The SDN Column

This is "Consumer-Business Month" and I have just received a copy of an address by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, who initiated observance of the special month when he spoke to the Greater Syracuse Chamber of Commerce in Syracuse, N. Y.

The USCC chief selected a single word to describe the basic ingredient that has sparked America's great mercantile system. The word is "trust."

The evolution of our system of commerce was spurred by the trust of the customer in the products of the manufacturers and merchants and the trust in the customers by the merchants. Thus, when we buy "brand" merchandise now there is trust in the product, even if some of the more sensational claims are doubted. The trust in the customer by merchants is reflected in charge accounts and credit cards.

Jones reminded that a brand name cannot be perpetuated by ballyhoo alone. On the other hand, the trust by merchants cannot be sustained in an atmosphere of shoplifting and looting.

He noted that the best-advertised toothpaste in 1900 was something called Sozodout; the best-advertised soap of 1910 was called Pears, and the cleverest automobile ads in the 1920's were written for a vehicle dubbed the Jordan. Eventually it is the enterprising, the innovative and the value-giver who survive, while the hide-bound, the lazy and the producer of shoddy merchandise fall by the wayside.

And stores dwindle in areas where shoplifting and looting drain profits, leaving only a few who must increase their prices to their "good" customers to make up for the losses to the untrustworthy.

Trust is a two-way street. However, Jones views public outcry against sub-standard merchandise and services as a compliment to the American system.

"Consumerism," he says, "is no unhealthy thing. It is a compliment, even if perhaps a backhanded one, to the genius of the American business system. Having given the people so much, it is human that the people should expect more."

AFTER TESTING SPACE WELDING

Soyuz 6 Returns To Earth

MOSCOW (AP)—Soyuz 6 and the two cosmonauts aboard it returned safely to earth today after testing several types of experimental welding techniques in space, Radio Moscow announced.

The announcement said the first of the three spaceships sent up last weekend made a soft landing in a "preset area" at 12:52 p.m.—5:52 a.m. EDT—100 miles northwest of Karaganda.

The two cosmonauts "feel fine," the announcement said.

The return to earth of Soyuz 6 left two manned spaceships and five cosmonauts still in orbit.

The welding experiment was the chief business announced so far for the troika flight. With it the Soviet spacemen sought to determine the best method of putting together the permanent space stations which the Soviets plane to assemble.

Early in the mass flight there had been speculation that two of the Soyuz spaceships would be joined together and left in orbit to become the world's first space platform. But prospects for this declined as the flight progressed, and the return of Soyuz 6 seemed a clear indication that construction of the space platform will wait for another flight.

"The mission of Soyuz 6 has been successfully completed," Moscow Radio said.

The announcer reported that cosmonauts Georgy Shonin and Valery Kubasov were met by rescue teams as soon as they landed.

There was no indication when Soyuz 7 and Soyuz 8 would return to earth.

Soyuz 6 blasted off last Saturday at 2:10 p.m. Moscow time. The flight lasted 4 days, 22 hours and 42 minutes.

The spaceship landed on the steppes of Kazakhstan about 340 miles from the launch site at Baikonur.

The welding was done in a depressurized compartment of the ship in conditions of high vacuum, Tass said.

It was the first time orbiting spacemen have attempted to weld metals together.

The other two orbiting spaceships and the five cosmonauts manning them took no part in the welding experiments.

Tass said Valery Kubasov, flight engineer of Soyuz 6, switched on the welding equipment after one compartment of the two-room craft was depressurized, creating conditions similar to those outside the spaceship.

The commander of the ship, Georgy Shonin, remained in the command chamber piloting the spacecraft.

There was no immediate word on the success of the tests, and the techniques employed were not described.

"This is a unique experiment," said Tass, "of great importance for science and technology in working out techniques for welding and assembly in space."

After sleeping "quietly and soundly," Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported, the cosmonauts began their third day of joint maneuvers, orbiting within sight of each other.

The commanders of the three ships, Vladimir Shatalov, Anatoly Filipchenko and Georgy Shonin, reported to ground control stations that all crewmen "feel well" today.

As usual, no details of the flight program were given.

The mission so far has been uneventful. Soyuz 6 entered its sixth day in orbit today, heading for a Soviet flight duration record at midday. Soyuz 7's in its fifth day in orbit and Soyuz 8 in its fourth.

SNYDER REMAINS IN CLASS AAA

District Loses Two Teams

Snyder High School will remain in Class AAA UIL competition for the next two years, according to the tentative realignment list released today by the University Interscholastic League in Austin.

Speculation over the possibility of Snyder, along with several other Class AAA schools, moving up to Class AAAA had been a topic of conversation since the end of the last school term.

Although the exact district alignments had not been learned this morning, District 3-AAA apparently will be reduced from 11 to 9 members for the next two years, with Littlefield and Slaton scheduled to return to the Class AA ranks.

Snyder had gone over the previous minimum enrollment standard for Class AAAA, but the division line was moved up slightly from 1,020 to 1,100.

In all, 14 schools are scheduled to move up to Class AAAA next September, while Pemberton of Marshall, Silsbee and Odessa Ector will go down from Class AAAA to AAA.

Two schools playing football for the first time next September—Brazoswood of Freeport and Nimitz of Irving—also will be in AAAA, the big city conference.

These and other new district alignments were announced today by the University Interscholastic League for the 1970-71 and 1971-72 school years.

The league said 1967-68 and 1968-69 school enrollments were used in determining the assignments. Schools with 1,100 or more pupils will be in Class AAAA, and the other divisions are set in this manner: AAA, 500 to 1,099 pupils; AA, 230 to 499; A, 120 to 229; and B, 119 or fewer pupils.

AAA schools which will be elevated to Class AAAA are Hereford, Mineral Wells, Pearce of Richardson, North Mesquite of Mesquite, Fort Worth Carter-Riverside, Cypress-Fairbanks of Houston, Angleton, Alvin, Beeville, Eagle Pass, Mission, Weslaco, Corsicana and Houston Furr.

Other changes include:

The Scurry County United Fund Campaign had made a little more progress this morning, although the big push of the week came at a general report session yesterday.

The next big gain is expected next Wednesday when another report session is scheduled.

The total this morning had passed the $19,000 mark as the campaign neared the half-way mark. Although the school division has reached its goal and some others have reported good progress, no division has finished its work so far.

The United Fund this year is seeking $40,638 to support nine participating agencies.

Word was received here this morning of the death of George Herring, 32, of Richardson in a traffic mishap.

A graduate of Snyder High School and of North Texas State University, where he was a football star, Mr. Herring was decorated for military service in Vietnam.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Herring, formerly of Snyder who now live at Houston. He also is survived by his wife, a daughter; a brother, Bill of Dallas, and a sister, Sally Venator of Fort Worth.

Statewide Oil Allowable Cut

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission cut the statewide oil allowable today to 52.7 per cent of potential for November, reversing a short-lived upward movement.

The new allowable will permit maximum production of 3,249,750 barrels a day next month, or 46,385 less than this month under a 53.7 per cent factor.

Four of 14 major crude oil buyers sought more oil in November than this month, three asked for less and seven wanted the same amount of oil next month as in October.

Written nominations by major purchasers totaled 3,027,126 barrels a day for November, a decrease of 28,958 from this month. The Bureau of Mines' forecast for November demand for Texas crude was 3,235,000 barrels a day, an increase of 20,000 from October.

Texas' production factor was lowered for three consecutive months before the commission reversed the trend and hiked it for October.

Nominations by major crude oil purchasers, in barrels per day for November:

New Cold Front Hits Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold air from Canada frosted parts of the Texas Panhandle lightly and hurried on southward toward the Gulf Coast this morning.

Near daylight the forward edge of the chilled air mass stretched along a line linking Marshall, Austin and Pecos.

The norther, second to hit the state this week and pushing along faster than had been expected, proved dry but forecasts called for some scattered light rain in the north part of Northwest Texas by tonight.

Frost formed on car windshields as predawn temperatures sagged to 26 degrees at Perryton and 29 at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle. Plainview recorded 31 and Amarillo 33, while readings elsewhere ranged mostly through the 40s and 60s but held as high as 72 at Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

Arrival of the front offset a warming trend which sent Wednesday's readings as high as 85 degrees at Big Spring and 86 at Midland. Dalhart was the coolest point with a high of 54.

IN LONE STAR STATE

Moratorium Day Peaceful

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A confrontation between police and North Texas State University students Wednesday night was the only blot on an otherwise peaceful Vietnam Moratorium Day in Texas.

Police in Denton said the students had a permit to march around the campus in a candlelight protest against the war.

They said about 125 of the 600 marchers, tried to march on the downtown Denton area, about eight blocks distant. Police and reserve officers blocked the way, and ordered them to disperse. Nine didn't, and they were arrested. No charges were filed. North Texas' enrollment is about 14,000.

The rest of the state was relatively quiet, lacking any outstanding demonstrations by either war protestors or counter protestors who favored U.S. policy in Vietnam.

The moratorium started as a move promoting immediate withdrawal of U.S. troops in Vietnam, but by the time Wednesday rolled around, it was mostly a program of vigils for peace and recognition of war dead.

No major violence was reported, and a few scattered instances of scuffling marred an otherwise peaceful demonstration.

Largest crowd of protestors was at the giant University of Texas Austin campus. A march to the state Capitol ended up with nearly 6,000 participants.

At Houston, about 2,000 gathered in Hermann Park to hear speakers blast the war and urge U.S. troop withdrawal. Speakers included Kenneth Tollett, dean of Texas Southern University's law school, State Sen. Barbara Jordan and U.S. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex.

Your United Fund Depends On You

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old, Brenda, is our problem. All she thinks about are boys. Brenda is very mature for her age and has been wearing a 38 bra since she was 14.

Last semester she failed two subjects so we sent her to summer school to make them up. Well, she had such a "groovy" summer she failed both subjects again.

This year we have laid down the law to her. Instead of letting her stay out until 11 p.m. on school nights and 1 a.m. on week-ends, we told her she has to be in the house by 10 p.m. on school nights and 12:30 on week-ends. Now she has her dates pick her up at 6:30. Isn't this too early for a girl to be going out? Brenda says since she has to be in by 11 she has to get an early start! What is your opinion?

BRENDA'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: I think Brenda is getting an "early start" for an earlier finish. In my opinion, a 15-year-old should not date at all on school nights (especially if she's failing in school) and midnight is late enough for her to be out on week-ends.

DEAR ABBY: To whom does my blood belong, to my wife or to me?

I signed up to donate a pint of blood to the American Red Cross bloodmobile, and my wife found out about it and canceled my appointment. I would appreciate your opinion in this matter.

CANCELED OUT

DEAR CANCELED: Your blood belongs to you, not to your wife. And unless it's turned to "chicken soup," tell her so.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a hopeless invalid and will be confined to an institution for the rest of her life.

I am in the middle years. My wife's oldest sister (who is still younger than I am) lives about an hour's drive from me in another town. I live alone and have no children. This sister-in-law comes here once a week. She drives to town in the morning, changes the sheets, runs the vacuum and tidies up in general.

She appeals to me, as my wife did. Only she is prettier and resembled my wife in speech, mannerisms, etc. As the teen-agers would say, she "turns me on."

She is married, has children and she is very religious. I don't want to get her in trouble, and I must not get in trouble myself, but frankly, I need some loving, and I would like for this lady to be the one. What is your advice?

HURTING FOR LOVE

DEAR HURTING: Hire someone to change the sheets, run the vacuum and tidy up in general. Feeling as you do, it's only a matter of time before you get into trouble and make a fool of yourself.

DEAR ABBY: More about the mother who wouldn't leave her teen-age son and his younger sister alone for 15 minutes for fear that the boy would take advantage of his sister. That mother may have been extreme in the 15-minute bit, but her principle is certainly sound. I am an 18-year-old boy with a younger sister, and tho I love her very much, sex has never entered my mind. To me, incest is dishonorable, unfair, and disgusting.

But a point was missed. Boys are not always the aggressors as I learned from three separate girl cousins of mine. Each of these girls at different times proposed experiences new to them, to which if I had consented would have made me the guilty offender in the eyes of family and friends, and understandably so. And today I might have been the father of three nameless children. In my family, a cheater is a cheater, be it stealing, lying, or sex. Sign me,

WAITING FOR MARRIAGE

Campbell Soup Plan Expansion

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Campbell Soup Co. said today it plans to spend at least $50 million expanding facilities during the year.

Included would be a six-story research laboratoty and adjoining pilot plant here, the company informed stockholders.

The company said employment at its 33 facilities throughout the world reached an all-time high of 30,838 in fiscal 1969, an increase of 1,200.

Voter Forms At Several Locations

Don Adams, county tax assessor-collector, today reminded Scurry County residents that application forms for voter registration have been placed at various locations throughout the county.

The applications may be mailed to the tax office or brought in in person, Adams pointed out, but he said they should be filled out when they arrive at the office.

Voter registration remains open until Jan. 31. The importance of qualified voters applying for voter registration certificates can be seen in the fact that there may be an election on the junior college district this year although it is an "off year" for state and national candidates.

"You can't vote in an election in 1969 unless you've already registered," it was stated. However, persons registering between now and Jan 31 will be eligible to vote in the 1970 elections.

Application blanks for voter registration certificates have been placed at post offices here and at Fluvanna, Ira and Hermleigh. Other locations include both local banks, Jack White's Service Station at Union, the Dunn General Store and the China Grove store.

Adams also reminded residents that the regular three per cent discount will be given to persons who pay their county taxes during October. The discount rate in November is two per cent, and it is one per cent in December.

Standard Makes Grants To Colleges

HOUSTON — Standard Oil Company of California has announced it will award unrestricted grants totaling $213,000 in 1970 to 34 private colleges and eight independent college associations.

Standard of California is the parent firm of the Houston-based Standard Oil Company of Texas. Awards to be made in Standard of Texas' southwest operating area are $3500 grants at each of the following: Baylor University, Rice University and University of Tulsa.

O. N. Miller, Standard of California's Chairman of the Board, awarded "in recognition of the continuing financial needs of private educational institutions and their major contributions to the welfare of the company and industry in general."

Under the program, initiated in 1955, Standard has awarded grants totaling more than $2.5 million to private schools to assist them in meeting general expenses.

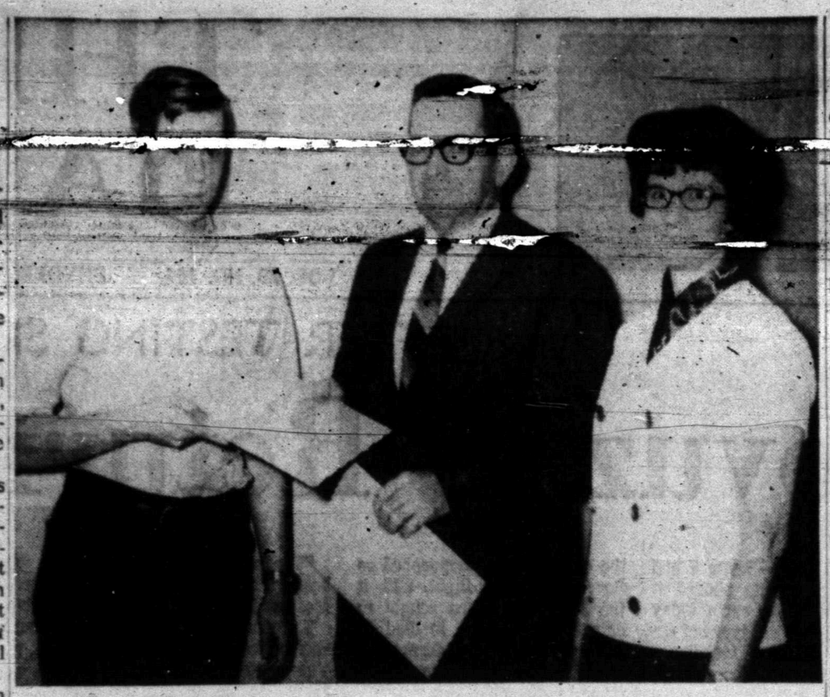

Recipients of the grants are selected according to a formula reflecting the number of the schools' graduates employed by the company.

Standard's unrestricted grants to private colleges are in addition to 300 undergraduate scholarships, 30 professional fellowships, a wide variety of scientific grants and other special services which are included in the company's $1.8 million program of aids to education in the coming year. Part of the program are fellowships and scholarships in Geology, Petroleum Engineering and Accounting awarded by Standard of Texas at eleven colleges and universities.

Set In Shoplifting Case

Bernice Farmer was released on $750 bond yesterday after she was charged in county court with shoplifting. The offense allegedly occurred last Saturday.

Two charges of giving checks without sufficient funds were filed yesterday against Mike L. Dahl, but bond has not been set. The first offense allegedly occurred Feb. 23 and the second one a day later.

Clark, center, Texas Electric Service Co. manager, presents Snyder High School Senior John Hood and Mrs. Roy Carter, SHS science teacher, their credentials for attending the 1969 National Youth Conference on the Atom set for Oct. 23-25 at Chicago. Texas Electric Service Company will sponsor the local delegates to the conference, which is being held for the 11th consecutive year for gifted high school science students and their teachers.

Mobil Mum On Suit

DALLAS (AP) — Mobil Oil Co. spokesmen in Dallas declined further comment Wednesday on that company's $9,142,849 suit against McWood Corp. and its successor, the Permian Corp.

The Mobil suit, filed in federal court Tuesday, alleges the two Texas companies sold Mobil diluted crude oil which, when processed, caused certain refined products and by-products "to be inferior and of unmerchantable quality."

The $9,142,849 sought by Mobil includes alleged overpayments from March, 1963, through June, 1969, and $500,000 damages.

The suit alleges McWood and Permian "injected into and comingled with crude oil other liquid substances," namely residual fuel oil or topped crude oil mixed with natural gasoline, butane and petrochemical residue.

Mobile claimed the mixture had a "market price substantially less than the price paid" by Mobl for crude oil required to have been delivered by McWood and Permian under terms of the contract.

The overpayments were computed by Mobil to be $5,004,289 to McWood when Mobil alleged it paid a total of $53,233,331 for the Texas crude oil from March, 1963, to February, 1967, and $3,638,560 to Permian out of a total of $21,675,857 Mobil alleges it paid for the same contract from March, 1967, to June, 1969.

The suit alleges that McWood and Permian failed to deliver to Mobil crude oil "as regularly produced in various fields of West Central Texas" as called for by the contract.

The case was assigned to the court of U. S. Dist. Judge William Taylor Jr.

Off Shore Oil Leasing Suspended

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel today announced resumption of federal offshore oil leasing which has been suspended since a well polluted the Santa Barbara Channel off California last February.

During the leasing moratorium which began last Feb. 20, Hickel imposed strict new regulations for drilling on federal offshore lands.

Hickel said a sale off Louisiana, suspended since February, will be held Dec. 16.

Another sale, off western Louisiana "will probobly be held sometime during the first half of next year," he said. And a sale off Alaska is under consideration for the second half of 1970.

Hickel revealed the plans in a speech prepared or the Louisiana Gulf Coast Oil Exposition here.

Hickel told oilmen he did not agree with complaints against his policy of holding oil companies absolutely responsible for clearing up any pollution from offshore operations.

He called it "a logical extension of principles that the responsible industry has lived with for years."

"The discoveries for which the award was given first of all imply a deeper insight into the nature of viruses and virus diseases. Indirectly they also bring about an increased understanding of the mechanism of inheritance and of those mechanisms that control the development, growth and function of tissues and organs," the awarding body said.

"The work of the three researchers, centering on bacteriophage —a type of virus that infects bacteria rather than ordinary cells—since around 1940, has had great impact on biology in general. Over the years our debt of gratitude to the three leading figures of bacteriophage research has continually increased," the Caroline Institute said.

BOBBYE E. TAYLOR

Miss Taylor Installed As NABW President

Bobbye E. Taylor, assistant vice president of the First National Bank of Lamesa, was installed as the head of the prestigious National Association of Bank Women, (NABW) recently at the association's annual convention in San Francisco, Calif.

A graduate of Ira High School in 1944, Miss Taylor moved to Lamesa in 1946. She completed an American Institute Banking course in 1962.

Miss Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Ed Taylor, 2214 Fortieth Street, Snyder, went to Lamesa as a nurse, but joined the First National Bank in 1949. After working in all departments except trust, she was elected assistant cashier in 1958 and assistant vice president in 1966. She now heads the public relations and advertising department.

As a member of NABW since 1958, she was cited as a "super salesman" for her efforts as regional membership chairman in 1965-66 when under her leadership the Southwestern Region attracted 145 new members.

She has completed many courses with the American Institute of Banking and Bank Public Relations and Marketing Association, and is active in the Bank Administrative Institute.

In Lamesa she has been active in the Chamber of Commerce, is director of the Dawson County United Fund, serves on the governor's board for the elderly in Dawson County.

Miss Taylor was selected as a "Personality of the South" in 1969, and has contributed volunteer services to many other community projects.

The new NABW president is a golf enthusiast and is a member of the Lamesa "Hole-in-one" Club since last April.

A member of the First Baptist Church, she served as secretary of the General Sunday School for four years.

G. R. Crawley, National's president, said that to his knowledge it is the first time a Texas woman has been elected to the high post.

Cheese Chip Baked Tomatoes

Savory baked or broiled tomato halves not only are attractive when they flank a steak, roast or fish but they are also good tasting. The crispy golden brown topping of potato chip crumbs makes them unusual in flavor. With potato chips the tomatoes need not be brushed with butter or margarine.

Cheese Chip Baked Tomatoes

4 large tomatoes
salt and pepper
1 cup (¼ cup) grated American cheese
2 egg yolks
4 tablespoons heavy cream
¼ teaspoon beau monde seasoning
½ to ¾ cup crushed potato chips
fresh parsley

Cut tomatoes in half. Turn upside down and squeeze gently to remove some of the seeds and liquid. Place tomatoes, cut sides up, in a shallow casserole or baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Blend together cheese, egg yolks, cream beau monde seasoning, and salt. Place about 2 tablespoons of this mixture on each tomato half, pressing down into the center with back of spoon. Sprinkle potato chip crumbs over top. Bake in a preheated 350 - degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or broil until chips turn golden brown. Sprinkle fresh parsley over the tops of each tomato just before serving. Makes 4 servings.

WOMEN

B&PW Week To Be Observed

The Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will join a nationwide tribute to America's working women by observing National Business Women's Week on October 19-25, 1969.

In a message to the National Federation, President Nixon said, "Never have women played such a vital part in national life as they do today. They bring needed skills to the labor force and fill significant roles in commerce, industry, government and many other professions. It is highly fitting that their achievements be recognized by the observance of National Business Women's Week."

In observance of National Busines Women's Week and in recognition of firms which have promoted the interest of women in business, Mrs. Dorothy Pendleton of New Boston, President of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., has announced the Texas Federation President's Golden Torch Award.

This award will be in tribute to the firm chosen from all over the state as the firm which has most consistently opened doors of greater opportunity to women who work.

The award will be presented at the state convention of the Texas Federation in Amarillo in June, 1970. Nominations may be submitted by any interested person. Nomination forms and information can be obtained from all Business and Professional Women's Clubs in the area.

Crispy Steak In A Bag

It was in the West that cooking meat in the bag became popular. Now it is common to see turkey, roasts, even fruit pies baked in a grocery brown paper bag. It saves on cleaning the oven too. No mess. No splashing.

In-the-bag cooking is adding a newcomer — that's steak. This is a recipe Dad would be proud to tackle, and one that he can boast he has perfected.

Crispy Steak In-A-Bag

1 sirlion steak, 2½ inches thick
monosodium glutamate
1 clove garlic, chopped very fine
3 tablespoons butter
fresh chopped parsley
1 teaspoon lemon-pepper
1 cup potato chip crumbs

Wipe the steak dry with a paper towel. Sprinkle with monosodium glutamate. Make a paste of chopped garlic and butter, and parsley. Spreak over steak on both sides. Sprinkle both sides with lemon pepper. Then firmly press potato chip crumbs on both sides of the steak. Place steak in a clean brown bag and close with a metal skewer or staple. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven for about 45 minutes for rare. Makes 4 servings.

Try Tuna Tetrazzini

By the end of the week, most of us can feel the food budget pinch. Instead of fresh meat, frequently we have to fill in with staples on our kitchen shelves. One staple that most of us have, mainly because of its nutrition value, and just because it is so versatile, is tuna.

A well-seasoned and attractively served casserole can become a family favorite. In this tuna-chip casserole for example, the ingredients are staples and can be found on most kitchen shelves. The two basic ingredients are family favorites — tuna and potato chips.

Potato Chip Tuna Tetrazzini

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
1 (10½ ounce) can condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
1 (6 ounce) can or 2-3 cup evaporated milk
1-3 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 6½-7 (ounce) can tuna, drained
1 (3-ounce) can sliced mushrooms, drained
½ cup chopped ripe olives (optional)
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ cup chopped pimiento
3 cups crushed potato chips
grated Parmesan cheese
Paprika

Melt butter or margarine in pan. Add onions, and saute until tender. Add soup, milk, sharp cheese, and heat through, stirring constantly. Add tuna, mushrooms, olives if using, lemon juice, and pimiento. Pour a thick layer of crushed potato chips into bottom of 2 - quart casserole. Divide the tuna-mixture into thirds and pour the first third over bottom layer of chips. Add another layer of crushed chips, another layer of tuna, then chips and repeat until finished. Sprinkle top of casserole with grated cheese and paprika. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve while piping hot. Makes 8 servings.

Park Runs Unique School For Mountain Climbers

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — "Go climb a rock," reads the sign at the foot of the sheer granite walls. And about 600 people have—enticed into climbing this year by a unique mountaineering school.

Operated by the park's concession company, the school offers a $10 one-day beginner's course, good enough to get a novice up a good-sized hill.

But after that, a climber can qualify for more complicated classes—if he has the stamina—and eventually can look forward to scaling some of the cliffs in the national park where the highest rises a sheer 3,000 feet above the valley.

In 1958 the sheer rock walls of Yosemite's El Capitan were first climbed and one of the men who did it, Wayne Merry, a 38-year-old former park ranger, now directs the climbing school.

His customers—who bring their own lunch and boots—are a varied lot.

"They usually know what they're getting into," Merry said.

Most have heard about the school and came to Yosemite planning to sign up, Merry said.

The majority come from the professions; most are fairly young, including a number of college students, and about half are women.

After an introductory lecture, Merry takes beginners to a cluster of rocks. There they learn to handle the climbing rope and how to climb.

Their course lasts most of the day—from 9 a.m. to about 4 p.m., including the lecture. The rest is practice.

Merry says many graduates of the basic school go on to the course, and he also arranges advanced training in more difficult climbing. He even takes promising students on guided climbs in the valley.

Beginners' lessons don't equip the neophyte to climb any of the Yosemite big walls, but he does learn the fundamentals.

Surprise Move In Lynching Trial

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — The state reopened testimony Wednesday in the trial of three Negro youths charged with second-degree lynching in an alleged attack on a Hirschi High School biology teacher.

The move came as a surprise, since attorneys for both sides rested their cases Tuesday. The jury was to have heard final arguments and the judge's charge Wednesday.

Two teen-age girls were called by the prosecution Wednesday. The girls said they witnessed an attack on C. H. Dowdy Jr., 37, last Sept. 11.

According to earlier testimony, Dowdy swung at any of a group of Negro youths in a hallway at the school. The incident reportedly began when Dowdy told the youths to button their shirts and take off their hats in school.

But the girls testified that they heard Dowdy say, "Let's go to the office," before he was knocked down and kicked.

Defendants in the case are Donnie Ray Higgins, Charles Young and Robert H. Mack, all 17. None of them took the stand in his defense, and no witnesses were called by defense attorneys.

Deborah Patterson, 16, identified the three defendants as members of the group that attacked Dowdy.

Three other youths, all under 17, were also arrested, but their case was being handled by juvenile authorities.

According to testimony by Dowdy, he was assaulted by a group, including the three defendants. He said he could not tell who struck the blows.

Another witness, Kirk Morgan, 14, testified that Dowdy reached out at his 16-year-old brother Dennis "like he was going to hit him" and that his brother then knocked Dowdy down.

Second degree lynching is defined as "a collection of two or more persons assembled either with the intention to commit assault or after assembling deciding to commit assault or battery."

Tigers Face First Zone Test At Brownfield

Snyder's Tigers journey to Brownfield Friday night for a gridiron engagement with Coach Charles Keese's Cubs, and the hosts could wipe out the memory of their five earlier losses with an upset. The 7:30 p.m. clash is the first contest for both teams that will count in the zone standings.

Judged on the basis of past performances, the Bengals of Coach Wayne Tyrone should rate as heavy favorites. However, the Cubs have an experienced backfield and could get high enough to make it a close contest.

Coach Tyrone also points out that the Tiger coaching staff prior to the beginning of the season, was counting on seven or eight "key players" that they felt they couldn't afford to lose. Three of those lads are injured and will not see action tonight. Two of them were out last week. They include quarterback Lee McNair, fullback and linebacker Eddie McClain and guard Delbert Hirst. All are seniors. The injury factor could tend to even things up.

However, the sophomores played well against Lake View and were instrumental in dethroning the Chiefs, and perhaps they can do it again. Neither team has much experience in the line, but the Tiger sophomores and reserves probably are better ball players than their Cub counterparts.

"We're very proud of the way our younger boys came through last week," Tyrone said. Butch Buchanan, playing his first varsity game at quarterback, guided the team smoothly and maintained his poise. He also looked good passing in the latter stages of the game and he made two successful runs for extra points after faking to the fullback. He will be at the helm again Friday.

Louis Loyd, Albert Hernandez, Mike Line, Mike Glasscock, Jerry Hardin and James Norred are some of the younger linemen who have made tremendous improvement since the season began, and all of them will get in on the action Friday night.

Another gridder Tyrone is pleased with is Steve Pierce, a senior fullback, who turned in several key plays against the Chiefs.

"He was injured his sophomore year and he didn't play his junior year," Tyrone pointed out, "but he is looking better every day. Although he doesn't have much experience, he could become a top-notch runner."

Steve will alternate at fullback with Randy Levens while another talented runner, Willis Harrison, will run from the halfback slot. Larry Greene will be at flanker back. Levens, Harrison and Greene all are seniors.

The defense, especially, looked sharp last week, coming up with six interceptions, and Harrison got three of them. Merce Hernandez returned one for a touchdown.

"We're going to use either Jerry Hardin or James Norred at middle linebacker in place of McClain," said Tyrone. "Jerry has a sore neck now, but he could be ready by Friday night."

The Cub attack is built around quarterback Richard Leppard, a 175-pounder, who was All-District running back last year. He likes to sprint out on the run-pass option. He can harass unwary defenders with the play action pass. Fullback Shad Brooks and tailback Mike Robertson are veteran performers who supply the power for Brownfield's sweeps and counters up the middle.

Defensively, the Cubs employ a five man front and they like to stunt a lot.

Despite an 0-5 record, the Cubs could provide the Tigers with a stiff test. They were tied with Colorado City 7-7 going into the fourth period three weeks ago, but fell apart in the last stanza after a couple of interceptions and a fumble. If they put together four quarters of the kind of ball they're capable of playing, it could be a close game.

But, the Bengals are aware of the challenge and should prevail by about a 30-0 count, although they haven't beaten Brownfield since 1965.

Mel Renfro Files Suit

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Freesafety Mel Renfro of the Dallas Cowboys has filed suit in U. S. District Court, charging he and his wife were denied the right to rent or lease a Northeast Dallas apartment under the Fair Housing Act.

A hearing is scheduled on the suit Oct. 24th in the federal court of Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

The Renfros filed the suit Wednesday to enjoin what they called the practice of discriminating against Negroes in leasing and housing.

Named in the suit were the builder, C. C. Freeman, Mildred Broyles, a real estate operator, and a salesman named "Sherrill" whose first name was not given.

The suit asks $5,000 in actual damages and $5,000 in punitive and exemplary damages, plus court costs and attorney fees.

Cowboy Boss Is Cautious

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Tom Landry has been down this road before.

He has seen his Dallas Cowboys knock the whey from the Philadelphias, the Atlantas, and the Pittsburghs, and get seizure of the Adam's apple when they meet the Baltimore and the Green Bays of the National Football League.

So pardon him, please, if he isn't overly optimistic about his club's current nine-game regular season winning streak.

"I really don't know how good we are," says Landry, who at the moment is the coach of the leading passer and rusher in the NFL.

Dallas and Los Angeles are the only remaining unbeaten teams in the NFL. With Craig Morton pitching, and Calvin Hill running, Dallas has romped past St. Louis, New Orleans, Philadelphia and Atlanta.

"I have to be realistic," Landry says. "We haven't beaten a team yet which has a really good won-lost record. I don't mean to belittle the teams we have played, but that's the way it is."

Landry admits that it's the hardest nosed club he has coached since Dallas has been in existence.

"We are hustling and hitting more," Landry says. "We are a tougher team. The players have a tremendous attitude."

Landry put the Cowboys through a—if you'll excuse the expression—a Vince Lombardi type training camp. Lots of wind sprints, grass drills—the works.

And the addition of Hill, the incredible rookie from Yale, has given the club a new appearance.

"I'm anxious to see what happens when we get Hill and Bob Hayes in the game at the same time," Landry says. Hayes, the Cowboy split end, returns to action against Philadelphia Sunday after being out six weeks with a shoulder separation. Atlanta keyed on Hill last week and Dallas hurt the Falcons with quick pops through the line by Walt Garrison.

Dallas can now beat you with its running—something which it really couldn't do in the past. The character of the team also seems to be changing to a more give 'em hell attitude.

But Landry wants to wait to see if its for real.

You really can't fault the man who has seen the talented team take nose dives when it counted in the past.

Bear Guard Out

WACO, Tex., (AP) — Guard John Kelly has been lost to the Baylor football team indefinitely.

Kelly suffered a head injury in Saturday's 21-7 loss to Arkansas.

Coach Bill Beall said it was not known when Kelly would return to action.

Odessan Joins U.S. Judo Team

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Dale Lehman of Odessa, Tex., will be on the 12-man U. S. National team competing in the world's judo championships at Mexico City Oct. 23-25.

The U. S. squad will train at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., before leaving for Mexico City.

Lehman turned in impressive victories in the 1968 Pan-American judo tournament and in the National AAU championships in 1968 and 1969.

Bonfire Pep Rally Set Tonight

Students at Snyder High School will hold a bonfire pep rally tonight to generate enthusiasm for the first zone clash in the District 3-AAA football race at Brownfield Friday night.

Each class is competing against each other with the winner being the one that collects the most boxes for the bonfire.

The bonfire will begin at 8 p.m. today in the flat area behind the Little League baseball diamond in Towle Park.

The public is invited to attend.

The cheerleaders will be present to lead cheers, and a few of the Tiger football boys may be called on for short, informal talks.

METS TRUMPH 2-1, TAKE 3-1 SERIES LEAD

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets went into today's fifth game of the World Series on the threshold of their first world championship—and nothing about the amazing Mets is more amazing than the way they finally got both feet on the doorstep to the throne room.

For the implausible champions of the National League got there Wednesday on a double lost in the sun, a bunt that didn't roll 10 feet and a wild throw toward first. That combination gave the Mets a 10th inning run and a 2-1 victory over Baltimore's befuddled Orioles.

So the Mets, who turned the baseball world upside down this year by making the final team standings look topsy-turvy, took a 3-1 edge over the heavily favored Orioles and the opportunity to wrap up the Series today in front of Shea Stadium's banner-bearing fans.

Once holders of the world record for ineptness, the Mets have made the amazing transition to the top on a combination of solid pitching, timely hitting—and plays that have provoked the gag-line that "God is a Mets fan."

Look what happened in that almost unbelieveable 10th inning when the Orioles handed them the keys to the throne room.

It began when catcher Jerry Grote sent a short fly to left that was ticketed for an out.

"I thought the ball was hit harder than it was," said left fielder Don Buford, "and I broke back to keep from giving up an extra base hit. Then I lost the ball in the glare and didn't pick it up until it got above the sun."

By that time, only shortstop Mark Belanger had a shot at the falling fly as he raced toward the point of impact with his back to the plate. But the ball fell beyond the reach of his outstretched glove as Grote stood on second base.

Rod Gaspar went in to run for Grote and Al Weis was given an intentional walk.

At this juncture, it was time for some strategy, and it's possible that the loss of Manager Earl Weaver—in the third inning he became the first manager ejected from a World Series game in 34 years—may have contributed to what followed.

That may never be known. What is known is that coach Billy Hunter, who took over for Weaver, ordered pitcher Dick Hall to issue an intentional walk to Al Weis and then brought in Pete Richert to pitch to pinch hitter J.C. Martin.

Martin's orders from Manager Gil Hodges were simply: Bunt—and keep it down the first base line away from Brooks Robinson, the Orioles' brilliant third baseman. Martin complied on the first pitch, the ball trickling to the lip of the infield grass.

Now Gaspar was running and two Orioles—Richert and catcher Ellie Hendricks—were racing toward the ball, brushing against each other in the indecision of the moment.

"I called for the ball all the way," Hendricks said, "and maybe Pete did too. But with all the crowd noise, I don't know. The play was out in front of me."

It was out in front of a record crowd of 57,367 too, and they yelled and shouted and cheered as Richert grabbed the ball, hurried his throw and hit Martin in the left wrist. The ball ricocheted into the first base hole while Gaspar raced home with the winning run.

The responses to what had just happened varied:

"The ball just happened to hit J.C.," said the cool Hodges. "I'm glad it did."

"I hope," said Richert, "his wrist's broken."

"I don't even know who threw the ball," said Martin, "but he made a good play because the ball had back spin. I knew they had no play so my job was to get to first. The ball hit me on the left wrist."

"I didn't see the play, said Gaspar. "I got a very bad jump. I thought they held the ball and we had the bases loaded. Then I saw it roll away and knew they had no way of getting me."

"I was running with him down the line," said third base coach Eddie Yost. "I think I could have beat him to the plate, I was so exicted. But I stopped three-quarters of the way and watched him go the rest of the way."

Now the Mets have a chance to go the rest of the way today with Jerry Koosman, the second game winner, against Dave McNally. Koosman needed one-out relief help to win that one with a two-hitter after the Orioles won the opener by beating Tom Seaver.

Seaver got his opportunity to get even in the fourth game and did by limiting the Orioles to six hits in a game marked by Weaver's expulsion and a brief moment of tension over the flag raising ceremony because of the anti-war Moratorium Day.

Weaver became the only manager in World Series history besides Charley Grimm of the 1935 Chicago Cubs to be given the thumb when he was thrown out by plate umpire Shag Crawford during the third inning.

Weaver was ejected after jumping out of the Baltimore dugout following a strike call on Orioles' shortstop Mark Belanger.

"Weaver was just trying to test me," Crawford explained. "He wasn't coming to the plate just to say 'hello.' He knows what the baseball rule is. A manager is not allowed to protest balls and strikes."

"All I said was 'Shag' about three times," said Weaver, "because he was walking away—and he turned and said I was out of the game."

That moment of tension came after the U.S. Marines said they would not participate in the flag-raising ceremony before the start of the game if the flag was flown at half staff as ordered by Mayor Lindsay in observance of the anti-war moratorium.

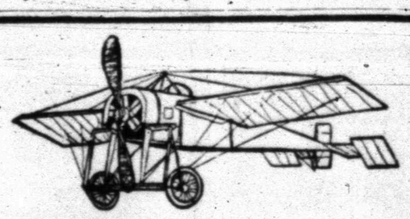

A quick conference ensued between Lindsay, baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and a Naval officer with the result that the decision was reached to fly the flag at full staff.

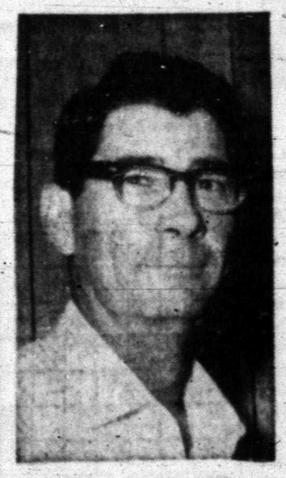

The Mets got off quickly in the second inning when Donn Clendenon led with a homer off Mike Cuellar. It stayed that way until the top of the ninth when the Orioles broke through and tied it on singles by Frank Robinson and Boog Powell and a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson on which Ron Swoboda made a diving one-handed catch.

Then, in the bottom of the 10th, the little double, the little bunt and the big throw got the job done.

"I'm a believer in this club," said Weaver. "Slowly, we're making believers of everybody."

Horses No Longer Are Just For The Horsey Set

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The salesman looked down his nose as the customer departed with a pair of jodhpurs, which the dictionary defines as "riding breeches cut full through the hips and close-fitting from knee to ankle."

"They come in," he said, "grab a pair of pants and don't even want to sit in the saddle to see if the length will be correct on the horse."

His tone was that of an English butler who had just been told that henceforth his people no longer would dress for dinner. But his words conveyed another observation.

Was he saying that horses these days are for the common people as well as the horsey set? Indeed he was, and despite sharply better sales in recent years he couldn't smother the occasional flows of nostalgia for the old days.

As recently as 1959, when the latest federal horse census was taken, there were only 4.5 million of the species in the United States. Reliable estimates now place the population at 7.25 million, 85 per cent of which are saddle horses of 18 different breeds.

The American Horse Council figures that horses now provide some leisure time pleasure for nearly one-third of the nation's 200 million population, although that includes thoroughbreds and the betting thereon.

The industry seems to involve at least $7 billion a year, but Jay Stream, president of the International Arabian Horse Association, feels this figure is too low.

It is based, he says, on a low average value per horse of $150, plus the investment in horse breeding farms and an average cost per owner of $735 for feed, equipment and medical care.

Stream says that to this total must be added "the unknown millions of dollars spent on special riding clothing, horse trailers and campers, travel to and from horse shows, loading and so on." These expenses, he feels, add another $1 billion to estimates of the industry's size.

Stream's organization surveyed its members—whose horses, incidentally, average $2,500 in value and are increasingly popular—and found occupations that permit flexible hours were heavily represented.

Among the respondents, the most common occupations, naturally enough, were farming and ranching. Teachers, however, were the second most common, followed in orders by doctors and dentists, salesmen and the self-employed.

A surprise that emerged from the survey was the discovery that many owners of Arabian horses earn less than $10,000 a year and that perhaps 50 per cent of the owners have annual incomes of less than $15,000.

The changing patterns of life associated with horse ownership also was revealed by the survey. Nearly one-third of respondents, for example, replied that they must travel more than five miles to reach a riding trail.

In the good old days lamented by the jodhpur salesman, horseback riding was often a sport of the horsey set who live in horse country 20 miles or so from a big city, unusually in an area of rambling fields dotted with estates.

Five Sisters Enjoy A Reunion

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Take five sisters who haven't seen one another for seven years, subtract husbands and children, add plenty of homemade pie and strong coffee, sprinkle liberally with nostalgia and let sit several hours around the kitchen table.

That's the recipe my four sisters and I concocted last weekend at the home of one of them in Washington, D.C., and we all agreed it was an unqualified success.

The principal ingredients for this satisfying combination came by plane, train and car from all over the country for the long-planned reunion, and the result was a couple of days of bedlam but not boredom.

Most of the time the place was filled with friends, friends of friends, and possibly a few strangers who saw the crowd and decided to stop in and see what the excitement was about.

But the really memorable moments came when we gathered late one night at the small round table in the kitchen. The five of us were alone for perhaps the first time since the long-ago year that we shared a campus apartment when we were all in various stages of our college careers at once.

Now most of our kids are in college and we've all gone back to fulltime jobs, so interspersed with the "Do you remember?" was talk about how to condense 26 hours of activity into every 24, and how to succeed in cooking without really trying.

Being close in age, we shared many mutual friends during the years we were growing up, so everyone had to be brought up to date on the ones we had kept in touch with.

After 48 hours of togetherness —our memories reactivated, our closeness renewed, our throats raw from trying to be heard above the chorus, and our eyes heavy from lack of sleep— separated.

Who says you can't go home again? You can—for a little while—and it's beautiful!

Intercept Incidents Reveal Imagination Of Smugglers

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
Associated Press Writer

NOGALES, Mexico (AP) — The U.S. customs inspector at the border crossing station had trouble unscrambling the mumbled words of a youth who had just walked over from Mexico.

"What's in your mouth?" the officer finally asked.

There was no reply at once, but after some prodding, the youth, an Army private in civilian clothes, spat out a small, moist rubbery object.

It was a device holding nine grains of heroin, enough for two fixes, in the jargon of the modern narcotics cultists.

A small, foreign car drove up to the same inspection station. Inside the plastic capsule housing the turn indicator on the fender, inspectors found two ounces of heroin in another device wedged around the light bulb.

The local wholesale price for heroin at the time was $750 an ounce.

Ten pounds of marijuana were discovered inside the tubeless spare tire of another car returning from Mexico.

A Phoenix, Ariz., girl, 20, died in a motel room here; authorities blamed an overdose of morphine. She had driven here for the fix.

On a lonely desert road 70 miles northwest of here, near Ajo, Ariz., a Border Patrol roadblock snared two cars with marijuana totaling 800 pounds. Customs officers suspected the load had been parachuted nto the desert by smugglers.

All this occurred during Operation Intercept, the sharpest narcotics vigil the United States has ever put up along the 2,000-mile Mexican border. For nearly three weeks customs officers carefully combed thousands of vehicles leaving Mexico at 38 border crossing stations.

Ground radar and aerial and jeep patrols at unguarded border areas were intensified. Even a marijuana-sniffing dog as pressed into duty at San Ysidro, Calif.

"Intercept" has been superseded by Operation Cooperation, a joint effort by the two countries to combat narcotics production and traffic.

The unilateral U.S. effort had come under sharp criticism from Mexican and American leaders who claimed it was harming relations and obstructing border commerce that totaled $1.15 billion last year.

The incidents in and around this small border town illustrate the imagination of dope smugglers, and amateur, and frustrations to narcotics contraband controls.

During Operation Intercept's 21 days, customs agents turned up 3,202 pounds of marijuana; 78 pounds of hashish, a more potent version of marijuana; 16 pounds of peyote, a hallucinogenic cactus; 3½ pounds of heroin; 74,366 pills classified as "dangerous drugs" and three vials of an aphrodisiac. The also seized smaller quantities of morphine, cocaine, demarol, codein Percodam—all dangerous drugs if used nonmedically.

Figures for a comparative 1968 two-week period with which to measure Intercept's effectiveness are not available. A veteran an customs officer says the operation discouraged drug traffic.

"We're not catching as much as we normally do," he said.

There's no known way of determining how much got through undetected. U.S. and Mexican authorities feel that present control systems are capable of halting only a fraction of the U.S.-bound traffic.

Two Men Named To Health Board

AUSTIN (AP) — Jess Wayne West, a Plainview pharmacist, and Dr. Mickie Holcomb, an El Paso surgeon, have been appointed to six-year terms on the State Board of Health.

Gov. Preston Smith also announced Wednesday he had reappointed Dr. John Marvin Smith of San Antonio to the board.

West replaces I. D. Flores of Floresville, and Holcomb replaces Elmer C. Baum of Austin.

Army To Put Twister To Work

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — The Twister, a new cross between a Jeep and a tank, will get its first usage by the Army this fall, a Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. spokesman said today.

The eight-wheel vehicle can attain a speed of 65 miles an hour and give a smooth ride over the roughest terrain, Lockheed said.

The eight independently moving wheels enables it to move speedily and smoothly in contrast to the slow, rough ride in track vehicles like tanks and to "go over almost anything," a Lockheed spokesman said.

The Twister, prior to delivery, was tested in the rice paddies of the Sacramento Valley, the snows of the Sierra, the Nevada desert and the Santa Cruz Mountains and met all tests of that varied terrain, Lockheed said.

Two Twisters were delivered to the Army within the last month and the third is in production. A contract for the three vehicles, developed by Lockheed, was signed a year ago.

Junior Editors Quiz on RED CROSS

QUESTION: Who got the idea for the Red Cross?

ANSWER: The aim of the Red Cross is to relieve human suffering. Through Red Cross societies in over 80 nations, programs are worked out suitable to particular needs. All Red Cross people unite to serve humanity of every race or creed in peace or war. To implement its program, the Red Cross sends workers to help servicemen and veterans. It moves rapidly and efficiently in any disaster to provide relief. It collects and distributes more than 2 million pints of human blood each year. It sends disaster relief to other organizations which need help. It offers courses in first aid, home nursing, driver education. The society was organized in 1859 by Jean Henri Dunant after he saw the suffering at the battle of Solferino. The society's flag honors Switzerland, where it was founded, for the Swiss flag is a white cross on a red field, and the Red Cross flag is just the reverse. I recommend the work of the Junior Red Cross; find out about it through your school.

ESCAPE INJURY—Several school children at North Elementary escaped injury when the bus they were riding was involved in a collision with this 1958 Model Plymouth operated by Ralph Olan Wampler, Post Road, at 3:55 p.m. yesterday. The car was traveling west on Parks, and the bus, driven by Hancock Joe Bailey, PO Box 444, was traveling north on Austin prior to the mishap. Damage to each vehicle was set at $300.

Events Planned By Heart Assn.

Plans for several major events were discussed Wednesday at a meeting of the Scurry County Heart Association board.

Meeting with the local board was Earl Palmer of San Angelo, regional director of the Heart Association. While here, Palmer announced that he had been promoted to head the state association's fund raising division and will be moving to Austin around Dec. 1. He said a successor to serve this region as director likely would be named within the next two or three weeks.

Date for a nursing seminar here were changed at the Wednesday meeting. The seminar originally had been set for Nov. 12. Instead it will be held Dec. 4. Palmer said the new date will enable the association to obtain some of the best consultants available for the seminar.

Members of the local association were urged to attend the campaign workshop set for Oct. 30 at Lowake.

Two major events were scheduled in Scurry County. The local association will participate in state-wide "Hypertension Day," set for Dec. 13. This will involve checking blood pressure and forwarding the information to personal physicians of those who participate.

The Scurry County Heart Association also is anxious to arrange for first aid instructions here, concentrating on closed heart resuscitation. This activity, which would be one of the most extensive ever presented by the local association, is down tentatively for the second and third weeks in January. It is hoped at that time to take the instructions to various clubs and other groups.

Wilson Bright, chairman, presided at the meeting Wednesday.

Blonde Tells Of Kidnap Experiences

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A pretty 17-year-old blonde nursery school assistant says a kidnaper kept her terrified during a 300-mile ride up the California coast by brandishing two knives.

"I was scared to death," said miniskirted Kristine Anderson, found bound and gagged but uninjure Wednesday night in a Little League ball park on the grounds of a state hospital.

The kidnaper was believed by police to be a man who escaped Saturday while being held in the Santa Maria jail for investigation of two Pasadena holdups and a robbery-kidnap in Albuquerque, N.M.

"He had two kitchen knives, a big one and a small one," Kristine told newsmen.

The girl was discovered by a guard at the state prison-hospital complex. The kidnaper sped off in a car when the guard approached to see why it was parked in an unauthorized area.

The kidnaper was believed to be driving a station wagon belonging to Beth Peters, operator of the Peter Pan Nursery School in Arroyo Grande where Kristine worked part-time.

Junior Livestock Champion Picked

DALLAS (AP) — Judges picked the 980-pound Angus paraded by Dan Edington, 16, of Coleman as grand champion steer Wednesday in the junior livestock show at the State Fair of Texas.

The reserve grand champion was a 975-pound Hereford exhibited by brown-haired Gayle Epperson, 13, of Valley Springs.

Young Edington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duwayne Edington, took top honors for the Angus breed earlier. Miss Epperson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Epperson, also showed her steer to the Hereford championship.

Butch Fuller of Midway showed the reserve champion Angus steer and Ray Rabroker Jr. of Falls County the reserve champion Hereford.

Owners of other breed champion steers were:

Shorthorn — George Kimbriel, 14, of Mason, champion, and Eddie King of Tarrant County, reserve champion.

Charolais—Jimmy Walker of Mason, champion; and Lyn Dearing of Pecos, reserve champion.

Crossbred — Ricky Vestel of Baird, champion, and Cindy Thomas of Haskell County, reserve champion.

Top animals also were picked in four classes of junior lambs. The winners were::

Fine wool type — David Wilde of Tom Green County, champion; Gary Wilson of Coleman County, reserve champion. Both animals were Rambouillets.

Medium wool — Susan Newman of Santa Anna, a Hampshire, champion; Eddie Dusek of Tom Green County, a Suffolk, reserve champion.

Sundown — Vicki Lindley of Mertzon, champion; Lauren Fowlkes of Marfa, reserve champion.

Crossbred — Susan Newman, champion; Kay Young of San Angelo, reserve champion.

First prize for showmanship in the junior lamb show went to Randy Dusek of Tom Green County and second prize to James Steen of Marfa.
