as we have said.

Wonder How Long They Can Live Happily Together

A BUSINESS GIRL

By MARK ALLERTON

And so Max Rutland had won her over, and she had got rid of him by a trick. That was Alan's solution of the catastrophe. It was the worst, and to him, in his mood, the most feasible.

Barbara's taunts ran in his ears.

He had opened his lips to defend himself, to declare that it was he, and no one else, whom she had to thank for the speedy flow of work that the advertisement in the trade paper had a result entirely insignificant compared with that effected by his canvass of every firm he knew.

But what was the use? If he had convinced her of that, she might possibly have determined to refuse the work because of the very hatred she had vehemently declared filled her against him and then the end would have been fast.

No; let her think what she liked. But in his inner heart he knew that his whole soul yearned for Barbara; that Barbara's kindly thoughts of him were still dearer to him than anything else, and that, robbed of these, his future was hung with dark clouds, through which no ray of happiness could pierce.

At the corner of the street where Barbara lived Alan met Max Rutland.

The very sight of the man drove out the capacity of reasonable action. Of course, Rutland was going to see Barbara!

Seized by a sudden, mad impulse, he caught Rutland's arm.

"A word with you!"

"Well?" The shadow of anxiety crossed Max Rutland's face. He saw that Kennedy was furiously angry. He guessed why. Anything in the nature of an altercation with someone physically his superior was distasteful to Rutland.

"Are you on your way to see Miss Linwood?"

"What if I am?"

"I don't approve of your friendship with Miss Linwood."

"You don't? You've got the cheek of the devil. Are you Miss Linwood's guardian, or what?"

"I simply won't have a bum like you hanging round her," cried Alan, beside himself.

"That'll do, Kennedy," spluttered Rutland. "Be careful whom you call a bum."

"I call you a bum. A low-down—"

"Keep your hands off me."

Kennedy remembered himself in time.

"You needn't be afraid. I'm not going to hurt you—now. But if I catch you hanging round Miss Linwood—"

"I can summons you for this," burst out Rutland.

"Do so, then."

"I will. You to call people names! You! A nice mess you nearly got Miss Linwood into, you did! Let me give you this bit of information. When you sold us to Dicey's you did them the worst turn in the world. The figure they got the contract on was thousands out."

Then Rutland thrust his face forward, malignant with rage.

"And Miss Linwood knew it. She dished you and Dicey's at the same time!" Rutland laughed, shrilly. "I reckon we had you on a string, Miss Linwood and I. God! what a joke we've had over it!"

A strange sensation of detachment from himself came over Alan Kennedy. He found himself telling himself that to thrust his fist into the leering face of the man in front of him would be to play the game. He wanted to do it. It seemed the right thing to do. It would be worth the consequences.

But he argued that the exultation of inflicting on this man physical pain must be forgone for the sake of some punishment more salutary. He was thinking now not of Rutland alone. He was thinking of Barbara as well.

CHAPTER IX
Clever Mr. Rutland

Then Kennedy spoke. His voice was very quiet, his manner so subdued that Rutland thought he had to deal with a beaten man.

"I do not grudge you your joke," he said, without raising your eyes. "It seems to have given you both much pleasure. There's an old tag to the effect that he laughs longest who laughs last. Now I'm going to tell you something."

Alan Kennedy raised his burning eyes until they compelled Rutland's gaze.

"I'm going to make it my job to have you down and out. I'll live to see you in the place where you ought to be—and that's the gutter. As for Barbara—"

He stopped.

Max Rutland forced a laugh. He could afford to laugh now.

"Well, as for Barbara?"

"No, I don't blame Barbara." Alan seemed to be speaking to himself alone. "She's so young—she's not a match for a real bad lot like you. I hope Barbara won't suffer much—" His voice trailed away.

Rutland laughed again. He turned to go.

"Oh, I'll look after her all right!" he cried, as he spun around and went jauntily down the street to Barbara's.

Rutland knocked at her door prompted Barbara first to pretend that she was out. She simply couldn't see anybody.

But curiosity got the better of her. It might not be Alan back again. Not even Rutland. She opened the door.

"Good morning. I had to look in at the office this morning, and on my way back I though I'd look in and see if you weren't done up after last night. Am I bothering you?"

He did not ask to be admitted. He himself shut the outer door behind him and made way for Barbara to precede him into her sitting room.

Barbara strove for an excuse for sending him away—for sending him away before he saw that her eyes were red with weeping, that all her self-control and composure were gone.

"Oh, I say, what's the matter?"

It was too late. He had seen. He was all sympathy and consideration.

"It's—it's nothing. I'm all right."

"Can't you tell me?"

She shook her head. There was a pause. Outside a church bell began ringing clamorously.

"I think I can guess," said Max Rutland quietly.

"You can guess!"

"Yes. I met Alan Kennedy just now."

A deep flush swept over Barbara's cheek.

"I gather that you and Kennedy are no longer engaged," he went on. "I do hope that—that affair of Dicey's was not the cause.

"Don't talk about it at all. I—I can't bear it," cried Barbara.

"Just let me say this," begged Rutland. "If you agree with Kennedy that it would be unwise of you and me to be friends, just say the word. I should be more sorry than I dare tell you, but—"

"Why should it be unwise for us to be friends?" she demanded boldly.

"I don't know," he replied with an almost imperceptible shrug of his shoulders. "Unless you suspect me of the manifold crimes of which Kennedy seems to think me guilty."

"What did he say to you?"

"He confined himself for the most part to calling me names," and Rutland smiled faintly. "I suppose he's been trying to put you against me?" he added.

HOW IT STARTED

By JEAN NEWTON.

"DUFFER."

Since gold came into popularity our ears are becoming more attuned daily to the sound of the word "duffer." And there is food for thought in the history of the word.

A duffer was originally a peddler or hawker of flashy articles such as sham jewelry, silks and imitation laces. Since there was much sharp practice in the selling of such goods which were frequently represented as of great value and offered cheaply under the pretext of having been smuggled into the country, the word "duffer" came to be used as synonymous with a sham or cheat. The implication, of course, was one of particular sharpness and shrewdness.

By what turn or twist of mind or circumstance the word was extended or changed to indicate awkwardness and incompetence, as it is used by us today, has not been discovered. It is a clear jump, therefore, from the origin of the word to its modern use, no trail having been blazed over the route it has travelled in its journey.

The Bachelor Who Is Prevented From Marrying Because of Dependent Relatives—The Girl Who Traded Love for a Comfortable Home—Shall She Put Off Wedding Until She Can Buy Trousseau?

Dear Miss Dix—I am a man twenty-nine years old, and I have been in love with a girl of the same age ever since we were children. I think she loves me, but I have never told her of my affection or asked her to marry me. I don't go to see her often for fear I will tell her how much I care for her, because I have to support my mother and two sisters, who have depended on me all these years.

What shall I do, Miss Dix?

A LONESOME BACHELOR.

Answer:

It is your duty to support your mother, but why do you not rid yourself of your parasite sisters so that you can go along and marry the girl you love, and who has evidently loved you and waited for you all these years? Unless your sisters are bedridden invalids, there is no earthly reason why they should not support themselves.

One of the most pathetic things in the world is the way in which men suffer themselves to be made the victims of their grasping female relatives, who find it easier to work dear brother than they do to work for a stranger. All of us know dozens of men like you, Lonesome Bachelor, who, either through the death of their father, or because of father's being a failure, had the family dumped on their shoulders when they were boys, and who had to stagger along under the crushing load the balance of their lives.

For when the girls grew up they lacked the unselfishness and the honesty to say to themselves, "Brother has already done more for us than he should have done and we will relieve him of our further support."

No. They didn't like the idea of working in a store or an office. The prospect of going out and fighting their way in the world cowed their coward souls, and so they just piddled around home doing nothing worthwhile and let brother support them.

Yet they were bound to know they were bleeding brother's heart white; that they were keeping him from having the normal life of a man; that he could never marry and have a wife and home and children of his own, because of the old women of the sex who were upon his back. They knew that they were ruining not only his life, but the life of the woman he loved and who loved him.

But such knowledge was never enough to send them out to look for a job or into the old ladies' home, rather than be the bar to the happiness of the one who had done so much for them.

Now there is no profit in unnecessary martyrdom, nor does any good come of a man's sacrificing himself without reason for his family. Any able-bodied woman can make a good living in these days.

And so I earnestly advise all bachelors to rid themselves of clinging-vine relatives, and marry and set up homes of their own instead of running easy-money institutions for their sisters and their cousins and their aunts, who would be much better off and happier if they were forced into an honest independence.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a contented wife and care enough for my husband to be interested in him and to make him a good wife. But I do not love him as a wife should. Before I married my husband I loved a poor boy, who loved me, but he had no money on which to get married. We would have had to wait for many years, and my people persuaded me that it was better to marry the man who could take care of me.

As I have said, I am a contented wife, and I keep myself happy just by thinking of this other boy, and that makes my heart sing for joy. Is this right? I am only twenty-three years old now.

MRS. A. B.

Answer:

No. When you are married to one man it is certainly most disloyal to keep thinking about another one. More than that, it is as dangerous as if you were playing with dynamite. Sooner or later the sentiment you are cultivating will explode and blow your home into smithereens.

To begin with, my dear lady, you do not know what true love is, because if you had really cared deeply for your boy sweetheart, you would have waited for him. The thought of giving him up, and marrying another, would have been so repugnant to you that nobody could have persuaded you into doing it. You would not have traded off love for bread and butter and shelter.

Now you are gratifying your fondness for romance by imagining yourself in love with a love that you never truly experienced. You are dramatizing yourself, but believe me, it is a perilous thing to do.

Any woman can think herself in love with a man. She can magnify her heart throbs until she honestly believes she is experiencing a grand passion, and this is particularly easy to do about the man to whom you are not married, with whom you do not have to live, and who does not vex you with his peculiarities.

Better use some of your excess powers of imagination on your husband. Hold the love thought on him for a while. Idealize him a little and forget the other man. That way happiness lies. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a poor girl engaged to a splendid man. I have put off marrying for two years, as I haven't the proper clothes, and I want to work and make the money for my trousseau. My sweetheart doesn't like the idea of me working for myself and urges me to marry him at once. He says he does not mind my not having any trousseau, but I do. Please tell me what to do. E. W. D.

Answer:

Marry your man. He shows a very beautiful spirit and is evidently worth having. Nothing gives a generous man more pleasure than to give pretty clothes to the woman he loves. So, under the circumstances, there is no humiliation to you in accepting the things he wishes to bestow upon you. Meet your big-hearted fiance with a generosity of soul equal to his. DOROTHY DIX.

Gleanings From the Book of Life

IT'S ALWAYS FORWARD OR BACKWARD.

We do not rest satisfied with the present. We anticipate the future as slow in coming, as if in order to hasten its course; or we recall the past, to stop its too rapid flight.

Pascal was mindful of this when he observed:

"So imprudent are we that we wander in the times which are not ours, and do not think of the only one which belongs to us; and so idle are we that we dream of these things which are no more, and thoughtlessly overlook that which alone exists.

"For the present is generally painful to us. We conceal it from our sight, because it troubles us; and if it be delightful to us, we regret to see it pass away. We try to sustain it by the future, and think of arranging matters which are not in our power, for time which we have no certainty of reaching.

"Let each one examine his thoughts, and he will find them all occupied with the past and the future. We scarcely ever think of the present; and if we think of it, it is only to take the light from it to arrange the future. The present is never our end. The past and present are our means; the future alone is our end.

"So we never live, but we hope to live; and, as we are always preparing to be happy, it is inevitable we should never be."

We know ourselves so little, Pascal observed, that many think they are about to die when they are well and many think they are well when they are near death, unconscious of approaching fever, or of abscess ready to form itself.

Cromwell was about to ravage all Christendom; the English royal family was undone, and his own forever established, save for a little grain of sand which formed in his ureter.

Rome itself was trembling under him; but this small piece of gravel having formed there, his family is cast down and forgotten, and the heirs of Charles Stuart rule Britain.

It occurred to Pascal that we are so unfortunate that we can only take pleasure in a thing on condition of being annoyed if it turn out ill, as a thousand things can do, and do every hour.

"He who finds the secret of rejoicing in the good, without troubling himself with its contrary evil, would have hit the mark. It is perpetual motion. . . .

"Those who have always good hope in the midst of misfortunes, and who are delighted with good luck, are suspected of being pleased with the ill success of the affair, if they are not equally distressed by bad luck; and they are overjoyed to find these pretexts of hope, in order to show that they are concerned, and to conceal by the joy which they feign to feel that which they have at seeing the failure of the matter."

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

UNDISCOVERED COUNTRIES.

All the earth's surface, save a few tracts of desert wilderness and the tops of a few inaccessible mountains, has already been explored.

There are, we say, no new countries to discover.

Even the record of the past, hidden deep beneath the surface of the earth, has been largely revealed by excavation.

What is there left for the adventurer?

To most people everything is left. The average city-dweller will find around the corner what to him is an undiscovered country, in a foreign quarter whose people speak a different language, and practice different customs from any he has known.

The casual reader will find in literature a delightful undiscovered country whose existence he has lately suspected.

And the stay-at-home, who has merely read about the places of the earth that have been known to man for thousands of year, will find if he visits them, that they are almost as strange and interesting as would be the cities and populations of another planet.

To most of the citizens of this world, ninety-nine one-hundredths of it are an undiscovered country, which will be new and fresh to them if they go to see it.

So will nine-tenths of the good books that have been written and the good pictures that have been painted.

Artists go in throngs to Europe to make voyages of discovery in the art galleries, and get as many thrills out of their journey as did Columbus when he found the islands that he supposed fringed the coast of the Indies.

All education is a voyage through undiscovered countries.

And when educators learn to make it interesting, there will be far more travellers to make the journey, and far more discoveries made.

Anyone who has known a growing child has witnessed his delight in the discoveries he makes with every new day.

A cow or a pig to a city child is as exciting as ever a giraffe or a hippopotamus could have been to the European who first penetrated the African continent.

Often, a three-year-old youngster will sit for many minutes at a time examining a new weed or flower which he has found in a back yard to which he has made a surreptitious exploring journey.

No one man has ever—can ever see all that is interesting and beautiful in the world.

No explorer has ever been able to write so clearly of strange lands as to convey a vivid impression of them to others.

No critic of literature or of painting can bring to his readers the knowledge of his subjects that they can get at first hand.

Undiscovered countries are all about us.

We may not visit all of them, but we can see far more of them than most of us ever will see.

And in seeing them we will get out of life all that we are able to get out of it, which is a great deal more than ever the most adventurous usually get.

Lockwood Strikes Back At Davis In Wheeler Argument

Resents Charge He Entered Into Criminal Conspiracy

REVIEWS EVIDENCE

Says He Sent Reporter To Montana to Get Evidence Against Pink

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—George B. Lockwood, former secretary of the republican national committee, today telegraphed John W. Davis that the latter's public statement issued last night had failed to establish proof of the charges made by the democratic presidential nominee regarding the indictment of Senator Wheeler of Montana.

In his statement Mr. Davis quoted testimony before the senate committee touching on Mr. Lockwood's connection with the case and declared that even if Mr. Lockwood were "a person of sufficient consequence to deserve a reply" to his earlier telegram on the subject the tone of that message made a reply unnecessary.

"Replying to your statement," said the telegram sent by Mr. Lockwood today, "any citizen important enough for you to attack on the stump is important enough to be entitled to a fair answer when he demands proof of your charges, which you have failed to give.

Recites The Charges.

"You charged, without justification, in your Terre Haute speech that I was involved in a criminal conspiracy to 'frame up' on Senator Wheeler. When challenged for proof you merely cite evidence that upon learning that Wheeler was accused of selling his official influence to a fraudulent oil company, I sent a newspaper man to Montana to secure material for publication; that upon learning this correspondent had found several witnesses having first hand knowledge of the transaction, I instructed him to give the names of those witnesses to the department of justice; that these witnesses' testimony, along with evidence previously developed in an investigation of Senator Wheeler's oil company clients for using the mails to defraud, went before a grand jury which decided that it constituted a sufficient basis for an indictment.

"This of course no one has ever denied or has any disposition to deny, since it is the duty of every good citizen to reveal and not hide crimes of public officials. You know as a lawyer that Senator Wheeler was regularly indicted by a grand jury composed of his Montana neighbors, not in Washington.

Asks Davis Questions

"Do you really think it a crime to discover evidence of a democratic senator's malfeasance and turn it over to the legally established tribunals for prosecution of crime, while a virtue for your friend Wheeler to air the testimony of criminals against public officials in a court of inquisition, governed by no rules of law or evidence? Do you believe that when a public official is charged with betrayal of his trust he ought to be free from prosecution because he is a member of your political party and that those who bring to the notice of the public and the courts the official misdoings of public officials should be branded as criminals for doing it? This is the only fair conclusion that can be drawn from your statement."

THEY MAY HAVE PURNELL

"Jesus Christ Revealed" Arrest In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16.—Police today arrested a man calling himself "Jesus Christ revealed" and are investigating the possibility that he may be Benjamin Purnell, missing "king" of the House of David. With him were arrested three white women, three negro women and one negro man. In the leader's pockets was found a clipping telling of Purnell's practices.

Purnell is wanted by the state of Michigan for alleged immoral relations with girl members of the House of David colony at Benton Harbor and on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The man told police that his real age itself was "at least one thousand years old," but guessed that his "material age was about 50 or 55. Purnell is about 60 years old. The man denied that he was Benjamin Purnell.

I. B. Whiston, chief of detectives, said he would telegraph to Grand Rapids, Mich., for a complete description of Purnell.

The negro and all but one of the women arrested with their leader in the basement of a bungalow here told police they had no earthly names. The leader was booked at police headquarters as "Jesus Christ Revealed." He gave his home as "Heaven."

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16.—Call for a general meeting of members of the Southern Pine association to be held in Memphis, Tenn., Friday, November 7, was issued today by Secretary-Manager H. C. Berckes.

On the day preceding the general session the board of directors, the grading, transportation, advertising and trade extension committees and the special committee on 1913 timber valuation will meet. The advertising and trade extension committees will hold a joint session.

The call for the meeting mentions among subjects for discussion the new American lumber standards and features disclosed by the association's survey of the amount of southern pine timber still standing in the various states, including the increase in lumber production by the small mills.

LIP STICK CAUSES IT

In Germany They Find Women are Getting Indigestion Now

LEIPSIG, Germany, Oct. 16.—Lip stick indigestion has developed here among women who use rouge too freely, according to physicians. Many of the cosmetics, particularly the paper kinds, contain harmful ingredients, assert the doctors, which cause complications when they come in contact with food.

Victims of lip stick attacks always maintain that their illness had been caused by food or drink and are not inclined to change their habits unless they have suffered three or four severe seizures after drinking in restaurants or cafes where they have applied an unusual amount of red in endeavoring to look their best.

A funeral march preceded the "burial" which was witnessed by 14,000 persons, says the paper. The casket was followed by 18 persons represented as honorary pall bearers. Two men in klan regalia led the procession, it is stated, and bringing up the rear was the "minister" driving two goats, one bearing Senator Underwood's name and the other that of Governor Al Smith of New York.

Irrigation

BY A. M. McPHERSON

WATER.

The Concrete Syphon Under the River Above Iowa Park.

The water for the north side canal system comes from the main canal which is on the south side of the river. It is conveyed across the river in a re-enforced concrete pipe or conduit six feet, eight inches in diameter inside.

This conduit was built in a trench dug down through the sand in the river bed to the rock and shale beneath. The conduit is built on this as a foundation.

Only recently a gentleman here made the statement that in his opinion there was grave danger of the conduit being destroyed should high water in the river ever wash the sand covering away from it. He said if the sand washed off and the pipe happened to be empty that the pipe would float and thus be easily destroyed.

He is correct in saying that the pipe would float if it was empty, but there is little chance of it ever being empty. In fact it would be a big job to empty it. It cannot empty itself. The water would have to be pumped out. There is no other way to get it out. The outlet valve is located in the middle of the river. The top of it is higher than the top of the pipe at that point. So it is impossible to empty the pipe by opening the valve.

With the pipe full of water there is no danger of its floating. Covered with sand as it is there would be little danger of its floating even if it was empty. The fact that the conduit goes down one bank and comes up the other causes it to be formed like an arch. This arch effect also tends to hold it in place.

A rise in the river big enough to wash the sand covering away is now a very remote contingency as practically all the water that used to cause high water is now caught by the big dams and impounded for irrigation purposes. There is small chance of the syphon ever being destroyed or even injured by any of these dangers.

STOMACH WAS A FOUNDRY

14 Year Old Girl Swallowed 1200 Metallic Objects

SAGINAW, Mich., Oct. 16.—Mary Doe, the 15-year-old Saginaw girl in whose stomach physicians last month found 1200 metallic objects, including coins, metal washers, safety pins, crucifixes, chains, brooches and bolts, was discharged last night from Saginaw general hospital.

Her physicians say she is completely recovered from the effects of her metallic diet.

Intelligent tests to which the girl has been subjected show, according to her physicians, that she now is of wholly normal mentality. This, the medical men assert, indicates that her apparent subnormal mentality at the time of her operation was a result rather than a cause of her metallic diet.

THEY CAN SMOKE NOW

Members of ZR-3 Spend First Day of Complete Rest

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 16.—While the whole world marvelled at their feat members of the party that traveled from Germany to America in the ZR-3 today enjoyed their first full day of rest since leaving Friedrichshafen Sunday. They spent last evening calmly telling the story of the flight in phrases that seemed almost common place compared to the magnitude of their accomplishment. While they talked, they smoked—a pleasure that was forbidden on the ship because of the danger of an explosion. The Germans who composed the crew which guided the giant airship on her epoch making flight left the huge craft reluctantly. They were fond of their craft with a fondness of mariners for the vessel that has brought them safely to port.

To win more friends

100 Lucky Strikes TAX FREE

We invite every smoker in this city to take advantage of this startling offer.

We've told you about Lucky Strike superiority.

Your friends have told you. Now know for yourself the value of the toasting process.

We make this proposition to win more friends:

The regular price of a tin of 100 Lucky Strikes is 75c
You pay the dealer only 45c
We pay the Government Tax of 30c
Act quickly, as the dealer's allotment at this price is limited.
Get one tin [only one to a person] for home or for office.
The regular price will be in effect when the dealer's supply on this offer is sold.

Cleanliness and Care in Manufacture

Every Lucky Strike factory is a model of sanitation. Read how Alfred W. McCann, the noted food expert, describes one of our factories: "White walls and ceilings, floors as clean as freshly chiseled marble, cutting machines and wrapping machines that take away from the human hand all detail and leave nothing to the human supervision but the watchfulness of trained eyes."

Smoke these 100 Lucky Strikes. Then you'll know how the 45-minute toasting process adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

Facts About Taxes on Cigarettes

WE call particular attention to the statements made in the advertisement adjoining this editorial column.

This advertisement, the purpose of which is to win new friends for Lucky Strike cigarettes, incidentally emphasizes the matter of high taxes on cigarettes.

To those who are intimate with such matters there is, of course, no surprising statement made.

To the general public, though, we believe it will be surprising to learn that nearly half of what they pay for cigarettes goes to the government for taxes.

The internal revenue stamp on a package of twenty Lucky Strike cigarettes costs you six cents. On a tin of one hundred the revenue stamp costs you thirty cents.

So nearly fifty cents out of every dollar you spend for cigarettes is spent by you for taxes.

This is certainly the heaviest tax on an article of daily and universal consumption.

The Tobacco Industry and Taxes

The aggregate tax paid by the tobacco business is with one exception, income taxes, the largest item of internal revenue the federal government receives. Last (fiscal) year it amounted to $360,814,050.34.

Of this enormous amount of money the cigarette industry paid $183,715,735.93, or nearly two-thirds of the total tax paid by the entire tobacco business.

The immediately important point of the foregoing is the following: We believe you will appreciate that when nearly fifty cents of every dollar paid by you for cigarettes goes to the government, you must receive in cigarettes a value in return for your money that is rarely given in any commodity.

That the public generally appreciates this great value is shown by the enormous increase in the consumption of cigarettes.

Our reasons for this tax free offer

We know this offer induces men to try Lucky Strike—it "Wins New Friends."

We know that a large percentage of those who get acquainted with Lucky Strikes adopt them.

This isn't philanthropy nor propaganda—just good business, as you'll agree.

The offer is limited. We cannot afford to keep it up.

We make it emotionally generous so as to attract attention.

We are not giving money away for the offer accomplishes its purpose: Lucky Strike "Wins New Friends." Our volume increases.

Super-quality

It is only by immense volume that we can produce such an aristocratic cigarette as Lucky Strike at such a democratic price.

Its quality is supreme because it has that costly, extra process, toasting, which improves the flavor and adds to the taste of even the finest tobaccos that are used in Lucky Strikes.

We urge you to participate in this offer—we want you to get acquainted with Lucky Strikes.

We know a trial will make you a permanent customer of ours.

Mrs. Rebecca Carrington Tells Federated Missionary Society About Work Of the Wichita Falls Day Nursery Thursday.

Caring for 3,270 children, an average of 32 for each day for the past three months was a part of the interesting report given by Mrs. Rebecca Carrington, superintendent of the day nursery at 602 Lamar street, at the quarterly meeting of the Federated Missionary society held at the First Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon. "We are indebted to the women of the society, the churches, the business men and to firms of Wichita Falls for a great deal of the work we are able to do at the day nursery", Mrs. Carrigan stated, and she mentioned the names of churches, individuals and firms that had contributed to the nursery.

Dainties Are Donated

"The summer months were made pleasant by the thoughtfulness of the citizens of Wichita Falls. Ice cream and fruits were supplied generously to the little children of the nursery, and the weekly automobile rides were appreciated. Every Saturday morning throughout the summer, the story hour was conducted.

Reports were heard from the various committees regarding the work of the society. Mrs. C. E. Bailey, secretary, read the minutes of the precious meetings at the request of the president, Mrs. W. B. Jarrell. Mrs. R. J. Goodale gave the treasurer's report which was favorable and showed a neat balance in the bank. Mrs. W. S. The Kiwanis club has promised to pay the rent on the building and to put $50 deposit to the credit of the society each month for the doing of this work. The final arrangements have yet to be worked out.

Maude Welsh, superintendent of the colored day nursery reported on the work the colored people are doing. She stated that chairty work was begun, but it was found that the funds could be used to better advantage in the day nursery since the finances were limited to such a great extent. She asked for the help and cooperation of the society in continuing the work of the colored nursery.

An Appeal to Democrat Women

The Ferguson State Executive Committee, in an effort to mislead the voters of Texas and throw a smoke screen over the effort to reinstate Ferguson as governor, destroy honest government, and despoil the fair name of Texas, have made many false statements. Four of these false statements are as follows:

1.—That any Democrat who votes for Geo. C. Butte for Governor will be prohibited from voting in Democratic primaries.

2.—That Geo. C. Butte, our candidate for Governor has made an alliance with the Ku Klux Klan.

3.—That Democrats who voted in the last primary are bound and obligated to support Mrs. Ferguson in whose name Jas. E. Ferguson is running for Governor.

4.—That Democrats who vote against Ferguson and for Geo. C. Butte for Governor cannot vote for other nominees on the Democratic ticket.

All of the above statements made by the State Ferguson Executive Committee are false. There is not one word of truth in any of them. Let us answer these false statements taking them up in their order.

1.—Does not the ordinary Democratic voter have the same rights as Ferguson and Miller or are they and their sort privileged characters. We know that the very essence of democracy is equal rights for all and special privileges for none. Under the law no Democrat voting for Geo. C. Butte for Governor can be denied the right to participate in a Democratic primary and this comuittee knows this is true.

2.—The statement that Geo. C. Butte is in alliance with the Klan is so manifestily untrue that nothing but desperation and fear of defeat and the necessity of a smoke screen to hide Ferguson and his sins from the honest voters of Texas would cause such a charge to be made. Geo. C. Butte nor his party is not now and never has been a supporter of the Klan, and that they do not now have and never have had any alliance or connection with the Klan directly or indirectly. In fact Ferguson's excuse for bolting the ticket two years ago and supporting the Republican nominee is that the Republican party was opposed to the Klan in that campaign, and a similar plank is in their present platform.

3.—No Democrat ought to carry out a pledge that violates his conscience and forces him to do wrong. Grover Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson and Wm. J. Bryan each and all bolted Democratic nominees and refused to support them, and only the other day that great Democrat, the Honorable John W. Davis said: "My party when it is right, some other party when my party is wrong." Robt. E. Lee, Albert Sidney Johnson, Stonewall Jackson and Jefferson Davis all took oaths to support and defend the United States, but when the welfare of their state conflicted with their oath and pledge they took up their swords in behalf of their state. Put the welfare of Texas first and party second.

4.—The statement that Democrats cannot vote for other Democratic nominees if they fail to vote for Ferguson and vote for Butte for Governor is not true. The Democratic Attorney General of Texas stated last week that if any voter desired to vote the Democratic ticket, except for one or more Democratic nominees that all he had to do was to scratch out on the Democratic ticket the name of the Democratic nominee for whom he did not wish to vote and then if the voter wishes to vote for one or more Republican nominees he should scratch out the names of all Republican candidates except the one for which he wishes to vote.

Below is a copy of the Democratic and Republican tickets for state offices and shows how to vote a mixed ticket by scratching one or more Democratic nominees and voting for one or more Republican nominees.

Wesley Girls In Annual Luncheon Thursday At -Wichita Club Meeting

With Mrs. Guy Rogers As Toastmistress, Yearly Affair Proves Striking Feature of the Day's Society Events.

The Wichita club, prettily decorated with roses and ferns in a color scheme of yellow and white formed a pretty setting for the annual luncheon of the Wesley girls class of the First Methodist church, south, of which Mrs. W. W. Silk is teacher.

The luncheon table was fragrant with low vases of dahlias and daises, while a centerpiece consisting of a huge brown shoe filled with tiny dolls dressed in white and yellow suggested the "nursery rhyme idea" which was carried out all through the luncheon. Placards and menus in color scheme added to the attractiveness of the table as did the four course luncheon served in the scheme of yellow and white throughout.

Mrs. Rogers Toastmistress.

Mrs. Guy Rogers, toastmistress for the lovely occasion, introduced the performers on the entertainment program with clever nursery rhymes. Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., played a piano solo; Mrs. E. C. Huckabee sang, accompanied by Mrs. Akin, and Miss Vivian Railey played a violin solo, with Mrs. O. B. Kiel at the piano. Miss Margaret Fisher gave an enjoyable reading.

Mrs. J. R. Ogee toasted the old officers of the class in nursery rhyme. Mrs. C. M. Richardson toasted the new officers in the same unique manner, and Mrs. G. L. Shapard toasted Mrs. Silk in rhyme.

Mrs. Silk gave an inspirational talk to the members of the class, after which the new officers for the coming year were inaugurated. They are as follows:

Mesdames H. C. Cheshire, president; Roy Calvert, first vice president; Jason Walker, second vice president; Everett McCullough, secretary; P. E. Miller, treasurer; Hugh Weaver, corresponding secretary; F. L. Mercer, program chairman; Frank Satterfield, chairman; George Cooper, house chairman; and Oral Jones, publicity.

TRAVEL CLUB OBSERVES "PRESIDENT'S DAY"

"President's Day" was beautifully observed by Travel club members Wednesday afternoon when the club was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. W. Fraser, 1515 Hayes street, the executive committee for the past year acting hostesses for the occasion.

Decorations were carried out in the club flower, the pink radiance rose. Mrs. Leslie Humphrey, chairman announced a exhibition of club talent, for the new president, Mrs. D. J. Carrithers, after she had explained the origin of president's day. A burlesque program, cleverly arranged, was then presented in which Mrs. Fraser discussed recent poetry, Mrs. J. B. Hatchett, the novel, and Mrs. G. L. Shapard, the drama. Impersonations of several of the members were ably portrayed by Mrs. Will Pagan.

Mrs. Carrithers was then presented with a large basket of roses by Mrs. Humphrey as an expression of appreciation and good wishes from the club for her coming administration. Mrs. Carrithers in her acceptance expressed her hopes and aims for club achievement.

Pink radiance roses served as plate favors with the dainty two course luncheon which was served to the following:

Mesdames J. W. Akin, C. N. Alexander, C. H. Clark, D. J. Carrithers, W. W. Cook, Arch Dawson, W. W. Frafer, Ola G. Hamlin, J. B. Hatchett, Norman Kuykendall, Leslie Stringer, T. A. JUNIOR HIGH ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY TUESDAY.

The orchestra of the Junior High school, under the direction of Mrs. Hermoine Vaughn is doing noteworthy work in rehearsal, in preparation for the meeting of the Mother's Club Tuesday before which they are to play.

The selection, Denza's "Merrily Row," is well handled by the 24 youngsters, who include several accomplished and experienced artists. The ensemble work of the group is being developed by the director who is producing good tone quality and a marked rythmic unity in so large and so young a group.

An operetta, which the orchestra will accompany, will be presented sometime during the winter term by the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, Mrs. Vaughn stated, and orchestrations which will arrive next week, will be used as preparatory material before beginning work on the production.

Corrects Popular Error in History Over Our Anthem

Mrs. Vincent Reads Paper Before the Athenian Club

TELLS OF HISTORY

Key Did Not Compose Words While Prisoner On British Fleet

Pointing out in an interesting historical review that Francis Scott Key did not compose the words of "The Star Spangled Banner" while a prisoner of the British fleet, Mrs. J. F. Vincent, before the Athenian club Thursday, delighted her audience with accounts of the birth of that anthem.

Relates History's Error.

"A most common error which has had an important habit of creeping into print," she stated, "is that Key composed the words while a prisoner of war on the British fleet which attacked Fort McHenry. Key was not a prisoner of war, but had gone to the fleet on the ship Minden, used by the American government in negotiating exchanges of prisoners for the purpose of obtaining the release of a civilian, Dr. William Beanes, of Upper Marlborough, Md., who was being detained because he had caused the arrest of British marauders."

"Baltimore" was the subject of study for the Athenian club's Thursday program at the Kemp library.

Born in Baltimore.

"Baltimore produced the 'Star Spangled Banner,' our national anthem," stated Mrs. Vincent.

"Fortifications were first erected on the present site of Fort McHenry during the war of 1776 and this fort effectively protected the city of Baltimore in 1814 when attacked by the British and it was during this attack that Francis Scott Key, detained on one of the British attacking vessels and while watching the bombardment of Fort McHenry, caught the inspiration for the writing of his immortal lyric, 'The Star Spangled Banner,' Sept. 14, 1814.

"The first copy of the song was printed in Baltimore and the first musical rendition of the song was in a Baltimore theatre. Francis Scott Key was born in Frederick county, Md., Aug. 9, 1780.

Went to St. Johns.

"He was educated at St. Johns college, Annapolis, and practiced law at Frederick City and Washington. He died at Baltimore Jan. 11, 1843. Was 34 years of age when he wrote the anthem.

"The original manuscript is owned by Henry Walters, owner of the Walters art gallery. The flag whose broad stripes and bright stars burst upon Keys' enraptured vision on that September morning of 1814 is preserved in the National Museum at Washington, D. C."

Metal Cloth

The miner has supplanted the silk-worm and the cotton picker for many of the fabrics that milady favors these days. Metal fabrics are great favorite in fashioning formal frocks and wraps and also in adding touches of trimming to wool frocks and coats.

The handsome evening cape shown is made of silver cloth with a deep border of conventional design done in black. It is collared in white fox.

The favorite colors for evening frocks, judging by those that were worn at the ball which Mr. Clarence Mackay gave for the Prince of Wales, are pink and white. Pale lavender is another favorite. Large silver and gold brocade shawls are noteworthy features of the collection of Jean Patou, the eminent French couturier. The texture of these shawls is unusually soft, and because of their length they may developed into frocks.

Imitation jewels are used extensively in the autumn trimmings by this same couturier in spite of the fact that he admits he has an antipathy to cheap imitation. Buckles with enamel motifs in broken designs and amber and cornalaine necklaces are outstanding decorative notes.

Another interesting trimming feature is found in the inlaid wooden buckles made of different woods and frequently hand painted. Buttons are made to match these inlaid designs or paintings and then the designs and colorings are repeated in the embroidery of the dress.

Norma Talmadge Disappointed At Gotham Offerings

Lovable Screen Star Says Shops Behind In Latest Fashions

"ONE WAY STREET"

Anna Q. Nillson Leaves For East to Play Feminine Role

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—Norma Talmadge, screen star, has returned from a trip to New York "the most disappointed girl in the world."

"I went to New York to spend a month looking for story material and new gowns," said Miss Talmadge today. "I stayed six days and have not a thing now I didn't have when I started."

The current Broadway shows, she said, are devoid of anything which may be adapted for cinema productions.

As to new gowns, she said the smart Fifth avenue shops are showing creations worn in Los Angeles months ago. "The styles are copied from gowns worn in Hollywood films for the most part," said Miss Talmadge.

Barbara Bedford has been placed under contract for a year by Thomas H. Ince. Her first assignment is the principal feminine role in Chas. Ray's "Desert Fiddler," soon to be placed on production.

Anna Q. Nillson will leave for New York in a few days to play the leading feminine role in "One Way Street," one of tfo First National pictures to be made in New York commencing November 1.

John Francis Dillon, who is to direct the pictures, left yesterday. He will spend the time intervening with his wife, Edith Hallor, of Broadway fame, in renewing acquaintanceships.

The departure of star and director mark the beginning of a First National exodus to New York. A southern Pacific special will carry two companies, numbering seventy-five including the cast of the two productions to be filmed in the east.

Alice Terry has returned from a hurried trip to New York to bid her husband, Rex Ingram, good bye on his departure for Europe.

Yearning for her baby triumphed over the prospect of lucrative screen rewards today when Alice Joyce instructed that all her screen contracts be cancelled as she boarded a train for New York and home. "I love the screen, but I have just built a home, and I love hubby and baby even more, so it's farewell to filmland," was Miss Joyce's valedictory.

Big Time Football Hits Serious Stride Saturday

Yale, Harvard and Army Machines Have Much To Worry About This Week

"Big Three" Elevens Doomed for Defeats Before October Schedules Run Full Distance

By HERBERT REED.
U. S. Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Big time football will hit so fast and furious a stride this Saturday that the memory of certain mishaps of the preliminary season probably will be wiped out—since there are no doubt greater mishaps to come.

Yale, with the strong Dartmouth eleven in the offing, Harvard, facing Clen O'Donnell's Holy Cross team and Army tackling Notre Dame, in the first game of its eastern invasion this year, have plenty to worry about. In the meantime there is need of something in the way of interpretation of what has already happened.

In the first place the time is past, no matter how great the material, when any of the eastern big three may confidently count upon coming up to its big November games unbeaten. This is due not merely to the strengthing of the schedules following an unmistakable public demand, and the desire for new and pleasant relationships outside the more or less charmed circle, but also to the tying after agreement that forces Yale, Harvard and Princeton in a shorter season of preparation, and a shorter season in total hours of play than is the case anywhere else.

These three "big" teams are still very green. Even veterans need a deal of preliminary work that it is no longer possible to give them. So the October defeats of Yale, Harvard and Princeton, when they do come though, are hardly to be called "upsets."

There is, however, quite another explanation of the defeat of Cornell at the hands of Williams. In the first place, Percy Wendell, the Williamstown strategist, is no good a coach that it is an open secret that some day there will be a big spil influential libe of Harvard men who will insist upon his succeeding Bob Fisher at Cambridge. Percy Wendell is teaching as much a brand of football as is to be found anywhere in the country, and his teams, though light, have a change that is the envy of every opponent. Add to that good passing, and splendid end play, and it will readily be seen that the Williamstown aggregation is formidable.

Everyone knows that no matter how good the coach, he must have football players. The modern game no longer makes an insurmountable demand for weight, but active, natural football players, even in the attenuated glens of Williamstown, rich in gridiron traditions since the days of "Phiny" Perper, are readily assembled into a first class football organization—not a machine.

Williams in an historic rival of Cornell's and host was savvy a game against odds. There has been in the past, indeed, something of a "big game" aspect to the Williams-Cornell contests.

Dobie Lacks Quality in Material With Which to Put Cornell Over.

Turning now to Cornell and Dobie. The Ithaca coach, too often expected to accomplish miracles, has not at hand this year the men with whom to do these things. Even a year ago he was fortunate in winning the Williams game, and the battle with Dartmouth was far closer than the score would indicate. And this with the great George Pfann in the lineup. There is no George Pfann this year, and small prospects of one. Nor is there yet in sight one of those big Swede tackles in which Dobie puts so much faith. Dobie's coaching tackle play requires a straight-charging tackle of great power, and at least one supervise ball carrier in the "three out and up" that goes inside, outside and over the defensive tackle position.

It was inevitable that Dobie's power eventually would be stopped, for there is no secret about it. It is a play designed to put on the pressure, and once the pressure fails to work the defense, it will stop it. Its tactics, in the meantime, Dobie's plays being based on drill, drill, drill, where positions are taken so accurately that a few inches out spoil it, there has not been time to build up the rest of the attack to support the tackle assault in case it should be stopped.

Fumbling, of course, played its part, but the team is unmistakably not as good as last year, at this writing. It better.

Harvard's Crimson Begins To Loom as a Promising Outfit.

Harvard looks promising. The Crimson, with Gleeke back in the lineup to split the kicking assignment with Hammond, and a line that has turned up in good physical condition this year instead of carrying from 10 to 15 pounds of "long coat" vacation weight, should turn out a smoother show than that of a year ago. Its fumbling there is a tale at least well versed in the stanford generality. The problem now is to instill into its system the "Glenn spark," as Richard was wont to call it. Look out for Harvard in November.

Princeton, despite rather mediocre early play, and the prospect of considerable trouble when the team tackles Notre Dame, promises an improvement over last year. The passing game, at which the Tigers should do well this year, since that branch of play has been reinforced by capable men from the freshmen of a year ago, will hardly be turned on in force until the eleven goes against Harvard.

In the meantime it will be interesting to see just what the orange and black can do against Notre Dame. Last year Trost, who was ineligible, but a "star" football player, strolled the Notre Dame attack from high up in the stands and it is no secret that Princeton in busy drubbing a special defense against the South Bend "hop step" shift as a result of Trost's carefully kept notes.

Columbia is coming along handsomely. There is no doubt that Baughton's coaching has taken hold. He had not merely to make a team, but a football background at Morningside, the latter an necessary to success as the former. To a considerable extent the latter task has been accomplished. The Blue and White players, with the exception of two or three stars, are still a little puzzled, a little awkward, but they have made good annual progress, and even through fumbles, it is unlikely that there will be any more defects approaching the route that were so distressingly frequent a few years ago. The eleven is working.

There will be something to say about the styles and tendencies of the big teams tomorrow.

Johnson And Dempsey May Turn Partners

Veteran Pitcher and Champ On Market For Ball Nine

SALT LAKE FRANCHISE

Smoke King Tired of Life With Major League Team

By GENE FOWLER
U. S. Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A novel partnership in sports is on the fire. It would bring together Walter Johnson, world series hero, and Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight. It was broadly intimated today by persons close to the two aces that they are dickering for purchase of the Salt Lake City club of the Pacific Coast league.

When the Washington club was in New York for the series, Johnson had a room in the Alamac near that of the champion. That the two stars formed a mutual admiration society is known. Dempsey has two baseball heroes, Ruth and Johnson. Johnson also has two pugilistic heroes—but both of them are Dempsey.

Dempsey Has "Jack"

The Salt Lake City franchise, it is said, would not cost a fortune. With two such popular figures as Dempsey and Johnson owning it, it is presumable that the club would draw comparatively great crowds. Dempsey's many business interests on the coast would find them in a position to lean toward purchase of the Salt Lake club. He has a coal business in Utah. He has apartment houses and hotel ventures in Los Angeles. Also, he has motion picture matters to attend to in California.

Johnson wants to be near his home, Reno, Nevada. That he is tired of leg-scotching about the big league circuit, throwing his classic arm out of joint, is no secret.

Of course, Johnson's coast league intentions depend largely on what Owner Clark Griffith of the Washington club does re-signing Walter. The latter's contract has expired. If he asks for an unconditional release he will get it.

Washington Loyal.

In considering his future, Johnson bears in mind the loyalty of Washington fans to him during his 18 brilliant years with that club. It is sure to be Walter Johnson for the rest of his life. Even if he had to be instilled to the box in a wheel chair and given an inhale of oxygen before each pitch, those Washingtonians would have nothing but bravo for Walter.

Still, Walter feels he is entitled to plan for his athletic old age. He will never consent to be shifted to the minors as a player. Johnson is comfortably situated in regard to bank biscuits.

As a player-manager-owner, Walter could suit himself about going to the firing line.

In view of a Dempsey-Johnson combination, if they ever get in a quarrel, Dempsey could sock Walter with his dukes and Walter could throw some unerring paving stones at Jack. The worst either of them should get in this event would be a draw.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The major post-season problem of the world champion Senators—whether Walter Johnson will be on next season's roster—remained unsolved today.

"Old Barney" who has been Washington's pitching mainstay for 18 years, and is the dean of American league hurlers, announced last February that he intended to purchase an interest in some minor club, preferably in the Pacific Coast league, so as to give his family a permanent home.

Coyote Pups Square Off With Henrietta Today

Bollen and Martin Will Be Allowed to Enter Game

JUNIORS IN CONDITION

23 Players and Host Of Followers Make Trip

"Beat Henrietta!"

That's the cry adopted by Coach Montgomery's junior high school athletes and their supporters on the eve of the Henrietta-Junior Coyote grid tilt. And it's with "Beat Henrietta!" ringing in their ears that the Coyote Pups will romp out onto the gridiron at Henrietta this afternoon with fond hopes of advancing another notch toward the championship of this district and then on still further toward an ultimate Texas class B football title.

Following a light workout and signal drill yesterday the Pups are in good condition for this afternoon's fracas. And Coyote stock rose a bit Thursday when Bollen and Martin were declared eligible for the game. This pair of youths were not expecting to play today, but following tests yesterday were declared scholastically eligible.

Twenty-three substitutes and between 75 and 100 followers are scheduled to invade the foreign field. The squad will be composed of Bollen, Bell, Dickey, Herndon, Parker, Jackson, Sob, West, Chewning, Rushart, Allred, Barrett, Strange, Martin, Tollet, Ferris, R. Taylor, F. Herndon, H. Herndon, G. Taylor, Levine, Horton, Ray, Francis and Hicks.

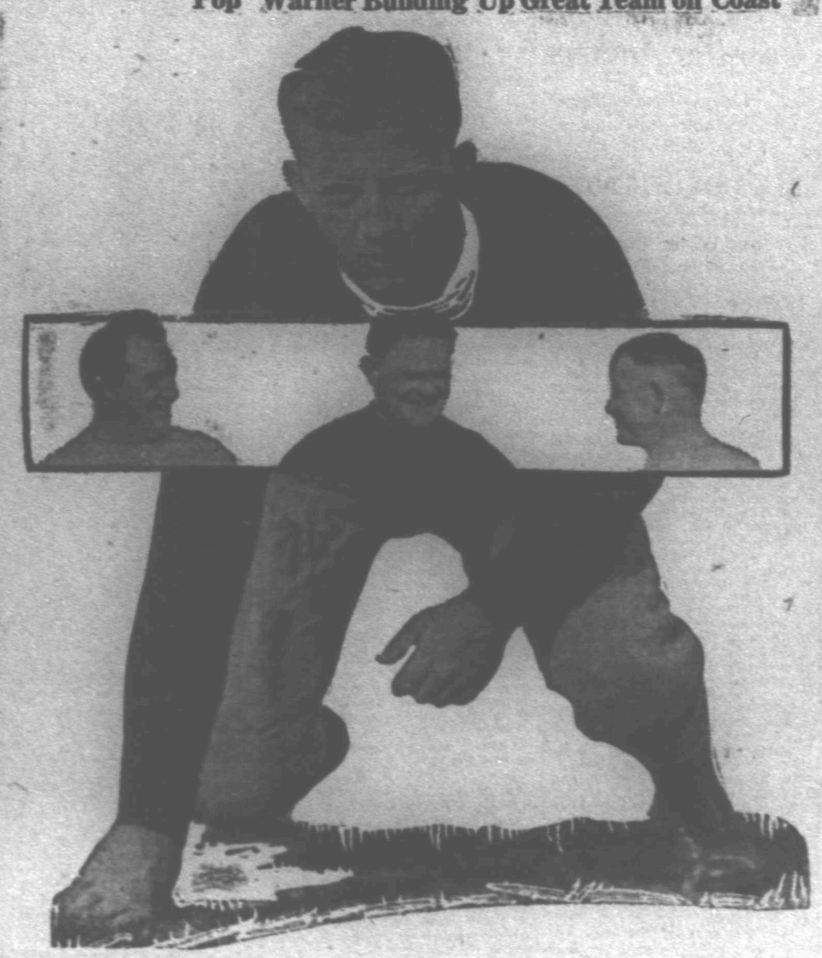
"Pop" Warner Building Up Great Team on Coast



Capt. Jim Lawson, end and a star of the Stanford eleven, and (in pixel) "Tiny" Thornhill, "Pop" Warner and Andrew Kerr.

Stanford university no longer will bring up the rear in Pacific coast football, about enthusiastic backers of the school. This fall Stanford has a wealth of players and coaches to teach 'em what it's all about. The veteran Glenn "Pop" Warner, dean of American strategists, heads the tutoring staff, and Warner believes the tail-end days of Stanford are over.

Strength and Beauty —By Feg Murray

The Notre Dame cathedral and the Notre Dame football team are both noted for their rugged strength and delicate finish. The cathedral has wonderful line — the football team a wonderful line and a wonderful backfield — and a tough schedule. Beginning this Saturday with the Army game, the football team of the little college of Notre Dame faces one of the toughest schedules that any gridiron aggregation ever met. As last year, she meets the Army in New York, Princeton at Princeton, and Georgia Tech, at home on successive Saturdays.

Trammel Slaps Sleep Wallop To Eddie Lewis

Carpenter Shades Cassol, And Snyder Beats Monte

Eddie Lewis, Fort Worth lightweight, failed last night in his attempted comeback with Duke Trammel, also of Fort Worth, in the 10-round legion main event.

The rugged Trammel was too strong for Eddie, punished him severely in the first two rounds and scored a knockout in the third. During the first and second clubbers the powerful Trammel failed to land any solid blows to Lewis' anatomy, but numerous glancing smacks and clips kept Eddie in trouble.

Trammel caught Lewis with a short right hook in a clinch and nearly sent Lewis to the mat. After the break away, Duke clipped his opponent with another short right dropping him for the count of eight. The fight was already finished. Trammel stepped in again and put over his potent starboard punch once more, a solid clout to the head. Lewis went down and completely out.

Moco Carpenter of Waco and Jimmy Carrol of Fort Worth, light heavies were given a referee's draw. Carpenter pounded Carrol nearly at will, shook him up on numerous occasions, and had the better of the going with exception of a fierce rally by Carrol late in the fight.

Kid Snyder of Burkburnett won the decision over Wildcat Monte of Amarillo in six rounds. They are featherweights. Snyder failed to land a clean blow, but nevertheless, had Monte in a bad way the last three rounds.

Red Raley of Wichita Falls beat George Adams, also of Wichita Falls, in a four-rounder.

Coyotes Work Lightly Today

The Coyotes dashed through a heavy routine drill Thursday afternoon at Spudder park. Scrimmage was barred, but signal practice predominated. Today the squad is in good condition, and champing to get into the fray.

The lightest of practice will be the order for this afternoon to bed early, and up tomorrow all set for the conference opener with Vernon high school on the home grid.

GENERALS MEET WILDCATS

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 16.—Saturday in Lexington, Ky., the Washington and Lee Generals will meet the Kentucky Wildcats. Last year the two teams locked horns for the first time in a hectic 6-6 tie, and this season both elevens will fight hard to tip the balance.

NEW HAVEN—With a revised lineup the Yale varsity met tough opposition at scrimmage against the scrubs who were using Dartmouth formations.

T. C. U. Mentor Worried With Small Squad

Frogs Almost Resigned To Lose to S. M. U. And Texas

EIGHT PLAYERS HURT

Rice Owls and Heisman's Vaunted Ability Feared

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16.—Doubt of T. C. U.'s ability to play an inspired brand of football through five more southwest conference games this season is all that keeps Fort Worth from believing that its Horned Frogs has converted the Panther city into a football center, overnight by its defeat of Oklahoma A. & M. 17-10.

With eight of their best men tied to the bench by injury and ineligibility, out of their already too small squad of 22, facing a team which had defeated the Kansas Aggies on the preceding Saturday and considerably outweighed, the Horned Frogs won by simply showing no disposition to lose.

Two Subs Used

In the final period when the Aggies were seemingly putting the Frogs to route and about to press forward for a touchdown, the grandstand Frogs were dismayed when Matty Bell failed to send in substitutes for some of his men, who were evidently about to drop from fatigue. The reason was that there were no substitutes. Only two replacements were made by T. C. U. during the whole Aggie game, and they were made at considerable risk.

Play Simmons Next

This week in preparation for the Simmons college game Bell will keep his squad in a mild sweat, but will save most of his training pressure for later in the season. After meeting Simmons next Saturday the Frogs will play five consecutive conference games. Baylor will be the only conference member the Purple will not oppose this year.

Rice institute will meet T. C. U. Saturday after next and the new element of Heisman is what is making Bell worry about that game. He is frankly scared and almost resigned to lose to Texas and S. M. U., but it is the uncertainty of what Heisman has shown the Owls which makes it worrisome for Bell to think of the Rice game.

WAS STAR AT FOOTBALL

Southern coaches say that had Riggs Stephenson, former Alabama back, attended an eastern institution he would have been a unanimous All-American choice. Stephenson is now making good at baseball with the Cleveland Indians.

MACK WILL STAND PAT

Connie Mack says he intends to stand pat with his Athletics lineup, which played as good ball as any team in the American league during the last two months of play.

TAUBE STARS

Purdue university expects much of Merlin Taube on the gridiron this fall. Taube, in fact, looms as one of the best prospects Jimmy Phelan has on his entire squad.

HUNTS QUARTERBACK

University of Chicago is seeking a real, first class quarterback. Give the Maroons a capable signal caller and they are bound to get somewhere this fall.

LOBOES SEEK REVENGE

Abilene-Cisco Grid Tilt to Be Mighty Clash

ABILENE, Texas, Oct. 16.—Abilene expects a hard football game here next Friday when the state champion A. H. S. Eagles encounter the Loboes of Cisco high school. It was the Lobo eleven last year that made the only score against the Eagles, their game ending 19-6 for the Eagles.

Smarting with the sting of that defeat, the Loboes are coming here Friday with a trainload of fans to get vengeance on the state champions. Cisco is generally conceded to have one of the best machines in the state this year, and Abilene is fully conscious of the fact that Friday's battle will be a bitter one.

The Eagles have played a few games this year, but so far have met with no serious opposition. Coach Lee Jones is putting his men through daily practice, and everything is expected to be in tiptop condition to repel the Lobo invasion.

AERIAL BATTLE EXPECTED

Princeton and Navy Both Proficient in Overhead Game

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 16.—There will be an aerial gridiron battle of the first order in the Palmer stadium here Saturday between Princeton and Annapolis, for there is no manner of doubt that in the case of both elevens the pass has reached a more advanced state than either the running game or the kicking. Granting that the passing is little better than the usual October brand, which is quite possible, the victory may well go to the better defense against the fling. Since both elevens are not up to the mark of certain former years in any respect there is plenty of margin for individual stunts, such as long runs and picked up fumbles. Both teams have been through hard games, in the case of the navy a defeat at the hands of the powerful and veteran Marquette eleven, in the case of Princeton, the hard fought stand-off with the heavy Lehigh team.

NAVY NEEDS BACKFIELD

Coach Bob Folwell of the Navy, while well supplied with powerful linemen, has the job of developing an almost entirely new backfield. That should keep him busy until the clash with West Point.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—With a light workout yesterday the Penn State football squad today is ready to leave today for Atlanta where the varsity will play Georgia Tech Saturday.

Junior College To Tangle With Devol All-Stars

Moyse Will Send Powerful Machine Against Indians

HERSHI COMES BACK

Delaney and Smith, Wings, Are Declared Out

Elementary football and dummy tackling and blocking still is to the fore with Coach Mosley's Junior college Indians. Thursday's practice session was devoted almost entirely to fundamentals. For what the Indians lack in weight and speed Coach Mosley hopes to develop a squad which is well-tutored in the rumidents of the game.

A setto with the Devol All-stars, a fast aggregation of high school graduates, for Friday of next week has been arranged. In this team the junior collegians possibly will find some pretty strong opposition. Wether the contest will be staged in Devol or Wichita Falls has not been decided yet. These details are to be worked out probably today. Should Devol be brought to Wichita Falls it is believed that fandom here will be well repaid for witnessing the tilt. Devol also is on the market for a Thanksgiving game. Coach Mosley believes his eleven can give any good high school or independent club plenty of competition.

Hershi, Junior college lineman, was back for practice yesterday. This athlete has been out for about a week due to an operation made on his nose. But one more ailment was added to the already sorely pressed Indians Thursday. Carl Delaney and Raymond Smith, ends, were declared ineligible because of failure to make the required grades in their studies. Hershi probably will be shifted to a wing position. Just who else will taken up the terminal burden has not been decided.

DUCK HUNTING AT QUANAH

Duck hunting in the vicinity of Quanah is on the boom these days, says residents of that district. On the first day out, Arlie Berry and a companion brought in 39 of the "big" fellows from Lake Paulina. And there've many more of the feathered game swarming there.

THE DENIES STATEMENT.

Pirate Pilfer Declares no Shortstop Is Available.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16.—Rabbit Maranville, Pirate shortstop, has commented with Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Nationals, denying that he made any statement in regard to the baseball market. Barney Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pittsburgh club, declared today that Maranville told him he had been approached to accept terms, Cincinnati, Reds.

Maranville is at his home in Prospect, Ills.

The statements attributed to Maranville were published in an interview given by an unnamed fan to a Buffalo, Ills., newspaper. In the interview the fan reported what was purported to have been a conversation he was said to have had with Ills during one of the world series games.

RUTH COST MORE THAN

BABE'S NEW BROTHER-IN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The price handed in the purchase of "Lefty" Grove, Baltimore southpaw ace, by the Philadelphia Athletics does not affect the present baseball in the opinion of Babe Ruth, according to Edward C. Barrow, secretary of the New York Yankees.

Ruth was drafted from the Boston Red Sox in 1919 by a deal between Barrow, Harry Hill, Boston baseball magnate, and Jacob Ruppert, of this city, approved by each at the time.

Four Former Coyotes in Grid Contest Today

Baldwin Will be on Hand Saturday at Vernon Game

AUSTIN, Oct. 16.—The Texas Frosh departed today for Stephenville, where Friday Coach Littlefield's charges will battle John Tarleton. Twenty athletes made the trip, and of this number four were former Wichita Falls players. Emery, Baldwin, Coffee and Smith, all from Wichita Falls, are members of the eleven.

Baldwin expects to journey to Wichita Falls after the game tomorrow in order to be on hand to chase his former team mates in the Wichita Falls-Vernon conference opener Saturday.

FOOTBALL FINALS.

At Hanover, N. C.: Newberry 24; Citadel 0.

At Princeton—The Navy is spending almost the entire practice period perfecting its defense against the forward passing game, believed to be Princeton's strongest attack.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCIS TREGO MONTGOMERY

Yesterday we left poor Billy trying to get rid of a vicious monkey who was on his back.

Billy bethought himself of the big lake only a few blocks away.

"I'll run down there and drown her!"

To think this thought was to carry it out, and Billy made a dash for the opposite door. It chanced to be open. And it is a good thing it was, for otherwise he would have butted it down. Even as it was, he knocked over a Chinaman bringing in a basket of laundry on his head, collided with a grocer boy and so frightened a horse that he ran away and spilled the owner's load of oranges, lemons and apples all over the street, much to the delight of some small boys just going home from school.

On, on down the street went Billy, across tracks, boulevard and crowded thoroughfare, straight for the lake. And securely on his back rode Maggie as if enjoying herself. People stood and wondered where the goat and monkey came from. At last Billy scented water and he increased his speed, which brought him in a very short time out on the beach where hundreds of people were bathing.

Maggie, not suspecting what he was planning, was up to her neck in water before she had time to think. Hating water worse than a cat, she began to whine and cry like a baby. But still she clung to the saddle, though by this time Billy was swimming in deep water.

"Will that monkey ever get off my back, I wonder? I'll dive and drown her, so I will!" and under the water he went. But just as his back disappeared under the water Maggie gave a jump and landed on the back of a fat man who was swimming toward the shore. When he felt her sharp claws stick into him he screamed for help, thinking a shark was after him, though everybody knows there are no sharks in Lake Michigan. All the other bathers thought it was funny to see a monkey perched on a frightened man's back, so they only laughed and did not go to his help.

When Billy's head came above the water after diving, he was relieved to find that Maggie had at last left his back, and he began to look around to see if he could discover her. He fully expected to find her gasping in the water somewhere near. But no. What he saw was his tormenter calmly riding toward shore on a fat man's back.

Billy took good care not to come out of the water until he had seen Maggie disappear in the life-saving station on the shore, where she ran the minute the man reached the shore. As soon as Billy saw her disappear inside the door, he swam to shore as fast as he could, and then legged it back to the studio with all the speed that was his. On his way he met Snub and Nick running toward him from the studio, inquiring of everyone they passed if they had seen a big, white goat with a monkey on his pack. Some had and some had not, but all those who had said the goat was running toward the lake.

(Billy has not had a very good time, so far, while trying to be a motion picture actor, has he?)

Mothers AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Picture Letter

One Mother Says:

My little girl likes to write to her father when he is away on business, but writing is hard work for so young a child. So she cuts tiny pictures from the magazines and puts together a letter like a rebus, part pictures and part words. Hunting the right pictures gives her occupation on bad days when she must be indoors, and her original and sometimes charming results give pleasure to us all.

If you would like to get a handy little book, entitled "100 Ideas for Mothers," containing the best ideas for mothers that have been published here, send 10c in stamps to Record News Mothers Bureau, Room 930, 440 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

Color Cut-Outs

The next person to enter Nick's picture-taking studio, which he had rigged up in the corner of the attic, was a young gentleman of fashion. You would hardly have recognized him for rough-and-tumble Frank, as he strutted in the queer-cut clothes of long ago which he had found in one of the trunks.

"I can't put on my tall hat," complained Frank, "because the attic roof is too low. I wouldn't be able to stand up straight if I wore it."

"Gracious," exclaimed Betty Cut-out, "that would never do. Come over here, I've found another hat that doesn't seem so high."

Color Frank's old-fashioned suit all black, leaving his shirt and vest white.

GORDAN McMILLAN DIES

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 16.—The student body of West Virginia university mourns the passing of one of its leading athletes, Gordan McMillan of Minneapolis, Minn., who died early today in the university hospital. McMillan, quarterback and star punter on the Mountaineer football team and captain of the track squad, was stricken with pneumonia a week ago.

MRS JOHNSON

reasoning beings knowing the difference between right and wrong. It is much easier to follow the herd. Let each person be guided by his conscience in this election, asking himself "What is for the best interests of Texas and which candidate is worthiest and will serve our people best?"

"Government is simply a business. We are some of the stockholders gathered here to help select a manager for that business. These applicants are submitting their qualifications for our approval or disapproval.

"Ferguson is not a democrat. His own words prove it. Ferguson fought and obstructed every measure our democratic president, Woodrow Wilson, stood for. Ferguson tried to cripple and ruin the University of Texas. He accused the dean of the University of Texas, Dr. W. J. Battle, then acting president, of misapplication of university funds and tried to make him out dishonest, but he could not prove it. Dr. Battle is one of the purest and noblest men that ever lived. Ferguson hounded him out of the university. Other professors left because there could be no freedom of conscience or speech during that intolerable political turmoil. Why run the risk of repeating that situation?

Klan Did It.

"Ferguson was only able to make a comeback because of the klan issue. One of the worst things the klan did was to resuscitate Fergusonism.

"When serious minded people gather together they deplore the fact that outstanding, cultured citizens will not offer themselves for high office. But when they do make the sacrifice, and become the object of vituperation, and wilful misrepresentation of their motives, the people do not appreciate it. The people get as good a government as they deserve. But with all of their investigation, they have not found one thing against the character of Dr. Geo. C. Butte. I have known Dr. Butte for 12 years; I have been in his home and know his wife and children, and I tell you that Geo. Butte is a scholarly, cultured, Christian gentleman who is sacrificing a secure position, paying more salary than the position he seeks, and that his motives are just as sincere as those that actuated Woodrow Wilson when he left Princeton university to plunge into the maelstrom of politics and practice some of the duties he had been preaching.

As To Joe Bailey.

"The friends of Jim can talk only of the pledge. Joe Bailey has turned keeper of the peoples conscience and morals? What university has offered Bailey the chair of moral philosophy or ethics? In the last primary he ridiculed the klan for voting like sheep, and now he wants to vote us like sheep for the governor. 'Consistency thou art a jewel.' He states or wants to the effect that any one who breaks the party pledge cannot be trusted? Why then should we vote for Ferguson. He broke the pledge. Consistency again, thou art a jewel. But this leads to fruitless aristotic discussion.

"One would think, if any class as a body would be for Ferguson that the confederate veterans would be, as they suffered most during the civil war. A recent poll in the confederate home at Austin showed it overwhelmingly for Butte. An officer of Hoods Brigade informed Dr. Butte. Lieut. Gen. J. M. Cochran, commander of the trans-Mississippi department of united confederate veterans gave an indorsement of Butte which was read by the speaker.

In conclusion Mr. Storey stated: "Let us send Ferguson and all it stands for back to the American party. Let us vote plenty."

Says Not Bound

J. C. Hord introduced by Mrs. Silk concluded the speaking. "I was reared in the democratic cradle," he said, "and I know the democratic party. In fact I love it so well that I don't want the contamination of Fergusonism in it. "I'd like to help build up the democratic party. I hate to see it go to the devil.

"There were eight or 10 democratic candidates for senator but what did the democrats choose? Old Jim Ferguson and Earle Mayfield. Texas had some splendid material, but when became of the other men? Put them to sleep? We had good material in Texas for governor, but what did the democrats put up? Jim Ferguson and the Ku Klux klan, the tail end of it.

"Where are we heading to put Earle Mayfield in office and the Fergusons? "I have lived in Wichita Falls since 1886, and I have the reputation of being an honest man. But I have no conscientious scruples about the democratic pledge. No obligation is binding if it means more harm than good to the public."

News of the Fields

Sun Oil Company, Greene

The Sun Oil company has drilled to 1,080 feet in their No. 1, F. C. Greene, between the Panhandle-Consolidated leases and the Carey-Texhoma pool, southeast corner of the F. C. Greene land, BBB&CRR survey, and had the hole standing about two-thirds full of oil yesterday afternoon. A dry sand encountered at 1,072 feet lasted to 1,078, the oil sand beginning here. The well looks like a 125-150 barrel well in its present state.

Carter et al, White

Roy I. Carter, Phillips, Macon Oil and Gas company have completed their E-7, offsetting Lane-Holbrook and Woods to the east and are preparing to place it on the pump, with an estimated flush of about 300 barrels a day.

Locations have been made for E-9, E-10 and E-8.

E-8, White will be located a diagonal southeast offset to the Robertson No. 1, White, producer; E-9 a diagonal northeast offset to Lane-Holbrook and Woods, No. 1, and E-10 a diagonal southwest offset to the Dee Brothers-Jessee producer.

Grisham-Parks et al

Grisham-Parks-Shaw-Rathke No. 1, Davis, located in the southeast corner of the west forty-seven acres of the Davis 100 acres, RRB&CRR survey, abstract 54, north of the Panhandle-Consolidated leases flowed better than 400 barrels of oil without any sort of agitation yesterday, the first 24-hour period since its completion. Sand depths is given as 1,073-87 1-2 feet.

Daniels-Rutis, Parkey

Daniels and Rutis are completing their contract on the No. 1 Parkey, block 37, Dallas county school lands, abstract 113, northwest of the Connellee pool, drilling past a last reported depth of 1,350 feet. Contract calls for 1,700 feet. This test hailed salt water in two sands around 1,500 feet.

Panhandle-Consolidated

Panhandle-Consolidated are moving on for their No. 1-B Davis, offsetting the Sun Oil company's No. 1, F. C. Greene, to the south, between the Panhandle-Knight-Hines pool and the Carey-Texhoma extension.

No. 1-E, Ragle, offsetting Grisham and Parks to the south has spudded and is drilling. No. 5-D, Ragle, south of Davis A-2, is drilling and the 4-D, Ragle, south of the Davis A-1, is drilling at about 1,000 feet.

Cannon-Creath et al

Cannon, Creath, et al have abandoned as dry and plugged their No. 1, Annie-J. Jackson, block 125, W. B. Aldridge survey, abstract 2, total depth given as below 1,600 feet. Over forty feet of sand was encountered, no sign of oil being found, however.

Superior, Cowan

The Superior Oil Producing company had bailed down to the top of the sand in their No. 1, Cowan, northwest corner of block 39, Jefferson county school lands, south Archer county, yesterday, and the well was showing some oil and gas. It is expected to drill in today. Sand was encountered at about 1,112 feet and a ten-inch core taken.

Globe Location

Globe Drilling company has made a location for a test and will get started soon in the southwest corner of the east half of the southeast 80 acres of block 1590, TE&LCO survey, abstract 932, south of the Maer-Staniforth-Gwynn big Griffin producer about two miles and located on the Mrs. L. R. Wainscott land, just across the line in Young county.

Texhoma, Montague

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company is drilling at a depth past 970 feet in their No. 1, Ocie Cate, north of Nocona, Finis Robertson survey, Montague county. This well is reported to be about seventy feet lower on the surface than the No. 1, Howard, producer, about three miles to the southwest.

Texhoma-Cullum

Texhoma-Cullum are drilling in their No. A-4 Burnett, Mende survey, section 6, south of Fowlkes Station, Wichita county, with a star machine. Casing was set at 1,803 feet, bottom of the hole in sand at 1,804 feet. No. 6 Burnett, Texhoma, to the east, is drilling at about 1,100 feet.

Texhoma, Jeske

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 1, Jeske, is standing full of oil, from sand encountered at 1,137 and drilled to 1,163 feet. Preparations are being made to standardize and place on the pump. The well is a west offset to the Carey discovery well.

Baylor County Test

Holmes, Lincoln, Crittenden are starting up again on their No. 1, Anna Hawkins, east of Seymour, Baylor county, after being shut down since the first of July at a depth of 1,630 feet. Since starting up the drillers have been trying to get to the bottom and take a core, but so far without success. The bottom of the hole is in a sandy lime and the well is making some gas.

Burns-Maxson, Neale

Burns and Maxon are drilling deeper below a last reported depth of 1,000 feet on their No. 1, Neale, southwest corner of the northeast quarter of the D. White survey, abstract 673, block 10, about half a mile northeast of the Panhandle-Knight-Hines pool, after bailing salt water in a sand encountered at 1,075 feet and lasting for 24 feet.

3 MILLIONS

in $35,000 representing, probably, contributions by its members, and that a like sum had come from Horace C. Jones, treasurer of the national campaign committee, Philadelphia, representing probably sums collected for a previous campaign.

"Have you received any contributions from J. P. Morgan & Co., or any members of that firm?" asked Senator Borah, after Mr. Hodges had finished with the lists.

"Yes, yes," was the answer. "I don't know the names of all of the members of the firm, but I do know that we have had contributions from Dwight Morrow and Thomas Cochran, each giving $5,000."

The witness volunteered that there appeared on his books a sum of $75,000 sent in by Joseph R. Grundy of Bristol, Pa., and representing collections made by him.

Will Furnish List.

The national treasurer agreed to furnish the list of contributors when it came in. Grundy previously had advanced $30,000 to the national committee, Hodges said, but that sum had been repaid to him.

Questioning by members of the committee developed that Grundy was to have raised $200,000 in Pennsylvania and that under the original budget of the national committee a total of $930,000 was to be sought in that state and $400,000 in Illinois. Chairman Borah indicated that Grundy would be called for examination at a later date probably in Washington, to which place the investigation is likely to be transferred within a few days.

Hodges explained to the committee that the net expenditures by the republican national organization in the presidential campaign had aggregated $1,342,939, the other $371,398, having been collected for the congressional, gubernatorial and state campaigns and expended for those purposes through the regular committees.

The national organization started out on an estimated budget need of $3,000,000 for the campaign, Mr. Hodges said. He added that collections up to October 10 had run about $600,000 short of those of the 1920 campaign.

Gave Million for Bob

Congressman Nelson in his statement to the committee said the La-Follette-Wheeler organization had made a budget estimate ranging from $300,000 to $1,300,000, but this had been disregarded. He thought the campaign could be wound up with an additional expenditure of $250,000, making the total approximately $250,000, including sums received through the conference for progressive political action.

Mr. Nelson said he had no knowledge as to what sums were being spent by labor organizations on behalf of the LaFollette-Wheeler campaign, but he did know that the American Federation of Labor was conducting an independent campaign collecting and expending its own funds. He disclaimed knowledge of either the source or the amount.

Both Mr. Hodges and Congressman Nelson submitted detailed statements of expenditures.

Senators Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, and Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota, questioned Hodges about the $427,000 item for publicity and the committee decided to call treasurer George Barr Baker, who, Mr. Hodges said, is director of publicity.

William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee also will be a witness tomorrow. The inquisitors wish to question him on matters of policy adopted by the national committee and other matters.

How Much Should It Cost

Both Mr. Hodges and Mr. Nelson were questioned at some length. Senator Caraway asked Mr. Nelson if he thought a national campaign could be conducted for less than $500,000 and the LaFollette manager replied that his organization was doing it. He added that there was a very large amount of volunteer work.

The LaFollette spokesman presented to the committee a bulky statement containing the names of each contributer. The committee instructed him to reduce it to the names of contributors of $100 or more. Meantime the identity of the donnors of $5,000 and the three $1,000 contributions was not disclosed. The $22,000 contribution was from W. T. Rawleigh, the national treasurer, who had agreed to obligate himself up to $40,000 if that should be necessary. Mr. Rawleigh is a Freeport, Ills., manufacturer.

Explaining that $25,000 had been fixed as a maximum of single contributions, Hodges told the committee he had no knowledge that any person had given more than that sum and concealed it through a "dummy" name. He asserted also that there could be no "covering up" of contributions in excess of that sum without a conspiracy in his organization and that he knew of no such conspiracy.

Senator Caraway asked him about the now famous letter sent out by an organization in Massachusetts inviting contributions in excess of the legal amount and stating that they would be so listed as to evade the law. Hodges said he knew nothing of that except what he had read in the newspapers and that the publication had begn before he became treasurer of the national organization.

Corn Breaks

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Corn underwent a sharp break in price today, powerfully affected by assertion on the part of a trade authority that there is an over supply of feed grains and that the next government report will show a decided increase of the official estimate of corn production. Closing prices for corn were heavy, 2¾ to 4¼c net lower, December 1.09⅝ to 1.09¾. Wheat finished weak, 1¾ to 2¾c off, December 1.49 to 1.49¾ and May 1.53¼ to 1.53¾, with oats 1¾ to 2¾c down, and provisions varying from 7c decline to 10c gain.

Wheat and oats owed much of their weakness to corn. The main reason for the set back in wheat values, however, appeared to be profit taking sales which became of huge volume when the December delivery touched a new high price record for the season.

A big decrease in the Chicago stock of hard winter provisions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The cotton market recovered about half a cent of its recent losses in today's trading. Reports of a better trade demand coupled with a little nervousness over the latest tropical storm development led to considerable covering and prices advanced to 22.75 for December or 40 points net higher and 66 points above the low level of yesterday. December closed at 22.73, the general market closing steady at net advances of 28 to 34 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 11 to 34 points and sold above 23 to 38 points not higher on reports of a better undertone in Liverpool, buying for Liverpool and continental account and covering. Heavy selling was encountered on the advance while notices representing about 9,500 bales appeared to cause slight liquidation of October. This checked the advance and reactions of 20 or 25 points from the best followed at mid-day but the market steadied later on reports that the tropical storm was gaining intensity. It was said to be near the Yucatan channel. Uncertainty prevailed as to whether it would reach the belt, but the possibility seemed to promote covering after the recent severe decline in prices. Large exports for the day and reports that both foreign and domestic agitators were showing more disposition to fix prices around current values contributed to the late advance, which carried the price of October up to 23.45 and January to 22.90. Last prices were within a few points of the best.

Exports today 124,418, making 1,445,218 so far this season. Port receipts 96,000. U. S. port stocks 859,209.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16.—The cotton market developed an advancing tendency in today's session notwithstanding rather indifferent cables, continuing good weather in the belt coupled with many private advices to the effect that the crop nearly everywhere was promising better yields than looked for. The stimulating influence was the fear that the tropical hurricane now in the northwest Caribbean sea might enter the Gulf and cause high winds and extensive rains which would be damaging to the crop particularly the disturbance bring a cold wave.

The market opened 14 to 22 points higher and December advanced to 22.44 and January to 22.53 before a resting place was reached showing a gain of 33 points over the previous close. The market then eased off about 10 to 12 points owing to the good weather in the belt but later in the session turned firm again on the posting of storm warnings for the Yucatan channel and Florida straits. Prices continued on the up grade for the rest of the session although there were moderate recessions at noon on realizing and the highest levels of the day were reached just before the close with December at 22.69, January at 22.72 and March at 22.96, 56 to 58 points above the previous close. The closing was near the top, showing net gains for the day of 52 to 59 points.

KLAN CONTROL

at the shop in Dallas which turned out all of Felix Robertson's campaign printing, Mr. McDonald retraced the political history of the state during the last five months. He brought in reference to the reported sale of the klan by Edward Y. Clark and Joseph Simmons to Hiram Evans "at 9 1-4 cents a head" and proceeded to characterize klan members as sheep being sheared of all their wool.

"Five months ago, in May," Mr. McDonald said, "the klan rounded up its members, wrung all it could from them in the way of campaign assessments, sheared them clean and sold their fleece to McAdoo. Later, in August when the first primary came around it did the same thing, sheared them the second time and sold the fleece to Robertson. Then in the second primary it went through the same thing once more, sheared them for all they could stand and again sold the fleece to Robertson. Now, in November, they are shearing again and selling the fleece to Butte."

An attack on Dr. Butte who, Mr. McDonald said, had "trimmed his sails to every breeze, was everything to everybody, anything to any body, and nothing to no body" came near the conclusion of the address. Reference to the moral obligation of the party pledge was made; approval of Mrs. Ferguson was given; denial that Former Governor James E. Ferguson would be the real power behind the governor's chair was made; and the speaker concluded with a vigorous call for the democracy of Texas "to reorganize that this is not a personal fight it is a fight between democrat and republican; between klan control and legal rule.

Lines Are Drawn

"The lines are drawn, the issues are clear cut. Which side are you on?"

A vehement denunciation of party bolters and those who do not consider the party pledge a moral obligation was sounded by Judge A. H. Carrigan in an address opening the meeting. This was evidently considered another major angle and Judge Carrigan did not mince words in voicing his opinion of those who refused to abide by it.

"I put my honor and oath above gold," the speaker declared, "and I have no use for the man who sets aside his own honor and his oath by saying that a party pledge is not a moral obligation." He severely rebuked Dr. Butte for expounding the principle that repudiation of the democratic nominee's desire to invest the rule of the state with a privileged few instead of the common majority; he defended Mrs. Ferguson as a Christian, fearless woman unhampered by predatory interests and urged all real democrats to support their standard bearer in the coming elections.

Cline Speaks

W. D. Cline, in an address punctuated with humorous sallies appropriate to the theme also assailed those who "do not recognize the validity of the contract they have made by their party pledge.

"I think," he said, "that when I marked my ballot last July I made a written contract with my party. When I scratched it, by broad implication I signed it: when I folded it I sealed it; when I dropped it in the ballot box I delivered it, and I am here tonight as a democrat, because I recognize the validity of that contract."

Mr. Cline concluded with a vivid recounting of a framed civil war battle in which Gen. Robert E. Lee steadied a fading line of grey and led it in a victorious charge against a far superior union force.

"In this hour," he said, "you democrats turn to the inspired leadership of such men as Judge Scurry, Judge Brittain and Mr. McDonald and heed their cry of 'steady, Texas.'"

Judge A. H. Brittain presided at the meeting. On the platform, in addition to the speakers, were Edgar Scurry, R. Y. Cummings, C. M. McFarland, W. M. Moore, H. J. Bruce, Edgar Haney and F. E. Johnson.

Market Letter

R. E. FLOWERREE AND COMPANY
Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Wheat: Heavy liquidation, and being influenced by weakness in corn put too heavy a burden for the market and prices finally gave way and dropped to a considerable discount under the previous close. Trade was very large with influential buying on the way down. Cash basis firm with shipping sales reported 455,000 bushels of which 450,000 were worked overnight to exporters. Charters made for about 500,000 bushels to Buffalo. Seaboard advices and the "give-ups" here indicated around 2,000,000 bushels worked for export, with Italy the best buyer. There were no deliveries here. Canadian weather unfavorable, but Winnipeg was strong until late in the day, when it was influenced by weakness.

Corn: Heavy liquidations was on all day. There was also selling credited to the east. The market made almost a steady decline, receiving little support except from shorts, cash basis relatively firm. Shipping sales 80,000 bushels. Weather generally favorable.

Oats: General liquidation late inspired by the weakness in corn prices broke sharply buying power being restricted. Weather generally favorable.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16.—Storm news, spread of the holding movement, trade buying and the rumors of a smaller ginning forecast that looked for were responsible for an advance of nearly three dollars a bale today.

Warning of a storm off the Florida straits and of another south of the Yucatan channel gave the market a good start. Shorts who sold yesterday on rumors that a prominent Texas cotton man had predicted a crop of 4,750,000 bales for that state, were among the largest buyers. Much of this covering was undoubtedly due to denial from the party mentioned that he had issued any such estimate. His figures were 3,750,000.

The trade seemed to have become apprehensive over reports from the interior of the growing strength of the holding movement and were credited with having been good buyers of contracts. Rumors that one private bureau predicted ginnings of 7,200,000 bales took the ground out from under shorts who are looking for eight million. Such figures as these do not indicate a crop of over 11,500,000 of the per centage ginned to October 18th in former years are a fair criterion.

Reports in issuing the pars for the next government report proved disturbing to shorts as the government reduced its pars nearly nine pounds between September 25 and October 25th last year.

Sentiment appears to be shifting to the buying side and market is likely to do better.

Storm news also likely to prove a stimulus to buying and covering for several days.

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The market gave a very good account of itself today in the face of continued good weather over the belt, talk of big ginnings, and crop prospects, selling was absorbed throughout the day.

Fear of a tropical storm played some part in causing some shorts to cover but best map reader here did not look with any fear on such prediction. The trade was a good buyer on all the dips.

We find here a disposition among the mills to pick up cotton around present prices and a scaledown and unless the crop should turn out much larger than the Government report, buying on breaks appears the safer policy, until we reach a point in the south where cotton will move more freely.

FENNER AND BEANE (By Julian).

Spot News

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 16.—Basis irregular, 10 to 15 points higher, especially in north Texas where offerings were light yesterday. Demand is rather spotted, but generally some better. Some Dallas brokers report cotton still hard to buy. Country did not sell as freely after yesterday's rains and business last night was very small. SM-28-75 off December New York. FENNER AND BEANE (By R. M. Bowen)

DRY GOODS

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—More buying interest was shown in cotton cloth markets today but prices were somewhat irregular in gray goods. Gingham came forward slowly, bleached cottons were easier. Yarns were quiet with prices irregular due to the recent cotton upset. Raw silk markets were steady. Further advances were announced in lines of staple men's wear, both worsteds and woolens. Jute goods were held high, with buying limited.

Total sales 635,600 shares.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Stock prices turned reactionary today uneasiness over the political situation bringing about further selling of the speculative industrials, many of which lost 1 to 3 points. Commission houses reported a growing disposition on the part of traders and small investors to stay from the market until after the election.

Further accumulation of the oil shares took place following publication of the weekly report of the American Petroleum institute showing a reduction of 26,450 barrels daily in production for the week ended October 11. Net gains in this group, however, were held to fractions.

The new German bonds continued to attract considerable attention, touching a new record high at 95¾, as against the offering price of 92, and then yielding about a point from the top.

U. S. Steel common closed unchanged at 105⅝, after having sold above 106 in the early trading. Republic Steel fell back about a point in reflection of the relatively poor quarterly report just issued by that company.

Stewart Warner broke 3 points to 52 on heavy selling from Chicago and then rallied feebly. American Can sold as high as 127, but reacted later to 125⅝, off one on the day.

Railroad shares were rather sluggish. Lackawanna dropped 1¾ and Norfolk and Western 1⅝. Other changes were largely fractional.

The money market were quiet. Call loans held steady at 2½ per cent. Time money rates were unchanged with lenders disinclined to make concessions to meet the lower rates quoted by the borrowers. Commercial paper rates eased slightly, prime names being available as

Took Pullmans To Cleaning For Big Sum; Is Arrested

Beacher Deason Tarried Too Long and Gets Caught Here

HELD BY POLICE

No. 8, Southbound, Had Emptied $141 To His Pockets

With his spoils in his pockets and a clear field for escape, Beacher Deason waited a little too long Thursday morning. As a result he is now in jail with charges of felony theft hanging over him and prospects of a fair-sized pen term ahead.

Broke and hungry Wednesday night he walked into the Fort Worth and Denver station at Vernon and saw a traveling man unwind a greenback from a bulging roll of bills.

When No. 8, southbound, pulled out a little later he was on it. Undetected, he went through one of the darkened Pullmans, ransacked all the trousers pockets within reach and dropped off at Electra with $141 and a watch.

The thefts were discovered before the train reached Wichita Falls at 2:45 a. m., and a report was made by the train crew to the city police department there. A telephone call to Electra put officers on guard there and a watch was set on the station when No. 7, northbound, pulled in an hour later.

It was all over then.

Deason was arrested as he was boarding the train, the money and watch was found in his pockets and he confessed to the theft. A call to the police department here resulted in his being returned to this city before 7 o'clock.

Deason said he was 22 years of age and that his home was at Henderson, Texas.

Ehlers to Talk On Sewage Plans Before Tech Club

A discussion of modern sewage disposal methods will be led here Oct. 28 by State Sanitary Engineer V. N. Ehlers when he appears before the Wichita Falls Technical club to address its members on sewage problems.

The subject is of especial interest here now, due to the plans of the city for erection of a disposal plant to care for its raw sewage. Mr. Ehlers was in the city about two weeks ago investigating conditions locally. The Tech club, also, has offered to the city council the services of its experts in any program that may be decided upon as necessary.

For the time being, the city council is taking no active interest in the matter further than obtaining all the data possible on cost and operation of such systems. It is probable that Mayor Collier will confer further with Mr. Ehlers when he appears before the Tech club.

CAL'S CAUTION COSTLY

So Says Shaver With Regard to Sugar Tariff Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Declaring President Coolidge apparently had decided to delay action on the sugar tariff reduction petition until after the election, Chairman Shaver of the democratic national committee said in a formal statement today that the president's "caution" was costing the public heavily during every day of delay. He added many persons believed the decision "will favor the beet sugar trust when eventually it is announced."

A grass fire which was threatening to spread to some surrounding structures at Fifth and Burnett streets caused a run for the fire department at 11:30 Thursday morning. No damage was done.

It cost a man 40 days in the county jail to beat up his wife a few days ago, for that was the penalty assessed by Judge McFarland of the county court-at-law yesterday when the defendant entered a plea of guilty to charges of aggravated assault.

The mills of justice got plenty of grist yesterday. Eight civil actions were filed in the district court here, two civil cases were tried, and in the county court-at-law eight cases were disposed of. This does not take into consideration the legal filings of the county court or the proceedings of the two justice courts in operation

Two fines of $1 and costs and a day in jail were assessed yesterday by Judge McFarland of the county court-at-law against J. F. Carpenter and W. L. Roberts when they entered pleas of guilty to charges of swindling by check. A fine of $1 and costs was assessed against another man when he pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness.

Alterations in the proposed boundaries of the land given by Fred Weeks to the city for use as a park and golf course are being made to enlarge the tract. It was originally intended that the land, lying along each side of Holliday creek near the present Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, should include about 231 acres, but under the new plans it will be about 250 acres in extent. The task of improving the land will get under way as soon as the definite lines are laid out.

No complaint, at least, is being heard these days from farmers as to cotton picking weather. Mama Nature and Papa Fate, which seemed to have conspired with malignant intent in all other respects have finally relented sufficiently to give ideal days for the gathering of fleecy bolls. A grasshopper plague this summer that threatened to annihilate the whole crop was the first blow struck—and it was considerable disconcerting. Then to top it off with, a shortage of cotton pickers has been felt here from the time the picking season started. Those that are picking, however, aren't doing anything else but, farmers admit. No rain and favorable climatic conditions are making up to some extent for the setbacks suffered elsewhere.

A formal complaint charging assault with intent to murder, was filed Thursday against Effie Rivers, negress, in connection with the wounding Wednesday night of Rose Walker, another negress who is now in a serious condition at the General hospital. A knife wound in the lung and severe slashes across the body were inflicted with a knife. The cutting occurred near Brook and Tenth street and is supposed to have climaxed an argument over a man. Bond of $750 was set at a preliminary hearing, but it had not been perfected yesterday afternoon.

A total of $9,703.90 has been collected in delinquent taxes since the first of October, City Tax Collector Hyer reported yesterday. The figures include all collections for the month up to and including Wednesday of this week. Of the delinquent total, $5,721.50 was represented by school tax and $3,982.40 by city tax. Current tax collections amounted to $2,788.40, of which $1,166.60 was school and $1,621.180 was city. The grand total, collections from all sources, has been $13,391.85.

One man was arrested, about 10 gallons of corn mash destroyed and a 50 gallon copper still confiscated late Wednesday night when State Rangers McCormick and Aldredge unearthed a whiskey dive on the banks of the Red river in Clay county. No liquor was found. The man taken in custody is now in jail here but no charges had been filed against him yesterday afternoon. The formal complaint will probaly be made today.

Theft of approximately 2,000 pounds of cotton from a field near Burkburnett resulted yesterday in a 90 day jail sentence for Ben Smith of Burk. He entered a plea of guilty before Judge C. L. McFarland and the stiff sentence was imposed on recommendations of Assistant County Attorney J. Earl Kuntz. Smith removed and sold the cotton in a series of thefts, it was reported. He obtained about $150 for the entire lot.

Alkali Innocent Of Brown Spots Experts Assure

Farmers are Told Not To Worry About Their Fields

CURE IS REPORTED

Recent "Pox Marks" On Fields Had Caused Some Anxiety

Brown spots in cotton fields are not caused by alkali, according to A. H. Leidigh, assistant director of experiment stations of A. and M. college, who will speak to the Business council today at noon on the cause and cure for this cotton disease.

The appearance of these brown spots in Wichita county fields has caused some anxiety on the part of many local farmers as it was stated by some that alkali was the cause, but after an extensive study of this situation by the department, of which Dr. B. Youngblood is the director, a definite cause and cure has been determined, it is stated.

A number of landowners here have conferred with Mr. Leidigh since his arrival here and are greatly pleased with the assistance he has rendered. He is here to confer with Earl Wilson, recently appointed superintendent of the experimental farm south of Iowa Park, having come up from A. and M. college with Dr. Youngblood last Tuesday.

His address at the luncheon of the Business Council is expected to be of unusual interest and all members and any others who are interested are urged to attend provided reservations are made with the Chamber of Commerce before noon this morning.

P.-T. Ass'n And Mothers Congress Growth Discussed

Giving a brief history of the Parent-Teachers' Association and the Texas Mothers' Congress, Mrs. R. E. Phillips talked to the mothers and teachers of the San Jacinto Parent-Teachers' Association Thursday afternoon at the San Jacinto School. The parents and teachers were organized about fifteen years ago, and the Mothers' Congress in 1907. She told something of the development and growth of each.

Mrs. L. C. Blakely, president, told why each club should affiliate with the congress; namely, that the club would be strengthened; that the Mothers' Congress mothers each individual club, and that the good derived from the bulletins and literature from the congress is beneficial to the clubs.

"The Aims and Purposes of the Parent-Teacher Association" was discussed by Roy J. Daniels, member of the faculty. He stated that the school and the home should be brought closer together. He dwelt on the influence of home environment on the child.

Miss Sonora Ponder organized a class in Red Cross work, "Child Hygiene and Care of the Sick."

It was voted by the club to have "fathers'" night October 24, at the school building. The contest on membership in the association will be extended until then, it was stated. The members voted yesterday to sell extracts and to make a quilt to sell, the funds derived to be used to carry on the work of the San Jacinto association.

The first grade pupils of Mrs. Susie Potts' room sang "America" for the assembly. Mrs. Rudolph Ort led the congress prayer. Little Miss Jane McGrady read "Sister Caroline's Speaking."

Those present were: Elizabeth Hill, Mrs. O. W. White, Mrs. Nellie Steams, Mrs. A. C. Osborne, Betty Tribble, Lucy Lee Young, Lurine Hightower, Ruby Leveridge, Jewell Berry, Mrs. Henry Zeigler, Louise Bryan, C. B. Farris, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. John Benton, Conway Crowder, W. L. # Heard At the Rally

Below are a few cryptic paragraphs selected at random from the addresses last night at the democratic rally.

"I am not ashamed of the democratic party and I am not ashamed to proclaim its principles here tonight."
JUDGE A. H. CARRIGAN.

"A man who will preach the doctrine that a party pledge is not a moral obligation and therefore not to be honored is not to be trusted with the office of governor of Texas."
JUDGE CARRIGAN.

"Thank God, we democrats are in the majority, and thank God, we're going to stay there."
JUDGE CARRIGAN.

"Those of us who have lived in Texas long know we cannot afford to turn over the government to the republican party."
JUDGE A. H. BRITTAN.

"I prefer a governor made in Texas to one made in Germany."
W. D. CLINE.

"I think that my party pledge is a written contract: when I scratched my ballot I, by implication, signed it; when I folded it I sealed it; when I dropped it in the ballot box I delivered it; . . . and I am here tonight because I recognize its validity."
W. D. CLINE.

"Your presence tonight in such goodly numbers convinces me that the democracy of the fathers still endures."
C. C. Mc DONALD.

"Whenever the majority speak, let that be the law of the land."

Traffic Lights To Be Discussed At Conference Today

Mayor Collier and Electric Head to Discuss Details

PLAN SIX SERIES

Intersectional Control Of Automobiles to Cost $3,100

The proposed automatic traffic control signal system will come to the fore today when Mayor Collier meets with P. A. Rogers, manager of the Wichita Falls Electric company, to discuss the installation. A bid to provide the material and do the work has been submitted by the company and has been given favorable consideration. If the financial end of the matter can be arranged the installation will probably be approved by the mayor.

A series of six lights at the Eighth and Ninth street intersections of Indiana, Scott and Lamar, will be put in for $3,100. Additional units, provided they are not to be located more than one block from the nearest existing signal can later be installed for $400.
