Hearing Today On Padre

Backers Want Area Made Into National Park

By PAT CONWAY
United Press International

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI)—Sen. Frank Moss (D-Utah) said today the "chances are excellent that Padre Island will be established as a national seashore area."

Moss will conduct an on-the-spot hearing in Corpus Christi today on a bill to make the 117-mile-long island a national recreation area.

The hearing—expected to last about two days—will begin at 10 a.m. after an aerial tour of the island.

"My impression is that the people in this area are generally in favor of a park on the island," Moss said. "The only difficulty appears to be the size of the area involved."

He called Padre's beaches the "finest unspoiled beach area in the nation."

Moss, chairman of a subcommittee of the Senate Interior Committee, is the only member of the eight-member subcommittee present.

Moss said the hearing will not leave Corpus Christi despite earlier reports that part of it might be held in Brownsville.

Delegations from various cities in the state were expected to appear as supporters of the bill. The hearing was originally scheduled to be held in a hotel but was moved to the Corpus Christi Convention Center to handle the expected big crowd.

Conrad Wirth, director of the National Parks Service, arrived in Corpus Christi and said he will be "available" to the committee hearing as a technical witness.

Wirth toured the island by air and automobile Sunday and termed it "one of the most beautiful stretches of beach in the world."

"It is well worth recognition as a national seashore area," Wirth said.

Cardinal Hails To Americans

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII today created eight new cardinals, including two Americans, and in accompanying ceremonies reaffirmed Roman Catholic opposition to "erroneous doctrines" of birth control.

The pope noted that hunger is a "grave problem...for a large part of mankind."

"To remedy this most serious calamity one cannot in any way resort to erroneous doctrines and harmful and deadly methods of limitation of offspring," he said.

"It is necessary that the riches drawn from the earth be placed...at the disposal of everybody."

The elevation of the eight new cardinals increased the number of princes of the church to an unprecedented 79.

Seven of the eight cardinals designate were in Rome for the consistory and subsequent week-long ceremonies, including Archbishop Albert Meyer of Chicago and Aloisius Muenche of Fargo, N. D., former apostolic nuncio to Germany.

Cubans Move U.S. Reporter Accused Of Aiding Miamian

HAVANA (UPI)—Army intelligence agents plan to move Miami Herald reporter James Buchanan from Havana to the prison in Western Cuba from which the Government charges he helped Austin Young of Miami escape.

An intelligence announcement said Buchanan was to have been moved to the prison in Pinar del Rio province early Sunday, but at nightfall he was reported still in a cell here. "It was not certain how soon he will be transferred."

Young escaped late Tuesday and was recaptured Thursday in a Havana hotel. Buchanan was arrested when he came to the hotel room with medicines intended for Young.

Premier Fidel Castro's government insists Buchanan was an accomplice in Young's escape, even though the newsman was in Miami when the fugitive chiseled his way out of a prison washroom.

ONCE CALLED PERSIA—Iran is one of the important stops on President's tour of Europe and the Middle East. He arrived there today. Iran is an area larger than Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado combined, floating on a vast lake of oil. Its 19 million people are ruled by a constitutional monarchy. Before 1935, the land was known as Persia. It was once the center of an empire that stretched from Greece to India Iran stands between Russia and the Persian Gulf. In March of this year Iran signed a defense treaty with the United States.

Look For A Pattern In Aluminum Pact Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal mediators watched aluminum contract negotiations in Chicago today for a bargaining pattern that could lead to a possible settlement of the steel dispute.

Federal Mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan, who suspended steel talks here last week because of lack of progress, has said that "a settlement area" for steel might emerge from the aluminum sessions.

Steel workers President David J. McDonald and other top union officials planned to sit in on the

Warden Plays Hero In Prison Uprising

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (UPI)—Warden Bob Rhy of the Washington state penitentiary here today was credited with saving the life of a wounded prison guard when he personally quelled an escape attempt by wounding two of three would-be escapees.

Rhy, who said he "didn't have time to think, but just acted," shot the two prisoners as they shot their way from the maximum security portion of the prison into the visitors' section.

The warden took the decisive action after a security booth guard failed to open fire on the convicts when he was ordered to do so. The guard was suspended pending a hearing before the prison personnel board.

"I only had half a head to shoot at," said Rhy, as he described how he fired the shot which creased the head of Gordon O. Miller, 20, as Miller held a knife at the throat of guard Garment Barnett, who already had been stabbed in the back. Miller regained consciousness a short time later and made another rush toward freedom and Rhy shot him in the back.

Rhy also used the .38 caliber pistol to shoot Richard D. Petersen, 21, who charged the warden during the breakout attempt. The bullet lodged only a fraction of an inch from his heart.

The third man in the escape attempt, John Regan Jr., 20, surrendered without resistance.

Five Killed, Four Hurt In Smashup

THALIA (UPI)—A head-on collision of a pickup truck carrying three hunters and an automobile packed with a group returning from a funeral killed five persons and injured four Sunday.

Five hunting dogs also died in the shattering smashup near Thalia.

Four of the victims, including a teenager, were from Ardmore, Okla. They were returning from Albuquerque, N. M., where they attended the funeral of the husband of one of the women killed Sunday. Joe Pybus, 59, a Vernon, Tex., cattleman, was the fifth victim.

Highway Patrolman H. D. Capps said investigation showed one of the vehicles swerved across the highway center line and hit the other head-on.

The Oklahoma victims were Mrs. Bertie Burnett, 40; her daughter, Mary Frances, 18, and Artie Riner, 60, and his daughter, Mrs. Louis Holt, 30. They were on their way back to Ardmore after attending funeral services for Carl Edward Burnett, Mrs. Burnett's husband.

Carla Burnett, 17, and Virgil, 16, both children of Mrs. Burnett, were hospitalized in critical condition at Wichita Falls. Robert E. Lyles, 45, of Hines, Tex., and R. C. Sanders, 28, Vernon, suffered less serious injuries. Lyles and Sanders were riding in the truck with Pybus.

German Explosion Leaves 21 Dead

DORTMUND, Germany (UPI)—The toll of Germany's worst explosion since World War II mounted today to 17 known dead and 21 officially missing in the charred rubble of two apartment houses.

The two buildings in suburban Aplerbeck were destroyed before dawn Sunday by a blast that "collapsed one like a house of cards" and set the other on fire.

Although the cause of the explosion had not been determined officially, it was believed to be a gas leak in the collapsed building.

negotiations opening today with Alcoa, giant of the aluminum industry.

Union sources said the Steel workers hoped to complete a squeeze play on the steel companies this week by signing new contracts with the major aluminum producers. The union recently reached agreements with can manufacturers and copper companies.

This is part of a campaign to convince the public that the big 11 steel firms are to blame for the deadlock in their negotiations because of a hold out attitude, the union sources said.

Another Steelworkers' aim is to reverse bargaining precedent by trying to set a wage-benefit pattern in can, copper and aluminum contracts that the steel industry will be compelled to follow.

Government observers said any fact-finding board or similar neutral panel which may be requested to make recommendations to settle the steel dispute could not ignore terms of 1959 can or aluminum contracts.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) voiced another warning Sunday of probable congressional intervention unless the steel dispute is settled before the stay-at-work court order to the workers expires Jan. 26.

"If there is no settlement by Next January, or even if there is one, it is likely that Congress will be asked to step in," Keating said.

Demos Set Election Strategy

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democrats appeared today to have set a strategy for meeting the "peace issue" which has them jittery about the 1960 presidential campaign.

Statements by party leaders in the past week indicated they hope to deal with the problem by arguing that the Eisenhower administration has jeopardized peace hopes by accepting "second place" in competition with Russia.

The "peace issue" is a term used by both parties to describe the administration's new willingness to negotiate with Russia and President Eisenhower's well-publicized good will travels abroad.

The Democratic strategy was emphasized in a report by the party's Advisory Council and in speeches by two potential presidential nominees, Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) and John F. Kennedy (Mass.).

Other developments in the political field over the week end included:

—Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) said any Democrat would have a "most difficult time" against either Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the presidential race next year.

Herter Assures Allies

NATO Told We Will Stay In Europe Till '60

By R. C. THALER
United Press International

PARIS (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian Herter assured NATO today that American defense forces will remain in Europe at present strength at least until the end of 1961.

But he and Undersecretary C. Douglas Dillon told France and the other Allies the United States expects them to start carrying their fair share of the Western defense burden, according to informed sources.

Herter was moving in on a major NATO squabble before the family spat could mar the forthcoming Western summit meeting starting here next week. Some U.S. officials had accused America's 14 NATO Allies of falling behind in supporting the alliance.

The battle began when Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a secret meeting of NATO military chiefs Thursday that some nations, notably France, were weakening the alliance by failing to meet their military commitments.

France, deeply hurt, let it be understood she took a "grave view" of the charges. President Charles de Gaulle flew back to Paris today from a meeting of French community nations in Africa and was expected to join in the fracas.

Herter scheduled meetings today with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other NATO leaders on the eve of the annual meeting of NATO foreign ministers which starts Tuesday. Western summit talks start Dec. 19.

False Claims Charged To Tobacco Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission has accused the manufacturer of Life cigarettes of making false advertising claims. The cigarette is one of the new brands born by the cancer scare.

The FTC charged Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., of Louisville, Ky., and its advertising agency, Ted Bates & Co., Inc., New York City, of violating the FTC act. The manufacturer promptly denied the allegations.

The commission branded untrue the claim that Life cigarettes are "proved to give you the least tar or nicotine of all cigarettes." It also called untrue "representations" that the government endorses the cigarettes and has found them to be "lowest in tar, nicotine."

Brown & Williamson defended its ads in a statement that termed them "a proper and acceptable advertising technique." The firm denied that its advertising "implies government sanction."

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, said on a television program Sunday that the Food and Drug Administration does not have the authority to take cigarettes off the market, in spite of reports that smoking may cause cancer.

Flemming said the situation between additives in food and cigarettes is different. "No one is required by the necessity of life to purchase cigarettes," he said, whereas a consumer may not be aware of the "danger" in a standard food product.

District Court Hearings Begin

Hearings began this morning at 11 a.m. on the first of 14 cases set for trial in 31st District Court at the county courthouse. Forty-five petit jurors reported for duty.

First case set for hearing is J. D. Kinsey vs. Best Trailer Sales and Service of Pampa. Kinsey, in a suit for damages, is seeking $2,387 for damages to his trailer home arising out of an accident Dec. 13, 1956. Kinsey alleges that the Pampa firm damaged the trailer while transferring it from Rollins, Wyo., to the Pampa area.

District Court Judge Lewis Goodrich opened hearings following the selection of a jury at 11 a.m.

Ike In Greece After A Brief Stop In Iran

Off Tuesday For Tunisia

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

ATHENS, Greece (UPI)—President Eisenhower carried his world peace crusade from the 80-degree heat of New Delhi to wintry Iran and on into rain swept Greece today with renewed pledges of U.S. aid and praise for the courage of small nations resisting communism.

The President's jet airliner landed at Athens airport at 4:34 p.m. (9:34 a.m. e.s.t.) from Tehran where, in a 5 1/2-hour stop, he conferred with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi and addressed the Iranian Parliament.

Eisenhower made the briefest speech of his tour on arrival here.

"It is a great privilege to be welcomed to this city for the first time in seven years," he said after the customary acknowledgments to the King and the crowd.

"I come back to a country responsible for much of Western culture and civilization. Since I came back to this country seven years ago, Greece and its people have shown so much courage, such strength and have caused much admiration."

"I hope that between your government and my government there will be much in common which we will exchange, and thank you all for the reception extended to me."

King Paul, the crown prince and Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis greeted the President on behalf of a nation which beat back a threat of Communist domination with the help of three billion dollars in U.S. aid.

In the snow-covered Iranian capital of Tehran earlier today Eisenhower received a royal welcome along streets paved in his honor with Persian rugs. He pledged continued U.S. military aid and praised Iran for its firm stand against its hostile neighbor, Russia.

After five days of 80-degree temperatures in India Eisenhower left New Delhi in the chilly dawn, arrived in Tehran in sub-freezing temperatures and drove through cheering throngs in an open convertible. In Athens, the weather was in the 60s with a threat of rain.

Eisenhower addressed the Iranian parliament and observers noted his voice was hoarse although he appeared ruddy and healthy in the glare of television lighting. He cleared his throat several times during his brief speech and coughed once.

Rain, Sleet Here

Rain, followed by sleet that began falling about 10:30 this morning, failed to deposit any measurable amounts of moisture by noon in the Daily News rain gauge. The mixed sleet and rain has been falling intermittently since 8:30.

The Democratic governor, accused by Wilson of declaring martial law only to aid strikers, met with management and union officials here Sunday.

Rain, Turning To Snow Over Panhandle; Wet In Pampa

A cold front bore down on the state from the Rocky Mountains today and snow was in the forecast for the Texas Panhandle tonight.

Light, intermittent rain started falling in Pampa about 8 a.m. today and is expected to turn to sleet or snow by evening.

Today's moisture was the first in more than 30 days. Until today, Pampa had received only nine-tenths of an inch of rain in about 60 days.

Heavy clouds formed in the Panhandle and North Central Texas early this morning. Light rain began to fall in the Panhandle, and clouds were forming over

Rebels Push On Into Paraguay

By WILLIAM L. F. HORSEY
United Press International

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Loyal Paraguayan troops were reported advancing today on schoolboy rebels in the trackless jungles of southern and eastern Paraguay, and official announcements claimed victory over the insurgents.

Government forces were said already to have recaptured Caazapa, a village 87 miles north of the border which is believed to represent the deepest penetration achieved by the youthful refugees who streamed into Paraguay from Argentina over the weekend.

The rebels appeared to be still in control of the villages of Yegros, Yuty and San Juan Bautista and a fairly extensive area in the nearby jungles.

Maj. J. Cabanas, the victor of Caazapa, was believed to be moving southward toward the rebel-held villages, while troops normally stationed in the border town of Encarnacion moved north to close a pincer on the insurgents.

Some reports indicated the government is supplying Encarnacion by air, perhaps meaning the rebels have cut the rail line that links Asuncion with the border town.

Press reports from Asuncion said people in the Paraguayan capital have been advised to lay in a "few days' supply of food." This was taken to mean either that the government anticipates fighting in the farm belt that serves the city or that military traffic is expected to crowd civilian trucks off the roads leading to Asuncion.

Paraguayan authorities in Encarnacion and the Paraguayan consul in Foz de Iguazu, an Argentine town across the river, refused to comment. (See REBELS, Page 3)

Union Pledge Key To Ending Martial Law

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (UPI)—A striking meat workers union was expected to offer "assurances" today that may bring an end to martial law here and a resumption of negotiations in a six-week-old strike.

The assurances, apparently that the union will refrain from "lawless acts" at eight strike-bound Wilson & Co. plants, were expected in a letter to Wilson officials in Chicago.

The break in the bitter labor dispute came at Albert Lea, where Gov. Orville L. Freeman ordered out the National Guard last Friday to prevent violence between strikers and non-union workers.

The Democratic governor, accused by Wilson of declaring martial law only to aid strikers, met with management and union officials here Sunday.

Russ Navy Formidable

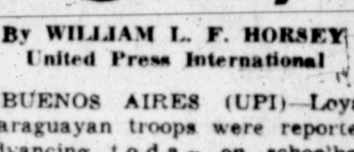

LONDON (UPI)—Russia apparently believes its unmatched submarine force could cut the Atlantic lifeline between Britain and the United States in any new war, it was reported today.

The 1960 edition of Jane's Fighting Ships, the standard world naval reference, says the Russians seem to be confident they can prevent the Anglo-American navies from gaining control of the vital waters near Europe and Asia.

Their fleet of 500 submarines—including guided missile and atomic-powered underwater craft—could, in the Russian view, "wreak great havoc" on the 26 million tons of American and 20 million tons of British shipping, Jane's said.

The authoritative naval reference book noted there had been a considerable increase in Russian naval activity on the high seas in the past year.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are the proud grandparents of three adorable little grandchildren. I don't mind being called "Grandpa," but my husband says he is only 55 years old and he is too young to be called "Grandpa." He asks the grandchildren to call him "Earl."

I think it sounds terrible for those little youngsters to go around calling their grandfather EARL.

My husband says that if it is all right for President Eisenhower's grandchildren to call him IKE, our grandchildren can call him EARL. I'd like to know if President Eisenhower's grandchildren really call him IKE?

EARL'S WIFE:

DEAR WIFE: I wired the White House and received the following message:

DEAR MISS VAN BUREN: IN REPLY TO YOUR TELEGRAPHIC INQUIRY, THESE ARE THE FACTS: THE PRESIDENT'S GRANDCHILDREN CALL HIM "IKE" AND ALSO "GRANDDAD-DY IKE."

WITH BEST WISHES,
MRS. A. W. Associate Press Secretary to the President

DEAR ABBY: From my kitchen window I can see a certain laundry man go into a lady's back door. He keeps the engine running in his truck, but he stays in there for about forty-five minutes. It can't be business because he goes in with nothing and comes out with nothing and I happen to know that this lady does her own laundry because I see it on her line.

This woman is married and has children in school. There has been some talk about her, too. I am sure the lady and the laundry man are not just holding hands. What do you think?

STEADY READER:

DEAR STEADY: Hold your tongue. Whether he is there for "business" is not my business — nor is it yours. I think you ought to send your mind to the laundry.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a girl who married young, had a baby, divorced her husband and has now turned her baby over to her mother to raise?

"Daughter" lives at home. She won't even make her own bed or rinse out her own stockings. She dresses for dates every night, whoops it up, comes home late and sleeps 'til noon.

Her parents are disgusted with her but are afraid to say anything to her because they love the baby and fear that if they don't let "Daughter" live the way she wants to, she'll move out and take the baby with her. What can be done?

FRIEND OF THE FAMILY:

Should an innocent child who is loved by its grandparents be raised by them or by a selfish, irresponsible mother? The law is on the side of the mother. But the law is not immutable. I would advise the grandparents to ask for legal adoption of the children and then hope that the mother will some day earn back the rights of motherhood.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lamar School Choir Presents Carol Program For Thursday PTA Meeting

Lamar School choir presented a program of Christmas selections at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the PTA in the school auditorium. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Williams, sang a selection of carols presented in two parts.

The first portion consisted of songs on the lighter side of Christmas: "Pray God Bless," "Deck The Halls," "Jingle Bells," and "Twelve Days of Christmas." The second part were more serious songs, "On Christmas Day, in the Morning," "The First Noel," and "Silent Night."

A girls quartet, composed of Misses Jean Musgraves, Karen Laremore, Connie Holmes and Marilyn Milliron, sang "O, Come All Ye Faithful," accompanied by the choir singing the Latin version. The selections were accompanied by Miss Karen Annors.

Mrs. W. C. Puryear, unit president, concluded the program with the reading of "The Ten Commandments of Christmas."

Preceding the program, Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of First Baptist Church, gave the invocation and devotional. He read the Christmas story as related in Matthew and then discussed three statements contained in the scripture: "The greatest discovery we can make in the world is to discover Jesus as our saviour," "The most wonderful gift is the gift of our own life," "When we meet Jesus we walk another way."

During the business meeting, reports were given by Mrs. E. C. Pulse, secretary and Mrs. K. E. Rasco, treasurer.

Recommendations made by the executive board, which met at 1 p.m. in the office of the school principal, Joe Page, were given by Mrs. Puryear, as follows: 1) a gift to be given the Lamar Patrolman at the Dec. 18 meeting; 2) to help support the nursery to be provided for the City Council study group courses beginning Jan. 14 from 9 a.m. and the three successive Thursday thereafter.

Parents were handed a Movie Evaluation Sheet of the movies coming to Pampa in December.

Mrs. Puryear read a report of the Golden Jubilee Convention of Parents and Teachers held in November in Dallas.

Christmas Meaning Discussed By ESA Speaker

Mrs. Raymond Harrah presented a Christmas program for Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority at its meeting on Thursday evening in the City Club Room. She spoke on the meaning of Christmas and the meaning of giving gifts at Christmas time and concluded with a demonstration on the art of gift-wrapping.

Following the program, secretarial gifts were exchanged from a Christmas tree.

Mrs. Melvin Watkins and Tom Lindsey served refreshments from a gaily appointed Christmas table.

Mrs. Bill McIntire and Mrs. LeRoy Jacobs were welcomed as transferees.

Members present were Mmes. Frank Baker, Eugene Bentley, Parks Brumley, W. J. Chambliss, Margaret Dial, O. J. Engle, Max Hickey, Louie Hooper, Tom Lindsey, Laura Maddox, John Nutting, Louise Odell, Bruce Parker, Dorothy Pairs, Harold Payne, W. W. Reek, Charles Robinson, Lowell Stevens, Melvin Watkins, James Lewis, Carolyn Spidel, W. L. Stark, and Scott Hatcher.

It was announced that the next meeting will be on Jan. 14 at 8 p.m. in the City Club Room.

Significance Of Star Discussed By Speaker

Bob Black, First Methodist Church visitation minister, was guest speaker at Woodrow Wilson PTA on Thursday afternoon. Quoting from a chapter in Matthew in the Bible, Mr. Black said that the star mentioned in these passages is a well-known and beloved emblem that man has put into song and poetry. "We have paintings, Christmas cards, wrapping paper and tree decorations with stars on them. These stars even shine from our homes, on the streets, and from places on business."

Mr. Black went on to tell about towns in the United States which decorated streets with thousands of stars or put a giant star atop a hill or tower. "In some countries, the townspeople have festivals in which they dress in costumes with stars on them and carry star-shaped lanterns."

"Why is it the star has come to occupy such a place of importance in our thoughts," queried Mr. Black. Then he pointed out phenomena in the sky, such as Halley's Comet or the northern lights, which attract attention. "But this remarkable star traveled across the sky and came to rest over a certain spot without creating too much concern. No other records were made of this star other than the one in the Bible."

"The real meaning of the Christmas star," Mr. Black brought out, "is the event it heralded that changed the lives of all mankind. This star reflected the light of the birth of Christ; and the everlasting love of God, with the fulfillment of the faith and hope of the wise men."

In conclusion he said, "The star signifies life without end. We see the star now, and others will see it when we are gone."

Woodrow Wilson chorus, dressed in red robes with white collars presented a program of Christmas carols under the direction of Mrs. Shelia Williams. Included in its presentation were "Angels, We Have Heard on High," "O, Come All Ye Faithful," "Away in a Manger," "Deck the Halls," "Silver Bells," "Joy To the World," "White Christmas" and "Jingle Bells."

Miss Carol Gates sang the solo part in "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town." Steve Oler sang as a solo, "Silent Night."

A sextet composed of Misses Judy Ross, Robert Robins, Ricky Foster and Nolan Ellis sang "O Holy Night." The chorus was accompanied by Mrs. E. B. Allemen.

Exacting Role Of Peace Maker Next On Ike Agenda

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

President Eisenhower this week leaves behind the pomp, pageantry and adulation of millions of Americans for an even more exacting assignment in his role as champion of peace.

As he moves to Paris and a meeting of the Western summit, peace still will be his theme. But this time it must be applied to the United States' West European Allies whose unity is threatened.

It was a flower-straw path that Eisenhower trod last week. He carried only one message—his own and the United States' desire and determination for world peace.

Governments, from Rome through Ankara, Karachi, Kabul and New Delhi might have preferred a firmer line from the touring President of the United States, a definition in terms of dollars, military aid and binding agreements.

But whatever the leaders might have desired, there was no denying the response of millions whose adoration mounted in direct proportion to his poverty and fears. For example, New Delhi.

"Food, family, friendship and freedom," he told them, "are mightier weapons for peace than all the armies and bombs."

The gigantic throng's roar of approval was proof of the responsive chord he struck.

This was the Eisenhower formula.

It was how he projected his image upon millions of Asians as a man dedicated to pulling the world out of a morass of fear, bitterness and suspicion.

It drew from the usually reserved Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru:

"You have found an echo in the hearts of our millions and I hope and believe your coming here will be a blessing to us and a blessing to all."

And it was on this basis that Eisenhower intended to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the summit, making Khrushchev

Argentine border guards tried to halt the passage of Paraguayan refugees across the border, but scores of them are known to have evaded the guards and joined an invasion force estimated at about 3,000.

Two hundred Paraguayans who had been working in the Argentine town of Puerto Piray quit work en masse Sunday and argued believed to have moved across the river border into Paraguay.

President Alfredo Stroessner, a seasoned soldier who seized power in a military coup d'etat five years ago, deployed units of his army and navy in a wide arc around Amunio: San Jose and Paraguari were believed to be the government's main forward positions.

Cabanis's report on the battle at Caazapa said 137 rebels were captured. It made no mention of other casualties on either side.

Educators Asked Views On TV Effects

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission today called educators to give their views on the effects of TV programming on the nation's school children.

The National Education Assn., which represents more than a million teachers, headed the witness list at the FCC's inquiry into what should be done to prevent broadcasting abuses.

Four days of public hearings scheduled this week will wind up the first phase of the investigation. Industry spokesmen will be called to appear at the second phase beginning early next month.

FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer said Sunday it "probably would be a good thing" for Congress to empower the agency to license radio-TV networks directly.

At present, the FCC does not license networks and exercises only indirect control over them. It does have power to renew licenses of the few stations owned by each network as well as all independent stations.

Doerfer gave his views in an interview published in the Dec. 19 issue of TV Guide magazine. "Subject to a complete airing" of all other views on ways to correct broadcasting problems, Doerfer said he also approved:

—Action by Congress to ease anti-trust laws so that networks or individual stations could get together and agree on specific standards that would apply to programs and advertising.

—Use by the FCC of the industry's self-imposed code of good practices as a measure of deciding whether a station is operating in the public interest and is therefore entitled to license renewal.

IKE (Continued from Page 1) sufficient welcome for Eisenhower, whose world-wide appeals for peace drew great cheering crowds wherever he has stopped on his 11-nation tour. In India crowds sometimes stretched as far as the eye could see.

Eisenhower planned to spend 21 hours in Greece before boarding the cruiser USS Des Moines for a restful cruise to Tunisia and France. In that brief time Karamanlis was expected to urge the necessity for controlled disarmament Eisenhower has asked for repeatedly.

The briefness of Eisenhower's visit to Tehran caused some disappointment among Iranians but it was scarcely noticeable in the warmth of the greeting.

A mile and a half of the road from the airport to the Iranian capital was covered with Persian rugs. Eisenhower and the Shah drove into the city together and conferred for two hours. They later issued a communique affirming United States support of CENTO, the organization which replaced the Baghdad Pact.

The only untoward incident of his journey past cheering thousands came on the trip into town from the airport when a man tried to shoot an anti-Eisenhower or anti-American slogan and was overwhelmed by police, one of whom clapped his hands over the man's mouth and carried him away bodily.

The President's address to the Iranian Parliament, repeated his theme of "peace and friendship and freedom."

Escapes Injury Clyde Richard Brown, a 19-year-old Pampa youth, escaped injury early today when his car veered off U.S. 90 near Kingsmill and sheared off six guard posts.

Highway Patrolman Standley Schneider said Brown, who lives at 322 N. Wynne, was headed east at about 1:55 a.m. when he apparently dozed at the wheel. The mishap occurred six miles west of Kingsmill. Damages to Brown's 1957 Ford were set at $500.

Divers Hunt River For 4

BAINBRIDGE, Ga. (UPI) — Navy frogmen probed the swirling waters of the Flint River today for the bodies of four victims of a boating accident that claimed six lives.

Rescuers recovered bodies of two children before darkness forced suspension of the search Sunday night.

A drag-line force of 12 boats found the two small bodies some five hours after an overloaded motorboat capsized, spilling its seven occupants into the water.

Swallowed by the swift current were Curtis Spruiell, 20; his four children, Mildred, 9, Diane, 7, Fay, 4, and Jimmy, 3; and Jerry Pearson, 13. Mrs. Jim Pearson, mother of Jerry, clung to the overturned boat until help arrived.

"My Jerry kept yelling 'mama, hold on, mama, hold on to the boat,' she later sobbed to rescuers.

1960 Plans Formed By Pampa CoC Members of the board of directors and committee chairmen of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce met today noon in the Palm Room at City Hall.

H. V. Wilks, president, said the group discussed the program of work and planned specific projects for the coming year. Wilks also said the group completed committee appointments at today's meeting.

Fined $100, Costs George Everett Deatherage, 1022 Wilcox, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail in Gray County Court today after entering a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Deatherage was arrested by Pampa police Dec. 5, at 7:40 p.m. in the 1000 block of S. Barnes.

Owner Wants Fleet Footed Dog Back

A German short-hair pointer, reported lost Sunday morning, outran pursuing police officers and two paperboys Sunday near St. Vincent de Paul Church and disappeared in pastureland north of Pampa.

The pointer was reported lost by its owner, L. V. Harrison of Amarillo, after Harrison let the dog out of a Pampa home for a stroll in the yard.

The dog, named Bobbie, carries an identification tag. If found, police ask that the owner be contacted at the Charlie Wilkerson home, 2237 Hamilton.

Lighting Hits Airliner

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — An American Airlines DC-6 airplane carrying 45 persons was struck by lightning Sunday while flying through a thunderstorm. It landed on schedule here with most passengers unaware of the mishap.

The plane, flying from San Francisco to Phoenix and El Paso, Tex., was struck 15 minutes before its arrival here.

The only damage was to the plane's radio.

Reporter To Be Detained By Cubans

HAVANA (UPI) - Revolutionary government sources Saturday night predicted at least "several weeks" more detention for Miami Herald reporter James Buchanan who was arrested last Thursday with American soldier-of-fortune Austin Young.

The sources said the continued detention of the American reporter would be required while Army intelligence investigates what links, if any, he may have had with Young's escape from Pinar del Rio shortly after a court had sentenced him to 30 years for conspiracy.

Young, who also is from Miami, and Buchanan were discovered a day after the escape in a Havana hotel, where Buchanan was giving Young first aid treatment for cuts and bruises suffered during the escape and recording his story.

Both were being questioned repeatedly by intelligence agents. Buchanan and Young have denied ever meeting each other until Thursday when the reporter got a tip in Miami where he could find the soldier-of-fortune and arrived in Havana to get the story.

They were put into the same cell together in the fashionable Miramar section of Havana.

Woman Suffers Alone Five Days

DALLAS (UPI) - Mrs. Sarah Cutweller, 76, lay on the floor of her room, her hip broken, for five days and five nights before police found her and took her to a hospital Saturday.

She was too weak from shock and exhaustion to cry out.

Police broke a door down to get her out of the room. She had locked it Sunday night before she went to bed and broke her hip soon after arising Monday.

A room clerk at the Birdwell Hotel, where Mrs. Cutweller lived, said she often went to her room and stayed "for days at a time" without coming out.

He passed the door to her room Saturday and heard a low moan. Then he called police.

An ambulance rushed her to St. Paul's Hospital, where she was reported in fair condition, suffering in addition to the hip fracture.

Police said her only living relative is a daughter, Mrs. E. A. Willets of Sewickley, Pa., a Pittsburgh suburb.

Oil Authority, John Kilgore, Dies Sunday

DALLAS (UPI) - John E. Kilgore, 67, one of the nation's foremost authorities on oil, gas and taxation laws, died yesterday at a Dallas hospital.

His law career spanned 47 years.

Kilgore was attorney and secretary for the National Petroleum Council's import committee and in the 1930s helped write the federal Connally Hot Oil Act, a bill making it illegal to transport illegally produced oil in interstate commerce.

He also authored Texas' oil production laws, which put an end to gushers and unlimited withdrawals of the state's oil reserves.

Kilgore belonged to Petroleum clubs of Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Wichita Falls and Midland, Tex. He also was a member of the Dallas Bar Association, State Bar of Texas and the American Bar Association.

The son of a Methodist minister, Kilgore was born in Haynesville, Ala., and came to Texas as an infant. He received his law degree from Southwestern University at Georgetown, Tex., and began his law practice in 1912 with the Huntville, Tex., firm of Dean, Humphrey and Powell.

Just before World War I he was Walker county, Tex., attorney and after serving as an Army officer in France he returned to Cisco, Tex., where he became an attorney for the Texas Company (Texaco).

In 1920 he entered private practice in Wichita Falls and in 1943 he and a brother, James A. Kilgore, formed the Dallas law firm of Kilgore and Kilgore.

Survivors include his wife; a son, John E. Kilgore Jr. of New York; a daughter, Miss Lillian Kilgore of Dallas; and a second brother, Dr. Donald G. Kilgore of Dallas.

Funeral arrangements were not immediately announced.

AF Granddaddy Air Speed King

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Brig. Gen. Joseph H. Moore, a grandfather twice over, Saturday claimed a new world air speed record of 1,216 miles an hour for the U.S. Air Force.

Piloting a Republic P-105 Thunderchief jet, combat equipped, Moore broke the French record of 1,100.426 miles an hour over a 100 kilometer closed course at Edwards Air Force base Friday.

Moore emphasized at a press conference Saturday morning at International Airport here that the new mark has not yet been officially verified by the National Aeronautic Assn.

The Spartanburg, S.C., born flier said he would attempt the flight again over the weekend or early next week if the NAA does not recognize his speed mark.

Quotes In The News

NEW DELHI - President Eisenhower, speaking to Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru just before leaving for Iran: "Frankly, I have learned a little more here than I have in any other country."

NEW YORK - Former President Harry S. Truman, criticizing the unification of the armed forces under the Joint Chiefs of Staff: "It's a shotgun wedding that didn't take."

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif. - Victor Mature's new wife, Adrienne, stating that she and Mature were married in Mexico because of confusion about the legality of their earlier wedding in Italy: "If there is anything Vice hates it is confusion. So we decided to go out and do it all over again."

NEW YORK - Paul Siple, scientific adviser to the U.S. Army Research Office and a former Boy Scout who has spent six years on Antarctica, discussing the new edition of the "Boy Scout Handbook": "In effect it is a sort of boy's bible. It has one advantage over the Bible: It can be revised."

AGRA, New Delhi (UPI) - President Eisenhower saw the Taj Mahal Sunday and declared it "more wonderful than I ever thought."

The American Chief Executive, taking time out from the worries of state to become just another tourist, found himself awed by the extravagant beauty of the three centuries old palace as had untold numbers of travelers before him.

"I have wanted to see this place since I read about it as a little boy," Eisenhower confided to Prime Minister Nehru, who accompanied him on the 25 minute jet flight from New Delhi, 129 miles to the south.

The President said he always had thought of the monument as a "palace of love" - a reference to the fact that it was built by Mogul Emperor Shah Jehan in memory of his wife.

Eisenhower posed for White House photographers beside the glittering marble facade of the building.

It was a warm, sunny day and the President appeared in holiday mood as he tramped about the landscaped grounds and blue pool in front of the palace and in-carvings on the building itself.

He inspected in detail the intricate carvings on the building itself.

His arrival at Agra was marked by the same kind of wild welcome that has been typical throughout his tour. Cheering crowds pelted him with flowers and surged around his motorcade, at several times halting it completely.

Eisenhower, his son, Maj. John, and daughter-in-law, Barbara, wore garlands of orange and red flowers presented them by Agra officials.

McCathern-King Wins ToT Keg Tourney

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

McCathern and King, paced by Larry McCathern's 625, added another scalp to its collection when it won the first annual Top of Texas Bowling Tournament which completed a successful two-week end run at Harvester Bowl Sunday night.

The McCathern team, currently making a runaway of the Classic League, won the Class A title with a blazing 3125, a score which included a 189 handicap.

The team championship in Class B went to Cabot-Franks, which like McCathern and King posted its 3113 in the first weekend of play. Cabot, led by Horace Prince's 580, carried a 396 handicap.

Both top teams won by relatively slim margins, with McCathern edging Your Laundry by 20 pins, and Cabot squeaking past Panhandle Lumber by 19.

In singles, doubles and all-events the winners in both classes were: Singles (A) — R. Lambert, Ama., 682.

Doubles (A) — Lee Bone - Dappling, Ama., 1314.

All-events (A) — Bob Baker, Pampa, 1916.

Singles (B) — J. R. Sims, Pampa, 609.

Doubles (B) — Charles Ashby, Lynn Colville, 1328.

All-events (B) — John Berry, Pampa, 1967.

Harvester Bowl Manager Red Watson, weary when the tourney ground to its close Sunday, said the "tournament must be described as a success 'anyway you look at it'."

Sixty teams were entered, a figure Watson said was "excellent for a first year showing." One hundred fifty-two men entered Class B singles and doubles events, and 68 competed in Class A singles and doubles.

The tourney's high scratch games were Vick Langley's 269 and 259, and Stan Brake's 231. The amazing Langley, 64-year-old Ama-riilo Bowl ace, also threw a classy 671 scratch in doubles, but was edged for high series when Amarillo's J. O'Keefe threw a booming 673.

In one of the tourney's big moments, J. R. Sims tossed a 558 on a 132 average. Sims, who won the B singles title, had games of 302, 170-188.

Members of the winning McCathern team, with scores, are: Dale Haynes, 595; George Gray, 606; Larry McCathern, 625; Ray Stephens, 564; and Joe Wells, 546.

Cabot-Franks bowlers are: George Rallsback, 533; Gerald Vaughn, 483; E. Totty, 535; Horace Prince, 580; and P. J. Rogers, 547.

As far as averages are concerned the tournaments best team was Graham Plow of Amarillo with a team average of 994 and a mere 12 pins handicap. The Graham team rolled an actual 1035 but finished well out of the money with a 2873.

Watson reports that it will probably be two or three days before the official prize list is posted. The following are the unofficial final scores as reported Sunday night.

Class A Teams — McCathern and King, 3125; Your Laundry, 3105; Cedar Lanes of Borger, 3070; American Trailer, Amarillo, 3061; Cedar Lanes, Borger (two teams were entered from Cedar Lanes); 3052; Ebonite Pro Shop, Oklahoma City, 3041; Crown Electric, Amarillo, 3011; Pampa Warehouse and Transfer, 2999; (18 teams entered).

Class B Teams — Cabot-Franks, 3113; Panhandle Lumber, 3094; Celanese, Area 7, 3033; Malcolm Hinkle, 3019; Clovis (N.M.) National Bank, 3006; Panhandle Packing, 3003; Highland Homes, 2998; Jack Oldham, Dumas, 2981; C and M Television, 2981; Celanese, Area 1, 2978; (42 teams entered).

Class A Singles — R. Lambert, 782; J. O'Keefe, 681; Joe Wells, 648; E. Phillips, 640; Estes, 639; B. Riddle, 638; H. Orr, 634; E. Kristinek, Lubbock, 632; J. Linscott, Borger, 625; R. Shelton, 625.

Class B Singles — J. Sims, 699; C. Ikard, 697; W. Hunt, 689; A. Bevely, 678; Ed Chatten, 677; Roland Bowden, 676; Kristinek, 676; Bob Seltz, 674; R. Cox, 673; C. Newton, 671.

Class A Doubles — Bone - Dappling, Ama., 1314; Guy - Jensen, Ama., 1275; Baker-M. Johnson, 1262; O'Keefe-Langley, 1261; Swinford-Howard Musgrave, 1230; J. Clifton-B. Donnell, 1207; Haynes-Gray, 1186.

Class B Doubles — Ashby-Colville, 1328; Buddy Epperson-B. Hicks, 1325; C. Davis-T. Eads, 1314; E. Collins-A. Bona, 1305; G. Blyth-

E. Blyth, 1298; J. Harder-T. Rad-

don, 1290; L. Kimbrough-D. McCullum, 1270; Leon Harris-Jack Kenner, 1269; J. Litch-H. Thompson, 1254.

Class A All-events — Bob Baker, 1916; O'Keefe, 1894; J. Jensen, 1872; Sketon, Oklahoma City, 1869; Langley, 1865; Dale Haynes, 1850; Estes, 1846; Joe Wells, 1845; E. Phillips, 1844; Stan Brake, 1838.

Class B All-events — J. Berry, 1967; J. Tinney, 1950; W. Hunt, 1943; Charles Ashby, 1937; Buddy Epperson, 1922; Kitchens, Borger, 1922; Manny Holden, 1921; L. Kimbrough, Bovina, 1902; R. H. Cox, 1898; Roland Bowden, 1893.

Baltimore - Giant Rematch Set In Pro Playoff Game

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

It'll be Chuck Conery against Johnny Unitas in a duel of red-hot quarterbacks when the New York Giants and Baltimore Colts clash for the second straight year as the climax to another record National Football League season.

Both stars demonstrated over the week end that they're ready for the big show — old pro Conery throwing two touchdown passes as the Giants beat the Washington Redskins, 24-10, Sunday and young super-star Unitas hurling three scoring passes when the Colts clinched the Western Division crown with a 45-26 triumph over the Los Angeles Rams, Saturday.

The decks thus were cleared for a replay of last year's famous "sudden death" overtime won by the Colts, 20-24, at Yankee Stadium. The teams have two weeks to prepare for this year's showdown in Baltimore, Dec. 27.

A total of 315,320 fans turned out for the final week end of the regular season raising the league's season attendance to a new mark of 3,321,444. The old mark of 3,006,124 was set in 1958.

The Cleveland Browns defeated the Philadelphia Eagles, 28-21, the Chicago Bears beat the Detroit Lions, 25-14, the Green Bay Packers routed the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 36-14, and the Pittsburgh Steelers scored a 35-20 victory over the Chicago Cardinals in Sunday's other windup games. The Giants became the first NFL team to win 10 games in a season since 1953 when they rallied from a 10-7 halftime deficit at Washington, D.C.

The Colts trailed going into the final period, 26-24, Saturday but Unitas' third touchdown pass of the game put them in front and they added two clinching six-pointers in a 21-point fourth-period burst.

Jimmy Brown scored two touchdowns on short bursts and gained 152 yards in 33 carries as the Browns tied the Eagles for second place in the Eastern Division. The Bears clinched second place in the Western Division and achieved a seven-game winning streak for the first time in 16 years.

The Packers wound up 7-5 under rookie Coach Vince Lombardi as Bart Starr threw two touchdown passes and Paul Hornung tallied on runs of 13, three, and two yards.

Bobby Layne capped a brilliant season by throwing four touchdown passes for the Steelers who wound up with a 6-5-1 record. Layne, who completed 11 of 19 passes for 201 yards, moved to within 22 yards of the NFL career mark of 22,085 yards gained passing set by Sammy Baugh.

52nd Year

Close Schoolboy Grid Finals Seen

By ED FITE
United Press International

The state schoolboy football wars hit the climax this week end and most observers see an end to the rash of lop-sided scores which have marked this year's playoffs and last year's finals.

The eight survivors from the starting September field of 550 appear to be much more evenly matched than a year ago when Wichita Falls slaughtered Pasadena 48-6, Breckenridge mauled Kingsville 42-14, Stamford white-washed Angleton 23-0 and White Deer pasted Elgin 44-22.

Wichita Falls, Breckenridge and Stamford are back again—as strong, or perhaps even stronger, than last December. But Corpus Christi Ray, Cleburne and Brady stack up as much stouter opposition.

And, Sundown and Katy, the two Class A title foes who will provide a successor to White Deer, shape up as fairly evenly matched.

Ray's powerful Texans, joining Stamford and Katy in packing perfect records into the championship games, as the best bet to break up the West Texas monopoly on schoolboy crowns. Coach Bill Stages' big team might even be a slight favorite.

Most of the finalists are familiar figures in the playoffs with only little Katy never having made the bracketing before. In fact, the three defending champions have been in the finals 11 times and won 10.

Breckenridge, in four appearances, and Stamford in three have never lost a title game. Wichita Falls hasn't either since it bowed 19-12 to underdog Longview in the Coyotes' first appearance in 1957. Since then they have won four championships.

Ray has been to the finals only once, losing to Abilene in 1956.

Robinson Returns To Ring Tonight

BOSTON (UPI)—Aging Sugar Ray Robinson tries to shake off the rust of 20 months of inactivity tonight when he times up for a "middleweight 'title' bout" by taking on Bob Young of Providence, R.I., in a 10-rounder at the Garden.

Robinson hasn't been in a ring since he won the middleweight crown for the fifth time March 25, 1958, defeating Carmen Basilio at Chicago. Since then, the National Boxing Assn. has stripped him of the title for failing to defend it.

Only Massachusetts and New York still recognize Sugar Ray as champion. Robinson will meet Paul Pendar of Brooklyn in a two-state title bout here Jan. 22.

but when Corpus Christi was a one-high school town the coast city teams made it twice—losing 48-0 to Amarillo in 1954 and winning over Lubbock 20-6 in 1958.

Cleburne hasn't made it this far in 40 years, although the Jacks have been semifinalists the past two seasons. It was in 1920, the year before the Interscholastic League divided the state into districts and set up the present playoff system, that Cleburne and Houston Heights played the championship game. It was a scoreless tie.

Brady, which has lost to Stamford 8-0 earlier in the season, has been to the finals twice without success, losing to Stamford 30-7 in 1956 and to Terrell 41-6 in 1957.

Sundown has never made it this far, but the South Plains team got to the quarterfinals in 1954 and the semifinals in 1957 when it played White Oak, the eventual co-champion with Mart, to a 6-6 tie and lost on penalties.

Wichita Falls won championships in 1941-49-50-58, Breckenridge in 1951-52-54-58 and Stamford in 1955-56-58.

Last week's semifinals saw Wichita Falls beat Fort Worth Carter 27-7, Ray down Port Arthur 26-7, Breckenridge stop Mount Pleasant 32-6, Cleburne massacre Falfurrias 53-8, Stamford edge Olney 15-7, Brady stop Palacios 22-0, Sundown beat Crowell 27-12 and Katy, down Madisonville 30-6.

Aaron, Mathews, Banks Lead NL

NEW YORK (UPI)—Outfielder Hank Aaron and third-baseman Ed Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves won the top batting honors of 1959 in the National League.

Aaron won the second batting title of his career with a .355 mark, led in hits with 223 and became the seventh player in the circuit's history to total 400 bases in one season while Mathews hit 46 home runs to take his second championship in that department.

Shortstop Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs won the third leg of the triple crown by driving in 143 runs. He was tied with Mathews with 45 homers each at the end of the regular season but the Milwaukee star hit a 46th homer in the second game of the Braves' playoff with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Longhorns have won all three starts, including last week's only outing—a 9-1 romp past Tulane, and in Jay Arnette they have the circuit's hottest performer. Arnette hit 25 points against Tulane to keep his average at 26 points per game.

The closest man to him is Steve Strange, the junior center who has sparked Southern Methodist to a return to form with 17 and 24-point contributions to 67-56 and 86-67 victories over Oklahoma City and Vanderbilt last week. Strange owns a 20.8-point average.

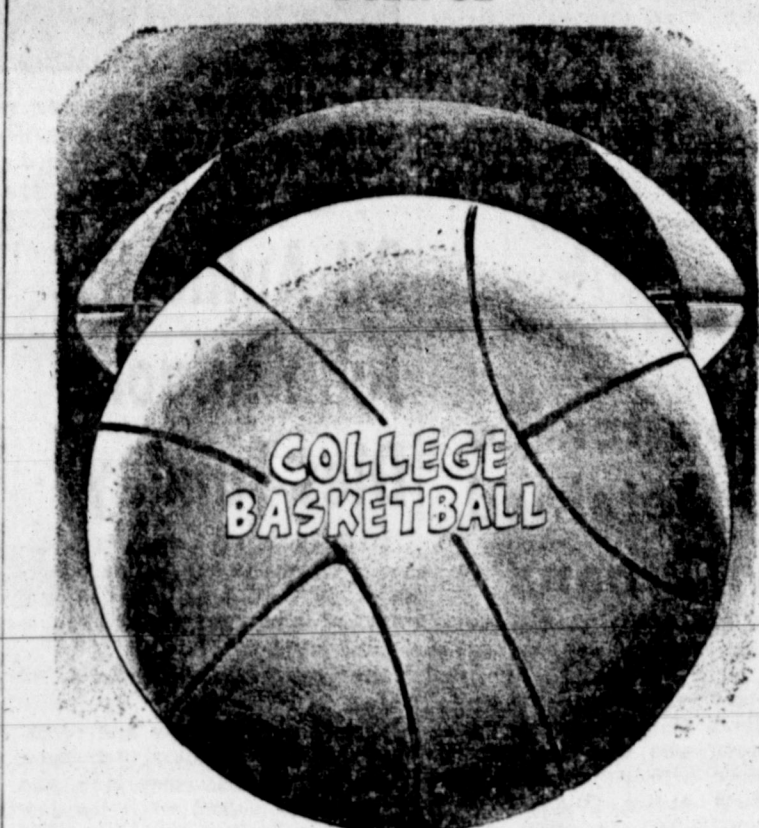

Strange and the Methodists have a tough job ahead Tuesday night in Oklahoma at Norman if they hope to add to their 3-1 season mark, then they tackle Tulane at New Orleans Friday night.

The Texas Aggies, as stingy as they come on defense by allowing four straight victims only 44 points per game, are in action only once this week. But, that one may be a tarter in that the Aggies have to face tough Houston at Houston Thursday night. The Aggies whipped the Cougars 67-49 at College Station then beat Midwestern 70-47.

There'll be ample action for other league members, too, except for Arkansas, which will be idle all week.

TCU plays Creighton at Omaha tonight and Tulsa at Tulsa Thursday night; Texas Tech takes on LSU at Baton Rouge Saturday night; Baylor plays in the Friday-

Longhorns Facing Rugged Schedule

United Press International

The Texas Longhorns, operating at a 90-point per game clip although not as active as other Southwest Conference basketball teams, may find their average slipping as they tackle three foes this week.

Coach Harold Bradley's tall sharp-hitting cagers may not lose much of that lofty average in the week's opener tonight against a Louisiana State team that provided Rice with its first victory last week.

But, the going may be a bit tougher Friday and Saturday when they move into Soonerland for consecutive engagements on the home courts of Oklahoma City University and Tulsa.

The Longhorns have won all three starts, including last week's only outing—a 9-1 romp past Tulane, and in Jay Arnette they have the circuit's hottest performer. Arnette hit 25 points against Tulane to keep his average at 26 points per game.

Saturday tournament at Murray (Ky.) State, and Rice hosts Tulane tonight at Houston, plays Missouri at Columbia, Mo. Thursday and Oklahoma City on the way back home Saturday night.

Baylor lost its unblemished record last week when the Bears bowed at Memphis State 71-56, while Rice won its first victory by beating LSU 71-57 after losing to Vanderbilt 82-72; Texas Tech lost three in a row—85-71 to Kansas, 56-43 to Oklahoma and 76-66 to Iowa; Arkansas beat Tulsa 65-51 but lost to Mississippi 78-63, and TCU also beat Tulsa 90-77 only to lose to Drake 78-61.

Jordan Is KO Victim

NEW YORK (UPI)—Frederick Thompson's sensational fourth-round non-title knockout over champion Don Jordan at Buenos Aires Saturday night, had the following repercussions in the welterweight world today:

Thompson, 32-year-old champion of Argentina, demanded a shot at Jordan's 147-pound crown, and manager Tito Lactoure is appealing to our National Boxing Assn. to arrange the fight.

Jordan of Los Angeles, who suffered his first kayo, says he's committed to a January defense against Carmen Basilio, and "naturally Thompson will have to wait for a while."

Basilio, ex-welterweight and middleweight champion, announced at his home in Chittenango, N.Y., "I'm going to fight again instead of retiring," and said he would campaign for either the welter (147-pound) title or the middleweight (160-pound) crown, depending upon the best offer. He denied he was committed to a Jordan fight.

Jordan, on a South American boxing tour, tangled with Panamanian Thompson of Argentina before 20,000 in Luna Park at Buenos Aires, Saturday night. Thompson, a fleet-footed, in-and-out counterpuncher took command in the third round.

Syracuse Nats In Race For NBA Crown

By United Press International

Suddenly the Syracuse Nationals are back in the Eastern Division race of the National Basketball Assn.

The Nats, recovering after a shaky start, moved to within a game of the second place Philadelphia Warriors Sunday by whipping them, 120-121, in a game which saw the upstate New Yorkers set two club records.

The 150 points represented a Syracuse club high and the Nats tallied 63 field goals, for still another team record. The records they wiped out were 145 total points and 58 field goals.

Syracuse gained added satisfaction when center John Kerr outdid the seldom out done Wilt Chamberlain, Kerr played 33 minutes, canning 36 points and picking off 17 rebounds while Wilt, who also got 36 points, picked off two less rebounds in 35 minutes of action.

In other games Sunday, the St. Louis Hawks took an early lead and then coasted to an easy 118-98 victory over the Cincinnati Royals and Walt Dukes scored 36 points and grabbed 32 rebounds to lead the Detroit Pistons to a 147-129 decision over the New York Knickerbockers.

Cliff Hagan scored 27 points and Bob Pettit picked up 26 along with 19 rebounds to lead the Hawks, while Jack Twyman, who had a 31 point per-game average, was held to only 19.

Rookie Bailey Howell added 30 points and Ed Conlin had 24 to pace the Detroit attack.

NEW YORK (UPI) - Expect no easing in the current credit stringency as long as the general business boom is still in process, says the Value Line investment survey.

Moreover, it points out, because of the usual six-to-eight month lag between money market changes and their impact upon home building, "any action to increase the availability of mortgage funds would probably have little effect on housing activity before the end of next year at the earliest."

An early display of wisdom from the disappointing experience of 1959 should mean a favorable atmosphere for oil shares in 1960; Oil Statistics Co., tells its readers. "Meanwhile, we are optimistic that many leading oils will continue to join in the traditional December-January bull market."

Reynolds & Co. notes that American Steel Foundries shares continue to represent an attractive investment situation, embracing interesting long-term capital gain possibilities, in addition to worthwhile income return.

Three In Family Die In Crash

HILLSBORO (UPI) - Three members of a farm family from near Hillsboro died Saturday night and two other persons were hospitalized following a two-car crash near Hillsboro.

Dead were Paul Burns, 50, his wife, and their daughter, Linda Kay Burns, 12. Hospitalized were the Burns' son, Jerry Paul, 17, and the driver of the other vehicle, Jimmy Ray Taylor. Hospital authorities could not immediately describe the condition of the injured.

The crash occurred one mile from Hillsboro on the Wilney road.

Cuba And Castro

We shouldn't be too cheered by the fact that Cuba's Premier, Castro, beat down Communist attempts to get into positions of influence and potential control in the Cuban labor movement. Red elements are all around him in the key government posts.

Furthermore, the recent labor congress was distinguished more by its venomous anti-Americanism than by anything else. At the moment, blaming the United States is not only the chief sport but the principal policy of the Castro government. It is a convenient cloak for inaction and ineptitude on the important economic front.

Some observers believe that what happens on that front will determine Cuba's immediate future, and perhaps the fate of the social revolution Castro has embarked upon.

Today the Cuban economy is in dire straits. Every indication is that it will get worse. Castro has exhibited no talent for making it work.

There is a feeling that an economic crisis might develop in Cuba within three to four months. If it does, it could be the signal for either the Communists or the counter-revolutionaries to strike at the regime.

Castro admittedly has the bulk of the Cuban populace still with him. But if the economy plunges into the depths, he might find it hard to resist communist solutions. He could then become a Red captive, and ultimately a discard.

On the other hand, counter-revolutionaries known to have strength and to be plotting against the crucial day might conclude that no more suitable moment will come than economic crisis.

It is important to realize these prospects. Castro's hold on the Cuban people may mislead us, as it seems to be misleading him. He imagines he bears a charmed life. But crushing economic facts have a way of destroying charm.

Castro obviously believes himself in full control of Cuba. In some very real ways he is. But in a broader sense he may be in the grip of forces beyond his control. Not he but they may decide where Cuba turns tomorrow.

Unneeded Intrusion

President Eisenhower is giving indications that he is planning getting tough over the impasse in the steel labor-management dispute.

We are sorry to note his attitude because we believe that it harbors no good for the economy. And this means that we believe the President, with the best intentions in the world, will probably do the wrong thing.

Does this mean we have lost faith in him? Not precisely. But it does mean that we don't trust any kind of force or violence when it is shoved into the economy as a way point.

And what can the President do? He can use force. That's about the extent of it. All the things he might think of doing short of using force, he has already done. Now, it must seem to him vitally important that he make use of this final and all-compelling argument.

But here's the problem. Force isn't necessary. The operation of our steel mills — the gigantic process which snuggles the ore out of the earth, transports it to the mills, smelts it, refines it and then ships it again to other mills and to wholesalers, jobbers and retailers, again in manufacture — is a process that has already been going on for a long time. It is almost unthinkable that the government would side against the union in such a case.

But if it did, it would walk a tight rope of danger. Human beings must not be forced to work when they do not want to work. And if the government went against the unions, what could it do of consequence other than that?

Let us consider the much more likely idea that the government would add the weight of its coercion to oppose the position of the steel companies. Here the government would find a well-worn trail. We on the outside can see that the trail is fraught with all kinds of immoral implications. But the simple thing for the government to do would be to compel the companies to meet the union demand. If the companies refuse, the government can readily take over the companies.

If Mr. Eisenhower lives up to his recent threat, it is altogether likely that one or another of these two solutions will offer as a "way out" of the impasse. To take action against the unions would be a very difficult if not impossible thing for the President to do.

But, as we intimated above, no such action is necessary at all. The steel companies can still solve this problem and they can do it swiftly and without recourse to government as an aid, or without opposing it as an adversary. All that the steel companies have to do is to stop dealing "help wanted" signs. At this juncture, it doesn't matter at all whether there's a contract or not. Men who wish to make steel will come forward to work. Men who do not wish to work at the prevailing wage can go out and look for another job more to their liking.

In the last few years, many businessmen have finally arrived at this place in their thinking. And it is almost invariably true that when a businessman stands up a union, refuses to deal with it, and ends up by hiring individual workers who wish to work,

By United Press International

Today is Monday, Dec. 14, the 348th day of the year, with 17 more days in 1959.

The moon is full.

The morning stars are Mercury and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1799, George Washington, first president of the United States, died in Mount Vernon.

In 1819, Alabama entered the Union as the 22nd state.

In 1861, Prince Albert, the husband of England's Queen Victoria, died at Windsor Castle.

In 1863, the man destined to become England's King George VI was born.

In 1911, Norwegian explorer Roald Amundsen discovered the South Pole.

In 1940, Vice Premier Pierre Laval was ousted from office after being charged with plotting to set himself up as the dictator of France.

A thought for today: American author Louis May Alcott said: "Christmas won't be Christmas without presents."

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOLLES

Sound Money Is An Essential Means Of Prosperity

Frederick Nymeyer, in his magazine "First Principles In Morality And Economics", has made a careful study of money and credit. He is convinced, as I am convinced, that all depressions are the aftermath of government authorizing unlimited credit expansion. He puts forth the various arguments of the different ideas of how money should be handled. Under the heading of "How The Zeal For Efficiency In The Use Of Money Manifests Itself In The Way That The Seasonal Demand For Money Is Taken Care Of", he writes:

"The demand for money (in the economic sense, as defined) varies not only by persons but also for the same person. He will deliberately increase his money on hand to anticipate extra needs, and reduce his money on hand when he anticipates less - than-usual needs. These variations do not all offset each other, and so there is a variable seasonal demand for money. It is higher at the end of months, than between month ends; it is even higher at quarterly dates. It is exceptionally high at year ends.

"One way to take care of the high seasonal demand for money is for a merchant to carry the whole year long a balance in his checking account big enough for his maximum demand for money in the fall, or whenever his maximum demand is expected. But that means a kind of 'inefficiency.' He will have 'idle' funds for a large part of the year. To have 'idle' funds means to suffer the loss of interest that might be earned on those funds. Business considers itself too competitive to tolerate that waste or 'inefficiency.' Businesses, therefore, have often become accustomed to having a demand for money in the economic sense which is no more than their demand in their lowest season. What they need above that in their busy seasons they obtain by borrowing for short periods, maybe only a few months, from the banks. Bank loans regularly increase in the fall, because of this phenomenon. The loan money market (ceteris paribus) always tightens up beginning in September and continues into January.

"How do the banks meet the situation? Elaborate financial machinery has been developed to enable the banks to make greater loans seasonally. The reason for this elaborate organization is school of thought: opposed to that idea is known as the Currency School. (The Currency School was successor to the Classical School of Smith and Ricardo.) The Currency School argued, contrarily, that more circulation credit could and would be issued than was 'needed,' and that circulation credit should be prohibited, or more accurately, that no further increase should be permitted. In so far as circulation credit already existed, the Currency School argued that the best thing to do was to leave that amount undisturbed, because there would be injury from decreasing circulation credit as well as from increasing it, and that the damage had already been done by any increase in the past.

"The complex issues between the Banking School and the Currency School are not easy to understand, but for our purposes the issue will be understood if the following ideas of the Banking School are grasped: business needs more and more money as its volume increases; credit is naturally created to finance such business increases; the quantity of money, in the form of credits, safely responds to the needs of business; if too much in credits is given to finance business, the credit will be paid off and thereby be cancelled. There is no real danger in circulation credit. It is the most effective and cheapest way to provide additional money, as business needs it.

"The Currency School dissented; it denied that there was a natural limit restricting the amount of circulation credit. It declared there could and would be over-issue of circulation credit, with the consequences of rising prices, boom, strain, export of gold, and depression.

"The principal leader of the Banking School was Thomas Tooke. He was supported generally by John Fullerton, James Wilson, Bonamy Price, and (in France) by Courcelle Senell.

"The principal leader of the Currency School was Mr. S. Jones Lloyd (Lord Overstone). He was supported by G. W. Norman, Colonel Torrens, and Sir Robert Peel who was mentioned in the previous issue, and who was the British Prime Minister who put through the famous Bank Charter Act in 1844. This Act put into effect the ideas of the Currency School as was related last month."

that business continues, profits are made, peace is restored and all comes out well in the end.

But notice, in this event, no government intrusion is necessary on either side. As we see it, the steel companies have the ball. All they have to do is to elect to run with it. Failing to make that choice may imperil the entire industry and ultimately result in government taking it over.

The public school system of Cincinnati, Ohio, which was organized in 1828, was the first in the Northwest Territory.

Ready For The Holiday Rush

The Allen-Scott Report

ROBERT S. ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

KENNEDY WEIGHING ADVANTAGE OF ANNOUNCEMENT ON JAN. 2 OR 23

WASHINGTON — Senator John Kennedy's formal presidential announcement is now definitely set for one of two dates — January 2 or January 23.

The Massachusetts candidate and most of his immediate advisers favor January 2. Their chief reason is that this is the week-end before Congress reconvenes, and they feel this timing would give his statement a "better news break."

However, Kennedy leaders in New England are urging January 23. That is the date for a big Jefferson-Jackson Day $100-a-plate dinner in Boston, at which he will be the principal speaker. These local advisers hold this would be the most fitting occasion for him to officially throw his hat into the 1960 ring.

While still weighing these two dates, Kennedy has definitely made up his mind on the state primaries he will enter, as follows:

New Hampshire — March 8
Massachusetts — April 26
Indiana — May 3
Nebraska — May 10
Maryland — May 17
Oregon — May 20

Still undecided are Wisconsin on April 5; Ohio, May 3; and the District of Columbia, May 3.

Kennedy is personally inclined to run in Wisconsin, where he has already done considerable campaigning. He is, convinced he would "make a very good showing" against Senator Hubert Humphrey, who views Wisconsin as one of his main battlegrounds.

But a new backstage factor has developed there.

Senator William Proxmire is eager to be his state's "favorite son" candidate, and has indicated to Kennedy he is willing to tangle with Humphrey for the 32 convention delegates.

Senator Wayne Morse's threat to oppose Proxmire, in retaliation for voting for the new labor law, is not taken seriously.

Decision on the Ohio primary depends on what Governor Michael DeSalle does.

If an agreement can be worked out with DeSalle to head a pro-Kennedy delegation, the latter will stay out of that primary. Otherwise, he is prepared to file and wage a vigorous fight for the state's 65 delegates.

In the District of Columbia, some Kennedy supporters already have started organizing for him. But a sizable campaign organization for Senator Humphrey is even further advanced. And militant labor backers of Senator Morse are making motions of putting him in this May 3 primary.

With only a delegates at stake here, and other more important primaries taking place on the same day or shortly thereafter, Kennedy insiders deem it unlikely he will get involved in the D.C. scramble.

POLITICALS — Soon to be announced is a drive to organize "Symington for President" clubs throughout the country. Heading this movement is Representative Charles H. Brown (D., Mo.), who is in close touch with former President Truman. Also very active behind-the-scenes is Clark Clifford, personal White House counsel to Truman, and California oil millionaire Edwin Pauley.

While Maryland's Governor J. Millard Tawes is cold to Senator Kennedy's presidential aspirations, they are being strongly boosted by Baltimore's new, young and forceful Mayor J. Harold Grady. The latter is presiding at a big Kennedy rally this week, and is heading the movement to run him in the state's May 17 primary.

If Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson gives the word, he will be entered in the District of Columbia primary. A number of nationally-known local Democrats are urging him to do that, on assurances of waging a vigorous campaign for him. . . . There

That Which We All Own Federally Controlled

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

Radio is a licensed apparatus accountable to the state, meaning the United States, for its conduct. Thus, radio is not journalism for our press has constitutional freedom and cannot accept license from any authority. Furthermore, radio cannot claim that its expression is "speech" because here again, radio, like dogs, being with out conscience, submits to the licensing authority of the politicians who manage the state. Radio's advocates insist that it partakes of the freedom of speech conferred by the First Amendment. But the speech which the founding fathers had in mind was the speech of individuals.

The trumpet was in use by masters of sailing vessels in tempest but there is no excuse to go wide of the plain fact that the bill of rights had in mind speech in its simplest form. The trumpet, itself, had no rights.

A radio station or chain is a soulless machine like the trumpet. We need not inquire whether radio has property rights because that would lure us into jungles remote from the subject of freedom of speech. However I will entertain the question long enough to dispose of it.

The air, as property, belongs to me, personally. My right to this property precludes any claim of any exploiter of that national public resource. Inasmuch, however, as my own tiny portion of the "air" is useless alone but can be effective when joined with all the other minute portions, I have yielded my interest in the property to the government and deputized the government to manage it in my name. So have all the rest of us. Altogether, this constitutes the domain of the "air" which the Federal Communications Commission tries to govern under very inadequate laws.

For a long time, under Roosevelt, the FCC was infested with communist agents. Thus, opponents of the Roosevelt regime were brutally muzzled, harassed and even prosecuted on false charges by the Department of Justice while scoundrels had carte blanche to smear honest men with the courage to fight the regime and its soul mates in and from Moscow.

In this formative stage, radio became as it still remains, a menace to freedom, morals and individual privacy, peace and reputation.

It was no exaggeration to say that Hitler captured Austria by radio. It is true also that Roosevelt captured the reason of the American people and of many editors by the melodious, wheedling, con man's babble which he dribbled into our senses in stultifying fireside chats starting, "My friends."

This faker never had a friend in his life although, as all confidence men must, in the nature of their calling, he did captivate suckers who momentarily trusted him as big brother. Above that rabble he had accomplices such as Harry Hopkins, Harold Ickes and many low characters whom he contemptuously bribed with life-long jobs on the federal bench at wages which exceeded their expectations in the ordinary practice of the racket of the law. They were tempted not only by immunity from personal assault by their victims but as well by immunity from imprisonment, and an occupational risk of their calling as lawyers before the bar.

And, of course, Roosevelt was no friend of anyone at any time. Even his childhood, and adolescence yield no evidence of friendship toward anyone contemporary. If he couldn't bat, he picked up his ball and went home.

He further seduced us with his calculated, confidential, scrooching reiteration "You know and I know . . ." He and Hitler were the two greatest tailgate expounders of all time. The memory induces sheepishness now, although many generations have their crushes, as witness our infatuation with Woodrow Wilson.

Roosevelt is reminiscent of the gaunt professor in the medicine shows, prowling our backwash fifty years ago with a kerosene flare glittering and moths and mosquitoes snapping in the flames, hypnotizing the magic powers of oriental tiger-marrow-fat for the crowd, the rump, the bolls, night sweats, consumption and the stone.

"And thank you my friends," the professor said, "as you'll thank me for this is the best dollar you ever invested."

Now that the spell is over we can only admit that a fool there was, multiplied by 104-million-plus in the returns of four elections. By inexperience, fascination and dull apathy we let a few business firms establish a vested right to "the

The Nation's Press

GRATITUDE IS DUE (Christian Economics)

Last year the du Pont Company awarded $1,200,000 to one hundred thirty-nine universities and colleges. How did it become rich enough to do this?

The du Pont Company became rich by serving the people — by making things the people wanted and by offering them for sale at less than they, or substitutes, could be obtained elsewhere. What would American women be wearing for stockings and how much would they cost if nylon had not been developed? The chemical company grew large because it met many needs at lower costs. For doing so it earned some hundreds of millions for its stockholders who supplied the money.

To make possible these "great services" but it saved billions for the public who were eager to purchase the products.

This story is typical of most of our great American business enterprises. We can think of many of them that have become rich because they have conferred far greater riches upon the people. How much would bread cost, for instance, and how much of it would we have if wheat had to be sown, harvested, transported, milled and baked into bread by hand? Suppose a few inventors of harvesting, milling, baking and transportation machinery did become multi-millionaires? That is nothing in comparison with the billions of dollars of benefit that have accrued to the public as the result of their efforts.

If these great business units had not developed there might possibly be half as many of us in the United States and we would certainly be working at back-breaking toil ten to twelve hours a day in order to live on a scale probably a quarter of our present standard. We would be enduring hardships and deprivations that have been unknown to most of our people for more than a generation.

Why do so many people abuse our great business organizations, find fault with them, and seek to control and gouge them in a great variety of ways? What would we do without them? How otherwise would we avoid returning to a more primitive handicraft form of society with the endless toil that involves?

Capital and competent management of large business undertakings are the two reasons why human muscle supplies less than 2 per cent of the energy required in the production of the goods and services the American people consume. Before we had big business organizations controlling large amounts of capital, we had to live mainly on what could be produced by human and animal muscle power. If we don't want to go back to that hard existence we better stop persecuting our large business enterprises and encouraging the men who had demonstrated that they have the capacity to operate them. We owe to these men and these organizations most of what we enjoy, and it is time for us to show a little gratitude.

P. S. Lest someone should say this is a payoff we hasten to add that we have never received a cent from the du Pont company, nor, with very few minor exceptions, from any other big business enterprises.

Besides citrus fruits, rich and inexpensive sources of C vitamin include cooked kale, dandelion greens, flower stalks of broccoli or turnip greens and frozen strawberries.

If you have anemia or "tired blood," your richest and least expensive sources of iron are beef heart and liver, lean hamburger, canned corned beef, bologna, red or lima beans, split or canned green peas, prunes or prune juice, dried apricots or raisins, cooked collards, spinach, dandelion greens or turnip greens, roasted peanuts, and dates. If you're in the money, add raw clams and oysters, clam chow-

Guest Columnist: Unexpected Version

This is a guest column, un solicited but deeply appreciated, by my nephew, Timmy Carlson, age 10.

Finding a sheet of paper in my typewriter when he came in from play, Timmy, without bothering to take off his football headgear, put down what he, a fifth-grader, thinks of the world today. His copy comes to you untouched by adult hand.

Our country is letting other countries get away with murder. Kruschner is plain crazy. The Washington Senators ought to give up baseball because they're so crummy.

Girls are ridiculous, especially those stupid teen-agers.

Uncle Walt, Romper Room and Captain Kangaroo ought to be condemned.

The Twilight Zone: Bonanza. The Man and The Challenge. The Untouchables, and Shock are neat but I can't stay up late enough to see half of them. Oh, I forgot Five Fingers. That's neat, too.

A kid ought to be made President.

Why doesn't my mother let me chew bubble gum?

Kids ought to have 10 minutes of school every week, and should have 11 months vacation.

Wonder why Mom got mad when I broke my toe?

My picks on the Bowls: Washington over Wisconsin, purely because my mother went to college there and I feel generous. P. S. She'd kill me if I didn't. Georgia over Missouri. What else? Personally I'd rather see Slippery Rock Teachers play Ga. Tech over Arkansas. I don't know why. Mississippi over LSU. I think Cannon is overrated and Flowers ought to bloom.

The Chicago White Sox are a bunch of hums.

The biggest fish I ever caught was a 113-pound shark. Wonder why no one believes me?

I never get to see sports pages in the morning, darn it!

Boy! Am I glad I can beat up my sister, otherwise "ouch!"

My mother is altogether too busy with furniture, plants, clothes, etc., etc.

I like people who like me.

Why don't they pass a law that allows kids to print counterfeit report cards?

The funniest commercial I have seen was the Miracle of Liver Bile. What I'd like for Christmas — Ping-Pong set, "Automobile Year," a football because I pop one every year.

Gifts I'd like to give to everyone: a million dollars if I had it, which I don't, and of course if I did have it I wouldn't give it away.

I like babies. I was one once, you know.

Never stay awake all night on Friday nights because your mother will always make you go back to sleep on Saturday morning.

I like modern architecture.

I'd vote for Rockefeller because my mother and father are Republicans and I don't like Nixon's haircut.

I think only men over 65 ought to be allowed to vote — nobody else — because they have been around. No women should be allowed to vote at all.

Thank you, Timmy. You're welcome to my typewriter any time.

Their indecent character was not really discovered but only confirmed and advertised by the recent revelations of perjury and fraud in the TV quizzes.

To date this story has no ending.

Bill Sims, Owner 501 Lowry, Pampa'Classical' Tap Dance Repertoire
Acclaimed By Concert AudienceBy JEANNE WILLINGHAM
For The Pampa Daily News

No one has brought so much originality and creative imagination to tap, or done so much to raise its stature as an art, as Paul Draper. Draper was presented Friday evening by the Pampa Community Concert Association in a tap dance concert thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

Draper was the first dancer to blend tap and ballet into one dance form, ballet-tap; the first dancer to tap dance to classical music; the first and only dancer ever to give a tap dance concert at Carnegie Hall. He demonstrated this remarkable ability Friday by dancing to the music of Bach, Handel and Beethoven, modern jazz and sometimes to no music at all.

Draper was assisted on the program by his protegee, lovely Ellen Martin, who has great charm and personality. She has a very nice line of movement on stage and an excellent satirical and humorous vein.

Robert Kaufman, New York pianist, accompanied the entire program and also played some very lovely solos.

The program opened with classical numbers including a Bach gigue, some court dances from the opera "Alicia" by Handel, followed by a Sonata For Tap Dancer which was done completely without music.

Some of the lighter numbers particularly enjoyed by the audience
