Another Railway Pay Reduction Cuts Earnings of 325,000 Men

Mainly About People

Wanted By the G. O. P.—Another Roosevelt—Dems Need Another Wilson—

By H. N. F.

SENATOR HENRY CABOT Lodge of Massachusetts is a candidate for re-election. He is the dean of the senate, he is the republican leader, he is chairman of the foreign relations committee, he is the last of the old guard, he led the fight against ratification of the Wilson treaty he led the fight for the vindication and seating of Newberry and he is known as the scholar in politics. No more bitter partisan ever held a seat in the American congress. No lordly slave owner in the old days ever entertained more contempt for the common people than Henry Cabot Lodge.

He is an aristocrat, a Pharisee. He was born that way and he cannot help it. All the big chieftains of the republican party are going to make speeches in Massachusetts uring a return to the senate of Lodge. President Harding will write a letter urging his renomination and will go by the old Bay state to urge the Lodge cause along. There were Lodges in Massachusetts before the coming of the War of the Revolution.

THERE WERE CABOTS IN Massachusetts before the War of the Revolution. They were Tories in those days and some of his critics say that Henry Cabot Lodge is running true to form and true to ancient blood. He is wealthy and his family is wealthy. He has behind him the combined wealth of the factory lords of the state. He has behind him the swollen fortunes of the state.

He has behind him all those who believe that the republican party can do no wrong and that the democratic party is the party of ignorance, inefficiency and socialistic heresies. This makes a formidable combination, in Massachusetts at least. If the battle was staged in a state of the middle west Lodge would be defeated.

AS IT IS BEING STAGED IN an New England state, the dean of the senate cannot be dislodged unless the women voters declare against him. He fought nation-wide prohibition; he fought equal suffrage; he has been arrayed against every popular measure demanded by the people.

He ever stood with Penrose and standpatters of like calibre for laws for the selected few and not for the producers of wealth in America. He ever placed the dollar before the man. He is the last connecting link between the old and the new order of things in this republic. There is a republican machine in Massachusetts that is all powerful and easy running. There is no great leader of the opposition to pit against Lodge. Boston, a democratic stronghold, returned a large majority for Harding. Other Massachusetts cities counted democratic rolled up majorities for Harding.

The democrats control the cities of Massachusetts; the republicans control the small towns and the rural districts. Massachusetts is a factory state and thousands of factory workers vote as they are ordered to vote by their employers.

MONEY COUNTS. INFLUENCE counts. Organization counts, and the republicans have the money, the influence and the organization. This is one of the reasons why Henry Cabot Lodge has more than an even chance of winning re-election notwithstanding the fact that the people the country over are routing old guard bosses and old guard politicians time servers. Col. William A. Gaston is a candidate for the democratic senatorial nomination. He as a wealthy banker and stands for the same order of things that Lodge represents.

More than a hundred thousand Massachusetts democrats voted for Harding and Coolidge in 1920. This army was made up of blocks of foreign born voters or their sons who deserted the democratic party because of the league of nations. If they were down here in Texas they would be shut out of the primary by order of the state committee. Their votes are needed in Massachusetts this year and they will not be shut out of the primary by the democratic committee of the Old Bay state.

NOW THEY HATE THE REpublican administration more than they hated the league of nations and the newspapers of Massachusetts say that these braves who deserted the democratic reservation two years ago are more than anxious to return to the democratic camp and to punish the republicans at the general election this fall.

Sherman L. Whipple is one of the great lawyers of New England and perhaps the ablest of the democratic leaders of New England. He is wealthy and popular and a convincing speaker. There are many Massachusetts democrats who are urging Whipple to become a candidate against Lodge, but the little bosses of the party and the ward heelers are said to be committed to the candidacy of Gaston. Texas democrats who attended the San Francisco convention will recognize the type of men who control the machinery of the democratic party in Massachusetts cities.

THEY WERE THE FIRST TO go to James M. Cox when Senator Pat Harrison and four eastern bosses decided that Cox was to be the standard bearer.

They nominated Cox and then their disgusted followers broke away from the organization and voted for the republican nominees. Jefferson and Jackson insisted the democratic party would ever be the party of the common people. This may be true. If it is true then the common people need leaders as they never needed them before. They need them in Massachu-

CLERKS' WAGE REDUCED FROM 2 TO 6 CENTS

Signal Men Are Also Affected In New Ruling

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Prunning nearly $27,000,000 from the annual payroll of 325,000 railway employes, by cutting clerks, signal men and stationary firemen from two to six cents an hour, the United States railroad labor board today announced another wage slash, bringing total reductions under the board's orders up to $135,000,000 beginning July 1.

The clerks were cut 3 and 4 cents an hour, according to their classification, the signalmen 5 cents and the firemen 2 cents.

Approximately 1,200,000 railway employes will share the total reduction which will result in a strike vote of ten railway labor bodies.

The voting is already under way in seven unions, and the other three affected by today's order are expected to mail their ballots immediately.

A dissenting opinion protesting against any reduction was included in the decision, as was the case in the two previous cuts for the maintenance of way laborers and the shopmen. The minority decision today was signed by Arthur O. Wharton and Albert Phillips, both labor members. W. L. McManimen, the third member of the labor broup is in the east on an investigation trip for the board.

Definite recognition of a "living wage" and "saving wage" was made for the first time by the board intoday's decision.

Although abnormal post-war conditions were pointed out as obstructions to fixing any scientific living or saving wage at present the board declared that as soon as this condition cleared away it would "give increased consideration to all the intricate details incident to the scientific adjustment of such a wage."

The bulk of those hit by the new cut will be 200,000 clerks and 100,000 station employes. The majority of clerks, those with two years' experience or more, are cut three cents an hour. Other clerks are cut four cents, and beginners instead of the former minimum monthly pay of $67, will get $60. After the first six months they will receive $70, instead of the former rate of $77.50. Storekeepers, chief clerks, train and engine crew callers, train announcers and baggage room employes will be cut three cents. Under the four cent reduction come janitors, watchmen, office boys, messengers and freight handlers as well as common laborers around stations and warehouses.

Telephone girls, who, the board declared, have suffered from importionate increases and decreases heretofore, received the most welcome news of the order when a minimum wage of $85 a month was fixed by the board with the further proviso that any "hello girls" who receive more than that amount at present shall not suffer any reduction.

The 12,000 signalmen received the heaviest cut of the group, being reduced 5 cents an hour, with helpers suffering a 6 cent slash. Signal foremen, assistant foremen and inspectors,

Liquor Can Be Sold On Yankee Vessels Beyond 3 Mile Line

Thirsty Tourists May Still Slack Thirst On Shipping Board Craft, Ruling Says.

By Associated Press.

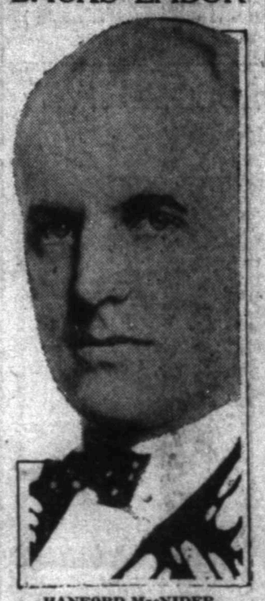

WASHINGTON, June 16. — Sale of liquor on shipping board vessels outside the three-mile limit is permissible under new treasury regulations issued today, according to P. A. Vise, general counsel for the prohibition unit.

This interpretation was taken as settling for the time being the controversy over liquor on government ships precipitated by Adolphus Busch, III, the St Louis brewer, when he wrote President Harding that the government was engaging in the bootlegging business by permitting sale of alcoholic beverages on shipping board vessels.

Solution of the problem, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the anti saloon league declared tonight, "lies in excluding all ships that sell liquor from American ports." Legislation to this end is being considered, he said, asserting that by putting both American and foreign vessels on an equal

BACKS LABOR

HANFORD MacNIDER.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, JUNE 16.—Organized labor and organized veterans of the world war have "as common enemies those who seek to tear down the integrity of America," declared Hanford MacNider, commander of the American Legion, in addressing here today the American Federation of Labor convention.

"The legion knows no sex, no creed, no class of any kind except between constructive and destructive forces," declared the legion commander. "It must be that we see that this legion of ours stays fair, straight, tolerant and American."

LABOR UNITED WITH LEGION

M'Nider Tells Union Trade Leaders

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, June 16.—Unity in the principles of both the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor was proclaimed here today at the federation's convention by leaders of both organizations amid the applause of the convention delegates, who include practically every prominent labor leader in the country.

"The American Federation of Labor and the American Legion," said Hanford MacNider, the legion commander, "both have as common enemies those who seek to tear down the lawful integrity of our nation."

Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, added later the reply, "there can be no division in the joint ranks" of the two organizations as long as both continue to hold the high ideals of freedom and justice, while George L. Berry, vice commander of the legion, and president of the pressmen's union, declared that past misunderstandings were due to a few members of the legion. In both the legion and federation, Mr. Berry said, "it happens that somebody is going to break the rules."

Organizations Mutual

The mutuality of purpose of the two organizations, as declared by their spokesmen, was the outstanding development of the convention session which adjourned early when none of the committees was ready to submit reports.

While at work the convention was informed by B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employes' department of the federation, that the rail chiefs contemplating a strike had decided to ask officers of the striking mines to a conference to consider joint action. He made it plain that federation politics would not be considered at this conference, the rail union delegates having already announced that they plan to contest for a place on the federation's executive council.

The only important work done by the convention was its second blow at the "one big union" idea which came before the delegates again by a resolution proposing adoption of the universal label. The proposal was voted down.

BANKERS AND HUERTA SOLVE DEBT PROBLEM

Agreements Reached Expected to Adjust Mex. Finances

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 16.—A plan for adjusting the entire external debt of the Mexican government, the national railways debt of that country and certain so-called internal debts held largely outside of Mexico, was agreed on today by the international committee of bankers on Mexico and Adolfo de la Huerta, finance minister of the republic below the Rio Grande.

The agreement, which is subject to the approval of President Obregon, covers securities with a face value exceeding $500,000,000 gold on which the interest in arrears approximates $200,000,000.

Under the agreement cash payments on current interest are to begin after January 2, 1923, out of a special fund into which will be paid the oil export taxes and a surcharge on railway gross receipts.

All cash payments as to back interest are to be waived. Overdue coupons will be deposited with a trustee, and the receipts for the coupons will be amortized without interest over a period of time, this arrangement, in effect, being a cancellation of part of the back interest.

Railways Returned.

The railways of Mexico are to be returned to private management promptly. The government will assume by endorsement all railway debt not already guaranteed by it.

In order to give time for full resumption of all cash obligations, all classes of bond holders are to agree to temporary suspension of sinking fund rights, etc., during a five-year period.

Will Strengthen Mexico

The agreement, it was felt in financial circles, would tremendously strengthen Mexico's position in the money of the world and possibly prove the fidst step in placing that republic in a position which will make it possible to obtain a loan at some future date. It also was believed that the agreement would prove a move forward recognition of the Mexican government by the governments of the United States, Great Britain, France, Belgium and Switzerland.

Following is a summary of the Mexican debt, the figures being in United States dollars and the interest being approximated to December 31, 1921.

Direct external debt, $174,816,546; interest, $64,321,272.10.

Direct internal debt, $37,647,775.00; interest, $23,350,523.13.

Bonds guaranteed by Mexican government (exclusive of railway guarantees, $1,250,000.00; interest $11,759,531.88.

National railways of Mexico and subsidiary lines $238,723,377; interest $81,417,801.50.

The total of these figures is $603,286,826.41.

City Asked to Show Why Property Notes're Exempt From Taxes

Treasury Would Get Two Millions More In Revenue Report Of Authority Says

Suit for writ of mandamus will probably be filed against the city council sometime today demanding that Wichita Falls show cause why property notes and other paper should be exempt from taxation.

Statements regarding the writ were obtained from an authoritative source of information Friday, when it was learned that the action had been contemplated.

Estimate More Revenue

The county commissioners went on record during the last regular meeting as ordering that the county tax assessor levy on all notes and such property as has not been levied on heretofore. It was estimated at that time by local attorneys that the proposed levy would bring approximately $2,000,000 additional into the county treasury.

In speaking of the provosed mandamus proceeding Friday, it was stated authoritatively that should the city council order similar taxation, that the city treasury would receive in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 additional revenue.

Expect Opposition

An indignation meeting demanding that the county commissioners withdraw their action of last Monday was held recently in the office of N. O. Monroe. It was openly declared during the meeting that should the levy be made, many persons in this county would be paying double taxation.

Opposition to any similar action by the city council is likely to develop, it was stated Friday.

POSSE HUNTS BANK BANDITS

Thieves Take Cash And Bonds

By Associated Press.

PAWHUSKA, Okla., June 16.—Officers in this section of Northern Oklahoma and across the border in Kansas were searching tonight for two bandits who held up the Elgin State Bank at Elgin, Kansas, this afternoon and escaped with $1,500 in cash and all the available liberty bonds. D. R. Hall, cashier of the bank, who with his wife was forced into the bandits' car, had not been found tonight.

The bandits drove south across the Oklahoma border in the direction of Bartlesville. About five miles out of Elgin, Mrs. Hall was thrown out of the bandit car.

The two men entered the bank at 1 o'clock. The eldest, about 40 years old, brandished a dagger. The other, a youth, about 20, covered Cashier Hall and Mrs. Hall and four customers with a revolver. All the cash and liberty bonds in sight was scooped up. The bandits hurried outside and drove south.

C. L. Clark, deputy sheriff, formed a posse and pursued the bandit car. Cars also were sent out from Pawhuska and Bartlesville.

Near the junction of the Pawhuska-Bartlesville roads the bandits were sighted. They opened fire on their pursuers. The posse did not return the fire because of fear that Hall might be hit.

The bandits threw the posse off their trail and further down the road drove about 200 yards off the highway, where it was later learned they abandoned their car. Officers believe the men boarded a train at Okesa, Okla., still forcing Hall to accompany them.

ARMED CAMP DIGS OUT 50 CARS OF ORE

Workers On Guard As Fuel Is Brought Out of Strip

By Associated Press.

HERIN, Ill., June 16.—The American federation of labor in convention at Cincinnati probably will be called upon by Illinois miners' officials to decide the question of whether there is a steam shovelers' union, members of which officials of the Lester and Sherwood surface mine, six miles east of here, claimed today mined fifty cars of coal from the strip mine.

The federation also will be asked to decide whether these men are allowed to work if such an organization exists.

Local officials of the Illinois miners declared there was no such organization as the Steamshoveler's union. State Senator William B. Sneed, president of the local subdistrict state miners' union, arrived here this afternoon from Springfield to investigate the situation.

The men were imported into the district and some of them stood guard, while their fellow workers did the mining.

Machine guns are in position around the mine, which resembles an armed camp, and sentries turn back almost all visitors.

No trouble developed, although the working of the mine was the sole topic of conversation among thousands of striking miners who gathered in crowds on street corners and discussed the situation.

It was learned today that striking union miners were permitted by heir officials to remove earth from the Lester and Sherwood mine to prepare for the resumption of work when the strike ended, but that an agreement between the men and the company provided that no coal should be dug or loaded into cars. These union miners were permitted by their when the imported men started loading the coal.

FIVE ASPIRING TO LEGISLATURE

Two Candidates Will File Names Today

With five candidates for the two places wholly within Wichita county where only a few weeks ago it looked as if the two places would go begging, the legislative contest in the county this year shows probably more signs of life than any other single race, save perhaps that of sheriff where four or five candidates are offering to succeed Sheriff Fred Smith.

Three of the candidates had filed applications with P. B. Cox, county chairman, for places on the ticket Friday, with only two days left for filing. Two others, J. D. Avis and E. H. Gipson, will be placed in the ticket today, the last day for filing, with petitions signed by voters asking that this be done. The three to file are, F. G. Swanson, for place 1, J. D. Parnell for place 2 and John J. Simmons for place 2.

It is expected that Avis will be a candidate for place 1 and Gipson for place 2. The statute requires that the names be placed on the tickets either by an application from the candidate himself or by petition signed by 25 qualified voters.

Backers of Avis and Gipson, who will be placed by the second method, declare that they have secured between 200 and 300 names on these petitions.

Cecil Storey, the candidate from Wilbarger county for the Wichita Wilbarger flotorial district, will not have opposition.

R. F. Johnson, who won the last election in the flotorial district, then the only district with a clear majority against a field of four, running on the open shop ticket, has finally decided that he will not offer again for the place.

Two Expect Labor Vote

Swanson, who was a candidate on pro-labor platform two years ago against Johnson, and Simmons, who has been prominently identified with local labor unions in official capacity, are expected to make the race on platforms which will draw support from the ranks of local labor unions. The others, while not regarded as pro-labor candidates, are all regarded as having a liberal attitude toward the labor movement and are expected to draw support from the ranks of the liberals among the local unions.

LUTHER INTO SEMI-FINALS

State Tennis Meet Ends Saturday

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, June 16. — Bill Luther, veteran Fort Worth racquet wielder, won his way into the singles finals of the twenty-second annual tournament of the Texas State Tennis association at Meadowmere country club Friday afternoon, when he defeated Evan Rees, Dallas star, in a four set match, 6-4, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1. Luther continued his brilliant playing and although his battles with Rees was one of the hardest the local flash has encountered during the present tournament, he came out on top through his sensational net work, service and all around great playing.

Luther will meet the winner of the semi-final match between J. B. Adoue of Dallas considered one of the leading tennis players of the southwest, and Louis White, the Texas university phenom who sprang the biggest surprise of the tournament Thursday when he eliminated Ben Parks of Oklahoma university.

The match for the singles championship will be staged Saturday afternoon.

The feature event of Friday's program was the doubles match between Granger and White, the track Long-Horn team, and Benny Parks and Spence, Sooner state stars, which was called on account of darkness. Granger and White has two sets to one and the fourth was stopped at 8-8, when darkness halted the battle. The match will be played off Saturday morning.

Adoue reached the semi-finals through his victory Friday afternoon over Young Georgie O'Connell of the Southside Tennis club, Chicago, winning the match in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4. O'Connell a veteran of the national clay courts tournament, was off form Friday and the veteran Adoue had little trouble winning.

Harrington and Monett, stars of the Missouri valley conference, won from Evan Rees and Louie Thalheimer, The Dallas team, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3. Young Thalheimer, state singles champion of 1921, and his partner easily copped the first set but the crack team from the Sooner state tightened up and won the second. With the third set tied for the Oklahomans, the Reese-Thalheimer combination strengthened and won three straight games before the Oklahomans could annex the deciding points.

Monett was all over the court at once and was largely responsible for the victory.

However, John Barr and Levan Jester, eliminated the Harrington-Monett team in the semi-final doubles match, 9-7, 0-6, 6-2, 6-0.

Barr and Jester reached the semi-finals by defeating O'Connell and Jack Norton, the Oklahoma City representatives.

however, escaped with no reduction whatsoever.

The 15,000 train dispatchers likewise escaped cut, the board declaring the nature of their work and their responsibility warranting continuance of the present rates.

Stationary engineers, firemen and oilers numbering 10,000 escaped with the smallest slice from their pay envelopes, being cut only 2 cents an hour.

Strike Decided On

Executives of the firemen and oilers union, the signalmen and the clerks brotherhood decided at a conference with eight other labor unions in Cincinnati last week, to issue a strike ballot if they wages were reduced. The six shop crafts and the maintenance of way union also in conference already have their strike vote under way. The other participating union, the telegraphers, did not receive a cut and it is not expected to ballot at this time. A decision covering the 75,000 telegraphers will be issued by the board later.

The board explained that the clerks' cut was lighter than some other classes because they had "suffered considerable loss from certain changes in their rules and because they have never been highly paid compared with other classes." The greater reduction for beginners was ascribed to the fact that the majority "have not as yet assumed family responsibilities."

Common labor around stations was reduced 1 cent less than the 3 cent reduction of the maintenance of way laborers recently announced, because most of them live in large towns and cities where the cost of living is higher, and also because many of the track laborers are furnished free living quarters by the roads.

Signal men whose work is similar to that of shopmen were reduced but 5 cents compared to the 7 cent cut made for shopmen recently because their rule on overtime pay is less favorable, the board said.

Figures included in the decision showed that clerks will receive under the new scale an average of 58.5 cents an hour, compared with 34.5 cents in December, 1917, when the government took over the railroads. These figures show a 44.7 per cent increase in actual purchasing power, the decision declared, while the increased hourly rate for signalmen from 32.8 cents to 64.3 cents shows increased purchasing power of 67.2 per cent.

The firemen and oilers no doubt, the board's figures, receive the greatest benefit under the decision in that their increase from 21.8 cents an hour in 1917, to 49.6 cents July 1, or a 94.1 per cent increase in actual purchasing power.

Reviewing the railway labor situation since the creation of the labor board, the decision pointed out that "it is generally conceded to be fairly plain and certain that our country has entered upon an era of gradually increasing business prosperity, which will be liberally shared by the carriers."

"That the carriers shall have a fair opportunity to profit by the revival of business in order that they may expand their facilities is absolutely indispensable to their efficient service to the American public," the decision said. "Their unpreparedness now to cope with any greatly increased traffic is notorious. Every facility of railway transportation has been skimped for several years and as to mileague there has been an actual decrease instead of an increase.

"This statement must not be misconstrued to mean that employes should not be called on to bear the cost of railway rehabilitation, improved service and reduced rates. It simply means that it is only patriotic common sense and justice that every citizen, including the railway employes should co-operate in a cordial spirit, should bear and forbear until the carriers are back on their feet."

The long dissenting opinion took the majority to task for the cut and declared there could be "no question that very great pressure had been brought to bear on the board from different sources, making it difficult to consider the matter on its merits."

The net effect was to "read into the transportation act new bases probably never contemplated," by the framers, the dissenters said.

110 EXPECTED ON TRADE TRIP

Interest Stirred In Second Journey

Although the next trade trip of Wichitans is several weeks away, interest in the second expedition is as great as it was for the first.

That was shown by statements made by Hubert Harrison, manager of the chamber of commerce, during the meeting of the business council Friday. Mr. Harrison reported that 41 checks for reservations on the next trade trip special have already been received.

A total of 110 are anticipated, it was explained, the manager urging the business men to set a new pace and send in the remaining number at once.

GUESTS BAGGAGE TOSSED INTO STREETS

Queen Hotel Furniture Piled In Street.

Fifty tenants, all men of the Queen hotel, Chicago, had a real old-fashioned grab bag party when court bailiffs threw all the hotel furniture into the street. This action followed a four-year court fight, decided against the hotel. For more than two hours the tenants searched frantically for their bags and personal belongings. Little care was taken in moving the luggage.

LOS ANGELES—Noah's ark, built to save human and animal life from the flood of ancient biblical times, is still extant for all to see, 30,000 years after its construction. This is the belief of Dr. H. His conclusion is based, he declares, on recent discoveries following 35 years of research work, some of the results of which he described in an address before the Friday morning club of Los Angeles.

Former Ranger Gets Pen Sentence

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Arthur E. Chase and John W. Vardeman, who confessed robbing the Chase National bank of nearly half a million dollars in bonds consigned to the National Shawmut bank in Boston, today were sentenced by Supreme Court Justice Martin to terms of from 4 to 8 years each in Sing Sing.

Mrs. Bartha F. Vardeman, once known on the vaudeville stage as Ferne Hollis, was permitted to plead guilt oy criminally receiving stolen property and was sentenced to from 1½ to 3 years in the women's prison at Auburn.

Chase, a former Texas ranger, who was employed at the Chase National bank, substituted a bundle of torn papers for the package of bonds which had been prepared for mailing, and turned the bonds over to his confederate, Vardeman. The Vardeman's were captured at Savannah, Ga., and most of the securities recovered.

The resolutions committee of 21, appointed Thursday, did not complete its labors until long after midnight. It rendered its report when the conference met early Friday morning.

The report contained many recommendations and all were adopted as read with the exception of two. One of these, containing a proposal that all penal cases for violation of the state banking laws be tried in Travis county was speedily rejected when it reached the floor of the convention and another referring to cashiers' checks was amended prior to adoption.

Texhoma Gets 200 Barrels in Archer

GOSE 21 AND 22 ARE PRODUCERS

Young Wildcat Is Promising

Producing at the rate of 200 barrels daily, the Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 21 Gose, in the Archer county-Texhoma pool, is the pool's best well for some time. The new well is one location east of No. 17 Gose of the company, which is the far south location in the pool.

The No. 22 Gose on the Texhoma also in the south end of the pool, is just completed, and is making between 150 and 175 barrels, according to reports from the company operations on Friday.

The No. 5 Coffman Yates, the extreme southwest location to the present time in the pool, is a 50 barrel well.

The Texas Company's No. 1 Chance has also been drilled into the 1600 foot sand, and is reported showing up for 50 barrels.

The Texhoma has made location for its No. 23 Gose in the southwest corner of the Gose tract, 4,100 feet south and west of the discovery well.

Though the test failed to show enough oil in the 1200 foot sand to make even a small well, indications in the W. C. Young wildcat of the Texhoma company are extremely promising, according to reports from the company Friday. There was no water below the sand, considered a very favorable indication, and there was some oil in the sand, it was said.

The test is now drilling deeper, and is down around 1270 feet. This test is a mile south of the court house in Archer City.

CRUDE OUTPUT UP IN MID-CONTINENT

TULSA, Okla., June 16.—Mid-Continent oil producers who keep informed on the daily trend of production and consumption of petroleum report that the output of crude is increasing steadily, and that while high gravity districts like Pennsylvania, New York, West Virginia and southeastern Ohio may secure an advance in price, that the Mid-Continent will do well to escape a reduction.

All fields of the Mid-Continent for the past week totaled 837,843 barrels, a gain of 16,448 barrels over the preceding week.

RICH SANDS IN VERNON FIELD

Development Looked For In 48 Hours

Special to the Record News.

VERNON, Texas, June 16.—Interest in oil development in Wilbarger county has been at high tide for several days in view of the fact that showings of promise have been encountered in both the Sigler offset and the Triangle test. Thus far the hopes of those working on either location have not materialized. The Sigler offset is deemed especially promising. Rich sands have been encountered during the past two days, but have failed to be of sufficient depth to prove practical. Definite developments are expected within the next 48 hours.

The second well upon which intgrest is centered is that of the Triangle company. A rich sand has been encountered but only the surface of it scratched. Drillers are now reaming down the hole and will then standardize. Probably two days will elapse before the well will be drilled in.

MILLER MAY RESIGN.

ACCORDING to the Kansas City Star J. Z. Miller, Jr., has decided to resign as governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City. Governor Miller has held the job six years. He is well known to Texans. He has a great ranch in west Texas and is more of a Texan than he is a Missourian. During the six years he has given the acid test and he was the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City.

He kept the average rate of interest below rates elsewhere. He may spend his vacation on the broad stretches of the Miller ranch under Lone Star skies, for the Star says he may have a European trip in mind. It is said that W. J. Bailey of Kansas, former governor and a leading banker and republican, will be Miller's successor although politics is not supposed to enter in the administration of the Federal Reserve Bank.

Asa E. Ramsey, a democrat, fills the office of Federal Reserve agent and chairman of the board. He received his appointment from Woodrow Wilson and was re-appointed by President Harding. J. Z. Miller, Jr., passed through all the storms of war and the upheavals of peace time, and he made a record that his friends say is a most enviable one. He wasn't ridden raw by mad men of the press or politicians with personal axes to grind. They let J. Z. beautifully alone.

AN ISSUE IN MICHIGAN.

NEWBERRYISM is the political issue in Michigan. Senator Charles E. Townsend is a candidate for re-election. He is the apostle and apologist of Michigan Newberryism. Congressman Patrick Kelley is his chief opponent. Kelley has been in congress a long time. He has no use for the money bag or the sand bag in politics. His campaigning is done from the rear seat of a Ford car. He is not spending a penny. There is a Newberry organization with millions of money behind Townsend.

He has the support of the machine politicians who believe in the use of money and lots of it. Kelley is his own committee, his own manager and his own treasurer. He is one of the most popular speakers to be found in the northwest, and the Fords are friendly to him. He is a lifelong republican and not one of the fence jumpers Harry T. Warner flayed in a recent interview. All the Newberrys are rich and powerful and if money talks loudly in Michigan Townsend may win the fight.

Henry Ford has a working organization in Michigan that is a marvel of its kind and if the Fords get in behind Kelley with all the power of their organization there may be a Newberry smash-up on December 12th. Really the American voter is rampant in most of the states of the union and there is just no telling what will happen in Texas and other states on primary election day.

PROSPERITY IS HERE.

PROSPERITY is here. Bond buyers are in evidence. Texas municipal securities are in demand. This is a healthy sign. Sherman voted fifty thousand dollars street paving and one hundred thousand dollars high school building enlargement bonds. There were eleven representatives of bidders present in person and three others interested in the bonds being sold on sales day.

A premium of $7,589.00 and in addition the cost of attorney fees and the printing amounting to about $270.00 additional, above par and accrued interest, was offered by T. J. Harper for Austin capitalists. This is the highest bid received. The bonds were advertised as 5½ per cent securities. And now the officials of the city of Sehrman are going to readvertise for bids and they expect to receive a more flattering offer. Gilt edge Texas securities of all kinds today are finding ready takers. It was different a year ago.

WHEN UNCLE SAM CAME BACK.

UNCLE Sam came back long ago. He made the upgrade and now he is nearing the top of the hill. Uncle Sam always comes back. He began 146 years ago to come and he has been the fastest traveler that civilization has known. He is entitled to the place.

He never waged a war for profit. He never waged a war to add to his territory. He never waged a war upon the weak or the defenseless. Uncle Sam has always fought for justice and never for loot.

DR. CRANE'S EDITORIAL

FROM MAIN STREET TO BOUL' MICH'

MAIN STREET is anywhere west of the Alleghanies.

The Boul' Mich' is the main thoroughfare of the Latin Quarter of Paris. There is still a steady immigration of youth smitten with artistic aspirations trailing from Main street to Boul' Mich'.

Most of them are disappointed. The Latin Quarter is there with its great schools and twisted streets and crowded cafes, but the old Quarter of Murger's "Vie de Bohme" and of du Maurier's "Trilby" is no more.

The main reason for its disappearance, or rather for the change that has occurred, is a very simple and material one.

It is money.

Time was when an impecunious student could live in the region south of the Seine on almost nothing. The war, however, has changed that. Prices have gone up. The Americans have been much to blame for this.

People who earned or got their money in the United States in dollars and spent them in Paris in francs found the capacity of their money more than doubled.

But the trouble is that the Latin Quarter is filled with students from all over Europe, indeed from all over the world and other countries are not so fortunate financially as America.

The number of Roumanians, Poles, Serbs, Czechs, and Russians has fallen off. There are not so many English students as before. The only nationalities whose student force is increased are the Scandinavians, Chinese, and the Japanese.

It was this variegated cosmopolitan life that gave the Quarter its charm in the old days, and that charm is fast disappearing.

To be sure, the cafes such as the Rotonde and the Dome are crowded every night, but the crowd has the aspect of being composed of sight-seers. Long hair and baggy velvet trousers and flowing ties are not so often seen.

The "Mimis" and the "Musettes" have a harder and more sordid look. They seem to be sophisticated professionals rather than charming amateurs.

Many of the immigrants from Main street are in a hard case. They haven't money enough to go on with their study and are compelled to eke out a subsistence by acting as waiters in the restaurant, as supers on the stage, or as members of some restaurant orchestra.

Besides this, the Main street man does not understand the art of economizing, and cannot live on a few biscuits and a glass of beer as the native European.

In the desperate competition of poverty the Europeans underlive them.

There is, of course, still charm of freedom and unconventionality in the region and it grips the Main street brother for a while. If he has not considerable moral stamina, however, he is very likely to fall into perversion and there are infinite temptations to bring about the disaster.

There is, of course, a very serious element in the Latin Quarter, men and women students who are working hard at the arts, in medicine, and in law. The schools are well patronized.

But for all that the air of the locality is rather one of decay than of liveliness.

A GENEROUS BANKER

FRANCE is willing to pay her war debt, but she must first recover what is due her from Germany. The plain English of this is that Uncle Sam can go whistle for his money until Germany has accomplished the impossible. France maintains the largest standing army of any European nation. France maintains a magnificent navy. France has a world empire in Asia and Africa, her share of world-war loot. All that Uncle Sam has is a bundle of I. O. U.'s. Uncle Sam is the most generous money loaner that the world has ever known.

Women are much like men. Now the board of counselors of the Democratic Woman's club of St. Louis make the interesting announcement that 90 per cent of the women of Missouri are against James A. Reed for any position for public trust. Wait till these counselors hear from the wives of the men who run the gravel train.

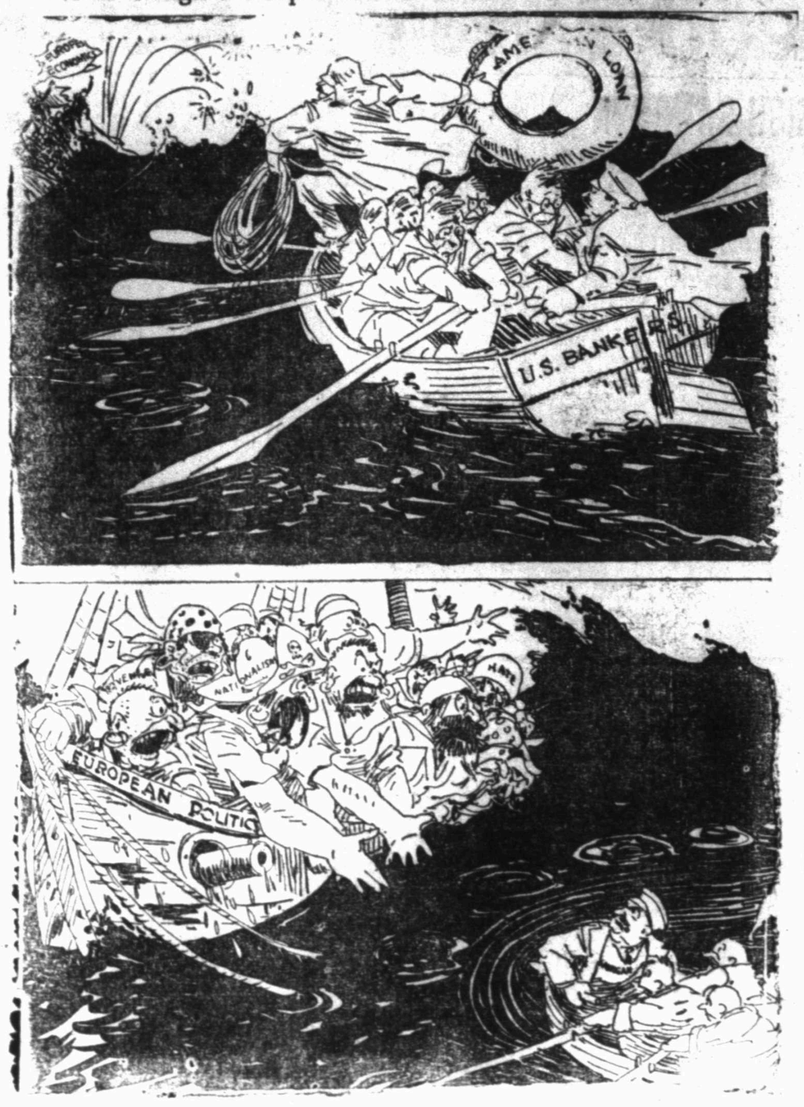

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

WEEK END.

Oh, the week end in my cottage makes me feel as fine as silk; here I eat my humble pottage, swimming in denatured milk; now I feel that I'm in clover, and I sing in joyous tones, for the week of toil is over and I've drawn my eighteen bones. Here the week end's always found me since John Barleycorn was canned, with my smiling aunts around me, and my grandma pounding sand. Once when I had drawn my wages to the gin bazar I went, and progressed, by fluid stages, till I didn't have a cent. And my gentle aunts were weeping, and my grandma's heart was sore, as their vigils they were keeping, waiting at the cottage door. Ah, the sorrow and the grieving, as they waited there at home, as they watched me homeward weaving, with my whiskers full of foam. Still they say the liquor traffic by some skates is carried on; but my feelings are seraphic, for the old saloon is gone. And the swinging doors, I reckon, won't be swinging for a while, and the barkeep doesn't beckon, with his wide and winning smile. Happiness at last has found me, basking in my Sunday suit, while my seven aunts sit around me, and my grandma plays the flute.—(Copyrigh, 1922, George Matthew Adams.)

Too Tough a Proposition Even For the Life Guard

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS.

DO ONLY THE CUCKOO SPIRIT DO THEIR STUFF?

People who have been in communication with spirits will be disappointed in knowing that the ones they've been playing with are just worthless ones—the sort of spirits that hang around the spirit-land barber shop, postoffice, poolroom and kaffee-klatches, with nothing to do till tomorrow.

o o o

According to Camille Flammarion, that's just the sort of spirit they are. Camille Flammarion sounds like something they entered in a flower show, but he is really a French astronomer.

o o o

No departed souls that were not lightweights would, with a nice place like Heaven at their disposal, waste their time making funny noises on card tables, blowing out candles, and playing tiddle-de-winks with the chinaware in American small-town kitchens, says Flammarion.

o o o

It would be like a man going for a month's trip to Yellowstone Park and then devoting all of his time to sending a whistling solo to his wife's aunt by radio.

o o o

Or like a lady going to enjoy the beauties of Venice and then having her trip ruined because she couldn't produce on the bottom of a tin boiler strange noises that would reach her husband and oldest boy back home in Ithaca.

o o o

If a spirit is a good, healthy spirit, with normal blood pressure, respiration, etc., and if it is in good condition mentally the last thing it would think of doing, according to Flammarion, would be to play nutty games with the folks it left behind.

o o o

Which sounds reasonable. No spirit that ever used the telephone on earth ever would take a chance on putting in a call from Heaven to earth and getting the right party anyhow. Probably this would bring about a situation where the Departed Souls, after a few aeons of jangling the hook, would want to drop everything and go to hell.

o o o

Spiritualists have a queer idea about things. According to reports of manifestations at the Conan Doyle meetings, a spirit only enjoys itself when it is making a racket and frightening newspaper men.

o o o

The net deduction from all seasons to date leads to the conviction that only furniture movers and people who can play tambourines ever go to Heaven.

o o o

Whenever and wherever you attend a spiritualistic seance a tambourine solo features the program.

o o o

Very seldom does a spirit do anything with a ukulele, and never does one accomplish a thing with the saxophone. Yet both instruments are more popular than tambourines. A good saxophone-playing spirit would be sure to work up a big following in any American city.

o o o

After the tambourine specialty, six or eight knocks are heard. Then the table is moved. This is considered very wonderful, although for $1.50 any good movie man will do the same thing with a grand piano.

o o o

Why should a perfectly sensible and diginified spirit act as if it were trying to get into small-time vaudeville?

SHORT ONES.

It's fair enough. Americans go to Europe for polish, and European celebrities come over here to shine.

The old-fashioned man who drank from a finger bowl now has a sophisticated son who drinks the shoe polish.

If we knew the number of rich people, we would know the number of those who think riches don't bring happiness.

WHAT IF

We saw a girl
Upon the street
Her garters both
Were showing

It made us blush
And we just thought
What if the wind
Was Blowing—

That's all!

DOGHILL PARAGRAFS

The Mucker

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

All during the painful trip from the village to the island Billy had momentarily expected to meet a party of rescuers coming back for him. He had not been exactly disappointed, but a queer little lump had risen to his throat as the days passed and no help had come, and now this was the final blow. They had deserted him! Left him wounded and dying on this savage island without taking the trouble to assure themselves that he really was dead! It was incredible!

"But was it?" thought Billy. "Didn't I tell them that I was dying? I thought so myself, and there is no reason why they shouldn't have thought so, too. I suppose I shouldn't blame them, and I don't; but I wouldn't have left them that way and not come back. They had a warship full of blue jackets and marines—there wouldn't have been much danger to them."

Presently it occurred to him that the party may have returned to the coast to get the marines, and that even now they were searching for him. He hastened to return to the mainland, and once more he took up his wearisome journey.

That night he reached the coast. Early the next morning he commenced his search for the man-of-war. By walking entirely around the island he should find her he felt sure.

Shortly after noon he scaled a high promontory which jutted out into the sea. From its summit he had an unobstructed view of the broad Pacific. His heart leaped to his throat, for there but a short distance out were a great battle ship and a trim white yacht—the Alaska and the Lotus! They were steaming slowly out to sea.

He was just in time! Filled with happiness the mucker ran to the point of the promontory and stripping off his shirt waved it high above his head, the while he shouted at the top of his lungs but the vessels kept on their course, giving no answering signal.

For half an hour the man continued his futile efforts to attract the attention of someone on board either craft, but to his dismay he saw them grow smaller and smaller until in a few hours they passed over the rim of the world, disappearing from his view forever.

Weak, wounded, and despairing, Billy sank to the ground, burying his face in his arms, and there the moon found him when she rose and he was still there when she passed from the western sky.

For three months Billy Byrne lived his lonely life upon the wild island. The trapping and fishing were good and there was a plentiful supply of good water. He regained his lost strength, recovering entirely from his wounds. The natives did not molest him, for he had stumbled upon a section of the shore which they considered bewitched and to which none of them would come under any circumstances.

One morning at the beginning of his fourth month of solitude, the mucker saw a smudge of smoke upon the horizon. Slowly it increased in volume and the speck beneath it resolved itself into a hul of a steamer. Closer and closer to the island it came.

Billy gathered together a quantity of dry brush and lighted a signal fire on the lofty point from which he had seen the Alaska and the Lotus disappear. As it commenced to blaze freely he threw fresh, green boughs upon it until a vertical column of smoke arose high above the island.

In breathless surpense Billy watched the movements of the steamer. At first it seemed that she would pass without taking notice of his signal, but at last he saw that she was changing her course and moving directly toward the island.

Close in she came, for the sea was calm and the water deep, and when Billy was sure that those on board saw him and his frantic waving, he hurried, stumbling and falling, down the steep face of the cliff to the tiny beach at its foot.

Already a boat had been lowered and was putting in for land. Billy waded out to the end of the short shelving beach and waited.

The sight that met the eyes of the rescuers was one that filled them with awe, for they saw before them a huge, gaint of a white man, half-naked except for a few tattered rags, who wore the long sword of an ancient samurai at his side, a modern revolver at his hip and bore in his brawny hand the heavy war spear of a head-hunter. Long black hair, and a huge beard covered the man's head and face, but clean gray eyes shown from out of the tangle and a broad grin welcomed them.

"Oh, you white men!" shouted the mucker. "You certainly do look good to me."

Six months later a big, smooth-faced giant in ill-fitting sea togs strolled up Sixth Avenue. It was Billy Byrne—broke, but happy; Grand Avenue was less than a thousand miles away!

"Gee!" he murmured; "but it's good to be home again!"

There were places in New York where Billy would find acquaintances. One in particular he recalled a little, third floor gymnasium not far distant from the Battery. Thither he turned his steps now. As he entered the stuffy room in which two big fellows, stripped to the waist, were sparring, a stout, low-browed man sitting in a back-tilted chair against one wall looked up inquiringly. Billy crossed over to him, with outstretched hand.

"Howdy, Professor!" he said.

"Yeh got me, kid," replied Professor Cassidy, taking the proffered hand.

"I was up here with Larry Hilmore and the Goos Island Kid a year or so ago—my name's Byrne," explained Billy.

"Sure," said the professor; "I gotcha now. You're de guy 'at Larry was a tellin' me about. He said you'd be a great heavy if you'd leave de booze alone."

Billy smiled and nodded.

"You don't look much like a booze fighter now," remarked Cassidy.

"And I ain't," said the mucker. "I've been on the wagon for most a year, and I'm never coming down."

"That's right, kid," said the professor; "but wots the good word? Wot you doin' in little ol' Noo York?"

"Lookin' for a job," said Billy.

"Strip!" commanded Professor Cassidy. "I'm lookin' for sparrin' partners for a gink dat's goin' to clean up de Big Smoke—if he'll ever come back an' scrap."

"You're on," said Billy, commencing to divest himself of his outer clothing.

Stripped to the waist he displayed as wondrous a set of muscles as even Professor Cassidy had ever seen. The man waxed enthusiastic over them.

"You sure ought to have some wallop up your sleeve," he said, admiringly. He then introduced Billy to the Harlem Hurricane, and Battling Dago Pete. "Pete's de guy I was tellin' you about," explained Professor Cassidy. "He's got such a wallop dat I can't keep no sparrin' partners for him. The Hurricane here's de only bloke wit de guts to stay wit him—he's a fiend for punishment, Hurricane is; he jest natchrly eats it.

"If you'rse broke I'll give you your keep as long as you stay with Pete an' don't get cold feet, an' I'll fix up a mill for you now an' then so's you kin pull down a little coin fer yourself. Are you game"

"You know it," said Billy.

"All to the good then," said the professor gaily; "now you put on the mitts an' spell Hurricane for a couple o' rounds."

Billy slipped his huge hands into the tight-fitting gloves.

"It's been more'n a year since I had these on," he said, "an' I may be a little slow an' stale at first; but after I get warmed up I'll do better."

Cassidy grinned and winked at Hurricane. "He won't never get warmed up," Hurricane confided; "Pete'll knock his block off in about two minutes," and the men settled back to watch the fun with ill-concealed amusement written upon their faces.

What happened within the next few minutes in the stuffy little room of Professor Cassidy's third floor "gymnasium" marks an epoch in the professor's life—he still talks of it, and doubtless shall until the Great Referee counts him out in the Last Round.

The two men sparred for a moment, gaging one another. Then Battling Dago Pete swung a vicious left that landed square on Billy's face. It was a blow that might have felled an ox; but Billy only shook his head—it scarce seemed to jar him. Pete had half lowered his hands as he recovered from the blow, so sure he was that it would finish his new sparring partner, and now before he could regain his guard the mucker tore into him like a whirlwind. That single blow to the face seemed to have brought back to Billy Byrne all that he ever had known of the manly art of self-defense.

Battling Dago Pete landed a few more before the fight was over, but as any old fighter will tell you there is nothing more discouraging than to discover that your most effective blows do not feeze your opponent, the only the knowledge of what a defeat at the hands of a new sparring partner would mean to his future, kept him plugging away at the hopeless task of attempting to knock out this mountain of bone and muscle.

For a few minutes Billy Byrne played with his man, hitting him when and where he would. He fought, crouching, much as Jeffries used to fight, and in his size and strength was much that remined Cassidy of the fallen idol that in his heart of hearts he still worshiped.

And then, like a panther, the mucker sprang in with a vicious left hook to the jaw, followed, with lightning rapidity, by a right upper cut to the chin that lifted Battling Dago Pete a foot from the floor to drop him, unconscious, against the foot of the further wall.

It was a clean knock-out, and when Cassidy and Hurricane got through ministering to the fallen man, and indications of returning consciousness were apparent, the professor turned to Billy.

"Got any more 'hopes' lyin' around loose?" asked the mucker with a grin. "I guess the big dinge's safe for a while yet."

"Not if you'll keep on stayin' away from the booze, kid," said Professor Cassidy, "an' let me handle you."

"I gotcha Steve," said Billy; "go to it; but first, stake me to a feed. The front side of my stomach's wrapped around my back bone."

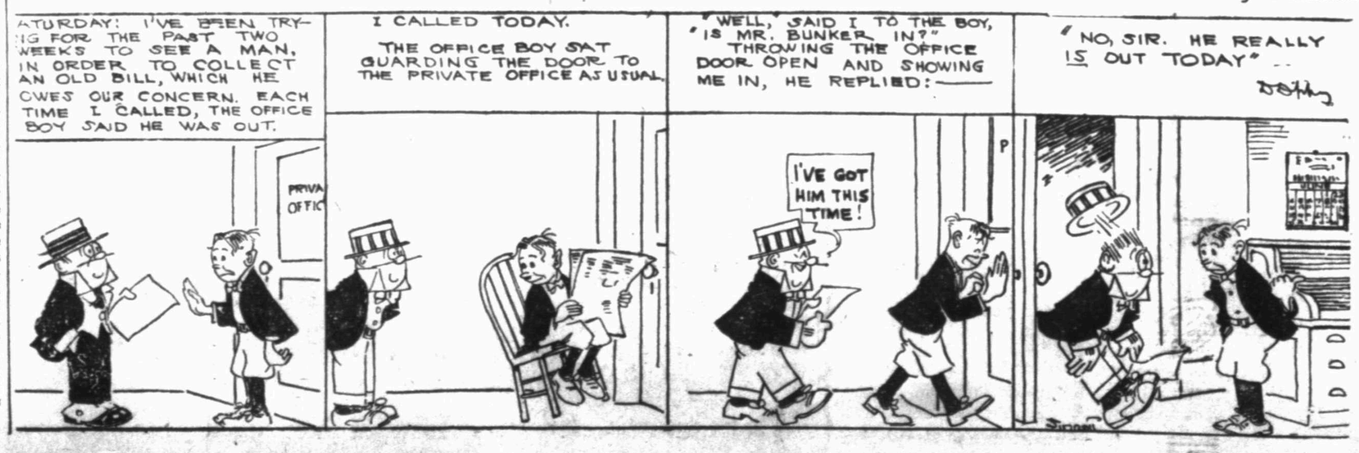

CHAPTER XVIII.
The Gulf Between.

For three months Billy met has-beens, and third and fourth-rate fighters from New York and its environs. He thrashed them all—usually by the knock-out route— and finally local sports commenced talking about him a bit, and he was matched with second-raters from other cities.

These men he cleaned up as handily as he had the others, so that it was apparent to fight fandom that the big, quiet "unknown" was a comer; and pretty soon Professor Cassidy received an offer from another trainer-manager to match Billy against a real "hope" who stood in the forefront of hopedom.

DICKY DIPPY'S DIARY— —By Sennott.

LONG JOURNEY AWAITS OFFICER

South American Trip Goes Begging

Some officer may get a long journey if he attempts to serve a citation issued in the case of Taylor & Zeigler Tank company vs. Uniform Gasoline & Petroleum company.

The citation has been placed in the hands of the sheriff's department a number of times, it was explained Friday afternoon, but has never been served.

But that is no reflection on the sheriff's department, for the deputies of Sheriff Smith are all needed in Wichita county. And the man upon whom the official paper must be served is in South America.

Several of the deputies who were in Sheriff Smith's office yesterday laughed when the chief deputy said: "Here's the citation on that man in South America, who wants to serve it?"

Burglars Roll Big Safe Away But Cops Locate It

Shortly after it had been stolen from John Prang's domino parlor at 211 Mill street, a large safe containing $25 was located by the police department through efficient work on the part of Detective Chief Jack Miller.

The safe was found in a vacant lot 50 yards from Prang's place of business, where the thieves rolled it.

Mr. Prang reported the theft to the police department early Friday morning, several negroes being placed under surveillance soon after.

The place was broken into sometime after 11 o'clock Thursday night, entrance having been effected by the persons who stole the safe reaching through a broken window and releasing the night latch.

Hope Chapter to Hold Ceremonial

Hope chapter, Order of De Molay for boys will hold a special ceremonial on Saturday night, in the Blue lodge room of the Masonic Temple, Tenth at Scott, for the purpose of conferring the work on 30 or 35 candidates. The meeting will be called for 8 p. m., and it is expected that a large number of Masons, as well as De Molay members, will be in attendance. A tableau of the De Molay degree was given as an entertainment feature for the Shriners at their ceremonial on May 23, and it is expected that a large number of them will want to witness the full ceremonial. All Master Masons are cordially invited to attend.

Hope chapter was instituted on March 1, this year, and now has a membership of 125. It is expected that the local chapter will have a membership of 500 on their first anniversary.

Mrs. Cora Langdon Coppinger, now the wife of an army officer, but who during the war, was a "doughnut girl" of the First division, is proprietor of a beauty shop in New York City.

Queen Victoria is seen here with all her children. Although she devotes much time to sports, she takes care personally of her little ones instead of turning them over to nurses and tutors. She sees that the children are kept much in the open enjoying outdoor games.

FASHIONS

Here Is An Interesting Fabric Combination.

A rather interesting and unusual method of combining plain and checked fabric appears in the little bloomer frock shown in the sketch. The dress from which the sketch was made featured an orange-colored poplin and black, white and orange checked gingham. The bloomers are of the checked material, and the little frock has cuffs, collar, and scalloped panels down the front made of the gingham, a little black ribbon tie finishing the frock at the neck. It buttons in the centre back.

Two very charming frocks for the ten or twelve year old girl recently seen, were rather similar as to style, line, and trimming, but quite different in fabric and color selection. For one a gray heavy cotton crepe was chosen, and it was cut on Russian smock lines with neck wide enough so that the frock could be slipped over the head. A round yoke effect and deep bands on the short sleeves were embroidered in a sampler stitch pattern in dull blue, green, red and white. A red patent leather belt held the frock in at the waist line, and red bloomers peeped from beneath the edge of the smock.

The other dress was pongee dyed in an orange shade, and it, too, was cut on smock lines, but with V-shaped neck and a narrow square collar finished with revers. This was embroidered in Russian colorings in wool, and the sleeves were similarly finished. The frock was drawn in with an elastic, which made it possible to slightly blouse it if desired, and there were matching bloomers with cuffs embroidered in the vivid hued wool.

Silks and cottons share honors this season both for grown-ups and children, and in developing clothes for the latter especially simplicity is the keynote, with unusual colors and trimming touches to distinguish them.

Negro Pays Penalty As Vagrant

"You are charged with vagrancy," Judge W. B. Chauncey stated to a large negro who had been brought into police court Friday morning.

"Yassuh," the negro remarked.

"What are the facts in this case?" the court inquired, to which a mulatto negress replied:

"I loans him $5 some time ago, and yestiddy I asks him for it; he got troublesome and swears he don' owe me but a dollar, Judge, and—"

"How much did you borrow from this girl?" the court interrupted.

"I swears I only borrowed a dollar and I never did tell her I'se gwine pay 'er back," the accused one declared.

Further investigation showed that the defendant had been living with a friend and had not been working.

"Your fine will be $25," the court stated. "I never did have much use for a man, white or black, who lived around off of women and would not work."

Fines Easy So He Takes Two

An orderly court and a place where defendants are respected, remarked a Wichitan Friday who had been drawn to police court through curiosity.

His remarks followed a $10 fine that was assessed on a man charged with intoxication. The defendant, who had been shown the usual courtesies of the court, indignantly turned, faced the magistrate and remarked in a stentorian voice, just as if he had forgotten that the Volstead act went into effect long ago and that he hadn't the "right" any longer:

"That's easy, give me another one like that."

"All right," the court averred, "you are fined $25 additional for contempt of court."

Little Stories for Bedtime

JIMMY SKUNK CALLS ON PRICKLY PORKY.

When Old Mr. Toad suggested that Jimmy Skunk go call on Prickly Porky the Porcupine and ask him if he had seen the terrible creature without legs or head or tail whom Peter Rabbit said he had seen rolling down the hill where Prickly Porky makes his home Jimmy couldn't see any way of getting out of it. You see, Old Mr. Toad had been crafty enough to pay Jimmy a very fine tribute. He had said that as Jimmy was not afraid of anybody or anything he was just the one to go. Now after that what could Jimmy do but go? If he didn't go it would look very much as if he were afraid.

"A plague upon Old Mr. Toad!" grumbled Jimmy as he ambled up the Lone Little Path through the Green Forest on his way to the hill where Prickly Porky lives. "Of course I'm not afraid, but, just the same, I don't like meddling with things I don't know anything about. I'm not afraid of anybody I know because everybody has the greatest respect for me, but it might be different with a creature without legs or head or tail. Whoever heard of such a thing? It gives me a queer feeling inside."

However, he kept right on, and as he reached the foot of the hill where Prickly Porky lives he looked sharply in every direction and listened with all his might for strange sounds. But there was nothing unusual to be seen. The Green Forest looked just as it always did. It was very still and quiet there save for the cheerful voice of Redeye the Vireo telling over and over how happy he was.

"That doesn't sound as if there was any terrible stranger around here," muttered Jimmy.

Then he heard a queer, grunting sound, a very queer sound, that seemed to come from somewhere on the top of the hill. Jimmy grinned as he listened. That's Prickly Porky himself telling himself how good his dinner tastes," laughed Jimmy. "Funny how some people do like to hear their own voices."

The contented sound of Prickly Porky's voice made Jimmy feel very sure that there could be nothing very terrible about then, anyway, and so he slowly ambled up the hill, for you know he never hurries. It was an easy matter to find the tree in which Prickly Porky was at work stripping off bark and eating it, because he made so much noise about it.

"Hello!" said Jimmy Skunk.

Prickly Porky took no notice. He was so busy eating and making so much noise about it that he didn't hear Jimmy at all.

"Hello!" shouted Jimmy a little louder. "Hello, there! Are you deaf?" Of course this wasn't polite at all, but Jimmy was feeling a little out of sorts because he had had to make this call. This time Prickly Porky looked down.

"Hello yourself and see how you like it, Jimmy Skunk!" he cried. "Come on up and have some of this nice bark with me." Then Prickly Porky laughed at his own joke, for he knew perfectly well that Jimmy couldn't climb and that he wouldn't eat bark if he could.

Jimmy made a face at him. "Thank you, I've just dined. Come down here where I can talk to you without straining my voice," he replied.

"Wait until I get another bite," replied Prickly Porky, stripping off a long piece of bark. Then with this to chew on he came half way down the tree and made himself comfortable on a big limb. "Now what is it you've got on your mind?" he demanded.

At once Jimmy told him the queer story Peter Rabbit had told. "I've been sent up here to find out if you have seen this legless, headless, tailless creature. Have you?" he concluded.

Prickly Porky slowly shook his head. "No," said he. "I've been right here all the time, and I haven't seen any such creature."

"That's all I want to know," replied Jimmy. "Peter Rabbit's got something the matter with his eyes, and I'm going straight back to the Old Briar Patch to tell him so. Much obliged." With that Jimmy started back the way he had come, grumbling to himself.

CHARMING WOOER BANDIT

Sally Doyle

NEW YORK, June 12.—Earl "Tug" Wilsons proposal to Miss Sally Doyle led them to a jail cell instead of to the altar.

The proposal came while they were seated in Wilson's auto parked along a quiet suburban road.

Suddenly a light flashed in their faces. Behind the blinding light the dim outline of a police officer was visible.

Wilson leaped from the machine. There was a succession of rapid shots. Officer Philbrick was fatally wounded.

"I'm cured of this love right now," Miss Doyle told police after she, Wilson and fifteen members of his gang had been driven into jail.

"I have known him less than nine months, but in that brief time his reckless charm and generous heart fascinated me.

"In those nine months I have fallen in love, been caught in a desperate shooting and sent to prison. And all because of the fascination of this young desperado who won my heart in spite of his crimes."

Auburn-Hair Says She Will Get Woman Responsible For Separation Of Marital Ties With Her Husband

Charges that the woman on trial had caused a separation between herself and her ex-husband, an auburn haired woman who appeared before Judge W. B. Chauncey in police court Friday emphatically declared that "I will get her yet; I've always said I would and I will."

The remark came from the woman as a witness in a case charging a slender brunette with fighting. It developed during the course of the hearing, however, that the former wife had struck the only blow that had been delivered during the alleged affray.

"Well, I hit her; I intended to hit her," the witness testified when E. H. Gipson asked who struck the blow. The woman accused of breaking up a home was discharged, while the city prosecutor attempted to elicit the promise of peace from the lady of auburn hair.

"I'll file a complaint against you for fighting unless you promise that you will not do this again," he warned.

"Well, I won't take anything off of her," was the reply he got.

The husband, it was brought out, had held his ex-wife while his newfound love threatened her with a banana knife.

"Methodist Missionary Mobbed In Mexico by Roman Catholics!"

Lessons drawn from the above outrage will be given by REV. H. D. KNICKERBOCKER in a few plain words about Roman Catholicism at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Sunday night. An object lesson consisting of a Bible stained with the blood of a Methodist Missionary killed by a Roman Catholic mob in Mexico will be exhibited at this service.

This is the first of a series of four sermons on "America" namely, "America, Where Did She Come From?" Second, "America, Its Perils, the Menace of Romanism," third, "American and Other Perils," fourth, "America, Whose Leadership Shall She Follow—Lenine, Debs, 'Fatty' Arbuckle or Paul?"

Sunday night, the Dickson Colored Jubilee Singers will give a half hour's program as a prelude to the sermon.

The subject at 10:50 a. m. will be "Little Things That Bother and the Big Things That Bless."

The morning service closes promptly at Twelve O'clock.

Happiness Doesn't Lie In Wealth Theme of Preacher

By CHARLES BETTS

Evangelist H. C. Hand on Thursday night at the North Side Methodist revival services took for his text the 73rd Psalm.

The minister said: "Life is a warfare. We are continually in danger of slipping. The prosperity of the wicked attracts our attention and we wonder why God allows such to succeed in business and the righteous often are in poverty. The writer of the psalm also wonders at it and even appears to doubt the justice of the Almighty. 'How does God know, and is there knowledge in the Most High?'

"In almost anybody's life there comes times when they almost lose their religion over the 'almighty dollar.' When you see the wealth and seeming happiness of the wicked, you think that your troubles would be over if you had their wealth. But in this you are mistaken. Your spiritual troubles would be but begun. The psalmist went into the sanctuary of God, and there he saw the end of the wicked: 'Surely thou didst set them in slippery places; thou castedst them down into destruction.' From now on the psalmist changes his tune.' Instead of singing his woes, he is singing God's praise, because he is so fortunately situated. We should sometimes go into the canctuary and let the Lord show us how to look upon the good side of things.

"Every one that is truly of a clean heart is indeed blessed, not always in worldly things, but in the spiritual. Christians are always happy.

Uncomfortable After Meals?

Then Try a Pinch of Black-Draught. This White-Haired Alabama Lady Says It Helps Her

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County, lady, said:

"I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go, but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work.

"Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know, for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable feeling after meals.

"Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids digestion, also assists the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors."

For simple, common ailments, due to disordered stomach, liver and bowels, you will find Thedford's Black-Draught a useful and valuable remedy. The purely vegetable ingredients of which Black-Draught is composed gently stimulate the liver, increasing the flow of digestive juices, thereby helping to prevent or relieve constipation in an easy, natural way.

Insist upon Thedford's, the original and only genuine Black-Draught powdered herb and root liver medicine.—Adv.

Crabs Even Series by Hitting in Pinches for Final Game

BESCHER LEADS SPUDDERS IN VAIN ATTEMPT TO STOP HARD HITTING ISLAND CITY HAULERS

Prexy Doak Roberts Drops In to Inspect Rejuvenated Park; Brashear Parks Griffith in Third; Houston Blows In Today For Three Games In Two Days.

By "SPIKE" COOPER

Three Spudder hurlers were used in an attempt to halt the stick attack sprung again yesterday by the Sand Crabs, and the series was evened then the visitors chalked up on the preferable end of a 9-6 score.

Vain glory might today cover the Galveston club since they have accomplished that which has not yet been done this season. They broke even with the Spudders in Athletic park, the only club to do this, since the Panthers came early in the season and departed with an equal break when the final game was rained out.

Though the visitors garnered only one more blow than did the Spudder nine, they hit when runners were perched on the near cushions, and thereby lies the tale.

Both teams demonstrated [illegible] wares in [illegible] fashion before Prexy Roberts, who saw fit to spend his first [illegible] of the season in Spud[illegible] looking them over." He said as he saw the game from an advantageous point.

It remained to Bob Bescher to demonstrate the Spudder liking to the varied assortment of curves and slants of Jack Knight, ace of the Gulfview aggregation. Robert banged away for a perfect day, hammering out five blows in as many trips to the plate. Two of the knocks were healthy doubles into left center.

Visitors Get Too Many

Three runs put the Crabs in the lead in the fifth. Connolly beat out a high hopper to Adams and Eibel's grounder took a bad hop for Al, both going for hits. Brown walked, filling the bags. Thrash flied to Summa in deep center and Connolly registered. Witry singled into center and the bases were filled again. Knight also singled into center and two runners marked up. This finished Perdue's day and Fincher went in. An attempted double steal by Thrash and Witry ended disastrously and two perfect throws by Bischoff and White caught him at the plate.

The final two runs came in the sixth. Moore led off with a single to center. Hendricks again sent one of his bouncers to Adams that was too high to handle. Connolly popped out to Bischoff, but Eibel's drive against the left wall scored both runners. It [illegible] one of the longest singles seen [illegible] park this year. THE BARRAGE

By ROBERT L. RIPLEY.

The barrage continues.

The steady hail of homers falls throughout the land.

A few years ago such a prolific walloper as Home Run Baker led the league with a total of nine circuit clouts, but nowadays we have Hornsby, Ken Williams, and Bing Miller with more than a dozen apiece—and the season only a few weeks old.

And Babe Ruth is just beginning.

There are no thrills in home-run hitting any more. The mighty blows are all too common to arouse the fan to a frenzy of excitement. The magnates thought that the crowds wanted plenty of hitting, and have no doubt accepted the lively ball, which is being used nowadays, as the medium for satisfying the crowds. They have done it without considering the danger that lurks in the using of such a ball. Some day a serious accident will occur and then a less lively ball will be adopted.

Just the other day, Pitcher Hubbell, of the Phillies, was hit on the head by a ball off the bat of Tommy Griffith of the Robins. A fractured skull was the result. Hubbell couldn't get out of the way of the ball fast enough. He did just manage to get his gloved hand up to break the force of the drive, but not sufficiently to prevent a broken skull. And a day or so later Pitcher Miller of the Phillies was hit on the arm by a ball batted by Zach Wheat, which paralyzed his arm for several minutes.

The flight of the ball is all too swift to permit of a player, particularly a pitcher, getting out of the way. Some day a fatal accident will occur and then the club owners will go back to a ball so constructed as to avoid the infliction of serious injury to players.

As said before, the hitting of homers as they have been doing of late, or in the last two seasons, is monotonous. The big sluggers of the Ruth type do not need a lively ball to drive far away. It's a joke nowadays to see a lean, comparatively weak hitter of the Mamaux type slamming out homers. The condition adds nothing to the interest in the game; rather it reduces the enthusiasm of the fans.

TIGERS PUMMEL HOYT AND O'DOUL

By Associated Press.

DETROIT, June 16.—Detroit had the best of a slugging match with New York today, defeating the Yanks, 9 to 4, for the third successive time. Both Hoyt and O'Doul were ineffective, while Dauss who succeeded Ehmke, when the latter was driven from the box in the second, held New York safe the rest of the way. The defeat cost the Yankees the American league lead. Score:

CITY LEAGUES OUT IN FORCE

Promise Plenty Fun In Closing Games

By "HANK" HAYES.

The City League sextette will be out strong today as the season is drawing to a close and the different teams realise they must play hard if they wish to have a hand in winning the City League trophy. The Texas company will grapple with the Gulf Leaders in an effort to wrest the leadership from them. The Stars have a heavy hitting team that will make the Gulf flingers do some tall hearing to stop them.

The Texhoma Oilers are due to play a double bill with the Presbyterians. Should the Oilers emerge with the long end of these games, they will be right up in the league. The Texhomas have a stronger nine than they had at the beginning of the season and are not going to lose the last games of the season to the Churchmen. The Bankers, now leading the league—in games lost—are to meet the Railroaders. The Brakies had to forfeit their last game to the Leaders on account of player shortage, but all the crew will be in their suits today.

Book Printed In 1494 Secured By College

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 16.—While Queen Isabella of Spain was hunting for a pawnbroker so as to "soak" her jewels for money with which to furnish Columbus a sailing vessel and thus permit him to discover America, there was being printed somewhere in her kingdom a book which is now in the University of Texas Garcia library. The book shows on its title page the date 1494. Its title is "Astrolubium," and its author, it shows, was Johann Engel.

This rare book is filled with tables of calculations and astrological predictions and meanings, and includes treatises on witchcraft, the workings of the stars, and predictions of various sorts.

MANY ISSUES DROP SHARPELY

Unsettled Market In Evidence Again

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Recent acute unsettlement in the stock market made further progress today, prices of many speclative issues again breaking sharply after an early period in which the list was disposed to make up some of the lost ground.

Liquidation differed from that of yesterday and the early period of the week in that it was directed more generally against the low priced rails, a majority of the food specialties, minor motors and several of the mail order and chain store issues.

Texas and Pacific was the main target, falling almost 4 points on a string of offerings which included a drop of 1 point between sales. St Louis Southwestern preferred, Wheeling and Lake Eerie preferred, Lake Erie and Western, Rock Island, Pere Marquette, Atlantic Coast line and several of the prominent transcontinentals were lower by 1 to 2½ points.

Mex Oil Holds Up

Almost the one constructive stock of the day was Mexican petroleum, which made a net gain of 8½ points to the high record of 143 1-4, the greater part of its rise being accomplished in the last hour. The buoyancy of this stock went far to restore confidence in the general list, losses in a number of instances being materially reduced at the close. Sales amounted to 1,075,000 shares.

Continued ease of call money rates was a negative influence being based mainly on the light inquiry. The opening rate of 3½ per cent was shaded to 3 per cent in the early afternoon but no relaxation was shown in time funds, such accommodations holding firm in expectation of another extension of clearing house [illegible].

BUSINESS NEWS

LINCOLN.—Winter wheat compares favorably with the past three years average. Spring wheat and barley acreages are increased heavily and the condition is very good. The acreage of oats is decreased slightly and the condition below the average. The condition of hay is below the average. All fruit crops are very promising. [illegible] the summary of the June crop report.

NEW YORK.—The business outlook in the United States steadily improves, according to the National Retail Dry Goods association's June review of trade, comprehending not alone retail conditions but interpreting them in the light of general industrial revival and auspicious farm prospects.

Throughout the country the figures at the beginning of May demonstrated marked betterment in retailing. As compared with April of last year, the figures recorded on April 30 by the twelve federal reserve districts, from 300 department stores, showed a decline in sales values of only 6 of 1 per cent. Since April, 1921, reduction of prices of merchandise in department store lines have materially declined, so that the actual sales volume, as well as the number of sales transactions, made large gains in April, 1922. Some, but by no means all of these gains are attributable to postponement into April of some of the March trade because of bad March weather and also to the coming of Easter in April of this year, a contributory buying factor.

AUSTIN, Texas.—Sixteen Texas [illegible] use about 11 bales of [illegible] grade cotton a week in the manufacture of their products, according to [illegible] compiled by the state [illegible] and warehouse commission [illegible] mills [illegible] of the staple required by [illegible].

DUNN'S FINDS BUSINESS IS ON INCREASE

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 16.—Duns tomorrow will say:

Existing business conditions contrast sharply with those of a year ago. Instead of the repressed demands of the earlier period current buying in various lines reflects breadth and activity and price advances rather than declines now predominate. Less is heard at present than was the case last year of the quieting influence of the near approach of the summer, because there is more work to be accomplished and it is significant that the question as to whether business has improved has changed to discussion of the extent and scope of the revival. While the recovery has actually been in progress for many months, it had come so slowly and irregularly in different quarters, as not to be widely noticed and some unsatisfactory phases had raised doubts as to the character of the forward movement. Weekly bank clearings $6,900,365,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN GOES UPWARD

Wheat Rules Prices Of Other's

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Grain registered upturns today in the value of wheat. The market closed firm, ½c to 1½c net higher, with July 1.11 to 1.11⅛ and September 1.11⅝ to 1.11¾. Corn finished ⅛@¼c off to ¾c higher; oats ¼@⅜ to ½c up, and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a rise of 27 cents.

During transient lull in demand for wheat about midday, the market suffered a sharp setback, July delivery touching a new level for the week. Strong houses here and in the east, though, became active again on the buying side of the market, causing prices to finish at nearly the top point of the session.

Corn and oats were ruled chiefly by the changes in the price of wheat. Crop reports about oats were less favorable than late, the grain heading on short straw in parts of Illinois.

Despite increased warehouse stocks, the provision market finally responded somewhat to higher quotations on hogs.

BIG SPUD CROP

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Production of 20,672 crates or 200 barrels each of early Irish potatoes in the states that produce and ship them after the early southern crop has gone to market was forecast today from the June 1 condition of the crop by the department of agriculture. This indicated an increase over 1921 of about 1,700 cases, with the yield per acre the same and the acreage greater than last year.

One of the workmen employed by the city of Haverhill in the widening of Kenoza avenue found a horseshoe entirely imbedded at the center of the trunk of a tree that had to be cut down.

RALLY FOLLOWS EARLY DECLINE

Slight Gains Made By October Cotton

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Early declines were followed by rallies in the cotton market today owing to reports of rains in the southwest and bullish week-end statistics. October contracts sold up from 21.35 to 21.96, and closed at 21.85, compared with 21.51, at the close of the previous day. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 22 to 34 points.

The market opened at a decline of one point to an advance of one point which was considered a very poor response to relatively firm Liverpool cables. Liverpol bought some cotton here, but there was scattered southern selling. Active months sold about 14 to 18 points net lower during the middle of the morning with July touching 21.50 and December 21.14. Offerings became light around these figures.

Contracts appeared to be scarce following earlier week liquidation and the market sold up to 21.98 for July and 21.80 for December in the late trading, or 48 to 66 points above the low level of the morning, and 32 to 48 points net higher. The close was a few points off from the best under realizing.

SCHOOL DAYS —By Dwig

This Man Wouldn't Stay Down

He was putting in long hours at unskilled work. His small pay scarcely lasted from week to week.

He saw other men promoted. Then he learned the reason. They had special training. He made up his mind to get that kind of training.

He sent to Scranton a coupon like the one below. That was his first step upward.

The reward was not long coming—an increase in salary. Then he was made Foreman. Now he is Superintendent.

It just shows what a man with ambition can do!

What about you? You don't have to stay down. You can climb to the position you want in the work you like best.

The way to do it is easy—without obligating yourself in any way, mark and mail this coupon.

SUBSIDY BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Reported Friday By Committee

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Republican leaders of the house will confer again tomorrow with President Harding on the question of taking up the administration's ship subsidy bill prior to adjournment.

Indications tonight were that they would reiterate the belief that consideration of the measure ought to go over until the December session, but all leaders declared they would take it up and force it to a vote if the president still persisted.

The bill was reported today to the house by the merchant marine committee which rejected the Bankhead amendment providing that no government aid should go to ships on which liquor was sold. There was no action on the Edmonds proposal for imposition of $10,000 fines on all ships, American or foreign, which sold liquor on any voyage starting or ending at an American port.

Representative Garner, democrat, Texas, told the house today what most members had been hearing for 10 days—that Speaker Gillett, Representative Mondell, the republican leader; Chairman Campbell of the rules committee, and a majority of the republican steering committee were against consideration of the bill prior to the election. There was no answer from any of those mentioned by the Texan.

THIRD ARREST MADE IN MURDER CASE

By Associated Press.

DURANT, Okla., June 16.—The arrest of Howard Bracklin in connection with the killing of R. C. Means, will not cause a delay in the preliminary hearing of Harry and Norbert Zack of Dallas, Texas, charged with the crime, which is set for tomorrow, it was said today by Victor C. Phillips, county attorney. Bracklin was arrested Wednesday at Bristow and is in jail here. His preliminary hearing on a charge of murder will be held next week, County Attorney Phillips said. Means was slain here on May 18.

No such city as Troy, or people as Trojans, were known in historic times.

Be It Ordained by the Board of Aldermen of the City of Wichita Falls, Texas.

SECTION I. That any person, firm, association or corporation operating as a public utility under a franchise from this city and selling or offering for sale any product or products through any kind of meters or metering devices shall hereafter be required to make regular and accurate readings of all such meters or metering devices as herein after provided.

SECTION II. That each such person, firm, association or corporation shall by itself or its duly authorized representatives make, at least once a month where the meter is accessible, a true and accurate reading of each and every meter or metering device which it has in active service and through which it has sold or offered for sale any product or commodity and which has been used for determining the quantity thereof so sold or offered for sale; that at the time of each such reading a complete record be made upon which the determination of the quantity of the particular product or commodity which has passed through such meter or metering device for any stated period and for which a charge is made shall be ascertained by subtracting the last previous reading, used for determining the quantity of any such commodity sold or offered for sale, from the last reading so made and that the true and correct dates upon which all such readings are made shall be stated on such meter reading records.

SECTION III. SMITH PROBES SAFE LOOTING

Two Cracked At Iowa Park

Sheriff Fred Smith returned Friday afternoon from Iowa Park, where he had spent a part of the day investigating the looting of two safes in that community.

Reports that two safes had been cracked sometime during Thursday night reached the sheriffs' department early Friday morning, and Sheriff Smith went in person to conduct an investigation.

A total of $400 in Liberty bonds was obtained from one safe while the robbers got $50 from the other.

Sermon Topics At Methodist Church

The following announcement has been handed the Record News by Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, south, corner Tenth and Lamar:

"Sunday night I am going to commence a series of several sermons on 'America.' Various subjects will be: first, 'America, Where Did It Come From?' second, 'America, Its Perils—the Menace of Romanism'; third, 'America and Other Perils'; fourth, 'America, Whose Leadership Shall She Follow, Lenin, Debs, Fatty Arbuckle or Paul.' The significant portion of the first sermon will be an analysis of the meaning of and the placing of the responsibility for the recent mobbing of one of our young Methodist [illegible] missionaries in Mexico by a Roman Catholic mob led by a Roman Catholic priest. It is my purpose to show that protestantism is the guarantee of civil and religious liberty, and it [illegible] beware of subtle and sinister [illegible] protestants or [illegible] Romanists are especially invited to attend. The purpose of these sermons will not be destructive but constructive. The construction [illegible] upon the knowledge of the truth and of the errors that antagonize it.

"The subject of the sermon at 10:50 will be 'Little Things that Bother and Big Things that Bless.' A part of the discourse will be the analysis of three great words to [illegible] with: Wisdom, Beauty, Glory."

Water Revenue Goes To Improvements

Water company revenues over operating expenses will continue to be devoted to improvements and extensions, it is believed following delivery of a verbal opinion by A. H. Britain Friday afternoon against the taking of the interest and sinking fund charges for the bond issues voted to purchase the plant from the company earnings. In his opinion Mr. Britain sustained the opinion given the former administration by City Attorney Mann. Mr. Britain was asked for an opinion on account of familiarity with the city charter, he having been chairman of the commission which drafted it and the meaning of a section in the charter having the principal bearing on the point at issue.

Last year the water company cleared $130,000 over operating expenses, exclusive of interest and sinking fund charges on the bond issue for purchase. The money was expended [illegible] extensions but it was the intention of the council at that time to have the amount refunded [illegible] of the department [illegible] the charter that [illegible] quired by the city [illegible] their own way.

Burton [illegible] commissioner [illegible] interest and sinking fund charges did not come within the meaning of this provision of the charter [illegible] was provided [illegible] and sinking [illegible] come out of the [illegible] taxation.

Yates Lauds New Head At Gatesville

"The reformatory for boys at Gatesville has the best head it has ever had."

Thus spoke R. I. Yates, local juvenile officer, on his return from Gatesville Friday morning.

The new superintendent, J. T. Cantwell, has been in office five or six months, Mr. Yates said, during which time the training school has undergone a decided change in program.

"It is the opinion of Mr. Cantwell that if [illegible] boy to work out in the fields to correct him," Mr. Yates said, "that he will be returned home thinking that he has paid for his punishment. Cantwell believes that the best way to train boys to lead better lives is to educate them, and it is a program of education that he is fostering."

Mr. Yates said that Superintendent Cantwell is urging the appropriation of $100,000 by the state legislature for a new trades building school to be placed at Gatesville. He has the endorsement of the board of governors in his move, it was stated.

13 BLACKS CAUGHT IN ELECTRA RAID

All the violators of the law do not live in Wichita Falls.

Thirteen of them were located in Electra Thursday night, when Deputy Sheriffs Berry, Bryan and Lay slipped quietly into that place of supposed peace and returned later with the mob.

The 13, all of whom were negroes, are now confined in the county prison, with charges of gaming and vagrancy docketed against them.

Seven of the party arrested, according to the officers, are negresses, one of the six men being a negro who has been wanted by the department for some time.

When he gets through serving his time on the charge he is now arrested for, the officers explained, he can begin serving some of his 45 days that he "still owes the county."

Silk Valued At $2,000 Recovered By Corsicana Chief

Through the aid of Chief McKnight of the Corsicana, Texas, police department, silk goods valued at nearly $2,000, stolen here sometime ago from the Colonna Toggery shop and the McClurkan Dry Goods company, have been recovered by the local police.

The recovery was made known Friday afternoon following identification of a part of the recovered goods which had been sent here yesterday morning from Corsicana.

Several negroes connected with the theft of the goods are under arrest at Corsicana, but will be sent here at once, officials of the police department said.

The silk ready to wear was discovered at Mexia.

Sleuth Trailing Pair of Trunks

Active work on a case involving the theft of two trunks and a purse containing $90 was begun by Detective Chief Jack Miller Friday morning when he was visited by Mel Dwight, special agent of the Fort Worth & Denver, who also is investigating the losses.

The purse containing the money was taken from a Fort Worth & Denver train Thursday, a woman en route to Amarillo reporting the loss.

The two trunks have been missing for nearly a week, it was stated, two women who are now in Amarillo reporting that their trunks which had been checked from this city to Electra and thence to Amarillo, had never reached them.

The trunk checks, it was reported, were stolen from the women. A man is known to have called for both at the Electra station.

City to Decorate For Shrine Circus

Members of the cnamber of commerce council went on record Friday as favoring an appropriation of $150 for properly decorating the streets here during the Maskat Temple Shrine circus.

The council's decision acts as a suggestion to the board for such an appropriation, and it was indicated that there is little doubt but that the money will be placed in street decoration.

Motion urging the expenditure followed remarks made by R. E. Shepherd, who said that the entire city will be decorated and that thousands of persons will be attracted here as a result of the mammoth circus.

Mr. Shepherd stated that the Shriners are doing more advertising to let the people in the surrounding communities know that a "big show" is going to be "put on here" than Ringling Brothers ever did.

Special trains will come from Oklahoma and Dallas, he said.

Four carloads of rock arrived in Burkburnett Friday to be used on the new Burkburnett highway, it was stated yesterday, while 29 are en route from Bridge Port.

Pays $15 With Smile On Increase

Two men appeared before the bar when the magistrate of police court ordered the principals in an affray to come forward.

"Are you guilty?" was the question asked both. One a small man, the other a large man, plead not guilty and guilty respectively.

An investigation showed that a fisticuff had ensued over the failure of the man who plead not guilty to pay an alleged debt.

The aggressor of the battle willingly narrated how he had started the fight, and paid a fine of $15 with a smile.

"I told him if he didn't pay me I would whip him," he remarked, "and I think I did."

FOR THE LADIES

Read the most complete society section and woman's interest news published in Wichita Falls Sunday morning, which will be just a part of the big, complete Sunday edition of Your Growing Record News.

"It's getting better every Sunday" a prominent woman citizen said the other day in commenting on The Record News' society section. Sport readers say the same thing about the baseball pages; oil men will tell you that about the Record News oil pages editorial readers will like wise comment on Record News editorials, and so on throughout the paper.

This Sunday The Record News is beginning a brief, but a very attractive feature for the women. This is the first of a series of "Famous Recipes of Famous Women."

Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the president, tells how she makes chicken pie. Now that should be interesting. You'll want to get this.

These recipes were collected by a Texan for book form and later will be published in a volume. Miss Florence Stratton, close relative of former Governor Hobby of Beaumont, gathered the famous recipes mainly through her intimate acquaintance with these women. Record News readers may clip them each day, prepare them in booklet form and preserve them.
