Americans Held Captives Of Nicaraguan Rebel Leader

SIX CAPTURED IN RAIDS ON GOLD MINES

Gold Bullion Taken As Spoils By Raiders

FEAR FOR LIVES

Englishman and Norwegian Also Held; Immediate Relief Sought

NEW YORK, April 24. (US)—Six American citizens, a Norwegian and an Englishman are being held prisoners in Nicaragua by the rebel leader Augustino Sandino. Two American gold mines have been seized by the Sandino forces, together with hundreds of thousands of dollars worth in cash, gold bullion, and supplies. More than 250 native miners are also prisoners.

This was learned today following receipt of cablegrams here by officials of the La Luz and Los Angeles Mining company and the Bonanza Mines company.

Leaves For Capital

J. Gilmore Fletcher, president of the La Luz, and Benjamin Warnick of Philadelphia, president of the Bonanza, told how their properties and mine officials had been taken by the rebel forces. Both declared they feared for the safety of the American prisoners. The state department in Washington has been notified and Fletcher left tonight for the capital to urge prompt action by the government to rescue the imprisoned men and restore the properties to their owners.

The first raid was on the La Luz mine, in the department of Prinzapolca, about 100 miles from either coast. Those captured are Harry P. Amphlett, mine superintendent, a British subject; George B. Marshall of New York, assistant superintendent; L. B. Milberry of Woodsville, N. H.; Roy Burley and P. Petersen, formerly of Brooklyn, a Norwegian subject.

Second Raid

The Bonanza mine, two days by mule pack train from the La Luz, was next taken. There the rebels captured George A. Napoleon, of Columbia, Cal., superintendent; A. H. Head of Denver, chemist, and Franklin Springer of New Orleans, commissary head.

The report of the Bonanza raid, Warnick said, had come to him in a cablegram and has not yet been confirmed. The message said the mine had been looted, its officials and 150 native miners taken prisoners. The La Luz reports, which has been confirmed, said that 100 native miners were held.

Prisoners Unsafe

Due to the harshness of the country, none of the mine officials had their wives or families with them. Warnick declared that health conditions were such that no white man could live for more than three or four days away from the mining camps with their modern sanitation. Speaking of the prisoners, he said:

"They will never come out alive unless the government goes after them."

CREW RUSHES REPAIR WORK ON BIG SHIP

Ford Relief Plane Lands At Greenly With New Parts

ICE GREAT PROBLEM

Manpower Alone Available For Moving Giant Craft

LAKE ST. AGNES, April 23. (US)—"We expect to fly the Bremen off Greenly island within 48 hours!"

This was the cheering word which reached here by radio and land wire tonight from the ice-fettered haven of the trans-Atlantic fliers in the strait of Belle Isle.

GREENLY ISLAND, Quebec, April 23. (US)—In hopes of putting the German trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen in shape for its interruped flight to New York, repair work was under way tonight under the direction of Ernest Koeppen, mechanic of the Junkers company. Work was begun immediately after the Ford relief plane made a landing here shortly before noon, carrying Major James Fitzmaurice,

BENNETT VERY ILL

QUEBEC, April 23. (AP)—A bulletin issued tonight by physicians attending Floyd Bennett, American flying ace, who is ill in the Jeffrey Hale hospital here with pneumonia, stated his condition "very grave."

Irish member of the Bremen's crew, Bernt Balchen, noted air explorer, and pilot of the Ford plane, Koeppen and a newspaper correspondent.

While Koeppen looked over the Bremen, and consulted with Captain Hermann Koehl, the Bremen's commandant, and Baron von Huenefeld, backer of the flight, repair materials and fuel were unloaded from the Ford plane.

May Hop Tuesday

The work was carried on with impatient haste in an effort to have the Bremen ready to hop off early Tuesday morning for New York with Koehl, Fitzmaurice and Von Huenefeld aboard. Whether this schedule can be adhered to was not certain early tonight.

The Ford plane hopped off from Seven Islands, Quebec, at 5:10 this morning, and made a safe landing here at 11:50 a. m., covering the 460 miles in six hours. The slow speed was to conserve fuel, as the big three-motored rescue ship could not carry full fuel supply in addition to the heavy load of supplies for the Bremen.

The repair work is only one of the problems confronting the trans-Atlantic fliers. They must get the ship to the ice. A runway has been built for this purpose but the task will be difficult because of the great weight of the plane. A take-off from the island would be difficult, if not impossible, because of the uneven terrain and boulders.

Man-Power Only

The work of adjusting skids in place of the damaged undercarriage can be completed in a few hours. The fitting of the propeiler and the straightening of the shaft, bent in landing, was not expected to be difficult. The heavy task will be to shift the position of the ship, weighing several tons, with no apparatus but man-power.

For this task the natives have volunteered and will be superintended by Dr. Louis Cuisinier, the only one of the rescue group who speaks French. He came here on the first trip made by Duke Schiller in his plane, and remained to aid in the work.

Hoover's Vote Getting Power Tested Today in Ohio Primary Election

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 23. (AP)—Herbert Hoover's vote getting ability will be given its first real test tomorrow with Ohio republicans deciding at the polls whether the state's delegates to the Kansas City convention are to be pledged to him or be practically uninstructed.

Lined up against the Hoover slate of 51 delegates is a ticket which originally entered the field committed to the presidential candidacy of the late Senator Frank B. Willis, and since his recent death has indicated it might support any of a half dozen republicans for the nomination in June, probably dividing its vote.

While the republicans of the state, split into two factions, are registering their preference in tomorrow's primaries, the democrats, in a more harmonious mood, will select 48 delegates to the Houston convention. In only two districts is there opposition to the democratic organization slate, which is pledged to former Senator Atlee Pomerene as a "favorite son."

Despite the bitterness stirred up by the republican contest, a rather light vote has been predicted, with Hoover expected to show his greatest strength in the larger cities and the Willis slate making its best showing in rural Ohio.

POLAR FLIERS AWAIT NOBILE

Capt. Wilkins May Confer With Italian

OSLO, April 23. (US).—Latest reports indicate that Capt. Wilkins will remain at Green Harbor for a week or ten days. It is reported here that the pole fliers may await the arrival there of Gen. Umberto Nobile's supply ship, the Citta de Milano, which is proceeding to Spitsbergen and is due there shortly.

The reports state that the vessel may break through the ice and proceed to Green Harbor to pick up the fliers and take them to Spitsbergen where they will wait for the arrival of Gen. Nobile in the airship Italia.

Conference Likely.

It is considered likely that Capt. Wilkins and his companion, Carl B. Eielson, will make every effort to communicate with Gen. Nobile, even if they were not able to hold personal conferences with him in the Arctic, in order to give him the benefit of any observations they made in their flight over the top of the world from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Green Harbor where they were forced to land in a terrific gale only 35 miles from their destination at Spitzbergen.

Capt. Wilkins and his aide are presumed to have gathered valuable data on conditions near the north pole which would be of great value to Gen. Nobile and his scientific observers aboard the airship Italia which is expected to make its north pole hop within a month.

The Italia with Gen. Nobile and the greater part of his staff of polar explorers, is now at Stolp, in Pommeranila, completing their outfitting for the big flight. Capt. Wilkins is believed anxious to convey to the Italian expedition information that will be extremely useful in plotting the polar course of the Italia.

HOUSE SOUNDLY DEFEATS MOVE OF PRESIDENT

Efforts to Revise Jones Bill Ignored By Lawmakers

COALITION ACTIVE

Democrats and Western Republicans Join Forces

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—Supporters of the senate Jones flood control bill held the whip hand in the house today and defeated every effort of administration leaders to revise the measure to meet objections raised by President Coolidge.

This action came in the face of repeated warnings from the house Republican leadership that unless the revisions were accepted the bill would receive a presidential veto and that the administration group could muster sufficient votes to sustain the president.

Severe Setback

The administration's most severe setback came late in the day with the defeat by a vote of 142 to 73 of an amendment to have states, rather than federal government, bear the cost of levee rights of way along spillways and floodways in Arkansas, Louisiana and Missouri. In addition the proposal would have required southern Illinois and southeastern Missouri to assume the damages that might occur as a result of the construction of the New Madrid riverbank flood way and place a similar responsibility upon the city of New Orleans in the building of the Bonnet Carre spillway.

The proposal, offered by Chairman Madden of appropriations committee, who has been one of the leaders in the fight to change the bill to meet the president's views, however, was defeated by a coalition of western Republicans and almost the solid Democratic membership.

Last Minute Appeal

Madden made a last minute appeal for the house to stand by the president. He said that Mr. Coolidge had been sympathetic to the flood problem and that "you are making a mistake in refusing to co-operate with him."

"I haven't any doubt that you can pass the bill," he continued, "but you cannot pass it over the president's veto. Why do you take the chance of losing the whole thing through a veto by not assuming the cost of the levee rights of way and the New Madrid and Bonnet Carre spillway damages?"

Madden added, however, that he "made no threats" and was speaking for himself only. Earlier in the day he had called at the White House and upon leaving announced that Mr. Coolidge felt the revisions he previously had outlined were as far as he could go toward an agreement.

Mandate Resented

Representative Nelson, Democrat, Missouri, opposed Madden's position and declared that he "resented the president's mandate to the house and that congress should do its duty regardless of what the White House has sent to the capitol." Representative Denison, Republican, Illinois, also declared it would be better to kill the bill than accept Madden's amendment.

"The type of memorial," states the will, "shall be one which shall be a fitting perpetual memorial to the memory of my beloved deceased son."

The elder Franks, broken in health since his son's slaying, died last week.

VACATION IS INTERRUPTED

Teapot Committee Calls Harry Sinclair

WASHINGTON, April 23. (US)—In an effort to break Harry F. Sinclair's six years of silence on the Teapot Dome oil scandals, the senate public lands committee today subpoenaed the multi-millionaire oil operator to testify before it.

Sinclair has been asked to come to Washington on Tuesday, May 1, to tell his story.

Stewart Subpoenaed

The committee earlier in the day had subpoenaed the oil millionaire to appear here tomorrow but this plan was later changed. As a result Col. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil company, (Indiana), will be the principal witness at tomorrow's session.

The committee is anxious to know what part both Stewart and Sinclair played, if any, in the famous $8,080,000 Continental Trading company oil slush fund deal.

The calling of Sinclair will, it is thought, slightly interrupt the "jubilation vacation" which the oil operator is now understood to be enjoying following his acquittal of a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government, by a jury here Saturday.

Whether Sinclair now will come forward and tell his story of the leasing of the oil reserves was a question which members of the senate committee could not answer tonight.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, the oil scandals prosecutor, expressed a belief that the oil millionaire would not now claim immunity as he did when appearing before the committee four years ago.

Under Sentence

Likewise, it is doubted that Sinclair will decline to answer questions propounded by committee members, for he is already under a three months' jail sentence for contempt of the senate for declining to testify on a previous occasion.

Torrential Rainstorms Flood Lowland Districts of Georgia and Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 23 (AP) Lowland inhabitants of Georgia and Alabama tonight were experiencing the worst flood in many years while residents of Arkansas, pestered several days by overflowing streams, were winning their fight against the back waters.

Conditions prevailing in Georgia and Alabama were caused by torrential rainstorms which broke precipitation records of long duration in several sections. Railway and automobile traffic was at a standstill in many localities.

While the flood crests for rivers and smaller streams were not in sight, the overflow had washed out sections of highways and railroads as well as wrecking bridges and damaging crops.

Andalusia, Ala., and Blakely, Ga., virtually were isolated from outside communication while rail traffic was not expected to be resumed over several lines before late in the week.

Small tornadoes struck Brunswick and Sylvester, Ga. Heavy property damage was caused, but no lives were lost. Windstroms aided the pelting rain in its work of destruction in several vicinities.

Flood warnings were sent today for more than a dozen streams in southern Georgia and Alabama where all day the torrents rose rapidly, threatening to reach record stages.

EPISCOPAL MEN FORM CLUB

Church of Good Shepherd In Meeting

A men's club of the Church of the Good Shepherd was organized at the Parish House when men of the church met Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

Willis Maxon was elected president, Carter McGregor, vice-president, L. T. Burns, treasurer, and John King, secretary, after J. H. Allison, acting chairman, appointed a nominating committee composed of E. C. DeMontel, Mr. Bancroft, George Dwyer, Earle Clayton, and J. G. Oakley, who returned a ballot of those elected.

Judge A. H. Carrigan, who was invited to help in the organization of the club spoke on "What I Think of the Episcopalians." "I have never seen nor heard of an Episcopalian rector who was a political preacher," Judge Carrigan said. "The Episcopalian rector preaches the word doctrine of Jesus Christ without the reference to politics."

Men are tired of the kind of sermons in which the minister abuses and berates people from the pulpit, he declared, stating that he did not wish to see the pulpit brought into abuse, that the church is too sacred a place to preach other than the gospel of Christ.

"The reverence evidenced by Episcopalians in church is wonderful. They seem to cast aside all worldly cares and to be alone with the Master," he said. "There is no irreverence in the Episcopal church."

Judge Carrigan pointed out that the church had its failings, that heretofore it did not have a Bible class.

The Rev. W. D. Bratton spoke to the meeting at its opening stating that he was desirious of the organization of such a club to attend the Bible class under H. R. Wilson, who has recently taken the place of Harwood Stacy.

Dr. Nat F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, also spoke to the meeting, commending the organization of the club.

Bruce Greenwood, D. G. Gray, and Carter McGregor were appointed as a committee to prepare a program for the next meeting, the third Monday in May, May 21.

Mrs. Bruce Greenwood and Mrs. O. E. Maer played a violin duet, accompanied by Mrs. Alfred Miller. Mrs. Kenneth Bebb sang two solos, accompanied on the violin by Mrs. Greenwood and Mrs. Miller at the piano.

A dinner was served by the Emma B. Childers guild.

FIRE CAUSES $1500 LOSS

Scott Avenue Residence Scene of Blaze

Damage estimated at $1500 was caused by fire which broke out in the residence of E. Estes, 212 Scott avenue, about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The house, which was a seven-room frame building, was the property of a Mrs. Barr, who lives on the Burkburnett highway.

Mr. Estes, his wife and two children lived in the west side of the house, while the east side was occupied by Mrs. May Tack. No one was at home at the time of the fire.

Mrs. Estes, visiting with a neighbor in a house adjoining, looked over to see smoke pouring from her home. Cause of the fire was unknown. The fire evidently started in the back of the dwelling, spreading to the roof.

Damage to the building itself was estimated at $1000, while damage to the furnture was estimated at $500. Only two mattresses were saved.

Fairtrace First City Manager

auditing, tax and water depa t-ments.

For the past four and a half years he has served as city manager of Highland Park, an incorporated city adjoining Dallas.

Wiley Wyatt, owner and operator of the Studio hotel, asked for a special permit to add four more stories to the Studio hotel at the council meeting. A committee composed of the city building inspector, the engineer and the fire chief was named to inspect it and make recommendations and report back to the council.

Payment of a number of bills under an emergency ordinance passed last week was ordered by the aldermen.

The report of the city engineer for the year was turned over to W. E. McBroom, city clerk, to be given to the new city manager.

The Wichita Falls Traction company, through Alderman Hunt, asked the withdrawal of its petition for an increase in fares from six to seven cents. The request was filed last September with the council and was referred to a committee where it finally died. Later the committee was discharged and the request has remained on the docket of unfinished business until Monday night.

Johnson Offered Expenses

Fire Chief J. L. McClure was given permission to buy $60 worth of tools to change the threading of the city fire connections to conform with the stand standard in accordance with the law of 1922.

Mayor Akin and Alderman Jones were allowed an expense account of $94 for their trip last week to several Texas towns to investigate possibilities for the city managership.

On the motion of Alderman Hunt, it was voted to extend to Adam Johnson, city manager of Austin, who made a special trip here to confer with the councilmen Monday, an invitation for him to send in his expense account if he so wished. It was explained that he made the trip at the urgent request of the Wichita Falls men.

Fifty tax suits were presented to the city council for inspection before filing by City Attorney Hilbert Martin. These are all for back taxes prior to 1927. The council ordered several of the suits withheld and the rest prosecuted.

Convict Clings To Hall-Mills Confession

NEWARK, N. J., April 23. (UP)—Despite official disbelief of his story, Elwin F. Allen, now in the county jail at El Reno, Okla., reiterates in a letter received here today that he killed the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Florence Mills, September 14, 1922, for "a brand new automobile and $5,000."

In the letter, which was addressed to Captain of Detectives Philip Sebold, Allen insisted that he "did the job," but that he "won't say a word until I reach there."

Dismissal of Matricide Charges Is Sought

OTTAWA, Ill., April 23. (UP)—Arguments on a motion to discharge the case on the grounds it had not been prosecuted within the statute of limitations, prevented jury selection today when the matricide charge against Harry Hill, former Knox college student, was called for a second trial. Hill's first trial ended in a jury disagreement after three days' deliberations.

Skin eruptions successfully treated from within

SKILLED physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy."—Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, you don't have that tired, languid feeling when you awake in the morning. Instead, you feel, refreshed, ready to meet the world.

Your appetite is keen—you enjoy work or play—your skin is clear, cheeks naturally rosy.

All this because rich, red blood builds and sustains the body.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

"Americanitis"

The speed at which we Americans live has given rise to a group of serious nervous and high blood pressure disturbances aptly described as "Americanitis". It's responsible for many break-downs and deaths at middle age.

Men who work hard, smoke hard and play hard overburden the liver whose job it is to keep the blood and system clean of poisons formed in food waste. Then follows an insidious toxic condition which saps strength, and energy, increases blood pressure and hardens arteries.

The liver occasionally needs a little help and there's nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a great natural stimulant for the liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to real health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few make a vast difference. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol.

Free Test Take this ad to the druggist named below and he will give you a free sample of Dioxol tablets. Try them yourself. See the splendid, quick results. One trial of Dioxol and you will want a full package! Special Agent: Allison's Drug Store.—Adv.

Americans Advised to Evacuate Chinese Cities Fighting Zone

WASHINGTON, April 23. (UP)—All Americans in the northeastern section of the Chinese province of Shantung have been advised to evacuate at once to Cherfoo, the state department was informed today by Minister MacMurray in Pekin.

On January 1 there were 114 Americans in the district, but many more were believed to be there now.

Consul Leroy Webber at Cherfoo reported that although the situation is outwardly quiet at the moment, the authorities fear the city will be attacked by bandits in view of the imminent collapse of the Shantung defense.

The consul has asked that a naval vessel be sent to Cherfoo at once. A Japanese warship is standing by in the harbor. The British consul, according to Webber, has also asked for naval protection.

Another cablegram from MacMurray said the British legation has been advised of a great conflagration sweeping the inland town of Chunkiang. Several thousand houses had been destroyed at the time the message was filed. Most of the property was insured by American companies according to the cablegram.

Denver Scientist Finds Other Marvels

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., April 23.—The latest collection to the already large number of remains of prehistoric animals found in the Holloman sand pits north of Frederick, is what Harold J. Cook of the Museum of Natural History, Denver, Colo., claims is the jawbone of an ancient tapir, the teeth well preserved. When Cook arrived he was shown this and several other prehistoric bones, also some round masses of gravel and various kinds of rock cemented together. These vary in size, some being larger than a croquet ball. It was in some of these that Holloman found live frogs.

Thousands of these round substances have been found in the Holloman sand pits but very few of them which were broken were found to contain a frog. Some of them are much lighter than others and Cook took one of the lightest and began drilling a hole to see if it also might contain one of the live frogs. Great care had to be taken to keep from shattering it.

He was shown the one found some time ago containing a live frog. A hole had been drilled into this one through which the frog could be seen. Unfortunately, some one had dropped this ball, cracking it, and Holloman has placed a wire about it to keep it from breaking any more. Cook is the first scientist of note who will admit that these frogs, found in the same strata with the carapace of the glyptodon, are not the same kind of frogs that are now living.

He carefully examined one of them. Although it had large eyes it was entirely blind, as a pencil could be placed close to its large optics without causing it to move; upon being touched, however, it would twist. If it had ever been able to hop like a normal frog, it seemed to have lost this power, for it could only crawl very slowly.

Cook and Holloman were anxious to find one of these balls containing a live frog which could be sent to Dr. O. P. Hay, paleontological authority of the United States National museum, Smithsonian institution, so the scientist could open it himself and see that the frog really had been incased in a hard rock that required a long period of time to harden.

Cook was accompanied by Mrs. Cook. From here they made a trip to New Mexico.

Never Promise Your Wife You'll Remain Single After She's Gone

Should a Widower Break His Promise to His Dead Wife Never to Remarry?—The Important Marital Question of Who Gets the Breakfast—Do Children Have Any Obligation to a Stranger Father?

Dear Miss Dix—I am a widower 50 years old. Before my wife died she extracted from me the promise that I would never marry again and my children, who are all married, frequently remind me of my promise to their mother. Now I am very lonely and long for companionship, and I have met a woman whose age, family connection, character and personality would make her an ideal wife for me if I could be fortunate enough to win her. I think she would say "yes" and that we would be very happy together, but in view of my promise to my wife and children I don't know what to do. Will you advise me? —WIDOWER.

Answer:

A foolish promise is better broken than kept. None of us can bind ourselves for the future because we do not know what it will bring forth. A thousand circumstances may arise that make it not only expedient but impossible for us to keep some vow that we have made on the impulse of the moment.

We might swear, for instance, that we will never eat fish again, but if we were shipwrecked on a desert island where the only food we could possibly obtain was fish we would certainly not permit ourselves to starve to death in order to keep our oath. And look at the freaks that you meet from time to time, with long hair straggling over their shoulders, or beards that look like crops of alfalfa, who have taken a vow never to cut their hair or shave until a republican is elected Grand Sachem of Tammany hall! What are they but figures of fun?

Many jealous women make their husbands promise never to marry again if they die. Gallantry demands that a man should make this promise, and common sense demands that he should forget it. It makes the poor green-eyed lady happy to believe that her husband is going to wear the willow for her as long as he lives, but there is no reason why he should martyrize himself for her selfish whim.

Because we believe that when we die we leave behind us the limitations of the flesh with its little narrow passions, its small vanities and its consuming egotism, we cannot conceive that it would add to the joy of a soul in Paradise to know that it had doomed one it loved on earth to spend all of his days in loneliness and unavailing sorrow.

So if it be possible for those who have gone to the other world to know what is taking place in this, every wife who has wrung from her husband a promise that he would never marry again would gladly absolve him from his vow if she could. And as she can't he has a perfect right to absolve himself.

It is nothing but selfishness that inspires a woman to make her husband promise never to marry again if she dies and it is rank selfishness in his married children to hold him to that foolish promise. The only way to meet selfishness is with selfishness.

So my earnest advice to you is to go along and marry your lady love as soon as you can. A man at 50 is still a young man with the prospect of many long years of life before him, and there is no reason why these should not be full and happy ones, with a wife who will give him the companionship he craves and make him the home he deserves.

Your children have their homes, their families, their interests, but they belong to one generation and you belong to another. If you go to live with them you will always feel yourself a little in the way, a little of a burden, and both you and they will be happier if you marry and have your own life and your own establishment.

To miss all of this for the sake of a promise to an unreasonable woman is silly.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am engaged to marry a girl and the question has come up of whether she should get my breakfast or not. I have to be at work at 7 o'clock, and it will certainly keep me on the jump if I have to take care of the fires, dress, shave and do the things a man has to do around a house and then cook my own breakfast. My sweetheart says that my getting my own breakfast would be one of the things that would make life easier for her. I am willing to work hard to do things for her, but I think that getting breakfast is as much the wife's part as working is for the man. And I want a regular breakfast, not just a cup of coffee. Your views on this matter will be appreciated. —J. R. R.

I'm with you, son, and if you will take my advice you won't marry any woman, no matter what other charms and virtues she has, who doesn't stand pat on the breakfast question.

For breakfast is not only bacon and eggs, it is symbolic of domesticity. It not only starts the day off, right or wrong, but it starts married life off on the right foot or the wrong foot. And by the kind of a breakfast a wife gives her husband, by the way she looks at the breakfast table, by the line of conversation she hands him, you get her measure as a wife.

The wife who gives her husband a good, hot, well-cooked breakfast and sends him out well-nourished to his work; the wife who always puts on a fresh pink or blue bungalow apron and whose husband takes away with him for the day an eveful of crisp, clean, pretty femininity; the wife who is bright and cheerful and chatty at the breakfast table is the woman who keeps her husband thanking his guardian angel all his days for his luck in getting her for a wife.

But the wife who is too trifling and lazy to get up and get her husband his breakfast, who pulls the covers over her head and takes another snooze while he is cooking some sort of an indigestible mess and thinking how he got stung when he got married; the wife who wears a slouchy kimono and who always chooses the breakfast table as a place to ask for money and tell him that Aunt Susan is coming on a visit, who sends her man away with food in his stomach that would kill an ostrich and the bitter words of a quarrel in his memory; who forces him to contrast how sloppy she looked with the spic-and-spanness of the girls in the office, is the wife who is a curse to a man and who makes marriage a failure.

It is just as much a wife's part to get her husband's breakfast as it is his to provide the food to cook, and she is a quitter who lays down on her job if she doesn't do it.

This girl has warned you about what to expect. Take the tip and save yourself.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My father has never stayed at home long enough to get acquainted with his family. He has spent his life roaming from place to place. Never trying to hold a job. Never contributing to the family support. For the last 10 years we have rarely seen him at all. Then out of a clear sky he comes home, saying he is getting old and wants to settle down with his family and for us to support him. During those 10 years my mother, my sisters and myself have been working and can now afford a nice little house and a few luxuries for mother, and we feel that he has no right to come in and take charge of the home that we have worked so hard to make. Also we feel very much imposed upon having to support a man who is a stranger to us. He doesn't do a lick of work, lays around all day and reads the paper and makes himself very disagreeable in every way. Are we in duty bound to take care of this man? —POLLY.

Answer:

You certainly are not. He failed completely in his obligations to you. Now let him reap what he sowed. If he had been a good father to you, it would be your duty to support him in his old age, but since he ignored his duty to you and spent his time in loafing and dissipation there is no reason why you should work to support him.

Send him to some old man's home and you and your mother can enjoy your quiet home together without his disturbing presence.

Texas Mother Knew Answer

"Yes sir, I am certainly proud of my little boy," says Mrs. J. S. Bellah, 104 Huff Ave., San Antonio. "He's the picture of health as you can see, and I feel like he'll always be that way as long as I can get California Fig Syrup. I have used it with him ever since he was a year old. I knew what to give him for his colds and his feverish, upset spells because Mother used California Fig Syrup with all of us children. I have used it freely with my baby and he loves it. It always fixes him up, quick."

In many homes, like this, the third and fourth generations are using pure, wholesome California Fig Syrup because it has never failed to do what is expected of it. Nothing so quickly and thoroughly purges a child's system of the souring waste which keeps him cross, feverish, headachy, bilious, half-sick, with coated tongue, bad breath and no appetite or energy as long as it is allowed to remain in the little stomach and bowels. Fig Syrup gives tone and strength to those organs so they continue to act as Nature intends them to do, and helps build up and strengthen weak, pale and underweight children. Over four million bottles used a year shows its popularity. The genuine, endorsed by physicians for 50 years, always bears the word "California."—Adv.

MODISH MITZI BETWEEN US GIRLS By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi doesn't know quite what to make of it. Not of Marie's costume. Oh, no, Mitzi realizes that this is the smartest and newest note in fashions for young things—and for others not quite so young. The nautical influence! It began with the smart colors—navy, middy and marine blue. Now it has gone on to the sailor collars, brass buttons and anything else even slightly reminiscent of ships and sailors. No, it isn't Marie's costume that worries Mitzi. It's Marie's state of mind. Mitzi just told the Goofer over the telephone that she couldn't see him tonight and Marie is telling Mitzi that it's a shame the way she treats him—can't she see he's pining away for her?

Mitzi's dress, we forgot to mention, in the first sketch was a raspberry and white print with edgings of marquisette. This is her newest evening gown (tried on for Marie's benefit) and the particularly fascinating thing about it is the way the bodice and neckline are cut. After all, Mitzi wonders, might she not like to see the Goofer?

So, she told him so and here he is. Mitzi told Marie she could put on her new party dress of net and taffeta and she's wearing a lace evening gown with drapes, herself. It's all nonsense, of course Marie's talk about the way the Goofer is pining away daily—and yet, as Mitzi looks at him, she wonders if he isn't a little pale?

Housewife—Scientist Interests World Of Experts With New Experiments

BERKELEY, Calif., April 23. (INS)—A young Berkeley housewife-scientist, holding degrees from two universities, and the mother of a 5-months-old boy, has made the scientific world sit up and take notice.

Successful experiments which tend to prove that life on earth is not impossible wthout bacteria have been completed by Mrs. Helen McDonald Steinfeld and were announced today by the University of California department of zoology.

Her conclusion refutes the theory held by eminent scientists since the time of Pasteur.

Her experiments developed another important discovery; that living organisms of any one species would all have about equal life spans if their heredity and environment could be made the same and their life maintained under absolutely antiseptic conditions.

Mrs. Steinfeld—as Helen McDonald—began the three-year experiment at the University of California. She used in her work 25,000 fruit flies, known as the "drosophila melanogaster."

A WELL-KNOWN young woman in the business world of the city is in a predicament—she has lost a suit case and has no idea as to time or place of loss, and a friend has lost a pink trimmed organdy dress, her safest left-over bet from last season, and she does'nt have any idea what became of that. And the first mentioned young lady is going to advertise for both of 'em at the same time—and when she does . . .

HERE are a few thoughts from the Orient. Yoshiro Markino, a Japanese artist who recently returned to his London studio, after visiting America over a period of four years, makes these statements concerning American women and women in general:

"American women are bright, they dazzle and charm—the Japanese woman is like the crescent moon, the English woman like the full moon, beautiful and one may look at her, while the American woman is like Circe, dazzling and fascinating.

"I am convinced," he says about women in general "that woman is the fundamental sex, man only the complement. I believe that women are greater than men in every way, but up to now they have had little chance for development."

He is engaged to be married in the near future, to an American girl, and it is likely that he will learn from her that woman's chance for development is not just around the corner, but that it has arrived.

Markino has lived in England 30 years and in America not long enough.

ANOTHER beauty aid for Wichita Falls women: A London physician has announced that weeping is a beauty aid and that repressing tears is destructive to good looks. Mercy! And we used to think that place belonged to smiles. Won't men, especially the husband variety, greet the advent of the new beauty and with many cheers. Just think of the hats and gowns that it will take to keep the tears from being drenched up to the neck in tears.

During the last few weeks the number of absences in the Junior college and high school have increased by leaps and bounds. SO WEAK SHE COULDN'T WALK

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gretna, La.—"After my first child was born I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a run-down condition. I could not walk across my room at times, I was so weak. A friend induced me to take the Vegetable Compound. Since that time I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Herb Medicine and the Pills for Constipation, and I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a housekeeper and I am still taking the Vegetable Compound as a tonic to enable me to do my work."—Mrs. E. F. VICKNAIR, 329 Hancock Street, Gretna, La.

Young Wichita Falls

The coming Wichita Falls will be an artistic city, if present indications of talent among the very young means anything.

Here we have Cornelia Connor, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Connor, 1906 Pearl street, who would rather paint and draw than do anything else—even better than playing with her 8-year-old sister, Ruth Mary. And she is doing it so well that her parents are already planning an extensive study program for her when she grows to be a little older.

Cornelia is a dainty blonde and was crown bearer at the recent Mardi Gras festival at the junior college. She celebrated her fifth birthday recently.

Varied Program Of Social Events On Tuesday's Calendar

Tuesday will be a day of unusual activity for the society of the city with a number of interesting events scheduled to take place on that date.

Probably the most attractive of the events planned will be the presentation of "What Every Woman Knows" by the drama department of the Womans Forum at the club house at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening; the open meeting of the Musicians' club at the parish house at 8:15 o'clock, evening, and the tea to be given in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. D. Shamburger, 2501 Ninth street.

Miss Eva Catherine Rayzor will take the lead in the play of Tuesday evening. She is a senior student in the school of literature and speech at C. I. A. and represented the speech department at the State Federation of Women's clubs in El Paso last fall. She was also chosen to christen the ship Wichita Falls at Houston, recently.

Forum members will be admitted on their membership cards and guests will be admitted at the door at the regular guest prices.

BAYLOR CLUB BACKS SCHOOL

Support Pledged Regardless Of Site

The Wichita County Baylor club will within the next few days forward to J. E. Hawkins, secretary of the active executive committee of the Baylor Alumni association at Waco, individual opinions of members of the local club regarding the proposed removal of Baylor university from Waco to Dallas, it was learned here Monday.

While the attitude of the local organization or the individual opinions of its membership were not made public, significance has been attached to a resolution passed by the club. The resolution in effect assures Baylor university that the local organization will stand solidly behind the school whether or not the re-location committee decides to move the school to Dallas.

Higher Price Sought

The resolution was passed at the annual banquet of the club at which Dean Allan G. Flowers of Baylor was the guest of honor and principal speaker. Dean Flowers spoke at length on Baylor as a denominational school and its value to the Baptist denomination, citing Baylor's past and present achievements.

He presented the facts concerning the proposed re-location and asked for the individual opinions of the local alumni.

Expressed opinions are said to indicate that former Baylor students here favor the move if justified by the offer to be made by Dallas but that the North Texas offer should exceed by more than $1,000,000 Waco's offer. This feeling is prompted by the belief that the removal would cost more than $1,500,000, according to former Baylorites here.

The club changed its name at the annual banquet which was held Saturday night at the Wichita club. This action was taken after it was decided to make the organization include all of Wichita county and its vicinity.

Barron Heads Club

The new officers elected are Fred C. Barron, president; Judge English of Electra, first vice president; Horace K. Jackson of Seymour, second vice president; James E. Winegart, secretary-treasurer.

The old officers are Ralph Pittman, president; Fred C. Barron, first vice president; Pauline Shirley, second vice president, and Mrs. Paul Hines, secretary-treasurer.

Four senior girls from the Fairview independent school, Misses Hanks, Leath, White and Smith, accompanied by Miss Gladys Horn, sang a number of old-fashioned songs. The girls were dressed in colonial costumes.

The active executive committee of the Baylor Alumni association has called for expressions from ex-students everywhere on the proposed re-location. This committee will compile a report to the re-location committee from the opinions received.

A statement by Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor, was read at the banquet in which Dr. Brooks expressed confidence in the committee. He expressed regret at seeing Baylor leave Waco but declared he was willing to abide by the findings of the committee.

Old-fashioned Bessie

The woman who slumps on certain days of every month has not kept abreast of the times. Midol has made painful periods a thing of the past for thousands of women!

Midol is not a narcotic. It does not interfere with the natural and necessary process of menstruation. But it stops the pain. It eases the organs affected in five to seven minutes. Furthermore, the woman who anticipates her time and takes a tiny tablet of Midol beforehand will experience no pain at all.

Try to realize Midol does really end all suffering, even discomfort, no matter how hard a time you've always had. At drugstores, in trim aluminum case for fifty cents.—Adv.

Pot Shots at Politics

by Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald

DR. MARK IS STUMPED

Dr. Mark Sullivan, Republican stalwart in politics and picker of presidential standard bearers for the two dominant parties, is up against a brick wall. All along he has predicted the nomination of Hoover. Now he is uncertain.

"If Hoover should not have the nomination in advance, the question becomes whether after the convention meets the eastern and western oppositions can unite on a common candidate?" writes the doctor.

Go back eight years and Dr. Mark will be given his answer. General Leonard Wood and Farmer Frank O. Lowden has the convention sewed. At least they thought they had.

A deadlock was manufactured by the master minds. Warren G. Harding, the choice of a few stragglers, was named the standard bearer of the Republicans.

He was not named by the stragglers. He was picked by the master minds and the eastern and western oppositions boarded the Harding band wagon.

That is, they said it was the Harding band wagon. Albert B. Fall knew better; Harry M. Daugherty knew better. It was a band wagon owned and operated by the master minds.

THE IDLING ANT

Although I've never held the ant
In any very great esteem
Because it loved to toil and pant
Instead of loaf and drowse and dream,
Throughout my life time, I admit
Such ants as I have seen were working
And I have not suspected it
Of shirking.

I've seen it fight, for food or spoil
And found it very rough and brutal,
I've noticed that its kind of toil
Invariably was quite inutile.
Its head, I knew was adamant
Its thoughts, such as it had—were hazy
Yet I could not believe an ant
Was lazy.

But I am told a parasite
Somewhere within its midriff wallows
Wee tiny microscopic mite—,
Which chews the victuals that it swallows.
Shut out from air and light they moil,
Their dull and lowly task pursuing,
To save the ant the paltry toil
Of chewing.

No more I'll listen to the praise
Of this base, low pretentious creature.
Who has no gentle, kindly ways
No loveliness of face or feature.
Its industry is but a jest
The idling, loafing little sinner
Is quite too lazy to digest
Its dinner!

John Self Elliott, 1928.

"We wuz afraid somethin ...ight have happened t' him, but we called up th' jail an' ther he wuz, safe an' sound, so our worry wuz all fer nothin'," said Mrs. Joe Kite, t'day, whose boy didn' show up fer breakfast. Lil Tharp, whose father left him two farms, has petitioned t' have th' will set aside, declarin' his father wuz of unsound mind.

One-Minute Sermon

These words spake Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee:

As thou has given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to as many as thou hast given him.—St. John, xvii, 1-2.

Texas Ranks First

AND it has come to pass that Texas has taken first place as a producer of petroleum; Oklahoma second place and California third place. Thirty years ago Robert P. Hill, a young geologist, let the world know that there were reservoirs of petroleum under the surface of Texas soil. Many people gave the geologist the laugh and he was compelled to move to another state to make an honest living. This is a queer old world and queer people make it a queer world.

Japanese Are Cotton Buyers

NOW it is known that Japan imported 1,437,000 bales of cotton last year and the bulk of it was purchased in America. Never sneer at the Japanese. They entered the game a hundred years ago. They adapted themselves to the commercial civilization of the Occident. Now they are selling cotton goods in India and China and making life interesting for the English manufacturers.

Big Business Calls for Big Combinations

ILLINOIS comes to the surface of things with its $40,000,000 utilities merger. This includes soft coal producing companies, light and heat and power companies and many of the Samuel Insull companies.

It is said that 23 soft coal mines in five states are involved.

It is known that the Peabody Coal company is the largest producer and distributor of soft coal in the United States.

It is said that the Samuel Insull subsidiaries will turn over to the Peabody company 11 mines with approximately 2,000 acres of land, receiving as payment stock in the consolidated company.

This appears to be the age of big business and big business demands big mergers or combinations.

Big business has conducted and directed and controlled the federal government for seven years. Big business plays politics. Big business knows what it wants and how to get it.

Young Men's Chances

HE IS quite an ambitious, energetic young man, but he's somewhat discouraged. Opportunity, he thinks, is not now what it used to be.

"When my father was a boy," he says, "a young man had all kinds of chances. He could start out in business for himself. Or he could get in some small organization, help it grow and become a partner in it in a few years. But now there aren't any small businesses. And the big ones are so big that you could spend your whole life in one of 'em and never be noticed."

There is no denying that the small business has had a rocky time of it lately. The tendency is, inescapably, toward bigness. Mergers and combinations are consolidatting the many small firms into a few big ones. It looks as if the day of the small scale independent business man had passed.

Likewise, it is perfectly true that the big corporations, such as an ambitious young man might want to enter, number their employes by the thousand. An individual, it would seem, could easily become hopelessly submerged.

Yet, in spite of these things, a young man about to begin a business career has more opportunity for advancement today than ever before. Consider, for example, one of the biggest concerns in the country; the General Motors corporation. It has a great many factories, each one almost breath-taking in its size. It maintains salesrooms all over the world. It buys prodigious quantities of raw materials. It has innumerable subdivisions. Each year it makes more automobiles than there are in all of England.

Now this tremendous organization does not run automatically. It is run by men. And these men were not born into their jobs. They won them by proving that they were capable of filling them. A concern the size of General Motors has one outstanding problem, greater than any problem of sales, prices or supply; the problem of finding men big enough to fill its general offices.

What does that mean to a young man entering at the bottom? It means that he will have every chance in the world to advance. It means that the men above him will be constantly looking for signs of ability. It means that there is no limit to the heights to which he can rise, if he has the right stuff in him.

And what is true of General Motors is true of every other big business concern. Never was there such a demand for capable men. Never did ability bring such a high price in the market.

The ambitious young man today can thank his stars that he was born into this era of big business. There never was a time when opportunity was so great as it is today.

How both parties would like to lower the age limit for the presidency so they could nominate Lindbergh!

The trouble with the politicians is their inability to understand how a wet plank could become a burning issue.

What we can't understand is why a man will pay $375,000 for a seat on the stock exchange when he never means to sit down on it.

OKLAHOMA'S RETURN TO DEMOCRACY

It is fitting that Oklahoma should definitely register as a really Democratic state just two days before the anniversary of the birth of the father of the party, Thomas Jefferson. And register as a Democratic state, Oklahoma did last Tuesday when it went on record refusing to admit that prohibition or religion was a political issue.

HOW TO SELECT A CITY MANAGER

Since Gainesville voters decided to take up the city manager form of government, the board of aldermen have been swamped with applications for the job. There are now 25 applications on file from men residing in a dozen states, mostly in the north and east. Not a single local man has applied for the job.

The work of a city manager is a complicated proposition, and cities should seek their managers in the same way that a factory or a business selects a superintendent or general manager.

WICHITA FALLS NEEDS VIEWED BY NEIGHBOR

Wichita Falls was built by oil, but the financial leaders there are realizing the necessity of securing other industries to make up for the loss of oil during the last two years. The oil boom is over and not likely to return. Consequently business has been depressed to a certain extent. A few more large industrial plants along other lines would be welcomed in that city.

NOT TOO MUCH SALT

Salt is a condiment which pleases the palate of every race of mankind, and of many other animals. Although savage races have lived without it, whenever it has not been obtainable to any great extent, human beings have fought and killed each other for it. This craving for salt is wholly because of its agreeable taste, and not because the system requires it in any way.

Common table salt is composed mostly of sodium chloride, but of course many incidental impurities have not been extracted. It is such a mineral as lead, and cannot become a part of the cell structure of the body.

Organic sodium chlorid is found in nearly all of the plants, and in meat and similar protein foods, and although it resembles the mineral sodium chlorid as far as chemical tests are concerned, its effect on the body is entirely different.

Many people claim that this salt is natural to the body, and point out the fact that animals use it at every opportunity. This, of course, is no argument that the salt is good for animals or for humans. Salt is exciting to the taste buds. Every animal, including man, that is dumb enough to use too much of it must suffer the consequences!

There is absolutely no necessity for either man or animal to use salt, and the irritating effect upon the mucous membranes of the body is very destructive to the animal organism.

If food is improperly cooked, its taste will be improved by the addition of salt, but the first thing to learn is how to prepare foods so the natural salts are retained in sufficient quantity for the food to hold a desirable taste. It is the height of folly to put salt on any uncooked vegetable.

The use of excess quantities of salt is very injurious to the kidneys and liver. As these organs are unable to eliminate a large amount of salt, other toxins of the body are retained because of this. Such disease as bright's disease, cirrhosis of the liver, hardening of the arteries, and high blood pressure can be encouraged and developed through the use of an excess of salt.

If the ordinary salted butter is used in flavoring vegetables and meat, it will be found that the salt contained in the butter will be sufficient for all requirements of the taste.

Salted meat and fish are not desirable food because the action of the salt upon them is to toughen the protein particles and to make them indigestible. They are profitable articles for commercial purposes and are, therefore, good for the packer, but not for the user.

One danger in using salt is that it over-excites the flow of saliva and digestive juices, and increases the appetite for food for which the body has no real hunger. Thus, the use of salt adds to the danger of overeating, which is one of our greatest national offenses. Also, large quantities of liquid must be taken in order to dilute the salt in the body. The oldtime saloon keeper who put pretzels on the free lunch counter knew his business.

Questions and Answers.

Question: Anita writes: "I have a very fair skin and it stays red with sunburn all summer. Can you suggest a way to make my skin tan?"

Answer: Your skin will gradually become more tanned if you will regulate the time your skin is exposed to the sun each day. But if your skin is very fair you will never be able to get the same tan that a brunette gets. However, there should be some satisfaction in the knowledge that the blonde really gets more good from the ultra-violet rays of the sun than the brunette who tans so quickly. When the skin becomes dark with tan, the curative chemical rays of the sun are shut out more than with the fair, pink skin.

Question: Mrs. J. K. L. asks: "Are there any certain foods which contain all of the vitamins?"

Answer: Yes, there are a few foods which contain all the vitamins. You will find them in tomatoes, fresh string beans, carrots, oranges, lettuce and milk.

Question: W. H. D. asks: "Can a floating kidney be cured without operation?"

Answer: A floating kidney can always be raised to position through developing the abdominal muscles. Sometimes it is a good plan to go to bed for two or three weeks and take exercise while remaining in the recumbent position. If there is any ache in the kidney, this can be overcome if you will assume the knee-chest position two or three times daily, thus allowing your kidney to slip back into normal position.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The Record News.

NEW YORK, April 3. — Variegated notes of a reporter covering the biggest beat in the world:

Henry Louis Mencken, the Antichrist of college freshmen, knows at least 30 hymns by heart, and frequently hums or sings them as he works. Sinclair Lewis, whose "Elmer Gantry" caused shudders in some pastorages and tolerant smiles in others, also knows many hymns and is wont to sing them at home.

The former Millicent Rogers and Countess Salm, now Mrs. Arturo Ramos has, as pets, three pairs of love birds, a mackaw and a leopard kitten, despite the fact that she lives in an apartment.

A. P. Giannini, the banking genius, who controls half a dozen financial institutions, spends several hours a day in reading thoroughly all of the newspapers of several cities. "Newspapers furnish me all the information and stimulus I need for work," he says. He doesn't read books.

Theodore Dreiser likes to play Canfield solitaire. He estimated that he is about $1,400,000 in debt to the phantom operator of the game.

Add Lindberghiana: Male guests at parties attended by the flyer have been mystified when given a pain in the neck by the sharp impact of a beebee, or piece of buckshot. It appears that "Slim" has some fun now and then by carrying around buckshot and shooting them at necks from between his teeth. He is an accurate marksman, a teller-of-tales-out-of-school declares.

An organ-grinder, who frequents the region of West End avenue and 96th street, has placed his art on a business basis. He doesn't depend on chance-flung pennies. "Pay before I play," is his slogan. His instrument has a slot in which a nickel must be placed before music is played, and the organ accompanist doesn't put in all the nickels that are tossed to him.

Dr. John Roach Straton pronounces his name Strayton.

I was lunching with a knowing newspaperman at the Artists' and Writers' club, to which a few artists and writers belong. The k. n. indicated two distinguished looking men at a nearby table.

"Both of them," he said, "are millionaires. They get into the most exclusive society columns regularly, and their views on finance and public affairs are considered of importance. To the public they are symbols of respectability.

"Well, one of them has about $20,000 in unpaid, ignored I. O. U.'s at Bradley's casino, in Palm Beach. The other is a regular attendant at hop-smoking parties that a bunch of swells hold in a hideaway in a skyscraper, downtown. It's a funny world, ain't it?"

Peggy Hopkins Joyce is less kind to celebrity-hunters who annoy her. Whenever she is recognized in a shop, a crowd of women gather, and she either has to leave or continue her buying under the critical eyes of curious matrons. Before she sailed away to Europe the other day, she went through a trying experience in a manicure shop. Matrons collected outside and in to see her get a rose-colored nail shine. Her anger slowly arose, and when she left, to enter her nickel-plated limousine, she didn't hide her feelings about their efforts to touch her.

THE STORY THUS FAR

The bolt to the side door of the building had been secured at 6 o'clock the evening before and was still locked the next morning. The janitor of the apartment where Margaret Odell was found strangled that morning was very positive. So the murderer, declared Heath, must have used the front entrance and passed the telephone operator. The operator relates that the "Canary" had come in with a gentleman a few minutes past 11 of the night before. "Now wait till you hear the rest of his story," says Heath.

CHAPTER IX

"He went in with Miss Odell, and stayed about half an hour," Jessup said.

Markham's eyes brightened, and there was a suppressed eagerness in his next words.

"Then he arrived about 11, and was alone with Miss Odell in her apartment until about half past 11. You're sure of these facts?"

"Yes, sir, that's correct," the man affirmed.

Markham paused and leaned forward.

"Now, Jessup, think carefully before answering: did any one else call on Miss Odell at any time last night?"

"No one, sir," was the unhesitating reply.

"How can you be so sure?"

"I would have seen them, sir. They would have had to pass the switchboard in order to reach this apartment."

"And don't you ever leave the switchboard?" asked Markham.

"No, sir," the man assured him vigorously, as if protesting against the implication that he would desert a post of duty. "When I want a drink of water, or go to the toilet, I use the little lavatory in the reception-room; but I always hold the door open and keep my eye on the switchboard in case the pilot-light should show up for a telephone call. Nobody could walk down the hall even if I was in the lavatory, without my seeing them."

One could well believe that the conscientious Jessup kept his eye at all times on the switchboard lest a call should flash and go unanswered. The man's earnestness and reliability were obvious; and there was no doubt in any of our minds, I think, that if Miss Odell had had another visitor that night, Jessup would have known of it.

But Heath, with the thoroughness of his nature, rose quickly and stepped out into the main hall. In a moment he returned, looking troubled but satisfied.

"Right!" he ondded to Markham. "The lavatory door's on a direct, unobstructed line with the switchboard."

Jessup took no notice of this verification of his statement, and stood, his eyes attentively on the district attorney, awaiting any further questions that might be asked him. There was something both admirable and confidence-inspiring in his unruffled demeanor.

"What about last night?" resumed Markham. "Did you leave the switchboard often, or for long?"

"Just once, sir; and then only to go to the lavatory for a minute or two. But I watched the board the whole time."

"And you'd be willing to state on oath that no one else called on Miss Odell from 10 o'clock on, and that on one, except her escort, left her apartment after that hour?"

"Yes, sir, I would."

He was plainly telling the truth, and Markham pondered several moments before preceeding.

"What about the side door?"

"That's kept locked all night, sir. The janitor bolts it when he leaves, and unbolts it in the morning. I never touch it."

Markham leaned back and turned to Heath.

"The testimony of the janitor and Jessup here," he said, "seems to limit the situation pretty narrowly to Miss Odell's escort. If, as seems reasonable to assume, the side door was bolted all night, and if no other caller came or went through the front door, it looks as if the man we wanted to find was the one who brought her home."

Heath gave a short, mirthless laugh.

"That would be fine, sir, if something else hadn't happened around here last night." Then, to Jessup: "Tell the district attorney the rest of the story about this man."

Markham looked toward the operator with expectant interest; and Vance, lifting himself on one elbow, listened attentively.

Jessup spoke in a level voice, with the alert and careful manner of a soldier reporting to his superior officer.

"It was just this, sir. When the gentleman came out of Miss Odell's he stopped at the switchboard and apartment at about half past 11, asked me to get him a Yellow taxicab. I put the call through, and while he was waiting for the car, Miss Odell screamed and called for help.

"The gentleman turned and rushed to the apartment door, and I followed quickly behind him. He knocked; but at first there was no answer. Then he knocked again, and at the same time called out to Miss Odell and asked her what was the matter. This time she answered. She said everything was all right, and told him to go home and not worry. Then he walked back with me to the switchboard, remarking that he guessed Miss Odell must have fallen asleep and had a nightmare.

"We talked for a few minutes about the war, and then the taxicab came. He said good night, and went out, and I heard the car drive away."

It was plain to see that this epilogue of the depature of Miss Odell's anonymous escort completely upset Markham's theory of the case. He looked down at the floor with a baffled expression, and smoked vigorously for several moments. At last he asked:

"She said everytaing was all right and told him to go home and not worry."

"How long was it after this man came out of the apartment that you heard Miss Odell scream? And just what did she say when she called for help?"

"She screamed twice, and then cried, 'Help! Help!'"

"And when the man knocked on the door the second time, what did he say?"

"As near as I can recollect, sir, he said: 'Open the door, Margaret! What's the trouble?'"

"And can you remember her exact words when she answered him?"

Jessup hesitated, and frowned reflectively.

"As I recall, she said: 'There's nothing the matter. I'm sorry I screamed. Everything's all right, so please go home, and don't worry.' . . . Of course, that may not be exactly what she said, but it was something very close to it."

"You could hear her plainly through the door, then?"

"Oh, yes. These doors are not very thick."

Markham rose, and began pacing, meditatively. At length, halting in front of the operator, he asked another question:

"Did you hear any other suspicious sounds in this apartment after the man left?"

"Not a sound of any kind, sir," Jessup declared. "Some one from outside the building, however, telephoned Miss Odell about 10 minutes later, and a man's voice answered from her apartment."

"What's this!" Markham spun round, and Heath sat up at attention, his eyes wide. "Tell me every detail of that call."

Jessup complied unemotionally.

"About 20 minutes to 12 a trunk-light flashed on the board, and when I answered it, a man asked for Miss Odell. I plugged the connection through, and after a short wait the receiver was lifted from her phone—you can tell when a receiver's taken off the hook, because the guide-light on the board goes out—and a man's voice answered 'Hello.' I pulled the listening-in key over, and, of course, didn't hear any more."

There was silence in the apartment for several minutes. Then Vance, who had been watching Jessup closely during the interview, spoke.

"By the by, Mr. Jessup," he asked carelessly, "were you yourself, by any chance, a bit fascinated—let us say—by the charming Miss Odell?"

For the first time since entering the room the man appeared ill at ease. A dull flush overspread his cheeks.

"I thought she was a very beautiful lady," he answered resolutely.

Markham gave Vance a look of disapproval, and then addressed himself to the operator.

"That will be all for the moment, Jessup."

The man bowed stiffly and limped out.

"This case is becoming positively fascinatin'," murmured Vance, relaxing once more upon the davenport.

"It's comforting to know that some one's enjoying it." Markham's tone was irritable. "And what, may I ask, was the object of your question concerning Jessup's sentiments toward the dead woman?"

"Oh, just a vagrant notion struggling in my brain," returned Vance.

Heath, rousing himself from gloomy abstraction, spoke up.

"We've still got the fingerprints, Mr. Markham. And I'm thinking that they're going to locate our man for us."

Two New Wells Help Coleman

Special to The Record News.

COLEMAN, April 23.—Production in Coleman county has been increased 300 barrels or more by the favorable showing in two wildcat wells discovered during the latter part of last week.

Roth & Faurot's No. 2 Sealey & Smith, 2 miles north of Valeria in western Coleman county which started flowing after a shot at the rate of 10 barrels hourly natural production continued during the first 12 hours and a gauge for the night is reported to show 125 barrels of the 42.6 gravity oil in storage tanks.

In Cunningham, Simpson, Pinkerton & White No. 2 L. P. Jennings, 7 miles southeast of Santa Anna which is reported in the Fry sand at 1,172-77 feet, swabbed 32 barrels during the night, reports in Coleman declare, and the well will likely be drilled deeper into the sand which is thought to be fully 15 feet thick there, before placing the well on the pump. However, it was formerly estimated as a 70-barrel producer and the production will likely be greatly increased by drilling deeper into the sand which is a recognized prolific producing horizon.

COTTON REPORT IS DEFENDED

Bureau Chief Denies Charges in Probe

WASHINGTON, April 23. (UP)—The senate cotton investigation committee engaged in one of its most bitter sessions today when the agriculture department's bureau of economics, charged with responsibility for the cotton price decline last fall, was defended by L. S. Tenny, chief of the bureau.

The hearing reached a tense point when Senator Ransdell, Louisiana Democrat, demanded that Tenny submit his resignation as head of the bureau and warned that if Tenny did not, he would seek to have congress obtain it.

Report Approved

Testifying under oath nefore the committee, Tenny said he had approved the bureau's famous cotton price report of last September 15, predicting a decline in cotton prices. He contended, however, that he was out of the city when the report was issued and that his approval came when he returned.

"Then you ought to submit your resignation right now," Ransdell said, "and if you don't I shall try to have congress get it from you."

Tenny continued with his explanation of the bureau's price forecast, ignoring the suggestion by Ransdell. Tenny told the committee the bureau's report was based on the estimated cotton carry-over of 7,800,000 bales, pointing out that the price of cotton never had exceeded 20 cents a pound during a season when such a large carry-over is reported.

The bureau's price prediction is claimed to have been disastrous to many cotton producers and it is around this charge that the senate committee has based its investigation.

Census Figure Used

"It has been charged that we did not use the official census figures in computing the carry over," Tenny said. "The chairman of this committee has repeatedly stated that we used a figure from a private source. The fact is, we did use the census figure.

"In answering these charges, while I appreciate that some members of this committee have expressed decided opinion before hearing our explanation, I am nevertheless assuming that you will be open-minded and willing to listen to a presentation of facts."

Officials Deny Charges In Bank Failure

Quake Takes Heavy Toll in Southern Greece

ATHENS, Greece, April 23. (AP)—Southern Greece, like Bulgaria, has been visited by a severe earthquake, which, so far as known, caused the death of thirty or more persons and the injury of large numbers. Some reports place the number of deaths as high as fifty.

The worst effects of the disturbance were observed in the town of Corinth, and in the neighborhood of Corinth canal. The pleasure resorts on the canal at Loutraki, Kalamaki and Poseidonis, have suffered heavily.

REVENGE OATH MURDER CLUE

Stamp Fraud Linked In Assassination

CHICAGO, April 23. (US)—Two theories were advanced today as responsible for the murder of Ben Newmark, assassinated in his home early today.

Both theories were plausible. The first was that it culminated the famous war savings stamp counterfeiting plot of two years ago. The other that it grew out of a booze conspiracy in which Newmark might have been implicated.

A woman was arrested by the authorities today, but her name was not divulged. Chief of Detectives Michael Grady asserted she was a close friend of the slain man, and it was known that she made a telephone call shortly after the shooting occurred.

He would not give out any further information, except that he hoped to learn something of interest from her.

Newmark was formerly chief investigator for State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, but was dismissed for an infraction of duty. Later he was appointed deputy state fire marshal by Governor Len Small, after he had been acquitted of a voting fraud.

Then two years ago, it was rumored he had turned government witness after he had been indicted in the $5,000,000 stamp fraud.

Revenge Threatened

Working on the counterfeiting theory, detective squads scoured the various Italian sections of the city in a search for Ben Jemaill, released from Leavenworth prison a month ago, where he had served time in connection with the stamp fraud.

Jemaill, it was stated, had sworn to "get revenge" on Newmark for being an informer.

On the booze theory, the detective bureau arrested four men. They are being held incommunicado at outlying police stations, where they will be questioned. It was reported that Newmark may have double-crossed some members of the ring.

Still another theory is that Newmark, who operates a private detective bureau, may have been closing in on the bomb terrorists who blasted the homes of Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson, Republican candidate for state's attorney.

At the Republican state convention at Springfield this week, Newmark was noted in earnest conversation with several representatives of the Deneen faction.

Detectives developed today that two men did the shooting. They stood on a box outside the bedroom window of Newmark.

One of the men fired one shot from a sawed-off shot gun. The shell had been filled with steel slugs, seven of which entered Newmark's head and chest.

He was sitting on the bed disrobing preparatory to going to bed, when the assassin's shot was fired. He had no chance to protect himself. His wife was in another room in the house.

The detectives also developed that Newmark had feared death. Five loaded revolvers were found in his home. It was learned that he had employed Lieut. Loftus, formerly of the police department, as a body guard. Loftus is noted for his marksmanship and his courage.

Newmark also had installed a flood lighting system for the yard surrounding his home. He would not venture out of his house at night unless the lights were on.

It also was learned that he had had a policeman around his house at night for the past six weeks.

Part of the pleasure of shopping in Wichita Falls is that you have the choice of wide varities in shades, patterns, sizes and styles.

What is true of clothing applies with equal force to furniture, chinaware, luggage, jewelry and musical instruments. Wichita Falls is a metropolitan market.

And because of the advantages of quantity buying and selling, prices are low. Special values will prevail Suburban Day.

Watch the advertisements in The Times and Record News. The Suburban Day offerings will appear in The Times Wednesday night and Record News Thursday morning. Both issues should be scanned with particular care as the items in them will have been selected with especial attention to quality, timeliness and economy.

Whatever your requirements, you will find plenty of opportunity to fill them at a saving in The Times and Record News Suburban Day issues next Wednesday and Thursday.

Make a shopping list of the items that interest you. Then come to Wichita Falls and share in the advantages of this great metropolitan market.

SPUDDERS BEAT CATS SECOND IN ROW FOR SIX STRAIGHT, 4-3

PATE OPPOSES PAYNE TODAY

Mound Aces Will Hurl On Shriners' Day

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Jake Atz' vaunted staff of left-hand pitchers has prevented the Spudders from smacking base hits with great abandon. But following their custom of hitting where they ain't and when they count, the champions won again from the Cats. Yesterday's victory out at the lot gave the men of Williams two straight over the Panthers. The score was 4 to 3, and it was the sixth win in a row for Wichita Falls.

Our nine isn't yet hitting as it should, and will. But it is hitting when hits count, fielding brilliantly and the pitching is all and more than is to be desired. Such baseball won yesterday's pastime.

Wichita Falls shelled Guy Williams, one of Uncle Jake's four southpaws, off the mound in early innings. This barrage that netted four tallies was enough to win the game. It also was vastly pleasing to our lads who were turned back beaten last week by this same Williams at Cow Town.

Stopped—Too Late

Williams gave up a run in the first inning and after yielding three tallies was called away from there in the third inning with the bases full. Our old friend Johns, another pesky southpaw, stopped the Spudders in their tracks.

That was all the run-getting for the home team. Atz used Burns, a right-hander, and Walkup, a third portsider, on the hill and all were effective to varying degrees.

Rabbit Benton was the hero of the contest. He started the first inning drive with a double on which he later scored, and helped drive a comrade around bases in the third, when he tallied another run. The Rabbit also scintillated afield, playing his second consecutive game at home without an error and starting a fast double play in the third that mayhap saved the game.

Spuds Field Fast

The shortstop wasn't the only homeling who fielded fast. Indeed, Milt Steengrafe was accorded superb assistance by his comrades, though one error did figure in the Cat's scoring. Swenson and Fitzgerald were particular shining lights on the defense, and Wally shared attacking honors with Benton.

Steengrafe was in difficulties on more than one occasion and Mike Cvengros was warming up frequently. But Milt bore down splendidly and thanks also to his support, emerged from dangerous situations with a creditable display of chucking.

Richardson and Murphy were the big macers for the Cats. Both of Richardson's hits, one for two bases, drove in runs, while that huge maskman with the good ole Irish name smacked three blows, one a double on which he scored Eddie Moore also walloped a brace of singles.

Play Today at 2:30

Today's pastime will be started at 2:30 o'clock to permit its conclusion before the Shriners' parade. As befitting the occasion Skippers Williams and Atz will start the aces of their hill staffs. George Payne, who has won all three of his starts this campaign, will oppose Joe Pate, the fourth "Four Left-handed Horseman." Pate, incidentally, is a Shriner, a member of Mosiah temple of Fort Worth.

The Cats scored first yesterday in the opening inning. LaFayette walked with two out, stole second and scored on Richardson's double to left-center.

We tied in our half. Denton banged the wall in right center for two bases and scampered home on Turgeon's long single to center.

Fort Worth counted in the third. Moore started it with a hit to deep short. Young strolled. Turgeon took LaFayette's lift. Richardson's single to right scored Moore.

We Win In Third

The Spudders counted three in the third. Steengrafe, first up, was passed. Benton's hit to center sent Milt to second. Turgeon sacrificed, Richardson to Harrington. Harrington dropped Fitzgerald's fly, Steengrafe scoring. Lamb was purposely walked. Jenkins was hit by a pitched ball, which enabled Benton to walk home. Swenson singled to left, Fitzgerald scoring. Enter Mr. Johns on the scene and he caused Stanton and Cobb to fly out.

The enemy made their last tally in the seventh. Murphy's third hit was a double to right. Clements ran for Murphy. Swanson batted for Johns and skied to Turgeon. Moore's grounder went through Turgeon and Clements scored.

Fort Worth had two runners on bases in the eighth but to no avail and was turned back one-two three in the ninth.

Terris Tries Comeback Against Bruce Flowers

NEW YORK, April 23. (US)—Sid Terris, the clever New York fighter who was considered one of the leading contenders for Sammy Mandell's lightweight crown until he met with a one-round knockout at the hands of Jimmy McLarnin, will attempt a comeback.

Terris was signed today to meet Bruce Flowers, by Humbert J. Fugazy. The match will be held at Ebbets field on the night of June 6. Although both men were ranked among the first five lightweights during the past year they have never met in the ring.

Pete Donohue Reinstated After Accepting Terms

CHICAGO, April 23. (AP)—Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis today reinstated Pete Donohue, Cincinnati holdout hurler.

Donohue came to terms with President McDairmid this morning and immediately applied for reinstatement. The Reds' pitcher was suspended when he failed to sign a contract within 10 days after the opening game.

Notes of the Game

George LaFayette, former Spudder, was given an ovation when he came to bat in the first inning.

Young, who collided with Bischoff Sunday, recovered speedily and returned yesterday to the line-up. The shaking up must have been beneficial to him, as he played a brilliant defensive game.

The Cat shortstop's stop of Stanton's grounder in the second and his catch of Benton's drive in the fourth were features.

Steengrafe knocked down Richardson's harsh bounder in the fifth and threw out the third sacker.

Swenson made a sparkling stop and throw of Holland's grounder in the sixth.

Turgeon made a difficult snatch of Swanson's fly in the seventh.

The knot hole gang was out in full force. They added their voices to the lusty rooting for the home nine.

There were 1800 paid admissions besides the 600 women who saw the game without paying. That is a huge crowd for Monday.

Mondays and Fridays are ladies' days.

Joe Luciano will be the Spudder utility infielder, at least for the time being. Ed Roetz has been sent to the Abilene West Texas club, the Spudder farm. There was little to choose between the pair of promising kids but Luciano's edge in experience caused him to be retained.

Roland Roberts, rookie right-hand pitcher, was released yesterday from Clinic hospital, where he recovered from an attack of flu. He will be in uniform in a day or two.

Ritt's Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

The Louisville Colonels fired a rookie pitcher by the name of Friday. He might have expected that.

Just when we think that times have changed a great deal since the old days we read where Grover Alexander has won another ball game.

The Chicago White Sox paid $235,000 for a couple of infielders, but the team goes right on playing 10-cent baseball.

General Motors has done $7,000,000,000 worth of business since 1909. And without having to put on a single heavyweight title fight, too.

Maybe the reason more college athletes don't succeed in making the hurdles team, there are too many obstacles in the way.

Harry Wills must get a great laugh at reading the experts' wails about Tom Heeney lacking color. They wouldn't give Harry a crack at the crown because he had too much.

MUSTANGS DEFEAT RICE, 9 TO 4 IN LOOSE GAME

MOORE BOXES EARLY TODAY

Dempse in Final Tryouts Of Olympic Games

Dempse Moore, Wichita Falls light heavyweight boxer, will engage early this morning in his first match in the final tryouts for the United States Olympic team. A telegram received last night from Dempse to the sports editor of The Record News advises that Moore's first bout was held this morning at about 8 o'clock. His communication follows:

"Larry Dailey, Sports Editor, Record News, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"I draw a bye in first drawing. There are 21 entries in my weight. My first fight will be at about 8 o'clock in the morning. (Tuesday). If I win, will have three or four more fights. Regards to all.

DEMPSE MOORE."

If the local collegian wins in the final tryouts today at Boston, he will represent the United States in light heavyweight boxing this summer in the Olympic games at Amsterdam.

There are 168 boxers in all the divisions in the final tryouts, conducted by the A. A. U. semi-final and final bouts will be held tonight. Each bout is to be for three rounds.

Jones to Captain Walker Cup Team

Bobby to Lead Defense Of Amateur Golf Trophy

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 23. (AP)—Robert T. (Bobby) Jones, Atlanta golf wizard, will captain America's Walker cup team this summer in defending the amateur trophy against the invasion of Great Britain, Melvin A. Travlor, president of the United States Golf association announced today.

Jones' team mates, in the fight to retain the trophy, won five times in succession by America, will be Jess Sweetser, George Von Elm, Charles Evans Jr., Francis Ouimet, Harrison R. Johnston, Watts Gunn and Roland MacKenzie, all of whom were on the last cup team with the exception of Evans and Johnston. These two take the place of Jesse Guilford and Robert A. Gardner.

The team, selected by the executive committee of the Golf association at its meeting here this week, will meet the British team at the Chicago Golf club, August 30 and September 1.

A list of alternates will be named at the June meeting of the executive committee. Mr. Traylor declared. He also announced that the committee at its meeting this week had changed the conditions governing a possible play-off during the national open at Olympia fields Chicago, in June, to provide 36 holes of medal play instead of 18 as previously announced.

The statement added that September 2, 1929, had been definitely fixed as the date for beginning the amateur championship to be played at Del Monte, Calif., next year.

Kearns Contract 'Phony'-Dempsey

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—The contract under which Jack Kearns seeks to recover over $700,000 from Jack Dempsey was a "phony," the world's former heavyweight champion of the world today told the jury hearing the charges of his former manager in United States district court.

Testifying in his own behalf, after attorneys for Kearns had rested their case, Dempsey declared that "Doc" approached him one day in August, 1923, during the training period for his fight with Luis Firpo, and induced him to trace his name over a signature already placed upon the document. The contract was never lived up to, was never intended for a real contract and "didn't mean a thing," Dempsey said.

Hallas Is Victor Over Dutch Henry

Billy Hallas still is unbeaten this year on the mat here. The Greek defeated Dutch Henry, that spry old man, last night in three falls at The Gym. It was, as usual with these shindigs, replete with thrills and laughs.

As usual the referee was brought into the jamboree and Bulldog Joe Turner, the "third man," received his share of kicks and falls. Indeed on one occasion Hallas applied the toehold to Turner, thinking the foot he was twisting belonged to his foe—that is, Henry.

The show was marred by the injury of Nick Kavoras in the first match. Kavoras sustained a broken shoulder when he was thrown to the mat by Joe Turner. They had been grappling 29 minutes when Nick was hurled to the canvas by Turner with a body slam.

Hallas won the match from Henry when he slammed the Dutchman down with a rabbit punch as they came out for the third fall.

Bill took the second fall in 15 minutes by pouncing on his prostrate adversary. Henry won the first fall in 39 minutes with a step-over toehold.

Gold Cup Regatta Will Not Be Held This Year

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—The gold cup regatta, annual blue ribbon event for high-powered speed boats, has been cancelled this year due to inadequate facilities for holding the races on the Hudson river, home waters of the Columbia, which won the event at Greenwich, Conn., last summer.

ARMY - ILLINOIS ELEVENS MEET

Home and Home Games In 1929, 1930 Signed

WEST POINT, April 23. (UP)—Army and the University of Illinois will play home and home football games in 1929 and 1930, it was stated officially at the United States Military academy today. The 1929 game will be played in the stadium of the University of Illinois and the 1930 game either at West Point or in New York.

It was learned both games will be played in November but the exact dates will not be set until later.

Games Settled April 1

The games were agreed upon in a conference attended by President Kinley of the University of Illinois; George Huff, director of athletics at Illinois; Robert Zuppke, Illinois football coach; Major P. B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at West Point; and Captain Biff Jones, West Point football coach.

This conference was held at the University of Illinois April 11, with the approval of the secretary of war which was received today. The arrangements have been sanctioned at both institutions.

Strong Schedules

The scheduling of these important games for November dates with games already tentatively arranged, will give West Point strong and interesting schedules for 1929 and 1930. The game will be the first meeting West Point has had with a Big Ten conference team since West Point defeated Chicago at West Point in 1903 by the score of 10 to 6.

The 1929 game also will be the first in which West Point has played an intersectional opponent in the west. In the University of Illinois, West Point is meeting a team which has been a consistent contender for the Big Ten championship.

Rogers Hornsby Plans To Be Gentleman Farmer

BOSTON, April 23. (AP)—Undaunted by Babe Ruth's failure as a gentleman farmer, Rogers Hornsby said today he had purchased an 85-acre country estate near St. Louis and planned to till the property in a refined manner during the off season.

Hornsby said he paid $50,000 for the property, on which he hopes to raise fine blooded cattle in addition to the usual crops of the gentleman farmer.

The Braves star was warned by Babe Ruth's unsuccessful efforts on his farm at Sudbury, which he recently sold.

Buffs Bunch Hits With Errors to Win Again.

BEAUMONT, April 23. (AP)—Aided by brilliant support, Frank Barnes southpawed the Exporters into a 4-to-0 shutout this afternoon, making it two straight over the locals.

Holzhauser pitched creditably but ragged support in the first two innings and bunched hits proved his downfall.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

JAKE ATZ and Connie Mack have much in common. Both are cagy leaders. Each has won many pennants. And each now is striving to regain championships, largely with the aid of southpaw pitchers. Atz' left-handers will win a lot of ball games. They will bother the Spudders. No doubt on that score. But to date there isn't cause for any great concern over how the champions will mace portside chucking. They have done right well, thank you, against the lefties so far and unless they encounter an unexpected slump will continue to hit almost any pitching, high, wide and handsome.

You take a ball club with eight or nine batters coming up apt to break up the old ball game at any time, with right handers alternating with the fellows who bat from the near side to first base of the plate and to what avail is good pitching? Only extraordinary pitching is going to prevail against such a club. And when you've gotta club that has real hitters all the way from the lead-off man down, and even including some of the pitchers, and such starry flinging as Payne, Kiefer, Steengrafe and Estill have turned in and Cvengros and maybe one or two more will show—how you gonna stop 'em? I ask you, Mr. Atz, HOW YOU GONNA STOP 'EM?

NOW THE SPUDDERS are up there at the top. And they haven't played their best ball yet. Some of the fellows haven't exactly attained their batting pace. So when they're all hitting at their normal gait, which most of them are now and all will soon, they're going to be tougher than ever. We're optimistic, to be sure. And why not? Ford doesn't fear going over the hill to the poor house. And with a ball club like that led by Carl Williams you don't see J. Alvin Gardner worrying a lot.

THERE'S SOMETHING more than a ball club to give Prexy Gardner cause for joy. That's the enthusiasm of the fans. And they show their enthusiasm in concrete way. That is, by paying their money to pass through the turnstiles. About 2000 of them, loyal fans, they lead all the rest, braved pneumonia to see the Cat opener Sunday. That's real interest, to sit through a ball game on a day when chilling blasts make you long for hot coffee and the comforts of the fireplace.

To return to the similarity of Atz and Mack: Connie also has an abundance of left-handed pitching talent. The Yankees have been woefully weak to date against such pitching. Grove and Walberg beat the champs impressively and the lowly Boston Red Sox stood the Hugmen on their heads with the aid of portside pitching. Mr. Babe Ruth is in the throes of a batting slump and at this date isn't hitting more than .225. Of course the Yanks will do better as will the eminent Mr. Ruth. But it may be that Connie will receive such southpaw throwing and that Ty and Tris and the rest of the old boys are able to totter around in such fashion that they yet will make a contest and not a runaway out of the pennant race.

MILLER HUGGINS also has much in common with Carl Williams. Mr. Huggins has an array of hitters, from top to bottom, who may score one to a dozen runs at any time, like the Spudders. So Mr. Mack's most capable corps of gentlemen who throw with their fork hands have their work cut out for them, even as the estimable gentlemen who throw with the left fin for the head man of the Panthers.

Favorite Jokes of Famous People

As Told by Them to

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By LIONEL BARRYMORE

Lionel Barrymore is the son of Maurice and Georgia Drew Barrymore, the brother of Ethel and John Barrymore, and the nephew of the late John Drew. His stage career began when he was an infant, and he was in legitimate stage dramas until 1909, when his picture career began in "Friends," with Mary Pickfard.

LIONEL BARRYMORE

It is related that Barrymore recently worked in a picture for a certain movie magnate who was being sued. Just when the case was about to come to trial the magnate was called East, so he left the case in the hands of his attorney, instructing the attorney to telegraph the outcome.

Finally the telegram came. "Justice has triumphed!" it read.

Whereupon the great movie magnate telegraphed back: "Appeal immediately!"

Barrymore is identified as a six-footer, weighing 165 pounds and has dark hair and blue eyes. His hobby is an Irish terrier. His wife is Irene Fenwick. His home is in "Beverage Hills." His favorite joke is as follows:

"A Mr. Ginsberg of the Sew and Sew Dress company, known as the ace of salesmen in the garment trade, had absented himself from his showrooms all afternoon while he witnessed the screen production of one of Warwick Deeping's late novels at a neighborhood movie palace. Upon his return his boss excitedly demanded an explanation.

"'What's all the excitement?' nonchalantly retorted the salesman. 'I went to see 'Sorrel and Son.'

"'Oh, you dun't taling me?' beamed the employer. 'And did dey giff you an order?'"

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Reports of very unfavorable weather in the South over the week-end inspired a renewal of last week's buying movement in the cotton market at the opening today. Prices made new high ground for the movement but the advance met a good deal of realizing, and after selling up to 20.14, or 21 points net higher, July eased off to 19.96 in late trading and closed at 20.00. The final tone of the market was barely steady, at net advances of 6 to 11 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 10 to 12 points on the bullish weather news and soon showed net gains of about 20 to 27 points, May selling up to 20.30 and October to 20.00. There was active covering or rebuying by recent sellers, while there also appeared to be some fresh trade or commission house demand on the advance which was influenced by the fear of additional delays to the new crop start, and numerous reports that replanting would be necessary in the South.

Heavy realizing sales, attracted by the new high prices, were absorbed on comparatively moderate reactions during midday, and the detailed weather reports fully confirming the earlier reports of heavy rains in many parts of the South, had a sustaining influence early in the afternoon. Moreover, there were many private reports from the South concerning the effects of recent weather conditions and claiming that seed not only was advancing, but that supplies were becoming scarce in some parts on the South. Reports of floods in some sections were also received, but it looked as if the more urgent demand created by the weather news had been supplied on the early advance, and prices eased off from the best in late trading under realizing, which was supposed to include liquidation of some old long contracts held over the decline of last winter.

The South was also credited with selling some cotton here on the reaction which carried May off to 20.15 and October to 19.81, or 15 to 19 points from the high level of the morning. Last prices were within 3 or 4 points of the lowest on most positions.

Liverpool reported the advance there was due to covering and continental buying and a bullish sentiment based on the adverse weather reports from the South, but also that the market for cotton cloths and yarns was inactive with spinners and manufacturers losing ground.

Exports today were 19,480 bales, making 6,344,990 so far this season. Port receipts 14,768. U. S. port stocks 1,485,795.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 23. (AP)—Prompted by unfavorable weather reports and highly favorable cables, cotton jumped a dollar a bale on July here today only to have practically the entire gain wiped out near the close of the session on more favorable weather news and profit taking.

July surged forward to 19.80, up 20 points from Saturday's close, on receipt of reports of bad week-end weather over the belt and Liverpool cables much higher than due. Realizing started in the afternoon and prices declined to 19.65 and closed 1 point higher for a net gain of 6 points for the day. The general market closed barely steady, 1 to 9 points higher.

First trades showed gains of from 10 to 13 points, principally on strength derived from cable news. The climb continued during the morning hours with May trading up to 19.94, July to 19.80 and October to 19.59, 19 to 23 points above the previous close.

Recent buyers were content to take profits at the high figures as were ring traders who acted on the official weather forecast for fair and warmer weather for the western portion of the belt. The selling wave continued with new lows for the day resulting. May touched 19.76, July 19.65 and October 19.45, 15 to 18 points down from the highs. May closed at the lowest and later months net the lows.

Private reports to traders told of serious delay to crops, land washed out and planting impossible as a result of the heavy week-end precipitation. Liverpool cables said that London and continental points bought and shorts covered owing to the rains. Manchester reported cloths and yarns inactive.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service

CHICAGO, April 23.—Grains, strong early, became feeble later and towards the finish of the session doddered down from the tops. The reverse action in corn was more disappointing than in wheat.

At the end wheat showed an advance of ⅜c to 1c; corn was up ⅛c to ⅜c; oats were ⅛c to ⅜c lower; rye was up 1⅛c to 2¼c.

Both wheat and corn opened firmly at slightly above the closing prices on Saturday. Neither of them ever broke under the bottom prices of their opening ranges.

Wheat got good support at the start. Weather diagnosticians were busy trying to figure out from the government maps whether there had been a heavy or a light fall of rain in areas of the Southwest where moisture has been most needed. The symptoms they discerned on the maps seemed to confirm their preconceived ideas concerning the wheat situation, either bullish or bearish as the case might be.

In corn a different picture was presented. The visible supply showed a decrease of 2,672,000 bushels, against 3,592,000 last year, leaving the total visible supply at 37,388,000 bushels as compared with 40,171,000 on the corresponding day in 1927.

In spite of the weakness in the future market toward the close, the underlying situation appears to be very strong. Corn is wanted in the east, and is being shipped out by rail. This is taken to mean by some good judges hurry-up buying by a demand that needs corn immediately and cannot wait until the opening of navigation on May 1 for shipment by water.

In the cash market wheat was 1c to 2c higher; corn was unchanged to 1c up; oats were unchanged to 1c up; rye was quiet; barley was steady.

Tobacco Stocks Lower as Manufacturers Dive Into Price Cutting War—Brand of Cigarettes Blamed

BY BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, April 23.—An orderly reaction took place in a quieter stock market today. Fear of advance in the rediscount rate here hung over the trading community and tended to lighten buying orders while there was a continued flow of liquidating orders in General Motors, and other recent favorites.

Oil stocks stood out against the decline for a while but lost part of their gains in the afternoon after the call money rate was advanced to 5 per cent, from a renewal of 4¾ per cent.

Tobacco stocks dropped quite sharply with widespread talk of price war as Liggett and Myers lost over 12 points, American Tobacco 9, and others a smaller amount.

Delaware and Hudson enjoyed the best individual advance, soaring over 21 points to a new high record.

Canadian dollar in a drop to par featured an otherwise unchanged foreign exchange market. Cotton and other commodities climbed higher on receipt of further bullish weather advices.

Outstanding advance of Delaware and Hudson was a further reflection of the belief that Loree has not been defeated in his five-system plan and that important developments will take place in the eastern railroad situation, as pointed out here last week.

Wabash and the other roads concerned held firm but did not enjoy the aggressive demand that brought about the new high record price level of the D. & H. There was talk of a coal segregation plan of the Loree interests who control the road, also, to help the advance. Hudson and Manhattan's strength resulted from the rumors that it was tied up with the Loree-Pennsylvania plans and that the Pennsylvania would guarantee a $5 dividend on its stock.

Cigarette price cutting came as a surprise to the street and therefore its effect was more drastic than might otherwise have been the case. There have been several similar developments in the tobacco industry during the last year and none of the leading companies suffered therefrom.

As President Hill of American Tobacco pointed out, the increase in volume of sales more than made up for the price reduction insofar as earnings results for the year were concerned. As a result of Mr. Hill's utterances and realization that the tobacco business has been running ahead of last year there was support evidenced in the afternoon in American Tobacco and others. The price cutting is not due to less business, but results largely from the intensive campaign of one large company which recently offered a new brand of cigarettes.

The Bank of Richmond advanced its rediscount rate to 4½ per cent, the fourth of the Reserve system to take such action. It rather added to expectation among traders that the local bank would take similar action this week, either at the regular Thursday meeting or at a special session.

However, not all bankers agree that such action will be taken at this time as some point out that the desired quieting of the stock market could be better achieved if the rate here were held below others for a few weeks, at least, and tend to influence a flow of funds away from this district.

Curb

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—The curb market was unsettled today with the general trend toward lower levels. Here and there an issue showed individual strength, but declines of 1 to 4 points were numerous.

The utilities as a group were weak, American Gas & Electric, Duke Power, Northern States Power A, United Gas Improvement and others sagging 1 to more than 5 points. Electric investors moved upward a point against the trend. Electric Bond & Share held unchanged.

Auburn Auto, and Marmon declined a full point each. Pines Winter Front A, Warner Gear and Wire Wheel showed small losses. Sparks Withington, the aluminum issues and Sieberling Rubber resisted selling, Seiberling moving up more than 3 points to a new high at 46⅝. Aluminum company and Bohn Aluminum made substantial gains after recovering their early losses.

American Solvents & Chemical, Brooklyn City Railway, Galesburg Coulter Disc, Jaeger Machinery, Happiness A and a few other issues moved to new high ground on special favorable developments.

The pipe lines and some of the oils were strong, reflecting gasoline price advances and further efforts to check petroleum production. Darby Petroleum and Eureka Pipe Line reached new peaks, while Southwest Penn Pipe Line, Humble, Standard of Kentucky and a few others gained a point or so. Vacuum Oil, Penn Mex Fuel, and Pantepec declined.

WURZBACH TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Anti-Creager Leader Here For Talk

Harry M. Wurzbach of Seguin, sole Republican congressman from this state, Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the court house will open the Wichita Falls campaign against instruction of delegates to the national Republican convention.

In coming to Wichita Falls Mr. Wurzbach is braving a Hoover stronghold where no person has voiced opposition to the secretary of commerce's candidacy for the presidency.

Col. George C. Griffith of Dallas, reaching here Monday, made arrangements for the meeting. Mr. Wurzbach for eight years has been fighting against the dictates of R. B. Creager, national Republican committeeman from Texas.

The fight for an uninstructed delegation is directly opposed to plans of the Creager group, Mr. Creager having been one of the first Republican leaders of the nation to declare for Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Wurzbach, coming here on the fourth address of a tour to end May 4, will speak in Amarillo Wednesday.

There are still 433 deputies to be elected at next Sunday's election since no candidates for these seats obtained the necessary majority.
