$400,000 Bond Issue Loses, 178 to 113

The proposed $400,000 bond issue for storm sewers and street improvement was turned down in Tuesday's special city election by a vote of 178 to 113.

The defeat of this proposal not only means the end of present planning for storm sewers and street improvement but also the city becomes ineligible for a $200,000 grant it expected to receive from the Housing and Urban Development Agency.

If the bond issue had passed and if the grant had been approved, the city had planned to spend $400,000 on an extensive storm sewer system and $200,000 on street improvement, including paving, curbs and gutters.

This is the second time in five months that the voters have turned down a proposed $400,000 bond issue for storm sewers and street improvement. On June 17 the voters defeated the proposal by a vote of 132 to 97.

On that occasion the city not only hoped the bond issue would pass but also felt confident that a grant of over $157,000 would be received from the federal government. This grant, however, was contingent upon successful passage of the bond issue.

Of the voters who openly expressed opposition to the latest proposal the majority based their opposition on the assumption that local drainage problems can be solved only when both the city and the county, in some kind of a unified effort, draw up a master plan for the entire area.

REPORT FIVE RURAL TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Five rural traffic accidents occurred in Aransas County last month, according to a report by Lt. F. C. Carpenter, Texas Highway Patrol, Corpus Christi. No one was injured or killed, and property damage was estimated at $1,415.

NOTICE

The WSCS of Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale in the Fellowship Hall Friday, Nov. 17 at 1 p.m. and all day Saturday, Nov. 18.

The Department of Interior has informed U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough that 7,162 acres of land adjacent to Aransas National Wildlife Refuge has been donated to the Federal government for "wildlife refuge purposes" by Mr. and Mrs. J. Meredith Tatton of Refugio.

Accepting the gift on behalf of the government, Secretary of the Interior Stuart Udall said, "The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife would administer the tract as part of the Aransas refuge, famed winter home of the only existing migratory whooping cranes."

The land adjoins the Aransas refuge on the northwest with the major portion lying between the north end of St. Charles Bay and Highway 35. A small segment of the donated land is in Refugio county with the balance in Aransas county.

The new area will be managed for many wildlife species. It contains extensive grasslands that are excellent habitat for Attwater prairie chickens, another endangered bird the Department of Interior hopes to save from extinction.

The gift from Mr. and Mrs. Tatton was announced as the 48th "whooper" arrived for the season. This is the largest number since the U.S. government began providing a safe haven for the rare cranes.

The Tattons own the Salt Creek Ranch near Refugio. Actually the additional land is not expected to be inhabited by any of the whoopers.

Secretary of Interior Udall, who informed Yarborough of the gift, said: "Mr. and Mrs. Tatton deserve the gratitude of all conservationists for this great contribution to wildlife preservation."

No estimate of the value of the land was available from the department.

The deed was accepted by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries at its regional office in Albuquerque.

The donation will make possible a 15 per cent increase in the size of the refuge, which previously contained 47,261 acres.

Except for minor engineering, the land will be managed in its existing state for the endangered species of prairie chicken, as well as many other types of wildlife.

The spokesman said the arrival Tuesday of a whooping crane brought the total current population of these birds at Aransas to 39 adults and nine young whoopers.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

THIS MAN IS UP A TREE

A man who lives in the Blue Ridge Mountains is facing a problem that really has him treed. Or at least stumped. His wife received an advertising folder from a big department store in a big city, offering a fancy line of exclusive creations by an exclusive dress designer.

The creations were priced up to $350 and were modeled in the flossy folder by lovely, skinny, sad-faced girls who for some reason were shown perched precariously in the tops of bare tree branches.

The man's wife, of course, was interested in the dresses—so much that he wrote the department store a letter. Frankly, he told the store, his wife had never paid as much as $250 for a dress to climb trees in. But she realized, he said, that a well-dressed woman naturally wants to be well-dressed, no matter where she is or what she is doing.

Furthermore, he said, both he and his wife realized that when a woman is climbing a tree, or even just sitting high up in one, she is apt to be noticed and wants to be presentable. "But we do have a question," he wrote. "In our yard are several kinds of trees—tulip, pine, fir, walnut, hickory nut, apple, plum and dogwood. 'Now: Is there a specific $250 dress for climbing or sitting in a specific tree? Or do you have an all purpose $250 dress that may be worn to climb or sit in ANY tree?"

"You can understand," the man went on, "that if we were to pay $250 for a dress for our wife to climb trees in, we wouldn't want her to get up there and discover she was wearing the wrong thing. We mountain folk are proud, gentlemen—real proud."

The man had still another question. "Can you recommend," he asked, "a good place in this area for my wife to take a refresher course in tree climbing?" She hasn't climbed a tree in years. "She says so far as she can recall, she never climbed a tree in a $250 dress when she was a kid. And she can't remember anyone else who did." Well, the man has received no answer from the department store. And he has come to the conclusion that folks who make and sell those dresses DON'T KNOW what to tell him.

He just can't understand it.—Griffin (Ga.) Daily News.

MARRIAGE COUNSELING NEXT?

So you think you're happily married? The all-knowing Federal government now says you may not be. A government study suggests people's descriptions of their marriages—like "compatible," "harmonious," "comfortable," and "congenial"—may really be synonyms for blandness, lack of excitement and boredom.

What business it is of government to explore the marital lives of American citizens ought to be the subject of a report in itself. With Federal deficit spending resulting in higher prices and a weaker dollar, taxpayers may wonder why they are footing the bills for such projects.—Indianapolis News.

REPETITIOUS ADVICE TO HUNTERS

The hunting season is upon us again and again there is the urge to appeal to sportsmen seeking deer, rabbits, squirrels and other game to use some good, hard, common sense.

Above all the gun being carried is a weapon and it will kill a man as well as game.

Again it behooves one to remind the hunters to observe some ethics.

Don't trespass on other people's property. Get permission.

If permission is granted, then for goodness sake, treat the fields and woods as if they were your own. If the property owner lays down some rules and regulations obey them. You may want to come back again.

Watch those matches and cigarette butts. Fire not only destroys property but also kills wildlife.

And last but not least, don't shoot the cows. They're not in the least similar in appearance to a deer, believe it or not.

THE FRUG OR WHAT

There was one of those modern dances being staged in Prestonburg, Ky., and there on the floor was Norman Allen, along with a lot of guys and dolls, twisting, shaking, bending, and so on.

The dance ended and a girl walked up to Norman and thanked him for the dance.

Norman didn't quite know what to say, apparently. He was just twisting, and turning, bending, and twitching through the crowded floor to the soft drink machine.

All of which proves a point about the kind of dancing that goes on today.

Sympathy Expression From Rotary Club

The Rotary Club has sent the following expression of sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Nuckles whose son, Lt. C. Gregory Nuckles, was killed in action in Vietnam:

To Georgia and Nuck

The Club expresses its sincerest sympathies to you in the loss of your son, Gregory, who gave his life in the service of his country. "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." In the same spirit that moved a great American to say, "I regret that I have but one life to give for my country," C. Gregory Nuckles has given the last full measure of devotion and poured new meaning into the red stripes, representing courage, of our nation's flag. If we could speak to your son today, we would say in the words of poet R. W. Lillard: "Fear not ye have died for naught."

The torch ye threw to us we caught.

Ten million hands will hold it high, And Freedom's light shall never die. . .

Americans may have mixed feelings about the war in Vietnam, but the heart of every United States citizen surges with pride in the knowledge that there are men like your son, who are willing to give all they have, to preserve freedom.

Your loss is great, and we grieve with you. Our Heavenly Father sees and understands your feelings, for He, too, gave His Only Son.

Mrs. C. A. Barber was admitted to Lyman-Roberts Hospital in Aransas Pass Friday for observation.

These toothbrushes will sell for $1.00 for a box of three. Orders may be placed by calling the president, Mrs. W. F. Rice SO 4-6726, Mrs. Gary Smith SO 4-6807, Mr. Griffith SO 4-6844, or Mrs. R. G. Stafford SO 4-6888.

SBA Ends Weekend Operations

The Small Business Administration emergency offices at Alice, Sinton, Falfurrias, Robstown and North Beach will no longer be open on Saturdays and Sundays.

Southwestern Area Administrator Robert E. West said the need for weekend operations at the field offices was apparently at an end.

The emergency offices have been in operation since the week Hurricane Beulah struck. They were kept open on weekends to help disaster victims prepare applications for 3% federal loans which were authorized to make repairs and restore property damaged in the hurricane.

The Disaster Branch Office headquarters in Corpus Christi in The W. W. Jones Building at 317 Peoples Street will be open on Saturdays; however it will no longer be open Sunday.

The agency has approved 658 disaster loans in the Greater Corpus Christi area for a total of $2,271,045.00. Loan applications are still being received, but the rate of inquiries has dropped from a high in excess of a hundred a day, to an average of less than 20 per day, according to Rodney W. Martin, manager of the Disaster Branch Office in Corpus Christi.

Letter to the Editor

I hope that you have space to print this letter to the editor as I feel that it is very important to the community.

On Hallowe'en night the Rockport Police Department had not one report of actual vandalism by the young people of our community. No injuries were reported such as throwing rocks, etc.

We were kept quite busy in the residential areas warning the young people to stay out of the streets and trying to warn them to stay out of the way of cars on the street.

Likewise on Hallowe'en night and the night of the bonfire at the high school we did not have any actual vandalism calls to make. We had several water balloon calls where young people were throwing water balloons at passing traffic but after a warning this action stopped and the young people kept this type of entertainment to themselves.

I for one am proud of the young people of our community and think that each and every citizen of the Aransas County area should be too.

There are not many towns in the Coastal Bend area or in the United States of America that can boast the above mentioned facts about Hallowe'en night.

I hope that each of you, if you hear of one young person doing the wrong thing, will not condemn all the young people.

I believe that here in this County we have the best teenagers in the world and I want them to know that I for one am behind them 100 per cent.

To the teenagers of Aransas County, I want to say thank you and if I can ever be of any help to any of you please call on me.

—Bob Hewes
Chief of Police.

PIRATES WIN HOMECOMING 40-6

By Robert Oliver

The Fighting Pirates of Rockport-Fulton High School walloped the Ingleside Mustangs 40-6 last Friday night in a District 28-2A football game which marked both the last season game and homecoming for the Pirates.

The first quarter saw no scoring for either team but did display some fine Pirate defense as Mustang quarterback Mike Rubacaba was spilled for several large losses.

The second quarter began with more fine Pirate defense as the Pirates halted an Ingleside threat as the Mustangs had a first down and goal to go situation from the six yard line.

With 5:48 left in the half, Pirate halfback Ruford Huff, went in for paydirt from two yards out. The conversion was no good and the Pirates led 6-0. With the half still nearing its end, Pirate quarterback Chris Edwards, found more Pirate paydirt with 55 seconds on the clock as he went in from five yards out. The conversion was stopped and the half ended 12-0 the Pirates leading the Mustangs.

In the third quarter Ingleside blocked a Pirate punt on the Pirates' 12-yard line. A few plays later the Mustangs had a first down and goal to go situation on the Pirates' one-yard line.

Ingleside quarterback Mike

Rubacaba went into the end zone on a keeper play. The conversion was blocked and the score was 12-6.

Near the end of this quarter the Pirates punted on fourth down and recovered the fumbled punt return on the Mustang one yard line. Glenn Davis took the ball across the goal line for the Pirates and Davis also ran the successful conversion which gave the Pirates a 20-6 third quarter lead.

The fourth quarter proved to be the action quarter for the Pirates as they racked up 20 points in this quarter.

The scoring started as a result of Pirate halfback Ruford Huff scampering 65 yards up the middle for a Rockport touchdown. The conversion following was blocked.

Several plays later Edwards hit end Frank St. Clair with a 10-yard pass which spelled another Pirate touchdown. Edwards ran the two point conversion and the score was 34-6 in favor of the Pirates.

The final scoring came with 2:44 left in the game as Pirate back Roy (Moose) Johnson found 14 yards of daylight which led to a Rockport score. The extra point was blocked and the game ended 40-6 in favor of Rockport.

The Pirates were 3-3-1 in district play and 5-3-1 in season play. The Pirates led in first downs and penetrations by 15-6 and 5-2. The Pirates are to be congratulated for a season of fine representation for Rockport-Fulton.

Right now is the time to make your deer hunt successful.

Many a hunter will go into the woods this fall with a gun he's never seen before. He may not know how it will shoot, or even whether it will shoot.

Up will jump a buck. He'll shoot . . . and miss. Or worse still, inflict a wound from which it may die later, without benefit to anyone.

Hunting big game with a big bore gun, without first getting acquainted with it, is one of the most senseless things a hunter can do.

Plain talk you say? That's what it's intended to be.

It's fun to get in a little practice shooting. And that's what we're trying to encourage. Practice shooting not only improves your hunting skills and keeps the ammunition manufacturers in business, but it also provides the 11 per cent excise tax from which you derive better hunting.

Fortunately most deer hunters own their guns. But a lot of hunters neglect them from year to year.

On the other hand there is the spontaneous hunter, the fellow who decides all of a sudden to go hunting. He borrows or leases a gun for the occasion, gets a few cartridges, goes out and misses a few shots, then gripes about it the rest of his life.

One man I know won't lend a deer rifle for just that reason. He has several guns. In fact, gun collecting is one of his hobbies. He says if a man wants to hunt he should have enough interest to have a gun available that he knows something about.

Another hunter I know had a good deer rifle—in fact several of them—until his boys grew up. Then they took them over. For the last 20 or more years he's borrowed a gun each year to hunt with and always gets his buck. But he knows guns, and he's well acquainted with the gun he borrows.

It is getting progressively easier for a hunter to get acquainted with his rifle. Scattered over the state are literally hundreds of rifle ranges where a person can shoot in the gun. Many gun stores have a place where you can sight-in your rifle or take a few practice shots.

A little dry firing in your own home also is helpful. Here you get the practice of throwing the gun to your shoulder. You get the feel of it. And you learn how to line up the sights.

Deer rifles now are divided into categories.

First there is the lever action, short barrel rifle that usually is used with open sights. These are particularly well adapted to the brush country and the hill country. Basically .30/.30 caliber, they are adequate for the white-tailed deer. They are easy to handle and almost fool proof.

Then there is the bolt action rifle, usually equipped with the telescope sight. Herein lies one of the problems. Despite the ruggedness of the sight or the mount, it is easier for this gun to get out of alignment. It should be shot-in before the season opens, then probably cased so the sight will not get out of alignment.

Last fall a man we know shot-in his gun, a new model 70 Winchester in the powerful .264 caliber. He had it equipped with one of the best variable scopes money could buy. On a hunting trip he stored it in a cloth case which he packed into the crowded luggage compartment of a small plane. When he got to Colorado he missed his first shot, at a big buck, by six feet.

This year he vows he'll pack the gun differently and check it out when he gets into camp.

Between the lever and bolt action rifles are the semi-automatic and the pump. But the same general principles can be applied to them. Check them over thoroughly.

Also this year there will be a great many hunters, especially in the thick brush of East Texas, who'll be using shotguns with slugs.

With these new slug cartridges a shotgun now can be very effective and accurate for deer hunting up to 100 yards. But here again, they should be tested out first, particularly if you plan to use the old scatter barrels without the sighting arrangement necessary for extreme accuracy.

Most of the gun manufacturers today have developed slug barrels for their guns. Some of them are only 20 inches long. They have front and rear sights and can be shot with great accuracy up to and even beyond 100 yards.

These barrels, bored especially for slugs, also are excellent for bird shooting. They are about equivalent to improved cylinders.

So if you want to get your deer this fall, begin now with your practice. Use regulation targets. Start at 25 yards. If you can knock out the "X" at 25 yards, move the target out to 100. If you hit the same spot at this distance you're ready for the field.

Generally speaking this is a good basic way of sighting in a rifle.

Because of the trajectory, if you have it on at 25 or 30 yards, it will be on at 100. There will be slight variations according to the size and speed of the bullet, but not a great deal.

Anyway, it will be within working tolerance and from there you can zero it in to hit exactly where you want it.

Loan Inquiries Still Coming In

Officials of the U.S. Government's Small Business Administration report an average of more than 30 people a day are consulting with Disaster Loan Specialists, inquiring about federal requirements for the loans available to victims of hurricane Beulah.

The manager of the Disaster Branch Office at Corpus Christi, Rodney W. Martin, said most of the inquiries this week were from people in the outlying areas who are apparently just learning the full extent of their losses from the hurricane. He said the inquiries were fairly well divided between the Corpus Christi office in the Jones Building, and the field offices at Falfurrias, Alice, Sinton, Robstown and North Beach.

The SBA Disaster Branch Office has approved 427 loans for individuals and homeowners with a total value of $960,210.00 as of the close of activities on Friday night.

Some 147 loans had also been made to business firms in the area in that same period with a total value of $961,785.00.

All Circles of the Womens Society of Christian Service will meet as scheduled on Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 9:30 a.m.

Pat Caloway of Houston spent the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie C. Caloway, Sr., in Copano Village.

New York's police department, short on manpower, plans to use more women at desk jobs in order to free men for outside duty.

State to Draft 3,485 Youths

State draft boards are scheduled to forward 3,485 young men for pre-induction mental and physical examinations in December, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, announced Tuesday.

The Selective Service boards are sending 4,650 for this examination in November.

The state's 155 draft boards will be called upon to furnish 924 men for induction in December. Inductions are scheduled for the period Dec. 1 through Dec. 15.

This compares with quotas of 1,159 for November, 977 for October, 1,180 for September, 1,421 for August, and 974 for July.

Local board quotas for induction and pre-induction examination in December already have been figured and sent to the state's 155 draft boards.

The Texas quota of 924 for December is the state's share of a national call for 18,200 all for the army.

Mrs. Bill Coleman and children and Mrs. John Womack and boys of Kingsville spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and girls.

The purchasing agent had recently undergone an operation and was discussing his adventure with a friendly salesman. "I understand that hospitals are charging plenty these days," commented his visitor. "They sure are," replied the purchasing agent. "When they gave me the bill, I realized why they wore those masks in the operating room." —Sales Review.

By the end of this week, just call me "Skinny."

I am on a two-week special diet which ends Sunday evening. It was prescribed by a well known clinic which claims that if the diet is adhered to, 15 to 20 pounds can be lost in the two weeks.

It would be unwise for anybody to go on this or any other unusual diet without first checking with his doctor. Therefore, the day-to-day details will not be revealed for fear someone will go on this diet who shouldn't.

Instead, some of the highlights will be touched on. No butter on vegetables or toast, no salad oil on greens and no sugar in tea or coffee, no milk or cream in tea or coffee.

On the first day, the dieter consumes nine eggs, none fried. He also has half a grapefruit, tomato, black coffee or tea and combination salad with lemon juice on it, if he wishes.

Other ingredients in the diet during the remainder of the week include celery or spinach, plenty of steak, olives, lettuce, lamb chops, cucumbers, cottage cheese, one slice of dry toast (all week), broiled fish, combination salad, cold chicken and vegetable soup.

The clinic claims a chemical process is involved in this diet. It stresses that person should stay ONLY two weeks, then return to normal balanced diet, watching fats, sugar and starches.

During the almost two weeks I've been on this diet, I find myself thinking of mashed potatoes and gravy, dressing, hot rolls coated with butter and strawberry preserves, pancakes topped with butter and drenched in syrup, noodles, fried chicken livers, coffee cake and apple pie a la mode.

Oh, Lord, give me strength.

Outdoor ovens are still used in Quebec to bake french bread.
