Monahans baby born 11:11 a.m. on 11/11/11

By Audrie Palmer
Staff Writer

Alyssa Jyselle Cota was supposed to make her debut in the world via C-section at 8:30 a.m. Friday. But when her parents, Amanda and Anthony Cota, drove from Monahans the labor delivery room at Odessa Regional Medical Center was full.

So they waited, and at about 11 a.m., Amanda Cota was taken in for the procedure. Dr. John Molland looked at the clock and realized that if they waited a few minutes more, the Cotas could have the hospital's only baby born at 11:11 a.m. on 11/11/11.

"We couldn't sleep last night. We've been waiting for this day to happen," said Anthony Cota.

Alyssa is Anthony Cota's first child and the first grandbaby for his side of the family; he also has two stepchildren: a son, 7, and a daughter, 5.

Molland said some patients and parents are superstitious and want their children born at certain times or on certain days. The labor delivery unit was especially busy Friday because of the 11/11/11 date, staff said.

"This wasn't necessarily planned to be that way," the obstetrician said. "It just worked out in that fashion. I guess it was in the stars."

When Amanda Cota was taken into the delivery room, Molland told the hospital staff it would be interesting if the baby was born at 11:11 a.m.

By that time, he already had delivered two other babies Friday and said both the deliveries were spontaneous and unplanned.

While last year had 10/10/10, Molland said he can't recall any births on that day.

"Some people think numbers like that are interesting," he said.

Hospital staff presented Alyssa with a pink teddy bear and piggy bank. Mother and baby will head home to Monahans on Sunday, family said.

Anthony Cota found it interesting that his birthday, Nov. 8, which sometimes is Election Day, and his daughter's is on Veterans Day.

"Words can't really describe how this can make you feel being able to have a daughter," he said. "It's the best birthday present I've ever had."

Film producer shares joys of brother's influence

By Kathleen Thurber
Staff Writer

Jon loves his glow sticks. He has a routine of folding paper, will point when he needs to get someone's attention and completes his sit-ups on schedule each night.

And although the middle-aged man who lives with severe Down syndrome likely will never talk in complete sentences, his sister, filmmaker Jennifer Owensby, said the lessons Jon has to share are the most valuable she's ever experienced.

"It's up to us to look at our life and our conditions from a more positive and uplifting way," Owensby said during a telephone interview, describing what she's learned from Jon. "We have to do that work no matter what our situation is."

Owensby, who will lead workshops with siblings and parents today as part of SHARE's (Sharing Hands a Respite Experience) Sibling Celebration, said she always has viewed Jon as an asset to the family. Knowing others don't always have that same perspective, she wanted to show Jon for who he is.

So she made a documentary, "The Teachings of Jon," which chronicles Jon's daily life. It has aired on PBS.

"I wanted people to enjoy my brother because he's so much fun," Owensby said. "Other films are depressing and tragic. I just thought, 'My goodness, my story is so different from that.' I

Obituaries

Adele P. Slagle

Adele P. Slagle was born at Fortress Monroe, Virginia on November 21, 1917 to John Perkins and Annie Muldrow Perkins.

Dell grew up in Alpine, Texas. She loved Alpine. She fondly remembered her years there and the dusty shopping trips to San Antonio and El Paso where they traveled at night in their unair-conditioned car. She graduated high school from the Hockaday School in Dallas and later graduated from the University of Oklahoma, where she was a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority. Afterwards she attended Columbia University in New York, receiving a Masters Degree in music. She loved to sing and play the organ.

Before World War II Dell moved to Midland, Texas with her husband, James Brooks. Mr. Brooks entered the Army Air Corps early in World War II and was killed in a training flight. Adele then joined the American Red Cross where she was trained as a Hospital Recreation Specialist. She was sent to the Pacific and spent the rest of the war working in field hospitals from New Guinea to the Philippines.

After returning home to Midland, she remarried and moved to Scottsdale, Arizona. She thoroughly enjoyed Arizona and developed a great passion for sailing. She had a beautiful 26-foot sailboat. Dell loved to go to the lake, sail and sleep on the boat.

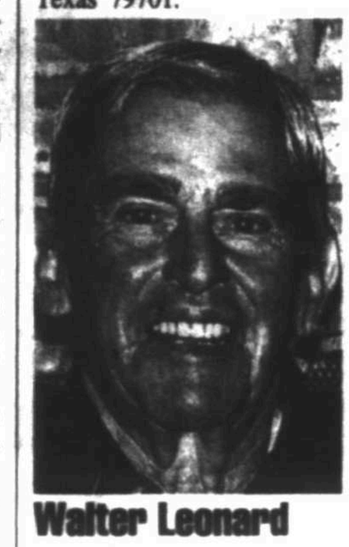

She had no children of her own. At the age of 52, after the death of her husband, Warren Dahl, she became the guardian of her two great nephews, John and Chris Nichols. She was a wonderful mother, encouraging and supporting all of their endeavors.

In 1976 Dell returned to Midland to care for her mother. She subsequently married Melvin Slagle and moved to Benbrook, Texas where she lived for 20 years. There she was actively involved in attending classes at the Tarrant County College where she was a Board Member for a number of years; she especially enjoyed the painting classes. She also organized and led visits of groups to museums, art galleries and other places of cultural interest. She had a great love for the arts, attending operas, symphonies and ballets on a regular basis.

After Mr. Slagle died, she traveled extensively throughout North and Central America, Europe, the Pacific islands and the Far East. She was interested in learning as much as possible about the places she was visiting. Consequently, most of her trips were with small groups led by knowledgeable tour guides. Her last trip was to Alaska, at the age of 89, to see the Muldrow Glacier, which was named for her uncle, Robert Muldrow, one of the surveyors of Denali.

Dell moved to Fair Oaks Ranch in 2006 to be close to her brother, John Perkins, and her niece, Matilda Perkins. She passed away peacefully on October 28, 2011 and will be greatly missed. She is survived by her brother, John Perkins, her niece and nephew, Matilda Perkins, and John M. Perkins, her great nephews, John W. Nichols and Christopher P. Nichols and 2 great great nieces, Lindsay and Charlotte Nichols.

Judge who beat older daughter given restraining order

Associated Press

McALLEN — A Texas family law judge seen beating his older daughter in a video she posted on YouTube has been placed under a temporary restraining order, and his ex-wife's attorney said Friday it effectively prevents him from visiting his younger daughter.

Under the order issued Thursday by another judge, Aransas County Court-at-Law Judge William Adams is forbidden from visiting his 10-year-old daughter without getting permission from the girl's mother, his ex-wife. The order also said Adams can't disparage the woman or drink alcohol within 24 hours of seeing his child.

Brett Pritchard, the attorney for Adams' ex-wife Hallie Adams, said in a prepared statement that the ruling "temporarily terminates the visitation between Judge Adams and his younger child."

William Adams' attorney did not respond to a request for comment Friday from the Associated Press.

State District Judge Kemper Stephen Williams scheduled a hearing for Nov. 21 to decide on Hallie Adams' request to have William Adams' visitation denied or require that it be supervised. William Adams has not held court since his 23-year-old daughter Hillary Adams released a secretly recorded 2004 video of him beating her with a belt.

William Adams faced public calls for his resignation and threats after Hillary Adams posted the 8-minute clip on YouTube that shows her father viciously lashing her with a belt and trying to force her to bend over her bed to be beaten despite her pleas to stop.

Hallie Adams filed an affidavit Thursday claiming a dysfunctional 22-year marriage and conflict that continued since their 2007 divorce. Pritchard said the furious reaction to the video triggered the legal move.

"The impetus is (Hallie Adams) doesn't feel at first that her daughter is safe going down there to be with the judge right now," Pritchard said. "The impetus now is the result of the video, not necessarily the video itself."

Officials still trying to find source of illnesses

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Houston school and health officials are still trying to determine why 22 members of the Austin High drill team and band became ill during a football game last weekend.

The public school system issued a statement Friday that said city health inspectors and a private firm have given Barnett Stadium a clean bill of health.

As a precaution, games scheduled at the stadium this week had already been moved.

On Nov. 4, hazmat crews were sent to the stadium in southeast Houston after several Austin High band members became ill during a game against Yates. Symptoms included severe nausea, dizziness and vomiting.

Weekly US oil and gas rig count drops by 10

The number of rigs actively exploring for oil and natural gas in the U.S. dropped by 10 this week to 2,016.

Houston-based drilling product provider Baker Hughes Inc. reported Friday that 1,133 rigs were exploring for oil and 877 for natural gas. Six were listed as miscellaneous. A year ago this week the rig count stood at 1,685.

Of the major oil- and gas-producing states only Louisiana and Oklahoma saw their rig totals rise, with Louisiana gaining six and Oklahoma one.

Wyoming dropped by six, while North Dakota decreased by four. Pennsylvania and Texas each lost three, and Alaska and Colorado lost one each. Arkansas, California, New Mexico and West Virginia remained unchanged.

The rig count peaked at 4,530 in 1981. A low of 488 was recorded in 1999.

Water restrictions ahead for city

The impact of the drought is still felt in North Texas, where watering restrictions continue.

Beginning Dec. 12, Dallas Water Utilities customers in Dallas and other cities only will be able to use sprinklers two days a week. Dallas City Manager Mary Suhm said stricter conditions could be in place by summer.

DWU serves more than 2.3 million people in nearly two dozen cities.

Suhm told the Dallas Morning News that the only way DWU could avoid use restrictions in coming months is "if it starts raining now and rains through spring."

2 women charged with buying, selling baby

Associated Press

ABILENE — A West Texas woman is accused of buying a 7-week-old infant from the child's mother for $2,000 — to be paid in installments, Abilene police said Friday.

The woman, Marilu Munoz, 27, and the child's mother, Joana Delacruz Huerta, 29, were charged late Thursday with the sale or purchase of an infant, a third-degree felony, police said.

Police said they found out about the alleged sale from an anonymous tip Thursday morning.

Some of the scheduled payments already had happened, police Sgt. Lynn Beard said.

"It was a one-on-one kind of thing, just someone who wanted a baby," Beard said.

Huerta remained in the Taylor County Jail on $5,000 bond. Munoz was released after posting bail Friday. Neither woman could be reached for comment, and no attorneys were listed for either of them in jail records.

Police said Huerta admitted she had been pregnant and told officers where she thought the baby might be. Police found the child at an Abilene residence unharmed.

Police said they did not know who the baby's biological father was or how the two women had initially crossed paths. Munoz's husband, an illegal immigrant whose name was not released, was placed on an immigration hold at the county jail, Beard said.

"The first priority was finding the child," Beard said.

The infant was taken into custody by Child Protective Service, authorities said.

"We have placed her in a foster home where she is being nurtured and loved," said CPS spokeswoman Marleigh Meisner.

The agency anticipates going to court in the next few weeks where a judge will determine temporary custody.

Beard said the police investigation is ongoing and authorities don't know why the people involved did not go through an adoption agency. He said he expects additional charges to be filed.

"It's the first time in my 13 years (in law enforcement) that I remember this happening," Beard said.

Mark T. McDermott, legislative director for the American Academy of Adoption Attorneys, said "The vast majority of adoptions are done carefully and legally and with a lot of court scrutiny."

Baby-selling is a far cry from legal adoption in several ways but "in adoption, you're not allowed to pay the birth mother or birth father," McDermott said. Although a birth mother can be reimbursed for her living expenses in some states, there are very strict laws about what can and can't be paid and "no money is paid to the birth mother," the lawyer said.

Attorney, DNA exonerees settle suits over fees

Associated Press

DALLAS — A Texas attorney who has helped wrongly convicted former inmates receive state compensation has reached an out-of-court settlement with three who sued over his fees.

Kevin Glasheen, of Lubbock, announced the settlements with Steven Phillips, Patrick Waller and James Giles Friday. The men who were exonerated by DNA evidence contended in suits filed in Dallas in 2009 that Glasheen did not merit his 25-percent contingency fee.

The confidential settlements follow a ruling by State District Judge Ken Molberg that allowed portions of the suits to go forward.

Glasheen is credited with pushing the Legislature to pass a law in 2009 that pays exonerees $80,000 for each year they were wrongly imprisoned.

A lawsuit filed earlier this year by the State Bar of Texas accusing Glasheen of professional misconduct is pending.

Today in history

Today is Saturday, Nov. 12, the 316th day of 2011. There are 49 days left in the year.

Today's highlight:

On Nov. 12, 2001, American Airlines Flight 587, an Airbus A300 headed to the Dominican Republic, crashed after takeoff from New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport, killing all 260 people on board and five people on the ground. (Investigators later determined that part of the tail assembly of the jetliner had fallen off, and blamed pilot error, inadequate pilot training and overly sensitive rudder controls.)

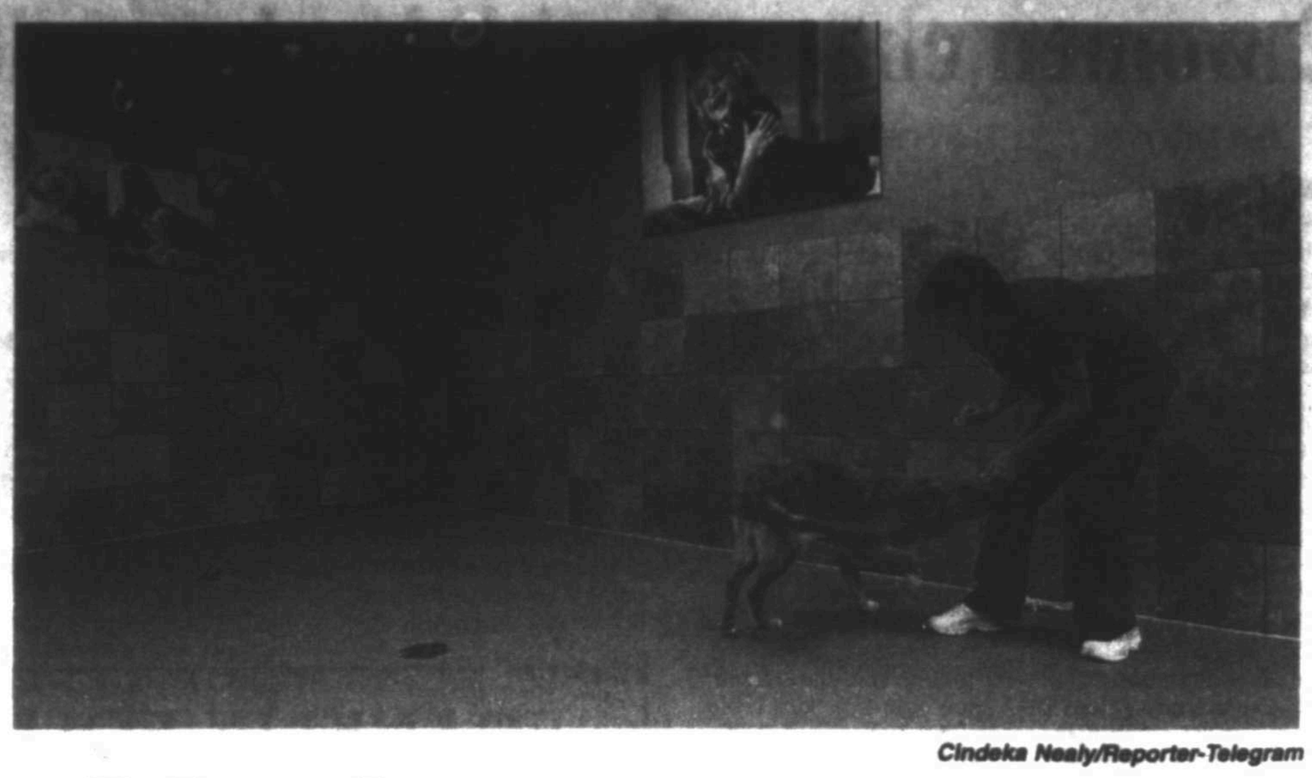

On this date:

In 1927, Josef Stalin became the undisputed ruler of the Soviet Union as Leon Trotsky was expelled from the Communist Party.

In 1942, the World War II naval Battle of Guadalcanal began. (The Allies ended up winning a major victory over the Japanese.)

In 1948, former Japanese premier Hideki Tojo and several other World War II Japanese leaders were sentenced to death by a war crimes tribunal.

Today's birthdays: Sportscaster Al Michaels is 67. Singer-songwriter Neil Young is 66. Olympic gold medal gymnast Nadia Comaneci is 50. Actor Ryan Gosling is 31.

Adoption center to open

Norma "Steg" Stegall, Midland Humane Coalition executive director, plays with a "Susie" in the play room Nov. 3 in the new adoption center at PetSmart in Midland. The PetSmart Charities Adoption Center will have its grand opening today. The center will be run by staff and volunteers with the Midland Humane Coalition. PetSmart Charities, a nonprofit arm that grew out of the retail chain, opened a shelter within one of its Fort Worth stores in 2010 and almost immediately the city started seeing results. It had euthanized 2,500 "adoptable" animals the year before the center opened and now has brought that number down to zero, according to a city spokesman. In fiscal year 2011, 3,673 animals were euthanized at Animal Services in Midland; of these, 1,486 were classified as "adoptable," according to city officials.

MPD concludes 2-year drug probe

From staff reports

The Midland Police Department on Friday announced the conclusion of a two-year-long undercover drug sting — Operation Soul Crusher.

The investigation led to the seizure of 36.509 kilograms of crack cocaine, 4 kilograms of cocaine, 2 kilograms of methamphetamine and $88,100 in cash, according to a news release from MPD.

In fall 2009, MPD began investigating a drug trafficking organization operating in the Midland/Odessa area. During the course of the investigation, numerous undercover officers purchased crack cocaine; the purchases led to several arrests. Detectives worked their way up the drug trafficking chain of command and identified the people supplying powder cocaine to the organization, the person who was converting the drug into crack cocaine and the people who transported the crack cocaine from Amarillo to Midland, according to the release.

A Midland federal grand jury indicted 33 people in December 2010 on charges of conspiracy to distribute crack cocaine. One defendant was found guilty at trial; the others pleaded guilty before their cases went to trial.

MISD: Officials have responded to bomb threat

From staff reports

Midland Independent School District officials said a person has been apprehended for his role in displaying a message about a bomb threat at Midland High School.

Superintendent Ryder Warren said a "young man" was apprehended after he showed up at school with something on his hands that was consistent with the substance used to indicate a bomb threat.

On Friday morning, school officials saw on a window a message indicating there could be a "bomb at 2:30" at the school, Warren said. Shoe polish was used on the window, and teachers noticed a similar substance on the person's hands. "He didn't wash his hands," Warren said.

"The young man, who graffitied the window at Midland High School, has been caught," Warren said. "He did confess that he did not plan to set off a bomb."

Warren said district officials went through standard procedures, including a sweep of the building. District officials continued to monitor the situation until the "young man" was apprehended.

"I appreciate all the hard work of the MHS staff on handling the situation and keeping the kids safe," Warren said.

VETERANS

who spent his 98th birthday surrounded by family and friends, was wheeled outdoors by his nephew, Larry Swafford, and Swafford's wife, Jennan.

Jennan Swafford said her mother was the fifth resident of the home and the first woman to be admitted when the state home opened. Swafford, a retired nurse who worked at the VA Medical Center, said her mother has died, but she and her husband still visit the home once a week to be with Echols and his brother, Laverne J. Echols, also a World War II veteran.

"It's always been something we've been involved with," she said. "Veterans Day is something we remember every year."

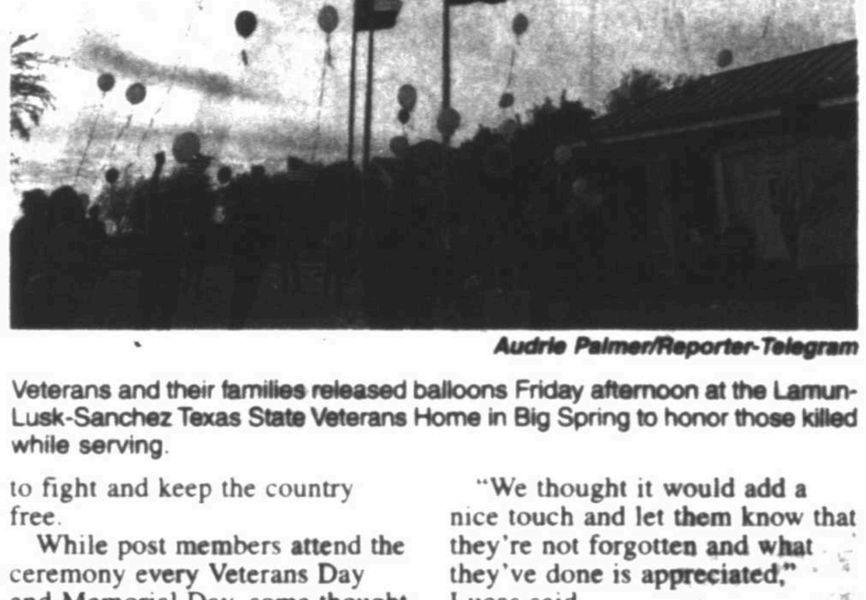

Larry Swafford called the ceremony both heartwarming and moving.

For post commander Steven Lucas, the holiday is the one day a year that's set aside for remembering veterans who have helped to fight and keep the country free.

While post members attend the ceremony every Veterans Day and Memorial Day, some thought they should give out certificates to show their appreciation to those who have served.

"We thought it would add a nice touch and let them know that they're not forgotten and what they've done is appreciated," Lucas said.

have to do this as a comedy and a documentary."

Owensby didn't even know Jon existed until she was 6 years old.

It was the 1960s and her parents, along with much of society, believed the family and Jon would be better off if he were in professional care. The first time Owensby met him, the family had driven to pick him up from the home where he'd been placed because his caretaker had died. They intended to place him in another home within a few days.

Then, a snow storm hit and Owensby said their plans changed.

Her parents had left the children in their hotel room while they went to buy dinner. They had placed Jon in a playpen when they left and assumed he still would be there when they returned. When they got back, they found Jon in the midst of their other children, playing and having a good time.

"He kind of smiled for the first time," Owensby said. "Us kids pretty much begged, 'Can we bring him home?'"

Owensby said it was an adjustment for their family, but she thought having her new brother at home was the best thing. She liked to show him to friends and enjoyed spending time with him more than anyone else. The family quickly learned they would have to adjust to Jon rather than forcing him to adjust to them, and from there, life took on a new normal.

"He just kind of changed all of our lives," she said.

She noticed that other people didn't look at Jon like she did. Some would look away and pretend they didn't see him; others would address her like he wasn't standing there and still others became uncomfortable.

"He's just an amazing person but nobody could see it because he doesn't talk," Owensby said.

Through her film, Owensby said she hoped to provide a new perspective for those who don't have experience with people like Jon.

"This is the film I've been wanting to make my whole life," Owensby said.

Since it first aired in 2006, Owensby said she's received letters from all over the country. Some identify with Jon and are glad she told his story. Others don't have any experience with someone with special needs but said they were inspired to work through their own situations after seeing Jon.

She said the positives that come from having a sibling like Jon is what she wants the children attending the workshop to understand.

Having a brother or sister with a disability is different, she said. But, it's a different situation that can be great.

"Siblings of people with mental retardation — they're more responsible, more independent, more compassionate, and often assume leadership roles," Owensby said, citing studies that have been done on sibling groups.

"People like Jon really affect people in a positive way."

Tom Jones, executive director of SHARE, said the organization will have workshops for younger siblings, teens and parents during the day and a celebration during the evening.

"What we're trying to do is show the siblings or make the siblings aware that there are good things that can come out of having a brother or sister with a disability," he said.

Student charged with assaulting teacher

By James Cannon
Staff Writer

A Midland High School student remained in jail Friday night after she was arrested for allegedly assaulting a teacher.

Bershunta Jo'Lissa Frazier, 17, is being held on a $7,500 bond for a third-degree felony charge of assault on a public servant.

Frazier

Frazier and another female student were arguing on Nov. 2. As Frazier approached the other student to confront her, the teacher, Laura Shatto, "attempted to defuse the situation by getting between both girls," according to the arrest report.

Frazier began hitting the teacher on her left arm near the shoulder. She had to seek treatment from the school nurse for her injuries, according to the report.

Midland County detectives analyzed photos of Shatto's injuries and reviewed witness statements, and then arrested Frazier on Wednesday.

Messages left with Principal Jeff Horner were unanswered; Superintendent Ryder Warren said he was unable to comment because he was not familiar with the situation.

If Frazier is convicted of the third-degree felony of assault, she could face up to 10 years in prison.

James Cannon can be reached at jcannon@mrt.com.

Change in pipeline plan could present new problems

Associated Press

BILLINGS, Mont. — The White House plan to seek alternate routes for a Canada-to-Texas oil pipeline presents a tangle of new problems for the project's backers, and any of those obstacles could still sink the proposal before the first spade of dirt is turned.

Shifting the path to avoid a major aquifer could increase the number of perilous stream crossings and put the line closer to populated areas. Major changes also risk alienating pipeline supporters, who tout the economic benefits of creating thousands of jobs. And the most vocal opponents plan to keep up their fight regardless of the route.

The obstacles are tall enough, some observers say, that Canada's oil-sands industry could even decide to bypass U.S. markets altogether and sell fuel directly to China using a pipeline through western Canada to the shores of the Pacific.

TransCanada's $7 billion Keystone XL pipeline would carry up to 700,000 barrels of crude a day from Alberta's tar sands to Gulf Coast refineries. The original route crossed six states, including Nebraska, where opponents worried about threats to the massive Ogallala aquifer. The line also would pass through Montana, South Dakota, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Largely because of complaints from Nebraska, the State Department agreed Thursday to look for new routes that would steer clear of the state's Sandhills region and the aquifer, which flows beneath eight states and provides irrigation to huge farming areas. That effort will delay a final decision until early 2013.

TransCanada's director of field operations, Jim Krause, declined Friday to go into any detail about possible alternative routes.

Thirteen alternate routes were reviewed and rejected by the State Department over the past three years. Among those were paths to follow an existing TransCanada pipeline that roughly tracks the Canadian border east from Montana across North Dakota and then turns south to go through eastern South Dakota and Nebraska.

That option, favored by Nebraska's governor, passes through a much smaller portion of the Ogallala aquifer.

But it was rejected in part because the route is longer and would have raised the project's price tag by about 25 percent, or an estimated $1.7 billion.

Also rejected were two routes that paralleled a stretch of Interstate 90 in South Dakota to avoid the Sandhills. Those would have cost almost $500 million more and involved putting the line through more densely populated areas and across more streams and rivers that could be fouled if the conduit broke or leaked.

Two western routes that passed through Wyoming and Colorado were thrown out because they would have added several hundred miles to the line, again making it more expensive.

Texas cattleman gets prison over bank loan fraud

A Texas Panhandle cattleman has been sentenced to nine years in prison and must repay nearly $9.3 million over bank fraud.

A federal judge in Amarillo on Thursday afternoon sentenced 34-year-old Tyler Holstein, of Hereford. Prosecutors say Holstein pleaded guilty in August to making a false statement on a loan application.

Tyler Holstein owned and operated J Bar H Cattle Company.

Investigators said Holstein had about 10,000 head of cattle, including some he was feeding for Friona Industries L.P. when he falsely claimed he owned all of the animals to seek credit from an Amarillo bank.

Prosecutors said Holstein also had a line of credit at another bank, to buy cattle, but when he sold the animals he failed to repay the bank, as required.

Perry to tackle foreign policy tonight

By Richard S. Dunham
Houston Chronicle

The debate

- When: 7 p.m.
- Where: Wofford College in Spartanburg, S.C.
- Sponsor: CBS News, the National Journal and the Republican Party of South Carolina

ELECTION 2012

WASHINGTON — Rick Perry will be back on the debate stage Saturday night in South Carolina as he seeks to revive his struggling campaign with a strong performance at a presidential candidate forum on foreign policy.

Perry's campaign sees the debate in Spartanburg, S.C., as an integral part of its strategy to rebound quickly from an embarrassing 53-second lapse during Wednesday's debate when the 61-year-old presidential candidate couldn't remember the name of one of three federal Cabinet departments he promises to abolish.

With media attention focusing on his every move the next day, the Texas governor exhibited graciousness and self-deprecating humor during a round of media appearances, culminating in a "top 10" list of excuses he recited on late-night TV host David Letterman's show. His joke list blamed El Nino, pop star Justin Bieber and Mitt Romney's good looks.

"I think Gov. Perry's handled the 'oops' moment very well, particularly by making fun of himself and appearing on the Letterman show," said Jerry Polinard, a political scientist at the University of Texas-Pan American. "That being said, the cement is beginning to get hard on the story line that he's out of his depth."

Tonight's debate at Wofford College offers Perry a second nationally televised opportunity to atone for his earlier flub and yet another chance to display presidential gravitas. But his comeback bid is complicated by the fact that the two-hour forum will focus on international issues, an area where the governor has little experience beyond 11 years of dealing with Mexican trade and border issues.

With no margin for error, Perry is hoping to counter complaints that he is a policy lightweight by launching a withering attack on President Obama's approach to global matters, particularly the president's handling of the Israeli-Palestinian situation and the repressive Iranian regime.

"The only way to fix his problems is to have one stellar debate and do better than people expect on a subject people don't expect you to know about," said Susan MacManus, a political scientist at the University of South Florida.

For Perry, that subject could be foreign policy. Perry rarely speaks about international issues on the campaign trail, spending the vast majority of time talking about his record of job creation in Texas and his vision for a smaller federal government.

But he has stood out from the GOP pack by supporting U.S. military action inside Mexico under certain circumstances, and he has been harshly critical of the efforts of President Obama and former President George W. Bush to secure the U.S.-Mexico border. Indeed, Perry's skepticism about the continuing U.S. mission in Afghanistan, his tough line against Chinese trade practices and his confrontational approach to Iran are very different than the policies pursued by Bush.

Troops and hoops on a Navy warship for Obama

Associated Press

CORONADO, Calif. — Soaking in one of the most spectacular settings of his time in office, President Barack Obama pledged an unwavering commitment to veterans Friday from the deck of an aircraft carrier doubling, for one night, as a gleaming basketball court.

The president's patriotic message to the military crowd, while welcomed, was secondary to the scene itself. The players from two storied basketball programs, No. 1 North Carolina and Michigan State, competed aboard the USS Carl Vinson in the open air, in the dusk of a perfect San Diego evening.

Basketball star power was on hand in the form of Magic Johnson and James Worthy, former teammates on the Los Angeles Lakers and alums of Michigan State and North Carolina, respectively.

The first-ever Carrier Classic gave Obama a chance to honor troops and pay tribute on the 95,000-ton Navy warship that buried Osama bin Laden's body at sea. For the hoops-loving president, topping it all off with a college basketball game played outside and on water was surely unforgettable.

There were about 7,000 people in the crowd, both teams wore camouflage versions of their regular uniforms and two fighter jets screamed right above the carrier anchored off the coast of San Diego just as the singing of the national anthem was reaching its final notes.

"Every American citizen can make a solemn pledge today that they will find some opportunity to provide support to our troops, to those who are still active duty, to our national guard, to our reservists and to our veterans," Obama told the crowd before the game got under way.

"It's especially appropriate that we do it here," Obama said, referencing the carrier's role in "that critical mission to bring Osama bin Laden to justice."

A day after the Senate acted in unusual bipartisan agreement to pass a small piece of the president's jobs bill aimed at helping veterans, Obama said that to support veterans was "a sacred trust."

"That gratitude we have for the men and women in the armed forces does not stop when they take off the uniform," he said.

Once the game started Obama, wearing a bomber jacket, watched from the sidelines, looking thrilled, as Michelle Obama looked on at his side.

Despite the unusual setting, it quickly turned into a real basketball environment.

"Can we get a call, ref?" one sailor shouted.

"Get your head in the game!" said another.

PASTORS LIMBS AMPUTATED

Mortuary whistle-blowers shocked by problems

Associated Press

WYOMING, Del.— The body of the Marine lay on a gurney at the Dover Air Force Base mortuary, an arm bone jutting out from the torso.

Embalming technician James Parsons wondered how he would be able to get the stiffened arm back into position so that a uniform could be put on the corpse for a viewing. Parsons and a co-worker asked their supervisor, Quinton "Randy" Keel, what to do, and he told them to take the arm off, then left, Parsons said.

"I'm thinking, 'This is just wrong. We shouldn't be doing this,'" Parsons recalled, contending that consent should have been obtained from the Marine's family first.

Parsons refused to cut off the arm and instead stood and watched as his co-worker — a new employee still on probation — grabbed the saw and removed the limb, which was then placed alongside the Marine's leg inside an undergarment that would be covered by his uniform.

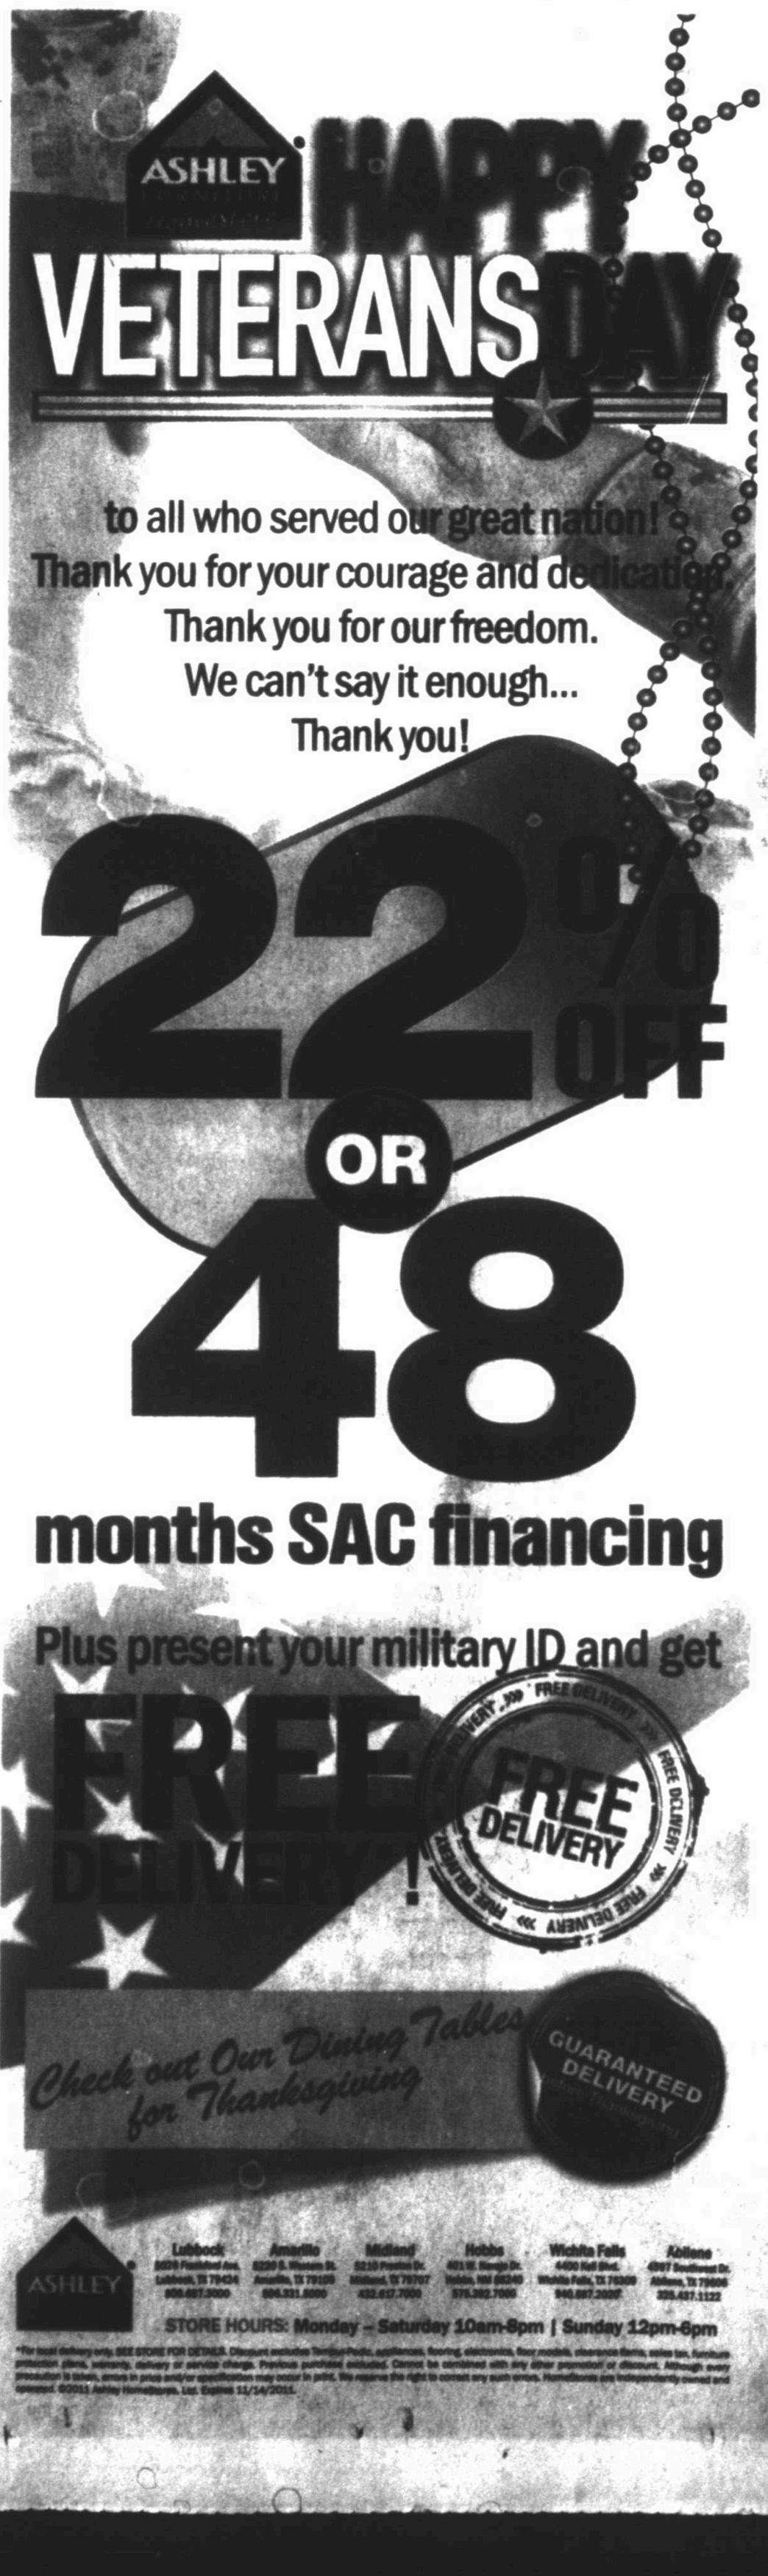

After stewing for months about what happened, Parsons bypassed the military chain of command and reported the episode. He was one of three co-workers to complain about what they saw as callous or sloppy handling of remains at the main military mortuary for America's war dead.

This week, the Air Force said it had punished three top officials at the Dover mortuary for "gross mismanagement," including two instances in which body fragments from remains shipped home from Afghanistan were lost.

One of the cases involved fragments of ankle bone embedded in human tissue associated with two crew members recovered from an F-15 fighter that crashed in Afghanistan. The other involved a piece of human tissue an inch or two long.

The investigators concluded that the removal of the Marine's arm had not violated any rule or regulation.

But the Air Force has changed procedures to ensure that a representative of the deceased's service, in this case the Marine Corps, has a say in whether the family should be contacted before a body is altered so significantly.

Williams-Sullivan combination lead Rangers over Pecos

Cindeka Nealy/Reporter-Telegram

Greenwood's Colin Sullivan (6) runs past Pecos defender Justin Thornton (33) on Friday during their Class 3A Division II bi-district playoff game at Walton Field in Kermit.

By Oscar LeRoy
Sports Writer

KERMIT — Sometimes it pays off to be good friends with the starting quarterback.

Just ask Greenwood junior wide receiver Colin Sullivan.

Sullivan caught three of the four touchdown passes Kam Williams threw on Friday night and that connection helped spark Greenwood to a convincing 42-14 victory over Pecos in a Class 3A Division II bi-district round playoff game at Walton Field.

Rangers	42
Eagles	14

"Me and him are best friends and we hang out, so I know I can depend on him in any type of situation," said Kam about his relationship with Sullivan. "If my reads aren't going well and he's one-on-one or anything like that, I know I can throw it up to him and he can come down with the catch and make a play."

Greenwood coach Shad Hanna seems to like the combination as well.

"Kam and Colin seem to have a good connection right now," he said. "Colin's catching the ball well, he's been explosive off the line and Kam is trusting him."

Williams finished with 187 yards on 16-of-23 passing with no interceptions, and added 61 yards rushing and one TD.

Trey Cave was also huge for the Rangers (7-4) as he rushed for 100 yards, had a big punt return and caught three passes for 43 yards and a TD.

With the victory, the Rangers advance to the area round and will play Shallowater likely on Friday night in Andrews.

Early in the game, it was Cave who gave the Rangers a big spark.

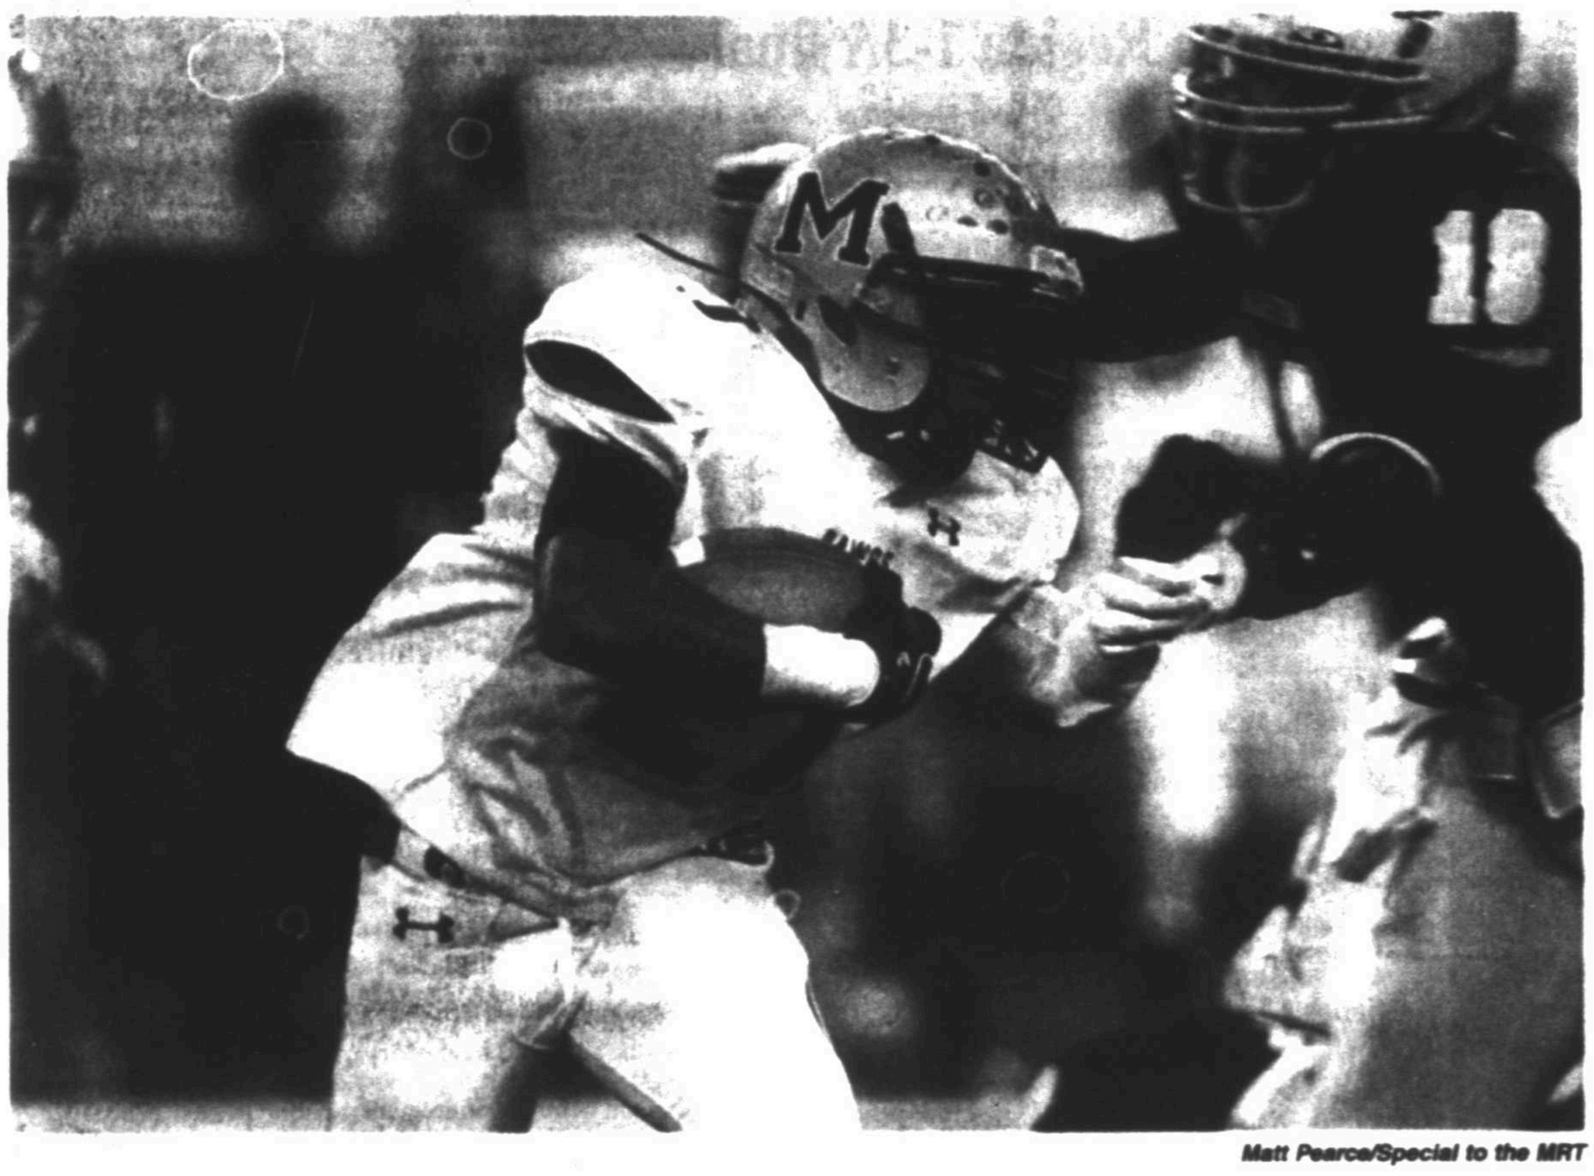

After holding Pecos on its first possession, Cave set up Greenwood's first score with a 40-yard run off a pitch from quarterback Williams. Two plays later, Williams found Sullivan for a 7-yard touchdown pass for a 7-0 lead midway through the first quarter.

"Cave is doing a great job," Hanna said. "He's slippery, he's running hard and he's got great vision. He's also getting better and better in every game."

Cave once again put the Rangers in scoring position on Greenwood's next drive when he returned a punt

Midland High running back Jacoby Webster (20) tries to get away from an Arlington Martin defender on Friday at Cowboys Stadium in Arlington. Martin beat Midland High 37-7.

Bulldogs hang tough but fall after giving up 30 fourth-quarter points

By Jonathan Hull
Sports Writer

ARLINGTON — For nearly 37 minutes, Midland High was feeling comfortable as it hung with District 4-5A champion Arlington Martin in a Class 5A Division I bi-district playoff game Friday night.

But that comfortable feeling left the Bulldogs in a hurry as the fourth quarter snowballed out of control in Martin's favor. The Warriors ended Midland High's season with a 37-7 victory, during which they scored 37 unanswered points, including an incredible 30 in the fourth quarter alone.

Warriors	37
Bulldogs	7

"We started out pretty well," Midland High coach Craig Yenzer said. "It was 10-7 early in the fourth quarter. That's all I asked of the team to keep it close and give us a chance to win it. Then the turnovers started and it just snowballed."

After a Brent Stewart interception at the MHS 14 ended a promising opening drive for Arlington Martin (10-1), junior quarterback Connor Beck, playing for the injured Tanner Culp, hooked up with senior receiver Donavon Lee on a 70-yard pass play that took the Bulldogs down to the Martin 16. Five plays later, Beck scored on a 2-yard run, giving the Bulldogs (6-5) a 7-0 lead with 5:22 left in the opening quarter.

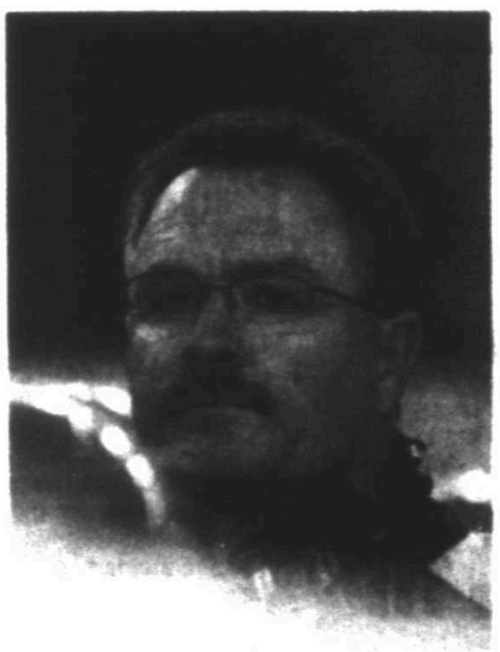

That lead held up through halftime and up until there was less than 7 minutes to play in the third quarter. That's when Martin junior running back Kyle Hicks scored on a 17-yard run to pull the Warriors even with the Bulldogs. That score was just the beginning of the end for the Bulldogs.

"I really don't know what happened," Beck said. "The offense kind of broke down. Tanner went down. It just went south in a hurry for us."

A 42-yard field goal by Martin kicker Ben Grogan gave Martin a 10-7 lead less than a minute into the fourth quarter. And while that 10-7 margin might have held up for the Warriors, they were far from being down in the game's final 12 minutes.

Midland Christian's Christian Whigham heads around the outside on the way to a touchdown Friday night at Mustang Field.

Whigham, Mustangs dismantle Tigers

By Len Hayward
Sports Editor

On the same night that Christian Whigham tied the Midland Christian school record for touchdowns in a season, the Mustang defense made some noise of its own.

Midland Christian's defense put together its most dominating performance of the season and recorded its first shutout of 2011 in a 50-0 thrashing of Trinity Christian-Cedar Hill in a TAPPS Division II bi-district game at Mustang Field.

The Mustang defense gave the Tigers run-based offense little room to move as Midland Christian held TC-Cedar Hill to 67 total yards. Of the 31 rushes the Tigers attempted, only two went for more than 10 yards and the Mustangs forced three turnovers.

Mustangs	50
Tigers	0

Plus, Trinity Christian completed only two passes and had five total first downs.

"It's a huge energy boost to the season," said Midland Christian junior middle linebacker Matt Counts. "We all play as a unit and we started shutting them down early. I don't know what else to say other than we played really well. Our defensive line did an outstanding job, and it made my job easier."

Midland Christian (9-2) will advance to the TAPPS Division II regional round where they will take on Austin Hyde Park or Houston Second Baptist at 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19 in Stephenville. Trinity Christian-Cedar Hill finishes the season at 6-5.

Trinity's Schorr liking his role as a blocker

By Len Hayward
Sports Editor

Trinity vs. Dallas Academy
- When: TCAF Division I Semifinal
- When: 2 p.m. today
- Where: Bulldog Field, Zephyr

Thomas Schorr has spent much of his athletic career as the center of attention.

He plays quarterback for the Trinity football team, is one of the top scorers on the basketball team and spearheads the Charger baseball team.

As this football season has progressed, though, Schorr has taken on a different role for the football team — blocker. Yes, Schorr is still scoring touchdowns and kicking extra points, but along with a healthy and strong offensive line he's been a key player in helping break Alex Young loose this season on long runs.

While the offensive line that consists of Jackson Willingham, Brantley Harrington and Taylor Cory have opened the holes at the point of attack, Schorr has provided downfield blocks to spring Young on some long runs this season.

And Schorr wouldn't have it any other way.

"I love blocking ... going at their legs, it feels good," Schorr said. "It's kind of nice and I'm glad Alex has all the spotlight because he deserves it."

Schorr's role has been evolving ever since he returned to the football field during the 2010 season after spending much of high school career on the basketball court. He's played quarterback, yes, but at times he's had to play running back and wide receiver, and also plays defense.

Last season part of the reason Schorr was playing so many different positions was because of the injuries that plagued the Chargers. This season, though, Schorr is being moved around because it's another option for Trinity coach Chris Jauz to have.

Schorr has spent some time as a wide receiver this season as freshman Ethan Samuels has spent time at quarterback. Schorr has caught six passes for 227 yards with four touchdowns this season.

Schorr's ability to play nearly anywhere has helped the Chargers bring a diverse offense to games and keep oppponents on their toes.

"He's been the man his whole life in sports and for someone to do that shows a lot about him," Jauz said.

Chaps drop first game of season

From staff reports

The Midland College men's basketball team dropped its first game of the season as the Chaps could never recover from a halftime deficit in an 80-69 loss to Navarro College on Friday night at Chaparral Center.

The game was the final one of three during the first day of the East-West Classic at Chaparral Center. Lamar State College defeated Howard College, 95-61, and South Plains College beat Trinity Valley Community College 81-74.

The Bulldogs outscored the Chaps (2-1) 40-27 in the first half and Midland College spent the rest of the game trying to play catchup.

Guard Tre Bowman led the Chaps with 20 points on 7-of-17 shooting from the field and also was three of eight from behind the 3-point line. Kelvin Agee added 11 points and Jerekious Bradley added 10 points in the loss.

DeShone McClure led the Bulldogs with 15 points as three other Navarro players finished in double figures on the night.

Midland College will continue the Classic at 6 p.m. today with a game against Trinity Valley Community College. Other games scheduled for today are South Plains against Lamar State-Port Arthur at 2 p.m. and Howard College taking on Navarro College at 4 p.m.

Lady Chaps rebound to spank Eastern Utah

From staff reports

SALT LAKE CITY — Midland College rebounded from its first loss of the season by defeating College of Eastern Utah handily in a 69-47 win Friday.

The Lady Chaps led by 15 at the half and continued to pour it on in the second half to win by 22.

Achiri Ade led Midland College with 19 points while Alexis Kelly chipped in with 10 as they were the only Lady Chaps to score in double figures.

That was enough to overcome a 29-point effort by Eastern Utah's Priscila Santos.

Eastern Utah knocked down 5 of 7 free throws but that wasn't enough to slow down Midland College, who made 8 of 14 from the charity stripe and nailed the game's only 3-pointer.

The Andrews Lady Mustangs celebrate their 3-1 victory over Big Spring on Friday in the Region 1-3A semifinals in Snyder. Andrews moves on to today's Region 1-3A final.

Andrews tops Big Spring, going to Region 1-3A final

From staff reports

SNYDER — After Andrews stormed out to a 14-point win in the first game, Big Spring tied its Region I-3A semifinal match with a nail-biter win in the second game to let its old rivals know this one wasn't going to be easy.

But the Lady Mustangs were game, eking out two close wins in the final two games to pull off a 25-11, 22-25, 25-23, 25-23 win against Big Spring on Friday to advance to today's Region I-3A final at Scurry County Coliseum.

Andrews will play Abilene Wylie.

The Lady Mustangs proved adept at playing in one-sided games and in tight ones to oust its old rivals Friday.

Andrews overwhelmed Big Spring in its first game and appeared to have all of the momentum heading into the second game following a 25-11 win to start the match.

But the Lady Steers responded by pulling out a close win in the second game to even up the match heading into a crucial game three.

Andrews, though, showed its own grit in the final two games, as the Lady Mustangs battled to consecutive 25-23 wins to punch their ticket to the regional final.

Ives led Andrews with 17 kills in the game and got a helping hand from Baley Badgett, who had a game-high 32 assists.

Jackalopes snap 5-game losing streak, beat N.M.

From staff reports

ODESSA — Thanks to power-play goals from Willie Faust and Sheldon Taylor, the Odessa Jackalopes snapped a five-game losing streak Friday at Ector County Coliseum, outpacing the New Mexico Mustangs 3-1 to improve to 6-10-2 on the year.

Faust's first period marker, his seventh of the season and 10th overall point, moved him into a tie for second on the team in goals and total points alongside fellow Jacks linemate Chad Hennum.

Much like Faust, Taylor was sterling as well on Friday, earning a "Gordie Howe hat-trick" (a goal, an assist and a fight) in the first of back-to-back games for Odessa against New Mexico.

In a quick-moving game that lasted two hours and 27 minutes, the Jackalopes outshot their opponent for the fifth time this season, outpacing the Mustangs with 35 shots on goal to New Mexico's 25. Tyler Poulson notched the Jacks' third goal, an insurance goal at 7:30 of the second period. The goal was Poulson's second of the season and second in the past three games.

Connor Hellebuyck had another strong showing in net for Odessa, improving to 5-7-2 in his 14th start of the season. The Commerce, Mich., native stopped 24 of the 25 shots he faced in his fourth consecutive start.

Odessa will take on the Mustangs at 7:05 p.m. today at the Ector County Coliseum.

Remy scores winner as France beats US

By Jerome Pugmire
Associated Press

SAINT-DENIS, France — Loic Remy came off the bench to score the winner as France beat the United States 1-0 in a friendly on Friday, extending its unbeaten run to 16 matches under coach Laurent Blanc.

The Marseille striker chased a long ball down the right and held off defender Clarence Goodson before beating goalkeeper Tim Howard with a clinical finish into the bottom left corner in the 72nd minute.

"It's another win," Blanc said. "What pleased me was that the players really tried to play good football, even though they didn't always succeed."

Striker Karim Benzema and winger Jeremy Menez both squandered France's other chances.

"I don't think the attacking players made the right choices at times, otherwise we would have scored more," Blanc said. "We could have done much better, especially in the first half."

Benzema hit the crossbar with a close-range header in the 55th minute after central defender Adil Rami had nodded on winger Franck Ribery's corner. A minute later, Benzema forced Howard into an excellent reflex save from a curling free kick.

Blanc gave debuts to central defender Laurent Koscielny and leftback Jeremy Mathieu.

Kyle Busch to face more penalties from JGR

By Jenna Fryer
Associated Press

AVONDALE, Ariz. — Kyle Busch, contrite and remorseful, promised Friday to change his behavior and conduct himself in a way that will restore the respect he lost with his road rage incident at Texas.

It's a long way back for Busch, and he'll be on a very short leash.

Busch has been warned by M&M's that the primary sponsor will not tolerate any more incidents by him, and team owner Joe Gibbs said the driver is still facing further punishment for wrecking Ron Hornaday Jr. under caution in last week's Truck Series race. NASCAR suspended Busch from all on-track activity at Texas, fined him $50,000 and placed the driver on probation through the end of the year.

It led to a frantic week of behind-the-scenes negotiations with Joe Gibbs Racing and sponsors who viewed Busch's latest incident as the final straw for the polarizing driver.

Firing him was not an option, Gibbs said.

"In a situation like this you can make one or two decisions. One would have been devastating and really discouraging for everyone around him and for the sport," Gibbs said. "What I've chosen to do, I want to support Kyle, and feel as if this could have a positive impact on Kyle and I am committed to him as a person. I like him. We've gone through a lot together. We're looking forward to a long relationship."

Busch was thankful for the support during what he called "a trying week" and admitted he worried he might be fired for the second time in his career. Busch was let go from Hendrick Motorsports at the end of the 2007 season when the team made room for Dale Earnhardt Jr.

"I'm apologetic for everyone having to go through this situation. There's no one to blame but myself. Joe has been a huge supporter of me and can't say enough about him," Busch said.

"Was there a point in which I thought, 'Do I have a ride?' Of course there was. I thought that (it might happen). Was there a point in which Joe ever told me that, 'Hey, we're looking at terminating this?' No."

But there had to be a point Busch was worried the decision could be out of Gibbs' hands.

The fallout from Busch losing his temper at Texas stretched deep into the sponsorship side of NASCAR, where every team is heavily dependent on funding from outside businesses. Although M&M's parent company Mars Inc. has a contract with JGR, company officials wrangled with JGR all week over whether they wanted Busch to represent the brand anymore.

Gibbs admitted Friday the team was in limbo most of the week, unsure if NASCAR would suspend Busch longer and if M&M's would refuse to allow him in the car.

RANGERS

From 1B

54 yards to the Eagle 1. Williams did the rest as he scored on a quarterback keeper to give the Rangers a 14-0 lead.

But Pecos answered on the ensuing possession as the Eagles had their best drive of the first half, going 80 yards on 11 plays and culminating with a 12-yard TD pass from Bradley Shaw to fullback Rudy Deanda to bring Pecos within 14-7 at the end of the first quarter.

Greenwood then went on an impressive drive of its own midway though the second quarter when the Rangers went 79 yards on 12 plays and ended it with an 8-yard pass from Williams to Sullivan for a 21-7 advantage.

"Me and Kam started off strong and I guess that carried over throughout the two quarters," Sullivan said. "I guess it worked out."

After pinning the Eagles (5-6) deep in their territory on the following possession, the Rangers got the ball at midfield. However, after back-to-back penalties, the Rangers were looking at a third-and-17 at the Pecos 26. That's when Williams threw a ball that was caught by Sullivan with Pecos defensive back Josh Enmon in his face in the right corner of the end zone for the touchdown and a 28-7 lead at the half.

"That was pretty nice," said Williams about Sullivan's grab. "I know he can make plays like that and that's why I threw it to him, plus the other receivers weren't open. I saw him going deep and I just kind of chunked it up in the end zone and he was able to come down with it."

Added Sullivan, "Kam just kind of threw it up there and I jumped up there to make a play, and I came down with it."

While Williams, Sullivan and Cave were leading the offense, the Rangers' defense was doing its part to frustrate the Eagles. Other than that scoring drive in the first half, Pecos had trouble moving the ball with any consistency and was held to 277 total yards.

"(Pecos) had a great scheme against us and we were able to adjust," Hanna said. "I thought (the defense) did a great job."

The Rangers' special teams did its part as well in the third quarter as Jody Lively blocked an Eagles punt and then recovered it in the end zone for a touchdown by Daniel Vizcaino for the touchdown and a 35-7 lead.

In the fourth quarter, Williams found Cave for his fourth TD pass of the night with a 27-yard strike to give the Rangers a commanding 42-7 advantage.

With the way they've been playing since the wacky comeback victory against Andrews on Oct. 27, the Rangers are flying high as they head into the next round.

"We feel great about this," Sullivan said. "It know this puts a lot of confidence in us. We already had a lot of confidence because of the last two weeks. This gives us a little fire now."

Of note

■ The Chargers had a relatively easy time in last week's TCAF Division I playoff opener as the Chargers rolled up 195 yards rushing and 171 yards passing in two quarters. Trinity scored 48 points in the first quarter as Alex Young scored three touchdowns, and Thomas Schorr, Jackson Willingham and Brantley Harrington each had one.

Jauz said last week's start was reflective of how well his team is playing at this time of the season.

"We are playing very well and we are a very good Six-Man football team right now," Jauz said.

■ Jauz said he expects Dallas Academy to run some spread at them this week as several of the Chargers' recent opponents have used the formation against Trinity because of the success Fort Davis had against them.

"We expect them to run a bunch of spread on us, and I think people ever since the Fort Davis game think that's the way to beat us," Jauz said. "Fort Davis was very good at it."

■ Dallas Academy's top rusher is Williams, who has rushed for 1,426 yards and 23 touchdowns this season. His backfield counterpart, Thompson has 699 yards and 14 touchdowns this season.

■ The Bulldogs have played almost exclusively a private school schedule this season with only one public school, Covington, on the schedule. Dallas Academy's losses this season have come against Texas Home Educators Sports Association team, Lucas Christian and Oakwood.

Next: Winner will play either Lucas Christian Academy or El Paso Immanuel Christian in the TCAF Division I State Final, time TBA, Gorilla Stadium, Trent

FRIDAY'S HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Spearman 23, Coahoma 20

PLAINVIEW — In their Class 2A Division II bi-district game, Spearman ended Coahoma's season Friday night 23-20 in a heart-breaking finish.

With 1:02 remaining in the game, Marco Molina's 26-yard touchdown reception from quarterback Tanner Ruiz put Coahoma within an extra point of tying the game. However, a bad snap forced a desperation pass to the end zone that was intercepted by a Spearman defender and returned the length of the field for two points.

The bi-district loss was Coahoma's second in a row to Spearman. Coahoma finished its season with an overall record of 6-5. Spearman (9-2) will take on Holliday in a Class 2A Division II area round game at a time, date and place to be determined.

The Volunteers scored one touchdown in the first quarter, two more in the second and two in the third. But it was Bowie's defense that helped make this game a blowout as it held Permian's offense to 14 rushing yards and running back Jorman Wilson to 20 yards on 20 carries.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TODAY

CLASS 2A DIVISION II
BI-DISTRICT
FORSAN VS. SANFORD-FRITCH

When/where: 7:30 p.m., Greg Sherwood Memorial Bulldog Stadium, Plainview

Records: Forsan 6-4, Sanford-Fritch 5-5

Last game: Forsan 32, Hawley 19; Sanford-Fritch 42, Spearman 14 (Oct. 28)

Players to watch: Forsan, RB/CB Brendan Roman (Jr.), QB Foster Burchett (Sr.), WR/LB Patrick Robles (Sr.); Sanford-Fritch, RB/DB Colton Valle (5-11, 195, Jr.), QB/DB Chris Bryan (6-4, 227, Sr.), WR/DB Terry Bryan (5-8, 145, Sr.)

Notes & Quotes: Forsan is making its first playoff appearance since 2007 but first appearance in the Class 2A playoffs since 1996. ... The Buffaloes clinched a playoff spot last week with a win at Hawley. ... Roman rushed for 151 yards and caught a touchdown pass from Toa MauMau. MauMau also rushed for two TDs in place of the injured Burchett at QB. "It was a huge win especially after having (Burchett and Ty Johnson) get hurt the week before against Stanton," Forsan coach Jason Phillips said. "We're enjoying not putting stuff up and having at least another week of practice. We had some young guys step up and had great team effort all night long." ... Phillips said Burchett (concussion) is back this week, but RB Johnson (knee) is out for the remainder of the postseason and will look to get healthy for the spring sports season. With Johnson being out, Phillips said Roman will now get the bulk of the carries at running back. ... Phillips said there's excitement about playing Sanford-Fritch as the schools are about five hours apart and neither team knows where the other is located. ... Phillips said the Eagles have some size but hopes his team's speed can negate that. Phillips added the Eagles run a spread offense and are led by their big quarterback in Chris Bryan, who's thrown for 1,318 yards and 15 touchdowns. ... Valle leads the Eagles in rushing with 1,809 yards and 14 touchdowns. ... Sanford-Fritch finished second in District 1 with a 5-1 record. The Eagles rebounded from an 0-4 non-district record, which came after playing the likes of Canadian, Dalhart, Sunray and Stratford. ... "We have to control the line of scrimmage, limit our mistakes and try to utilize our speed by getting our guys into the open space," Phillips said. ... This is the first ever meeting between the two programs.

BULLDOGS

fourth down, Hicks, who finished with 207 yards on 21 carries, had his longest run of the night, breaking off a 62-yard scoring jaunt with 8:14 to play.

Beck was intercepted on Midland High's first paly of its ensuing drive with senior cornerback Eric Amoako — a University of Oregon commit — returning the pick to the Midland High 36. The Warriors then used a double reverse pass to get Eric Hughes behind the Bulldogs secondary and quarterback Brodie Lambert laid a pass just out of the reach of the outstretched arm of MHS cornerback Brandon Williams for a 23-7 lead.

Culp, who had been in and out of the game for Midland High as he dealt with a bum ankle, was sacked on third down of Midland High's next drive with Martin senior defensive tackle Mustafa Haboul stripping Midland High's senior quarterback of the ball in the process. Preston Holman recovered it for the Warriors, and three plays later, Haboul capped the possession he started with a 3-yard TD plunge.

The Warriors turned another Midland High fumble into a 7-yard TD run by Lambert with 1:34 to play to cap the game's scoring.

"I thought our defense played pretty well for most of the game," Yenzer said. "They came up with big plays when we needed them. Give (Arlington Martin) a lot of credit. They've got a lot of good players, but we really helped them a lot with all the turnovers."

The Midland High offense struggled to consistently move the football against a stout Martin defense throughout the night. The Bulldogs finished with 309 total yards, but Martin was able to particularly frustrate Midland High's running game, holding senior tailback Jacoby Webster to just 109 yards on 28 carries.

"We never really got going offensively," Yenzer said. "That was disappointing. That had a lot to do with (Arlington Martin). They really got off blocks, we just couldn't seem to hold on to them. There were a couple times we thought we were about to hit them big, but couldn't make the play we needed to make."

Jonathan Hull can be reached at jhull@mrt.com.

Midland Christian's Landon Breeding tries to bring down Trinity Christian quarterback Austin Carr as he attempts to pitch the ball Friday night at Mustang Field.

From 1B

The Mustangs held a 7-0 lead after the first quarter, but it was in the second quarter when they put the game away. The Tigers had six possessions in that period and one ended with a fumble, another with an interception, while the other four ended in punts.

Meanwhile, Whigham scored on touchdown runs of 16, 9 and 7 yards during the quarter and the other touchdown was a 24-yard pass from Mason McClendon to Jerry Garcia with two minutes remaining in the quarter.

By the time the quarter ended, MCS had a 36-0 lead and had all but broken the back of the Tigers.

"All night (the defense) played outstanding, and we expected them to play outstanding," Midland Christian coach Greg McClendon said. "It's an 11-piece machine and they play so well together."

Whigham, meanwhile, continued his assault on the MCS record books. Along with the three touchdown runs in the second quarter, Whigham had a 13-yard scamper in the first quarter and then tied the school's single season record for touchdowns with an 11-yard run late in the third quarter. Whigham has 33 touchdowns this season, tying him with former MCS running back Courtney Greer.

Whigham finished the night with 212 yards on 17 carries as he had 205 yards at the half on 14 carries.

Coach McClendon said that the Tigers defense forced the Mustangs to use more spread formations than usual, but even in the spread Midland Christian's offense found plenty of room to move.

"We are going to do what we need to do to be successful and win," McClendon said. "I'm proud of the (offensive) line, and proud of Whigham and proud of all of them. The defense helps feed the offense and the offense helps feed the defense ... right now we are a dang good team. We just need to keep working."

No. 2 OSU try for 10th win at Texas Tech

By Betsy Blaney
Associated Press

LUBBOCK —

Mike Gundy could use a little guidance.

The Oklahoma State coach has led the No. 2-ranked Cowboys to their best record in 65 years and will play for the national title if they win their three remaining games, beginning with Texas Tech today. That puts Gundy and Oklahoma State, which last won its first nine games in 1945, on unfamiliar ground with pressure building.

"I run every day. I guess that is my release valve," Gundy said. "I wish there were coaches and players out there that have been in this situation or are in this situation that know how to relieve it. I wish they would let me know. I certainly do not know how, other than to focus on practice."

Oklahoma State (9-0, 6-0 Big 12) has never reached 10 wins and has never been ranked this high. The Red Raiders (5-4, 2-4 Big 12) have lost three straight Big 12 games at home this season, including a lopsided 41-7 drubbing by Iowa State that came after they stunned virtually everyone by snapping Oklahoma's 39-game home win streak.

The Game

- What: No. 2 Oklahoma State at Texas Tech.
- When: 11 a.m. today.
- TV: ABC.

Texas Tech hasn't lost four-straight conference games in Lubbock since 1984 and a win would make the Red Raiders bowl eligible for a 19th straight year.

Coach Tommy Tuberville knows his defense will be challenged by the Cowboys, who boast the nation's second-best passing offense (387.5 yards a game) behind quarterback Brandon Weeden.

"He's tall, big. He gets it, he's accurate," Tuberville said. "And that's the reason they're 9-0. They know what they're doing with the ball, and they keep their defense out of a bind."

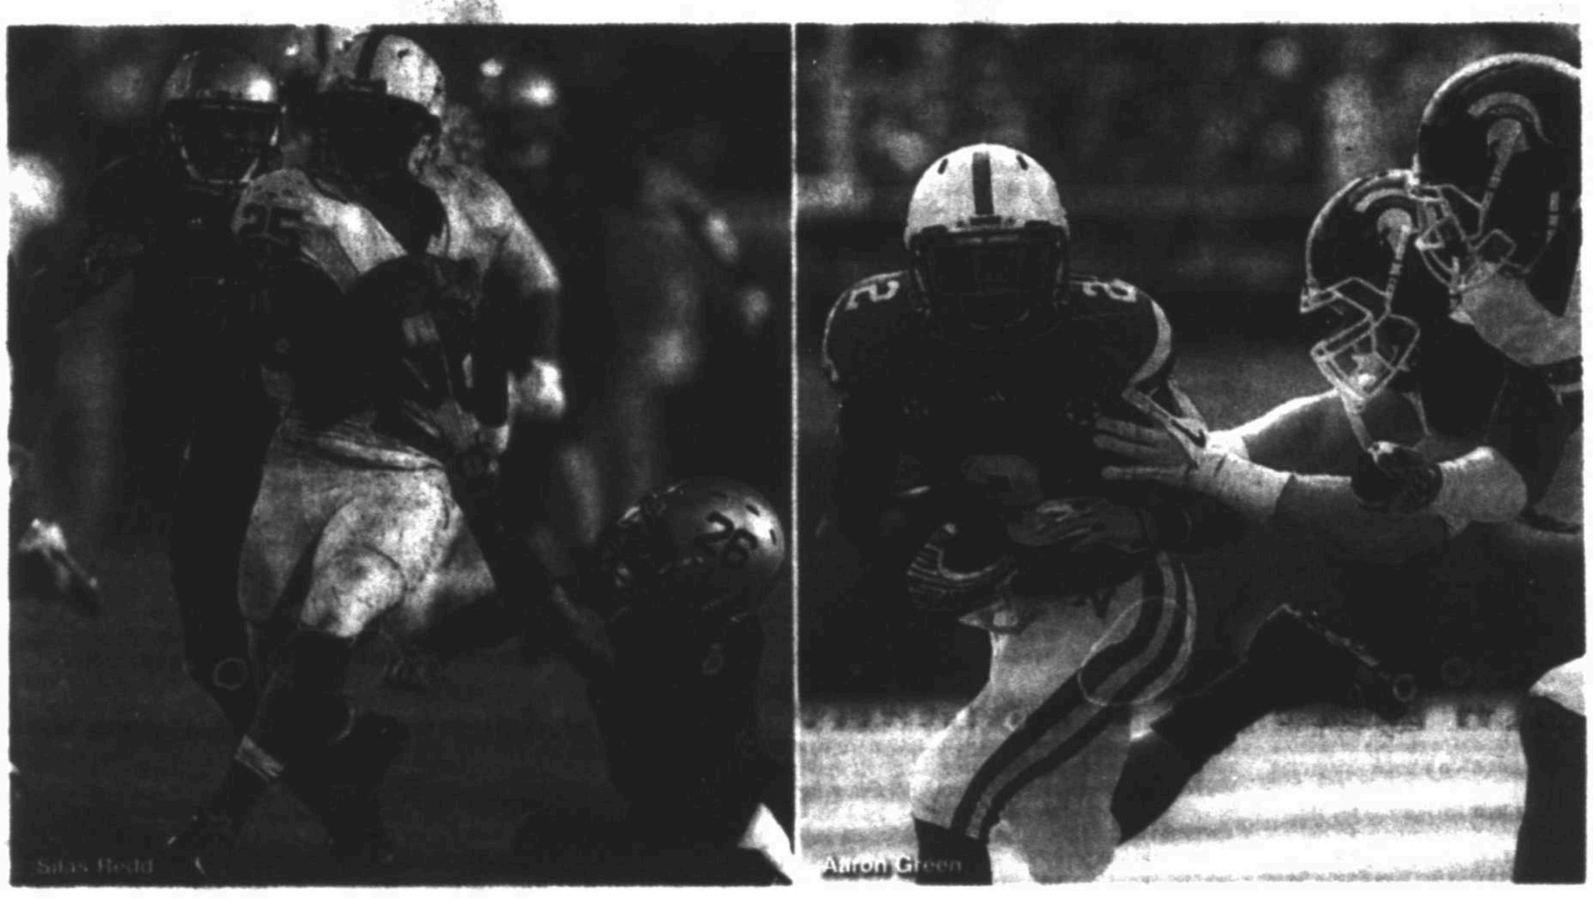

The Red Raiders need to find their offensive sting. Since leading 31-7 against Oklahoma last month, Texas Tech has scored only 37 points while allowing its opponents 124. I ts defense, the third-worst in the nation, allowed 439 rushing yards to Texas last week and 368 against the Cyclones a week earlier.

All that would be great news for the Cowboys but for one thing.

"Where they've had their issues is just those teams that mash you and run the ball, and that's not us," Oklahoma State offensive coordinator Todd Monken said.

MEANWHILE, THERE'S A GAME TO PLAY

No. 12 Penn St, No. 19 Huskers meet in key game

By Eric Olson
Associated Press

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. —

There's also a game. Yes, No. 19 Nebraska and 12th-ranked Penn State will play a football game today in Happy Valley.

It will be a three-hour diversion from the lurid child sex abuse scandal involving former assistant Jerry Sandusky that has shocked the sports world and led to the firing of the iconic Joe Paterno.

All indications are that getting on the field will be cathartic for the Nittany Lions.

"If you're going through hell, keep going," PSU quarterback Matt McGloin tweeted late this week.

And purely in football terms, it's an interesting matchup.

The Nittany Lions (8-1, 5-0 Big Ten), for all their troubles, have a two-game lead in the Leaders Division and are harboring Rose Bowl hopes as they enter the toughest stretch of their schedule. Interim coach Tom Bradley said the goals won't change under the difficult circumstances.

"They know what they have to get done," Bradley said. "I expect them to come out and play a good, hard football game. They've prepared themselves, they've worked awfully hard and I would be disappointed if they didn't."

The Game

- What: No. 19 Nebraska at No. 12 Penn State.
- When: 11 a.m. today.
- TV: ESPN.

The Cornhuskers (7-2, 3-2) are fighting to stay alive in the Legends after Northwestern upset them at home last week.

Nebraska coach Bo Pelini said he can't predict what type of atmosphere his team will encounter. Emotions could run high on and off the field, or — after kick off — it might be like any other game.

The Huskers were beaten 48-17 in their toughest road game to date, at Wisconsin, but are 12-5 away from home in Pelini's four years.

"We've shown the past few years that we love playing in environments like that," tight end Ben Cotton said. "We're a good team at being able to make those good solid business trips, staying within ourselves and not paying attention to the distractions around us."

No serious consideration was given to postponing or moving the game because of the high emotions in State College, Pa.

Bradley said the Nittany Lions' 20 seniors deserve to have their Senior Day, and he implored PSU students and fans to be on their best behavior.

Police in riot gear dispersed about 2,000 people who took to the streets after Paterno's firing Wednesday. Crowds toppled a television news van and kicked in its windows, and at least one photographer was pelted with a rock. Officers used pepper spray at times to control the crowd.

A Nebraska regent said he feared possible hooliganism inside and outside Beaver Stadium that could threaten the safety of the Huskers and their fans. Nebraska athletic director Tom Osborne said he's been assured extra security measures are in place, but he suggested that Husker fans not wear or do anything that would make them stand out.

Bradley said Thursday that it hadn't been decided whether McGloin or Rob Bolden would start under center. McGloin and Bolden have shared playing time this

No. 17 Wildcats, Aggies try to get back on track

By Dave Skretta
Associated Press

MANHATTAN, Kan. —

Bill Snyder acknowledges that Kansas State didn't handle success very well, a rare admission from a coach who is so detail-oriented that he famously posted a sign on the door to the football complex reminding visitors to wipe their feet.

The No. 17 Wildcats were riding high after winning their first seven games, but were batted back to earth with a 59-21 loss to Oklahoma two weeks ago.

"We might have lost sight of where we were and how we got there," Snyder said, "and we certainly paid the price."

The 72-year-old coach said that the Wildcats responded much better to that defeat, and it showed against Oklahoma State, which was equally devastating for different reasons.

Unlike the lopsided loss to the Sooners, Kansas State was in the game until the end, when it failed to score a tying touchdown from the Cowboys 5 on the last play of the game.

The Game

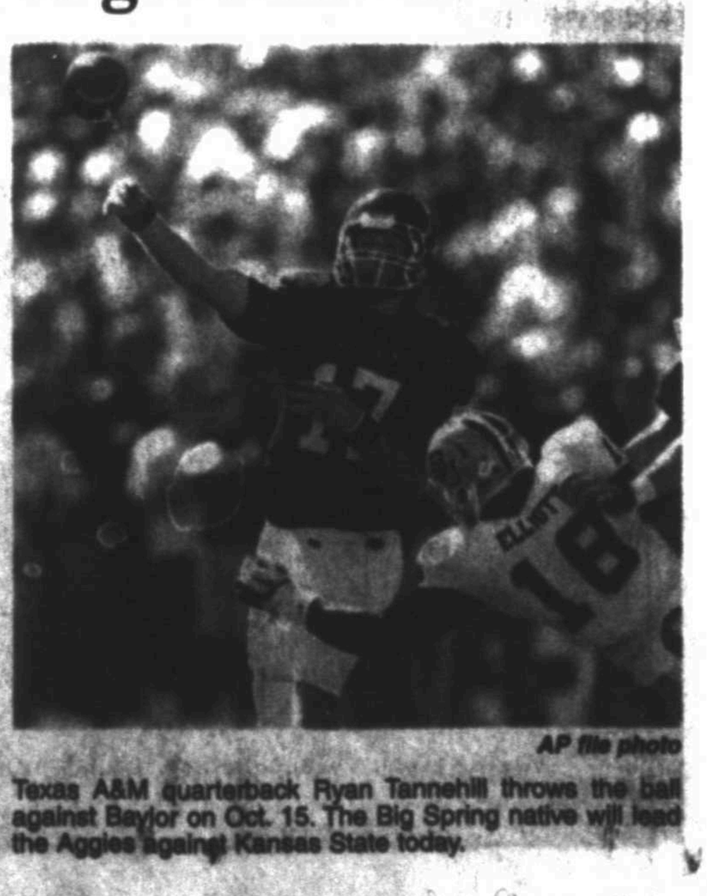

- What: Texas A&M at No. 17 Kansas State.
- When: 2:30 p.m. today.
- TV: ABC.

"I think we handled the Oklahoma loss in the appropriate way, under the circumstances, and I admire our players for that," Snyder said. "Consequently, they came back and performed well."

Now the question is: How will the Wildcats perform after this loss?

Texas A&M comes to town today for what is likely to be its final visit to Manhattan in quite some time. The Aggies are headed to the SEC after this season.

FROM WIRE REPORTS

NO. 1 LSU (9-0) VS. WESTERN KENTUCKY (6-4), 6:00 P.M. (ESPNU)
Line: LSU by 41 1/2
Series Record: First meeting
WHAT'S AT STAKE
LSU cannot afford an upset if the Tigers are to remain atop the AP Poll and maintain their inside lane to the BCS national championship game in New Orleans. Western Kentucky, which moved up to the NCAA's Football Bowl Subdivision in 2008, is garnering increasing respect as it begins to contend in the Sun Belt Conference, and a solid performance against the top-ranked Tigers could help with recruiting.
KEY MATCHUP
LSU's deep running game, led by Spencer Ware, Michael Ford and Alfred Blue, against a WKU defense that has held five opponents under 100 yards rushing this season. LSU averages 184.4 yards rushing, while WKU is giving up and average of 136.9 yards on the ground, and yielding only 99 per game during its current five-game winning streak.
PLAYERS TO WATCH
Western Kentucky: RB Bobby Rainey averages 129.9 yards. This season, he has 1,169 yards rushing and nine TDs rushing to go with 280 yards and three TDs receiving. He has 4,016 yards rushing in his career, leaving him 351 short of WKU's all-time mark.
LSU: QB Morris Claiborne, who had a critical interception at Alabama last week, leads LSU with four interceptions and 126 yards on interception returns. He also has a 99-yard kickoff return for a touchdown this season.
FACTS & FIGURES
Les Miles seeks his 100th victory as a head coach. He is 99-39 overall since taking his first head coaching job at Oklahoma State in 2001. He is 71-17 since his arrival at LSU in 2005. ... Eight of LSU's nine victories have come by double digits, the lone exception being last week's 9-6 overtime thriller at Alabama. ... LSU averages 35.9 points. ... LSU has won 36 straight regular season games against non-conference foes and 15 straight against all opponents in Tiger Stadium. ... Western Kentucky has never before played the nation's No. 1 FBS team. ... Although WKU has never played LSU, the Hilltoppers played in Tiger Stadium once in 1975, when they beat New Hampshire 14-3 in the Grantland Rice Bowl to advance to the Division II national championship game. ... WKU is 0-1 against the SEC this season, having lost its season opener to Kentucky 14-3. Kentucky later lost to LSU 35-7

Series Record: Texas Tech leads 21-14-3
WHAT'S AT STAKE
Oklahoma State seeks the first 10-0 start in the program's history, while Texas Tech pursues bowl eligibility and its second monumental upset of the season. The Red Raiders beat then-No. 3 Oklahoma before blowout losses against Iowa State and Texas.
KEY MATCHUP
Oklahoma State RB Joseph Randle vs. Texas Tech defense. Randle has scored 11 touchdowns over the past three games and ranks fourth in the nation with 18 rushing TDs. He'll be facing a defense that is allowing 249 yards rushing per game, third-worst in the country, and that gave up 439 yards on the ground last week.
PLAYERS TO WATCH
Oklahoma State: LB James Thomas. A backup who gets limited snaps behind starter Shaun Lewis, Thomas has developed a nose for the football. His pick last week tied him for the team lead with four interceptions, and he also has three sacks, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery this season.
Texas Tech: WR Adam James. The son of former SMU running back Craig James had a career-high 95 yards receiving on five catches last week against Texas and is turning into another target for QB Seth Doege, who's fifth in the nation with 351 yards passing per game.
FACTS & FIGURES
Oklahoma State won in Lubbock last year for the first time since 1944, having gone 0-10-1 in its previous 11 trips. ... The Cowboys have won nine straight road games — two short of matching the school record of 11 set from 1943-45. ... Texas Tech hasn't lost three straight games since 1998, and avoided matching that streak once this season by winning at Oklahoma. The Red Raiders also haven't lost four straight home games since 1990.

NO. 3 STANFORD (9-0, 7-0 PAC-12) VS. NO. 6 OREGON (8-1, 6-0), 7 P.M. (ABC)
Line: Stanford by 3 1/2
Series Record: Stanford leads 44-29-1
WHAT'S AT STAKE
The winner will likely seal the Pac-12 North Division title and host the inaugural league championship game. Stanford can clinch with a win, while Oregon would also need to win one of its final two league games. Stanford also has a chance to remain undefeated and keep its chances alive for a BCS national title.
KEY MATCHUP
Oregon's running game vs. Stanford's run defense. Oregon's no-huddle, spread-option has caused fits for Stanford's physical run defense in the past. This year, both units are among the nation's best. The Ducks are fifth in the country with an average of 298.4 yards rushing. Stanford's run defense is third best, allowing 78.9 yards on the ground per game.
PLAYERS TO WATCH
Oregon: RB LaMichael James. Oregon's elusive running back leads the country with 151.57 yards rushing per game. He also ranks second in all-purpose yards with an average of 194.71. A Heisman Trophy finalist last year, James has slipped from contention because of a dislocated right elbow that kept him out of two games. The junior has played in the last two with an elbow brace, and he practiced this week without it.
Stanford: QB Andrew Luck. The Heisman Trophy favorite and the NFL draft's projected No. 1 pick will have the biggest and brightest spotlight of his career. Oregon shut down Luck in the second half of a 52-31 victory last year and is the only team to beat Stanford during a two-year run of near-perfection.
FACTS & FIGURES
Stanford is riding the nation's longest winning streak at 17 games, with the last loss coming at Oregon more than a year ago. ... The winner has scored at least 50 points in the past two matchups. Oregon won 52-31 last year in Eugene after the Cardinal topped the Ducks, 51-42 in 2009 at Stanford. ... The game is the first matchup of top-10 teams at Stanford Stadium and the first in the Bay Area since No. 3 Washington beat No. 7 Cal in Berkeley in 1991. ... The Ducks have never been a top-5 team on the road. Oregon's last road win against a top-10 team was a 31-28 victory at No. 8 Washington on Nov. 8, 1997.

NO. 4 ALABAMA (8-1, 5-1 SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE) AT MISSISSIPPI STATE (5-4, 1-4), 6:45 P.M. (ESPN)
Line: Alabama by 18
Series Record: Alabama leads 74-18-3
WHAT'S AT STAKE
Alabama's trying to get back to its winning ways after an emotional loss to No. 1 LSU last weekend in Tuscaloosa. The Crimson Tide still have faint hopes of playing for the national championship, but can't afford any more losses. Mississippi State is trying for a signature win in what's been a disappointing season.
KEY MATCHUP
Alabama RB Trent Richardson vs. Mississippi State's defense. Richardson, who is leading the SEC with 1,078 rushing yards and 17 touchdowns, will go against one of the better defenses in the league. Mississippi State is giving up just 18.7 points per game, which ranks third in the league.
PLAYERS TO WATCH
Alabama: LB Dont'a Hightower. The junior leads the team with 55 tackles and will be among those chasing Mississippi State's quarterbacks. He's a big reason the Tide give up only 7.1 points per game.
Mississippi State: RB Vick Ballard. He doesn't get much publicity around the league, but the senior is quietly sitting at fourth in the SEC with 790 rushing yards and seven touchdowns. He's averaging nearly six yards per carry.
FACTS & FIGURES
Over the past 10 games dating to last season, Alabama has allowed only 45.9 rushing yards per game and two rushing touchdowns. During that same span, no opponent has scored more than 14 points against the Tide. ... Alabama has a 14-2 record on the road since 2008. ... Alabama has been ranked 59 straight weeks in the AP Top 25, the longest streak in the nation. ... Mississippi State has won three of its past four meetings, beating UAB, Kentucky and Tennessee Martin while losing by two points to South Carolina. ... Mississippi State coach Dan Mullen is still looking for a breakout victory against a divisional opponent. The Bulldogs are 2-10 against the SEC West during Mullen's tenure, with the only two wins coming against in-state rival Ole Miss.

TCU (7-2, 4-0 MOUNTAIN WEST CONFERENCE) AT NO. 5 BOISE STATE (9-0, 5-0), 2:30 P.M. (VERSUS)
Line: Boise State by 15
Series Record: Boise State leads 2-1
WHAT'S AT STAKE
The game is being billed as the Mountain West title game. Both teams are undefeated in the conference and the remaining schedules suggest Saturday's winner lays claim to the conference crown. TCU wraps up against Colorado State and UNLV, while Boise State has games at San Diego State and home dates with Wyoming and New Mexico.
KEY MATCHUP
As it has been the last two meetings, it's the Boise State's offense against the Horned Frogs' defense. Broncos QB Kellen Moore has yet to throw a touchdown pass in two postseason games against TCU. With Broncos RB Doug Martin questionable, the burden could fall on Moore's left arm to put points on the board. TCU also boasts the league's stingiest run defense, allowing just 122 yards on the ground per game.
PLAYERS TO WATCH
TCU: QB Casey Pachall. The sophomore is one of the nation's most efficient passers, averages 224 yards per game and is the leader of a spread-style attack rolling up 451 yards per game. In nine games, Pachall has connected on 68.5 percent of his passes and has 19 touchdown passes.
Boise State: RB D.J. Harper. The senior is likely to carry the rushing load if starter Doug Martin is unable to go because of a sore leg. Harper is no stranger to big games, but has had a limited role this season. He rushed for 109 yards and a touchdown on 13 carries against UNLV last week and his ability to find holes in the TCU defense is critical to keeping the Boise State offense balanced.
FACTS & FIGURES
Boise State and TCU have never met in the regular season, with all three previous games coming in the postseason. ... TCU has won a Mountain West record 21 straight games and won 11 straight conference road games. ... Boise State has won 10 straight games, the second-longest streak in the nation behind Stanford's 17-game streak. ... TCU coach Gary Patterson and Boise State coach Chris Petersen both served on the coaching staff of UC Davis in 1986. ... Boise State's defense is the nation's best in stopping teams on third down, allowing conversions on only 29 of 110 attempts.

TENNESSEE (4-6, 0-5 SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE) VS. NO. 8 ARKANSAS (8-1, 4-1), 5 P.M. (ESPN2)
Line: Arkansas by 14
Series: Tennessee leads 13-3
WHAT'S AT STAKE
Arkansas hasn't given up its SEC or national championship hopes just yet. In order to keep alive its outside chance at either, the Razorbacks must win — and likely in convincing fashion — against Tennessee, which is winless this season in the SEC. Arkansas won its final six games of the regular season last year and received some outside help in the form of key losses by other teams to earn the school's first BCS berth in the Sugar Bowl. The Razorbacks are on a similar streak this season, having won five in a row. They also close out the regular season with a visit to No. 1 LSU on Nov. 25, a game they are counting on to help propel them into the national race. The Volunteers, meanwhile, are looking for an SEC win — period. After Arkansas, they close out the regular season by hosting Vanderbilt and then traveling to Kentucky, and they must win two of their final three to become bowl-eligible
KEY MATCHUP
Arkansas QB Tyler Wilson vs. Tennessee's secondary. The Volunteers are fifth in the SEC in pass defense, allowing an average of 186.8 yards through the air. They held Middle Tennessee to 133 yards passing last week in a 24-0 win, and the safety combination of freshman Brian Randolph and junior Prentiss Waggoner has worked well. That secondary will face its toughest task of the season this week against the Razorbacks, who lead the SEC in scoring average (37.7) and total offense (450.9). Wilson threw for 299 yards against a tough South Carolina secondary last week in a 44-28 win.
PLAYERS TO WATCH
Tennessee: QB Justin Worley. With Tyler Bray still out because of a broken thumb, Worley will get his third start in a row. The freshman struggled mightily in his first SEC start against South Carolina two weeks ago, but he rebounded with a 291-yard passing effort last week against Middle Tennessee. Arkansas allows nearly 200 yards per game through the air, so opportunities to gain yards will likely be there if the Volunteers can keep pressure off Worley.
Arkansas: DE Jake Bequette. The senior led the Razorbacks in sacks last season but had struggled to regain his form this year after an early-season hamstring injury. He was finally back to his old self last week against South Carolina, collecting a career-high three sacks, and he'll look to provide more of the same pressure this week.
FACTS AND FIGURES
Arkansas has won six straight games against SEC East opponents, the longest such streak in school history. The previous best streak was three games, in both 1992-93 and 2006 ... The Razorbacks are ranked in the AP Top 25 for the 27th consecutive week, the fifth-longest streak in school history and longest since a streak of 54 weeks from 1998-02. ... Tennessee's schedule ranks as the toughest in the nation this season ... The Volunteers have played 15 true freshmen and five other redshirt freshmen this season.

WAKE FOREST (5-4, 4-0 ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE) AT NO. 9 CLEMSON (9-1, 5-1), 11 A.M. (ESPNU)
Line: Clemson by 16 1/2
Series Record: Clemson leads 58-17-1
WHAT'S AT STAKE
Clemson can wrap up the ACC Atlantic Division and its second trip to the title game in three years with a victory. Wake Forest is trying to stay alive in the division race and needs wins over the Tigers and Maryland to advance to the championship game.
KEY MATCHUP
Clemson QB Tajh Boyd against Wake Forest's defense. Boyd had his shakiest game of the season two weeks ago when the Tigers' undefeated season ended with a 31-17 loss at Georgia Tech. Boyd threw two interceptions, including a critical one in the fourth quarter in the end zone when Clemson was trying to cut the lead to a touchdown. Wake Forest is ninth in ACC pass defense and 10th in scoring defense.
PLAYERS TO WATCH
Wake Forest: WR Chris Givens leads the ACC with 985 receiving yards and is second in the conference to Clemson freshman Sammy Watkins with eight touchdowns.
Clemson: RB Andre Ellington is expected to be completely healthy after missing the Georgia Tech game with an ankle injury. Ellington is the Tigers' leading rusher with 745 yards and seven TDs, and Charlton managed only 95 yards rushing in the loss to the Yellow Jackets without him.
FACTS & FIGURES
Wake Forest has lost on 28 of its last 31 trips to Clemson, including an 62-24 drubbing to the national champion Tigers in 1981. ... Clemson is 5-0 at Death Valley and is seeking its first perfect season at home since 1990. ... Tigers freshman Sammy Watkins needs 113 receiving yards to set the school's single-season record. ... Wake Forest CB Merrill Noel leads all players in the Football Bowl Subdivision with 16 passes defended.

NO. 19 NEBRASKA (7-2, 3-2 BIG TEN) AT NO. 12 PENN STATE (8-1, 5-0), 11 A.M. (ESPN)
Line: Nebraska by 3 1/2
Series Record: Penn State leads 7-6
WHAT'S AT STAKE
The game goes on in the wake of the lurid child-sex scandal in Happy Valley that cost 409-year coach Joe Paterno his job. The Nittany Lions have a two-game cushion in the Big Ten's Leaders Division and, with all that's going on around them, enter their roughest stretch of the season. After Nebraska, they finish on the road at Ohio State and at Wisconsin. The Cornhuskers are in a three-way tie for second in the Legends and can't afford to slip again after getting upset by Northwestern.
KEY MATCHUP
Nebraska offense vs. Penn State defense. The struggling Northwestern defense held the Huskers to a season-low 122 yards rushing. The Huskers must get better push up front against a PSU defense that has held six opponents to under 100 yards on the ground. The Lions will dare Taylor Martinez to try to beat them with the pass. That's not a good plan for Nebraska on the road. It will be critical for Rex Burkhead to find running room.
PLAYERS TO WATCH
Nebraska: QB Taylor Martinez. The sophomore turned in a horrific performance in his last big road game — a three-interception night at Wisconsin. Martinez has shown improvement since. He had a steady hand in an important win over Michigan State, and he was one of the few bright spots in last week's loss to Northwestern. But those two games were at home.
Penn State: RB Silas Redd. The sophomore has had five straight 100-yard games, and his 703 yards in October were the most of any player in the FBS. The interior of Nebraska's defensive line is thin. The Huskers' defense must find an answer to the Penn State workhorse or it will have difficulty getting off the field.
FACTS & FIGURES
Paterno leaves the game with a 409-136-3 record and is the all-time coach record in 1986, the year before Nebraska coach Bo Pelini was born. Paterno's win total is the highest of any FBS or FCS coach in history. Defensive coordinator Tom Bradley will take over in the wake of Paterno's firing. ... Penn State has won seven straight since its September loss to Alabama. ... Nebraska and Penn State are tied for fewest sacks allowed at 1.22 per game. ... Penn State and Nebraska are among eight schools with more than 600 all-time wins.

NO. 13 MICHIGAN STATE (7-2, 4-1 BIG TEN) AT IOWA (6-3, 3-2), 11 A.M. (ESPN2)
Line: Michigan State by 2 1/2
Series Record: Iowa leads 22-18-2
WHAT'S AT STAKE
Control of the Big Ten's Legends Division. Michigan State and Iowa can earn a spot in the Big Ten title game if they win out. It's also a chance for the Spartans to win their first game in Iowa City in 22 years and for Iowa to finish unbeaten at home.
KEY MATCHUP
Michigan State QB Kirk Cousins vs. Iowa's secondary: Cousins threw three picks in last year's blowout loss at Iowa and he threw for just 86 yards in a 24-3 loss at Nebraska two weeks ago. But Iowa's pass defense ranks just 10th in the Big Ten.
PLAYERS TO WATCH
Michigan State: RB Edwin Baker. The Spartans have the league's worst rushing offense, but there's yards to be had against Iowa's front seven.
Iowa: WR Marvin McNutt. He's one of the nation's best receivers, and his big-play ability could be crucial in a game that figures to be close.
FACTS & FIGURES
Michigan State's last win at Kinnick Stadium came on Oct. 7, 1989, when it beat the Hawkeyes 17-14. ... Iowa has won nine of the last 13 meetings, and all four losses were on the road. ... Hawkeyes defensive coordinator Norm Parker was on Michigan State's staff when it beat USC in the Rose Bowl in 1988. ... The Spartans are the second straight Michigan-based team to play at Iowa while ranked 13th. The Wolverines dropped to No. 22 after losing 28-16 last week.

NO. 14 GEORGIA (7-2, 5-1 SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE) VS. NO. 24 AUBURN (6-3, 4-2), 2:30 P.M. (CBS)
Line: Georgia by 13
Series Record: Auburn leads 54-52-8
WHAT'S AT STAKE
Georgia is trying to move a step closer to clinching the SEC East after rebounding from an 0-2 start. The Bulldogs can lock up a spot in the Dec. 3 league championship game by knocking off the Tigers this Saturday, then beating Kentucky the following week. Auburn, in rebuilding mode after winning the 2010 national title, looks to improve its bowl positioning with an upset.
KEY MATCHUP
Georgia QB Aaron Murray vs. Auburn secondary. Murray has endured some up-and-down moments this season, but he's still on the verge of setting a school record for touchdowns passes in a season. His 23 scoring throws are two shy of Matthew Stafford's mark set in 2008. The Tigers have struggled against the pass, ranking next-to-last in the SEC in yards allowed through the air (215 per game).
PLAYERS TO WATCH
Georgia: RB Isaiah Crowell. The touted freshman has given the running game a boost (a team-leading 699 yards) but he's run into problems off the field. Crowell is returning from a one-game suspension after reportedly failing a drug test, and he set out the first quarter of another game because of a disciplinary issue. He apologized this week and vowed not to make any more mistakes.
Auburn: WR Emory Blake. The Tigers' top receiver has been plagued by injuries, missing three games and playing hurt in another. But an off week gave him time to fully recover, and he should be at full speed against the Bulldogs. Blake leads the Tigers with 24 catches for 404 yards and five TDs.
FACTS & FIGURES
This is the Deep South's oldest rivalry, beginning in 1892 and played every year since 1944. ... The schools are close geographically (about 150 miles apart) and even tighter on the field, with only 38 points separating the teams in their 114 previous meetings (Georgia has totaled 1,809 points, Auburn 1,771). ... Georgia's seven-game winning streak matches the longest during a season in Mark Richt's 11 years as coach. ... Branden Smith started at tailback and cornerback in Georgia's last game, and he also plays on special teams. ... Auburn has won six of the last 10 games played at Sanford Stadium. ... Tigers RB Onterio McCalebb has caught a pass in 12 straight games dating to last season and is tied for first in the SEC in receptions by a running back (23). ... With A.J. Green in the NFL, the Bulldogs have a more balanced passing game. Nine players have TD catches.

BIG TEN

season. McGloin started the past two games but struggled in a 10-7 win over Illinois.

Silas Redd is the Nittany Lions' top offensive threat. He's had five straight 100-yard games, the most by a PSU running back since Curtis Enis had eight in a row in 1997.

The Lions will try to puncture Nebraska's injury-plagued defensive front. Star tackle Jared Crick (torn chest muscle) is out for the season, Thad Randle (knee) might not come back, and Chase Rome (muscle pull) missed last week's game.

Pelini said Rome might play Saturday, but Nebraska has tinkered this week with defensive end Cameron Meredith at tackle to shore up the line.

The Huskers, held to a season-low 122 yards rushing by Northwestern, will be going against one of the nation's top defenses. Bradley, who worked 33 years under Paterno, will turn over the defensive coordinator duties to Larry Johnson and Ron Vanderlinden.

If Rex Burkhead can't make a dent on the ground, Nebraska quarterback Taylor Martinez will have to beat Penn State with his arm.

That's been a 50-50 proposition this year. He was abysmal against Wisconsin, throwing three interceptions. But he's been solid the last six quarters against Michigan State and Northwestern, having completed 34 of 44 passes for 369 yards and two touchdowns with no interceptions.

Nebraska receiver Kenny Bell said he doubts Penn State will let down because of the scandal.

"They're 8-1, undefeated in the Big Ten... a program like that, the kind of coaching staff they have, I've got nothing but respect for these guys. They're coming off a bye week. They're going to be ready to play football this Saturday."

Yes, the Nittany Lions will be, PSU safety Nick Sukay tweeted.

"Saturdays more than just any ordinary game," he wrote. "We'll be ready to show our penn state pride on the field saturday along with thousands of others."

AGGIES

From 1C

Both teams are stinging from the loss of two straight — the Aggies were dumped by the Sooners and Missouri — and both are fighting for bowl positioning with three games remaining.

"We talk about being 1-0 in our daily work — every segment of every practice, every repetition of every practice, every day it is the same thing," Snyder said.

"We're just trying to get better," he said, "and that is the consistency of it. Whether it was a win or a loss, regardless of what your record is, the bottom line is, if you want to be a better team, you have to practice to get better."

That sounds simple enough, but eeryone knows that it isn't.

Texas A&M began the season with lofty expectations, but it's been a bumpy road fraught with injuries and stinging losses. Now, the Aggies head out for their final road game of the season with contending for the Big 12 long removed from the picture.

"Certainly, our expectations and where we are right now don't coexist at this point," Texas A&M coach Mike Sherman acknowledged. "We just have to win a ballgame against an opponent who hasn't made a whole lot of mistakes. I thought we improved defensively this past week, we just have to find a way to eliminate the turnovers on offense."

Oh, and find a way to replace their leading rusher.

The Aggies haven't just lost two straight games, they also lost Christine Michael for the season with a torn ACL in their 41-25 defeat last week to Oklahoma. That'll put more pressure on Cyrus Gray, who needs 14 yards to become the fifth player in school history with 3,000 yards.

Quarterback Ryan Tannehill can also eclipsed the 3,000-yard mark — for the season — with 299 yards passing on Saturday. He leads a prolific no-huddle offense that has already hit the 500-yard mark six times this season, including 681 yards against Baylor.

"They're a good running team. They have a good running back, and they have some nice receivers with great size," Kansas State defensive back Allen Chapman said. "I think we are battle tested, but at the same time it's football."

Kansas State's offense is diametrically opposite of the Aggies, relying on quarterback Collin Klein's legs as much as his feet.

Routinely bruised and bloodied, Klein nonetheless has put together a remarkable season in the most unorthodox of fashions. He's only thrown for 1,223 yards and nine scores, but also has 906 yards and 19 TDs on the ground. That puts him in a tie for third in scoring with Temple's Bernard Pierce, behind only Wisconsin's Montee Ball and Oklahoma State's Joseph Randle.

DEAR ABBY

Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069. Her column is distributed by Universal Press Syndicate.

DEAR ABBY: Before we went on vacation, we trusted our 15-year-old neighbor "Mia" to feed our cat, take in the mail and water the plants. While we were away, she invited some of her friends and their friends to our home. Some of them she knew by their nicknames and only for a short time.

When Mia's parents learned about the party, they forbade her to go. However, she failed to mention she had left our door unlocked for strangers to enter. It was obvious when we returned that people had been there because things were out of place and garbage was left behind. We're missing about $100 worth of beer and liquor, $50 in change and $150 in old coins. Mia claims she doesn't know who was there, and her friends aren't being honest.

I'd like to get the police involved. Mia, her parents and my husband think I'm "unfair" for wanting to involve the police. I believe a crime has been committed and don't understand why I'm being treated like the bad guy when I'm the victim. The police have told me Mia would not get into trouble as long as she cooperates. Am I overreacting? — VIOLATED NEIGHBOR IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR VIOLATED: I don't think so. The party animals who invaded your home are guilty of trespassing and theft. You should be compensated for anything that was taken and those responsible held accountable. Now that the "kids" have seen where everything of value in your house is located, you could be further victimized. You did the right thing in informing the police.

DEAR ABBY: I am recently widowed. Men I work with and the husbands of some of my friends have been hitting on me. They'll ask me out for a meal, give me big hugs — and a couple of them have even kissed me on the mouth.

I don't lead them on, and besides, I'm a chubby great-grandmother. What drives men to do this? Do they think they're "consoling" me? When these things happen, I act as if they never did and go on as usual because to do otherwise would be hurtful to their wives, who are my friends. These men don't frighten me, but I don't understand their motivation. Do you? — GRANNY IN HER 70s

DEAR GRANNY: There isn't a blanket explanation for the behavior you have described. Some of your friends' husbands may be trying to console you; others may have lecherous intentions. As to your male co-workers, big hugs and kisses are a no-no in the workplace and you should tell them so.

If these incidents happen repeatedly with the same people, you WILL have to speak up and say they're making you uncomfortable. And as to your friends' husbands, try this: Stiff-arm them when you greet them with a sweet smile, then turn your cheek when you see them coming at you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are not religious. We believe that people are entitled to their own beliefs. My problem lies with my brother-in-law and his wife. They are two of the most judgmental, sanctimonious people I have ever known. They "hate" (their word) Mormons, Catholics, etc. How would you suggest I respond to their criticism of our "lack" of Christianity and their offers to pray for us? — BITING MY TONGUE IN GREAT FALLS, MONT.

DEAR BITING YOUR TONGUE: If your relatives are an example of people who practice Christianity, heaven help the rest of us. If you must interact with them, practice selective deafness, and when they spout hatred, excuse yourselves.

JACQUELINE BIGAR'S STARS

The stars show the kind of day you'll have: 5-dynamic; 4-positive; 3-average; 2-so-so; 1-difficult

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, Nov. 12, 2011:

You often are caught off guard this year, but you recuperate quickly. Revisit what works in your life, as you will be letting go of what doesn't work. Don't always think that money is so essential in expressing your caring. In fact, some diversity could be well received if you are attached. If you are single, you date and sort through your many would-be significant others. GEMINI can come on strong and be overly intense.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★★ The phone rings, almost preventing you from going off and doing what you want. You toss everything in the air and speed out the door. You could have a good time just in this action alone. Recognize you have limited energy and time. Tonight: Chatting up a storm.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★ Treat yourself well. Indulging others might be fun, but you also need some indulgence. Does a massage feel right? How about just taking off for the day, doing what you want? Allowing yourself to live a little more could add to everyone's happiness. (No one wants an unhappy Bull.) Tonight: Maintain the theme.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★★★ You could be a force to be dealt with, but are you simply reacting, or are you doing what you want? Ask yourself this question as you attempt to maximize the possibilities. A friend might have a flaky attack. Get used to it. Tonight: What feels right.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★ Know when to step back and let others rule the roost. Understand what you want, and go with the moment. You tend to go to extremes when dealing with an older relative or friend. Use care with this person. Tonight: Rent a movie.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★★★★ You naturally find yourself surrounded by friends, if not in person, then on the phone. Unexpected news from a distance might surprise you and could force your hand. Be sensitive to a child or loved one who would delight in more time with you. Tonight: Where you are, the party is.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★ You might need to go into work this morning or assume some responsibilities. Your plans could change rapidly because of a key friend or loved one. Show your willingness to flex. The unexpected opens many new doors. Tonight: Wherever you are, others are well aware of your presence.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★★★ In a sense, you are defending against a loved one's unpredictability and sassiness. You opt for escape, perhaps taking off for a drive or visiting a friend at a distance. Opportunities come forward because of your ability to communicate. Tonight: Let your imagination lead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★ Your sense of well-being comes out very quickly with contact and a discussion with a loved one. Once you gain a perspective, you leap into play mode, or at least become far more active. Make plans with a special person. Tonight: Great dinner with great company.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★ Others come up with the ideas; it is your job to say yes or no. When you tap into your creativity, others could be intimidated. It is best to allow them to express their ideas. Express your appreciation as only you can. Tonight: Out and about.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★ Go off and do your Saturday errands, but don't forget a family member. This person can become extremely difficult if he or she doesn't feel valued. Let your instincts come out with a child or loved one. Open up and share more with this person. Tonight: Just don't cook!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★★★★ Let more of your inner child out. Others delight in this spirit, and you like sharing on this level. Your spontaneity comes out with a child and possibly a sibling. Recognize that although you love surprises and impulsiveness, it doesn't mean that others do. Tonight: Play the night away.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★ Stay very centered and listen to feedback from family and/or a roommate. Your feelings are rather intense concerning your security and family. Finances can take wild swings either way. Be very careful, as the unpredictable night doesn't always favor you. Tonight: Let everyone pitch in.

Ask the Guys

Dear Classified Guys,
When I bought my condo I thought it would be great to live in a small community. After six months though, I learned that having neighbors so close is not as pleasant as I thought. One neighbor lets his cats out in the morning to use my son's sandbox as a litter box. My other neighbor is even worse. He doesn't think I know, but every morning he sneaks over and borrows my newspaper from the front porch. He puts it back an hour later hoping I won't notice. I probably wouldn't, except for the fact that he tears ads out of the classified section every week. Maybe condo life isn't for me. Any idea of a good place to live without neighbor problems?

Cash: I can see how its difficult to read the classified section when it looks like a mouse got to it first. Unless you move to a deserted island, I think you're always going to have some neighbors that are more difficult to get along with than others.

Carry: Much like family, you can't always choose your neighbors. But you can choose how you deal with them. There are a variety of ways to solve your problems without moving to a new neighborhood. For example, put a cover on your son's sandbox to keep the cats out. Regardless of your neighbor's animals, it's a good idea to keep other wild animals from using the sand as well.

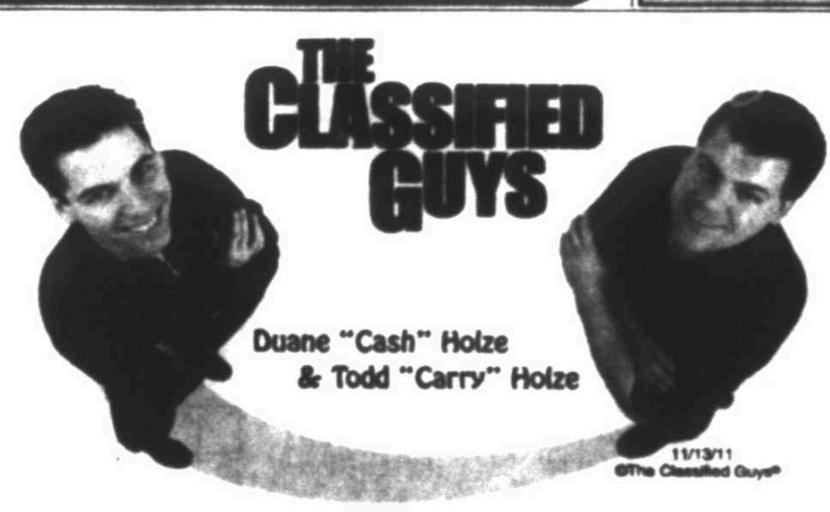

Cash: As for your other neighbor who likes to read the classifieds, we can't fault him for his passion. However, he could take a different approach to getting his morning paper.

Carry: One of your best options for approaching the problem is to be direct, but polite. Confront your neighbor and ask that he refrain from taking your newspaper. Once he knows you are aware of his behavior, he will more than likely stop.

Cash: You're not alone in neighbor problems. Even famous people have similar issues. Rosie O'Donnell once complained of her neighbor, Sean "P Ditty" Combs who put on an extravagant fireworks show at his home. Rosie spent the night consoling her scared children and pets.

Carry: The best approach to preventing future problems is to get acquainted with your neighbors. People who are friendly with each other tend to have fewer problems.

Cash: And becoming friends with your current neighbor should be relatively simple. You already have one thing in common…reading the classifieds!

Watchful Eye

Your neighbors could make a difference to your safety. Neighborhood watch programs are among the most well-known crime prevention programs in the country. Some surveys show that up to 20% of city residents are involved in a watch program. For more information about a program in your area or starting a watch for your community, contact you local police department or log onto www.usaonwatch.com. It might just be the next neighborly thing you do.

Family Communications

"Won't you be my neighbor?" It's a catch phrase that was sung every week on the PBS television show, Mr. Roger's neighborhood. As an ordained minister, composer of over 200 songs and author of numerous books, Fred Rogers (a.k.a. "Mr. Rogers") based his show on respecting others and appreciating the world. Airing from 1968 to 2001, his work won four Emmys, including one for lifetime achievement, a Peabody award and the Presidential Medal of Freedom. Although Fred passed away on February 27, 2003, his memory lives on.

Gates Closed

I was concerned about security when I moved to a small gated community just outside the city. However, the real estate agent told me that there was a great neighborhood watch program headed by a very dedicated captain.

I wanted to get involved in the program so when I saw the man walking around the neighborhood with his clipboard, I invited him in for a cup of coffee. That's when he told me that people didn't normally invite him inside.

"That's surprising," I said. "I thought everyone would want to know the neighborhood watch captain."

"They probably do," he laughed. "But I'm just the guy who reads your electric meter."

2012 Ford Mustang Boss 302 coupe

First Look

By Ken Chester, Jr.
Motor News Media Corporation

The Boss returns! The limited-production 2012 Mustang Boss 302 is set to become the quickest, best-handling straight-production Mustang ever offered by Ford, based on the world-class foundation provided by the 2011 Mustang GT. Building on the spirit of the 1969 Mustang Boss 302, a select team of Ford engineers, designers and stylists has distilled the groundbreaking GT to its purest form. Every component has been examined. Each system has been strengthened, lightened and refined. The result is the 2012 Mustang Boss 302, a street-legal race car destined to be America's next performance legend.

To celebrate the racing heritage of the new Mustang Boss 302, Ford will also offer a limited number of Boss 302 Laguna Seca models. This model is named for the track where Parnelli Jones won the 1970 Trans-Am season opener in a Boss 302. Aimed at racers more interested in on-track performance than creature comforts, the Boss 302 Laguna Seca has increased body stiffness, a firmer chassis setup and an aerodynamics package carried over almost in its entirety from the Ford Racing Boss 302R.

The Boss Track Attack program, offered through Team Mustang and Ford Racing, and complimentary with purchase of a Mustang Boss 302, will feature a Boss immersion, driving instruction and plenty of track time with engineers and racers. The experience is designed to give Boss owners a comprehensive, hands-on look at exactly what their cars are capable of – and just how much fun they can be. Boss Track Attack will take place at Miller Motorsports Park in Tooele, Utah, outside of Salt Lake City. Boss owners need to make their own travel and lodging arrangements, but once in Utah, the full track experience – including cars for the event – is courtesy of Ford.

Power for the Boss 302 is generated by a 5.0L V8 which is based on the Mustang GT prime mover. Ford engineers helped the intake build power, and revised the camshafts using a more aggressive grind actuated with the same twin independent variable camshaft timing (Ti-VCT) mechanism used on the GT. As a result, the Boss produces 32 more hp from the same engine while still offering a smooth idle and low-end torque for comfortable around-town driving.

SPECIFICATIONS

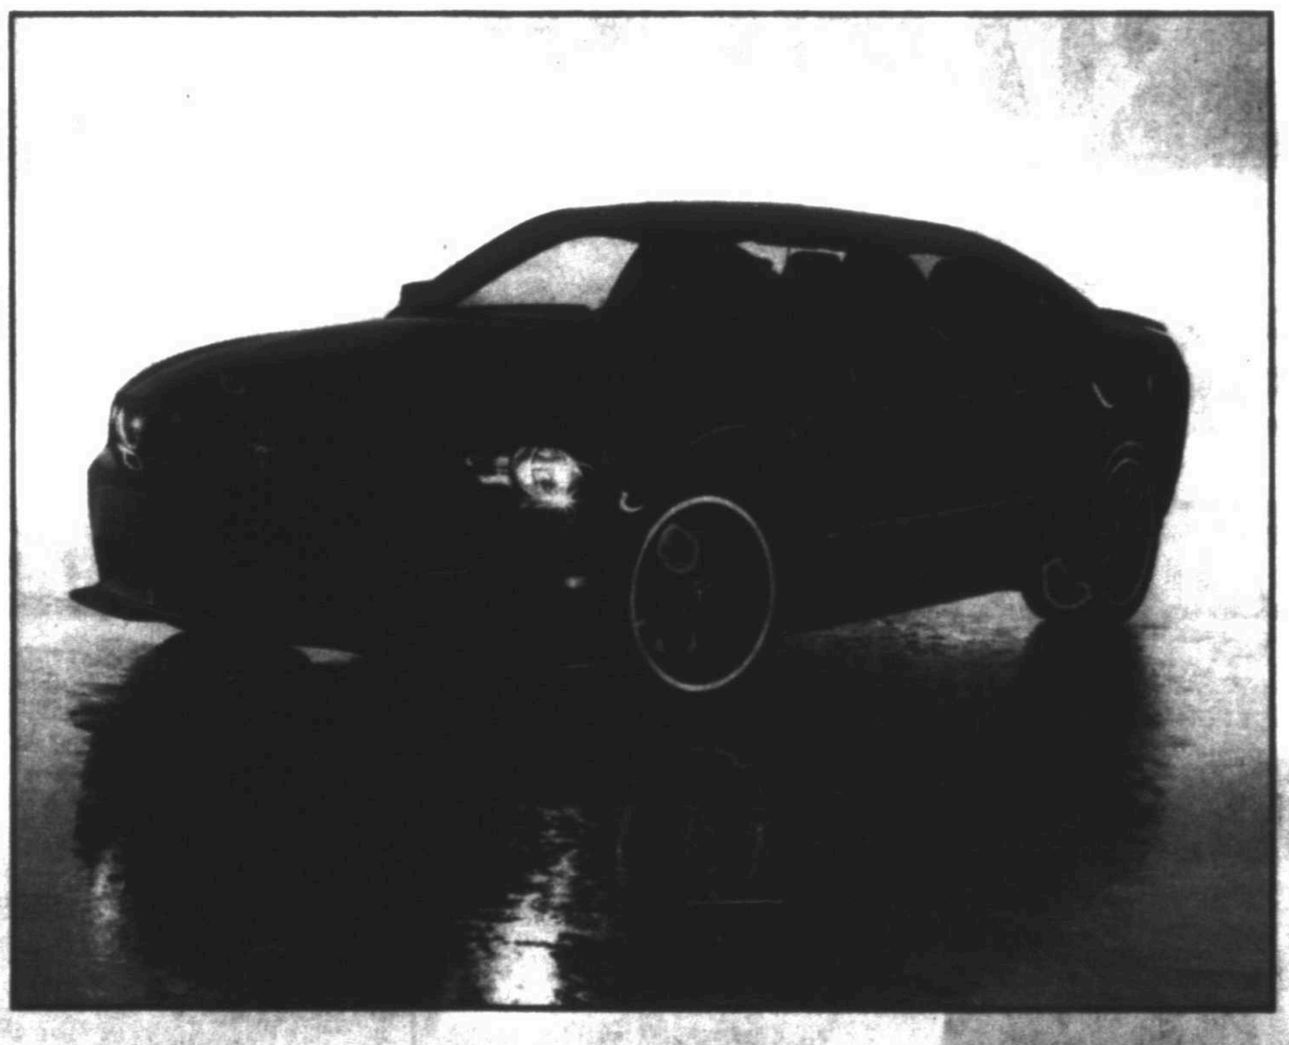

Wheelbase: 107.1; overall length: 188.1; width: 73.9; height: 55.1
All vehicle measurements are in inches

Engine: 5.0L Ti-VCT V8 – 444 hp at 7,400 rpm and 380 lbs-ft of torque at 4,500 rpm

Transmission: six-speed close-ratio manual
EPA Fuel Economy: 17 city/26 highway

Cargo capacity: 13.4 cubic feet

A race-inspired clutch with upgraded friction materials transmits power, while a short-throw, close-ratio six-speed manual transmission handles gear change duties.

Torque is delivered to a 3.73-ratio rear axle using carbon fiber plates in the limited-slip differential to improve handling and longevity. For those who want even more precise control over power delivery, a torque-sensing (Torsen) limited-slip differential is an available option.

Control hardware for the Boss 302 has been further refined from the GT. Higher-rate coil springs on all four corners, stiffer suspension bushings and a larger-diameter rear stabilizer bar all contribute to the road racing mission, and Boss models are lowered by 11 millimeters at the front and 1 millimeter at the rear versus the Mustang GT. The real key to handling, though, is in the adjustable shocks and struts, standard on all Boss Mustang models. To complement the suspension, the speed-sensitive electronic steering system has been retuned to maximize feedback and road feel to the driver. Similarly, Boss receives unique traction control system (TCS) and electronic stability control (ESC) settings to help drivers achieve maximum performance whether on the street or at the track.

TracKey, available after transfer of title to the owner and installed at the dealership, adds TracMode powertrain control software to the car for track use, providing full race calibration and two-stage launch control in addition to stock calibration, without compromising factory warranty. This software only is available to Boss owners after the vehicle is purchased and will be available later this summer.

Inside the passenger cabin, a unique Boss steering wheel covered completely in Alcantara suede complements the standard seats, which are trimmed in cloth with a suede-like center insert to firmly hold occupants in place. Boss customers who want the ultimate seating experience can select a package that includes Recaro buckets, designed by Ford SVT in cooperation with Recaro for high-performance Mustang models, and shared between the Boss and GT500.
