Pleasure Trip Ends In Death for City Family

(Daily News Staff Photo)

SLIGHTLY INJURED — A Sayre, Okla. woman received cuts and bruises early this morning five miles east of Pampa on Highway 60 when the car she was driving slammed into a truck. Mrs. Lucille S. Criswell, 40, was listed in satisfactory condition in Highland General Hospital. (See Story Page 3).

Two Perryton Youths Die in Car Accident

A one-car turnover, 17 miles southeast of Perryton, yesterday, claimed the life of two youths and critically injured another.

Killed were Darrell Lee Griffith, 20, and Buddy Merrell Hargrove 18, both of Perryton.

Listed in critical condition at Amarillo's Northwest Texas Hospital is Danny R. Overton, 20, of Perryton.

Investigating officers said the youths were traveling north, coming out of Wolf Creek Park, when they hit a dip in the road and overturned four times.

The driver of the car, 17-year-old Larry Eiseman of Perryton, was not injured. He was the only occupant that was not thrown from the vehicle.

The accident happened about 4 p.m. yesterday.

Officers in Perryton said Eiseman walked about a half-mile to a nearby house and reported the accident.

Services are pending in Perryton for the victims.

Car-Train Accident Kills Five

An Easter Sunday pleasure trip ended in tragedy late yesterday afternoon when five members of one family were killed instantly as their automobile was struck by a freight train near downtown Miami.

The victims were Aubrey Haddock, 42, his wife Barbara L. Haddock, 40, their two children, 6-year-old Roger and 9-year-old Audie, all of 635 N. Dwight. Also killed was Mr. Haddock's mother, Mrs. Bertha Mae Haddock, 66, of Caddo, Okla. She was in Pampa for an Easter visit with her family.

The accident happened about 5:27 p.m. at the Sante Fe and Farm-to-Market road crossing near the downtown section of Miami.

Haddock, who was driving the 1964 model car, apparently did not see the oncoming train as he pulled into its path. According to investigators, the train struck the vehicle broadside, dragging it more than one mile before it stopped.

Highway Patrolman Vernon Cawthon said the train was traveling 65 miles an hour when it struck the vehicle. The car apparently pulled onto the tracks before the train could attempt to stop. There are no guard rails at the crossing.

Cawthon said it was more than 30 minutes before the bodies could be freed from the twisted wreckage. All were killed instantly.

The engineer on the 114-car train, Harry Morning of Amarillo, said that he saw Mrs. Haddock look up in surprise just before the impact. He said the driver made no attempt to stop.

The automobile was purchased by Haddock only last week. The engineer said all windows were up on the car.

Haddock was a partner in the Pampa Bearing Service.

Funeral arrangements for the family are pending with the Sanford Funeral Home in Durant, Oklahoma. Local arrangements are under the direction of Carmichael-Whatley Funeral Directors.

Johnson Vows Air Strikes Will Continue in Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson and his top military and diplomatic advisers are agreed — the United States will not "suspend" its air strikes against Communist North Viet Nam until the Reds are ready to come to the conference table.

The Chief Executive renewed his offer for "unconditional" peace talks during the weekend, but he firmly rejected suggestions that air attacks be halted to prove U.S. "sincerity."

In a statement to newsmen at his Texas ranch Saturday, Johnson said: "The window to peace is still open, we are still open to 'unconditional discussions' . . . we are ready to begin discussions next week, tomorrow or tonight. Come to the meeting room. We will be there."

On the same day in Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said that the United States had considered "suspending" its air attacks on North Viet Nam but rejected the idea because "it would only encourage the aggressor."

Echoes Statement

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara echoed the statements of Johnson and Rusk Sunday when he said, "we have no indication that a cessation of the bombing would move the North Vietnamese to discussions leading to a termination of their aggression against the South."

On the contrary, he said, the effect of such a move without an accompanying end of aggression against South Viet Nam "would discourage and dishearten the people of South Viet Nam."

The statements apparently were designed to retain the initiative the United States seized when the President, on April 7, accepted an appeal from 17 neutral nations for early peace talks without "preconditions."

Red China and Hanoi rejected the neutralist appeal, giving the United States what many consider a major propaganda victory in world opinion.

No Condition

Johnson said that "we impose no condition of any kind on any government willing to talk." Officials have made it clear, however, that they do not consider the Viet Cong rebels in the South a "government" but simply an "agent" of Hanoi and Peking.

The Chinese have insisted the United States must settle the war by dealing with the Viet Cong and its political arm, "the National Liberation Front."

Johnson appeared to have made the American commitment to defend the South stronger than ever. He said that until its independence was guaranteed, "there is no human power capable of forcing us from Viet Nam. We will remain as long as necessary, with the might required, whatever the risk and whatever the cost."

The President said he hoped "that a mounting crescendo of world opinion — weary of war, opposed to aggression — will finally find a way tto reach the ears of those now deaf to calls for peace."

Nine U.S. Crewmen Killed As Cong Hits Helicopters

SAIGON (UPI)—Nine American crewmen were killed today when Communist guerrillas shot up three U.S. Army helicopters in a battle 280 miles northeast of Saigon.

A spokesman for U.S. military headquarters here said two of the helicopters were shot down, killing all eight crewmen aboard. The co-pilot of the third helicopter was killed when it was hit. The pilot managed to fly the damaged craft back to its base.

The three helicopters were supporting an airlift of Vietnamese troops when they were razed by small arms fire from the Communist positions on the ground.

Two American Marines were wounded Sunday night when guerrilla forces penetrated the defense perimeter around the U.S. air base at Da Nang for the first time and lobbed hand grenades into artillery emplacements.

Marine guards opened fire on the intruders, but a spokesman said the guerrilla raiding party apparently escaped in the darkness.

As the tempo of the war in South Viet Nam picked up, 12 U. S. Navy jet fighters staged dawn raids against military convoys in North Viet Nam.

A Navy spokesman said the extent of damage to the convoys was not immediately reported.

No planes were lost and all returned to the carrier Coral Sea off the South Vietnamese Coast.

Two waves of U.S. Navy planes raked Communist targets in North Viet Nam Sunday. A third mission flew within 60 miles of Hanoi—the deepest penetration yet of the air war—but found nothing to bomb.

In South Viet Nam, a U. S. Air Force pilot was killed when one of his bombs exploded prematurely during a raid on Viet Cong positions in the jungles west of Saigon

One Vietnamese was killed and two Americans were wounded in an accidental bomb explosion at the big U.S. airbase in Da Nang, the staging area for American attacks on the Communist North.

Two Tots Abandoned In Church by Father

NEW YORK (UPI) —Like millions of other children, the two tiny tots wore their finest Easter clothing Sunday. They went to church and munched on jelly beans and chocolate bunnies.

There the similarity ended. Debbie, 3, and her little brother, Chris, 2, were cast adrift by their daddy on Easter Sunday.

They were dressed in their finery only to be abandoned at a Brooklyn church. The Easter candy was bought by policemen.

"I'm so sorry sweethearts, I love you so," said an emotion-filled note left with the children. "I'm sorry daddy has to do this to you."

Sunday night, while Debbie and Chris slept at a Manhattan children's shelter, Charles Miller, 23, walked into a police precinct and turned himself in. He was booked on a charge of abandonment and held for a criminal court appearance today.

Miller told detectives he had been unable to provide for the children since his wife left him two weeks ago. "I didn't really mean it," he said.

He called his wife and asked her to be in court today while he is arraigned on the abandonment charge. She agreed, he said.

At 10:15 a.m. Sunday, the father, dark-haired and well-dressed, rang the doorbell at the rectory of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Roman Catholic Church in Brooklyn.

"I want to see a priest," he told a housekeeper. "It's an emergency."

The woman, Kathleen Lyndon, told him to wait in a reception room while she went to get the Rev. Michael Connolly. A few moments later, when the priest entered the room, the children were alone. The note was left on a wooden bench between them.

"I'm sorry sweethearts. I love you both," it said. "I'll miss you so. I love you, Debbie and Chris. I'm sorry daddy has to do this to you. Maybe some day we can be together again. Please take care of my kids. I love them both. Their daddy is very sick."

News Editors Call for Fight To Keep Public Records Open

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newspaper executives of the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and Bermuda gathered in convention today on a note of new strength through growth and new urgency in protecting free access to information for all the people.

The 79th annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association got underway with reports on progress in the fight to keep public records in the open and a warning by ANPA President Gene Robb of oblique attempts to throttle news of crimes and criminals.

Robb, in the president's address prepared for delivery before the convention opening labor relations conference, called for vigilance in defending the newspapers' right to stay free of government interference. He said the most conspicuous ingredient in newspaper publishing today is independence.

Quotes Brewster

He quoted President Kingman Brewster of Yale on newspapers: "You are the only daily news medium substantially free of the restraints of dependence upon someone else's private or political power."

Daily circulations have set new records of more than 60 million, Robb said, but the growing emphasis is on the quality of what goes into newspapers: "We seek not so much an audience of people who merely sit and look but rather a readership of the people who think and act."

About 1,500 executives were expected to register for the four-day convention. ANPA member papers increased by 49 during the year — the largest yearly gain in its history — to an all-time high of 931, representing 90 per cent of U.S. circulation.

Prior to the convention opening, editors and publishers were told at the annual UPI breakfast by correspondent Stewart Hensley that the next 30 to 60 days "may well prove decisive in determining whether the fighting in Viet Nam can be stopped and some sort of peace talks begun." Hensley is UPI diplomatic correspondent in Washington.

Best Chance

Donald J. Brydon, recently returned after more than three years as UPI general news manager for Asia, told the breakfast he believed the present civilian government in Viet Nam headed by Prime Minister Phan Huy Quat had the best chance for survival and creating political stability of any since the overthrow of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime in 1963.

The feature of the annual luncheon of the Associated Press was an address by Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

A departure at the ANPA labor conference was the invitation to Elmer Brown, president of the International Typographical Union (ITU), to follow the ANPA president with a speech. Brown's union, oldest in the United States, represents craft workers who set the type from which papers are printed and assemble it into page forms.

Flooding Mississippi Hits Record Crest

LA CROSSE, Wis. (UPI)—The mighty Mississippi, swept southward with a record flood crest today to endanger scores of communities in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois.

The runaway river has routed more than 19,000 persons from their homes in Minnesota. Authorities feared 14,000 persons would be made homeless in Wisconsin before the danger passes.

Hundred of National Guardsmen, police and volunteers kept a lonely Easter vigil on the dikes and levees along the swollen river. Today, bulldozers and strong backs were thrown into the battle against high water from southern Minnesota to central Illinois.

Five miles of makeshift dikes snaked around La Crosse, where the river hammered steadily at the barriers. The Mississippi surged past at a record depth of 16.7 feet and the weather bureau said the crest would hit 18 feet by Wednesday. Flood depth is 12 feet.

Wisconsin Gov. Warren Knowles, who toured the flood and tornado stricken portion of his state Sunday, was expected to ask President Johnson today to declare the region a federal disaster area. Knowles, who rolled up his shirtsleeves and joined volunteers in sandbagging the river, said the loss of property was "simply tremendous."

While volunteers hurled some of 70,000 sand bags against the river Sunday, a Salvation Army truck with a loudspeaker blared Easter hymns at the workers. Red Cross units distributed Easter baskets among children of the homeless in the town of 4,700 population.

National Guardsmen patrolled the dikes to protect them from vandals. Police received reports of sand being stolen from some dikes.

Flood damage along the Wisconsin side of the Mississippi was estimated as $4,468,000 and rising steadily.

Steel Leaders In Crisis Talks

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — With some gentle prodding from the White House, union and industry negotiators begin crisis bargaining today to head off a nationwide steel strike May 1.

Negotiations begin at 9:30 a.m. CST.

If they make no headway by the end of the week, the industry likely will start preparing for a shutdown.

These preparations, tremendous in scope, take at least three to four days.

The negotiators for the United Steelworkers union (USW) and 11 major basic steel producing companies met for the first time with a third party, the federal government, looking over their shoulders.

Simkin Arrives

William E. Simkin, chief of the federal mediation service, arrived here Sunday night.

Simkin met separately with David J. McDonald, USW president, and I. W. Abel, USW secretary-treasurer, and then with R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U. S. Steel Corp. and chief negotiator for the 11 companies.

McDonald and Abel are acting as co-chairmen of the union negotiating team, because Abel was regarded as the apparent winner of the USW's Feb. 9 presidential election.

Dear Abby....

Widowed Mother Has Illogical Reasoning

DEAR ABBY: We recently celebrated our 25th wedding anniversary, and I had a lovely wedding dinner dance for our friends. We sent out engraved invitations, but I went to my widowed mother's house and spent the evening with her and invited her personally to the party. She never came. Then she told my brother in tears that she was not invited! Now the whole family is angry with me. I can't understand it. Wasn't my personal invitation enough? Please clear up this matter.

IOWAN

DEAR IOWAN: A personal invitation to one's mother would seem more appropriate than an engraved one. Either your mother forgot that you had invited her personally, or she is looking for a reason to be angry with you. Something is wrong here. I would guess that the relationship between you and your mother was rather shaky to begin with.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man in my 60's who recently retired. I have been very successful in my life and my wife and I are living in Florida. Our eldest son married and gave us our only grandchild, who is now six. The marriage ended in divorce, so we invited our daughter-in-law to bring the boy and stay with us until she got her feet on the ground. She has her own car, a built-in baby-sitter (my wife), support money from our son, and she comes and goes as she pleases. She never had it so good. She's been with us for six months and has made no move to find a place of her own. My wife and I had planned a trip to Europe, but she became so attached to her granson that she cancelled the trip. I can't throw my daughter-in-law and grandson out of the house, and my wife is not easy to reason with. So what should I do?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Your wife's attachment to her grandson and the convenient setup for your daughter-in-law have disturbed the tranquility of your home. It is unhealthy for everybody. Ask your wife to join you in a heart-to-heart talk with your daughter-in-law, who should be told gently, but firmly, to take her foot off the gas and get both feet on the ground. You and your wife should definitely go to Europe.

DEAR ABBY: A lady, whom I seldom see, lives in the same apartment house that I do. She came to my apartment one evening to visit with me. I was sewing. After she left I missed my gold thimble. I thought I had mislaid it, and used another thimble. Last evening this lady invited me to her apartment. I noticed a gold thimble on the sewing table near my chair. I casually picked up up and examined it, and saw my initials on it. I wouldn't openly accuse her of taking it, nor would I make a big fuss about it, but I would like to know how I can get my thimble back. Please advise me.

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: Call your neighbor and tell her you think she may have taken home your gold thimble by mistake. If she denies it, buy yourself another thimble and consider the first one gone for good. P.S. If your light-fingered friend ever visits you again, lock up everything she can lift.

Soft Beauty Can Be Ageless

AN AGELESS QUALITY — The mature woman has learned that beauty is not an age is the one who makes the most of her appearance with expert use of the cosmetics now available to her. The model (upper left) uses a blond foundation and peach face powder to compliment her gray hair. A creamy lipstick in pink with a blue cast (lower left) keeps her lips moist and softly pretty. Aware that fragrance is a woman's most prized accessory, she makes lavish use of cologne (right) in a floral and citrus scent that suits her personnality.

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The current generation and cosmetic inovations are bosom buddies. However, the woman of 45 or older still may feel nervous about using certain shades of lipstick and eye make-up. Finding the proper shades of lipstick and eye make-up are important for the mature woman. For she can be her most attractive with proper selection of grooming aids.

Skin care is just as important to her as it is to the teenager. The major difference is that the mature woman needs to use products with stronger oils and lubricants.

There is no magic to being attractive at any age It takes work. It is easier today for the mature woman than it was 50 years ago because the attitude toward what is acceptable in a woman's appearance has changed.

A turnabout in taboos affects the use of eye make-up, for example. Now it is considered very important to use it.

The point is not that you use eye make-up but that you use it correctly. For the more mature woman with gray or graying hair, light eye shadow and mascara make the eyes wider, the white clearer. But heavy make-up should be avoided.

This is true in the selection of lipstick. Dark lipstick shades accentuate your mouth too much and do not play up the delicate tone of your skin. Since your lips also will be drier, shop for creamy-type lipsticks.

Blue-gray eye make-up brings out the color in blue eyes which tend to fade as one gets older. Turquoise highlights gray, brown or hazel eyes.

As a finishing touch to your daily grooming, experiment with new perfumes, colognes and dusting powder scents. You will find that there are many that are more pleasing to you now than your standbys on the dressing table for many years.

Car-Truck Wreck Hurts Oklahoman

A 40-year-old Sayre, Okla., woman was admitted to Highland General Hospital this morning as the result of injuries received in a car-truck collision five miles east of Pampa.

Mrs. Lucille S. Criswell was listed in satisfactory condition at the hospital suffering cuts and bruises.

Highway Patrolman Standley Schneider said her 1958 model automobile was totally demolished.

The accident happened about 8:15 a.m. on U.S. 60.

Schneider said Mrs. Criswell attempted to pass a Gray County truck that was making a left turn. He said she rammed into the rear of the vehicle, driven by Norman D. Smithers of Pampa. He was not injured.

Mother, Daughter Hurt in Accident

A two-car collision about 11 a.m. in the 1200 block of East Kingsmill sent a mother and her daughter to Highland General Hospital and slightly injured an Amarillo resident.

Injured was the driver of one car, 44-year-old Elizabeth E. Noblitt of 420 Lowry, and her 9-year-old daughter, Barbara. The driver of the other car, Sandra D. Hemphill, 23, received only slight cuts.

Mrs. Noblitt and her daughter were taken to the hospital by a local ambulance. Hospital attendants said they were admitted for observation and apparently were not seriously injured.

Pampa News In Brief

Thieves made off with $25 in cash, a transistor radio and box of shotgun shells from Ogden and Son, 501 W. Foster, sometime over the weekend, according to reports filed today with Pampa police.

A suitcase containing several sweaters and items of clothing was taken from the Billy R. Black residence, 640 N. Roberta, sometime during the past four days, police said.

Conigliaro Nixes Sophomore 'Jinx'

By United Press International

If Tony Conigliaro is suffering from the sophomore jinx, both he and the rest of the Boston Red Sox hope its a long, long illness.

Tony is batting at a .533 clip and, though the Bosox have played only four games so far, the strapping right fielder who waved such a dangerous bat as a rookie last year has already tagged two home runs and has six RBI's to his credit.

One of those circuit smashes and three of those runs batted in sparked the Sox to an 11-4 blitz of the Baltimore Orioles Sunday. Tony's homer came as part of a four-run Bosox rally in the third inning and it sailed high and far over the 325-foot mark at Fenway Park. He came back in the fourth frame and drove in the decisive tally with a single, one of four hits in four trips.

Earl Wilson recorded his first victory of the young season for Boston. The Red Sox have won three of their four games and are tied for second place with Minnesota. Wally Bunker suffered the loss for the Birds.

In other American League contests, the Detroit Tigers outlasted the Los Angeles Angels 4-1 in 13 innings, the Minnesota Twins blasted the Cleveland Indians 6-3, the New York Yankees lashed the Kansas City Athletics 10-4, and the Washington Senators clipped Chicago 4-1 in the second game of a doubleheader after the White Sox had won the opener 5-1.

The Tigers retained their unaccustomed hold on first place with their victory over the Angels, which came on three unearned runs.

Weekend Sports

By United Press International

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Canadiens beat the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 in the opening game of the finals of the National Hockey League Stanley cup playoffs.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Defending champion Villanova won the team title in the annual Queens-Iona Relays.

MONTE CARLO (UPI) — Australians Ken Fletcher and Bob Hewitt won the men's doubles title in the Monte Carlo tennis championships, while Lea Pericoli and Sylvana Lazzarino of Italy took the women's doubles crown.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — India's Ramanathan Krishnan defeated Mike Belkin of Coral Gables, Fla., in the men's singles final and Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., upset Margaret Smith of Australia to win the women's singles crown in the Masters Invitational tennis tournament.

Matson's Next Try At Drake

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Track and field nomads start work today for the next big baton event of the circuit, the Drake Relays at Des Moines next weekend, after shattering nine records at the Kansas relays.

New Mexico jumper Clarence Robinson set the record-making tempo at the two-day Kansas classic, but Wichita high school star, Olympian Jim Ryun, grabbed the spotlight.

Robinson soared 26-2½ in the broad jump for one new standard and spanned 50-6½ in the triple jump for the other.

Ryun ran a solid 4:04.8 mile Friday, which was better than any collegiate performance in that distance in the two days, and flashed an amazing 1:47.7 half mile leg to push his Wichita East team to a new national record in the two-mile relay in 7:42.9. The old mark was 7:43.8 by Archbishop Mulloy High School of New York City last year.

Strongman Randy Matson of Texas A&M was out to beat his world record of 67-11¼ in the shot put, but had to settle for a new relays standard of 65-10¾. The former record was 60-2¾ by Matson's former classmate, Danny Roberts in 1964.

Pro Tour Just Starting-Nichols

HOUSTON (UPI) — Nobody could accuse Bobby Nichols of complacency today if he felt the pro golf tour, now 14 events along, is just starting for him.

The Houston Golf Classic, which Nichols took in a 11-under-par 273, has a way of getting him started on big money for the year.

Take 1962 for example. He won the Classic in a 19-hole playoff, went on to a third place in the USGA Open and a year's total of $34,311, good for ninth among the nation's professional.

In 1964, he finished far up in the money in a tie for ninth at the Classic and then went on to win the PGA championship in July and the big Carling World Open in August. His earnings last year totaled $74,012.

Nichols, of Corona, Calif., held off a closing rush by Bruce Devlin of Hilton Head Island, S. C. and Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez of Puerto Rico and scored a one under par 70 Sunday to take the Classic.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

Koufax Starts Off With 5-Hitter

By United Press International

To Sandy Koufax, the Philadelphia Phillies represent the finest wonder drug on the market.

The southpaw ace of the Los Angeles Dodgers staff, beset by a series of ailments throughout his career, always receives a tonic when he faces the Phils and Sunday was no exception.

The 29-year-old Koufax, bothered by traumatic arthritis in his left elbow, filled his prescription by setting Philadelphia down on five hits for a 6-2 victory in his first starting role since last Aug. 16.

It was the ninth straight time Sandy had defeated the Phils dating back to 1961, and after the game, Koufax, whose starry pitching career has been threatened by the disease, reported he was "very pleased" with his performance.

If Sandy was pleased, then the Dodgers were overjoyed because a reasonably healthy Koufax is almost a prerequisite for a Los Angeles run at the National League pennant, which the Dodgers won two seasons ago crumbling to sixth in 1964. "I had good stuff, but not real good," Koufax said. "I hope to get better."

The Dodger dazzler struck out seven and walked four. He surrendered a hit to lead-off man Cookie Rojas in the first inning, then held the Phillies hitless until the sixth when Dick Stuart slammed a two-run homer. His control was not as sharp as usual, but Sandy attributed that to his three-week enforced layoff during spring training.

The important thing, as far as the Dodgers were concerned, however, was that Koufax suffered "no pain" during or after the game. Although it probably will not be known for days or even weeks just what effect the condition will have on his pitching, the initial results were promising.

Rookie second baseman Jim Lefebvre doubled, tripled, drew two walks and drove in three runs to lead the Dodger attack against loser Bo Belinsky and three other Philadelphia hurlers.

Other NL Games

In other National League games, the Milwaukee Braves clubbed the Chicago Cubs 9-6 behind the brilliant relief pitching of Billy O'Dell, Cincinnati unloaded a 14-hit attack which crushed St. Louis 8-2, the New York Mets routed San Francisco 7-1 in a rain-shortened nightcap after the Giants had taken the opener of a twinbill 4-1, and Pittsburgh split a doubleheader with Houston, the Bucs winning the second game 8-4 after the Astros had taken the first contest, 3-1.

Sonics Drop To Tulsans

By United Press International

The new Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs got off to a good start Sunday, playing polished ball in a 6-2 victory over the Austin Braves in the first weekend of Texas League play.

Catcher Chris Krug slugged a home run for Dallas-Fort Worth in the sixth with one runner on and Vince Ferguson got a bases empty round-tripper in the second for Austin.

The Tulsa Oilers whipped the Amarillo Sonics 4-2 in a rather eventless game played in Tulsa.

Albuquerque's Dodgers edged El Paso's Sun Kings 9-8, despite two fourth inning home runs by El Paso.

El Paso meets Albuquerque again tonight in the New Mexico city, Amarillo will be at Tulsa and Dallas-Fort Worth again plays Austin in the Texas capital.

Pampans Lead Pigeon Races

The first old bird race of the 1OT Racing Pigeon Association of the year was flown from Fredrick, Okla., a 150-mile station. There were 9 lofts competing with a total of 75 birds.

First place was won by Gordon Miller, Pampa. Herbert Hyatt, Pampa, won second; Lloyd Gooch, Pampa, came in third, and Miller took fourth and fifth. Placing sixth was Bob Baird, Pampa; Gooch was seventh; Basil Pettit, White Deer, was eighth; J. E. Cantrell, Pampa, was ninth and A. J. Tipton, Borger, was tenth.

Celtics Set Records In Romp Over Lakers

BOSTON (UPI) — Even Red Auerbach, who rarely concedes anything, agreed that his Boston Celtics hadn't played well. And he couldn't care less that the National Basketball Association kings set a pair of final playoff scoring records.

The Celtics, hunting their seventh straight championship, will be shooting for a two-game advantage over Western winner Los Angeles when the teams meet again tonight at Boston Garden.

Boston broke up the ailing Lakers in a 142-110 romp Sunday. The 142-point team total and the 78 points the Celtics rang up in the second half both were final playoff records. They exceeded the 140 and 76 totals the 1960 Celtics scored at St. Louis expense.

But Auerbach and Laker Coach Fred Schaus agreed that the Celtics would have been beaten had they been playing their eastern rivals, Philadelphia, the same way.

"Forget the points. All that counts is one victory. We need three more of those and I don't care about the points," Auerbach said.

"We just got the heck beat out of us," Schaus agreed. "They beat us in every way, off the boards, passing, dribbling, shooting everything. We'd have been beaten just as badly by anyone in the league the way we played today."

Boston guard K.C. Jones limited Laker ace Jerry West to three first half baskets as the Celtics constructed a 15-point halftime lead. West shook loose from the Boston defense in the third period but Boston's Sam Jones led a scoring spree that made it no contest and a 20-point Celtic lead after three.

Sam Jones had 25 points, John Havlicek 22, Bill Russell 18, K.C. Jones 17 and Willie Naulls 11. Every one of the 11 Boston players scored at least three points. Jerry West headed the Lakers at 26, Dick Barnett had 21, Rudy LaRusso 16 and Don Nelson and Le Roy Ellis 10 each.

The program calls for the teams to shift to Los Angeles after tonight's meeting for games Wednesday and Friday nights. A fifth meeting in the best of seven series, if necessary, will be played back here next Sunday night.

Shockers Finish 7-1, With .353 Average

The Pampa Shockers finished their season with a 7-1 mark, although there are still faint hopes that they may get another game or two in this week. The Shocks had hoped to play Elk City, a game previously postponed, but all Oklahoma schools go into district tournament play this week. Pampa and Nazareth could not agree on dates, Nazareth wanting to play next month and the Shocks figured to close out with the beginning of spring football training.

Athletic director Weldon Trice reported a slim possibility of the Shockers playing Plainview B, or of a combined Shocker-Harvester reserve team playing Dumas.

Otherwise the Shocks finish with one loss on the season, to defending Oklahoma Class C state champion Capron, while taking six wins over district 5-B opposition and one over the Shattuck Indians.

Last weekend's power hitting and free base-running against Capron and Shattuck, gave most of the hitting honors to pitcher-infielder Roy Harper, pitcher-infielder Jerry Largin and first-baseman Lawrence Jones. The Harp, leading hitter all season, went 4 for 5 to finish with a fantastic .750 batting average. Largin clouted 6 for 7 to finish with .545, and stole six bases in as many tries to lead the thieving Shockers with nine.

The left-handed slugging Jones smashed out three home runs to hit .520 and finish with the RBI and extra-base ties for the team.

Harvesters 4th, Visit Longhorns

Until Saturday, it appeared coach Bobby Moegle's Lubbock Monterey Plainsmen would walk away with their sixth consecutive District 3-AAAA baseball title without much fight.

Then the Tascosa Rebels whipped the Plainsmen, 9-6, to throw the chase into a virtual three-way tie. Monterey, with a 4-1 mark, leads by only a half-game over Tascosa (3-1) and Plainview (3-1).

If the Rebels beat Palo Duro and Plainview stops Lubbock Tuesday, all three will be 4-1 as Monterey is taking the day off.

Six of the nine district teams have two losses or less, however, so the Bulldogs, Rebels and Plainsmen could have company at the top of the league in short order.

Friday an important game will take place when Tascosa invades Plainview. That same day, Amarillo's Sandies play Monterey in Lubbock. With just two losses, the Sandies are still very much in the title picture.

Monterey's loss to Tascosa, coupled with three wins by Pampa, boosted the Harvesters into the top spot in the league counting both district and non-district outings. Pampa is 12-3, Monterey 13-5, overall.

Pampa had an 0-2 loop mark going into last week but edged Amarillo, 5-4, Palo Duro, 1-0 and Borger, 6-0, to climb to 3-2 and tie Lubbock for fourth.

The Westerners lost to both Monterey and Tascosa before snapping the skein with a 6-2 triumph over Caprock Saturday.

Tascosa, like Pampa, made big gains last week. The Rebels first took an 11-8 win over Borger to snap a four-game losing streak, then nipped Lubbock, 4-3, with a four-run rally in the last inning, and knocked off Monterey.

Actually, since all teams play 16 loop games, Palo Duro and Caprock, with their 1-3 district records, still have some title hopes. Only ninth-place Borger (0-5) appears definitely out of the running at present.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Man — Helpless Before Nature

Probably no form of nature gone wild inspires as much fear as the tornado.

Though tornadic storms are usually limited in extent and duration, they are unlimited in the explosive havoc they can cause. It is this, together with the unpredictability of their courses, that creates the sense of human helplessness we associate with these wild winds.

The storm system that battered six midwestern states was a big one by any measure, however. Spawning some 37 tornadoes and 50 less severe storms, it killed more people than have died annually in tornadoes in the past half century.

But while the toll of nearly 250 ranks it as one of the major disasters of its kind, it is still exceeded by the storm that flailed a 219-mile-long path of death through Missouri, Indiana and Illinois in March 1925, killing 689 persons.

When we think of the increase in population that has taken place in these and other states in the past 40 years (and no state is exempt from tornadoes) we wonder that there have not been worse disasters.

It is not all a matter of luck. Though man has no way of controlling tornadoes, even in theory, he is not entirely helpless. Every year storm forecasting becomes more accurate, more rapid.

How many lives have been saved over the years by the U.S. Weather Bureau's Severe Local Storm Forecasting Center in Kansas City, Mo., it is impossible to say. Certainly the death toll on April 11 would have been higher without warnings issued from this and other weather centers.

This, of course, is scant comfort to those who lost loved ones on that Black Sunday. For some who died, the warnings came too late, or not at all, or went unheeded.

For the survivors, there now begins the long process of rebuilding homes and lives, with whatever help the rest of us can give them.

Betting Our Billion

We're all for the Grand Gesture.

Like, for example, when Our Leader told the politicians in Southeast Asia that we'd bundle up a billion dollars and send it over if they'd quit being so aggravating.

Most likely the Southeast Asian leaders are acutely aware that even in the open - handed and light-headed realm of U.S. federal financing the sum of one billion dollars does not come out of the petty cash box. Although Lyndon has been getting his programs through Congress like greased lightning, there may be a little poutish bickering about a billion for the Southeast Asians.

We are not entirely sure (1, what the Southeast Asians are going to have to promise in order to qualify for the cash prize, (2; what form of benefaction the billion dollars will assume and (3) who will get the money. But, perhaps we are being tediously inquisitive about small matters which are no concern of ours.

Bet-a-Million Gates was a tinhorn by present standards. We want to bet a billion now. Apparently the terms of the bet are that Southeast Asians will love, honor and obey us until death do us part, or until the billion bucks is gone.

Even the most starry-eyed among us must be convinced by now that if $1,500 of the billion ever trickled down to the man with the empty rice bowl it could be due to an oversight on the part of the politicians over there.

But, as we say, what is life if there are no Grand Gestures? Hang the details, Gridley; full speed ahead! Greater Society, ho!

Phenomenal? Not Really

A 22-year-old Russian girl, Rosa Kuleshova, made international news in 1962 when it was reported that she possessed the mysterious ability to read print with her fingertips while blindfolded.

There followed a flurry of similar claims, both in Russia and the United States. A Michigan housewife was said to be able to detect colors by touch, even in complete darkness. A national magazine devoted an article to "dermo-optical perception."

Most scientists remained skeptical, however, especially since among the millions of blind persons, who could be expected to have been the first to make the discovery, none ever claimed the ability.

Now, reports Scientific American, the Russians have explained the "phenomenon," at least on their side of the world.

Carefully controlled tests at the Bekhterev Psychoneurological Scientific Research Institute in Leningrad showed — Rosa peeked.

From a height of 500 feet, balloonists will spot schools of tuna and relay the information to their "mother" boat. Visibility range from the top of a vessel's 60-foot mast is about 10 miles, but from a balloon 500 feet up the horizon is 30 miles away.

Backstage Washington

Raborn Faces Extensive Reconstruction of CIA In Viet Nam, Other Urgent Intelligence Problems

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Admiral William Raborn, newly-named head of the Central Intelligence Agency, is confronted with three critical emergencies — all involving the grimly intensifying Viet Nam conflict.

Although still awaiting Senate confirmation and certain to have no time to get settled in his new job, the former "father" of the Polaris missile faces:

—Immediately reconstituting CIA staff in South Viet Nam, badly shattered by the terror bombing of the Saigon embassy. Nearly half of the key CIA personnel were disabled by flying glass and other debris. These heavy casualties included deaths and blindings. One report to the White House described these severe losses as "the Pearl Harbor of the CIA."

—Getting at the bottom of a Buddhist-instigated conspiracy to stage widespread anti-American demonstrations and riots the latter part of May with the aim of ousting the present South Viet Nam government and setting up a neutralist regime that would come to terms with Communist Hanoi.

—Developing a system of procedures in Washington to bring more quickly and definitely to the attention of President Johnson and his top policy-makers urgently significant CIA reports —such as the warning the Viet Cong planned to dynamite the Saigon embassy.

This is the undisclosed tragedy of that murderous outrage.

Several weeks before, CIA reported that Communist terrorists would attempt to blow up the embassy, using a truck or car for this purpose. This advance information from underground sources did not specify a date. But it was explicit that preparations had been completed and the attack could occur at any time.

This warning was ignored, or overlooked, by both Ambassador Taylor and Washington authorities. President Johnson never saw it, although members of his staff did.

President Kennedy closely scrutinized a sheaf of reports from the "intelligence community" every morning on arising. Johnson doesn't do that. Near the close of his work day, he receives an intelligence-summary which he may or may not study during the evening.

NEW BUDDHIST PLOT — For some time reliable intelligence sources in South Viet Nam have been advising that certain Buddhist elements are organizing a new wave of violent anti American demonstrations beginning late next month as the prelude to setting up a neutralist regime that would seek a deal with Hanoi's Communist rulers.

Central figures in this conspiracy are Thich Tri Quang, backstage chief of Buddhist dissidents, and General Nguyen Chanh Thi, Buddhist commander of the I Corps in northern South Viet Nam.

While Quang is fomenting the anti-American outbreaks, Thi is credited as getting rid of anti-Buddhist and anti-Communist officers and replacing them with neutralists. Thi, reputedly extremely ambitious, is said to aspire to be the military chief of a "coalition" government that would include Viet Cong.

Quang has a long and dubious record.

In the 1930s he was a pupil of Thich Tri Do, Marxist monk who is now the top Buddhist in North Viet Nam and a member of its Communist parliament. The two renewed their old friendship at a Buddhist conference in Cambodia in 1962, and are known to have been in communication since.

Quang was twice arrested by the French for alleged Communist sympathies, but never tried. During the regime of the late President Diem, former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge saved Quang by giving him refuge in the U.S. embassy.

In the past year, Quang has been the undercover leader of a series of agitations that have upset Saigon governments.

MORE AND BETTER INTELLIGENCE.— Also definitely contemplated by Admiral Raborn is intensifying intelligence efforts regarding Red China.

Instead of depending on pilotless drones, the new CIA director favors using an improved version of the U-2 reconnaissance plane to obtain detailed information on key Chinese bases and the disposition of ground and airforces.

Currently, U-2 reconnaissance flights over southern China are banned "for political reasons" at the insistence of the State Department. Raborn wants to change that. How far he gets remains to be seen. His predecessor, John McCone, was unable to persuade the White House to approve such flights.

Similarly, McCone was unable to get anything done about positive CIA information that Soviet ground-to-air missiles were being installed in North Viet Nam.

NEW TREASURY APPOINTEE (?) — Former Representative Joseph Barr, D-Indianapolis, is under consideration for undersecretary of the Treasury. A World War II veteran and friend of newly-appointed Treasury Secretary Fowler, Barr is undergoing the usual security check for a government job . . . Thanks to militant bipartisan opposition, the House Foreign Affairs Committee scuttled a $237 million "sleeper" in the $3.38 billion foreign aid authorization bill proposed by President Johnson. This unpublicized provision would have permitted the spending of $237 million previously voted by Congress but still unused. Representative F. Bradford Morse, R-Mass., uncovered the "sleeper" and vigorously challenged it. He was strongly supported by Representative H. R. Gross, R-Iowa and Wayne Hays, D-O., who moved its deletion. Even Representative Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., a strong administration supporter, raised his eyebrows saying, "This warrants looking into. I don't like it at all." The vote on Hays' motion was unanimous—and that ended this covert attempt to add nearly a quarter of a billion dollars to foreign aid spending.

The Nation's Press

Tax Bite Put On 'Life Line'

Hundreds of thousands of Americans would not be in the least aware of the steady trend this nation has made toward a socialistic welfare state were it not for a few new conservatively-oriented projects which have managed to reach nationwide stature.

With most national magazines, all three major TV networks, and a majority of the metropolitan daily newspapers consciously or unconsciously nurturing the "something for nothing" line there is a desperate need for some factor or factors to present the other side of the badly-eroded coin.

One of the most effective projects for the retention of fundamental American freedom and initiative has been the "Life Line Foundation," originated by the outspoken Texas oilman H. L. Hunt, sometimes referred to locally as "an ol' Tyler boy who made good in the big city."

Just recently, the Federal government "got in its licks" at Mr. Hunt and Life Line. Liberal and "moderate" lawmakers all around the Capitol building applauded as salve was administered to a persistent thorn in their flesh.

Life Line was removed from tax-exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. Announced reason for the move was the contention that Life Line is not an educational program, at least not as the word is interpreted in Washington.

Fortunately, Mr. Hunt's exceptional financial resources will allow him to continue Life Line radio broadcasts at least for the time being. The program is broadcast in Tyler (also in Pampa) and in 384 other cities, and 238 advertisers besides Hunt's HLH Food Products help foot the bill.

If Life Line is not educational because, as liberal Wright Patman of Texarkana puts it, "the program has propagandized on such issues as racial integration and income taxes," then we contend that such government organs as the U.S. Information Agency also are not educational.

You may recall that it was USIA which stated within a few hours after President Kennedy's assassination that it was "right wing hate-mongers" who had planned the attack. This Fabian theory was broadcast throughout the world, and did untold harm to conservatism in general and to the City of Dallas in particular.

Persecution of a program such as "Life Line" is one more example of how entrenched power in Washington tends to nourish itself, using the taxpayer's resources to make sure that the taxpayer does not have access to both sides of the most vital domestic and diplomatic questions of this century.

—Tyler (Tex.) Courier-Times.

Question Box

QUESTION: Since the American National Red Cross is a "quasi-official agency" of the federal government, chartered by Congress in 1905, and since eight members of the board of governors are appointed by the President of the United States, and since the honorary officers and several of the executive officers are also members of the federal executive agencies, does the money collected all go to relief on a voluntary basis? Or is this another 'plum' for the federal establishment to pick at its will?"

ANSWER: We have seen no evidence that Red Cross contributions have been used for other than the purpose for which they were given. It is true that many agencies spend perhaps more on administration and fund raising than would be done if persons were permitted to get the same tax credit for their own individual gifts to the needy.

It is true the Red Cross is chartered by Congress. Since one of the main purposes of the Red Cross when it was formed was to aid the sick and wounded of armies in time of war, it is presumed this was believed necessary.

There are some other similar organizations which receive charters from the federal government. In our estimation, it is unfortunate that charitable organizations would consider it necessary to have a tie - in with political agencies, particularly to the extent that the Red Cross has. However, to the extent that individuals voluntarily contribute their funds to assist those who are genuinely in need, the less excuse there will be for the governmental agencies to inaugurate other various coercive programs.

By THURMAN SENSING

The Shame of Bribery

In addressing the nation on the subject of the communist war against South Viet Nam, President Johnson made strong statements regarding the American determination to endure and triumph over Red aggressors. All this was well and good — what concerned citizens have been waiting to hear. Unfortunately, however, Mr. Johnson cancelled out much of the value of his speech by devoting the second half of his speech to a thoroughly discredited form of dollar diplomacy.

Mr. Johnson in effect told the Asian communists that if they stop acting like bad boys that he will cut them in on a slice of the Great Society. He mentioned the figure of $1 billion as a starter, which is a proposal that sets a record for an open offer of a bribe.

It is not surprising that Mr. Johnson has decided that he can offer a deal to the Reds who are waging war against South Viet Nam. At home, the LBJ Great Society is predicated on the theory that every citizen, every group, and every region has its price. The farmers are offered an increase in price supports. The big cities are promised aid for housing and schools. Up and down the line, the Johnson administration goes providing handouts to special interests of one sort or another. Unquestionably, this bribery works — for a while. But one of the basic flaws that all bribers overlook is that people don't stay bribed. Once they get a handout for a service, they want more.

Who can truly believe that the Reds, if they accepted a deal of no more aggression in exchange for food surpluses and a group of hydroelectric dams, would never again make a demand on the United States? The Reds know a sucker when they see one.

No sooner would they have the U.S. cash and miscellaneous handouts, than they again would start trouble and raise their price for a respite from guerrilla war. For years the United States has been giving dollars and commodities to Egypt, for example, and it has not in the least deterred Dictator Nassar from waging aggressive war in Yemen, stirring trouble in Africa, and letting mobs burn down U. S. libraries in the bargain. No, bribery won't work—for an individual or a nation.

Aside from its impracticality it is profoundly immoral. Surely great numbers of Americans must have been shocked to hear their President outline the buying of peace in Asia. To be sure, the proposal was couched in human terms. He didn't propose a quart of milk a day to every child in Asia, but he sounded very much like Franklin Roosevelt and Henry Wallace in their New Deal political heyday.

The Johnson proposal is unworthy of a great nation. Truly great states do not attempt to buy friends, but endeavor to command respect. The American people always stand ready to help people in real distress—witness support of the Red Cross and other efforts to assist people after disasters. But that is a far cry from ladling out vast sums in an effort to buy off nations that endanger our national interests. The U. S. hasn't the money to pay off every aggressive state and regime that threatens to make trouble unless it gets its slice of the U. S. budget.

If we engage in this process in Asia, and right after the terrible failures of foreign aid as a whole, our prestige in the world will sink to a new low. The Johnson administration reportedly is concerned about this nation's image. Well, engaging in attempted bribery of an enemy of freedom is no way to improve the national image.

Aside from all this, it is a fact that Southeast Asia isn't in pressing need of a vast aid scheme. Though far from wealthy by European standards, this part of the world is better off than many other parts. Southeast Asia is the target of Chinese aggression precisely because it is a region that exports rice. It simply is not a food deficient region as are some other areas of Asia — India, for example. The Indians have come to live and depend on the food surpluses the U. S. ships to them, but in Southeast Asia there is ample rice to go around.

The struggle in South Viet Nam can't be won by handouts. It has to be won by firmness, determination courage, and staying power. If Mr. Johnson aspires to true presidential greatness, he will have to emphasize these qualities and forget about spending plans for Asia that would only weaken America's economy at the time of maximum communist challenge.

Wit and Whimsy

The golden rule is, if a man smite thee on the left cheek, smite him on the other also.

Absent-minded Professor—(to servant) — You say there is a collector at the door? Did you tell him I was out?

Servant — Yes, sir, but he didn't believe me.

Absent - minded Professor—Well, I guess I will have to go and tell him myself.

Traveler (on European train) —Shall I have time to get a drink?

Guard— Yes, sir.

Traveler — Can you give me a guarantee that the train won't start?

Guard—Yes, I'll take one with me.

Gender is how you tell that a man is masculine, feminine or neuter.

Many a girl won't let a man kiss her good night because, by the time he leaves her, it's morning.

While waiting for her mother in the beauty salon someone handed the little girl, of all things, a True Confessions magazine to help her while away the time.

The little girl looked at the title and asked,

Littl Girl — How did you know I was Catholic?

Editor:

One of our former city commissioners tried his best both literally and figuratively to keep our city from "going to the dogs."

It is my fervent hope that the present commissioners will continue this effort, although, when in the night, the silence is broken by the barking of dogs, it gives rise to speculation as to how much was really accomplished by the last commission and how much will be accomplished by the present one.

Triple Murderer Hunted in Canal

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI) — Frogmen and sheriff's deputies pumped the waters of the Intercoastal canal Sunday night for the body of a runaway youth charged with a triple murder.

His mother broadcast an appeal to him to give himself up.

The youth, Paul Krueger, 17, of San Clemente, Calif. was still missing today—one week after he allegedly gunned down three Corpus Christi fishermen to get their boat to go to Venezuela, "where the action is."

The divers searched the canal about 14 miles from Corpus Christi for three and one-half hours without finding a trace of Krueger.

His companion, John Philip Angles, 16, in jail at Kingsville, Tex. charged with the same slayings said Krueger would not be found.

"He is a fine boy. He has a clean-mind, a clean body. He is very orderly," Krueger's mother, Mrs. Richard E. Krueger told a television audience (on KIII) by telephone. She said it was inconceivable that her son had killed three fishermen. He was an honor student at a military school in California, she said.

"We were very close, closer than most sons and mothers, he is a fine boy," Mrs. Krueger said.

Angel said he last saw Krueger at a San Antonio, Tex., motel where they spent the night after the slayings last Monday.

The divers had gone to the intercoastal canal on a tip relayed by the Harris County sheriff's office in Houston. A fisherman had telephoned news about a body—thought to be Krueger's.

The fisherman said he had discovered the body while fishing illegally with nets. He said he had called Houston rather than Corpus Christi to stay out of trouble.

The area he named "Marker Three" was carefully checked but no body was found.

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International

This is the 20th anniversary week of Franklin D. Roosevelt's death in Warm Springs, Ga., of a massive cerebral hemorrhage. He had been president of the United States 12 years, one month and eight days when he died at age 63 years.

Twenty years ago today half a million persons watched FDR's funeral procession from the Washington D.C. Union Station to the White House. His funeral took place there that afternoon. In the late evening the Roosevelt funeral train departed Washington for Hyde Park, N.Y., and the end of the trail in FDR's beloved rose garden.

Slowly the years are placing in proper perspective Roosevelt his life and times. Notably focussed now in its true dimensions in this 20th anniversary year is the fearful hullabaloo that arose around FDR in the form of complaints and anxieties that there was in the making a Roosevelt dynasty.

It is possible that FDR intended just that. His political enemies had nightmares about a Roosevelt royalty. At the very least a Roosevelt dynasty was ready to take over. There were four strapping Roosevelt sons and the daughter, Anna. What FDR's political enemies could not know then was that those four Roosevelt boys had only the good looks and magnificient physical proportions of their Pa, but not the Roosevelt ability. Neither FDR's political skill nor the political genius of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt descended to their boys.

A Roosevelt dynasty? It's amusing now. Just last week James Roosevelt, the eldest son, reached for a modestly higher rung on the political ladder. Son James contested an election for mayor of Los Angeles. He was clobbered by incumbent Sam Yorty, a maverick type Democrat. Son James is a sixth-term member of the U.S. House of Representatives but apparently is going nowhere fast.

FDR Jr. also has taken his lumps. Some years ago Frank Jr. did seize the Democratic nomination for attorney general of New York state.

New York Democrats cut him down by throwing enough of their support to the young Roosevelt's Republican opponent. FDR Jr. probably thought he had hit the comeback trail in 1960 when John F. Kennedy needed and sought Roosevelt support in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

PERSONALIZED SERVICE — at the drive-up door is found at Vogue Cleaners that you will enjoy. No need to leave your car to drop off the faimly cleaning, just drive up and give it to an attendant. Pick your cleaning up the same way. 1542 is the location of Vogue Cleaners here in Pampa, where you'll receive unexcelled cleaning service.

Personalized Service the Key To Success for Vogue Cleaners

It's storage time again. Time to think about putting up your winter clothes and getting them out of your way until next fall. This is another service of Vogue Cleaners. They'll store your winter clothes, after a thorough cleaning job of course, which includes free moth-proofing and mildew proofing, then they are stored in our vault where they are kept at the right temperature and humidity to assure you that next fall they will have no color fading or dusty shoulders as sometimes happens if they are left in the closet at home. And then too, clothes are out of your way and you have that space to hang your garments in a less congested space.

Are your garments moth and mildew proof? We do it for you Free. This is another Service of Vogue Cleaners . . . whose business was founded on service. Did you know that moths attack more than just wool? It's a fact! Moths seek only the stains, the oils, the small bits of food that become imbedded in your garment and to get that the moths eat the fabric. Other insects eat fabrics for food too, and all this is prevented with our Moth Proofing Service.

Vogue Cleaners is Pampa's only diversified cleaner which includes all these services . . . dying, reweaving, alterations of all kinds, gloves, leather and suede cleaning. We specialize in cleaning slip covers and drapes which are finished and returned with decorator fold. Rain coats, outerwear, slip covers and drapes are recommended to be waterproofed which Vogue does also.

After hours depository, where you may leave your cleaning any time of day or night. Leave your clothes with name and address on the bundle with instructions as to what you desire done. Personalized Drive Up Door Service is enjoyed by all our customers and we know you will like it too.

We strive to keep our cleaning plant as up to date as possible. When new techniques are formulated, we are one of the first to accept it as our regular process from then on, which assures you that your wardrobe will look fresh and neat at all times. You'll appreciate the 'extras' our personnel gives your clothes, all this that is termed service by us, might be thought of as extras by you, yet you get them even without asking for them.

You'll like our Cleaning Service, we'll be looking for you, Fred Malone, owner and operator of Vogue Cleaners, 1542 N. Hobart, with 34 years experience in clothes care.
