11 Killed In Fiery Crash Of Bomber

WILLOWS, Calif., Oct. 7.—UP—A four-engine B-50 reconnaissance plane crashed to earth in flames near here Wednesday night, killing at least 11 of the 17 crewmen aboard. Four men were saved in the accident, which took place on a rice ranch five miles southeast of Willows. Two men were missing. An Air Force spokesman said the survivors were T.Sgt. Navid Vaseque, S.Sgt. Joseph E. Whittens, Airman 1C John B. Patton and Sgt. Frank M. Imely. Three of them parachuted from the stricken plane moments before it hurtled to the ground. Another crawled from the wreckage. All four were taken to Glenn County General Hospital in Willows. The Air Force believed at first that there were 16 men on the plane, but later discovered that a total of 17 were aboard. An Air Force spokesman in Sacramento, Calif., said the names of those aboard the plane probably would come from Eighth Air Force headquarters at Fort Worth, Tex. However, the spokesman said the names would not be released until the bodies are identified. This process may take some time, he indicated, because some were badly burned and mangled in the crash. The plane, on a routine weather reconnaissance mission from Briggs Air Force Base at El Paso, Tex., crashed within 100 yards of the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chittenden. Mrs. Chittenden said she and her husband heard a roar that got "louder and louder." "It wasn't a normal sound of a big plane. But more of a screaming noise as if it were in a spin we thought it was coming right at us and we turned and ran the other way as fast as we could." Sections of the plane hit two grain storage bins, knocking them off their foundations and setting fire to one. By a miracle, 1,400 gallons of gasoline stored 150 feet from the point of impact did not catch fire. There was a low overcast in the area and a light rain was falling at the time of the accident.

Chiang Promises To Consult With US Before Starting Push

TOKYO, Oct. 7.—UP—Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa will not launch a major attack on the Communist-held China mainland without informing American officials, it was learned Thursday. Extremely well qualified sources told United Press "it is not necessarily true that there is a written agreement that the Nationalists must consult with the American in advance of any major attack, but that is how the understanding works out in practice." It was pointed out that the Chinese Nationalists have a good army, but do not have sufficient air and naval strength to support a major invasion of the Red-held China Mainland. "So," these sources told United Press, "if the China Nationalists, as the situation stands now, want to launch a real invasion they will have to tell the Americans first. They will have to get American help." These sources said the Chinese

Nationalists would need American ships to get them to the mainland and would need American planes in the air to give them protection against Communist China's Soviet-built jet air force. United Press dispatches from Taipei indicated that American influence on the Nationalists may have been responsible for the reduced air attacks on the build-up. (See CHIANG, Page 4)

Pilot Offered Red 'Favors'

SEOUL, Oct. 7.—UP—The Communists offered one American a new family and high honors if he would betray his country and force another to confess he was a spy while both were prisoners of the Reds, the Americans said Thursday. Lt. Col. Herbert A. Peters, 37, Seattle, Wash., a pilot with the First Marine Air Wing, and Army Pfc Charles Julius, 20, Orlando, Fla., of Battery A, 194th Field Artillery Battalion, told their stories at a press conference in the nearby 121st Evacuation Hospital in Yongdungpo. North Korean and Chinese Reds took Peters to tea after he landed his reconnaissance plane on a Communist air strip because "they thought at first I was a defecting pilot." "They told me that since my family thought I was dead I could have the same rank or a higher rank and a new family," Peters told reporters. But the married officer, father of a 10-year-old son and an eight-year-old daughter, brushed off the Red offer as "impossible."

During later questioning, Peters said he told the Communists that their germ warfare charges were "the greatest abuse of propaganda in the history of mankind, and I didn't care to discuss it further." The Reds, he said, "surprisingly enough, let it drop."

Services Bumping All Risks

74 Ousted For Security Reasons

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—UP—The armed forces have given "other than honorable" discharges to 74 servicemen this year on grounds they were security risks because of Communist associations, the Defense Department disclosed Thursday. In addition, Defense Department officials said other military men may have been separated from the services for security reasons but with honorable discharges. All but eight of the 74 "other than honorable" discharges were given by the Army. This is probably due to the fact that the Army must accept draftees while the other services can check on the security of recruits before they are signed up. 59 "Undesirable" Discharges Figures made available by the Defense Department Thursday show that from March 21 through July 30, the Army gave 59 "undesirable" discharges to military personnel because of suspected Communist activities or associations. In addition, the Army discharged seven persons for the same reasons under conditions "other than honorable." Since Jan. 1 the Navy said seven of its personnel have been given "undesirable" discharges as security risks. The Air Force listed only one "undesirable" discharge since January under the security program. This total of 74 "other than honorable" discharges under the Defense Department security program is in line with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's comment in Denver Monday that only a small percentage of defense personnel have been removed as security risks. Under New Program Most of the 74 security discharges were given under a new program established by Wilson in April to tighten up procedures for getting security risks out of the military services.

JUST PROVES THAT A MAN WHO GETS 'LOADED,' LOSES

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — UP — Arthur Jennings Akers, 40, told a judge that he stole about $13,000 "on the spur of the moment" when he walked into a garage at the home of his mother, Mrs. Edwin L. Phillips, 216 N. Nelson. He stuffed so many silver dollars into his pockets that their weight almost pulled his pants off, he said in pleading guilty Friday.

Pampa Man Hangs Self

Thurman H. Leeder, 29, 425 S. Russell, was found dead at noon today hanging from a rope in a garage at the home of his mother, Mrs. Edwin L. Phillips, 216 N. Nelson. Haggard said he went to Henry's house, 522 N. Nelson, and after Henry investigated, cut down the body. According to both Henry and Haggard, Leeder climbed up on a stepladder, tied a sash cord around his neck and stepped off. The body was taken to the Dunkel-Carmichael Funeral Home. Relatives at the scene reported that Leeder had finished his lunch and had gone out to the garage, behind the house, to get into the car and go look for work. Mrs. Phillips, later, went out to the garage to get something and found the body. Survivors include, in addition to the mother, E. L. Phillips, stepfather; Lloyd Phillips, Ruben Phillips and Allen Phillips, step-brothers; Joyce Johnson, step-sister; Dory Caver, sister; and Robert Leeder, brother.

Demos Say Nixon Voted Against Ike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—UP—The Democratic national committee Thursday cited 10 instances in which it said Vice President Richard M. Nixon as a congressman voted against President Eisenhower's stand on "major issues." The committee also sought to show through a "sample listing" of Nixon's votes as a representative and senator from 1947 to 1952 that he voted "against the welfare of farmers, working people and small business operators." In a third poke at the top GOP campaigner, the committee listed a series of Nixon statements accompanied by "comments" designed to refute them or picture them in conflict with Mr. Eisenhower and other officials. The Democrats assembled their anti-Nixon material in a 10-page memorandum for the use of party leaders and candidates in areas where Nixon is stumping for Republican candidates. The vice president has sparked the GOP congressional campaign and has bitterly assailed National Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

The total of pledges and cash for the 1954 Pampa community United Fund drive continued to edge forward today with $18,200 reported on hand. Johnny Campbell, overall drive chairman, reminded that the third and last "report coffee" is scheduled from 4 to 6 p. m. today in the City Commission Room of City Hall. By 6 p. m. today Campbell hopes to have all cards from volunteer workers turned in, whether the persons have been contacted or not. Goal this year is $45,150 and, as Campbell pointed out this morning, "it's a long way to go. We've simply got to get those cards in, so we can see where we stand." Each volunteer worker is given a packet with five cards, one card per individual to be contacted. The worker brings the card around to the person's place of business where he signs the card. The worker then brings it to the "report coffee."

U.S. Troops Leave Trieste

TRIESTE, Oct. 7.—UP—United States troops began pulling out of Trieste Thursday ending a nine-year occupation of the strategic Adriatic port area. The first of the 4,000-man American garrison rumbled out of Trieste in a motor convoy shortly after 7 a. m. Thursday for redeployment to other free world defenses. The Americans, and the 3,000 British troops, were freed from occupation of the Trieste area by the agreement initiated in London Tuesday by Italy and Yugoslavia ending their long dispute over the area. Southwest Section Partly Inundated

ROSWELL, N.M., Oct. 7.—UP—A 4.5-inch rain sent the Rio Hondo surging over its banks into homes in Roswell Thursday and breached an earthen dam on Roswell's reservoir in three places. Emergency crews rushed to the dam in an effort to prevent further washouts. City Manager C. M. Woodbury said he does not expect the dam to collapse immediately. "It doesn't look too bad at this time," he said. Meanwhile, three unidentified truckers were rescued from their vehicle which had stalled in high water eight miles west of here. A 27-foot crest of water was expected to reach Roswell Thursday morning. Officials said they thought most of it would pour into flatlands south and west of here. But water already was running over some parts of the Rio Hondo's banks and into homes in the west and southwest sections of Roswell. Many Flee Homes National Guardsmen joined city and state police in helping a score or more of families from their homes. The Rio Felix south of here was also flooding out of banks and pouring into the small community of Hagerman which is about 25 miles south of here. But Chaves county sheriff's officers said they had heard, and could not verify, reports that from 7 to 10 persons were missing between Roswell and Hagerman. Water in the city's reservoir 26 miles southwest of here was lapsing over the tops of gates of the dam, which are four feet lower than the top of the dam itself. Dam Not in Danger Deputy Sheriff Jim Decker, who for years lived about six miles from the reservoir, said the dam itself was not in any danger but the intake might wash out if the (See ROSWELL, Page 4)

Rainfall Is Over One Inch

Clearing Skies Predicted Today Skies in the Pampa area are expected to clear this afternoon, according to the weather bureau in Amarillo. During a 36-hour period ending at 11 a. m. today, 1.11 inches of moisture had fallen in Pampa. Ralph Thomas, county agent, optimistically said, "The downpour is certainly going to do considerable good. It will bring up all the wheat dusted in. We may have been dry here, but actually we were never designated a drought area." "As far as cotton is concerned," Thomas said, "the rain will lower it by two grades, since considerable trash will get on the fibres, making it hard to separate in the ginning. Sorghums will darken but no damage will be done." Other areas in the county reported substantial readings with Shamrock getting almost two inches, according to J. H. Templeton, Justice of the Peace. One inch fell in McLean, 1.36 inches in Perryton, and the Santa Fe Railroad office in Miami gauged a rainfall of .61 inch. Yesterday's high here was 48 with a low at 8 this morning of 42. Chief forecaster H. C. Winborne, with the weather bureau in Amarillo, says it will turn clear this afternoon with a high possibly in the middle 60s.

Community Center Charter Is Granted

Secy. of State C. E. Fulgham has granted the charter for the Pampa Youth and Community Center, Inc. Aaron Sturgeon, chairman pro tem of the group which has been pushing the project, made the announcement today and said a meeting to elect officers and set up the by-laws and regulations would probably be held sometime next week. Sturgeon has not yet received the actual charter, but he said it was his understanding that it was in the mails today. In addition to Sturgeon, the incorporators on the project are Bill Waters, Floyd Watson, Mrs. Dorothy Staiton, Mrs. Inez Carter, Rev. Dick Crews, Dr. Joe Donaldson, Fred Neelage, Frank Fata, Johnny Campbell and Sheriff Rufe Jordan. Incorporators were chosen by popular vote. So Where Are They? HUMBOLDT, Tenn. — UP—T.P. Hurricane Speeds Into Open Sea

MIAMI, Oct. 7.—UP—Hurricane Hazel sped into the open waters of the Caribbean Sea with growing fury Thursday, brushing past valuable oil refineries on the Dutch islands off the South American mainland. The weather bureau at San Juan, P. R., estimated the small but growing whirler was centered about 140 miles north-northwest of Curacao in the Netherlands West Indies. Highest winds had been estimated at 100 miles per hour late Wednesday. A scout plane was to fly into the center of the tempest Thursday morning.

Reaper-Amarillo Game Postponed

The scheduled football game between the Pampa Junior High Reapers and Nixon of Amarillo for today has been postponed until tomorrow because of rain, Deck Woldt, Reaper coach, revealed late this morning. The Panhandle Junior High Conference game will be unreeled tomorrow at Havester Stadium at 3:30.

Politics Airing Due During Alaniz Trial

WACO, Tex., Oct. 7.—UP—Detailed explanations of South Texas politics apparently will be permitted as testimony in the trial of attorney Mago Alaniz for conspiracy in the murder of young Jacob B. Floyd Jr. District Judge D. W. Bartlett, hearing the Alaniz case here on a change of venue from Jim Wells county, overruled repeated defense motions Wednesday in which Alaniz' attorneys sought to keep the political overtones out of the trial. "The motions came during testimony from Floyd's father, who was the first witness to testify before a standing-room-only crowd of spectators at the widely-publicized trial. Alaniz is charged with conspiring to murder the 21-year-old Floyd, who was shot to death in the

ADVERTISING IS NEWS

It is informative. It gives the newspaper reader useful information that helps him in buying. And so, in this way, advertising helps the wheels of progress turn. Advertising creates demand and demand brings mass production and thus, lower prices. Think what an auto would cost if it did not enjoy the economies of mass production! So consider advertising as news that sparks the American standard of living.

Dixon-Yates, GOP Partners, Claims Gore

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 7 (UP)— Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) charged Wednesday night that with the Dixon-Yates power contract, the Republicans have gone into partnership with power trusts at a cost to taxpayers of $140 million.

Gore, stumping for the re-election of Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-Tenn.), said federal approval of the Dixon-Yates contract would materially aid the Democratic drive to gain control of Congress.

He called the "disgraceful" contract the implementation of a "partnership" in which the partners are "the Republicans and the power trusts"—a worse scandal than the Teapot Dome deal of the early twenties.

The Dixon-Yates contract will cost the taxpayers $140 million, Senator Gore charged, and "the future is far bigger than that of the Teapot Dome."

He warned that Republican proponents of the contract may try to stamp the full truth of the contract in hearings before the joint congressional Atomic Energy committee by maneuvering to have only the pro-Dixon-Yates interests testify.

"But I'll be back in Washington demanding to be heard," Gore said. "I've seen this contract and it is thoroughly bad. It is gross favoritism, without competition, without justification, and without precedent."

The Tennessee solon said the Atomic Energy Commission did not use the power to be furnished under the Dixon-Yates contract, and that the AEC "is only being used as a power broker to establish for private utilities a beachhead in the TVA service."

Three Ralls Men Die In Wreck

DICKENS, Tex., Oct. 7—UP— Three men from Ralls, Tex., were killed Wednesday when their car rolled with a heavy truck in a thick fog, six miles west of Dickens.

They were identified as Butler Adams, 45; his son, James Butler Adams, 24, who was the driver, and R. L. McHam Jr. Their car collided with a truck driven by J. H. Biggerstaff, 40, Benjamin, Tex., who was not injured.

'Taste Of Fame' Said Cause Of Monroe-DiMaggio Parting

Editor's Note: This is the last of a series on the marriage of Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio. Here: The break-up.

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7—UP— Marilyn Monroe has admitted she and Joe DiMaggio had their battles, but Marilyn figures she knew how to handle them.

"Marriage is something you learn more about while you live it," she told a friend early in the marriage. "Joe and I quarrel like other couples. You can't outlaw human nature. But there's a way to handle a disagreement.

"Every wife should know her man. When I sense there's something wrong, I ask, 'What's the matter? Sorry if I did something.' "If Joe doesn't answer, I don't push it. There are some men who, when they have trouble, become silent. You have to respect that.

"Later, when what was wrong was worn thin, Joe will say, 'I'm sorry.' I'll say, 'What's there to be sorry about? You'd be surprised how nice it can be, if done this way.'"

After their marriage lost the frosting of honeymoon days, arguments became more frequent. Ten days ago Marilyn talked to attorney Jerry Giesler about a divorce. She spent last weekend crying on the shoulder of Mary Karger, Jane Wyman's sister-in-law. When Joe returned last Saturday night they agreed definitely to break up.

The archbishop guesses have countless theories as to why the two didn't get along.

Joe's pal, Mark Scott, said, "Joe wanted a wife, not a star. Marilyn would come home at night, too which she had so carefully tired for anything but sleep. That would leave Joe looking at television."

Marilyn's drama coach, Natasha Lytess, calls it a case of conflicting personalities. She thinks Marilyn needs a man "much more sensitive and understanding."

"They had different values, different frames of mind. It was a gradual growth of difficulties," she says.

Another coach, Michael Chekov, says Marilyn told him Joe was a "sweet guy but we don't have enough in common."

Yet Marilyn and Joe knew each other well for two years before they carefully decided to wed. She terms "appliance" the report he was jealous of her music arranger, Hal Schaefer. The theory Joe is an introvert and Marilyn an extrovert also is weak; Marilyn actually is a deeply sensitive person. The theory I prefer comes from a famed psychiatrist, who, though not the one who treated Marilyn for three years, said Thursday:

"I doubt if Marilyn is capable of a lasting relationship with any man. When a woman becomes a big star, it's a sure way of self-destruction.

"A child must have attention from without. When you grow-up, you must have something inside to sustain you. A star gets so much from the outside—the applause, the frantic worship—she loses whatever she had inside, particularly if she had an unhappy childhood. She has no sense of values. She is, again, a child."

That truth lies in what Marilyn told me after she returned from Korea with Joe. Her marriage, she has only begun to realize the peak of her success. It's too soon—or too late—to give it up.

GOP 'Recruit' Plan Mapped By President

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—UP— President Eisenhower and Republican leaders across the nation will join Friday in an "all out" drive to recruit thousands of new party workers and pump more enthusiasm into the GOP election campaign.

Mr. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon will deliver radio-TV pep talks from Denver in what the White House bills as the "most important single event in the Republican campaign."

"National Precinct Day," as it is called, also will feature a nationwide "dawn to dusk" recruiting drive for party workers, local rallies, caucuses and clambakes, and a top level GOP strategy meeting at the vacation White House in Denver.

"This election will be won by knocking on your neighbor's door," said national GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall in a message to party workers.

"National Precinct Day sets the stage for two vital goals; recruiting workers who will help us get out again the 34 million voters who selected President Eisenhower in 1952 and signing up in Republican ranks the 5 million voters who failed to cast their ballots for congressional candidates of either party in 1952."

planned, was doomed when she said, "In Korea for the first time I felt like a movie star. It was the most exciting thing that has ever happened to me."

In New York recently Marilyn got another taste of that fame. She has only begun to realize the peak of her success. It's too soon—or too late—to give it up.

Psychiatric Treatment May Be Given Young 'Cop Hater'

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 7—UP— Twelve-year-old Travis Wissenburg's unreasoned 90-minute pistol battle with police last week may produce, through charity, the psychiatric care he needs but cannot obtain in any state institution.

Travis' brain was damaged in early childhood in some unexplained way. During the past three years he has compiled a harrowing record of crime, spent a year in the state industrial school, and developed a seething hatred of "cops."

When a Manitou Springs officer stopped him on the street last week, the boy drew a pistol and fired wildly. He retreated to a hillside and for the next hour and a half held off a dozen policemen with intermittent volleys until a box of 50 cartridges had been expended.

In the El Paso county jail here, however, Travis has been a model of deportment. A neat, almost sweet-faced boy, his picture accompanying news stories of his warped bravado — "I hate cops. You'll never take me alive."

draw responses from Denver and Washington.

County Judge Charles Simon explained after Travis' unharmed capture that there was no state institution equipped to care for the boy — or for others like him in El Paso and other counties.

Simon said Tuesday that several people had offered to furnish Travis with the care and treatment he needs, and that one woman wants to raise $5,000 to put him in a special school at Topeka, Kan.

The judge said he hoped Travis' plight would spur fund raising "to help all the others we have" with the same problem.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

How may a purchaser determine whether the title he is receiving in a real estate transaction is good, bad or indifferent? Although at first glance there may appear to be more than one alternative method, purchasers usually find that all roads of complete title security lead to a lawyer chosen by the prospective buyer to represent his interests.

In a previous column it was said that the Contract of Sale should state the QUALITY OF TITLE to be conveyed to purchaser. If the contract does not so state, then the seller may be obligated to sell — and the purchaser bound to buy — only whatever title the seller happens to possess, which may actually be quite defective. This may be true in spite of the fact that the seller is in possession, has a deed to the property, has been paying taxes, etc.

A real estate title is a claim of ownership or right to land and to the improvements, such as houses and other structures, located thereon. It may be partial or complete, as determined by the numerous facts in each case. If it is complete and superior to any other person's claim — if you can prove your right thereto against all the world, it is a GOOD TITLE. If, in addition, the evidence of your claim of ownership is contained in the proper public records, it is a GOOD RECORD TITLE. Ordinarily, on a GOOD RECORD TITLE is considerable salable, being sometimes referred to as a GOOD MARKETABLE TITLE.

When you buy a house, you want a title which is good, so that you and your heirs will not be troubled while enjoying the use of the premises. You also want that title to be marketable, in order that it can be sold when you are ready to sell — without the expense of perfecting title before your buyer will complete his purchase.

Having made certain that your contract of sale indicates the exact nature of the title to be conveyed to you by the seller, how do you go about assuring yourself that you will receive the specified quality of title? People have varied ideas about this matter.

Some consider themselves safe when they gain possession of an Abstract of Title or a General Warranty Deed. But an Abstract is merely an outline of public records on the tract of land — a history of the title — which anyone may purchase, regardless of ownership.

A General Warranty Deed from a responsible seller is comforting to have, but is a poor substitute for a careful title examination. True, it entitles you to sue the seller for damages caused by defects in the title. But serious title defects may not come to light until long after the seller is dead, has moved, to an unknown address, or is bankrupt.

Safer procedures include your attorney's examination of the Abstract tendered by the seller, and the purchase of a Title Insurance Policy identifying you as the insured for the full amount of your investment. In any event you will want your attorney's advice when closing a real estate transaction.

Today's hand is bid to the hilt, but it is difficult to see which bid can be criticized. South certainly has a sound opening bid and a sound rebid of two spades. North should surely bid two hearts at his first turn and cannot be blamed for being slightly ambitious with his bid of three diamonds at his second turn.

After all, North has 11 points in high cards opposite an opening bid, and North's strong suits are additional justifications for a second response.

After North makes his second response at the level of three, South cannot close his eyes to the fact that he has two good stoppers in the unbid suit. North's bidding practically begs South to go to the game in no-trump if he can take care of the unbid suit. South has little choice but to comply with this request.

In the average game, there wouldn't be much point in complaining about the ambitious bidding. South would make his contract without the slightest difficulty.

East would probably win the first trick with the ace of clubs and return the suit. South would win the second round of clubs and knock out the ace of hearts. Even if East held his ace of hearts up, declarer would get back to dummy with a diamond and the defenders would get only two club tricks and the two red aces.

East can defeat the game if he thinks carefully after winning the first trick with the ace of clubs. There is good reason to believe that dummy's hearts are the key to the game contract. East knows that he can hold up the ace of hearts, but what can he do about destroying dummy's diamond entry to the long hearts?

If East sees the problem clearly in this way, the answer should come very quickly. He must return the jack of diamonds at the second trick! This return prevents declarer from bringing in the long hearts, and limits him to three diamonds, one heart and two tricks in each of the black suits.

East must be precise about attacking dummy's diamond entry. If East tries to lead the nine of diamonds (instead of the correct lead of the jack), South can win with the ten of diamonds and still save dummy's entry.

Airport Board Meets Today

Ferry Lefors Field board of directors meet at 4:30 p.m. today to discuss the proposed airport hangar, bids for which will be opened at 10 a.m. Oct. 18.

Ed Simmons, board secretary, said this morning the bid-opening was delayed a week so that potential bidders would have more time to make their calculations.

The airport board may open the bids alone and they may do it in conjunction with the Gray County Commissioners' Court. "That's one thing we'll have to decide this afternoon," Simmons commented.

An estimated six to seven sets of plans and specifications have been sent out to prospective bidders, Simmons continued. To cost an estimated $2,500,000, it will be 20 feet wide and 60 feet long, an all-steel building with concrete floor. It will have an arched roof and a lean-to shop building adjoining it. R. Cantrell, Pampa architect, drew up the foundation plans.

Kids' Fire Safety Posters On Display

Fire Prevention Week posters, drawn by children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, are being displayed this week by Pampa business houses as part of a plan "to make as many people fire prevention conscious as possible," according to B. R. Nuckols, county superintendent of schools.

Selected for display were the best two or three posters from each classroom in the three grades. Parents were allowed to aid the children, according to Nuckols, "so as to make them, as well as the children, aware of the week-long fire prevention theme."

Some $175 in prizes will be distributed to schools in Gray County. Principals may distribute winnings as they see fit, either giving it to the winning rooms, or sharing it between the best poster winners and their room classmates.

McLean schools ran their own contest, and will not share in the prize money.

Actress Found Near Death

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7—UP—Actress Anne Sterling was found unconscious in her home and rushed to Hollywood receiving hospital Thursday after she telephoned her doctor that she was "very sick."

Attendants at the hospital reported the 22-year-old blonde actress was in "fair" condition following emergency treatment.

Police said they believed she had taken an overdose of sleeping pills, but doctors who pumped Miss Sterling's stomach said they could find no trace of pills—only mushrooms.

She had eaten Wednesday night.

of Communist junk concentrations. Officials Silent

Although both American and Chinese Nationalist officials were silent on the subject, one newspaper in Taipei complained that a "new Yalu River sanctuary" had apparently been set up along the South China coast to guard against the "little war" at Quemoy igniting a bigger conflict.

The "China situation" has grown more critical as a result of renewed Communist claims they intend to "liberate" Formosa.

Some American officials in Asia believe the Chinese Communists actually may intend eventually to attempt the Formosan invasion, but believe the current clamor is primarily for propaganda purposes.

Intelligence reports from the China mainland indicate the Chinese Communists are having plenty of trouble with some segments of the population, especially in the China, traditional spawning ground of revolts in China.

TEC Has 20 Openings

"We ran out of men one day," Bill Ragsdale, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office in Pampa, used that phrase as an example of how the employment business has been "pretty good."

An estimated 20 jobs were available this morning, Ragsdale said. Among them: cook, salesman, stenographer, maid, housekeeper, cotton puller, waitress.

Business was booming before the rains came, he went on. Since the rain, however, it has been cut sharply. Most of the jobs available have been in the construction and farming lines.

Ragsdale considers the employment picture about normal for this time of year, one of the two "peak" times of the year. The other "peak" comes between April and June, usually in June in this part of the country.

water gets much higher."

Banks of the Rio Hondo inside Roswell are deep enough to handle a 25-foot crest. They have been sandbagged in many low sections to take care of another two or more feet.

Since Tuesday, when rain started falling in this area, more than 45 inches have deluged the city in the southeast corner of New Mexico.

Highways leading west, south and east out of Roswell were closed by either high water or washouts.

Wednesday, water from the Rio Hondo poured into about 15 homes in the south central part of the city and families left them immediately. About 1 1/2 feet of water stood in them at the time but during the night the water receded about two feet from the area.

Fill Work Complete On Lefors School

LEFORS—Construction of the new Lefors public school building, "waterlogged" today, is well underway with a "good bit of the fill" done and pouring of concrete going on.

Lefors Schools Supt. Archie Roberts late this morning labelled it "good progress."

West-Tex Construction Co. of Pampa and Berger, has the $189,250 contract on the job which has a completion date of March 16. The structure will house a cafeteria, band and choral rooms, woodshop and mechanical drawing rooms and a gymnasium. Part of the $300,000 bond issue, passed by Lefors voters earlier in the year, is being used for the job.

McCarran Replacement Stirs Battle

RENO, Oct. 7—UP—Nevada Democrats asked the State Supreme Court Thursday to set aside a permanent injunction prohibiting a county clerk from placing on the Nov. 2 ballot the names of two candidates for the Senate seat held by the late Democratic Sen. Pat McCarran.

District Judge A. J. Maestretti granted the injunction Wednesday, giving Republicans a major victory in their legal battle to prevent the state's voters from electing a successor.

The injunction was sought by Ciel Gerogetta, a Reno attorney who filed a citizen-taxpayer suit against Washoe County Clerk Harry K. Brown on behalf of GOP leaders.

The candidates for McCarran's office are Democrat Alan Bible, 45-year-old Reno attorney and former attorney general, and Republican Ernest S. Brown, a former Reno district attorney.

Brown, who has pledged his cooperation with the Eisenhower administration, was appointed by Republican Gov. Charles H. Russell to succeed McCarran, but filed his candidacy in event the GOP lost its legal battle to keep him in office without having to face the voters in November.

Maestretti, a veteran judge, granted the injunction Wednesday from the bench immediately after opposing attorneys concluded two and one-half hours of argument.

Hutchinson Sheriff Addresses Rotary

Rev. E. F. Robinson Rites Are Friday

Funeral services for Rev. E. F. Robinson of Perryton, former minister of the Pampa Church of the Nazarene, are scheduled for 3 p.m. Friday in the Perryton Church. Rev. Reynald Russell of Perryton will officiate, assisted by Rev. Herbert Land of Pampa.

Rev. Robinson died at 11 a.m. Wednesday in a Perryton hospital from a heart attack suffered Sunday. His last church was in McLean. Since his retirement in May, he and his wife, also a Nazarene minister, had been living in Perryton.

Rev. and Mrs. Robinson served in Pampa from 1937 to 1941 and have preached for many years in Panhandle churches.

Some 30 employees attended a one-day conference of the Panhandle Personnel association in Amarillo Wednesday.

Pampa Selected To Conduct Adult Education Experiment

The key man in the adult education program in the West Texas area, Dr. Per G. Stensland, coordinator from Texas Tech, Lubbock, was in town Wednesday to inform Pampans that they will be one of 30 cities in the nation selected for the program's experimental group on "Parenthood in a Free Nation."

Dr. Stensland and executive associate, John Gregory, conferred with Mrs. W. L. Boosa, president of the Parent-Teacher Association Council, whose group will sponsor the discussion classes emphasizing materials, "which will help parents to acquire the knowledge and attain the understanding (needed) . . . to bring up children who will become mature responsible citizens, able to function in, and maintain a free democratic society."

Stensland, who came to the United States in 1941, effuses a boundless admiration for West Texas, whose character he says, "reminds me so much of the wonderful frontier spirit of my native Sweden."

At Texas Tech since 1932 where he is also professor of education, Stensland feels all the adult education programs are "vital to the understanding of civil and community problems and their relation to activities throughout the nation and the world."

Twelve communities in this West Texas area are taking part in the program. They are in addition to Pampa, Odessa, Midland, Lamesa, Brownfield, Levelland, Littlefield, Canyon, Amarillo, Borger, Panhandle and Spur.

Flapping like a giant, fleshy bat, the stingray is an early prototype of the Douglas XF4D-1, with its "delta" wings.

Nature discovered the "wing" of the thresher shark was too small for maneuverability. It gave the fish an oversized vertical tail. Aircraft engineers on short-winged aircraft are solving the problem the same way.

Razer-thin, straight-wing plane, like this Lockheed, was anticipated in the fish world with the design of the slim, stub-tailed member of the swordfish family.

Slim stiffness of the Flying Fish was nature's successful design that broke the "water barrier." Lockheed's F-3 designers did the same way.

FISH AND SHIPS

Now that the quest for airplane shapes that would be most efficient at supersonic speeds has become a grim race for survival, aircraft designers argue heatedly the advantages of swept wing, straight-wing and delta (triangular) wing. They might consider that the argument began some 40,000,000 years ago, when Nature faced the problem of getting the denseness of the deep off the ground. Nature never arrived at a single solution either—it came up with swept wings, straight wings and deltas, as seen below.

Adenauer Becomes 'Indispensable' Man

By CHARLES M. McCANN

United Press Foreign Analyst

A 78-year-old German has become western Europe's indispensable man.

In Britain, Anthony Eden is ready to step into Winston Churchill's place at any time.

A change in leadership in France or Italy would not necessarily alter the present political picture.

But if anything happened to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the federal republic of Germany, the Western Allies would face a real crisis.

On Adenauer, more than on any other man, depends the successful carrying out of the London agreement by which West Germany is to be rearmend.

Complete Allied Confidence

Adenauer has the complete confidence of the Allies. They can trust him to see that rearmament be carried out within the prescribed limits, to ensure that the new German army is a democratic one and is not Prussianized.

Adenauer can be trusted, too, to keep West Germany firmly aligned with the democracies against Soviet aggression or Soviet schemes.

But Adenauer is West Germany's sole outstanding leader. He rules alone. He has no political heir. There is nobody to fill his place.

Adenauer is hale and of a healthy toughness. But a man of 78 is old.

There are many Germans who will not be satisfied with the limited rearmament permitted West Germany under the London agreement. Before long they will be clamoring for the Bonn republic, as the most powerful country on the European continent outside of Russia, to take its proper place in the sun.

There are Germans who will oppose any rearmament. They will want Germany "neutralized," to become a military vacuum between the West and the East.

There will be Germans who will demand an agreement with Russia as the only means of reuniting East Germany with West Germany.

Adenauer is strong enough to resist all these elements. His successor might not be. He has no strong men around him. One of the criticisms of him is that he likes to surround himself with little men.

A Strong Man

At any rate, Adenauer is going well now. He does not show his age. He is ramrod straight. He has no need of eye-glasses. He has the energy of a man 40 years old.

Junior. In his election campaign last year ago he was out the correspondents who accompanied him.

It is hard to realize that Adenauer was almost unknown outside of Germany five years ago, when he was elected chancellor of the new Bonn republic.

He had spent years in politics, however, as a leader of the Christian Democratic party. He was mayor of Cologne from 1917 to 1933.

Drowns in Brazos River

SAHAM, Tex., Oct. 7.—An Angel of Snyder drowned Wednesday in the Clear Fork of the Brazos River while he and his wife were fishing near Ellaville.

Angel said her husband jumped on the bank and dropped into the river. The body was recovered.

OVER the fireplace mantel was a glass-fronted case about four feet long. It held a willow branch, tapering from the thickness of a man's thumb to a splintered, fragile end. The wand was old now, dried to a delicate gray, had the same inoffensiveness as an antique musket which held at one time the power of life and death. A polished brass plate reading, "The Carlson Conscience," was screwed to the wood of the case. Smaller letters were more difficult to read. The heat of the fire was intense as Jim moved around close enough to make out, "Spare not the rod, and fear God."

Mrs. Hilton smiled as Jim turned and moved to a more comfortable position. She nodded toward the case, said, "Grandfather, my husband's grandfather, that is. An old-fashioned idea of what to do that was handed down intact to Hilton's father. Not the original switch, of course. That's sacred. Even though we moved it up here to the summer lodge years ago, where it wouldn't be seen so much."

Jim said, "Out of sight, out of mind?"

"You mean the switch or our conscience? But it doesn't matter. Your statement isn't true. I'll never forget the nightmares my dead husband used to have about that switch." She closed her eyes and licked her lips again. "It's strange, but those nightmares are about all I can remember about Hilton."

Sheriff Agnes said, "We want to talk to you, if you'll stop making a holy show of yourself."

MRS. HILTON'S languor vanished in sudden motion. Muscles moved smoothly under then. "Brains can be a hindrance in many ways." She recited in a monotone the exact story Philip and Mrs. Oswald had told.

MRS. KIT sat up in bed, sipping coffee while Mrs. Gelstrap hovered around fussing. She pushed the cup at the fat cook irritably when Jim and Agnes came into the bedroom.

It seemed to Jim a good time to speak before she worked herself over the borderline into the full clutches of the unreasoning fear she so obviously felt.

"Mrs. Hilton was trying to break up your marriage?"

"Is trying," she said listlessly. "But Peter—my husband—loves me."

"He helped you with The Spires? I mean he gave you the deed, made out in Mrs. Gelstrap's name?"

"Yes."

"Surely as the wife of J. Peter Carlson, you would have the right to come up here any time you wanted to?"

"The right? What does that have to do with anything? I wanted to be near Mrs. Hilton, but I wanted it to be a secret. I hired you to get evidence that she's immoral. I wanted to use that when she tries to make Peter think I— I killed that man in San Francisco. I didn't kill him. And Mrs. Hilton must know I didn't."

"You mean because it was an accident?"

"An accident?" She made the word a scornful thing. "An accident? No. One of the Carlsons got away with murder. They can get away with anything."

"Have you any proof that Gregory Stoneman's death was actually murder?"

"Proof? No. If I had proof, I wouldn't have needed to hire you."

"That means you think Mrs. Hilton actually killed him?"

"What difference does it make what I think? I tell you everyone in the whole Carlson clan knows it was murder."

CHICAGO — UP — John Hannan crawled out of his wrecked car Friday and asked a large assembly of police officers, "What did I do?"

The officers handed him 17 tickets charging speeding, drunken driving and running 14 red lights and one stop sign.

Before crashing, Hannan had led 30 police squads on a 10-mile chase that sometimes reached speeds of 90 miles per hour.

Federal Jobs Open For Young People

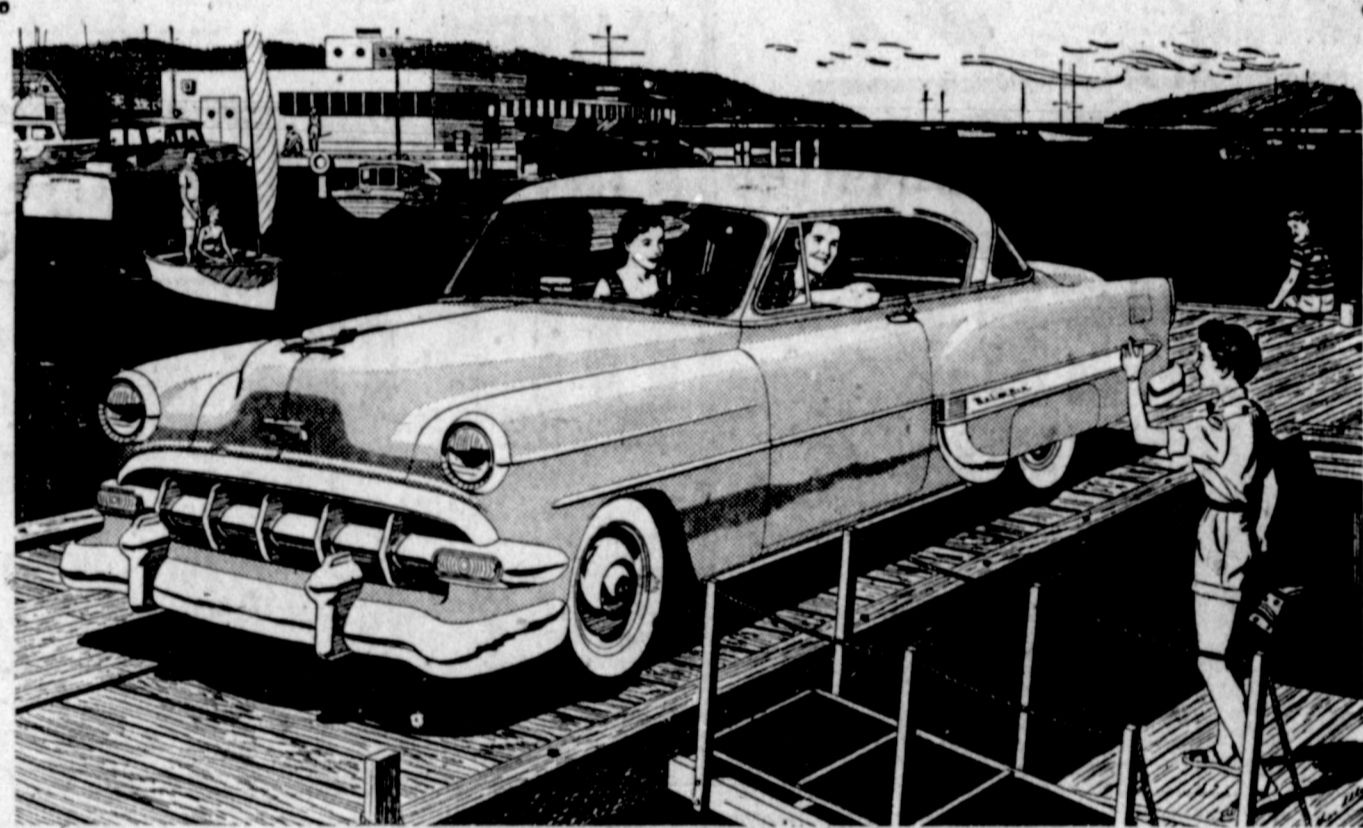

Vacancies now exist in the Federal service for young people to fill Junior Professional Assistant positions in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Arkansas. Persons employed in these positions interview, assist, and advise claimants, beneficiaries, and other persons, and adjudicate claims for benefits filed for old age and survivors insurance. The starting salary is $3410 per annum. A written test will

8th AF HQ To Be Moved

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 — UP — The Air Force announced Wednesday that headquarters of the Eighth Air Force will be moved early next year from Carswell Air Force Base, Tex., to Westover Air Force Base, Mass.

The Air Force said the move will place the headquarters closer to new Strategic Air Command (SAC) bases in the northeast portion of the United States coming under its jurisdiction.

The Atlantic division of the Military Air Transport Service, which presently has jurisdiction over Westover, will move to McGuire Air Force Base, N. J., on Feb. 1, 1955. At that time, the headquarters of the Eighth Air Force will move to Westover.

In addition to "streamlining" SAC operations, the Air Force said the move will also assist in "alleviating the overcrowded conditions which now exist at Carswell."

The Air Force said the Carswell base "will continue to be utilized to the fullest extent." The number involved in the move from Carswell to Westover will be about 300 officers, 475 army and 125 civilians.

The Northeastern Air Force bases which will be under the jurisdiction of the Eighth Air Force are Loring, Limestone, Maine; Dow, Maine; Portsmouth, N. H.; Plattsburg, N. Y., and Westover.

June Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

EVER SINCE Nick and I got back from our vacation at the end of August I've been meaning to tell you about the bean factory I went through in Hermansville, Mich., a small town about 60 miles from my hometown.

THE BUILDING housing the factory, was once part of a million dollar mink business. But when the American woman turned her back on mink in favor of other furs the business came to an end. I just added that as sort of an indication of what changing styles can do to business.

Anyway, there is now a bean factory there. When you enter, the first thing you see is a conveyor belt. At one end of the belt a man empties sacks of beans onto the belt and at the other end some women sit, rejecting those of poor quality.

As it was a self-conducted tour, I didn't get in on all of the steps, but the next thing I saw was a round "pan" at the end of a long "arm." In the bottom of the pan were blades that cut the beans all a uniform length — really remarkable — and shot them down

"the arm" into another part of the machine where they were scaled. I imagine there was another inspecting process after that, although I'm not sure, and they were then packed in boxes, something like strawberry boxes, and placed in the first "refrigerator." The "refrigerator" was a big room, really, and very, very cold. The beans were then put in a room that was about 30 degrees below zero and frozen.

So that is somewhat the process the frozen beans you buy go through. It was really quite interesting.

RUTH MILLET

There are times when any wife and mother ought to be enough to hold her tongue. Then silence is the greatest contribution she can make to harmony.

One, when her husband ignores her advice and things turn out badly, just as she predicted they would. She may think, "I told you so," but if she is wise she'll never say it out loud.

Two, when she thinks hubby is being too hard on the children. Even though she feels sure she is right, she won't help matters by siding with them. Whenever a mother steps between father and children she widens rather than closes, the distance between them.

Three, when for no apparent reason the man of the house is in a grouchy mood. If she can ignore his grumpiness and go on about her business without acting either hurt or angry the grumpy mood will wear off quickly.

Four, when he is annoyed with the boss. She can't side with her husband, but if she sides with her husband, she is building the fire of her husband's discontent instead of letting it die out.

Five, when he is in an expansive mood and making big plans for the future. She could bring him down to earth with one practical, logical remark, perhaps. But if she is wise she won't puncture the balloon, with sharp retort.

Six, when she thinks he has gotten the worst of a business deal. If he has he'll know it, even though he may never admit it. So what can she gain, besides his resentment, by pointing out that he has been outsmarted.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace
I need your thoughtful and sincere advice to help set me straight.

The other day on a bus I met the nicest boy, a marine, and I know he's nice because he said his father is a preacher back east. Well, it so happened that I found a seat on the bus directly behind the boy — and in a few minutes he started speaking to me about the weather etc. One word led to another and the first thing I knew he asked me for a date, that is after he told me his age, that was 18. I told him I was 18 but I really am only 15 1/2.

My father was greatly upset when I told him about telling the boy I was 18 and also for even thinking about meeting him again for a date.

Daddy was even disturbed because I had carried on a conversation with him.

I'm afraid I shan't do that again.

Confused

I have a feeling that most girls who have talked to nice young service men on buses even though their parents disapprove, and rightly so, there's something about a uniform, a nice young face, that interests girls of all ages. And it might well be that the boy was lonely, far from home, and craved the company of a nice girl of his own age.

But because there is a chance that he was not all that he said or you thought, you have to be cautious in making dates or plans to meet again. You have to listen to your father's advice which is the result of years' experience and the knowledge that all boys are not as nice as they seem.

It is wiser for you to date boys you have met in accepted fashion at the homes of your friends and at school who are near your own age. And even if you had met this nice boy under those circumstances he probably would be somewhat too old for you when it comes to dates. There would be many things all right for him which would not do for you until you are older. That is why parents like their daughters to start out with dates with boys of their own age.

In this way girls learn poise and are prepared to cope with whatever comes along as they grow older.

You must have felt yourself that you were really too young to date the young man or you wouldn't have felt it necessary to lie about your age. Anytime you feel that you must conceal the truth about yourself, stop and think why. There must be something wrong or you wouldn't want to conceal the truth.

Concert Membership Open To Newcomers

The community concert series is slated to begin this month with a performance by Richard Gregor, pianist, according to Mrs. Raymond Harrah, Sr., president of the Community Concert Association.

Although the membership drive was held in April, persons who have moved to Pampa since that time may still purchase tickets. Mrs. Harrah advised. Any newcomer desiring membership should contact Mrs. A. A. Shuneman, association secretary, she pointed out.

Other concerts scheduled include the Robert Shaw Choral and Orchestra for November; The Angelaires, five-girl harpist ensemble, for January; and Donald Dickson, tenor, for April.

Officers Installed Of Hobart WMU

New officers of the Hobart Street Baptist Women's Missionary Union were installed during a ceremony Wednesday afternoon in the church auditorium, under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Hill, associational president.

During the service, Mrs. Hill presented each officer with a picture representing the women of the Bible and challenged them to let God lead them in every undertaking and to carry out their responsibilities as the women of the Bible did.

Officers installed were Mrs. W. F. Vanderburg, president; Mrs. P. D. Boddy, vice-president; Mrs. M. D. Crowell, program vice president; Mrs. Warren Jackson, young peoples' director; Mrs. Jack Gist, recording secretary; Mrs. Gene Quarles, corresponding secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Carl Ammons, community mission chairman; Mrs. Mildred Stephens, mission study; Mrs. Chester O'Brien, Bible study; Mrs. E. K. Douglas, stewardship; Mrs. Ed Gentry, W. D. Pate, Harold Beckham, Alton Winborne and Harry Dean, circle chairmen; Mrs. Don Alexander, YWA leader; Mrs. Preston Wallace, Junior GA leader; Mrs. Harriet Dean, Sunbeam leader; and Mrs. Dick Land, pianist.

Prior to the ceremony, a luncheon was held in the church dining room, with decorations following a Halloween theme. Mrs. Lawrence Barrett played hymns on the piano during the meal.

Attending the event were Mrs. J. A. Tackett, Joe Murphree, L. E. Coberly, R. M. Eaves, Ray Bailey, Lonnie Carlton, Alton Winborne, Gordon Miller, Elsie Cone, Katherine Hickson, Lonnie Schaub, Preston Wallace, Warren Jackson, Hayden Smith, Frank Holman, Irene Mitchell, Forrest Billingsley, Jack Gist, H. ### Brightly Patterned Paper Plates Save Dishwashing

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Wives who work and keep house report that modern paper plates save them hours of dishwashing. Often, some tell us, they use them for parties, too.

Mrs. Arthur Ivey, of Pound Ridge, N. Y., cover girl model, mother of two-year-old Juliane, arrives home at 7:30 p.m. She serves her husband and self easy-to-prepare dishes and uses paper plates. Even Juliane gets much of her food in paper bowls.

For informal party buffets, Mrs. Ivey says, she uses one of her favorites — a colonial design in bright red, blue and green, with matching cups. For more formal meals, she chooses one of the solid color, coppery-toned plates, a flowered design or one of the new chalklike plates, subtly decorated in pastel tones.

When it's just for the family for quick breakfasts and leisurely dinners, it's generally pastel-colored plates with nine-inchers for the enter, six-inchers for bread and butter and seven- or eight-inchers for dessert. Whatever the occasion, color and pattern, they're alike in practicality.

One of her favorite meals for both family and informal gatherings: Golden brown fried chicken.

in-a-basket (she buys it frozen ready for preparation), a tossed salad and hot blue cheese bread. Coffee and fresh fruit complete the meal.

Hot Blue Cheese Bread (Makes 16 servings)
One loaf unsliced white bread, 1/2 cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1/4 pound), 3 tablespoons softened butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons milk, 1/4 cup softened butter or margarine.
Cut bread down the center lengthwise without cutting all the way through. Cut crosswise in 1-inch slices without cutting all the way through. Combine cheese, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine and milk; mix until well blended. Spread cheese mixture on all cut surfaces of bread. Spread 1/4 cup softened butter or margarine on outside surfaces of loaf. Wrap tightly in aluminum foil and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Serve immediately.

Birthday Party Given For Skellytown Child

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Eva Jo Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Duncan, was recently honored on her eighth birthday in the club house, Cabot camp.

After the guests played games and the honoree opened her gifts, refreshments of cup cakes and fudge ice cream were served.

Guests attending were Jerry Nan Welborn, Eddie and Carol Kiebrink, Rita and Johnnie Spence, Butch and Linda Jasper, Patsy and Reba Gale Barnett, Patsy Allen, Karen Fitch, Karen Sue McKisick, Judy Mercer, Twanna and Janey Dukes, James Bewley, Margaret White, Danny and Ronnie Lane, all of Skellytown; Mrs. J. B. Duncan and son, D. D. Duncan, Mrs. L. Hyatt and children, Gary and Sherry, all of Pampa. Sending gifts but unable to attend were Nancy Moore and Peggy Dean.

Baptist Ruth Class Installs Officers

The Ruth Class of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Robert Fugate, 1312 Garland, for organizing and installation of officers.

Officers, installed by Mrs. Harvey Downs, were: Mrs. Oliver G. Trimble, president; Mrs. Jim Dean, vice president; Mrs. Robert Hogan, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Stafford, associate; and Mrs. James T. Weatherly, John Jones, James E. Johnson, David Shoup, and Carlos Grissom, group leaders.

Mrs. S. E. Waters is class teacher. Sixteen members were present and one guest, Mrs. Jess Taylor.

Good Breakfasts Return Dividends

"The homemaker who invests in good breakfasts gains dividends of better health and increased mental alertness for each member of her family," says Dr. Charles Glen King, Scientific Director of The Nutrition Foundation. "At the State University of Iowa, it was observed that children who ate fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter before school made better grades, had a brighter outlook and more energy for outside activities than those who went without breakfast."

Adults are a lot keener and sharper, too, after a good breakfast and, Dr. King points out, they are not so likely to become tired during the late morning hours. Other hazards of skipping on breakfasts are revealed in a survey made by Rutgers University scientists. They found that the man who only coffee and a sweet roll for breakfast is likely to cause mid-morning hunger with high calorie snacks instead of the milk, fruit or fruit juice he missed at breakfast. At the end of the day he may have consumed more calories than if he had eaten a heartier breakfast. In the same way, the woman who skips breakfast, hoping to keep her figure trim, will usually more than make up for her morning calorie lack by eating large snacks throughout the day. "Eat a good breakfast and stay slim!" Dr. King advises.

A good breakfast will contain vitamin C-rich fruit, such as citrus or tomato juice, egg and milk or other high quality protein foods, and cereal or bread with butter or margarine. Add a favorite hot beverage, if desired, and breakfast is served!

This Is My Dish

Angel And Lemon Pies Are Easy To Prepare

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

One of Pampa's many fine cooks is Mrs. Robert Hogan, 2109 Coffee, who can't remember exactly how long she has been cooking.

"I helped Mother before I was married, and I've been married nine years," she explained. Later, however, she told of canning two bushels of tomatoes when she was in the fourth grade in grammar school to surprise her mother, then in the hospital. "I didn't realize it was dangerous," she laughed. "I thought everyone would be pleased, but all I did was upset them."

A Pampian for about 17 years, Mrs. Hogan cooks for her husband, who is a carpenter, and her son, Bobby, 4. Her husband has been a Pampian all his life, she explained.

"I like to mess in the kitchen," Mrs. Hogan stated. She especially likes to can, and loves to collect recipes. "Recipes are my hobby," she explained. She also likes to read, hunt and fish.

In addition to her cooking and household duties, Mrs. Hogan is a Sunday School supply teacher for the First Baptist Church, just recently completed a term as circle chairman for the Women's Missionary Union, works in the Junior 2 Training Union, and is secretary of the Ruth Class.

Among her specialties, are pies. Here are two of them.

LEMON PIE
4 whole eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups sugar
1/2 cube butter
1 Tbs. flour
1 Tbs. corn meal
1/2 cup or 2 lemons (lemon juice)
Mix together and put in unbaked pie shell. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Both pies are simple to make, yet are very good desserts.

Barbecuing Advice For Outdoor Cooks

When it's barbecue time dad often takes over. Here's a word of advice to pass on to dad. Barbecuing is actually broiling done over hot coals. For that reason, the same as when using the broiler in your range, cook the meat slowly, points out Reba Staggs, meat expert.

Whether using an outdoor fireplace or portable grill, rub the grill with fat before starting to cook the meat. Fat on the meat may be used for this purpose.

Dad can show off his skill with any one of these favorite barbecue meals — club, rib, T-bone, porterhouse or sirloin steak. Choose the first three for individual serving, the latter for serving 2 to 6 depending upon the thickness. Have any steak cut at least one inch thick. Lamb chops and ham slices should be at least 3/4 inch thick. Other barbecue choices are lamb or steak kabobs, hamburgers, frankfurters and cubed steaks. Follow a reliable broiling time-table to determine cooking time.

If you avoid looking in the bottom of the coffepot, take a glance. That brown stain can be taken off and will make the coffee taste better. Be careful in scouring ones with built-in electric elements.

Kids may store their pajamas under the pillow for convenience, but it keeps them from airing. Install a hook at their height with a colorful name tag over it to encourage hanging up.

If you've got to wear those stockings right away after washing, wrap them in a terry towel and run it through the washing machine wringer. Do it again with a new towel, if necessary.

"Toastwiches" Liked By The Younger Set

NEW YORK — UP — Try these "toastwiches" to satisfy the amazing appetites of the younger set. These will please after football games or the movies — and the children can prepare their own.

Here is how: Grind leftover cooked beef and measure 1 cup. Add 2 tablespoons of onions browned in a little fat, 1/4 cup of grated raw carrots, 1 tablespoon of finely chopped pickle and chili sauce to moisten. Spread between slices of bread and dip the sandwiches in a mixture of milk and eggs which has been seasoned with salt and ground black pepper to taste. Brown on both sides in hot shortening. This makes 5 or 6 sandwiches.

If you look closely at the label on your box of dry milk, you'll find that you can whip it like cream with an electric mixer. A budget-minded topping for desserts.

Make School Lunch Hearty, Not Snack

Packing school lunches again becomes a part of the daily schedule in many homes. Here's a point that every lunch box preparer should keep in mind at all times—the school child's lunch should be a part of a well-planned daily diet, not simply a snack to satisfy hunger.

A generous part of the daily allowance of meat, milk, vegetables, and fruit should go into the lunch box, points out home economist Reba Staggs. Meat in the sandwiches, milk in a vacuum bottle, vegetables in raw form such as celery and carrot strips, radishes, etc., and fruit serving as dessert.

Of course, sandwiches are the main item in practically every lunch box. Remember that several thin sandwiches are likely to be more appetizing than one thick one.

Also, rather than one thick slice of meat, cut several thin, even slices of roast beef, pork, veal or lamb.

Making sandwiches that are different is the constant search of many mothers. One easy way is to consider the different meats that go with different breads. Here are a few examples. Crisp bacon is good with peanut butter and, for a change, is temptingly used between two slices of Boston brown bread. Corned beef is excellent on rye; canned smoked tongue or liv-

Casseroles Are Rated Meals In Themselves

NEW YORK — UP — Casserole dishes are a blessing to the home-maker because they're almost a meal in themselves. This "garden casserole" — a hearty combination of plentiful vegetables and low-cost beef — needs only a salad and perhaps a fruit dessert to complete the menu.

In a greased casserole put layers of sliced zucchini squash, sliced tomato, sliced onion and browned ground lean beef. Top with diced green pepper and sliced celery. Sprinkle with soft bread crumbs mixed with grated cheddar cheese. Dot with margarine or butter, and bake 40 minutes or until the vegetables are tender in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

Hurry-Up Pie Shell

NEW YORK — UP — In a hurry for a pie shell?

Then just spread two tablespoons of softened butter or margarine on the bottom and sides of a pie pan. Press the contents of a 4-ounce box of shredded coconut evenly into the butter and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) about 15 minutes, or until the "crust" is toast brown. Cool, and for a filler we suggest scoops of ice cream.

er sausage on whole wheat; canned luncheon loaf on raisin; beef on pumpkin; a chipped beef, cream cheese and chutney mixture on a bun.

Happiest Homecoming of the Year!

The longed-for day has come at last. He has taken delivery of the car of his dreams . . . he has enjoyed his first wonderful ride behind the wheel . . . and now — he's coming home!

And what a proud and happy man he is as he turns into that familiar driveway and presses against the horn rim to signal his arrival!

For this—as any Cadillac owner can testify—is a very happy homecoming!

It would be difficult to imagine a more thrilling or a more delightful family gathering than that which heralds the arrival of a new Cadillac. It is a truly memorable and exciting and joy-filled occasion.

And then, there are those admiring friends and neighbors who usually drop by to welcome a new Cadillac to its new home—and to get a personally conducted "tour" of the car from its owner.

thrill that comes to a man when he first contemplates his own Cadillac in his own driveway.

It gives him a genuine sense of satisfaction to realize that he possesses one of the world's most sought-after products—and a feeling of gratitude to know he has been able to provide his family with Cadillac's great comfort and luxury and safety.

Yes, it's a unique and wonderful experience to bring a new Cadillac home.

And we honestly feel that the motorist who is privileged to enjoy this experience in 1954 is in for a very special treat. For the car is now more wonderful to drive . . . and more beautiful to behold . . . and more inspiring to own than ever before.

Why not stop in soon—and let us show you what we mean? One hour behind the wheel, and we think you'll be looking forward, with great anticipation, to your own "Cadillac homecoming"!

Whooping Cranes Seen In Texas

CROCKETT, Tex., Oct. 7.—UP—The G. Q. King farm, six miles southeast of Crockett, had some distinguished visitors Monday—six near-extinct whooping cranes.

Ernest Bowdin, who identified the rare birds, said it was the first time the whoopers had been seen in the Crockett area. Only about a couple dozen whooping cranes are known to exist. They fly annually from Canada to winter nesting grounds in the Port Aransas, Tex., game refuge.

CUMBERLAND, R. I. — UP — William R. Backman, Sr., a 130-pound Harmony, R. I., motorist—found strength in desperation to lift the front end of his 3,345-pound car. His four-year old son, Willie, whose leg had been pinned beneath a wheel when Backman backed the auto, crawled free — his thigh bruised.

Guard Unit Inspection Due Tuesday

The Pampa National Guard unit is getting prepared for the annual federal inspection, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the armory building at 1400 W. Wilks.

Sectional training was the order of the day Wednesday night, the last drill period before the federal inspection. WO William Leonard said. Actually, the administrative phase of the inspection will be held Tuesday afternoon while the training phase will be at night. Handling the inspection will be a representative from the inspector-general's office in Fourth Army headquarters in Austin.

The inspecting party, Leonard said, will be in Dalhart Monday, Dumas Tuesday, also, and in Shamrock Wednesday to complete inspection of the four communities in the battalion.

But there is more inspection lined up, too, Leonard continued. A chemical and engineering technical inspection of the Pampa unit is slated for Oct. 18 and the general technical inspection will be held Oct. 21-22.

Freedom Is Only A Word To So-Called 'Free City' Citizens

TRIESTE, Oct. 7—UP—Italy won Trieste from Austria in World War I in return for fighting on the Allied side, and lost it in World War II for fighting against the Axis.

Trieste had been under the influence and control of landlocked Austria ever since the Fourteenth Century and gradually wrested the Commerce of the Adriatic Sea from a declining Venice.

The ham-shaped chunk of coast about the size of the city of New York came under Italian rule for the first time in 1919, although the area had been a target of Italian nationalist agitation since the unification of Italy in the middle of the Nineteenth Century.

Throughout history the territory had always been a meeting place of races and cultures. But only after World War II did it become a bitterly disputed border territory capable of provoking war.

The free territory, set up under the Italian peace treaty after World War II, comprises approximately 300 square miles on the Italian peninsula in the Adriatic's northeast corner.

In 1945 an agreement was reached to divide the occupation temporarily into two zones. One zone was occupied by Britain and the United States, the other by Yugoslavia.

The Italian peace treaty signed in 1947 set up a free territory that was to be ruled by a neutral governor. But Russia never would agree and the free territory never came into being.

The U. S. and Britain remained in occupation of the northern part, Zone A, and the Yugoslavs Zone B, the southern part. Zone A includes the city of Trieste, and contains about 250,000 Italians and 50,000 Slovenes. Zone B has 80,000 Slovenes and 20,000 Italians.

In March, 1948, the Italian government faced an election in which it was feared the Communists might win. The Allies proposed handing the entire territory to Italy in an attempt to bolster the government. But three months later Marshal Tito broke with the Kremlin and the whole picture was changed.

Then a year ago the Allies announced that since Italy and Yugoslavia could not settle their dispute, Zone A would be handed over to Italy and Yugoslavia would keep control of Zone B.

The announcement touched off a new crisis. Tito rushed troops to the border threatening to march into Zone A if Italian troops did. The bloody riots in Trieste scared both Italy and Yugoslavia so badly that they privately indicated they were willing to settle the question—even though both sides continued to rattle sabres publicly.

The settlement in super-secret negotiations since then was a major diplomatic triumph for the U. S. and Britain. Llewellyn E. Thompson, 59-year-old American career diplomat born and raised in Colorado, and British diplomat Geoffrey Wedgwood Harrison bore the brunt of the negotiations.

They met in London with the ambassadors of Italy and Yugoslavia far from shouting distance of one another. Never in eight months did the Italian and Yugoslav negotiators meet face to face.

It was the most momentous settlement in the history of diplomacy to be negotiated by third parties without the principals meeting.

Streamliner Jumps Tracks In Oklahoma

GAGE, Okla., Oct. 7—UP—An eastbound Santa Fe passenger train jumped the track three miles west of Gage Wednesday and 15 persons were injured, two probably seriously.

One chair coach on the nine-car train overturned and five other cars derailed. All the injured were from the overturned car, and two had to be removed from the wreckage on stretchers.

K. O. Miller, a railroad telegrapher who was a passenger in the chair car, said, "We were running along smooth as silk when all of a sudden we turned over. I don't know why."

Santa Fe officials said the cause of the accident had not been determined. The train was en route from Albuquerque, N. M., to Kansas City, on the line's so-called "South Route" through the high plains.

Miller, who was being treated for a possible broken arm at the Shattuck, Okla., hospital, said the tracks probably could be cleared within a few hours. Five other passengers and many freight trains are scheduled on the line each day.

Miller said the train was "not going very fast" when the derailment occurred. The train, No. 4, had left Amarillo at 7 a. m. and the accident occurred at 10:20 a. m.

"There was no panic; people just started climbing out. Some children cried," the Waynoka, Okla., man said.

Ambulances from Shattuck, Arnett and Woodward, Okla., converged on the scene.

Trio Caught With Federal Cash Orders

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 7—UP—Three men charged with taking 364 blank money orders, with a possible value of $36,400, from a Fort Worth postal substation were held in lieu of $5,000 bond Thursday.

They were Benjamin Warren Adair, 36, Fort Smith, Ark.; Paul Fisher Rogers, 26, Ponca City, Okla.; and Adair and Rogers pleaded not guilty at their arraignment Wednesday, while Moore did not enter a plea. He and Adair requested a preliminary hearing.

Police said they found four money order blanks in the men's auto, and 360 others and a post office validating stamp at a motel. Post Office inspectors said they were hunting for another 1,200 money order blanks.

A quantity of narcotics also was taken in the Fort Worth burglary, but police said they found no drugs.

Last B-29 Wing To Be Sent Home

TOKYO, Oct. 7—UP—The last B-29 bomber wing in the Far East will return to the United States this month to be converted into a B-47 Stratofortress outfit, it was announced Wednesday.

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the Far East Air Force, disclosed that the 307th Medium Bomb Wing will leave Kadena Air Force base on Okinawa in three groups "late this month."

The outdated B-29s will be stored at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Neb., while the wing members will check out in jets at Lincoln Air Force Base, Neb.

The withdrawal of the B-29s is part of America's massive re-deployment of its ground and Air Force units in the Pacific.

The Air Force announced earlier in the day that a Sabrejet wing is being pulled out of Korea to be based in northern Japan.

FBI Believes Part Of Bank Loot Found

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 7—UP—The FBI believed Thursday that more than $50,000 found in a safety deposit box was part of $111,000 stolen in the daring Sept. 14 robbery of an Albuquerque, N. M., bank.

Federal agents disclosed Wednesday they found the money in a box at the Phoenix apartment house where three persons, suspects in the bank robbery, had resided in recent weeks.

FBI agent Harry G. Maynor said a check was underway to determine definitely if the money was taken from the Five Points branch of the Bank of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

Henry G. Rixinger, 27, Albuquerque, held by authorities on robbery charges, had lived at the Phoenix apartment for 2½ weeks, Maynor said. Also held in connection with the robbery were Dennis L. Dages, 31, and his wife, Sara Dages, 30.

Maynor said "approximately" $50,000 was found in a safety deposit box at a Phoenix bank rented in the name of Mrs. Dages. Another $10,850 was located at the Dages home, Maynor said.

Maynor said it was believed Rixinger may have staged other robberies here.

The FBI and police said Rixinger tentatively had been identified as the robber of a drive-in theater and of two Phoenix area businesses.

BETTER TAKE ANOTHER LOOK AT THAT GRIDIRON, BUSTER

SAN ANTONIO—UP—Pat Holmes, a public address announcer at high school football games, was studying the points of the compass Tuesday. At the game he covered last weekend he announced that one team would defend the west goal and the other the south.

Man Gets 40 Years In Slaying

DALLAS, Oct. 7—UP—William L. Burnett, 39, Dallas, was convicted Wednesday night of killing Dr. Jack W. Sharp at the home of Burnett's fiancée. He was sentenced to 40 years in prison.

The jury, deliberating nearly 1½ hours, found Burnett guilty of murder with malice. He admitted the July 27 shooting, but said he killed Sharp in self defense.

Burnett and Sharp's widow were the only witnesses who testified, although 26 had been subpoenaed. Neither defense nor prosecution called Mrs. Nona Bird, 47, at whose home the shooting occurred and who also saw the shooting.

Burnett said he would appeal.

2 Dixie Governors Laud Shivers Stand

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7—UP—The nation, The Louisiana governor believes the South is destined to be the financial, industrial and, eventually, the cultural center of America.

White joined in the call for southern rebellion, saying that in the future "more attention will be paid to the South, both politically and industrially."

"Can't Go Without South" The Mississippi governor said former President Truman's idea that "we can get along without the South" just "wasn't true."

But Shivers said it was the South's "desire to work through existing parties."

Designates "Campaign Month" AUSTIN, Oct. 7—UP—Gov. Allan Shivers has designated October as "United Community Campaigns Month" in Texas in observance of charity fund-raising drives. He urged Texas residents to "participate generously" in the campaigns in their local communities.

The Texas governor in several recent speeches has called on other southern states to unite to wrest control of the Democratic party from the North and East.

Keynote for Kennon He made the keynote speech at a dinner Tuesday night honoring Kennon, who once was quoted that he thought Shivers would make a good President.

Kennon is the recently elected head of the National Governors Conference.

Kennon joined Shivers immediately in calling for political emancipation of the South, both from the federal government and the two major political parties and predicted the South would rise to guide

IT LOOKS LIKE THE HARVESTER-SANDIE tilt is going to be played on a muddy field.

The question has already been asked several times -- who will have the advantage on a wet field, the Harvesters or the Sandies?

That question is hard to answer. Both the Harvesters and the Sandies are comparatively a light team and a wet field makes it rough for the light weighters.

Amarillo has shown up more in passing and a wet field, of course, will slow down an aerial game.

The Harvesters, however, are potentially dangerous in the pass'at game. Junior Buddy Sharp has been hitting his mark pretty consistently this season but several of his tosses have been dropped.

On at least two occasions this season Sharp connected solidly with a receiver that would have resulted in a sure touchdown.

So, once the receivers start hanging on to the ball, the Harvester passing game may prove dangerous.

We asked Harvester coach Audie Noonester if he thought a wet field would benefit the Green and Golders and he replied "guess it won't make much difference."

I believe the Harvesters would have a better chance on a dry field. Although both the Harvester and Sandies are considered light, the Harvesters are the "lightest."

The tickets to the game tomorrow are just about gone. You can still get some ducats at the school business office here if you'll hurry down pronto.

It certainly looks like Pampa will be represented by some 3,000 fans at Amarillo tomorrow.

Just another sample of that good Harvester spirit.

AN EX-HARVESTER, JERRY Walker comes in for a good display in the new sports magazine "Sports Illustrated."

Walker, now a member of the Texas Tech Red Raiders, received a fine compliment from one of the nation's finest coaches, Herman Hickman.

Hickman said "I wouldn't want a better tackle than 220-pound Jerry Walker of Texas Tech."

AND ANOTHER FORMER HARVESTER athlete, Eugene Cooper, continues to make good in the professional boxing ranks.

Cooper recently knocked out Chata Hernandez in the fifth round of a scheduled six rounder in Old Mexico.

It was Cooper's second pro fight and he has won both by a knockout.

Cooper is due home today for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cooper.

PHS 11 Holds Indoor Drill

The Fighting Harvesters were forced indoors yesterday as a steady drizzle fell over Pampa all day Wednesday.

If the rain lets up today, the Harvesters will go outside to wind up their pre-game preparations for the Amarillo Sandies tilt tomorrow night at Amarillo.

All hands with exception of tackle Ben Sturgeon are expected to be available for duty tomorrow night for the Harvesters. Sturgeon is still out with a broken foot.

Jerry McNaughton, another tackle, who missed the last two games because of a wrenched knee, will suit out for the game tomorrow but will be used only on a limited basis.

All Sandies Will Suit Out Friday Except One

Pace Only Sandie 'Definitely' Out

By PUTT POWELL

Amarillo News Sports Writer

AMARILLO, Oct. 7 — Three regular linemen are due to be missing from the Amarillo lineup when the Sandies meet the Pampa Harvesters Friday night at Amarillo Stadium.

End Tommy Pace is out for sure with an infected elbow. The 220-pound junior also missed the Plainview game.

Slowed down with bruised legs are tackle Bryan Collins and guard Joe Williams. They may be able to play some but their action will be limited.

Halfback Arnie Duncan missed the Plainview game because of an appendicitis attack but he's expected to be ready to start.

Linebacker Johnny Gochner is slowed with a bad hip but hasn't been starting.

Amarillo's probably offensive starters with weights and 1953 experience:

Ends — Bugs Boney, 158, B Squad; Jimmy Duncan, 150, letterman.

Tackles — Bobby Way, 182, B squad; Bobby Bayliss, 180, B squad.

Guards — Sandy Lynch, 183, regular; Jerry Epps, 168, B squad; Center — Carroll Stafford, 160, B squad.

Quarterback — Bobby Powell, 147, B squad.

Linebackers — Bob Crump, 162, regular; Arnie Duncan, 143, B squad.

Fullback — Kenny Stephenson, 176, letterman.

Amarillo's probably defensive starters with weights and 1953 experience unless already listed on offense:

Ends — David Briley, 160, B squad; Stephenson.

Tackles — Gage Robertson, 200, B squad; Lynch.

Guards — Epps; D. A. Malson, 178, inactive.

Linebackers — Way; Frank Brown, 160, junior high.

Halfbacks — David Bechtol, 146.

letterman; Boney; Jimmy Duncan.

Lynch, Epps, Powell, Crump, Stephenson, Robertson and Bechtol are seniors. The other starters will be juniors with the exception of Brown, who is a sophomore.

WD, Canadian Clash In 1-A Tilt Friday

WHITE DEER, Oct. 7 — The Canadian Wildcats and White Deer Bucks will renew an old rivalry here Friday night when the two teams open their 1954 District 1-A schedules in a clash at Wildcat Stadium.

The Bucks will be making their conference debut under a new coach, Otis Holladay, who came to White Deer from Happy where he had been three years.

Johnny Cardinal is in his second year of guiding the fortunes of the Canadian Wildcats.

Canadian has won two of its three games to date while the Bucks have won one out of three starts.

The two clubs have met one common opponent — Perryton. White Deer bowed to Perryton in the season opener, 31-6, while Canadian lost to the same club two weeks later by a 39-0 count.

Eugene Schoenhals and Pat Tipp, veteran backs on the Wildcat roster, are expected to lead Canadian's offense here Friday. Bill Hines and Bill Chumbley are the defensive stalwarts for the Wildcats.

White Deer will be held offensively by the Eller twins, Ray and Roy. Jerry Puckett and Jerle Thomason spark the White Deer defense.

Last year's game between the two clubs was won by Canadian by a 32-7 count.

Following are the season records of the two rivals:

By UNITED PRESS

Dallas, Forest and Segoville, two of the state's 82 undefeated and untied schoolboy football teams, will help usher in a busy weekend of prep school gridiron play Thursday night.

They figure in two of the 11 games which will be unreeled as a prelude to Friday night's big program.

Forest, which hasn't cut much of a caper in its district in 25 years, opens its bid for the Dallas district crown against North Dallas, a team once figured to be a state contender until it lost star back Paul Delfield due to a leg injury.

Segoville, one of Class AA's 34 perfect record teams, hosts Dallas Sunset B in a non-tittle contest.

Other games on Thursday night's program include El Paso Bowie vs. El Paso Cathedral, Denton at Fort Worth Tech, Houston San Jacinto vs. Houston St. Thomas, Harlandale at Bay City, George West at Pleasanton, Allen Academy Prep at Fairfield, Bryan B at Bremond, and Mission B at LaJoya.

Ten other games Friday night will match unbeaten teams: South Oak Cliff vs. Dallas Hillcrest.

Pasadena at Big Spring, Weatherford at Grand Prairie, Nederland at Port Neches, Phillips at Perryton, Daingerfield at Hooks, Gonzales at Cuero.

Wharton at Alvin, Hale Center at Crosbyton, Weatherford, Grand Prairie and Alvin are among the unbeaten, but have been tied.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Oct. 7 — UP — University of Miami quarterback Carl Garrigus of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who didn't score for the Hurricanes in his first two years on the varsity, has made three touchdowns thus far this season.

Warren Hasse with a 7-5-1 record, Buck Francis was next with 5-7-1 slate and the Masked Marvel had even a rougher week, compiling a 2-10-1 record.

Porkers Point For Bear Tilt Saturday

By UNITED PRESS

Coach Bowden Wyatt planned a third straight scrimmage session Thursday for his Arkansas football squad, which meets Baylor in Saturday's only Southwest Conference football game.

A win over Baylor would get the Hogs off winging in the 1954 SWC title chase, giving them a two-game edge. Not since 1946 has Arkansas opened its conference play with a pair of wins, and in that year the Razorbacks shared the loop championship.

Wednesday's contact work accentuated touchdown plays, as Wyatt indicated a fear Baylor's average of four-touchdowns per game attack might provide too many points for Arkansas to overcome.

At Waco, however, Bear Coach George Sauer said contact work was over for the week after Wednesday's long drill on defense. Baylor has yielded at least two touchdowns a game in compiling a 2-1 record.

Sauer, beset by injuries, said sophomores Bill Parsley and Dan Miller probably would start for tackle James Ray Smith and guard Henry Gremminger, both hurt in last week's 19 to 13 loss to Miami. He continued experimenting with various backfields, as Billy Hooper, Frank Peschel and Bobby Jones called the plays.

Coach Chalmer (Woody) Woodard of Southern Methodist had no injury trouble, but said he was worried about the way his first two teams defended against Missouri pass plays, run by reserve units Wednesday.

Merlyn Murphey was the only Mustang who played in the 10 to 7 loss to Georgia Tech who wasn't out for the drill, but Woodard said Murphey—No. 2 fullback—would be ready for the Columbia, Mo., game.

The University of Texas had a long drill, but Coach Ed Price gave the Longhorns only a short taste of contact work.

Price had his backs working on pass defense in the scrimmage, then sent them through a long dummy scrimmage on running plays. The linemen concentrated on their offensive and defensive assignments in a ground game.

OU, Longhorn Tilt Rated A 'Tossup'

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 — UP—The big clash of old-time rivals Oklahoma and Texas this Saturday was rated at strictly even money Thursday, even though Oklahoma currently is ranked as the nation's No. 1 football team.

A national syndicate made this estimate in its weekly football odds and placed in the same toss-up category the important inter-sectional games between Southern Methodist and Missouri, and Stanford and Navy.

Oklahoma, idle last week, goes into this week's fray with two wins in two starts while Texas has beaten Washington State 40 to 14, but was defeated by Notre Dame. Recent history also is on the side of the Sooners, who have won five of the last six games in the series. But Oklahoma must operate without ace quarterback Gene Calame, lost with injuries.

One Loss Each

Southern Methodist has been beaten once by Georgia Tech, while Missouri had lost to Purdue—a loss that doesn't look very bad in the light of what Purdue did to Notre Dame last week.

Stanford goes into its clash with Navy, their first meeting in history, fresh from a nationally televised victory over Illinois but Navy also is in top form and now rated one of the East's best teams.

The syndicate foresees a three other big games as close to even money—picking by margins of just one point Houston over Texas A&M, Iowa State over Kansas, and Marquette over Cincinnati.

In this week's nationally televised game, unbeaten Wisconsin was rated a 13-point favorite over visiting Rice.

Purdue Favored

Purdue was figured as a seven-point favorite to follow up its stunning victory over Notre Dame with an inter-sectional triumph over Duke.

In the two big Friday night games that start off the big weekend, Southern California was rated a 13-point choice over Texas Christian and Miami of Florida was picked by a whopping 20 points over twice-beaten Holy Cross.

Other Saturday selections were: EAST — Princeton seven over Pennsylvania, Yale 13 over Columbia, Colgate 15 over Rutgers, Cornell 19 over Harvard, and Army 21 over Dartmouth.

SOUTH — North Carolina six over Georgia, Auburn seven over Kentucky, Georgia Tech 13 over Louisiana State, Mississippi State 13 over Tulane, Florida 14 over Clemson, William & Mary 14 over North Carolina State, Mississippi 19 over Vanderbilt, Maryland 20 over Wake Forest.

MIDWEST — Nebraska six over Kansas State, Ohio State six over Illinois, Oklahoma A&M seven over Wichita, Michigan State 13 over Indiana, Iowa 13 over Michigan, Minnesota 13 over Northwestern, Notre Dame 20 over Pittsburgh.

FAR WEST — Washington State seven over Oregon State, California 13 over Oregon, UCLA 20 over Washington.

Irish Hosts Hereford In 1-AA Opener

SHAMROCK, Oct. 7 — The Shamrock Irish will open their 1954 District 1-AA race here Friday night against the Hereford Whitefaces.

The Irish are still looking for their first win of the season but Coach Scott McCall's inexperienced charges have shown marked improvement since bowing to McLean in the season opener, 45-6.

Hereford will take a 2-2 record into the fracas with the Irish. The Whitefaces have defeated Muleshoe, 19-7, and Tulla, 28-12.

Shamrock defeated Hereford in last year's contest, 26-19.

But the Whitefaces will be favored to win Friday's tilt here.

Following are the season records of the two teams:

'Scrambled Lineup' To Open For OU 11

By RAY FLACK

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 7 — UP—A scrambled University of Oklahoma lineup will try to keep the Sooners' No. 1 national football rating Saturday against their No. 1 rival, Texas, in Dallas.

Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson apparently makes an annual event of juggling player positions before the Texas game — and has won five of the last six games in the two schools' series.

A new, big back field will open the game, with sophomore Jimmy Harris at quarterback and former center Jerry Tubbs, also a soph, at fullback.

The Longhorns will be the "first real test" for the Sooners, Wilkinson said. He said he would have to use two teams against the Longhorns because of the hot Texas weather.

Assistant Coach Ray Nagal, who has scouted all Texas games this season, said the Longhorns have two teams, one as good as the other, which they use interchangeably.

Reports from Texas have nothing but praise for the Sooners. Texas Coach Ed Price said this year's Oklahoma team is the "greatest Sooner team of them all."

Oklahoma's Big Seven campaign will start after the Dallas clash and the Sooners, as usual, are the favorites. Oklahoma has carried off the Big Seven flag for eight years. Nobody in the Midlands expects the situation to change, unless Texas starts a trend of upset victories over Oklahoma.

While the Sooners are considered shoe-ins for the Big Seven title, hope for an Orange Bowl bid keeps the race for second place alive.

Colorado, Nebraska and Missouri are in top contention with Nebraska meeting Kansas State and Kansas playing Iowa State in the Orange Bowl games this week. Colorado meets Arizona and Missouri plays Southern Methodist.

'Upsets' Prove Rough Weekend For 'Experts'

The numerous upsets all around the country last week certainly played havoc with the Pampa News "experts" and the guest forecaster, Masked Marvel Bill Garrett.

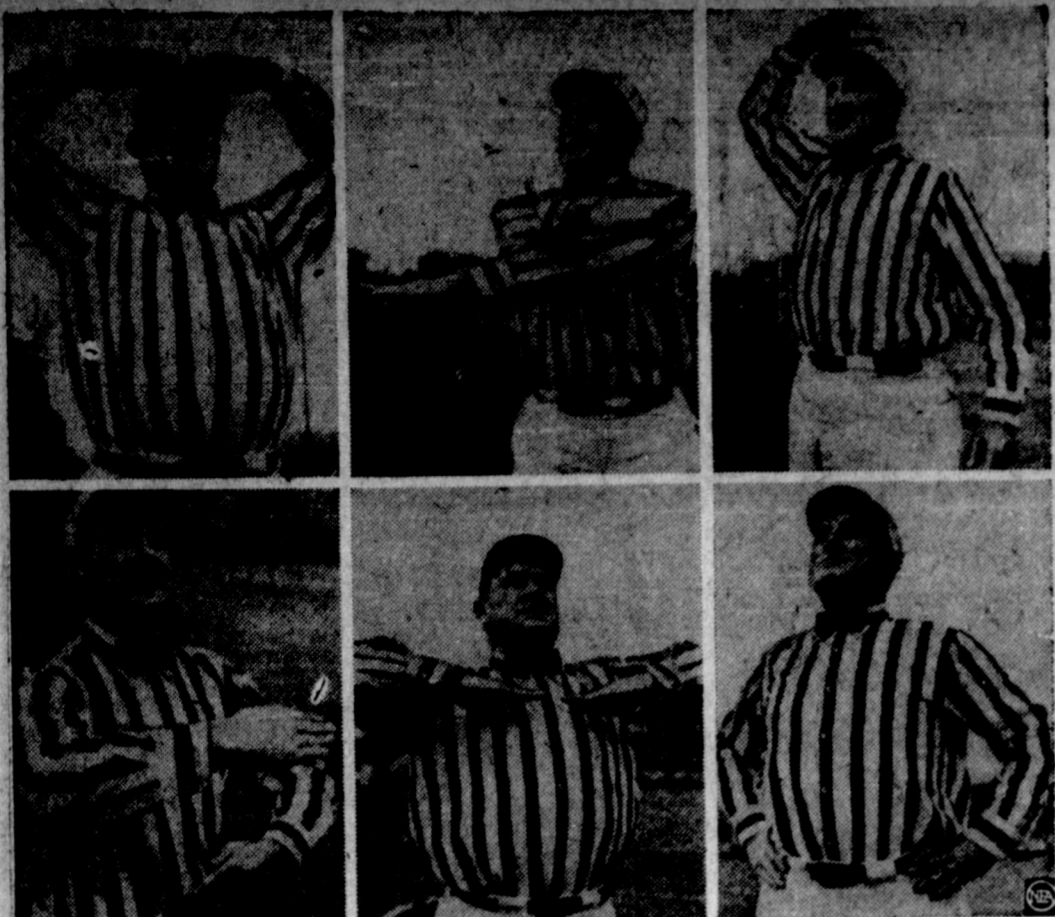

Although none of the three had anything to boast of, last week's title went to Warren Hasse with a 7-5-1 record. Buck Francis was next with 5-7-1 slate and the Masked Marvel had even a rougher week, compiling a 2-10-1 record.

Following are the new contest games:

Perryton Set For Phillips Invasion

PERRYTON, Oct. 7 — One of Ranger Stadium here Friday to witness the "battle of the year" in District 1-A — Perryton vs. Phillips.

Dressen Seeks J. Robinson

By UNITED PRESS
The Brooklyn Dodgers greeted Washington Senators Manager Chuck Dressen "bid" for Jackie Robinson with amused restraint Thursday but other activities along the reawakening baseball front indicated that several major deals may be in the offing.
"I won't even bother to yell 'tempering,'" said E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi, vice-president of the Dodgers, in response to Dressen's statement that he'd "take Robinson." "I'm quite sure Jackie would much prefer to play for the Dodgers than the Senators."
Dressen, in a formal press conference with Washington reporters Wednesday, said he would "take Robinson if I could get him here — and he'd take 15 pounds off — he still can play."
The effervescent Dressen announced that ex-Brooklyn star Cookie Lavagetto had been hired as a Washington coach and that Coach Joe Fitzgibbon and Joe Haynes were being retained. He also predicted the Senators — sixth in the American League this season — "could take it all next year."
General Manager Dick Mayer of the St. Louis Cardinals and General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox, meanwhile, announced their readiness to part with front-line players to aid their teams.
"We might trade Wally Moon reluctantly to get an outstanding pitcher," said Mayer. "We've already discussed major deals with several clubs during the World Series."
Mayer revealed he had offered three players for 13-game winner Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs and also was dickering with the Milwaukee Braves in an effort to acquire Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette or Gene Conley.
Lane, baseball's busiest trader, said he would be willing to deal one of the White Sox' front-line pitchers to obtain a hard-hitting outfielder. Lane mentioned no names but indicated he would surrender 19-game winner Virgil Trucks, 18-game winner Dandy Consuegra or Mike Fornieles to get the outfielder he wanted.

McLean Duo Shares 1-A Scoring Lead

McLean's touchdown twins, Ricky Mantooth and James Smith, are in a dead heat for the individual scoring lead in District 1-A, each having scored 66 points this season.
Both boys have tallied 11 touchdowns to account for all of their points.
The Tiger stars are well ahead of their nearest pursuer, Eugene Schoenhals of Canadian, who has tallied 32 points.
Smith was last week's scoring leader by one touchdown but Mantooth pulled abreast with three TD's against Wheeler Friday while Smith was crossing pay dirt twice.
Following are the District 1-A scorers this season:

Lefors Opens 1-A Slate Tomorrow

LEFORS, Oct. 9 — Two District 1-A "darkhorses," the Lefors Pirates and Memphis Cyclones, will clash here Friday night in the conference opener for both teams.
Memphis is the defending champion of 1-A and is back with another confounding outfit.
Lefors fared well last season, finishing in the first division, but

Tigers Open At Gruver

GRUVER, Oct. 7 — McLean's Tigers, the pre-season choice to win the District 1-A flag, will open their conference state here Friday night against the Gruver Greyhounds.
Both McLean and Gruver are unbeaten this season. The Tigers have won three straight while the Greyhounds have been victorious in their only two starts. Gruver was scheduled to meet Darrouzett last week but the game was cancelled due to numerous injuries on the Darrouzett squad.
Gruver will be making his debut in District 1-A in Friday's game here. The Greyhounds were moved up from the Class B ranks.
Coach Hap Rogers' McLean eleven will rule heavy favorites to win Friday's game here. The Tigers haven't been extended in any of their three games.
McLean is averaging 55 points per game. The lowest an opponent has held McLean was 40 points.
Ricky Mantooth and James Smith, currently tied for the scoring leadership in 1-A, will lead the Tigers into the Gruver contest.
The two teams did not meet last season.
Following are the season records for the two teams:

Breck Tops In Triple A Ranks

DALLAS, Oct. 7 — UP — Three new names appeared among the list of the top 10 Class AAA school-boy football teams Thursday as the top four clubs held to their positions in the weekly poll conducted by the Dallas Morning News.
Austin McCallum, Texarkana and Palestine jumped to eighth, ninth and 10th from 11th, 17th and 12th places a week ago while Sherman, Sweetwater and Lamesa dropped into the second 10.
Breckenridge widened its lead margin over defending state champion Port Neches, but these two clubs, Lufkin and McAllen all were solid choices for the top four spots.
Other changes saw Big Spring move from seventh to fifth, Garland from eighth to sixth and Corsicana from fifth to seventh.
Sherman headed up the second 10, followed by Sweetwater, Lamesa, Nacogdoches, Alice, Conroe, Snyder, Kilgore, Vernon and Victoria.
Digger Looks to Paydirt
TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 7 — UP — Dalton (Digger) Cole, the University of Arizona's cool quarterback, plans to follow in his father's footsteps and become a mortician.

Following is the season record for the two teams:

AROUND THE WORLD

HIGH HOPES — Inside the bulky para-rescue suit being adjusted by two U. S. Air Force men in Los Angeles is nine-year-old Mike Martin, who hopes to be a pilot. Mike's an orphan at the Boys and Girls Aid Society Home in Altadena. He appeared on a TV show and expressed his wish for the future. As a result, he was treated to a full day of Air Force life at March Field.

LIVE TROPHIES — When big game hunter Jack Larson, of Quincy, Mass., arrived in Brooklyn from the Gold Coast of Africa, he had a lot to show for his trip. Monkeys were hanging from his belt, his neck and his arms. Larson got some other animals, of course, but they weren't as easy to manage for a photo as were the playful simians which seem to enjoy captivity.

HELPING OUT—Singer Mrs. Ella Mae Tomevi, left, of Paterson, N. J., and former nightclub entertainer Mrs. Marion Kaufmann, of New York, are crippled by polio. They're learning to adjust their crutches at the New York Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation and are offering their talents to help the Foundation's Emergency March of Dimes drive.

LIGHTS IN THE NIGHT — The historic Palazzo Vecchio is illuminated with hundreds of lights in Florence, Italy, during a special display in that colorful, ancient city. Flags and banners hang from nearby buildings on the Piazza Della Signoria to help the magnificent sight. Florence is a great attraction for all the tourists who visit Italy.

FAMILY DUET — Norma Stein, 15, attended the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., with her father, Keith, who helped found the institution. In 1926, Stein, a high school freshman, played with the second National High School Orchestra in Detroit. Because parents wanted a place to continue music studies during summer months, the National Music Camp was organized. Father and daughter play clarinets.

FRIENDSHIP LIBRARY

GOOD NEIGHBORS—Scheduled to open in September is the new American Memorial Library in the U. S. sector of Berlin. Built for $1,250,000, it is the largest public library in Europe. Huge windows in the reading rooms are shown being polished in the new memorial to the friendship of the U. S. and West Berlin. Workmen are installing huge letters, top right, which will be operated by neon, across the front of the building to mark it. The modern, curved facade of the library contrasts oddly with older architecture, below. Cornerstone for the 650,000-book library was laid in 1952.

A HELPING HAND—Airliner stewardess Mary Lou Taibi, of Kansas City, Mo., was rather surprised to see some policemen in Frankfurt, Germany, dressed in uniforms of about 100 years ago. The idea was supposed to remind drivers and pedestrians of the almost non-existent traffic problem of those days. Mary Lou, a safety expert herself, was in favor of it.

ENOUGH FOR ALL—Or so it appears from the piles of watermelons stacked up awaiting sale to customers who swarm through a market place in Rome. Special trains bring the melons into the Eternal City every night, and the fruit comes in from farm-lands all over that famously fertile country.

DOING ALL RIGHT—James Henfage, nine, has come into a tidy inheritance in Louth, England, from a man he met only once. A distant cousin of James' grandfather willed the boy an estate worth $980,000, plus three villages and an Elizabethan mansion. It all goes into trust until he is 21.

OPTICAL ILLUSION—The high man on that ladder appears to be about to touch the top of the famed obelisk in Paris' Place de la Concorde. But he's actually surveying the area and marking dimensions for a platform to be used by officials during a celebration in the French capital.

SMART—A gal's best friends are a handsome escort and a stunning Glenora Casuals wool tweed jumper which will do things for her figure and insure that she gets taken places. Its slimming lines are relieved by flat tucks at the waist, and a smart touch is added by the buttons which march up to the shoulder. A self-belt completes this outfit.

IN A HUDDLE—Some snow-white pelicans appear to be discussing life in general at the London Zoo. They're among the younger set there and it might well be they're talking over the size of their beaks and fluffiness of their dazzling feathers.

Public Jury

Considering the manner in which the committee of the Senate studying the charges against Sen. Joe McCarthy was manned, the report and recommendations to the Senate are extremely mild.

We have a strong hunch that the general public is going to make, or already has made, its own findings insofar as Joe McCarthy is concerned, and that the report and recommendations of the biased committee will have little if any influence upon the public.

So far as his giving the rough edge of his tongue to Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker is concerned, anyone who is the least concerned by now has discovered for himself that the general dodged and ducked at every turn possible and gave McCarthy and the committee as bad a time as he could. The fact that he may have been acting under orders from the White House doesn't alter the conditions about which McCarthy was questioning him. There are probably hundreds of officers and men who have served under Gen. Zwicker who have heard him "give the word" to underlings with more force and emphasis than McCarthy used and if he had a tongue lashing coming to him it was no worse than he has given at times and probably served him right.

In the matter of McCarthy's failure to appear before an Elections Subcommittee back in 1951-52 is something else again. What it was, if anything, that the committee thought they had on McCarthy, has not been established and we feel certain that if there had been sufficient evidence of wrongdoing to warrant it, his enemies in the Senate (and out) would have been more than happy to make the most of it.

Aside from making headlines, it would appear that all of the fuss and furor over the censure charges accomplished little. Certainly Joe McCarthy has not and will not change, whether the Senate votes censure or not. The issue over Joe in the coming elections is just as hot as ever — with his friends defending him just as stoutly as he could. The report and recommendations of the committee are almost worthless, politically, since Sen. Watkins and the rest of the committee were virtually committed to fight against McCarthy before they started.

If we had our "druthers," we'd druther McCarthy would continue to ferret out the pinks and reds as he has been doing, and at the same time take a little more interest in fighting the socialists and do-gooders who are net members of the Communist conspiracy. And that would mean that Joe would have to take a little more time to study the right and wrong of his belief in form perities and some other points like that. We think that it is deplorable that a guy like Peress can get a promotion and honorable discharge. But we suspect that he does a lot less harm to this country and its future than believers in delicate socialism like Paul Hoffman, Will Clayton, Palmer Hoyt, Edwin R. Morrow and a whole raft of others who want to sell us down the socialist road and at the same time pretend that they are believers in free enterprise and freedom.

It's Your Country

"REPUBLICAN" CONGRESS?

Administration drum beats for Nixon and Martin are imploring the people to elect a Republican Congress to prevent control of Congressional committees from passing to the leftwing Democrats. This would make sense if the administration could be counted upon to support its own committee chairman. But with the treatment of Senator McCarthy still like salt in a fresh wound to a vast number of honest Americans, the plea for Republican-controlled committees has a decidedly hollow ring.

Why elect Republicans if the administration is going to cold-shoulder or persecute them? Unless they're "Eisenhower Republicans" (synonym for "liberal" internationalists) they're likely to be liquidated. McCarthy was a Republican committee chairman who's doing an outstanding job of exposing Communist subversion and infiltration; yet the Eisenhower administration joined with the Communists, the American for Democratic Action, the Committee for an Effective Congress, and other frontiers and leftwingers in an all-out effort to destroy McCarthy and end the effectiveness of his committee.

Double-Edged Sword
This type of high level political activity can become a double-edged sword. In attempting to destroy McCarthy, the administration party destroy the Republican Party, an eventually which Eisenhower's advisers may or may not have foreseen. There is a wide variety of opinion as to who actually liquidated the "red" McCarthy. Some believe that the strategy has been perfectly obvious. First there was the initiation of the smear campaign by leftwing communists and elements; then a series of attacks and innuendoes were dealt McCarthy on every possible occasion by administration leaders, and the President on down, in order to "condition" the minds of the people.

gation, a second travesty on justice, takes place.

Impartial?
The members of this second committee to investigate McCarthy were selected by Eisenhower's trained seal, Vice President Nixon. No one, therefore, was very much surprised when the strong anti-McCarthy sentiments of this supposedly impartial committee quickly became evident. A stunned public listened to the gavel-banging chairman of the new committee say that he did not consider impartiality a necessity in judicial procedure. Thus, with the administration's blessing, the committee proceeded to function as prosecutor, judge, and jury. It refused to accept evidence submitted by McCarthy and his attorney while welcoming further trumped-up charges interjected by the doddering Flanders and other left-wingers.

The full implications of this type of political chicanery through evaluation. Definitely there is a conflict of ideologies involved: internationalist hate and fear. McCarthy and therefore went to destroy him. In addition it seems obvious that Eisenhower is indulging in personal revenge upon McCarthy for his criticism of General George Marshall, the close personal friend to whom the President owes so much and who, either through ignorance or intent, was responsible for delivering China over to the Communists, with the resultant Korean war and the tragic loss of American lives.

Other Implications
There may be still other implications of far-reaching cause and effect. Don Bell, in his Report of September 15, merely to someone evaluating, confusing and contradictory events, the McCarthy investigation is a "series of planned confusion." He says further, "Investigation of McCarthy and his methods are now being used to discredit the Senate itself! One-worshippers fear the power of the United States Senate—for that legislative body solely has power to stop treaties and executive agreements which could commit us to total world government." (Don Bell Reports, P.O. Box 2223, Palm Beach, Florida.) If the master plan does call for destruction of public confidence in the Senate, quite a number of "liberal" Republican and leftwing senators are demonstrating their willingness for the Senate to be discredited.

Why UN Will Not Promote Peace

I never saw a clearer explanation as to why the United Nations cannot be successful in its objective of promoting peace than was written by Dr. W. Orval Watts in a recent issue of Christian Economics. I want to quote some of his statements in this article as to why the United Nations will not promote peace. He writes:

"The truth is, I believe, that the way to peace is not at all through surrender of national sovereignties, but through individual freedom and growth of understanding. This was the faith of the Founding Fathers of these United States, and insofar as they and their descendants acted upon it, there was peace among the members of this Union."

Then Dr. Watts points out that the federal government was definitely limited in its powers. It was limited both as to what it could do to the individual and what it could do to the different states. Then he explains that this limitation of the federal government would not have been a means of promoting peace unless the different states also had limited powers similar to those limited by the federal government. Then he observes:

"Finally, all of the constitutions, both state and federal, provided means by which the people's representatives might take back any of the limited authority delegated to these governments. 'The Founding Fathers intend ed, therefore, that government should never assume sovereignty, but that it should exercise only a delegated authority to protect the individual's inalienable rights, that is, the inherent right of self-government."

United Nations Different
But how having limited government is the different members of the United Nations. They have an entirely different concept of natural rights. The original concept of natural rights of the individual of our Founding Fathers, was that men had a moral right to pursue happiness, but they had no right to it unless they were capable of bringing happiness about.

But the Charter of the UN has an entirely different concept of natural rights. It contends that man has a right to food, clothing and shelter whether or not he gets them on a voluntary basis. In other words, the government is not limited. It has the right to take food, clothing and shelter from one group and give them to other individuals that is the UN's concept of natural rights. The original concept of natural rights in the United States government and in the different state governments was entirely different.

Differences Caused Civil War
And when the Southern states contended that the Negro did not have the same inalienable rights as the white man and used the force of government to try to interfere with these natural rights, then the result was civil war, just as civil war would be bound to follow in the United Nations where the individual nations are not restricted to the natural rights coming from God.

Games With Different Rules
It is no more rational to believe that the United Nations can promote peace than it is possible to believe that a baseball league, where the different teams had different rules of the game, could participate in inter-games that would result in anything but a brawl and a fight.

The United Nations cannot promote peace so long as the different nations believe that there are no principles governing individual human relations that the state needs to respect. Most of the members of the UN deny the statement made by Jefferson that "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

There can be no successful government without using the same principles for nations as govern individuals. Does any American citizen believe that the Communist governments are operating on the same principles that our Founding Fathers established in the United States?

Some time ago "The Cracker Barrel" reported the shocking disregard for the decencies of American self-government and the irresponsible endorsement of world government that was evident in the Girl Scout Handbook, edition of 1953. I'm happy to say that the indignation of parents and patriotic groups has produced some welcome changes. The 1954 edition, to appear in September, will include a copy of the Declaration of Independence, The Constitution and the Bill of Rights. It also will include a map of the United States and three stanzas of the national anthem. Where the girls once were urged to proselyte for the United Nations they now will be urged to study it objectively. This is one battle of the cold war that's been won by rank and file Americans.

These are the only people who can win the fight to preserve America's liberties, because these are the only people who WANT TO WIN IT.

Reduced US Spending Helps Climate Along Wall Street

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Wall Street bigwigs' private explanations for the prolonged bullish spirits in the stock market, which has rocked along for many months at high levels, has broad-and-butter meaning for every American. They advanced their analysis at the solicitation of their friends within the White House circle who sought the low-down for politico-economic reasons.

The phenomenon struck Washington as noteworthy because there are so many bearish influences abroad and at home. President Eisenhower has reduced Government spending that helped to strengthen so many securities. Russia has made numerous gains in her attempt to weaken the western world and to discredit the free enterprise system.

The Allies have appeared to be on the brink of a breakup, even before French rejection of the European Defense Community.

The country faces a Congressional election in which it is possible that Eisenhower's conservative, pro-business policies may be repudiated by the Democratic Congress.

And following are their answers to such inquiring reporters as Cabinet members Sinclair Weeks, Charles E. Wilson and George M. Humphrey, the three Eisenhower officials most closely connected with "the street."

The bankers, the brokers, the financiers and the industrialists polled in this confidential survey gave three principal reasons for their confidence in the present and future of the United States, to wit:

- (1) They do not believe that Russia will engage in open warfare, or permit any of her major satellites, which means China, to undertake guerrilla or open hostilities on a large scale. While there may be sporadic fighting, they do not anticipate a global conflict involving the United States or its European Allies.
- (2) They look for eventual settlement of the critical problem of Europe, and do so even when a settlement seemed extremely unlikely. In fact, it is believed that these powerful international interests have exerted all possible pressure on London and Paris for an agreement.
- (3) Two of Wall Street's most prominent figures have operated behind the scenes of the current diplomatic controversies. They are Clarence Dillon, former head of Dillon, Read & Co., now Ambassador to France; and Winthrop W. Aldrich, former board chairman of the National City Bank, who represents the United States at the Court of St. James. Both firms have helped to finance the French and British in times past, and may do so again, if...

Ickes Diary Shows Power Col. House Held Over FDR

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — For evidence of the power of Colonel E. M. House in the Roosevelt administration as well as in the terms of Woodrow Wilson, I direct you to pages 109 and 110 of the first volume of Harold Ickes' diary, published by Simon and Schuster, which is largely owned by Marshall Field.

Today's essay will include other collateral historic information on a subject which the historians of the vast and predatory American "educational" system have maintained an evil, guilty silence. I refer, of course, to House's horribly trashy, political novel, "Philip Dru: Administrator," a pattern of revolution against the Constitution of the United States for a dictatorship under a "leader" called the "administrator."

I have recovered from the obscurity of the files and archives the facts that House began to cultivate F. D. Roosevelt's mother even before he drew a bead on mama's boy in Washington, when mama's boy was assistant secretary of the Navy in the Wilson regime. I have shown that Roosevelt went to House's summer home in Massachusetts on a pleasure cruise in a yacht with two of his sons, soon after his first acceptance speech in Chicago, in 1932. This plainly was a political pilgrimage.

It occurs to me that George Sylvester Viereck, the poet, and propagandist, knew so much about House's relations with Roosevelt as to suggest a political reason for his imprisonment on a flimsy charge during World War I. Unquestionably House confided in Viereck. He says House was the one who advised Roosevelt to make his dramatic descent from the air into Chicago for his acceptance.

In his diary, Ickes wrote that House called on him on Oct. 18, 1932, when the first new deal was just beginning to roll. Roosevelt was adopting, though they were his own, the principles of "Philip Dru" and appointing many "administrators." He liked this term and used it many times.

Marvin McIntyre phoned Ickes from the White House to tell him that House was in conference with Roosevelt and that Roosevelt "especially" wanted Ickes to see him. McIntyre said Roosevelt had said many "nice things" about him to House so Ickes was "very much interested" to see the wily little plotter from Texas.

"He was," Ickes wrote, "such an important figure during the Wilson administration and the world war. He was very friendly and cordial and repeated what McIntyre had told me about the president wanting him to meet me. He said the president had great plans for the future in which I and one or two other cabinet members figured."

At this point it should be remembered that in the magazine version of Ickes' diary Ickes foresaw a society of "modified Communism" for the United States, a statement which was deleted from the book version. This deletion was made notwithstanding a declaration on the word of "Simon and Schuster" on the flyleaf that the sections of Ickes' diary published here are exactly as they were written, with no changes or editing.

To resume the significant references in Ickes' diary, we find Ickes revealing in a statement by House that Roosevelt had described him as a strong and able man which House regarded as a "rare combination." House commended Ickes on his "work" which was consistent with the general assault on the integrity of the states set forth in "Philip Dru." He asked Ickes to lunch with him when he found himself in New York, House asked how he was getting along with Dan Roper, secretary of commerce, and with Cordell Hull, secretary of state.

"I gathered," Ickes wrote, "that these two men were looming rather large in his mind, out of the cabinet membership. He spoke highly of both and indicated that he thought Hull had come into his own. He told me he had suggested Hull to the president for secretary of state. Later in the afternoon, when I called up Roper on another matter, he told me that Colonel House was with him."

The meat of this is that this conspirator, who had wrought a lot of his revolution against the Constitution under Wilson, was really going to town under FDR. He had named or suggested most of Wilson's original cabinet, according to his edited "letters" and, in the same authority, House boasted that he had picked Henry Morgenthau, Sr., for ambassador to Turkey.

Viereck says House told him he picked William E. Dodd, a quarrelsome old fool with a petty quarrel as a pedagogue, for ambassador to Nazi Germany. Dodd's son later was barred from government employment by act of Congress as a Red. In Berlin, Dodd, himself ed his utmost to bring on the war with Nazi Germany. It later developed that Roosevelt thought he was appointing Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton.

Charles Seymour, professor of history at Yale and later president wrote in his running comment as editor of House's "intimate papers" that "Philip Dru" gave an insight into the main political and social

ONE ROOSEVELT WAS ENOUGH

(The Chicago Tribune)

The Democrats of New York have given their nomination for governor to Averell Harriman in preference to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. It is a plain fact that the political career of Roosevelt Sr. spelled the extinction of Roosevelt Jr. The members of his party could see mirrored in him qualities which they were all too familiar.

The Democratic bosses saw in Junior, as in his parent, self-centered overambition. The professionals are in the game on a basis of give and take. For their support, they expect something in return. Roosevelt Sr. was glad to have their help on the way up. He cut them cold after he had arrived. Politics has no better example of ingratitude than the parent's dismissal of Jim Farley who made his nomination possible.

The New York bosses saw a pattern of what to expect from the son in the example of his father. They were convinced that, if they helped Junior on his way, they might try to tell him what was good for him and the party, but that, in his vanity, he wouldn't listen. They saw in him the makings of a conscienceless demagogue in the family tradition. Not that they are insistent on conscience; but demagogues, when they feel that the people are partly in their hands, also feel that they have risen above the party and are independent of it.

So it was Roosevelt Sr., rather than Roosevelt Jr., who was overwhelmingly rejected by the Democrats of New York. Maybe among these men there were some who still have some sense of responsibility to their state and country. If so, they are well aware of the blighting effects of the four Roosevelt terms upon the nation. They could not want, even for partisan advantage, to see this ruinous progression started anew.

There were elements of comedy in the convention contest between two rich men's sons, seeking to outdo each other in the pose of clamor of the common herd.

Card of Thanks

You are gone but not forgotten. The one we love so well. The loneliness that has been ours no tongue can ever tell. Come winter (this, come summer time). Come sweet and cleansing rain. Come springtime and the Autumn. Both sun and moon shall wait. Come seed time and the flowering and the harvesting of grain. The earth will cease and time grow old. But we shall meet again. Now you will sleep a little while. And dream in peace, please God. Then one day you will follow us. And sleep, too, beneath the sod. To rise with us and walk again. With a vague sense of remembering that we had loved in other lives. Before this happy ascending.

Will Fogelman

We wish to express our most sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors in Pampa, McLean and vicinity, and LaBrea for the many acts of kindness and the time of sorrow in the loss of our father who passed to his reward on Oct. 27. For the meals prepared and served in our home, the messages of condolence, and beautiful flowers and to Rev. J. T. Huchaby of LaBrea Methodist Church for the comforting services. And to those who served as pallbearers. Also to Clayton Funeral Home, McLean, for the beautiful casket. We are very grateful. Mr. & Mrs. Geo. Fogelman.
