Yanks Take Series In Fifth Game, 13-5

CINCINNATI (AP) — The New York Yankees rocked the Cincinnati Reds Monday, 13-5, and won the 1961 World Series four games to one. It was the 19th world championship for the Yankees.

It was one of the most one-sided games in World Series history. As the Yankees blasted Joey Jay, the Reds starting hurler, out of the box in the first inning. Seven more Cincinnati pitchers trudged to the mound, making a series of eight for one team. On Oct. 5, 1956 the Yankees used seven against the Dodgers.

John Blanchard, playing right field, homered for New York in the first inning with one on, and Hector Lopez walloped one out of the park for the Yankees with two aboard in the fourth. Lopez batted in five runs, one on a triple in the big first frame. Blanchard also hit a double and went 3-for-3, driving in two runs. Bill Skowron had two singles, and drove in three Yankee runs.

The Cincinnati Reds scored three in the third, and halved the Yankee lead, when Frank Robinson hit a home run with two on. After New York came up with five more tallies in the fourth and led 11-3, the Reds scored two in the bottom of the fifth as Wally Post homered with one on.

Jim Maloney, Ken Johnson, Bill Henry, Sherman Jones, Bob Purkey, Jim Brosnan and Ken Hunt followed Jay to the Cincinnati mound. Jay, who won the second and only Cincinnati game Thursday 6-2, was the loser.

U.S. Cotton Crop Estimate Is Increased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's cotton crop at 14,334,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This is 72,000 bales more than last month's official forecast of 14,262,000 bales. It compares with 14,272,000 produced last year and 13,553,000 for the 10-year (1950-59) average.

The crop is being grown under federal planting and marketing controls designed to prevent excess production. There will be a carryover of about 7 million bales from past crops.

The production estimate compares with prospective market demands of about 14.5 million bales.

The department estimated the yield of lint cotton at an average of 440 pounds per harvested acre. This compares with 446 pounds last year and 362 for the 10-year average.

In an accompanying report, the Census Bureau said 2,683,436 running bales of cotton from this year's crop were ginned to Oct. 1, compared with 3,677,243 to the like date last year.

The indicated yield in pounds per acre and production in bales, respectively, in Texas is 333 and 4,550,000.

Ginnings in bales to Oct. 1 this year and last, respectively, in running bales include Texas, 1,270,861 and 1,269,984.

County Gets General Rain

Total rainfall in the county during the night varied from .50 inch at Lomax to only traces in other areas. A heavy shower at Lomax occurred about 8:15 a.m., but rainfall in other parts of the county was shortly before or after daybreak.

No winds were recorded as the overcast thickened and covered the ground well with surface moisture.

"The showers should help the grass cover a bit and it will slow up harvesting of cotton, but otherwise the moisture is not too important one way or another," Herb Helbig, county agent, said.

Big Spring rainfall was heavier on the north side of town as .10 inch was recorded at the U. S. Experiment Station at 8 a.m. Webb Air Force Base had .06 inch.

Other measurements in the county were Ackerly, a trace; Knott, .20 inch; Luther, trace; and Forsan, .03 at 7 a.m.

Cold Front Brings Rain

By The Associated Press

A cold front that sideswiped the Panhandle of Texas set off widely scattered showers across the state Monday.

The front, which brought heavy snows to the Rocky Mountain areas, zipped into the Panhandle Sunday, dropping temperatures and triggering showers, but the main portion of the storm moved to the north and east of Texas.

Early Monday the rainfall amounted to .11 inch at Dalhart, .02 at Marfa and Presidio, .01 at Abilene and traces at Brownwood and Fort Worth.

The low temperature range Monday morning was from 46 degrees at Dalhart to 77 at Corpus Christi.

Trustees Have Light Agenda

A light schedule has been prepared for the regular meeting of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District, according to Sam M. Anderson, superintendent. The meeting will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the Administration Building, 100 E. 10th.

Trustees will be asked to give an interpretation of the salary for beginning part-time secretaries and to approve the substitution of other securities for securities which are callable and due, Anderson said.

In other action, board members will accept resignations from personnel and will approve the minutes of the regular meeting held Sept. 12 and the special meeting held Sept. 26.

Pat Murphy, assistant superintendent - business, will report findings of a survey made regarding traffic at the Airport Elementary School. Murphy will make his recommendations to the board members.

Dutch, Soviets Stage Brawl In Quarrel Over Defector

AMSTERDAM (AP) — A free-swinging fist fight broke out at Amsterdam airport today between Dutch police and Soviet Embassy officials, including Ambassador Panteleimon K. Ponomarenko, who was heard to shout at one point: "Do you know I am the ambassador?"

The brawl erupted in a dispute over the passport of a Soviet woman tourist who police feared was being taken back to Russia against her will.

The Soviet officials were bundled bodily from the police office—at least one of them nursing a bruise.

Premier Jan de Quay then summoned the Soviet ambassador to the Hague for a conference while the woman remained at the airport.

The Soviet tourist, Mrs. Alexei Golub, is the wife of a 35-year-old Soviet chemical engineer who defected Saturday and asked asylum here. She was brought to the airport today, accompanied by Soviet officials, to board a plane back to Moscow.

Soon afterward 15 Soviet Embassy men, including Ponomarenko, stormed into the police office at the airport demanding Mrs. Golub's passport. The policeman in charge, Frits Veltman, refused to hand it over until he talked with Mrs. Golub and had her assurance she was returning of her own free will.

Witnesses said a fist fight then broke out, involving at least six Dutch police and a similar number of Soviet officials.

At least one Russian—press attache A.D. Popov — was hurt in the brawl, witnesses said. The Dutch policeman Veltman also had a bloodied hand when he later spoke to newsmen.

Later Mrs. Golub was taken by Ponomarenko and other Soviet officials to the airport office of the Soviet Aeroflot airline. A dozen Dutch military police stood on guard outside the room.

There they resumed the discussions but police still insisted on a personal interview with Mrs. Golub before handing over her passport.

The Golubs were staying in Amsterdam with a group of 29 Soviet tourists at the fashionable Hotel Schiller. A police spokesman said that on Saturday both left the Schiller and went to another hotel nearby.

As a result of what the husband told the manager, police were called and took Golub away in a police car. By this time, however, Mrs. Golub had disappeared.

Dutch officials say they believe Mrs. Golub had originally also intended to ask for political asylum, but apparently changed her mind.

For Boys

Comradeship begins early for boys in Scouting, a program of citizenship training and character building designed to stick with them throughout life. As a Cub a boy learns to do his duty to God and country, and this lesson is ingrained as a Boy Scout and then as an Explorer. Later they return as volunteer leaders to help other boys discover the fun of outdoor life and sound living. A generols investment in the United Fund advances this program as well as 11 other important local welfare and guidance agencies.

Busy UF Week Pends

A report meeting this afternoon and a kickoff breakfast Tuesday highlight United Fund activities as busy week pends.

The big gift division will make another report at 5 p.m. today in the UF headquarters. The special gifts division kicks off with a breakfast Tuesday at 7 a.m. in the Settles Hotel.

Champ Rainwater and Lewis Price chair this division and they have urged their captains and team workers to try to wind up the drive in one day.

Next in line will be a kickoff breakfast by the employes division, slated Wednesday morning at 7 a.m. at the YMCA. Dan Krausse heads up this division, which has a quota twice has high as last year.

This week has been termed a crucial one for the drive and campaign leaders have urged their workers to make every effort to get early reports into headquarters.

IN MYERS TRIAL

Venire Rapidly Being Depleted

A special venire of 200 called to serve in the murder trial of John Edwin Myers, 33-year - old Chicago drifter, and charged with murder, was nearing depletion at noon today.

Thirty - seven of the venire failed to answer when their names were called in 118th District Cour and Judge Ralph Caton ordered attachments issued for them.

Sheriff Miller Harris will be instructed to serve the attachments and bring the 37 absentee veniremen into court.

Excuses and exemptions tore great holes in the remaining veniremen. A dozen were released from duty when they told the court they did not hold current year poll tax receipts. Practically all of the women who were on the panel calimed their exemption by virtue of having children at home under the age of 16.

Other disqualifications took additional members out of their seats and the court room which had been jammed with minimum standing capacity at the outset, was beginning to appear thinly filled as noon approached.

Judge Caton pushed on through most of the noon hour hearing the excuses of veniremen. He warned those who were seeking escape because of business reasons that he would be hard to convince and pointed to the sharply reduced list of names still on hand.

No decisions as to the next step had been made at noon. It was evident at that time the venire would be far too small to serve and observers believed that Judge Caton would have to order the sherfiff to bring in talesmen to supplement the list.

Meantime, the regular panel of jurors, drawn some time ago for service this week, were cooling their heels in the grand jury room. They will have to wait around until the question on whether the defense will seek a sanity hearing for Myers is decided.

They are not eligible to serve in the trial proper of the defendant.

Warren Burnett, former district attorney of Ector and Midland Counties and one of the most widely active criminal attorneys in this part of the state, appeared at the table this morning as co-counsel with Hartman Hooser and John Richard Coffee.

Also in the courtroom was R. H. Weaver, former county judge, who said he was present as legal advisor to Donna Marie Stone, 13-year-old paramour of the defendant.

Burnett and Hooser are frequently associated in the trial of cases in the district.

Weaver said that he had been called to come to the jail "several days ago" by Donna Marie. She asked him to be her lawyer, he said, and he agreed to serve.

The defense counsel had a large sheaf of typewritten sheets, apparently motions, which they indicated would be presented. These motions will not be heard until the panel is qualified.

Nature of the motions the defense plans to submit was not announced.

It was said that a new effort will be made to continue the case. This, it was reported, would probably be the first motion offered.

Meantime, Myers, his mustache shaved away and his hair trimmed and neatly combed, sat quietly at the table throughout the morning. He was in custody of Deputy Sheriff D. R. Buzbee, who sat back of him.

Myers took little apparent interest in the proceedings. He did not bother to glance back at the banked rows of veniremen and other than for a few whispered exchanges with his lawyers, did not move from his seat during the morning.

Myers, under indictment for the Sept. 1 murder of Arthur Lee Ke-Kraai, an itinerant Iowa plumber, is aware that Gil Jones, district attorney, intends to push for the death penalty in the case. He is alleged to have shot DeKraai to death as Myers, DeKraai and Donna Marie rode along US 20 in a car Myers had stolen earlier from Margaret Wernicker. Miss Wernicker was the third of four persons whom Myers has admitted he killed in a three days journey from Illinois to Texas.

Myers said that he killed De-Kraai to rob him. The hitchhiker had no money and the killing netted Myers nothing.

Cuban Housewives Facing Execution

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An anti-Castro organization says that the Cuban government plans to execute housewives to stop public protest about food shortages.

The first publicly known execution of a woman since Fidel Castro came to power will take place on Tuesday, a Cuban holiday, according to the organization, the People's Revolutionary Movement (MRP).

The MRP was considered one of the most effective underground outfits operating in Cuba before the unsuccessful April invasion. By report, it was forced to halt operations, along with the other underground groups, when the invasion failed, but recently was reorganized and now is operating again.

Tuesday is Grito de Yara—Cry of Yara—Day; the anniversary of the 1868 call at Yara, in eastern Cuba, for revolution against Spain.

President Will See Dying Friend

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Kennedy today undertook a sad, sentimental journey to Texas to comfort ailing Sam Rayburn.

The President switched plans and ordered his Air Force jet to head for Dallas instead of back to Washington at the close of a weekend here — beside and on the sea.

The 79-year-old speaker of the House is gravely ill in a Dallas hospital, combatting incurable cancer.

Distinguished national leaders and politicians have been phoning or dropping in to see him. Kennedy himself has been kept informed constantly of Rayburn's condition. He has been checking for several days to find out whether it would be wise for him to visit the speaker's bedside.

* * *

DALLAS (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn, taking injections that may prolong his life in a fight against cancer, was reported resting comfortably and feeling no pains today.

Dr. Ralph Tompsett, chief of internal medicine at Baylor University Medical Center, issued this bulletin:

"Mr. Sam Rayburn had a fairly good night. He is awake and alert. He seems comfortable and complains of no pain. A few minutes ago he was sitting up in bed having his breakfast. There is no change in his condition."

Rayburn is being given an experimental drug called "5 Fluorouracil." He received his first injection Sunday, will get another today and, if all goes well, will receive daily injections for around two weeks.

It will be several days, Dr. Tompsett said, before it is known whether the drug produces undesirable side effects.

The drug is not a cure, but it may halt the spread of cancer.

Rayburn appears to be doing about as well as can be expected. Each medical bulletin has said "rested fairly comfortably" or "ate reasonably well."

Rayburn is eating what he likes and Sunday had one of his favorite foods: honey.

Eminent politicians continue to drop by.

Guests Sunday included Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who slipped in and out of Rayburn's room so quietly no one spotted him; Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas; and G. LeRoy Collins, former governor of Florida who now is president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

A press room has been set up in a small library. Twice each day a news conference is held in a room next door. Doctors strive to give new answers to the same old questions, but basically they add up to this: Rayburn is an extremely sick man but, yes, there's some hope.

* * *

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Kennedy will head west on a speaking tour in mid-November.

It could wind up with his lending a personal hand to Cabinet officers and other administration executives in reporting to the people what Congress accomplished and what more he would like it to accomplish.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, announced Sunday Kennedy will speak Nov. 16 in Seattle at the 100th anniversary of the University of Washington and again Nov. 17 in Phoenix at a dinner honoring Sen. Carl A. Hayden's 50 years in Congress.

Plied with questions, Salinger said that after the Phoenix visit, Kennedy has "some other stops under consideration."

Methodists Plan Pancake Supper

The Methodist Men of Wesley Methodist Church will hold a pancake supper Tuesday in Fellowship Hall of the church.

Ducats are 75 cents and the feast will be held between 6-9 p.m. All men of the church have the tickets for sale or they may be purchased at the door.

Family Takes Fallout Shelter Test, All Feeling 'Chipper'

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — A Long Island couple and their two small sons are "fit and chipper" after almost a week in a fallout shelter.

The parents called the test "highly successful."

The family emerged Sunday from an above-ground shelter where they spent 151 hours in a test sponsored by the Nassau County Civil Defense Commission.

A spokesman for the Roosevelt Field shopping center, where the shelter was set up, estimated that 40,000 persons witnessed the family's experiment. Many talked with the family through a microphone set up for that purpose.

The shelter had a picture window through which the family could see and be seen.

The family consists of Martin Kreese, 28, a self-employed electrician; his wife, Judith, 25; Robert, 5, and Martin, 3. They returned to their home in nearby East Northport soon after they left the shelter.

Mrs. Kreese said they felt "fit and chipper."

Her husband said the confinement meant a "much needed rest." He said home cooking was what he missed most.

The family subsisted on canned and concentrated foods — mostly soups, fruits, vegetables and meats—during their stay in the 16x17- foot cylindrical shelter, a converted 5,000-gallon oil tank.

They had a hot plate for cooking and a radio, telephone, books and magazines. There was a shade on the picture window, for privacy when wanted. The children ate a lot of peanut butter and jelly and crackers.

The parents said their 250-gallon water tank, air pump and sanitary facilities worked well.

The children played with toys much of the time, while the parents read.

A hot shower bath was the thing that all wanted most at the end, Mrs. Kreese said.

Mahon Urges Higher Level

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Representative George Mahon advises that he has urged Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, to fix the national cotton acreage allotment for the 1962 crop at a higher level than the 1961 allotment, and in no event at a lower figure. The 1961 allotment is 18,400,000 acres. The Secretary is required to make his decisions by Oct. 15.

Mahon stated that a moderate increase in 1962 over 1961 is necessary to make sure that the American cotton producer will be able to maintain his fair share of the world market in addition to supplying domestic needs. He said that a reduction would stimulate foreign production and be unacceptable to domestic growers.

Cotton growers and producer groups have appealed to members of Congress and government officials in regard to the cotton acreage matter. Mahon stated that he had discussed the matter with various officials of the Department of Agriculture in addition to the Secretary, and has wired the President and discussed the acreage situation with members of the White House staff.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Watches Nutrition Instead Of Calories

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Midge Ware, who got her TV start in the "Gunslinger" series, met me for tea at the Beverly Hills Hotel. "I've been on the go since early this morning," she exclaimed. I looked at the ex-model from New York in her impeccable black dress, pearls and a blue turban to match her eyes.

The black line close to her lashes was as neat as if it had just been applied.

"I make up my eyes after I have applied my powder base, lipstick and powder. In fact, my eyes are the last thing I do. I use black cake mascara. It's called body make-up. I wet the cake and wait a bit until I can make a kind of paste and then I stroke it on my lashes with a fine brush."

"You say you've been on the go since morning, but you don't look tired."

"My doctor specializes in nutrition," Midge revealed, "and I'm so grateful to him, not only because I have so much energy but because I have freedom from dieting.

I used to crave sweet snacks, but after following his routine, my appetite is satisfied with three meals a day. He is always telling me that it is not the calories that make you fat but the lack of nutrition. He advises no bleached flour or raw sugar, but he does suggest drinking raw milk because heat kills vitamins and enzymes so necessary to be healthy.

"It is hard to convince people," Midge said in parting, "that if you concentrate on nutrition, you don't have to worry about calories."

SCIENTIFICALLY TRUE

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 3900 West Highway 80 P.O. Box 1383.

The Bible is not a science text book. It was not given to show us how the heavens go; but to show us how to go to heaven. Yet, when the Bible makes reference to a matter of science, it is always correct; and it has often been hundreds of years ahead of the discoveries of science.

The Bible said, 1,500 years B.C., that the life is in the blood. Yet up until comparatively recent years, doctors drained blood from sick people instead of giving them blood. Now we know the Bible was correct. See Lev. 17:11.

In the first century A. D. Paul declared that God made of one blood all the nations of men (Acts 17:26). Yet it is only of recent years that scientists have been able to prove that human blood, while different from animal blood, is alike in all races of man.

Sometimes scientists have thought they had discovered contardictions between the Bible and science; but as time went on and science advanced, these contradictions vanished. There is no discrepancy between true science and true Bible teaching. —Adv.

Barred From Entry To East Berlin

Edmond Khayat, a Lebanese pacifist, carries an 85-pound cross and a sign along barbed wire entanglements after Communist guards refused to let him cross through the Brandenburg Gate into East Berlin. In the background are East German soldiers. The 10-foot cross carries the word "humanity." The sign reads "After 2,000 years humanity still suffers from exploitation and war, and still carries its cross. When will peace come to earth at last? When will peace come? When?"

Berlin's Border Seethes With Frustration Of Anger

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BERLIN (AP) — Berlin's street of hate and fear seems to seethe with frustrated anger.

Perhaps nowhere on earth do two worlds—East and West—face each other with such precarious uncertainty, such heated emotion and human tragedy as on Bernauerstrasse.

On the Communist side of the street, green-helmeted Communist police finger their automatic rifles. They watch anxiously from the windows and ledges of apartment houses.

In the West, a silent crowd of free men also watches and waits.

Nobody really knows why they are waiting. Another East Berlin family to try to jump into Western fire nets and escape from communism? Another exchange of shots between East and West police?

"Something violent could happen here any moment," a worried West Berlin policeman says as he and scores of others try to keep the crowds moving.

EVERYBODY

"They are angry with everybody. They are furious with the Communist police. They are angry with the Western powers for doing nothing. They are frustrated with their own helplessness."

Bernauerstrasse is a mile long and 40 yards wide. As you enter it on a brisk, sunny October morning, it looks at first like any other street in Berlin. Six-story, stone-faced apartment houses built for middle class and working families are on both sides.

Street car No. 2 rumbles down the center and the autumn leaves are tossed under its wheels by soft breezes.

But slowly Bernauerstrasse becomes the chilling dead end of the Western world.

"Papa, papa" — a small boy's shrill voice points to the sidewalk on the East.

The pavement is empty, up and down as far as you can see in either direction. Nobody walks there. No cars are parked. There is only a small vase of red carnations.

DIED IN FALL

"That's where an East Berliner died" you are told. "He was on a roof over there. The Communist police shot at him. The West Berlin police shot back. He jumped for a net—and missed."

The sidewalk in the West is crowded with people — workingmen coming home for their midday meal, an old woman in a wheel-chair, tough leather-jacketed teen-agers. Most eyes are filled with hostility.

A young woman with a baby, anxiety expressed in her features, peers intently toward the East and raises her hand hesitantly.

Then she waves toward the East, perhaps to a mother, or aunt. As she waves, her eyes go to a Communist policeman across the street.

"Look, look at it and remember," a sullen West Berliner says to an American. He points across the street. "It is as hideous as the Nazi concentration camps. It is one giant prison."

PRISON WALLS

The six-story apartment buildings on the East have the appearance of penitentiary walls. All but trusted Communists have been evacuated and the windows of vacant apartments have been bricked up.

A Communist policeman stands half-concealed behind a window. Another hides at a corner. One appears from nowhere. Two more watch a worker fill up a fifth-floor window. Another helmet can barely be seen on a roof.

Armed men are virtually the only sign of humanity—except for an old woman, sitting at her high window, staring at the West, a bird-cage beside her.

The streets intersecting Bernauerstrasse are blocked by 12-foot walls of concrete blocks. All you can see over them are the green helmets of Communist police and the barrels of their rifles. They stand on raised platforms on the other side.

Suddenly there is a distant flutter of something white. The face of the woman with the baby on the Western sidewalk breaks into happiness. She waves furiously and then stops as the flutter in the East disappears.

Budget Fight Shaping In Next Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's probable request for a $50-billion defense budget will be met in the next session of Congress by an all-out Republican drive to cut civilian spending.

Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois are expected to put before the Senate Republican Policy Committee early in the session proposals for a concentrated attack on New Frontier domestic programs. Bridges is committee chairman.

Because of recurring world crises, Republicans are unlikely to offer any serious challenge to increase in military outlays, which could set a new peacetime record in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. The current year's $46.66-billion arms budget is up about $6 billion from the last year of the Eisenhower administration.

The Republicans are certain to call for cutbacks in domestic spending and to resist new programs Kennedy is likely to suggest. In this effort, GOP members expect strong support from Southern Democratic conservatives.

This informal alliance has demonstrated that it can work effectively in both the House and the Senate, particularly on budgetary issues. On this common and familiar ground, most Dixie Democrats have no political qualms about opposing their president.

Administration leaders have predicted Kennedy will submit a balanced budget in January. But if military outgo is to approximate $50 billion in the new fiscal year, any such balance would depend heavily on skyrocketing revenues.

There are some indications that Congress may act in the next session on an increase in postal rates. The House Post Office Committee has approved a bill that would add $500 million to the revenues.

But almost no one believes Congress will vote any new general tax increases in an election year. In fact, a tax revision bill under study by the House Ways and means Committee might result in a net revenue loss.

With a Treasury deficit of about $6 billion in sight for the current year, Republicans believe Kennedy will give them an unparalleled opening for an economy drive if he recommends further increases in non-defense spending.

Remark Made Trip Worthwhile

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Robert L. Pierson, son-in-law of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, says a remark by one Southern clergyman made his "Freedom Ride" trip to Mississippi worthwhile.

Pierson told a congregation Sunday night that one unidentified clergyman told him "the fact that we came to the South shows what the church in the South has failed to do."

Pierson appears in a Jackson, Miss., court today to answer a breach of the peace charge growing out of his anti-segregation trip in September.

To Give Away Millions

Hotelman Khadouri Chaachou of Miami Beach, Fla., says he plans to give away his last $3 million to charity to keep it from his common-law wife and lawyers. The owner of four Miami Beach, Fla., hotels says the courts have ordered him to pay $161,250 in cash and $750 a month alimony to Mrs. Fredericka Phillips Chaachou whom he claims he never married.

Veteran Informed He's Not Citizen

CHICAGO (AP)—For 15 years a German-born salesman, Joseph Schallmoser, has been a registered voter. He is a thrice decorated U.S. veteran of World War II.

But last week the Immigration Service told Schallmoser he is not a U.S. citizen. Unless he applies for citizenship, the service says, Mr. Schallmoser will be Herr Schallmoser.

"I am a citizen. I've been a citizen almost all my life," said the 38-year-old salesman who came from Germany with his parents in 1929 when he was 6 years old.

"If I sign these papers and send in my five dollars, it's easy enough for me," he said. "But what about the thousands of other guys in the same situation?"

Schallmoser's troubles with the Immigration Service began last week when he tried to be a witness for a friend being naturalized.

Immigration authorities ruled Schallmoser's voting card, Army discharge, and father's naturalization papers were not enough.

"You are technically not a citizen," immigration officials told him.

"I was more than a little shocked," said Schallmoser.

His father was naturalized when Schallmoser was still a minor in the mid-30s.

Schallmoser said he always listed his father's naturalization number with a note that it was not his. "No one ever questioned it before," he said.

Schallmoser won three decorations for heroism in World War II. He missed getting into the Air Cadet Corps because his father had been naturalized only 9½ years previously, leaving Schallmoser six months short of the requirement. He served as an infantryman in Germany and was awarded the Bronze Star, Distinguished Service Cross and Silver Star.

"If the government recognized that I had been a citizen for 9½ years in 1943," said Schallmoser, "I don't see how I can not be a citizen now."

Mystery Veils Cyanide Death Of College Students

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — Police Chief W. D. Blake says the cyanide poisoning deaths of two University of North Carolina students found dead in their room were "either double murder, a suicide pact or murder-suicide."

Police are continuing their investigation, while waiting for an analysis report on the contents of two milkshake cups found in the room shared by James Michael Barham, 20, of Burlington, and William Harrison Johnson Jr. 24, of Statesville.

Their bodies were discovered Friday morning after they failed to report for self-help jobs in the dining hall.

An autopsy report Saturday said the deaths resulted from cyanide poison. A six-man coroner's jury received the report.

Chief Blake said, "If we can locate the source of the poison, I believe we'll be a long way in clearing up the mystery."

Blake quoted several students as saying they saw Barham in convulsions in a rest room the night before he died. The students, Blake said, related that they offered to call a doctor, but that Johnson did not appear to be greatly concerned about his roommate's condition.

DEAR ABBY

More About Clean Dogs

DEAR ABBY: You ran a letter from a mother who said she was careful not to let her dog lick her baby on the mouth because she feared the DOG would catch something from the baby. And you replied, "Now I've heard everything!" Well, you haven't heard everything until you've heard MY story:

I was raised on a ranch, and have been bitten and scratched by every kind of animal found on or near a ranch. No infections resulted. Recently I was involved in a person-to-person fight. I was floored with a blow to my left jaw. This caused my own teeth to penetrate my inner mouth. I was hospitalized for several days, during which time I was injected with every serum known to man to prevent tetanus from killing me.

My personal habits are clean. I have always brushed my teeth and bathed daily. The doctor shocked me with the following statement: "There are more dangerous germs in the human mouth than in the mouth of any animal."

"SHOCKED"

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I don't know when I have read anything as revolting as that letter in your column from the woman who didn't want her collie to lick her baby on the mouth because she was afraid of what the COLLIE could get. Honestly, some people are nuts! Please tell her if she is so worried about the dog she should muzzle the baby! REVOLTED

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Yes, that dog owner who wrote to you was absolutely right. A dog's mouth IS cleaner than a human's. You have never seen a dog with bad teeth, and you never will. I'd sooner give my dog a sip of my soda than you! ANOTHER DOG OWNER

DEAR ANOTHER: Let him have it. It's bad for MY teeth.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell that idiotic woman that it is dangerous to be licked on the mouth by a dog? Have her family physician explain the danger of CYSTICERCUS. I personally have seen children and adults die from it. Sincerely, M.D.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the letter in which a reader insisted that her dog's mouth was antiseptic enough to lick her baby's face, but she wasn't sure that the baby was germ-free enough for the dog's safety: A similar controversy took place between my daughter-in-law and me over her standard French poodle. She and I share a large double bed (my son was away in Service), and she invited her 66-pound dog to make it a threesome. I gave her a choice. The dog or me. She chose the dog, and we haven't spoken since 1944.

Cox To Speak To Rotarians

Jack Cox, former state legislator from Breckenridge, and one of Texas' outstanding speakers, will speak to members of the Big Spring Rotary Club and their wives Tuesday. His subject will be Americanism.

Cox was an unsuccessful candidate for governor against Price Daniel in 1960 and has been active on the political picture for many years. His talk Tuesday will not be political.

Rotarians are urged to bring their wives to the Tuesday meeting as it has been designated Ladies Day.

The speaker has served on several national Freedom Forums at Harding College, Searcy, Ark., and since the end of World War II has traveled over 400,000 miles and has spoken to more than a quarter of a million people, principally on the subject of Americanism.

Cox spoke before the annual Quarterback Club barbecue audience Aug. 31, in Big Spring.

Dawson Farms Hold Strong Position

LAMESA (SC) — Farms in Dawson County yielded more in 1960, in the way of gross income, than did farms in most parts of the United States.

A county - by - county survey of farm incomes by the Standard Rate and Data Service indicated that the gross receipts in the year of all Dawson County farms amounted to $26,699,000. The total in 1959 was $26,631,000. Related to the local farm population, it was equal to $5,339 per person.

That was a larger per capita return than was recorded in most parts of the United States, the average being $1,805 per farm resident. It also topped the state of Texas' $2,252.

The figures include the cash proceeds from farm marketings, together with income in kind, which is the value of products raised and used on the farm, and government subsidies.

State Demos Open Party Conference

AUSTIN (AP)—The louder the Republican challenge the more Texas Democrats will be awakened, Gov. Price Daniel said today.

He gave a rousing keynote speech at a State Democratic Executive Committee session dedicated to planning the downfall of the growing GOP in Texas.

Committee Chairman J. E. Connally of Abilene immediately suggested that Daniel would be the strongest Democratic candidate to defeat Jack Cox, Breckenridge ex-Democrat considered the likely GOP nominee for governor.

Connally said Republican claims about Cox running Daniel a strong race in the 1960 primary are not true because Daniel had a majority of 281,000 votes.

"I fail to see anything strong about a candidate who is beaten so decisively and by such a lopsided margin," Connally said.

DANIEL TAGGED

"I can think of many good Democrats who could put him in his place, but I know only one who can deliver the decisive defeat so deserving of this Republican political opportunist. And that man is Price Daniel."

Vice President Lyndon Johnson appeared briefly before the committee and gave a personal boost to Daniel.

"It has never been easier for me to work with the leaders of our state than at the present," he said.

Johnson also said he, President Kennedy and Speaker Sam Rayburn are continuing work on congressional problems despite the speaker's critical illness.

Daniel and Johnson were scheduled to fly to Houston as soon as they finish speaking to attend a dinner honoring the vice president.

Daniel did not mention a possible fourth term.

APATHY

"Our only loss will occur if there is Democratic apathy and if sincere and conscientious Texans are misled by the Republican noise and propaganda," Daniel said. "To prevent that is our job as leaders of the Democratic party of Texas.

"The Democratic nominees are going to win the state, district and local elections in Texas next year, but we cannot afford to take this fact for granted. We must work to assure his result."

The governor suggested five steps:

1. Double the staff of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

2. Form Democratic campaign committees in every county and precinct to push poll tax drives and get out the vote.

3. Expand Young Democrats Clubs and women's Democratic clubs.

4. "Tell the truth about the Republican party, especially to our conservative Democrats who do not approve all of the programs of the national Democratic party. I happen to be a conservative Democrat who does not approve everything that has been done by this or any other national administration," Daniel said.

TELL FACTS

5. "Tell the facts about the Democracy party. Remind our people that the Texas Democratic party has a platform and principles on which most Texans can agree, and only by staying in the party can they help keep these principles alive in the government of our state."

Daniel said the GOP victory of Sen. John Tower in a special election was like the story of "man bites dog—so unusual that it is news."

"The big news on the state political front now is of men biting the hands they once held. Walkouts and defections from our ranks are being led by those who formerly professed their loyalty and held places of honor and trust in the Democratic party of Texas," Daniel said.

"Having sought and received all the personal gain possible within our party, some are now working the other side of the street for whatever plums they can gather here."

TRIBUTE

Connally said the growth of the Democratic party in Texas is a tribute to Daniel's leadership.

"No governor in the history of our state has ever achieved such Democratic unity and strength or piled up such huge majorities in his campaigns. The 1,627,698 votes he received against his Republican opponent last year set a new record for our party," Connally said.

Connally said he thought "It is time for the Republican party to put up or shut up. Those few people they're talking about in Littlefield and other scattered localities haven't renounced the Democratic party—they are merely confessing their Republicanism."

Top party officials gathered at a reception given by Daniel Sunday night for the 65-member executive committee.

83 Reservoirs Asked In Texas Water Study

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—A federal - state water study commission recommended today that 83 reservoirs be constructed in eight Texas basins by the year 2010.

The estimated cost: $525,743,000 by 1975 and $1,109,520,000 more by 2010.

The $2,500,000, three-year survey by the 16-member U.S. Study Commission-Texas was presented to Gov. Price Daniel at a luncheon. Vice President Lyndon Johnson was an honor guest.

Johnson, then a member of the Senate, introduced in 1958 the legislation that established the commission.

The voluminous report did not detail flood control, hurricane protection, recreation and wildlife conservation projects that would accompany the proposed 50-year water development program. The commission said such projects would boost the over-all cost to about $4 billion.

No cost estimate was included for a gigantic aqueduct the commission said may be needed eventually for movement of water from one river area to another.

Such an aqueduct would extend from the Sabine River to the Rio Grande. It would parallel the Texas coast about 50 miles inland.

Presenting the report to Daniel was George R. Brown, the commission chairman and a Houston construction firm executive.

Daniel and interested federal agencies have 90 days to review the report and submit comments. The report, along with the comments, then would be forwarded to President Kennedy.

It was the second such long-range study Daniel has received in less than three months.

On July 28 the State Board of Water Engineers submitted a 200-page study proposing construction of 45 reservoirs that would give Texas 132 reservoirs with a total capacity of 58,826,000 acre-feet of water.

The 145 existing and proposed reservoirs in the federal - state study would have a combined capacity of 68,440,920 acre-feet.

The commission recommends construction of 30 reservoirs by 1975 and 53 more by 2010.

Its recommendations involve eight river basins—Neches, Trinity, Colorado, San Jacinto, Brazos, San Antonio, Guadalupe and Nueces. They cover 62 per cent of the state's total area.

The remaining 38 per cent is covered by the Red River, Sabine and Rio Grande basins. These were excluded from the study because they are covered by interstate compacts and an international treaty.

"The 1975 plan might be better designated as that on which work should begin immediately," the commission said. ". . . Changes in the economy and in national goals make it impossible to look ahead 50 years with any accuracy. The projected requirements may develop earlier, or they may not be reached for some years after 2010."

The commission made no detailed recommendations on financing the long-range program. It said the report was designed to provide a broad, flexible framework for orderly development of resources with joint participation by all levels of government and private interests.

However, the commission added this comment:

"Each project should be developed locally if it can be financed,

(See Listings On Poge 5-B.)

constructed and operated more effectively and more economically on that basis."

The commission said population in the study area is increasing more rapidly than in the United States as a whole.

"As a consequence, the increasing demand for water will be more urgent in the study area than in many other parts of the country," the report said.

It acknowledged that water alone will not build the area.

"But failure to develop adequate quantities with satisfactory quality can prevent the area from fulfilling its proper destiny in the nation's future," the commission said.

"The plan presents a reasonable system of reservoirs to develop the computed surface water resources of the area to supply projected municipal, industrial and agricultural requirements."

The commission said the state, from 1941 through 1956, lost an average of 23 million acre-feet of water from surface runoff in the study area.

It said the area now has 4,600,000 acres under irrigation and 18,300,000 additional acres suitable for irrigation if water can be made available.

Former President Dwight Eisenhower appointed the commission after receiving nominations from Daniel and six federal agencies.

Labor Leaders Discuss Issue Of What To Do About Hoffa

NEW YORK (AP) — Organized labor leaders open a week-long meeting today to decide whether to take back James R. Hoffa's expelled Teamsters Union or start a rival truck drivers unit.

It appeared likely that the AFL-CIO would continue its four-year exile of Hoffa's organization on corruption charges.

A number of AFL-CIO unions have been actively urging readmission of the Teamsters. They point out that despite court convictions of several Hoffa aides he himself has emerged unscathed from a barrage of charges.

Joseph A. Curran, president of the National Maritime Union and a federation vice president, and Michael J. Quill, head of the Transport Workers Union, are leaders of the pro-Hoffa group.

Still other AFL-CIO unions are equally insistent that not only should the doors be kept shut against Hoffa but a rival union should be established to try to woo Teamsters members away from him.

Among those seeking formation of a new AFL-CIO Teamsters organization are Presidents James B. Carey of the International Union of Electrical Workers and Joseph A. Beirne of the Communications Workers.

The Teamsters were ousted in 1957 after extensive corruption disclosures by the Senate rackets investigating committee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

Since then, the Teamsters and the federation have gone their separate ways in a sort of armed truce. Considerable cooperation continues however between AFL-CIO unions and the Teamsters on state and local levels.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to review a decision that states having right-to-work laws may ban agency shop agreements.

The Teamsters Union had asked the Supreme Court to review and reverse a decision by the Kansas Supreme Court.

The high court's refusal to consider the case was announced in a brief order which gave no reason. The refusal lets stand unchanged the Kansas Supreme Court decision.

An agency shop agreement requires nonunion employes to pay union dues on the theory that the union as bargaining agent for all workers is entitled to financial support from all.

Homecoming Plans Are Completed

LAMESA (SC) — The Ex-Students Association of O'Donnell High School has completed plans for its annual homecoming event Oct. 13.

The honored class this year is 1935-36 and a pep rally will kick off the activities in the gymnasium at 2:45 p.m. Friday. A hour later a business session will be conducted in the home economics building.

A banquet, highlighted by an address by former O'Donnell school superintendent, S. F. Johnson of Plainview, will commence in the school cafetorium at 6:30 p.m.

Following a football game between the Eagles and Sundown at 8 p.m. at Johnson Field, a social hour will be held in the Community House.

Wrecks Getting More Serious

LAMESA (SC) — Accidents in Lamesa, though fewer in number, apparently are becoming more serious.

There have been 166 so far this year, compared to 205 for the first nine months of 1960. But there have been 35 injuries in 1961, an increase of seven from the entire 1960 total.

A report for September showed 29 accidents, four injuries and property damages of $8,203. Last September, property damages totaled only $5,441.

Burglars Make Heavy Haul

The Frank Watson family reported the theft of $1,280 worth of items from their home at 1208 E. 17th some time Saturday.

Items missing were a sewing machine, portable high-fi, movie camera and projector, 20 pairs of lady's shoes, large number of dresses, hand bags, tape recorder, and a man's jacket. Watson told police that the house was unlocked and that the time of the theft was not known.

Washington Place school was entered some time over the weekend and investigating police found seven empty milk cartons in the cafeteria. They reported that some one drank a part of the milk and poured the rest on the floor. Desk and cabinet drawers were pulled out and ransacked, as were office drawers.

The glass had been broken from a door and the burglar reached through and released the night latch. Officers said it appeared to be juvenile vandalism.

A window was broken out of the Foster Drug, 122 E. 2nd, some time before 3:45 a.m. Sunday and items valued at approximately $175 taken. The plate glass window was valued at over $100. The broken window was discovered by a paper carrier and reported to patrolmen at 3:45 a.m. Missing were three transistor radios and a brown case for one of them.

Stolen Pickup Found, Latin American Held

The theft of a 1960 pickup from Van Miller, from the 700 Block of West Third, was solved over the weekend when a highway patrolman intercepted the driver of the vehicle five miles east of Midland. The driver, Raymondo Pineda, was arrested and placed in the Midland jail. He was later returned to Big Spring by Police Capt. L. A. Hiltbrunner. He was charged with theft of an automobile and placed in the county jail.

Other thefts investigated by police included robbery of the Gage Service Station, where a suspect took $30 from the cash register. A description of a car with four men was given to police who located the suspects in the City Park. One man admitted the theft and said the other three knew nothing about it. The man gave his address as Welch. The other three were attending a barber college in Lubbock.

Linda Kay Kizer, was arrested for vagrancy at 11:20 p.m. Saturday, and later charged with possession of barbiturates, which police found in her possession. She was arrested in Sam's Bar.

After Series Win

Roger Maris, Luis Arroyo and John Blanchard, left to right, pose in dressing room after New York Yankees won over Cincinnati Reds in third game of World Series. Maris' ninth inning home run won game for Yankees, 3-2. Arroyo pitched one-hit, no run ball in relief in eighth and ninth innings and Blanchard hit home ru in eighth inning, pinch hitting for pitcher Bud Daley.

Jay Carries Red's Fifth Game Hopes

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The wounded but relentless New York Yankees were 3 to 2 favorites to close out the World Series today with a decisive fourth victory over the desperate Cincinnati Reds, whose last-ditch hope was their lone series winner, strapping Joey Jay.

Jay's pitching opponent in this World Series contest, the last in cozy Crosley Field, is the same rival who bowed to the 225-pound Cincinnati right-hander in New York last Thursday, 25-year-old Ralph Terry. The Reds won that one, 6-2, behind Jay's four-hit pitching.

The weather again was expected to be as perfect as Sunday when New York's Whitey Ford surpassed Babe Ruth's 43-year-old series record for consecutive scoreless pitching innings and a bevy of other Yankees got into the act in a monotonous 7-0 shutout of the Reds. Ford now has pitched 32 runless innings, topping Ruth's old mark of 29 2-3.

If Jay should duplicate his Yankee Stadium victory the series would return to New York for a sixth game Wednesday and possibly a seventh game Thursday.

In perhaps an ironical coincidence, the series ended for Mickey Mantle and may have been decided against the Reds in the fourth inning Sunday when the ailing Yankee star stroked a screaming hit to deep left center. That set up the first Yankee run and the only one they really needed to scuttle Cincy starter Jim O'Toole.

Mantle had to leave the game after his hit, a certain two-bagger under normal conditions. It sent home run king Roger Maris, who had walked, to third, from where he scored on a double play.

Mantle now is out of the series, no matter if it goes the seven-game limit. The ugly wound on his hip where an abscess was removed 10 days ago has drastically hobbled the fleet slugger. The wound was bleeding badly when Mantle was removed for a pinch-runner following his hit.

Besides Mantle, the Yankee sick bay treatee Ford, whose right big toe was badly bruised by a foul as he batted in the sixth inning, and the peerless Yogi Berra, who was gashed above his right eye by his sunglasses when he made a fruitless try for a diving catch, also in the sixth inning.

While the Yankees are a 3 to 2 favorite to take what could be the series clincher today, the odds are 10 to 1 against the Reds making a comeback only three other clubs ever achieved in the series. Last to do it after being down 3-1 were the Yankees themselves, rallying to take the 1958 series from the Milwaukee Braves.

However, few of the 32,589 faithful fans who watched their "for real Reds" sag before the excellent pitching of Ford and Jim Coates, believed Fred Hutchinson's National League wonder team could now overtake the well-balanced Yankees.

Redleg pitching hasn't been too bad, although the Yankees clubbed O'Toole, Jim Brosnan and Bill Henry for 11 hits Sunday, but Cincinnati's own big guns have been almost completely spiked.

Ford allowed four hits in his six innings and Coates yielded only one in the three innings he worked after an emergency call from the bull pen. Ford's throbbing toe caused him to quit following Elio Chacon's inning-opening single in the sixth.

In the three previous games, the Reds had collected only 19 hits in 101 at bats. "Our big guys just aren't hitting," said Hutchinson.

Ford, a happy-go-lucky pitcher, apparently was not overly impressed in breaking Ruth's former scoreless series string of 29 2-3 innings. That mark was set in 1916 and 1918 with the Boston Red Sox before the Bambino became baseball's premier home run hitter.

"Naturally, I'm proud about pitching 32 scoreless innings," said Ford, "but this is a record only talked about during a series. It's not like Ruth's 60-homer record which Roger Maris broke this season."

It's questionable whether Ford can further extend his scoreless string in this series. If Yankee starter Terry needs help today, it may again come from Coates, Luis Arroyo or Bud Daley.

If, however, the series should switch back to New York, Ford's big toe could become a vital factor in halting any resurgence by the Reds.

Yankee Manager Ralph Houk now is on the verge of being the third rookie pilot ever to win a World Series in his first year as a big league manager. Bucky Harris as Washington's "boy wonder" boss in 1924 beat the New York Giants. Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals won in his first try in 1946 against the Boston Red Sox.

Without Mantle, the Yankee lineup today will have Maris, whose only hit in 14 at bats was a third-game homer, in center and John Blanchard taking Maris' right field post.

The financial phase of the tourney for the players ended Sunday, with a total player pool of $645,928.28. Of that amount, 70 per cent or $452,149.80 will be divided among the Yanks and Reds, with the remainder going to the second, third and fourth place teams in each league.

The winning pool is $271,289.88, about $8,000 per player for the series champion and approximately $5,200 for each player on the losing club, based on an unofficial allotment of 34 shares per team.

BIG TEN

Title Contenders Dig Into Log Jam

Associated Press Sports Writer

The best way to break up a log jam is to get right after it. That's exactly what Michigan and Michigan State are doing this weekend with the football-type jam developing in the Big Ten.

Both teams have suddenly become top-flight contenders for the Big Ten title, and also for national honors, now that Iowa, currently ranked first in The Associated Press weekly poll, and Ohio State have been proven human.

Michigan State, ranked sixth, crushed Stanford 31-3 Saturday for its second victory in as many starts, and now awaits the Wolverines, before a national television audience. Michigan wrapped up previously unbeaten Army 38-8.

Iowa skimmed by Southern California by the slimmest of margins, 35-34, while Ohio State had to buckle down to beat UCLA 13-3. Michigan State does not play either, so a victory over Michigan would put it in a good position to stay atop the conference.

Iowa, Michigan and Ohio State all must play one another, and face the possibility of killing off each other's title hopes.

That problem does not exist in the Southeastern Conference, where Alabama (3-0) leads the pack, but is pursued by Mississippi. 'Bama, ranked fourth, handed Vanderbilt its first loss 36-6 while second-ranked Ole Miss beat non-SEC foe Florida State 33-0, and has a good chance to move up to the top of the nations' powers.

Neither Alabama nor Mississippi play each other this year, and both have comparatively easy shots this week. Alabama meets North Carolina State (1-2) while Ole Miss goes against Houston.

Georgia Tech had its dreams of revival stomped on by Louisiana State 10-0, snapping a 2-0 record the Yellow Jackets had gleaned so far. Maryland popped up as the strongman to challenge Duke in the Atlantic Coast race. The Terps surprised seventh ranked Syracuse 22-21 while Duke won its third straight, 23-3 over Wake Forest.

Notre Dame proved it meant business about a comeback, beating Purdue 22-20 on a fourth-quarter field goal, and this week takes on Southern California, whose second-half drive had Iowa reeling. The Trojans lost when their pass for a two-point conversion was batted down in the final seconds.

The nation's three longest major college losing strings came to an end as West Virginia beat Virginia Tech 28-0 for its first win in 19 games, Southern Methodist won over Air Force 9-7 for its first victory in 14 games and Texas A&M broke a nine-game victory drought by beating Texas Tech 38-7.

Elsewhere, Kentucky handed Auburn its first home loss in 31 games, 14-12; Washington surprised Pitt 22-17; California held Missouri to a 14-14 tie; Colorado kept Kansas winless 20-19; Utah State and Wyoming remained deadlocked for the Skyline lead, after a 6-6 tie; Yale, the defending Ivy titlist, won its 11th in a row over two years by downing Brown 14-3, and Northwestern turned back Illinois 28-7.

Can A Steer Beat A Bronc?

Can they keep going?

This was the question Steer football fans were asking Monday after the plucky Steers had turned in their fourth victory of the season and their first 2-AAAA conference win in history in defeating Midland Lee.

The lads had the answer for the question. They are confident they can.

Reports from Odessa indicated an easy confidence there that the Bronc's will snuff out the Steer fire, although Bronc coach Lacy Turner indicated the Steers might prove troublesome.

"They're wound up tightly and like to lay the wood to people," observed Turner of the Steers. "We understand it is one of the hardest hitting teams in Big Spring history."

SIBLEY REPORTS

Pleased with the showing of the lightweight Big Spring team thus far, Coach Emmett McKenzie had his staff in session Monday morning with Joe Sibley, who has been scouting the Bronchos all season.

Against Abilene Cooper last week the Odessa did not exhibit too much punch, although it did demonstrate a wallop on the pitchouts. Thurber appeared stopped when he lateralled to Martin Benavidez, who scooted 28 yards to score the first of three Odessa TDs. A similar play set up another tally, Odessa connected with but one pass, but this 14-yarder from Benavidez to Rose was good for a touchdown. In all, Odessa piled up 268 yards against Cooper.

STINGY DEFENSE

On the other hand, Cooper could manage but 112 yards against the stingy Odessa defense, and 48 yards of this came through the air. Don Wofford, M. J. Cox, Butch Allen, Larry Goodson and Walter Jordon were credited with completely stifling the Cooper running game.

Larry Jernigan, Odessa senior quarterback who has been out with injuries, was due to begin heavy workouts today. However, Turner indicated it was doubtful that he would see action against Big Spring except to place kick.

Jerry Tucker, Big Spring's ace quarterback, got an ankle injury in the Midland Lee game, but he was able to play part of the last half and should be ready for the game in Odessa Friday evening. Otherwise the Steers continued to look in pretty good condition physically. Mentally, they could hardly have a better attitude, for their team effort has carried them a long way. More than anything else, this hornet's-nest spirit was credited with repulsing every Midland threat that came near the goal line.

Craigs Win C-C Tourney

Bill Craig and Callie Craig of Colorado City captured the first couples tournament honors at Big Spring Country Club Sunday. They came home with 139, three strokes out in front.

The event, which drew 40 teams (80 players) was regarded as so successful that there was general agreement that it should be made an annual affair.

Contestants were here from San Angelo, Colorado City, Tahoka, Midland Country Club and Midland Ranchland Hills.

Son Powell and Margie Ramsey took second prize with 142.

A third place tie between the Jack Cook - Marguerite Schwarzenbach and the Kent Morgan-Jerri Hewitt teams was settled by a playoff in which the Cook-Schwarzenbach combination prevailed. The two teams had each fired a 143 combined score.

Fifth place went to Jack Wallace and Elsia Turner with 144. Trophies were awarded to each member of the winning teams.

Women Golfers Ready For Play

The local women's tournament, open to any fem golfer in this area, is set for Oct. 18 at the Big Spring Country Club, and a big field is in prospect.

The affair will be preceded by a coffee at the club house, and play will get underway at 9 a.m. Honors will be decided on the basis of 18 holes of play.

Three Big Spring women, Jodie Sabbato, Carrie McGee and Marguerite Schwarzenbach, are due to participate in this week - long Midland Women's Invitational tourney this week.

Hornung Puts Power In Packer Drive

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Versatile Paul Hornung, Green Bay's perpetual man-in-motion and a rarity among pro specialists with his triple threat abilities, is putting the power in the Packers' drive to retain their Western Conference title in the National Football League.

The 25 - year - old former Notre Dame star had his best day in the play-for-pay ranks Sunday when he scored 33 points on four touchdowns, a field goal and six conversions in Green Bay's 45-7 romp over the Baltimore Colts.

Hornung, who set an NFL scoring record with 176 points during the 1960 campaign that swept the Packers to the top in the West, has amassed 64 points in the first four games this season.

The Green Bay victory, coupled with San Francisco's 35-0 thumping of Los Angeles, broke a four-way tie for first place in the Western sector and left the Packers and 49ers at the head of the class with 3-1 records.

Four teams remained tied for first in the East with 3-1 marks as Cleveland beat Washington 31-7 Philadelphia's league champion Eagles defeated Pittsburgh 21-16, New York whipped St. Louis 24-9 and Dallas downed Minnesota 28-0. Chicago moved up in the West by blasting Detroit 31-17.

Hornung broke Don Hutson's club record of 31 points set in 1945 by scoring on runs of 54, 1 and 10 yards, taking an eight-yard pitch from Bart Starr for another TD, kicking a 38-yard field goal and the half dozen extra points. The field goal sent the Packers in front to stay 10-7 in the second quarter.

Lenney Moore, league scoring leader last week with 42 points, plunged a yard for the Colts' (2-2) only touchdown as the Packers defense smothered Baltimore's offensive thrusts by intercepting five Johnny Unitas pitches and another by sub quarterback Lamar McHan.

American League Teams Walk Tight Rope Weekly

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

American Football League coaches know by now what it means to walk the tight rope—they do it every Sunday.

Since Oakland settled down and started playing football the AFL games have been as close as a glued toupee. The widest margin has been 14 points but more often it has been from two to seven.

San Diego, the only unbeaten team left in the league, has been escaping the real close ones but the margin wasn't exactly comfortable last week as the Chargers beat Boston 38-27 to stay firmly on top of the Western Division.

Jack Kemp had to give one of his patented performances in order for the Chargers to whip the tenacious Patriots. Kemp, who was used sparingly when he was in the National League but has been a workhorse with San Diego, passed for three touchdowns.

The most shocking note of the weekend was defending champion Houston's third straight defeat. The Oilers took a 22-12 trimming from Buffalo and plunged into the cellar of the Eastern Division, two games away from the leader, New York.

A fugitive from the National League and a fellow who turned on his old teammates proved to be the combination that knocked over Houston. Warren Rabb, who started in the NFL with Detroit last season, got in for the first time with Buffalo and proceeded to pilot the Bills to victory. His 13-yard touchdown pass to Perry Richards, waived by Houston three weeks ago, was the clincher.

Dallas hung in there with a 19-12 triumph over Denver. The Texans strengthened their second place spot in the Western Division when they ran up 19 points and then beat off a Denver rally that netted two touchdowns in the final period.

Denver beat itself at the start—Al Frazier fumbled the opening kickoff and Dallas got the ball on the Bronco 19. The Texans soon had a touchdown and were ahead to stay. Jack Spikes' 21-yard field goal and a 24-yard touchdown shot from Cotton Davidson to Chris Burford clinched it up for the Texans. Frank Tripucka passed for both Denver scores.

Division leaders clash in this week's biggest game as San Diego meets New York at New York Sunday. Oakland will be at Denver and Dallas at Buffalo in other Sunday encounters. Houston plays at Boston Friday night.

LOOKING EM' OVER

By TOMMY HART

Has it occurred to most football buffs here that Emmett McKenzie has now evened his Big Spring coaching record at seven wins and seven losses?

The Steers opened with three straight wins in 1960, then dropped seven in a row. This year, they've won four in succession.

* * *

Jerry Tucker, the Steers' ace quarterback, suffered a pinch nerve just below the knee he has been favoring when felled in the Midland Lee game last weekend.

He went back into the fray but wasn't at his best. He got hit while in the act of cutting. Coaches think they can get him ready for that big test with Odessa High Friday night, barring another injury.

Tucker's alternate, Rickey Wisener, did very well under fire. In a way, it was very gratifying to coaches and fans alike to see Rick get in as much playing time as he did.

Wisener, who is a junior, was cool when the heat was on. He has Tucker's very positive approach toward football and should be outstanding in 1962.

* * *

Midland Lee wasn't any tougher than the local coaches had anticipated but, in the words of McKenzie, "we didn't do as good a job of defensing as we though we should have."

Lee was making most of its early yardage on a fullback trap, at which time Big Spring was stunting its defense. The Steers adjusted well later in the game, however, to improve on their amazing defensive record (that of allowing only six points in four games).

* * *

Don Weems, the Lee scatback, almost got away for a TD late in the second quarter of the game when he cut back after attaining the line and rolled all the way to the Steer seven from the Big Spring 41.

A flag was thrown on the play when a Big Spring lineman jumped off sides and the Steer defenders were slow to realize that the play hadn't been whistled dead, which is the reason they relaxed their defenses.

The Lee halfbacks proved hard to hold all night. The Rebels appear capable of giving both Abilene Cooper and Midland High a run for the money.

* * *

The victory over Lee was, of course, 'big' in a lot of respects but mainly due to the fact that it removed a mental block with the local team. Twenty-two games is a long time to go without a victory and the athletes naturally were apprehensive until their luck changed.

It may be a more relaxed and self-assured Big Spring club that takes the field in the future.

Following the contest, McKenzie met with Duane Grissett, the Lee coach, and Grissett remarked:

"Our mistakes really cost us."

Misplays have hurt Lee all fall. The local coaches had expected Lee to make them and Big Spring to capital on them.

* * *

Dexter Pate was pulled out of the line to punt the last time Big Spring called the play Friday night because he had been getting more distance kicking into the wind than the other Big Spring punters.

Jack Irons has developed into a masterful quick kicker, getting fine yardage from most of his boots. One went 70 yards and fell dead on Lee's ten-yard line the other night.

Texas Favored Over Winless Oklahoma

DALLAS (AP) — Oklahoma has lost two games and will be winless for the season when it comes here Saturday to play Texas. It is the first time since 1922 for Oklahoma to have lost two games before meeting its deepest football rival.

But do you think that will detract from the game the Longhorns and Sooners will stage in the Cotton Bowl?

Shucks, it wouldn't make any difference in the crowd for this game if both had lost all and were going to play it in a cow pasture.

So, for the sixteenth straight year the big saucer will be filled to overflowing. All tickets were sold two months ago. And what about the game? Texas obviously will be the favorite. It has won three straight by top-heavy scores, beating California 38-3, Texas Tech 42-14 and Washington State 41-8. It has what some speculate will be the best team in history at Texas. At least the backfield has more top players than ever before, featuring Jim Saxton, the wild runner, and Mike Cotten, a talented quarterback.

Oklahoma lost to Notre Dame 19-6 and to Iowa State 21-15. It just hasn't looked anything like those teams of a few years ago that were walloping Texas regularly and winning national championships.

Baylor and Texas are the only undefeated teams left in the conference and each is thinking about a championship. Baylor will have to beat Arkansas Saturday to get the point across.

Texas Christian and Texas Tech will take out their mad on each other in the other conference test on the schedule for the week.

Rice hosts unbeaten Florida.

Texas A&M, which opened the conference race by winning its first championship test in 14 efforts, will be in San Antonio playing independent Trinity.

DUCATS HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Fans will have a chance to gobble up tickets to the game with Odessa High in Odessa Friday night when they go on sale here Wednesday at the school business office.

Don Crockett said Odessa was sending over 1,200 adult and 1,000 student tickets. If last week is a criterion, they won't last. Crockett said the office sold 996 adults (probably a hundred or more got tickets Friday night at Midland) and 562 students, a total of 1,558.

Clay Requests Johansson Bout

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—With Alex Miteff out of the way, Olympic champion Cassius Clay says he has asked for a match with former heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson.

Backing up Clay's claim was fight promoter Bill King who said, "we have offered Johansson $100,000 to meet Clay within 90 days.

"We think Johansson would be an easier fight than Miteff," Clay said. The 19-year-old Clay scored a technical knockout over Miteff in 1:45 of the sixth round in a nationally televised boxing match Saturday.

Heads Agency

Dr. Sigvard Eklund, of Sweden, new director-general of the International Atomic Energy agency, was sworn in despite Soviet opposition. The chief Soviet delegate to the 76-nation agency left the organization's meeting in Vienna in a protest against the inauguration of Dr. Eklund.

3 Factions In Laos Fuss Over Cabinet

HIN HEUP, Laos (AP) — The three factions of Laos wrangled today over a Cabinet for neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, named premier in an agreement reducing the prospect of new fighting in the jungle kingdom.

Souvanna Phouma, 60, a Paris-educated former premier backed by the Soviet bloc, personally announced the agreement reached Sunday by himself, pro-Western Premier Prince Boun Oum and Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Red Pathet Lao.

The other two princes stood beside Souvanna during the announcement, made at the negotiations tent at this village on the cease-fire line 50 miles north of Vientiane, administrative capital of Laos.

Agreement on Souvanna had long been expected. But it represented a major concession by Boun Oum's U.S.-backed regime, which had been demanding that King Savang Vathana be presented a list of several candidates for the premiership of the coalition government. The Pathet Lao in turn withdrew its demand that the king be handed a full cabinet slate and left the division of seats to the hard bargaining still ahead.

Souvanna Phouma commissioned the other two princes to call on the king today at Luang Prabang, the royal capital, and to seek a Tuesday audience for him. Royal approval of his designation as premier is considered a certainty.

The neutralists and the Pathet Lao claimed agreement had been reached for Souvanna's group to get eight Cabinet posts and supporters of Boun Oum and Souphanouvong four each. However, a spokesman for Boun Oum said the Vientiane government wants the posts divided among leftists, rightists and neutralists, not among the personal followings of the princes. The pro-Western faction considers Souvanna Phouma leftist rather than truly neutral.

Despite the unsettled issues, the agreement on Souvanna Phouma eased considerably the apprehension here that new fighting might flare with the end of the rainy season in a few weeks.

In Geneva, Western sources expressed hope the agreement would help end the deadlock in the five-month East-West conference there on Laos.

Life Savings

Mrs. Knut Ahlbers poses with a bundle of money—$16,900 in life savings—which was stolen from her husband last June in Sweden and returned to the couple by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The husband, too ill to participate in the money return ceremony in Washington, was visiting Sweden to consider purchasing a home when the money was stolen. Stockholm police recovered the money and asked the FBI to return it to the Ahlbers.

Talk About Berlin

President Kennedy sits in his favorite rocker as he talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko who arrived at the White House in Washington, D. C., for a discussion of the Berlin situation. After a two hour conference Gromyko described the parley as "useful." Secretary Rusk, who also attended, said the meeting "was interesting, but that's all you can say about it." The talks were in the President's study in the Oval Room on the second floor of the White House living quarters.

Brandt Hails U. S. Attitude

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt said today the American people are solidly backing their government's determination to keep West Berlin free.

Reporting on his two-day visit to New York, Brandt emphasized that "rarely has the U.S. government committed itself so irrevocably than on the issue of freedom of West Berlin."

Americans are determined to defend West Berlin because they know that Berlin isn't the only issue at stake, he told a news conference. He said Americans as a whole—the men in the street he met—are solidly behind the U.S. government's determined stand on Berlin.

While in New York to receive a Freedom House award, Brandt also talked with President Kennedy on the telephone. He refused to give details of their conversation, saying they had an exchange of thoughts and the President congratulated him on the speech he delivered when he received the award.

CRITICAL

Brandt was critical of the many voices now expressing views on Berlin and Germany.

"The trend to discuss in public all the facets of the Berlin and German situation is, I think, not in the interest of the West," he said.

The disclosure of possible Western concessions in Berlin weakens the Western position at the conference table with the Soviets, the mayor declared.

Communist border police showed fresh belligerence Sunday night by firing on four West Berliners after feigning an escape attempt. Two West Berliners were believed captured in the phony maneuver; the other two escaped unhurt.

The two who got away said they were lured to the barbed wire barricade in a wooded area of the American sector by Red guards who gave the impression they wanted to flee to the West. When the West Berliners tried to open a gap in the fence, the guards opened fire.

REPLACEMENTS

Seeking to quiet press criticism of the replacement of U.S. combat troops along the East Berlin wall by military policemen, the U.S. command in Berlin said the police were "experienced specialists" in border duty replacing younger and relatively less experienced combat troops.

"Our combat troops are always on the alert," a U.S. spokesman said. "If necessary they can be brought to any point of the border within a few minutes."

Two visiting U.S. senators had reassuring words for the West Berliners.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., told them West Berlin would emerge from the present crisis with its freedom "not only guaranteed but strengthened."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said U.S. policy remained "to honor to the letter our commitments on the security and freedom of Berlin, on the non-recognition of the East German regime, and on not making the Bonn government deal with the regime."

East Berliners were told by visiting Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan that the West German government will have to recognize the Communist East German regime.

"Bonn will be forced to accept it by reality," he declared.

Mikoyan said that Moscow is "not in a hurry, but now we do not want to dealy the conclusion of a (German) peace treaty any longer."

Study Ordered

AUSTIN (AP) — The Legislative Council has ordered a study of Texas' election laws.

The 11 surveys ordered by the council were picked from a list of 25 requested by the legislature in resolutions.

Take-Over Due

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government is reported moving to take over completely the already almost-nationalized electric power industry.

Before Blast

Flames and black smoke billow from the wreckage of a propane gas truck on U.S. Highway 62 near Princeton, Ky., moments before is exploded and hurled the blazing 8,000-gallon tank an estimated half mile. The driver escaped injury and there were no serious injuries reported, but some bystanders were singed in the heat of the blast. The truck caught fire after it swerved to avoid another vehicle and ran off the road.

A Devotional for Today

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits. (Psalms 103:2.)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we gratefully acknowledge Thy love and goodness toward us. Graciously Thou hast supplied our daily needs. Day by day Thou hast preserved us from destruction and been our strength. We thank Thee, in Christ's name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Studying Retirement Income

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., is only being realistic when he begins a series of hearings of his subcommittee on retirement income in his own state. The first two sessions will be held in St. Petersburg on Oct. 9 and in Sarasota on Oct. 11.

Florida is a logical starting place because in the past decade the increase in retirement population in that state has been 132 per cent, as against 35 per cent in the nation as a whole. One out of every five Floridians today is 65 years of age or older. This is an exaggeration of course of a national trend.

The reason for the new concern for the aged and aging is more than humanitarian. For one thing, potential voting power of the aged has nearly doubled in the past 40 years. Eleven states, including Florida, now contain nearly 60 per cent of the total 65-plus population. Oldsters form the most powerful single lobby in some of these states. Old age pensions tend to become sacrosanct subjects when the legislators meet.

And when pensions, Social Security benefits, and private retirement payments are combined, the 65-plus group looks to be a pretty influential economic bloc, too. That's one of the reasons, naturally, that housing especially designed for older persons has become so abundant in Florida and California and other so-called retirement states, and is becoming such a topic for consideration elsewhere.

Free Mailing Privilege

One of the less commendable acts of Congress was its last - minute passage of legislation that will give senators and representatives almost unlimited free mailing privileges. As a result of this provision, members of Congress will be able to deluge voters with a greater flood of electioneering propaganda than ever before—at the voters' expense.

It does not follow that all those who hold office in the Seanate or House will take full advantage of this political bonanza. Some, more conscious than others of their obligation to spend public funds in the public interest, will continue to exercise a judicious restraint.

But it is a fair guess that an enormous bulk of self-serving printed matter will be winging its way to the electorate via Uncle Sam's tireless couriers. And no more than a pinch of political acuity is required to see that around campaign time the arrival of the word according to this or that legislator is going to reach blizzard proportions.

Voters are not without recourse. The incoming mail will tell them who is too flagrantly using the franking privilege for his own advancement.

David Lawrence

Courts Could Clarify The Issue

WASHINGTON—Loud are the laments from different groups throughout the country that Congress failed to provide the billions of dollars advocated by President Kennedy for federal aid to education.

The President is blamed for lack of aggressive leadership or for compromising with opponents or for inept handling of the legislation by his own party. Factionalism in Congress itself is blamed for the use of various parliamentary procedures to block passage. The religious issue is blamed as a disruptive influence. Opponents of federal subsidies are blamed. Also, many who harbored doubts about loading the Treasury with an annual commitment for any field as big as education have gladly accepted some of the responsibility for the defeat of the measure.

BUT THE SAD FACT remains that education in America is in need of more funds—better teachers and better buildings. Whether all the states need federal aid or some of them can do the job themselves may be debated. Because of the varying conditions throughout the country, the average man finds it difficult to get a clear idea of just what ought or ought not to be done by the federal government.

The most recent excuse for federal aid is national defense. What is done in the Soviet Union is being held up constantly as something to be paralleled. Much money is evidently spent there for training engineers and technicians. On the theory that Soviet Russia is a potential enemy, the argument is made by spokesmen for educational organizations that to give a better education to American citizens is somehow wrapped up in national defense. It's a convenient device in politics. So measures that are designed to help education are put into bills given such names as the National Defense Education Act.

But the trouble with such a broad classification is that it runs into the religious issue. Higher institutions which need laboratories for scientists or scholarships for talented students in economic or scientific fields have been awarded federal money irrespective of whether those same institutions are operated by churches. The Kennedy administration says this is constitutional.

WHAT IS HARD to understand, however, is why, if a Catholic boy is supposed subsequently to enlist and defend his country in war, he should be helped in his education at the elementary-school level only if he keeps out of a parochial school. He must give up the religious education he wants in order to get the benefits of federal money granted to public elementary schools. This is widely criticized as reducing the doctrine of separation of church and state to an absurdity.

Literally, the Constitution says that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion." Some argue that this means no law should ever be passed that deals with any religious institution in any respect whatsoever. If this be true, then the alibi of national defense is ineffectual and no money can constitutionally be appropriated by Congress for higher institutions or elementary schools or anything else if they have the slightest connection with a church.

BUT THERE ARE SOME passages in Supreme Court decisions which cast doubt on this doctrine. Each side quotes the passages that seem to support its own view. The truth is that the decisions are not clear. The Supreme Court of the United States has never, for instance, ruled that a federal loan to help a church construct a school building is unconstitutional or that a federal loan covering a mortgage on a home for a Catholic citizen is unconstitutional when he engages a private tutor to come to that same home to teach his children the Catholic religion.

Obviously there is need for a clear-cut ruling by the Supreme Court of the United States which will remove all legal doubt as to whether any federal money can be used, directly or indirectly, for any college, high school or elementary school run by a church or whether federal funds may be used for any and all educational purposes except the actual teaching of a religious creed.

IT CAN CERTAINLY decide whether federal money can be withheld from institutions that do teach religion in their school buildings even though the money obtained from the federal government is intended, not for the propagation of any religious belief, but just for such inanimate objects as brick and mortar and perhaps even for physical facilities to insure good health for American children in congested school areas.

If Congress would leave it to the courts to decide the extent to which the teaching of religion bars the use of state or federal funds for a college or high school or elementary school that isn't under public control, then the passage—on its merits—of an all-inclusive bill to foster education in America could be made easier. There is nothing in the rulebook that says members of Congress must possess the legal background of court justices to enable them to resolve constitutional questions before voting for legislation.

Roving Cabbage Grove

PERRY, Fla. (AP) — When the county school board recently tried to sell the Cabbage Grove school, it found the building was half a mile from the land it was supposed to be on.

Nobody knew how the miscalculation was made 50 years ago when the school was built, but it delayed the board's move to sell the building.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A bus driver reports the ultimate in precautions against absentmindedness — a lady who climbed aboard with her fare token pinned to the finger of her glove.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Three little Pigg children went to court and had their name changed to Bond. Their parents said that was all right with them, but they weren't going to change their names.

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — City manager Joe Parris received an envelope from a woman asking that her magazine subscription be stopped. He surmised she had enclosed the wrong letter in the envelope. Now, he wonders what the magazine company will do with her problem with the city.

New Income Tax Form Is Readable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam has unveiled the new, simplified, two-page form 1040 to be used in paying the tax on this year's individual incomes.

It presents the best effort of the Internal Revenue Service to use plain English instead of legalistic gobbledegook, and it eliminates one tax form entirely—the old 1040W.

The new form is printed on better paper in bigger type. It will arrive in December in a revised 1961 instruction book.

Here is an example of the difference:

THE FIRST question on the 1961 form will say simply: "1. Wages, salaries, tips, etc., and excess of allowances over business expenses."

On the form for 1960 the same line read:

"1. Enter all wages, salaries, bonuses, commissions, tips, and other compensation before payroll deductions (including any excess of expense account or similar allowance paid by your employer over your ordinary and necessary business expenses. See instructions, pp. 5-6.)"

IRS Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin, who promised Congress when he took office that he'd try to make the annual struggle with tax forms easier on taxpayers, told a news conference:

"As long as the tax form has to mirror the tax laws, we cannot have complete simplification. But we think the great bulk of people can be better served with this new basic two-page form."

THE NEW 1040 is for taxpayers whose income came from salaries and wages and who did not receive more than $200 of dividends and interest.

The old form 1040A, the punch card form, continues to be available for those with less than $10,000 total income. It has been only slightly revised.

Taxpayers who have more than $200 of income from dividends, or interest or who have income from farming, partnerships, businesses, annuities or capital gains must use additional "schedules," attaching them to the new 1040.

One feature of the new form gives Caplin particular pride, he indicated; the entire tax computation has been brought to the first page of the return, eliminating the need for taxpayers to flip pages back and forth while carrying numbers in their heads.

Eliminated also is the question whether you owed any federal tax for previous years. "We have that information," Caplin said.

All About Colds And Such

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The common cold, which costs industry $5 billion a year, is still one of mankind's greatest medical mysteries. It is responsible for 30 per cent of all our missed days from work.

Hippocrates, the father of medicine, thought the common cold started in the brain. Some scientists today deny there even is such a disease. Others hold it is caused by from one to 50 different viruses.

But most doctors say: "There is no known cure for the common cold except rest and time." Most victims will agree.

Prosperity note: The more we earn, the more we owe. Americans today owe more than $196 billion on the installment plan.

A Tibetan school child never gets spanked for sticking out his tongue at teacher. In Tibet that's the way you show respect for a superior. Try it with your boss—and see what happens!

Highway sign: "Danger: To touch these wires means instantaneous death. Anyone caught doing so will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

Literary note: More books have been written about the American Civil War than about any other subject except religion.

Our quotable notables: "The United States never lost a war or won a conference"—Will Rogers.

Machine age on the farm: In 1860 it took the labor of eight farmers to feed and clothe 10 families—their own and two others. Today a mere 12 per cent of our working population (instead of 80 per cent) are engaged in agriculture. A dozen men now raise more than enough to provide for 100 people.

Your eyes are the busiest visible parts of your body. In a single year they move up, down, or sideways some 36 million times. And you blink your eyes about 84 million times. If you are normal, you blinked as you read that.

Hints for dieters: You can pep up your meals with a portion of rattlesnake steak, only 200 calories. Five baked grasshoppers, 225 calories. Or a small serving of hippopotamus milk, 80 calories. All these foods are chockfull of vitamins, and none is habit-forming.

Historical oddity: The only U.S. President who composed his own epitaph omitted mention of his White House tenure. He wrote: "Here was buried Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of American Independence, of the Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom, and father of the University of Virginia."

Worth remembering: "The faster we go the more behind we get."

Facts to file and forget: The sun weighs about two billion billion billion tons. The world still has more than 400 active volcanoes. The cricket can throw its "voice"—like a ventriloquist.

Thought of the week: "Baseball honors its no-hit pitchers. Why shouldn't we do as much for our no-hit motorists?"

If science could just figure a way to cross-breed chickens and queen ants, breakfast might be cheaper. A queen ant lays up to 100 eggs a day.

The theory has been advanced that a skilled heavyweight boxing champion could whip a gorilla. But none has volunteered to try. The truth: A fullgrown male gorilla has the strength of 10 average men.

It was John B. S. Haldane who observed, "I've never met a healthy person who worried much about his health, or a good person who worried much about his soul."

Brown Skin Spots Appear With Age

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Quite a lot of people have sought answers to the questions contained in the following letter:

"Dear Sir: Is there any known cause, preventive or cure for brown spots which begin to appear on the face, backs of the hands and arms as one grows older?—Mrs. M. R."

Some readers come right out and call them "age spots." And I suppose I could refer to them by a high-sounding scientific term if it would do anybody any good. Nevertheless, they're still spots.

They are akin to freckles but they aren't exactly freckles.

The brown spots are the result of changes of the pigment, or coloring, in the skin. The cells may be dormant for many years, and then take on this brown color as we get older. In other instances, their appearance is provoked or accelerated by exposure to sun and wind—which, of course, is true of freckles, too.

There is this difference. Freckles are most likely to appear in redheads. The brown spots are more common in brunets.

There isn't any treatment, other than the use of cosmetics to cover up the spots, if one considers them that important. It's just a matter of certain skins having this characteristic.

However, one happy thought occurs to me: The spots are not of any significance, healthwise, and when people begin worrying about them, I can usually say to myself, "Well, here's somebody who doesn't have any serious health worries." For, human nature being what it is, we don't fret about the unimportant things if we are absorbed in serious ones.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I read your booklet, How To Stop Sinus Trouble, but in no way did it pertain to me. (To receive a copy, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents in coin.) My nose is running constantly. I would not think of leaving the house for any length of time without a good supply of hankies. Please answer how to control or cure such a condition. —V. L."

Treatment for sinus isn't much good unless you first have the trouble. And from your brief description your case sounds very much more like allergic rhinitis.

This is a perfect example of why I preach so constantly the rule that correct diagnosis is the foundation of all good medical care. Relief isn't going to begin until after the first vital step has been taken—finding out definitely what the trouble is and if an allergy, the nature of the offending material.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Our three-year-old son has always had excessive saliva. Whenever he talks he spits out the words. From this drooling his shirts are gray. We always figured it as teething, but now his teeth have come through. —B. M."

Other than teething, or sheer excessive production of saliva, the main causes that occur to me are: 1—A sort of don't-care attitude. Ordinarily we swallow excess saliva; 2—There's a remote possibility that the child has some difficulty in swallowing. This should be noticeable in other ways, too, if present.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any cure for bed-wetting in a teenage boy? It never happens in summer when the weather is warm, or even in winter if he is kept very warm. Is it kidney trouble? Is it a nervous condition? Would consulting a doctor help?—A. M."

Since it doesn't happen regularly, there's no reason to think it is kidney or bladder trouble. Nor is it likely to be a nervous condition, unless he has a particular reaction to being chilled. He should and can, I believe, learn to control this situation. Your doctor might, after some discussion, have some more specific suggestions.

The First Or The Last?

This and That:

One of the most enduring arguments I ever heard concerned the Sabbath day, whether Sunday is the first or seventh day of the week.

Chances are, if you get any three peo'e together, you can start a discussion that will continue from now on simply by raising the question.

The good book, of course, backs up the argument that the Sabbath is the seventh day of the week. It reads "And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made."

Those insisting that Sunday is the first rather than the seventh day of the week point to the calendar to back them up.

Then, too, there are those who insist that an individual needs to rest at least a day before they are called upon to put in six days of toil.

IT'LL SOON be possible for the nation's fishermen to buy 'instant bait.'

The latest in lures consists of flavorimp'egnated bits of cellulose sponge.

Taking advantage of the fish's sense of smell, the concoctions consist of ground-up squid, clams, sea worms, minnows, nightcrawlers and shrimp.

The bits of sponge, soaked in the juice, are dried out and become effective bait when dropped in the water on the end of a hook.

AN ATLANTA doctor, Geoffrey H. Bourne, says that probably no one ever really died of 'old age.'

Organs in humans do not wear out equally at the same time, he states. One part or another of the body breaks down, adds he, and becomes vulnerable to disease. Nature, in her wisdom, made the heart the most resistant to aging inroads. According to the Georgia physician, the age changes in the heart muscle fibres appear to be negligible yet, ironically, heart disease is the leading cause of death in most adult age groups.

Mati Hari? Heavens No, It's Too Deep

At my age, I should be flattered that anyone confuses me with Mati Hari. And it is probably a sign of our nervous times that already a half-dozen correspondents have written to upbraid me for "revealing the secrets of Oak Ridge."

In the first place, let me assure the vigilantes that during my pleasant visit to Oak Ridge I was not shown a single, solitary secret or anything that the enemy hasn't known for ages. And, in the second place, it humiliates me to confess that in that great nuclear installation of Uncle Sam's, everything is so far over my head that if every secret had been laid bare, I would be incapable of passing it on to Peter Lorre.

IT WAS ALL I could do to hang on going around the corners when distinguished scientists, such as Alvin M. Weinberg, director of the Oak Ridge Laboratory, explained, in works of one syllable, the most open goings - on at this Tennessee enclave. My Phi Beta Kappa key doesn't rattle in that league.

Just how far science has leap-frogged and outstripped my generation in the past 20 years was bleakly demonstrated when a distinguished biologist at Oak Ridge, trying to explain to me the work of his department, said, "Biology today isn't just cutting up earthworms. It involves the most advanced kind of physics and chemistry imaginable."

I was too humiliated to tell him that I had never even cut up an earthworm. I dared not reveal that all I know about genetics is that if you cross pink sweetpeas with white rabbits, in a few generations you get polka-dot rabbits—or is it pied sweetpeas?

My alarmed critics remind me of an uneasy experience during World War II, when I was sent by an editor to describe the wonders of the Chrysler tank plant and the Ford operations at Willow Run.

DURING MY DAYS in Detroit, Edsel Ford was kind enough to talk with me. The conversation got around to that seventh wonder of the military world, the jeep. Ford picked up from his desk an auto trade paper, for sale on any newsstand in Detroit and other auto centers, thumbed through the magazine and read to me, with considerable pride, the number of jeeps the industry had turned out during the previous week.

That figure was included in the series of articles out of Detroit. No sooner was the figure published than the War Department called from Washington to demand of my editor how I had come by such a figure, so valuable to the enemy, and why he had dared print it.

Naturally, I was hailed into the editor's office and asked to explain. When I said the figure was carried in a trade paper, available to anyone and read to me by Edsel Ford, who confirmed same, no more was heard from the War Department.

BUT FOR WHAT comfort it will give the general public, let me say that any secret process or installations at Oak Ridge are under vigilant guard right around the clock.

All persons who work in the installations must wear an identifying badge. That is carefully scrutinized by guards posted at gates that lead, for instant, into the atomic reactors. I was given such a badge. Although I was accompanied by Oak Ridge VIPs, every badge was carefully examined by guards.

"These guards are vigilant" one of my escorts said. "If they let anyone through no matter who, without proper credentials, they're laid off for a week without pay. If it happens a second time, they're fired.

"These guards are all talented Tennessee squirrel hunters. All they do is sit at those gates day and night with their itchy ol' trigger fingers on their guns."

Betwixt And Between On Leadership

LONDON, England — They're either too young or too old! The wartime lament of the girls-we-left-behind-us is now the postwar wail of the Western front—of the English-speaking public opinion in Europe, which is the real shield for our lives and liberties. The traveler on his fourth trip to Europe in roughly a twelvemonth hears it, reads it, senses it. The old leaders are gone or going, and the young President has not found his legs.

Quo vadis? Where are you going, Mr. President? For a man who won the White House on the motto of "move forward" and who thrilled the Free World with his early utterances, it is bad enough that his European image should, in the 10th month of 1961, be shaped like a very dim question mark. Worse, the only world leader born in the 20th century, is by this hour in Europe the spirit of Things Past.

THE SEEMING turnabout is all too easily explained. This time last year, Candidate Kennedy had found and was exploiting the answer to Republican charges and public questioning about his youth and inexperience. He told his interviewers and audiences that he represented the hereditary Democratic line of Chief Executives going back from Truman, F. D. Roosevelt, and Wilson to Jackson and Jefferson. He taunted Nixon with being the tail end of the sorry procession from Harding and Coolidge, back to Taft and McKinley. The trouble is, that Mr. Kennedy, having no policy of his own, clings to these—and they all belong to the sterile past. They provide no answer, no leadership for the flaming and fissionable matters of today.

AT THIS WRITING the British newsstands are enlivened by the visage, the millinery, the coiffure, the costumes and the social graces of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy. The winsome First Lady is a sight to gladden the heart of man, and few red-blooded American males will ever tire of her pictures. But she is an undeniable distraction to the concentrated attention which should always be bent upon the President.

This is more true in England and West Europe than it is back home. When the President and Mrs. Kennedy passed through the allied capitals on their way to meet Khrushchev in Vienna, he made so little impression that all eyes turned upon her. The result was that the momentous journey to the two-man Summit meeting gained an air of chic and bon vivant which still lingers.

THEN THERE are the numerous trial balloonists who take to the air with Administration messages, quickly disavowed if they prove unpopular. It is all very well for Sen. Mansfield to call it a personal opinion when he plunks for recognition of Red Germany. But Mansfield is majority leader of the Senate. His opinions cannot be private and quarantined. Humphrey is too well known as an administration stalwart and White House habitue to be able to make independent observations on nuclear disarmament. Sen. Fulbright, chairman of Foreign Relations, is the nearest thing the U.S.A. has ever had to being a British-type "foreign minister." No amount of verbal dissociation gives him leave to write an article in "Foreign Affairs," a semi-official periodical, and not have it considered to be a quasi-official policy.

MACMILLAN, Adenauer and De Gaulle are too old, and Mr. Kennedy has not yet proved himself old enough. One danger, as Englishmen tell it, is that some unknown leader of suitable maturity and toughness is likely to jump into the Western vacuum. Not long ago, Sir Roy Welensky, Premier of Northern Rhodesia, was asked at the London Airport who he thought he was.

"I'm half-Polish, half-Jewish, and one hundred per cent British," Sir Roy snapped at the reporter. "Now, what the devil are you?"

Some such man as this, with positive opinions, may come along to fill the vacuum.

YALE, Okla. (AP) — Eight-year-old Berry Hunter wound up with a swift kick when he chased a slick chick.

Berry was trying to chase down a lost chick and return it to the brood. But as he was about to sneak up on the chicken through tall grass, he inadvertently slipped up on a horse. The surprised horse responded with a kick that sent Berry head over heels.

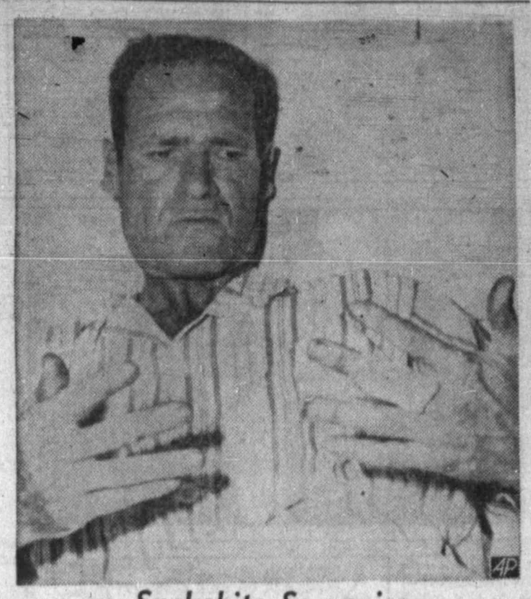

The chick took off — and Berry was taken to a hospital for treatment of head and face lacerations.

But when Thompson returned a short time later with a rattlesnake bite on the right hand, the doctor rushed him to the Stanley County Hospital at Albemarle, N. C. Thompson, who came upon the snakes separately and by chance in a rural area of Montgomery County, says "The copperhead hurt worse."

Weather Science Called Primitive

ROME (AP) — The science of weather is as primitive today as astronomy was before the days of Sir Isaac Newton (1642-1727), the experts have agreed.

Climatologists ending an international conference here seemed to agree that no one knows the laws of climate. Science is a long way from controlling weather and weathermen can't forecast more than a few days at a time.

Reginald C. Sutcliffe, research director of the British Meteorological Service at Berkshire, was among several specialists who summed up theory during the six-day symposium.

"Climatology," he said, "is now in the same stage as pre-Newtonian astronomy—the period when man could observe what the stars were doing but could not understand why."

Newton's discovery of the law of gravitation told science that all bodies of matter are attracted to each other—stars as well as atoms.

Sutcliffe said the ideal goal was to discover the laws of climate. When every possible piece of variable data can be gathered and fed into computors, he said, a mathematical model of the earth could be used to help discover the laws.

Carl-Christian Wallen, assistant director of the Swedish Meteorological Service in Stockholm, said most attempts at long-range weather forecasting were based on the same methods that climatologists use in their studies of the weather and climate of past ages.

"There are very few areas of the world where we can tell farmers, with even reasonable certitude, what conditions will be," Wallen said. "Climatology cannot do this everywhere and does not try to."

The Swedish meteorologist said it was unlikely for a long time to come that artificial means could be used to change climate appreciably.

In their studies of the world's heat, cold, sun and rain, climatologists are taking a second look at ancient farmers' sayings.

An amazing amount of credibility has been found in old Turkish farm proverbs, one research paper disclosed. Lionel Smith of the British Meteorological Service quoted the British proverb: "A peck of dust in March is worth a king's ransom," meaning: If March is dry you can plow early.

"We can rely on farmers' observation but not their explanation," Smith said.

Truman Likes To Stir Trouble

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman says he isn't adverse to stirring up a little trouble.

Truman, a lifelong Baptist, was invited to the Oct. 14 formal inauguration of Abner V. McCall as president of Baylor University. The Baptist school conferred an honorary degree on Truman while he was the nation's chief executive.

Because of a prior engagement, Truman sent his regrets. In his reply to the invitation, he said: "Congratulations to the new president. Tell him anytime he wants real trouble stirred up to send for a Baptist to do it and one who likes to do it."

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The new Chihuahua - Pacific Railroad, which will complete a link between the Pacific Coast and the Texas - Mexico border, will be opened late this year.

Ejection By Rocket

An escape capsule powered by rockets breaks through the top (upper left) of a B58 Hustler bomber during a test of the ejection system at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The capsule, with a dummy inside, zooms (right) toward an altitude of 250 feet where two parachutes (lower left) open for the descent. Main chute to lower the capsule and "pilot" safely at lower right. The plane was rolling at 115 miles an hour for the test. The B58 is made by Convair at Fort Worth.

UAW Local Rejects Profit-Sharing Plan

DETROIT (AP)—The future of the auto industry's first workers' profit sharing plan — American Motors' contract with the United Auto Workers—was cast in doubt today.

AMC's Local 72 of UAW at Kenosha, Wis., acting contrary to the four other locals of the company, rejected the plan formally Sunday night.

An official spokesman for AMC said the company would make no comment until the UAW makes a statement on the situation. The spokesman said that as far as AMC was concerned a contract had been agreed to in negotiations and ratification was up to the union.

International officers of the UAW reportedly were in a huddle on what step next to take.

The AMC development came as another nettlesome problem in the months-long effort to settle on new three-year contracts in the auto industry.

Ford Local 600 of the UAW set out picket lines barring office workers from entering the company administration building in the week-old strike against Ford.

Since last Tuesday, Ford's 120,000 hourly workers have been on strike over local plant issues. Ford and the UAW already had agreed on a three-year economic package. But local disputes prevented a general settlement. Negotiations have been continuing.

Office workers made no attempt to go through the picket lines. Instead, they joked with pickets and stood around. Pickets barred their cars from company parking lots.

Only General Motors has finally settled with the UAW—and this came only after a strike of nearly two weeks over local issues that idled more than 200,000 GM workers.

AMC local 72's contract rejection, reportedly by a slim margin, came at a sparsely attended mass meeting of the local at Kenosha, Wis. Only about 3,000 of the local's 12,000 members cast ballots.

These reportedly included elimination of a five-minutes washup period, changes in the seniority system, and the dropping of one cent an hour in cost of living pay in exchange for a five-minute washup period at the end of a shift.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther declined comment pending official word from Kenosha.

Reuther, however, said he felt contract ratification would have to be effected by the total vote of the AMC union membership —about 25,000 men.

The four other AMC locals had voted ratification earlier. These included two in Detroit, one in Grand Rapids, Mich., and one in Milwaukee.

A total vote has not been announced. However, it is known to have been close.

Court Upholds Commie Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to reconsider its June 5 decision that the Communist party must register as an arm of the Soviet Union.

In its petition for reconsideration, the party said the court's decision destroyed the protection of the Constitution's First Amendment and opened the way for Congress to "outlaw any dissident political group simply by making opprobrious findings."

Justice Frankfurter, author of the court's June 5 opinion, on June 20 granted a stay of effectiveness of the decision until the tribunal acted on the petition for reconsideration. If the stay had not been granted, the court's mandate for enforcement of the decision would have been issued June 30.

Communist party officials declared after the June 5 decision that they did not plan to register. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy then announced proceedings against the party would be under way by Aug. 9, but Frankfurter's stay required deferment of action.

Fallout Test

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Canada is working on a resolution that would have the U. N. General Assembly call for an intensified study of radioactive fallout in the light of the new Soviet open-air tests of nuclear weapons.

Tunisia Pushes Candidate But U.N. Post Nearly Filled

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Tunisia is still pushing native son Mongi Slim for interim secretary-general of the United Nations even though Burma's U Thant lately has been mentioned as most likely to get the job.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union reportedly are willing to accept U Thant, Burma's ambassador to the U.N., as a temporary successor to Dag Hammarskjold. But Asian-African sources said the Burmese would take the job only if the two big powers could agree on all aspects of the arrangement and both would vote for him.

They said Slim, president of the current General Assembly, would take the job even if the Soviets were so cool to him as to abstain from voting. They said he would not take it if the Soviets voted against him.

Slim and Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, president of the last assembly, are both acceptable to the United States to serve out Hammarskjold's term expiring in April 1963. Boland has said several times he would not take the job, but some delegates believe he could be persuaded. Many doubt the Soviets would approve him.

Soviet delegates have told some colleagues they oppose Slim. But they apparently have not told the Tunisians. The Asian-African sources that spoke of Slim's candidacy said the Tunisians were upset at reports that the Soviet Union was against giving Slim the U.N. post because they feel neither he nor Tunisia is neutral.

The Asian-African sources added that if the Tunisians got the clear impression the Soviets were fighting against Slim, President Habb Bourguiba would reverse the neutralist foreign policy trend he has followed since the Bizerte fighting last July and return to the pro-Western line he followed before that crisis.

Ireland, Norway, Argentina and other small countries have been trying to work out a deal on the interim secretary-generalship between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Although U Thant reportedly is acceptable to both the United States and the Soviet Union, the big powers are divided on how many deputies he would have and whether he would be instructed to seek their agreement to his decisions.

If the dispute over the deputies cannot be resolved, the United States or one of its friends is expected to push for an election in the assembly to bypass the Soviet Security Council veto.

Nuclear Expert Says Fallout Above Limit

WASHINGTON (AP —Physicist Ralph E. Lapp, who helped in development of the atom bomb, says it's his opinion that fallout from the Soviet Union's nuclear tests have exceeded the "safe annual limit."

The Soviets fired their 19th atmospheric explosion Sunday in their current test series.

Lapp was interviewed on a recorded radio program—ABC—As We See It—Sunday.

"They have, according to the latest count, sent up over 10 megatons of weapons. I don't know precisely how much of this would be dirty, but this, in my opinion, exceeds the safe level that a number of scientists—some of them from the Atomic Energy Commission—agreed upon as a safe level back in 1957 when we didn't know about the different kind of fallout from Russian tests," Lapp said.

"It turns out that Russian tests dump their debris back to the earth sooner than the American tests in the Pacific. And, therefore, we find out on the actual base of measurements that you get 10 times as much radiation dose from these arctic tests in Russia as you do from American tests in the Pacific.

"Therefore, the safe annual limit for Russian testing I would put closer to the value of 3 megatons per year than I would the old 1957 value of 10 megatons per year."

A megaton is the equivalent of of the energy released by a million tons of TNT.

The Atomic Energy Commission in announcing the Soviet Union's 19th nuclear detonation, said the blast was in the atmosphere and was in "the low yield range." The AEC has defined low range as equivalent to about 20,000 tons of TNT.

Support

U Thant of Burma has been gaining support to take over as temporary United Nations secretary general. The United States was reported to have agreed in the main to a Soviet plan for picking a temporary secretary-general.

Have Busy Month

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Dr. August Brustat, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church in Scarsdale, N. Y. said Sunday night that there are missiles based in Cuba capable of reaching the United States.

He charged that "effective anti-Communist movements" are subject to "smear treatment" and said that the Communist Party of California collected $60,000 to combat the John Birch Society.

WHAT IS A "DOLLAR'S WORTH"?

Nobody knows how small your dollar's buying power would be today if there were no advertising.

But everybody knows you can buy a lot more with a dollar today because of advertising.

Advertising reduces the cost of things you buy because it informs everyone at once of the benefits individual products offer.

Advertising's mass informing results in mass buying which enables mass production. When that happens, you pay less because production and distribution costs per item can be reduced.

This is the reason advertising is so often cited as "one of the strongest forces in maintaining our economy." Because it lowers the prices we pay for things we want and need, we all get more for our dollars and continue raising our standard of living.

It pays to advertise? Yes. It pays everybody.

20,000 See Prison Rodeo

Big Spring Man Wins Scramble

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Former Dallas stripper Candy Barr and dozens of State Prison Rodeo stars entertained about 20,000 fans Saturday at the 30th annual prison rodeo.

Cowboy Star Rex Allen and his horse Koko were the extra attractions at the third performance of the season.

The rodeo is held each Sunday in October.

Canry Barr sang and danced with the Goree Girls of the women's unit of the Texas Department of Corrections. She is serving a 15-year prison term.

Gail Hall, veteran inmate rider, serving 25 years from Odessa, after being injured in three consecutive events, checked into the prison hospital where attendants said he had a leg and knee injury.

Prior to the rodeo, O. B. Ellis, director of the Texas Department of Corrections, presented a scroll to the Very Rev. Lawrence J. Siedel, OMI, head of the Southern Provence, Oblate Fathers. The scroll marked the 50th anniversary of chaplain service by the order to the prison system. The order assigned its first priest to the prison in October, 1911.

James Tindol, doing 18 years from Big Spring, received the judges nod for first place honors in the mad scramble event.

A three-man team headed by Homer Daggs of Killeen, won the wild horse race event. Charles Alexander of Liberty led his team to second place. Leon Abbott of Fort Worth placed third in this exclusive prison rodeo event.

Another In The Clan

Actress Maureen O'Hara, right, looks fondly at her 17-year-old daughter, Bronwyn, as they pose in their Hollywood home. Bronwyn wants to be an actress, too, and makes her first professional appearance this week as a sorority girl in a "Bachelor Father" sequence over ABC. Her professional name will be Bronwyn FitzSimons. She wouldn't use the name O'Hara and said: "I won't trade on my mother's name. If I make it I'm going to make it on my own."

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

"I Aim at the Stars" is a thinking man's picture.

As the film biography of Dr. Wernher von Braun, the story dramatizes the life story of the great space scientist, but it also delves into the moral issues of science and war and conscience.

These issues were very much alive in the hearts of Von Braun and his staff members at Peenemunde, where they built the V-2 rocket. These issues are very much alive today in the hearts of all men, and the questions have not yet been settled.

And there are other questions dealt with in the movie: Is a man a traitor when he leaves the coming obliteration of his own country, and surrenders to his enemies? (Many Germans even today look upon Von Braun as a traitor, because he absconded to the Americans when Hitler's walls came tumbling down.)

Is a scientist who devises new weapons as much a war criminal as the politician or military commander who decides to use them? (Some Americans considered Von Braun to be a war criminal and wanted to see him hanged.)

One might ask if the Americans who dropped bombs on Berlin, erasing women and children as well as military installations, also are war criminals. Or one might well inquire if President Truman, in his decision to use the atom bomb against Japan, is a war criminal.

And the men who built the atom bomb—are they so much responsible that the Japanese would be justified in hanging Fermi, Einstein, Teller, et al?

These complex moral issues already have caused millions of words to be written, and countless words to be spoken argumentatively in bull sessions and probings of conscience. Condensing all this into a movie script would seem an impossible task, but it has been done.

What made the impossible possible was a fact alluded to in the third paragraph of this review—that the story of Von Braun itself reflects the fabric of the issue. Biographies of certain other great scientists would do this also.

"I Aim at the Stars" begins with a quick view of Von Braun as a child, some glimpses of Hitler's Germany and the war he started, and within a few moments the audience sees Peenemunde and its staff working desperately to develop a weapon to stem the onrushing Allies.

Here, the fabric of moral issues begins unravelling: Von Braun's dream of space travel which contradicted the Nazis' demands for an immediate, practical military weapon; the scientists' essentially international (or, non-national) character which some people would label disloyalty, but which others would point out is essential to the scientific method; the scientists' viewpoint which values the future, which often conflicts with that of the layman whose opinions include what he calls "human values."

These elements in the moral issues, and many others, are personified in the characters of the story, and the moral theme unfolds in its frustrating complexity as an integral part of the plot.

Really, we have in "I Aim at the Stars" two stories—the simple biography of a visionary scientist, and a documentation of a moral issue which began eons ago when a man named Cain killed his brother.

Curt Jurgens, as Von Braun, performed effectively, as did most of his supporting cast. In fact, there was little to criticise in any department.

"I Aim at the Stars" plays at the State Theatre, where it is double-billed with a science fiction clinker called "War of the Satellites." If you're a thinking man, be sure to filter out the low-brow half of the twin bill.

White Slavery Charges Filed

HOBBS, N. M. (AP) —Federal charges of white slavery have been filed against Billy Eugene Sage, 23, of Midland, Tex., FBI agent Robert Rightmyer said.

Sage is alleged to have transported Sara Ann Stewart, 18, also of Midland, from Lubbock to Hobbs early in August for the purpose of prostitution.

The girl and Sage, along with Wayne Floyd, 24, of Midland, were arrested here last week and held for Midland authorities who said the three were wanted in connection with a clothing store burglary there.

U. S. Seeking Allied OK On Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration hopes to persuade U.S. allies in the next two or three weeks to go along with further exploratory talks with the Soviet Union on the possibility of negotiating a compromise settlement of the Berlin crisis.

Western consultations are expected to move forward on several fronts, including discussions among State Department officials and the ambassadors of Britain, France and West Germany.

One step in the process was scheduled today with a meeting between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador Walter C. Dowling, the U.S. envoy to West Germany. West Germany's views on the development of Allied policy on the future of Berlin and related German issues are crucial to Western agreement.

The Allies appear to be basically split over Berlin policy problems.

APPREHENSIVE

The West German government, grappling with its own internal political difficulties, is apprehensive about agreeing to the greater flexibility on the Western side which Rusk and President Kennedy want for negotiations with the U.S.S.R.

The French government is fearful that the Soviet Union may consider Western interest in exploratory talks a sign of weakness in facing up to Red threats over Berlin.

The British government is eager for negotiations and British officials have been reported mildly hopeful that a reasonable formula can be worked out with the Soviets.

Kennedy and Rusk are said to feel that at the very least it is extremely important to continue East-West exploratory talks.

The first round of such talks ended here Friday night in a two-hour meeting which the President and Rusk held with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. This was the fourth of a series of conversations which began between Rusk and Gromyko in New York three weeks ago. The end result at this point is failure to agree on a negotiations formula.

STEP BACK

West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe said Sunday in a television interview — ABC — Issues and Answers — that the Kennedy-Gromyko talk represented a step back along the path toward finding a basis for Berlin negotiations.

Grewe said: "The disturbing thing is that the end of those talks were more negative than the beginning, which is not very encouraging."

At Newport, R.I., where Kennedy spent the weekend, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger discounted reports that Kennedy was discouraged as a result of his meeting with Gromyko. Salinger said the talks had not gone sour even though as yet they had not produced a basis for negotiations.

Rusk said Saturday in recording a television program for use Oct. 14 that the mood and atmosphere of the talks had been "serious and constructive."

Compass Test Goes Wrong

WESTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) —A compass test for five young Boy Scouts was something less than a success—they became lost in the dense woods of Pisgha Mountain for 23 hours.

A search party found the scouts 11 to 15 years old, huddled around a camp fire shortly before noon Sunday. They were tired, hungry, thirsty and chagrined.

Police Chief Earl Gett said Scoutmaster Chester Wronski told him he left the boys Saturday morning. They had compasses and a topographical map, and were to have hiked to Norwich Lake, eaten lunch there, then met Wronski at Pine Island Lake at 4 p.m. When they had not arrived three hours after the appointed rendezvous, Wronski notified police.

The boys said darkness arrived before they came in sight of Pine Island Lake so they lit a fire and decided to stay put. They had one flashlight and some candles, canteens but no place to fill them, no sleeping bags and no food.

Searchers fired a shotgun, sounded sirens and flashed lights through the night. The boys shouted back but their voices didn't carry far enough.

The group from Troop 633, St. Jerome's Catholic church, Holyoke, Mass., included Robert Richards, 11; Raymond Goulet, 12; Kenneth Lamontagne, Robert Pelouin and Dwight Harris, all 15.

Family Of 5 In Sea Tragedy

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A fishing boat sank off Lemesurier Island, 77 miles northwest of here Sunday, apparently wiping out a family of five from Tacoma, Wash.

Fishermen said the 37-foot troller, Partner, may have hit a chunk of floating ice.

The bodies of Shirley Moe and her sons, Paul, 6, and David, 7, have been recovered. No trace has been found of Mrs. Moe's husband, Donald, who owned the boat, or their infant daughter, Donna.

Medic Charged With Poison Try

PORT ORCHARD, Wash. (AP) —Dr. Robert E. Boehme, 41, accused of injecting poison into his wife's arm, was to be arraigned today on a charge of first-degree assault with intent to kill.

His wife, Dorothy, 34, said she would leave her hospital bed to be at his side.

Boehme was freed on $25,000 bond after his arrest Saturday. An attractive nurse, Mary Boehme, 28, Annapolis, Wash., was arrested as a material witness, and released on $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Boehme was married to the doctor's brother, Jack, an Oregon State University pharmacy student, for about three years. They were divorced in 1959.

Prosecutor Gordon Walgren said Dr. Boehme is accused of injecting poison into his wife's arm with a blood-sampling syringe Sept. 20.

Dorothy Boehme called the charge "preposterous."

The doctor said his wife had been a diabetic for about 20 years and recently suffered from hepatitis, an inflammation of the liver.

"I love my wife," he said. "To say that I would try to destroy her is fantastic."

The couple has two sons, aged 8 and 10.

The involved case took another twist when the prosecutor said he and Mary Boehme had filed an application for a marriage license June 22.

Walgren, himself divorced and now engaged to another woman, said he never had any intention of marrying the nurse.

"I was investigating her conduct and wanted to see if she would go through with the idea of marriage," he said. "She broke off with me the same day."
