Heavy Blow Dealt Borneo

Big Jap Refinery Is Battered Again; Subs Send Down 11 More Nip Ships

(By The Associated Press)

JAPAN'S vital sources of oil on Borneo has been further crippled by a second heavy Allied air strike, Marines and soldiers in the Palaus are killing more than 10 Nipponese for every comrade lost, American submarines have sunk 11 more enemy ships, but Japanese armies in China appear to have scored another big victory.

These were the segments of the complex Pacific war pieced together today by the latest communiques and field reports.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose air arm has set out to obliterate the huge 3,000,000-barrel oil refinery at Balikpapan, Borneo, announced a 40-ton blow Tuesday which the Japanese resisted fiercely, shooting down seven of the Liberators and losing 19 Zeros in an hour-long battle. This rich source of aviation gasoline and lubricating oil was smashed hard Saturday by 60 Liberators at a cost of three big bombers.

Isolated Pockets Remain

The invaders have captured nine islands and islets in the southern Palaus, except for isolated pockets of resistance on Peleliu and Angaur and have put two seized airfields to use.

Japanese shipping, already hard hit by Allied sea and air action, lost 11 more vessels destroyed by United States submarines foraging in Pacific and Far East waters, the Navy department announced yesterday.

In Northwestern Burma, Japanese defenders of Tiddim, the base from which the enemy invaded last year, have been cut off from the town by a bold stroke by Fifth Indian Division troops.

But in China indications pointed to another Nipponese success in the drive on Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi province. It was feared that Poaching, important bastion on the right flank of the enemy drive, had fallen.

Big Vessels Among Toll

The latest victims of American submarines were a Japanese destroyer, an escort vessel, a seaplane tender, a cable ship, a tanker and six medium and small cargo vessels, bringing to 924 the total of enemy ships sunk or damaged by Yank undersea boats since Pearl Harbor.

Allied air action, reported by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz late Wednesday, had accounted for 11 more enemy vessels sunk or damaged in raids from Chichi Jima in the Bonin islands, 615 miles from Tokyo to Amboina and Celebes in the Southwest Pacific.

A Southeast Asia command communique on the Burma fighting said the Indian division of the British Imperial forces cut behind the Japanese on the road four miles north of Tiddim and turned the enemy's positions. The Indians

Toll Of Nips On Palaus 10 To 1

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 5 (AP)—A total of 336 Marines and soldiers were killed, eight listed as missing and 1,707 wounded between Sept. 25 and Oct. 5 in fighting in the southern Palaus, against 2,755 Japanese slain in the same period.

A communique today announced these totals which increased American casualties since the Sept. 15 invasion to 7,417 as against 11,043 Japanese killed and 187 taken prisoner.

Casualties Classified

Of the latest figures, the American dead included 191 Marines and 145 soldiers. Among the wounded, 1,011 were Marines, 696 soldiers.

The total Palau casualties of the First Marine division are 771 killed, 4,650 wounded, 267 missing. The 81st Army division losses altogether were 251 killed, 1456 wounded, 13 missing.

Today's communique reported air attacks on a Japanese destroyer and a large cargo ship northwest of Iwo Jima, in the Volcano islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Marine Corsairs using the captured airfield in Peleliu in the southern Palaus bombed the airstrip and motor concentrations on Babelthuap, large enemy-held island in the northern Palaus and warehouses at Koror Oct. 4.

Pressure At "Bloody Nose"

Ground troops continued to apply heavy pressure on an enemy pocket at "Bloody Nose" ridge on Peleliu.

Liberator bombers strafed a small cargo ship near Onnakotan in the Kuriles Oct. 3. Near Paramushiro, also in the Kuriles, two enemy planes intercepted unsuccessfully.

The strike at the cargo ship and destroyer off Iwo Jima occurred the same day.

Marcus, Pagan in the northern Marianas, Ponape in the eastern Carolines and Jaluit in the Marshalls also were raided.

U. S. Casualties Rise 16,325 In Two Weeks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (U.P.) — American combat casualties in all theaters, as officially announced here, stood at 417,085 today, 16,325 more than two weeks ago when the last overall compilation was announced.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said at a news conference—his first in two weeks—that army all-theater casualties totaled 351,293 through Sept. 21, including 68,568 killed, 185,921 wounded, 45,488 missing, and 51,316 prisoners of war. Of the wounded, 84,379 have returned to duty.

Navy, Marine and Coast Guard casualties reported as of today totaled 65,792, including 25,963 dead, 25,588 wounded, 9,761 missing and 4,480 prisoners.

Stimson said army casualties in Italy, excluding the air force, totaled 82,111 on Sept. 25. Of these, 15,889 were listed as killed, 56,178 wounded, and 10,044 missing.

Bricker Ired At Plaudits In War

ENROUTE WITH BRICKER, Oct. 5 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker, touring Iowa today, departed from a discussion of agricultural problems to express his ire about people who praise American Allies while forgetting our own soldiers.

The Republican candidate for vice president, speaking before a crowd that clustered about the rear platform of his special train at Burlington, declared:

"I am so disgusted with people who constantly are praising our Allies and forgetting our own soldiers."

He quickly added that he was not detracting "from the valor" of those nations fighting alongside the United States, remarking that Britain "has stood in the gap in the dangerous days" and "Russia has gallantly fought and sacrificed millions of lives."

On Far-Flung Fields

But, the Ohio governor added as his listeners cheered, "throughout it all we have helped them and "while our Allies may be fighting on limited sectors—maybe 500 miles, maybe 1,000 miles—the American soldier and sailor and Marine fight on every battlefield of the world where liberty is being assailed."

Bricker wound up his heavy day, which included nine speeches in Iowa, with an address tonight in Rock Island, Ill.

FDR Charges Plan To Weaken Morale

By HOWARD FLIEGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—President Roosevelt declared tonight that "reckless words" have been dragged into the presidential campaign to "mislead and weaken the morale" of America's armed forces and their families at home.

Mr. Roosevelt, making his second political speech of the fourth term campaign, hit again at the Republican opposition and coupled his words with an appeal for a maximum turnout at the polls next month. His speech was directed principally to Democratic party workers.

Red Herring Trail

"Some political propagandists are now dragging red herrings across the trail of this national election," Mr. Roosevelt said. He declared that "labor baiters and bigots and some politicians" use the word "communism" and apply it to any social legislation and to the views of "foreign born citizens with whom they disagree."

The President referred to a statement by Chairman Anderson (D-NM), of the House committee on campaign expenditures that a document had been sent through the mails by 13 Republican congressmen under their legislative franking privilege without paying postage.

"This document says," the President continued, "that the 'red spector of communism is stalking our country from east to west, from north to south'—the charge being that the Roosevelt administration is part of a gigantic plot to sell our democracy out to the communists."

3,000,000 Copies Printed

The President said more than 3,000,000 copies of the document were printed by the government printing office and continued:

"This form of fear propaganda is not new among rabble rousers and fomenters of class hatred who seek to destroy democracy itself.

"It was used by Mussolini's Black Shirts and by Hitler's Brown Shirts. It has been used before in this country by the Silver Shirts and others on the lunatic fringe."

The President declared he does not seek and does not welcome the support of those committed to communism, fascism, "or any other foreign ideology which would undermine the American system of government."

Russian Relations

That statement, he said, would not interfere with this nation's "firm and friendly relationship" with Russia.

The President did not mention by name his Republican opponent, Gov Thomas E. Dewey, but his prepared speech swept over many things he said have been dragged into the campaign. Some of his opponents, he said, 'try to build up bogies of dictatorship . . . although they know that free elections will always protect our nation against any such possibilities."

This year's election, he said, is being held despite "the prophecies of some politicians and a few newspapers who have stated . . . that it was my sinister purpose to abolish all elections."

Charging that many men and women in the armed services will be unable to vote — an obvious reference to his displeasure with the soldier vote bill passed by

Eudaly Quits A&M For Mill Position

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 5. (AP)—E. R. Eudlay, since 1931 dairy husbandman for A. & M. College Extension service, has resigned, effective Oct. 31, James D. Prewit, acting director of the extension service, announced today.

He will become associated with a feed mill concern in Fort Worth.

Last Dec. 12, the board of directors of the college announced the selection of Eudaly for state extension director. The federal extension service of the U. S. department of Agriculture failed to approve the nomination, but the board and President Gibb Gilchrist insisted that his nomination be approved. College authorities have made no other nomination.

Books For U. S. S. Lubbock's Library Needed In Hurry

The crew that will man the USS Lubbock, an attack transport that will slide down the ways of a Washington shipyard in a few days, will be from "all over," and naturally will want to know the history of their craft's name.

A ship library including books dealing with Lubbock and Southwestern themes was deemed the right answer—but the books are not coming in fast enough.

Saturday is the last day gifts of books may be accepted. They may be left at the chamber of commerce—or the chamber will send after them.

An appeal not to "let the USS Lubbock crew down" was reemphasized Thursday.

Look at your book titles—and call 4666 at once.

Wacoan Among Nine Plane Crash Victims

BOISE, Oct. 4. (AP)—An Army Liberator bomber which crashed in the rugged hills along the Boise river 10 miles east of here last night killed nine fliers and seriously injured another, Col. John R. Kane, Gowen field station commandant, said tonight.

The dead included: Cpl. Peter R. Killingsworth, Waco, Texas.

Scout Council Budget $200 Under This Year Approved

A 1945 BUDGET of $22,163, lower by $200 than this year's budget, was approved for the South Plains Boy Scout council by the executive committee at a dinner-meeting Thursday night in Lubbock hotel.

Earlier in the evening the budget was prepared by the finance committee, headed by J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls.

Twenty counties are represented by the council.

Alex McDonald of Lubbock, camping chairman, reported that approximately $8,000 had been contributed toward construction of a swimming pool at Camp Post, Garza county Scout camping center.

Presenting a report on the Cub program, Dr. C. C. Schmidt of Lubbock, chairman, said that Lubbock pack 1, sponsored by Roscoe Wilson school, had collected over 5,000 magazines in the USO drive to provide reading material for service men making train stops here.

Members of the finance committee present were Dr. F. B. Malone, K. N. Clapp, Sam Henry, George P. Kuykendall, Jack Randal and J. C. Reynolds, all of Lubbock, and J. M. Wilson, Floydada, C. R. Solnick, Plainview, and McLaughlin. Twenty-five were in attendance at the meeting of the executive committee.

G. M. Unger, South Plains scout executive, said that 1944 membership up to Oct. 4 comprised 2,198 scouts, 960 cubs and 762 leaders. He added that the objectives for the end of the year were for 2,200 scouts, 925 cubs and 850 leaders.

Reds Smash In 8 Miles Of Belgrade

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, Oct. 6.—Russian troops converging swiftly on Belgrade yesterday fought their way through the Danube north bank suburb of Pancevo, only eight miles across the river and marshes from the Yugoslav capital.

Berlin announced that upwards of 120,000 other Red Army men had begun a new offensive in western Lithuania aimed at German East Prussia.

Overrunning 50 localities in a swift offensive across the rich plains between the Danube and southern Hungary, Marshal Rodio Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine Army units rolled the Germans back on a 100-mile front, aided by a second junction with Marshal Tito's hard-fighting Partisans. Gains ranged up to 20 miles.

Offensive In North

In the north the Germans said the Russians had hurled from 12 to 14 divisions supported by many tanks into the offensive west of Siauliai in Lithuania. The Russians in this area last were reported within 66 miles east of German East Prussia's annexed port of Memel on the Baltic and about the same distance from Tilsit to the southwest.

The aim of this offensive, about which Moscow kept silent, would be to seal off Riga, 75 miles to the northeast, along with the entire section of northwestern Latvia as a prelude to an invasion of East Prussia, whose border troops already are being kept groggy by Russian punches on the east and south.

Island Said Invaded

Berlin meanwhile admitted that Russian troops invading Saare (Osel) island off the western Estonian coast had hammered out a bridgehead on this large island dominating the Gulf of Riga. Russian seizure of 1,000-square-mile Saare would cut the German seaward escape route out of Riga in cooperation with Col. Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's First Baltic Army push west of Siauliai.

In the invasion of Yugoslavia north of Belgrade the Russians and Partisans were fanning out from the big pivot base of Petrovgrad, at the center of a long front. They were attacking southward toward Belgrade's approaches, northward toward southern Hungary, and westward toward the

Strikers Back On Jobs At Detroit

DETROIT, Oct. 5 (AP)—Maintenance workers in Detroit area war plants—the men who keep machinery and assembly lines functioning—called off their strike today after a high union executive told them "you can't pressure the War Labor board into action through strikes."

The first of 8,000 men whose strike over wage issues with the WLB had stopped or retarded the production of war materiel in 33 factories and made approximately 50,000 workers idle began returning to their jobs on afternoon shifts.

Representatives of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) and of the affected plants said that output, interrupted with the start of the strike yesterday, should be back to normal tomorrow. Seriously affected, according to management spokesmen, was the production of aircraft engines, bomber plane sub-assemblies, anti-aircraft guns, truck and tank parts and other materiel.

It was Walter P. Reuther, vice-president of the UAW-CIO and chairman of the skilled trades division of the union, who told the strikers the WLB would not listen to their wage contentions as long as they remained away from their jobs. He also condemned the strike, which threatened to spread into 300 Detroit area war factories, as a violation of the union no-strike pledge. At the same time he reported that the WLB had promised to "consider the merits of a union proposal for appointment of a WLB fact-finding panel when the strikers return."

Savage Tank Battle Raging Near Aachen

British In Greece Take Port City In Liberation Drive

By GEORGE BRIA
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, Oct. 5. — The British have invaded Greece, landing troops by air and sea in the Peloponnesus, pushing forward rapidly and entering the important port of Patrai in a triumphant return to the scene of their bitter 1941 defeat by the Germans.

At Patrai, third among Greek ports, the invasion forces were only 70 miles west of the Isthmus of Corinth. The narrow neck which leads directly to Athens and links the Peloponnesus to the rest of the Greek mainland.

Landings On West Coast

(The Cairo radio said in a broadcast tonight that the German garrison of Patrai had surrendered, and reported also that British landings had been made at Katakolon on the west coast of the Peloponnesus.)

(The Ankara radio said tonight that the Germans were evacuating Athens and the Peloponnesus, moving hastily northward but hampered by patriot forces which were blowing up bridges and blocking roads.)

Closely coordinated with lesser Allied operations on the Albanian coast and the Greek island of Kythera to the south, and coupled with the Russian approach to Belgrade and the advances of Tito's Partisans in Yugoslavia, this newest invasion promises to speed the disintegration of Hitler's Balkan's positions.

Started Several Days Ago

Announced only today by Allied force headquarters, the invasion was already several days old. It began with airborne landings which met no opposition, and the Tommies ran into fighting only as they neared Patrai.

There they found a German garrison, believed to be one of the few left in southern Greece. Sid Feder, Associated Press correspondent with the invasion forces, reported that the Germans made one offer to surrender to the British, but had not been able to come to terms. That was Monday—there has been no specific word since.

Up to that point, the invasion had more of the air of a triumphant entry than of a military assault. The British soldiers were welcomed with wild enthusiasm by the natives, who swarmed around them with shouts and gifts of food, flowers and kisses.

Mail Awaited Invaders

Escorted by fighters, parachute troops made the first landings, establishing airfields from which Spitfires were operating by the time the sea-borne troops arrived at a small port on the west coast, not many miles from the rocky island of Ithaca, home of the legendary Ulysses.

For the first time in history, amphibious assault troops found their air cover already operating from the territory they were scheduled to invade. They even found mail awaiting them as they came ashore.

Believed Small Force

There has been no hint from headquarters of the size of the force involved in the invasion, but it is believed to be much smaller than the armies which landed in Sicily or Italy.

For a fortnight preceding the invasion the airfields, ports and rail centers of Greece had been pounded by more than 1,100 American and British bombers in an effort to paralyze German attempts to evacuate the mainland and the Aegean islands.

The Greek invasion was accompanied by naval bombardment of enemy positions on Rhodes and other Aegean islands, and huge fires observed on Rhodes were taken as indication the Germans were carrying out demolitions preparatory to abandoning that important stronghold.

Flying Bombs Again Hit Southern England

LONDON, Oct. 5. (AP) — The Germans opened up on southern England with a fresh salvo of flying bombs tonight, apparently releasing them simultaneously from Heinkel carriers ranging along the eastern coastline.

FIGHTS UNIONERS—Naval Lt. Randolph Dickins, 23, above, of El Paso, who is recuperating in a Bethesda, Md. hospital after many months service in the Pacific, told of a fist fight Sept. 23 in a Washington hotel lobby, with a group of men who identified themselves as members of the teamsters union. Dickins and a buddy said the men accused them of disloyalty when they declined to tell the group they would vote for President Roosevelt.

Heavies Batter Supply Funnels

LONDON, Oct. 5. (AP)—American and British air fleets, totaling more than 1,300 bombers, pounded German Air force concentrations and railway supply funnels today in operations directly supporting Allied ground forces.

Exploiting a let-up in the bad weather, approximately 1,100 American heavy bombers, escorted by more than 500 fighters, hit four airdromes near Munster and rail yards at Rheine and Cologne. (Rheine lies between the Dutch border and Osnabruck.)

Thirteen heavy bombers and five fighters were missing from the American attack, the Eighth Air force announced in a communique.

Heavies Pound Wilhelmshaven

The RAF sent 200 heavies with fighter escort to bomb Wilhelmshaven in the morning, but clouds hampered observation and the result was undetermined. One bomber was missing.

The second tactical airforce sent 100 medium bombers and 100 Spitfires to bomb and strafe enemy forces near Nijmegen.

Fortresses and Liberators worked over important German ir fields at Handorf, Lippstadt, Paderborn and Loddenheide. Lippstadt and Handorf were known to be operational bases, Paderborn was a plane park and Loddenheide housed repair shops for ME 109's. All had been crowded with Nazi planes forced out of France and Belgium, including some of the new, jet-propelled fighters.

Al Smith's Body To Lie In State Today

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (AP)—Thousands of persons who knew and honored Al Smith as a statesman, a business man, and a layman leader in the Catholic church will file through St. Patrick's cathedral tomorrow to pay their respects to the 70-year-old "Happy Warrior" who died yesterday.

The body of the four-term governor of New York state and Democratic presidential nominee in 1928 will lie in state in the cathedral from 2 p. m. until the start of the funeral services at 11 a. m. Saturday.

There will be no honorary pallbearers and the coffin will not be opened. The family requested that no flowers be sent.

Burial will be in the family plot at Queens Calvary cemetery.

Fortified Village Taken, And Nazis Rush Up Reserves

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Oct. 5—American forces, battling four miles into Germany through the punctured Siegfried line above Aachen, captured the fortified village of Beggendorf in a strong advance today. After

THE ROAD TO BERLIN
Western front: 300 miles (from North Venlo).
Russian front: 310 miles (from Warsaw.)
Italian front: 306 miles (from south of Bologna.)

pushing on eastward they were locked tonight in the first great tank battle ever fought on German soil.

The Germans rushed up reserves of armor in a determined attempt to stem the American drive, which carried approximately two miles beyond Ubach and threatened to plunge deep toward the Rhine.

Heavy Artillery Blast

Driving into the teeth of the heviest German artillery concentration of the European campaign, Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges' First Army veterans slugged doggedly through the enemy's "emergency" defenses north of Aachen on the fourth bitter day of their offensive and by night virtually were astride the main Aachen-Gladbach highway.

Drying ground enabled heavy American tanks to cut a[cross] fields and crush the Ger[man] near earthwork defenses, ma[ny] in many instances by second troops shifted hurriedly from [the] er side of the wide gap in the [Sie]fried line. By mid-afternoon a total of 55 Nazi pillboxes had been destroyed in the four-day drive.

For several hours massed German artillery held up Hodges' armor outside Beggendorf, a "little Pittsburgh" of the Rhineland but then on the Shermans went surging through the town and fanned out east and southeast in churning drives to exploit their local breakthrough.

Intended Anchor Captured

Capture of Beggendorf, east and slightly north of Ubach, broke the back of a Nazi attempt to make the village a southern anchor of a second line of defense behind the ruptured west wall, reported Hal Boyle, Associated Press field correspondent.

"The Nazis had tried to use Beggendorf as a tank harbor and an ambush," Boyle said, "sent out civilians to try to get American artillery to withhold their fire on the spurious grounds that it had no military installations."

"Things definitely are beginning to open up," declared an American staff officer. "We are

Nazis Bitterly Resist In Italy

By WILLIAM B. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, Oct. 5.—American Fifth Army troops battling yard by yard in the rolling mountain country south of Bologna have won positions just 14 miles from that Po valley communications center with a one-mile advance through tenacious German defenses, Allied headquarters announced today.

In the face of Nazi artillery pouring all types of shells at them, the doughboys captured Monte Venere, a high peak dominating the main road to Bologna, won positions to the northeast a short distance from Monte Morosino on the Mola road and in their deepest penetration toward Bologna seized a ridge just north of La Selva, five miles east of highway 65 at Loiano.

Artificial Moonlight

Near Rimini on the Adriatic, Canadian troops fought in artificial moonlight created by searchlights to gain the last German-held ridge overlooking the city. The tough Royal Edmonton regiment advanced, sometimes in single file, to win the summit in hand-to-hand fighting. Four hundred Germans were captured.

Between the Americans and the Canadians, British troops advanced to a point one mile northeast of Castagno. West of the Americans, South African units entered Lagaro on the Prato-Bologna road, and advanced to positions on the eastern slopes of Monte Cigese, a 3,500-foot peak offering a clear field of fire on highway 64 from Pistoia to Bologna.

Survey Shows President With Only Slight Advantage Now

FDR And Dewey In Home Stretch Running Neck-And-Neck, Latest Gallup Poll Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5.—As the presidential race enters the home stretch, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey are running virtually neck-and-neck in popular votes among civilians, with the President holding a slight advantage.

GALLUP

Roosevelt 51%
Dewey 49

Latest returns in the Institute's continuous nation-wide polling show that, on the basis of an estimated turnout of 39,500,000 civilian voters in November, the present standing of the candidates is:

Translated into millions of votes, using 39,500,000 as a preliminary estimate of turnout, the above percentages, excluding minor parties, would give Roosevelt approximately 20,100,000 votes at this time, to 19,400,000 for Dewey—which would be one of the closest presidential elections in history.

Balloting in the survey began at the time Dewey started his western tour early in September, and continued up to the first part of this week. Most of the returns were in, however, before President Roosevelt's address to the Teamsters' Union or Governor Dewey's reply at Oklahoma City. Hence, today's figures reflect only in part that colorful exchange of campaign blows between the two candidates.

Future reports based on balloting now in progress will show the full effect of the two speeches.

Today's survey figures must be interpreted in the light of a three to four percent normal error to which all polling operations are subject. In any election race as close as this one may be, the normal error in the poll means that either candidate could win, with the odds at the moment slightly in favor of Roosevelt.

A second factor to be taken into account is that the present poll results do not include any soldier votes. The size of the vote in the armed forces cannot be estimated with any degree of reliability at this stage of the campaign, nor is the percentage division of political sentiment among the servicemen

Nazi Capture Of General Bor And Staff Complicates Polish Set-Up

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 5. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Tadeusz Komorowski, (Gen. Bor) leader of a guerrilla army crushed in the streets of ruined Warsaw in a 63-day struggle, was captured by the Germans less than a week after the Polish government-in-exile had named him Polish commander in chief.

A German report that the general and his entire staff had been taken prisoner after the death or capitulation of their army Monday within sight of Red Army troops across the Vistula was confirmed by a Polish government spokesman.

Gives Lie To Rumors

At the same time the spokesman said the development "gave the lie" to the assertion last Saturday by the rival Soviet-sponsored National Liberation committee that Komorowski had ordered the ill-fated uprising Aug. 1 and then sought safe shelter 18 miles outside the capital.

Komorowski's capture, upsetting government plans for leadership of the Polish armed forces, may have any one of these three effects:

1. Appoinment of a new commander acceptable to Moscow.

2. Return of the post to Gen. Kazimierz Sosnkowski.

Triumvirate May Act

3. Continuance of military authority under a triumvirate, the president, minister of defense, and chief of staff, which was formed to operate while Komorowski still was battling in Warsaw.

Moscow dispatches have estimated that as many as 250,000 Poles died in the struggle but a Stockholm dispatch today quoted the German-controlled Swedish telegraphic bureau as saying that 50,000 Poles were killed in the second battle of Warsaw.

Government To Turn Back Most Acreage

DES MOINES, Oct. 5. (AP)—Of 11,955,714 acres acquired by the federal government for war purposes, a Justice department official said today, all except standby plants and training facilities required for military preparedness will be returned to private use once it has served its purpose.

The national association of assessing officers was told this by Norman M. Littell, assistant attorney general, who also said in an address prepared for delivery that "under the bill controlling the disposal of surplus adopted on Sept. 19 . . . the greatest land acquisitions by the government in any similar period of time in our history will melt away and be reabsorbed in the private holdings."

Woman On Ledge Bombards Street, Finally Rescued

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP) — A 55-year-old housewife, perched precariously on the sill of her apartment, hurled household furnishings into the street below for more than two hours today and then threatened to jump while hundreds of spectators looked on.

Police, afraid to enter the apartment of Mrs. Barbara Worthington for fear that she would jump to the street 20 feet below, unsuccessfully tried persuasion while her husband, Thomas, was rushed home from a Chester war plant.

The woman, who bombarded the street with bedding, a radio, rugs, chairs and the family strongbox, was finally persuaded by her husband to leave the ledge and taken to a hospital.

Woman To Give Up Her Regent's Post

FORT WORTH, Oct. 5 (AP) — Mrs. I. D. Fairchild, Lufkin, only women among the nine regents of the University of Texas, said today she did not feel that she could accept another six-year appointment when her term expires Jan 1.

In an interview with the Star Telegram, Mrs. Fairchild denied a report that she planned to resign. She said she had not heard a report that Martin Dies, retiring from Congress, might be appointed.

"I did know," the Star Telegram quoted her as saying, "that he is coming to Lufkin to practice law, and he certainly would make a good member of the board.

"However, I would like to see another woman appointed—there are so many women students in the university."

Controls On Use Of Magnesium Removed

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (AP) — George C. Heikes, director of the War Production board's aluminum and magnesium division, announced today the lifting of all government controls on the use of magnesium.

He told a meeting of the magnesium association that there now were no other controls on the use of the light metal for products which includes all varieties of civilian goods.

Vocational Training Set For Texas Cons

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (U.P.)—Copies of "The Echo," published in the Texas prison print shop at Huntsville, Tex., which were received here today announced state prison board approval of a plan to let qualified prisoners attend vocational school.

The announcement said: "Classes will be held at the vocational school with groups leaving the institution to attend the regular class periods. It is believed to be the first time that such an experiment has been conducted in a penal institution. The results are expected to be watched closely by penologists and it might well be indicative of a new advanced trend in prison education."

The announcement said that several details remain to be worked out between the Texas vocational school, the classification bureau, the department of education and the parole board before the plan is put in actual operation.

Stevenson Says Recommendations On 1945-47 Budget About Ready

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson said today he is already conferring with the board of control on budget recommendations to be placed before the 49th legislature for the fiscal years 1945-47 but he was not ready to say definitely how much progress has been made.

The governor did say, however, that unless the legislature got the "financial big-eye," there would be no necessity for it to make appropriations exceeding anticipated revenues.

Can't Exceed Revenues

Under terms of a constitutional amendment which will apply to appropriations after Jan. 1, 1945, the legislature may not, except by four-fifths vote, make appropriations in excess of anticipated revenues.

Stevenson said the state auditor had estimated general fund revenues of approximately $90,000,000 for 1945 and 1946 and that such prospective revenues exceed current appropriations by approximately $8,000,000 for the two-year period. He felt this would give ample funds for the reasonable appropriation increases without exceeding the constitutional limit.

General Fund Deficit

State Treasurer Jesse James reported today that the current deficit in the general fund is $3,061,927, compared with $22,125,255 on Oct. 5, 1943. State fiscal officers have anticipated that there will be no deficit by the end of the year. Sharp reductions in appropriations and better tax collections have made possible the reduction to date.

James also reported today that the cash balance in other state funds, exclusive of general revenue, was $45,267,672.

New Will By Houston Woman Is Probated

HOUSTON, Oct. 5. (U.P.)—A typewritten copy of a will alleged to have been written by the late Mrs. Thelma Bradley Merchant, who died in Houston on Aug. 3, had been admitted to probate today, naming Mrs. L. V. Rhoades of Dallas as beneficiary of an estate estimated at $75,000.

Decision of County Judge Roy Hofheinz to admit the missing will to probate invalidated another will which named Mrs. Merchant's sister, Mrs. Pearl Bradley Shepherd of Beaumont as sole beneficiary.

Attorney for the deceased testified he had prepared a typewritten will form naming Mrs. Rhoades beneficiary at Mrs. Merchant's request, and that she later told him she had copied it in her own handwriting.

Sea-Land Route Via Havana And Mexico Planned

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 5. (AP)—Appointment of a committee to further plans for establishment of a sea-and-land route linking Miami, Fla., Havana and Mexico City was announced today by the Mexican Tourist association.

The proposal calls for ferry boat service from Miami to Havana and from Cuba to Quintana Roo, Mexican territory on the Yucatan peninsula.

Mexico would construct a highway from Quintana Roo to link with the Pan-American highway now under construction, and leading to Mexico City or Central America.

Miguel Gonzales Rodriguez, representative of the National Tourist corporation of Cuba, now in Mexico in connection with the project, said the new route would offer advantages for tourists from the United States going to Cuba.

"Tourists could go from El Paso, Texas, to Mexico City on the highway now being constructed, or from Laredo, Texas, on the road already completed," Gonzales Rodriguez said. "They could put their automobiles aboard the ferry boats and continue to Cuba or Florida."

Governor Proclaims Thanksgiving Day As November 30

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson today proclaimed the last Thursday in November, Nov. 30, as Thanksgiving day in contrast with the congressionally-designated fourth Thursday or Nov. 23.

In his proclamation, the Texas governor noted that "the uniformity of its designation as the last Thursday in November dates from 1863."

Stevenson had been wrestling with the problem of which day to designate since early in September. He said then that while he would like to keep state holidays in line with national holidays for unity of spirit as well as business convenience, dates for several Thanksgiving occasions had already been set in Texas for Nov. 30.

Among these were the annual University of Texas-Texas A. & M. football game, as well as other traditional Thanksgiving games, and the annual Thanksgiving meeting of the Texas State Teachers assocaition.

Whole Blood Is Being Flown To Battlefront

PARIS, Oct. 5. (AP)—Whole blood being flown from the United States to meet increasing battlefront needs has been used to save lives of American soldiers in the Siegfried line only four days after it was contributed in the States.

Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hanley, chief surgeon of U. S. forces in Europe, in disclosing increased demands for whole blood, said it was superior to plasma for immediate treatment of badly wounded soldiers.

Dies Not Suggested To Stevenson As Regent

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson said today all he knew about the possibility that Rep. Martin Dies of Orange might be named to the University of Texas board of regents was what he had read in the papers.

He said Dies' name had not been suggested to him as a possible successor to Mrs. I. D. Fairchield of Lufkin. She said yesterday in Fort Worth that she did not feel she could accept another six-year appointment when her term expires Jan. 1. She said she had not heard a report that Dies might be appointed.

Stevenson had no comment on Mrs. Fairchild's statement that she would like to see another woman named to the board. She is currently the only woman member.

Rains Increasing War Difficulties

LONDON, Oct. 5. (AP)—Autumn rains are increasing the difficulties confronting all Allied fighting men on the Western front, the Eastern front, and in Italy—and the first snows are not far away.

Along the northern flank in France and the low countries, where the mud of Flanders still is a byword 27 years after the first World war, rains turn the land into quagmires.

Heavy Snows Expected

The Allied armies in Italy can expect heavy snows in about a month.

On the Eastern front the Russians can expect the Polish plains to turn into a bog in short order. The first hard frosts normally come in December.

Intermittent snow, rain and thaws continue for about six weeks on the northern end of the Russian front before the ground hardens sufficiently for large-scale operations.

Prices On Dried Pulp Are Frozen By OPA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. (AP)—Farmers using dried beet pulp will pay an estimated 40 cents more per 100 pounds under new dollars-and-cents ceiling prices announced today by the Office of Price Administration.

Effective October 9, the national average freeze prices on dried pulp and dried mollasied pulp, used largely for livestock feed, will increase about $8 a ton, OPA said, while wet pulp maximums will go up about 38 cents a ton.

A maximum of $46.50 a ton, less the per ton carload freight rate to Atlanta, Ga., has been set for area "B," which includes Texas.

MORNING THOUGHT: Congressman William J. Miller of Connecticut, who lost both legs in World War I, has this story to wounded veterans of this war: "It's not what you leave on the field of battle that counts, but what you bring back; that is, you may leave your leg or arm but you still have your will power and your ambition, which will make your disability a minor factor in your life if you want it that way. You will be surprised at the compensations you will find on your return to civilian life."

THE KIT BAGS

UNDER supervision of Mrs. C. Fred Litton and Mrs. M. L. Shepherd, 20 workers filled 240 Navy kit bags Monday at the Red Cross production rooms and soon the articles will be on their way to gladden the hearts of a Navy man.

The bags are filled on the productionline idea (you've seen pictures of automobiles or planes being assembled haven't you?) and the women don't lose any time in packing them.

Included are such items as envelopes, soap in metal boxes, shoe polishers, shoe laces, pocket books (usually mystery types), sewing kits, playing cards, cigarets, etc. This time a book on first aid was packed in every tenth kit, gift from the Red Cross headquarters.

The bags were cut under supervision of Mrs. R. E. Garlin and made by women in the sewing room under supervision of Mrs. S. B. Haynes.

The Slaton chapter filled 10 per cent of the kits.

WOMEN AS WORKERS

SEVEN out of ten women war workers plan to continue working after the war, and want peacetime jobs, according to final tabulations from a war plants survey by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Nearly two-thirds of the married women—64½ per cent—and four-fifths of the single women workers in the poll declared their intention to seek postwar employment. The survey found 19 per cent of the women planning to go back to housekeeping when the emergency is over, and 7½ per cent planning marriage after the war; 2 per cent intend to return to school when their war jobs terminate, while 7½ per cent expect to be in the market for postwar jobs.

THE report comments, however, that a considerable proportion of women job seekers may change their minds when the postwar period actually arrives. Peacetime jobs for surplus feminine labor will probably average lower in pay and in desirability than those available now. There will almost certainly be heavy public pressure for wives and mothers to return to the home, and for women to step out of jobs in favor of returning veterans. Such influences after World War I reduced the great 1917-18 bulge in women's employment down to a normal ratio within two years after the armistice. But the report points out that even though a considerable number of wartime women workers change their minds about seeking postwar jobs, the survey figures indicate that there will be enough left in the job market to be a substantial factor in the postwar employment situation.

Two-thirds of the women polled in the survey were 25 years old or over. The group under 25 differed sharply in their plans from the older group, with 18½ per cent planning marriage when the war is over, 5 per cent expecting to return to school, and 12½ per cent planning a return to housekeeping, while 65 per cent announced their intention of seeking postwar jobs. Only 50 per cent of the married women workers under 25 wanted employment after the war.

PLANT managers interviewed generally praised both quality and quantity of work performed, reporting that women have proven completely satisfactory in numerous jobs formerly reserved for men, and in fact have improved on men's performance in some types of work.

From the women's angle, many feel that they have disrupted their lives and personal habit to serve in the war emergency, meanwhile acquiring valuable skills and a taste for using them, and that they have thereby become a rightful part of the nation's permanent working force.

Though the various war plants in which polls were taken are distributed over widely separated sections of the country—Connecticut, the Chicago area, and the Twin Cities—there was remarkable uniformity in the returns from the diferent areas, according to the report.

Current Washington estimates of 18,40,000 women now in the labor force represent an increase of some 5,600,000 since 1940, the report said.

OWI 'Restricted' Report Fears Bad Dislocations After V-E Day

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—A "restricted" report of the choice of war information which came to light today predicts "that dislocations in civilian life after V-E day (Victory in Europe) are likely to be widespread and, in some quarters, serious."

The survey, assembled three weeks ago, predicts the end of hostilities in Europe "before or not long after the end of 1944," but OWI Director Elmer Davis said it now appears the date "might be more remote."

Restrictive Distribution

Davis refused to make public the report, although 4,000 copies already have been distributed to persons in the advertising business. He said information in it was obtained from government agencies on the promise that the facts would not be made public. OWI officials said portions of it which have been published are correct excerpts but may be somewhat out of date.

The report cites a War Production board estimate that about 5,000,000 people will be changing jobs in the year following V-E day, that a "substantial portion" will be absorbed in the reconversion of industry, but that "in most cases a war job will continue to be the best job for at least six months after V-E day."

Forecast Outdated

The forecast on the end of the German phase of the war, he said, is outdated. "Everybody is agreed since the Arnhem affair—the gallant but futile Allied effort to maintain an airborne bridgehead across the Rhine—'the European war looks longer than it did three or four weeks ago," Davis said.

OWI predicted an increase in inflationary pressures after V-E day and even after victory over Japan, adding that price controls may continue for "quite some time."

Other forecasts included easing of gasoline rationing "very gradually" over several months, and the end of passenger car tire rationing within three months after V-E day.

Strikers In Mexico Stage Demonstration

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 5. (AP) — A protest demonstration has been held by several hundred strikers against 16 shops manufacturing millinery and women's clothing whose strike had been declared illegal by the conciliation and arbitration board.

The strikers yesterday bore a coffin surrounded by four candles and two large signs, one of which read: "The right to strike was assassinated on October 3 by the federal conciliation and arbitration board and the other: "Senor Carranza. In 1917 you consecrated the right to strike. In 1944 the revolutionaries murdered it."

Stopping first in front of the offices of the Federal Labor board, the paraders proceeded to the labor ministry. They placed the coffin in the principal patio, and one of their leaders made a speech attacking the labor authorities, while a copy of the labor law was torn to pieces and burned.

The strikers alleged that their movement was declared illegal without their being given a hearing.

The Marianas islands were transferred from German ownership to Japanese mandate after World War I.

Hurricanes Season May Be Over---You Can't Be Too Sure

Miami, Fla., Oct. 5. (AP)—You can take heart from hurricane statistics, if you live on the Atlantic or Gulf coasts of the United States—but keep your weather eye open.

Figures gathered over a 50-year span show an average of seven tropical storms blow out of the doldrums — the equatorial area where calms prevail—each year, and already this year the weather bureau has charted eight, including the severe September hurricane that raked 1,000 miles of the East cosat. But—

"Don't read into these figures the assumption that we have had all the 1944 storms we'll have," warned Grady Norton, meteorologist and ranking hurricane authority.

"They may indicate only that we're in the middle of a busy season.

"The average takes in years when only one disturbance was mapped. And it also takes in 1933, when 21 storms were tracked.

"Remember September and October are the worst months, so far as hurricanes are concerned.

"Coastal residents should keep prepared to take precaustions against these cyclonic storms until mid-November—and we've had them right on up until December."

There is good reason to hope, however, that no other storms this year will compare in ferocity with the one of Sept. 8-14, which already is ranked by the Weather bureau among the comparatively few "great" hurricanes.

Westerners Play Lamesa Tonight

The Lubbock Westerners, seeking to make it four in a row against powerful District 3-AA opposition, move into Lamesa tonight to battle Coach "Gob" Fitzgerald's scrappy Golden Tornadoes.

The Westerners will be without the services of Billy Bob Harris, and the work of R. W. Moyers will be rather limited in the Lamesa game. Otherwise, the Westerners will have their regular lineup intact for the game tonight, with the return of Johnny Pearson to the lineup. Pearson, co-captain and star guard, missed the game at Big Spring last week.

Add Final Polish

The Westerners tapered off their drills for tonight's game with a light workout Thursday afternoon. They put in the time polishing their plays and going over the defense designed for this game.

Just what starters the Lamesa eleven will call upon remained unknown. The club made a promising start in the season, beating the powerful Tahoka Bulldogs, and holding the vaunted Brownfield Cubs to a 6-6 tie. The Golden Tornadoes then ran into the Odessa Bronchos and this schoolboy powerhouse stormed over them last week, 45-0.

The Lamesa eleven is expected to be on the rebound this week, and the game will be anything but a soft spot for the Westerners to land in. The club's showing this season has been far better than this score indicates.

Stoney Wall Shines

Given his chance last week in the absence of Johnny Pearson, Stoney Wall has come into the picture, and is now making a real battle for the guard position with the Westerners, and gives Coach J. Mule Davis at least one more first line reserve.

Wall is not expected to start against the Lamesa club tonight, but he will be sure to see plenty of action between the kickoff and the final gun.

Davis is expecting to start Co-Captain Clinton Benefield and Gerald Davis at ends, Eldon Giles and O. C. Foster at tackles, Co-Captain Pearson and Charles Crawford at guards, Charles Pressley at center, Johnny Cole at quarter, George Brewer and Johnny Davis at halves and Jim "Pinkey" Lowrey at fullback.

Both Cowhand Clubs Face Tough Battles

The home football schedule will feature the Cowhands Gold team this afternoon as they square off with the powerful Petersburg Buffalos at Chapman field. The other Cowhand eleven, the Blacks, will play tonight in Slaton.

Coach George Philbrick will be in charge of both clubs today for the busy schedule. He will take over the Gold eleven this afternoon while Coach Marlin "Shorty" Hayhurst is on a scouting mission.

Both teams have put in an extensive week's schedule to prepare for this pair of games. The kickoff for the local game is scheduled for 4 o'clock.

Unbeaten Clubs Face Big Tests

(By The Associated Press)

A round of eliminations faces unbeaten teams of Texas schoolboy football this week-end not merely because elevens without defeat clash in four instances but because some of the perfect record outfits meet teams capable of knocking them from their pedestal although not themselves in the ranks of the unbeaten and untied.

First there is Amarillo. The Golden Sandies play San Angelo, which lost to Lubbock but which came back like the prairie wind last week to smash Denison.

Port Arthur On Spot

Then consider Port Arthur, which takes on Lufkin's Panthers, who have been flying high since losing to Tyler in the season opener in a game that produced eight touchdowns.

And so on down the list of the 28 teams with unsullied records until the conviction grows that the field might easily be cut to 20 when all returns are in Saturday night.

The feature battle matches two of the undefeated, untied elevens —Highland Park's clash with Waco at Waco Friday night. From this game — barring a tie — will come an outstanding favorite for the state championship.

Plainview, Midland Clash

Plainview and Midland play at Midland in another game in which unbeaten, untied teams figure, while two of the perfect record outfits—Brackenridge of San Antonio and Kingsville—meet elevens that have not lost a game but have been tied, Brackenridge playing San Jacinto of Houston and Kingsville tackling Harlingen in a conference game of district 16.

There are 49 games on Friday and Saturday cards, 45 of them Friday. Here is the week-end schedule:

Friday—Quanah at Pampa, Levelland at Brownfield, Borger at Electra, Childress at Wichita Falls, Amarillo at San Angelo, Odessa at Big Spring, Plainview at Midland, Lubbock at Lamesa, Austin (El Paso) at Ysleta, Bowie (El Paso) at Mesa, Ariz., Durant, Okla., at Sherman, Waxahachie at Paris, Denton at Gainesville, Mineral Wells at Greenville, McKinney at Bonham, Sulphur Springs at Mt. Pleasant, Arlington at Grand Prairie, Masonic Home (Fort Worth) vs Arlington Heights (Fort Worth), Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) vs North Dallas, Vernon at Breckenridge, Stephenville at Cisco, Olney at Ranger, Handley at Weatherford, Highland Park (Dallas) at Waco, Temple at Ennis, Cleburne at Hillsboro, Corsicana at Bryan, Gladewater at Marshall, Longview at Athens, Kilgore at Texarkana, Crockett at Palestine, Livingston at Huntsville, Tyler at Jeff Davis (Houston), Port Neches at Beaumont, Lufkin at Port Arthur, Sam Houston (Houston) at Pasadena, Lake Charles, La., at Orange, Jefferson (San Antonio) at Laredo, Reagan (Houston) at Corpus Christi, Lamar (Houston) at Austin, San Jacinto (Houston), at Brackenridge (San Antonio), Fredericksburg at Kerrville, Kingsville at Harlingen, San Benito at Brownsville, Edinburg at Robstown.

Saturday—Polytechnic (Fort Worth) vs Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth), Adamson (Dallas), vs Crozier Tech (Dallas), Abilene at Brownwood, Nacogdoches at Austin (Houston).

Raiders Await Saturday Game

The Texas Tech Red Raiders taper off their extensive defensive drills of the week today, and will mark time until the kickoff Saturday night at Tech stadium with the undefeated, untied Oklahoma Aggies.

The Red Raiders will enter the game as the underdog against the veteran Cowboys from "north of Red river" but fans who have watched the Red Raiders in action this week believe they will make their best showing of the season against the Fenimore paced Cowboys.

Fenimore Is Star

Fenimore, a 190 pounder, is both a fast runner, and a great passer, and has been rated as one of the outstanding backs of the nation. He was a great performer last season, but going out of the game with injuries about mid-season.

The Red Raiders have worked all week on defense work, and Coach Dell Morgan will have every chance to test the fruits of the week's labor against the powerful Cowboys Saturday.

The Red Raiders appeared to be in top shape for the game, with a number of non-starters showing up well during the past week. There were indications Thursday that Coach Morgan would use the veterans, Jack Dillon and Don Dudley at ends, rookies Bruce Frazee and Billy Joe Snodgrass at tackles, letterman Bobby Hayes and freshman Homer Lawson at guards, freshman Otis Turner at center as the forward wall.

Probable Starting Backs

One veteran and three freshmen appear now to be the likely starters in the backfield with Walter Schlinkman pacing the club with his running mates made up of Gene Hardey, Costin Bufkin and Arthur Shahan.

The Oklahoma club boasts of seven lettermen in their lineup, and all of them loom as sure starters Saturday night. Two of these will be in the backfield with Fenimore and Nate Watson. Foster and Colhouer, weighing 220 and 205, respectively, are veteran tackles, Neal Armstrong, 190 pound end, Ross Duckett, 190 pound guard and John Gattis, 180 pound center round out their veteran starters.

Post Eleven Romps Over Tahoka B Club

TAHOKA, Oct. 5 (Special) — After being held in check for one quarter, the Post football eleven struck in each of the closing three periods here tonight to defeat the Tahoka B team, 18 to 0.

Billy Sheppard smashed off tackle in the second quarter to hit pay dirt from six yards out for the first touchdown. In the third period, Bobby Cash passed to Jimmy Bird for 8 yards and another touchdown. The finishing touch was supplied near the end of the game when Billy Thomas intercepted a Bulldog pass and galloped 35 yards to score.

The Tahoka Bulldogs will go to Floydada Friday night for a non-conference game.

BISONS STILL UNBEATEN

DALLAS, Oct. 5—The Sunset Bisons failed to kick the extra point here tonight, but won 6-0 over the Forest Avenue Lions for their fourth straight 8-AA conference win by one touchdown to none. The Bisons had beaten North Dallas, Adamson and Woodrow Wilson by 7-0 scores.

PASCHAL WINS AGAIN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 5—Paschal High remained undefeated and untied in Texas schoolboy football here tonight with a 13-to-0 win over the Graham Steers from District 2-AA. Paschal gridders have rolled up 82 points for the season against two for the opponents, and held the opposition scoreless in the last three games.

Cardinals Even Series By Nosing Out Browns, 3 To 2

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 5. (AP)—The Cardinals took advantage of the Browns' fielding lapses to gain an early lead and then lashed out with two timely hits in the 11th inning today as they whipped the American league champions 3 to 2 and squared the first all-St. Louis World Series in the longest game played in the baseball classic since 1935.

Away to an unearned two-run lead when the Brownies' defense fell apart in the third and fourth innings, the National league titleholders broke through again in the second extra frame on blows by Ray Sanders and pinchhitter Ken O'Dea after the junior circuit boys had pounded Max Lanier for the two tying runs in the seventh.

A crowd of 35,076, paying $152,553, saw the two starting pitchers, Lanier, the southpaw ace ace of the National leaguers, and 32-year-old Nelson Potter of the Browns hook up in a pitching duel during the early innings.

Both Starters Yanked

Potter went out for a pinchhitter in the seventh as the Browns staged their uprising. Lanier departed the scene after Mike Kreevich, Brownies' centerfielder, opened the eighth with a double.

Blix Donnelly, who hurled the last two innings yesterday when the Browns won the series opener, and Bob Munchief, troubled with a sore arm the latter part of the season, were just as brilliant, neither giving ground until Ray Sanders led off the 11th with a single to center. Whitey Kurowski moved him up with a sacrifice. Marty Marion was passed intentionally but O'Dea, batting for second baseman Emil Verban, caught one of Muncrief's fast pitches for a line single into right to decide the issue.

Strike Outs Plentiful

Thirteen Brownies went down via the strikeout route, six by Lanier as he hurled one-hit ball for the first six innings and seven by Donnelly. The 29-year-old Donnelly reached his greatest heights in the eighth when he struck out three of the four men to face him after Kreevich sent the chunky Lanier to the showers. Donnelly checked the Browns with two hits in the last four frames to become the winning pitcher.

Potter whiffed three and Muncrief four but the former set the stage for the Brownies' eventual downfall when he was charged with two errors on one play in the third inning.

With Verban on first as the result of a single, Lanier sacrificed. The ball popped into the air between the plate and pitcher's box. Potter barely got his hands in the ball, fumbled it and make a wild throw to first, allowing Verban to go all the way to third. Augie Bergamo, who replaced Danny Litwhiler in left field for the Cards, couldn't get the ball past second baseman Don Gutteridge but that was enough to let the fleet Verban cross the plate with the game's first run.

The Cards picked up the other unearned run in the fourth. Mark Christman was guilty of another error that loaded the bases with only one out. A walk to Sanders and Kurowski's first hit of the series put men on first and second. The Brownies' third baseman then fumbled Marion's hard grounder. Sanders rounded third for home but fell and scampered back to the hot corner. Verban sent a high fly to Chet Laabs in left and Sanders easily romped home after the catch.

But the "Cinderella Kids" showed some of the mettle that carried them to the American League pennant by tying up the count in the seventh. There was no indication of an uprising as McQuinn fanned to start the inning and Mark Christman fouled to catcher Walker Cooper.

Gene Moore, whose single opened the Browns' victorious rally in the first game, singled to center. Weak-hitting Red Hayworth rapped a curve to the left field fence. That was good for one run. Frank Mancuso, also usually a weak hitter, batted for Potter and singled to center, scoring Hayworth with the tying run as the Brownies' supporters went wild.

The American League fans seemed squelched as Don Gutteridge grounded out to end the inning but rose up again as Kreevich lashed out with a double to open the eighth. Donnelly was called in to put out the fire and he did it by striking out Chet Laabs for the third straight time, fanning dangerous Vern Stephens and also Christman after walking George McQuinn.

He set the American Leaguers down in order in the ninth and allowed one hit in the tenth. McQuinn's double at the start of the eleventh put him in a spot but when Christman bunted down the third base line, the rookie hurler rushed in and made a good play to Kurowski at third to catch McQuinn by an eye-lash.

Billy Southworth, manager of the Cards, announced he would lead tomorrow with freshman pitcher Ted Wilks, who won and lost 4 during the regular season. Luke Sewell said he would send out Jack Kramer, another veteran with a 17-13 record.

SPAAF Battles NTAC Tonight

Boasting a new fullback and in hopes of making their mark in the win column, South Plains Army Air Field's Winged Commandos meet the Demons of North Texas Agricultural college Friday night at Arlington.

A probable starter in the fullback spot will be Claude McClennehan, an all-city back in Dallas last year and a star on the Sunset high school team. He weighs 170 pounds and has been working out with the Commandos all week. He will alternate at full with Tony Romeo.

The glider gridders arrived at Fort Worth Thursday afternoon and drove out to Arlington for a workout under the lights Thursday night. There have been two stiff scrimmage sessions in the limited time between the TCU game and the trip back to Fort Worth.

SPAAF is counting on Pitchin' Paul Campbell of Breckenridge to provide the spark in tonight's game at Arlington. Paul played quarterback in the TCU game, but will start against NTAC at tailback. Big 200-pound, six-foot-tall John Stungis, who kicked the field goal for Ohio State which beat Illinois 24-21 in 1943, will play quarterback. A booming blocker and a powerful runner, Big John has also learned to pass and is expected to be a standout in the SPAAF backfield. He did not play against TCU.

Pirates Roll Over Plowboy Club, 19-0

GEORGETOWN, Tex., Oct. 5 (AP) Southwestern university defeated the John Tarleton eleven from Stephenville here tonight 19-0.

Bob Porter, Fabens, intercepted a pass and ran 80 yards for the first touchdown.

The other two touchdowns were on running play, with Ray Butler, Rising Star, and J. K. Liles, Palestine, going over for the markers. Fred Moore, freshman from Wink, converted on Butler's touchdown.

A Contrast In Governors

A GREAT many Texans on both sides of the national political fence no doubt would like to see their governor in the spotlight of the presidential campaign, going around and about the country espousing the cause of their particular favorite. But for our part, we are glad Gov. Coke R. Stevenson is looking after his own job—a job which the governor personally described to the Editor of The Morning Avalanche as plenty big enough to keep me busy."

The case of the governor of Oklahoma is in point.

Big, jovial, Eugene Kerr has become a national figure in the Fourth Term campaign. Perhaps with his eye on the New Deal party's vice presidential nomination in 1948, he has been beating the hustings over the land while his office in the Sooner state's capital has been as vacant as an automobile show room. His name, to be sure, has become known from border-to-border and from coast-to-coast, but his job—the one to which he was elected and which he sought with much vigor—has been shunted aside.

Taking note of the condition, the Daily Oklahoman, of Oklahoma City, points out that while Governor Kerr has been busily engaged in national politics he has forgotten a dozen pressing problems of his home state as the meeting date for the Oklahoma legislature draws closer by the hour.

In short, Governor's Kerr's complete immersion in national politics has made it impossible for him to serve his constituency; he has decided between national politics and his own responsibility to his people in favor of the former, and might just as well have never taken over the post of Oklahoma's chief executive.

In Texas, our common-sense governor has chosen the less glamorous, but the more practical path. Not only has he eschewed national campaigning, he has stayed aloof from the punching, pummeling wings of the party in this state, knowing it is his duty to serve all the people, not any one segment of them. He stays on the job, administers to his office and the planning he does is for the good of Texas and does not take into consideration the post-war problems of Patagonia.

Coke Stevenson "hired out" to be governor of Texas, not the political poobah of either the New Deal or the Old Line wings of the Democratic party in this state. The people put him on the payroll to be the state's chief executive, not a traveling medicine man for a candidate seeking the presidency.

That the governor is doing what he is supposed to do, and what the people hired him to do, is not surprising to those who know him best.

That's doubtless the reason, too, why he was the favorite candidate in every one of Texas 254 counties in the election of last July.

"By Kenneth L. Dixon!"

A GREAT deal of well-earned praise rightfully has been heaped upon the slender shoulders of Ernie Pyle, the 'GI War Correspondent." Although deep into his late forties, Ernie has "taken it" at the fronts with youngsters half his age and has become the nation's favorite reporter of wartime doings of its young men afield.

But another correspondent—younger than Ernie and hailing from the same State of New Mexico—is doing a good job, too, although folks don't hear as much about him. He is Kenneth L. Dixon who, within a few short months, catapulted from the relative obscurity of a Carlsbad copy desk to a daily by-line in particularly every important morning newspaper in the land.

Like his older neighbor, Dixon is frail, physically speaking. The Army said it didn't want him when, early in the war, he tried to get into a fighting man's uniform. But also like Albuquerque's Ernie Pyle, Carlsbad's Ken Dixon digs foxholes, dodges shells and bombs with the best of the fighters and writes bang-up copy about the doings of our troops.

Dixon, who was news editor of the Hobbs News-Sun before taking a similar post with the Carlsbad Current-Argus in the late 1930's got a lucky break when the manpower shortage opened the door of opportunity for him by way of an Associated Press job at Albuquerque. But from there on, his meteoric climb was the result of no lucky break, but, instead, of sheer courage and outstanding ability.

We of the Morning Avalanche are happy to have Ken Dixon's by-line in our paper; are proud of the youngster who used to visit our office and look forward to a time when an opening here would put him on our staff.

Like his more celebrated colleague, Ernie Pyle, Ken Dixon is doing a fine piece of work for the home folks and has earned for himself a post-war niche in any American newspaper office or press association he may choose.

The One Minute Sermon

O Lord, thou hast pleaded the causes of my soul; thou hast redeemed my lift.

O Lord, thou hast seen my wrong: judge thou my cause.

Thou hast seen all their vengeance and all their imaginations against me.

Thou hast heard their reproach, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me;

The lips of those that rose up against me, and their device against me, all the day.—Lamentations 3:58-62.

Believe It Or Not --- By Robert Ripley

Germany Will Try It Again

By Sigrid Schultz

(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1919 to 1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World War I to World War I. And she saw the behind-the-scenes preparation for the coming "war-in-peace" that she warns may culminate in World War III. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace, plans that even now are being put into effect.

LONG before the Second World War could be finished, when in fact it had only really begun, another war was launched in Berlin. It was not declared, nor would it ever be, for this was a secret war, a war within a war.

The men and women who fight it are both soldiers and civilians. They take their orders from military and civilian leaders of daring and vision, with wide knowledge of human beings and the world, and an utter contempt for anything that does not serve their common cause—German world supremacy. These leaders include military experts, heads of industry and business, scientists, artists, influential clergymen, women, professors, and key men in foreign countries. They wear no distinguishing uniform, use no lapel buttons or mystic handclasps for identification, but they are inescapably bound together by their community of purpose. As members die, or become useless, new members are added. It is an efficient body. It should be, for it has been working together to perfect its strategy since August, 1918, when General Ludendorff gathered the original conspirators together to save the German army.

Since then its membership has quietly directed the creation of world-encompassing political and financial structures. It knows that the lethal power of the new weapons is confirming the rest of the world in a horrified determination to outlaw war. It plans to exploit our hunger after peace for its own ends.

THE new secret war dates from October of 1940. I was then correspondent in chief for Central Europe of a big morning paper of my native Chicago, and the Berlin commentator for an American broadcasting system. I had many old friends and confidential contacts among the German underground. As soon as the secret orders were issued, they saw to it that I was quietly informed.

During that period, one of my most trusted informants arrived many hours late for our appointment. He had that evening survived his third Gestapo-contrived automobile accident wthin a week.

He told me of the summons sent out by Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo, to every agent who had worked in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Denmark, and France. From them the most successful were to be trained for new campaigns in new countries. Added to his information came other details, each fitting neatly into the jigsaw. I learned of the school in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, which specialized in training agents for Africa.

Aside from these there were the law professors, who had their orders to examine the old Chinese penal codes, to prepare a "scientific work to be used as a propaganda tool in Asia." Trusted Berlin lawyers, called into conference with Himmler, were requested to develop cases and business connections for good alibis in traveling to still neutral countries; they were promised special plane transportation to Spain and South America. If they could find plausible excuses, they would be sent to Mexico and the United States.

Insurance companies, moving firms, travel agencies, and artists' bureaus, which had already been useful in Southeastern Europe, worked out detailed reports on their practical experience. These were submitted in turn to propaganda experts in the liaison staff of Rudolf Hess, and to the foreign-service staff of Heinrich Himmler. Field Marshal von Brauchitsch ordered his military espionage service to get ready to "branch out beyond the countries assigned to them," and to "report on political and economic possibilities." Great rivalry spurred on the three groups to write the report which would win Hitler's approval. There was no doubt about the importance of these various memoranda—they were to guide picked experts in the kind of warfare in which the Germans excel: war-in-peace.

IN the preceding June, the British had incredibly snatched their trapped armies off the bloody beach of Dunkerque. The unexpected rescue disconcerted the Germans. But not as much as what followed.

For weeks the strategy officers of the German High Command, the air and navy experts of the general staff, conferred on French soil along the Channel, plotting their course: their next invasion should give them England, the giant aircraft carrier from which Germany's planes would complete her conquest of the world.

While they were polishing up their new blitz, British planes dared the long flight from London to Berlin to bomb the German capital.

In the dense fog of a dark September night, fully manned barges of a trial German invasion fleet set out from France, destination England. Nearly all of them went up in flames.

The evacuation from Dunkerque, the bombing of Berlin, the loss of their preliminary invasion force—three blows in succession at the army, the air force, the navy—gave pause to the German High Command.

The generals suddenly remembered that other day, in 1914, when the Kaiser's troops were turned back from the gates of Paris by the battle of the Marne. At the time, ranking generals had warned the Imperial High Command that Germany could not hope to win. And that war had been lost. Might not this one, too, be lost?

Then make ready, far in advance. Prepare for the battles-in-peace before the open war can fail. Prepare for "all eventualities," so that in victory or in seeming defeat Germany will win the object of her repeated aggressions.

Put the best brains in Germany to devising new undercover strategies. Miss no single detail in plotting the chart of intrigue, speculation, exploitation, vilification, fake love and fraternization, revolt, arson, class warfare, race riots, bribery, murder and general Kultur with which to carry on the German battle for domination when the world shall trustingly lay down its arms again, as it did in 1918.

Officials Say "Joke" Was Misdemeanor

LEBANON, N. J., Oct. 5 (AP)—Orville Hartrum, Clinton township supervisor of roads, thought he was playing a joke on Coroner Humphrey, but yesterday Justice of the Peace Hoffman fined him $100 and costs for committing a misdemeanor.

Hartrum told the coroner he found an old man dead in a newly-dug cesspool at his home in Cokesbury and that he had buried the corpse.

Humphrey called in the county prosecutor, a detective and a state trooper to investigate. After they had made a trip to Cokesbury, Hatrum admitted he had been joking. The officials decided it was no joke.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

I WAS very much interested in a controversy on education between Philip Robert Dillon, noted editor and author, and Daniel S. Sanford, professor of psychology at the University of Western Maryland.

The controversy was being conducted in that excellent weekly newspaper, the Newton, Conn., Bee, and the subject was: "What is the Mark of a Man or Woman of Education."

Dillon maintained that learning, knowing, good manners, were marks of education, even if these virtues were never put into action. He quoted Milton "They also serve who only stand and wait."

Professor Sanford, on the other hand, thinks that true education is "doing based on knowing" and that knowledge acquired by studying is of little value unless it is utilized to "contributions in a wide range of human activities."

I have great respect for Mr. Dillon, who has devoted a long life to study, and to the writing of such works as "The United States Flag," "American Anniversaries," "The Penmanship of New York and other learned subjects.

But, in his column in the Newtown Bee, he, kind of condescendingly, suspects Professor Sanford of considering Henry Ford, John L. Lewis, Henry Kaiser, Gene Tunney and other "utilitarian pragmatists" educated men.

Well, Mr. Dillon, I wonder.

In the recent hurricane our power went out. We had no lights, no heat, no water, no radio — nothing that contributes so much to the joy of modern living.

Did I wish for one of your your books, for Shakespeare or Milton or any of thoee "who-only-sit-and-wait" dreamers who were, undoubtedly well educated but, oh, so impractical?

No, Sir! I waited for Thomas Edison's light to come on again, and for my pump, invented, I believe, by Coorlington, and for my refrigerator, surely not the invention of a dreamer, and for all the other "utilitarian pragmatisms" without which all the education in the world seems to be so useless in times of emergency.

And, as we sat in the dark, I blessed Henry Ford, whose Lizzie gave us a chance to escape the darkness and to flee to town, motor chugging, headlights shining, radio blasting — with never a thought of that so greatly educated man Henry Cabot Lodge, whom you mentioned in your article, and who was such a well-mannered, perfectly geared and terrible bore.

NO, Dr. Dillon, education without putting it into useful action is like a vase full of artificial flowers, a gorgeous Rolls-Royce without an engine, a house after a hurricane, or like too many glamour girls — beautiful but dumb.

And since you quoted Milton, let me quote him, too:

"I call a complete and generous education that which fits a man to perform justly, skillfully and magnanimously all the offices, both private and public, of peace and war."

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

(Ray Tucker is now on tour, surveying reconversion and political situations. His column will be written from the cities he visits.)

DETROIT—Volume production of automobiles for civilian use will not be possible for a long time after Victory-in-Europe day under the administration's present reconversion program. Not a single workable plan for restoration of this vital industry, which provides direct employment for 7,000,000 people and millions of jobs in allied lines, has yet been put into effect by Washington.

Topnotch executives in this motor capital painted a black and unbelievable postwar picture for 40 newspaper and magazine correspondents from the Eastern Seaboard and Middle West in the last few days here in Detroit. Their play-by-play descriptions of their present and future problems, together with visits to Ford's Willow Run, the Packard, Plymouth, General Motors and Chrysler plants, reveal the threat of serious unemployment and a transportation crisis unless the administration begins to tackle America's No. 1 economic difficulty more promptly and realistically.

Indeed, the officials who ought to know insist that War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes's heralded plan to reduce military production by 40 per cent after V-E day will throw thousands out of jobs without creating new occupations for civilians. It will, they explain, release manpower and materials, but it will not enable the manufacturers to turn out a single automobile for eager purchasers. It will not even permit them to make parts and accessories —not even a tail lamp—for truck and passenger vehicles now falling apart every day.

MACHINERY: Here is why: Packard builds Rolls Royce engines for British and American fighting planes—the Mustang, P-48, Hurricane, Spitfire, etc. They are tremendous pieces of machinery, weighing about 1,500 pounds, or more than half as much as some cars do.

Obviously, the crankcases and other sections of this great engine cannot be utilized in an ordinary automobile But almost all the key plane parts are brought together by the assembly-line process. You may reduce the amount rolling off the conveyers by 40 per cent, as Mr. Byrnes proposes, but the unused machinery cannot be turned to making flivvers. It remains merely dead and unproductive.

The men and women who now operate it will lose their jobs. The demand for steel, copper, aluminum and other metals will drop by 40 per cent, creating unemployment in those industries. That will be the effect of the procedure the South Carolinian has praised so highly in all his recent speeches and utterances. It looks fine in the headlines, say the spokesmen for the daddy of America's industrial family. But it just won't work.

The things Washington should do to prevent a possible postwar collapse, which may follow in some degree Hitler's defeat alone, are not highly technical or complex matters. Common sense, business judgment and coordination between government and industry, according to the auto kings, are the only requirements.

Take the simple question of "clearance space." The Detroit plants are cluttered from floor to roof with heavy machinery and supplies which have become obsolete by contract cancellations or changes in weapons. Tanks needed on the Normandy beaches differed radically in design and functional purpose from those now storming the Siegfried Line. The material we throw against the Japs will vary from both kinds.

These massive inventories occupy room desperately necessary for making bombers, fighters, new types of armored cars, Bofors guns etc. Unless they are removed now, the companies may have to erect new and costly buildings, even though Germany may fold up in a few months and Japan some time next year. It would be a useless burden for the taxpayer, for Uncle Sam will foot the final bill. But Henry Ford II, C. E. Wilson of General Motors, Alvan Macauley of Packard and K. T. Keller of Chrysler dare not lay a patriotic finger on this stuff.

If they throw it out in the back yards as they did with their own valuable equipment after the fall of France in 1940, they may face damage suits for injuring federal property. For some unknown reason Washington will not set a price on the usable and purchasable pieces. And there are no vacant warehouses in the whole Detroit area.

Daily begging and table-thumping have failed to persuade the War Production board, the Army and the Navy to send pricing and inventory experts with authority to survey the situation and decide what should be retained and what junked.

"In my opinion," says Keller, Chrysler president, "from the long-range standpoint of national economy, prompt peacetime employment and quick production, it would be cheaper to dump the damn stuff in the Detroit River. I may yet, too."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

AT LAST the public is being notified that the end of the conflict may be delayed. New York big business executives reached that conclusion some time ago, although they kept their judgment to themselves.

Statements made by Prime Minister Churchill and cables from Moscow correspondents confirm the opinions held by many corporation heads that the war may drag through the winter. They all admit, however, that a break-through, a German revolt, a Hitler obituary or some other "miracle" could change the outlook overnight.

The altered picture makes some quarters uncertain about the speed of reconversion. The changed prospect will necessitate sharp adjustments in many blueprints. Industrial conditions in the spring, following an exhausting winter campaign and an April offensive, may be quite different from what they would be were the Nazis to quit in November.

American business leaders hope for the best. Meanwhile, they are reluctantly leaving some of their cherished plans in pigeonholes, within easy reach, and are feeling their way—not yet deciding on a final course of action.

COMPETITORS: When the Fisher brothers terminated their relations with General Motors after an association of 25 years, everyone from Wall Street to Michigan speculated about the next move of the well-known family. Some tippers swore to the lowdown that the group would immediately form an independent manufacturing corporation. But no revelations came from behind the closed doors of the Fisher building in Detroit.

The writer queried Lawrence Fisher as to what he and his kinsmen intend to do. He replied, "We brothers are still asking each other the same question."

There is much wrinkling of brows in New York industrial and exporting circles regarding foreign trade and the effect that a prolonged war will have on it. For example four or five companies dominate the production of one type of heavy machinery. Their annual output capacity is approximately $65,000,000.

Russian agents a few weeks ago asked for equipment valued at $185,000,000, an order large enough to keep the wheels humming for around three years —a simon-pure bonanza.

But if signing the contract is held up by doubts of the war's end and the promptness of delivery, the local crowd will be in pins and needles. It fears that Moscow's friendliness may wane as the aftermath of the panning it is getting from certain groups here. Salesmen are even more apprehensive of rehabilitated European competitors' having time to steal a march to the Kremlin.

Women are unreasonable. One in Massachusetts is suing her husband for divorce merely because he made her serve his breakfast in bed each morning and now and then beat her when the coffee wasn't exactly to his liking.

"Scientists are unable to account for a recently discovered tooth apparently thousands of years old which weighs 12 pounds."—Press dispatch. It would be our guess that this tooth was once owned by an animal with a large mouth.

Here And There In Texas

Latham Was "Just Between Rock And A Hard Place!"

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, Oct. 5.—Some persons wondered why Secretary of State Sidney Latham took neither side in the contest before the State Supreme court between the May and September sets of the Democratic Presidential Electors.

But a long study of the situation and statutes had convinced Latham that regardless of which set of electors eventually were entitled to the Democratic column on the general eventually ballot, he could recognize none but the May electors.

To put it in Latham's own words, he was in the same position that would be occupied by a justice of the peace if someone attempted to conduct a trespass to try title suit in the justice court.

The justice of the peace would decide he could not act in the matter but that would not be a determination of the rights of the contenders.

Latham said in his position he was bound to recognize only the May electors and the right of another set to displace them belong solely to the court.

Listened To Arguments

In legal terms the May electors who had been regularly certified were de facto electors (electors in fact) and the question of displacing thm was outsid Latham's jurisdiction.

Having reached that conclusion, he, naturally, took the position that it was not his province to ask the court to act one way or the other. He merely entered his appearance and listened to the arguments of lawyers on both sides.

"I WAS gratified to find my study of the situation had apparently been comprehensive," Latham told friends. "On both sides there were not more than on or two cases or customs cited which I had not consulted in my inquiry. I could have furnished both sides with authorities favoring them which they did not include."

It was noticeable that in reaching its decision the Texas Supreme court made no reference to soldier ballots nor to the recent ruling of the U. S. Supreme court in the celebrated negro voting case.

Pro-Roosevelt attorneys had argued that there was no way to make a Roosevelt soldier ballot fully effective with 15 Democratic lectors refusing to vote for the President.

The negro voting case might have been argud in support of a contention of the other side that a later convention could not change nominations by an earlier one.

When this point was argued, court members inquired for any case on that in which the nomination involved was one regulated by statute—the U. S. Supreme court decision was that election rights are the same in a primary as in a general election, for which the regulations are statutory.

"Smart Guys" Miss Boat

Many individuals modestly admit they thought out the little resolution that upset Texas Democracy and is giving the party at large some shivers.

The instruction to Texas delegates to vote against the national party nominees if other Texas delegates were seated in the Chicago convention really put a stinger into the revolt.

Surprise of the whole thing was the obtuseness of national party leaders who fell into the trap.

THERE was no danger of President Roosevelt failing to get the nomination at Chicago so the Texas anti-fourth-term delegation might well have been seated with full vote without endangering the result. Then the electors of the May convention would have had no grounds for voting against President Rooselt and Truman.

With the splitting of the Texas delegation vote, they were in the tenable position of merely carrying out their instructions by saying they would vote for other Democrats.

Should the "Texas Regulars" ticket win in the state in November, they would lack power unless the contest between Roosevelt and Dewey is close enough for Roosevelt to need the 23 electoral votes of Texas to win.

If he lacked them, the Texas electors then could propose that Democratic electors from other states join them in voting for Virginia's Senator Harry Byrd or some other Democrat to block a Republican victory.

Home Front Angel

Benefactress of harrassed wartime home-hunters is Mrs. W. R. Derr of Abilene.

In the last two years, Mrs. Derr has found homes for 60 or more frantic families — army people. And her service is free.

The manner in which the service is run is as unique as the service itself. When Mrs. Derr hears of an available apartment, she records the address in pencil on the door facing near her telephone.

When the opening is filled, she rubs out the address to make room for another one.

Couples with children do not hear that inexorable "no children" when they call Mrs. Derr. Many of the families she has placed have included children.

Mrs. Derr is not discouraged by the fact that in her two years of much-needed service, she has received but one "thank you."

Service movie theaters at posts and camps in the United States are estimated to have an annual attendance of over 180,000,000.

War In Pacific

beat off several strong counter-attacks.

Nips Preparing To Leave

Frontline observers said huge fires were burning in Tiddim, indicating the enemy was destroying his supplies in preparation for an attempt to escape to the east.

The Chinese high command said no word had been received from the defenders of Poaching. The fall of this city would be an important victory in the Japanese effort to eventually take Kweilin and block off interior Chinese aid to the expected Allied invasion of the China coast.

The Chinese, however, said they were still holding the enemy in check six miles east of Foochow, goal of a Nipponese movement aimed at closing this last east coast port still free of Japanese control.

Bombers Pound Towns

Mangshih and Wanting, enemy-held towns on the Burma road in Yunan province, China, were hit Tuesday by bombers and fighters of the U. S. Tenth Air force, the Chungking communique said.

The Tokyo broadcast of the Balikpapan attack Tuesday said that six of the American bombers were shot down and that the Yanks had done "only slight damage."

Bombers of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command hit the Balikpapan oil refineries and installations last Saturday, dropping 74 tons of bombs and doing heavy damage.

RECOVERY PICKS UP

Wide Water Barrier

The Danube is a mile or a mile and-one-half wide in the area between Belgrade and Pancevo, but the Russians have hurdled other great waterways in their westward offensive across Europe.

Whether the Germans will make a last-ditch stand in Belgrade remains to be seen, but it was believed significant that Col. Ernst von Hammer, a German radio commentator, said that the Nazi garrison defending the outpost of Pancevo was composed of only "security troops" of police troops.

Physicians Fear For Day-Old Baby's Safety

MERIDIAN, Miss., Oct. 5 (AP)—Physicians and police officers here today feared for the life of a one-day-old baby boy who disappeared from Rush's infirmary yesterday.

Hospital attaches said that the infant, the son of Sgt. and Mrs. Bill R. Laws, was missing at the regular 6 a. m. feeding Wednesday, and Police Chief C. C. Currie said a middle-aged woman was being sought for questioning in connection with the infant's disappearance.

Currie said that the woman appeared at the hospital carrying a blue baby blanket. He said that the purpose of the woman's visit was not made clear and that no clues were left in the nursery.

The officers and physicians at the infirmary said they feared that the child could not survive unless proper medical care and sustenance were provided.

Japan Is Reported Facing Food Crisis

(By The United Press)

Japan faces a food crisis as great as the Allied military threat, Shoichi Nishimura, director of the agricultural administration, told the Japanese people today.

Flood and drought in various sections combined with shortages of ships, manpower and fertilizer have created the food crisis, he said in a broadcast recorded by FCC.

Attacker Of Draft Official Sentenced

ABILENE, Oct. 5. (AP) — Jack Taylor Davis, 25, father of four children who sought deferment because he said a fifth child was expected and who allegedly attacked his draft board chairman, today was fined $300 and sentenced to six months in a correctional institution when found guilty by a federal district jury of charges of violating the selective service act.

He was sentenced by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

He is alleged to have attacked A. A. Heathington, chairman of the Taylor county selective service board number two under which he was registered, on Aug. 31, the day he was to have reported for induction into the Army.

90 Painters Stay Off Houston Job

HOUSTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—R. O. Albright, vice president of the Port Houston Iron works, said 90 AFL union painters who walked off their jobs at the plant Tuesday had not returned to work today.

Meanwhile, C. A. West, union business agent, declared "if any of the men out there are off the job, I don't know anything about it."

Albright said the men left their jobs when navy officers said naval personnel, rather than union men, should paint certain parts of guns on vessels under repair at the iron works.

definitely through his main fortifications. He is trying to stop us now with mobile guns instead of fixed concrete defenses."

He said the Germans were putting their poorest troops into static defenses and using their better units as a mobile reserve to try to plug up gaps.

Low clouds and fog clinging to the countryside prevented Allied planes from giving close support to Hodges' attacking forces and enabled the Germans to shift their reserves about without fear of aerial harassment.

Some of today's toughtest fighting—outside the armored engagement around Beggendorf—centered around a hill east of the village of Herbach, a mile southwest of Ubach, which American troops captured yesterday.

Third Is Mud-Bound

Far to the south in the mud-bound Moselle valley of France, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army shock troops fought viciously for the second day inside the labyrinths of Fort Driant, one of three great strongholds defending the city of Metz.

During Wednesday night, American troops in the southwest corner of the mile and a half long fort penetrated underground and made the first breach in the enemy's underground fortifications, but the doughboys still were under constant fire from Nazi snipers and from heavy guns across the Moselle river.

Tonight Patton's men, who once were prematurely reported by Allied headquarters to have captured the fort, were inching their day through the caverns of the medieval bastion against suicidal resistance from youthful Nazis who until recently attended a famous military school at Metz.

Truce Extended

It was announced that the 48-hour truce declared to enable civilians to evacuate the channel port of Dunkerque had been extended four hours until 10 a. m. Friday morning, when British and Canadian forces were to resume their assault against a hold-out German garrison of 15,000. Some 12,000 civilians were reported to have quit the town since the guns fell silent.

Canadian troops accelerated their drive to throw a protecting ring around Antwerp in Belgium, the only big shipping center yet captured intact by the Allies. The Germans had been pushed away frm the northern edge of the city, and the Canadians had advanced north to the Dutch border at Putte.

A brief battle which flared last night south of Arnhem in Holland dwindled into a series of minor attacks and counterattacks in the course of which Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's British Second Army pushed within a mile of Arnhem.

Radicals Win Round, Chile Cabinet Quits

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 5. (AP) — The Chilean cabinet has resigned.

The resignations were announced today by the office of the government's general secretary, which said they were prompted by the minister's desires to give President Huan Antonio Rios a free hand in organizing a cabinet that would meet the approval of the radical party.

This party, to which Rios belongs, recently placed itself in opposition to the administration.

It was announced that a new administrative or non-political cabinet would be formed, possibly tomorrow.

Fake Orders Issued By Russians Confuse Nazi

LONDON, Oct. 5. (U.P.) — The Berlin radio said today that Soviet agents contrived to get into the uniform of German generals last summer, "issue fake orders, and repeatedly lead our troops into unfavorable positions."

Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, Nazi radio commentator, attributed the German reverses on the eastern front during the summer in part to the Russian infiltration of the German officers' ranks.

The Gallup Poll

known at this time.

4-POINT DROP

THE present Democratic figure of 51 per cent means a net defection from Roosevelt of four percentage points since the 1940 election. At that time he polled 55 percent against Wendell Willkie.

The trend of sentiment in the past three presidential elections follows:

The line shows the percentage of people voting for Roosevelt in the last three presidential elections and the percentage who favor him today, as shown in the Gallup Poll.

	Dems.	Repub.
1932 Election	59%	41%
1936 Election	62.5	37.5
1940 Election	55	37.5
TODAY	51	49

The 4-point defection since 1940 is not as large as the loss between 1936 and 1940, which was 7.5. But the vulnerability of the President's position lies in the fact that defections since 1940 bring him perilously close to the 50-50 line.

In previous elections it has usually been necessary for the Democratic candidate to poll around 52 percent of the popular vote in order to have enough electoral votes to win. In 1940, for example the Democrats would probably not have won in the electoral college if they had polled the same percentage of popular votes as they have today—51 percent.

But with present patterns of political sentiment and redistribution of electoral votes after the 1940 census, the Democrats can come much closer to the 50-50 line and still win.

It's Getting So Jap Soldiers Can't Light Cigarettes In Safety

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5. (AP) —It is getting so a Japanese soldier can't light a cigaret in the Hunan-Kwangsi area in southeast China without getting shot at by American planes.

That was one of the chief complaints of a Japanese war correspondent whose report was broadcast by Domei and recorded by the FCC today.

The radio report declared that attacks on Japanese ground forces by American planes was one of the "very outstanding" developments in the Hunan-Kwangsi area.

Japanese troops which occupied Chuanhsien in northeastern Kwangsi "very very much bothered by enemy fighters" that attacked with "small-type bombs or a bomb weighing about 40 kilograms," the correspondent wrote.

The fighter planes also carry out "machine gun attacks whenever they find a cigaret light of our men," the correspondent complained.

Importance Attached To Shallow Salient Indicates Crisis Is Near

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Even on large scale European maps, the American made Ubach-Beggendorf dent in the Nazi Siegfried line defenses just north of half encircled Aachen looms oddly small for the importance attached to it in both German and Allied battle concepts.

SIMPSON

Its indicated north-south base line along the German - Dutch frontier measures some eight miles at most. Its eastern apex at Beggendorf lies hardly three miles within Germany. Yet what is happening or may happen within that meagre salient could write the name of some little German hamlet into history as the scene of one of the decisive battles of this war.

The crisis of the fight is close at hand by every criterion. Its approach can be read into the desperation with which Nazi commanders are seeking to plug the leak in the Siegfried defensive dike before a flood tide of American armor comes rolling through.

Front line advices confirm the impression that, shallow as it still is, the Ubach-Beggendorf salient has definitely pierced Nazi fixed defenses.

Field reports say the immediate trend of the American advance beyond captured Beggendorf is east and southeast. Coupled with the dormant and even deeper American salient south of Aachen reaching eastward beyond Stolberg, a ring of steel is being slowly forged about Aachen itself and its German garrison. A second northward escape route, the Aachen-Gladbach highway, has been cut by American troops leaving only the multiple roads to Cologne open to the Aachen garrison for retreat.

Capture of Aachen, or its encirclement, still seems but an in-Army offensive, however. Judged by the terrain difficulties involved, its major purpose must be turned northward once a deep break through is attained, striking along the flat lands of the plains west of the Rhine in rear of the Aachen-Kleve segment of the Siegfried line against which American and British comrades are exerting continuous pressure short of full scale attacks.

Serious undermining of that German frontier defense system from the south must inevitably lead to a Nazi flight behind the Rhine itself, and expose the Arnhem-Emmerich Dutch gateway to the north German plain to British assault. There were definite indications that a new British break-through drive from the now firmly consolidated bridgehead over the main Rhine north of Nijmegen is close at hand to match the American denting of Siegfried fixed fortifications southward in the Ubach-Beggerdorf salient.

Jet-Propulsion Seen As Commonplace

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP) — Lawrence D. Bell, president of Bell Aircraft corporation, predicted today that all fighter aircraft would be jet-propelled within five years and foresaw the day when even bombers and transports would operate by jet propulsion.

Jet propulsion, Bell asserted, "will enable the industry to get a new start. There is no doubt that jet-propelled planes will make all present aircraft types obsolete in years to come." He also envisioned helicopers powered by jet engines.

Fala Makes His First Appearance Since He Drew Ire Of GOP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (AP) — Fala today made his first public appearance since the President's Sept. 23 speech in which Mr. Roosevelt said he didn't mind being picked on himself but he did mind people picking on his dog.

It happened at the first White House conference on rural education.

Austin R. Meadows of Montgomery, Ala., and the Alabama State Department of Education started a report to the conference by saying his mission in Washington was to say hello to Fala from the folks who sent him here from Alabama. He added he was making public apology to his folks back home for not having seen Fala in the two days he had been here.

At that point, Mrs. Roosevelt who has attended all sessions of the conference, disappeared from the room. She returned shortly and in a few minutes Fala walked into the room to receive applause comparable to that accorded the President yesterday when he appeared through the same doors of the East room to address the delegates.

The educators promptly crowded around the White House pet and Mrs. Roosevelt said: "I'm not sure I can make him jump. I'll try." Se did and Fala jumped, and sat up in response to her commands. He left the room in another burst of applause.

Texas Solons Eye-Witnesses To Nazis' Last Shelling Of Dover

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (AP) — From England comes word that Congressmen W. R. Poage of Waco and O. C. Fisher of San Angelo were in Dover during the last frenzied shelling the Germans gave that channel city.

A vivid account of what the legislators saw in Dover before the Nazi guns in Calais were captured is told in a letter Poage wrote to his wife.

"Yesterday Clark (Fisher) and I began to see the war," he wrote. "We left London by train (and what trains) at 9 o'clock. After several changes and after standing practically all the way we got to Dover just about noon.

Eat 'Sausage and Chips'

"As we had no breakfast we looked for a place to eat and fortunately found one where you could get 'sausage and chips.' This means a small piece of sausage mostly filler or cereal, and French fried potatoes; they ate the chips.

"Clark and I walked around for a long time seeing the damage done by the shelling. They had a very severe shelling the night before and there were a number of new spots that had been destroyed. We talked to a couple by accident and they told us that they had never moved out during the five years and that only the day before their 15-year-old boy had been killed as he came home from school.

Population Has Shrunk

"The population has shrunk from 44,000 to 18,000 as a result of shelling. Most of the time the Germans would only throw one shell a day. For the past several days, however, they have been shooting a great deal more. You could hear shooting from the moment the train stopped. . . .

"We decided to walk out to the harbor. . . . There is a foot path which seemed to be open to the public so we moved up. Finally we met a couple of young British naval officers who said it was all right so we went up on the cliffs with them.

Shooting At Convoy

"Just as we got to the top a shell exploded. We could not see it but we could see a large convoy of boats just out of the harbor, possibly three-quarters of a mile away. The British boys said they were probably shooting at the convoy.

"Shortly thereafter Clark and I started down to town. As we got to the foot of the cliff we found a little store with some postcard pictures. Everybody was in the shelters and there was a sign that during alerts you find the owner in the caves. We wanted to see the shelters which were caves dug into the soft rock of the cliffs, so we went in. There were lots of people there. No lights near the entrance but farther in electric lights. There were hundreds of beds—steel bunks two stories high. Very few of them were furnished with bedding, however. At one place they were working and apparently lots of people spent lots of their time there."

Shell Killed Six People

Here Poage interrupted his letter, returning several hours later and just after midnight to tell of the bombing of the Dover railroad station.

"Just before we got where we could see the station there was the loudest and closest explosion we had heard," he resumed.

"When we turned where we could see the station it was blown up. A shell had hit apparently just by it and had wrecked the station and some buildings across the street. It had killed six people. Two of them American soldiers. All but the last load of dead and wounded had been carried away. One ambulance would not start. We helped push it off."

Compares Agriculture

Comparing British agriculture with that in the United States, Poage told of visiting an experimental station in Reading, Berkshire county:

"We were met by an old man who is a member of their county agricultural committee (they have committees like our own but the committeemen are all appointed by the ministry and have dictatorial powers). He took us in a car to the experiment station where we visited a while. Then we rode around some of their farms. We saw lots of land that they have just plowed up since war, but they still have a surprising lot of ground in woods or rather underbrush.

Crops Sell For More

"They do seem to grow good grain and vegetables. Their livestock is not nearly as good as ours. They pay only about half as much wages as we pay but they sell their crop for much more. Wheat sells for $2.50 per bushel as against about $1.50 in the U. S. and they can grow more per acre. It therefore seems that their farms should be making money.

"We visited Great Windsor park and drove around, not into, Windsor castle. . . . This is kept locked with big padlocks on the gates. We visited the keeper who took us in a Royal car (about half the size of a Ford) but with a driver—over the park. I used the king's keys to open the gates.

"They are putting lots of the park's land into cultivation for the war, but they still have lots of great old English oaks that look 2,000 years old. The king and queen don't actually live in the castle very much but they do occupy a 'cottage' of possibly 40 or 50 rooms some two or three miles out in the park.

"They have a headquarters that looks something like the headquarters of the King ranch. They have a very nice dairy with a few real good cows and at least one fine bull, but even the Royal herd is not nearly as good as many dairies in our country.

"In addition to great Windsor park the king personally owns considerable land in Berkshire county but I can't see how he ever makes it pay."

4300 Acres Alfalfa And Winter Vegetable Land To Be Sold In Small Tracts

4300 acres gravity irrigated land located Southeast of Eagle Pass and two to eight miles Southeast of El Indio. Four-fifths of this land is very deep, rich alluvial soil in the Eagle Pass gravity irrigation district. Unlimited supply of water, an abundance of labor and located close to the Rio Grande river, but none of it overflows. Drainage is perfect. It is as good as the best alfalfa and winter vegetable land in the United States. Will also make from a bale to two bales of cotton per acre and feed crops in proportion. Part of it has a paved highway frontage and most of it has all weather roads. It is in the Eagle Pass School District and the pupils are picked up by motor busses and taken to Eagle Pass. Now I have decided to sell this land in 40 acre tracts and up, on real good terms. Will put it into cultivation and under irrigation. There are 1150 acres in high state of cultivation and under irrigation and I will only charge for the good farming land. The broken rough land will be given away to the party that buys out of the land that has some rough land on it or land that is not suitable for cultivation. The first class land in cultivation and under irrigation is where the soil is 15 to 25 feet deep and will be sold at $100.00 per acre. The land that is not all the very best will be sold from $75.00 to $80.00 per acre and it will all be put into cultivation and under irrigation at that price. On account of the high income tax, people cannot afford to buy over 200 acres, as the best farmers in this territory have been making on an average of $150.00 to $200.00 per acre net for the past several years, and that is why I have been unable to sell land in large tracts, as the government has been getting most of it from the big farmers. Now if you will stop to think, you will realize why you could make so much money on this land. Twelve months growing season, unlimited supply of water to irrigate, where it does not rain too much. Forty acres of this land will produce more net income, properly farmed, than any 100 acres dry farming land in Texas. Farming in this territory is absolutely safe. Alfalfa makes seven cuttings per year and at least ten tons per acre, and as there is such a little alfalfa land in the Winter Garden and all South Texas, alfalfa will always bring a good price. Great opportunity for real estate agents to help me sell this land, as it will sell to nearly every man that goes to look at it if he is able to buy and takes his wife with him. Gus-H. Krausse, of El Indio, will send you the information if you will write for it, and he will be glad to show you the land in person. He is my local representative. He also owns the Tourist Courts at El Indio which are first class, and if you wire ahead, he will reserve rooms for you. Now if you have as much as $3,000.00 to $4,000.00 cash and some machinery to farm with, there is no excuse for you to be broke any more, as 40 acres of this land will make you independent. First come first served. This land will sell like hotcakes.

Keep Your Meals Well Balanaced

DON'T let the prospect of victory over Germany cause you to forget the endless need of well-balanced meals for your family. Check each day to be certain you have included food from each of the basic seven groups in your day's menu.

Here are two recipes which have interest and food value.

Spicy Pot Roast—Raisin Sauce

(Serves 4 to 6)

Five pounds utility grade beef (chuck, round or other suitable cuts), 2 slices fat bacon, diced, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper,

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced oranges, cooked wheat cereal, home-made muffins, butter or fortified margarine, jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Stuffed eggs, cole slaw, reheated muffins, apple sauce, peanut cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Spicy pot roast, raisin sauce, browned potatoes, buttered whole carrots, lettuce and tomato salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, stale cake with fruit sauce, coffee, milk.

a few whole cloves, 1 bay leaf, 1 onion, chopped, ½ green pepper, sliced, ½ cup milk vinegar, 2 cups water.

Wipe beef with damp cloth and rub well with flour. Saute bacon, add seasonings, green pepper and onion. Cook until onion is yellow. Add meat and sear on all sides. When meat is well browned, pour in vinegar and water; cover and simmer over low flame until tender—about 2 to 3 hours. Add more water if necessary. To make raisin sauce, strain pan gravy and add ¼ cup seedless raisins. Cook about 5 minutes.

Home-Made Muffins

(1 doz. medium muffins)

Two cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 level teaspoons baking powder, 2½ tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, if desired, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, well beaten, 4 tablespoons melted shortening.

Mix dry ingredients together, sift into large bowl and make depression in center. Stir milk, egg and melted shortening together; add all at once to dry ingredients. Stir quickly until dry ingredients are moistened. The batter will appear lumpy. Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen medium-size muffins. For variation add: chopped nuts; raisins; chopped figs or dates; fresh berries; jelly or jam; etc.

Soak clothes only about 15 minutes, as excessive soaking will weaken fibres and make fabrics greyish.

Send Home Goodies To Boys Overseas

Get your Christmas cookies for your GI Joes in the mail before Oct. 14. Otherwise they may not reach him in time. Make your cookies "Good travelers." If cut in squares or oblongs, they pack better. Here are two "good travelers" to give GI Joe for far away Christmas greetings.

Honey Bit Cookies

One cup sugar, ½ cup butter or fortified margarine, 3 tablespoons honey, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ cup chocolate bits, 2 eggs.

Add the sugar gradually to the margarine, beating as you add. Stir in the honey and add the eggs, one at a time. Beat well. Add the salt and vanilla. Sift together the flour and baking powder and add, beating well. Drop on greased baking sheet and shape into squares. Dot top with chocolate bits. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes.

Gumdrop Travelers

One-half cup butter or fortified margarine, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup white sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup nut meats, sliced thinly, 1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal, ½ cup gumdrops, sliced (not thinly).

Cream together the margarine, the sugars, and the egg, adding them in the order named. Add the vanilla. Sift together flour, baking soda, baking powder, salt. Add nuts and gumdrops and oatmeal to the flour; then stir these dry ingredients into the first mixture. Pinch off a spoonful at a time and roll into balls. Place on greased baking sheet and press out rather flat and into square shape. Top with pecans or peanuts, if desired. Bake in a moderate oven for about 10 minutes.

Salad Can Be Dressed Up A Bit And Still Not Be Fancy

SALAD for a party? By all means. But once in a while, just for fun, let's dress it up a little. That doesn't mean make it fancy — Heaven forbid! It doesn't mean put marshmallows and maraschino cherries on it for decoration, or try to make it look like the Leaning Tower of Pisa or your Aunt Minnie's spring bonnet. It means—well look at our illustration.

Salmon Salad Bread Box

1 envelope plain gelatine
¼ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon cayenne
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon grated onion
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 cup canned or cooked salmon
1 loaf white bread
4 stuffed olives
½ cup chopped watercress

Soften gelatine on lemon juice and dissolve over hot water. Add pepper, Worcestershire sauce, salt, onion and mayonnaise. Drain salmon, remove skin and bones and flake into small pieces. Combine mayonnaise mixture and salmon, stirring thoroughly. Trim crusts from bread and cut thick slice from top. Remove the inside of the loaf, leaving a box about ¾ inch thick. Line bottom with chopped watercress, then add salmon mixture, and another layer of watercress on top. Replace slice of bread, pressing down gently. Chill in refrigerator. Spread top and sides with Salad Dressing Mask and garnish with sliced olives. Return to refrigerator and when firm serve in slices.

Salad Dressing Mask

1 envelope plain gelatine
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 cup mayonnaise
⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper
½ teaspoon Worcestershire

Soften gelatine in vinegar and dissolve over hot water. Add mayonnaise, pepper and Worcestershire, mixing thoroughly.

Salads in aspic are much more attractive and party-like than exactly the same ingredients would be just mixed together. The easiest way, and a quite satisfactory one, to make such aspics is to use one of the prepared, flavored gelatine mixtures as your base. Thus you start with some flavor and certainly with color. But never fail, in preparing a vegetable or fish or meat aspic in this fashion, to add some vinegar to the water in which you dissolve the powder. This gives character and cuts the sweetness already present. A few drops of onion juice also helps in this direction. Either raw or cooked vegetables do well in aspic. They look beautiful and taste better than ever on that account. A simple illustration follows:

Vegetables In Aspic

2 cups cooked vegetables (Carrotts, parsnips, peas, snap beans, celery, limas, etc.)
1 teaspoon salt
1 package lemon-flavored gelatine
1 cup cold water
2 tablespoons vinegar (herb-flavored, if possible)

Dissolve gelatine in hot water, add cold water, salt and vinegar. Place a layer of vegetables in the bottom of a ring mold. Make a little pattern in this layer, by using different colored vegtables to form it. Pour over this about an inch thick layer of the gelatine mixture. Place in the refrigerator to set. Add another layer of vegetables and another of aspic and continued this process until all is in. Meat may be alternated with vegetables in the layers, if you have any. Chicken is perhaps even better than veal or pork. Serve such an aspic with mayonnaise in a separate dish.

For badly stained table linens, mix one cup of bleach into wash water, wash linens ten minutes and rinse several times.

KITCHEN KORNER

You can also use window cleaner on mirrors and picture glass.

Sponge ice cream spots with lukewarm water before sudsing.

Wooden picture frames will be easier to dust if kept waxed.

Ammonia added to water will help clean grease from oven interiors.

Molasses, more nutritious than other sugars, blends especially well with whole wheat flavor.

Remove mildew from linen by dampening the spots and placing linen in sunlight before washing.

It has been predicted that nylon collars and cuffs for postwar wear will not need ironing.

Be sure your diet includes enough calcium foods, which are essential to build and repair bones and teeth.

Try waxing the underside of furniture legs so they will move easily over waxed floors.

'SOME ROASTERS ARE ADULTERATING THEIR BLENDS

Few people realize what a vital part coffee plays in family harmony. A bitter or flat or weak cup often starts needless breakfast wrangling, induces crankiness - then the whole day is ruined. A delicious, cheering cup of coffee can give, on the other hand, much glowing personal satisfaction. We don't know that Admiration is the coffee you'll want. But we believe it certainly worth a one-week trial. Thousands upon thousands of housewives in the Southwest regularly serve it to their families. Whatever your family prefers in coffee-richness, aroma, full-bodied flavor, strength-you'll find in Admiration. For it has them all-and in abundance. Admiration's overwhelming sale is the best proof of that. Why not buy your pound today?

Preserve Family Harmony

SERVE YOUR HERO ADMIRATION COFFEE

Don't risk family bickering because of coffee flavor. Your brand of coffee has perhaps tasted awfully bitter, even acid. Or it has been weak or flat? This is because of cheap, inferior coffees (to "save" on ceiling prices) where better coffees were used before. Don't blame the war; blame the roaster. A good blend cannot be made except by blending GOOD coffees. You'll find no such complaint with Admiration. It's the same blend today of choice, expensive coffees as it was 25 years ago.

No Political Or Economic Factors Govern Demobilization---Stimson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (U.P.) — Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today that no "political or economic factors" entered into the Army's plans for partial demobilization of its forces upon the defeat of Germany.

The speed of Army demobilization, Stimson said, will be governed solely by two factors—the extent of forces needed to defeat Japan quickly, and available shipping.

As Quickly As Possible

Except for those two limiting factors, the Army is planning to discharge soldiers as quickly as possible, Stimson told his press conference.

Stimson was asked if the War department "will delay its partial demobilization in order to ease the job situation," an obvious reference to charges by Republican Presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey that the Army intended to keep men in uniform until jobs could be found for them.

Assumption Untrue

His reply was:

"No. That assumption is absolutely untrue.

"There are only two things that will affect the speed of demobilization of the Army. One is the military necessity of retaining sufficient troops in service to quickly and permanently defeat Japan.

"The other is available shipping.

"Except for these two limitations, the Army is arranging to return those eligible for demobilization as quickly as possible. No economic or political factors enter into that planning."

Must Check Tendency

Stimson warned that a tendency had appeared on the part of the public to relax security precautions designed to prevent information about troop movements from "leaking" to the enemy. This tendency, he said, must be checked.

This tendency is especially serious at a time when the Army is preparing to shift huge forces from Europe to the Pacific, Stimson said. In the past, he added, the Army and the Office of War Information have succeeded in impressing on the country the necessity of preventing disclosures. He appealed to the public to continue to cooperate.

Hard Fighting Ahead

The increasing difficulties encountered by the Allies in the west in advancing against stubborn German defenses are rightfully bringing home to the public the realization that hard fighting lies ahead, Stimson said.

The resistance, he said, has been vigorous and German organization and discipline have thus far held firm.

"However, German troops who have performed what they consider to be their full duty in coast garrisons have given up and surrendered," he said. "It is our stern task to make the enemy troops inside Germany just as conscious that they are isolated and beaten.

"Despite their desperate mobilization of their last resources, they do not have full manpower needed for the defense job. But that does not mean that our task will be anything but difficult." Stimson said penetration of the outer defenses of the west wall still leaves a broad belt of concrete redoubts and other field fortifications to be dealt with.

TO EXTEND SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP) — The Bell Telephone company is planning to extend its radiotelephone service after the war to overseas carriers and to off-shore and harbor shipping, F. M. Ryan, radio engineer fo rthe American Telephone and Telegraph Co., told the Federal Communications commission today.

PIGGLY WIGGLY KNOWN 'ROUND THE WORLD BUT LOCALLY OWNED

WITH THE AEF IN FRANCE, Sept. 30. (Delayed) (AP) — Just as soon as they get this fight with the Jerries finished there's a certain 36th Division infantry regiment which aims to settle a personal squabble with a certain 36th Division reconnaissance outfit.

And when that time comes Sgt. Edward J. Kilpatrick, Breckenridge, Tex., allows as how he'll be happy as all get-out to strike the first blow for the infantry.

Here's the way Kilpatrick explains it:

The infantry boys captured a German bivouac area the other day with 130 Germans plus a self-propelled gun. In the middle of the bivouac area they discovered plenty of chickens, rabbits, bread, wine and 24 cases of whisky. They promptly sat down to "regroup forces."

Called Out, No Jerries

Suddenly they got a call from the reconnaissance outfit, which reported Germans massing for a counterattack only 500 yards ahead. They dropped their food and drink and headed up to catch more Germans.

They hunted and hunted. No Germans. Finally they gave up and returned to the bivouac area.

There, they hunted and hunted again. No rabbits, no chicken, no bread, no wine, no whisky. Right now they are hunting again, but as yet, no reconnaissance outfit

POWER OF SUGGESTION

Some Germans never learn the dangers inherent in the powers of suggestion to any Yank. Pfc. Lee Sun of New York City and 11 other doughboys were surrounded in the upper story of a French house the other day. They were badly outnumbered, and it looked like they were due to sweat out the rest of the war in some prison camp.

"Surrender, all of you!" A German called up to them. "And don't throw any grenades."

"Ahhh! Grenades!" breathed Sun, and promptly grabbed one from his belt, pulled the pin, and hurled it out the window and right into the midst of the Germans. In the resultant confusion Sun and the rest of the doughboys jumped out the window into a tree on the other side of the house, slid down and scurried off to safety.

THEN THEY SLEPT

After four days of steady marching the three unarmed medics were pretty tired. They were all privates, S. Nachile of Bridgeport, Conn., Orville Allen of Dodson, Tex., and Julian Brooks, of Sherman, Tex. A stone barn filled with dry hay looked like an ideal place to grab a little shut-eye.

Once inside the shelter it occurred to the two Texans that there might be a few Germans around. Pvt. Nachile scoffed, grabbed a pitchfork and headed toward a haypile in the darkest corner.

"Okay, you Jerries," thundered the Connecticut Yank, ferociously brandishing the pitchfork. "Come on out. I'm sleeping here tonight."

When four fully-armed but badly frightened Germans filed out and surrendered, he almost fainted.

FDR Asks Petrillo If He Will Please Cancel Out His Ban

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (AP) — After two years of trying, the government decided today that it cannot make the American Federation of Musicians sing in harmony with the recording companies, so President Roosevelt asked the union, on a personal basis, to follow Washington's baton.

In a telegram to James Caesar Petrillo, the union's president, Mr. Roosevelt said it would be "your country's gain" if the union would comply with a War Labor board order and drop its ban on making recordings. The WLB order was issued last June 15, and the union has ignored it.

There was no immediate word as to Petrillo's reaction. However, he told a Senate committee in January, 1943, that if the President asked that the ban be lifted "the request would be granted."

Mr. Roosevelt's telegram said Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson had decided that the union's non-compliance with the WLB order "is not unduly impeding the war effort." For the government to act, he noted, the statute requires a finding that a dispute does impede the war effort.

Paul W. Keston, executive vice president of Columbia Broadcasting system, said he was "disappointed and puzzled" by the finding that the dispute does not impede the war effort. "It is a ban not only against commercial transcriptions but against the making of all musical recordings, whether for commercial use, home use, or use by and for our troops," he commented.

The ban originally was issued Aug. 1, 1942. It forbade members of the union to make recordings and Petrillo declared its purpose was to force more use of "live musicians."

In practice, the ban now applies only to Victor, Columbia and the National Broadcasting company's transcription division. The union has made agreements with about 80 other companies.

Release Of WASPs By Dec. 20 Slated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP) — General H. H. Arnold announced today the Army Air forces will inactivate the Women Air Force Service pilots (WASP) on December 20 "unless there are unexpected and much higher combat losses in the air war over Germany."

The announcement said the decision to release the volunteer women pilots from further service was based on present indications that by mid-December sufficient male pilots will be available to fill all flying assignments in this country and overseas. The WASPs have been largely used in ferrying services.

Recruitment for the WASPs was halted last spring.

General Arnold said in a statement: "I am proud of the WASPs and their record of skill, versatility and loyalty. They have done outstanding work for the AAF, even exceeding our expectations when the program was begun in 1942."

He added there are now approximately 1,000 members of the women's flying force capable of operating all types of aircraft, including the fastest fighters and B-29 super-bombers. Thirty members of the corps have been killed in service.

Japs Claim Step-Up In Plane Production

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5. (AP)— A step-up in Japan's plane production and "marked improvement" in quality were claimed by Tokyo radio in a broadcast reported tonight by the Federal Communications commission.

Tokyo radio repeatedly has stressed Japan's need for more planes. In September, a month highlighted by carrier plane attacks on the Philippines, Japan lost more than 1,000 planes for one of its most severe aerial setbacks of 1944.

New 'Thought Drive' Launched In Japan

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5. (AP)— Japan has launched a new nationwide "thought drive" to bolster fighting spirit and "firmly maintain full conviction of certain victory," Tokyo broadcasts, recorded by the Federal Communications commission, reported tonight.

The drive, sponsored by the Dai Nippon Educational society, is titled "national movement for repulsing the Anglo-Americans by the counter-attacking of the 100,000,000 people of Japan."

First Move Started To Prosecute Petain

LONDON, Oct. 5. (AP)—The first official move to prosecute Marshal Henri Philippe Petain for high treason has been taken, the Paris radio announced in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press.

Omitting Petain's title, the announcement said the Paris police were ordered by a judicial commission to investigate the activities "of a man named Philippe Petain, accused of treason and collaboration with the enemy."

Petain is in Germany where, the German radio announced, he serves as head of a German-created French "legal government."

Sun Yat Sen was the founder and first president of the Chinese republic.

PLANNING SECTION SET UP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP) — The Army Air forces disclosed today it has set up a postwar planning section with a view to "preserving air strength adequate for the future protection" of the nation.

Evidence Of Another Nazi Horror Camp In Estonia Said Uncovered

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

TALLINN, Estonia, Oct. 5. — Eighteen miles from this capital is what the Russians point to as evidence of the Nazis' most recent mass horror—the Klooga labor camp. There, the Russians say, 3,000 Jews, Russians and Estonians were murdered methodically.

This camp was located in the timber and cement country, where prisoners slaved to produce vital material for the Nazi war machne.

Resdents Tell Story

People in the vincinity told correspondents this story:

The Germans killed off the prisoners wholesale when they learned the Red army was coming and retreat was in prospect.

It was Sept. 19—two days before the Germans pulled out of Ttallinn. They announced the prisoners would be moved, always a bad sign in a Nazi camp.

The first group of 300 was marched into the woods, ordered to saw up piles of logs into pieces, and were marched into a field in groups of about 50, carrying the logs. They were forced to make a raft-like foundation, and then to lie down on it. The Germans shot them all.

Torch Was Applied

A second group formed another layer on top of the first—and were shot. When there were six or seven layers of dead, gasoline was poured over all of them and a torch was applied.

This is what the people told us—and then we went up to see.

In a little green field about 75 feet from the road and a half mile from the camp a mass of charred corpses was laying amid a few hundred pounds of ashes. Most of the corpses were about half burned. There were men, women and children. I saw the bodies of at least three girls who must have been under 16. In the backs of their heads you could see what looked like bullet holes.

In one place was a completely burned building. An escaped prisoner said this was where the Germans drove a large number of men and women, locked the doors, set fire to the building and burned them alive.

Those who escaped said they were free because of the haste of the Nazis.

Sgt. Ancil M. Douthit Is In Northern Ireland

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE COMPOSITE STATION, Northern Ireland — Sergeant Ancil M. Douthit, of Lubbock, is now stationed at this (B-26) Marauder base where he is receiving advanced training under simulated combat conditions. He is being instructed by men who have had actual combat experience over enemy-occupied territory. When he leaves here to face "Jerry," he will have mastered the newest tricks and dodges of the air war.

Sgt. Douthit is an engineer-gunner on one of the famous medium bombers which have played such havoc with German defense. He arrived in the European Theater Of Operations in August, 1944.

He enlisted in the AAF in '44. His brother, Lt. Nathan Douthit is a pilot of a B-24. His mother, Mrs. Lorene M. Daniels, lives at 213-W, 8th St., Roswell, New Mexico.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Presidential Citation Given Lubbock Man's Heavy Bomber Group

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, England — "D-Day" and the cyclone of events leading toward the end of the war in Europe have climaxed a year of service with the Eighth Air Force for Private Meyer S. Rosenthal, 34-year old B-17 Flying Fortress armorer, of Lubbock, Tex.

Rosenthal, son of Mrs. Eva Rosenthal, 2110 Twenty-sixth street, Lubbock, has contributed to the marked success of his Fortress group which has flown nearly 200 bombing attacks against vital Nazi targets stretching from the French coast to Romania. He was formerly a salesman in civilian life.

In addition to hammering the enemy on the ground with more than 25,000 tons of explosives, bombers which Rosenthal has dressed up for battle have played an important role in the defeat of the Luftwaffe. Official credit for the destruction and probable destruction of more than 500 Nazi planes has been won by his group. Its bombers have attacked enemy industries at Berlin and in the Ruhr valley, German military installations, troop positions and flying bomb sites.

The Lubbock technician's veteran group holds a Presidential citation for its highly successful attack on key Nazi ball-bearing factories at Schweinfurt, Germany, last year, and is a unit of the Third Bombardment Division, cited by the President for its historic England-to-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt plants at Regensburg, Germany, in August 1943. Rosenthal wears two battle stars in his European campaign ribbon.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 5 (AP) —When A. V. Burch of Evansville, Republican candidate for state auditor, ordered pictures taken of crowds at a recent political rally in Mitchell, Ind., he said they were for use in soliciting votes.

Police said one photograph clearly showed a pickpocket, whom they've sought for some time, with his hand in a bystander's pocket.

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
