BRIDGE BUCK IS PASSED UP TO LENHAM ET AL

Moody Writes Letter To Highway Board on Red River Project

Whether or not Wichita county is going to get a free bridge over the Red river appeared just about as problematical as ever with the return of County Judge B. D. Sartin from Austin Friday night, where he spent the day in conference with the attorney general.

He got from Dan Moody a statement that the recent ruling that state funds could not be used to build interstate bridges applied only to the Hugo-Paris proposed Red river bridge and a letter from Moody addressed to Frank Lanham, chairman of the highway commission, informing that official that:

"We have not passed upon the question as to whether Wichita county has authority by reason of a special or local law enacted by the 39th legislature at its regular session to participate in the construction of an interstate bridge at Burkburnett; nor are our former rulings to be construed as ruling upon the authority of the state highway commission of this state to grant state or federal aid to Wichita county for said project, in view of such special local law."

However all, this may be, Judge Sartin is optimistic, and said upon his return to the city last night that he believed Wichita county was going to get the bridge.

From other interested parties a different light was guessed on the subject. There are those in Wichita Falls who hold that the administration cares not a rap about having a bridge built for Wichita county and point out that the highway commission became very energetic in announcing it had discontinued plans for the hearing on July 27 over the proposed Burkburnett bridge as soon as Dan Moody issued his ruling on the Hugo-Paris project.

Moody in the Clear.

They point out further that Dan Moody has now put his department entirely in the clear in the matter by writing the letter, excerpt of which is quoted above, to Lanham, although he appears very emphatic in stating that he has not yet ruled on the possibility of building the interstate bridge under the special law.

As the case now stands it appears the "buck" of building a bridge for Wichita county has been passed back to the highway commission by the attorney general's department, and the next move of the highway commission is being awaited with interest. Dan Moody's letter, bearing date of July 17, addressed to Lanham, follows in full:

Honorable Frank V. Lanham,
Chairman State Highway Commission,
Austin, Texas.
Dear Sir:

We have been informed through the press and otherwise that the communications signed by the writer of date June 30 and July 16, 1925, respectively, addressed to you, have been interpreted as holding that the state highway commission would be without lawful authority to give financial assistance either through federal or state aid in the construction of an interstate bridge at Burkburnett in Wichita county, Texas.

This is to advise that our two communications above mentioned were not intended, and are not to be construed as passing upon the authority of Wichita county to assist in construction of the interstate bridge above mentioned.

Our advice went no further than to hold that under the general laws of this state there is no authority for any county or the state highway commission to use public funds to construct bridges or parts of bridges located beyond the boundary of the state. Our funds under the general laws of this state must be confined to roads and bridges within the boundaries of the state of Texas.

We have not passed upon the question as to whether Wichita county has authority by reason of a special or local law enacted by the 39th legislature at its regular session, to participate in the construction of an interstate bridge at Burkburnett; nor are our former rulings to be constructed as ruling upon the authority of the state highway commission of this state to grant state or federal aid to Wichita county for said project, in view of such special or local law.

Since our former advice was based upon a lack of legislative authority in the highway commission or any county to go beyond the state boundary in the construction of bridges, an entirely different question is presented in reference to the Burkburnett bridge, in view of the enactment of senate bill No. 253 having for its purpose to grant certain authority to Wichita county and to the state highway commission in this connection.

Yours very truly,
L. C. SUTTON,
Assistant Attorney General.

Judge Sartin pointed out last night that probably the securing of a bridge must now be initiated directly from the county, with the commissioners' court acting as initiators. The state, he thought, would then give its aid as previously promised under plans approved by the state highway commission.

Walthall of State Board Says Younger Men Are Being Sought

DENIES IT'S POLITICS

Cannot Reach Wichitan On Acceptance of Austin Offer

While R. B. Walthall, member of the board of control was telling the Record News over the telephone yesterday morning that Dr. F. H. White, ousted head of the Wichita Falls state hospital, could have an eleven months job as head of the insane asylum at Austin if he wanted it, members of the Wichita Falls Medical association were drafting telegrams of protest over White's removal addressed to Governor Ferguson and the state board of control.

Protest Is Wired.

The protest, wired over the signatures of Mrs. M. M. Walker as president of the medical association and C. W. Stevenson, secretary, said:

The medical profession of Wichita Falls and Wichita county has learned with keen regret of the action of the state board of control in removal of Dr. F. H. White as superintendent of the Wichita Falls state hospital. The work of Dr. White in this institution in this city has endeared him to the medical profession of northwest Texas to such an extent that we feel it incumbent upon us to express our disappointment and sorrow at his removal at this time. We feel that if Dr. White is guilty of an act which would merit his removal that we are entitled to know of it and if he is not guilty of any such act, we feel that the decision of the board should be revoked.

Confirming his offer to Dr. White made to the Record News during the day, Walthall permitted himself to be quoted in an Associated Press dispatch from Austin last night to the effect that Dr. W. M. Shytles, who Thursday was appointed superintendent of the Austin annex, institution for the insane, had declined the appointment Friday and retained his place as superintendent of the state hospital for insane at Rusk, and that Dr. White was offered the position and was expected to accept.

Dr. White could not be reached last night to ascertain whether he would accept the state board's offer.

Denies It Is Politics.

Told over long distance that Wichita Falls physicians had accused "Ferguson and his bunch at Austin" of being responsible for Dr. White's removal, Walthall emphatically denied the accusation, saying "I expect Ferguson would like to see Dr. White remain.

"We must have young men in these positions," was the gist of Walthall's answer to queries on what the reason for White's ouster had been. "Dr. Castner is a much younger man. How long would you keep a man," was Walthall's final emphasis.

In Wichita Falls, however, there remains a complete misunderstanding for Dr. White's removal, all physicians expressing themselves in the matter declaring that despite the matter of age, there was not a man better qualified in Texas than Dr. White for the position he holds.

Physicians "Amazed."

"To say that we were amazed at the news Dr. White was to be removed is only putting it mildly," declared Dr. A. F. Leach, "and the physicians of Wichita Falls feel keenly the attitude which the state board of control has taken." He intimated that probably resolutions would be forwarded protesting against the removal of Dr. White and an effort made to get the board of control to reconsider its action.

"The removal of Dr. White is the worst thing that ever happened," declared Dr. M. H. Glover. "It is a downright shame to put a man out of such a position after years and years of service to the state as a reward for what he has accomplished. The whole thing is nothing but politics and Jim Ferguson and his political bunch at Austin. Dr. White is an excellent gentleman, thoroughly competent and something ought to be done about the board of control's action."

Best For the Place.

Dr. L. Mackechney: 'Every physician in Wichita Falls regrets the release of Dr. White. I have known him 30 years and I consider him the best man in Texas for the position he now occupies."

Dr. R. H. Graham: "I think Dr. White is the right man for the place and his removal doesn't look right to me. I don't think there is a man in the state of Texas better qualified for that position than Dr. White and I know there never was a man who has worked as hard as Dr. White has."

CHATTERING OF DARROW IRKS DAYTON JUDGE

Sharp Verbal Clashes Follow Exclusion of Scientific Testimony

END OF TRIAL IS SEEN

Experts' Evidence to Be Inserted in Record in Affidavit Form

DAYTON, Tenn., July 17.—(AP) The briefest session yet of the court trying the "Scopes case" today brought the stormiest hour of the trial and forecast the early end of the "evolution test." Judge John T. Raulston by excluding proposed testimony from scientists, shortened the trial by days. The court's decision aroused the ire of attorneys for the defense, sharp words being directed at the judge soon after he had read his opinion.

With their experts precluded from taking the witness stand the defense will place affidavits in the record setting forth what the zoologists, biologists, pathologists and others would have said had they been allowed to speak. To permit the preparation of these statements, adjournment of the court was ordered until Monday morning.

Arguments Tell Tuesday.

The defense was not expected to offer other witnesses and after filing of the scientific statements, arguments would be in order. Varying estimates were made of the time required for speech making, but it was considered probable that they would be concluded in two days and that the case would be given to the jurors sometime Tuesday.

Today's session was devoted to the reading of the judicial decree against

"Bryan, His Theories Exploded, Flees To Protection of Technicalities--" Darrow

DAYTON, Tenn, July 17.—Statements and counter-statements prevailed in Dayton today after court adjourned until Monday following the exclusion by Judge John T. Raulston of expert testimony along scientific and religious lines from the evidence in the Scopes evolution case.

A statement from William Jennings Bryan declaring that the Tennessee laws of evidence barred admission of such testimony and asserting that Judge Raulston the testimony of great educators could not have done otherwise brought from Clarence Darrow the charge that Mr. Bryan had fled an issue of his own creation to seek the "protection of technicalities."

The statement of Mr. Darrow in reply was:

"The attitude of Mr. Bryan and the prosecution throughout the past week has shown the country that Bryan has done everything in his power to prevent the discussion in court of the subject of evolution and the Bible.

"Bryan knows perfectly well that the court would not have ruled out the scientific testimony if Bryan had not opposed its admission.

"Bryan is willing to express his opinion in science and religion where his statements will not be questioned. But Bryan has not dared to test his views in open court under oath in contest with and scientists.

"Bryan made the issue and then when he found that no reputable scientist and no preeminent theorian could be found to support his views in a court of justice, Bryan fled from the issue and sought the protection of technicalities.

"Bryan who blew loud trumpets for a 'battle to death' has fled from the field, his forces disorganized and his pretentions exposed."

BOOTLEG RING BROKEN UP IN POLICE RAIDS

Officers Claim Ring Was Operating Throughout New York State

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—A bootleg ring operating throughout New York and the entire middlewest by shipping liquor by express in traveling trucks was broken up today, prohibition agents said, after the arrest of seven men and one woman and the seizure of books and papers containing the names and addresses of clients and showing that approximately 20,000 orders had been filled.

Observe the Search Law, Cops Are Told

DALLAS, July 17.—Texas peace officers were advised to obey the new state search and seizure warrant law pending a decision on its constitutionality by the court of criminal appeals in an address by J. D. Reeder, chief of police of El Paso, at the concluding session of the convention of chiefs of police and city marshals' association here today. Chief Reeder, newly elected president of the organization, together with other new officers, was installed today.

President Reeder's suggestion followed denunciation of the law by speakers yesterday and was in line with the official attitude in rescinding a resolution in which it had condemned the law.

It developed today that a test case had already arisen in the recent arrest of W. A. Hudler, city marshal of Eagle Lake, for violation of the act. Mr. Hudler announced his arrest as the first case of the law's violation. His case has been set for July 25 in Colorado county.

Frank A. Pim, illuminating engineer, demonstrated the provisions of the new anti-glare headlight law, which becomes effective September 17.

The next convention will be held at El Paso at a date to be fixed by the executive committee.

Charles Saville, manager of the Dallas chamber of commerce, said that the two men were not handling negotiations at the instance of that organization, but that location of the houses here was desirable.

Detroit Telegrapher Comes To Defense of The Condemned Man

DETROIT, July 17.—(AP).—The Detroit Free Press tonight says that James M. Ball, local tejegraph operator, tonight telegraphed Gov. Len Small of Illinois that he was a witness to the shooting of Joseph Maurer in a Chicago drug store a year ago and that Robert and not Russell Scott was the murderer.

Saw Picure.

Ball, an operator for the Postal Telegraph company here, said he paid no attention to Scott's trial in Chicago as he seldom had time to read the newspapers. However, he saw a picture of Russell Scott in a newspaper here yesterday and immediately identified it as the likeness of one of the men who participated in the affair in which Maurer was killed.

Ball, who is a poor man, debated some time before notifying Governor Small, realizing that it would take him from his work and that his family might suffer if he quit work to testify.

Today, however, Ball decided to telegraph Scott's father that he had importance evidence and asked Scott's father to come here. The elder Mr. Scott placed the matter in the hands of an attorney.

Willing to Appear.

This evening, receiving no word from Chicago, Ball telegraphed Governor Small that he would appear before the Illinois executive, if wanted, and will swear that Robert and not Russell is the slayer and that the shooting did not occur in a holdup as the state alleged in Russell Scott's trial but during an argument over a bill which the two brothers were trying to collect.

Ball, he said, was in the city hall drug store when the killing took place.

He said that Robert tried to collect a bill from Maurer and that a heated argument took place.

"When Russell saw a fight might come, he stepped in and told his brother the sum was too trivial to make such a fuss over and that they had better leave before some one got hurt. Robert refused, and when Maurer made a motion as if to threaten him, he bent forward and fired several shots.

"It happened so quickly I don't know exactly how many shots were fired and where Robert Scott fired from. He did it so quickly I didn't get a clear view. But anyhow Russell, the elder brother, was standing with his hands to his sides and couldn't have done it."

STATE SAYS BALL STORY A PURE FAKE.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(AP)—The story of James M. Ball, Detroit, telegraph operator, that he was present in a Chicago drug store when Joseph Maurer, drug clerk, was killed, and that Robert Scott, and not his brother Russell, fired the fatal shot, was characterized as a "pure fake" by George E. Gorman, assistant state's attorney tonight.

This fellow Ball seems to have an active imagination," Mr. Gorman who prosecuted Russell Scott, said. "Except for Robert Scott, we took into custody every one who was in the drug store when the shooting occurred. Ball was not among them. We never heard of Ball before and certainly would have, had he been present when the murder occurred."

RANCH FIRE STILL MYSTERY.

FRESNO, Calif., July 17.—Mystery still shrouds the cause of the explosion near Reedley early yesterday which shattered the ranch house of H. D. Schroeder, vineyardist, and left the bodies of Svchroeder, three daughters and son, charred beyond recognition as flames licked the remnants of the house. After a day of investigation this was the opinion expressed by Sheriff Robert Hill of Tulare county who said a theory that the internal explosion was caused by gasoline is but one of many that he is running down.

INQUIRY INTO DEATH SHIFTS BEYOND RIVER

Officials Probing Whitfield Murder go To Oklahoma

Inquiry of county and city officials into the death last Saturday night of Mrs. Bess Whitfield marked time locally Friday.

The investigation that has been under way almost constantly since the woman's body was found under a tree behind the ball park shifted from Wichita Falls to points north of the Red river where, for several years prior to coming to this city, Mrs. Whitfield and her husband, Bob, had lived. Bob Whitfield was still in custody as a suspect and in the brief period of questioning to which he was subjected yesterday stuck steadily to the story he has told from the first—that he has no idea who killed his wife.

The grand jury investigation of the case, scheduled to begin Friday morning, was delayed until July 23 when it was found not all the members of the jury were in the city. The body had been called together by Special Judge Vincent Stine of the 30th district court, acting on a request from District Attorney Ben Allred. Four members were out of town, however, and the hearing was delayed.

Sam Spence, special investigator for the district attorney, was understood to be in Ardmore, Okla., yesterday working on the case; and City Detective Jim Allen was also said to be in Oklahoma in connection with the affair.

Officials denied that any material progress had been made toward a solution of the woman's death but that they had not yet given up hope of clearing up the murder.

The case was continued for a week.

WALL STREET GETS WIND OF HUGE COMBINE

Independent And Waite Phillips Involved Also

$40,000,000 COMPANY

Eastern Financiers Expect Consummation Of Deal Soon

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—Reports were current in the financial district and among the oil trade today that an oil merger involving more than $40,000,000 and the combination of 300,000 acres of oil lands with more than 600 miles of pipe line is to be effected during the next day or two.

The companies mentioned in the reports as being about to merge are the Independent Oil and Gas company, the Waite Phillips company, the Texhoma Oil and Refining company and several smaller concerns, it was also said that W. C. Durant, a large holder of Independent Oil and Gas and George J. Whelan, tobacco magnate, are also taking part in the merger discussions. Neither Mr. Durant nor officers of any of the companies mentioned would discuss the reports.

Owns 50,000 Acres.

The Independent Oil and Gas company, organized in 1909, now owns more than 50,000 acres of oil lands in Oklahoma and other states in the Mid-Continent district. It has an authorized capital of 1,000,000 no par value shares of which 500,000 are outstanding. Independent, Waite Phillips and Marland recently purchased jointly the Rainbow Bend pool in Kansas, but bankers said today that Marland would not be in the present merger other than as a joint owner of the Rainbow pool.

Among the oil trade today it was estimated that should the merger be effected it would give the new company, which probably will continue under the name of the Independent Oil and Gas company, approximately 35,000 barrels of production daily and a refining capacity in excess of 15,000 barrels daily.

To Have Big Earnings.

It was said that the earning power of the new company should run well above $15,000,000 after all charges, such as depreciation, interest, depletion and so on. The new company will have assets in excess of 60,000,000.

Bankers have not been approached on the subject of new financing, but they expressed the belief that about $50,000,000 of new money would be involved in the merger and that there would be a sizeable block of common stock offered to the public. It is understook the merger will be effected through the exchange of common shares, but neither financial nor oil experts were willing to venture a guess on the basis for such an exchange.

N. H. Martin, vice-president of Texhoma, could not be reached last night for verification of the New York report, but on a recent occasion denied sale or merger of the Texhoma.

105 DEGREES FRIDAY.

Thermometer Goes On Climbing Ways Again.

The thermometer went on its climbing ways again Friday and, while it failed to reach the dizzy heights it attained last week, managed to compile the very respectable figure of 105 before it quit.

The day was clear with but a light breeze blowing. It was a dry heat, however, that the sun's rays developed and the 105 degree mark was not as oppressive as temperatures less severe have been in the past.

Continued fair and warm was Saturday's forecast.

Humble Company Gets 1000 Barrel Well To The North of Olney

WELL FLOWING 1,000 BARRELS DAILY--REPORT

Company Bringing in Their Number 5 Mercer, Poitevent

Flowing over 1,000 barrels per day from sand topped at 1,038 feet, drilled to 1074 feet, the Humble Oil and Refining company are completing their No. 5 Mercer, located to the east of No. 2 in the Poitevent survey, as the best well of the new Mercer pool, to the north of Olney. The same company's No. 1, located in the northwest corner of their lease, came in about a month ago, flowing over 400 barrels from sand drilled into at 1,058 feet and was offsetting Murchison and Fains' discovery well to the east which was on the beam as a 25-barreler. With Murchison and Fains' dry to the southwest, the Texas Unity's dry one to the northwest and the Humble's small well on their northeast corner and Ray's dry hole to the east of that, the pool has already defined itself in three directions. Yesterday's completion looks as if things were now to move south in which case the Humble are holding it all. However, the Texas Unity's wells to the north at completion may cast a different light on this conclusion.

Gasser at Graham May Be the Biggest

GRAHAM, July 17.—One of the biggest gassers ever found in Young county was uncovered Thursday afternoon at 715 feet by the Hubbard Drilling company on its Tom Price No. 14, 14 miles south of Graham, on Fish creek.

The gas flow measures more than 20,000,000 feet and may rank the well as the biggest shallow gasser in the country.

The well is a wildcat, three miles south of the Bashara pool and several miles east of the Ray shallow gasser in Throckmorton county, which was discovered a year and a half ago and is still producing over 5,000,000 feet of gas.

In section 36, block 2 H&TC survey, Wilbarger county, Smith and associates are setting casing on a very good looking sand drilled from 2,220-46 feet.

Underwood-Pace

Bailing dry on the sand topped at 1,781 feet on their No. 5 Pace, located in the Scott survey, abstract 255, Wichita county, Underwood and associates are drilling deeper.

Perkins-Cullem, Burnett

On the rodeo grounds to the west of Burk station in the southeast corner of the Burnett survey, abstract 426, Perkins-Cullum et al are drilling at 1,915 feet in hard lime.

Texhoma-J. & J. Waggoner

After bailing salt water on their C-1 Waggoner located in the southwest corner block 15 H. George survey, Wichita county, the Texhoma Oil and Refining company are drilling deeper. Sand in this test was drilled from 1,565-68 feet.

Gulf-Swain

South and west of the Peter Kemp pool on the Swain land the Gulf Production company are reaming down to set casing on their number three on a sand drilled into at 977 feet and showing plenty of oil.

Texhoma-Wheeler County

On their Jackson A-1 Texhoma are drilling in a sandy lime showing oil at 2,248 feet. The show which was topped at 2,241 feet looks better with depth and if a producer will mean the extension of the Shamrock pool over three miles to the east.

Gulf-Morrison

The Gulf Production company is abandoning its number 1 H. L. Morrison, located on the west line of section 2403 TE&L survey, Archer county and offsetting the Murchison & Fain-Marland core-drill test on the Echols land as a dry hole at 1,290 feet.

Freeman-Hampton Syndicated, Wilson

After bailing a good show of oil from sand topped at 1,500 feet the Freeman-Hampton Syndicate are equipping their number 1 L. F. Wilson to pump as a 1,200 foot extension to the west of the Barkley Meadows pool.

Prairie-Andrews

On the Andrews land in the west one-third of section 2437 TE&L survey, south Archer county, the Prairie Oil and Gas company are drilling at 1,735 feet. his test, a wildcat, after passing but one shallow show will continue on down below 2,000 feet purely in the interest of scientific research.

Texhoma-Morrison

Texhoma has made a location for its number two Morrison to be located 450 feet in the southeast corner of their lease in section 2403, TE&L survel, Archer county. This test which is located about half a mile to the west of the McKnight-Gwynn producer on the O'Donnel tract and to the south of the Swastika pool is of more than unusual interest surrounded as it is by a series of dry holes.

Humble-Belle Wilson

Drilling into the thousand foot sand with a large bit, on their Belle Wilson lease located in the Jose Ostane survey north of Archer City of the Humble Oil and Refining company have what appears to be a well-maker and on which they are unable to set and test. Sand after drilling was cored and showed plenty of oil. At the well yesterday it was unable to be determined just what would be done, whether an attempt would be made to swing casing from a packer and drill on through and drill a twin well.

Prairie-Sun, Kovar

Bailing 5 barrels of oil from sand drilled from 1,430 feet ot 1,437 the Prairie-Sun company test on the Kovar land will pull casing and drill deeper. This well which is located in the northeast corner of section 2438 TIE&L survey, south Archer county, has been watched with more than usual interest as its completion more or less forecast the trend of the Harmel to the south and the new Norday pool which lies about a mile due north.

Hoosier-Wilson

Hoosier and associates are rigged up and ready to spud on their number 1 Sanford Wilson located in the Scott survey, abstract 850, east of Archer City. Located an offset to the south of Dr. Wright's brine maker the well should be down and have tested the thousand foot sand which was drilled for forty odd feet by Dr. Wright but due to drilling in with a large bit was unable to be tested before the proposed twin well to the north is spudded. Based on the show of the first test and the location this well will be closely watched by the fraternity.

AUTO DEALER FOUND SLAIN; YOUTH SOUGHT

Tulia Man Found Dead By Side of Road; Shot In Head

TULIA, July 17.—Officers are searching today for a youth about 20 years old who was last seen with Fred Conner, Tulia automobile dealer, whose body was found on a highway south of here today. Conner had been shot twice. An automobile in which he had been riding was missing and two checks, one for $65 given on a Tulia bank and the other for $350 given on a Baird bank were also missing. The checks were written by a physician, to whom Conner had delivered a car.

Conner was last seen at Lubbock late yesterday at a filling station accompanied by the youth, J. F. Fry, a friend, Conner said. Fry had talked with Conner at the filling station, he said. The young man was described as having light blue eyes, light complexion and weighed about 160 pounds.

A coat belonging to Conner was found near Plainview, officers here were informed.

Girl Gives Up Stage Career to Care For Old Man; Left Riches

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP).—A girl with a golden voice who gave up an opera career for a sick old man, has been rewarded with $256,233 for her ministrations to Park Benjamin, attorney and father-in-law of Enrico Caruso.

Anna Bolchi received this amount under Benjamin's will it is shown by an accounting filed in court yesterday. Benjamin cut off his natural five children, including Dorothy Benjamin Caruso Ingram, the tenor's widow, with $1 each.

Benjamin adopted Anna Bolchi in the Pennsylvania courts. She gave up her dream of a career and postponed her marriage to Benjamin Fuller in order to be a companion to Dorothy Benjamin and to care for Mr. Benjamin.

Club Camp Closes After a Big Time

Wichita county club boys who attended the annual boys' encampment held the early part of this week at Vernon have returned to Wichita Falls, noisily enthusiastic over the success of the venture.

Guy R. Jones

The camp this year was attended by approximately 200 boys from half a dozen north Texas counties and was in charge of the directors of club work for the territory. The Wichita county contingent was under the direction of Guy R. Jones, county agricultural agent, who declared, following his return to the city, that the session just closed as one of the most interesting and instructive he had ever seen.

In addition to a constant series of athletic contests of various nature, addresses were given by experts from A. & M. college, from the Fort Worth and Denver railway, from the International Harvester company and other concerns.

It is expected that next year's camp will be even larger, both in size and accomplishment, by reason of the success attained by the one just concluded.

Australia Turns to U. S. for Financing

NEW YORK, July 17.—For the first time in its history the commonwealth of Australia has turned from London to New York for its external financing, J. P. Morgan and company announced today the purchase of a $75,000,000 Australian loan, which will be offered for public subscription next Monday. Simultaneous offerings of a 5,000,000 pound loan will be made in London.

Allotment of the major portion of the present financing to the American market resulted from Britain gold resumption policy. With the Bank of England opposed to heavy gold exports, British financial authorities said that Australian borrowing in London should be limited to 5,000,000 pounds and even this was concession to popular demands that New York should not be allowed to monopolize the business.

Atlantic Gets Promising Well

SOUTH VERNON POOL MAY BE REJUVINATED

Well May Mean That Old Sigler Pool Gets New Play

To the north of the old Sigler producers, in the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 51, block 21 H. & T. C. survey, Wilbarger county, the Atlantic Production company has what appears to be a nice producer in their No. 1 Sigler-Waggoner. Sand was topped at 2027 feet and after drilling to 2038 feet oil stood over 1200 feet in the hole. The well will be swabbed and placed on the pump. The Sigler pool, one of the oldest of the Wilbarger producers, lies to the south of the South Vernon pool. Yesterday's completion may mean the rejunevation of this South Vernon district and add another potential field to the Waggoner pastures.

"WHIPPING BOSS" ACQUITTED

CROSS CITY, Fla., July 17.—(AP)—Thomas Walter Higginbotham Dixie county lumber camp "whipping boss", today was found not guilty by a circuit court jury on a second degree murder charge in connection with the alleged slaying of Martin Tabert, North Dakota youth.

A year ago Higginbotham was found guilty as charged, but a new trial was granted by a supreme court decision.

Whip Alleged Negro Father of White Baby

DALLAS, July 17.—(AP).—Accused of being the father of a babe born by a white woman, Clarence Brown, 20, negro, was taken by six men as he left the Dallas county jail building late last night and flogged severely. He was taken from the city to a place near Wilmer, stripped, tied to a tree and beaten by several men. He said about 30 were in the crowd. All were masked.

Emergency hospital physicians said the negro's injuries were not expected to be serious. Brown said he was ordered to leave the county. At his own request he remained at the jail for safety after the beating.

Brown was in custody yesterday. The grand jury reported it did not indict him and he was ordered released last night. As the negro left the district attorney's office two men approached and told him not to worry that everything would be all right. Brown later said he was forced into an automobile with about six men near the jail building. After he was beaten all but one automobile left the scene. The men with the remaining car took him to a filling station near Dallas. The negro said threats to hang him were made.

TEXAS A BILLION DOLLAR MAUFACTURING STATE

For years Texas has been a billion dollar a year agricultural state. Now Texas is a billion dollar a year manufacturing state. Bascom N. Timmons, the Washington correspondent of this newspaper, told the interesting story in a recent issue. It is something to be known as the billion dollar agricultural state of America. It is something greater to be known as the billion dollar manufacturing state of America.

It is a long call from the cow trail to the concrete highway. It is a long call from the free ranges to packing houses. It is a long call from the cotton patch to the cotton mill, but Texas has made the journey. Early in the year of 1925 Senator Morris Shephard declared that the Texas Tech college could be made the training ground for the thousands of Texans who desire the technical education. As industrial progress is made in this state he said the greater will be the need for higher trained men along the industrial line.

And the movement for cotton goods manufactured in Texas offers a big field for students of the Texas Tech. However, the senator reminded the people that the wool gathered in the great producing section of America is sent in freight cars to the far-away industrial centers to be made into high grade clothing protection. He reminded his constituents that the manufacture of corn into sugar had apparently been given little or no thought by Texas and there is a great poential market for this product in the southwest.

Another ripe field is the manufacture of shoes, which industry is centered in New England and in one town in Missouri, and yet Texas produces more hides than any American state and these hides are shipped to tanners in New England and elsewhere. Texans appear to be coming out of their trance. Their state landed in the billion dollar a year manufacturing class in 1925. In the near future Texas should be known as a two billion dollar a year manufacturing state.

HOUSING BILL FOR MEXICO

Mexican lawmakers are on the march. Mexicans will become a race of home owners if a bill passes in the Mexican congress providing that no individual be permitted to own more than five houses. The bill provides that rent payers living three years in the same house may purchase the house by paying a ten per cent increase in rent to be applied to the purchase price. Individuals would be permitted to own five houses if they show that these were needed by their families. Yes, property owners are very much alarmed.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE
Specialists.

A friend of mine recently suffered from an ulcerated tooth.

His doctor advised him to go to a particular man to have it extracted.

"He will charge you three times as much as your regular dentist," said the doctor, "but he does nothing but pull teeth, and you may be sure that when your molar is out you will have no more trouble with it."

Today dentistry, which was once practiced by barbers and blacksmiths, has become so complicated a profession that those who follow it study its different branches and specialize in them.

A man can always learn more about a few things than he can about many.

And when he becomes know as an adept in tooth extraction, he can command a high price for his services.

Today medicine is divided into a number of specialties.

The human system is so complicated that no man can master all that is known of it.

The eye alone requires a lifetime of study. There are men who devote all their time to working on a single disease.

Naturally these men are well paid. For they are usually the best in their line, and the best always is worth the most money.

I talked the other day to a young lawyer, just graduated from college.

He was about to take up a specialty in his profession, to study the law relating to building.

He had found that many men who knew building did not know anything about law, and that many men who knew a great deal about law knew nothing about building.

So he decided to become a building law specialist.

As he lives in a great city, where there are many cases involving building law, and as he naturally is a bright youth, in time he undoubtedly will have a fine practice.

There is too much knowledge in the world to master.

The day of the jack of all trades is gone.

I know of one carpenter who does nothing but lay floors, and who gets once and a half as much pay as the other men who work on the same job with him.

To do a thing better than others is always a way to get along but to do this it is necessary to concentrate all one's efforts upon the task.

That means specialization.

Gradually we are dividing callings into smaller and smaller departments so that they can be more easily and more thoroughly acquired. And the man who has not a specialty, no matter what the business is, will be severely handicapped.

A good general mental equipment for a ground work, and intimate knowledge of one particular line of duty is the surest way there is to climb steadily toward better pay and comfort that it brings.

Barry Miller Not To Run for Governor—Ferguson First—Will Jim Run for Governor Again to Test Amnesty? — The Story of a Cop — Wheat, Canada And Happiness — Corn Is Fitzgerald King.

WORD comes to Dallas from a high political authority that Judge Barry Miller has made up his mind as to the future in the campaign to come in 1926. He will be a candidate for re-election to the office of lieutenant governor of Texas. This may not be official, but it is semi-official. Judge Miller had made up his mind to be a candidate unless Governor Ferguson offered for re-election. He said to his close friends that he would not be a candidate for governor if either of the Fergusons announced for the office.

He visited Austin last week; political rumor has it that he conferred with the Fergusons and on his return to Dallas he let his newspaper friends know of his program for next year. This is also semi-official. Now the politicians are wondering if Will C. Edwards will toss his hat into the ring for another go at Miller. Beginnings with Richard Coke no governor has been denied a renomination and re-election with the exception of James E. Ferguson who was disqualified by the lawmakers who ousted him from office.

Many of the friends of Edwards believe that he will remain out of the field in 1926 and become a candidate for governor in 1928. According to Judge Miller's friends at Dallas, Mrs. Ferguson will be a candidate for re-election and her husband will conduct her campaign as he did in 1924. It is true that the thirty-ninth legislature enacted a general amnesty bill for the benefit of the former governor. It is likewise true that the amnesty act declared that his disabilities were removed and that the decree of the ouster w set aside. There are politicians in Texas, very wise ones at that, who believe that in 1928 Ferguson will be a candidate for the United States senate. There are other wise politicians who say that the former governor and the governor will be candidates next year, that their applications will be filed with the state committee and that a test case will be made to ascertain the real value of the amnest act which was signed by Mrs. Ferguson. There is an interesting campaign coming next year. It will be interesting from every angle.

If the state committee placed the name of Ferguson on the ballot then a sure enough test case will be made and the supreme court of Texas will have the last word. But back to the milk in the cocoanut, Barry Miller will be a candidate for re-election; Mrs. Ferguson will be a candidate for re-election; Jim Ferguson may be a candidate for governor just to make a square test of the amnest act. His motto is, "The will of the people is the law of the land." Incidentally the motto to the opposition to the former governor is that the constitution of Texas is the guide of the lawmakers and the organic law of the commonwealth. There are many political tangles in Texas; there are many political problems awaiting solution; there are many factions ready to do political throat cutting; there are many economic questions to be handled and solved.

Will there be real issues in the campaign next year? Or will there be smoke screens to hide the real issues and bunk prepared by the practical politicians for the plain people who pay the taxes and are supposed to be the real masters of the commonwealth? If the people are the masters they will elect the issues on which the campaign will be pitched and fought. If they are not masters, like flocks of sheep, they will follow their leaders and jump the political fences when they are told.

WILLIAM B. NOLL is a New York police officer. He has been on the force for many years. He invested his savings in cheap lands in California. His brother moved to California and watched the lands. They struck oil. Now the police officer has wealth pouring into his lap at the rate of $400,000 a year. His brother has an income of the same size.

While serving as a policeman this lucky weight attended Columbia university. He won the B. A. degree.. Is he going to retire from the force? He is. He is only forty-two. He is a multimillionaire. He is a college graduate. He is master of oriental languages.

His father was a saloon keeper. His brother in California is a mining engineer. I truth stranger than fiction? It is. A saloon keeper's son has demonstrated that a man who thirsts for an education can win it. He has demonstrated that a wage worker who saves his earnings and then invests them can break into the society of captains of industry.

Police Officer Noll made the journey.

CANADIAN wheat growers are happy. They are promised a yield of 350 million bushels this year. Canada has a popuation of less than ten million. Home consumption calls for one million bushels. This will leave a surplus of 250 million bushels.

Texas has a population of five millions. Texans will buy their flour from other states this year and Texas mills will go elsewhere for their wheat.

There are 37 producing countries and if the American wheat exports are correct there will be no wheat to export to the breadeaters of other lands as home consumption will take the entire American crop.

* * *

CORN is the king crop of America. There is to be an enormous yield this year. All the reports from the big corn producing states are most flattering. Texas will be without corn. That is, the home supply will be very light.

It is estimated that Texans will pay a hundred million dollars for corn to the growers of other states this year unless rains in mid-summer make it possible for the farmers in the drouth districts to produce crops of feed stuffs.

Irrigation is the thing. Conserve the flood waters. Impound them, then when drouths come saturate the soil with moisture. The ancients did it. Why not the modern, the men and women who are on earth today?

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE.

Cancer.

The adverse planetary aspects that prevailed towards the close of yesterday are not dissipated until noon today, when they assume a favorable character, and continue to without abatement. In the morning, it is politic to abstain from any act that may have an important bearing on your life ro business, and hold off, until later, any drastic action that you may have had in contemplation. After midday there is no reason why you should "hold your horses." On the contrary, you will experience an irresistible urge to "go ahead," and if your efforts are persistent and sincere, there is very little doubt as to the ultimate result.

A child born today gives every promise, according to the signs, of enjoying normal physical conditions, and the minor ailments from which it will suffer need cause neither alarm nor anxiety. In disposition and temperament it will be, while kind and considerate of others, very quick tempered and liable to do things in a burst of passion that, in its cooler moments, it will sincerely regret. It will possess a very jealous nature, and this characteristic will reveal itself very early in life. It will have a decided ambition, and by inherent ability and "stick-at-it-iveness" generally gets what it desires. Its personality will be dominating, but not pugnaciously so. Tact and diplomacy, as well as opportunism, will be employed by it whenever the situation demands it.

If today is your birthday, although generally of an amiable disposition, you have too little control of your temper, and are very prone to fly off the handle over little things of no importance. This habit, which could be easily cured, makes you appear ridiculous—in your own eyes and in those of your friends. The fact that you are sorry for these ebullitions does not always take away the sting of unkind things you have said, or the remembrance of unworthy acts that you have committed.

You are ingenious, and, more or less, something of a student, although you rarely pursue any subject patiently or long enough to become a master. Your tastes, although fastidious, are not of a permanent or an enduring character, and, in both friendship and love, you are rather of the butterfly type, and do not possess that degree of constancy which is the chief essential of lasting friendship and true love. Your abilities and gifts are varied, but are not employed to the best advantage, owing to a lack of continuity of purpose and concentration of effort.

HOW IT STARTED

Did He Sit at Your Feet?

Why is it that, according to the common romantic conception, a proposal is incomplete without a man on his knees or at one's feet? It is certainly a fact that in all the Romeo and Juliet dreams odolescent youth the suitor plays a kneeling part; and in their heart of hearts most wives at some time admitted disappointment at a proposal that lacked the floor stunt.

It is, of course, by our romantic literature that these ideas are inculcated in the fertile youthful mind. But for a sentiment through ages so prevalent there must be some foundation. And there is.

Among the ancients it was the custom for people to sit at the feet of the great—of both sexes. With the decline of ancient austerity this homage was transferred to beauty.

With French influences rapidly spreading over Europe it can be readily understood that ideals of beauty soon came to be centered in feminine loveliness—at whose feet idolators worshiped! In Elizabeth's time ladies who were being wooed used to keep the suitors at their feet busily engaged by giving them wool to wind.

POISONED GIRL IS CRITICAL

Fort Worth Girl Taken From Train At Muskogee.

FORT WORTH, July 17.—Condition of Miss Louise Foston, 20 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Poston, 2211 Washington avenue, who was taken from a train at Muskogee, Okla., suffering from the effects of poison Thursday night, remains critical, according to advices from Muskogee.

The attending physician declared that the outcome of Miss Poston's condition cannot be determined for several days.

IRRIGATION

Pleasure Resort Rights to Lake Kemp Not Purchased.

In considering the purchase of the lands flooded by Lake Kemp from Mr. Waggoner by the irrigation district board, let us suppose that the board had said to Mr. Waggoner.

"We want to build a dam to form a lake. The lake is to be used to impound water for irrigation and also to hold water to be used for domestic purposes in the city of Wichita Falls.

"In addition to this we want the use of your pasture around the lake for camping parties which we expect will come from all over North Texas to fish, boat and swim.

"We want to buy from you, not only the right to impound water but we also want all the rights that should go with a lake that will be used by all of North Texas as a pleasure resort."

Now suppose that Mr. Waggoner had said, "I will sell you the land you want to use for impounding water for your irrigation project and your city for $300,000, but if you want the use of a considerable portion of my ranch for the public as a playground, I will have to charge you double that amount, or $600,000."

We can hardly imagine a citizen of Wichita Falls approving the expenditure of a large sum of the people's money to create a play ground fifty miles away which would be used by the citizens of other cities and other counties as much or more than by the people of this city.

The board did not buy the pleasure resort rights to Lake Kemp, they bought the impounding rights.

In signing the decree, a palace announcement said the president was adhering to his policy of being guided by recommendations of the courts.

ANOTHER DUEL IN ROME

Minor Face Wounds Result of Honor Combat.

ROME, July 17.—(AP)—Deputy Giovanni Conti of Rome and Cursesio Suckert, a journalis, fought a duel yesterday in which each received several minor face wounds. Conti challenged Suckert because he took affense at a newspaper article by the latter. Physicians stopped the combat after Conti had received a particularly bad cut near the eye.

THE STORY SO FAR—

There was something strange about Enid Austin. She had a mysterious air that at the age of 23 had attracted Ronald Corley. They had become engaged and two days before their marriage Ronald and Coralie Brainerd, Enid's friend, eloped. Enid is left to bear out her humiliation and makes a resolve that never again will she trust a man.

The Corleys return to town where they take up their home. Ronald loves his wife but still watches for Enid. At the age of 26 Enid meets Lucien Grant. After a headlong romance on Grant's part they are married, Grant for love and Enid because she wants a home of her own. She makes up her mind not to love Lucien but has little trouble deceiving him until on his honeymoon he asks her the point blank question, "Do you love me?" For the time being she evaded his question, but later after a heated conversation with him in their honeymoon rooms she declares she does not love him.

Now to go on with the story.

As a matter of fact she was quite pleased with herself. She felt that Lucien must have noticed what a talented hostess she was, and how smoothly everything had gone. Of course, she had not cooked and served the dinner, but she had chosen it, and had trained Norah to serve it. Besides she had the faculty of bringing the right people together; she was a born hostess. Lucien ought to be glad to have her in his life.

Lucien took down the bridge tables and put them away. When he returned to the living room, Enid was busy rearranging flowers. She did not turn until he spoke to her.

"Enid, Coralie tells me that you and Ronald Corley were once engaged."

"Yes." The one word might have been a question or a polite assent.

"Why didn't you tell me?"

"Why should I? You don't consider it a blot on my character because I was once engaged to another man, do you?"

How maddeningly evasive she could be, thought Lucien, and how determined she was to keep him out of her life. And yet when he had wanted to leave her she had asked him to stay. Was it only selfishness that had prompted her to do that?

"You told me once that in the past you had loved another man. Was it Ronald?"

"Yes, it was Ronald."

For a moment there was silence between them, then Lucien pressed on.

"Enid, I can't force you to love me, but I do ask you to be fair to me. I want you to tell me the truth. I think you owe me that much. Do you still care for Ronald Corley? Did you marry me because you loved him and knew that he was married to another woman?"

She smiled strangely.

"I suppose you're right, Lucien, I do owe you an explanation of sorts. You see, Ronald Corley jilted me two days before our marriage. Coralie had something to give him that I evidently lacked. Now you know the truth. As for loving him still, of course I don't love him. I'm through with all that. I was a girl when I was engaged to Ronald, a sentimental, romantic child. I gave him everything I had to give, and when he failed me, I learned something that I shall never forget. I realized then that men take what they want and do what they want with their lives. I swore never to trust any man again. As for love, one must be blind to feel emotion. I am not blind, and I am no longer a child. I am a woman and I am doing what I want with my life. It may sound selfish, but after all, why shouldn't I be selfish? You were selfish when you wanted to marry me. You didn't think much beyond the fact that you wanted me."

Lucien stared at her somberly, his face very grave. It was true, Enid was no longer a girl, but a proud and embittered woman. And yet the very fact that she was a woman meant that she had a woman's capacity for emotion buried somewhere in her. Some day she would love again, he was sure of it. And when she loved it would not be a girl's first shy passion, it would not be a thing of romance and poetry, it would be a deeper thing, a more mature emotion. Suppose Ronald Corley aroused this deeper feeling in her, suppose she still cared for him, even though she herself was unaware of it.

CHAPTER XVI.
Ronald and Coralie.

Going home on the train that night Ronald was very silent, while Coralie was musually loquacious. Above the fur collar of her evening wrap, her golden hair was rumpled. Curly strands hung down framing her face picturesquely, but giving her an untidy look. Ronald had noticed it when he had helped her out of the taxi at the station and he had wondered why Coralie never looked perfectly groomed.

The train rumbled along, and Ronald stared moodily out of the window. It was a nuisance taking a late train home. They might have stayed at a hotel if he had thought of it. And yet he refleced Coralie would have objected to that on the grounds of the children. Everything was for the children, she thought of nothing else. Sometimes he felt that she carried it too far.

He was conscious of her remarks tumbling out one after another.

"Darling, didn't we have a good time? Wasn't it a nice party? Enid is such a perfect hostess, and the dinner was too lovely. I like Lucien, don't you? He's like an Ethel Dell hero, when I talk to him, I get the feeling that he's burning up inside. He's wild about Enid, don't you think so? I told him tonight that you and Enid had been engaged at one time."

Ronald turned his head quickly.

"You what?"

Coralie's eyes were wide and blue and slightly startled.

"Why, yes, I told him that you had been engaged. Was that wrong, shouldn't I have mentioned it?"

"It wasn't exactly taetful. Did you tell him anything besides that?"

"No, I had enough sense to stop. But I think he was dying to have me say more. I wish my tongue didn't run away with me, Ron. But I didn't do it with any malicious intent, really I didn't."

Ronald's face broke into a smile. The thought of Coralie being malicious was amusing.

"Of course you didn't, darling, it was quite a natural thing to say."

Coralie's anxious look relaxed into a smile. "That's what I thought. And you do love me, Ron, even if I'm not as perfect as Enid. I wish I were as perfect as she is, but somehow, I can't manage it. If I remember to have my hair waved and my nails done, I'm sure to pick out a pair of stockings with a hole in the heel. I guess I'm made that way."

The car was virtually deserted, and with a loving look Coralie snuggled her golden head against Ronald's shoulder. A wave of feeling swept over him, a passionate tenderness and response to her love for him that for the time being made him forget Enid.

This was the Coralie that three years before had swept him off his feet. This was the woman whose lightest touch was fire, who loved him with all her heart.

She had closed her eyes and her golden lashes lay against her flushed cheeks. She was breathing softly between slightly parted lips, the sweet regular breathing of a child.

When they reached their station, he roused her gently, smiling down into her face. In the darkness of the taxi he took her in his arms, and she nestled against him sleepily.

But later when he snapped the lights on in her bedroom, resentment returned to him. The room looked as if a cyclone had struck it. A sewing basket had been overturned on the bed and the contents scattered in all directions. Coralie's negligee lay in a crumpled heap on the floor, together with two pairs of slippers. One of the chairs was heaped on the floor, together with two pairs of slippers. One of the chairs was heaped with laundry that had not been put away, and in another were two large hat boxes.

Before he could speak, Coralie was rushing around trying to bring order out of chaos, but for Ronald the perfect accord that had existed between them so short a time ago, was broken. He could not see why Coralie was so terribly untidy, not only with herself, but with the house. It was like living in a pig-pen.

CHAPTER XVII.
A Startling Discovery.

Before the Grants could make their promised visit to the Corleys, Enid discovered that she was to become a mother.

The knowledge filled her with an exaltation that she had never before experienced. She felt transported with happiness and immeasurably softened; and, strangely enough, she remembered poignantly the long-ago incident on the train. She saw again that tottering little figure coming toward her; she saw the look of laughing trust in a pair of wide blue eyes. And then she had stooped and was lifting the baby in her arms. She felt the light weight of the soft little body against her breast, the touch of baby lips against her throat.

"A child of my own," she said to herself over and over again. "Something that belongs only to me." The thought was wonderful, a secret too precious to be confided to any one.

For a time Enid was content with the knowledge that the coming event was a certainty. She spent hours downtown, looking over baby things, buying embroideries, soft flannels, enchanting caps. But this feeling of contentment did not last. She began to resent the idea of telling Lucien; she hated the thought of sharing her secret with him. It would have been different if she had cared for him; but of late she had grown to resent him more and more. He had changed from the charming, brilliant man she had known before marriage into a stranger so repressed that he was almost always silent. She had made herself believe that, once things were adjusted, he would accept the inevitable; but he seemed locked within himself; he was no longer a pleasant companion; he added nothing to her life, and whenever she entertained or they were entertained by any of their friends, he rarely took the trouble to make himself agreeable.

She grew to dread being alone with him. She found it more and more difficult to make conversation, and, when she buried herself in a book, it annoyed her to look up suddenly and find his dark eyes bent upon her. That Lucien suffered, that she was being unfair to him, did not trouble her at all; and with the knowledge that she was to have a child, it bothered her less and less.

Lucien left town on a short business trip, and Enid reveled in her freedom. It was during this time that she realized how little he actually counted in her life.

She invited people to dinner, and discovered that everything went better than if he had been present. She discovered, too, that men were eager to be attentive to her, and the thought occurred to her that she had been wrong not to accept Lucien's suggestion that they separate. She was turning this thought over and over in her mind during his absence, and coupled with it was the knowledge that she did not want to share her secret with him.

WICHITANS AND MOODY CONFER ON STATE SPAN

Attorney-General Has Special Law Under Consideration

AUSTIN, July 17.—County Judge B. D. Sartin of Wichita county and Bert King of Wichita Falls conferred with Attorney General Dan Moody today on the proposed construction of a free bridge across Red River near Burkburnett into Oklahoma, as authorized by a special act of the 39th legislature.

This conference followed the recent opinion of the attorney general to Attorney General Short of Oklahoma in which he said that Texas could not use state or federal funds in construction of a free bridge further than the border between Hugo, Okla., and Paris, Texas.

General Moody explained the opinion of the Oklahoma attorney general was based on the "general law" but that authority for construction of the Wichita county bridge was granted through a special act of the 39th legislature. The question as to whether the Wichita bridge may be constructed and state funds used under the special law, is being considered by Mr. Moody.

SCOPES

occupancy of the witness stand by scientists. There was sharp language by attorneys.

The first flare-up from the defense table came immediately after the opinion was read, when Arthur G. Hays asked that an exception be noted, adding: "It is contrary to every element of Anglo-Saxon procedure and jurisprudence to refuse to permit evidence as to what evolution is and what it means and what the Bible is and what it means."

Attorney General Stewart gained the floor as soon as Mr. Hays had stated his exception to say that in the name of the state he objected to the manner in which the defense exception was stated, declaring that he considered it a reflection on the court.

"Well, it doesn't hurt this court," replied the attorney general.

Verbal Clashes Frequent.

"There is no danger of it hurting us," was Mr. Darrow's contribution.

"No, you are already hurt as much as you can be hurt," from Mr. Stewart.

"Don't worry about us," replied Darrow. "The state of Tennessee doesn't rule the world yet. With the hope of enlightening the court as a whole, I want to say that the scientists probably will not correct the words 'descent of man' and I want to explain that descent man as starting with a low form of life and finally reaching man."

"We all have dictionaries," said Stewart.

"I don't think the court has one," rejoined Darrow.

Judge Raulston in his opinion ruling the experts out had said:

"I desire to suggest that I believe evolutionists should at least show man the consideration to substitute the word 'ascend' for 'descend.'"

This suggestion was made in connection with a review of the act of the legislature under which the indictment against Scopes was brought, by which it was made unlawful "to teach any theory that denies the story of divine creation as taught in the Bible and to teach instead that man has descended from a lower order of animals."

Bryan Asks Question.

The exchange between Darrow and Stewart continued for a few moments with the judge taking no part.

Eventually it shifted to a discussion of the proper method of getting the testimony of the scientists into the record of the case. Defense counsel submitted that witnesses should be heard in the presence of the court and absence of the jury.

The attorney general submitted that sufficient testimony should be permitted in the records to enable the supreme court to pass on the question, but argued that no long drawn out examination could be had.

Mr. Hays said that the defense should have the right to argue before the court that the law is unreasonable.

The attorney general suggested that the excluded evidence be submitted in substance, Darrow replying that he was willing to do that.

William Jennings Bryan entered the discussion with a question to the court that if the witnesses were permitted to testify as experts for the information of the court, would they be subject to cross examination.

Judge Raulston replied that the state would be given the opportunity to cross examine the witnesses went on the stand.

This drew a statement from Darrow that the state had no such right. Finally the court ruled that the defense might put its testimony in in the form of affidavits, but if witnesses were used they would be cross examined.

Judge Versus Darrow.

"Then we will make statements of what we expect to prove," said Darrow. "Can we have the rest of the day to draft them?"

As Judge Raulston seemed to demur, Mr. Darrow continued:

"If your honor takes half a day to write an opinion—," the judge interrupted but the defense counsel spoke up again:

"We want to make statements here of what we expect to prove. I do not understand why every request of the prosecution should meet with endless time and a bare suggestion of anything that is perfectly competent on our part should be immediately overruled."

"I hope you do not mean to reflect upon the court," said the judge.

"Well, your honor has the right to hope," said Darrow.

"I have a right to do something else, perhaps," suggested the judge.

Mr. Darrow's reply to this was "all right, all right."

The discussion of how long would be required for the preparation of the scientific statements continued and when it was finally decided that adjournment to Monday morning would be necessary, another debate developed. The second issue was whether the statement would be placed in the record or whether the defense would be permitted to state their proof. Attorneys for the state insisted that the statements alone could be placed in the record. No decision was made on this point, Judge Raulston announcing that he would rule Monday morning.

The jury was expected to return to the courtroom sometime Monday. Provided with the most comfortable chairs in the courtroom, the jurymen have been given the opportunity to occupy them less than three hours in the six court days of the trial.

SMITH REMOVAL DRAWS FIRE OF WOMENS' CLUBS

Board of Control to Be Asked Why She's Released

DALLAS, July 17.—Reasons for removal of Dr. Carrie Weaver Smith as superintendent of the state girls training school at Gainesville will probably be demanded of the state board of control, it was indicated today by Mrs. W. P. Zumwalt, chairman of the legislative council representing about a dozen local womens' organizations. Scoring bitterly action of the board, Mrs. Zumwalt declared that "among other things a public statement of the policy of the board of control intends to pursue will be demanded at once.

DR. SMITH FAILS TO GET ONE VOTE.

AUSTIN, July 17.—(AP)—Dr Carrie Weaver Smith, who was replaced by Mrs. Agnes Stephens as superintendent of the Girls' Training school at Gainesville, did not get a vote at the meeting of the board of control late Thursday, it was learned today.

Dr. Smith's office will expire September 1.

Expenses Increased.

During 1924, it was learned at the board of control's office, it cost an average of more than $100 a month to support each girl at the Girls' Training school, and during the past ten months it cost an average of $7.85, records show. Only 78 girls were inmates during June, records show.

R. B. Walthal, member of the board, said that the board members hope to increase the number of girls at the school, which, it was learned, Dr. Smith opposed. The board members believe that the expense per capita can be greatly decreased, as the Gainesville institution's expenses have been far in excess of the other 17 eleemosynary institutions.

Successor a Widow.

Mrs. Stephens, Dr. Smith's successor, is a widow and has several grown children. She taught for a number of years in the Boys' State Juvenile school at Gatesville.

Selection of a superintendent for the institution at Rusk is expected today.

Soviet Industries In Need of More Money

MOSCOW, July 17.—(AP)—Problems of internal trade are now engaging the closest attention of the soviet government. The recent conference of the communist party and the federal congress to facilitate private trade and to attract private capital to general trade and industry. The government has found after many years of war upon private trade that private capital in Russia does not exceed 5,000,000 rubles. The trade turnover hardly reaches 2,000,000,000 rubles a year.

Moscow, which is considered the biggest trade center in the soviet federation, made a trade turnover last year of 1,723,000,000 rubles. The bulk of this sum falls upon state and cooperative trade. Ninety-three per cent of the Moscow industries are in the hands of the state and only seven per cent is in the hands of co-operative and private concerns. Private manufacturers in Moscow employ only about 10,000 workmen, which is only 1.3 per cent of the total number of workers engaged in Moscow industry.

Millions Die Of Indigestion

Most Common, Yet Insidious of Fatal Diseases Strikes Like Lightning and When Least Expected.

Protect yourself by strengthening your digestive organs with Ferraline—then eat what you please without fear of trouble.

Nature, with Her infinite wisdom, has provided in Ferraline a quick and sure relief for the millions who are living in constant fear of that dreaded disease—Indigestion. Ferraline is not a concoction made by man but is a strictly natural product, and contains the essential elements which Nature has provided to strengthen and tone up the weakened organs of digestion.

Indigestion and weak blood march hand-in-hand. No dyspeptic can have pure rich blood until his digestion is made perfect again. Stomach disorders always weaken the blood and weak blood causes anaemia, weakness, and nervousness.

If you have had warnings of Indigestion, do not delay another day to accept the positive guarantee that your money will be promptly and cheerfully refunded if the very first bottle of Ferraline does not give you relief. Don't be misled into believing that heart-burn, gas, bloating, constipation, biliousness, sick-stomach, heart and kidney pains will gradually go away. There are danger signals warning you that the dread disease, Indigestion, is gradually sapping your very life. Regenerate your digestive organs at once with Ferraline, then you can eat three good meals every day without discomfort. A ten-days treatment of Ferraline will cost you only One Dollar at your druggists. The Ferraline Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

SUB ROSA BY MIMI

By MIMI.

Which Shall I Marry?

"Dear Mimi," writes Cora M. "I am in something of a quandary, and I do wish you would take up my problem in your column, because probably a great many other girls have had to make the difficult choice I'm now making, and maybe your articles would help them. Here are the facts: I have been going with two young men for about three years. One of them, Roy, is the son of the town's leading merchant. He is good looking, well dressed and very good company. He has always had a great many girls from whom to choose, and I am flattered at his attentions. On the other hand, when he asked me to marry him I had a few doubts about accepting him because he has many faults, such as conceit, selfishness and obstinacy. Then the other boy, Phil, is quite a different type. He has to support his mother, is not very wealthy and not nearly so good looking as Roy. But he is much kinder to me, and shows more regard for my welfare than does Roy. He is very quiet and not very good company. He does not like dances or parties quite as much as the other man. till I am very fond of him too. Which shall I marry? Mimi."

Of course the only sensible answer to your question, Cora, is not to marry either of them, for you don't sound a bit in love with either of the candidates.

On the contrary, you sound more as if you were choosing a partner for the next dance than as if you were considering a mate for life.

You see, you can't talk about things like this from such a business-like point of view.

You can't say to yourself: Now this boy is thus and so, and the other one is not—therefore I shall marry this one.

You've got to have a definite inner conviction that one of those men is the man you love more than anybody else—and once you have that conviction it won't matter very much whether he's a good dancer or not—whether he's wealthy or not—whether he's the beau ideal you have dreamed of since childhood, or just the boy next door who never stirred your romantic thoughts at all.

Perhaps I'm misjudging you, and you've simply neglected to tell me in your letter that your heart goes to one of these men, especially.

If so, and there is one of them whom you feel you truly love, then I should advise you to place your bets on him.

It's better to take a risk based on love than to venture on nothing better than wealth and good looks.

From a superficial point of view, I should say that Phil sounds like a more endurable life companion than Roy.

Kindness will mean a lot more to you ten years from now than good looks and nice clothes and the state of being the wife of the richest merchant in town.

But I don't think that you really want to marry either of them.

Better wait a while. You've plenty of time.

STATE LIBRARIAN PRAISED

Miss Elizabeth H. West Resigns To Become Chairman of New Tech.

AUSTIN, July 17.—Resolutions praising the work of Miss Elizabeth H. West, state librarian, who resigned to become librarian of the Texas Technological college library at Lubbock, have been adopted by the Texas Library and Historical commission. Miss West's resignation becomes effective August 31. She will go to Lubbock to prepare the new library there for the opening of the institution in the early fall.

The resolutions are quite lengthy. They praise Miss West's work as state librarian, and declare one of her greatest accomplishments was her leadership in the organization of the Southwestern Library association. "Her 'Texas Library Manual' filled a distinct want in this state," the resolutions read.

Arabian Sheik Comes To America to Visit Friend; Held at Ellis

NEW YORK, July 17.—Sheik Tolba Kattaab Fadallah, a slim bronzed young Arab who has voyaged to New York with the avowed intention of visiting Mrs. Anita Baldwin of Los Angeles, daughter of the late E. E. "Lucky" Baldwin, was at Ellis Island today.

The sheik is 24 years old. When he came on the President Hays yesterday observers noticed a gray fedora, a little black mustache and white spats. He wanted to land at once in order to go to Los Angeles to stay several months, but immigration inspectors thought he ought to be put through the regular examination.

Last winter when Mrs. Baldwin was touring Egypt he made her acquaintance, the sheik said. They became fast friends and she invited him to Los Angeles for a visit, he stated. He speaks English with an accent, having studied at an American mission school near Cairo.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—Stock prices continued their movement to higher ground today despite an unusually heavy volume of week-end profit-taking. New leaders were brought forward, particularly in the mail order and motor groups, in an apparent effort to stimulate public interest, which commission house report has been increasing steadily in the few days.

Chief financial interest centered in the announcement that a $75,000,000 Austrian government five per cent loan would be floated next week at a price slightly below par.

In the stock market, standard industrials against displayed a strong undertone. U. S. Steel common continued to discount the continued improvement in the steel industry this fall by crossing 119 to the highest price since last spring. American Can was pushed above 204 o he highest price in its history. Baldwin fell back ⅝ to 114⅝ after having sold as high as 116⅝.

Rails also presented several points of outstanding strength. Southern railway was bid up to a new record price at 101⅛ and then slipped back to 100¼, where it was practically unchanged on the day. Frisco common, which has been under accumulation on speculative expectation of an increased dividend before the end of the year, touching a new top at 15⅝ but failed to maintain all its gain.

Oils changed hands in large blocks at fractionally higher prices in the early trading, but the buying movement soon gave out and several of the popular issues actually closed lower on the day.

In all, about two dozen issues smashed their previous 1925 higher records. Mail order issues bounded upward in reflection of unusually heavy earnings. Sears Roebuck closed four points higher at 177 and Montgomery Ward showing a net gain of 3¼ to 61⅝, both new maximum quotations.

Sugars were heavy Punta Algere, and Cuban Dominican preferred sinking to new low levels for the year.

Call money held steady to 3½ per cent all day, despite a rather heavy withdrawal of currency from the federal reserve bank for week-end purposes. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Heavy buying of Danish kroner in apparent anticipation of the early flotation of a large Danish loan in this market, sent the demand rate up about 30 points around 21.10 cents, the highest since June. Demand sterling held firm around $4.88⅜. French and Belgian francs were slightly easier around 4.70 and 3.70 cents, respectively.

WOOL.

BOSTON, July 17.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"The wool market has made haste slowly this week. London has been somewhat irregular and Australia resumed on a relatively low basis, as compared with London, giving the trade pause for analysis of the situation, the net result of which is the market values are about where they were, locally although the tendency has been, if anything, slightly against the buyer.

"The best feature of the foreign primary markets has been the good clearances and the evident healthy state of affairs which caused these good sales. Melbourne resumed on Monday about five per cent above the May suspension level.

"The goods markets here is without material changes but seems to be in fairly healthy condition."

Maybe You're Losing Money and Don't Know It!

CONSIDER the man who invested only about $1000.00 in Southwestern Power & Light Co. stock when it was first sold to the public over twelve years ago.

PLAINS NEEDS ROADS, CLAIMS C. OF C. HEAD

Dallas Man Gives Reasons Why C.-C. Is Backing Denver Project

DALLAS, July 17.—Railway needs of West Texas are such that there is room for the expansion of all systems serving that territory, T. M. Cullum, president of the Dallas chamber of commerce said today in explanation of the organization's support of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad's proposed construction program in that section.

"We have always felt that the development of West Texas was retarded by lack of railway facilities," he said. "In supporting the Denver we do not feel we are opposing the T. P. & G. in their efforts to build a line."

Mr. Cullum declared he believed the Denver, owned by the Burlington system, was financially able to immediately begin construction and that it was felt that the interests of Texas would be neglected if the every effort was not made to influence the Burlington road to come here.

"We propose to show the interstate commerce commission at the Plainview hearing that here is need for additional transportation facilities in West Texas. We do not see that this in any way conflicts with the plans of any other railroad."

University 4 In Special Program At Church Here

A unusual treat for Wichita Falls was given Friday by the University Quartet on the lawn of the First Presbyterian church. In white flannels with maroon ties and sashes and white shirts, they carried out the maroon and white of their alma mater. These boys of the university, Fred Myers, first tenor; Russell Grant, second tenor; Charles Dickey, baritone, and James Herring, bass, are traveling through Texas in a "23 Henry," giving concerts at the larger town and cities to pay their way through school.

Their appearance here marked the end of four weeks of the tour which will continue until the end of August.

The four, after being introduced by Alva Willgus, choir leader of the church, began an interesting and varied program. The first number, "Sunset," showed wonderful harmony in humming as well as singing. After a good start, "Rose, Wonderful Rose," with solo parts by Myers, and "Lucky Jim" were sung by the quartet.

"A Dream," solo by Myers, accompanied by Grant, was highly appreciated by the audience.

"Don't Bring Lulu" was admonished by the quartet with the retort that they would bring her themselves. As a solution for all husband and wife problems, they sang "Noah's Wife." It proved that if you wanted to really keep a husband or a wife get a boat and anchor at mid-ocean because the only possessor of blond hair was a goat, and the only chicken was in a coop, in the days of Noah.

Although not true, for the originality and humor of the program had aroused everyone and long-asleep smiles into constant usage and loud laughs, the next number a group of ditties contained one, "There Is a Lady Over There, She Hasn't Cracked a Smile, I Think We'd Better Stop This Stuff and Let Her Rest Awhile."

Lemonade was served by the ladies of the church to approximately 300 people who all enjoyed a get-to-gether meeting after the program to make the boys feel at home and show their appreciation of the excellent program rendered.

To Begin Rio Grande Flood Control Work

AUSTIN, July 17.—(AP)—Construction on the Rio Grande valley flood control project is expected to start early in September, said B. F. Williams, state reclamation engineer, under whose direction the topographic survey for the project has just been completed. The reclamation engineer said the Rio Grande undertaking would be the most extensive work of the sort ever attempted in Texas. It is proposed to build an earthen embankment, ranging in height from 10 to 25 feet, and extending for 150 miles along the Texas side of the Rio Grande river. The levee will start at Mission in Hidalgo county and run to the Gulf of Mexico in Cameron and Willacy counties. Estimated cost will be $5,000,000.

Cost of the project will be borne by Hidalgo and Cameron counties. Mr. Williams said. These counties have voted $3,000,000 in bonds. The 38th legislature remitted state taxes in Hidalgo county for a period of 25 years, while the 39th legislature passed a like measure for Cameron county.

Burkburnett Editor Speaks in Behalf Of Greater Safety

J. W. PYLAND, JR.

BURKBURNETT, July 17.—An organization of Boy Scouts has been perfected by the business men of this city and much enthusiasm is being manifested by both men and boys in the plans of organization. At an open meeting held last night at the First Baptist church a large number of men and boys were present and the future plans were discussed.

The main feature of the evening was an address by J. W. Pyland Jr., editor of the Star, on the subject of "Artificial Respiration." In the course of his speech, Mr. Pyland stated that there was no cause for anyone to die of drowning or electrocution if the patient was recovered within five 10 or 20 minutes. He gave a practical demonstration of the two methods used, one for drowning and one for electrocution, and one point in particular he stressed was not to give up too soon, but to work constantly for at least two hours, and cited cases where the patient did not begin to revive until after an hour or more had elapsed. His talk was very interesting an dtimely, due to the fact that this is the time of the year that so many lives are lost from drowning.

Police Officials Look Over Rogues' Gallery

Mayor R. E. Shepherd, Police Commissioner Frank Queisser and Chief of Police George H. Hodgins returned Friday afternoon from Dallas, where they attended the annual state convention of police and marshals of the state. They have been gone since Wednesday.

Hodgins.

The three officials reported an instructive and and worth while meeting, and in addition a royal entertainment at the hands of the Dallas police department and the city generally. Plenty of diversions were provided for the visitors who flocked in from all parts of Texas.

On the program were a number of the most prominent law enforcement executives in the south who discussed various branches of work the police department is called upon to perform.

The Wichita Falls men made a special study of the bureau of identification maintained by the Dallas department; inspected the finger printing system, the rogue's gallery and Bertillion measurement methods. They also went through the Dallas city and county jail and saw the big Dallas department in active operation.

TAKE TO BASEBALL.

MANILA.—That baseball is the most popular sport in the Philippine islands was indicated when the total receipts at the Far Eastern Olympic games became known recently. The receipts at the six baseball games played among the Philippines, Japan and China amounted to $9,960, while football drew the next largest attendance, the total receipts for that sport being $3,961. The total receipts for all the events amounted to $26,180.

TWO BRITISH RUM VESSELS BACK ON ROW

Navy Dry Fleet Will Again Take up The Blockade

BOSTON, July 17.—The reappearance of three rum ships on New England's rum row was announced here today at the coast guard headquarters. The vessels, said to be British schooners, Grace and Ruby, Montclair, and James W. Parker, were driven out of New England two weeks ago by the "dry navy" blockade.

The Grace and Ruby and Montclair, government officials said, have been sighted about twenty miles off shore for several days. The James W. Parker, it was said, was prepared to do business with shore boats near Fippennie Ledge, about sixty miles east of Cape Anu.

Four destroyers and two cutters still are on patrol in these waters and supplemented by a large fleet of smaller craft, will resume the rum ship blockade.

More Truth Than Poetry

SPOTTY

If I get the good old driver really working,
And can swat the little pellet hard and clean,
So a second shot will roll it where an easy putt will hole it—
I get nervous when I walk up to the green.
With unsteady eyes I scan the slopes and valleys,
And the conturs of the greenclad little mounds—
And I'm all in such a flutter when I try to ply the putter,
That I'm certain to propel it out of bounds.

When I'm putting with unusal precision,
And I'm sure that if the ball is well rolled up
An unerring touch will land it just exactly as I planned it,
And it presently will tinkle in the cup;
Every try I try to get away a screamer
With a resonant and stimulating crack—
In the rough its bound to filter, and my nerves get out of kilter
For it takes me seven strokes to get it back.

When I get the niblick operating nicely,
And a bunker holds no dread for me at all—
When a single stroke will free it, and as my opponents see it
They're constrained to cry admiringly: "Nice ball,"
Just as soon as I lay hand upon a mashie
And endeavor this achievement to repeat,
I will simply roll it over once or twice amid the clover—
Maybe half a dozen inches from my feet.

I can always play some shots the way I want to,
And for me the game would be one grand sweet song,
If on mornings when my driving unaccountably is thriving—
All the other strokes I make did not go wrong.
I'm convinced that I would be a corking golfer,
Thougt at present I am rated as a mutt—
Could I make my drives on Sunday, and go out perhaps on Monday
To approach and make my niblick shots and putt!

ONCE UPON A TIME — THE THREE LITTLE PIGS. VI — by W. J. ENRIGHT.

Spudders, Behind Rip, Rear Back At Buffs For 8-1 Win

TOP O' MORN STUFF

By BLONDY CROSS.

NOW THAT THE SPUDDER MACHINE IS GEARED IN HIGH AGAIN, AND PREPARED TO SQUELCH ANY OF THE TOUGH BOYS OF THE LOOP, WHO BUT THE WEAK SISTER OF THE LEAGUE COMES TRIPPING INTO THE OLD BAILIWICK.

* * *

WHY?

Beaumont's Exporters, a delightfully pleasant group of young men socially speaking, but horribly off form at the national pastime, the means by which they obtain, not necessarily earn, their livelihood, have come to play with our, at times, somewhat rough athletes, for a couple of afternoons.

* * *

THROW IT HOME, JAMES

If you ask us, James Roberts, the big young man who recently came to the Tanner fold and has won exactly 1000 percent of his two starts since his arrival, should be the Tanner hurling selection today.

* * *

Maybe Buddy will pitch the bat boy.

* * *

Such Curiosity

Who will do the chunking for Beaumont, do you ask? We don't know. What does it matter?

* * *

Yes, Helen, Beaumont is still in the Texas league. It played and beat San Antonio July 12 and Waco July 14.

* * *

Intelligent Schedule Makers

The Texas league schedule is so arranged that each club in the loop either before or after a hard series will have Beau cont to play with.

* * *

In the case of Fort Worth, the Cats got to rest up three days with the Exporters before taking on Houston today and Sunday in war for the league leadership.

* * *

The Spudders get Beaumont to relax on after the tough Houston series which was finished yesterday.

* * *

Very altruistic indeed on the part of the schedule makers, of which our own eccentric Mr. Gray is one.

* * *

"Anti-Ape Law Held Valid"—rather ambiguous, but now let Texas arise and ban the cat, especially so since the matter of feline usurption of the league leadership again is but a few hours in the offing.

* * *

SO UNNECESSARY

Which reminds us of another foolish headline: "Police Seek Woman Beer Vender." Just as if nearly everybody else including a plump but popular ball player we know isn't doing the same these feverish days, and not caring whether it's a masculine or feminine retailer of the category mentioned.

BODIE SNAPS SLUMP WITH NUMBER 26

Everybody Connects But Wheeler—He Doesn't Have To

By BLONDY CROSS.

Houston's Herd after running all over the Spudders in two straight stampeded the other way Friday before the shoots of Rip Wheeler, and the Tanner artillery unlimbered sufficiently on Lefty Frank Barnes to wallop out an 8-1 victory.

Kane opened the contest with a double to right center. Gallagher walked, and was forced at second by Powell, Kane advancing to third. Gainer forced Powel at the keystone and Kane scored. Snappier fielding on either occasion probably would have resulted in a twin killing. Compton grounded out to short, and the Buff attack subsided for the rest of the way.

At intervals Houston clipped Wheeler hard enough to get runners aboard, but in each instance the Ripper clamped down and supported by tight fielding, pitched himself through unscathed.

The Spudders grabbed a break in the third, and tabulated thrice. The three runs were of the technically unearned variety. But there was no luck attached to a driving bombardment waged in the seventh when five base blows including homer number 26 by Bodie, netted a quartet of scoring nuggets. The domenics broke loose long enough again in the eighth to count another.

"Brains" Gets Gate.

The three tallies sent over in the third came after there should have been three men down. With one away Callaghan beat out a slow one between the box and first. Williams bounded to Hollohan who tossed to Kane at second. The Buff shortfielder took the ball on the run, jagged the cushion, though apparently imagining he had done so, and collided with Callaghan just as he was uncorking a throw to first, dropping the ball. All hands were safe. Verbal warfare ensued with the Buff infield and Marvin Goodwin, the "master mind" of the league leaders, crowding around Arbiter Coe. The "master mind" waxed exceedingly eloquent also belligerent, and was given the ozone.

No sooner had "brains" departed than our hitherto dormant Spudders became energetic, and by dent of brutal force began popping the youthful Barnes, one of the Houston corps' boy wonders, with alacrity. Ping fouled out to left and then Turgeon rifted a clothesline poke to port for a base, Callaghan galoped home. Williams trekked to third on the throw in, and Turge drew up at the keystone. Golvin followed with a swat far to the right of Gainer, who went after the ball doggedly, but couldn't make the play. Both Carl and Turgeon checked in. Golvin stole second, but Dorman lined out to right

Just Too Rough.

The "brains" of the organization being gone, Bovines just couldn't keep our Spudders from becoming rough in the seventh chapter. Cal grounded out but Williams poled a two-cushioner to left. Then the great Ping Bodie connected for his homer, a lusty slam over the port barrier. This caused all kinds of excitement in the Spudder dugout to say nothing of the roar set up by the sporting gentry in the grandstand. Ping had finally come out of his slump, so they all started cracking the apple, and before the matinee was finished everybody on the nine had hit safely with exception of Ripper, and, of course he'll lose a lot of sleep over that. Barnes did the chunking, Ripper the pitching, and the Spudders the hitting. Turgeon followed Bodie's blast with a single to left. Golvin punched one through the infield. Pete looped to third. The throw was made to the hot corner, so Walt went on to second. Dorman rocketed to center and Turgeon counted after the catch. Golvin advanced to third on the throwin. Jonnard singled past third, sending Walt in. Wheeler bounded out to the box.

There was one out in the eighth when Distel laced a double to left. Williams popped out to first. Then Bodie surprised himself and everybody else by coming through for another safety. He combed a single between third and short off a slow ball offering. Truly the rotund one is getting back his stride again. Callaghan scored. Ping went to second on a wild pitch, but Turgeon aviated to right.

That's all; there ain't no more.

The Passing Hour

By William B. Ruggles

PANCHO VILLA

(July 14, 1925)

I have no tears above your bier to spend
Who stayed so short a while to bask in fame—
I have no tears for one who meets the end
While he is still the monarch of his game!

I save my sorrow for the broken men
Who hunger yet for days forever flown—
For those who wear the glove or wield the pen
And never yet the golden peak have known!

But you—life opened up her best for you—
You could not know the dreary after days,
Who, passing, saw fame's smile still on your view
And heard the echo of a champion's praise!

The Champion.

THERE is an element of tragedy, though indeed in the passing of a young fighter who had just come into the full of his earning power—a young father who will never see the brown youngster born to him back in Manila a few days ago, a blinking babe earning as a fistic heir-apparent headlines so soon overshadowed by the death of the game little fly-weight who held a world's championship, with his 108 pounds.

Villa was one of the remarkably few mentioned here the other day as legitimate contenders in the unique fly-weight division, whose battlers must go up to meet bantams and sometimes feathers or do without employment, as there are so very few well developed scrappers at this poundage.

Frank Churchill's discovery from the islands was a real champion, the best of that small crop—and he always made a good showing in his battles with heavier men.

Pancho is the only brown man to hold a world's title since fistiana began to develop its present standard crowns, and a unique figure went over the divide when he died beneath the anaesthetic Tuesday night.

The ring of the home run lilts afar
And the grand stand roars to the base hit crack—
But around the corner, I seem to hear
The signals shrilled by a quarter-back!

THE folks up in Jersey City must have thought Berlenbach was a preliminary fighter instead of a champion.

WHAT they got was a championship mill, according to all precedents. Apparently they wanted a scrap.

HARD TO BELIEVE.

THE general manager of what is probably the largest athletic godos manufacturing concern in the world, is out with a reiteration that the ball is no more lively now than in 1919—that it can not be because in that year the firm making the National league ball put into effect a uniform system that has persisted ever since.

He is willing to admit that the ball became livelier in 1919 than before, and so is the world. But not since, wherein the world differs with him.

The biggest batting records began to accumulate from 1921 on. And if there has been no change in the standard ball used by the National league and most minor leagues, one or two things happened:

Either somebody put a curse on the pitching business and, between 1919 and 1921, all of the good ones went out of business and no new ones developed, or

The batters, accepting the fact that there was a jack rabbit ball, changed their stance and style and took to socking it.

But nearly everyone can recall instances where athletes of the diamond have changed their position and have gotten no appreciable results.

All that has really happened in the national game in the past four years is that the .300 hitter has become a .350 hitter and the .250 hitter hits .300. And what is more important and less pleasant, ball games require half an hour more for completion.

JACK DEMPSEY requires ready money. Merely corroboration of the contention that a heavyweight champion is only a human being.

JACK was a bit late in following the A. E. F. to Paris, but he learned what the doughboys acquired seven years ago—you can have the best of times in Paris on what you have but it gets all of it.

HARD YEAR.

THE appointment of Third Baseman Woehrs to succeed Dutch Bernsen as pilot at Beaumont records the third change in Texas league management since the season started.

Fred Luderus was the first to go. Luderus went home and Bob Tarleton chaperoned the Sports a few days until Sydney Smith was persuaded to take over the job. Larry Gardner went out at Dallas as Snipe Conley came in. Now it is Bernsen.

Bernsen attempted too much. It is a practical impossibility to handle a club on the field and attend to the executive job of managing the business end. Walter Morris has already learned that at Dallas. Tarleton knew it at Shreveport, and his stepping into the brogans of Luderus was only a temporary move.

There is another reason—if you are wise in the ways of baseball.

The men connected with the business end intend to stay there permanently. Fans are fickle and it is wise to have a goat for their praise or blame. When the team is a loser, it is just as well to have a manager to take the responsibility.

A few years back, Jack Corbett, long a playing star in Southern and Texas fields, was called by the Lynch enterprises to handle the Atlanta club. He had been out of baseball over a decade—ten years spent in the moving picture game.

"Are you going to manage the club?" he was asked.

"I'm not crazy," Corbett replied. "No monkey suit for me. If this ball club loses, somebody else can get the blame for it."

It did, and he did. Otto Jordan was the goat that year.

Never a new star flares about—
But somewhere an old one flickers out!

LEGION STAGES BULL FIGHTS TONIGHT AND SUNDAY NIGHT AT T-O FAIR GROUNDS ARENA

Extensive plans have been laid all week for the final staging of the Pat Carrigan post, American legion, bull fights scheduled for tonight and Sunday at Fairpark, officials announce, and the performances are expected to be highly successful.

The coterie of Spanish and Mexican bull fighters brought to Wichita Falls week before last, and who staged a series of shows here, is in good condition and fully prepared to cope with a number of wild Brahma bulls obtained for these performances.

The show begins at 8:30 o'clock. Women with one male escort ro with one adult ticket will be admitted free tonight, it was announced.

There will be no bloodshed, it is assured by the bull fighters, unless perchance one of the animals catches one of the fighters off guard and gores him.

The fights, staged by several of Spain's veteran matadors and Mexican picadors, are to be exact reproductions of the bull fights held in the old countries with exception that the bulls are no to be killed. At bit of comedy acting and fighting is to be an added attraction.

Chicagoan Defeats Texan In Western Amateur Semi-Final Match

MARTIN CUTS DOWN EARLY LEAD TO WIN

Keefe Carter Defeats Fred Lamprecht in Close Struggle

DETROIT, Mich., July 7.—(AP)—Keefe Carter of Oklahoma today defeated Fred Lamprecht of Cleveland, one up, and Russell Martin of Chicago defeated Clarence Hubby of Waco, Texas, two and one in the semi-finals of the western amateur golf championship.

Hubby fell off with his wooden clubs in the afternoon and Martin after squaring the match three different times after being one down in the morning round, won the 32nd and 33rd holes and halved the next two. His victory brings him against Carter in the finals tomorrow.

Martin commenced to whittle down the lead of Hubby as soon as the afternoon play commenced, winning the nineteenth hole with a birdie three and taking the twentieth with par four. Hubby came back with a birdie four on the twenty-first but had to concede a loss on the twenty-second when he failed to get out of the sand on his second. Martin evened the match for the first time when Hubby missed a short putt on the twenty-third after playing perfectly down the course, but finding the rough at the edge of the diminutive green.

Hubby Comes Back on 24

Hubby won back his lead on the twentyfourth when he holed a long putt and both got par fours on the next hole. The match was evened on the 26th when Hubby hit the bank and fell back into the muck but the Texan made his one-up at the turn by winning the twenty-seventh with a par four, Martin approaching wide of the green.

The cards:

Hubby, out	5	3	4	4	4	4	4	1
Martin, out	3	4	6	5	4	3	5	5
Hubby, in	5	4	4	3	4	4	4	2	3
Martin, in	4	4	5	4	4	4	4	2	3

Carter had the match well in hand during most of the last nine, but he had two bad sinking spells from which he recovered well in view of his youth. One up, after 18 holes, Carter dropped the first three after luncheon but squared affairs on the 25th and after losing the 26th, again evened it on the 29th, never to be headed again. He won the 31st, 32nd and 33rd in par or better and was dormie 3. He almost threw it away on the next two, but halved the home hole to win one up.

Carter Shoots Par

Carter shot the last nine in par 36 for a total of 75, which with his round of 76 this morning, made 151 for 36 holes. Lamprecht had par 36 on the third nine and got 74 for the afternoon round, he had 79 in the morning for a total of 153.

Martin kept on the heels of Hubby as they started on the final nine holes, evening the match on the 28th when Hubby developed the wind streak that remained with him for the rest of the afternoon. They both took fours on the short 29th, Hubby making a remarkable recovery from the rough.

Hubby regained his lead of one up on the 30th, when Martin overran the green on his brassie and failed to get back. Martin came back on the next, however, and made a par four, while Hubby was over from the rough. A was the beginning of Martin's ascendancy.

The break that decided the game came on the 32nd. Martin got a long ball and Hubby's kicked off the fairway to the right. The ball landed in a ditch. Hubby tried to get out and sliced to the rough and took two more to reach the green. Martin in the meantime holed a par four. He was up for the first time in the day's play.

Hubby Wild Again.

Hubby was wild again from the tee on the 33rd and failed to get his second out of the rough. He made a good try but had to be content with a five while Martin added a par five and a lead up of two.

Both made threes on the short 34th hole. Hubby's drive from the 35th was off direction and the ball landed on the 33rd green.

His brassie shot landed left of the 35th green, but as Martin's second was short, they halved in five. Martin won two up and one to play.

The cards:

Hubby, in, 545 565 35x.
Martin, in, 446 444 35x.

Champ Would Meet Two "Setups" Before Boxing Black Battler

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—The heavyweight pugilistic horizon clouded for the past 22 months by the motion picture and matrimonial activities of the champion, brightened today when Jack Dempsey appeared before the state athletic commission and formally accepted the challenge of Harry Wills, negro heavyweight. This action ends four years of strife to bring together the champion and his most persistent challenger.

The controversy which had become badly tangled since Jack Kearns, the champion's manager, ignored the commission's edict of March 6, 1925, that Dempsey answer Wills' challenge, unraveled itself to the satisfaction of all today when Dempsey agreed to abide by the rules of the commission. The commission agreed to smoke the pipe of peace with the king of the heavyweight division if he would sign for the match and post a forfeit binding him to its terms. Dempsey was instructed to sign for the match and appear before the commission next Tuesday to post the forfeit.

Looks for Setups.

Dempsey, in referring to his interview with the commission said:

"Commissioner Muldoon agrees with me that I should have a couple of warm up fight before taking on Wills. In all probabilities I will either meet Bartley Madden at Michigan City, Ind., Labor Day, or Gene Tunney in New York before the outdoor season closes.

Rickard has told me he would like to have me meet Tunney at the first indoor show of the Madison Square Garden this winter, but nothing definite has been arranged.

"I am going to Wilmington, Del., tonight to visit relatives of my wife. I'll be back Monday morning and I expect to see the commission again Tuesday and post the forfeit demanded. In mean ime I'll dicker with Rickard and Floyd Fitzsimmons for a few warm up matches.

Not Before 1926.

Rickard and the commission agree that the fight can't be held before 1926 and in the meantime I'll get a fight under my belt to keep me in shape. Paddy Mullins knows that at the present time I am not in fit condition to meet Wills. As I see it, everything is all set for next year with Wills, but in the meantime I can't afford to remain idle."

When shown the Associated Press dispatch from Los Angeles quoting Kearns as saying that Dempsey would arrange no matches without his approval, Dempsey smiled and said:

Chairman James A. Farley was not at the meeting and in his absence Commissioners Bower and Muldoon outlined the commissioner's stand. The official report of the conference as handed out by the commission varies somewhat from Dempsey's version. The commission takes the stand that Demnsey must have Wills' permission before meeting any other opponent prior to the Wills match.

WILLS WON'T LAST 2 ROUNDS—KEARNS.

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—(AP) Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey predicted today that if Harry Wills ever climbs into the ring with the champion the big negro fighter will be knocked out in two rounds.

"With six months training Dempsey can whip either Wills or Gen Tunney in one round" Kearns declared.

Kearns has regained some of his sangfroid and aplomb which had been jolted out of position by the champion prizefighters' statement yesterday in New York that he had some self-managing to the extent of signing for a bout with Wills.

Kearns said:

"The whole situation gives me a good laugh. Dempsey may be figuring that he will not fight Wills until after his contract with me expires in September, 1926, but I'm here to say that he cannot sign articles without my consent for any bout to take place before or after September of next year, so long as I am his manager.

"At any rate I am going to watch until Dempsey returns to Los Angeles and then we will settle the whole affair."

GLEN FALLS, N. Y., July 17.—(AP)—Gene Tunney said tonight that he had an agreement to meet Jack Dempsey on September 18.

DETROIT 6; WASHINGTON 3.

DETROIT, July 17.—(AP)—Detroit captured the series from Washington by winning today's game, 6 to 3. Zachaar, weakened in the eighth and the hitting of the Tigers, together with poor support from the Senators caused the visitors downfall, five runs crossing the plate. Score:

PHILADELPHIA 8; CHICAGO 1.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(AP)—Philadelphia made a clean sweep of the four-game series with Chicago today by taking the final game, 8 to 1, and ran their winning streak to seven games. The game was a pitcher's duel between Faber and Quinn, two veteran spitball flingers, the latter getting credit for the second straight victory since joining the Athletes. Only three hits were made off Quinn prior to the time he left the game for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning. French took Quinn's place at bat and started a rally with a double which ultimately resulted in knocking Faber off the mound and giving the league leaders six runs on as many hits. Score:

BAN CHASES BENGAL BOSS INDEFINITELY

Tiger Ty Given Air Over Argument With Umps

DETROIT, July 17.—Tyrus Cobb, manager and center fielder of the Detroit Tigers, was indefinitely suspended today by President Ban Johnson of the American league.

The suspension came as the result of an argument with Umpire Rowland in the tenth inning of yesterday's game with Washington. Cobb protested a strike on Woodal and was ordered from the field, after a short argument, the quarrel being renewed after the game.

Cobb will direct the destinies of the Tigers from the stands until his suspension is lifted.

PITTSBURGH 7; BOSTON 3.

BOSTON, July 17.—(AP)—Pittsburgh bounded back into first place by defeating Boston 7 to 3, in ten innings today while St. Louis was winning from New York. Going into the ninth frame two runs behind, the Pirates put over the needed runs to tie. Moore, the first man to bat in the inneh, was passed by Graham Barnes, at this stage went into the box and singles by Cuyler and Wright with Traynor's triple and Hood's error produced four runs. Aldridge had sensational support early in the game. Score:

Golf

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

How should the swing be made in playing the ball from a "hanging" or lownhill lie?

By BILL STRACHAN,
Wichita Falls Country Club Golf Professional.

Usually unless the player is very careful a smothered or topped ball results from this shot. The stance should be very open with plenty of weight on the left foot; this will help to swing the club more upright. A flat backswing is fatal on this shot.

I advise playing for a slice; this will help to get the ball up and it will also help the direction. Usually this is a "desperation shot," and the object is to get safely for the next shot instead of trying to get distance or make the green.

KELL APPROVES S. A. U. & G. SALE TO M. P. ROAD

Wichita Falls Man Takes Stand Before Rail Hearing

HOUSTON, July 17.—(AP)—Sale of the San Antonio Uvalde and Gulf railroad to the Missouri Pacific railroad would be decidedly in the public interest, according to the testimony of Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, and A. R. Ponder of San Antonio, before Interstate Commerce Commissioner C. R. Bolls of Washington here today.

No Transfer Objection.

There appeared to be no objection to the transfer of the road, which extends from San Antonio to Corpus Christi, a distance of approximately 326 miles, but interests which control the Asphalt Belt railroad, a small connecting line and which is apparently interwoven in the proposed S. A. U. & G. merger with the Missouri Pacific, were represented by counsel whose questions indicated objection to the plan if the Asphalt Belt was included.

Mr. Kell, who testified that the interests with which he is identified owned 48 per cent of the stock in the S. A. U. & G., asserted that the proposed merger in his judgment was in line with the basic principles of the transportation act. The road, he said, traversed a rich agricultural country which had never been developed largely because it lacked proper transportation facilities.

A Strong Line.

"Here is a strong line," he said, referring to the Missouri Pacific "Which is able to develop the S. A. U. & G., a railroad so situated that it is an important link in transportation system that could be made to serve a large territory in western Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma in carrying their products to Corpus Christi and then by water to the markets of the world.

The S. A. U. & G. railroad, he said, has never been properly financed. It has no credit now and nothing can be done with it in the immediate future unless stronger interests take it over and build it up to a real transportation system.

A Single Objector.

As the hearing proceeded, it became apparent that J. B. Smythe of San Antonio, president of the Uvalde Rock Asphalt company, was the only objector in the entire proceedings and that his objection arose in connection with the proposition to acquire the Asphalt Belt railroad, a line about 18 miles long from Pulliam, a town on the S. A. U. & G., to the plant of the Texas Asphalt company in the hills of Uvalde county. Owners of the stock of the Asphalt Belt line do not, it appeared, object to the transfer of the property. Mr. Smythe's objection, it was apparent, was largely to protect a claim of $290,000, which is conceived to be the value of land which he controls and over which the Asphalt Belt railroad built a line, without, he declares, either his permission or the usual condemnation proceedings. The claim for damages, it was explained unofficially by attorneys for Mr. Smythe, is largely for the value of asphalt deposits under the right of way.

New Salvation Army Heads Here

CAPT FRED WILKES

MRS. FRED WILKES

Capt. and Mrs. Fred Wilkes, the new commanders of the Salvation Army post here, have a long record of achievement behind them. They came here recently as successors to Commander and Mrs. Johnson, who have been transferred to army work in Arkansas.

Capt. Wilkes is a veteran campaigner who was converted to Christianity while in service in France during the World war. He has seen action in three wars and holds five war medals for bravery. He has traveled extensively in Africa, Ceylon, India and Mexico, and after taking up Salvation Army work has had active work in various parts of this country.

Mrs. Wilkes, who before her marriage to Capt. Wilkes two years ago was Ensign Esther Magnuson, has also been in charge of several corps. She was in charge for a time at Campaign, Ill., at the No. 1 corps, St. Louis, Galveston and other points.

With Capt. Wilkes she has been in charge of the Dallas corps and then went to Austin from where she and her husband were transferred to Wichita Falls.

Both the new officials are more than pleased with Wichita Falls and anticipate a profitable stay here.

World 1,200,000,000 Years Old, Belief Of A German Scientist

KOENIGSBERG, Germany, July 17.—(AP).—The approximate age of the earth, in the opinion of Prof. Wilhelm Eitel, is from 1,100,000,000 to 1,200,000,000 years. An account of his investigations, just published here, shows he arrived at these figures through calculations of the radio activity of various strata on earth, using pre-Cambrian stone formations as representing the oldest known mineralogical deposits.

Rail Meet Called On Drouth Relief

AUSTIN, July 17.—(AP).—A conference of railroad officials, farmers and commercial organizations was called late today by Clarence E. Gilmore, chairman of the railroad commission, for July 17, at Austin, in an effort to obtain voluntary reduction of freight rates on feed stuff of all kinds on both intrastate and interstate shipments.

The conference was called because of the appeals made to the commission from different sections of the drouth-stricken area for farmers, who are destitute of feed for livestock and who will have to ship in all feed for livestock until next year's crop, Commissioner C. V. Terrell said.

In more than 15 counties there is no feed for stock, reports received by the commission say. The situation is desperate, the commissioner added.

The message was dispatched to railroad officials by Chairman Gilmore, explaining the situation, and asking for co-operation of the railroads.
