Radford Plan Stirs Revolt By 3 Chiefs

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that strategic planning in America's defense reportedly has been halted until after the November election because of a "revolt" by the chiefs of the three armed forces against Adm. Arthur W. Radford.

A proposal by Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to slash the nation's armed forces by about 800,000 men by 1960 was said to have united the service chiefs in vigorous protest against his ideas.

In a dispatch from Washington, the Times said the three chiefs objected to Radford's proposal on the grounds the reduction would shrivel U.S. armed force contributions to the defense of Europe.

The Times said:

"The political implications of his concept of policy for three years ahead, signifying in effect withdrawal to a fortress America, were reported to have alarmed high Defense Department officials. The result was an order to put strategic planning 'on ice' until after the election."

Who gave the stop order was not learned but it was assumed that it was either Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson or Reuben B. Robertson Jr., his deputy.

Both exert influence over planning the "new look" in defense for the fiscal years 1958, 1959 and 1960. The service chiefs have been engaged in the strategic planning for about two months.

The Army reportedly was bracing itself for a possible cut of 80,000 to 100,000 men in the fiscal year 1958 which starts next July 1, and it was estimated that such a reduction would mean the withdrawal of 40,000 men from overseas bases.

"Adm. Radford was reported to be giving the impression to colleagues that he had President Eisenhower's support for his general objectives," the dispatch added, "although it was believed his highly controversial memorandum on the reductions had not been read by the President."

The chiefs of staff are: Army, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor; Air Force, Gen. Nathan F. Twining; and Navy, Adm. Arleigh A. Burke.

Sen. Johnson Urges Relief For Livestock

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today he has asked Secretary of Agriculture Benson to act at once to save the Texas livestock industry from "complete disaster."

Johnson told the Senate he has asked Benson to make feed and grain available at cost from Commodity Credit Corp. surplus stocks and designate county agricultural stabilization committees to administer the program.

To illustrate the plight of livestock raisers in the prolonged drought, Johnson told the Senate:

'They are saying, with grim humor, that in some parts of Texas it has been dry so long that six-months-old bullfrogs have not ye learned how to swim."

Johnson quoted J. B McCord president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Assn., as saying the state's livestock industry is "facing complete disaster" within a few weeks "unless something is done to help farmers and ranchers obtain feed at cost."

"In some areas of Texas there has not been adequate rainfall during the last seven or eight years," Johnson declared.

He said that in his own home county of Blanco, "many stockmen have reduced their beef herds as much as 50 per cent" and sheep and goat herds have been cut one-third.

Tax Notices Explained

Several people have made inquiries concerning the cards sent out to taxpayers notifying them of the meeting of the City Board of Approximation and Equalization according to Roy Dunlap, city manager.

"You do not have to come before the board," Dunlap explained, "unless you desire to speak to them. The cards were sent out to give notice of the meeting so that anyone who wishes to come before the board will know when it is meeting."

Dunlap emphasized again that the 100 per cent value will not be changed in the present tax rate raise, but that rendition value will be raised five per cent.

HOUSTON (AP)— Police arrested a man, 32, driving through town naked last night.

"It gets so darned hot in this car," the man said.

$2¼-Million School Budget Approved

The Snyder school board last night adopted a $2,267,048 budget for the coming school year for the Snyder Independent Consolidated School District.

This is $230,160 more than the 1955-56 budget, which was $2,036,888.

While many budgeted items are more and many are less than those for the school year now ending, it might be said that the budget increase was caused by the salary and staff increases. Recently the salary scale of teachers and personnel was raised, while staff increases have been necessitated, mostly because of a new elementary school being prepared for opening. Salaries for the coming school year will be $1,170,717, compared to $923,208 for the 1955-56 school year, an increase of $247,509.

The new budget calls for $86,062 for administration, compared to this year's $84,202; $59,509, for supplies, compared to this year's $54,510; $29,163 for other instructional services, compared to this year's $31,551. Other school services will cost $126,165, down from this year's $128,210.

Operation of plant is budgeted at $131,418, compared to this year's $122,796, and main maintenance of plant is to cost $61,730, up from this year's $45,273.

Fixed charges are at $16,212, while they are $13,510 this year. In the new budget, community services will be $1,000, compared to $2,000 this year. Summer school will be at the same figure as this year, $600, as will public adult education, budgeted at $300. Capital outlay is $104,042, compared to this year's $93,228.

For debt service and the interest and sinking fund, there will be $480,130, compared to this year's $536,900.

The school board had studied the budget for several weeks and had pared it down considerably from original estimates.

Receipts for the coming school year will include these figures: balance, Aug. 31, $1,000; federal funds, vocational education $10,164, and cafeteria reimbursement $30,000; per capita apportionment, $306,062; county available funds, $3,000; local taxes, based on 99 per cent collection at the $1.06 rate on $136 million valuation, $1,427,184; other local receipts, $7,500; and local taxes for the interest and sinking fund, at 36 cents per $100 valuation, $484,704.

Totals of the receipts will be $2,269,614.

In other business, the board accepted a proposal of the Fund for the Advancement of Education that the Snyder schools be included in several in the U. S. to conduct studies on staff utilization in the junior and senior high schools, beginning probably about the second semester of the coming year. The Ford Foundation has provided funds for these studies.

Schools proposed for the studies include those at Vancouver, Wash., Evanston and Chicago, Ill., St. Paul, Minn., Newton, Mass., Snyder, one in the Rocky Mountain area, and one in the Deep South.

After reviewing a new request from an insurance agency to be included in the insurance program of the school district, the board decided to study its present policy on administration of the insurance program.

Politicos Scatter For Weekend Drive

By The Associated Press

Candidates for governor scattered over Texas this weekend in their drive for votes. Four appeared on the same platform Thursday night at Bellaire near Houston.

J. J. Holmes and Reuben Senterfitt criticized big city newspapers for what they termed "lack of fair play and objective news reporting." Holmes urged legalized horse race betting and Senterfitt hit campaign promises made by his foes.

Ralph Yarborough restated his promise to "clean-up" the state government and said "not one of the five other candidates lifted a voice against this corruption until he announced for governor."

J. Evetts Haley told the Bellair crowd of about 1,000 that the sole issue in the campaign "is the loss of liberties and the destruction of the white race itself—all wrapped up in the immoral decision of the Supreme Court."

Representing Price Daniel, a Houston attorney, Bennet Ley, said that Daniel "is the one man who can give Texas a sane government."

The sixth candidate, W. Lee O'Daniel, was campaigning in Central Texas.

Friday's schedules called for Daniel to be at Lufkin, Nacogdoches, Henderson, Jacksonville and Palestine, Yarborough at Longview, Marshall, Paris, Sherman and Denison and O'Daniel at Graham, Throckmorton, Anson and Haskell.

Yarborough said a candidate for governor must have the will to clean up current corruption and the ability to clean it up. He renewed his pledges to raise teacher salaries and teacher retirement pay.

"I confidently predict that I'll be elected," he said.

Senterfitt said few large city newspapers should be listed in the yellow pages of the telephone directories as public relations experts.

"They've apparently found the Messiah, the indespensible candidate," he said. "Newspapers have the responsibility to report objectively the news of the campaign. I look upon the George Parr issue being publicized as a smoke screen to cover up real issues of the race."

Holmes said he is the only candidate with a solution for the money problem of Texas — parimutual horse race betting.

Bullet Has Been In His Chest 59 Years

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)— Patent attorney Frank Liverance, 73, of Olivet, discovered this week that he still carries a bullet in his chest from a .22 rifle accident some 59 years ago.

"I doubt whether I'll have it removed—it's been my bosom companion all these years," Liverance said today.

Overseas Aid Chief Agrees With Dulles

ROME (AP)—The chief of the U.S. overseas aid said today he fully agrees with Secretary of State Dulles that a disaster for the free world would result if House cuts in foreign aid appropriations are allowed to stand.

John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration, spoke at a news conference. He is here for consultations with Italian officials before attending next Monday's meeting of the Council of Ministers of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation in Paris.

U. S. Rejects Proposal To Halt Nuclear Blasts

Tests To Endure Until Pact Made

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States firmly rejected today Soviet-supported proposals by India and Yugoslavia for a ban on experimental explosions of nuclear weapons.

Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the U. N.'s 12-member Disarmament Commission such testing will continue until an international agreement can be reached establishing safeguards against the possible use of these weapons.

"In the absence of such an agreement," Wadsworth said, "the United States consider the testing of nuclear weapons is essential for our own defense and for the safety of our friends."

He also said:

"We shall continue to work for an agreement in which the limitation of tests would be an integral part and we will do everything we can to assure that radiation will not rise above tolerable levels."

British Minister of State Anthony Nutting took a similar position. He said testing of A-bombs and H-bombs cannot be banned until the manufacture of such weapons also is prohibited.

They spoke after Yugoslav Delegate Joza Brielej formally presented a resolution intended to put the commission on record in favor of the proposed ban.

The Western position was indicated by French Delegate Jules Moch yesterday after India's V. K. Krishna Menon had made a long plea for prohibition of the test explosions.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko recalled that his government previously had advocated an agreement ending the tests. In view of this, he said, Russia's attitude twoard Menon's proposal was "positive."

Gromyko asserted that U. S. arguments against banning the explosions were unconvincing.

"If the West continues to obstruct agreement," he said, "then it is obvious that the tests will continue — including tests in the Soviet Union."

Reds Ask European Controls

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin today called for the establishment of an all-European organization—in which both the Soviet Union and the United States would take part—to control peaceful use of atomic energy.

A circular distributed to the American, British, French and other embassies proposed the organization as a substitute for Euratom, the six-nation agency which the nations of the Schuman coal-steel pool now are in the process of organizing. The six are France, West Germany, Italy Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Soviet statement charged Euratom would be a tool of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It asserted that West German participation in Euratom would deepen the division of Germany and in effect give the Germans the chance to manufacture atomic weapons.

"The Soviet government considers the moment opportune to convoke a conference of European countries to examine the problem of creating a regional organization for peaceful use of atomic energy.

"This organization could be created on an intergovernmental basis with the participation of all European states which express a desire to do so. The United States could also participate in this organization."

The Communist nations have their own atomic organization—the United Institute of Nuclear Research. It includes not only European states but Communist China, Outer Mongolia and North Viet Nam. The Soviet has contributed nuclear research equipment to the organization, which plans to set up its center in the Soviet Union.

Korean Warns Of Red Jets

SEOUL (AP)—The chief of South Korea's air force warns that if the Communists attack again in Korea, waves of Red jets will sweep Allied air power from the skies within minutes.

"We have no way to defend ourselves against the first attack," declared Lt. Gen. Kim Chung Yul, the ROK (Republic of Korea) air force chief of staff, in an interview.

"We certainly would be faced with the difficult job of winning back control of the air."

The two 75-plane wings of F86 Sabre Jets—one ROK and one American—in Korea would offer no more than token resistance to the more than 500 MIG jets the Communists could throw into the initial assault, Kim declared.

U.S. Air Force officers said privately that the tremendous Red plane buildup, in violation of the Korean armistice, is partly responsible for the recent shift of U.S. air strength out of Korea.

U. S. planes now based in Japan and Okinawa would be of little help as interceptors, Gen. Kim said, pointing out that Japan-based jets can fight for only a few minutes over Korea before heading home to refuel.

Korean officers estimate Communist air strength in North Korea and Manchuria at about 775 planes, including more than 500 jets. Of the total, 450 aircraft—mostly MIG jets—are operating from North Korean bases, Gen. Kim said.

No Progress Made In Steel Session

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Negotiators trying to break a deadlock in the 13-day-old nationwide steel strike met for 2½ hours today but United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said "there's been no change in the situation."

Immediately after the joint meeting recessed, the industry negotiating team went into a private huddle with federal mediators who had been standing by.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said the caucus was arranged at the request of industry negotiators.

Union and company representatives said their meeting will resume Monday morning.

John A. Stephens, vice president of U.S. Steel Corp., and chief industry negotiator, had no comment.

Finnegan said mediators had no plans at present to caucus with the union unless such a session is requested. McDonald said he did not plan to make such a request.

McDonald reiterated his desire to negotiate an agreement that would end the strike and send his 650,000 basic steelworkers back to work. He added that as of now he could foresee no developments over the weekend.

Before yesterday's talks got under way, McDonald stepped from a midtown hotel where the negotiations are in progress to tell reporters he believed the industry had "no intention" to work out a new wage contract "at this time."

Stephens, asked to comment on McDonald's remarks, declared:

"As one who tries very hard at collective bargaining, I will not prejudge a meeting before participating in it. I can assure you that I and my associates will do our utmost to reach agreement."

Demos Flock Into Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP)—Democratic party leaders from seven Southern states moved on Atlanta today for a weekend get-together on how to inject the Southern viewpoints into any civil rights and segregation planks of the national party platform.

Leaders from Mississippi had planned earlier to attend but State Chairman Thomas J. Tubb said yesterday he could not come or find anyone else to send.

Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Virginia and Tennessee are sending representatives.

South Carolina Chairman Nevil Bennett invited 11 states but spokesmen from Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas said that for various reasons their states would not be represented.

Bennett and others active in the movement emphasized that it was not aimed in the direction of a third party. The South Carolinian said the major aim would be to get across Southern opposition to anti-segregation and civil rights planks in the Democratic platform.

Porter Faces More Trouble

HOUSTON (AP) — Republican committeeman Jack Porter, threatened with a subpoena to testify at a Washington Senate hearing about alleged job sales to federal workers in Texas, was headed for more trouble today. A member of his own party charged him with "threats and bribery by inference."

The Houston Chronicle reported from Washington that a spokesman for the Senate Postoffice and Civil Service Committee said Porter would be called to testity "because he is the center of this whole business."

County Republican Chairman Harry Linderman told the newspaper Porter had used "threats and bribery by inference to block my re-election" to that post.

Linderman said Porter is backing Emmet Smith, insurance man and former U.S. Marshall, for the county chairman.

Ike-Nixon Parley Washed Out Today

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A conference between President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon on U. S. policy in the Far East was washed out today.

Nixon got as far as the Washington Airport, but a heavy rain and poor flying weather here brought postponement of the trip until tomorrow.

Secretary of State Dulles did make it to Gettysburg in a light twin-engine Air Force plane. Dulles was driven to the Eisenhower farm.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the secretary "is discussing entirely State Department business" and there was nothing further Dulles or Hagerty could say about it.

The original plan was for Nixon and Dulles to meet together with Eisenhower so that Nixon could report to both of them at the same time on his 11-day, 27,000-mile trip on which he circled the globe and called at six Asiatic capitals.

Nixon and Dulles had attended a Cabinet meeting at the White House, at which Nixon presided.

Hagerty told reporters that Nixon will come up instead at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

On another matter, Hagerty was asked about a published report that Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has recommended cutting U. S. military manpower by 800,000 men by 1960, Hagerty said, "I don't know anything about it."

And, Hagerty said, he wouldn't try to find out.

There was word from GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall yesterday that Eisenhower has again made it "absolutely" clear he would be pleased to have Nixon for his 1956 running mate.

The race began Saturday at San Carlos, Calif., and ended 2,336 miles later at Flint, Mich. With her in Flint is her sister, Mrs. Edna Bower, who flew the race but is not a pilot. Mrs. Bera is from Los Angeles, Calif., and has more than 16 years and 6,000 hours of flying. She won in 1953 and 1955, and was co-pilot in the winning plane in 1951. This was her sixth Powder Puff Derby.

Fear Of Capture Is Believed Holding Up Return Of Baby

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—A Weinberger family spokesman said today the parents of the kidnaped baby now believe the kidnaper's fear of capture and not the amount of ransom is holding up the return of the baby.

David Holman, an uncle of Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger, mother of the missing 5-week-old infant, made that comment when asked about reports that the Weinbergers had $25,000 ready to ransom the child.

Holman, a former Nassau County assistant district attorney, also revealed police no longer are watching St. Brigid's Roman Catholic Church here. It has been kept open 24 hours a day in hopes the kidnaper would leave the baby there.

A dim light burns outside the church at night but Holman said the kidnaper could run into the church with the child without risking identification.

"I don't think it's a case of money now," said Holman. "I'm afraid apprehension and fear on the part of the kidnaper will keep him hiding. If any contact is made now, it will be made indirectly."

This is the ninth day since Peter was taken from his carriage on the rear patio of the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger.

Each time the telephone rings in their home they hope against hope that this time it will be the real kidnaper, with news of their baby and how they can get him back.

With deadly frequency, however, it is some misguided crackpot or sadistic joker who pretends he knows where the child is and cruelly raises the Weinbergers' hopes.

Nassau County Chief of Detectives Stuyvesant Pinnell, who has been in charge of the case from the start, yesterday disclosed that the ransom note was signed "Your Baby Sitter."

The Weinbergers have never employed a baby sitter, although they have at times hired nurses.

Pinnell also disclosed none of the dozens of callers so far has used the "Your Baby Sitter" tag to identify himself as the kidnaper.

However, it was pointed out that other parts of the note, not yet disclosed, could be used as a positive means of identifying the kidnaper.

Russian Jews Losing Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian Jews, despite heroic efforts to preserve their faith, are "waging a losing battle against communism's fundamental hostility to religion," three American rabbis said on their return from the Soviet Union.

A joint statement they issued on their arrival home yesterday said their experiences in the U.S.S.R. led them to "the melancholy conclusion that Judaism in Russia is seriously threatened with extinction."

The statement added:

"While the Soviet regime speaks of religious freedom and has, in fact, somewhat relaxed some of its repressive measures, its policies continue to restrict and strangle Jewish life."

Superstition Is Dangerous

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — You are convinced that today, Friday the 13th, will be an unlucky day?

Then watch out, says a Rutgers University sociologist. You may "tighten up" so much you'll be dangerous to yourself.

Dr. Joseph B. Maier, assistant professor of sociology at the Rutgers Newark College of Arts and Sciences, said today that the evil attributed to some magical beliefs and practices actually may be rought about by persons who believe in them.

"Think of unlucky days, magic numbers, black cats, umbrellas opened indoors, knocking on wood, and the like," he said, "and you cannot escape the impression that modern society is not so far removed from beliefs in other than natural causes. The business about Friday the 13th is, of course, bosh.

"But what the sociologist cannot overlook is the fact that lots of people believe in and act on that bosh. To people who are superstitious, this is a serious matter. So serious that they tend to be worrisome, tighten up and acually may be dangerous to themselves."

Dr. Maier said some people believe the Friday the 13th jinx began at the time of the crucifixion, which took place on a Friday after Christ met with his 12 disciples. There were 13 in the room.

Loses In Car Trade; He's Riding Bus Now

BALTIMORE (AP) — Theodore B. Fowler had a car, went to trade it for a new one and went home by bus without any.

Fowler's complaint to the department of motor vehicles has been referred to the state's attorney.

Fowler reported that while he and a salesman were negotiating, another took away his car. Meanwhile, Fowler signed what he said he thought was a conditional sales contract.

But fmally he didn't like the deal and asked for his car back. The salesman told him he had sold it by signing the contract. Besides, he was told, his car already had been sold to another.

W. A. MORRISON

Morrison On Visit Here

Judge W. A. Morrison, presiding judge of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, was in Snyder briefly Thursday afternoon in the interest of his campaign for re-election.

He was making a sort of "whirlwind" tour of a large segment of West Texas. Travelling by private plane his itinerary called for stops in 15 towns this week, covering the territory from Dallas to Monahans and from Colorado City to Dumas.

Judge Morrison was elected to the Court of Criminal Appeals six years ago. Prior to that he served as city attorney of Cameron, district attorney of the 20th judicial district and later district judge. While serving as district attorney he was president of the District and County Attorneys Association.

On Jan. 1, 1955, Judge Morrison became presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, making him the youngest man in history to hold that post. In October of last year he was elected by the judges in Texas as chairman of the judicial section of the State Bar.

In addition to Snyder Judge Morrison was visiting Dallas, Fort Worth, Dalhart, Dumas, Plainview, Littlefield, Levelland, Brownfield, Lamesa, Colorado City, Fort Stockton, Pecos, Monahans, Stamford and Haskell.

WOMEN

Spadea's International Designer Pattern

Joset Walker spends a good deal of her time travelling in various parts of the world, knows therefore the kind of costume that cuts down on packing and weight. This new design of hers is one of her favorites since when worn with its bertha collared, double breasted bolero made with or without sleeves, it is a perfect dress for daytime and summer cover up in any cosmopolitan atmosphere. Come sundown, the jacket is left at home to reveal the low neckline with its narrow straps cut in one with the bodice. Wrapping the waist is a softly crushed cummerbund with attached breezy bow and streamers, very effective in matching fabric if you're using a printed silk for the outfit. The skirt has a panel front and back and inverted pleats on either side. The pattern, available in exclusive retail sizing measurements, is accurately cut by hand with open perforations for precise markings. Make it in foulard, novelty cottons, shantung, sheer wool or linen. With a crisp fabric choose a contrasting soft texture for the cummerbund.

Size 12 requires 6⅝ yards of 39 inch material for dress and jacket and 1⅛ yards of 39 inch material for contrast. To order Pattern No. S-310, state size, enclose $1.00. Airmail handling requires 25c extra. Address INTERNATIONAL DESIGNER PATTERNS, P. O. Box 993, G. P. O. Dept. SX-13, New York 1, N. Y. 96 page Pattern Book "B" - -50c. If paid by check add 4c.

Be Ready For Barbecues

By VIVIAN BROWN
(AP) Newsfeatures Writer

AN OUTDOOR DINING cabinet, a place where all paraphanalia for the purpose may be stored, is just what you need for summer.

If you can't plan one outdoors, put it inside, or reserve a shelf in the cupboard with the same idea in mind.

Dining out is fun. But it's a chore to round up equipment when the family decides "well, why not eat outdoors" Then Dad can't locate the charcoal, the mosquito candles are sogged by rain, and the paper plates have gone with the wind.

MAKE LIFE simple by putting these things within easy reach. Experiment with shortcuts to this easy living idea, such as the simple-fire type of charcoal lighting (just light a box and the fire begins), and paper plates and cups may be tossed right into the refuse. There are hot and cold cups now for drinks and all sorts of containers for the table — paper buckets for potato salad and other foods, smaller units for desserts.

Your outdoors cabinet could include charcoal, paper plates, paper cups, salad bowl, pepper and salt, tin foil, paper napkins, charcoal seasonings, dolies, mosquito candles, forks and knives. Ditto can opener, salad fork and spoon, spatula, meat fork and a barbecue brush for coating on the meat sauce. If Dad wears a chef's apron and hat include it, also an asbestos glove.

• • •

YOU MIGHT put your standard company shopping list for outdoor eating in this Cabinet also. It would include the number of pound of hamburgers, hot dogs, steak or beans needed for a given number of people and some menus for outdoor dining that you've found successful.

Plane To Make Globe Flight In Slow Motion

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A KC97 plane from MacDill air force base here will start out next month on a flight around the globe.

Contrary to most flights these days, this one will be in slow motion. It will take about 60 days.

The plane will fly around the Earth's midsection to help plot the geomagnetic equator—that is, to locate points at which the magnetic pull of the North and South Poles is equal. It is a project of the Air Research and Development Command.

The KC97, most often used as a tanker to refuel other huge planes in flight, will carry ground crew members for the project and extra air crew members.

Boy Hooks Big Carp; Or Did Fish Get Him?

WAHOO, Neb. (AP)—Larry Eads, 13, got his fish all right—but it's a question whether he caught the fish or the fish caught him.

Larry spied a pound and a half carp in shallow water and grabbed it with his bare hands.

A fin penetrated his left palm and he had to hold it tightly with his right hand while the Wahoo fire department first aid squad, summoned from a farm house by a pal, made a quarter mile run and a squad member cut the fin from the fish. Then a doctor cut the fin from Larry.

'Camise' Is New Number In Fashion

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—It's sort of a camisole and kind of a chemise, so glamor designer Ceil Chapman calls it a "camise."

It's the loose-bloused top with camisole straps, usually jeweled or beaded, which distinguished the newest silhouette in the Chapman collection of festive fashions for fall evenings, previewed today for the fashion press.

Though it has somewhat a look of the flapper era, Ceil uses the camise top on a full-length satin gown done in the 1912 manner—heavily beaded lace bodice and hemline border. There also are versions for cocktail and dinner wear, in various lengths from midcalf to instep.

This designer, noted for fashions which glorify the best features of the female form, goes all out for glitter this fall, using bushels of beads, sequins, jewels and paillettes in after-5 fashions as elegant as Lillian Russell at her most flamboyant.

Equally elegant is the collection of Jo Copeland, the all-American designer who invented the cocktail suit, and who always has had a weakness for sexy styles. She also uses the 1912 look in a series of slender evening dresses of ankle length, such as one in champagne satin encrusted with pounds of beads, and a gold lace confection with a band of black velvet around the above-the-ankle hemline.

An apricot silk brocade dinner dress is short in front, longer in back, with fan-shaped folds adding back interest and ostrich feathers adding the popular prewar touch to the bodice.

Mule Arrested For Aiding Still Owners

CHATHAM, Va. (AP)—And everywhere the agents went, the mule was sure to be. Now he's been arrested.

Agents for the Virginia Alcoholic Beverage Control Board said they found the mule—a lonely white animal—at the site of three raids on stills in the cascade section of Pittsylvania County. He was turned loose twice, agents hoping he'd lead them to his employers.

But the mule didn't and he was brought before the Pittsylvania County judge yesterday, charged with aiding the manufacture of illegal whisky.

He was labeled "condemned" and turned over to ABC authorities. They said he probably will be sold at auction.

A TRIBUTE TO THE FARMER

From the soil comes the sustenance of the world. From the hard working man who tills the soil comes the fruits of Nature in bountiful array. God loves the Farmer, someone has said, because he is in such close communion with the good earth. He plows it. He plants it. He worries over it. And if, then his smiling fields are lush and abundant with tassels, tomatoes and all the things we eat. Fat cows and porkers give us milk and meat. And Mrs. Farmer has chickens and turkeys for the market. Without the Farmer there would be no life or living. Let's salute his sun up to sunset existence . . . and be grateful for his bounty!

Matter Of Bases

Most of our military effort in the Pacific in World War II was a grim struggle to regain something that had been taken away from us—meaning the U.S. and Great Britain.

It was the Battle for the Bases. They were lost quickly and easily. They were regained only by superhuman effort and enormous sacrifice of life and treasure.

Today, with the Armistice only 11 years old, Uncle Sam and John Bull are again having base trouble. Britain has lost the Suez, and is in a fair way to losing her last base in the eastern Mediterranean—Cyprus. She has got her walking papers from Ceylon, and the great naval base at Trincomalee may either be thrown out by the Ceylonese, or taken over and sublet by them to the once mighty British empire.

That would end the last link of the empire lifeline from Cyprus to Singapore, and Singapore, like Cyprus and Ceylon, hangs by a hair. If Singapore goes, Britain might as well kiss Malaya goodby. Only Hong Kong would remain—for how long no one knows, but certainly only so long as Communist China found it mutually advantageous to leave Hong Kong intact.

We are having our base troubles. One of their first acts as an independent nation found Moroccans weighing the problem of how to exact taxes from the U.S. for the bases we have in that area. When the tax bill is presented we can pay it or get out, leaving behind an investment of several hundred million of dollars, not to mention the loss of vitally strategic bases capable of worrying Moscow.

Iceland's citizenry voted to send us packing—if they find it expedient to do so. In the Philippines we have had to acknowledge that the land on which our naval and air bases and fortifications in the islands stands belongs to the Republic of the Philippines. They are our good friends—as long as Ramon Magsaysay has anything to say about it. After Magsaysay, what?

Goodby Seashores

We'll bet it was news to millions of Americans that their seashores are disappearing, but the information service of the Department of the Interior sounds the warning that they actually are.

Worse still, the disappearance is almost complete, and unless something is done to halt the trend it will all soon be gone, and the American people won't have a mile of seashore left to call their own.

Interior finds the seashore, one of the nation's greatest recreation resources, is rapidly vanishing from public use. A survey of the recreation situation from Calais, Maine, to Brownsville, Texas, a distance of 3,700 miles, has disclosed that only 240 miles of that stretch of general coastline are now in federal and state ownership for public recreation purposes.

Half of that 240 miles is represented in three areas of the National Parks System—Acadia and Everglades National Parks and Cape Hatteras National Seashore.

"The major remaining opportunities for conservation of seashore resources are largely confined to 54 undeveloped areas comprising 640 miles of beach front," a Parks Service bulletin points out.

"The supply of undeveloped seashore is dwindling fast under pressure of a booming market for beachfront holdings. The number of persons seeking to acquire seashore property is skyrocketing and so is the price."

The report recommends prompt action to acquire at least half of the remaining 640 miles of seashore suitable for recreation by federal, state and local agencies.

So, you see our seashores actually are disappearing in a wild scramble to garner a few more millions or billions of fast bucks.

The public? Oh, yes, the public. You know, those people who theoretically own the country. They may wake up some fine day to discover they'll have to pay admission to see their own seashores.

Unusual Flight Training Plant Makes Bush Pilots Of Missionary Students

By EDWARD S. KITCH

WOODDALE, Ill. (AP)—One of the nation's most unusual flight schools is training missionary students to be bush pilots.

Young men are prepared by the Moody Bible Institute's aviation training branch to provide wings for missionary families serving in undeveloped areas of South and Central America, Alaska and Canada.

Some 50 pilots have finished the four-year course that qualifies them to serve in the ministry as well as fly as commercial pilots.

These missionary technical specialists are the result of a program pioneered by a former Baptist minister, the Rev. Paul Robinson.

With Civil Aeronautics Authority approval he began the school 10 years ago with a class of three men and one airplane.

Now the class has 60 men and 12 planes. The institute owns the Moody-Wooddale Campus Airport, a 90-acre layout of hangars, shops and classrooms.

"You have to be an expert to survive in the kind of country these fellows go to," the Rev. Mr. Robinson said.

To equip them for emergencies, the future sky pilots are trained to overhaul all types of aircraft engines, repair propellers for light planes and land aircraft in rough territory. They are crammed with scores of technical details.

The Rev. Mr. Robinson, who has held three pastorates in New York State, first conceived his plan to combine missionary work with flying after extensive travels through the jungle areas of the Amazon.

He wanted to be a flying missionary himself but World War II interrupted plans. He served as a flight officer in the Civil Air Patrol instead.

He presented his idea to Moody's Board of Trustees and one of their number personally purchased the first aircraft for the

A missionary bush pilot is one of several skilled men who serve in the field where white men seldom venture. They include teachers, radio men, linguists and medical missionaries.

They dedicate themselves to follow the instructions of the Bible, particularly Mark 16:15, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature."

An interdenominational Christian training school, Moody Bible Institute is supported by members of churches all over the world. It admits 12 students each year to its radio and flight course.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

LITERARY GUIDE July 13 wanda OLD YELLER. By Fred Gipson. Harper.

Having to go without meat for breakfast gets up the dander of the young family man who tells this story, and it also sets him, for awhile, against the hound dog Old Yeller.

The time is a century ago, the place, the hill country of Texas; and the immediate scene, the log cabin home of Pa, Ma, Travis and Arliss. The family lives snugly and eats well, but has no cash money, so Pa rides off for the summer to earn some. Travis is the only "man" left, and he's 14, or 10 years older than Arliss. The strange dog shows up one morning with a round fat belly, while the hook where the pork had hung has been stripped. Travis is all for teaching the dog a lesson he'd never forget, but Arliss won't stand for it. Travis is ready again to teach that lesson when he catches his brother giving Old Yeller a bath in the spring which provides them all with cooking and drinking water.

But one thing and another mainly some other animals, teach Travis a lesson and it isn't long before he'd almost as soon swap off, his Ma or Arliss as his dog. Old Yeller learns to tree a squirrel, drive off a coon, keep the old cow away from her new calf, and he isn't afraid to tackle a fighting mad she-bear and light into the wild hogs that object to having their piglets branded and castrated. His toughest battle is with a wolf that knows on better than to attack Ma and a pretty 11-year-old visitor named Lisbeth.

Most dog stories drip with sentiment, that's how people feel about dogs, and this one is particularly drippy. But if you're for dogs, you're for Gipson and Old Yeller, and you'll either buy this and read it to your boy, or your boy will buy it and read it to you.

Fuel Supply Worries Are Sharper West Of Rockies

By SAM DAWSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Higher prices for oil, a curb on imports of foreign oil, a fear that industry is growing faster than its supply of fuel—these problems, or bogies, seem in sharper focus here than east of the Rockies.

That is because the West Coast, although a major oil producer, is an even greater consumer of oil products. Just look at their crowded highways, or at the new factories lining them.

And the urge to zoom through the barrier of the Continental Divide grows ever stronger in the breasts of Texans, Oklahomans and other oilmen on the eastern slopes.

California oil producers are sharply divided on the wisdom of raising oil prices.

Some, notably the smaller ones with interests concentrated in this state, point out the squeeze between the rising costs of operations and the fixed price of crude oil. They also urge that since California must import oil to make up the shortage, there will be little consumer resistance to raised prices.

Against this T. S. Petersen, president of Standard Oil Co. of California, contends that a price rise now would be unwise and unjustified in the face of a growing surplus of oil reserves in the nation and the world. California Standard takes a worldwide view, perhaps because it produces oil both in the United States and in Canada, South America and the Mideast.

The midcontinent producers, especially the independents without foreign oil sources of their own, are eager to enter this market and more of their products move in this direction each year. The Independents in particular pound away at the importation of foreign oil.

The West Coast situation is this: Its greath growth in population and industry brings an ever greater demand for oil products. Production west of the Rockies falls short of demand by about 100,000 barrels a day. This is made up by imports, chiefly of late from Canada (until recent years Canada was a market for California oil), next from the East Indies and Venezuela, and a smidgen from Kuwait in the Mideast.

Since California is a shortage state, there are no production allotments here as there are in Texas, for example, where sometimes producers are permitted to operate only 15 days a month.

California wells may produce at will, and this cuts down the cost of operations — expenses go on when you shut down part of the time. The midcontinent operators naturally would like to produce more days a month and sell that extra oil to the West Coast than see foreign oil (which may be cheaper to produce) come in to fill the need.

The fear of fuel shortages here is also probably a matter largely of possible price increases, since world reserves are high.

After Month Of Confusion Dulles Has Now Become Neutral About Neutrality

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — After a month of confusion Secretary of State Dulles has become neutral about neutrality with the same ease he usually shows when what he is saying now doesn't happen to sound like what he said before.

Early last month Congress was growling about continuing American aid to neutrals. India is the world's biggest neutral. If this country can't win India as an ally, the last thing it wants is India as a Russian ally.

President Eisenhower, as if to soothe Congress, strode into his June 6 news conference and, speaking without notes, began defending neutrals.

He didn't stop there, but went on to suggest that if a nation joins a military alliance and is then attacked, other countries may say it got what was coming to it. This was startling. This country had spent time and money trying to win military allies.

It wasn't hard to imagine the effect on those Asian countries which had allied themselves with the United States while India remained aloof. It wasn't long before the White House put out a statement explaining that what Eisenhower meant to say was that some nations are justified in being neutral but they'd be safer as American allies.

Vice President Nixon defended a nation's right to be neutral in a speech the next night, June 7. He said "we must deal" with neutrals 'as moral and spiritual equals."

Dulles said just the opposite in a June 9 speech, thus compouding the confusion begun by Eisenhower. Dulles said neutrality is "immoral and shortsighted."

This raised a question—just what is America's view toward neutrals?—still unanswered when Nixon late in June set off on an Asian tour which did not include India.

In Manila on July 3 he said the United States can understand nations which remain neutral because they have internal problems. But it has no sympathy, Nixon said, with countries which make "no moral distinction between the Communist world and the free world."

In this speech, less tolerant than the one he gave in June, Nixon made no mention of India. But India's Prime Minister Nehru apparently thought Nixon was aiming at him. He must have already been burned up at Dulles.

In a July 3 news conference, he said the views of Nixon and Dulles "are not wise and they do little good" and they were "undemocratic" to want everyone to think as they do.

Maybe Nehru was confused by this time. But Dulles began to have second thoughts, or so it seems, about the effects of the administration's handling of the word "neutral."

So yesterday he told his news conference that when he spoke of "immoral" neutralism on June 9 he meant the kind of neutralism which is indifferent to the fate of others. That is immoral, he said, and he sticks by what he said.

But then he explained that every country which is a member of the United Nations shows, by its membership, concern for others. India is in the U.N. Practically every other country is in or wants in.

So Dulles was asked: Doesn't that mean practically no nation is immoral in its neutralism? That was right, Dulles said. "I think there are very few, if any." In fact, he said there are practically no neutrals in the world.

There Must Be Two Kinds Of Money In Circulation

By INEZ ROBB

Well, sir, since I got too old to read Grimm's Fairy Tales, I have certainly enjoyed browsing through the financial pages of the daily press.

I have just been reading a little piece that says "money is easier' 'and the only conclusion to which I can jump is that there must be two kinds of money in this country, one type for financiers and one for the commonalty, such as myself.

It's mighty nice to know that the financiers have their mitts on easy money because I never in all my born days saw such uneasy money as comes my way. The type money of which I have temporary custody is jumpy, nervous, and irritable, especially in the supermarket.

Nothing could be more appropriate than a little sign over our front entry reading, "Through this door passes the most restless money in the world." There is nothing I would like more than to give it a good, stable home, amid pleasant surroundings, a place where it can grow old along with me, "The best is yet to be, the last of life for which the first was made."

But my money has never read Browning. It is rootless stuff, fired with longings for the open road and the Romany trail. Money may rest easily in the House of Morgan, but in the House of Robb it is eternally tossing and turning, restless as a tomcat and always clawing at the door to be let out.

Ever since I started reading about these new tranquilizer drugs that are even guaranteed to take the rock 'n roll out of Elvis Presley, it has been my intention to write the United States Treasury Department and suggest that, in the mint stage, it slip a good dose of these new simmer-down pills into U. S. currency.

First things first, and it occurs to me that if the government could take the fidgets out of money, it would be well on the road to curing St. Vitus's dance in the public. If there were only a little relaxe- money in circulation, the strait jacket business would be kaput.

People would be willing to settle for the current 53-cent dollar if only a little glue were added to the mixture and it would stick to the fingers long enough to afford identification of the feller whose picture is rumored to be on it.

Easy money? Who is kidding whom? I have done my best to get it to settle down and abide with me But the stuff is a born hitchhiker, a bird of passage. I can remember a far off day when a cautious lady always had a little of it pinned to her corset cover, but it won't stand still long enough today to get a pin within jabbing distance.

Once upon a time, U. S. money bore the motto "E pluribus unum." But I haven't been able to keep my hands on any long enough to check the rumor that in the past decade this has been replaced by 'Ave atque vale."

Vienna-Born Twins Are Visiting At Capital

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — It's doubtful that Vienna-born twins Ines and Lilo Lang, 25, will have time for much sightseeing, partying or lax'ing in the sun the six weeks they spend in the nation's capital this summer.

They are among the many students, educators and writers who trek here each year to probe the great concentration of information housed in such reowned institutions as the Library of Congress, National Archives, Smithsonian Institution, Census Bureau and nu-

Ines and Lilo, blue-eyed snubnosed, vivacious, are among six grade-A students selected by the Population Reference Bureau from numerous candidates nominated by colleges and universities for its summer workshop. The course provided by the private, non-profit agency, which collects, coordinates, interprets and distributes world-wide population data, give instruction on world population problems.

The twins, majors in international affairs, are sharing a small apartment which Ines says is the 'only place in two hotter than outside." They were aged four when they went from Austria with their parents to Buenes Aires and 16 when they went to live with their grandparents and attnded Pomona (Calif.) College from which they were graduated.

Lilo now is working for her master's degree in international relations at the School of Advanced International Studies, John Hopkins University. Ines is working for her master's in the same subject at Yale University. At the workshop both will research into the changing attitude on population growth in the People's Republic in Chna.

Gooloo H. Sahiar, native of Paris of Bombay, India, doctor of so-ciology who graduated from the University of Minnesota, will study fertility trends and genetic aspects of the Parsis in the Indan population. In the fall Miss Sahiar will study as a visiting Ph. D. fellow at Chicago University's Populaton Research and Training Center. Pretty, red-haired Alice Ann Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Average American Man Buys Less Than One Suit A Year

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)Some things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

That the American man buys less than an average of one new suit a year, has each suit dry cleaned four times year.

That no really well-dressed man will wear a bow tie with a buttoned-down shirt, but I do, and don't intend to quit either.

That Cecil B. DeMille, active in motion pictures since 1913, estimates his films have drawn 3,314,000,000 paid admissions.

That aviation experts predict in 20 years atom-powered air freighters will be developed that will weigh a million pounds and fly at a thousand miles an hour nonstop between any two points on the earth's surface.

That people who think big cities are as out-of-date as the dinosaur don't know what they are talking about. Suburbs have show a 35 per cent population gain in the last decade, but cities themselves are up 15 per cent.

That Chicago, the Windy City, is really doing something about its dust problem. The dustfall for the first quarter of 1956 averaged 56.6 tons per square mile, compared to 65.7 tons during the same period in the three previous years.

That one of the hazards of oil explorers in Libya is still-unexploded land mines laid by Field Marshal Rommel's troops in wartime, and since covered by shifting sands.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Without much fanfare we have entered the era of the portable television receiver. I draw attention to it regretfully, but we must keep abreast of trends.

At least two companies now have a portable on the market. Others are on the way. Now it's reported that an official of one of these companies has been driving around with a model plugged to his car battery. Back seat riders in his car had a pretty good view of a program—so long as the car kept a straight course and hills didn't cut off the beam and so forth.

Thanks to the thoughtfulness of the New York State Legislature, it's illegal for a driver to have a TV set on the dashboard. Too distracting, the Legislature rightfully concluded. But it's okay for back seat riders to watch television. It's okay by the New York Legislature, that is. But it's not okay by me.

As an old back sea driver of many years standing, I don't want a television program luttering up my view of the road ahead. To say nothing of the view on both sides of the road. If I'm going to take a quiet ride in the country, I want to take a quiet ride in the country. If I want to watch television, I'll stay home.

The manner in which television has insinuated itself into our lives is truly amazing. Once the home was inviolate, one's privacy within it assured. Then came television, enabling any member of the family to ask in anyone he wished merely by twisting a knob. Weel, that's progress, they say.

Granting the right of television to pursue us into the home, it semes right to draw the line somewhere. For now, with the advent of efficient portables, we are pursued out of the home as well as into it.

The other weekend we were invited to the shore. It was my firm understanding that these good friends did not have a TV set in their summer Home. But before I could pull on swimming trunks, our host proudly unveiled a new portable TV.

'So you can watch TV," he said. "I've got a long extension cord so we can carry it down to the beach."

All this sounds as if I'm opposed to television per se and in toto. Not at all. I merely object to television pushing into every nook and cranny of my life, intruding on any spare moment and any random daydream.

I insist that television has no place on a beach. A beach is a place of wind and sand and sun and water, of mewing gulls and drowsiness. It has no place in a car. A car is a moving object affording a constantly changing panorama of hills and fields and woods.

The place for a TV set is in the home—from which one can escape to country or shore.

..TONIGHT WILL BE A BIG night on the kid baseball front.

The Pony League All-Stars will take on an "iron man's" role in contesting two neighboring teams in a doubleheader at Towle Memorial Park. Colorado City will be met in the first game, Sweetwater the second.

Over in the Little League, it is "all-star announcement night" tonight.

At least 28 youngsters will be overjoyed tonight when the all-stars of our two Little Leagues here are announced. These 28 would be the boys who'll represent us in the Little League playoffs, 14 on each the National and American League teams.

Choosing All-Star Teams Difficult Task

While some boys may be disappointed tonight by not being chosen on one of the teams, we feel sure that one and all will get behind the boys who are chosen.

It's a difficult task to choose an all-star team as there are many boys who are equal in baseball ability. Sometimes it almost comes to a flip a coin to decide between certain boys.

It's just a shame that all boys can't be chosen on the all-star team.

The Pony League here, in fact, selected 22 boys to start with. The Pony League had ample time to select its all-star team between the regular season and the playoffs so it was able to choose 22 boys to begin with and then cut the roster down 15 prior to the playoffs.

Time will not allow the Little League to experiment with an additional number so she'll just have to pick the maximum 14 boys to start with and stick with them.

Man Defends Fans On Olympic Contributions

A fellow called us last night (he gave his name but requested us to withold it) to defend the fans who were in attendance Monday night at the Houston Corkette swimming exhibition here in regards to the Olympic fund collection.

The man said he didn't believe the fans were all to blame for the small amount that was contributed to the Olympic fund at the show.

Much of the blame, the caller said, could be laid to the unorganized collection ceremony.

I was sitting in one of the bleacher sections," the man said "and unless you were sitting on the bottom row you didn't get much of a chance to put anything into the hat."

"There were some other sections in the crowd, too, that wasn't even touched by the collectors," the caller pointed out.

Well, even the officials who handled the show realized that the "passing of the hat" was a bit unorganized.

But considering the way the crowd had to be seated (and there were many standees) it was difficult to organize a "passing hat" system.

The caller said, he, too, believed the $180 contributed Monday night was a very small amount considering the size of the crowd but then he didn't believe the fans should be blamed altogether.

Sun Seeks Title Tie

Sun Oil will attempt to tie Hermleigh for the City League title tomorrow night when she takes on Ira at Towle Memorial Park.

The game will commence at 8.

By winning tomorrow night, Sun would share the first half City League title with Hermleigh who finished its first half slate Tuesday night with a 7-6 victory over Snyder Furniture.

Hermleigh finished with a 10-2 record. Sun's record at the moment is 9-2.

Should Sun win tomorrow night, a one-game playoff between Sun and Hermleigh would be played to determine the first half champ.

Date of the possible playoff hasn't been set.

Scoring Duels Feature LL Play

Runs were "dime a dozen" in the two Little League games last night.

The Quarterback Club Giants opened with a 19-8 decision over the Kiwanis Club Braves with the Holder Construction Indians outdueling the Trinity Methodist White Sox in the nightcap, 15-9.

Play continues tonight with the Legion Yankees meeting the West Texas Bank Athletics in the first game at 7 and the Lions Club Cubs and Rotary Cardinals clashing in the second game at about 9.

All-star teams of the two leagues will be revealed tonight. All Little Leaguers, whether their team is playing or not, are asked to be present tonight.

In last night's action, the Giants sprayed 15 hits all over the park to turn back the Braves. Pitcher Mike Morris and shortstop Paul Moore led the Giant attack with three hits apiece.

Morris also went the route for the Giants, tossing a four-hitter and striking out 10.

Dean Comer and Richard Smith, who divided mound chores for the Braves, each collected two hits to account for all four Braves hits off Morris.

Freddie Miller pitched and batted the Indians to victory in the nightcap. Miller hurled a five-hitter for the Tribe and had a perfect night at the plate, five-for-five.

Shortstop Chrales Gladson blasted a homerun for the winning Indians.

LOCALS CLIP HAMLIN

Pony Stars In Twinbill Here

The Snyder Pony League All-Stars will take on Pony stars from Colorado City and Sweetwater tonight at Towle Memorial Park.

The locals opened their busy weekend last night with a 6-1 victory over the Hamlin Pony All-Stars at the local park.

Snyder will meet Colorado City in tonight's opening game at 7. The second game will be against Sweetwater at about 8:30.

Coach Bill Valentine employed three pitchers in turning back Hamlin last night on four hits. John Weaver, the starter, was credited with the vkctory.

Weaver hurled the first five innings and left with a 5-0 lead. Ronnie Jones hurled the sixth inning and Tim Roberts the seventh.

Norman Gladson and Terry Lee are expected to see mound action in tonight's doubleheader.

In last night's game, Snyder jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and lead all the way. Charles Popnoe, Jerry Fleming and Tommy Minton, the first three Snyder batsmen in the hello frame, each singled that accounted for the two runs.

Minton and Fleming led the 6-hits Snyder attack with two safeties apiece. One of Minton's blows was a double.

Billy Perryman opened on the mound for Hamlin and gave way to Mike Bond in the fifth who finished up. Perryman absorbed the loss.

The four Hamlin hits were equally divided among four players.

The Snyder nine, after tonight's doubleheader here, goes to Rotan tomorrow night to close out a four-game weekend slate.

Buhl, Adcock Continue Mastery Over Brooklyn Bums

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

If the Milwaukee Braves should win the National League pennant, it will be because of the spectacular success enjoyed by pitcher Bob Buhl and first baseman Joe Adcock against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rarely, if ever, have two players from one team overpowered a club the way Buhl and Adcock have done against Brooklyn this season. For Buhl, this complete domination of the Dodgers is something new but it is old hat to Adcock, who has hit 25 of his 100 big league home runs against Dodger pitching. Buhl was only 3-5 against the Dodgers before this season.

The pair combined their talents last night to lift Milwaukee to within three percentage points of first place as the Braves shut out the Dodgers 2-0 and the league-leading Cincinnati Redlegs were beaten 7-4 by the Philadelphia Phillies. Rain postponed the second game of the scheduled twi-night double-header and it will be played as part of a twi-nighter in Milwaukee tonight.

Buhl turned in a six-hitter for his fifth successive triumph over his Brooklyn "cousins" and Adcock banged a home run, his fifth against Dodger pitching this year, to give the right-hander all the runs he needed for his 10th success against four defeats.

Pittsburgh climbed into fourth place with a sweep of its double-header from Chicago 2-1 and 5-4 as the St.Louis Cardinals dropped into fifth place by half a game despite their 5-3 victory over the last-place New York Giants.

The pace-setting New York Yankees widened their American League lead over Chicago and Cleveland to 7½ games, their biggest bulge of the season, by conquering the Indians 9-5 in connection with Boston's victory over the White Sox 3-1.

In other American League games, Detroit defeated Washington 4-2 and Baltimore blanked Kansas City 4-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Bill Wright.

Buhl's brilliant record against Brooklyn is all the more remarkabe in view of Miwaukee's record of six victories and five deeats against the Dodgers in half a season. The rest of the Braves' pitching staff has turned in only one triumph over the Brooks.

The Phils scored five runs in the top of the ninth to overcome a 3-2 deficit. Marv Blaylock's bases-loaded double and Elmer Valo's two-run single against reliever Bud Freeman gave Harvey Haddix his seventh victory. Art Fowler lost it.

Stan Musial hammered home three runs with his 16th home run and a single to lead the Cards to victory. A pair of ex-Giants — Alvin Dark and Don Liddle — also contributed to the victory against their former teammates. Dark had a double, single and sacrifice fly. Liddle pitched runless ball for 3 2-3 innings to receive credit for the win.

Dale long hit his first home run since June 9 and also added a triple to drive in four runs in Pittsburg's second-game victory over Chicago. Bill Virdon's four-bagger helped Ronnie Kline chalk up his eighth victory in the opener.

A grand slam hode run by Hank Bauer, his first in eight years with the Yankees, proved to be the big blow in New York's triumph over Cleveland.

Johnny Kucks, despite rough going, was credited with his 12th success and Bob Lemon was charged with his seventh defeat despite a three-run homer by Al Smith that ran the outfielder's hitting streak through 22 consecutive games.

Jimmy Piersall was practically a one-man gang as the Red Sox came from behind to nip the White Sox. His two-run homer in the ninth off Jack Harshman was the deciding blow after Boston tied the score 1-1 in its half of the eighth.

Bob Nieman's three-run homer ir the first inning was more than enough for southpaw Wight, who fanned five and walked one for his fourth victory and first shutout as Baltimore beat Kansas City. Billy Hoeft registered his 11th triumph with a four-hitter for Detroit as Washington lost its fifth straight.

Reds Reject Ike's Plan

MOSCOW (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal to swap ideas and information with Communist lands has been rejected by Pravda as a scheme to establish a chain of American "spy nests" behind the Iron Curtain.

In a sharp editorial the Communist party paper said:

"The notorious free movement of ideas means a dissemination of capitalist practices, misanthropy, racism and war."

Eisenhower gave his endorsement June 29 to a proposal of the National Security Council to set in motion an exchange of information and ideas as proposed by the Western nations at the second Geneva conference last October. Then Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov rejected the suggestion at Geneva.

Pravdas denunciation was even sharper. Referring to Eisenhower's suggestion for opening information centers in each other's capitals, the paper declared:

"We well remember what kind of 'information' was gathered in certain East European countries. To all intents and purposes these centers were spy nests."

Blind Man Says Calendar Tells Winner

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Let others poll for opinions and study political trends. For Lonnie Johnson, the calendar tells who'll win the coming presidential race.

His theory is simple, depending entirely on the mystic potency of Friday the 13ht, of which today is one. There were three of them this year.

"That's not rare," said Johnson, "but when three come in the same years as a presidential election—that's significant. It has happened just six times before in history and it has produced a pattern."

The pattern? Well, in the triple Friday the 13th years of 1792, 1804 and 1832 the voters re-elected, respectively George Washington. Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson.

In the second cycle of the pattern, "new" presidents were elected: Abraham Lincoln in 1860; Benjamin Harrison in 1888; Herbert Hoover in 1928.

"So the pattern is clear," said Johnson, a blind broom salesman who delights in extracting odd little tidbits from his calendar hobby. "Everything goes in threes when there are three Friday the 13ths during an election year.

"The first three times it happened, the occupant of the White House was re-elected. The second three times, a new president was named.

"Obviously, then, the next three will result in re-elections. So it's perfectly clear that President Eisenhower will win another term."

Johnson's only announced political affiliation is that of a "Last Thursdaycrat.' 'He believes there is no day like the last Thursday in November for Thanksgiving. So he doesn't want to be blamed if his prediction goes against your political convictions.

Town Starts Cleaning Up

NORTH MIAMI, Okla. (AP)—Residents of this tiny northeast Oklahoma town today began cleaning up operations as the aftermath of a wind and hail storm that whipped in from the southwest at twilight yesterday, injuring two persons.

The wind's violence led some persons in this Ottawa County town of 500 to call it a tornado but the U.S. Weather Bureau at Tulsa said its radar screen showed "good echoes" in the area but not a twister. A tornado smashed a section of Miami, Okla., two miles to the south, last April 3.

A half-dozen homes were nearly demolished and many others hard hit. Several business houses were severly damaged. The state highway patrol estimated 78 homes damaged in this area and at Commerce, a city of about 1,500 five miles north near the Oklahoma-Kansas line.

Commerce, home town of New York Yankee Mickey Mantle, received less damage than North Miami from the winds and there were no reports of injuries there.

Mrs. Oliver Jones, 75, was hospitalized with a broken shoulder and abrasions and suffered shock. Ruth Ester Chapman, 14, was treated for deep lacerations and released.

Air Traffic Control May Get Speed Up

WASHINGTO N (AP)—The government may condense into three years its five-year plan for modernizing its air traffic control system.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks said the possibility of a speedup is being studied to help prevent such crashes as the collision of two airliners in Arizona June 30 in which 128 persons perished.

Congress recently approved a 246-million-dollar five-year program of modernizing airways controls with more complete radar coverage and other improved electronic and technical devices. Weeks said he thinks it will be possible to make the program effective within three years.

Senate Gets Bill To Add To Vet Payments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unanimous House passage left up to the Senate today a bill to add 172 million dollars a year to government compensation for veterans disabled in military service.

Most present payments would be increased by 10 per cent. Veterans rated 100 per cent disabled would be increased 24 per cent from $181 to $225 a month.

With adjournment approaching, the likelihood of Senate action was uncertain. The administration opposed the measure, contending that living costs have gone up only one-half of 1 per cent since 1954, when the last veterans' increase was voted.

Wheel Tax Invalid

HOUSTON (AP)—Some $2,439,353 in refunds will be paid to Harris County vehicle owners as result of the state Supreme Court's action yesterday in ruling a special "wheel tax" here invalid.

Lay Barbecue Set For Methodists

The annual barbecue of laymen of the Big Spring District of the Methodist Church will be held in Snyder at 7 o'clock tonight at the picnic pavillion in Towle Memorial

The Rev. J. Arthur Hoyles, pastor of the St. John's Methodist Church at Wolstanton, Newcastle, England, will be main speaker. He is in West Texas on an exchange program, pastoring the First Methodist Church at Big Spring for a short period while the Big Spring pastor, Dr. Jordan Grooms, is in England.

About 30 churches will be represented at the barbecue. In charge of the program are Dr. O. W. Carter, district superintendent lay leader. Lyle Deffebach is in charge of local arrangements.

Candidate Entered In Wrong Party Primary

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Monroe Jones, an Oklahoma County candidate for constable, received 3,267 votes in last week's Democratic primary through a printing error. He's a Republican.

Jones said he wants to thank all those Democrats who voted for him, adding that was more votes than he could have received in the Republican primary, where he was unopposed.

He said he didn't even campaign and wondered what would have happened if he had won the Democratic primary. As it was, he finished last in a field of four in the mixup. The County Election Board, in certifying Jones nomination in the Republican primary, apologized for the error of printing his name on the wrong ballot.

CHURCH NEWS

Assembly Of God Dedicates Building

Dedication services were held last night at the First Assembly of God Church for the church's new auditorium building.

The structure, completed last month, is 45 feet by 84 feet in size. The auditorium will seat 400. The building also has a pastor's study, office, and nursery, as well as two classrooms.

The older building, still standing, is now in temporary use as education space. The congregation will continue to use this building until more building can be done. While additional building is planned, there is nothing yet definte on the second phase of the church's building program.

New pews have been placed in the church. The interior has acoustical tile and indirect lightling.

The Rev. J. A. Thomas, of Lubbock, district superintendent, was main speaker at lastnight's dedication service. E. E. Mason of Seminole, sectional presbyter, was in charge of the service.

Pastor of the church is the Rev. Robert Owens. The building committee was composed of the church's trustees, E. L. Hessler, Glenn Dower, and Melton Davis.

The church had been using the older building, which is 32 feet by 50 feet, for about 14 years.

He'll Lose His Job Cause He's Only 13

JAMESTOWN, R.I. (AP) — The town council said it would fire the collector of parking fees at two town-owned beaches today because of his age.

The town's ruling body said Douglas F. Cunha was doing a good job but—he is only 13 years old.

The world population is growing at the rate of about 110,000 people a day.
