Prime Minister Makes Appeal For Missionary

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya appealed today to the Congolese rebels in Stanleyville to spare the life of American missionary Paul Carlson, threatened with execution.

The message was directed to Congolese rebel leader Christophe Gbenye, apparently at the request of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Rusk appealed to Kenyatta to intercede as chairman of the African committee trying to end civil conflict in the Congo.

The medical missionary from Rolling Hills, Calif., was scheduled to die at noon Monday on a charge of military spying, a Stanleyville broadcast said. Since then the Stanleyville Radio has been silent.

Kenyatta, once jailed by the British as leader of the anti-white Mau Mau terrorists in Keyna, noted that he had appealed Sunday for humane treatment for all civilians held in Stanleyville.

In Bangui, Central African Republic, Mrs. Carlson declared her husband, 36, never had been a spy.

"He wanted above all to ease the miserable condition of the Congolese," Mrs. Carlson said.

She said she last saw her husband Sept. 6, after he brought her and their two young children to the neighboring Central African Republic town of Kemba.

"He could have stayed at Kemba," she said, "but he preferred to return to Ouassolo where his patients needed him."

The United States has warned the rebels they will be held to account if Carlson is harmed and Rusk said if the missionary were executed it would be "an outrageous violation of international law and of accepted standards of humanitarian conduct."

Rusk said rebel charges that Carlson was a U.S. Army major on a spy mission were "patently false."

He said the United States holds insurgent leaders "directly responsible for the safety of Dr. Carlson and of all other Americans in areas under rebel control."

In Chicago, Dr. Arden Almquist, executive secretary of Covenant World Missions in which Carlson served, said the captive missionary "definitely is not a spy."

U.S. Embassy officials in Leopoldville indicated attempts were being made to contact the rebels through the International Red Cross.

Carlson was captured two months ago close to Yakoma, on the Congo's northern frontier, after he had refused to leave his Congolese patients. The missionary had taken his wife and two children to safety in the neighboring Central African Republic.

Many whites, most of them Belgians have been shot or hacked to death by rebel warriors, but Carlson is believed to be the first sentenced to death by the rebel command. Thousands of Congolese have been slain in the struggle by Communist-backed rebel tribesmen against the central government of Premier Moise Tshombe.

The insurgents, who at one point controlled one-sixth of the Congo, began threatening foreigners in their territory when government forces spearheaded by white mercenaries began driving back rebel forces in a drive on Stanleyville.

Tshombe Readies For Assault

KINDU, Congo (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenary army has set up a base in this north-central Congo town for an assault on the rebel stronghold of Stanleyville.

There is no definite indication when the attack on rebel leader Gaston Soumialot's headquarters, 250 miles to the north, will come.

"Much depends on the weather," said one mercenary officer. "Rain is our great enemy and this country favors the rebels and their guerrilla tactics. If we get bogged down on the road we could find ourselves in real trouble."

The mercenary forces, mostly Belgians, South Africans and Britons, are preparing their equipment for the push.

Steel sheeting seized from a local factory is being bolted to trucks as makeshift armor. Captured rebel machine guns have been mounted on battered jeeps.

Communist Chinese arms have been found among supplies taken from the rebels. Ammunition cases bore Chinese characters. Red China is backing the rebels of the eastern Congo.

U.S. Hercules freighter planes fly almost daily into Kindu from Leopoldville with supplies for the central government army.

American helicopters piloted by Belgian crews make hourly patrols over the Kindu area. U.S. troops guard the aircraft at Kindu Airport.

Kindu, a town of less than 5,000 population, was seized 10 days ago.

The front line in this jungle war is 26 miles north of Kindu, at a small river bridge. Rebels on the north bank lob over mortar shells and fire machine guns daily.

Mediators Work To Avert Rail Tie-Up

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal mediators hope to arrange for new bargaining sessions between union and railroad officials in a last-ditch effort to avert a strike set for Monday which could halt service on most of the nation's carriers.

Six shop craft unions, involved in a wage dispute with the railroads for nearly 18 months, Monday called the strike of their 140,000 members for 6 a.m. local time. A spokesman for the unions said the walkout would halt service on the 187 railroads and terminal switching companies which handle more than 90 per cent of the nation's rail traffic.

The spokesman, Michael Fox, president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employes Department, said that consideration would be given any "fair and equitable" settlement offer from the railroads. He also said serious consideration would be given any request from the White House.

There was no immediate word from the White House but the shop unions have rejected as inadequate a presidential emergency board's recommended increase of 27 cents an hour over a three-year period.

Francis O'Neill of the National Mediation Board came to Chicago from Washington and met separately with carrier and union officers Monday. He said he would try to set up bargaining sessions between union and rail officials.

J. E. Wolfe, spokesman for the railroads, said the carriers will not go beyond the recommendations made Oct. 20 by the emergency board. He said to grant higher increases would be unfair to other rail unions which he said have or are about to agree to the board's formula.

Fox said the six unions, among 11 non-operating unions involved in wage disputes, have met with the carriers three times since the board's report and talks were unproductive. The board's report automatically banned a strike for 30 days under terms of the Railway Labor Act but the unions are free to call a strike any time after Thursday.

The six shop craft unions represent rail workers who build, maintain, repair and service railroad locomotives and cars. Fox said he would request the cooperation of all other rail unions in the strike and said they could be expected to recognize picket lines of the shop workers.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said in Washington last week that he did not expect a rail strike or White House intervention in the case.

Present hourly pay in the non-operating unions averages $2.58 and $2.63 in the six shop crafts. The shop unions have demanded initial increases, retroactive to June 30, 1963, of 10 per cent plus 14 cents an hour plus subsequent annual increases of 3½ per cent and a cost-of-living escalator clause.

UF 'Wrap-Up' Underway

The first of the three - day "Wrap - Up" drive of the United Fund was kicked off at noon today when members of the Lions Club took a number of cards of prospects to contact this afternoon.

Members taking the cards were expected to report in this afternoon.

Wednesday the Kiwanis Club will make a similar effort, as will the Rotarians on Thursday.

Bill Seale, general campaign chairman of the United Fund, said that he was confident that these final wrap-up drives would make a considerable increase in the contributions to the United Fund.

Jet Trainer Crashes Near San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A Randolph Air Force Base T33 jet trainer crashed Monday night northeast of San Antonio but both occupants ejected and landed unhurt. They are Capt Charles Frame and Maj. E. E. Moody, a student-instructor.

The plane fell in flames. Falling wreckage killed four deer grazing in a field.

Government Indicts Promoters Of Drugs

CHICAGO (AP) — The promoters of the controversial cancer drug Krebiozen, including Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, internationally known physiologist, were indicted today for conspiracy, mail fraud, mis-labeling and making false statements to the government.

The indictment, returned by a federal grand jury, also named as defendants the Krebiozen Research Foundation, Promak Laboratories where the drug was packaged and three other men: Dr. Stevan Durovic, 59, discover of the drug; his brother, Marko, 64, a lawyer and Dr. William E.P. Phillips, 52, an official of the foundation, all of Chicago.

The indictment supersedes an earlier one which named only the Durovic brothers as individuals.

Bench warrants were issued for the arrest of those named. The Durovics are free on their own recognizance after their bond was set at $500,000 each on the original indictment.

The new bond was set at $5,000 for all defendants, except the Durovics. Their original bond stands.

Dr. Ivy, a leading proponent of the drug, is research professor of biochemistry at Roosevent University and a former vice president of the University of Illinois.

The indictment charges that the defendants reported one Krebiozen patient healthy when he had been dead six years.

Acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach also announced the indictment in Washington.

It charges that they reported the cost of producing one gram of Krebiozen as $170,000 when it actually is a common chemical costing about 30 cents a gram.

The indictment also charges that one defendant signed a death certificate on a Krebiozen patient whose death was reported to the government as being caused by pneumonia when the defendants knew she had died of cancer.

Sluggish Cold Front Moves South

By The Associated Press

A drizzly cold front sluggishly moved deeper into Texas Tuesday but the south and southwest sections of the state continued unseasonably warm.

Brownsville had the nation's high for the morning with 76 degrees. The early morning lows were 34 at Dalhart and 35 at Amarillo, where clouds and drizzle kept down the temperature.

The cold front bogged down for several hours early Tuesday from Lake Texoma region to near Denton and west of Fort Worth, jutting southwestward to Junction and westward to the Davis Mountains.

Showers and thundershowers fell in a band from 60 to 100 miles wide along the cold front, with occasional showers developing before the front.

Forecasts for the next 36 hours call for the cold air to spread down through all of North Texas, the weather bureau said, with the showers occuring over the higher terrain in Northwest Texas.

Monday, intermittent showers fell the western third of Texas and the coastal regions. Lubbock, Childress and Tyler reported rain, with drizzle seen at Wichita Falls, Abilene and Junction.

Texas Farm Income Down In September

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today cash receipts for all Texas farm and ranch products totaled $199.5 million in September, 3 per cent below a year ago. Of the receipts, $106.4 million were for crops and $93.1 million from livestock.

Teachers' Raise Still Uncertainty

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Gov. John McKeithen waited today to see what the legislature, under pressure for a teacher pay raise, will do about a proposed sales tax increase.

The House Ways and Means Committee planned prompt action on a bill introduced by 17 legislators who want to raise the state's two cent sales tax to three cents to bring in $60 millions for teachers.

The sales tax increase would give the state's 36,000 public school teachers the full $1,000-a-year across the board raise they say they were promised.

McKeithen's money bill — which he says is the most he can get through the special session of the legislature — would cover a $500-a-year raise for about half of this fiscal year.

The capitol echoed Monday with the din of demonstrating teachers. More than 2,000 of them milled about in the corridors.

McKeithen was shouted down with boos and cries of "no-o-o" when he told about 1,000 teachers, in the House chamber, that he was confident the legislature would vote half-size raises.

"We're on your side," shouted McKeithen when the screams died down. "I love teachers. I married one."

The demonstrators carried placards reading, "Half is a Laugh," "In Your Heart You Know We're Right," and "Big John, Remember Your Pledge."

Starting pay for a Louisiana teacher with a bachelor's degree is $3,400. Teachers want this raised to $4,400 with raises of up to $1,900 a year for the more experienced and advanced.

The teacher demonstrators were mainly from the New Orleans area, where several school boards declared Monday a special holiday to enable them to head for Baton Rouge on the opening day of the special session.

Some teacher leaders say there may be a strike if the pay issue is reduced to half-size raises.

Heroic Youth Brings Help Too Late To Save Pals

WILLIAMS, Ariz. (AP) — A 17-year-old youth, fighting frostbite and a raging snowstorm, brought rescuers to his hiking companion Monday only to find him frozen to death in Arizona's rugged northland.

Young Michael McBride was hospitalized with frostbitten feet after his futile attempt to save Abram William Clark, 51, of Bell Gardens, Calif.

A search was to begin today for Clark's wife, Nellie, 54, and the youth's father, George McBride of Jerome, Ariz. Temperatures were expected to drop to near zero in the canyon country where they were last seen.

The four had been packing supplies into rugged Tule Canyon south of Williams, where Clark planned to return on a rock-hunting expedition in the McBride told his rescuers that Mrs. Clark decided she couldn't hike out of the canyon to where they had parked their truck. She and the elder McBride headed for a ranch 16 miles down the canyon.

Clark and the boy hiked back up the canyon to the truck. The vehicle stalled in the snow, however, as the two attempted to drive toward a rendezvous with the others at the ranch.

The youth and Clark walked about 10 miles and tried to build a fire but the intensity of the snowstorm was increasing and they failed.

McBride said he and Clark then fell asleep.

"I dreamed my feet were being amputated," said the boy. "Then I woke up."

He set out for help when he couldn't awake Clark, who he said was still breathing.

Forest rangers found the youth in a blinding snowstorm which left 14 inches in the area. The boy led them to Clark, who was dead.

Coconino County sheriff's deputies said the elder McBride and Mrs. Clark never reached the ranch.

The storm left snow caps on the historic Superstition Mountains 40 miles east of the sprawling desert city of Phoenix. Snow is rarely seen on the Superstitions, where searing summer days and heat exhaustion are more common.

Temperatures were expected to dip to 10 below at some northern Arizona points. All major highways in Arizona and New Mexico were reported open, but driving was extremely hazardous.

Lockney Man Dies Of Crash Injuries

CLEBURNE (AP) — William Allen Bennett, 63, of Lockney died Monday night of injuries suffered in a two-car collision Sunday 10 miles south of Cleburne.

Probe Begins In Airliner's Crash

BY JOHN B. LENGEL

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "Just this much more and he would have cleared that ridge," a sheriff's deputy said Monday, holding his hands about two feet apart.

He was standing in hard-packed snow 50 yards from the ridge called Arden Dome that stopped a Bonanza Airlines F27 turboprop Sunday night. All 29 aboard died in the crash.

Clearly visible from where he stood was Las Vegas' McCarran Field, nine miles to the north, the destination of Flight No. 114 from Phoenix.

Pilot Hank Fitzpatrick, 41, radioed McCarran tower at 8:25 p.m., two minutes before the plane vanished from a radarscope during a heavy snowfall.

The only persons who knew what happened in that two minutes are dead.

A swarm of sheriff's deputies and volunteers removed all the bodies from the 4,200-foot high ridge on the western flank of Las Vegas Valley with the aid of helicopters from nearby Nellis Air Force Base.

The plane did not burn. It broke apart and its pieces javelined northward across the top of the dome. Bodies were thrown in every direction.

Conversation at the temporary camp, 500 feet below the dome was often silenced with blaring messages over search radios.

"We need something to pry a body loose from the wreckage. Send up a crow bar or something on the next helicopter."

By sunset, only a sheriff's rear guard remained at the site to preserve the scene for Civil Aeronautics Board investigators.

Edward Slattery of the Washington CAB office said, "It's too soon to tell what happened. We don't know yet if we are going to reconstruct the wreckage. It would be an extremely difficult job."

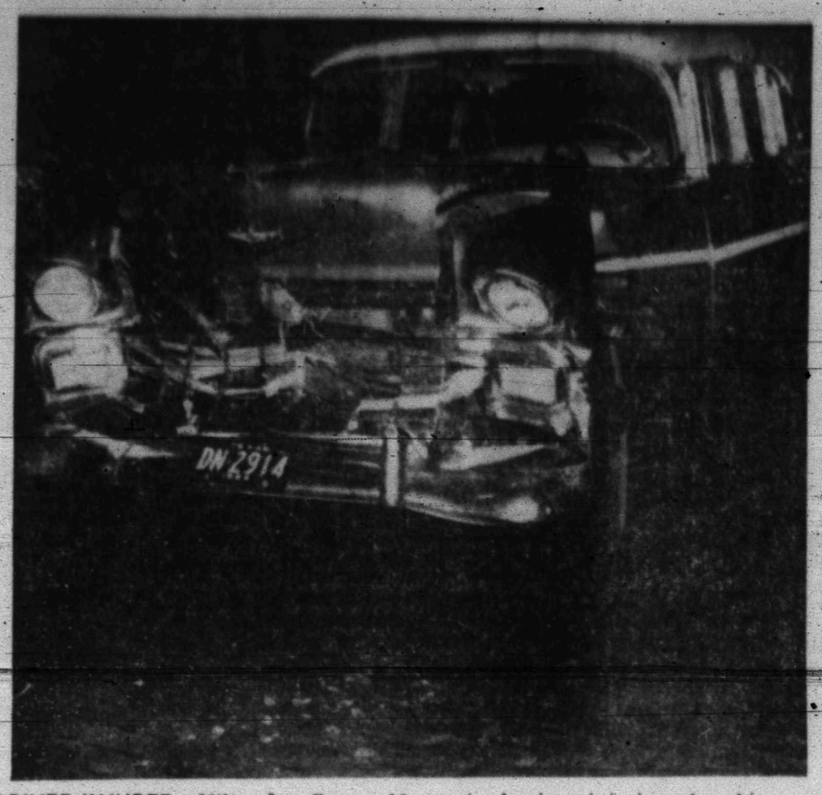
His office has impounded the plane's flight recorder.

Slattery and two dozen other CAB and FBI officials met Monday night in Las Vegas.

Only 10 bodies had been identified early today.

Killed In Mishap

BEEVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Leonard Syma, 23, of Bishop died in a traffic accident early today 11 miles east of Beeville. His car



DRIVER INJURED—Milton Lee Comer, 19, received minor injuries when his car struck the rear of Sheriff Earl Abercrombie's car Monday evening. Weather was a contributing factor to several mishaps here Monday.

4 Mishaps Reported Monday

Misty weather and slick streets in the Snyder area Monday were blamed at least in part for a number of minor traffic mishaps.

Only one mishap, however, resulted in any injuries. At 8:50 p.m. on the Snyder square, a 1956 Chevrolet driven by Milton Lee Comer, 3100 Fortieth Street, struck the rear of Sheriff Earl Abercrombie's car.

Comer was taken to Cogdell Hospital by Bell - Seale Ambulance Service where he was entered for treatment of possible chest injuries and a broken nose. Mrs. Abercrombie, a passenger in the sheriff's car, was also taken to the hospital where she was examined and released. Neither were believed to be seriously injured.

The mishap was the first in which a county car, driven by the sheriff, had been involved in his eight years as sheriff.

Other mishaps included a two - car accident three quarters of a mile west of Snyder on the Rodeo Road at 11:30 a.m. Monday. That mishap, which was investigated by the sheriff's department, involved a 1957 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Clyde Reynolds, West Thirtieth Street, and a 1960 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Betty Jennings, Fluvanna.

Damage to the Reynolds car was estimated at $150 and to the Jennings car at $75.

Snyder city police investigated a mishap at 1:31 p.m. Monday at the traffic circle east of Snyder. Involved were a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Sims Allen Palmer of Colorado City and a 1959 Ford pickup driven by Dewey Oddis Rollins of Snyder. Damage to the car was estimated at $25 and to the truck at $45.

City police also investigated a mishap at 1:58 p.m. in the 1900 block of Twenty - fifth Street in which a 1962 Dodge owned by Gerald Joseph Pyka, 3212 Avenue C, which was parked was struck by a 1958 Chevrolet owned by Ray Carlton Owen of Snyder. Damage to the parked car was estimated at $500 and to the Owen car at $30.

Walter Reuther Ends Stay In Frankfort

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, cut short his stay at the World Auto Workers' Congress in Frankfurt and returned to the United States today.

Congress sources said Reuther's departure was prompted by "new developments, and especially strikes, in the American automobile industry."

Seems Parson Had Qualms About Newly-Weds' Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I hope this marriage lasts," the minister said 30 years ago when the bridegroom, Lyndon Baines Johnson, was in such a hurry he forgot to buy a ring.

They'll probably laugh about it again tonight at a family dinner party in the White House celebrating the wedding anniversary.

Lady Bird Johnson still keeps as a memento the Sears, Roebuck ring hastily purchased because young Johnson goofed on the day of their wedding in old St. Mark's Episcopal Church in San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 17, 1934. The Rev. Arthur K. McKinstry officiated.

Their 30-year marriage milestone comes exactly two weeks after the election in which the Johnsons were assured another four-year lease on the White House.

They got the election returns in the Driskill Hotel in Austin, Tex., a spot of fond memories. It was there Lyndon and Lady Bird had their first date — breakfast in the hotel's coffee shop.

It was all a far cry from the day they were married, Lyndon, 26, and Claudia Alta (Lady Bird) Taylor, 21. Johnson then was secretary to Texas Rep. Richard Kleberg.

Only last week, entertaining the president-elect of Mexico, Johnson recalled he and his wife had honeymooned in Mexico at Xochimilco, famed for its floating gardens.

Recently Mrs. Johnson said she thought her husband was a remarkable man when she married him.

"I still think he's remarkable — and I know a lot more about him," she added with a smile.

Tonight the Johnsons hope to celebrate the occasion in privacy with their daughters, Lynda, 20, and Luci, 17.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother is getting on in years, but she still enjoys shopping personally for all of her grandchildren's Christmas gifts. She starts in October. She sends the gifts directly to me, and I do all of her gift-wrapping and mailing. Abby, she selected a book (I suppose you would call it a FACTS OF LIFE book) for her fourteen - year - old grandson. I looked through it, and it explains how he grew from a little seed that was planted under his mother's heart! Abby, you know very well that a 14-year-old boy would have a laughing fit if he ever got a book like that. Should I tell Nana that the book is too juvenile for him? My husband says to send the book and keep my opinions to myself. Who is right?

MRS. D.

DEAR MRS. D.: Your husband. Send the book.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 15. Two of her girl friends have made a habit of coming home with her every night after school and staying until it is time for us to eat supper. They make remarks such as, "Gee, that smells good!" And, "Well, guess I'll have to go home and fix myself a cheese sandwich for supper." The mothers of both these girls work, and they are expected to get their own evening meals. I haven't the heart to send them home, but you would think they would have sense enough to go without being told. I wouldn't mind feeding them once in a while, but I can't afford to feed them both every night. What should I do?

ON A BUDGET

DEAR ON: These girls are your daughter's friends and it is up to her to tell them in a nice way that they cannot stay for dinner every night. If you explain it to her gently and without anger she can tell them in the same spirit and there will be no hurt feelings.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I just don't understand people. Or maybe it's just me, but what do you think about having a big party to celebrate a couple's wedding anniversary when one of them has been dead for two years? Some friends got together and made a big party and even pitched in and bought a present for the woman. Do you think she should have accepted it? I don't think it was right. What do you think? They said they wanted to cheer her up.

KANSAS

DEAR KANSAS: I think the friends were thoughtful to have wanted to "cheer up" the woman - but a party was out of order. Anniversaries are celebrated only when both parties can celebrate. Since the gift was well - intended, she would have been rude to have refused it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I know you are busy, so I'll make a long story short. I am 13½ years old, stand 5 ft. 5, weight 135 pounds and I am a bed - wetter. My parents think it is just laziness on my part and that I don't want to quit, but that isn't true. They have tried everything from whipping me to embarrassing me in front of my friends, but I still wet the bed. Don't suggest a doctor because my parents are against doctors and they'd never take me. What can I do?

BED-WETTER

DEAR BED-WETTER: Plead with your parents to take you to a doctor. Only he can tell whether your problem is physical or emotional (which it usually is). If your parents refuse to take you to a doctor, confide in your school nurse. It is nothing to be ashamed of. It's not your fault, and you have plenty of company.

COFFEE HELD—The Martha Ann Woman's Club was the scene of a coffee Saturday morning honoring Miss Sharon Shackelford. Pictured above with the honoree are Mrs. W. F. Weaver, mother of the prospective groom, the honoree, and her mother, Mrs. Floyd Shackelford of Cotton Center.

Palette Club Has Pictures On Display

The Snyder Palette Club held its regular meeting Thursday at Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Following a short business meeting an interesting program was given by Lucy Dysart, president. She showed some paintings of famous artists and made special talks on each. Several paintings were brought for criticism.

The club is sponsoring a one-artist show at both the Snyder Hospital lobbies. Laura Collins has six paintings at Cogdell Hospital and Joann Hirst has six at the Nursing Hospital. They are for the public to see and will be changed at various times.

The West Texas Fine Art Association has a large selection of paintings at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. They are interesting and each one has won a ribbon. The public is invited to view them.

The Palette Club wishes to welcome new members Mrs. R. H. Stewart and Mrs. W. S. Salmon. Visitors were Mrs. N. E. Farr and Mrs. H. C. Camble of Hermleigh.

The club Christmas luncheon is being planned by Mrs. Josephine Randals for Dec. 10.

Dermott Girl In College Club

Billie Sue Herring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Herring, was recently initiated into the Christliche Damen, women's social club at Lubbock Christian College, Lubbock, Texas.

Organized in 1957, when the junior college was in its first year of operation, the club participates in inter-campus sports events, competes for the highest cumulative grade average of the 11 social clubs at LCC, and holds special events such as banquets and picnics.

Miss Herring, a May graduate of Fluvanna High School, is a freshman at LCC.

WOMEN

Bride-Elect Honored Saturday

Sharon Shackelford, bride-elect of William Franklin Weaver, Jr., was honored with a coffee Saturday morning, November 14, at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. The honoree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shackelford of Cotton Center and Weaver is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Weaver, 3008 Thirty-fourth St.

Wedding vows will be exchanged by the couple on December 19 in the First Methodist Church at Cotton Center.

Miss Katherine Northcutt greeted guests as they arrived and presented them to the receiving line which included Mrs. Weaver, mother of the bridegroom-to-be, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Shackelford, and Mrs. E. D. Shurley, aunt of the bridegroom-to-be.

Miss Shackelford's chosen colors of red and white were carried out in the decorative motif. The serving table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of red carnations. Presiding at the silver coffee service were Miss Mary Ann Moffett and Miss Dana Falls. Individual tables were also laid with white linen cloths and featured bud vases with single red carnations.

Guests were registered by Miss Diana Ator in the white bride's book as it lay on a table covered with a red linen cloth complimented with an arrangement of white carnations.

Background music was played during the coffee by Mrs. Jack Phillips and Mrs. Bob Womack.

Out-of-town guests attended the affair from Rotan, Sonora, Cotton Center, and Lamesa.

Hostesses were Miss Katherine Northcutt, Mrs. Rex Miller, Mrs. Jim Traugott, Mrs. Eddy the Boren, Mrs. Waunita Strayhorn, Mrs. Mabel Brock, Mrs. Joyce Gorman, Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Jr., Mrs. James Linder, Mrs. J. W. Brinner, Mrs. Lee Smyth, Mrs. Robert Broen, Mrs. Bernard Longbotham, Jr., Mrs. J. M. Moffett, Mrs. Cal Calloway, Mrs. Pat Falls, Mrs. Bob Smith, Mrs. Jack Young, Mrs. Bill Vestal, and Mrs. K. C. McCasland of Rotan.

Overcoming Accidents

Kitchen, bath and laundry areas are troublesome spots for home accidents. Slippage, one of the most common causes of accidents, can be reduced by surfacing floors in these areas with ceramic tile, which is colorful durable and slip-resistant. Tiles with slightly abrasive surfaces are available for particularly troublesome spots.

DRY LAND BRIDGE—Only a trickle of water flows under this bridge that spans the Boonton Water Reservoir in northern New Jersey as a wide expanse of baked mud [illegible] throughout the eastern half of the nation were dwindling as a record - breaking drought continued. (AP Wirephoto)

Rains Bring Little Relief From Parching Drought

CHICAGO (AP) — Rain sweeping across the eastern half of the United States, somewhat easing one of the most severe autumn droughts in history, but many areas continued to battle brush fires and to seek emergency water supplies.

Rainfall over much of the Midwest dampened charred fields and forests, but in the East water supplies dwindled and intermittent precipitation did little to alleviate serious drought conditions and fires in woodland areas.

Substantial showers moved over the area where fires destroyed some 11,000 acres of timber this fall. It ended a 46-day rainless span for Cairo in the southern tip of Illinois.

Rain in Indiana broke a 39-day drought, and a four-day ban on outdoor fires was lifted.

Rain fell throughout Ohio, but the U.S. Weather Bureau said it wasn't enough to alter the dry situation plaguing south-central and southwestern counties and threatening forests there.

New England, which has suffered through its worst autumn drought in history, had some relief.

Connecticut received only .01 inch of rain, but officials said it was enough to reduce the danger of brush and forest fires.

Maine and New Hampshire received some snow, but officials said more precipitation is needed to bring the water table up to seasonal levels. An inch of rain in southern Maine and 3-4 inches of snow in northern Maine brought some relief to stricken areas.

Massachusetts officials considered asking for federal aid to finance transportation of water to communities where reservoirs are low.

Light rain fell over much of Pennsylvania. A ban on smoking in woodlands, lighting of campfires and burning of brush remained in effect. Officials said 250 forest fires broke out last week and more than 50 are still burning.

The situation remained grim in New Jersey, where Gov. Richard J. Hughes asked mayors in four large northern counties to take immediate steps to conserve water. Monday's rainfall measured only .04 inch.

Scattered showers in New York State did little to settle the dust of a six-month drought.

A light rain Monday night made West Virginia forests slightly less prone to fire, but 96 fires were reported in wooded areas.

Thirty North Carolina counties have canceled burning permits because of the dry conditions and some wooded areas have been closed to hunters.

In Tennessee, unseasonably mild weather continued. For the third consecutive day, Nashville Monday had a record high reading for the date — 77.5.

New Milling Method Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A rice milling process under development by the Agriculture Department may result in a whiter, more attractive rice and high-protein rice flour.

High-protein flour, the department said, could be an important new outlet for rice, as an ingredient in baby foods and in special diets for all ages, since rice is considered easily digested and nonallergenic.

The new process was developed by department chemists in work at the Southern Utilization Research Laboratory at New Orleans. They undertook the study after Spanish scientists reported the protein content of rice is highest in the outer portions of the kernels and decreases toward the center.

The milled flour under the new process had as much as 20 per cent protein compared with 6 to 9 per cent for the entire kernel before the outer portion was removed.

Harvesting Progresses

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas farmers had mild weather last week to plant grains, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said Monday.

The department said 96 per cent of the sorghum crop has been cut.

Light showers helped wheat in the northern High Plains, but slowed combining of stubble crop rice along the upper coast.

Wheat planting is 91 per cent planted. Oat planting was 93 per cent finished.

Only 44 per cent of the state's cotton has been harvested.

Peanut digging increased to 54 per cent of the crop.

In the Rio Grande Valley, citrus sales increased. Lettuce and onion planting also is active.

Grains are providing good grazing in many areas for livestock, and they should enter the winter season in fair to good condition.

Waco To Submit Plans To Court

WACO (AP) — School integration in Waco is back in federal court.

Lawyers for 14 Negro children are seeking immediate integration through the ninth grade.

U. S. Dist. Judge Homer Thornberry ordered the Waco school district Monday to submit within two weeks a memorandum in support of its grade-a-year plan in 1965 but delayed it because of a state law which deprived schools of certain state funds unless integration was approved by referendum.

The state law later was declared unconstitutional, and Waco schools put into effect the stairstep plan in 1962. The first two school grades now have been integrated.

Lawyers for the Negro children have argued that if the plan had started in 1955 Waco schools now would be integrated through the ninth grade.

Monday's hearing was an outgrowth of a suit filed in November, 1962, on behalf of the Negro children which asked that an injunction be granted and a restraining order be issued to bar the school district from further enforcing school segregation.

The Waco schools have a total enrollment of 19,409 students, of whom 3,500 are Negroes. There are 29 white schools and 8 Negro schools.

House Republican Leader Says '36 Was Even Worse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Halleck sat in his quiet Capitol office, surveyed the election results and said, "The '36 debacle was worse than this."

The House Republican leader from Indiana told a news conference: "I can't read into the results any great mandate to change the course of the country."

As for the immediate, specific consequences, he said, "If you ask me I guess medicare will go through." He referred to medical care for the elderly under Social Security which has been stuck in a House committee despite President Johnson's prodding.

He also said Johnson could probably get through his proposal to aid the Appalachia area — a key part of his antipoverty program.

Should Barry Goldwater bow out of the national Republican picture after his defeat in the presidential race?

"He's not going to bow out," said Halleck. "And he got licked pretty bad."

Halleck had kind words for Republican National Chairman Dean Burch and said any changes in the Republican National Committee were its own responsibility — not his.

Asked to comment on rumbles of discontent in the party with his own House leadership, Halleck said, "No one has said anything antagonistic to me." He said he had read such things in newspapers and "from time to time they've had me chewed up and dumped into the ash can."

On the Senate side of Capitol Hill, Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said he hopes Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., will continue to serve as chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee. "He's my choice if he will take it," Mundt said in an interview. The South Dakotan will be seeking re-election in 1966.

Nineteen Democratic and 14 Republican Senate seats will be at stake two years from now. Seven of the Democrats are from the South where Republicans have been able to win only a few congressional seats in the past. Outside the South, Senate Democrats who will be up for re-election appear to be entrenched in several states which have not gone Republican recently.

Senate strength in 1966 is likely to be centered on Illinois, Oklahoma, New Hampshire, Michigan, Montana and Oregon.

All but one of the 14 Senate Republicans whose terms expire in 1966 are from states carried Nov. 3 by President Johnson. The exception is Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, a Democrat who turned Republican to support Goldwater in the campaign.

Proposals for rebuilding the Republican party will be discussed Dec. 4 and 5 when the nation's Republican governors meet — either in Denver or Chicago.

Charged In Shooting

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. Agnes Lavada McDonald, 42, was charged Monday with murder in the shooting death of Dallas attorney Joe Thomas Sample, 46.

Sample was found slumped in [illegible] Sunday. Police said he was shot once in the chest.

The 42-year-old woman said she had shot Sample after an argument in the car. She was arrested in front of her apartment.

Officers also filed murder charges Monday against Jimmie Nell Newman, 24, in the death of her husband, Jennings Bryan Newman, 29.

Newman, an ex-convict, was found Sunday sprawled in the back bedroom of his home, shot five times. Mrs. Newman telephoned and asked police to be picked up.

Council Debates On School Fund

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecunfenical Council put the finishing touches on its major doctrinal proclamation of shared papal-episcopal power today. An American cardinal then urged the assembly to declare itself in favor of public funds for religious schools.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, opening debate on a council schema on Roman Catholic schools and universities, told the council it should amend the document to state clearly that "the religious orientation of schools ought not be an obstacle to their inclusion in subsidies for the state."

He said the schema should say that "justice and equity demand that a proper portion of public funds must be given for religious schools."

Coadjutor Bishop Leon Elchinger of Strasbourg, France, supported Cardinal Spellman on the matter of public funds for Catholic schools — a major issue in the United States and in many countries.

Besides debating the schema on the schools, the council voted approval for the final text of its key theological statement that bishops collegiality share authority with the Pope over the Roman Catholic Church.

The council of prelates voted 2,099-46 to accept the last minor amendments to the third chapter of the schema "de ecclesia," on the nature of the Church.

The margin of victory appeared unusual. A number of conservative prelates had challenged the concept almost to the very end.

Conservative prelates had argued that the concept, known as collegiality, detracted from the Pope's primacy and might border on heresy. Prominent progressive prelates noted that the schema says the bishops exercise shared power only with the Pope and never without him.

The third chapter also approves the creation of a permanent diaconate with many of the same duties as priests. Mature, married men will be allowed to become deacons, but younger deacons must be celibate and remain single.

Heroic Boy Saves Day, Loses Job

By BILL CRIDER

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Paul D. Anthony is now unemployed because he blocked a holdup at a motel where he worked as a substitute bellboy.

It started Sunday. Paul, at home, telephoned the motel room clerk, Joseph F. Gillin.

When a man entered the motel office, Gillin told Paul, "Hold on," and put down the phone.

The next thing Paul heard Gillin say was, "Please don't kill me."

"He repeated it, 'Please don't kill me,' and I hung up and called the police," said Paul.

Then he ran for the motel, about a block from his home.

Paul reached the motel just in time to see Gillin, prodded by the gunman, walk out of the office and into the office of an adjacent motel.

When a police car swooped onto the scene, Paul was there with directions.

The officers seized Donald Lee Hawkins, 22, of Arlington, Tex.

Paul was the hero of the hour. He obliged newsmen with a little of his background. He would be 16 Dec. 17. He was a sophomore in high school.

"I go to Easton eight hours a day, work at the motel for eight and sleep eight," he said.

Everybody was happy — except Hawkins and the Louisiana Department of Labor.

A department representative, reading of Paul's exploit, promptly notified the motel that he is too young to work.

Under state law, he can't get a work permit until he turns 16 and then he may be employed "only until 6 p.m." That rules him out of his 3 to 11 p.m. substitute bellhop job.

"I had hoped to save $600 and buy a car," sighed Paul. "I don't know what I'll do now. Do you think I could get a job delivering newspapers?"

UN Reports On Clash

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A report from the U.N. Palestine truce organization on clashes last weekend between Syria and Israel is expected to be ready for the U.N. Security Council by Wednesday.

Syrian and Israeli delegates addressed the council Monday. After two hours of debate, the 11 - nation body adjourned to await the report.

After it is studied, chief U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson, the council president for November, is expected to summon the council back into session before the weekend.

The Syrian and Israeli complaints were based on a two-hour artillery and air clash north of the Sea of Galilee last Friday.

Audience Visibly Moved By Film On John F. Kennedy

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometimes in glowing color, sometimes in somber black and white, the years of John F. Kennedy moved across the screen, reached out and revived the pain of a year ago.

"Have you ever seen anything that tore your heart out so completely?" Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., asked a friend after the premiere showing of the U.S. Information Agency's memorial movie, "John F. Kennedy: Years of Lightning, Day of Drums."

The late president's Food for Peace director may well have been speaking for all the New Frontiersmen who made up Monday night's blacktie audience — and for those who were so moved they left the State Department auditorium unable to speak.

"I still can't get used to seeing those pictures," Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in a choked voice to Jacqueline Kennedys mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss.

The only other member of the Kennedy family at the 90-minute showing was Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, a sister-in-law of the slain president. She hurried away in a limousine.

Visibly moved was Angier Biddle Duke, chief of protocol. He tried to leave a message for the USIA producer, George Stevens Jr. Tears welled in his eyes as he said: "Tell him — tell him — tell him — I'm glad we were in Ireland together."

The film, which covers Kennedy's administration from the day of his inauguration until the day of drums — the day on which he was buried, was prepared by USIA for showing around the world.

Gregory Peck is the narrator. The film is alternately in black and white and color because film clips from various sources were used.

Color sequences of the final day — when the president's body was moved from the Capitol to St. Matthew's Cathedral and to burial in Arlington — are threaded through it, making the day of drums a recurring theme.

Expanded 7th Grade Grid Program OK'd

There will be more football, but less traveling in the 7th grade ranks of Snyder Junior High Schools next year.

The board of education voted its approval last night to a beefed up intramural football program in the 7th grades following a discussion with coaches from throughout the school system.

The proposal has been under study for some time by Horrace Bostick, athletic director for the school system, and Dr. Robert Clinton, superintendent.

Details of the organization of the new 7th grade football program will be left largely to the athletic department and the school administration. The board simply passed a motion to set up the intramural program for the first - year junior high players.

However, Bostick and Dr. Clinton outlined generally the program they envisioned in making their recommendation to the board. They hope to establish at least four 7th grade teams, two at Travis and two at Lamar. First class equipment and competent coaching will be provided for as many boys as the program attracts.

The four teams will play a "double round robin" schedule among themselves, which will provide a six - game schedule for each team, which is the exact number of games played by the 7th grade teams this year.

The action is in keeping with a strengthened physical education program throughout the school system. Although no board action was taken, the entire physical education program came in for considerable discussion, and board members expressed keen interest in pushing the program forward.

The basketball program at the two junior high schools already is operating under a similar system in the 7th grades.

Dr. Clinton, Bostick and members of the board agreed that competition must continue as a major factor in 7th grade athletics. However, it was the concensus that a program within the school system at the 7th grade level offered many advantages.

First, school officials feel that it will increase participation. Second, training and conditioning will be uniform in preparation for competition (in some cases previously teams have been forced to prepare for early season games when they should have been working exclusively on conditioning). Third, scheduling difficulties which have been mounting in recent years will be eliminated. Fourth, out-of-town trips will be eliminated, which is considered an important factor because most junior high games are played on Thursday evening, a "school night."

Sixteen coaches, including Bostick, sat in on the session in the school board's meeting room and virtually all participated in the discussion.

Broyles Fearful Of A 'Long Fall'

By The Associated Press

What is the difference, Mr. Broyles, between 10-0 and 9-1?

"It's a heck of a long fall from there."

And that's why Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas is concentrating on beating Texas Tech Saturday instead of thinking about the good times his team is going to have at Dallas on New Year's Day playing Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl.

Broyles thinks that one-game difference can just about ruin a team's season and he sure wants his Razorbacks to make it 10-0 for Arkansas' first undefeated, untied campaign of 10 games.

"This week is the biggest thing that has happened to any of us—a chance to go undefeated for the first time in 55 years," Broyles said.

But he's worrying about the Texas Tech backfield which he calls "fantastic" and that should keep both his mind and that of the team off the Cotton Bowl for fect season, huh?

Coach J. T. King of Texas Tech is greatly impressed with Arkansas, too. "We'll have to play a perfect game to beat Arkansas," he observed.

A perfect game ruins a perfect season, huh?

Both teams will be in good shape for the big finale and Tech is looking for more than 43,000 to see it—that's an overflow crowd.

Coach Jess Neely of Rice also was dreaming of a winning season—not 10-0 or 9-1, just winning. To do it he'll have to win his next two games. The first comes up Saturday at Houston when the Owls clash with Texas Christian.

Scout Red Bale said Rice could expect plenty of trouble from the ball-control Horned Frogs.

Texas Christian was in fair shape for the game with only end Doyle Johnson on the doubtful list. He got a badly bruised toe in the Texas game last week.

Southern Methodist also expected to be in good shape Saturday when it meets Baylor at Dallas and Baylor should be in the best condition in weeks since not a single injury or setbacks of old wounds came from Baylor's 17-15 victory over Kentucky. Lawrence Elkins, the great pass-receiver who got the flu along with assorted injuries, is expected to be back in action Saturday.

Texas and Texas A&M, who don't play again until Thanksgiving Day, took Monday off. There were no injuries of note in either camp.

Few Changes In Poll Of Schoolboys

DALLAS (AP) — Few changes marked the Dallas News poll of Texas schoolboy football this week with Amarillo Tascosa, Dumas, Phillips and Hull-Daisetta easily holding their No. 1 spots.

Dumas was No. 1 in Class AAA with Wichita Falls Hirschi falling, San Marcos moving in and Lake Highlands and Jacksonville tying for 10th place as McKinney fell out.

Rockwall was the major casualty. The defending Class AA state champions were eliminated by Plano, which already was among the top 10, and Canton took over. Rockwall's place at No. 2 Phillips still led as No. 1.

Hogs Are Toughest On Defense

DALLAS (AP) — Tight-fisted Arkansas is so stingy it's allowing the opposition only 6.3 points and 180.7 yards per game.

The Razorbacks are even tougher than that in conference play. They have posted three straight shutouts and given up only 25 points in six league games.

Arkansas leads the defense with a bulge of 23.6 yards over second place Texas.

Texas Tech continues to top the offense, rushing for 212.0 and passing for 98.1 for a 310.1 yards total offense per game. Baylor is second with 291.0.

Big Victory Over Spartans Hikes Notre Dame's Lead

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Undefeated Notre Dame's impressive 34-7 victory over Michigan State enabled the Fighting Irish to increase their lead in The Associated Press college football pool with only two weeks left before the national titleholder is crowned.

The weekend results followed form sheets closely, thus the only changes among the Top Ten involved the bottom three places.

Louisiana State, which beat Mississippi State 14-10, advanced one notch to eighth. Syracuse and Oregon took over the last two spots, replacing Oregon State and Georgia Tech.

Syracuse beat Virginia Tech 20-15 and moved into the No. 9 position. Oregon took over the 10th spot with a 29-21 conquest of Indiana. Oregon State, eighth a week ago, was beaten by Stanford 16-7 and Georgia Tech, 10th last week, dropped a 21-7 verdict to second-ranked Alabama.

Notre Dame, with an 8-0 record, collected 34 first-place votes and 433 points in the balloting by a special panel of 45 experts.

Alabama, 9-0, drew nine first-place votes and 400 points. The Crimson Tide trailed Notre Dame by only 13 points a week ago.

Arkansas held third place with 361 points, followed by Nebraska with 307 and Texas 246. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

The Razorbacks and Cornhuskers, each 9-0, have accepted bids to the Cotton Bowl. Arkansas trounced Southern Methodist 44-0 and Nebraska defeated Oklahoma State 27-14 Saturday. Texas upped its record to 8-1 with a 28-13 triumph over Texas Christian and accepted an invitation to the Orange Bowl.

Only three among the top five teams are scheduled this Saturday. Notre Dame plays Iowa, Arkansas meets Texas Tech and Nebraska closes its season against Oklahoma. Alabama and Texas are idle until Thanksgiving Day when the Tide faces Auburn and the Longhorns meet Texas A&M.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points:

1. Notre Dame (34)	433
2. Alabama (9)	400
3. Arkansas 2)	361
4. Nebraska	307
5. Texas	246
6. Michigan	235
7. Ohio State	185
8. Louisiana State	132
9. Syracuse	95
10. Oregon	32

Bengals Increase Offensive Margin

The Snyder Tigers will go into their last game of the season this year with one of the widest statistical margins over their opponents that can be found in West Texas, and maybe in the whole state.

The Tigers have thus far gained well over a mile on the ground, while outrushing the opposition by nearly two and a half times. In fact Snyder back Leslie Brown has gained more yards on the ground than all of the opposing teams put together have obtained against the Tigers.

Brown has carried the ball 126 times for 921 yards while the Tiger defense has given up only 882 yards in 9 games. Brown's average is 7.3 yards per carry.

Snyder's passing has been fairly even with that of the opposition. The Tigers have completed 28 of 72 for 418 yards, while the opposing teams have completed 45 of 127 for 403 yards. In total offense (passing and running) Snyder has racked up 2479 yards against 1285.

In individual offensive statistics 3 members of the Snyder team have gained large amounts on the ground. Brown leads the rushers, followed by Tom Kincaid who has 473 yards on 109 carries for a 4.3 average, and Jay Williamson with 315 yards on 70 tries, for an average of 4.5 per carry. The best average per carry goes to Freddie Wiman who has gained 52 yards on 5 tries, for an average of 10.2 yards.

Richard Waters and J. N. Wall have completed the same number of passes (12), and each has thrown for one touchdown. Wall has passed 40 times and Waters has taken to the air 32 times. David Cadena has completed 3 of 5 for 33 yards and one touchdown. Brown has thrown six times, completing one for 44 yards.

Six members of the Snyder eleven have been on the receiving end of passes, and three of them are bunched fairly close to the top. Brown has caught 9 for 147 yards and one touchdown. Richard Elkins and Kenneth Dower have caught 6 each. Dower has gained 82 yards and one touchdown on his receipts and Elkins has gained 55 yards and one TD on his.

Brown leads the scorers with 72 points on 12 touchdowns. Kincaid has scored in a variety of ways, having 38 points on 3 touchdowns, 14 extra points, and two field goals.

Romo Leads Texas Team To Victory

AUSTIN (AP)—Richard Romo of Texas won the Southwest Conference cross country run and led his team to the championship Monday.

Romo made the three-mile course in 14:35. Ken Sunderland of Texas was second in 14:43.

Texas had 20 points. Arkansas was second with 41 and Texas A&M third with 63. Only three teams competed.

George Stroup of Rice was third and Ronny Yates and Mike Hennen, both of Texas, were fourth and fifth.

Baylor and Texas Tech didn't enter teams but had individuals competing. Rex Garvin of Baylor was seven and Ronald Davis of Texas Tech 10th.

Twice during game 6 of the World Series Yankee pitcher Jim Bouton retired seven men in a row.

Arkansas set the Southwest Conference rushing record by gaining 505 yards against Rice in 1953.

Bluebonnet Bowl Eyes Tulsa Team

HOUSTON (AP) — Tulsa's Golden Hurricane, possessor of the nations most talked about back in Jerry Rhome, has moved strongly into the Bluebonnet Bowl picture.

"We've been in close touch with the Tulsa people," Lou Hasseli, head of the Bluebonnet's selection committee, said. "They have an exciting team, and we're very interested in them. So are some of the other bowls."

Despite the fact the Sugar, Cotton and Orange bowls have moved quickly to tie up their teams, it appears certain today the Bluebonnet can still arrange an appealing match, with Tulsa —one of the hottest unranked teams in the country — representing the Southwest.

Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Florida, Oklahoma, Florida State and Texas Tech are the other schools still under consideration by the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Should Texas Tech upset Arkansas, the nation's no. 3 team, and already assured of the Cotton Bowl host assignment, then the Raiders quite likely would be invited to Houston for a Dec. 19 appearance, Hassell said.

Either Ole Miss, still a glamorous bowl name despite an off-year, or Georgia Tech, would provide an appealing match opposite Tulsa.

Of those now under consideration, only Georgia Tech has made a previous appearance in the Bluebonnet's six-year existence. The Engineers lost to Missouri, 14-10, in 1962.

Yogi Heads For Juicy Met Pact

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra, a two-time loser in October, may have his cake and eat it today.

The deposed New York Yankees manager, with a $25,000 going-away gift from his old bosses in his pocket, was expected to become a member of the New York Mets coaching staff at $40,000 per-year, with the announcement forthcoming at a Shea Stadium news conference.

Berra, who lost his one-year managerial job a day after the Yankees lost the deciding World Series game to St. Louis last month, reportedly will sign a two-year, $80,000 contract as a member of Casey Stengel's strategy board and occasional pinch-hitter.

The $25,000 "bonus", which Berra will get if he steps out of the job the Yankees offered him after his dismissal as field boss, was made public Monday by Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk.

"Dan Topping (Yankee president) and I felt strongly that the club owed Yogi at least that much for his long service," Houk said in Ft. Lauderdale, the Yankees' winter base. "He took a pay cut when he went player to manager.

"I haven't heard from him yet about wanting to go elsewhere and I hope he decides to stay. But he's free to do what he wants and he still gets the money."

Berra signed a two-year contract as a special field consultant for the American League club, effective Nov. 1, but an escape clause permitted him to accept another post if he desired.

His anticipated signing with the Mets will end an 18-year career in the Yankee organization. Yogi, 39, played for the Yankees from 1946 until he replaced Houk as manager last season. He was the American League's most valuable player 1951, 1954 and 1955.

If Berra becomes a Met, he will be teaming up with former Yankee pilot Stengel, who referred to Yogi as "my assistant manager" when both wore Yankee pin stripes.

Miners Seek Better Life

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — It isn't easy for families to pull up stakes, but to combat unemployment the government is helping recruit hundreds of jobless Appalachian coal miners for the Montana copper mines. So far, officials are pleased with the results.

Said a Montana Employment Service report recently: "Many of the new miners have already earned more in one month than they made in an entire year in a series of odd jobs back home."

But, the same report pointed out: "The story did not have a happy ending for all of the new arrivals. Some of them soon became lonely for the old familiar haunts and a few more disenchanted. Others just could not make the grade as hard-rock miners."

The story is being written jointly by federal and state employment services and two independent unions, the United Mine Workers of America and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The coal fields of Appalachia are among the most depressed areas of the nation. Employment has plummeted from about 450,000 in 1948 to 125,000 today, and with increasing automation there is little chance of reversing the trend.

What the federal government is doing is making these miners — many haven't worked in the fields in years — aware of the job opportunities in the Montana mines. The Labor Department emphasizes that the migration is strictly voluntary; no government pressure is applied.

In the past two years, miners have been recruited from Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania to work in Montana, where recent developments in open-pit mining of low-grade ore created a shortage of copper miners.

After training to adapt to copper mining, the men can make up to $30 a day — more than a fully employed miner in the coal fields.

A spokesman for the UMW said of his dwindling force: "They could not be taken back into the coal mines. We know that, the industry knows that, and the government knows that. There just isn't room for them.

"The important thing is that they get jobs."

Girl Faces Heart-Rending Decision

By KEN HARTNETT

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A flaxen-haired Polish girl must make a tough decision for a 13-year-old: rejoin her parents behind the Iron Curtain, or stay in the United States.

The girl, Henia Wysocki, slipped away from home and hid in a barn last Wednesday when her parents left for Poland via Montreal.

"I don't want to go back," she said when found. By then her parents had reluctantly sailed aboard the Polish liner Batory without her.

But Monday a cousin said: She would like to be back with her mother and father. I don't know how she'll decide."

Her parents, Leon and Jadwiga Wysocki, were unable to adjust to life in the United States.

For two days and two nights, Henia remained in hiding, nibbling on doughnuts and candy.

The parents, who had spent $2,000 for passage for themselves and their daughter, left word they would work through the U.S. Embassy in Poland for her return.

"I don't want to go back," the child told a reporter. "I like it so much here. I have no friends in Poland. I would not have as many things, as many privileges."

But she would have her parents.

James E. Smith, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said that Henia is classified as a permanent resident and may remain in the United States for as long as she likes.

Henia is staying at the home of a cousin, Henrietta Clapp, in nearby Bloomfield.

Henia came to the United States with her father and mother three years ago.

Civil Rights Worker Dies

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Ernest C. Estell, prominent Negro minister and a member of the original committee of 14 in Dallas, a biracial group formed to provide leadership here in the civil rights movement, died Monday.

Dr. Estell, a native of Dechard, Tenn., served as pastor of St. John Baptist Church 8 years.

He received honorable citations from almost every major agency in the city of Dallas, including a special resolution passed by the Dallas city council in appreciation of his work in improving the relationship between the races here, and crediting him with being a factor in the success of integration in Dallas.

It was through his leadership that Bishop College was transferred from Marshall to Dallas through the Baptist Missionary and Education Convention of Texas. He was a trustee of that college and of the American Theological Seminary in Nashville.

Survivors include his widow, five sons, and four daughters.

Writer Is Honored

ATHENS (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough paid tribute today to R. T. Craig, long-time writer of the Athens Review, on the newsman's 75th birthday.

The senior Texas senator called Craig "one of the greatest journalist of modern Texas history."

Yarborough recalled that Craig was a former president of the Texas Press Association and praised him as a civic leader.

"Your diamond anniversary is an anniversary for all of Texas," the senator wired Craig.

"Your political writing during the stormy years of the (Jim) Ferguson era have not been exceeded in weekly journalism in three generations of Texas history. You have put Henderson on the map, journalistically and historically. All Henderson County residents are in your debt.

Craig is now retired but continues some writing.

Most of Cambodia's six million people are Buddhists.

TROUBLE IN THE BLACKBOARD JUNGLE!

LBJ Faced With Vacancy In Senate Whip Position

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is preparing to send his own legislative program along the old, storm-swept congressional trail.

This time it will carry his brand alone rather than the joint JFK-LBJ sign of the previous Congress. The Texas rancher is sure to watch over it as if it were a prize newborn calf.

The congressional signs bode well for the President's program. Johnson's Democrats will have their biggest majority in the House since the New Deal days and have increased their top-heavy edge in the Senate.

But big majorities don't dazzle Johnson. The man who made his reputation generaling Democratic forces in the Senate believes that leadership is the key to success.

So he is faced with a problem: filling Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey's shoes as the party's assistant leader — or more descriptively, the whip — in the Senate.

It's a big job and big shoes.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the majority leader, is of a scholarly nature, free of pugnacity. Thus much of the heavy legislative line plunging was left to the staccato-talking man in motion: Humphrey.

Johnson approved of the way he did it, so much so that he picked him as his running mate, gaining a vice president but losing a Senate whip.

Who will replace Humphrey? A number of senators want to try.

Russell B. Long of Louisiana, Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and John O. Pastore of Rhode Island all have announced they would like the job and circulated letters to their colleagues seeking support.

Other names have been mentioned, including Sens. Edmund Muskie of Maine and Philip A. Hart of Michigan.

Technically the President has no hand in making the selection. The decision will be made by the 68 Democrats voting in caucus before Congress opens.

But realizing what a quietly spread word from the President can mean, Long and Monroney have sought Johnson's ear. Later, Monroney told newsmen Johnson had informed him he wasn't taking a hand in it. Long reported that he thought the caucus would pick him "provided President Johnson does not enter the situation"

It is the "bantam rooster of the Senate," Pastore, whom Long regards as his toughest opponent.

Well he might. Of all the possibilities the senator from Rhode Island appears to be the closest match to the Humphrey pattern.

A liberal, he is intense, combative, quick to debate, respected for his knowledge of legislation and a hard-driving supporter of Johnson's legislation.

Also he was the man Johnson personally picked to make the keynote address at the party's Atlantic City convention.

So the word is being whispered around that Pastore is the best bet to end up Senate wrangler for the LBJ program in the new Congress.

Junior Editors Quiz on Ant Cows

QUESTION: What are ant cows?

* * *

ANSWER: Roger, in our picture, has discovered something fascinating — a tiny ant farm in full operation. There are more ants in the world than any other insect.

An ant "cow" is an aphid, a kind of soft-bodied little insect which lives by sucking the juices from plants. The aphid's body produces a sweet fluid called "honeydew," and this is the "milk" the ant is after. By stroking the aphid's body, the ant makes honeydew pour from tubes on the aphid's back; then the ant licks up the fluid. Ants carry their "cows" around and plant them in places where much honeydew will be produced; they also make ant farms near the home ant nest. Ants defend the aphids from enemies; sometimes they take their "cows" into the ant nest in winter to care for them. One kind of ant, after having kept aphids in the nest over the winter, clears dirt from the roots of corn plants and puts the aphids on the roots to make honeydew. Considerable damage can be done to corn plants in this way.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Turn over a few flat stones and you will probably find an ant colony under one. Look closely with a magnifying glass and see how furiously the ants work to carry their eggs off to some other place.

Some Quips Appear To Be Timeless

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — No one knows for sure just what repartee was exchanged in the Garden of Eden.

The language was young and fair then, as young and fair as the world's only bridal couple.

It is impossible at this late date to discover what shy jokes Eve whispered to Adam, what clever boffs and bon mots Adam composed when he had earth's first lady as his only audience.

But here are a few stale remarks and timeworn quips they certainly didn't inflict on one another:

"I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth."

"I want a girl just like the girl that married dear old dad."

"Enough is enough. I'm going to pack and go home to mother."

"I'm tired of supporting your brother. Let him get out and earn his own living for a change."

"Don't think you're the only fish that swims in the ocean."

"Do you think money grows on trees?"

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away."

"Now don't try and tell me you've been out with the boys until this hour!"

"No, I was sitting up with a sick friend."

"Don't forget to leave a tip."

"Who was the lady I saw you with last night?"

"Oh, since you insist, I'll just have a li'ole martooni."

"Step to the rear of the bus, please."

"The trouble with me is that my wife doesn't understand me."

"Well, I met the new neighbors today; if you ask me, they're both a mess."

"Don't you ever get tired of talking shop?"

On the other hand, some repartee hasn't changed at all since the Garden of Eden. We can surmise that when Adam first saw the sneaky snake, he must have muttered, "Two's company — three's a crowd."

Here are a few more timeless marital remarks which also undoubtedly originated with Eve and her husband:

"Why is it we never go anyplace anymore?"

"Can't a man have a little peace and quiet? Is that too much to ask?"

"You never listen to me. You never heard one word I said."

"I don't care if you did have it for lunch. You're having it for dinner, too."

"I don't have a single decent thing to wear — not one!"

Searches For Auto —Finds Airplane

FORT WORTH (AP) — A cop looking for a stolen car found a stolen airplane Monday.

Sheriff's investigator Herman Cobb was questioning the owner of the missing car in Crowley when he noticed a single engine airplane parked in a pasture nearby.

Cobb learned that the plane had been stolen from a Dallas field. The Dallas officials also located a car parked at the airport.

Cobb said the thief probably swiped the plane for a joy ride, set it down in the pasture and then stole the Crowley man's car for a return trip to Dallas.

Sugar Cane Harvest Reported Beginning

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba is getting an early start in harvesting sugar cane, its major dollar crop.

Havana Radio reported cutting will start Nov. 30 and milling Dec. 3 in Pinar del Rio Province.

Traditionally the sugar harvest has been a 90-day affair from January to April. The Cuban Sugar Growers Association in Exile attributed the early harvest to a need for immediate dollars.

The modern hand salute was not in general use by armies before the 19th Century.

TV Ventriloquist Killed In Crash

PETERBOROUGH, England (AP) — Dennis Spicer, a 29-year-old ventriloquist who had appeared on both British and American television programs, was killed in an automobile collision Monday night.

Lying beside him in the wreckage was his favorite dummy, "Jimmy Green."

Spicer, a star of the royal variety performance before Queen Elizabeth II two weeks ago, was to have made a return appearance soon on the Ed Sullivan Show. He was married and had a 4-year-old son.

Scores Flee Flood Waters

BLACKWELL, Okla. (AP) — The flooding Chickasha River sent scores of persons fleeing from their homes in northern Oklahoma's Kay County Monday night as the rushing waters spread over a broad reach of lowlying land.

A Red Cross spokesman at Blackwell said 100 to 150 families had been forced to flee from the rising waters. An official said about 50 blocks in the east end of Blackwell were flooded as flooding threatened to be the worst in recent years.

The Tulsa River forecast center said the Chickasha was expected to crest today near 34 feet, equaling the high water stage of June 1923.

Officials said flooding conditions already were worse than those of November 1961 as the river hit 32 feet, six feet above flood stage and kept rising. The 1961 flood was the most recent to drive residents from their home in the Blackwell area.

Steel's Prospects Bright Despite Looming Troubles

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry sees busy schedules in the final weeks of the year despite shutdowns in some customers' plants and stiff labor demands looming in steel's own.

The United Steelworkers Union is starting to map its campaign for spring negotiations. First it may have to settle a leadership fight in its ranks. And the fight is likely to increase its demands, whoever wins. Management already was on notice that the union's asking price would be much stiffer than last time.

Labor shutdowns in many auto plants this fall have held up steel shipments to these big customers. But steel production schedules so far have been affected little. Other customers have kept the mills busy. And orders on hand will keep many working near capacity for weeks ahead. Many companies will be using new equipment that eases production costs — and lifts profits.

The final weeks of the year, and the early ones of next year, look bright indeed.

Pressure for steel price increases continues strong, although held in check dust now by White House frowns.

The upcoming bargaining with the steelworkers doesn't make the steel executives' task easier, nor does the uncertainty as to the outcome of the union's internal power struggle.

And customers aren't too happy either. The worst possibility they face would be a strike. Another outcome would be a labor settlement so generous that it would increase steel production costs and intensify the pressure for a price raise.

Either way customers stand to lose. And many already have started building up their steel stocks a bit, just in case.

If this movement gathers speed, as the fight in the union develops, and as the final labor demands take shape, steel mills would find themselves operating at full tilt for many weeks or even months.

Steel executives know, however, that this over-activity would only lead to a letdown when customers start to live off their built up stocks.

And the industry doesn't relish such ups and downs.

Right now, though, the big stack of unfilled orders at the mills seem to be based quite solidly on real demand by customers who want to turn the metal into various industrial and consumer goods.

The auto industry reports sales strong — that is, as strong as strike-crippled production permits. It expects to make up much of its lost production in the weeks ahead. And hopefully it asserts that disappointed auto buyers will be lining up again when all cars are available.

The appliance industry also boasts of good sales and continuing demand. The construction industry continues to hum, except for a slight slowdown in home building. Railroad equipment makers see their revived prosperity lasting for some time.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — Now let's all take a comfortable seat on the corral fence because we are going to discuss what you don't know about milking cows. This has become an extremely popular subject in Mexico because they are building up huge dairy herds and in order to sell the milk they have to get it out of the cows somehow.

Unfortunately, the onslaught of civilization has brought automatic equipment for cows who work at dairies and it is no longer a question of sitting on an orange box with a galvanized bucket and working things out like in the old days.

Agricultural experts now inform us that dairy farmers have welcome skilled managers whose cunning knack of playing on the psyche of cows with automatic rewards produces a torrent of milk.

They let the cattle have a choice of grain and roughages and treat each one as an individual instead of just plain old bossy like you see plodding around the pasture.

Now, let us visit the Lohengrin Butter Works just outside town here and see how the modern process functions.

(Before we go any further — in case you are this far — we might as well give a brief history of the dairy farm. The modern dairy was invented by a fellow named Richard Wagner who lived in Germany in the 19th Century. He had seven cows but they were terribly disinterested in their work and as he later wrote in his diary—not to be confused with dairy—"They never give anything but eggnog and all they do is stand around and low and grin." This disgusted Wagner to the extent that he traded the cows for a group of singers and wrote the opera Lohengrin for which several famous dairies have been named.)

At any rate, the first thing we notice at the Lohengrin Butter Works here is that the cows are sitting around happily knitting or discussing Alfred Adler's individual psychology.

The manager walks in and says, "Good morning ladies, I'm here to take your individual orders for breakfast."

The cows immediately smile and begin smoothing themselves out a bit and ordering different things. Wheaties, grass sandwiches, ham and eggs and other roughages like hay or baled watercress.

After breakfast the trays are removed and the manager goes to the first stall and says, "Myrtle, you look perfectly gorgeous like always. You must be so full of delicious, rich milk that you can hardly stand it so with your individual permission I'll just slip these mechanical devices on and you can make yourself udderly happy."

Naturally Myrtle cooperates to the fullest extent and delivers 15 pounds of milk while the manager is going around with his smooth talk and fitting metal brassiers on the other cows.

As long as they get a nice menu and feel that they belong, the ladies contribute generously but the moment you subject them to stress and anxiety, psychosomatic reaction inhibits the flow of prolactin hormone which in turn, stops the milk flow from the alveoli.

However, 1,500 happy individual cows on a dairy produce 22,341,001 pounds of milk annually which indicates that a quart weighs a certain number of pounds and you can look it up somewhere if you're interested. Possibly modern cows are trained to give milk in small cubes which are weighed and then melted to a liquid.

Frankly the process seems so complicated that we never fool with cattle or dairies. We just buy our milk in bottles from the market

ANNOUNCES OPTION TO SELL LAND ACROSS FROM LBJ RANCH — Earl W. Sweeny, Stonewall, Tex., land owner and rancher, announces he has optioned a 1,000-foot strip of land directly across from the main gate to President Johnson's LBJ Ranch to a group of Austin, Tex., businessmen. If the sale is completed the group plans to build a curio shop and snack bar on the property. (AP Wirephoto)

US Economy Jolted By Auto Strikes

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Motors strike last month gave the nation's economy its roughest jolt since the 1960 recession, and the effect may linger if the current strike at Ford Motor Co. puts another extended damper on production.

Government economists fretted today about the possibility that labor disputes could cause a general business slowdown after an almost uninterrupted climb of four years.

If the Ford stoppage is settled quickly, there remains the threat of a nationwide rail strike next week. There is talk of trouble in the steel industry, even though the contract deadline is months away.

Both government and business economists have expressed concern over the possibility that wage settlements such as the one at General Motors could lead to a heavy round of inflation after four years of relative stability. Now they also face the possibility that the same labor-management disputes could lead to a sag in the economy.

"I believe we have to worry more about keeping things rolling than we do about inflation," one administration official said.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Monday that its index of industrial production had fallen from 134.0 in September to 131.7 in October. The scale is based on a value of 100 for the 1957-59 average. Thus the October rate was 31.7 per cent higher than that of the late 1950s.

The October drop was only about 1.7 per cent, but it was the first time in more than a year that the scales had dipped, and the size of the decline was the largest since December 1960, near the end of a recession. There was a considerably larger decline in industrial production during the nationwide steel strike in 1959.

The Federal Reserve said that "recovery in November will be dampened by the beginning of strikes at other plants in the auto industry."

Although deliveries of new cars fell 30 per cent, retail sales continued to climb in other lines, and the over-all effect was a decline of only 3 per cent for the month. The output of business equipment was 10 per cent ahead of a year earlier.

Since strikers are counted as employed in Labor Department statistics on unemployed, the jobless rate held steady at 5.2 per cent last month. There was a reduction in employment.

Texas University Discloses Changes

AUSTIN (AP) — Changes in two key posts in the University of Texas system were disclosed Monday.

Vice-Chancellor Lanier Cox resigned and requested a leave of absence as professor to direct a training project for college and university administrators.

Dr. Fitzhugh Pannill, assistant dean of the University Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, was named interim dean of the South Texas Medical School in San Antonio.

Soviet Economy Vital In Red's Power Struggle

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The new changes at the top of the post-Khrushchev Soviet regime suggest a power struggle between liberalizers and conservatives over the course of the Soviet economy. Clash and compromise seem to have played a part.

Younger - generation technocrats are making their influence strongly felt. There are signs that the younger men eventually will emerge with the lion's share of political authority, but the struggle is not over.

The younger men seem impatient to remove some of the restraints on Soviet economic development, even to the point of experimenting with capitalist methods.

This could lead one day to an upsurge in East-West trade, more economic independence for Red-ruled Eastern Europe and aggravation of the dispute with the Communist Chinese.

The Communist party Central Committee made these appointments Monday: Alexander N. Shelepin, 46, and Pyotr Y. Shelest, 56, to full membership in the party's ruling Presidium, and Pyotr N. Demichev, 46, to alternate Presidium membership.

The committee dropped Vasily I. Polyakov, 58, a Khrushchev farm expert, from the secretariat, and dismissed ailing Frol R. Kozlov from the Presidium, thus eliminating one conservative voice from the top of the apparatus.

Shelepin's rise was predictable. As former chairman of the State Security Committee (KGB) and chairman of the party and State Control Committee, Shelepin probably played a significant role in unseating Nikita Khrushchev as premier and first secretary of the party.

Shelepin, a deputy premier, now may be moving close to the top rung of party leadership, possibly eventually as deputy to First Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Shelepin's rise and the advancement of Demichev to alternate Presidium membership can encourage new generation leaders anxious to build the consumer economy despite resistance from hard-line conservatives and the military.

Demichev is closely associated with the chemical industry, a hope of the younger men for sharply stepped up consumer production.

These appointments seem to enhance the positions of younger-generation leaders like Presidium member Dmitry Polyansky, 47, an able administrator with wide experience. Polyansky and Shelepin now are men to watch.

Grandson Of Sun Founder Found Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Walter Crocker Pew Jr., 41, great-grandson of the founder of Sun Oil Co., was found dead Monday on a deserted road in Everglades National Park.

Police said it was suicide. There was a note, but details were not released.

The windows of his 1953 automobile were rolled up, the ignition turned on and a flexible piece of metal tubing connected to the exhaust pipe through the floorboards. A park ranger discovered the body.

Pew's worth was undetermined. He was in the process of divorcing his second wife, Miriam Horwitz Pew, 35, of Miami. She said in 1963 that Pew had an annual income of $50,000 and was worth $4 million. She sued him for $16,214 charging neglect in caring for her and their child Wendy, 6.

Pew's great grandfather and the founder of Sun Oil, Joseph N. Pew Sr., died in 1912. His father, Walter Pew, was the former general manager of Sun Oil, headquartered in Philadelphia.

Ship Towed Into Port

MATTHEW TOWN, Great Inagua Bahamas (AP) — A British freighter, crippled by fire in its cargo hold, was towed into this Bahamian port early today by a U.S. Navy destroyer.

Extent of the damage was not immediately determined.

The Cedar Hill said it was 500 miles southeast of Miami and 100 miles north of eastern Cuba when fire broke out in hold No. 3 Monday night.

The 441-foot former Liberty ship was bound for Havana. It left Antwerp, Belgium, Oct. 22.

Extradition Treaty Is Ratified

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Brazil formally exchanged papers today ratifying an extradition treaty they signed Jan. 13, 1961.

When the treaty goes into effect Dec. 17, it will complete extradition arrangements between the United States and every nation in the western hemisphere.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador Juracy Magalhaes exchanged the ratification papers in a brief ceremony at the State Department.

Rusk called it a "symbol of the expanding ties of friendship between our two countries."

Magalhaes said, "I have the same feeling — it is a mark of the friendship between your country and mine."

The treaty lists 33 common crimes generally subject to extradition. It provides that persons will be returned to their home country if charged with or convicted of such offenses as murder, rape, kidnaping, bigamy, arson, piracy, burglary, robbery, forgery, counterfeiting, embezzlement, larceny, perjury and smuggling.

Extradition will not be granted when the offense is purely military or of a political nature. However, criminal acts aimed at the overthrow of bases of political organizations will not be held as political crimes or offenses.

Brazil had become a haven for a group of Americans wanted in the United States in connection with financial crimes. They included Lowell M Birrell of New York, Earl Belle of Pittsburgh, Edward Gilbert of New York and BenJack Cage of Dallas, Tex. All returned voluntarily to the United States except Cage.

Cage was convicted of insurance fraud in Dallas and sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in 1957. He fled to Brazil while awaiting an appeal and has since become a Brazilian citizen.

RIDING HIGH — Larry Shipley, 11, is head and shoulders above his buddy Allan Teichman, also 11, as they take a cruise down a Dallas, Tex., street. The odd effect was gained by turning a regular bicycle frame upside down, making an extended goose-neck for the handle-bars and a seat-post of pipe. The work was done by Larry's father, H. W. Shipley. (AP Wirephoto)

This Pistol Packing Miss Wears Gun, Means Business

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago has a pistol packin' miss and she has declared a one-woman war on crime.

"I just want to protect what I've got and I'm mad," says brown-eyed Ann Soloman, 39, who owns a plush leather goods salon on fashionable North Michigan Avenue.

To fend off would-be thieves, Miss Soloman has begun wearing gun-and holster on her hip.

"I've been victimized too many times," she said today. "Now, I'm going to do something about it."

Miss Soloman, who is 5-feet-2 and weighs 110, said she has lost "thousands and thousands" of dollars to thieves since opening the shop 20 years ago.

Last week, Miss Soloman said, she decided to start wearing the gun after watching a pair of shoplifters at work.

"They pretend they're customers," she said. "They come in bunches and then they separate on the floor.

"They confuse you on size and color — and then they steal. And before you know it they're out the door. They steal things right out of windows and off racks — you wouldn't believe it.

"And when Christmas comes around, they're just like a bunch of rats crawling out of the woodwork.

"It isn't that I want to do this, but I need protection. It's nothing but a headache to cope with these thieves.

"You can spread the word that I'll be packing this pistol until after the Christmas holidays.

"From now on I'm going to shoot them dead. I dare them to come in here again."

Police said it's legal for Miss Soloman to carry a gun for protection in her shop.

That Policeman Needs Assistance

PRICHARD, Ala. (AP) — Rookie policeman J. E. Jordan probably will be getting some instruction soon from fellow officer Danny Goldman on how to handle a pistol.

Jordan bent over to pick up a book Monday shortly after reporting for duty at the city jail. When he stooped, his pistol fell from his holster. He picked up the gun and it discharged.

Goldman suffered the only injury — a sore head. The bullet shattered an overhead light which fell on Goldman.

2 Plead Not Guilty

Louise Polk of Snyder and formerly of Post, pleaded not guilty this morning in county court to a charge of illegal possession of alcohol in a dry area.

Her bond was set at $500.

Also pleading not guilty this morning in county court was Luther Tucker of Snyder who was charged with aggravated assault on a female. His bond was also set at $500.

Mike Reed Gets Honors

ANNAPOLIS, MD. — Midshipman First Class Michael P. Reed, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Reed, of 2800 Westridge Dr., Snyder, has been named to the Superintendent's List for the first half of the first semester at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

To be selected for the Superintendent's list a midshipman must have an approximate B average with no individual grade lower than C in academic subjects, an aptitude mark and conduct mark of B or better, satisfactory status in physical education, and a recommendation by the Commandment of Midshipmen.

Twenty-eight percent of the 4,000 midshipmen are now on the Superintendent's list.

AIME Meet Is Postponed

The local section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers, AIME, has delayed its meeting originally scheduled for tonight.

The speaker who had been scheduled to appear tonight, Harold Vance, canceled his appearance here because of illness. Vance is a former head of the Department of Petroleum Engineering at Texas A&M University.

The local group has rescheduled the meeting for next Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Snyder Country Club. At that time officers for the organization will be elected.

Noted Composer Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Composer Albert May Malotte, 69, who set "The Lord's Prayer" to music, died Monday night at his home.

He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage in 1962 and had been in ill health since.

Ford Works Half Force

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly half of Ford Motor Co.'s auto factory work force was idle today because of what the company calls a strike-caused parts shortage.

Ford, which has 160,000 hourly paid workers, brought the idle total to the 70,000 mark with two more plant layoffs Monday.

The new layoffs, affecting 11,500 men, were at the Chicago and Los Angeles car assembly plants.

Ford has said its entire 90-plant nationwide system may be forced to close by the week unless local strikes by the United Auto Workers are settled.

Five strikes involving 16,700 men continue out of the group of nine that began Nov. 6. They include key parts plants in Ypsilanti and in Sterling Township, Mich., and the Buffalo, N.Y., stamping plant as well as two assembly operations at Wayne, Mich.

Southwest Conference teams have won 12 and lost 10 games in Cotton Bowl competition.

DON'T TAKE BETS, BUT—

Polar Bears, Squirrels Expecting A Mild Winter

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A close study of many factors, including the jet stream, a polar bear's fur, the stockpiling activities of squirrels, and the laws of chance, points today to an inescapable conclusion: The coming winter may be abnormally mild, but prepare for the worst.

The U.S. Weather Bureau flatly refuses to say what the winter will bring. Weather science is not yet that good, it says. The most it will hazard is a 30-day outlook, issued twice a month.

Now if the bureau could know now what the jet stream will be doing next January it might become bolder. James F. O'Connor, bureau meteorologist, made a valiant effort to explain the jet stream in words understandable to an amateur.

It is the core or nucleus of a broad band of westerly winds which sweep across the Pacific and the United States, west to east. They fly high, at an altitude ranging from 10,000 to maybe 40,000 feet.

Trouble is, you cannot count on them to fly straight, they meander, they snake around in their journey.

If they snake northward in the winter, over the Yukon for example, much of the United States can look for earmuff weather. If they meander southward, the storms imbedded in them, or swept along by them, they may pick up a lot of water vapor over the Gulf of Mexico. This could mean umbrella weather later for many Americans.

Next stop was the National Zoo where Snow Star, a polar bear, proved equivocal. It's true she has a remarkably thin coat for a polar bear, but her keeper, Albert C. Smith, had a theory about that: "I think she keeps rubbing her hair off by scraping against the sides of her pool."

Elsewhere in the animal world, some confusion has reigned. Squirrels hereabout have been seen chasing their tails as though it were springtime; they don't seem to be stashing away many acorns. In Illinois, blackbirds and bronze grackles were observed on a wrongway flight, eastward instead of south.

The laws of chance are not much help. If you toss a penny, and three heads — bad winters come up in a row, you might expect that a tail — mild winter — would appear next. But it's a 50-50 chance that it might be another head.

One thing scientists are generally adamant about. The explosion of an atomic device by the Red Chinese did not produce our long, golden Indian summer weather this year.

Man-made blasts, even nuclear ones, are puny compared to nature's strength.

Everybody benefits
when Rural Electrics give life to democracy

Democracy, like people, gains strength from exercise.

When Americans engage in political debate and vote in free elections, they breathe new life and vitality into the democratic process.

America's rural electric systems provide a continuing example of how democracy flourishes in one sector of the electric power industry. Each year in hundreds of meetings all over the country the members of these cooperatives and other consumer-owned systems meet to review . . . to discuss . . . to debate and to cast their votes.

Each member has one vote, in accordance with cooperative tradition and democratic principles. These member-consumers have the final say in the policies and direction of these business enterprises.

Rural electrics were created in the democratic tradition by the people they serve to bring light and power to rural America. And they are keeping pace with continually growing power requirements with the help of Rural Electrification Administration loans which are repaid with interest.

Working with their government to meet the nation's needs, rural electrics also give life to democracy . . . and everybody benefits.
