President Invites Russian To Next Gemini Launching

Gains Notable In Aerospace Stocks Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Airlines and aerospace issues paced the stock market to an irregular advance early this afternoon.

For the airlines it was a resumption of an uptrend that has been in progress and seemed to be getting an increased following day after day.

For aerospace issues, strength was attributed to President Johnson's news conference in which he ordered development of a manned orbital space laboratory costing about $1.5 billion.

TAG ALONG

Electronics tagged along with the aerospace firms.

Selected blue chips gave the over-all list just enough of a push to move it upward although there was no strong group leadership among these market wheelhorses.

Rails, however, helped anew by hopes of merger consummations, moved ahead on average.

AP AVERAGE

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.2 at 331.7 with industrials up 2.1, rails up .7 and utilities off .1.

Among companies involved in the space laboratory project, Aircraft, United Aircraft and General Electric all rose a point or better and Martin-Marietta advanced a fraction.

Boeing gained around a point and a half while Raytheon tacked on about a point and heavyily-traded Fairchild Camera continued its latest rally, spuring a couple of points.

TOP SPACE

KLM airlines continued the favorite in its group, rising 2¾ to 64 on a delayed opener of 16,000 shares and shading this gain only a bit in later trades.

Widow, 75, Swindled By Two Con Men

DALLAS (AP) — Confidence men conned a 75-year-old widow out of $3,640 Tuesday on a continuation of as indle that has victimized two other Dallas women.

The swindlers masquerade as government agents and say they need cooperation to trap dishonest bank employes.

They ask the women to withdraw money from their savings and give it to them.

In the latest occurrence the confidence men stalled the woman and prevented her from notifying officers until Monday.

The transactions start by telephone and the swindlers declare that only cash can be used.

The latest victim, not named by authorities, withdrew the money and gave it to a man. The man said she would be issued a new savings pass book Monday for the amount taken.

Detectives said, "The sad part of this case is that an official of the bank, forewarned by the police and newspapers on these charcters, tried to get the woman to take a cashier's check rather than cash."

But she refused. Asked what she planned to do with the money, she said she planned to buy a car.

Nurse Corps Has 1st Male

BOSTON (AP) — George M. Silver today becomes Ensign Silver — the first male member of the U.S. Navy Nurse Corps — and joins company with some 2,000 females.

Silver's wife, Sally, says she doesn't object.

"I'm sort of used to his working with women. Its his job, and his career," she said.

Sally and their son, Gregory, will be on hand when Silver, a Rehoboth, Mass., resident, is sworn into the heretofore "female only" nurse corps. The Navy said he is the first in a new program expanding the corps to include men.

Regulated Wells Eyed For Water

AUSTIN (AP) — A study of four Northeast Texas counties shows they could use twice as much ground water as they are now pumping to the surface, the Texas Water Commission reports.

The study, by the commission and the U.S. Geological Survey, suggests that if wells are properly built and spaced and discharge rates are regulated, Camp, Franklin, Morris and Titus counties might double their ground water consumption.

Present ground water use is 4,300 acre-feet per year. An acre-foot is 325,851 gallons.

Commuter Bus Permit Sought

AUSTIN (AP) —Scott Keller of Austin asked the Texas Railroad Commission Tuesday for a permit to operate a commuter bus for Austin students who attend Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos, some 30 miles from here.

LBJ Makes New Federal Appointments

WASHINGTON (AP) — In addition to momentous space and other vital announcements at today's news conference, President Johnson revealed a string of appointments to federal jobs.

Among the new appointments, Johnson said he is reinforcing the U.S. team at the United Nations with four Americans who share with Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg "a passion for peace."

One of the four is Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., who, Johnson said, is giving up his seat in Congress to become U.S. representative on the U.N. Economic and Social Council.

THREE OTHERS

The three others:

Charles W. Yost, 58, appointed deputy U.N. ambassador; James Madison Nabrit Jr., 64, Howard University president, representative to the U.N. Security Council; and Eugenie Anderson to the U.N. Trusteeship Council.

He also announced the appointment of Hobart Taylor Jr. as a member of the Board of Directors of the Export-Import Bank.

Clifford Alexander Jr. was named to replace Taylor as the associate special counsel to the President. Alexander, 32, is now deputy assistant to the President.

Thursday, Johnson said he will sign the poverty program bill and will nominate Eugene Patrick Foley, 36, now administrator of the Small Business Administration, to head economic development.

In another action, David G. Bress, 56, head of the bar association in Washington, D.C., was named U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia.

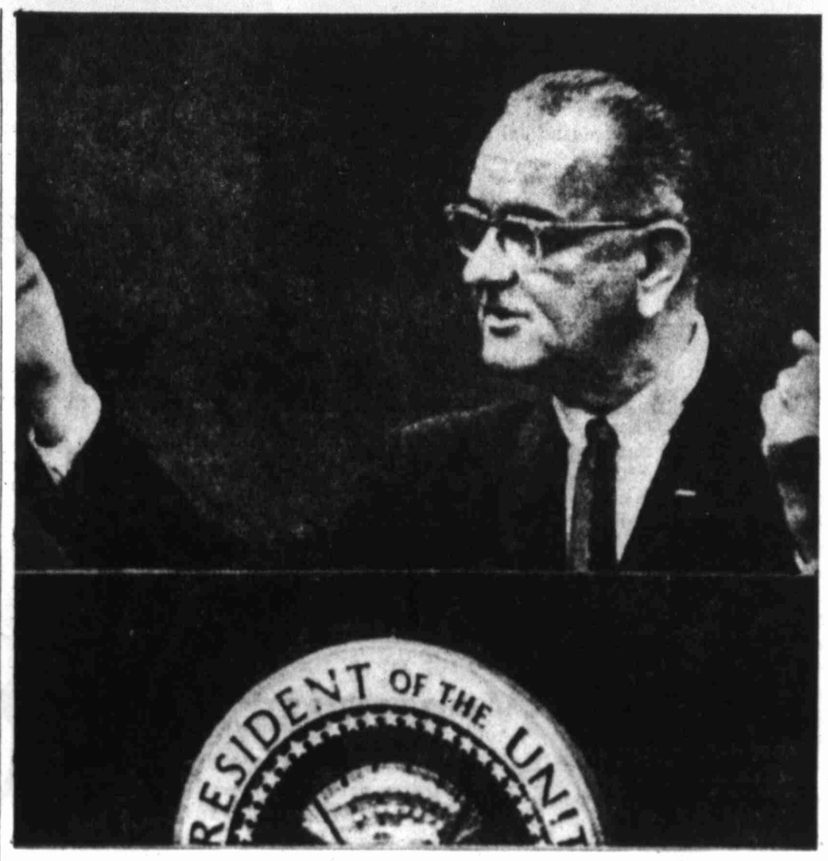

Nabrit, Taylor and Alexander are Negroes.

EFFICIENCY AIM

Johnson told of an aim to improve government efficiency. He said each Cabinet member has been asked to introduce a revolutionary system of budgeting so the promise of finer lives can be brought to every American.

Each department will set up a special staff of experts to define goals for the coming year.

The President said this system will enable us to determine the least costly method of achieving goals.

Left And Right

President Johnson gestures with both hands today at his Washington news conference. He remarked U.N. Ambassador Goldberg is doing everything as "our left hand" for peace while Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is using "our right hand" in combat. The President also announced several appointments at the session. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Pledges Welcome For 'Watcher'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today a Russian watcher would be welcome at October's Gemini 6 space capsule launching — and he said that on Viet Nam, "generally speaking, the country is united."

On the latter point, Johnson had a rather soft answer to Republican criticism of his policies.

"I think," he said, "The issues of war and peace are far greater than the personalities involved, or the parties."

Johnson spoke up at a news conference carried to the country by television and radio.

ONE-TWO PUNCH

He made a number of points on his own, to start, then swung into a series of questions and answers — at one point moving like a boxer by demonstrating a one-two punch. This was to illustrate that Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, is "our left hand" and in searching for a peaceful settlement in Viet Nam while Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara wields "our right hand" in the war in that Far East land.

The President told reporters clustered in the White House East Room that he had directed Administrator James E. Webb of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to invite the Soviet Academy of Science to send a high level representative to the scheduled Oct. 25 launching of a Gemini space vehicle that is designed to lock onto an orbiting satellite.

PLEDGES HOSPITALITY

He said he hoped the invitation would be accepted and added that a Russian representative would receive a warm welcome.

Wearing glasses to read some prepared statements, rather than the contact lenses he has used much of the time on such occasions, the President said on other topics:

—A task force headed by Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark is going to Los Angeles to search out the causes underlying recent rioting.

—He is going to have some important messages for the new congressional session next year — but nowhere near the volume of this year's requests.

—He wants Congress this year to end what he called "an irony and a disgrace" and vote home rule for the District of Columbia.

VOTER REGISTRATIONS

—The enrollment of more than 23,000 persons on the voting lists of the South in about two weeks is most encouraging and heartening. Most of the listings have been Negroes, under procedures set up under the new voting rights laws.

—He said he expected "full and complete reponsibility in the current wage negotiations" between steel companies and the Steelworkers union "and I expect continued stability in steel prices."

—He expects a settlement of the situation in the Dominican.

ORBITAL LAB

The President also announced he has instructed the defense Department to go ahead with developing a manned orbital laboratory.

Four Feared In Factory Blast Series

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — At least 23 explosions ripped through the Du Pont synthetic rubber plant today and police said they had reports of one to four dead.

All apparently were trapped in the blast area. Police were unable to reach the buildings because of intense heat.

INJURED UNCOUNTED

They had no exact figures on the number of injured from the series of blasts which rumbled throughout the West End section of the city. Explosions were occurring about once every three minutes.

Police ordered all families living within a mile of the plant to evacuate their homes, warning that more explosions could occur later.

EMPLOYS 2,000

The plant normally employs about 2,000 workmen and most of them were reporting working when the first explosions were heard at 9:30 a.m. They continued for almost a half hour.

Flames leaped 300 feet into the air and were followed by huge clouds of drifting black smoke.

The blasts were felt throughout the metropolitan area and across the Ohio River in Indiana.

PANES BROKEN

Several windows on businesses in New Albany, Ind., were shattered by the impact.

U.S. Space Endurance Record Set By 2 Aloft

SPACE CENTER, Houston, (AP)—Their beards itchy and their space cabin cluttered, the Gemini 5 astronauts today sailed past the mid-point in their marathon space voyage and were given a "go" for the fifth day.

They set a U.S. space endurance record and neared the Soviet-held world record for a single flight of 54 minutes short of five days.

Command Pilot L. Gordon Cooper Jr. long before had logged enough hours in space to claim the world record in that department. His wife, Trudy, relayed her congratulations to him in space.

He and Charles Conrad Jr. lost a little sleep Tuesday night dealing with housekeeping chores—and had to pass up a star check to catch up on nap time.

GEAR IN LAP

Conrad, talking to capsule communicator James A. McDivitt and describing the cramped quarters of the spacecraft said: "I have every piece of gear in the spacecraft out in my lap."

"Very, very good," said McDivitt who compiled four days in space. "Sounds like old home week."

The record for a single flight is held by Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky who orbited the earth for 119 hours and six minutes beginning June 14, 1963.

The Gemini 5 astronauts plan to pass that mark Thursday morning.

McDivitt asked Cooper at one point today: "Is your beard getting itchy yet?"

"Yeah," Cooper replied in a drawl. The medical sensors for taking heart rate and other measurements "are itching worse than the beard."

PREUMATIC CUFFS

The inflatable pneumatic cuffs on Conrad's legs were causing some itching also.

But Conrad's manner was peppy in copying the details of the day's flight plan from Gemini control in Houston. It prompted this exchange:

Mission Control: "You guys are sounding better all the time, Pete. you must like it up there."

Conrad: "Well, we're getting used to it."

One hour beyond the halfway point, Cooper and Conrad made claim on the American record for being in space longer than any other member of the nation's astronaut team.

The two bearded spacemen are pleasing the doctors who keep constant tabs on them from earthly stations around the world. But the astronauts don't seem to be getting as much sleep as some flight officials would like.

AMPLE WATER

The astronauts are getting an ample amount of water — close to the national earthly average of six pounds per man a day.

Meals were being consumed on schedule, but still aboard was that first day's supply, which was not eaten because of the astronauts' hectic pace in the troublesome early hours of the mission.

Cooper became the champion of outer space at 9:47 p.m. (EST) Tuesday when the craft whirled over the Atlantic on the 54th orbit.

He surpassed Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky's mark of 119 hours and 6 minutes by including the logged time on this flight with the 34 hours and 20 minutes of his Faith 7 Mercury mission in 1963.

PROGRESS WELL

Cooper and Conrad seem to be progressing well in the various experiments on the flight plan, having completed several photographic and communications exercises.

Trouble developed in a radar locking system aboard the craft when it tried to zero in on a beacon mounted on a tower at Cape Kennedy. Conrad was not able to report a correct range. Flight officials blamed this on the apparent failure of a locking device in the radar unit.

Other minor problems: a fuse blew in one of the back-up computers at mission control and was replaced. A cabin temperature gauge on the spacecraft quit functioning, and the astronauts now use hand-held thermometers to check the cabin temperature.

Flight officials and crew have been working up an exercise for the astronauts to try to determine the best time of night and the best position for a docking maneuver with an Agena rocket.

INTEREST UP IN BIBLE FUND

Although interest increased, the rate of contributions to the high school Bible Class fund continued Wednesday, far off the pace necessary for raising a needed $3,500 to finance the activity for this school year.

Several churches contribute through their budgets to the fund, sponsored by the Big Spring Pastors Association, but this still leaves about $3,500 to be raised through voluntary contributions. There is no personal solicitation.

So please mail or send your gift to The Herald for grateful acknowledgment and deposit to the fund. And, please, do it today.

Johnson Library At U.T. Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Government Operations subcommittee approved today a resolution designed to expedite planning and construction of a Lyndon Baines Johnson Library at the University of Texas.

The measure, which is expected to get early approval of Congress, would waive a waiting period now required by law before the General Services Administration can accept an Aug. 6 offer by the university to build the library.

SIXTY DAYS

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., subcommittee chairman, said existing provisions of law require that the proposal lie before Congress during 60 days of continuous session from Aug. 19, when it was formally submitted by the GSA to the Senate and House.

In view of the fact that Congress may adjourn well before the expiration of such a 60-day period," Brooks said, "we consider it wise to take this action to avoid a delay of possibly six months or more in which the library will be eventually open to the public."

UNANIMOUS OK

The subcommittee unanimously approved the resolution after a brief hearing at which Lawson B. Knott Jr., GSA administrator, endorsed the waiver resolution.

Answering questions of the committee, Knott said the proposed library would be the first of the presidential libraries which would not be the property of the federal government.

Although the university volunteered to construct the building and give 100,000 square feet of space to the government in perpetuity, the title to the property actually would remain with the university. The federal government would provide approximately $200,000 a year for maintenance, including an operating staff, research workers and custodial services, he said.

Sun-Studying Satellite Fades In 'Dark Cloud'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (A)—A "Sunshine Satellite" was sent thundering aloft to study the sun today but disappeared into a dark cloud of technical difficulties.

Space Agency officials announced the 620-pound satellite had not achieved the planned 350-mile-high orbit because of apparent trouble with the rocket's third stage.

They did not know whether the satellite, named OSO3 for orbiting solar observatory, had achieved a lower orbit or had plunged into the ocean.

But, they said, its mission was an apparent failure.

OSO3 carried nine experiments to continue solar investigations begun by two earlier OSO satellites, launched in 1962 and last February by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A total of eight launchings is planned in the series to chart a full 11-year solar cycle — from the present quiet period to a period of peak activity when numerous solar flares spill torrents of radiation into space.

Foley Appointed

A key appointment today by President Johnson was that of Eugene Patrick Foley, now administrator of the Small Business Administration. At his news conference, the President said he would sign tomorrow the proverty program bill and nominate Foley to head economic development. (AP WIREPHOTO)

GOP Places Responsibility For Viet Role With Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Republican "white paper" — made public 18 hours early to try to steal a march on President Johnson — contends that Democratic administrations, not Republican, bear responsibility for the U.S. position in South Viet Nam.

Further, the 37-page report argues that some of President Johnson's campaign talk was aimed at making Barry Goldwater appear trigger-happy but may have caused Communists to miscalculate and accelerate the Vietnamese war.

IS REBUTTAL

As rebuttal to Johnson's statement that he is carrying out a commitment former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made to Viet Nam in 1954, the white paper said the original U.S. involvement had come under the Truman administration in 1950.

Fearing they might be upstaged by Johnson again, the House Republican leaders Tuesday threw away their script for issuing the white paper and sprinted to beat him into the limelight.

(LBJ Replies. Story on Pg. 8-A)

It was serious business for the House GOP leaders, who contend Johnson is trying to push them into the background and silence their attempts to criticize some of his policies and present their own.

For a week they let it be known they were going to issue their paper today. They set the unveiling for a news coference at 11 a.m.

Then, with reason for frustration, the House GOP chiefs saw the White House beating them to the punch. On Monday the administration issued its own pamphlet called "Why Viet Nam." Then the White House, breaking the usual afternoon pattern for news conferences, scheduled one for Johnson at 10 a.m. today — one hour before the Republicans'.

SUDDEN CHANGE

With barely time to make the evening newscasts and the early morning editions, the Republicans hurriedly changed plans and made public their white paper immediately. They rescheduled their news coference for this afternoon, a few hours after Johnson's.

Continued Legal Maneuvering Expected At Thursday Hearing

By SAM BLACKBURN

The next hearing in the injunction case against the Big Spring Independent School District will probably be similar to the one held Tuesday. There is no assurance it will be held Thursday.

[illegible] Sneed, attorney for the Northside United group, has until 10 a.m. Thursday to file his amended pleadings which will probably incorporate material to back up the defense exceptions to the original petition which Judge Ralph Caton of 118th District Court sustained Tuesday.

TIME TO STUDY

When it is filed, Gil Jones, attorney for the school board, is expected to want time to study it. It is most likely he will file a new attack and new exceptions to the amended petition.

If this develops, there is no likelihood that the case could be heard Thursday.

At the Tuesday hearing, Judge Caton overruled the school district's special appearance plea in which it was alleged that the court had no jurisdiction to issue an injunction. The court held in effect, it had jurisdiction to hear the case.

In the exceptions which Jones posed to the original petition, the court sustained four and overruled seven.

COURT AGREED

The court agreed that the petitioner (Northside United) had failed in his pleadings to show that the petitioners were resident taxpayers or patrons of the Big Spring Independent School District. It was also held by Jones that the petitioner had failed to show any special injury, the acts of the defendant were imposing on the petitioners and had neglected any basis of law for bringing the suit for any purpose. The petitioner, in his amended petition, will have to augment his original statement to provide the court with evidence to support these claims.

The court also sustained the defense exception that there were no facts offered to back up the charge made that the defendant had "publicly threatened" to perform any of the acts charged to it by the petitioner. The plaintiff will have to offer proof of such threats if this claim is to be retained in the petition.

SIMILAR RULING

A similar ruling applied to the exception the defense offered to petitioner's claim that the school board has committed "illegal and fradulant acts." Statement of facts to support this claim must be offered.

A charge by the petitioner that "discrimination" has been practiced by the board was also held unsupported by statement of facts in the court's ruling.

An exception the defense offered that no proof was presented the board had abused its discretion was allowed to stand.

The court also rejected the defense contention the plaintiff's pleading would require the court to substitute its discretion and judgment in school matters for that of the school board. There were two exceptions along this same line and the court overruled both.

The defense argued the contention of the plaintiff that discrimination has been or will be practiced in the discontinuance of the Kate Morrison school and that such discrimination would be a detriment to the students as well as a "substantial portion" of the population of Howard County was merely an opinion of the petitioner and not supported by fact.

The court, however, overruled the defense on this position.

ALSO OVERRULED

The court also overruled the defense contention the plaintiff has other remedies at law rather than the application of an injunction.

The defense contended that no claim of exception existed to the general rule of law an injunction will control the act of an executive branch of government. The defendant contended the school board is an arm of the state government. The court overruled the exception.

The defense insisted that the petitioner specified no general relief nor sought such special relief. This was also overruled.

When all of the debate over the differences in opinions of law and of the facts are ironed out, a hearing on the matter of the injunction itself will be held. No one would speculate on how long that would be.

Otters Hinder N-Blast Plan

AMCHITKA Island, Alaska, (AP) — Seismic experts and engineers are getting this wind-swept Aleutian Island ready for an underground nuclear explosion — and their biggest problem at the moment is how to scare the sea otters away.

Once nearly extinct from pelt hunting, sea otters have been making a comeback in the island's rocky coves. Nearly 3,000 of them, which wildlife experts estimate is one-tenth of the world population, live here.

THE PROBLEM

Marine biologists don't know what effect the 80-kiloton blast, scheduled tentatively for late October or early November, will have on the otters. They don't want them to leave the island for good. They do want them out of the way during the tests.

So Uncle Sam has a new kind of operation on his hands here: sea otter hazing.

How do you haze a sea otter?

Well, for one thing, you fire a carbide cannon over his cove. This has had some success, but the otters don't seem to stay away quite long enough. So a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service task force tried firing giant firecrackers at the otters with shotguns. It also is experimenting with skyrockets and thinking of hovering helicopters.

MELT CAVE

The blast, to be set off 2,300 feet down, is expected to melt a cave 400 to 600 feet in diameter in the bed rock.

The main recording will be done at a 10,000-square-mile seismic research station near Miles City, Mont. The purpose of the blast is to enable scientists to pinpoint nuclear explosions and tell them from earthquakes through seismic readings.

Wearisome, Days Of Crying Desperation Mark Viet Delta

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

VINH LONG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Just another day of war in the Mekong Delta.

The charts back at headquarters will show seven government troops wounded, one Viet Cong guerrilla killed, one captured and a Communist weapon and a box of enemy intelligence papers confiscated. Not much to make the strategists linger over their planning boards; hardly enough to rate a new pin on somebody's map.

But to the men who lived it and lived through it, it is another day to be struck off the calendar on the long road to going home. Another day of weariness and crying desperation, of chasing an elusive enemy.

This is the way war is in the delta, a land lush enough to feed much of Southeast Asia but now forced to import rice and other foodstuffs because the roads and canals can't be kept open.

BOREDOM, TERROR

This is the way this particular day went, no different from any other but numbing and maddening with what one American captain called its "periods of protracted boredom punctuated by moments of sheer terror."

Early in the pre-dawn darkness the 13th Regiment of the 9th Viet Nam Infantry Division moves out with their American advisers on a "sweep and destroy" mission in the rice paddies south of the little market town of Cai Son.

Crickets sing incessantly in the canals flanking the road. Life stirs faintly in a hamlet. A lamp is lit, a fire started, a baby squalls. The convoy rumbles ponderously on, headlights dimmed, soldiers sitting silently in their trucks, sullen commuters on a journey that seems to have no end.

STARING EYES

From the doorway of every darkened grass hut, from the tiny portholes of houseboats docked along the canal, from the jalousied balconies of the old French-styled colonial houses, alert black eyes are staring out of impassive faces. How many of them are friendly?

This is Route 14, the main road south from Saigon along the delta. Along this same strstch of road, just a few weeks ago, 10 government soldiers were killed and 21 wounded when an armored troops carrier ran over a land mine triggered by a strand of fish net.

Along this same road a little over a month ago, Maj. Oscar Padgett, the senior adviser to the 13th Regiment, drove over a mine with the back wheels of his jeep. It left a crater 7 feet deep and 15 feet wide but the major, a handsome jaunty man from Madisonville, Tex., somehow escaped serious injury.

FLARES

Up ahead, less than a mile, the night suddenly comes alive with flares lighting up the sky and slowly falling to earth on parachutes. Another outpost is under attack. C47s roar overhead, dropping the flares to show up the Viet Cong for the beleaguered watch tower and drive the attackers back into the mangrove swamps.

The convoy rumbles on, heedless of the battle that is going on.

add Sun Aug 24 DELTA .....

High noon and an oppressive sun streams down in long shafts of heat through the palm trees. A Viet Nam ranger battalion, held in reserve, sets about preparing a field dinner.

Before the afternoon monsoon rolls in with its enormous thunderheads and pelting rains, the casualty board has climbed to seven. Still no contact with the VC.

TRAINING CAMP

Lt. Col. Donald Roberts, of Port Angeles, Wash., the sector adviser, goes with the province chief to check on a nearby training camp for the Peoples Forces, villagers who are trained to protect their hamlets and have gained a reputation of being among the fiercest fighters in Viet Nam.

The camp is just up the road beyond the guns, and Col. Roberts pronounces it "the loneliest place in Viet Nam." Almost every night the VC comes calling with small arms fire and an occasional mortar. Capt. Richard Holbrook, from Salk Center, Minn., the adviser at the center, has grown accustomed to his lonely life. He is almost as inured to it as he is the reality that in almost every training group one or two Viet Cong manage to slip into class.

"I often suspect they're the ones that are taking notes," he says with just the trace of a smile. Just a trace and no more. Laughs are hard to come by at an outpost in the delta.

Back at the CP there is a frenzy of activity around the radio.

KILLED, CAPTURED

Field telephones jangle. Contact has been made with the VC. Capt. Tom Hendricks of Clemson, S.C., and his armored personnel carriers manage to flush them out of a hole dug in the rice paddies. Rising water with the incoming tide has forced them into the open. One resists and is killed, the other is taken prisoner, along with a box of documents.

Like the wounded, the prisoner is brought down the canal by boat. Barefoot, wearing only a pair of scruffy shorts, he turns out to be a small boy, no more than 16. A frightened boy, shivering and almost on the verge of tears, but adamantly silent in the presence of the intelligence officer, a tall handsome Vietnamese who smiles pleasantly at him from a mouth full of gold teeth.

Evening and the troops move out across the flat land silhouetted against a magnificent sunset. The operation is over, technically, but danger as always lurks along the roadside.

AMBUSH

The Viet Cong is fond of ambushing a dog-tired troop movement heading back from an operation.

Again there are staring eyes along the wayside, peering out of the hamlets, old men hunkered in the doorway, children in incredible numbers playing on the monkey bridges.

"Okay," a little almond-eyed toddler calls out, using the only American word he knows.

But somewhere in the gathering dusk of a grass hut hamlet, small boys are calling out another word.

Stay On Ocean Floor Readied

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Safety checks of gear for Sealab 2 are taking far more time than planned, Navy officers say, and it may be Thursday or Friday before divers will be allowed to enter the 12 x 58-foot steel chamber which will be their underwater base for 45 days.

"There are no big problems — just a whole lot of minor ones that have to be solved before we can let the men begin residence at a depth of 210 feet," said Capt. Ray Spenser of the Engineering Applications Division of the Office of Naval Research.

SERIES OF PROBLEMS

Lowering of Sealab 2 to the bottom 1,000 yards off this Southern California resort, planned since Aug. 15, was delayed Tuesday afternoon by a series of problems that cropped up as piece after piece of auxiliary equipment was checked out.

First there were leaks in a diving bell which will take 10-man teams to and from Sealab for 15 day stays. These were repaired. Then came trouble with air-hose seals and other equipment.

Much of the day was spent practicing lifting the diving bell from the water and swinging it by crane to a decompression chamber on the mother ship, a tricky procedure on a rolling sea and one that must be performed with split-second precision.

INCLUDES UKELELE

The first team stowed their gear aboard the Sealab 2. The gear includes a ukelele belonging to the team leader, astronaut M. Scott Carpenter, a Navy commander who is a diving expert.

Carpenter plans to use the ukelele to while away some of the lonely hours below. There was some doubt, however, how long he would persist.

In the mostly helium atmosphere with which Sealab 2 will be pressurized, face-to-face conversation sounds like cartoon mice and ducks in an argument — so what will a ukelele do to the ears of Carpenter's teammates?

Integration Plan Of Schools OKd

TYLER (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Sheehy gave approval Tuesday to plans of the Longview Independent School District for total desegregation by 1967.

The schedule fixed by Longview trustees calls for integration of the first through sixth grades plus the 12th grade this fall, the seventh and 11th grades next year and the eighth through 10th grades in 1967.

Portuguese Firemen Find Duties Present Variety

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — A fireman in Portugal is a jack of all trades.

He must not only know how to put out a fire, but be prepared to rescue cats from high trees, old ladies from locked houses, deliver babies in ambulances, rescue wrecked seamen, fill swimming pools, play a trumpet or a bassoon, snap into a frogman's rubber suit, and march up and down village streets in frequent parades.

This goes for both of the two existing fire-fighting bodies in the land. One is the 1,500-man city professional corps of Sapadores Bombeiros, the other the countrywide Bombeiros Voluntarios, which number 14,000. They are among the most highly trained and versatile organizations in Portugal.

SORT OF CLUB

In the villages the voluntary fire corps is the very heart of social, economic and cultural life. It provides its own funds by house-to-house collections, public festivals, concerts, and renting its premises for village gatherings. It is a sort of club, to which most of the young men of the village belong.

The official city fire fighters, divided into 21 companies, have worldwide repute, and have won many international prizes. They exist in Lisbon, the capital; Oporto, the second city, and Coimbra, of university fame. Last year the Lisbon Sapadores Bombeiros were host to the world's "visiting firemen" at the International Firemen's Congress.

TWENTIETH BIRTHDAY

This month the professional firemen's corps is celebrating its 20th anniversary.

Before World War II, there were no proper firemen in Portugal at all. Public-spirited neighbors rushed round, bucket in hand, to help put out each other's fires. This wasn't very effective, since slow communications and muddled methods meant the loss of property and sometimes life.

What to do? Early this century there were many "Gallegos" living in Lisbon. These Spaniards from the province of Galicia, which borders on northern Portugal, formed an important part of the hard-working city community as waiters, messengers, furniture removers, dockers, and suchlike modest wage earners. They were the first regular fire-fighters.

LBJ Wants Names On Home-Rule Document

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is looking for autographs and if he can get 218 of them the people of Washington may get to rule themselves.

The autographs the President is seeking represent a majority of the House of Representatives. Where Johnson wants them is on a seldom-used document called a discharge petition.

As the House opens for business today 112 of its members have done as the President — and the Democratic leadership — asked.

PRY OUT

One by one they had gone to the well of the House and, by signing the document kept in a drawer to the right of Speaker John W. McCormack's desk, acted to pry the D.C. home rule bill from the District of Columbia Committee.

If 218 sign — there is no time limit — it won't matter what the Southern-oriented Rules Committee thinks of Washingtonians ruling themselves.

HOUSE FLOOR

If they sign by the end of this week, the home rule bill can come to the House floor Sept. 13, its chances bright for becoming law before Congress adjourns.

The Senate already has passed a home rule bill; home rule has the White House's endorsement and that of the city's Democratic and Republican leaders.

Corsicana Will Have Beer Vote

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP) — More than the required number of voters have signed petitions asking an election on authorizing the sale of beer in Corsicana.

County Clerk Clive Riddels said Tuesday 89 petitions contained more than the necessary 1,281 names.

Texas' Heat Seen Staying

By The Associated Press

Texas headed into the final week of August today with no sign of generally hot and mostly dry weather heading for the exit.

The latest round of thunderstorms played out Tuesday in northern areas of the state and near the coast, trimming temperatures briefly.

Before spotted showers disappeared, Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin measured .54 inch of rain in the six hours before midnight.

By morning skies were clear to only partly cloudy throughout the state. There was some fog early in the day at Lufkin in East Texas.

Moisture measurements elsewhere Tuesday ranged up to .96 inch at Fort Worth and .90 at Llano. Top temperatures for the day were 100 degrees at Junction and Laredo.

New long range forecasts, covering the next five days, promised readings a couple of degrees above normal in most sections, little or no rain across the north half of the state and scattered showers in the south.

Space Photos Might Throw Light On Zodiacal Mystery

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. have combined steering and picture-taking talents to obtain photographs that might provide scientists with clues to the origin of the mysterious zodiacal light.

Zodiacal light is a faint, pyramid-shaped illumination of the night sky on moonless nights. It is visible from the earth about one hour after sundown in the west and about one hour before sunrise in the east.

SOURCE DEBATED

Astronomers disagree about its source. One theory holds it is caused by the scattering of sunlight by a cloud of cosmic dust surrounding the earth and extending out to the sun.

Another contends it is caused by the reflection off a cloud of dust starting close to the sun and extending into space in the plane of the orbit of the planets, at least to the earth and possibly far beyond. Such a cloud, astronomers say, could be a remnant on a much thicker primeval cloud out of which the sun, earth and planets are believed to have condensed more than 4.5 billion years ago.

To help find the answer, command pilot Cooper performed a difficult maneuver during the 45-minute nightside of orbit No. 46 Tuesday. He held the Gemini 5 spacecraft steady while Conrad triggered a 35mm still camera to snap automatically between 20 and 30 pictures of the zodiacal light.

GOOD PICTURES

Conrad reported the experiment went extremely well.

"I think we got some real good ones (pictures)."

Cooper executed a series of roll, pitch and yaw maneuvers to place the right window (Conrad's) of the spacecraft perpendicular to the setting sun and lined up a reticle (a bore-sight camera lens) in the left window (Cooper's) with the star constellation known as the Southern Cross.

When Conrad started the camera mounted in his window, it took a series of high-speed color photos at varying exposure lengths from one second to two minutes.

After each picture was taken, a red light flashed on the camera for 30 seconds to indicate the film was rolling forward for another shot and that the camera was not shooting.

Cooper utilized the 30-second periods when necessary to fire the spacecraft thrusters to adjust for any minor drift that occurred while the camera was operating.

The exercise was repeated during orbit No. 47, during which infrared measurements also were made of the phenomena.

MARKS "FIRST"

Cooper was the first American to have a good look at the zodiacal light. That was during his 34-hour Faith 7 Mercury flight May 15-16, 1963. Earlier Mercury astronauts were unable to see the light because no provision was made for extinguishing the lights in the cabin.

Cooper reported after the Faith 7 flight that he saw the phenomena on two occasions and that it definitely was cone-shaped both times, but that he was unable to trace it all the way up to the apex.

Earthmen are able to see the light only up to within about 30 degrees of the sun because of the twilight, dawn light and other distortions in the atmosphere.

Ex-Spaceman-Scientist's Wife Drops Divorce Plea

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Duane Edgar Graveline dropped divorce proceedings Tuesday against her husband, who resigned last week as one of the nation's six astronaut-scientists.

Judge Peter M. Curry signed the order dismissing her suit, filed July 21. Counsel reported July 30 that the couple had agreed on child support terms. They have four daughters 7 to 13 years old.

Dr. Graveline said personal reasons prompted his resignation from the astronaut team. He is remaining at the Manned Spacecraft Center outside Houston as a flight surgeon.

Mrs. Graveline asked a court order to keep him away from their San Antonio residence when she filed the suit, saying she feared bodily harm. She later withdrew the request.

Phantom Jet Downing Laid To Missile

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — A U.S. Navy phantom jet plane has been shot down by what appeared to be a surface-to-air missile about 90 miles south of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman reported today.

The supersonic plane, from the 7th Fleet aircraft carrier Midway, was hit Tuesday near the city of Thanh Hoa, the spokesman said.

The downing was the first indication that Communist antiaircraft missiles have been moved as far south as Thanh Hoa. It seemed likely that the missile was fired from a mobile launcher.

PRESUMED DEAD

One parachute was seen after the Phantom was hit, but search and rescue operations failed to locate the American airman. The other crewman is presumed dead, the spokesman said.

Two other American planes have been downed in the past month by missiles which Soviet technicians are presumed to have installed in North Viet Nam. U.S. officials believe Soviet personnel are helping to man the missile launchers.

The spokesman said the Phantom downed Tuesday was flying support for an armed reconnaissance mission. It was hit on or near the tail, he said, and the pilot of the wing aircraft reported a missile probably was responsible.

U.S. planes attacked two missile sites north of Hanoi last month, and the pilots reported one was knocked out and the other damaged. U.S. pilots are known to be looking for mobile missile sites outside the Hanoi area as potential targets, but they reportedly have had little success.

LODGE ARRIVES

In Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge presented his credentials as the new U.S. Ambassador to South Viet Nam and told Chief of State Nguyen Van Theiu: "I hope you can make use of me."

"I want to make myself as useful as I can," Lodge said in French as he began his second tour of duty in Saigon.

Lodge, 63, was ambassador in South Viet Nam for nine months until June 1964, when he was succeeded by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Taylor resigned last month.

The Viet Cong claimed "absolute supremacy" in the Viet Nam war following its 15-minute mortar attack early Tuesday on the Bien Hoa air base 12 miles north of Saigon.

"NO SAFE PLACE"

Ignoring the Communist guerrillas' heavy losses last week in the battle on the Van Tuong Peninsula, Hanoi's official newspaper Nhan Dan said the Bien Hoa attack "has brought out more strikingly the stalemate of the U.S. aggressors and their henchmen. There is no 'safe' place for them."

HO CHI MINH

Viet Nam Reds Feel Severe Economic Pain

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Communist North Viet Nam has severe economic aches and pains from the war in the South and U.S. air action against northern territory.

The United States is listening for hints from Hanoi of any shift in its all-or-nothing demands on behalf of the Viet Cong in the South. Evidently North Viet Nam's economy hurts badly, and a change in its attitude because of that cannot be excluded.

Hanoi insists the U.S. bombings have failed to damage its economy, but for the past five months its internal propaganda has belied this claim. The big question is whether Hanoi, in exchange for cessation of the bombings, would support a truce in the South to permit negotiations.

$3 MILLION

The United States pours $2.5 million to $3 million daily into the war.

President Ho Chi Minh's government seems to regard the aid it has been getting from the Communist world as niggardly. It has advised its public to "do away with the mentality of relying on foreign assistance" and "promote industry, plain living and thriftiness."

Premier Pham Van Dong told the National Assembly last April: "We must rely mainly on our own resources while doing our best to win the sympathy and assistance of the world's people, first of all the fraternal Socialist countries."

Since then, the squeeze probably has become more painful.

Figures on the cost of the war to North Viet Nam are lacking. Communists do not discuss such things openly. Red regimes presumably chip in to sustain Hanoi's defenses or help finance aid to the Viet Cong.

MOSCOW AID

Red China gives no figures on its aid to Hanoi. Moscow in June 1964 said it had invested the equivalent of $350 million in the Hanoi regime, apparently all in economic aid. That was before the U.S. bombings in the North. Since then Moscow presumably installed costly missile sites. Other Communist countries promised help, but no announcements have been made on what, if anything, was delivered.

Hanoi has made no announcement about increased taxes or other measures to finance war preparations. In fact, it claims it has even been able to lower some consumer prices. The evidence is that Hanoi is trying to pay its way by total mobilization and belt-tightening measures.

STORM LOSSES

North Viet Nam suffered losses from floods and typhoons in 1964. Now it has met new difficulties in mobilizing men and women to train for possible fighting, draining needed manpower from food and industry production.

The government has indicated it had difficulty meeting food requirements, saying it just "managed to meet part" of the requirements to insure supplies and equipment to goods and consumer industries.

Damage, Legal Experts Ponder Cruiser's Future

PORT MANSFIELD, Tex. (AP)— The yacht Vida Lee floated easily today—wearing a patch over the hole which caused her to sink with 10 persons aboard—as lawyers, damage experts and shrimpers discussed the luxury cruiser's future.

Benjamin Hardy of Brownsville, who specializes in maritime law, said he was working with counsel for companies which insured the boat to arrange an indemnifying bond equal to the value of the craft and everything aboard.

Hardy represents one of the shrimp boat crews which raised the yacht.

"They're going to guarantee to pay us, that's what the bond is," he said. "The bond will be worth as much as the property, so we'll let the property go."

SEEK SETTLEMENT

In Corpus Christi, Robert Woolsey, lawyer for the insurance companies, said he will seek to negotiate a settlement with the shrimp boats' owners. If this fails, he said, he will file suit in federal court at Brownsville.

W. A. Walls, a marine surveyor from Corpus Christi, said he was here Tuesday to arrange for a tug boat to tow the Vida Lee back to Corpus Christi.

The shrimp trawlers Scotsman and Rose Marie hugged the sleek pleasure craft closely as Walls went aboard to take a preliminary look at damage to the $80,000 vessel.

The Scotsman dragged the Vida Lee into this lower Gulf Coast port Sunday with only a bow handrail and two outrigger fishing poles above water.

CRADLE OF ROPES

The Rose Marie pulled alongside and the 42-foot yacht was raised in a cradle of ropes between the two swaybacked work boats while it was pumped out and a hole in the bow patched.

C. D. Toland, a deck hand aboard the Scotsman, said the Vida Lee apparently hit something in 54 feet of water that "buckled a couple of boards."

"We've lost more on this deal than we'll get out of it, you can bet," said Toland. "We broke and tore up equipment getting this thing in, and the people didn't appreciate it. They didn't even say thank you."

He said the Scotsman is carrying fresh shrimp worth about $3,000 and the Rose Marie's hold contains about $1,500 worth.

"We've been keeping these shrimp iced down, but we're going to have to get rid of them before long," Toland said.

GEMS RECOVERED

Mrs. Edwin Conner of Corpus Christi went aboard the Vida Lee a few minutes after it was raised and recovered jewelry valued at $20,000, Toland said.

She was one of the 10 persons aboard the yacht Saturday night when it sank in the Gulf of Mexico. All were rescued by helicopter after spending several hours in the water.

Dr. Edwin Conner is the principal owner of Parkland General Hospital in Corpus Christi. The hospital holds title to the boat.

"If it hadn't been for those shrimpers, they wouldn't have that jewelry," Hardy said. "The sea would have torn that vessel up pretty quick."

Forged Check Case Probed

DALLAS (AP) — City detectives J. B. Toney and D. K. Rodgers said Tuesday that forged claim checks may have cost the United Bankers Life Insurance Co. $30,000 to $60,000.

They charged Kathryn Luton, 46, a divorcee, with issuing legal drafts to insured persons, writing duplicate checks to those individuals and signing the latter checks herself.

She was responsible for checks written to settle claims and had worked for the Dallas insurance company 14 years.

"In checking the files," Rodgers said, "someone ran across three drafts paying off one claim. It didn't figure, so they looked at the canceled checks and saw two of the checks were cashed at the same grocery store here."

He said the third check in this instance was cashed in the home town of the person collecting the claim.

Air Force Seeks Vets

Men and women with previous military service in any of the armed forces are being sought for immediate enlistment in the Air Force, it was announced by Sgt. Wetzel, local Air Force recruiter. The number of openings for prior servicemen has more than tripled for the month of September. In addition, the variety of skills needed has been increased substantially in order to meet the new manpower requirements.

This means that some prior service applicants who were not previously eligible may now be able to return to active duty immediately, he said.

Men between 18 and 27, and women between 21 and 27, who possess honorable discharges from any branch of service, may be eligible for enlistment in the Air Force at their previously held rank, provided they meet other recently liberalized qualifications. Further, the upper age limit of 27 can be increased by adding to it the number of years active duty already served, in some instances to a maximum 46 years of age.

Sgt. Wetzel urged that all prior servicemen interested in this opportunity to enlist in the Air Force get the full details by calling FEderal 7-4242 in Odessa or visiting him at the Air Force recruiting office located at 118 E. 6th, Odessa. The office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Electronics Nail Woman On Old Traffic Violation

NEW YORK (AP) — New York police showed how they are using electronics to spot stolen cars and traffic violators Tuesday — and their computer promptly nailed a housewife.

A patrol car forced Gloria Placente of Jamaica, Queens, to the curb on the Grand Central Parkway.

Four busloads of officials and newsmen, invited to the demonstration by police officials, unloaded on the grassy shoulder to watch.

NOT PLEASED

Mrs. Placente, 34, suddenly cast as the star in a premiere demonstration of Operation Corral, was not pleased. She was served a summons for failure to pay a fine on a charge of running a stoplight on May 5, 1964.

"What am I — some kind of criminal?" she asked. "It's a good thing I have steady nerves. You can drop dead from a thing like this."

Mrs. Placente was on her way to the beach as police demonstrated Operation Corral — computer oriented retrieval of auto larcenists.

HOW IT WORKS

The system works this way:

License numbers of stolen cars and cars of persons who have ignored traffic summonses are stored in the memory drum of a computer at the World's Fair. They number about 196,000.

Police stationed along a roadway radio license numbers of passing automobiles. The numbers are fed into the computer, which instantly compares them with the memorized numbers.

If any match, a signal is flashed and a patrol car stationed further along the road is alerted. The process takes less than half a minute.

Police, who have been using the computer on loan from the Sperry Rand Corp. since May 27, said it has resulted in 2,000 arrests.

President Replies To GOP Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson answered a Republican charge that Democratic administrations are responsible for the U.S. position in Viet Nam with the assertion today that he has had "excellent cooperation" from Republican leaders in fighting the war.

So far as he is concerned, the President told his news conference, he doesn't know what party is involved when he draws upon officials for advice in the conflict.

"The issues of war and peace are far greater than the personalities involved, or the parties," he said.

In a "White Paper," House Republicans asserted that not only did the Democrats commit the country to defend Viet Nam but Johnson's 1964 campaign talks caused a miscalculation by the Communists on U.S. aims.

They said this was caused by Johnson's action in picturing his Republican opponent, Barry Goldwater, as being trigger-happy.

Johnson did not comment on this latter charge. But he said Republican former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had been a "tower of strength" to him, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

ASC Ballots Go In Mail

Ballots for election of community committeemen will be mailed Thursday by the county Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization office.

Producers and others entitled to vote will be asked to complete the ballots and return them to the ASC office not later than Sept. 8.

Persons who do not receive ballots and who feel they are entitled to vote should contact the ASC office for information on their ballots, said Gabe Hammack, manager.

There are some changes in voting procedures this year. One is that husbands and wives must cast ballots separately. Each must certify his or her own ballot and put it in a separate envelope and seal it.

If envelopes are returned with two ballots inside a single envelope, neither will be counted.

Otherwise, same basic rules apply for the balloting. Individuals receiving the highest number of votes will be declared the community committee chairmen.

Sheriff Files Assault Case

Richard Marquez, 27, of 1504 NW 2nd, has been charged with robbery by assault and his bond set at $5,000 in a complaint prepared by the sheriff's office.

Chief Deputy Lindy Oldfield said that Marquez is accused of taking $75 from Jose Ramirez, 58, Sterling City, on the night of Aug. 23. Ramirez alleges that Marquez and a second man, not as yet arrested, threatened him with knives and took his money.

Oldfield said that Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, set the bond.

Oldfield added that Marquez has refused to make a statement about the complaint. He is being held in the county jail.

Damages Asked

Ruth Pulliam Salazar and her husband have filed a suit asking $35,000 damages of Billy Ray Carter and D. E. Miller. The suit was filed in 118th District Court. The action stems from a traffic collision at Fifteenth and Owens Streets Feb. 25.

Couple Reconciled

Marina Oswald Porter and her husband, Kenneth, appeared before Judge W. E. Richburg in Dallas for a peace bond hearing. The couple has since settled their differences and the case was dismissed. Mrs. Porter had filed an affidavit asking for a peace bond claiming Porter had slapped her and frightened her with a gun. Porter was held in Dallas County Jail for several hours until his lawyer posted his bond. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Trial Set On Borden, Garza Boundary Row

A lawsuit involving the boundaries of two West Texas counties, on file in the 118th District Court for the past four years, will be heard by Judge Ralph W. Caton next Tuesday.

The suit is styled Borden County vs. Garza County, and was originally filed in this county May 11, 1961, by R. H. Weaver, a Big Spring attorney.

The litigation involves 25 tracts of land located along the northern boundary of Borden County. The complaint is that Garza County has been levying the lands for ad valorem taxes. It is claimed that in 1957, an employe of the General Land Office in Austin, altered the original boundary lines between the two counties. This put the north parts of Sections 27, 22 and 3, Block 28, Section 677, Block 97, H&TC survey, and possibly other parts in Garza County.

Borden County, in its petition, alleges that the boundary was established in 1891 when the county was organized. The lands, until the debate over their location arose in 1957, have been parts of Borden County.

It is cited that the changes were made after oil had been found on the lands under discussion.

As a result of the lawsuit, American General Oil Co., Alvin Koonsman, Billy Koonsman, Malcolm E. Wilson, and Mrs. Cora Guilliams, the owners of the lands in question, have been paying their taxes to the clerk of the 118th District Court.

Fern Cox, district court clerk, said there are $8,890.47 taxes on deposit here. The outcome of the lawsuit will determine whether the money goes to Garza County or to Borden County.

Judge Caton said the hearing will be before the court with no jury.

He said the case offers several unusual features.

One is there are no precedents for handling such a case. Apparently no other lawsuits of a similar nature have been tried in Texas courts.

A large number of attorneys will probably assemble to take part in the hearing. Weaver will appear for Borden County. In addition, there will be lawyers representing the property owners, as well as the county attorneys of the two counties involved.

First Session Of Carnegie Course Opens Thursday

First session of a Dale Carnegie course—first to be held in Big Spring in several years—is scheduled for Thursday evening. Warren Quinlan, director of courses in West Texas, said this will be a "preview" session, and regular classwork will start the ensuing Thursday, Sept. 2.

All meetings will be in the community room of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, beginning at 7 p.m. Quinlan said a full enrollment of 40 seems assured.

The nationally known self-improvement instruction by Dale Carnegie is designed to help persons develop confidence, speak with ease, get ahead faster, improve their ability to deal with people. There will be 14 class sessions.

K. B. Bender Dies Monday

K. B. Bender, 47, president of the Walter O'Bannon Co. of Tulsa, Okla., died in his office there Monday. He was a former resident of Big Spring, and was graduated from Big Spring High School.

Survivors include his widow, Lilly Jean Bender, two sons, John Bender and Morris Bender, of the home; his mother, Mrs. Emma Holubec, and stepfather, Emil Holubec of Sand Springs; two brothers, L. E. Bender of Honolulu, Hawaii, and Lester V. Bender, Big Spring; a step-brother, Adolph Holubec, Chicago; his father-in-law, a sister-in-law, and a brother-in-law, all of Tulsa; several nieces and nephews.

Services are pending in Tulsa for Mr. Bender, who was a member of the First Christian Church there.

Nine Applicants Take Fire Exam

Nine applicants took the firemen's examination written examination last night and will be interviewed by a special panel today.

Hubert Clawson, department training officer, said there is one vacancy in the department to be filled. However, the other applicants making high scores will be put on the eligible list to fill any future vacancies in the fire department.

Nuclear Merchant Ship Attempts To Sail Again

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)— Capt. John Korista, master of the Savannah, hopes to have the world's first nuclear commercial ship under way again by midnight tonight.

Delayed by a faulty valve, the Savannah had been scheduled to leave today at 11 a.m.

"This is purely a mechanical, not a nuclear problem," Korista said.

Korista said the faulty valve is a remote control valve in the container vessel of the Savannah's nuclear propulsion system.

Engineers worked through the night to clear a jammed motor on the valve.

The container vessel contains 10 per cent oxygen and 90 per cent nitrogen. The nitrogen must be cleared before work can take place.

Following completion of repairs, a 13 hour process must be followed, Koritsa said, which includes checking, replacement of the nitrogen (called doing inert), going critical, heating up and activating the steam plant or propulsion system.

Police Academy Wins Praise

The Big Spring police academy received high praise from area police chiefs Tuesday, according to Jay Banks, chief of local police.

Banks attended the Region 4 Chiefs of Police meeting in Brownwood, where the topic of discussion was the local police training unit.

"I received a lot of questions about our work here," Banks said. "There is a great deal of interest in area communities in our academy, which includes everything offered in the Texas A&M police course, plus 26 extra hours of training."

Banks said the local academy is one of the few in the area which offers a nearly complete set of police courses.

Weather Forecast

The forecast calls for warmer south of the Lakes and mid-Atlantic coast and cooler in the northern Plains. Showers were expected in the upper Lakes and Mississippi valley sections, with rain fall forecast for the Pacific Northwest. (AP WIRPHOTO)

Commissioners Okay Disputed Zone Change

City Commissioners Tuesday night overturned by a split (4-1) vote a planning and zoning commission decision to deny a zone change on Marcy Drive, at the Wasson Road intersection. T-P Development Co. requested the change to build an apartment complex.

T-P will build the apartment building near the new First Baptist Church, just across from the Park Hill Terrace apartments, 700 Marcy Drive, and requested a zoning change from "neighborhood service" to "multi-family" on the property. Commissioners allowed the change over the objections of Truman Jones, Park Hill Terrace associate, and Ted Groebl, local oilman. Jones said there are many vacancies in Big Spring housing, and that there are other areas in town that would be better suited for a new apartment complex.

"Not only are communities often hoodwinked by promoters who take the cream off the top and then pull out," Groebl said, "but we have many available apartments in town—there has been a building permit recently issued for another apartment complex." Groebl was referring to a new unit being built by local builder Robert Heinze. "We can rely on Big Spring capital to build new apartments, assuming they are needed," Groebl said, "but if these developers really want to build an apartment house, I'll make land already properly zoned available to them."

Representing T-P, which is an Odessa firm with Prudential Insurance Co. financial backing, were Louis Rochester, Herb Atkins and Prudential attorney Walton Morrison.

Rochester said a survey of available local apartments indicated they were well filled, which, he said, meant that the new one would probably do well financially. "If this weren't so, we wouldn't be here," he said. The group presented a layout of the proposed apartment, and indicated it would be comparable to present "luxury" apartment developments in the area.

"This development will be an asset to the community," Morrison said. "I hope that the commissioners won't legislate against competition."

After a few minutes consultation, the commissioners voted, with Chester Cathey voting against the proposal, W. L. (Squeaky) Thompson, John Stanley and Arnold Marshall voting "aye." Mayor George Zachariah, who was at his first meeting since an operation last month, voted "yes," settling the matter.

"I know I'll hurt two very good friends of mine by this vote," he said, "but I think the proposal has merit, and will be good for the community. We can't let financial considerations into such a decision, for zoning changes are based solely on the good use of property, and the proposed change is good use."

"The reason the mayor voted on the proposal, said John Burgess, city attorney, is that when 20 per cent of adjacent property owners object, it takes a three-fourths majority of all commissioners to pass on it." Usually, the mayor votes only in cases of ties, but Burgess felt the ambiguously-worded state statute required the mayoral vote.

The commissioners then approved the zoning ordinance change on first reading. Approval will not be complete until the ordinance has been read three times.

Minor Thefts Are Reported

Police reported two minor thefts Wednesday.

One of The Herald's newspaper racks, and another belonging to the San Angelo Standard-Times, were stolen from in front of the Working Man's Cafe, 104 S. Main, late Monday or early Tuesday, according to police. The racks contained about $1 each in collections, and are worth approximately $7 each.

Hilliard Ford Co. reported a wheel and tire stolen from the bed of one of its pickups Tuesday, while it was parked in front of the Phillips Motel, 704 E. 3rd, police said Wednesday.

No arrests have been made.

OIL REPORT

Texaco Testing Dawson Project

Texaco, Inc. continues to run tests on its No. 1 United Presbyterian Church five miles west of Lamesa in Dawson County.

The Spraberry formation test flowed 248 barrels of load water and 201 barrels of new oil in 16 hours, in a test Tuesday. The operator swabbed the Fussellman for 63 barrels of new oil in four hours. He is now running a bottom hole pressure survey.

The first Spraberry test was run July 2, when 5,805 feet of free oil was recovered, between 8,003 and 8,036 feet, in two hours. Signs of possible production from an unidentified formation between 10,962 and 11,032 feet showed up when 30 feet of free oil, 270 feet of slightly oil- and gas-cut mud, and 180 feet of oil-cut mud was recovered in one hour.

Another test at 11,384-403 feet resulted in gas surfacing in 12 minutes, with no volume reported. On that test the operator recovered 9,035 feet of 39-gravity free oil.

Two Howard County field locations have been staked. Sun Oil Co. will drill No. 13 W. R. Settles in the Howard-Glasscock (Queen) field, 12 miles south of Big Spring. Bond Operating Co. of Big Spring has contracted to re-enter an old hole in Kent County, 21 miles northeast of Snyder. The No. 1 Mays, spotted 1,989 feet from the north and east lines of section 48-4, H&GN survey, was drilled by Sharles & Goldstein Oil Co., and plugged and abandoned at 7,073 feet Feb. 2, 1957. The old well, to be plugged back, is one and a quarter miles northeast of the Cogdell (Canyon reef) pool.

COMPLETIONS

GLASSCOCK

Sun Oil Co. No. 36 H. Phillips, spotted 330 feet from the south and 1,063 feet from the west lines of section 14-33-2s, T&P survey, pumped 33 barrels of 32 gravity oil, with 41 per cent water on initial production. Total depth was 2,550 feet, 5½-inch casing was set at 2,536 feet and perforated at 2,306-97 feet. Formation was treated with 2,500 gallons of acid.

STERLING

HMH Operators No. 1 Terry, a wildcat drilled five miles southwest of Sterling City, was drilled to a total depth of 2,405 feet and plugged and abandoned. Location was staked 853 feet from the south and 2,713 feet from the east lines of section 15-T, T&P survey.

JOHN B. SCOTT

Officer Scott Is Promoted

Patrolman John B. Scott will be promoted to police sergeant Sept. 1, according to Jay Banks, chief of police. His appointment will fill a space left by the promotion of John Wolf to detective, Banks said.

Scott, who has been on the local force since his discharge from the Air Force in 1961, is a native of Pennsylvania.

"He has applied himself well in the traffic division," Banks said. "He studies all the time, and has established a private library on traffic problems and enforcement." Scott has attended 11 police "schools" and has been active in local Scout activities.

He and his wife Elouise, a Big Spring native, have one child. They live at 2613 Rebecca.

Grand Jury Still Works

Howard County grand jury, in session since 11 a.m. Tuesday, completed hearing evidence on the cases laid before it at 11:30 a.m. today. It began voting on the indictment at noon. However, at 12:30 p.m. the jury informed Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, it was recessing until 2 p.m.

No reason was given for the recess. It had been anticipated the grand jurors would push through with the vote on indictments and wind up their work before shutting down for lunch.

Final witness had been questioned by the grand jurors at 11:30 a.m. The grand jury considered 12 felony complaints involving 14 defendants. The docket was one of the lightest to be laid before a grand jury in many months. The session, likewise, was slated to be one of the briefest in many terms of court.

The grand jurors are:

James Tidwell, foreman; J. G. Gibbs, Robert Mitchell, Eddie Acri, M. N. Thorp, Truett Newell, Jack Irons, Bill Draper, W. P. Odom, R. V. Fryar, R. E. Hickson and Mrs. S. D. Riley.

The cases the grand jury had before it for action included:

Raymond Oliver, assault with intent to murder; Ira Boyd and Kenneth Greenhill, theft; Robert Mesker and E. W. Fletcher, burglary; Roland Johnson, assault with intent to murder; Aurora Quintana, theft; Laurel B. Caughey, DWI second; T. V. Thompson, theft by bailee; D Denton, theft; Raymond Brock, DWI second; Walter D. Chaney, DWI second; Crawford V. Burns, and DWI second, and Bill Franklin, forgery.

Minor Mishaps Are Checked

Three minor accidents were investigated by police yesterday. There were no injuries.

Pedro Valdez Diaz, 4014 Dixon, and Sam Hugh Kirby, 1017 Nolan, escaped injuries when their cars collided in the 300 block of Main, police said.

The cars of Claudia Carol Seifeste, 2614 Cindy Lane, and Carolyn Mills Brown, 1101 Mesa Avenue, were in collision at the intersection of Edwards and Gregg.

The cars of Sharon Mitchell, 602 Lancaster, James Robert Henson, 205 Carey, and Marion Oliver Whitlock, Key Motel No. 29, were in a three-car pileup, police said. The Henson car was parked in the 2500 block of US 80 west when the accident happened. None of the cars was heavily damaged, officers said.

Part American Now

Eight-year-old Maria Frentgos of Tripolis, Greece, smiles and holds a toy dog after recovering from open heart surgery in a New Orleans hospital that saved her life. Surgeons replaced a defective aortic valve with an artificial one and repaired a large hole in her heart. Nuns Refuse To Give Up Shelter Work

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church has repeated its order to a group of nuns to give up their animal shelter but 76-year-old Mother Cecilia Mary said Tuesday night she had made the shelter her life work and would not give it up.

"The Church has no authority to close the shelter," Mother Cecilia said. "They don't own the land and I will not give up unless I die."

"It's just a bit of bluff," she continued. "The bishop doesn't like the sisters doing the work and he wants to close it but we will carry on because there isn't anybody else to do it." She was speaking of the Most Rev. Remi De Roo, bishop of Victoria.

Monday two church officials delivered an order to Mother Cecilia and the five elderly nuns who help her. It was from the apostolic delegate in Ottawa, the Most Rev. Sergio Pigenedoli.

The order said of the six: "If any one of them refuses to obey in this matter, then ecclesiastical authority will reconsider their official status in the church as sisters."

This would not mean excommunication, Bishop De Roo said, but the six could continue operating the shelter only if they gave up their religious vows.

Mother Cecilia said: "I have a been a sister for 56 years and will stay a sister till I die. Giving up my vows would require personal consent and I wouldn't give it."

Bishop De Roo said refusal to abandon the shelter and the more than 100 animals leaves the next move up to Rome.

Beatles Declared Popular As Ever

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is the Beatlemania dying down?

"Perhaps the hysteria has quieted a little," says Beatle movie maker Walter Shenson, "but their popularity is as great as ever."

Shenson is the Hollywood press agent who wearied of flacking for the likes of Rita Hayworth and Frank Sinatra, spent his savings on a movie script and tried to produce it in England. He finally succeeded; the film was "The Mouse That Roared."

A few films later he was assigned a project to star a hirsute singing group. Shenson produced "A Hard Day's Night," and the rest is history.

HAPPY REPORT

"We made the picture for a half-million and it will gross 10," Shenson reported happily. "Business was sensational in this country, England, the British Commonwealth, Scandinavia and northern Germany. We took $300,000 out of Japan, which is good but not great.

"The picture didn't do as well in France, Italy, Spain and Latin America, where the sale of Beatle records is soft. But the boys have since toured in southern Europe, and I think the new picture will do better."

NOT UNANIMOUS

The new picture is "Help!" and it doesn't appear to need any. Shenson reports that business so far is ahead of "A Hard Day's Night," although reviews lack the unanimity of critical praise that the first film received.

"I expected that," said the producer. "I think we have an excellent picture in 'Help!'. But no matter how good it was, we couldn't have gotten the same raves we had for 'A Hard Day's Night'."

Shenson was faced with the problems of how to follow the first film, which was good enough to draw two Academy Award nominations. The Beatles dictated some of the terms.

STATE TERMS

"They were very cute about it," Shenson recalls. "They came into my office and sat in a row on a couch opposite my desk. They told me exactly what they didn't want in the second movie. They didn't want: screams; performing numbers onstage; black and white."

The result is a Bondesque chase from London to the Alps to the Bahamas, filmed with large splashes of color and very little sense. The screams come only from the harrassed villains. Budget for the film was $1.5 million, not excessive considering the two expensive locations.

Congress Votes LBJ Foreign Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional passage of President Johnson's $3.36-billion foreign aid authorization bill has left Senate advocates of a drastic overhaul of the program licking their wounds in defeat.

The Senate's battle with the House for a two-year authorization and a revamping of the overseas-aid format is certain to be renewed in the next session.

WAITS SIGNING

The Senate caved in Tuesday when it voted 67-27 passage of a bill tailored to House demands, and previously approved by that body. All it needs is Johnson's signature.

The amount of authorizations didn't even figure in the major dispute this year, and the long-agreed upon totals came within $97,670,000 of what Johnson asked.

The final amount that actually will be made available to finance the program will be fought out in a subsequent appropriations bill providing the money.

Here's what the Senate wanted, and for which its conferees argued unsuccessfully in 14 meetings with House negotiators extending over two months:

MORE TIME

1. A two-year authorization to avoid the yearly struggle over foreign aid legislation and to give aid officials more time for planning their overseas military and economic assistance programs.

2. Termination of the program in its present form at the end of two years and the creation of a congressional committee to investigate its administration and recommend changes to reduce spending and concentrate future aid in countries where it will be most effective.

It got neither. Instead it got promises from the House conferees to consider a multiyear authorization next year and from the administration to recommend a longer program then. It got promises from both the administration and the House conferees to restudy the program.

Store Owner Proves Adage

BALTIMORE (AP) — The sign in Benjamin Ross' ice-cream store says, "Crime does not pay." It's a word to the wise, from someone with first-hand experience.

Two men held up Ross' place three days before Christmas in 1963 and took $21. One was caught within half an hour and later was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Less than three weeks later, a gunman took $18 and fired a shot which grazed Ross. The bandit was captured within 20 minutes and wound up with a 20-year prison term.

Cong Plead For Medicine

GENEVA (AP) — The Viet Cong guerrillas in Viet Nam are trying to replenish their dwindling medical supplies through the International Red Cross.

Red Cross headquarters here sent out appeals to branches throughout the world for shipments of antibiotics, blood plasma, transfusion and surgical equipment and bandages for the guerrilla units in Viet Nam.

The appeal went out after the request for aid was received from the Viet Cong through the British Red Cross. The request apparently followed months of indirect negotiations for help.

The Red Cross said in a statement that so far Communist North Viet Nam has not requested any help for war victims or refugees.

The Red Cross announced Monday it has earmarked equal sums of 50,000 swiss francs—$11,600—each for aid to war victims in North and South Viet Nam.

The decision was taken "in view of the extension of the conflict and the undoubtedly growing number of victims," a Red Cross announcement said. The organization offered to channel all gifts and contributions to war victims in both Viet Nams.

Plans for the initiation of two new members were made during the Tuesday evening meeting of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284. The group met at the IOOF Hall with Miss Shirley Lee presiding.

The new members to be initiated during the next regular meeting are Mrs. Edward Kennedy and Mrs. Eugene Crockerham.

During the business session, Miss Lee called a special work shop for Tuesday and asked that members bring a covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. Alvin Porch, chairman of the refreshment committee, announced that a salad supper would be served at the Aug. 31 meeting. It was reported that 20 visits to the sick were made by the 21 members present.

Breakfast Event Fetes Bride-Elect

A "Come As You Are" breakfast Tuesday honored Miss Suzanne Peters, bride-elect of Dickie Carlton. The morning affair was held at the home of Mrs. Joe B. Hedleston, 1609 Indian Hills.

Cohostesses were Miss Nancy Hedleston, Mrs. H. D. McElrath and Miss Jane McElrath.

Eleven school friends of the honoree attended, and the hostesses' gift was a centerpiece arrangement of artificial flowers.

The couple plans a Sept. 3 wedding at the First Presbyterian Church.

Reception Scheduled At College

The fall reception for Howard County Junior College will begin at 6:30 p.m., Sept. 3, in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building on the campus.

In the form of a salad supper, the social event will honor new faculty members and the board of trustees. Mrs. Marshall Box is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. W. A. Hunt, 626 Tulane, was hostess to 13 members of the Faculty Ma'ams Tuesday morning as the reception was planned. She introduced Mrs. Dawson De Viney, wife of the new assistant to the president, as a new member of the group.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

CLUBBERS URGED TO RETURN QUESTIONNAIRES FOR TABLOID

The Big Spring Herald's special tabloid, "Women's Clubs—'65" is scheduled for distribution soon. The club edition will not include church groups, but in view of the large number of women's civic, social and study clubs which are active locally, printing must be completed at an early date. Questionnaires have been mailed to 119 women's groups which are to be represented with stories and pictures in the first publication of this kind by The Herald. Deadlines must be met, and in order to assure that each club's story is told, prompt attention to and return of the questionnaires would be appreciated.

Miss Kerry O'Brien Is Party Honoree

Miss Kerry O'Brien, bride-elect of John Norton Jr., was honored with a Tuesday morning kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., 400 Washington. Mrs. Mairl McFaul was cohostess.

An arrangement of orchid chrysanthemums was the centerpiece, and silver and china appointments were used.

The honoree was presented an oven broiler as a hostesses' gift, and her corsage was of miniature fruit and vegetables. Other honored guests were Mrs. Bledsoe O'Brien, the bride-elect's mother; Mrs. Robert Vermillion, Dallas, the bride-elect's aunt; and Mrs. John Norton Sr., mother of the prospective bridegroom.

The couple plans an Aug. 27 wedding at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Robert Polk will officiate for the ceremony.

Will Join Staff Of Kindergarten

Miss Mayme Clanton has been added as first grade teacher at Jack and Jill Kindergarten and First Grade School.

Miss Clanton received both her BA and MA degrees from Texas Tech, and for the past 14 years has served as an instructor in the local junior high schools.

Miss Clanton's professional affiliations include Delta Kappa Gamma, Texas State Teachers' Association, Classroom Teachers' Association and National Education Association.

Miss Clanton owns a farm at Vealmoor where she resides and is a member of the Baptist Church.

"We are very pleased to welcome Miss Clanton as a member of our teaching staff, said Miss Arah Phillips, principal.

Opening date at Jack and Jill is Sept. 7, and registration is now in progress.

A Devotional For The Day

"This is my commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you." (John 15:12, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear God, our Father, we are grateful for Thy love that fills our days with joy. Help us to love one another, irrespective of race, color or creed. Guide Thy children in all lands where Thou art known and loved. Bless us all. In the name of Thy Son, our Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . . Amen."

Blessing Of Rains

The effect of continuing showers in the agricultural outlook is extremely bright.

While there are a few spots which have not shared in the heavy downpours, there is hardly an area in the county but what has received enough to either make a fair cotton crop or else get a new lease on prospects for a crop.

Barring a repetition of damaging hail, such as inflicted sharp damage in about three major areas in an arc from Lomax past Hartwells and Knott toward Vealmoor and Luther, the general picture here is bright. There is still time for fruit to put on and have a fair chance of making, although this period is rapidly passing. The fact is, however, that in multiplied scores of fields, stalks have good growth and have loaded with blooms during the recent wet spell. The process of shedding has been reversed and most of the fields have started growing again.

Some of the grain fields will be helped, although the bulk of this crop had been hit a crippling blow by a tenacious mid-summer drouth. However, fields will be left in generally good condition for planting of small grains and cover crops.

Pastures have made an almost immediate response and should make a considerable amount of grass before frost. The season for searing hot weather is largely passed, hence the moisture so far received should last longer.

There is some disposition to speculate on how vastly greater would have been the benefits had these rains come three weeks ago. Of course they would have been greater, but this seems to us to border on ingratitude. As for us, we give thanks that a kind providence has blessed us even now.

Pass It To Consumer

The President's Council of Economic Advisers reports that about three-fourths of the tax cut benefits were passed on to consumers this summer. The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics is now surveying the changing price structure to pinpoint any holdups in cutting the over-all cost of consumer goods by the amount of the tax reduction.

The federal effort to assure full consumer benefit from the tax cut will be aided by the forces of competition, but only to the degree that consumers are kept informed.

It is as important to business and industry, as it is to government and the general public, that the 1965 excise tax cuts be passed fully to the consumer. The justification for the cuts were that they would stimulate consumer demand, and in turn increase production and profits and employment, thus bringing in tax revenues more than offsetting the governmental loss from excise cuts.

The appeal to pass on the benefits from the cuts to the consumer is a fair one.

Voluntary Aspects Of The U.N.

WASHINGTON — It's an ill wind that blows no good. Luckily the controversy over the failure of certain governments to pay "peace-keeping" exepsnes levied by the United Nations could result in a stronger rather than a weaker mechanism for the maintenance of peace in the world.

The time may come when the American people will be benefitted not only by what France and Russia unwittingly accomplished in refusing to pay certain expenses of the United Nations but by what America did in announcing that it will also feel free hereafter to pay or refrain from paying certain expenses that may be imposed by the organization.

THE REAL POINT at issue, which has not been stressed in the public discussions, is that the United Nations is not today and never was intended to be a superstate — a world government capable of invading at will the sovereignty or independence of any nation. The United Nations was designed to be and is really a federation of states whose members are authorized by its charter under Article 51 to take collective action for their own defense and for the defense of any other nations that may request it or need it — as in the case of South Viet Nam.

But "collective action" means voluntary action, and no nation which chooses to remain aloof can be required to pay the expenses of any war or peace-keeping operation of which it wishes not to be a part.

THE U. N. CHARTER, under article 17, merely says the General Assembly shall approve "the budget of the organization" but there is a far different meaning to the word "budget" than has recently been given to it. The "budget" refers to the normal operations of an organization. Mindful of this difference, the same Article 17 provides that the General Assembly "shall consider and approve any financial and budgetary arrangements with specialized agencies" and make "recommendations" to them.

IT IS CLEAR that a sovereign nation cannot be compelled against its will to participate in the work of the specialized agencies of the U. N., as these extend from social and economic problems to the handling of a variety of activities by nations voluntarily seeking to improve the general welfare of certain countries or regions.

The fundamental principle of the United Nations charter, moreover, is that nations shall work together collectively on a purely voluntary basis. Otherwise, a group of nations interested in promoting aggression and imperialism throughout the world — as, for instance, the Soviet Union and Red China — could some day take possession by majority vote of the United Nations Assembly and order the United States to do its bidding.

IT WILL BE argued that in the Security Council, this country, like Russia, has a veto. But, on the other hand, the General Assembly in recent years has endeavored to do what the Security Council was thought to be obligated to do — to take measures to keep the peace. Ignoring the veto system of the Security Council, a majority of the 115 nations in the General Assembly could attempt to tell even the United States what it must do.

SO IT ALL boils down to whether the U. N. is to be a super-government or a federation of states which permits individual members to act voluntarily in joining or refraining from participating in "peace-keeping" operations. The responsibility for stopping aggression now has been placed squarely on the voluntary alliances of nations, where it belongs, and if they do not have the military and economic force to do the job collectively in special situations that arise, the U. N. would hardly have achieved it either by arbitrarily levying assessments for "expenses."

Billy Graham

How can I find strength for the everyday burdens of life? I have God; there is no doubt about that, and I feel fine when I worship in church. But when the pressures of life are turned on, I'm afraid there is not much difference between me and non-Christians. How can I improve? K. A.

I will just share a little secret I have found.

When I get up in the morning, I know that without God I cannot face the duties of the day. So, the first thing I do is open my Bible and let the strength of this Book flow into my heart. I would rather miss my breakfast than to miss this time with the Bible. Then, I shut my eyes and say: "O God, all that I am, I am because of they grace. Without Thy guidance and power I will fail today. But if You go with me, the day will be successful." Thus armed, every day is filled with excitement and joy.

Many others have found that this works. United States Judge Luther W. Youngdahl said: "In many situations in my public life, when I have been called upon to distinguish between right and wrong, the Bible has helped me, not only to make the right choice, but also to have the courage to carry through." Worship is wonderful and needed, but drawing on God's power once a week is not enough. Job was right when he said, "I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food." (Job 23:12)

Prospect For Peace Talks Remain Dismal

WASHINGTON (AP) — After U.S. Marines shattered the Viet Cong at Chu Lai last week the Johnson administration reportedly had hopes the North Vietnamese might now like to talk peace. The prospect still looks dismal.

In Moscow Tuesday the North Vietnamese embassy laid down a condition that the United States must agree to a troop withdrawal from Viet Nam before there can be any negotiations.

Because of the diplomatic shadow-boxing on both sides in this struggle it is possible the Communists were not insisting upon a troop withdrawal before talks got into negotiations.

That seems beside the point since the North Vietnamese contended they had not switched from the four points they laid down last April for any peace talks. The United States had rejected those conditions.

A TIMETABLE shows how the Viet Nam peace train has been running in a circle.

After President Johnson last Feb. 7 ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam the White House issued a statement:

"The key to the situation remains the cessation of infiltration from North Viet Nam and the clear indication from the Hanoi regime that it is prepared to cease aggression against its neighbors."

Pressure built up on Johnson to say more. The pressure doubled when 17 nonaligned nations on April 1 called for immediate negotiations "without any precondition" for a solution.

Then on April 7 at Baltimore Johnson made a speech in which the only precondition for peace talks was that there be no conditions:

"THERE MAY be ways to find peace . . . we remain ready . . . for unconditional discussions."

But in the same speech he had laid down conditions for the only kind of final settlement the United States would accept:

"An independent South Viet Nam — securely guaranteed and able to shape its own relationships to all others — free from outside interference — tied to no alliance — a military base for no other country."

Wednesdays The Peak Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Friends, let us consider the days of the week. Which is the best?

The earnest thinker long has considered Friday as a better boon to man than the dog.

No survivor of the work week can successfully challenge this conclusion.

But I would like to put in a word for Wednesday. It is the true day when mankind stands upon the summit of himself. It is the day of absolute human integrity.

ALL DAYS have their reasons for being. Let us consider their values.

Monday is the pal of the eager beaver and the foe of the tired beaver.

Monday is liked by people who study yoga, who enjoy beating their freedom against a discipline, who swim in the surf off Coney Island in the winter and get their pictures in the papers for doing so.

For the rest of humanity Monday is a long ugh-h-h. It is a day when childhood goes back to school, man to his duty, and woman considers what to do with last week's laundry.

Those who consider the virtues of Tuesday, I am afraid, must face the fact that it is really at most an escapist's advance beyond Monday. Its only other use is that it is the prime time of the week on which to borrow money.

IT ISN'T important whether a man really needs the money. Nobody who is asked to lend money on Tuesday asks what it's for. He may demand a reason any other day—but never on Tuesday. He will simply fork out.

We now skip to Thursday, for Wednesday is the peak of the week. Thursday is the day before Friday. Thursday is the day you promise to pay money back but don't. Thursday is the soft suffocation of all endeavor. Thursday is the day when you begin to explain to yourself why you haven't done so far this week what you don't intend to do on Friday.

Everybody knows what Friday is for. It is the day of the long lunch, the glad leap from responsibility, the plunge into the liberty of the weekend. It is the day to hide from the guy you borrowed money from on Tuesday and promised to pay back on Thursday.

Matter Of Fibroids In Women

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: If the doctor tells a woman, after a vaginal examination, that she has a large fibroid, does the diagnosis mean surgery? He didn't say fibroid tumor. Just fibroid. Can this become cancerous? He didn't sound much concerned. — MRS. W. E.

A fibroid is a fibroid tumor — one which happens to consist of excessive fibrous tissue mixed in with other type of tissue.

The presence of a fibroid does not necessarily indicate surgery. A substantial number of women have fibroids without experiencing any trouble from them.

The uterus is a combination of muscle and special tissue which is peculiarly under control of glandular action. Because of this, it is more likely to develop tumors.

When the strong fiber portion grows more than normal, then you have a fibroid tumor. Some of these tumors are small, some large. Occasionally there can be quite a number of fibroids.

When such a tumor has been discovered, it is always wise to check periodically on its progress, if any. Sometimes a fibroid will remain the same size indefinitely for many years. If it is not causing trouble, and is not changing, there is no need for removal. And fibroids sometimes eventually subside or grow smaller at and after menopause.

If a fibroid becomes unduly large, is painful, or causes menstrual problems, then removal may well be considered. Sometimes fibroids can interfere with pregnancy, and that's a reason for removal. Some can become malignant. That's another reason.

Fibroids do not, as a rule, become malignant. However, periodic checking is prudent to guard against such instances, as well as to be on guard against the other possibilities.

In short, don't become automatically alarmed on learning that you have a fibroid. It is quite possible that you may never have a problem with it.

Dear Doctor: Is a baby born with hydrocephalus or can it develop after birth? What is the treatment, and the outlook? — M.M.

Hydrocephalus (enlargement of the head because of pressure of fluid inside) is usually due to a developmental defect. Hence it is usually present from birth.

Occasionally it occurs as the result of a tumor or of inflammation which obstructs the flow of spinal fluid. The fluid accumulates inside the skull, and cannot flow out again normally. This type of hydrocephalus usually is apparent by the first year of life.

The outlook for treatment, is not good. If one of the latter obstructions can be found and corrected, the chances are better. Fairly recently there has been work with a special valve, inserted surgically, to relieve the pressure, but this is a complicated procedure.

You cannot prevent hydrocephalus.

Dear Dr. Molner: How should a family select a good physician - surgeon in a strange city? — A.R.S.

If you had one where you lived before, ask him. He may not be able to recommend one for you, but usually he does know physicians in other cities, and perhaps in the city to which you have moved.

You can always phone or write the county medical society in the city and obtain reliable information. If you have a strong preference for a particular hospital, perhaps of a certain religious affiliation, specify that, so you can choose a doctor who treats patients at that hospital.

NOTE TO G.S.: There is no physical reason why a hysterectomy, whether partial or even complete, should change your sex life.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

The Vanishing Settlement

Ever hear of Bisco? Or Morris? Or Green Valley?

What about Auto (Otto?) or Hiway, or Ross City, or New Drumright, Robinson's Chapel or Soash?

Your answers to these may reflect how long you've been in these parts.

WHAT ABOUT R-Bar, Hartwells, Moore, Fairview, Center Point and Midway? Maybe you've heard of these because some of them are still listed as voting boxes, but as commercial communities, they no longer exist with the exception of Midway. In this instance Midway is part of the large community of Sand Springs. Something ironic about this, for Midway earlier had absorbed Robinson's Chapel.

FAIRVIEW IS still fixed partially in the public mind because it has a large gin operating at the intersection of the Lamesa Highway (US 87) and an east-west lateral eight miles north of town. The school long since has gone, and the church is now west down the road about a mile and is known as Prairie View.

Hartwells shows on highway signs as the name of a road from IS 20 northward to the Andrews highway. The old school house shell is off to the side of this road, but Hartwells community no longer exists. A similar fate befell Moore, which has only the foundations of its school house (which is perpetuated in the memory of many families with an annual reunion).

BISCO AND MORRIS, both northern communities of Howard County are completely gone, and so is Hiway, which was about halfway between the Fairview and Knott communities on the old Lamesa road that zig-zagged along section lines. Green Valley, about halfway between Coahoma and Vincent, also has disappeared with scarcely a trace. The concrete walls of an old bank building are all that remain of the original Soash near the north county line, and a ghostly box structure of a school is all that remains of its successor slightly to the west.

A FEW ROCK buildings and the ruins of a concrete calaboose are about all that remind one of Ross City, a once wild and woolly oil boom village in the Howard-Glasscock pool. Nothing remains of New Drumright, touted nearly two score years ago as a duplicate of a once famous Oklahoma oil town. In this area, Forsan and Otischalk were the residual communities.

Perhaps there were others in Howard County which flourished and disappeared, but they were before my time. Other counties in the area have a long list of communities which also disappeared from the map.

WHAT HAPPENED to them? Mainly transportation and communication. Modern roads and modern cars put people around these small rural settlements within minutes or larger places instead of hours. Telephones, daily delivery of newspapers, radios, etc. wiped out the need for a neighborhood communications nucleus. Economy and efficiency of operating larger units of businesses and schools took care of this factor. It was all a part of urbanization long before most of us realized it. So the majority of these places live now only in memory—but oh so fondly there.

Dialogue Of An Infamous Case

WASHINGTON—The case of William Wieland, who was recently promoted to be the State Department's supervising counsel-general in Canberra, Australia, is getting to be an oft-told tale but its ramifications make fascinating dialogue.

THE VERBATIM testimony now being published in 30 volumes of pamphlets by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee tell us again how Wieland lied, how Wieland's part in our original acceptance of Castro as a non-Communist has been rubbed off the State Department records, how Otto Otepka, who exposed Wieland, was represented as being "mentally unbalanced"—one of the lowest forms of desperate character-smashing.

Otepka: I prepared a detailed memorandum of record, citing the number of times and the extent of his (Wieland's) association with Fidel Castro.

COUNSEL: Why . . . important?

Otepka: Because he testified he only saw him once.

Counsel: How many times did he see him?

Otepka: . . . at least six.

Counsel: Have you sought access to the Wieland file since? Has it been denied you?

Otepka: It was specifically denied to me . . . I was told that it was not available to me.

COUNSEL: Now is the Wieland file kept in (its proper) place?

Otepka: It is not now in that place.

Counsel (to Raymond Loughton, State Department administrative officer): Mr. Loughton, did you have anything to do with the file in the William Wieland case? . . . Was the file ever in your custody?

Loughton: Yes, sir.

Counsel: You got an instruction or order to reaffirm Mr. Wieland's clearance (which had been in question), did you not?

LOUGHTON: To rewrite the evaluation (in effect, clearing Wieland).

Counsel: Copies were taken out of the files and either destroyed or otherwise disposed of?

Loughton: Yes, sir . . . He (David Belisle, Otepka's superior, who later lied under oath) said to use new information, don't go back to the old information.

Counsel: Is that good security procedure?

Loughton: In the present case we're talking about, I don't think it was proper technique.

JOHN REILLY (another of Otepka's superiors who later lied under oath): He (Otepka) had a great tendency to dwell in the past.

Chairman Dodd: What does that mean?

Reilly: I was going to explain that, Mr. Chairman . . . he does not strike me as being a balanced individual . . . seems emotionally overwrought.

Counsel: I have been wondering if this was coming. This is the first suggestion we have heard from anybody that Mr. Otepka was mentally unbalanced. But I have been wondering if that wasn't about due. How long have you noticed this mental unbalance?

REILLY: When I had a session with him that lasted, oh, almost four hours.

Counsel (later, to Otepka): Have you ever been informed . . . that you are considered to be emotionally unstable?

Otepka: No, sir.

Counsel: Did you ever have a session with Mr. Reilly that lasted almost four hours?

Otepka: No, sir.

CHAIRMAN DODD (previously, to Reilly): Do you have any reason to doubt the integrity of Otepka?

Reilly: No, I do not.

Dodd: I do not want to be harsh about it, but it (the treatment of Otepka) shocks me . . . this is absurd . . . I will rest on that statement.

Don't Lump Checks, Stocks, Bonds

Dr. Arthur R. Garvey, of Waltham, Mass., writes: "I am aware that losing stock can be costly, but I am curious: Why?

"One can lose savings bonds and not worry.

"One can lose a check and not worry.

"The person who cashes a check or a savings bond must know the person who gets the money.

"Surely a stock certificate made out, say, in my name should be extremely difficult to cash if I'm not known by the person who cashes it.

"SO WHERE IS this big risk of lost or stolen stock being cashed by other than the rightful owner? I don't get it."

The answer, Dr. Garvey, is you're right and you're wrong. You're right in suggesting that it isn't easy to convert stock that doesn't belong to you. You're wrong in putting a check and a stock certificate in the same class.

A CHECK IS a promise to pay — it's only a step removed from cash. The person who accepts a check tries to be sure of the identity of the person who presents it and his ability to make good if the check bounces.

A stock certificate, like a check, is a negotiable instrument, but to be negotiated the signature of the owner, the person in whose name it is registered, must be guaranteed. And under New York Stock Exchange rules, only a broker or a bank is an acceptable guarantor.

And now, Dr. Garvey, I must take still another distinction. Neither a savings bond nor a savings passbook is a negotiable instrument.

IF A PERSON, through fraud, obtains possession of a savings bond and contrives convincing credentials to persaude a bank that he is the real owner, the real owner is still protected. The U. S. Treasury (or the bank which accepted the false identification) makes good.

Again, a savings passbook can be converted into cash only by the person in whose name (or names) the passbook has been issued. Such nonnegotiability is an added protection against fraud.

SUPPOSE MR. JONES goes to a bank with a savings bond registered in the name of Mr. Brown. Jones says he got it for value received. He wants to cash it. The banker may not call the cops, but he won't cash it either. It's not a transferable instrument. Neither is a savings passbook.

To guard against fraud, the U. S. Treasury has issued instructions on "acceptable identifications" for cashing savings bonds: Proof of signature is required, such as appears on an employe - identification card, an insurance policy, a separation document from the armed forces; and it should be supplemented by a photograph or a description of the person.

THERE IS ENOUGH risk and annoyance to justify an admonition: Keep stocks, bonds and passbooks where you can get them and where others (who have no right to them) can't.

Car, Train Crash Kills Army Officer, Wife, Girl

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An Army officer, his wife and their daughter died Tuesday in the collision of their car and a Katy freight train.

They were Capt. Robert Browning, 31; his wife Barbara, 27; and their daughter Cathryn, 9.

Two other daughters, Patricia, 6, and Teresa, 3, are in serious condition at Brooke Army Medical Center.

Another car belonging to Mrs. Tony Hair stalled moments earlier at the same crossing, just three feet off the tracks.

Mrs. Hair said she and her three children fled as the Browning car passed them and drove into the path of the train. It struck the Hair vehicle as it was carried down the tracks.

"The impact shook my car, but I continued to get my children out," Mrs. Hair related.

Her children — John, 7, Laura, 5, and Georgia, 4 — were in the front seat.

Engineer Robert Sawyer said he saw Mrs. Hair leaving her auto and he applied his brakes and started sounding the train's whistle.

Sawyer said he heard a crash and realized another car was nearby.

Browning was assigned to the 4th Army medical laboratory as an entomologist. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Browning, live in Sacramento, Calif.

Officers said the other two Browning children were saved by seat belts in the back. The front seat was equipped with belts but neither the captain nor his wife had them on.

Heiress Engaged

MELBOURNE (AP) — Diana Knox, 21, heiress to a $10 million English meat fortune, became engaged today to Adrian Gibson, 29, a member of the Australian House of Representatives.

Miss Knox is main beneficiary to the estate of the late Sir William Angliss, who died in 1957 at the age of 92.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Jack of ♣

Necessity forced South, the declarer at four hearts, to change his course in midstream and adopt a line of play that had always been available to him.

West opened the jack of clubs which held the first trick when all hands played low. The suit was continued and South ruffed away East's ten with the deuce of hearts.

Declarer could count nine tricks off the top—three spades, five hearts, and one diamond. He decided to try for a 10th trick in the diamond suit by taking two finesses thru the West hand. This line of play will succeed provided that West has either the king or the queen of diamonds.

A diamond was led from the closed hand and the ten was played from dummy. East was in with the queen and he returned the king of clubs, which declarer ruffed with the king of hearts, as West discarded a diamond.

South observed that a second diamond finesse, at this point, would risk the entire contract if it lost, for East might be in position to give his partner a ruff on the third round. To draw trumps, however, would require all of declarer's hearts, and the defenders could now cash vast quantities of club tricks if East gets in with the king of diamonds.

Declarer decided that the solution to his predicament was to use the North hand for pulling trump while he ruffed the remaining club with a high heart—in other words, a dummy reversal. The queen of hearts was cashed and a heart led to the jack. The last club was ruffed with the ten of hearts as West discarded a diamond.

A spade was led to the ace and the ace of hearts drew the last trump as South discarded a diamond. The king and queen of spades took the ninth and 10th tricks. Declarer scored in all—three high hearts, three club ruffs in his own hand, three spades, and the ace of diamonds.

Dog Days Here Again For Business

NEW YORK (AP) — You don't have to look at the calendar. You can tell from glancing over the financial pages of your newspaper that the Dog Days are here again.

The stock market has been taking a breather after its summer rally. The auto industry is coasting as it changes over to new models. The steel industry is in effect marking time, as far as planning goes, while the debate over the labor contract pushes against a Sept. 1 deadline.

Businessmen and consumers alike are paying more attention to plans for the last weekends of the summer than to such complexities as whether the economy may be heading.

TENSION AHEAD

And the very evident health of the economy helps lull the markets and the business planners in the late August siesta.

But once past Labor Day, tension will mount again.

Whatever happens in steel will have an impact. A strike at first would do little harm to the general economy because for months steel users have been piling up inventories. But a prolonged strike could topple the 4-year-old business boom. And whatever wage settlement is reached, and whatever price adjustments follow, will affect other industries. Some warn that a generous wage increase could set off another wage-price spiral in other industries.

AUTO TEST

In September and October the auto industry will be having a test of its own. At stake will be the continuing life of the precedent-setting sales boom. How the public greets the new models—with open check books or with indifference—will tell with the auto industry continues to support the general boom that started in 1961.

The stock market has managed to produce enough of a rally to satisfy the traditionalists who demand a price rise to make summer official. Market hesitancy in recent days may be just a consolidation of previous gains, or caution born of the steel uncertainty at home and Britain's financial crisis abroad. Or stock traders may be reacting like most everyone else to the last lazy days of summer.

The fall also will see a test of the victory the United States won in managing a slight surplus in its international payments after years of running a deficit.

SLOW OUTFLOW

The victory was credited to the voluntary action of U.S. banks and corporations in slowing the flow of American dollars abroad in investments and loans.

Financial circles also see these final days of summer as a lull before a new testing of interest rates. Corporate demand for funds has been rising as business expansion plans grow. Some bankers are saying that the autumn may see a long-delayed rise in interest rates, despite the frowns of the administration.

Peace Corps Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Johnson signed a peace corps bill today and said it will make it possible to send more men and women to the four corners of the globe carrying "America's dream of peace and well-being for all men."

Johnson staged a rose garden ceremony for the event. Several dozen Peace Corps trainees and volunteers were in his audience.

The bill authorizes continuation of the Peace Corps for another year plus $115 million for expenses. It contemplates boosting Peace Corps strength from 13,500 at the end of this year to about $17,000 by the end of 1965. There are about 12,500 in the corps now, Johnson said, and more than 8,000 of them are overseas in 45 countries.

Garfield Letter Only Facsimile

WASHINGTON (AP) — A letter found in the basement of the National City Christian church has turned out to be a facsimile of one written by President James A. Garfield — not the real letter.

The Rev. George R. Davis announced discovery of the letter to his congregation Sunday. Worshippers present included President and Mrs. Johnson.

The original of the letter is in the manuscript division of the Library of Congress with other Garfield papers.

LONGHORNS DABBLE IN SLED WORK
Locals bear down as scope of labor widens

Longhorns Are Far Below Peak Shape

The Big Spring Steers got outside for the first time Tuesday afternoon and went through a brisk drill without the benefit of pads.

The footballers can't don the heavy harness until Friday under Texas Interscholastic League rules.

The rains which have been moving in and out of Big Spring the past couple of weeks tapered off before the sun came up Tuesday but the practice field was still too wet for the morning workout. For that reason, the coaches kept their charges in Steer Gymnasium.

A total of 95 boys have asked for uniforms, an increase of 21 over the first day. A few more might check in, head coach Don Robbins said this morning.

A couple are still on vacation and one underwent a knee operation during the summer and is still having to take it easy. A few are still working.

Robbins said the enthusiasm of the players had been very exemplary but some are sadly out of condition and overweight.

"Our big objective, our big problem, the next few days will be to try and get our strength back," Robbins said.

The athletes popped away at the sled for a while Tuesday and some quickly showed their lack of condition. They were also required to run a mile and a half and the effects showed. The coaches now have all of them on a weight program and it is bound to produce results.

The Steers will work more in units today as the mentors seek to improve the club's coordination. Early next week, the gridders are due to engage in a lot of body contact work before their big scrimmage Sept. 4 against Sweetwater here.

Although the weather warmed up quite a bit Tuesday afternoon, the elements have been conducive to good spirits.

The Longhorns have a little more than two weeks to get ready for their opening game, a Friday night, Sept. 10, battle with Lamesa here.

Lamesa was humiliated by the Longhorns last year, at which time the locals won a 20-0 decision, and is bound to be gunning for revenge.

Traveling League Teams Start Fast

Big Spring entries in the Longhorn Traveling League got off to a good start in San Angelo last Sunday. D&C Trailer Sales, captained by Bill Carter, won 9 of 12 and O'Daniel Trucking Company, captained by Chester Coffman, won 8.

The other entry did not fare so well, winning only four. Some good games and series were rolled, including Joe Neece, 250-638; McCoy Gilliland, 213-623; Jack Hardman, 214-616, Bill Littlejohn, 247-616; J. C. Self, 211-604.

Some individual games included W. C. Fryar, 224, Chester Coffman, 223, Bill Carter, 222, Jim Tatum, 215, and Mike Doody, 200. Harvey Hooser had the dubious honor of having low game and series with a 128 and 442 series.

Next meeting of the league will be in Big Spring Sunday, Sept. 26.

The Mixed Trio Scratch League finished its regular season in a tie between Team No. 4, composed of Bill Taliancich, Peggy Huckabee and McCoy Gilliland, and Team No. 6, composed of Leon Kerby, Linda Phillips, and Joe Neece. Team No. 6 won the roll off by 12 pins. Team 6 also had the high series of 1724, but the team of Frances Glenn, J. M. Ringener and Bill Littlejohn had high game of 614. Individual leaders were Sugar Brown, 636 series; Bill Carter, 707; Doyle Irwin, 670; Sugar Brown, 265; and McCoy Gilliland, 262.

The Pin Poppers concluded their league with the Bowl Weevils winning and Guttersnipers runnerups. Dot Condron had high game of 224 scratch, and 246 handicap. Jeanne Oxley had high series of 569 scratch and 620 handicap. They had their trophy dinner last Monday.

Bowlarinas with Connie Halcombe as secretary, will have their organizational meeting Thursday at 1 p.m. at the Bowl-A-Rama.

"Beat the Champ" tournament has its first week's winners, Nelda Thomas, 622; Juanita Moser, 581; Connie Holcombe, 573; are the ladies who will participate in the roll off Sept. 26 at 8 p.m. Bill Littlejohn, 686; Larry Neece, 684; and Don Washburn, 638; are the men who qualified.

The Officers Wives Club league will soon get under way. Their league rules provide that the new bowlers must roll nine games to establish an average. The new bowlers who have never bowled in Big Spring leagues are Bonnie Boyle, Elane Nelson, Judy Burry, Bev Flowers, Betty Varres, Sue Greiner, Betty Ballasch, Mrs. Ronald Casicton, Nellie Speros, Barbara Vega, Carolyn Newman, Mrs. Dunne and Mrs. Sapp.

Tuesday night Couples league, with Louise Booth as secretary, had its organizational meeting Tuesday to formulate plans for this year.

There are now 184 entries in the Sweeper, with no major changes in the leaders. There are only two more weekends to try for the Pot of Gold.

Texas Team Wins In Little League

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Waco, Tex., and Windsor Locks, Conn., gained opening round victories in the 19th annual Little League World Series at Williamsport Tuesday.

Waco scored seven runs in the seventh inning to win its match with Phoenix, Ariz., 7-1 behind the pitching of right-hander Walt Kilgo.

Kilgo struck out 16 men and yielded only one walk but was the victim of an unearned run in the bottom of the seventh which deprived him of a shutout.

Pinch-hitter Ed Holmes blasted a two-run double to head Windsor Locks 5-3 victory over Maracaibo, Venezuela.

Rifle Shoot Set Sept. 3

A lightweight small-varmint rifle match at distances of 100 and 200 yards in the next event scheduled by the Mesquite Gun Club.

The shoot is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 3, at the club's range near Vincent.

In a trapshoot held last Sunday by the club, Bill Crow ultimately beat out Roy Ford in a shootoff after both had scored 18 breaks in regular competition.

Entries were firing at 20 birds at a distance of 16 yards. Third place in the competition was captured by Charles Boadle, who broke 17 birds.

In all, 12 shooters took part in the afternoon of activity.

Fems In Session

The Thursday Night Ladies Bowling league will hold an organizational meeting at the Bowl-A-Rama, starting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Those who would like to compete in such a league have been invited to attend.

Davis Gloomy About Raider Title Hopes

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Ben Davidson, Oakland's huge 6-foot-8, 280-pound defensive end, gripped his handlebar moustache in a pose of reflection.

He had just been asked how much he weighed.

"About 235," he said finally with a grin.

And that's the party line at the Raiders' camp, where it seems to be the preconceived idea of coach and general manager Al Davis to lull the opposition into submission.

WEIGHS MYSTERY

If you want to find out the weight of one of his players, you either have to get him on a scale or add about 25 pounds to the poundage listed on the roster.

And if you want to find out the Raiders' title chances in the American Football League's Western Division, you don't ask Davis. The way he talks the Raiders are all set to finish fifth in the four-team race.

He talks about San Diego. He talks about Kansas City. He talks about Denver.

Meanwhile, everyone else talks about Oakland, for Davis has built a strong team, has a solid rookie crop to bolster some of his weaker spots, and has a club that receives tremendous respect throughout the league.

Davis also tells you the draft of collegians is overrated but he doesn't tell you he has signed his first five selections, including three of the most highly regarded rookies in the league — tackle Bob Svihus of Southern California, guard Harry Schuh of Memphis State and flanker Fred Biletnikoff of Florida State.

Biletnikoff could be a key figure for the Raiders, combining with Art Powell at split end, to give Oakland a 1-2 receiving punch that could be as good as any in the league. And there's power running in the backfield with Clem Daniels and Billy Cannon along with Alan Miller and Bob Jackson.

BIG GAINERS

The quarterbacking duties fall to Cotton Davidson and Tom Flores, statistically the best 1-2 punch in the league with over 4,000 yards gained in the air last season.

The main targets will be Powell, who grabbed 76 passes for 1,361 yards last season; Biltenikoff, if he can beat out holdover Bo Roberson, and tight end Ken Herock.

Schuh and Svihus will be in the battle for offensive line spots, most likely at tackle. The holdovers are all-league Jim Otto at center, Bob Mischak and Wayne Hawkins at the guard spots and Ken Rice at tackle.

The Raiders also are expected to get help in the defensive line with rookie Gus Otto from Missouri a threat at linebacker. And rookie defensive backs Kent McCloughan from Nebraska and Larry Todd from Arizona State are expected to help in the defensive secondary.

Todd figures right behind all-league choice Dave Grayson at one corner with McCloughan battling Warren Powers at the other. Joe Krakoski and Claude Gibson are the safeties.

The front four consists of Davidson and Dalva Allen at end and Dave Costa and Dan Birdwell at the tackles. Arch Matsos heads a linebacking crew that also includes J. R. Williamson, Clancy Osborne, Dan Conners and Bill Budness along with rookies Otto and Dick Hermann, a sleeper from Florida State.

Maloney's Luck Is Undergoing Change

By The Associated Press

If you don't think Jim Maloney's luck has changed, just ask Bobby Bragan.

Bragan's Milwaukee Braves were one out away from a victory over the Cincinnati fireballer and first place in the National League Tuesday night. Then the Reds' Tommy Harper, Maloney's second four-leaf clover in as many starts, ripped a two-run homer to beat the Braves 3-2.

Last Thursday Leo Cardenas' 10th inning homer nailed Maloney's first no-hit vitcory — a 1-0 decision over the Chicago Cubs — after four frustrating near misses.

BRAVES GO AHEAD

Tuesday night it appeared Denis Menke's run-scoring grounder in the seventh inning, which snapped a 1-1 tie, would lift the Braves past Maloney and into the league lead. Los Angeles had blown a 4-3 verdict to the last-place Mets and a Milwaukee victory would put the Braves one-half game ahead of the Dodgers in the pennant scramble.

With one out in the ninth, reserve catcher Jim Coker beat out a bouncer to short. Chico Ruiz, hitting for Maloney, grounded to first for the second out but Harper laced a Billy O'Dell fast ball over the leftfield fence for his 15th homer and the ball game.

The Reds' victory, after a 70-minute pre-game meeting called by Manager Dick Sisler, carried them within 2 ½ games of first place. They trail Milwaukee by two games and are one behind third-place San Francisco.

Pittsburgh's Don Cardwell stopped the Giants 5-2 on five hits; Houston edged Philadelphia 4-3 and St. Louis nipped the Cubs 7-6 in 10 innings in other NL games.

LOADS 'EM UP

Pinch hitter Johnny Stephenson delivered a three-run double in the ninth, pushing the Mets past Los Angeles. Stephenson connected off reliever Bob Miller after an error by Jim Lefebvre, Ed Kranepool's single and Joe Christopher's safe bunt loaded the bases.

Lou Johnson drove in all three Dodger runs with a single in the sixth and two-run double in the eighth.

Cardwell, clipped for two runs in the third, blanked the Giants the rest of the way and collected two of Pittsburgh's 11 hits. The Pirates right-hander, now 11-8, singled in the fifth and scored the go-ahead run on Bob Bailey's triple off loser Bob Shaw.

Houston broke a 3-3 tie in the ninth when Rusty Stabul singled, Dave Adlesh walked and Philadelphia reliever Gary Wagner threw wildly to third on pitcher Don Nottebart's sacrifice bunt, enabling Staub to score. The Astros had tied it in the fifth on Jim Wynn's two-run homer off Chris Short.

Tito Francona lashed a pinch single off third baseman Ron Santo's glove, scoring Curt Flood with the winning run in the 10th at St. Louis. The Cardinals had blown a 6-2 lead, with Jim Stewart's ninth-inning sacrifice fly pulling the Cubs even.

Lou Brock paced St. Louis with two singles, a three-run homer and his 52nd stolen base.

Iacavazzi And Grosscup Released By Pro Clubs

By The Associated Press

Cosmo Iacavazzi, All-America pride of the Ivy League, and Lee Grosscup, well-traveled quarterback with the literary bent, were among the casualties of the latest American Football League roster cuts.

The eight AFL clubs were required to cut down to 46 players by midnight Tuesday. Rookies who were in the All-Star game at Chicago earlier this month do not count in the 46.

Iacavazzi was one of 11 trimmed by the New York Jets. The star fullback from Princeton was deemed too small, at 5-foot-11 and 206 pounds, to make it as a pro running back. In three exhibition games, he picked up 66 yards on 22 carries.

Grosscup, top draft choice of the New York Giants of the National Football League in 1959 following his scintillating passing career at Utah, was cut loose by the Oakland Raiders. He made stops with Minnesota and San Francisco in the NFL and the Jets before becoming a member of the Raiders' reserve squad last year.

Grosscup has written a book on football, plus several magazine articles.

End Dobie Craig, training for his fourth AFL season, also was trimmed by the Raiders. And Preacher Pilot, onetime New Mexico State running flash, was dropped by the Kansas City Chiefs.

Several of those taken off rosters were put on injury reserve list. In this category was Dick Westmoreland of the San Diego Chargers, a standout defensive back who suffered a broken arm two weeks ago.

The Chargers also cut Don Rogers, who had been the team's regular center since the AFL started in 1960, and Henry Schmidt, veteran defensive tackle.

Among NFL cuts Tuesday were rookie quarterback John Torok from Arizona State, by the New York Giants; and defensive back Dick Haley and defensive end Dan LaRose by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Association Sets Parley

The Chamber of Commerce offices will be the scene at 7:30 o'clock Tursday night of a meeting of the Big Spring Golf association, at which time plans for the organization's Grand Tournament will be discussed.

Charles Bailey, president of the BSGA, will be in charge of the conclave.

The tournament ordinarily takes place in the early fall and is open only to those members who have played in as many as five sanctioned tournaments.

Red Raider Scatback

Johnny Agan, from Albany, is an offensive halfback on the Texas Tech Red Raiders squad. The 5-foot-10-inch scatback weighs 187 pounds and he is rated as one reason that Tech's opponents can't concentrate totally on Donnie Anderson, Tech's All-America prospect. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Lamesa will scrimmage Kermit and Lubbock Monterey before tying into Big Spring in its first football game of the 1965 season.

Local coaches hope to be present for at least one of the drills to get an idea of what coach Donald Jay will have this fall.

No one is taking Lamesa lightly, what with 11 lettermen back in camp.

Howell noticed that two promising youngsters had disappeared from their room late one night. Jim Lee asked Henry Moore, a fullback from Arkansas, where the rookies had gone.

"I think they went to the airport. They got homesick."

Howell cranked up his car and raced out to the airport—just in time to catch his two runaways.

College Clique Blamed For Troubles By AAU

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union blamed a college clique today for the jurisdictional feud which threatens young track and field athletes' careers and U.S. Olympic hopes.

AAU Executive Director Don Hull told the Senate Commerce Committee in a prepared testimony that a "very small minority" in the top leadership of the rival National Collegiate Athletic Association was responsible for that organization's boycott of AAU meets.

A temporary truce engineered by the committee on Aug. 16 is all that stands between the two organizations and the athletes. Both groups have threatened with expulsion from competition for breaking their rival boycotts.

"I would characterize the NCAA boycott as a situation in which never have so many nice guys (in NCAA) been so wrongfully led by a few," Hull told the committee.

The committee is investigating the latest flareup in the off-and-on NCAA-AAU feud. It seeks a permanent peace plan to save the careers of young athletes and bring a new togetherness in efforts to field the strongest possible team for international competition, including the 1968 Olympic Games.

Earl H. (Red) Blaik, the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur's No. 2 man in negotiating the 1963-64 truce which smoothed the way for U.S. participation in the 1964 Olympics, Tuesday gave the committee a plan for compulsory arbitration. The senators present said the plan looked good. Blaik is the former head football coach at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Matson Says He May Hit 68-Ft. Mark

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Randy Matson thinks he might hit the 68-foot mark in the shot put in the World Student Games — if he doesn't collapse first.

"Everybody seems worried about me and keeps stuffing me with food," the 6-foot-6½ inch giant from Pampa, Tex., said today.

"I've gained 20 pounds since I left Russia and the way I'm going I'll gain 20 more before I get home. People seem to think I'm a growing boy who needs food."

UP TO 260

The Texas A&M muscle man, who earlier this year set a world shot put record with a heave of 70 feet, 7 inches, said the hard and harassing Russian trip had trimmed him down to a svelte 240 pounds.

"I'm up to 260 now and feel as strong as a bull," he said. "I have a little soreness in my right hand, but when I get warmed up, I won't notice it."

Matson said he was hitting 67 feet in practice, and added: "I've never done that well in tuneups — not even before I hit 70."

The powerful Texan was sure to be the center of attention when the World Student Games moved today from the swimming pool on Margrit Island, where the Americans dominated, to People's Stadium for track and field.

The Americans dominated the swimming phase with a total of nine gold medals. In Tuesday's concluding events they won the 1,500 meter freestyle, the 400-meter medley relay and the men's platform diving.

FINISH ONE-TWO

Mike Wall, Stanford sophomore, beat Russia's favored Semen Belits-Gueisman with a time of 17:09.9 in the 1,500. Phil Riker of Paterson, N.J. rallied the relay team from behind to edge Russia. Rick Gilbert of Lancaster, Pa. and Bernie Wrightson of Phoenix, Ariz. finished one-two in the diving.

Matson's shot put prowess has made him the talk of European track and field.

When he arrived in Budapest three days ago from a tour of the Scandinavian countries, he was immediately adopted by Tomas Folvari, a little mustachioed chef at the hotel where the Americans are quartered.

"None of the other boys are allowed to have seconds, but he gave me two plates the first time I sat down," the rangy Texan said. "Last night we had Hungarian goulash and my dish was piled a mile high."

"At breakfast, he gives me not two, not four, but eight eggs and then stands over me while I eat it. He pats my head like a parent and says, 'that's a nice boy.'"

It was the same in Scandinavia, Matson said.

"I would ask for ice cream and they would give me a platter ful — eight and ten scoops," he added. "I'd order strawberries and they'd bring them in buckets."

Persol Seeking Torres Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Persol hoped today to land a title fight with light heavyweight champion Jose Torres on the strength of his victory over Jimmy Dupree Tuesday night.

Persol, who has defeated Eddie Cotton and Bobo Olson, enjoyed what he termed an "easy fight" against his fellow New Yorker in Madison Square Garden.

Stottlemyre Kayoes Twins Behind Yanks

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There have been thousands, perhaps millions, of words written and spoken explaining why the New York Yankees are in sixth place this season.

The extensive injury list has been mentioned, and generally poor hitting, and spotty pitching, even old age.

But no one points to Mel Stottlemyre, even though he — probably more than anyone — is responsible for the Yanks being in sixth.

Instead of eighth or ninth.

The slim, young right-hander, perhaps the only bright spot in the Yankees' dismal season, hurled a five-hitter at the American League-leading Minnesota Twins Tuesday night, beating them 2-1 and posting his 16th victory of the season.

The triumph tied him with the Twins' Jim (Mudcat) Grant for the most victories in the league and samped him a distinct possibility as a 20-game winner despite the Yanks poor showing.

The Chicago White Sox edged Baltimore 6-5, climbing to within 6 ½ games of the top, Detroit clubbed Kansas City 8-2 and Los Angeles whipped Cleveland 7-1. Boston and Washington split a twi-night doubleheader, the Red Sox taking the first 9-4 and the Senators the nightcap 8-5.

Stottlemyre had some troubles against the Twins, trailing 1-0 until Tommy Tresh unloaded his 20th homer of the season in the eighth. Mickey Mantle, who had singled, scored ahead of him.

Chicago pitcher Bruce Howard singled touching off a four-run third inning rally that carried the streaking White Sox past Baltimore for their 11th victory in 12 games. Howard then checked the Orioles on one run and five hits until the ninth, when he needed relief help. Moose Skowron's two-run single was the big hit in the third.

Jerry Lumpe rapped out three hits and Norm Cash slammed a two-run homer, making it easy for Detroit's Denny McLain to post his 12th victory in the romp over Kansas City.

George Brunet pitched a five-hitter and got all the hitting support he needed from Jose Cardenal and Willie Smith in Los Angeles' victory over Cleveland. Cardenal drove in two runs with a triple and Smith two more with a homer.

Tony Conigliaro drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a single in Boston's first-game victory over Washington, while Frank Howard had four RBI with two doubles and two infield singles in the Senator comeback in the second game. Boston's Rico Petrocelli hit three homers in the twinbill, two in the second game.

Coahoma QBC Votes To Buy $944 Ultra-Sonic Machine

COAHOMA — The 1965 football season has already started for the Coahoma Quarterback Club, which held its second meeting here Tuesday night. The conclave took place in the High School Auditorium.

Booster club prexy Bill Butler and school superintendent W. A. Wilson gave talks on duties of the club, after which committee appointments were revealed.

It was decided to purchase a Medcosonulator for the athletic department, at a cost of $944.50. The Medcosonulator is an ultrasonic machine for treatment of injuries.

Coach Spike Dykes and his staff of assistants were in attendance and Dykes gave a brief rundown on his 1965 club. The Bulldogs scrimmage Colorado City in Colorado City later this week.

Dykes said the Bulldogs have splendid potential but it will take a lot of hard work and maximum dedication on the part of the boys to produce a winner.

The coach conceded that the athletes are in better physical condition at this stage than they were last year and are making satisfactory progress in practice.

"It makes no difference how the Big Red Team was rated in pre-season polls," Dykes reminded the group, "it's going to take everything we've got (to win) and then some."

Committeemen named by Butler included:

TICKET SALES — Bill Westbrook, Jerry Callahan and Jasper Gibson.

PROMOTION AND PUBLICITY — Paul Mosley and C. Roy Wright.

PROJECTS — H. C. Wallin, Don Evans and Buddy Anderson.

PARKING — Jack Williams, Rod Tiller, N. R. Harvell Jr. and Earnest Richters.

BANNERS AND PEP SQUAD — Thomas Dignon and Earnest Richters.

New Electric Rate Given Approval By Commissioners

A new, flat - monthly - charge street lighting rate was approved by city commissioners Tuesday. Texas Electric's proposal was considered at the previous meeting, tabled, and studied. The new rate, if all street lights remained as present, would be a few cents a month cheaper, according to Larry Crow, city manager. But the commissioners have plans to replace many old - fashioned incandescent, 2,500-lumen lights with newer, more powerful ones, he said, which will make monthly charges slightly more than at present.

"We are now replacing the old residential lights with newer, 4,000-lumen mercury vapor lights, and would also like to put 7,000 - lumen ones where the director of public works feels they are needed," Crow said. The 7,000 - lumen lights cost $2.25 per month, 25 cents more than the 4,000 - lumen ones.

The commissioners decided to authorize the new rate, and to allow Ernest Lillard, director of public works, to place the more powerful lights where he feels they are needed.

Tabled for study were appointments to various city boards. Commissioner Arnold Marshall said he felt that previous publicity should have given board members sufficient notice, and that most of them would be prepared to state whether they would continue serving. The commissioners agreed, however, to talk with present board members, and to consider persons for new appointments for positions that become vacant Sept. 30.

All city cemetery plots will now be priced at $160, the commission decided. Previously, lots closer to the cemetery streets were priced at $175, while inside lots were $150.

"Since new, curved streets have been built in the cemetery, we feel that outside lots no longer have any special desirability," Crow said.

Complaints from ministers, sextons, grave - diggers, and local funeral homes about Sunday burials were discussed. John Stanley said he had received numerous complaints from interested individuals and groups, but that they did not want to make a public complaint. Several members thought it may be possible to make it public policy of the city not to hold burials in the city cemetery on Sundays, rather than to pass an ordinance.

"I understand the Trinity Memorial Park owners would follow suit if we took the first step," Marshall said. The commission agreed to study the matter.

Passed was an ordinance allowing use of plastic seal joints in sewage lines, rather than iron.

Second reading approval was given to zoning change from "retail" to "commercial" on Don Newsom's property on Scurry, near Gibson's Discount Center.

Bill Cadzow and J. L. Harmon's "Beer Garden" has not yet met city sanitation requirements, commissioners said, and therefore they tabled final approval reading of the request for a beer license until the next meeting.

Indians Raid Across Line

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian forces in Kashmir have attacked across the cease-fire line into Pakistani-held territory at two points, Indian Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan announced today.

Chavan told Parliament the army attacked "in order to prevent further infiltration and to keep a watch on the retreat routes of infiltrators."

Indian forces in the divided Himalayan state for weeks have been battling guerrillas who the Indian government charges infiltrated from Pakistan.

Chavan said Indian forces have "established new positions"—apparently meaning the Indian army has seized and will attempt to hold territory on the Pakistani side.

Hines Honored

Phillip J. Hines, Webb AFB recreation director, was cited today for superior performance in his job from Sept. 15, 1964, to May 15, 1965. Hines, received the award from his boss, Maj. DeWitt Bunn, personnel services officer. Accompanying the citation was a $200 cash award.

Steelworker Rejection Of Offer Hinted

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Directors of the United Steelworkers Union meet today for a briefing on steel talks amid strong indications from a union source that a new industry contract offer has been found unacceptable.

Seven days remain before the union is free to strike the nation's basic steel industry at midnight Aug. 31.

The 33-member executive board was expected to consider an industry offer estimated at between 9 and 13 cents an hour.

Indications were, however, that union negotiators were unhappy with the offer and that if it was presented to the board it would be rejected.

The union has been demanding an increase of 17.9 cents an hour for 450,000 members in basic steel who now average $4.40 an hour in wages and benefits. It won 11.5 cents an hour in an interim contract that expires Sept. 1.

Italian Actress Balks At Strip

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Italian actress Monica Vitti has really gotten into her new film role as girl secret agent Modesty Blaise —but modestly.

It's what Modesty, a female James Bond, gets out of that Miss Vitti herself refuses to do. "I am unwilling to strip completely before the cameras," she was quoted in the weekly magazine Europeo, out today.

Miss Vitti says the film will "be sexy enough without my strip teases."

Returned Here

J. P. Moore, 40, who was returned here from Stinton on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, entered a guilty plea in Howard County Court Tuesday. He was fined $25 and sentenced to serve 10 days in the county jail. He was accused of taking a 17-year-old girl with him to Stinton.

James K. Smith, who was arrested on a worthless check charge, has posted $1,000 bond and been released.

Alarming Breakdown Among Negro Families Emphasized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnson administration officials reportedly are taking a hard new look at a confidential report warning that disintegrating Negro family life threatens a nationwide racial crisis.

The report, circulated widely among top federal officials before the Los Angeles riots, reportedly has been getting increased attention since the trouble there.

The report, made available to The Associated Press, says that despite recent civil rights legislation the social and economic plight of most Negroes appears to be getting worse instead of better, particularly in big city ghettos.

It says the root of the trouble is that three centuries of slavery and discrimination have robbed the Negro male of his sense of manhood, leading to a crumbling family structure.

SUPPRESSED INSTINCT

"The very essence of the male animal from the bantam rooster to the four-star general is to strut," said the report. But, historically, the instincts of the American Negro male have been suppressed, it added.

"Indeed, in the 19th century America, a particular type of exaggerated male boastfulness became almost a national style. Not for the Negro male. The 'sassy nigger' was lynched," the report said.

The report, prepared by the Labor Department's Office of Policy Planning and Research and dated last March, has not been made public officially. The department gave no reason for this. Nor does it indicate whether it ever will officially release the report.

Johnson quoted extensively from it last June, however, in announcing a White House conference for November aimed at helping Negroes secure their rights.

LBJ ACCEPTS

Johnson, in citing a breakdown in Negro family structure, accepted the basic premise of the report.

"For this, most of all, white America must accept the responsibility," he said. "It flows from centuries of oppression and persecution of the Negro man. It flows from the long years of degradation and discrimination which have attacked his dignity and assaulted his ability to provide for his family."

Daniel P. Moynihan, former assistant secretary of labor for policy planning and research, helped prepare the report before he resigned to enter New York City politics.

A task force of officials of several federal agencies worked on it.

The report, still officially confidential, goes much further than depicting an alarming breakdown among Negro families.

It describes current Negro unrest as no less important than the original American revolution and says it may be crucial to whether the nations of the world eventually divide along color lines.

SIGN FOR WORLD

"It is clear that what happens in America is being taken as a sign of what can, or must happen in the world at large," the report says.

It called the Negro plight the nation's most dangerous social problem.

In documenting the breakdown in Negro family structure, the report cites government figures showing that nearly 25 per cent of all Negro births are illegitimate, compared with about 4 per cent for whites.

Similiarly, about 25 per cent of all married Negro women are divorced or separated from their husbands, compared with about 8 per cent for white women.

The report also contained a racial breakdown of armed forces mental tests, showing that 56 per cent of Negroes fail it, compared with 15.4 per cent for whites.

The armed forces test measures ability to perform at an acceptable level of competence for military life.

"It roughly measures ability that ought to be found in an average 7th or 8th grade student," the report said.

"A grown young man who cannot pass this test is in trouble," it added.

DEAR ABBY

Oversized Problem!

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 19 and he has always been very small for his age. He wears a size 10 in boy's underwear, pajamas, shirts, socks and shoes, but he insists on buying his clothes in the men's departments. I am driven to distraction because I have to cut everything down to fit him. I offered to do all his shopping to relieve him of the embarrassment of going into the boys' departments, but he refuses to wear anything I have bought from there.

I am sure his size is responsible for his erratic behavior. He's cost his father a fortune because of the scrapes we've had to buy him out of. What can be done?

DISTRACTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your problem began when you and your husband failed to teach your son how to live with the misfortune of being undersized. You should have sought professional help as soon as this problem became apparent. Children who must go through life with a physical handicap need to develop a skill in something within the realm of their capabilities in order to feel "big" in achievement. Parents must work hard to instill in those children a sense or security and worthliness. Perhaps it is not too late to get professional help for your son. It's worth a try. I hope your letter will inspire other parents faced with a similar problem to act more promptly.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: A well-known man in our town has broken every one of the Ten Commandments with the possible exception of "thou shalt not kill." And it wouldn't surprise me one bit if he's broken that one, too. He has born false witness, stolen, used the name of the Lord in vain, coveted his neighbor's wife, and has failed to keep the Sabbath Day holy. Yet he is right up there in the front row, pious as you please every Sunday morning. Do you think a hypocrite like that belongs in church?

ASHVILLE READER

DEAR READER: I can't think of anyone who "belongs in church" more.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Whoever said the teenage years were the happiest didn't know what they were talking about. I am 13 and I am not the least bit happy. Let me explain.

I can't date.
I can't wear heels.
I can't wear lipstick. (Even pale pink.)
I can't wear nail polish. (Any kind.)
I can't shave my legs.
I can't wear shorts or slacks.
I can't wear low-back dresses.
I can't listen to the radio or watch TV when I want to.
I can't stay overnight at anybody's house.

Had enough? Well, I have. I told my mother that she would regret it someday. And she will, to. I've been thinking about running away. I would, but I don't have any place to go. Please, Abby, tell me what to do. I don't deserve this.

SICK OF BEING BOSSED

DEAR SICK: Your mother is probably sick, too — of being battled. The things you would like to do are privileges teenagers earn by showing they are mature enough to handle them. One of the first signs of maturity is the ability to accept a decision without putting up an argument. Accept your mother's decisions for a while, and see what happens.

Libya Crash Kills Texan

NEW YORK (AP)— A former Fort Worth resident died in a weekend traffic accident in Tripoli, Libya.

He was William Rieker, Jr., 38, a geophysicist with American Overseas Petroleum, Ltd.

A New York spokesman for the company said Rieker's car hit a light pole Friday.

The Texas A&M graduate is survived by his widow and three children, who were en route to join him, and by his parents in Fort Worth and a sister.

The funeral will be in Innsbruck, Austria, where Mrs. Rieker's mother lives.

Revenues Slightly Off For District

Revenues of the Colorado River Municipal Water District amounted to $233,034 during July, only slightly off the $234,235 pace of a year ago.

Member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder generated $135,037 of the total, compared with $146,617 the previous year, but this decline was due to showers in June, the month creating the water revenues for July. Sales to the oil companies amounted to $92,813, which was up from the $83,050 a year ago.

During the first seven months of 1965, revenues have aggregated $1,563,208, up from the $1,535,949 for the same period last year. Sales to the cities have been off by $63,000 for the period, while oil company sales are up by $85,000. Reflecting the continued drouth on the watershed, recreational revenues have dropped from $41,838 for the first seven months of 1964 to a current $34,235 for this year.

Operational disbursements for the first seven month stand at $459,156, about $27,000 under the same period for 1964. The difference between operation charges and revenues goes largely into servicing and retiring the district's revenue bonds.

Water revenues were predicted on 1,145,744,000 gallons (metered in June), which brought to 5,933,349,000 gallons the sales for the year through July. This is 434,000,000 gallons less than the same period in 1964. Most of the production for July came from Lake J. B. Thomas—972,160,000 gallons. The Martin County well field yielded 77,488,000 gallons, city wells 96,096,000.

Moon Next, Then What?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The next step in space after the United States lands a man on the moon is still uncertain, Congress has been told.

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, testified this week that Congress has not committed itself to putting a man on Mars by its support of funds for the unmanned Voyage program.

Webb told the Senate Space Committee this program includes a possible fly-by of Mars in 1969 and landing of an automated exploration craft in 1971. Then, he said, a better estimate can be obtained of the cost of a possible manned expedition.
