DEATH CLAIMS WILLIAM WRIGLEY

Stinson Dies Of Crash Injuries

AMERICA'S DEAN OF AVIATORS FATALLY HURT WHEN PLANE FALLS NEAR CHICAGO MONDAY

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 26—America's dean of aviators—Eddie Stinson is dead.

His long and sometimes perilous career as a flier came to an end early this morning in the Illinois Central hospital from injuries suffered when a huge Stinson-Detroiter plane fell to earth in a public links golf course in Jackson park, not far from the shoreline of Lake Michigan.

The accident occurred last evening while the noted flier and three companions were attempting to return to Wayne, Mich., plant of the Detroit-Stinson corporation of which he was president.

Plane Is Wrecked

While over the lake, motor trouble developed and Stinson maneuvered to make a safe but forced landing. The plane, however, struck a flagpole and was wrecked. Stinson, pinned beneath the wreckage, suffered a crushed chest and internal injuries which caused his death at 1 a. m. today.

His three companions—Clark Fdiel of Kalamazoo, Mich., John Tompkins of East Chicago, Ind., and Frederick Gillies of Chicago were injured but less seriously.

It was the first time Stinson had been injured in 20 years of flying, which had brought to him numerous endurance records and the distinction of having been in the air more than any other man in the history of aviation—more than 14,000 hours, for a distance of nearly 1,500,000 miles, the equivalent of sixty times around the globe.

Stinson, who was but 38, pioneered in aviation and never during the whole of his long career used a parachute.

He earned his wings at the old Kinloch field in St. Louis, having been taught to fly by his elder sister, Katherine, and later obtaining a position as test pilot for "Jenny" planes which he described as "crates."

Strangely enough he was opposed to trans-Atlantic flights. He called them "stunts" and went so far as to forbid the sale of his "ships" to

Action Seen On Financial Heads

APPROVAL OF DAWES, JONES ASSURED BUT COUCH OPPOSED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—Early action was slated in the senate today on approval of President Hoover's nominations to the board of the newly created reconstruction finance corporation.

Charles G. Dawes, president, and Jesse H. Jones of Texas, seemed assured of confirmation without a word of dissent, while stirrings of opposition to Harvey C. Couch, Arkansas public utilities man, were expected to be conquered through the strong support given him by Senator Robinson, minority leader. Those are the three whose formal nominations were sent to the senate yesterday.

House Consent Seen

Except for adjustment with the house of a minor amendment made by the senate in passing the $500,000,000 appropriation for the corporation, the nomination question was all that stood in the way of the agency's actual functioning. The senate change was to provide clerical help for disbursement of loans to farmers—an activity assigned by the reconstruction bill to Secretary Hyde's office. House consent was expected.

The fourth appointment to the corporation's board was expected to come from the White House later. A western man is sought. The names of Gerald Hughes, a Denver attorney, and W. S. Coad of Omaha have been advanced but indications were the selection might be postponed a while.

To all intents and purposes, the corporation already is functioning. Loan applications are pouring in by every mail and they are getting preliminary attention from Dawes and the ex-officio members of the directorate: Eugene Meyer, Farm Loan Commissioner Paul Bestor and Secretary Mellon.

Burglars Like The Last One Would Be Greatly Welcomed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Any number of burglars like the last one would be greatly welcomed by Mrs. John Van Domelen.

Her house was broken into and ransacked yesterday but nothing was taken. Instead, the invader dropped a ten-dollar bill.

DELAY ACTION ON TAX BILL

IDEAS ON RAISING OF REVENUE INCREASE HEARING DEMAND

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—New ideas on raising revenue needed by the government to get its books in balance have so increased demands for hearings that actual drafting of the new tax bill has had to be postponed two days at least.

While the house pushed ahead its general economy program, the ways and means committee today listened to a miscellaneous collection of ideas on what new taxes should be levied and set aside tomorrow for representatives of the power industry.

These are expected to oppose the suggestion for a five to ten per cent tax on electrical consumption, advocated by Representative Crisp of Georgia, one of the most influential Democratic veterans, with the idea of raising some 150,000,000 annually. By Thursday the work of drafting the revenue bill should begin.

The idea is generally held that the Democratic-controlled committee will, with the backing of party leaders, produce a measure calling for big increases in income, surtax and inheritance tax rates, plus gift taxes and levies on a limited number of highly productive commercial sources.

House Cleaning In Honolulu Started

HONOLULU, Jan. 26 (AP)—House cleaning in this paradise of the Pacific, where passions engendered by hoodlum attacks on women recently flamed in rioting and violent death, was advanced today as the community organized for better law enforcement.

Two prominent young attorneys, Eugene H. Beebe and Barry S. Ulrich, were named by the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce to assist in prosecution of Mrs. Granville Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., E. J. Lord, and Albert O. Jones for the slaying of Joseph Kanahawai, Hawaiian.

Deadline is midnight on Saturday, January 30.

HERRING MAY BE ASKED TO APPEAR

For completion of the records and, if he consents to testify, to throw added light on the blast which rocked his home, Guy Herring of Lubbock will probably be asked to appear before the court of inquiry prior to its completion of investigation.

The court was in session about six hours Monday and heard 13 witnesses in connection with an explosion which occurred late Saturday night in the Herring residence at 2202 Seventeenth street.

Whether Herring would be asked to appear today depended, however, on a physician's report of the man's condition. Wiley Metcalfe, city fire marshal, said. Herring was knocked unconscious by the impact of the explosion and was not rational for several hours.

Kansas City Cafe Wrecked By Bomb

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—A cruising police car was showered with glass this morning by the explosion of a bomb which damaged the Blue Lantern, a cafe operated by William Roy, recently elected commander of an American Legion post here.

The interior of the cafe was wrecked. A fireman later found seven sticks of dynamite with fuse attached on a table in the cafe.

Sino-Japanese Relations Are More Tense

WARSHIPS ARE ORDERED TO SHANGHAI

UNEASINESS GROWING; CHINESE SLAIN AS FIGHTING BEGUN

(By The Associated Press)

Japanese ships and soldiers went scurrying to two troublesome points today as the uneasiness at Shanghai increased and fighting broke out at Harbin.

Forty-five Chinese were reported to have been killed at the city in northern Manchuria when a detachment of the Chinese eastern railway guard swept into the Chinese quarter of Harbin and began looting. Japanese troops started from Kirin to take things in hand.

Ultimatum Given

Thirteen more Japanese warships were ordered from Sasebo to Shanghai where 11 ships already were lined up waiting for the Chinese officials to obey an ultimatum directing suppression of Chinese societies said to be leading the anti-Japanese boycott.

While all this was going on, members of the League of Nations council, except the Chinese and Japanese representatives, went into a secret session on the Manchurian trouble. It was expected the Chinese stand would be modified somewhat because of the change in the foreign office at Nanking.

General Chen Ming-Shu was moved up from minister of communications in the Nanking cabinet to succeed Eugene Chen as foreign minister. The general is an old supporter of Chiang Kaishek. At the same time the government apparently was ready to set up a national defense council, probably to be headed by Chiang.

In Tokyo the government approved the appointment of Joseph C. Grew as ambassador from the United States to succeed W. Cameron Forbes.

TROOPS GUARD ENGLISH PEN

ATTACK FROM OUTSIDE TO AID MAJOR JAIL DELIVERY RUMORED

(By The Associated Press)

PRINCETOWN, Eng., Jan. 26—A force of 100 steel-helmeted infantrymen, armed with machine guns and rifles, augmented the regular guard over Dartmoor prison and all approaches to it today, following reports that the frustrated revolt of Sunday was to be followed by a concerted attack from the outside.

Police were ordered to stop and investigate all approaching cars and not to allow any to pass unless inquiries were answered satisfactorily.

The extra precautions were the result of reports that confederates of the prisoners on the outside were congregating, armed with machine guns, and preparing an attack which was intended to end in a general jail delivery.

An inquiry into the causes of Sunday's outbreak was under way.

In some quarters the trouble was blamed on a humanitarian relaxation of discipline and in others to an increasing severity in the regime. Preparation of the food suffered because of changes in the kitchen staff, according to this report. The chaplain was quoted as saying he tasted the porridge last week and found it "not fit to eat."

JUDD PROSECUTION ENDS

REFUSAL OF WIFE TO TELL WHERE SHE WENT AFTER "OUR NIGHT OUT" CLUB PARTIES BASIS FOR DIVORCE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 26—A young wife's refusal to tell where she went after attending pajama parties of a married women's "Our Night Out" club, was the grounds today for the expected granting of a divorce to her husband.

Mrs. Treva Hostetler, 21, a vivacious brunette, denied, however, the accusation of her husband, Willard, 23, that she had slipped away from three club meetings to go automobile riding with the Rev. W. H. Sanders, 35.

The club was formed of nine young married women in the little village of Midvale, O., on the theory that wives sometimes are entitled to a little fun all by themselves with no husbands to bother. They played bridge, some of them smoked cigarettes and sometimes they assembled in pajamas.

There didn't seem to be any objection to the club's motives as revealed by testimony yesterday in the divorce hearing but there was, however, a great deal of curiosity on the part of Hostetler as to where his wife went when the meetings were over. This curiosity, the wife refused to satisfy.

Rev. Sanders, married and the father of one child, came to her home several times to ask her to join his church, Mrs. Hostetler said but "that was all."

Attorneys for the wife agreed to drop opposition to the divorce if the husband would amend his petition to exclude any reference to the clergyman. Common Pleas Judge E. E. Lindsay then said the divorce could be obtained on a charge of refusal to relieve her husband's mind. Hostetler agreed to this and prepared to offer today the amended petition for the judge's final approval.

TWO WOMEN ON STAND TODAY IN TRIAL

JEALOUSY OFFERED AS MOTIVE FOR TRUNK MURDER OF TWO

(By The Associated Press)

COURT HOUSE, PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 26—Winnie Ruth Judd's expressed opinion that J. J. Halloran wealthy Phoenix lumberman, "is perfectly grand" and her declaration that his friendship with other women "makes me so mad I think I'll go crazy" were told by two women closing the state's case today against the slender accused slayer of her friends.

County Attorney Lloyd C. Andrews held until the last his effort to establish jealousy as the motive for the slaying last October 16 of Agnes Anne LeRoi and Hedvig Samuelson.

Miss Lucille Moore, nurse who said she met Mrs. Judd last Sept. 1, told of a ride she took with Mrs. Judd and Halloran on the evening of Oct. 15, the night before the slaying.

She had not, she said, met Halloran before he and Mrs. Judd came to her home that evening and asked her to go out with them.

They went to the apartment of Mrs. LeRoi and Miss Samuelson.

"Was there anything said," demanded Assistant County Attorney O. A. Rodgers, "between Mrs. Judd and Halloran?"

"What was it?"

"Yes."

"Ruth asked Jack to remember he had promised not to let Anne and Sammy know she was in the car. He said he would remember."

Halloran, the witness said, went

CHICAGO CUBS OWNER DIES IN PHOENIX

CHEWING GUM MAKER VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 26.—William Wrigley, jr., of Chicago, Los Angeles and Phoenix, owner of the Chicago Cubs and chewing gum magnate, died in his winter home here at 2:15 o'clock this morning. He was 70 years old.

Death was due to complications of heart disease and acute indigestion. He had been confined to his bed since Jan. 18 when he suffered a severe attack of indigestion followed by apoplexy and a heart attack.

Secrecy Maintained

His condition, Dr. George Goodrich, his personal physician said, had been critical since he first became ill. Announcement of his death, however, came as a shock outside the immediately family as his household had maintained strict secrecy regarding his illness.

The shock was increased by the fact R. A. Kirkman, Wrigley's secretary, last night informed newspaper reporters "Mr. Wrigley's condition is much improved, but has been ordered by his doctors to remain in bed for a rest."

Mrs. Wrigley and their two children, Phillip K. Wrigley and Mrs. James R. Offield, were at the bedside when the end came. Dr. Goodrich said Wrigley had not been in good health since suffering a heart attack at Catalina island, off the coast of California, about a year ago. In addition, he said, Wrigley was subject to indigestion. Wrigley owned Catalina island.

Private funeral services, Kirkman said, probably will be held in Pasadena, Cal., Thursday or Friday, with memorial services at the same time in St. Christopher Episcopal church in Chicago. Burial will be at Catalina island.

FOUR HELD IN ROBBERIES

TWO MORE SUSPECTS ARE ARRESTED IN MONDAY HOLDUP

Two more suspects have been arrested in connection with a holdup here Monday night and one was in city jail at noon, Police Chief John Lemond said.

Two youths taken into custody Monday as suspects in a theater safe robbery and an attempted grocery holdup were in city jail at noon and charges had not been filed, the chief of police said.

Added To List

Robbery of a safe in the Palace theater building, 1000-block of Main street, Sunday night, and a holdup of the Pinson Drug store, 16th street and Avenue Q, and an attempt to rob the Heepy-Cheepy grocery, 1002 Avenue Q, Monday night, were added to Lubbock's current page of crime.

Between $15 and $16 was taken at about 9:30 o'clock Monday night in the drug shop holdup, in connection with which the last two suspects were arrested.

The largest loot, that taken from the theater office safe, was discovered missing shortly after 10 o'clock Monday morning by C. C. Lindsey, manager of the Lindsey theaters who with his secretary, Mrs. Pearl Foster, was preparing to make a deposit of Sunday's receipts. Mr. Lindsey reported $1169 missing from the safe. It was placed there Sunday night by James Lucas, assistant

CREDIT MAN IS SPEAKER HERE

CREDIT CURTAILMENT COMPETITION NEEDED, CALDWELL SAYS

Competition in credit terms and not in true merchandising' values and salesmanship has caused a breakdown in credit responsibilities and is the cause of a certain portion of our economic unrest, Frank T. Caldwell, field secretary of the National Retail Credit association, told members of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association and Lions club today noon at the Hilton hotel. Paul Sherrod, president of the local association, was in charge of the program.

"We're not concerned with making any prognostications on the causes or predictions on the outcome of the situation," Mr. Caldwell said in speaking of the past period of deflation, "but we are concerned in the truth or falsity of the statement that 'the nation has been living beyond its means,' that there has been too much credit."

He then explained that the basis of every credit account should be

Aggie Student Is Wounded In Head

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 26 (AP)—Glenn G. Commons, 19, of Mercedes, junior at Texas A. & M., was in a serious condition with a bullet wound in the head.

After regaining consciousness Commons said he was examining a 22-caliber pistol in his room yesterday when it was discharged accidentally. An X-ray examination revealed a small object about the size of a 22-caliber bullet at the base of the youth's brain. Physicians were considering the advisability of attempting to remove the shot.

A college rule forbids students from keeping private firearms in their rooms.

HUEY LONG IS ACCLIMATED

LOUISIANA SENATOR IS AT HOME IN HIS NEW JOB IN CAPITAL

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Huey P. Long made himself as thoroughly at home in his new job today as though he were a veteran of the senate but the capital eyed him warily, in hope of excitement.

His entry on the Washington scene made sure, if there every had been any doubt, that he is not going to be known as just Senator Long, (D., La.). Apparently his backrow seat in the august chamber is not going to submerge him any more than it did the pictorial J. Ham Lewis of Illinois, who sits right beside him.

It didn't take Long more than a few minutes to be functioning, senatorially speaking. His vote was cast quite definitely at the first opportunity. He had no chance to speak and said he had not felt inclined to.

CYR FIGHT WILL BE LEGAL NOT PHYSICAL

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 26. (AP)—Although guard was still maintained on state property, capital officials were convinced today that any attempt by Dr. Paul N. Cyr to claim the governorship actively held by Alvin O. King would be legal and not physical.

Relaxation of tension since Dr. Cyr appeared last night in New Orleans extended to the guards themselves—highway police who were banded into special details when it was feared Cyr was on his way to Baton Rouge to claim the title of governor.

FLOOD WARNING GIVEN

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26 (AP)—R. A. Dyke, forecaster of the United States weather bureau here, today warned that 2 and 3 inch rains of the past 24 hours would seriously affect flood conditions on north Louisiana rivers. He warned that immediate precautions be taken to save life and property.

MAN KEELS OVER IN LOCAL CAFE

S. L. Barwick, 33, of Houston, who keeled over in a cafe at Avenue H and Main street at about 9:15 o'clock this morning, was taken in a Rix ambulance to Lubbock sanitarium, where doctors were attempting to determine the seriousness of his condition. He was conscious. The possibility that his condition was a result of a stomach ailment was advanced.

Mrs. J. T. Easley of Lovington, N. M., came to Lubbock sanitarium Monday for removal of part of a needle which she stepped on about 30 days ago. It was removed.

A 5-year-old boy, Grover Watkins, jr., underwent a bronchoscopic operation for removal of a particle of sweet potato from his lung Monday afternoon at the sanitarium.

The condition of Isaac B. Greer, 52, of Lubbock, was improved and attendants at West Texas hospital late this morning said he probably would be taken to his home today. He first began suffering hiccoughs 18 days ago. The attending physicians said Greer had not hiccoughed during the day Sunday or Monday.

TAX PAYMENTS INCREASING

ABOUT 3500 PERSONS ALREADY ENTITLED TO VOTE HERE

Poll tax payments were mounting steadily in Lubbock county today, said Hurley Carpenter, deputy collector, who estimated roughly that 3,500 persons had paid current poll taxes at the Lubbock office and the sub-office at Slaton.

Try to pay your taxes by midnight Saturday, as that is January 30 and the 31st—the last day—is Sunday, and if you can't, mail a check Sunday, Carpenter suggested. Payments in mail postmarked not later than the 31st will be accepted.

The poll tax is $1.75. It is required with payment of property assessments but may be paid without the latter tax. The county collector's office will be open until midnight Saturday.

The City of Lubbock tax collector's office will be open until 10 o'clock or later and the Lubbock independent school district collector's office until midnight Saturday, R. A. Holland and A. C. Jackso, respective collectors, said. Collections to last Saturday night were about half of one per cent less than last year, Holland said.

The tax collector's office for 12 other independent school districts of Lubbock county, in the district civil courtroom in the courthouse, will be open until late Saturday night, P. F. Brown, collector, said.

HAWKINS CASE IS SET FEBRUARY 8

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 26—(Special)—The case of Joe Hawkins, accused of the murder of his father-in-law, S. M. Walker, has been reset for trial February 8 in 64th district court here before Judge Charles Clements. A special venire of a hundred men will be summoned.

The trial at Plainview will be Hawkins' fourth on the murder charge. He first was sentenced to 50 years in the penitentiary in 72nd district court at Crosbyton and, after the sentence was reversed, was tried in Floyd county, where a mistrial was declared. Early in November, a jury panel at Floydada for the third trial was exhausted, and the case was transferred to Plainview. The case previously had been set for trial February 1 in 64th district court here.

The slaying occurred October 29, 1929, at Hawkins' home, about nine miles from Crosbyton, in an argument pertaining to a dog.

BABY WITH CRAMPED BRAIN TO MAKE 1000-TO-ONE GAMBLE AGAINST DEATH

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Baby Diana Moore and her "poor little brain" went under the x-ray today preparatory—perhaps—to a 1,000-to-one gamble with death.

"I'd take the chance," said the 13-month-old infant's mother, Mrs. Lillian Moore, "even if it were one in a million. I think any mother who wouldn't would be a coward."

Little Diana, confronted with a life of idiocy unless science can relieve the pressure of the too-firmly knit skull about her cramped brain, cries a little, coos a little and smiles much. She is physically perfect but has been backward in mental development.

There was a consultation of four doctors yesterday. None of them would discuss the case but Mrs. Moore—who is only 19—said one of the four surgeons had opposed the operation.

The x-ray examination today was to determine if there is enough brain matter to enable little Diana to develop into a normal child. Should the answer be negative, the doctors said, there would be little purpose in operating at all. The object of the operation is to expand the skull to permit the brain to develop.

Mrs. Moore's husband walked out of the house a year ago saying he was going to look for a job. He never returned.

ARTIFICIAL THUNDERCLOUDS PROTECT THREE CITIES FROM LIGHTNING LOSS

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 — An artificial thundercloud which hangs continuously eaves-high just outside the door of a Purdue university laboratory helps protect Chicago, from lightning damage.

The assistance is through discovery of better ways to ward off lightning and was explained today to the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at a symposium showing what Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia have done to clip lightning's wings.

This artificial thunder cloud is a mattress of parallel electric wires. It creates in the atmosphere all about the same kind of induction tension caused by a big thundercloud. But Purdue's tame cloud is geared low enough to be harmless to humans.

With its aid, little lightning flashes are induced on experimental "house and city" circuits just inside the laboratory door. These strokes go popping like firecrackers, each one leaving a record indicating on a small scale what real, wild lightning is capable of.

Some changes in wiring, particularly for private consumers, have been suggested by the Purdue cloud experiments and put into effect.

Five Gold Star Mothers Are Given Memberships In American Legion Auxiliary

Membership Teams Are Captained For Auxiliary; Six Women Are Initiated

Five Gold Star mothers of Lubbock were initiated into the American Legion auxiliary Monday evening in a meeting at the Legion hall. These women were given memberrhips by the society and are Mesdames Barbara Schallert, D. P. Peak, J. M. Everheart, G. R. Scott, Essie Brooks and John W. Moore.

Mrs. J. A. Dowdle was received as a new member of the Auxiliary, also, and was initiated.

There was a regular business meeting of the society with Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt presiding. Mesdames J. Ray Dickey, K. L. Riggs, Will N. Morgan and J. B. Jackson were appointed captains of four competing teams to solicit new members.

Miss Nell Parmley sang "That's Why God Made Mothers" and "The Patchwork Quilt", accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mamie I. Neal.

Refreshments were served and the Valentine theme was used in appointments. Hostesses were Mesdames W. M. Petticolas, jr., and Mrs. W. H. Waln.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

PARENTS' PROBLEMS

I AM LOOKING forward to February 1 and 2. On those dates I will meet a number of my fellow parents who have been reading this column, for I am to appear at that time as an instructor at the farmers' week program at the State Agricultural college of Ames, Ia. Having served for two successive years on a similar program at the Ohio State university, I know that the parents who attend such an institute are of the very highest quality.

Time was when such programs were concerned only with better corn, better pigs, better cattle. Now a great deal of emphasis is placed on better homes, better parents, better children.

I grew up on a farm, where I learned about hard work. Work on the farm was my vacation program after I entered college. Naturally, I have a deep and sympathetic interest in the families on the farm. From first-hand experience and from many letters I receive from parents on the farm, I conclude that parent problems on the farm are for the most part about the same as parent problems in the city. Of course there are certain variations peculiar to rural life which make some problems easier or harder, simpler or more complex. But the difference is more a matter of degree than of fundamental quality.

Human frailties of parents and other adults assert themselves in farm homes in the same general fashion as in the city. Some children on the farm do not eat their spinach, do not drink their milk nor take their cod liver oil cooperatively. Some grow stubborn or have temper tantrums. Some have intense fears, are awakened by night terrors or are known to be very nervous. Some don't go to bed or go to sleep when they should, and some rise too early in the morning. Some are timid or do not get on well with other children. Some don't mind their parents and are considered disobedient. With all these problems city parents, parents everywhere, indeed, must be familiar.

The kind of questions which will be asked at Ames are about the kind I have been hearing over and over elsewhere, even though some parents will be sure that no one else in all the world could have been confronted by such problems.

Any group of parents in Iowa should be unusually able to carry on an intelligent discussion on parent problems. Iowa pioneered in child welfare research and paren education. Its state university had the first Child Welfare Research institute in our country. It was founded and directed by that inimitable scientist and educator, Dr. Bird T. Baldwin (at the psychological and educational meetings we all knew him as Bird and so addressed him), whose career came to an untimely end a few years ago.

Right at Ames is the very capable Mrs. Alma Jones, and at the University is Mrs. Pardee Youts. Both those mothers, who have been leaders in parent education in Iowa, are known and loved by thousands of their fellow parents of Iowa. Both also have had wide influence on parent education outside their state. So you can see that whereas I look forward to the Ames meeting with considerable eagerness, I also look forward with no little trepidation. My greatest pleasure will be in meeting my many readers.

Of Electrical Development---

Are You Using Electrical Current To Your Greatest Advantage?

Looking backward to 1882, when the first central generating station was placed in operation, the industry has some measure of pride in its accomplishments during these comparatively few years. The cost of the finest artificial lighting the world has ever seen is the most unimportant item in the household budget. Drudgery is no longer necessary in the home. The workers in our great industries are no longer manual laborers; they are directors of power. The railroads, the street railways, the telephone, the telegraph, the radio—all acknowledge their debt to electricity.

These have been years of constant striving to improve and extend the service and at the same time lower the cost to the consumer.

Not a little of the success which has crowned these efforts has been due to the splendid cooperation of the American public.

HARRIS TALKS TO SCOUTS

ANNUAL SOUTH PLAINS COUNCIL DINNER IS MONDAY NIGHT

Stanley A. Harris, director of inter-racial relations for the national Boy Scout council, of New York City, as principal speaker at an annual South Plains Area council dinner last night in the Hilton hotel, asserted that "character in the individual is the only antidote for crime" and described scouting as "a scientific process of character education."

Harris also attended the annual business session held during the afternoon. James M. Gordon, Liberal Arts dean at Texas Tech, was toastmaster.

Following the address new officers for the council were installed. They were: W. G. McMillan, Lubbock president; T. E. Buckner, Lubbock, treasurer; K. N. Clapp, Lubbock, scout commissioner, and Dr. J. C. Loveless, Lamesa, member of national council.

Mr. Harris was introduced by Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Following the serving of the dinner, to which 177 persons sat down, Mayor J. J. Clements welcomed the visitors from out of town. "The building of citizenship in America today is our most important problem," he declared. J. G. Wilhite, Slaton school teacher, substituted for Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, unable to be present, and responded.

Miss Dorothy McFarland gave two whistling solo numbers and Mrs. Ray C. Mowery gave two readings.

Eagle badges were presented to seven scouts and scout officials by George W. Dupree, K. N. Clapp, scout commissioner, assisted.

Mothers and fathers of the boys, who were present, went to the platform and pinned the honors on their sons.

A. B. Sanders, superintendent of schools at Brownfield, gave a tribute to the Eagle scouts.

J. Edd McLaughlin, Ralls, in a tribute to the scoutmasters and assistants, characterized their work as "one that is outstanding in any community."

Mr. Harris presented silver beaver awards, the first to be given by the national council to men who have done outstanding work in each area, to Commissioner Clapp and Dr. Loveless.

In the attendance contest the eastern division, headed by Ralls won. Brownfield in the southwestern division was second. A. B. Sanders, on behalf of Brownfield, presented to Clay Sowell, Ralls, the attendance banner.

Those who received Eaglebadges were:

STINSON

anyone contemplating such a project. This decision was reached by him after the Georgian, Paul Redfern, was killed in an attempt to fly from Atlanta to Buenos Aires in a Stinson monoplane.

He held that land planes had not yet reached the stage of perfection to justify trans-Atlantic flights. "Of course," he was quoted as saying, "it was such an exploit that gave us Lindbergh, but they are stunts and as such, are a detriment to aviation."

Perhaps his most spectacular experience occurred a few months after he began his career. This was when he was testing planes in New York. While several thousand feet in the air, his plane lost an aileron and part of the landing gear. He was nearly out of gasoline but he saved himself by nosing the plane down to an embankment near a railroad right-of-way, making an angular landing that prevented the damaged side from dragging.

WIFE OF N. M. HEAD SISTER OF STINSON

Mrs. Miguel Otero, wife of former attorney-general of the state of New Mexico, is a sister of Airmar Eddie Stinson who died as a result of an airplane accident near Chicago yesterday. David C. Ruse, Lubbock flier, said today. The others live in Santa Fe.

According to Pilot Ruse, who is planning to open a flying school here, the dead aviator has a brother and another sister in addition to Mrs. Otero. The other sister is with the government at Washington and the brother, Jack, is with the Sikorsky plane people in Connecticut. All four of the Stinsons have been flying since 1916 or before, the Lubbock man, who is personally acquainted with them, declared.

"I think I said, 'he is very nice'."

"She said 'he is nicer than that. I think he is perfectly grand'."

Halloran came out of the house she said, with two other men, "Mr. Ryan," and "Mr. Townsend."

Mrs. Judd, Miss Moore said, took Halloran to task for allowing the other women to know she was outside in the car.

"Jack, she said," Miss Moore told the jury, "'You promised they wouldn't know I was here'."

"He said, 'O, forget it'."

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Cotton market opened here quite steady although Liverpool was somewhat lower than due because of an improvement in sterling. First trades here showed gains of 4 to 5 points and there was fair trade buying at the start.

Later prices eased off slightly on some realizing, March trading at 6.70, May at 6.87 and July at 7.03, or 1 to 3 points under the opening figures but still one to three points above yesterday's close.

The stock market opened somewhat higher and as a result near the end of the first hour cotton showed a slight improvement and a tendency to advance. Prices showed gains then at one point over the lows.

The market was fairly steady all morning, supported by price fixing and some trade buying. March continued steady within the earlier range but the later months eased off slightly on some hedge selling.

May traded down to 6.86 and July to 7.02, or 3 to 4 points down from the early highs, but still 1 to 2 points above yesterday's close.

Around noon the market was steadier and had rallied 1 to 3 points from the lows in spite of a slightly easier stock market. The improvement was due, it was said, to trade buying.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today. March 6.73; May 6.90; July 7.04; Oct. 7.23; Dec. 7.39.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 4 points on trade buying and covering, promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and light offerings from the south. May sold at 6.89.

There was further liquidation of the near months which was absorbed by the trade against sales of latter deliveries, presumably to transfer hedges, while in some cases sellers of March and May appeared to be replacing with later months. Business was not active and orders seemed to be evenly divided with the market holding steady at net advances of 2 to 3 points at the end of the first half hour.

March sold at 6.71 and July at 7.05 during the early trading. A couple of February notices were issued without apparent effect on the market. The New York cotton exchange service estimates world consumption of American lint cotton for December at 1,077,000 bales making 4,934,000 for the first five months of this season against 4,445,000 for the same period last year.

While there was a moderate volume of business late in the morning, orders were evenly divided and prices held steady within a range of a few points. At midday, March was holding around 6.70 and July 7.05, or about 2 to 3 points net higher.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today. March 6.70; May 6.89; July 7.04; Oct. 7.29; Dec. 7.44.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—The stock market again attempted a cautious climb today but had little heart for it and slid back after midday.

Traders were extremely wary in view of the uncertainty over the U. S. Steel dividend, to be announced after the close, and continued delays in the railway wage conference in reaching an agreement.

U. S. Steel rose fractionally, then eased off, selling slightly under yesterday's close. Rails had an interval of strength. Cotton Belt common rose more than 2 and the preferred 13 points. Southern Pacific, New Haven and Baltimore and Ohio lost early gains of a point and New York Central sagged fractionally. American Can, Allied Chemical Case, North American and National Biscuit sold up a point or more then slipped back.

Wall Street continued to take a hopeful view of the railway wage negotiations. Traders were generally disinclined to extend themselves until the U. S. Steel dividend should be put out of the way.

Tobacco shares had an interval of firmness. Ordering of regular quarterly dividends of 30 cents and $1.50 by Studebaker and International Business Machines, respectively were among reassuring dividend developments.

CREDIT MAN

considered on the three "C's", character, capital and capacity, whether the customer was of good moral responsibility, whether he had a sufficient amount of income to meet his responsibility and the capacity of his credit.

Volume Request Blamed

"It is true," Mr. Caldwell continued "that a greater percentage of the people have to some extent, lived beyond their means, it is true that merchants have caused their credit accounts to become liabilities instead of assets but it has been due only through the fault of the merchants themselves. They have wanted volume and this volume request on the part of sales managers has tended to break down the control of the credit man so that the customer has been able, in many instances to come into a store and name his own credit terms. And then retailing entered into the business of credit competition instead of sales competition on real merchandising values."

The merchants are more to blame than the customers," he said, "This volume pressure, and a certain amount of increased volume is necessary for business progress, has tended to break down the sense of credit responsibility of the customer."

Must Curtail Competition

"We believe the time has come when retail credit men will have to take action in curtailing credit competition and get business back on a sound merchandising and sales basis again so that they can say to the customer 'don't buy beyond your ability to pay and don't buy things for which you have no use'."

"Business has shown great strides in progress along many lines but many merchants are still following the old credit policies pursued 30 and 40 years ago. Why today, a merchant doesn't put a small notice in the paper to the effect that he has goods to sell but instead he sets aside a budget for advertising in the newspaper of the community—the only feasible and practical place for the retailer to put his business before his customers, and he not only tells what he has to sell but he tells the price and he gives a picture of it in his ad. Credit should be brought up to the same standard."

"There's just as great a future for the credit unit of a store as any other department but the retail merchant has got to profit by the experience of his fellow merchants in the community."

He lauded the work of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association under the leadership of Garnet Reeves and declared every merchant should take advantage of the information offered within its files.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Downturns in grain prices early today accompanied snowfalls that covered practically all the domestic winter wheat belt. Argentine shippers were reported as continuing to press offerings of wheat abroad. Opening 1-4 to 5-8 lower, wheat afterward held near the initial range. Corn started 1-8 to 3-8 off and later fluctuated but little.

ROBBER SUSPECTS

Is Former Employe

The door to the office which is located on the second floor of the theater was locked as was the safe door, indicating that the job was that of professionals or someone familiar with the layout and possessing keys. The youth held is a former employe of the theater.

No clues were obtained, those committing the robbery being clever enough to remove fingerprints from the safe's knob and door, Mr. Lindsey and Chief of Police John Lemond both reported.

The holdup of the drug store was the second in the past three weeks, the store having been robbed by an armed youth on the night of January 3.

Shabbily Dressed

Bert Pinson, manager, reported to police that the robber was shabbily dressed and wore a dirty handkerchief as a mask.

"I noticed someone pass quickly by the south show window," Mr. Pinson said, "but never thought much of it until I looked up and saw him entering the door with the gun on me and then I began to get out the money from the cash register."

Handing the robber currency and checks, Pinson said he was told to "keep the checks."

Robber Is Nervous

The robber was very nervous as he ordered a fountain clerk, Ed Minor, over to the other side of the store and then ordered both men to the rear of the store, Pinson said. Pinson said they heard the door slam just about the time they reached a prescription case in the rear.

Wallace Covington, another employe, was in the rear of the store and had heard the conversation of Pinson and the robber but thought that it was a customer.

In his hurry, the youth neglected to take a bunch of change on the counter and knocked some off on the floor.

The Pinson store is located at the corner of Avenue Q and 16th street and much traffic passes it at that hour.

Captured After Chase

Noticing a youth place a handkerchief over his face and start toward the Heepy-Cherpy grocery story at about 7:30 last night, City Police Desk Sergeant J. T. Inmon immediately placed a call to headquarters and the arrival of Motor Officer C. E. Luce's machine interrupted what was thought to have been a holdup attempt and the boy was captured after a short chase only a block or so from the store. Mr. Inmon resides just across the street from the store. A pistol was found on the youth and he was placed in the city jail.

Although reported to them shortly before noon, police withheld the report of the Lindsey safe robbery, declaring later that they were attempting to effect a capture of several suspects.

A number of boys were questioned Monday afternoon prior to the arrest of the one being held in jail now.

LEVELLAND C-C PLANS MEET

FOUR NEW DIRECTORS TO BE CHOSEN AT CONFAB TONIGHT

(Special To The Journal)

LEVELLAND, Jan. 26—Four new directors for the Levelland Chamber of Commerce are to be chosen at the annual meeting of that organization here tonight when reports of the work completed or started in 1931 will be made by the present officers.

The dinner is to be served by the ladies of the Eastern Star in a vacant brick building on the west side of the square. A number of out-of-town speakers have been invited but how many will be here was not definitely known today.

T. L. Mullican is the president of the organization and C. M. Elder, secretary. Mr. Mullican was elected director a year ago and then named president.

Two Americans Are Released In Mexico

LAREDO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Two American fliers arrested on charges of violating Mexicos aviation laws were released today after being assessed fines in Mexican federal court at Nuevo Laredo.

They were Paul H. Divis and Joe Roubert of San Antonio, arrested Jan. 15 when they landed on the Mexican side of the border 24 miles north of Nuevo Laredo. Their monoplane, the "Low Money King", was held by customs officials until the fliers pay their fines of approximately $800 in American money.

Mexia Man Wounded In Pistol Battle

CORSICANA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Modock Owen of Mexia received two bullet wounds last night in an exchange of shots with Night Patrolman Allen York.

The officer was not hit but two bullets passed through his coat and another through his hat. His face was burned by powder. Owen was wounded in the right hip and thigh. Physicians expected him to recover.

York said the shooting occurred when he halted Owen in the Corsicana residence district for questioning.

STERLING TO ATTEND

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling said today he plans to go to San Antonio to attend the opening session of the American National Livestock association convention tomorrow.

Cold Insurance

He carries it with him, ready for just such times. That little box of Bayer Aspirin. If he catches cold, what of it? Bayer Aspirin will stop it. If his throat feels sore, he will end the soreness with one good gargle made from these tablets.

Dangerous complications can follow the neglect of "a common cold!" Every case of tonsilitis began with "just a sore throat!" It's a wise plan to take aspirin after any undue exposure to bad weather, or whenever there is any chance that you've caught cold. If it's genuine aspirin it can't possibly hurt you; and how it does banish the aches and pains caused by colds, neuralgia, neuritis, lumbago, and even rheumatism.

Bayer Aspirin will insure your comfort through the worst cold season. The more susceptible you are to colds, the more you need it. Does not depress the heart.

Thought For Today

A wise man scaleth the city of the mighty, and casteth down the strength of the confidence thereof.—Proverbs 21:22.

WISDOM is only found in truth —Goethe.

Who Loves Nature?

People who live in the country, according to a speaker at the recent New Orleans meeting of the American Nature Study Society, are not very often in love with nature. Farmers oppose the introduction of nature study courses in schools, farm children have very little interest in the matter and farm folk my rather than as a friendly and mymy rather than as a friendly and beautiful ally.

All of this is probably a bit surprising, although it needn't be. There is little doubt that some of the most impassioned writing about the beauties of nature comes from people who live in city apartments and wouldn't know a wheatfield from a cabbage patch. The man who makes his living by agriculture is not given to much talk over the delights of living close to the soil.

And that is perfectly natural. A clear, frosty spring morning can be heaven itself to the nature-lover; but to the farmer it can mean a ruined fruit crop and the loss of half his year's income. The vagaries of the weather may delight the city man who is on vacation, but they can move the farmer to prayerful objurgations.

Nevertheless, the countryman's reluctance to gush about nature's charms is hardly a true sign that he doesn't recognize them and delight in them. He knows that nature can be malignant as well as lovely, and he doesn't like to talk about "rural delights," just as the sailor gets a pain when he hears people speak of the "romance of the sea"; but the countryman is a nature-lover at bottom, or he wouldn't be living in the country.

For his rewards are things that do not often get put into words. They are things he soaks up unconsciously, hardly thinking about them; the clean freshness of a hilly pasture in a misty dawn, the pungent warmth of a filled barn on a winter's morning, the richness of green young wheat on a long slope at sunset, the cool dusk of the shadowy lanes down which he sends his cattle to their grazing-fields—these things mean more to him than he can ever tell.

And because he can't tell about them, but can only curse unseasonable weather, he will always be the despair of nature-lovers from the city.

Paying Reparations

Germany's blunt announcement that no more reparations can be paid may be the beginning of almost anything.

If that announcement had been made a year ago, there is little doubt that French troops would have been marching into the Rhineland inside of 48 hours. So far nothing of that sort has happened—which may be an excellent omen for the continued peace of Europe.

Nevertheless, it is extremely probable that something big is about to happen. The Treaty of Versailles cumbersome since the day it was drafted, has grown rusty as well and is creaking badly. It is not outside the bounds of possibility that this announcement about reparations may be the point from which ultimate revision of the whole treaty will date.

A school of 500 porpoises was discovered cavorting in the Connecticut river. With things as they are, they probably didn't want to get into deep water.

Chicago is facing financial ruin. It will probably never forgive the government for locking up Al Capone.

Chicago babies born in 1932 will each owe $350 at birth. About their only way out of debt is to grow up and become college football players.

A COUPLE of Lubbock lawyers, Emil L. Klett and J. I. Kilpatrick, recently journeyed to Washington to oppose each other in the trial of an insurance case before the most august of all august bodies —the Supreme Court of the United States.

First lawyers to carry a case from Lubbock to the Supreme court, our young—or, at least moderately young—heroes discovered, upon reaching the capital city, that trying such a case differs somewhat from a hearing held in justice county, district or state courts.

Immediately, they called a truce. They forgot their professional war.

After considering the matter carefully, they decided to hang around the court for a few days and watch other lawyers plead their cases—and they did. It looked simple. The lawyers just talked, as lawyers do, and Charles Evans Hughes and his assistants listened, solemnly.

Finally, the Lubbock men made arrangements to plead their case and Mr. Klett, who used to be an Appeals court judge in Amarillo and who rarely ever encounters any difficulty in speaking before the Kiwanis club, began for his side.

Instantly the eight justices began asking questions. They wanted to know what the case was all about, how come it was there, what the attorney's name was before he moved to Texas and what he thought about prohibition, American women and the skyscrapers. Finally, he was permitted to begin pleading again.

JUST when he began getting to the meat of the case, Chief Justice Hughes held up one hand and looked down his nose.

"Stop", he said, "that will be all now —and our Mr. Klett, fairly certain in his own mind that Mr. Hughes was not kidding, stopped.

The justices, in their robes, marched from the bench and left the room.

Lubbock's City attorney turned to his opponent.

His opponent turned to the City attorney.

The court chambers were empty, save for two lawyers from West Texas and another gentleman, who acted like he might know left from right if properly questioned.

"I beg your pardon", Mr. Klett asked the third man. "But can you tell me why the justices stopped hearing this case and walked out?"

Sure", said the other, "they've gone to lunch. They'll let you continue when they get back."

"Thanks", said the lawyer, and as an afterthought, "are you an official of this court?"

"Yep", returned the other, "I'm the janitor."

"Is that the father of the caddy?" she asked John Herd, who had just appeared.

No, that's not the kid's father", John said, "that's Scotty Samson—the guy that lost the ball."

Washington Charitable With First Two "Hunger" Armies But What Reception Future One Will Get Hard To Tell

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Two armies of the unemployed already have marched on the capital this winter and there probably will be more. There is, in fact, no telling how many such movements may develop as Congress begins to take up measures for unemployment relief.

Dutcher

The situation is likely to become painful here if the habit becomes too prevalent. The city and its police have adopted a policy of welcoming, feeding and barracking the marchers, but how long this policy would be continued in the face of repeated visits is speculative. The 10,000 men in the Father Cox "Jobless March" received nowhere near the attention and service according the 1500 original Communist-nursed "Hunger Marchers" of a month before. Generally and comparatively speaking, the town was polite but somewhat bored.

Lately there have been advance reports of another "Hunger March" early in February by the same singing, yelling, radical crew that came here in December, its numbers to be augmented by as many of the unemployed as can be induced to come. Although it seems only fitting that the smug and prosperous District of Columbia should hand out soup and sandwiches to visiting unfortunates, question doubtless will be raised as to how many receptions a single group of demonstrators has coming to it in the same season. In the case of this particular group the chances are bright that the marchers will be more militant and the police less patient.

Nevertheless, the publicity possibilities of these marches to Washington present a strong temptation not only to the agitators and the rattle-brained, but also to such honest, serious social welfare workers as Father Cox. The two marchers to date probably have done little toward swaying Congress, but the more thousands stream into town for that purpose the more likely is that sort of thing to have effect.

Demonstrators arrive quicker these days than in the "General" Coxey period because there are good roads, automobiles and trucks. Nevertheless, one misses the rather spectacular habit of stealing railroad trains which the jobless armies of the '30's acquired. In some towns you never knew whether the next incoming train would be old Number 77 bearing your Aunt Minnie or some purloined fast express carrying a few hundred men who would pile off and demand chow. Sometimes when a jobless army had no train the authorities would help them filch one in order to get the boys out of town.

The Father Cox boys from Pittsburgh and vicinity made more of an impression here than the "Hunger Marchers" because they were quiet and demonstratively patriotic. Whereas the latter were belligerent and included a large proportion of professional malcontents, the Pennsylvanians had many artisans and white-collar men in the ranks. They looks like real American voters, which was why Senator Jim Davis of Pennsylvania fell all over himself in an effort to please, why several Pennsylvania congressmen were attentive and possibly why even Presideent Hoover received Father Cox, whereas he had ignored the jeering radicals.

Nevertheless, all jobless marchers, insofar as any legislation likely to pass Congress is concerned, are alike in delivering demand as radical as those of "General" Coxey, who came 38 years ago with the motto: "Peace on Earth, Good Will Towards Men, but Death to Interest-Bearing Bonds." The radical marchers of December demanded prompt cash relief, with $150 for everyone, and unemployment insurance which would fully replace wages. And the mild Father Cox asked not only a $5,000,000,000 public works relief bond issue, immediand enough loan money (more billions) to "re-establish the farmer," but also a 60 per cent surtax on big incomes and a 70 per cent inheritance tax.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 3 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1438 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are "Reducing and Gaining," "Feminine Hygiene," "Mal Diet," "List of Books," "The Care of the Hair and Skin," "Infant Feeding" and instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes. The articles are "Normal Indigestion and Constipation for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

"CATCHING COLD"

When we open the question of whether drafts will make you catch cold, we should prepare for trouble. The subject causes just as much dissension as prohibition.

Dr. Clendening

In our resume of what medical science says about colds in the first article of this series nothing about drafts was mentioned. Science is silent about it.

The dyed-in-the-wool scientists, knowing that colds are due primarily to an infection, jeer at the idea that drafts have anything to do with them. One physician announces in the paper that he will sit in a draft all day and demonstrate that no cold will result. Dr. Stuart S. Mudd tried to produce colds in his own person and that of other volunteers by staying in an icebox with an electric fan blowing on them. The conclusion was that this drastic procedure had no effect in causing colds.

On the contrary, there is a very large body of public opinion which rejects such conclusions. It knows that sitting in a draft brings on a cold.

There are, perhaps, two explanations for this. One is that "catching cold" is not exactly the same thing for all people. There are many who are very susceptible to catching cold: such people are those who have a chronic infection in the nose, or its sinuses, and those who have a chronic infection in the bronchial tubes. Temperature changes, chilling of the skin, and dampness light up these infections into an acute process which the victims call "catching cold." They are also exceptions to the rule stated in my first article, which was that after the age of 35 people are not so likely to catch cold every year.

Another explanation is really a scientific defense of the doctrine that drafts and dampness are factors in catching cold. There are factors in all infections which are not well known. Simple exposure is not the only reason for infection in many diseases. We all carry around the germs of trench mouth in our mouths all the time. Many of us carry around enough diphtheria, pneumonia and meningitis germs to kill off an army. Why don't we have the disease ourselves? It isn't entirely a question of immunity because sometimes the very people who are carrying around pneumonia germs come down with an attack of pneumonia. So it is quite possible that lowering the bodily resistance may come from chilling the body's surface by drafts or wet clothing, etc.

We should make a distinction between drafts and good ventilation. Good ventilation demands that the air should be in gentle motion through a room.

"Drafts," says Dr. M. J. Rasenau, in Preventive Medicine and Hygiene, "are particularly apt to harm persons accustomed only to still, warm air. It is not the engineers and the firemen of trains that catch cold, but the passengers in the stuffy cars."

Farm Management Will Be Discussed

Better methods of farm management will be discussed by Don H. Otis, agricultural commissioner of the American Bankers association, of Madison, Wis., at a meeting at 2 p. m. Tuesday afternoon Feb. 2, of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau, Federation, James Burroughs, president, made the announcement.

A feature of the program will be a report of 4-H club work in this district by Miss Elleda Harrison, Tahoka, home demonstration agent of Lynn county. Miss Harrison also will make a report on 4-H club work at the meeting Monday night of bankers and farmers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Manhattan is suddenly becoming overrun with inquisitive researchers, prying questionnaire hounds and other forms of investigators.

During the past week, I seem to have been flooded with letters and phone calls; have been interrupted by raps at the apartment door and have been stopped six times on subway stairs. Everywhere I turn I seem to see gents standing around with notebooks. At first I thought they were new columnists, but since none of them borrowed a pencil or cigarets I decided they were merely more of this new army of information seekers.

A department store sent an attractive young woman around "to interview us on what articles we would be most interested in buying at a sale." And she went on, "We're interviewing 28,902 persons to find out what they want to see on the bargain counters."

I had to inform her that, so far as I was concerned, I didn't want to see bargain counters. I always get befuddled in the crowd and come home with the wrong sized shirt, a pair of sox that don't match or something that my wife immediately throws out with some such comment as, "Who left these in the subway?"

CHECKING up on this sudden plague of statistic sleuths, I find that it is part of "the new policy of caution." From another source, I learned that "never before was the opinion of the average man so greatly in demand." A third expert advised me that innumerable firms and enterprises "were seeking irrefutable data on many questions."

The scribblers stationed on the subway stairs, however, asked no questions. Their eyes seemed to follow particularly the feet of the passers-by.

"What's the big idea?" I asked the first fellow.

"Noise," he replied. "We're getting statistics on noise in the subways . . . how it can be lessened."

"Just take off the trains," I suggested helpfully. . . . "But what about the stairways? How does that figure?"

"Ever realize how many people come down heel first on stairs? . . . Ever stop to figure how many rubber heels are used, or how much noise could be stopped if people went toe first? . . ."

ON the Pennsylvania station stairway I learned that the statistician was observing shoes for a certain big retail store. He was checking off the number of black shoes and brown shoes; the general appearance of the shoe and the condition of the heel.

But the greatest of all the pests are the radio program people who keep phoning and wiring—"What did you think of the Olupf sisters on the new Smokum cheroot hour" . . . Or a glucose voice awakens you at eight in the morning with: "Have you listened to the Breakfast Chorale . . . Please give us your opinion?" . . . My opinion is not printable.

A wire on my desk at this moment says "Your comments invited on Leo Reisman talk on intrinsic merits of jazz over WJZ." That's the first time I knew there was an argument between Jazz and WJZ.

THE PLAINSMAN GETS SOME MAIL

LOCAL MAN SUPPORTS OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR

Dear Plainsman: I can't understand why a man with as much common sense (on most subjects) or a man with the high ideals and balanced sense of justice that you possess, can take so much pleasure in never missing a chance to knock our Bill Murray.

It is not often that we get a chance to elect a General Jackson a Lincoln, a Sam Houston or a Murray, if you please, but we now have one of the brightest chances to elect to the Presidency a man of the people, regardless of big business and politics, that we have had in many moons. Ask the average man on the street what he thinks of Murray. The typical answer is something like this: "Bill Murray is a good man all right, a brave man, an honest man and a man who could not be bought but he hasn't a chance. You can't get capital to back a man who is as contrary and hard-headed as he is, in other words, neither Tammany or Wall Street will put their money on a man who they know would be President 'himself' if elected."

Well, anyway, here is the analysis of the "straw vote" as I figure it out. Naturally Roosevelt would get a large support by virtue of the fact that he is generally conceded to be the one most likely to be nominated. (It is a fact that a large percent of voters try to pick winners.)

Then as to Garner, who would not favor a native son and especially a man as good and strong as John N. Garner? This accounts for his popularity. Well, now here we are. How do you account for the wonderful showing of Governor Murray?

To sum it up: If Roosevelt hadn't received so many "straw votes" merely because of the fact that he was apparently strong and if John Garner was not a native son, Bill Murray would have received over one-half of the votes polled in our Avalanche-Journal's "straw vote". (I can hear you saying, "If it wasn't for that little word 'if'").

Anyway, this is an age of great things and wonderful doings and maybe "Alfalfa Bill" has a chance. Quien Sabe?

LaVerne Kershner,
Lubbock.

(Dear Mr. Kershner: Although I make no secret of the fact that I am not in favor of the nomination of Mr. Murray, I believe you are mistaken in your allegation that I have been 'knocking' him. Upon return from a recent visit to Oklahoma I commented upon which I had been told about Mr. Murray, his administration and his chances for the nomination, but offered the comment upon that basis,—of what some citizens of his home state were saying. Mr. Murray may be everything you say he is; frankly I don't know whether he is or not. However, there is a marked difference in opinion concerning him in Oklahoma. The majority of the people are divided into two distinct groups: those who think he's a howling success and those who think he's a dismal failure. I believe if you'll make a trip into Oklahoma you'll find this is true. Thanks for your letter. The Plainsman.)

'GORILLA' JONES IS RECOGNIZED AS MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPION

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

The T. C. U. scouts have been at work and the Pampa Harvesters will contribute the pick of their 1931 grid team to Texas Christian football. Four of Coach Mitchell's outstanding lads have been "signed" and are to report to Frog headquarters this week, having concluded high school duties at Pampa. The quartet: John Pafford, all-state guard, Paul Hill, 215-pound fullback; Ed Burch, all district tackle and Joe Freeman, another outstanding tackle.

Ed Dunigan, Pampa business man, was the T. C. U. agent who was "instrumental in having four boys admitted to the Frog institution," we gather from the Pampa News. If the lads show promise in spring workouts, and they stand a good chance of making the grade, they'll have every opportunity to keep going T. C. U. dotes on Texas material. West Texas stuff at that, and with the experience the quartet has had in high school, coupled with their beef and good looks, we expect to hear more of them during the next four years. Being in the Southwest Conference, T. C. U. does not operate a farm, so there is little likelihood of the boys going elsewhere. Once in a Southwest conference institution football players usually stay there.

We see Cecil "Doc" Merrill is still in town and take it for granted that he is still a free agent. He has indicated that he would go to Texas A. & M. or Stanford. It seems that his prowess has spread over the nation. He seems to prefer Stanford, but says A. & M. is his next choice. It is to be regretted that Texas Tech does not appeal to him, however we would not choose to exert "undue enfluence on high school graduates." We hope Merrill does not go to Stanford. He is too good a football player, could serve his own state better, to be shunted to the coast. Too many Texas boys have heeded the western call, only to be slapped back on the second or third teams to become a nonentity. We recall the experience of one Tommy Glover, a Waco High school Tiger of much reputation in the dear, dead days of Waco championships, who enrolled at Baylor to serve a freshman year. Waco friends, and friends of Pop Warner, prevailed with the argument that Glover was "not getting a square deal" at Baylor, and the sensational little halfback headed for the coast. As the old, old story goes, "he has not been heard from since." Had he remained at Baylor it is highly probable that he would have been enjoying a successful career at present. There was not truth in the statement regarding the square deal.

Always a champion of football, football players and coaches, even this department is disposed to make a trifle at the extent to which the great "amateur" game is handled at certain institutions. There is a limit to all things, even football, but the instance on our mind right now seems to stretch the limit a bit. Not content with four years at Howard Payne where he made all-Texas Conference honors more than once and with one year of high school coaching, Friend "Nig" McCarver has felt the call of the gridiron again. He will be a "student" and football candidate at Washington-Lee next fall, according to verified reports. He has intimated as much and has refused to sign another contract at Tahoka. Washington-Lee is that kind of school. We know of several other instances of like nature.

The U. S. military academy, commonly known as the Army, makes no bones of its eligibility rules. In fact, it is a secondary-secondary school, where college graduates from other points are eligible for three or four years of football. This fact has been the dominating trouble between Army and Navy, the latter subscribing to orthodox rules. Of course you've gotta be good and you've gotta be smart to play on the Army team. You must be good to even get in the institution, recommended by a congressman, etc.

Freggie Lovvorn's Plainview High Bulldogs, who have announced their intentions of copping the state basketball title, suffered a setback last week at the hands of the Crowell quintet. The score was 38 to 31, not bad, but enough to knock out the hopes of going through an undefeated season. Froggie's team, which has been defeating the Wayland college cagers this season in several scrimmages, is perhaps a better ball club than the Crowell game indicated, or it may be that Crowell has become the seat of a really good team. Plainview should encounter no serious trouble carrying the Panhandle and most of the state. The Bulldogs should win the district title here next month, though not with ease, and we've heard of no stronger teams down state than some in West Texas. Big Spring may abolish the Plainview bid in the quarter-finals after sweeping over the Oil Belt's second best, but it will be a great game. Those Big Springs have it, take it from one who saw them win five good games in the tournament here last week.

Wright Field at Dayton, Ohio, and Patterson Field adjoining comprise the largest airdrome in the world, covering more than 5,000 acres.

NEGRO WINNER OF TITLE IN CONTESTS

LONG-ARMED BLACK IS SURVIVOR IN LONG NBA TOURNAMENT

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 26. (AP)—William "Gorilla" Jones, long-armed 26-year-old negro of Memphis, Tenn., was recognized today by the National Boxing association as middleweight champion of the world.

Jones won the title last night by defeating Oddone Piazza, sturdy youth of Milan, Italy, on a technical knockout in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round battle, fought before a disappointing crowd of 3,500. It was the championship bout of an elimination tournament conducted under the auspices of the N. B. A. to determine a successor to Mickey Walker who gave up the throne a year ago because he could no longer make the weight limit of 160 pounds.

The negro, backed with five years of campaigning, outclassed, outboxed, and cut-fought the 22-year-old Italian. After a slow start, he battered Piazza to pulp and had him on the verge of collapse when the bout was ended by the referee.

Jones is the seventeenth holder of the title. Since the class was recognized way back in 1867, the division has produced 16 champions, among them the greatest fighters of all time, Walker, Stanley, Ketchel, Tommy Ryan, Billy Papke, Mike O'Dowd, Bob Fitzsimmons, and Jack Dempsey, the non-pariel.

BEARS RETAIN LEADERSHIP

BAYLOR CAGERS DOWN RICE OWLS IN HEAVY SCORING SPREE

HOUSTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Baylor Bears were assured of the basketball leadership of the Southwest conference for another week as a result of their impressive victory last night over the Rice Owls, 41 to 21.

Captain Raymond Strickland, Bruin center, scored eight field goals and four free throws. The big fellow also looked good on the defense. Coach Wolf's players missed only two of 13 charity tosses.

The Owls played almost on a par with the invaders during the first half, which ended 15 to 11. However, the pace was too fast for them.

It was the only conference game of the week. Until next week the cagers will have their hands full with the mid-year examinations in their studies.

QUALIFYING PLAY SCHEDULED TODAY

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Amateurs in the annual Texas open golf tournament were forced to complete their qualifying play today, Johnny Dawson of Chicago, Gus Moreland and Johnny Avon of Dallas, and Bernard Schreiver, Texas Aggie star, were among the more celebrated players who waited until the final day to shoot their 18 holes.

Nearly 100 professionals were on their way to San Antonio from Phoenix, Ariz. Among them was Ralph Guldahl, winner of first money in the Phoenix open, concluded Sunday. Gene Sarazen, Harry Cooper, Ray Mangrum and Craig Wood were in the golf army.

There will be nothing but rest and practice tomorrow, with the pro-amateur best ball event Thursday, and medal play the following three days.

Ernie Nevers Will Give Up Football

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Ernie Nevers, former Stanford university fullback described by Coach Glenn Warner as "the greatest player I ever coached or saw," is definitely out of the playing end of football, having announced his intention to quit the game while "still in one piece."

DON IN REACH OF RECORD

MOTOR TROUBLE ENDS EFFORT TO BREAK SPEED MARK

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 26 (AP)—A one-way trip at 111.14 miles an hour placed the world speedboat record almost within the reach of Gar Wood yesterday but motor trouble and broken timing equipment forced him to halt his trials until today.

The Detroit veteran pushed his Miss America IX above the present record of 110.223 miles an hour on a northward run over the Indian Creek course here but motor trouble forced him down to 63 miles an hour on the southward trip and spoiled the necessary average.

The average speed of north and southbound runs over the measured nautical mile course is necessary in computing the record, rules of the Yachtsmen's Association of America provide. The runs must be made within an hour so Wood's top speed of yesterday cannot be counted today.

Wood said he was confident the Miss America IX would better the world's record made last July at Cape Garda, Italy, by Kaye Don, the British racer.

SEVEN WIN IN MAJOR MEETS OF SEASON

FINAL ROUNDS ROBBED OF USUAL THRILLS BY HEAVY LEADS

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—America's professional golfing brigade is off to a wide open race in the struggle for gold and fame.

Since the start of the big money tournaments in the far west and south last month, seven of the most important events have returned no less than seven different winners by such commanding scores that the final rounds were robbed of much of their usual thrills.

No Close Finals

There have been no resemblances of the famous play-offs or close finishes of other years when no one knew for sure who the winner was until almost the last man in the field posted his final round.

The one-man shows of winter golf started in the finals of the San Francisco match play open championship when Wiffy Cox of New York galloped in with the title by crushing George Von Elm of Los Angeles by the one-sided margin of 6 and 5. The difference was slightly wider than that turned in by Leo Diegel of Agua Caliente, Mexico, in '30 when he trounced Al Espinosa of Chicago 6 and 5.

Harry Cooper of Chicago staged the next one-man show of golf in the Pasadena open. With all entries using the newer and heavier ball for the first time in tournament play, Cooper rushed in with a 281 for first money, with seven shots to spare over Cox, the runner-up.

The largest margin of victory so far was recorded by Tommy Armour, the durable Scot from Detroit, who with a record smashing 285 captured the $2,500 Miami open. His score was nine shots ahead of the runner-up.

MacDonald Smith breezed in with the rich Los Angeles open Jan. 11 with a four stroke mortgage.

The closest approach to a traffic jam around the first place came in the biggest money event of the year—the $15,000 Agua Caliente open but in the end Fred Morrison of Culver City, Calif., pocketed the $5,000 first prize by a two stroke lead over Gene Sarazen of New York, 284 to 286.

Ralph Guldahl had a healthy five stroke lead in his victory over a smart field in the Arizona open, which closed Sunday.

FRED MORRISON TOPS THE MONEY GOLFERS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP)—To Fred Morrison, strapping professional from Culver City, Calif., goes the privilege this season of taking the top place of the money golfers at the end of the far western gold trail.

Big, affable Fred, who won virtually no money in other years, amassed $5,746.66 playing five of the six tournaments with aggregate cash prizes of $39,000. First place in the Agua Caliente $15,000 open gave him $5,000.

Morrison took the golden throne vacated by George Von Elm of Los Angeles, who won $7,447 of the $51,200 prize money posted last season. Von Elm gathered in only $1,610 this season.

Gene Sarazen of New York, one of the greatest money winners of all time and leader at the end of the 1930 western season with $10,000, finished second to Morrison, collecting $2,850.

Reiselt Commands Lead In Billiards

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—The crazy quilt of standings in the world's three-cushion billiard tournament showed another new patch today as Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia commanded the field.

He rose to the top yesterday partly through his own efforts and mostly through the brilliant victory of Jay Bozeman, the young Californian, over the hitherto unbeaten Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago.

In the shuffle Kieckhefer dropped into a tie for second place with Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, the defending champion, with three games won and one defeat. Reiselt had beaten Allen Hall, one of the early favorites, 50 to 46 in 50 innings.

Bat Battalino To Face Welterweight

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Not satisfied with jumping up one division, Bat Battalino soon expects to be playing around with welterweights and more specifically with Billy Petrolle.

Madison Square Garden virtually has closed negotiations for a 15-round match between Petrolle and Battalino, at 140 pounds, on Feb. 26 or March 11.

Tech Will Play Cameron Aggies

MATADOR CAGERS ARE DOWNED BY SOONER TEACHERS TEAM

WEATHERFORD, Okla., Jan. 26—(Special)—A band of basketball warriors who wear the scarlet colors of Texas Tech at Lubbock moved away from here today to continue a ten-day jaunt over Texas and Oklahoma. They meet the Cameron Aggies at Lawton tonight in the first of a two-game series.

Last night before a crowded gymnasium the boys from Texas Tech, coached by Del Morgan, played the Southwestern State Teachers college Bulldogs off their feet for almost the entire game, only to lose in the final minutes by a 28 to 25 count. It was a heart-breaking defeat to the Matadors, who had put up a scrap well worthy of victory all the way.

Captain Tad Tadlock's work at guard, that of Leon Fisher at center and of Clarence Hodges at forward was outstanding for the Matadors.

The Texans arrived late yesterday after the tiring ride by bus from Fort Worth where they played the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, defending champions of the Southwest Conference, to a 19 to 30 score Saturday night.

Following the series in Lawton, the Matadors move to Ada on Thursday for a one-night stand with the East Central State Teachers college Tigers, leaders in the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference race.

41 MILES without Water...

. . . . Conoco Germ Processed Oil Saves Motor

When Walter H. Freed reached Pueblo, Colorado, after a 41-mile drive from Colorado Springs, his car was so hot it had to be put into gear before it would stop!

He had plenty of Conoco Germ Processed Oil in the car. No steam was coming from the radiator, so he did not suspect the cooling system.

But a garage man found not a drop of water in the radiator! The 41 miles had been driven without water in the radiator—only the oil to keep the motor from burning up.

Conoco Germ Processed Oil withstood this ordeal! Inspection of the motor revealed no damage done.

Convincing evidence of Germ Processed Oil's stability, of its sure protection under the most trying conditions! Proof that Conoco Germ Processed Oil offers you the safest lubrication for your car.

The oil that protects motors through such ordeals will lubricate your car better in every-day driving. For peace of mind, for economy and long motor life, change now to Conoco Germ Processed Oil at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle.

* * * * *

We neither encourage "dry radiator" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, testify to this and hundreds of other unusual tests of Conoco Germ Processed Oil—runs of ten to over fifty miles with the crankcase empty.

BATTLE BY PROXY

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Leo Luna is Elgego Baca's champion. Baca is a local attorney. Luna is his friend. The latter was in Whipple, Ariz. when he ran into Steve Mendoza. Mendoza remarked that Pancho Villa was a better man than Luna's friend, Baca. "All right," said Luna, "you be Pancho and I'll be Baca and we'll settle who's the better man." The fight proved Baca the better man, for Luna put Steve in the hospital.

The TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN PICTURES by JOE KING

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
© 1932 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The big alarm clock rang away until wee Scouty shouted, "Hey! Push on that little lever. That will stop the ringing quick. Don't push it hard and break the thing. I'd really rather hear it ring. But, if you do it gently, it is just a simple trick."

So Coppy did as he was told. The others watched him take a hold and jerk the little lever. Not another sound rang out. Then Scouty cried, "I'm pretty smart. I'd like to take that clock apart and get a look inside to see what it is all about."

"No, no," snapped Windy. "Not for me! 'Twould be as foolish as could be. We couldn't fix it up ag'in. Then we'd be in a fix. The giant would be mad at us and surely start another fuss. This time I'm not in favor of one of your little tricks."

They all agreed that he was right. The clock was then put out of sight and Windy ran out of the room. "Hey, follow me!" he cried. "I'm going to make a little cart—put it together, part by part. When I am through 'twill be a thing on which we all can ride."

He found some spools and rolled them out. Then to the rest began to shout, "Find me some nice, long pencils and a match box. Hurry now! I'll use the spools for wheels, you see. Come on, you lads, and all help me. It will not take me long to make the cart 'cause I know how."

Scon Duncy loudly laughed, "Ho! Ho! Just wait until we make it go. We'll take turns at the pushing and 'twill be a heap of fun." "Well, come on then, and lend a hand," cried Scouty. "All you do is stand. If we all work together 'twon't take long to get it done."

"THE HOUSE BEAUTIFUL" TO BE GIVEN HERE MONDAY NIGHT; REPRESENTATIVE RELATES TROUBLES OF SHOW TROUPERS

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Discussing theatrical conditions, G. Horace Mortimer, representing "The House Beautiful" company which will be seen at the high school auditorium next Monday night, said last night that the time is nearing when it will be impossible for road show companies to move as far as Texas without the kind of sponsorship that is being given "The House Beautiful" by the Avalanche-Journal.

"Some minor companies may be able to struggle through for a while", the New York theatrical man said, "but a company that must rely on railroads for conveyance is up against serious inconveniences. There is a sample of it right here. The House Beautiful company plays San Angelo next Saturday night. They have all day Sunday to make the move into Lubbock as it is part of our policy never to present this play on Sunday. However, there is only one train a day from San Angelo to Sweetwater and that is at 9 o'clock at night. Therefore, we are forced to make a Pullman move to reach Lubbock after wasting many unnecessary hours in San Angelo.

Can't Play Sweetwater

"In other words, a show that plays San Angelo cannot possibly play Lubbock the next night on regular service. It could not even play Sweetwater. The only alternative would be special service from San Angelo with the railroad charging for 125 fares, which makes the whole thing prohibitive.

"I am not blaming the railroads for the situation. They have their own problems. I merely quote it to show the difficulties a traveling show is up against. The same situation has been duplicated many times since we started out from New York last September. Often we have had to play a town where we faced a certain loss but had to break a jump.

Business Is Fair

"Public spirited newspapers and civic organizations are doing their utmost to aid us to overcome such difficulties and the support of the Avalanche-Journal encourages us to go ahead. So far as business conditions generally are concerned, the fact that we have visited some 80 cities to date and are still going is the best answer. It would be silly to say that every engagement has been successful but most of them have been. Our troubles are principally concerned in trying to get in eight performances a week, which is according to all contracts for the New York shows with Equity casts. Often it is physically, geographically, impossible to get such bookings, and when a performance is lost it can never be regained. Each performance lost means a loss of one-eighth from our income for the expenses go on just the same. Obviously, this is bad business.

Show a Success

"Just the same, it is equally true that 'The House Beautiful' is probably the most successful dramatic show on the road this season. It is the only play being presented by two companies at the same time. The other company is in Detroit this week. The reason for its success undoubtedly comes from the fact that the play has a great comforting quality. While it is not a religious play, it has the spark of that old-time religion in it. Furthermore, with Ethel Intropidi and John Griggs heading the New York cast it is as fine a company as has ever reached this far west. And as an added flip, the scenic investiture is mighty, marvelous and magical, if I may use a circus-like expression. It is a new form of stagecraft that excites curiosity."

RESOLUTION TO ELIMINATE "CARLSBAD CAVERNS" FROM HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION NAME DEFEATED AT QUANAH CONCLAVE

QUANAH, Jan. 26—(Special)—The closing session here yesterday of an annual convention of the Carlsbad Caverns U. S. No. 62 Highway association was catapulted into a barrage of cross-fire when a proposal was introduced to strike "Carlsbad Caverns" from the association's name. It was defeated.

Luke Roberts of Lovington, New Mexico, was named association president succeeding J. H. Hankins of Lubbock, who was named president emeritus by acclamation.

C. W. Snyder, Altus, Okla., road booster, was named first vice president, and Capt. E. H. Simons, El Paso, second vice president. J. J. Kirkpatrick, of Oklahoma City, was re-named treasurer and President Roberts will name the association's secretary. A. B. Davis, Lubbock Chamber of Commerce manager, held this post in 1931.

After the group passed a resolution, by majority vote of 87 to 58, changing the organization's name to U. S. 62 Highway association, the amendment necessary to complete the change came up. It was downed 89 to 51, a two-thirds majority being necessary for approval.

R. A. Singletary, manager of Oklahoma City's good roads division, led the fight for the proposed change, declaring that if the association was to be extended over the entire 2,355 miles of U. S. 62 from El Paso to Niagara Falls, a name satisfactory to the entire group must be selected. Singletary pointed out that boosters of Ozark mountain scenery, of the Mammoth Cave, or of Niagara Falls objected to "localization" of the association by calling it "Carlsbad Caverns route." C. W. Snyder suggested it be called the "National Scenic route."

Victor L. Minter, Carlsbad civic leader, and the seven other members of his delegation led a spirited defense of the present name. The caverns, he said, was the largest drawing card of the route and charged that plans to rename the association were premature. He advocated completion of the building program.

More than 175 out-of-town road men gathered here Monday from Childress, Lubbock, Matador, Dickens, Crowell, Paducah and Olustee, Oklahoma City, Apache, Eldorado, Anadarko, Altus and Duke, Okla. and Lovington and Carlsbad, N. M. George A. Sager and the Quanah Chamber of Commerce directors were hosts at luncheon.

Singletary, in his morning address, told of necessity of organizing along the entire route to publicize the system. Mr. Davis of Lubbock, who introduced the Oklahoman, told of benefits to be derived from a wide organization.

Col. Thomas Boles, Carlsbad Caverns superintendent, spoke in the afternoon. Speakers at the opening session included C. Y. Welch, Quanah; C. L. Glenn, Matador; R. L. Lawrence, Anadarko and Hankins. A reading was given by Miss Marjorie Sewalt of Lovington, N. M.

The highway association will Award some token to Hankins, for two years its president, for his ceaseless and tireless devotion of time, influence and money to the furtherance of the association. By acclamation, Hankins was named president emeritus and Kirpatrick were named to select a token to present Mr. Hankins.

Lehr Bids Low On Painting Job Here

The low bidder for painting screens on courthouse windows was H. P. Lehr, painting contractor, County Commissioners court announced after opening bids Monday afternoon.

Accounts for the month were presented and approved.

T. W. Covington, constable at Slaton, offered his resignation. It was accepted and Ragan Reed, Slaton, was appointed to succeed him. Reed made his bond and it was approved by the court and he was given the oath of office.

BOSWELL CASE TO COME UP

DEFENSE COUNSEL WILL BE READY FOR TRIAL BY WEDNESDAY

"We expect to announce ready for trial Wednesday morning," Aaron Sturgeon, Paris, Texas, attorney and one of the defense counsel for J. D. Boswell, 18-year-old Paris youth charged with murder in Crosby county for the death of T. C. Jackson, a negro, said last night. Mr. Sturgeon and his brother Grady, former assistant attorney general of Texas, are making their headquarters here at the Hilton hotel until Wednesday morning.

Boswell and another yourth, Erlie Dyess, were charged with murder. Onnie Graham, also implicated in the case, is serving a term in the state reformatory at Gatesville. Graham was a witness at the trial of Dyess, who was given a five year term by a jury at Crosbyton Monday night.

An appeal for a suspended sentence is to be made in case Boswell is found guilty, Sturgeon said. He added that the boy bore a good reputation in Paris. Clay Lenoir, chief deputy sheriff and E. L. Meyers, assistant district attorney there, are to be witnesses for the youth at his trial, which starts Wednesday.

Grady Sturgeon resigned effective January 1 this year, from his state post, to return to Paris. He expects to be a candidate for attorney general in the event his former chief, James V. Allred, is not a candidate, his brother said last night.

Auction Sale For Farmers Planned

A trades day, an auction sale for farmers, on the first Monday of each month will be conducted here by Joe Seale, an auctioneer, without cost to the farmers, he said.

"I will sell everything that is brought to the sale ground, free of charge and will sell for the best price possible," Mr. Seale said. Farmers from far and near are invited to bring what they have for sale or trade. There are always plenty of buyers for everything that is entered at these trades day sales."

The grounds are located a block south of the Economy Mills and across the street from the McDonald mule barn.
