Railroad Trains Packed With Chinese Refugees Destroyed When Jap Planes Strike

BY JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Sept. 8—At least 300 Chinese noncombatants were killed and 400 injured today in one of the worst disasters caused by Japanese air bombs in the three months of undeclared war.

Five railroad cars, packed with 1,500 Chinese refugees from the war zone, were blown from their track by Japanese bombers at Sungkiang station, 30 miles from Shanghai.

Fell Without Warning

The bombs fell without warning. A Chinese spokesman declared the train carried no soldiers, and that the station was serving no military purpose.

Red Cross officials rushed aid from Shanghai.

Both Chinese and Japanese meanwhile took action that increased peril to foreigners remaining in China and virtually blasted last hope for an American-British-French neutrality proposal.

The Japanese, answering the three-power note, demanded that Chinese troops be withdrawn from a much wider area in the Shanghai environs even than had been suggested to assure the safety of foreign residents and interests in the international areas.

Refuse To Evacuate

The Japanese response followed a Chinese refusal to evacuate positions in Pootung, across the Whangpoo river from the international zone, unless foreign naval concentrations guaranteed that Japanese troops would be restrain-

Larger Crops Being Harvested; Meat Is To Follow In '38

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—Secretary Wallace said today food costs already are beginning to decline because of the larger crops farmers are harvesting this year.

This trend should continue, the cabinet member said in an interview, "if we have a series of normal crop yields."

Meat Prices To Follow

Wallace said wholesale food prices turned downward in August and that large crops of corn and other livestock feeds indicated meat prices would follow in 1938.

"Of course the city resident must remember," he said, "that it takes even the best farmers several months to convert corn into pork chops and beef steaks. The city man must remember too that fair prices for farm products are one of the best guarantees of continuing city prosperity."

Protection Included

The cabinet member emphasized that "ample consumer protection" is included in administration farm measures.

Wallace said that if an ample quantity of food is available there is little need for protection against high cost to consumers. He explained that by "ample" he meant a quantity which would, under ordinary circumstances, yield a fair return to the grower without penalizing the consumer.

Three Bandits Being Sought After Battle

Police Of Two States Scour Wide Area; Patrolman Dies Today; Two Men Are Held

(By The Associated Press)

GULFPORT, Miss., Sept. 8—Police of two states were searching today for three men, armed with pistols and a machine gun, who fled in a stolen automobile after one of them fatally wounded Patrolman J. O. Wolff in a sudden riot of bullets on a Gulfport street. A fourth man also was sought.

The officer, shot yesterday afternoon, died early today in a hospital here.

Two Are Jailed

Two Gladewater, Tex., men, alleged companions of the gunmen, were jailed without charge pending the outcome of the manhunt.

Patrolman Edward Van Zandt, who was with Wolff when the gunman's bullets cut him down, said he learned from the jailed suspects that the fugitives were wanted in the mid-west for a series of crimes. Van Zandt would not disclose the names of the fugitives or their crimes.

The patrolman said federal bureau of investigation agents had trailed the men for months and would resume the search today.

Fight Second Battle

After fleeing Gulfport the fugitives were reported to have fought a second gunbattle 18 miles northwest of Gulfport with members of the posse seeking them. The gunmen reversed their course and fled.

Van Zandt said the shooting started when he and Wolff stopped two men on a Gulfport street to question them about a pair of extra license plates discovered by filling station attendants when the pair left the car to be refuelled.

Farmer Asks Money Back For Spouse

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Sept. 8. (AP)—A 67-year-old sharecropper, under two sentences as a result of his marriage to 11-year-old Mary Frances Alexander, said today he won't contest an annulment—providing he gets back the price of his marriage license.

"It's just like paying for a horse and not getting him," the husband, William H. Grimes, told Judge R. I. Cope. The judge said an annulment action would be started.

Neutral Ships Torpedoed By Lurking Subs

Alarming Rift Between Italy And Soviet Russia Growing; Fresh Fuel Added To Row

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 8—Three British destroyers and three French warships sped today to the scene of a Mediterranean naval battle between Spanish insurgent and Spanish government ships.

The order sending British warships to the area came just as the British cabinet adjourned for lunch after a "crisis" meeting in the midst of an alarming rift between Italy and Soviet Russia over charges of "piracy" in the Mediterranean.

No Explanation Given

The British destroyers were ordered to the battle scene, off Tenese, west of Algiers, by the naval commander at Gibraltar.

The admiralty in London did not explain the move, but other sources said the ships were ordered to patrol the area so as to be near possible trouble.

Two French torpedo boats and the French destroyer L'Iphigenie put out from Algiers to the vicinity of the engagement.

Fresh Fuel Added

The Soviet union added fresh fuel to the dispute in a second bitter message to Rome. The note declared Italy's denial of the Soviet charge that Italian submarines sank two Russian ships was "entirely unacceptable."

Soviet acceptance of an Anglo-French invitation to attend a twelve-power conference on Mediterranean "piracy" at Nyon, Switzerland Friday, also demanded why Germany had been invited—since she has no direct connection with the Mediterranean.

Sources here were silent on reports that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had assured Italy that "political questions" would not be raised at the conference.

Both British and French quarters insisted the conference would open as scheduled.

Two May Stay Away

Both Italy and Germany may stay away.

New attacks on neutral ships showed plainly that "mystery" vessels terrorizing Mediterranean shipping have not been frightened by French and British men-of-war.

The 3,000-ton British tanker Harpa was a torpedo target last night off the coast of North Africa, but escaped. Near the Italian island of Rhodes in the southeastern Aegean sea the British-registered tanker Pegasus of the Socony-Vacuum Oil company reported she had been halted by a submarine flying the insurgent flag.

Young School Girl Confesses Slaying Man After Attempt Is Made To Assault Her

(By The Associated Press)

ISELIN, N. J., Sept. 8—A 20-year old school girl admitted today, Police Chief George E. Keating announced, that she fatally shot Paul Reeves, 25-year-old father of two children, when he attempted to assault her.

He gave the girl's name as Margaret Drennan and said she was a student at a secretarial school. She was the "lady in red," Keating said, who was seen running from the bungalow where Reeves was shot to death in his bedroom last night.

She had been taken into custody shortly after Reeves was found nude and dying in his room. His children, Paul, 5, and Emma, 2, were found whimpering under the sheets in their adjoining bedroom.

Mrs. Myra Reeves was called by police from a theater reaching her husband a few minutes before he died in a hospital.

Keating quoted the Drennan girl as saying she went to Reeves' home because Reeves threatened to reveal their previous love trysts to her family if she failed to do so.

Production Is Predicted At Higher Peak

Prices Slump Over $1 A Bale; Crop Of 16,098,000 Bales Is Indicated In Report

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8—Cotton prices dropped more than one dollar a bale here today after the department of agriculture indicated the fifth largest cotton crop on record.

The estimate totalling 16,098,000 bales was exceeded to any great extent only by the crops of 1926 and 1931 when more than 17,000,000 bales were produced.

Topped By Few Thousand

The production of 1914 and 1930 topped today's estimate by only a few thousand bales.

Oct. contracts traded off to 9.04 cents a pound. Dec. to 9.10, March to 9.23, and July to 9.40, or 23 to 28 points below the morning highs and 18 to 22 points below yesterday's close.

The average yield per acre was the largest in the history of cotton growing. It was placed at 228.5 pounds against 223.3 pounds last month and 223.1 in 1898.

Nervous And Erratic Swings Seen On New York Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — Cotton futures sold down nearly $1 a bale today as the government's September cotton crop report indicated the highest yield per acre on record and an increase in the production forecast over the previous official estimate.

The decline followed a series of nervous and erratic swings as traders evened up accounts in preparation for the report.

Private forecasts had pointed to yield of about 300,000 bales smaller than the official estimate.

Increase Over August Report Is Offered By Government

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — The department of agriculture reported today a cotton crop of 16,098,000 bales of 500 pounds each is indicated for this year, basing its estimate on the acreage and condition of the crop Sept. 1.

The census bureau announced 1,871,403 running bales of cotton of this year's growth, counting round bales as half bales, had been ginned to September 1, compared with 1,376,247 a year ago, and 1,135,000 two years ago.

Increase Over August

A month ago the department reported an indicated crop of 15,593,000 bales, based on August 1 conditions. Production last year was 12,-

Floods Strike In Panhandle

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Sept. 8—Flooded streams fed by torrential rains in the mountains westward and by local downpours disrupted train and highway traffic in the North Panhandle, eastern New Mexico and the Canadian area today as more moisture fell in widely separated sections of the Plains.

A washout on the Fort Worth and Denver railroad near Texline disrupted traffic, throwing the freight and passenger schedule hours late. A damaged bridge caused minor delays on the Rock Island near Stinnett. The main line of the Santa Fe was out at Canadian until noon. A washout in a small draw swollen by a six-inch rain caused the trouble.

Bridge Is Closed

Traffic on the main highway westward from Dalhart to Denver was creeping across a bad detour near Dalhart after the highway bridge was closed by head rises from the mountains.

Nearly six inches of rain fell in an hour between Des Moines and Clayton, N. M., last night. This heavy flood was the main cause of the trouble in the North Panhandle.

Many sections of the North Plains of Texas received rains measuring as much as three inches. Eastern New Mexico, western Oklahoma and southern Kansas also received good rains.

Only Light Showers Reported In This Area Last Night

Rain gauges in Lubbock registered only a slight precipitation Tuesday night, promising surcease from moisture which had amounted to 4.09 inches since midnight Sunday. There was only a "trace" at Texas Technological college and the airport, but .13 of an inch was reported at the experiment sub-station.

Denver railway dispatchers reported no additional rain on their South Plains lines this morning, but the Santa Fe said an inch rain fell at Bledsoe.

Heavy In New Mexico

A heavy rain, accompanied by a brilliant electrical display, fell in eastern New Mexico Tuesday night. Deluge was heaviest at Lovington, where five inches fell near midnight. Tatum, Hobbs, and Eunice received hard rains.

At Lamesa, precipitation between three and four inches fell in approximately two hours early Tuesday night. Telegraph lines were down in the area Wednesday morning.

Rains have been general over the entire South Plains area with many sections reporting as much as five inches since Sunday.

Early this morning, according to a report from the Lubbock airport, the ceiling was unlimited and visibility was 15 miles.

Texas Schools Bid For Gold

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 8—The state school fund, enriched by oil developments, had the prospect today of sharing in gold and quicksilver discoveries in Brewster county.

State Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston asked Attorney General W. C. McCraw and Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald to ascertain whether the state still owned the land or whether it had been deeded to the federal government as part of the Big Bend park development project. Holbrook said he understood the federal government had rejected the project.

Retain Mineral Rights

He also conferred with McCraw and McDonald with a view to the state's retaining mineral rights on any land which might be deeded.

The gold ore reported in a vein north of the Chisos mountains for a distance of 15 miles, assayed $249 per ton, Holbrook said he was informed. The quicksilver was richer than that which has been mined at Terlingua for many years, the tests showed.

Local Police To Wage War On Undesirables

Here Is New Way To Save That Nickel

Add to economy measures:

A woman told the city water department this morning that she bathes her baby, bathes herself, and washes her clothes in the same water—then as a final insurance against wastage she dips the water from the bathtub and pours it on the lawn.

Another woman recently explained she uses ice drippings to wash her dishes and sends her husband to a store to drink soda water. She didn't explain how she keeps expense of soda water down.

Warning that Lubbock and South Plains generally will be a good place for those of questionable occupation to stay away from this fall was issued this morning by Chief of Police Don Reeder.

He disclosed that he already has discussed with a number of other South Plains officers a plan for cooperative effort in handling undesirable types who usually flock to this region when crops are good in the hopes of "easy money". The discussions will be continued, he added, with the probability that a conference of city and county officers here and throughout the territory may be held at a convenient time—perhaps during the approaching Panhandle-South Plains fair.

Influx May Be Greater

Communications to him, the chief added, indicated that the influx of undesirables may be greater this year than ever before. The unusual crop prospects are the chief lure, although the increased number of fairs, rodeos and similar celebrations on the South Plains this fall is an added attraction.

Reeder warned that the approach of cotton picking time probably will see attempts to operate gambling games, increased bootlegging and the opening of "joints" which will be operated for the primary purpose of fleecing those who have money. Lubbock police, he added, will be on the lookout for such operations and where legally possible, will close them. The same attitude, he added, has been indicated by various other South Plains officers with whom he has discussed the situation.

To Be On Lookout

Police here, he said further, will be instructed to be on the lookout for unemployed itinerants with instructions to arrest those without visible means of support. Such people, the chief added, will be given the choice of going to work, quitting the country or going to jail.

"Indications are," said Reeder, "that the problem will be the biggest of its kind Lubbock and the Plains region have faced. We are preparing to handle it on that basis."

Value Of Relief Units Draws Senate Inquiry

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Committee experts began gathering data today for an extensive senate investigation of the worth of the emergency agencies engaged in administering federal relief.

Alan Johnston, counsel for the special senate committee to investigate unemployment and relief, asked the agencies to supply him with comprehensive information on their activities.

These agencies include the Works Progress administration, the Public Works administration, Civilian Conservation crops, and the Resettlement administration, the latter now defunct.

Hearings To Be Held

Johnston said the data would be used to prepare an agenda of work which he will recommend to the committee when it convenes here, probably early in October. Public hearings, he added, may start in November.

Appointment of the committee, headed by Senator Byrnes (D-SC) grew out of an unsuccessful attempt by Byrnes and other senators to slash the administration's $1,500,000,000 relief budget by one-third. Both opponents and proponents of the cut said insufficient data was available on the extent and nature of unemployment and the need for federal assistance.

Spill Coffee In Your Lap All You Like And Still Keep Dry

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 8—Spilling the breakfast coffee in the lap does not even wet clothing treated with a new chemical made from coal and fat, which was exhibited at the American Chemical society here today.

Straight whisky is different, it soaks in. But anything made of water runs off like falling on a duck's back. The new chemical is an attempt to find the all-around water "repellant," something that will neither wash out nor be affected by dry cleaning.

The new stuff does all these, said Du Pont chemists who exhibited it. It is a new laboratory product, not ready for the market. It has been used on cotton, wool, silk and rayon.

All of these fabrics become softer to the touch when treated with the coal-fat chemical. It does not coat the fabric like paint, but sinks into the fibres.

Many Changes For Better Will Be Plains' Lot In Few Months

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of four articles on oil activity in Yoakum county.)

BY HALBERT I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

PLAINS, Yoakum county, Sept. 8 —The visitor to this little town of Plains who returns two years hence probably will require a whole lot of persuasion before he is convinced that it is the same place.

Only a few months ago it was no more than a sleepy little spot in the road, with its hospitable people among the first to agree that the future apparently held little promise for growth and expansion.

Today it still is a spot in the road, without telephones, running water, sewage system, electricity, gas, banks, railroad, picture shows, hotels, tourist camps—in fact without most of the things to be found in most villages.

It's "Live Wire" Now

But today it is one of the livest and most rapidly spreading spots to be found on the plains of West Texas. And its population is one serenely and supremely confident that their town at last is going places in a big way. They have abundant reason, it appears, for their confidence.

Plains once was a bustling little town, with banking facilities, telephones, hotels, a picture show and other conveniences. It was more prosperous than many larger places, because it was the trading center for prospering ranchers from a large area. Then the depression hit. Drouth and sandstorms had the whole countryside hanging on the ropes. Consolidation removed the last bank. The telephone exchange folded up. To all appearances, Plains was dead and seemingly was content to rest in peace.

Then Comes Oil

Then oil blew a trumpeting blast which might give Gabriel a few ideas. The corpse climbed out of its grave imbued with a definite chamber of commerce complex. It since has been doing things, and its progress seems to gain momentum with each day.

A chamber of commerce was organized with Buford D. McGinty as its president. He seems a perfect choice for the job—a native of the county, young, wiry, tall, and alert, who is likely to be heard from in the business affairs of South Plains region.

The chamber of commerce tried unsuccessfully to have telephone facilities restored to the town. Failing in that, McGinty obtained a 25-year franchise from the county commissioners court and announced that a telephone plant will be in operation within 60 days.

THE town needed a water system, and once more the need was pressed before the county commissioners. A group of Plains business men leased the water well which supplies the courthouse and is now drilling another. Pumps are being installed and a distribution system will be laid. The whole represents an immediate investment estimated by McGinty at $1,100. Along with the improvement, facilities will be provided to install a water sewage system to replace the outdoor toilets now in use. Likewise, fire protection will be made available.

To secure electricity, the commissioners granted a 40-year franchise to F. F. Roberts of Morton who has begun the installation of gasoline motors to generate power. McGinty was advised that the plant will be in operation within less than three weeks.

Hotel On The Way

Hotel accommodations were an immediate and urgent need. Outside capital became interested, and purchased a large plot of property at the sotuhwest corner of the square. A ramshackle two-story frame structure which once was a hotel is to be razed at once, and a modern two-story building will be erected, according to those financing the project. A hotel of 30 or 40 rooms will occupy the second floor. The lower floor will be partitioned for businesses of various kinds.

Seemingly there will be no shortage of tenants, because representatives of almost every type of business have investigated the possibilities of the town, and have been convinced, within the last few months.

A TOWN-LOT addition project even has been placed on the market and has made the enthusiastic announcement that "Plains needs and wants hotels, tourist cabins, cafes, drug stores, variety stores, dry goods stores, grocery and market, shoe stores, barber shops, lumber companies, supply houses, cleaning-pressing establishments, laundries, doctors, lawyers, druggists, hospitals, picture show and any business that will be a betterment to the populace of Plains." The announcement may be enthusiastic, but it does give an idea of the newly-found spirit of the town.

Undoubtedly there are opportunities in Plains and in Yoakum county. Just how great the various opportunities may be is something for the individual concerned to judge. Money can be lost there, just as it can be made. In the county, there are oil leases which probably would be cheap at any price for which they could be bought. Probably there are others which would be a waste of money, no matter how low the cost. The same is true of other types of business.

Undoubtedly the possibilities in town and county merit investigation by those seeking opportunity to invest. But I can think of no better way to close this series of articles than to suggest that the wise investor will be the one who knows what he is doing and who does not let an excess of enthusiasm sway his judgment.

Three girls, two of them winners of recent beauty revues, brought personal invitation to Lubbock Tuesday afternoon to attend the Lamb county fair to be held at Littlefield Sept. 23 through 25.

C.-C. Secretary Along

With Glenn Burgess, secretary-manager of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, were Benny Frances Dunn, blue-eyed brunette daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dunn; blonde and blue-eyed Mildred Wiseman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wiseman, both of them special rodeo ambassadors, and Kathryn Darby, blue-eyed brunette daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Darby.

They called briefly at the office of Chas. A. Guy, editor of Avalanche-Journal publications.

Rodeo To Be Featured

The three-day celebration, the visitors said, would present the "finest rodeo Lamb county ever has staged, thrilling performances that will move with lightning-like rapidity and fully guaranteed by Curley Daugherty, well known Lamb county rodeo promoter from Olton."

In addition, there will be "a featured farm machinery display, trench silo demonstration that will include digging and filling of the ensilage preserver, agricultural exhibits, old-timers fiddling contests, amateur night programs and, if possible, a grid engagement."

Steers Are Imported

As to the rodeo, the girls said Daugherty has imported a wild rangy bunch of Brahma steers that can separate themselves from any rider. From deep Chihuahua come wild steers for bulldogging events. They are fast, wiry and strong. Bucking horses have been obtained from the Davis ranch north of Clovis, N. M., and have been especially trained to put on a thrilling show.

There will be the usual frills, such as, calf roping, trained horse acts and "crazy clowns."

Money prizes and a $100 saddle will be special prizes for the championship cowboy, and other special prizes will be awarded to outstanding competitors. No matter where they have ridden, they will be allowed to enter the Littlefield events.

Shows will be given in the new baseball park, built in the spring at Littlefield. The grandstand seats 600 and bleacher accommodations for 1,000 more will be constructed, said Burgess. Rodeo programs will be given each afternoon from 2 o'clock until 4:30.

Miss Dunn and Miss Wiseman have visited almost every hamlet from Littlefield to Clovis and Amarillo to Lubbock, as well as a group of towns outside those routes. Tuesday, for instance, they went to Lubbock, Brownfield, Meadow, Ropesville, Clovis, Muleshoe, Sudan, Amherst, and Anton. It is planned, said Burgess, to send two car-loads of Littlefield boosters to numerous other South Plains towns—so as to insure the invitation may be passed personally to all.

Lady Luck Frowns Upon Man's Efforts To Win Back Lost Cash At Baccarat Table

BIARRITZ, France, Sept. 8 (AP)—Lady Luck frowned today on Amleto Battisti's ambitious efforts to break the world's top flight baccarat players.

For a while it looked like the Uruguayan was weel on his way toward getting back about $1,024,000 which he asserted the big time players took from him in 1929.

Banking the "big table" in his comeback game, he announced yesterday he was about $37,000 ahead.

He said then that he hoped to disprove the tradition that you cannot win back money in the same place it was lost.

Winnings Trimmed Down

But today things weren't going so good and his opponents trimmed his winnings down to less than $7,500 and he was virtually back where he started.

Last week he openly challenged the men who had bested him to take him on in a "sky's the limit" game. He announced he was out for revenge and, ever since his opponents cleaned him out in 1929, he had been building up a stake to tackle them again at the "big table."

Since Battisti started banking the game, it was estimated that 4,000,000 francs have changed hands.

Governor Credited With Knockdown

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 8 (AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman was credited variously with a knockdown, a draw and a stand-off last night in reports which police said they received from witnesses of a street misunderstanding.

Patrolman Frank B. Knosky, who arrived on the scene in front of a hotel some time after a scare of people had gathered and the governor had departed, said he received these reports.

Emil J. Lawrence, a strike picket on duty across the street, said Lewis Angelo, a former state boxing inspector, stuck his head in the governor's automobile window and "evidently said something, because the governor jumped out and punched him, knocking him to the sidewalk."

Joseph Balazzi, a taxi driver, said he stood across the street and watched Hoffman and Angelo in a "scuffle" which was over quickly and he was unable to say who was the aggressor.

Methods Of Combatting Pests Which Destroy Crops Given

Growing danger of spread of cotton leaf worms, flea hoppers and boll worms in the Lubbock vicinity has caused representatives of the county farm agent's office to suggest methods of combatting these pests.

Homer E. Thompson, assistant Lubbock agent, said a farmer in Meadow community recently reported counting 25 leaf worms and one boll worm on a single stalk of cotton. Another report, he added, was that worms have spread from 100 acres of cotton to 40 acres of maize on the R. H. Brown place on the old Plainview road five miles north of Texas Technological college.

Worm Eats Only Cotton

The leaf worm, Thompson explained, eats only cotton. The adult fly, however, may be found in great swarms in orchards or vineyards as far north as the Great Lakes, and often cause much damage by puncturing the fruit.

The larvae of this moth, he related, are called caterpillars or "worms", which are composed of 13 segments and a head. They are a chewing insect and often attack fields in early summer, stripping cotton stalks of leaves.

Dusting Is Effective

Effective control, according to the assistant farm agent, is by dusting cotton plants with calcium arsenate or, sometimes to greater advantage, with the use of a liquid solution. The solution is made, Thompson said, by mixing one and one-half or two pounds of calcium arsenate in 50 gallons of water. From 150 to 200 gallons per acre will be required, depending on the size of the cotton plants and extent of infestation.

Although the cotton boll worm, Thompson related, is not native to this country, it frequently is found in the south, damaging tomatoes and corn ears, as well. Both of the worm he described as being reddish brown or tawny in color, with a wing spread of about an inch and with a dark spot on the outside of each wing. Moths lay their eggs singly on cotton leaves where they hatch in three to more than 20 days, depending on the temperature. Worms, Thompson said, at first are a yellowish-green with pale yellow heads, later varying much in color and markings. Some change little, he said, while others acquire a black stripe along the middle of the back with a fine yellow central line with four black dots above each segment.

As described by the assistant agent, the full grown larvae or worm webs a leaf or two together and pupates in this place, remaining there a varying length of time before the adult emerges. Under extreme hot weather conditions this insect may pupate every 14 to 25 days.

Fly Northward

In the fall the cotton boll worm moths fly northward and may be found abundantly in September and October. As the worm falls from the cotton stalk to the ground in the southern states, it passes the winter in the pupae stage, burying itself in the cracks and spaces in the soil from 3 to 5 inches in depth. Late fall plowing to break up the earth cells in the ground where the insects winter as pupae, provided the plowing is rather deep, is a helpful procedure to remedy the boll worm. This method destroys the insect by exposing him to the winter weather.

Another method of control is to plant and produce as early a maturing crop as is possible to produce. The cotton will then be in the more mature stages when the insect is ready to attack seriously in this section, Thompson said.

As the larvae feed for a short time on the surface of the plants before plowing into the boll, the application of calcium arsenate in the dust form will be advantageous when the plants are infested heavily, he continued. This method of control is recommended under extreme conditions because it is seldom over 50 per cent effective, and more of the time it is less than 25 per cent effective.

The calcium arsenate should be dusted on the cotton plants at the rate of five to eight pounds per acre, varying with the growth and height of the cotton stalk. The calcium arsenate should always be applied in the dust form to get best results. If it is applied in the liquid form, this solution dries and hardens on the plant and the boll worm seldom gets enough in his stomach to kill him, the agent said.

Three Applications

A good duster may be obtained for a tractor that will cost approximately $175, while a horse drawn power take-off duster will cost $90 or less, and there are several forms of small hand dusters that can be purchased for covering small acreages, he continued. Three applications of this dust should be applied at five to seven day intervals.

The calcium arsenate in the dust form should be applied at night and especially when there is no wind blowing. It will naturally adhere better to the stalk when dusted at night because the atmosphere is heavier.

Thompson said the cotton flea hopper is a small greenish-gray insect which looks similar to a gnat, and is found about the buds of the cotton plant, sucking the sap from the bud stems and causing them to blast. They may also be found in the immature cotton square, doing similar damage. This causes the branches to bear few bolls until weather conditions reduce the flea hopper. Ordinarily it does little damage to cotton over a two or three weeks period. The latter part of July or the first of August is the opportune time for this insect to do much damage in this territory.

Nymph Does Damage

The flea hopper nymph is the young which does the damage to the cotton. The adult flea hopper does no damage but begins laying eggs after it reaches adult stage.

As a result of repeated experiments, sulphur has been found to be the best method of controlling the cotton flea hopper. Ordinary sulphur is not sufficiently fine in texture to be suitable for dusting, consequently a specially ground sulphur has been developed for this purpose, with a sufficient degree of fineness to pass a screen of 425 meshes to the inch, and conditioned with a fine material to prevent lumping. Thompson continued. Such a processed sulphur is on the market and should be demanded by anyone who contemplates control of the flea hopper, he added.

The sulphur dusting machine for the flea hopper should be capable of generating a strong air pressure so that the sulphur cloud is forced down among the foliage. Dusting should begin when there are found as many as 10 flea hoppers per 100 terminal buds or, if one can not make this observation, when the cotton shows a tendency of a whip-like growth instead of squares.

The sulphur should be applied when there is very little or no wind blowing. This can be best done at night as usually there is little wind and the damp atmosphere causes the sulphur to adhere better to the plants. From 12 to 20 pounds per acre of sulphur should be applied each dusting for one acre. One dusting seldom will be sufficient to destroy this insect. Three applications are usually made at intervals of five to seven days. If a rain falls soon after dusting, a repeated dusting of the sulphur should begin as soon as possible, Thompson advised.

District WPA Officials Are Still Awaiting Instructions

Lubbock district WPA officials still awaited instructions from state headquarters today as to how curtailed operations to be put into effect within the next two weeks will affect operations here. Although expectation is that it will mean a sharp reduction in the Lubbock headquarters staff, officials said they still lack definite information on the subject.

Instructions now are being waited from state WPA headquarters at San Antonio as to the reorganization which will be necessary. Until those instructions are received, informants added, it is "pure speculation" to say what the changes may be.

Expectation is that any reorganization ordered will be put into effect probably Sept. 19 although, information added, "it may be a little earlier or a little later."

Present personnel of district offices here is about 45.

Largest Enrollment Is Seen For Guadalupe School Here

Largest enrollment in history of Guadalupe city school for Mexicans was reported late Tuesday by Mrs. George Duval, principal, who said that 134 pupils had started classwork at the end of the second day of the new term.

The figure compares with 95 at the end of the first month last year, Mrs. Duval explaining that the second-day total for 1936-37 terms is not available.

She attributed the increase to a number of factors, the most important being the greater interest Mexican parents are taking in the education of their children. The fact that seven Mexican children are enrolled in Junior High school this year and that several others expect to enter Texas Technological college, has been important, she said. Schools and churches she also credited with having played a large part in bringing about the change in attitude.

The school now has a faculty of four, including Mrs. Duval. She has charge of the beginners' class and reported that of the 20 enrolled this year, none has more than a "smattering" knowledge of English and most of them speak only Spanish.

Others of the faculty are Mrs. Jewell T. O'Dell, teacher of first and second grades; Mrs. Lamar Cole, who has charge of elementary girls; and Ray Hynds, elementary boys. Class work at the school extends through the fifth grade.

Officers For First National Bank At Odessa Selected

Officers for the First National bank of Odessa in which C. E. Maedgen and John D. Mitchell of Lubbock recently acquired controlling interest have been selected, according to Maedgen's announcement Tuesday.

Mitchell was named vice president and M. E. Patterson, who was formerly cashier, was retained in that capacity. Mitchell is the executive officer of the bank and will divide his time between the Lubbock National bank and the Odessa institution.

Will P. Edwards of Big Spring, a stockholder, was elected chairman of the board.

Three Lubbock men, all employes of the Lubbock National bank, are temporarily in Odessa, working at the institution. They are: Leland Payne, Elmer East and William Wakefield. The latter came here about a month ago from Fort Worth. It has not been definitely decided whether the trio will remain there or not; if they prefer Odessa to Lubbock, they will stay, Mitchell explained. Others will be employed to take their places here.

Staggering Cubs Preparing Surprise Party For Leading Giants

Chicago Gains Half Game In Win Tuesday

BY DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cubs are going to give the Giants a little party soon and, if the neighbors do their bit, the city slickers from Gotham will go home in a barrel.

Counting heavily on the aid and abettance of the Cards, Pirates and even the lowly Reds, Charlie Grimm's men see the three game series with the New Yorkers, starting Sept. 21 as their entree into the world series. It is their last chance. The gaudy lead of mid-summer has faded to a two and a half game deficit, the once matchless infield is stumbling.

String Of Crucial Series

The schedule shows nine more games for the Cubs with the Cards and as they proved yesterday, the Mississippi Mudcats are the Chicagoans' cousins. That may help. But Boston and Pittsburgh are tough for the Cubs, and there's the inevitable series with the Giants. As they start a whole string of "crucial" series, the Giants have a great but not gaudy edge.

Club	Won	Lost	Behind	To Play
Giants	76	48	...	30
Cubs	75	52	2 1-2	27

No team has had more ups and downs than the Cubs. Stricken with injuries in the early season they bounced back to take first place and dream of a runaway race a la American league. They may yet rebound from this latest slump.

Signs Of Revival

Certainly they showed signs of it yesterday when Bill Lee staggered through to his 13th victory of the season, defeating the Cardinals 8-5. Phil Cavarretta pumped in four runs with a brace of doubles and a single. Phil was the boy shoved in at first base when Ripper Collins broke his ankle. Lee finished strongly, allowing one hit in the last five frames, a homer by Don Padgett.

The Cubs' front office added Carl Reynolds, former American leaguer, to the squad. Reynolds, a 33-year-old veteran of four American league clubs, has been hitting .358 with the Minneapolis Millers.

In the only other National league game, the Brooklyn Dodgers trimmed the Boston Bees 6-1 in the rubber game of a three game series. Cookie Lavagetto's homer was a big factor in the Dodger attack.

The once-proud Red Sox bowed twice to the Washington Senators 11-5 and 5-4 in the only American league games. Jimmy Deshong and Monte Weaver held the Sox at bay while the Nats pummeled Rube Walberg, Jose Gonzales, and Ted Olson in the opener and Johnny Marcum in the nightcap.

Texas Schedule Is Delayed By Rain

(By The Associated Press)

San Antonio defeated Galveston 3 to 1 last night while other Texas league baseball games were postponed on account of rain.

With Oklahoma City leading the league race, the battle for second place between the Tulsa Oilers and the Fort Worth Cats was delayed because of rain. The Oilers and the Cats officially went into the pennant playoffs.

Beaumont, in fifth place now still has a mathematical chance to overtake the fourth-place San Antonio Aces. But even if Fort Worth and Tulsa should lose all their remaining eight games and Beaumont win seven straight, the Executives could not catch either club.

Five Two Grid Hopefuls On Hand For Texas Workout

AUSTIN, Sept. 8 (AP) — Bubbling over with enthusiasm, 52 gridiron hopefuls turned out for the opening football practice at the University of Texas under their new coach, D. X. Bible, late of Nebraska.

Only absentees were Charley Shira, sensational sophomore halfback from Corpus Christi, and Will Sloan, a sturdy veteran tackle from Galveston. Haas was participating in baseball tournament at Houston and may be several days late. Sloan was expected here by today.

Weakened Dartmouth Indians Promise Trouble For Rivals; Eleven Regulars Lost To Club

BY BILL KING
Associated Press Sports Writer

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 8.—The Dartmouth Indians will be weaker during the coming football season than last year but before their "Ivy league" rivals start cheering, it would be well to heed Earl (Red) Blaik's warning he will start his fourth season in Hanover with a dangerous and colorful team.

Eleven of the most dependable players on last year's once-beaten club graduated last June.

Fullback Is Needed

Most of last year's reserves have had at least one season under Blaik and his only acute problems are filling in for Fullback Johnny Handrahan and Dave Camerer, the 60-minute left tackle.

The nucleus of the 1937 tribesmen is formed by Captain Merrill Davis, right end, left and right halfbacks Fred Hollingworth and Bob MacLeod and Larry Hull, a 1935 regular who is ready to take over the portside wing position after a year of ineligibility.

Blaik has a wealth of promising backfield material, but he will miss Gordon Clark, one of the most consistent passers and punters on last year's squad, who was killed in a recent automobile accident.

The Dartmouth schedule: Sept. 25, Bates; Oct. 2, Amherst; 9, Springfield; 16, Brown at Providence; 23, Harvard at Cambridge; 30, Yale at New Haven; Nov. 6, Princeton at Princeton; 13, Cornell; 20, Columbia at New York.

Slaton And Olton Clash On Friday

SLATON, Sept. 8. (Special)—The cap blows off the Class B championship football race in this district Friday night when teams of Slaton and Olton clash under the lights here.

Coach Elmer Moore of Olton is reported to have one of the best team prospects in years, with a lineup averaging close to 170 pounds. Coach Stump Hamilton of Slaton reports that he can put a 165-pound team on the field, but that his boys will be rather green. With the exception of Lloyd Henry, quarterback, the entire Slaton team of last year has been graduated. Eight letter men return, however.

Thirty-three boys are out for the Slaton team, which will try to protect an envious record of having lost but one game out of the last 19. The club has never been defeated on its new stadium gridiron.

The Slaton schedule for the season:

Sept. 10—Olton at Slaton, night.
Sept. 17—Floydada vs. Slaton B team at Slaton.
Sept. 24—Slaton at Lubbock.
Oct. 1—Slaton at Tahoka.
Oct. 8—Littlefield at Slaton, night.
Oct. 15—Cooper vs. Slaton B team at Slaton.
Oct. 22—Slaton at Crosbyton.
Oct. 29—Levelland (place not set).
Nov. 5—Slaton at Ralls.
Nov. 11—Brownfield at Slaton.
Nov. 25—Post at Slaton.

Roswell And Monahans Play In Final Game Tonight

MONAHANS, Sept. 8 (AP) — The Roswell Sunshiners and the Monahans Trojans play the final game of the series here tonight for the privilege of meeting Wink for the championship of the West Texas-New Mexico league.

The Sunshiners evened the series last night by defeating the Trojans 2-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Grover Miller.

"Sells Short" In Tobacco Mart

The good old days were never like this for the tobacco buyers who crowd the South Boston, Va., festival to bid for the choice Virginia tobaccos at the annual auction of the nearby crop. Straw hatted, cigar chewing auctioneers knocked down the crop to the highest bidders. But not so this year. Elizabeth Myers, above, 20 and lovely looking in shorts and halter, will take the block, said to be the only girl tobacco auctioneer in the world.

Hole-In-One Club Gets Big List Of Members

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Every state except Louisiana, Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico and North Carolina was represented today as the latest count showed 562 members of the Associated Press national hole-in-one club.

A. F. Meyer, Northfield, Minn., scored the longest ace of the late returns with a perfect 287 yard poke.

Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City, participating in the Missouri women's state tournament, sank an ace on the 157-yard third hole of the Indian Hills club of Kansas City.

Others Scoring Aces

Among others to score aces were: F. C. Supinger, San Antonio, Tex., 2nd hole, 170 yards, Brackenridge park.

George Huff, San Antonio, 2nd hole, 170 yards, Brackenridge park.

Tom Lawrence, San Antonio, 3rd hole, 155 yards, Riverside.

A. L. Long, Waco, Tex., 7th hole, 120 yards, Spring Lake.

John L. Watt, Dallas, 13th hole, 215 yards, Cedar Crest C. C.

Changes Face Lowly Steers

DALLAS, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Dallas Steers club will undergo a revamping process for next season, it was disclosed yesterday by Business Manager Bob Tarleton when he purchased Garey Clarke, third sacker, of Macon, Ga. Clarke had a batting average of .346 Sept. 2 with 71 runs.

Tarleton said he planned to dispose of all members of the present club with the exception of Shortstop Jim Levey. Second Baseman George Meyer and some promising young pitchers. Some of the gaps are expected to be filled in trading at the winter meeting of the minor leagues in Milwaukee and in aid from the Chicago White Sox and the St. Paul Saints.

Chief Little Beaver Claims Wrestling Title Of South

DALLAS, Sept. 8 (AP) — Chief Little Beaver, Indian grappler, was declared heavyweight wrestling champion of the south last night here when he not only dethroned, but injured, Carl Davis of Memphis.

Davis won the first fall in 21 minutes. Beaver took the second and disabled Davis when he smashed him out of the ropes with a reverse slam in 7 minutes 33 seconds.

Davis, his right shoulder and arm injured, returned for the third fall, which came after two minutes 13 seconds with a double Japanese toehold.

Giants Hoping To Beat Jinx Of Collegians

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Seeking success where two other professional football teams have failed this season, the New York gridiron Giants battle an eastern all-star college eleven for the benefit of charity under the Polo grounds' lights tonight.

Within the last week, the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears have bowed to college stars who studded the football fields of the country last year, showing for the first time in major competition that the boys who play for pay can be whipped by a high-class college outfit.

Johnson And Lipscomb Are To Feature On Wrestle Card

It'll be Gus Johnson of Minneapolis and Buck Lipscomb of Indianapolis in the main struggle at the Auditorium wrestling party tonight, supported by a newcomer and a returning rover in the prelim, Vic Weber and John Nemanic in the semi-final.

Vic Weber makes a return engagement after a few weeks of touring. He takes on John Nemanic, who is showing definite improvement both as a wrestler and a showman.

The newcomer is Don Rainier, of whom little is known. According to his clippings, he's a pretty fair sort of scrapper. He ties into Bob Cummings, the California cowboy who hasn't been around in some time.

Baugh Decides To Take Field Again

FORT WORTH, Sept. 7 (AP) — Sam Baugh, passing star of Texas Christian university for three seasons, planned to leave by plane today to play professional football with the Washington Redskins. Baugh said he would not play with the all stars against the Shamrocks in Boston Friday night.

His decision to join the Redskins came after he had announced he would be here Monday to start coaching the Frog freshman teams. He explained later that a contract offered him by George Marshall, owner of the Redskins, called for such a salary that "he couldn't decline." He conferred with Coach Dutch Meyer of TCU, who advised him to accept.

Texas Oil Products Team Is Victor In Softball Play

OVERTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — The Texas oil products team of Gladewater planned to entrain today for the softball world series in Chicago beginning Sept. 10.

In an 11-inning contest with the Abercrombie Oilers of Houston, Umpire Corley declared the game and the championship of the Texas Amateur Softball association forfeited to the T. O. P. team. The Houstonians had walked off the field when the score stood 4-2 in favor of Gladewater, after the umpire had ruled that Hurler Stearn was pitching illegally.

WHAT HAVE THE out and out professional gridders got that the collegiate semi-pros haven't got?

The answer we're bringing back home after watching Monday night's game in Dallas is: Nothing, unless it is a better drag with the officials. Like the customer, the pro is always right, especially when he's off side. It would be nice if all clubs could take their head linesman around with them.

Pro football is taking itself a spanking so far this season, and it isn't doing the money game a whole lot of good to be cuffed around by the collegians. The Bears of Chicago saved a little face last night by taking the Oklahoma All-Stars to a cleaning, but who are the Oklahoma All-Stars? They, the Bears, couldn't get to first base against that crowd of spirited gridders assembled by Matty Bell and Dutch Meyer at Dallas the other night — and that's something college football has that pro football doesn't have — spirit and hustle.

Although they're out of coilitch all summer, and they come from different colleges at that, the gang which whipped the Bears Monday night played together, fought together — and it was a nice little scrap while it lasted, too—like a team of seniors playing the last game for dear old Buttersccotch. This fooled the experts some, too, because they didn't think the boys would click, having come together on the spur of the moment so to speak.

The Bears sort of lolled around in the wet grass with a whattheheck attitude until the all-stars finally shook young Mr. Art Guepe loose, and then it was too late to do anything about it. This Guepe can go, brothers, even if he didn't against the Horned Frogs last Jan. 1. It was a little dampish that day, too.

Sam Baugh, who a few days earlier had helped beat the pro champs at Chicago, didn't do a whole lot of individual starring the other night, but there was a big difference when he was in the game. The other lads had confidence when he was calling 'em. His punting was fine, and his passing, what there was of it, was okay, but receivers couldn't hold the slippery ball.

What they've been saying about this little Johnny Stovall from North Texas Teachers is all true, too. He and Guepe gave the All-Stars the running attack that came as a surprise to one and all, and there isn't a lot to choose between them. The Marquette ace may have more shift, but no more swift.

It was a swell game to watch, even in the rain; an unusually good game considering the atmospheric and ground conditions. And it was a thrill to this country boy, seeing all those boys, both pro and semi-pro, we've heard and read so much about, in action. Jack Manders, former Minnesota flash, and Beattie Feathers, the ex-Tennessee star, showed their ability. Sam Francis of Nebraska, Baunch of Kansas, Manske of Northwestern, Oech of Minnesota, Bittridge of Ohio State, etc., all of the Bears, looked like they might have been football players at one time or another. They're big, those pros. Lightest man on the squad is Miller, 145-pound back from Rollins, but the figures jump to 190 and up to 248 from there.

For the All-Stars, besides those mentioned, Geyer and Toth of Northwestern, Buss Bulvid of Marquette, Steinkemper, large tackle from Notre Dame, Kuhn, center from Southern Cal; Wilkinson, flashy back from Minnesota, and Agee, Vanderbilt's fine back, as well as the others from the Southwest conference, were impressive.

...QUITE A CONVENTION of other notables over in Big D, mainly coaches, officials and sports writers attending the rules meeting and the ball game. Virtually every college coach in the Southwest, most of the officials and a goodly percentage of scribes had a busy Monday.

The rules meeting was one of the shortest and snappiest on record, there being little argument and everybody appearing to translate and interpret the new rule changes the same way. These meetings used to last all day and half the night. The officials had a good meeting, off to themselves, and, thanks to the good work and firm hand of Phil Fox, director of publicity for the Pan-American exposition, a goodly percentage of press box occupants was made up of the working press, a very strange thing indeed. Practically every writer assigned to the game was successful in crowding into the coop, much to the distress and annoyance, no doubt, of the various stock holders, press box hangers on and downtown quarterbacks.

Speaking of scribes, the brief message delivered to the assembly of football officials by Dick Freeman of the Houston Chronicle was loudly cheered by other visiting newspapermen. The message was calculated to impress upon the officials the press box benefits to be derived from the use of signals by the officials to indicate the reason for penalties. As Freeman pointed out, a five-yard penalty might be, in one paper, for off side; in another sheet, for illegal use of hands, and in a third, backfield in motion, or something, and no two papers would agree. We earnestly hope the officials abide by the rules in the book directed at them, and use the various signals designated for various violations. This would be a big help to fans, as well.

Well, maybe jarring Jim Neill will get loose for the New York Giants tonight, and help the cause of pro ball by beating the Eastern All-Stars. Big Jim is going good so far with the Giants, his passing and kicking especially attracting the attention of coaches, managers and owners.

And has anyone seen J. Malin?

LISTEN IN ON "MAKIN'S" SMOKERS WITH REAL KNACK FOR ROLLING 'EM

YOU'D think some "makin's" smokers were born handy at rolling 'em fast and neat. Maybe so—but skillful rollers say a lot depends on the tobacco. No wonder you see so many of them rollin' with Prince Albert. The "crimp cut" lays right—doesn't blow around or spill out—packs firm for fast-rolled, tidy cigarettes. Naturally, Prince Albert draws right, too—burns cool and slow. Try Prince Albert—it's mighty mild, tasty smokin'! Pipe-smokers, too, say there's no tobacco like Prince Albert.

THAT P.A. CRIMP CUT HELPS ME SPIN 'EM QUICK AND NEAT. AND, BOY—PRINCE ALBERT 'MAKIN'S' CIGARETTES TASTE SWELL!

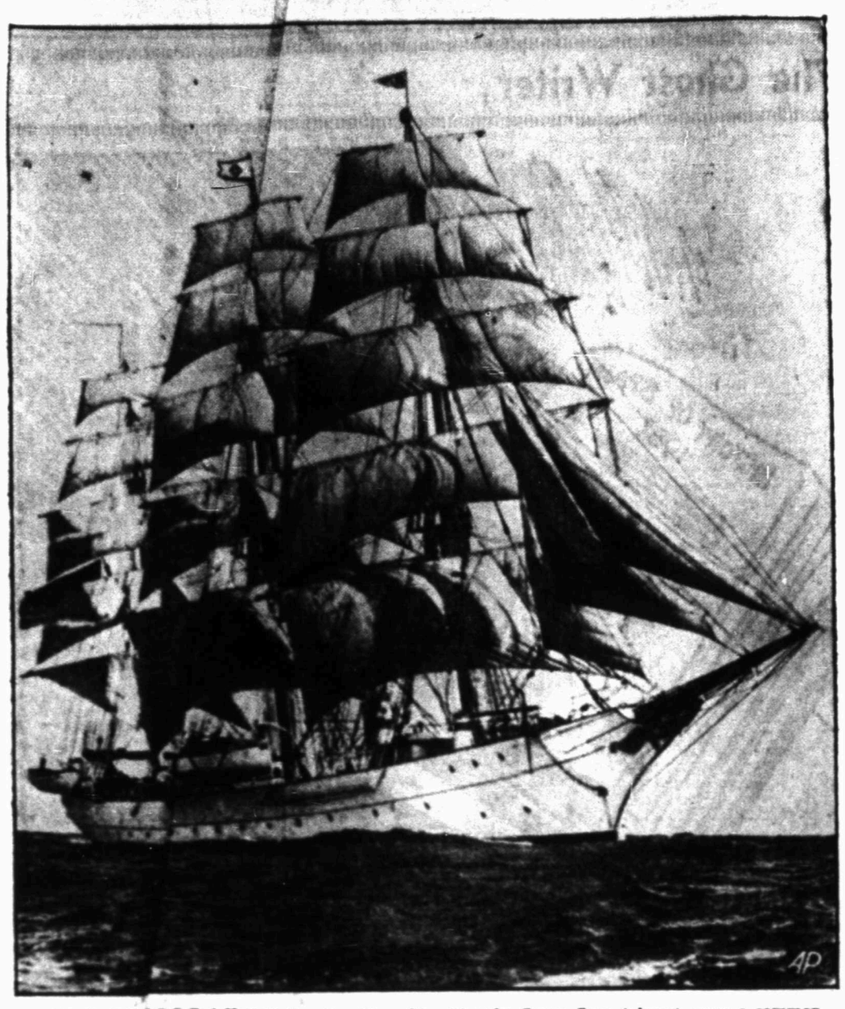

"HOW ABOUT knocking off and rolling a cool, tasty Prince Albert cigarette?" says W. H. (Bill) Edwards to his neighbor, H. G. Wylds. "You're on," H. G. agrees, "I'm ripe for a P. A. smoke. It's one tobacco I go for because it's got real body without any harsh taste!"

—The News Of The Day Through The Camera's Eye—

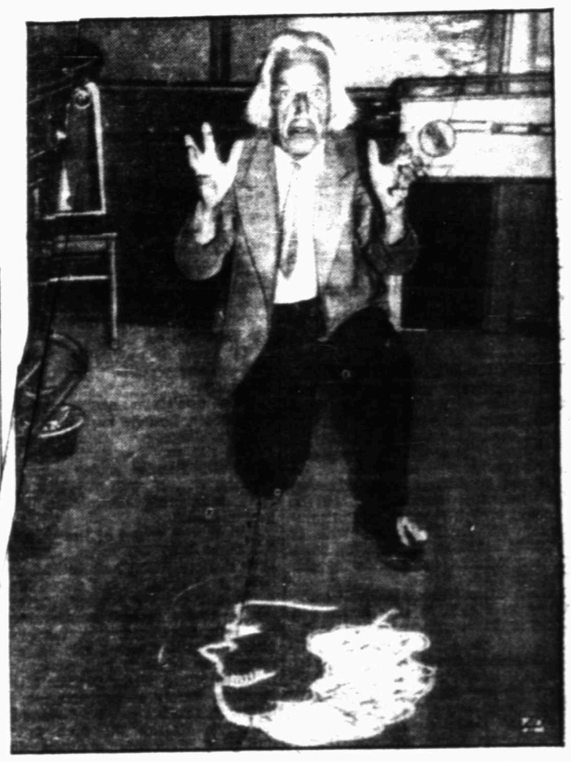

ONLY YESTERDAY full-rigged sailing ships like the Seven Seas (above) were a common sight upon the waterways of the world. Today they are rare indeed. Another ship of the sailing era, the Joseph Conrad, is racing the Seven Seas from Newport, R. I., to Bermuda, while overhead are winging the modern clippers of the air which shuttle from New York to Hamilton in a few hours.

THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT was a far cry from the houses that $12,000,000 of Resettlement Administration funds have constructed at Greenbelt, just across the Maryland state line from the District of Columbia. Designed to eliminate slums, they are ultra-modern. Counter-clockwise around the outer circle are residential blocks A, B, C, D and E. In the center is a school, above it a parking lot, and above that the business district.

THE JOLLY OF IT is that this young man's kicking ability is put to use in the Follies, but on the gridiron. He's Ralph Kercheval, best booter of the Brooklyn Dodgers, professional football team, which has already opened practice in the east.

OUT OF THE PAST comes the self-asserted author of "The Face on the Bar Room Floor." John Henry Titus, 91, discovered obtaining a meager existence picking huckleberries near Lakehurst, N. J., recited in something of its original setting, his poem written soon after the Civil War.

IT'S THE NEW DEAL that employs this typical workman in the construction of Grand Coulee dam in Washington. Like the frontier towns of gold rush days, the boom cities near the dam are cluttered with entertainment spots. Hard-working men need relaxation and the nearest city of any size is 100 miles distant. The recreation halls run 24 hours a day. No hard liquor is served.

HOOSIER HOPE for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940 is Paul V. McNutt (above), high commissioner to the Philippines.

HE COULDN'T MAKE GOOD at first base, so Rudy York became catcher for Detroit. The Tiger titan's ability at the first sack wasn't equal to Hank Greenberg's, so York took one of the other six positions he plays and made Greenberg "look like a hunter."

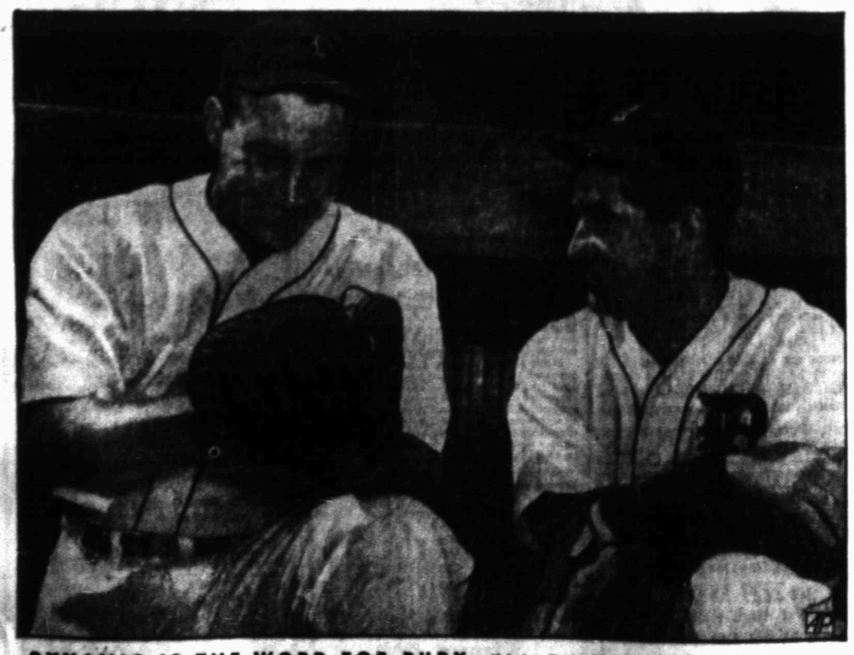

20 OUT OF 24 hours day works American Consul General Clarence Gauss in war stricken Shanghai.

TIDES OF EMPIRE in the Sino-Japanese conflict cast a tremendous wash of business to the famous steamship line of R. Stanley Dollar. The "President" boats have evacuated hundreds of foreigners from China.

THEY LIKE RICE pudding, these belles of Crowley, La., preparing for the first national rice festival, October 5. A feature of the celebration will be the crowning of the "rice queen of America."

DYNAMIC IS THE WORD FOR RUDY, thinks Detroit Manager Mickey Cochrane (right) as he congratulates his new catcher, Rudolph Preston York, upon producing home runs at a rate unheard of in the baseball world. The 24-year-old former Texas leaguer who has played only two-thirds as many games as Joe Di Maggio this season, has clouted out homers at a far faster rate than the Yankee slugger.

A BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY holds no appeal for Shirley Temple, who registers annoyance for the cameramen dogging her footsteps in Hawaii.

THINGS TO COME within a year, predicts Manager Mickey Cochrane, will include Rudy York's establishment as the greatest home run slugger in the major leagues, perhaps shattering the record established by the mighty Babe Ruth.

That Girl on Broadway says knowing what to say is all very well but sometimes knowing when to keep still is better.

The genius of a certain East Texas editor was sorely tested not long ago. Always a stickler for printing nothing but the truth, at the same time he came to a point where he had to keep on the good side of an old friend.

Solving the problem he wrote as follows:

"Miss Lizzie Flapdash, a Tyler belle of 20 summers, is visiting her twin brother, Homer, age 32."

* * *

A Lubbock man was bringing a friend home for dinner and as they approached the house the friend remarked:

"I see your dear son and daughter awaiting us on the front porch."

"No," said the host, "you're wrong. The girl in the short frock is my mother-in-law and the young fellow in the riding pants is my wife!"

IN WEST TEXAS

When rains don't come
The farmers cry and
Business men heave many a sigh
They moan "We'll make no crop at all"
Unless the moisture starts to fall!"

But when it rains
Do they all smile,
And laugh and chuckle all the while?
Of course they don't. They scream "We'll be!
Those doggone worms will get us yet!"

WHEN the City commission holds its regular semi-monthly session tomorrow it is entirely possible that some conversation will be heard regarding the advisability of putting the bulk of municipal employes under civil service.

If the question doesn't come up for discussion tomorrow, it will be because of the absence of Commissioner W. G. McMillan, who is hunting bears, or Indians, or both, with a camera in Canada at the present time.

It's a cinch the subject will come up when McMillan gets home and there is a full commission present.

Whether the entire commission is deeply interested in civil service for Lubbock municipal employes, or not, The Plainsman couldn't definitely say.

He does know, however, that the mayor and three commissioners are interested in it almost to the point of saying they're for it. Anyway, they are interested enough to want to carefully study the idea and, if feasible, put it into effect before the elections of next March.

FOR the benefit of those who have had no occasion to inspect civil service, the idea is to take politics from municipal jobs; make them competitive from a standpoint of ability of the individual worker for the individual job; and give the efficient employe the same security he would have if he were working for a private individual, in a privately operated business.

In other words, let the most efficient person have the job for which he is best fitted and then guarantee him that he will continue to hold it as long as he is efficient and faithful, regardless of changing administrations.

If Lubbock should have civil service just how far it should go would be up to the City commission.

Probably it would take in all the important executive positions except that of city manager, most, if not all of the clerkships and foremanships.

However, that is a matter of detail which we need not worry about here or elsewhere, at least until civil service becomes a certainty.

DOUBTLESS it will be necessary for the commission to get a wealth of information concerning civil service from cities where the method has been in use for a considerable number of years.

El Paso has a very satisfactory system, although it is the only West Texas city The Plainsman knows of where civil service is in effect.

Some California cities, as well as numerous municipalities in the East and Midwest, are finding it applicable to their needs.

Whether it should be instituted in Lubbock, or not, this column is not prepared to say. But we do think nothing will be lost in the commission's looking into the possibilities.

JOE M. Leonard, the lord high cockalorum of the Gainesville Register, was in yesterday morning with the report that, at some auspicious occasion, it might be possible to bring the famous Gainesville Community circus to Lubbock.

If you don't know about the Gainesville Community circus, you've really missed something.

It has been running for a good many years now and is the most remarkable organization of its kind in America. It has been written up in everything from the Readers Digest to the Police Gazette, and from Variety to the Ladies Home Journal.

As its name suggests, the Gainesville show is a community affair.

All in the cast, from roustabouts to the stars of the flying trapeze, are Gainesville citizens who work at various, ordinary jobs and who perform for fun, without salary or dividends. And while the organization pulls out of each year with some profit, the profit is dumped back into the show in the form of additional animals, better costumes, more seats, or something similar.

Today the circus has a tent and seats for 3,000—and rarely plays to anything short of a full house. It is run just like a professional circus and from all reports is better than a lot of professional shows of its kind.

Personally, being a circus fan of the worst calibre, The Plainsman would like to see the Gainesville show brought here sometime. Since it has done well in Dallas, Ft. Worth and innumerable smaller places, it should please Lubbock to a "T".

CHAPTER IX

Wednesday: More excitement today, though I haven't been able to put two and two together concerning Dick and Jigger. However, as the kids say when they play one of their guessing games, "I'm getting warmer." The terrific thunderstorm broke just as lunch was almost over . . . causing motorists rushed to cover. The Golden Anchor, for the road is lined with enormous trees and if one of those hemlocks should ever be struck by lightning it would be just too bad for anyone on the road. I hustled around helping the girls to clear up the tables . . . was more than surprised when I saw Jigger seated at a small alcove table — he was dressed in approved country clothes and glancing out into the courtyard I recognized his car, the one he'd driven over the Queensborough Bridge. Another man was with him, and of all people, Rocco! Standing near their table, directing traffic" as Peter calls it, when he sees me finding places for new arrivals, I heard Rocco say:

"You're all wet . . . it can't be."

"All wet? Nothing! That's the guy, there!"

Following Jigger's glance I saw his gaze was on Dick.

"I'll prove it to you right now," and the angry man started up from his chair.

"Now, don't start anything," Jigger said, Rocco, and he laid a powerful arm on Jigger's. "This neighborhood's not any too healthy for you just now. Besides, you're making a mistake . . . a swell guy like that ain't interesting himself in your propositions."

Just then a crowd of the younger set burst into the room. "Hullo, Dick Pegler! What luck to find you here," and they flocked about him. I glanced quickly toward Jigger's table. Rocco seemed embarrassed, his saturnine-faced friend triumphant. Instinctively I felt Jigger's recognition of Dick had some significance; and when Dick left the tearoom, barely recognizing me as he hurried to his car, I felt vaguely disturbed. I saw the men watch him go . . . then talk for a few minutes, rise and leave the tearoom.

Later in the afternoon Miss Pegler rushed up to me, threw her arms about me (I was glad the tearoom was empty) and said:

"I'm delighted you're going to marry Dick. It will almost be like having a daughter of my own. I hope you'll both be very happy."

For a moment I felt a little compunction about the step I was going to take (of course I guess we can make a go of it, even if I don't love him), then I said, "I'll try to make him happy."

"I know you will. I've just been talking things over with Dick . . . told him that newlyweds should start by themselves so I'm putting in my bid for Peter right now. Won't you let him come and stay with me?"

"That's terribly kind of you, but I haven't got the length of thinking about our living arrangements yet."

Miss Pegler smiled. "Of course not, but Dick wants to take you for a year's trip around the world so I think such an arrangement

INDUSTRY LOOKS TO THE FUTURE

The Journal notes with interest the report of a speech recently delivered by Charles F. "Boss" Kettering, a brilliant yet staunchly practical executive of General Motors.

Speaking before a craftman's guild, Mr. Kettering began by commending patience and then illuminated his point in a manner that to our mind calls for special emphasis.

"In our laboratory," he said, "we have started problems that may take two or three generations to solve."

Here is food for the thought of those who take the short view of American industry, as well as for the many who tend to be pessimistic about future opportunity in this republic. American business—at least that considerable portion of it which centers in the automobile manufacturing sector—shares no such qualms.

When industry concerns itself with problems that bear on the good of industry and of the people 50 or 50 years hence, the fact presupposes a condition in which those interests are identical. Men of the Kettering type, looking beyond the minor difficulties and uncertainties of the present, can foresee such a future.

After all, while we may not realize it, we are not living for today and tomorrow and the America of today is not going to dry up when we, who are here now, are gone.

The future of our country is a heritage as priceless as the present which we enjoy. Therefore, it is reassuring to note that leaders of industry are looking to the days when they will be gone, as well as to the days during which they may personally share in the results of their labors.

about her should work out all right."

Other guests appeared, so that ended our conversation.

Thursday: Never got another word written last night . . . heard Peter crying . . . rushed to his room . . . he was sitting up in bed, sobbing with fright . . . it's the second time he's done this . . . had to quiet him . . . finally go him asleep after he told me Dick had given him a big box of chocolates which he promised he would not tell about, something he had seen from the tower of his camp. Sobbed as he whispered he hadn't even told Roger when he met him on the shore . . . evidently Peter informed him he'd rather have him marry me than Dick. Wonder now if the whole thing was just a childish nightmare or if there is any truth to his story that Roger said he wished he were going to marry me . . . but of course that's out.

Rain came down in sheets last night, so Dick telephoned and called off our date. Was surprised he agreed so enthusiastically with me . . . usually makes quite a fuss if I want to break a date . . . can't help wondering if he has other plans for tonight. Isn't that a terrible way to write about the man whose name I'm soon to share! Oh, I wonder if I'm going to make a mistake marrying him?

I'd almost forgotten to make a note of the meeting in the tearoom when summer residents affirmed a petition to have an invitation made about Serene Shores . . . it's to be handed to the Township Committee for all the exclusive families

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8.—Chances are you will be hearing and seeing quite a lot of the Raymond Scott Quintet. Hearing, anyway. They are not much to look at, and for a while the movies may hide them up on the mezzanine behind the potted palms.

You see, these young men happened to be musicians, and not entertainers given to the frenzied gesticulations and grimaces of the average swing band.

They just sit down and do their stuff, tooting their horns and whooping their bullfiddle and drums and piano in a very businesslike way.

In seven months the group has made only one public appearance, but that was enough to make it the talk of Hollywood and the object of a five-way bidding competition which ended in a fat contract with 20-Century Fox.

Renames Players

Scott has demonstrated some eccentric whimsicalities which tickle the movie colony. For one thing, his is the only six-man quintet in the world. He likes the word "quintet," so he uses it, just as he likes and uses the name Scott when his name really is Warno. His saxophonist is Dave Harris, but the leader calls him "Eric Hoex" because, he says, "nobody who can play like that should have a name like 'Dave Harris'."

Scott, who plays the piano, composes all the music for his "quintet." But he doesn't write it. The group will work on a number for weeks, and record it, before a note ever is put on paper.

Two current efforts are called "Dinner Music for a Pack of Hungry Wooden Indians." There is a suggestion of surrealism in the title. "The Girl With the Light Blue Hair," but the theme is a jazz adaptation of an old French melody.

Scott dislikes abstract music and wants his to be as graphic as possible. That's why jazz is his medium.

Jazz permits him to build a rhythmic thing like "Power House," a waddling thing like "The Penguin," a jittery thing like "Dynamite Wagon."

"Reckless Night on Board an Ocean Liner" is rough and wild; "New Year's Eve in a Haunted House" is a ghost carnival in swingtime.

Balked At Knee Breeches

Scott, now 28, was a New Yorker from a musical family. He was slated for an education in engineering, but changed his mind and attended the Institute of Musical Art. Next he became a staff composer for Columbia Broadcasting system.

From various radio orchestras he collected five men who liked to practice with him and try out his ideas.

They played a few sustaining programs and made some records ("Toy Trumpet," "Twilight in Turkey," "Minuet in Jazz" and "Power House") which were immediately successful.

David Selznick brought them to Hollywood for an appearance in "Nothing Sacred," but the deal went awry when he proposed costuming them in knee breeches and powdered wigs.

They were studying transcontinental timetables when an agent persuaded them to appear at the Trocadero. Said Scot: "I was scared to death, and spent two days learning to take a bow."

There were plenty of bows to be taken, as it turned out. The Trocadero is a show-shop for talent, and numerous movie big-wigs attended that night. Next day the bidding was fast, the competition bitter.

Darryl Zanuck got them. He rushed them into a couple of sequences of "Ali Baba Goes to Town," and has penciled them into future musicals for a year at least.

The lives of more than 700 passengers of the ill-fated Titantic were saved owing to the prompt response to the wireless call for aid.

had promised Dick he wouldn't tell, I would never dream of trying to force his confidence and make him break his promise.

Cal hailed me when I passed the icehouse.

"Well, what is it, Cal?" I asked, seating myself on a boulder, for when Cal starts any of his stories you may as well make up your mind it's going to be some time before he reaches the end.

"I've got some news for you," he said, throwing a couple of sacks over the ice in the station wagon. "Yes, sirree, those men you told me about . . . the ones you sent to Serene Shores ain't the usual run of summer visitors . . . they're in cahoots with the police . . . saw them talking to Constable Tuttle this morning right in his garden."

I laughed. Cal's imagination was surely working overtime . . . probably they were asking the way to some place nearby. I jumped up as I said so. Then Cal whispered, "Eb Tuttle says they're Secret Service men."

The Ghost Writer

GOP Must Find Leader Trusted By Rank And File, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Contend

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of six articles written by outstanding members of Congress and giving both the "pro" and the "con" of the administration's plans for future America's political and economic systems. The articles were arranged by Rodney Dutcher, Journal Washington correspondent, who is enjoying a vacation while statesmen do his work!)

BY SEN. HENRY C. LODGE
Written Exclusively for Journal and NEA Service, Inc.

The Republicans are the opposition. And as dissatisfaction develops with the methods and failures of the New Deal, the Republican party will be the only place for dissatisfied voters to go.

To regain first the confidence of the people and then control of the government, the Republican party must do several things.

It must develop a genuine and realistic 20th century Republicanism.

It must have a personnel at its national conventions which will include actual representation of the rank and file of the people. If it doesn't, whoever is nominated for President by the next convention will be discredited from the start. This policy also must be carried out in the states and congressional districts.

This country no longer votes for parties. It votes for men—or women. Platforms usually are about the same. The Republican platform last year promised at least as much to labor, for instance, as did the Democratic platform.

Lodge

And the Republican party can get the vote of the working man, which it conspicuously failed to get in the last election, if it puts up the candidate who will convince labor of his sincerity.

Labor Is Non-Partisan

Labor continues to be non-partisan. There is no doubt that a larger Republican congressional contingent will be elected in 1938 than in 1936 and it is reasonable to suspect that some of them will have labor support.

Personally, I don't make routine speeches damning the New Deal. I have no quarrel with its larger aims, but I do insist that Roosevelt and the Democratic Congresses have not achieved results.

The President in the recent session of Congress placed all his executive energy on attempts to enlarge the executive power and spent practically none at all in improving the condition of the people.

The wage and hour legislation, for which I was glad to record my vote, could have passed easily if the president, early in the session, had not insisted on attempting to assert complete mastery over the Supreme court and club Congress into abetting his attempt.

Nothing Has Been Done

Everyone knows that our system of unemployment relief needs overhauling and reform, that it could be more honest and more just.

Everyone knows that the Social Security act is imperfect in numerous details, that the wage earner pays too much for the security he receives. The principle of a vast reserve fund of tens of billions of dollars is dangerous. Everyone knows this. But nothing has been done about it.

With a chance to really do something about floods, the New England Flood Control compacts have been temporarily killed here and the whole New England flood control program put off because our program doesn't fit in with the President's ideas about power.

We Republicans have suggested remedies in all these instances and will continue to do so until we get the power to apply them. We will not engage in destructive attack, but in constructive suggestions. I have accepted the fact since the last election that the administration aims are almost unanimously accepted by the people. But let's achieve them! And let's achieve them within the Constitution.

Won't Be Third Party

The strong tendency toward enlargement of executive power still continues, although it has been checked in certain of its extreme manifestations. The Republican party is the only instrument which can check it adequately.

It is extremely unlikely that any third party will come along which will help.

We have had third parties and we will have more. But a third party has ever been successful and the only time one ever affected the outcome of a presidential election was in 1912.

Meanwhile, I can manage to watch the things that are happening inside the Democratic party with complacency and without comment.

NEXT: Representative Mary Maverick, radical Texas congressman, outlines a definite program for the future, a goal to which all must work, regardless of politics.

Trimble Rites Will Be Read In City

Inscription of a book dedicated to Mrs. Ellen Abigail Trimble of 1947 Texas avenue, who died at her home at 4:10 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, will form the theme for the funeral sermon to be delivered by Elder Liff Sanders of the Church of Christ at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Sanders Funeral chapel.

Mrs. Trimble, who would have been 88 years old Monday, had been ill about two years. She suffered a fractured hip in a fall Aug. 30.

Her husband, Isaac Gordon Trimble, died a year and a half ago and was buried here.

Father First Red River Settler

Mrs. Trimble was born in Hunt county in 1854. Her grandfather, Mordecai Fleming, was the first settler in Red River county.

Mrs. Trimble's first marriage was to John Taylor Tims, and three daughters were born to that union. They are: Mrs. Maud Smith of Portales, N. M., Mrs. J. Edd Brown of Lubbock, and Mrs. Benjamin F. Harper of Amarillo.

Her marriage to Trimble was Feb. 11, 1879, and a son, R. M. Trimble of Los Angeles, Calif., and a daughter, Miss Thelma Trimble of Lubbock, were born. All except R. M. are here to attend funeral services. Eighteen grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren also survive.

Lived Here Since 1913

Mrs. Trimble had been a resident of Lubbock since 1913.

In a recent book, copyrighted in 1936 and written by Mrs. Harper and a son, George Dewey Harper, is this inscription: "To Ellen Abigail Trimble, my mother—Frail pioneer of the West whose fortitude during the days that tried women's souls . . has been an example from which I have drawn courage and renewed calm in time of stress and dismay in my own life."

Pallbearers will be Marion Brown, Jack Brown, C. Ray Smith, Robert Brown, Jack Blakely and Arthur Brown.

The water can pass through the cloth because the "repellant" leaves the ordinary openings in the weave of the cloth unfilled.

On a hot day pockets could be filled with ice, and the person inside would feel the coolness, without getting wet.

ed from landing there.

The Chinese foreign ministry also warned all foreign officials here of the danger to their shipping from Chinese air attacks, declaring Chinese warplanes and other coastal defenses would launch reprisals against Japanese warships to counteract the Japanese blockade of China's south and central coast.

Casualties Are Heavy

Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Japanese in the north by Chinese machine gun fire west of Peiping. Strong Chinese mountain positions, using trench mortars and mountain artillery, endangered the ever-extended Japanese flank and at least temporarily prevented a Japanese advance south from the former Chinese capital.

The toll of dead and wounded was frightful. For the last 48 hours, unending streams of Chinese wounded have been pouring into Shanghai hospitals. Japanese casualties appeared equally heavy.

Japanese military authorities estimated the Chinese strength in the area had been increased to 26 divisions, totaling 350,000 men. Japan has some 80,000 effectives ashore with an equal number waiting to be landed.

Protection Sought

American World war veterans, living in Shanghai, today added their formal protest against the government's warning United States citizens remained in China at their own risk. Following up the protest of the American Chamber of Commerce yesterday, they cabled the national commander:

"Imperative America defend her prestige, citizens and property in Shanghai. We definitely are against evacuation. We earnestly request national convention to support our decision and defend us from rabid pacifists."

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, off 1 to 4 points with higher Liverpool cables offset by hedge selling and pre-bureau liquidation. Oct. 9.25; Dec. 9.23; Jan. 9.26; Mch. 9.36; May 9.45; July 9.52.

Trading largely represented evening-up transactions in advance of the government crop report to be published at noon, New York time, today.

Dec. fluctuated between 9.20 and 9.24 and shortly after the first half hour was 9.23 when the list was net unchanged to 4 points lower.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today 1 to 3 points lower. There was some belated liquidation in advance of the government's crop estimate.

Trading was extremely narrow and limited to evening up transactions. Oct. started at 9.20, Dec. at 9.30, Jan. at 9.34, March at 9.42, May at 9.51 and July at 9.59.

A mild demand developed and towards the end of the first half hour active months had rallied 1 to 2 points.

Cotton Report

398,882 bales.

Last month's estimate was based on 33,629,000 acres — the area in cultivation July 1 less the 10-year average abandonment. Today's estimate was based on the area left for harvest after abandonment since July 1. Abandonment was placed at 1.3 percent since that date, compared with the 10-year average abandonment of 2.3 percent. The area left for harvest is 33,736,000 acres, compared with 30,028,000 acres picked last year and 27,640,000 in 1935.

Condition 75 Per Cent

The condition of the crop September 1, another factor in the indicated production, was 75.0 percent of a normal, compared with 81.3 a month ago — the highest condition reported since August, 1911 — 39 percent on September 1 last year, and 58, the 1923-32 September 1 average.

Indications are for a yield of 228.5 pounds of lint cotton to the acre, compared with 197.6 pounds last year, and 169.9 pounds, the 1923-32 average.

The average remaining for harvest condition of the crop on September 1 and indicated production, by states, includes:

Reports By States

Virginia acreage 64,000, condition 84 per cent of a normal and indicated production, 40,000 bales; Alabama 2,558,000; 77 and 1,310,000; Mississippi 3,344,000; 80 and 2,027,000; Louisiana 1,547,000; 78 and 873,000; Texas 12,667,000; 76 and 4,622,0; Oklahoma 2,569,000; and 858,000; Arkansas 3,056,000; 74 and 1,564,000; New Mexico 136,000; 91 and 128,000.

The census bureau's report on ginnings to September 1, by states, includes:

Alabama 129,926, compared with 136,812 last year; Arkansas 40,154 and 77,226; Louisiana 180,271 and 181,235; Oklahoma 14,535 and 14,755; Texas 1,078,604 and 460,902.

Hunter May Be In State Race Again

DALLAS, Sept. 8 (AP) — Tom Hunter, Wichita Falls oil man, may be a candidate for governor again next summer, he indicated here today.

"I do not want to run, and my health and my business both probably would be better if I had never made a campaign," he said.

"However, it was solely through the support of my friends that I was able to make my other campaings, and if they want me to run next summer, I may do so."

Fight To Retain Markets Looms

(By The Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 8 — Possible formation of an organization in which New York brokers and Southern planters will be aligned in the south's fight to regain world cotton markets loomed today as an aftermath of the Association of Southern Agricultural Commissioners' meeting here.

The Commercial-Appeal reports that Col. Lawrence Westbrook, adviser to the association, confirmed reports of plans "for the formation of an American Cotton committee backed financially by New York brokers and southern producers."

The commissioners met to draft a program to be submitted to a senate agriculture sub-committee, which is scheduled to conduct hearings here next month, and adjourned after agreeing only on "a reasonable curtailment in the production of cotton."

No official action was taken by the commissioners on proposals by Johnston and Howard Stovall, Mississippi planter, for a militant Southern farm organization to seek a downward revision of tariffs.

Mahon Says FDR Is Still Popular

COLORADO, Sept. 8. (Special)—George Mahon, congressman from the Nineteenth district, who has returned to his home here after more than eight months in Washington, would venture no prediction as to phobability of a special session of congress.

Mahon expressed continued belief in President Roosevelt's leadership, saying, "In my judgment Roosevelt is still popular with congress and with the majority of American people. He has lost some ground, of course, but he could not be expected to maintain a high peak of popularity, since no president has been extremely popular throughout eight years in the White House."

Expects Bill To Pass

In regard to a wage-hour bill, Mahon said he believes congress will pass such a bill for industry when the next session is held, but he also expressed fear that such a bill would react adversely on Southern industry and agriculture.

Mahon had much to say in regard to farm legislation, that Democrats will be "reasonably" cooperative during the next session, but a split in the party would be particularly dangerous to the cotton growing South. "A serious split would imperil the future of all farm legislation. Heretofore, Democrats from most non-agricultural areas under the leadership of the president have voted for farm legislation almost enthusiastically as representatives from farm districts. If congress breaks into factions and refuses to cooperate, it can pass little worthwhile legislation. In my judgment strong party leadership is subject to some criticism, contributing occasionally to passage of ill-advised legislation, but lack of it means confusion and legislative inaction."

Farm Program Expected

Rep. Mahon declared congress is still extremely friendly toward farm legislation in spite of the fact that no new farm bill was passed as a substitute for the present AAA. He pointed out that congress appropriated $500,000,000 to make AAA payments to offset adverse effects of the tariff on agriculture, continued 3 1-2 per cent interest on federal land bank loans, expanded the soil conservation program, continued soil CCC camps, and brought about liberal expansion in the vocational program. He further added that this would not have been done by an indifferent or unfriendly congress, and predicts that a new farm bill will be passed at the next session as a substitute for the present program.

In regard to entrance of the United States in the Sino-Japanese conflict, Rep. Mahon entertains no fear the United States will rush into hostilities. Because of a visit to the Far East two years ago with Vice President Garner's delegation to the Philippines, Rep. Mahon has taken a particular interest in developments in China. He said he considers the treatment accorded Americans in Shanghai deplorable but that war is unlikely because the president, congress and the American people are determined to keep out. He considers the cost of war too great for the protection of Shanghai dollars of American nationals.

Rep. Mahon left his Washington office in charge of his chief secretary, Lloyd Croslin of Lubbock.

Trade Gains On School Buying

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—The extended week-end holiday and purchases of students preparing for school and college reopening benefitted retail trade last week, Dun and Bradstreet reported in the review of business.

Retail sales for the country as a whole were estimated at from 1 to 4 per cent ahead of the preceding week and from 7 to 18 per cent better than in the comparable 1936 period.

Elsewhere the trend of business and industry was spotty. Wholesale markets were helped by urgent reorder demand for seasonal merchandise but many buyers postponed scheduled trips to centers until after labor day, the agency said.

Percentage gains over a year ago were as follows: New England 6 to 15; East 6 to 18 Middle West 10 to 18 with some cities reporting up to 30; Northwest 15 to 20; South 6 to 16; Southwest 15 to 20 and Pacific coast 8 to 18.

Some parrots have been known to live for 60 years.

Operation Being Considered To Aid 'Sleeping Beauty'

(By The Associated Press)

OAK PARK, Ill., Sept. 8 Grave complications today imperilled Patricia Maguire, the "sleeping beauty" who has lain in a coma for five and a half years.

New causes of concern were an abdominal tumor and an inflammation of the veins that has resulted in a painful swelling just below the kneecap of the pretty patient's left leg.

Her sister, Mrs. Gladys Hansen disclosed the 31-year-old woman had been "quite sick" since last Friday. She may be returned to the hospital for the second time within a month.

Suffering from a fever, Patricia was taken to a hospital in August. Examination disclosed the tumor. But when her temperature subsided she was removed to her home in this Chicago suburb.

An operation has been considered, Mrs. Hansen said, but physicians were opposed to it unless it were absolutely necessary.

Miss Maguire, victim of encephalitis lethargica or sleeping sickness, lapsed into her comotose condition in the middle of February, 1932.

The comely stenographer slumbered for weeks, months, years. Serums, blood transfusions and other treatments proved futile.

At first she was completely helpless. Her mother, Mrs. Peter Miley, and Mrs. Hansen fed her by tube. They were in constant attendance. They placed her on a careful diet. They maintained circulation by massage. At length they professed to see improvement.

Miss Maguire inspired them by regaining power to focus her eyes and obeying their orders to raise a finger and to smile. She gained 25 pounds.

Singer's Wife Files Suit For Separation; Charges Entered

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Charging abandonment and failure to support her and their daughter adequately, Mrs. Caroline S. Marshall filed suit for separation today from Everett Robert Marshall, concert singer now appearing at Fort Worth, Tex., in a Billy Rose "Fiesta."

She estimated the singer's weekly income from all sources, including radio, movies and phonograph records, at $2,000 to $2,500, and charged he had sent her an average of not more than $75 monthly at irregular intervals since, she said, he had abandoned her some months before the birth of their daughter in Italy, September 3, 1931.

The department of agriculture says citizens of the United States are eating more fruit every year. Lee left a widow and three children.

Hope Of Finding Cadet Given Up

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 8—While all hope of finding Cadet Guy W. Edgerton, missing Kelly field student flyer, alive had been abandoned, officers of the air corps training center here today had turned their hopes to finding some trace of the plane in which the cadet is believed to have crashed last Monday night week.

The intensive search which was conducted all of last week by scores of planes from Randolph and Kelly field here and Barksdale field, La., was ended Saturday.

However, search for the missing plane was being continued by all airmen on cross-country flights.

Cadet Edgerton vanished when a thunderstorm scattered a flight of 13 planes on a night training hop from Barksdale field to Kelly field. The missing flyer was from Kenly, N. C.

Greater Income Is Predicted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—Secretary Wallace predicted today the government's cotton loan and payment program—now being criticized by some Southern leaders—will result in a larger income for the cotton belt this year than last.

He said a "good season" was indicated despite lower market prices by the increased production the $130,000,000 provided by congress for adjustment payments and the South's share of the soil conservation benefit checks.

Declines Controversy

He refused to enter a controversy with Southerners who contend the loan rate should be 10 cents a pound instead of nine cents, and that adjustment payments should be made on the entire crop instead of 65 per cent.

"With increasing world production of cotton," Wallace said, "we face a complicated and long-time problem."

The nine-cent rate, he said, was urged by "people who have the long-time good of the South at heart."

Body Of St. Jo Businessman Found On Rail Right-Of-Way

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 8 (AP)—Montague county officers today sought to identify the possible attackers of George L. Lee, 32, St. Jo businessman, whose body was found on a railway right-of-way.

Beaten down grass and weeds near the body led officers to theorize a struggle took place before Lee's death. His pockets were turned out and his bill fold empty. Dr. W. C. Earksdale of Gainesville said Lee's skull was fractured.

He had been missing since he went to Wichita Falls Saturday.

Lee left a widow and three children.

Aircraft Plant Closed Down

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8—Donald W. Douglas, president of the Douglas Aircraft corp., inc., said today he had closed the Northrop Aircraft plant, a subsidiary, and announced it "no longer exists as an industrial entity."

He said the action, which followed the strike of United Automobile Workers of America, was taken with "keen regret" but that it had been made necessary "because of failure of the Committee for Industrial Organization and labor bodies to respect agreements made regarding working conditions."

Pickets Still Parading

More than two hundred pickets continued to parade in front of the plant today as Douglas issued the statement.

The closing order affects about 1,400 employes.

Douglas statement was in response to a petition from about 500 employes asking that the Northrop plant be reopened. He declared "all production at the Inglewood plant has been stopped and no future activity is contemplated there."

Blames Professional Agitators

"I am forced to make this announcement," Douglas said, "after five years of usefulness and distinguished achievements in the progress of aviation and manufacturing planes for the national defense of our government, that this world-famous organization has been deliberately destroyed by wanton selfishness and blind leadership of a few professional agitators who apparently do not hesitate to sacrifice the rank and file of the men to make a Roman holiday for their own personal political ambitions.

"This sacrifice was a vicious and useless thing."

Injunction Is Reported Granted In Railroad Labor Situation

TEAGUE, Sept. 8 (AP)—A member of the Teague locals of the railroad brotherhoods who refused to be quoted by name announced here Judge H. Fountain Kirby had granted his locals an injunction which would prevent operation of the new Rock Island Diesel motored train, the Rocket, by Rock Island crews.

A hearing on the injunction, directed in four suits against the four big brotherhoods and the Rock Island Railroad company, was set for hearing in the November term of district court at Groesbeck. Its purpose would be to protect the seniority rights of the local brotherhoods' members.

The local organizations contend that when the Burlington and Rock Island took over operation of the old Trinity and Brazos Valley railroad several years ago the passenger trains operating from Fort Worth to Teague would not be manned by Rock Island crews.

Many Counties Plan Exhibits

Entries already have been received from eight counties which will have county exhibits in Panhandle-South Plains fair Sept. 27 to Oct. 2, according to announcement by C. C. Jobson, Lubbock county farm agent who will be superintendent of the agricultural department.

The response, fair association officials said, is the most prompt and the largest ever received so far in advance of one of the annual events. The indicated interest was cited as bearing out predictions that competition in the department will be the keenest in history.

First Prize $75

Cash prizes totaling $475 have been posted for the county displays. Fifteen money awards will be given, including a first prize of $75, a second of $60, a third of $40 and 12 of $25 each.

Counties from which entries already have been received include, with names of those submitting the entry blanks:

Lynn county, V. P. Jones; Yoakum, H. B. Horn; Bailey, R. L. Brown; Hockley, D. W. Sherrill, Crosby, Ralph Howe; Lamb, Don F. Turner; Haskell, Paul Zahn; and Childress, V. E. Hafner.

New Plan Announced

Another important announcement Tuesday relative to plans for the fair was that by W. L. Stangel, professor and head of the department of animal husbandry at Texas Technological college, who will be head of the beef cattle division at the exposition.

Assistant superintendents of the livestock department, he said, will be seniors from the animal husbandry department at Tech. The plan will be put into effect for the first time this year, and, according to fair association officials, has the double design of efficiency and of experience for Tech students.

Assistants Are Announced

Those who will be assistant superintendents this year are M. J. Williams, of Meadow, in beef cattle division; Raymond King of Tulia, in dairy cattle division; and Clifton Cole of Lubbock, in swine division.

Stangel also announced late Tuesday that the first entries to be received in the livestock division came from the Dean ranch near Lamesa, which will exhibit 12 registered Herefords.

South Plains Shriners Will Attend Amarillo Session

Motorcade of Lubbock, Littlefield and Lorenzo Shriners, numbering about 40, was scheduled to leave this afternoon to participate in the "Bobtail" ceremonial to be presented at Khiva Shrine temple at Amarillo tonight, according to Bob Chipley, chairman of the local arrangements committee.

The group will return to Lubbock tonight after a luncheon at 6:30 o'clock. Six carloads from Lubbock, one from Lorenzo and one from Littlefield, loaded with South Plains Shriners, probably will make up the motorcade.

Candidates for first and third sections from this area who will participate in the ceremonial are H. J. McClellan, John Denham, H. B. Bryan, all of Lubbock, and F. O. Boles of Littlefield.

One finds birds of the ocean shore, the mountains, and of the desert regions, in San Diego county, Calif.

'Dust Bowl' Taps New Supply Of Water

Residents of the "dust bowl" hailed what they hope will bring a new era to their parched country as a deep well was dedicated at Liberal, Kas. Here is water, flowing from the well, which will be used to irrigate.

Man Is Jailed After Attack

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8 (AP) —A 27-year-old man, Philip Krahl, jr., was held without bail today by Mayor S. Davis Wilson on a charge of attacking six-year-old Helen Whebley and her three-year-old brother, Frank, jr.

Earlier the mayor announced Krahl told him he had caused the death of the girl and boy in Fairmount park. This started an intensive search for the "bodies" which ended when the children were found on a street corner near their home in North Philadelphia by their uncle, William Dillon.

Charges Are Admitted

"Now you do admit the charges, don't you?" the mayor asked Krahl at a hearing.

"Yes," was the answer.

Helen told police she and her brother had spent the night with a woman with a white coat. Acting on the child's description, they took into custody for questioning a woman booked as Mrs. Florence Anderson, 24.

Detective Captain James Ryan said the woman told him the Whebley children had spent the night with her after playing with her four-year-old daughter. She brought them back to the neighborhood where she found them, Ryan said, adding that she said she knew nothing of Krahl.

Only One Regret

"I am thankful," said Mayor Wilson at the hearing, "that crimes of this nature have not come to Philadelphia before."

"My only regret is," he continued turning to Krahl, "that as an officer of the law I must uphold the law. If it were not for that I should be tempted to take such action as to render you impotent."

The finding of the children alive and the hearing climaxed an all-night search of Fairmount park by more than 400 policemen, 175 park guards and 50 Boy Scouts who had combed the park woodlands and dragged the Schuylkill river.

LOOK ALIKES
But What A Difference

These two bottles of milk look alike, inside and out. But what an astounding difference you would note if you could compare the two contents through a scientific microscope. Only pasteurization keeps milk utterly safe and pure, good to drink—a real health food. Insist on pasteurized milk for your family—it means a lot to their well-being.
