FIRST ASSIGNMENT

Rockets in Action Here Friday Night

Followers of the Wellington Skyrockets will see their 1981 team in action for the first time Friday, August 21, when they scrimmage Miami at Powell field. Starting time will be 6:30 p.m.

Head Coach James Williams also announced that this will be soap and towel night, and those coming to the scrimmage can bring bars of soap or towels for the Skyrocket dressing room if they care to. This is an annual event.

Through the year, the players wear out or lose the towels, and replenishing the supply has become a first of season team tradition.

Boxes will be placed at the Powell Field gates where the soap and towels may be deposited.

All players now listed on the Skyrocket Varsity roster will see action Friday night, but there will be JV players on the field also, said Williams.

The Varsity will run 20 plays, followed by 20 for the JV, then repeated, 20 and 20.

This will be a controlled scrimmage where there will be no punting or kickoffs.

Williams said that Miami, a Class A school, will bring a smaller squad. "I don't think they have the number we have," he added.

Miami plays in District 1-A, along with Booker, Follett, McLean, Claude and Groom.

Last year they had a lean 1-8 season. This season the team is more experienced and physically stronger. They can give the Rockets a run for their money.

There are 15 lettermen on the team from last year, 7 starters on the offense and 7 on defense, Williams said.

Although Miami is picked 5th in the district this year, the team can offer considerable resistance.

"Overall, our kids look real good," said Williams of the Rockets.

"We are carrying more kids on the varsity than we ever have. There are two full sets of offensive units and two full sets of defensive players."

"There'll be 27 or 28 on the varsity, and we had 45 out for practice altogether at last count."

The starting lineup will not be picked until after the Miami scrimmage.

The Harris Rating System calls District 2-A "exceptionally strong" for the 1981 season.

Clarendon, 1980 district champion, is picked to win its second straight title.

"Wellington could be a big surprise if they can get off the right track," say the poll writers.

Outstanding players picked by the Harris system are halfback Kenneth Warren, Guard Doug Gibson, and guard Rand Johnson.

Wellington will play its second pre-season scrimmage Friday, August 28 against Class AAA Friona. The game will be on a neutral ground, Silverton, starting at 6 p.m.

Because both teams have plenty of men on both varsity and JV teams, there will be a varsity game and a JV game, Williams said.

The Rockets open their 1981 season against Hollis here Friday, September 4.

PTOSlates All American Music Festival

Music reminiscent of the famous Bob Wills comes to Wellington Saturday, Aug. 29, in the third annual All American Country Music Festival, presenting both guest performers and former Collingsworth residents.

The sponsor this year is Wellington Parent Teacher Organization and the producer is John Alf Thomas.

The festival, condensed to one night for its 1981 production, will be in the high school auditorium with a starting time of 7:30 p.m.

The featured performer will be Ken Murphy, who was champion fiddler for the states of Arkansas and Missouri in 1971. His family will be here also.

Appearing on the same program will be Virginia Kennedy of Vega, who lived at Quail for more than 15 years when her husband, Frank Kennedy, was vocational agricultural teacher in Quail School.

She will impersonate Minnie Pearl in a skit.

Elvis Sain, guitarist, and his niece, Donna Holt, a vocalist, will appear also. They formerly lived at Wellington and Dodson and were 1980 KIXZ contest winners.

In addition to his fiddling laurels from Arkansas and Missouri, Murphy has played for 6 years with Leon McAuliffe, who took over Bob Wills band after the School Board Approves Budget of $1.3 Million

Wellington school board cut $34,590 from a proposed budget and adopted a budget of $1,369,054 on a 4-3 vote after 5 hours of discussion at regular board meeting Monday, August 17.

Jim Ingram's motion to adopt the proposed budget died for lack of a second, and then the board voted on a budget with the $34,590 cut. Voting for adoption of the amended budget were Jim Ingram, John Barton, Harold Wayne Moore and Kirby Campbell. Opposed were Benson Long, Willie O'Rear and Carroll Nunnally.

The adopted budget represents about a 10% increase from last year's budget.

In other action the board accepted Nash Oil Company's bid for gasoline, oil and anti-freeze for the '81-'82 school year, accepted Borden independent distributor Jerry McCarty's bid for lunchroom milk and set a fee of $4.00 on returned checks.

The board also raised cafeteria prices for breakfasts: reduced price breakfasts rose from 10 cents to 30 cents, student breakfasts from 35 cents to 50 cents, school personnel breakfasts from 50 cents to 75 cents and non-school personnel breakfasts from 75 cents to $1.00. Lunch prices rose from 20 cents to 40 cents for reduced price lunches, elementary lunches rose from 70 cents to 85 cents, junior high school lunches from 80 cents to 95 cents, school personnel lunches from $1.15 to $1.50 and non-school personnel lunches from $1.50 to $1.75.

Low income families may apply for reduced price lunches at the school tax office.

The board also hired Kay Mead as Title I reading teacher.

Friday Last Day to File Water Claims

Friday, August 21, is the final date for landowners who hold permits to use water out of Prairie Dog Town Fork of Red River and any of its tributaries to file claims to retain those permits with the Texas Department of Water Resources.

In Collingsworth County, these streams are Salt Fork, Buck Creek, Elm Creek and their tributaries.

All persons claiming a water right of any kind to impound, divert and use state water within the Upper Red River Segment for other than domestic or livestock purposes are required to complete and file a sworn claim for water rights before the August 21 deadline. If claims are not filed by that time, the permits are expected to be lost.

On August 31, the Texas Water Commission, judicial arm of the Texas Department of Water Resources, will begin hearings in Amarillo on the claims. The hearings will be in the Amarillo Municipal Building, Room 305, at 509 East 7th Street. Dockets listing claimants and the time and place for each to appear will be sent to each claimant of record.

The hearings are part of a one time, statewide evaluation and inventory of water rights as required by the Water Rights Adjudication Act which became a law in 1967.

After all hearings are completed the Commission's determination of water rights will be filed in a district court in the basin for court approval.

Included in the adjudication process are all the waters of Prairie Dog Town Fork of Red River, and its tributaries, North Fork of Red River and its tributaries and the Washita River and its tributaries from the 100th meridian (Texas-Oklahoma state line, west to the Texas-New Mexico state line, including the headwaters of all the streams involved.

Also included is a strip on the south side of Red River in Texas to a point where North Fork flows into Red River (in Oklahoma) north of Vernon. Altogether 22 counties are involved.

Anyone who may have overlooked information received earlier, to all claimants, can contact the Salt Fork Soil and Water Conservation District office in Wellington for information and claim forms.

Some of the Collingsworth County water permits have

Jay Jones Among Top 10 in National Motocross Racing

A 16-year old Wellington youth ranks in the top 10 in three categories of national championship amateur motocross racing, and except for a stroke of bad luck, he could well have won the championship in one of these.

Jay Jones wound up his performance in the national finals at Ponca City, Oklahoma, by ranking 8th in the 100 cc senior class, 9th in the 125 cc modified class and 10th in the 125 intermediate stock class.

A practice session on Wednesday, August 12, was followed by qualifying races that continued Thursday through Saturday. Finals were run Sunday.

Jones won his first heat in the modified class, beating out Californian John Hemme, who went on to win the overall national championship in the 125 modified class.

Both Jones and Hemme had moved into the finals. The race started and the cycles went one lap and Wellington racer was well toward the front, giving every indication he could be the winner.

Then the red flag came out, the race was stopped. Jones parents, Mr. and Mrs. Auther Jones, aren't sure why.

When it was re-started, Jay got off to a bad start, and his total points put him in 9th place.

The national races start in local communities, Auther Jones points out. Winners go on to regional competition, and it was one of these races that Wellington hosted earlier in the year.

The top 12 qualifiers from each region--there are 22 regions in the United States--advance with probably the top 5 reaching the finals. Jones competed in a field on 102.

His father called the Ponca City national finals "the biggest motocross event ever held in the world." It set a record of 2,000 entries. It's the major amateur motorcycle event, open to riders from other countries as well as those from all the states. Parking

Norwood School Sets Open House

Samnorwood School board tentatively set an open house for the public for Tuesday, September 8, to discuss taxation and new property appraisals with independent appraiser Troy Sloan, and to discuss the school's entire educational system including curriculum and academic programs.

In other action at the regular board meeting Monday, August 17, the board accepted the Borden's milk bid for the school year, hired custodians Ray Garza, Raymond Cruz and Christine Garza and hired Jayne Bell to drive the kindergarden bus route.

The board also increased elementary school lunches from 60 cents to 70 cents, increased junior high and high school lunches from 65 cents to 75 cents, and increased adult lunches from $1.00 to $1.50. Adult breakfasts increased from 50 cents to 75 cents and there was no change in student breakfast costs.

The board tabled a proposed budget for further study.

City Council Meet Postponed

The City Council's regular meeting, scheduled for Monday, August 17, was postponed due to the absence of City Manager Glen Taylor.

Two Injured In One-Car Accident

Two Wellington girls were injured in a one car accident which occurred shortly after noon Friday, August 14, 3.2 miles south of town on Highway US 83.

Jennifer Pendleton, 19, was taken to High Plains Baptist Hospital, Amarillo, where she underwent surgery to repair major facial injuries, and treatment of a broken ankle, cuts and bruises.

Rebecca Lynn Saied, 17, was hospitalized at Collingsworth General Hospital for treatment of a broken ankle, cuts and bruises. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Saied, Jr.

Highway Patrolman Herb Duncan reported the accident occurred when the car, traveling south, left the road, went across the drainage ditch and struck the opposite side of the ditch. It came to rest on the west side of the highway facing north with both occupants still inside, he said.

Miss Pendleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Pendleton, remains in intermediate care at High Plains and doctors are pleased with her recovery, according to her sister, Mrs. Nicky Watts.

She was due to have space even for competitors was at a premium. The Jones family takes its trailer-camper, using it to transport the cycles, and also for sleeping room at night.

This is the third year that the slender Wellington high school junior has competed in the national finals of motocross.

Until this year, he raced in the 83 cc class.

Although he didn't come home with the championship this time, Jay Jones had his picture in the official program, made during last year's race. The picture showed him going over a jump.

So completely is Jones involved in amateur motocross racing that he does not compete in high school sports. "He's a little small anyway," his father said. "I'm glad he isn't in high school athletics, they're too dangerous. I think motocross is safer than football."

Another big race, run in Houston's Astrodome, is still ahead for Jones. Qualifying races will start the last of September and the finals will be in March, 1982. "Those who place in the top 10 of their class in regionals go to the Astrodome," it was explained.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones went with their son to Ponca City, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Maxwell, came up Friday.

Cub Parents to Meet Aug. 27

Parents of Cub Scouts will meet at Ellison Park on Thursday, August 27 at 7 p.m. in order to discuss pack plans for this year.

First on the agenda will be the Cub Scouts' role in the Collingsworth County Fair Parade, said Mrs. Adolf Schmidt.

Band Practice Schedule Listed

Members of That Skyrocket Band will practice each Tuesday, evening at 6 p.m. with additional practice sessions on Thursdays if they are needed, George Mills, band director, has announced.

This schedule will continue through football season and is in addition to the first period practice each school day.

Approximately 40 boys and girls have reported to That Skyrocket Band. And additional 65 are in the junior high band.

Mills said fifth grade band practice will begin next week.

Mobile Phone Service To Be Available Here

A-1 Communications of Amarillo has received a Federal Communications Commission permit to install a mobile telephone and paging system in the Wellington area.

John Gay, who is developing the project for A-1, said that the company hoped to have the system in operation here within two months, but that that was just a guess.

Services offered include fully automatic mobile phones for vehicles and portable hand-held phones. Fully automatic means that a person may dial or receive a call without going through an operator.

The company will also offer a pager service which can be accessed from regular telephone lines, and it will offer a community repeater service.

Brown 'n serve rolls owe their beginnings to a volunteer fireman. Answering a fire call, he pulled his half-baked rolls out of the oven. After later baking they proved to be delicious.

Highway Use Tax Return Filing Near

Owners of most large trucks, truck-tractors, tractor-trailers or buses must file a Federal Use Tax Return for Highway Motor Vehicles by August 31, 1981, the Internal Revenue Service says. The return is filed on Form 2290, available at any IRS office.

The tax year for the Highway Use Tax begins July 1, 1981, and runs through June 30, 1982. Taxpayers who place vehicles in service after July must have Form 2290 filed with the IRS Service Center which services their area by the last day of the month following the month a vehicle is first used on a public highway.

The Highway Use Tax applies to single unit trucks weighing 13,000 pounds or more, 2-axled truck-tractors weighing 5,500 pounds or more, 3 or more axled truck-tractors regardless of weight, trucks of 9,000 or more pounds equipped for use in combinations, and buses with a gross weight of more than 26,000 pounds.

The tax is imposed on those vehicles using any public highways, city street, state roads and interstate highways. Revenue from the tax help states in financing the Interstate Highway System.

Estate Planning Vital

AMARILLO--An estate management seminar which has been hailed by capacity audiences at Lubbock and Wichita Falls will be conducted at Amarillo August 27-28 to help farmers and ranchers who want to pass their operations on to their heirs and at the same time reduce the estate tax burden.

The seminar has been especially designed by management economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to provide detailed answers to specific problems facing the participants, said Marvin O. Sartin, area Extension economist at Lubbock. He is one of the three specialists who will conduct the two-day course, at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West.

Participation is limited to provide participants maximum opportunity to discuss specific problems and opportunities, Sartin said.

Registration forms may be obtained from county Extension offices or by writing to Sartin, Texas

A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, Route 3, Box 213AA, Lubbock, Tx. 79401. The registration fee of $50 includes seminar materials which will help participants set up their own estate plans, lunches both days and refreshments.

Each day's program will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 4:30 p.m. The seminar opens with a discussion on estate taxes, including tax rates, deductions and expenses. A special segment will help farmers and ranchers provide fair treatment for heirs who want the business and others who don't.

Another segment the first day will provide detailed information on estate planning tools for agriculture. This will deal with corporations, partnerships and selling part of the business to heirs.

The second day of the program will focus upon special estate tax rules for agriculture. These include farm land valuation, rules for deferred estate tax payment, life insurance, "flower bonds" and other property.

Conducting the seminar will be Sartin, Dr. Wayne A. Hayenga and Norman Brints. Sartin, an Extension economist-management for 10 years, also is a certified public accountant and was formerly with the Federal Land Bank. Hayenga is project group supervisor in farm management with Extension, and an attorney. He has experience in commercial banking and economic research and maintains farming and banking interests. Brints is Extension area economist-management at Vernon, where he has served since 1964, working with farmers and others on tax planning.

Faculty Picnic Set Thursday

The Wellington school faculty and personnel will be entertained with a picnic Thursday, August 20, at 6:30 p.m. in Ellison Park.

1982 OM Reunion May Be Last, Planners Announce

Thirty-nine present and former residents of the OM community gathered Saturday, August 16, and after much discussion, decided to try again in 1982 to hold the reunion, with increased attendance.

It is one of the oldest community reunions in this part of the 100th Meridian country, known to be 56 years old, and possibly two or three years older than that.

John Kizer, who has attended more of the OM reunions than any other person present, remembers its being held in 1924, and says that may not have been the first one.

During the election of officers, Ivan Argo of Hollis was elected president; D.C. Thomason of Wellington, vice president, Lavenia Conaway, secretary and Lulu Powers, treasurer. The latter two are also from Hollis.

Members considered disbanding the reunion, then agreed to hold it one more year and if no larger crowd attends than this year, it will disband permanently.

The 1982 reunion will again be held at Lake Hall, but a basket dinner instead of a catered meal will be served.

"We arranged for 60 catered dinners, and only 39 were present," said Thomason. That was $84 that had to be paid for dinners that no one ate."

The 1982 reunion will be the third Sunday in August at Lake Hall.

Besides visiting, there were talks of the early OM days by Oleta Ailhite, Clyde Hardin, Edith Hardin, Lynox Kellison, Mr. Kizer also a long-time past president, and others.

Thomason recalled that the first OM reunions were held in the Rob Hunt Pasture, a farm that Garland Hightower now owns. In the 1930s, when that part of Harmon County was at the peak of its population historically, around 500 people attended the reunion each year, bringing their lunches.

His father, the late W.L. Thomason, was one of the founders of the OM Reunion and was president for many years. Other men and their families who were active included John Yarbrough, Elmore Dodson, Willie Estes, Willie Hulse and T. Knowles. The latter two are credited with giving OM its name.

John and Mabel Hardin gave the land for the OM Cemetery and the Church of Christ. A tabernacle was built beside the cemetery in 1926. OM school was across the road from the cemetery.

The church was given to Westview Boys Home after the congregation dwindled. The school is gone, too.

Mrs. Slim (Nita) McCoy of Childress, daughter of the Hardins, plans to give the land on which the church stood to the cemetery, Thomason said.

Those who attended included Slim and Nita McCoy of Childress and Margaret Edwards and Alice James of Memphis; Kenneth Hudson of Dodson; James Archer of Gould, Okla.; Clifford and Lynox Kellison of Tow; Varner Orr and Mr. and

Panhandle to Honor Baggarly

Friends of H.M. Baggarly, the Tulia Herald columnist noted as the Texas Panhandle's most illustrious Democrat, will honor him with a banquet at 8 p.m. Aug. 21, in the Amarillo Hilton Inn on Interstate 40 East.

Western Artist Kenneth Wyatt of Tulia will serve as master of ceremonies, and special guests from throughout the nation are being invited.

Theme will be "Salute to H.M. Baggarly...Mr. Democrat and Country Editor."

Baggarly continues to write a political column each week in the Herald, a weekly paper he sold to Wendell Tooley about 2½ years ago.

He first became associated with the paper as a journalism teacher in Tulia schools, and he later put his experience in laying out the page of high school news to work in managing the newspaper while the owners were on vacation.

Baggarly gave up teaching in 1947 and purchased a third interest in the Tulia Herald. He quit after a year but was coaxed back in 1950, and by mid-1955 he owned controlling interest in the paper.

Two collections of his writings have been published - "Texas Country Democrat" and "Texas Country Editor." At one time, he turned down an offer to be a White House assistant to President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Baggarly was winner of the fourth Mary Kate Tripp Award from the West Texas State University Journalism Department as a "tribute to an area journalist who exemplifies the highest ideals of the profession."

Banquet tickets are $20 each. They may be purchased in Tulia at the banks, the Tulia Herald or from Norma Blount. Tickets may be purchased in Amarillo from Mary Jo Spradlin, 702 S. Florida.

Students Get Harrington Scholarships

WTSU--More than 350 students who will enter West Texas State University in the fall semester as freshmen have received Don and Sybil Harrington Honor Scholarships.

Honor scholars who have graduated from Wellington High School are Verita Simon, daughter of Evvie Mae Simon; Sandy Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Jerol Morris; Mark Andrew Fourmentin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fourmentin and Elizabeth Brewer, daughter of Yvonne Brewer.

The scholarships of $200 each have been awarded to 369 high school graduates who were members of high school National Honor Society chapters in seven states. The scholarships, awarded through the WTSU Development Office, have been accepted by students in 115 cities and communities in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas, Colorado, Ohio and New York.

Three donations each of $200,000 by the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation of Amarillo have enabled WTSU to award the hundreds of honor scholarships.

The honor scholars program was established three years ago as the WTSU President's Honor Scholars program to award $100 to members of high school National Honor Society chapters. More than 1,000 entering freshman students have received the WTSU President's Honor Scholarships.

Following the latest of three financial gifts from the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation, the WTSU President's Honor Scholar program was renamed the Don and Sybil Harrington Honor Scholarship program.

Don and Sybil Harrington Honor Scholars who score high of the American College Test and the Scholastic Aptitude Test, which are college entrance examinations, will receive an additional $100 scholarship and be recognized as President's Honor Scholars.

The additional scholarship will be awarded to the students who have scored at least 28 of a possible 36 on the ACT and 1,220 of a perfect 1,600 on the SAT entrance examination.

Fire Destroys Landmark Home

A fire which broke out early Friday, August 14, destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Mead, located on the northeast edge of Wellington, and sent one fireman, Eddie Davis, to Collingsworth General Hospital suffering from smoke inhalation. He remained hospitalized for two days.

A short in electrical wiring in the front part of the house was cited by Fire Chief Danny Gray as the cause of the fire.

This was one of Wellington's oldest finer homes, and was built in 1907 or 1908 by the late Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Wells. A large living room and side porch were added later, said Miss Hattie D. Wells, niece of the couple.

They lived in the house until their deaths, then it was owned by their daughter and son-in-law, the late Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gibson.

Mr. and Mrs. A.Y. Bell and Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Gilmore were owners before the Mead family bought it.

The fire broke out while Mead was at work at Wellington Industries and Mrs. Mead and the children were visiting out of town, said J.D. Sheer, of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department.

"Firemen received the call at 4:20 a.m. and the front part of the house was already engulfed in flame, the remainder of the house was heat-charred," Sheer said.

"It's pretty well gutted inside, including part of the roof," Chief Gray reported.

Firemen brought the fire under control within a short time, but construction of the ceiling and support beams in the attic kept firemen at the scene three hours to prevent an outbreak, Sheer reported.

Most of the contents of the house were lost, according to Gray.

Women's Division a Major Part of Collingsworth Fair

Perhaps no division of the Collingsworth County Fair offers the opportunity for such a variety of entries, and such homemaking skill as the women's open division.

"Women of this county are noted for their expertise in homemaking," reminded Dollie Mae Wilson, chairman as she announced plans for women's department of the show.

Mrs. Wilson will name as many show assistants as she may need. These exhibits will be in the auditorium and club room of Bura Handley Community Center on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 11 and 12.

County women are urged to enter.

Everyone 19 years of age and over is eligible to enter exhibits in the Women's Open Division.

Entry hours are 1 to 5 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 10, and exhibits will remain in place until 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 12.

Nothing can be entered that has been entered previously; no identifying name or number may be on clothes or handwork and items must be clean.

Tags must be on all products telling the class and division in which the article is to be entered.

Each individual must have completed her own work between the date of the 1980 and 1981 fairs.

Canned products must be in standard pint or quart jars; jelly in standard pint, half pint or jelly jars. Prepared food must be cooled before entered and mayonnaise jars are not acceptable.

Baked foods must be plastic wrapped on paper plates.

Articles not claimed will be disposed of at closing time. Only one entry in each class will be accepted from one individual.

First through third place ribbons will be awarded and grand and reserve champions will be determined on a point system.

Local Taxes

Local property taxes will go up this year on exactly the same date that President Reagan's income tax reductions go into effect. The income tax reductions begin on October 1, the traditional day that local tax notices are sent out.

The county, city and school districts will all probably be raising taxes over the next month or so in order to try to keep up with inflation, and importantly, to make up for reductions in state and federal money coming to the various taxing entities.

The federal tax cuts come along with federal budget cuts, and that means that revenue sharing to the county and city and aid to the school districts will be down from last year. So local taxpayers will have to make up the difference.

This type of thing seems to be what the American people voted for in last fall's general election-less federal taxation and spending and more local control of government.

The theory has been that we could do a better job of managing money if it didn't pass through Washington first. We'll have an opportunity to test that theory this year.

More local work and responsibility will also come with more local control, as Monday night's 5½ hour school board meeting exemplified.

The federal government became involved in various issues and programs because local and state governments did not address them. The ball is back in the local court now, and it is an opportunity for local governments to begin to work on our needs and problems in a more efficient manner. It is part of an historic shift in government emphasis--the first time since the New Deal days of the 1930's that money and responsibility has moved toward the local scene. --Henry Wells

FROM HIS WORD

"The plans of the heart belong to man, but the answer of the tongue is from the Lord.

"All the ways of a man are clean in his own sight, but the Lord weighs the motives.

"Commit your works to the Lord, and your plans will be established.

"The Lord has made everything for its own purpose, even the wicked for the day of evil.

"Everyone who is proud in heart is an abomination to the Lord; assuredly, he will not be unpunished.

"By lovingkindness and truth iniquity is atoned for, and by the fear of the Lord one keeps away from evil.

"When a man's ways are pleasing to the Lord, he makes even his enemies to be at peace with him." Proverbs 16:1-7

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The first special legislative session ended last week with only one issue left unresolved . . . but Gov. Bill Clements immediately served notice he intends to call a second special session soon.

He wants to hold legislators' feet to the fire until they vote right on his pet issue: repeal of the state ad valorem tax.

The most important issue of the special session, congressional redistricting, was approved by the Legislature only two days before adjournment.

In the end, the Legislature narrowly approved a compromise plan by House Speaker Billy Clayton after a long, complicated, partisan struggle. Clayton claims his plan gives Republicans only six seats in Congress, his opponents claim it actually sets the stage for nine seats.

For Clayton, now a lame-duck speaker finishing his fourth term in the chair, victory was all the more sweeter after the battle drove him closer than ever before to the brink of defeat.

In both the Senate and the House, the plan was passed by only a one-vote margin on the crucial votes. Three times in a row, the crucial House vote was supplied by the Speaker himself before the tide was turned.

Clayton found himself pitted against a new Democratic coalition which was led, not by his old foes the liberals, but by conservative Democrats who have long stood by him: Bob Bush of Sherman, Carlyle Smith of Dallas, Gerald Hill of Austin and Don Rains of San Marcos. Democratic party chairman Bob Slagle has been active and influential.

In defending his compromise plan, which had the strong support of Republican Clements, Clayton was not understood by the Democrats.

In fact, they have fielded a Speaker candidate in Carlyle Smith to run against Clayton's heir-apparent, Gib Lewis of Fort Worth.

Ad Valorem Tax

On the final day, the Senate gave the House leadership and Clements a choice: either lower the 10-cent ad valorem tax to 3 cents, or watch the whole issue sail out the window. The leadership chose to watch it sail, and with nothing else to do, adjourned early in the day.

In short, the Legislature did not repeal the ad valorem tax.

To give a short recap, early this session the House passed a proposed constitutional amendment by Kil-leen Democrat Stan Schluter which repealed the tax, but the Senate, led by Pete Snelson of Midland, was reluctant to follow suit. Revenues from that tax are dedicated to construction at 17 state colleges and universities, which would be left without any source of money.

Clements would not allow the Legislature to consider alternative ways of funding those schools this session, but he might include it in the next session.

Snelson amended Schluter's bill to lower the tax to three cents and sent it back to the House with only half a day left. Schluter wasn't about to pass out a tax bill with his name on it, so he moved to kill all action.

Where will the replacement funds be found if the tax is repealed, as Clements says it eventually will? Clements claims the state will have some $700 to $800 million in surplus revenues which could be channeled to college construction.

Bullock Says No

The Governor's statement last week drew a prompt dispute from Comptroller Bob Bullock, who said there is no $700 million surplus.

Bullock, who oversees the state's tax revenues, said he had not discussed the subject with Clements and wondered where the Governor got his information.

Clements explained he was talking about a surplus at the end of this biennium, August 31, calculated by his Office of Budget and Planning.

Political Candidates

The season is arriving for prospective political candidates to lay their plans on the table, and some indications are already in.

Secretary of State George Strake, a Houston oil man, said he plans to run for lieutenant governor against incumbent Bill Hobby. Hobby will seek re-election and has already knocked the dust off his organization.

Strake's election would give Republicans a lock on the top two state offices, if Clements were re-elected.

Running for Agriculture Commissioner will probably be Rep. Pete Laney of Hale Center, a close associate of Clayton's. Incumbent Reagan Brown will probably also be challenged by Jim Hightower, who lost a Railroad Commission race two years ago.

Dallas Republican Congressman Jim Collins will try to unseat U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen, and former Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach has squelched all rumors he will run.

Still unannounced are the plans of Clayton, who up to now was thought to be eyeing the Land Commissioner's race against announced candidate Garry Mauro.

Clayton said he will come forth in four or five weeks, and his delay has set many to wondering if he really plans to seek another office, perhaps the State Comptroller seat now held by Bullock.

THOMAS ROLL CALL REPORT

Your Congressman's Votes
Reported Each Week

WASHINGTON—Here is how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes before the summer recess.

HOUSE

SAVINGS BONDS--The House rejected, 182 for and 233 against, an amendment to prohibit the Treasury Department from promoting the sale of U.S. Savings Bonds. The vote occurred during debate on an FY 1982 appropriations bill (HR 4121) later passed and sent to the Senate. The amendment sought to delete $13.6 million earmarked for bond promotion.

Members voting "yea" wanted to ban promotion of U.S. Savings Bonds on grounds that low interest yield makes them a bad investment.

Reps. Samuel Hall, D-1, Charles Wilson, D-2, Ralph Hall, D-4, Jim Mattox, D-5, Phil Gramm, D-6, Jack Brooks, D-9, J. Marvin Leath, D-11, Jack Hightower, D-13, William Patman, D-14, Kika de la Garza, D-15, Richard White, D-16, Charles Stenholm, D-17, Mickey Leland, D-18, Kent Hance, D-19, and Ron Paul, R-22, voted "yea."

Reps. James Collins, R-3, Bill Archer, R-7, Jack Fields, R-8, Jake Pickle, D-10, Henry Gonzalez, D-20, Tom Loeffler, R-21, Abraham Kazen, D-23, and Martin Frost, D-24, voted

"nay."

Rep. James Wright, D-12, did not vote.

TENNESSEE-TOMBIG BEE--By a vote of 198 for and 208 against, the House rejected an amendment to deny an additional $189 million for the Tennessee-Tombigbee waterway, estimated to cost nearly $2 billion. The project, largest ever undertaken by the Army Corps of Engineers, is a 232-mile waterway connecting the Tennessee and Tombigbee rivers to provide a route for barges from the Appalachian coal fields to the Mississippi River and the Gulf of Mexico. About $1.5 billion has already been appropriated. The amendment was offered to an appropriations bill (HR 4144) later passed and sent to the Senate.

Collins, Archer, Leland and Paul voted "yea."

Sam Hall, Wilson, Ralph Hall, Gramm, Fields, Brooks, Pickle, Leath, Wright, Hightower, Patman, de la Garza, White, Stenholm, Hance, Gonzalez, Loeffler and Kazen voted "nay."

Mattox and Frost did not vote.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS--The House adopted, 337 for and 83 against, an amendment depriving the Internal Revenue Service of money to enforce regulations that deny tax-exempt status to private schools discriminating against minorities. A federal judge has approved IRS affirmative action regulations for private schools in Mississippi, and the policy may be extended nationwide. The vote came during debate on an appropriations bill (HR 4121) later passed and sent to the Senate.

Members voting "yea" opposed using IRS tax-exemption regulations to integrate private schools.

Sam Hall, Wilson, Collins, Ralph Hall, Mattox, Gramm, Archer, Fields, Brooks, Pickle, Leath, Wright, Hightower, Patman, de la Garza, White, Stenholm, Hance, Loeffler, Paul Kazen and Frost voted "yea."

Leland and Gonzalez voted "nay."

SENATE

MARRIAGE PENALTY

By a vote of 35 for and 57 against, the Senate rejected a more rapid reduction of the so-called marriage penalty that requires couples to pay higher taxes than they would pay if single. The tax cut bill (HR 4242), later signed by President Reagan, provides couples with a special tax deduction of up to $1,500 in 1982 and up to $3,000 in 1983. This amendment would have permitted the $3,000 deduction a year earlier.

Senators voting "yea" favored a quicker remedy for the marriage penalty.

Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D, and John Tower, R, voted "nay."

Livestock Marks, Brands Must Be Re-registered

All brands and marks now registered in Collingsworth County must be re-registered between August 30, 1981 and March 1, 1982. Helen Gollighugh, county clerk, has reminded livestock owners and others who have brands registered and want to keep them.

Mark and Brand applications are available at the county clerk's office.

The present law, enacted by the Texas Legislature, became effective August 30, 1971 and provided that all marks and brands registered after that date and before August 30, 1981 must be re-registered within 6 months of the latter date. This applies regardless of when the brand or mark was first recorded.

The brands and marks must then be re-registered at subsequent 10-year intervals by the owner.

"Attorney General Mark White is reminding every citizen who has registered a brand prior to August 30, 1981 that citizens must re-register each brand with the County Clerk within six months in order to protect their right to it. If everyone follows the registration schedule set out by the law, county clerks will have a correct, revised set of records every ten years, and there should be no dispute about the correct ownership of livestock," said Mrs. Gollighugh.

"It is illegal in Texas to brand livestock without first properly recording the brand with the county clerk in the county where the livestock are held. Failure to register brands and marks during the mandatory period allows them to become available on a first-come basis. Cattlemen who run cattle in several Texas Counties should also note that they must register their brand in each county.

"To register or re-register marks and brands, the livestock owner may obtain forms from county clerks office. There will be blank spaces on the form in which to describe the mark or brand and the location of the animal where the brand is recorded. Re-registration won't be necessary again until August 30, 1991," the clerk said.

Both the brand and its location on the animal are considered in the re-registration. For example, two livestock owners in one county may use the same brand if the location of the brand on the animals is different, that is, one could brand on the right hip, the other on the left hip.

In the 10 years since the current brand law was enacted, 757 brands have been registered in Collingsworth County, the clerk Mrs. Gollighugh said.

Brands not re-registered by March 1, 1982, become available to anyone wanting to register them.

Persons needing to register a new brand must check with the clerk's office to see if anyone else has that brand. If it is not recorded, then they can register the brand.

Pesticide Applicator Recertification Due

AUSTIN-The more than 9,800 Texans currently certified as private pesticide applicators in the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) Amarillo and Lubbock districts will be receiving recertification forms soon, Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

The forms will help TDA update department files on licensed applicators.

The TDA Amarillo district includes the following counties: Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Helper, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall and Childress.

The TDA Lubbock district includes the following counties: Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, and Jones.

The recertification program, begun in June, terminates with these last two districts, Brown said. All 116,000 private applicators in the state will be recertified.

"TDA has been certifying applicators for five years," noted Brown. "We're sending renewal notices to applicators to update files with current addresses, and delete persons that are inactive, deceased or no longer farming. In addition, the current list will enable us to send these applicators timely information and keep them up to date on current laws."

The recertification program resulted in part from Senate Bill 602, introduced by Senator Bill Sarpalus of Hereford. The bill amends the Texas Pest Control Act, which sets procedures for certifying pesticide applicators.

The ten-week recertification schedule is on a county by county basis and it may be that applicators in some adjoining counties may not receive their renewals at the same time, Brown said. "In addition," Brown noted, "although many of the applicators have moved and may not have received their forms, they are not relieved of their responsibility to get recertified."

"If they read about the program or hear about it through a neighbor, they should contact the nearest TDA district office or their local county agent for the appropriate forms," Browns said.

"Only private applicators currently certified by TDA are involved in the program," Brown emphasized. "Commercial and non-commercial applicators are not included, as they are required by law to have their licenses renewed annually."

Applicators do not have to be retrained or attend meetings, and there is no fee involved, Brown continued. Even new applicators who have recently received their pink certificates need to fill out the application. The new certificates are blue and will be dated.

"If an applicator charges a fee and sprays for the public, he needs to get a commercial or non-commercial license," Brown said. "Certificates are issued to individuals, not to a farm, ranch or nursery. The certificates are also valid in New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, Colorado and Nebraska."

Questions on these and/or other areas should be directed to the Texas Department of Agriculture, attention Charlie Rogers, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Tx. 78751 or any of the twelve TDA district offices.

Firemen Attend Annual School

Three members of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department attended the 1981 Firemen's and Fire Marshall's School of Texas A&M University, College Station, recently.

They were Wellington Fire Marshall Delmar Turner, Eddie Davis and Richard Keller.

Wives of the firemen accompanied their husbands.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner and Keller were in the Associated Public Safety Communications Officer's School. A certificate was awarded on completion of 30 hours in public safety telecommunications.

The telecommunications class included 16 students. Davis, who heads the City of Wellington Water Department, was in the firefighting school which will lead to official certification.

Instructors were Bill Payne, director of Civil Defense based Lubbock;

Claire Erikson of Spring Lake; Bob R. Falkner of Ozona and Joe Trowbridge of Waco.

Before returning home, the Turners visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Aurelio Zapata and Caroline in Ingram.

From there they went to San Antonio for four days, visiting the Alamo, old missions, the old market and Plaza of the Americas, where they viewed the city from a 750 foot height.

Small Animal, Pet Show Part of Fair

The annual small animal and pet show will be held on Saturday, Sept. 12 at 10 a.m. on the North Court-house lawn.

Anyone 12 years old and under wishing to enter the show should have the animals at the show location no later than 10 a.m. said Walter Clements, chairman.

"This year, we are requiring that all pets and animals be in a controllable state; dogs and cats on leashes, rats and mice in cages, etc. This is to insure the safety of both animals and participants," Clements declared.

Judging of the animals will begin at 10 a.m. Animals will be judged and prizes awarded based on the animal's appearance. A Grand Champion and Reserve Champion ribbon will be awarded the top two entries of the show.

"We invite everyone to come by and see these kids exhibit their animals," the chairman said.

Anyone wishing additional information should contact Walter Clements at the Wellington State Bank or call at 447-5724.

Malathion Safe Despite Uproar

Despite the public uproar in California about use of the insecticide malathion to control Mediterranean fruit flies, the material has a proven track record of being safe and free of health hazards.

"Malathion has been with us a long time—since the early 1950s—and is one of the most commonly used insecticides by farmers, homeowners and gardeners," points out Dr. Phil Hamman, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Hamman says he has been inundated with telephone calls since the California controversy from people wanting to know about the safety of malathion.

Tests sponsored by the National Cancer Institute have shown malathion to be both non-carcinogenic (not causing cancer) and non-mutagenic (not causing genetic changes).

According to Dr. Bill Plapp, research toxicologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, malathion is one of the least dangerous insecticides in use today.

"Malathion is routinely used by many homeowners and gardeners to control insects and mites on trees, shrubs, houseplants, flowers and vegetables. It is also used to control external parasites on pets," says Hamman.

In addition, he explains that malathion is used widely to control many different insect pests of crops. For instance, it has been used in large area control programs for boll weevils and grasshoppers in West Texas.

Another major use of malathion in Texas has been for mosquito control programs points out the entomologist. "Malathion is used almost exclusively to rid urban and suburban areas of disease-carrying mosquitoes," says Hamman. "In 1966-67 and again in 1971, vast areas of Texas, including major cities such as Dallas, Houston and Corpus Christi, were aerially sprayed with malathion to control outbreaks of St. Louis encephalitis and Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis, diseases spread by mosquitoes."

The entomologist points out that in all of these uses of malathion, there has been no record of problems involving human health.

Of course, Hamman cautions users of malathion as well as other insecticides to follow commonsense precautions for safe and effective results. This means following directions on the product label, avoiding any unnecessary contact with the insecticide and washing your hands after use. He also suggests scrubbing sprayed fruits or vegetables before cooking or eating.

Great Plains Program Has 25th Anniversary

August 7, 1981, was an historic date for conservation activities. It is the silver anniversary of the Great Plains Conservation Program administered by the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Twenty-five years ago, on August 7, 1956, President Eisenhower signed into law the bill authorizing the program. It is available to farmers and ranchers in the ten Great Plains states stretching from North Dakota to Texas. The program helps producers in solving problems with technical and financial cost-share based on conservation plans tailored to each farm and ranch.

"Local producers have participated heavily in the program from the begining," says Tommy Powell, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Wellington. There have been 337 cost-share contracts developed on 197,332 acres in Collingsworth County. "Only two counties in the state, Hockley and Gaines, have had more participants in the program," continues Powell.

The first GPCP participant in the local area was John S. Coleman, who applied for assistance on November 25, 1957 and whose contract was approved for funds at the state office of the Soil Conservation Service in Temple, Texas on February 14, 1958. Another local producer, the late L.A. Gilmore, also had a GPCP contract approved for funding on that same day.

John Coleman still owns and operates the 1280 acres covered by that first GPCP contract and it is an excellent example of the result of applied conservation measures. The land is located on the Salt Fork of the Red River north of Quail.

Conservation practices applied through GPCP on the Coleman land were a pond with pipe drop, range seeding, cross-fencing, a windbreak, seep pond and diversion terraces.

The Great Plains Conservation Program, administered by the USDA, Soil Conservation Service, has been a leading force in local resource conservation efforts over the last 25 years. Enabling legislation was finalized on August 7, 1956 and the first GPCP conservation contract was signed in South Dakota in late 1957.

"The program has experienced some minor changes and revisions over the years," says Powell, "but the basic objectives, conservation practices and program operations are the same now as when the program was initiated in the late 1950s."

The GPCP is a program whereby the federal government shares the cost of installing permanent conservation practices with farmers and ranchers on the basis of a 3 to 10-year written contract. Federal cost share ranges from 50 to 80 percent of the cost of installing various conservation practices. The landuser in turn agrees to bear his share of cost of practice installation and to maintain them and other resources in good condition through the term of the contract.

A review of some currently active program contracts shows the type of work being carried out by landusers in the 1980s.

Neil and Keith Davis have applied parallel terraces, grass seeding, cross fences, waterways, critical area planting, a livestock well and water storage facility through the program on lands in the Ring, Salt Fork and Plymouth vicinities.

Don Powell has done a great amount of brush spraying, range seeding and pasture planting on his land northwest of Dozier. He has also installed several wells, water facilities and cross-fences.

Two producers in the Quail area, Terry Beeson and Verdie Ketchum, have seeded many acres to weeping lovegrass, often involving critical area shaping or deep shinoak plowing prior to seeding. Other needed livestock facilities such as wells, water storage, pipelines and cross-fences have been installed on their lands.

Ray Null and Hobart Smith have both applied terraces and grass seeding in the Rolla vicinity. Cecil Shanks has constructed terraces, critical area shaping and sprigging and irrigation pipeline on land south of Wellington.

"The program has been limited by fund availability in recent years," says Powell. "We receive less funds for contract development at the local level than we did 20 years ago, and the cost of applying conservation work has tripled or quadrupled during that same period. Ten thousand dollars once cost-shared a lot of conservation work; 'it doesn't buy very much any more,'" Powell commented.

Demand for the program remains high however. The Wellington Field Office of the Soil Conservation Service always has a waiting list of applications on file awaiting the next allocation of program funds.

"A great amount of outstanding conservation work has been done locally through the Great Plains Conservation Program. Almost a million dollars of cost-share has been paid to Collingsworth County producers for installing conservation practices through GPCP and you cannot travel any road in the county for very far without seeing some of this conservation work still doing its job," concludes Powell.

The tailorbird of India sews its nest together with thin vegetable fibers.

Big Gospel Singing Here

The 17-County Gospel Singing Convention will come to Wellington for a two-day meeting Saturday and Sunday, August 29 and 30. Mrs. Vela Tisdale, president, has announced.

The big musical event will be in Bura Handley Community Center. Hours of the various sessions will be announced.

The 17 county convention is made up of counties from the lower Panhandle and southwestern Oklahoma.

Fred Brown of Amarillo is the secretary.

"Wellington has lots of good singers and we urge you to be getting your quartets, trios and class singers ready to participate in this great event," Mrs. Tisdale declared.

Additional plans for the singing convention will be announced next week.

Commissioners Await Tax Evaluations

County Commissioners can come to no conclusion on the budget under which they will operate in 1981 and 1982 until they have a report from the Collingsworth Central Appraisal board as to property valuations.

Judge Bob Watson reported after the regular meeting Monday, August 10.

The commissioners did approve an insurance program for the county and accepted the bid of 1st Wellington Agency on insurance covering all county vehicles, and the bid from Wells and Wells on the multi-peril insurance, which covers buildings and their contents, including the court house, jail, county barn and other buildings.

Approval was given the bond of Joe Ramiro Reyna, who was hired by Sheriff Kenneth Maxwell as a deputy.

The salary of election judges was raised to $4 per hour, as required by state law, effective August 31.

The court also approved fees to be charged for "serving judicial civil process" during the 1981-82 fiscal, including citations, summons, subpoenas, the charge will be small claims courts $10; justice courts $15; and all other courts $20.

This is in compliance with House Bill 1617 passed by the 67th legislature.

For executing or attempting to execute these various writs the sheriff and constables shall receive $27, regardless of the court.
