Whitt ponders plea bargain

Herald Staff Report

Edgar Whitt, who was arrested in March and charged with two counts of abandoning/endingangering a child – criminal negligence and one count of prohibited sexual conduct – incest, was contemplating a plea bargain this morning in 118th District Court.

Whitt, of 4302.5 S. Highway 87, was taken to jail after police officials responded to a report of a 7-year-old boy traveling down S. Highway 87 on a bicycle, attempting to run away from home.

The boy told officers he was running away after having been put in a straight jacket.

Two other children, ages 5 and 2, were in the home.

Upon investigation, authorities discovered Whitt had fathered one of the children with his daughter, Tamara Whitt.

Results of any court action were pending at mid-morning today.

The Herald will have a complete story in the weekend edition.

Get your motor runnin'

But put safety first, local officials advise

By THOMAS JENKINS
Staff Writer

As sizzling summer temperatures prepare to give way to autumn's more amicable weather, many Crossroads area motorcyclists will be taking to the streets and highways to enjoy the break from the heat.

However, increases in the number of two-wheel vehicles on local roadways also mean more chances for tragic accidents, a trend officials with the Big Spring Fire Department and Emergency Medical Services hope to change through the annual Share the Road motorcycle safety and public awareness campaign.

"The campaign urges motorists to look twice for motorcycles at intersections and

A luncheon was also held at the Big Spring Country Club for those who were POWs. A missing man ceremony was also planned.

Adopt a Military Hero 'new' endeavor

By AMANDA DUFORAT
Staff Writer

This year, Howard County residents are being asked to Adopt a Military Hero as part of the Christmas for the Troops of Howard County program.

Program Director Debbie Burrow is seeking volunteers and donations for this year's program. Adopt a Military Hero is going to be comprised of local volunteers and is no longer associated with Christmas For Our Troops out of Midland, according to Burrow.

"We have worked with Christmas For Our Troops, but it became apparent that we needed to start our own organization and are no longer associated with the Midland-based group," Burrow said.

Christmas For Our Troops will still be sending out letters seeking donations, but she wants the community to know that Adopt a Military Hero is the local group serving the same cause.

"People can still donate to the Midland group if they choose, but we are wanting them to know that we have a local group here as well and we are also looking for

Put a little Bokwa in your life

By AMANDA DUFORAT
Staff Writer

First there was Zumba. Now there is Bokwa.

Big Spring YMCA is the only facility in the Central and Mountain time zone to be offering, with a certified instructor, the new workout craze.

"This is something anyone of any age can do," Elvira Conner, YMCA fitness coordinator, said. "It's exciting and easy to learn."

Bokwa — developed by Paul Mavi — is an exercise dance class which combines cardio conditioning, strength training and flexibility. The routines incorporate African dance moves with boxing maneuvers. Those taking part in the workout learn moves associated with

LouWona Faye Phemister

Funeral services for LouWona Faye Phemister will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 22, 2012, at Wilson Funeral Home Chapel. The Rev. Steve Ostten will officiate. Graveside services will be held at noon Tuesday, Sept. 25, 2012, in Mount Olive Memorial Park in Big Spring, Texas. Services are under the direction of Wilson Funeral Home.

LouWona passed away Tuesday, Sept. 18, 2012, at Integris Canadian Valley Regional Hospital in Yukon, Okla.

She was born in Big Spring, Texas on Oct. 26, 1964, to her parents J.W. Thorp and Hazel (Stewart) Thorp. She married Joe Phemister on May 6, 1977, and they made their home in El Reno, Okla. on June 2, 1991. LouWona loved her family and friends and they loved her. She never met a stranger that she wouldn't lend a helping hand to, no matter the circumstances. She loved her job and the people she was around, especially her animals, and she never took 'no' for an answer.

She was preceded in death by her parents, J.W. Thorp and Hazel (Stewart) Thorp; sister, Jane Thorp; and brother, Kenneth Thorp.

She is survived by her husband Joe Phemister of the home; sons, David Phemister and Michael Phemister and wife Andrea, all of El Reno, Okla.; sister, Peggy Garner and husband Ron of Big Spring, Texas; brothers, Wayne Thorp and wife Faye of Odessa, Texas, and Jack Thorp and wife Ginny of Autaugaville, Ala. She is also survived by one grandchild, Hailee Phemister.

The family suggests memorials be made to the American Diabetes Association.

Elsie Spurgin

Elsie Spurgin, 66, of Big Lake, died Wednesday, Sept. 19, 2012, at her daughter's home. The family will receive friends from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. Friday at Myers & Smith Funeral Home. Graveside services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 22, 2012, at Glenrest Cemetery in Big Lake, Texas, with Byron Bitner officiating.

She was born Nov. 28, 1945, in Abilene, Texas to Goldie and Allen Hatchett. She married Charles "Rigger" Spurgin Sr. in 1979 and he preceded her in death March 12, 2004. She had been a resident of Big Lake since 1978. She owned Bloom & Blossom flower shop and was also a driver for Borden's Milk in Big Lake. She was a Pentecostal.

She is survived by three daughters, Karen Pruitt and husband Wayne of Big Spring, Stephanie DeLaCruz and husband Richard of Carrollton, and Shawna Torres and husband German of McCamey; one son, Jerry Newberry and wife Betty of Springtown; seven grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; and two sisters, Patricia Phillips and Levina Salinas.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband, Charles Victor Spurgin, and one brother, James Allen Hatchett.

Pallbearers will be Richard DeLaCruz Jr., Brett Hancock, German Torres, Dean Newberry, Wayne Pruitt and Darryl Newberry.

Arrangements are by Myers & Smith Funeral Home. Pay your respects online at www.myersand-smith.com

when changing lanes, the two places where serious motorcycle collisions commonly occur," BSFD Deputy Chief Chris Glenn said. "Because motorcycles have a much smaller profile than other vehicles, it can be difficult for drivers to judge the speed and distance of an approaching motorcycle. As a result, drivers involved in crashes with motorcycles say they never saw the motorcyclist and were unable to react in time to prevent the crash."

According to Glenn, motorcyclists are dying in record numbers, with 429 cyclists killed in 2010, accounting for 14 percent of the state's traffic deaths.

Some simple tips motorists can follow to help keep their two-wheeled brethren safe are:

• Look twice for motorcyclists at intersections, entering highways and whenever turning or changing lanes

• Always maintain a safe following distance

• When passing a motorcyclist, move to the other lane and allow a full lane for the motorcyclist

While Glenn urges area motorists to keep a vigilant eye out for motorcycles, it's also up to area riders to take precautions when they hit the road.

"It's important for motorcyclists to know the state's helmet law," Glenn said. "All riders under the age of 21 are required to wear a helmet when operating a motorcycle. Riders over 21 may ride without a helmet only if they have completed a safety course or are covered by an applicable insurance plan."

Because cyclists don't enjoy the same protection automobiles or trucks provide, Glenn said it's vital riders:

• Wear a helmet and other protective gear
• Turn on your headlights and ride defensively
• Avoid the center of the lane, where debris

and oil build up

• Ride at a safe speed and never ride if you've been drinking

• Take a course to learn or reinforce safe riding techniques

• Sign up for the basic course if you haven't had much riding experience or if you've never ridden at all.

"It's not just one group's responsibility to share the road," Glenn said. "It's every motorist's responsibility, no matter what you drive. We can help bring down the number of motorcycle fatalities if everyone follows these tips and makes a real effort."

donations to help provide a Christmas for the military heroes in Afghanistan," Burrows said.

Adopt a Military Hero resulted from a program started last year in area schools — Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan — and is being expanded to the entire community.

At this time, Burrows said the important thing is to get APO addresses in for those who have family or friends who are stationed in Afghanistan for Christmas.

"We are looking to make 500 boxes to send to the troops, but before we start gathering donations to fill the boxes, we need to gather names to send the boxes to," she said.

Those wanting to submit names for the Adopt a Military Hero program can send the information to adoptmilitaryhero@sbcglobal.net or call Burrow at 432-267-7165 or 432-270-8554.

Donated items or monetary gifts can also be sent to Burrow at 1606

E. Third or dropped off at one of the donations boxes that will be placed around Big Spring starting Oct. 15.

All names and addresses are needed by Nov. 1 and all donations are needed by Nov. 20. Packing day for the individual donated items is tentatively set for Nov. 28 at First Christian Church.

hand signals in order to know the next step to take.

"This is a great workout for everyone, including the hearing impaired because it uses sign language to signal the steps," Conner said.

According to YMCA Director Dathan Jones, the YMCA is working on forming a partnership with the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf campus.

"We were wanting to bring something new and different, especially with Zumba being such a hot craze," Jones said. "Not only is this something new, easy and fun, but we are one of the only ones if not the only one in the states offering this class."

Bokwa is mainly found in the United Kingdom at this time. Pennsylvania is the only state offering training for instructors in the states. Conner received certification during the most recent training held.

"I am a Zumba instructor, as were the majority of the people in the training class, and we were all amazed by this new workout," Conner said. "This is easy to learn and you have such a blast doing it."

The class will be offered starting in mid October. For members, the class will be free and for non-members it will be a $5 daily membership charge. Classes will be Monday and Wednesday with instruction from 6 p.m. until 6:30 p.m. The class will begin at 6:30 p.m. and last for an hour.

A SMALL PRAYER

by K. Rae Anderson

With You, Lord, we have a heavenly chance to fulfill our dreams.

Amen

They are the 47 percent

If one thing should be clear by now, it is that nothing a president or presidential candidate says is private. Assume every microphone is hot, every fundraiser is public, every side comment will be reported.

You would think by this time — having been burned on the height of the trees in Michigan, his friendship with NASCAR owners and the family Cadillacs — Mitt Romney would appreciate that. With only weeks to go until the election, you would think a candidate who has been criticized repeatedly for being scripted would know that he needs to be careful when he goes off script.

It's a matter of discipline, but also of judgment.

Knowing all that, how in the world could Romney say this:

"There are 47 percent of the people who will vote for the president no matter what. All right, there are 47 percent who are with him, who are dependent upon government, who believe that they are victims, who believe the government has a responsibility to care for them, who believe that they are entitled to health care, to food, to housing, to you name it. That — that's an entitlement. And the government should give it to them. And they will vote for this president no matter what. ... These are people who pay no income tax."

"(M)y job is not to worry about those people," Romney reportedly said. "I'll never convince them they should take personal responsibility and care for their lives."

Romney's campaign does not dispute the accuracy of the quote. Romney does not even disown the substance of what he said. According to him, the only thing "wrong" with his dismissal of 47 percent of the voting public as "victims" who depend on government and "pay no income tax" is that he chose his words poorly.

"It's not elegantly stated, let me put it that way," he said. "It's a message I'm going to carry and continue to carry — which is, look, the president's approach is attractive to people who are not paying taxes, because, frankly, my discussion about lowering taxes isn't as attractive to them.

Therefore, I'm not likely to draw them into my campaign as effectively as those who are in the middle."

Let me state the obvious: The government would shut down tomorrow if 47 percent of all voters paid no taxes. As a matter of fact, many of us, myself included, not only pay taxes, but pay them at higher rates than Romney does. I don't depend on the government for my job or my health care or my kids' college tuition. I take personal responsibility not only for myself, but also for friends and family whom I am fortunate enough — and work hard enough — to be able to help.

As for Romney's "job," the idea that a president need only concern himself with those who vote for him, that he has written off nearly half the country as victims who won't vote for him for that reason, is wrong as a matter of principle and stunningly wrong as a matter of politics.

Romney is already vulnerable because he has not made full disclosure of his tax returns. He is already vulnerable because many working people — people who take responsibility, work hard, play by the rules, don't depend on the government for any form of handout — worry that Romney simply doesn't "get" people like them. Romney is already vulnerable, particularly after his choice of Paul Ryan, because many senior citizens, who built this country and now depend on the nation's two biggest "entitlement" programs, Social Security and Medicare, are worried that Romney and Ryan will not protect those programs.

Those are major vulnerabilities. But perhaps the biggest problem with Romney's statements goes to the larger question of whether the poor judgment reflected in these remarks undermines his broader case that he is qualified to be president. The easiest way to beat a challenger is to paint him as a risk: the devil you don't know. Remarks like this call into question not only whether Romney "gets" it, but also whether he is ready to be president.

If 47 percent have already decided not to vote for him, as Romney concedes, then it will only take 3 percent more to seal his fate.

The 'accidental' death of one Cuban dissident, Oswaldo Paya

If you believe Cuban authorities because you choose to ignore five decades of lies, propaganda and deception, then you believe that Cuban dissidence leader Oswaldo Paya was killed in a single-car accident.

But if history makes you skeptical, if you know of the many atrocities the Cuban government has tried to conceal, then you may want to consider that the Castro brothers are, once again, getting away with murder.

MIGUEL PEREZ

This time, since Paya was a well-known dissident who was protected by his notoriety abroad, instead of using their kangaroo courts to stifle or eliminate their opposition, they had to branch out to other forms of murder, something more imaginative, such as a car accident with only one car.

While Cuban authorities claim Paya was killed on Sunday, July 22 because he was a passenger in a speeding car that spun out of control, his family claims the car was rammed repeatedly by another vehicle and forced off the road.

The truth will not be known until Cuba releases the driver, Spanish citizen Angel Carromero, and if the Castro brothers ordered Paya's murder, this traffic "accident" could keep Carromero in a Cuban prison for a very long time.

Prosecutors already are seeking a seven-year jail sentence for his allegedly causing the crash where Paya and another Cuban dissident, Harold Cepero, were killed.

The Cuban state-controlled media announced Monday that Carromero's negligent homicide trial would begin Oct. 5.

The government will argue that it has Carromero's own testimony, admitting that he was speeding, that he ignored road construction warning signs, and that he braked abruptly on an unpaved road, lost control and hit a tree.

But Paya's family, other Cuban dissidents and skeptics all over the world say there are grounds to believe that Paya and Cepero were murdered, that they were forced off the road and out of this world by a dictatorship that wanted to eliminate the leader of a freedom and human rights movement it had been unable to stifle.

That's because there was a fourth person in the car, Swedish citizen Jens Aron Modig, who reportedly sent text messages to Sweden after the crash where he allegedly claimed that their car had been repeatedly rammed by another vehicle.

Carromero and Modig, both political activists in their respective countries, had reportedly gone to Cuba to support Paya and his Christian Liberation Movement.

When the crash occurred on a rural highway near the town of Bayamo, they had been traveling in a rented car from Havana to the eastern city of Santiago de Cuba.

While the two Cubans sitting in the back of a Hyundai sedan were killed, the two Europeans suffered minor injuries.

You would expect them to give us a clear explanation of what really happened, right?

In free countries, you couldn't keep the truth from surfacing on such an important event as the death of a prominent opposition leader.

But in Cuba, where the dictatorship is in complete control of society, the truth can be thrown in jail and government goons can throw away the cell key.

After being detained and kept away from international journalists for several days, and after apparently receiving industrial quantities of government coercion and intimidation, Carromero and Modig participated in a Cuban-government-orchestrated press conference where they denied the rumors that their car had been rammed off the road.

Carromero accepted responsibility for the crash, basically submitting himself to the mercy of a tyrannical justice system, and has been held at an Interior Ministry facility in Havana pending his trial.

Modig claimed he was sleeping when the crash occurred and was allowed to return to Sweden, where he has remained disturbingly, and perhaps very tellingly, SILENT — claiming only that he doesn't remember the crash and expressing concern for his friend Carromero.

To Cuban dissidents and Paya's family, this is a clear indication that even Modig has been coerced into participating in an elaborate cover-up of a state-sponsored murder.

They believe Modig is not talking about the text messages he allegedly sent after the crash because he is apparently fearful of recriminations that could be taken against Carromero.

After all, when he made a statement to the international media in Havana, Carromero pleaded that world attention should not focus on how Paya died but on "getting me out of here."

Still, Carromero's chances on seeing freedom in the near future are slim to none. If he can stop the Castro brothers from concealing such a high-profile murder, he may never come out of prison alive.

The truth is in jail in Cuba, as it has been for a long time.

Forsan Baptist Church

We our continuing our Sunday morning worship series titled, “Piercing the Darkness: A Study of Angels.” Join us as we look into God’s Word for the place of angels in this present life and the one to come.

On Wednesday and Sunday evenings at 6:00 P.M. we are conducting an in-depth study of the Book of Revelation. This will be a verse-by-verse study of the entire book. All are welcome to join us in this study. We are handing out maps and timelines as the study progresses through the coming months. We are also able now to provide CD copies of the study as well as our Sunday morning services to anyone who may be interested.

We will have a men’s fellowship breakfast on Saturday, September 22 at 9:00 a.m. at the Four Sands Café. All are welcome to join us for a full breakfast and a time of man-talk. We will also be observing Lord’s Supper this Sunday during morning worship.

Our church is located at 201 Main in Forsan. Sunday School begins at 9:50 a.m., with worship services at 10:50 a.m. and 6 p.m. Wednesday youth activities have resumed and will continue throughout the school year. We will provide a meal and refreshments for these activities. Wednesday services begin at 6:00 p.m. Rides for all youth activities are available if arranged ahead of time. Call the church at 432-457-2342 or Pastor Darren Weaver at 432-213-2348.

First Baptist Church

Upward Basketball is back for season two and registration is now open. Children from K to sixth grade, boys and girls, are encouraged to participate. This First Baptist Church sponsored league for all our community is a friendly sports environment where children have fun. Basketball fundamentals are taught, each child participates equally as a team member and life lessons are learned at each practice. The cost to play is $60, which includes a T-shirt, game day jersey and magnetic decal. Registration forms are available at the church. Many volunteers are needed for coaches, referees and prayer partners.

Sunday evening at 7 in the north foyer will be a reception for Marc Couch. Marc has served faithfully and joyfully as music minister for five years. Come by to say “thank you” as we honor him and Kristi.

Mary Hill Davis mission offering is still going through the end of the month. Our goal is $5,000, if you have participated, pray and give as the Lord leads. Orders will be placed for new FBC T-shirts. Order forms will be available next Sunday, shirts are $10 each and the deadline to place an order is Sunday, Sept. 30. Thank you for your continued support of the mission center. The pantry is about empty and this week we will be collecting macaroni and cheese and hamburger helper.

On Sept.27-29 FBC will have a booth at the county fair. We will pass out cool water and provide a “baby changing station.” Volunteers are needed to help man the booth. A sign-up sheet will be in the west foyer Sunday. True Love Waits commitment ceremony will be Sunday Sept. 30.

Wednesday, Oct. 3 begins the study for Financial Peace University by Dave Ramsey. The nine-week series will be taught by Greg and Luci Gabehart. Sunday school is at 9:30, worship is at 10:50 a.m., Awana is at 5:30 a.m. and evening worship is at 6 p.m.

North Birdwell Lane
United Methodist Church

North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church meets Sunday for 10:30 a.m. worship. Pastor Billy Bates leads the worship service and Jacque Mauch leads the music.

Sunday school is at 9:30 a.m. The adult class will continue their study on “What is Faith” with Guy Teague leading the discussion on “Faith Inspires Gratitude” taken from Hebrews 12:18-29.

The administrative council will have a short meeting to finalize all reports for charge conference Sept. 30 immediately following fifth Sunday fellowship luncheon.

We must remember to be thankful for the cooler weather and the moisture, but still need to be aware of the mosquitos and the health risk it brings to all, but especially the elder and the young.

For use of the food pantry, call 4432-267-2203, if no answer leave a number so the call can be returned. North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church is located at 2702 N. Birdwell. For more information, call 432-267-3241 or 432-267-2203.

When plans dry up on the vine

Although I’ve never cared much for raisins, I’ve always been fascinated by their history. Those well-preserved, wrinkled grapes have been mentioned in many ancient history books. For centuries, royalty from all nations have nibbled on the tiny morsels. Raisins have been the delicacy of kings and the survival food of paupers.

WHEAT

In ancient Rome, raisins were the medical cure-all. They also were used as rewards for competitions and currency for barter. Raisins were even accepted for payment of taxes.

Those puny little raisins were wonder drugs and golden coins all shrunk into small, edible nuggets.

Even though raisins have traveled around the world on wooden ships and in the pockets of great men, their discovery was accidental. A fluke of agriculture and a gift of nature, the first raisins were found hanging on grape vines, dried by the sun and weathered to perfection.

Legend has it that the first raisin crop in California was nature-baked in 1873.

Shortly before the harvest season started, a severe heat wave caused most of the grapes to dry on the vines before they could be picked. Ingenuity and desperation motivated the vineyard owners to pick the dried fruit and market it anyway. Thus a new industry was born.

Sometimes our plans, like raisins, dry on the vine before we can bring them to fruition. When this happens, we have some choices to make. The decisions that we make, however, will always be reflections of our own character.

The first option when we find raisins hanging on our vines is to pick the prune-looking tidbits and change our marketing strategies. A second option might be to walk away and leave the fruit of our labor to decay on the vine. Yet, a third option would be to salvage anything edible and start making plans for next year’s crop.

In His wisdom, God knew that our best-laid plans would often be struck down by adversity. He appointed the prophet Jeremiah to speak a word of encouragement to his downhearted people.

“‘For I know the plans that I have for you,’ declares the Lord, ‘plans for welfare and not for calamity to give you a future and a hope’” (Jeremiah 29:11 NASB).

Sometimes life’s failed plans force us to consume a lot of raisins.

However, God always has an optional plan for us that includes a future and a hope.

Reflections

Heart Healthy

We are increasingly conscious of becoming heart-healthy. According to the American Heart Association, “The epidemic increase in heart disease mortality ended in the 1960s or 1970s.” Deaths from heart disease have fallen dramatically over the last fifty years. Heart-healthy alternatives are produced in almost every food category. Restaurants include heart-healthy menus. Smoking has been banned in most public places. Physicians and non-profits promote diet-and-exercise.

At the same time America is on an obesity binge. The improvement, it appears, is the result of long-term care and emergency intervention more than healthy habits. I first read Dr. Kenneth Cooper’s book, Aerobics in 1982. It was a groundbreaking book that opened the eyes of millions to the benefits of aerobic exercise and healthy diet for a healthy heart. When I visited Brazil I was fascinated to find hundreds of Brazilians walking and jogging every morning to get in their “Cooper.” The doctor’s name had found its way into Portuguese as a synonym for heart-healthy aerobic exercise. When I followed Cooper’s regimen, I experienced the benefits: lost weight, increased strength and stamina. Unfortunately, I have not always followed those disciplines, and it shows. Developing a healthy heart requires more than knowledge. As important as it is to maintain a healthy heart physically, it is even more important for us to develop a healthy heart spiritually. The Bible clearly sets forth the disciplines and characteristics of a healthy spiritual heart. They include gratitude, hope, forgiveness and love. If we discipline ourselves to be grateful every day for what God has done, if we hope when things look hopeless, if we forgive those who injure us, if we love our enemies instead of just loving those who love us, we will have a healthy heart. But, like our physical heart, having a spiritually healthy heart requires more than knowledge. We may know that we need to be grateful, hopeful, forgiving and loving. But how do you create heartfelt gratitude, hope, forgiveness and love? In the spiritual realm, this requires a spiritual heart transplant. God has to create a new heart within us, something that He is more than willing to do. We are all born with spiritual heart disease. Jeremiah says, ““The heart is more deceitful than all else and is desperately sick; who can understand it?” (Jer. 17:9). But later he writes, “I will give them a heart to know Me, for I am the Lord; and they will be My people, and I will be their God.” (Jer. 24:7). And in Ezekiel He says, “Moreover, I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit within you; and I will remove the heart of stone from your flesh.” (Ez. 36:26). God sent His son, Jesus so that He might create in us a healthy heart that is full of gratitude, hope, forgiveness and love. He changes the heart that has grown callous, bitter and resentful into one that overflows in gratitude. Someday our physical heart will beat its last beat and our bodies will die. But the spiritually healthy heart that God creates will live forever.

2nd arrest made in abuse probe at Tulsa megachurch

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa police have arrested a second suspect as an investigation continues into allegations of sexual abuse by former employees at a south Tulsa megachurch. Police say 23-year-old Israel Shalom Castillo, a former employee at Victory Christian Center, surrendered at the Tulsa County Jail on Thursday morning. He was booked on allegations of making a lewd or indecent proposal to a minor and using a computer to commit a sex crime. His next court date is Sept. 28 and jail records did not list whether he had an attorney.

Another ex-employee, Chris Denman, was arrested Sept. 5 on a complaint alleging that he raped a 13-year-old girl on the ministry’s campus in early August. Authorities have charged five ministry employees for waiting two weeks before reporting the alleged attack to authorities

Jurors reach verdict in Ohio Amish hair attacks

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jurors have reached a verdict in the hate crimes trial of an Amish breakaway group accused of hair-cutting attacks against members of their own faith in Ohio. The decision is expected to be announced Thursday afternoon in a Cleveland federal court. The government says that the attacks were motivated by religious differences and that the defendants targeted the victims’ hair and beards because it carries spiritual significance in their faith. Prosecutors say the leader of an Amish settlement orchestrated the attacks last fall that terrorized Amish communities in eastern Ohio. Defense attorneys have conceded that the hair- and beard-cuttings took place but argue that the government is overreaching by calling what happened hate crimes. They say the cuttings were merely family disputes.

A look at Coptic Christians, history and beliefs

The Egyptian Coptic Orthodox Church split from other Christians in 451 A.D. over a dispute about the nature of Christ. Unlike Roman Catholics, they do not believe in the infallibility of the Pope or in purgatory. They believe in the immaculate conception of Jesus, but not of the Virgin Mary and their priests can marry. Copts celebrate Christmas according to the Julian calendar, meaning it falls on Jan. 7. The run-up to the holiday is marked by a 40-day period of fasting when red meat, poultry and dairy products are forbidden. Copts break the fast with feasting and celebrations after a Christmas Eve liturgy that ends near midnight. Like Catholics, Copts believe in the Ten Commandments, practice sacraments such as baptism, confession and confirmation and the intercession of the saints. Copts consider themselves the original Egyptians. The word “Copt” was the name the ancient Greeks gave to the people they encountered in Egypt.

Pakistani protesters clash with police over film

ISLAMABAD (AP) — Hundreds of Pakistanis angry at an anti-Islam film that denigrates the religion’s prophet clashed with police in the Pakistani capital Thursday, the most violent show of anger in a day that saw smaller demonstrations in Indonesia, Iran and Afghanistan. The vulgar depiction of Islam’s Prophet Muhammad in an American-made movie has angered Muslims across the world, with many taking to the streets to rally against the film. In recent days, the decision by a French satirical magazine to release cartoons crudely depicting the prophet has added to the tension. In Pakistan, a crowd of more than 1,000 people tried to make their way to the U.S. Embassy inside a guarded enclave that houses embassies and government offices. Riot police used tear gas and batons to keep stone-throwing demonstrators away from the enclave, and hundreds of shipping containers were lined up to cordon off the area. Some protesters were students affiliated with the Islamist hardline Jamaat-e-Islami party. The demonstrations are expected to grow in Pakistan on Friday, the traditional day of prayer in the Muslim world. The Pakistani government has called a national holiday for Friday so that people could come out and demonstrate peacefully against the film. That decision drew rare words of praise from the Pakistani Taliban, which is usually at war with the government. A spokesman for the militant group said it welcomed the decision but also thought the government should expel all American diplomats.

The youth group is meeting Sunday evenings at 6:30 p.m. for supper, handbell choir and a special youth-oriented financial planning course led by Susan Holstedt. The Boy Scouts meet in the entrance room of the fellowship hall at 6 p.m. Monday. The session will meet Tuesday, Sept. 18, at 6 p.m. in the library. The service committee has named Sunday and Sept. 30 as days for our annual food drive. The food bags with the list of groceries will be in the Narthex on those Sundays. Members are asked to return them by Oct. 16. Our annual Saturday cookout/fellowship and Sunday barbecue lunch is Saturday/Sunday. Contact Danny Kennemur to find a place to help with this event. Bring side dishes or desserts on Sunday to go with the barbecue and beans. Presbyterian Women and Working Women’s Bible study Tuesday is at noon in the fellowship hall for lunch. The first lesson from this year’s Horizons study “Dispatches from God’s Household,” is based on 1 and 2 Peter, Jude and John 1, 2 and 3. Helen Glass will lead the introductory lesson. We will also finalize plans for the food we will be providing at the church’s mission fair October 19-21. Ann Sinclair is in charge of this week’s “Take Ten.” Liturgist is Mark Morgan. The lectionary is Proverbs 31: 10-31; Psalm 1; James 3:13-4:3, 7-8; Mark 9:30-37. The choir will offer the anthem “I Will Arise” by Alice Parker and “Bless Thou the Lord” by George Frederick Handel for the offertory. The Rev. Craig Holstedt will deliver the sermon. By Steve Becker Bidding Quiz

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has gone:
North East South West
1♥ Dble Redble Pass
Pass 1♠ ?
What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?
1. ♠ 853 ♥ AJ72 ♦ QJ9 ♣ K84
2. ♠ KJ93 ♥ J6 ♦ AJ942 ♣ K5
3. ♠ 7♥ KQ84 ♦ AJ76 ♣ AJ98
4. ♠ J62 ♥ Q5 ♦ KQ53 ♣ K962

1. Two hearts. Your redouble announced 10 or more points, but not necessarily heart support. By bidding two hearts, you show not only your trump fit but also that the redouble was based on minimum values (your one extra point above a minimum redouble is nothing to get excited about). Three hearts would show a slightly stronger hand. Partner should pass two hearts with a dead-minimum opening bid and continue bidding with anything more.
2. Double. If we assume that partner has a normal opening bid — in which case he will pass your penalty double — East is apt to wind up with his arm in a sling. He is likely to go down three — 800 points — and, in fact, he might go down even more. It would be a mistake to let East off the hook by bidding two diamonds or two notrump at this point; some of the juiciest penalties in bridge are exacted at the one-level.

3. Two spades. Game in hearts is certain, and the spade cuebid is made to alert partner to the possibility of a slam. A jump to three hearts (forcing) would not fully reflect the promise of the hand, so some other bid — such as two spades (or three spades if you play “splinter” bids) — is necessary to suggest a slam.
Some might argue that the two-spade cuebid in this sequence promises the ace or a void in spades. However, it is much more flexible to treat this cuebid simply as showing a hand with enormous potential for slam. In the present case, with your strong minor-suit holdings sitting directly over the doubler, plus your excellent trump support and singleton spade, you have ample justification for such a bid.
4. Pass. There is simply no better call available at this stage. You should therefore let East’s spade bid roll around to your partner to see what he wants to do. Your pass is 100 percent forcing — partner is not permitted to pass. If he rebids one notrump or two hearts — both weak rebids — you should pass, as you have no extra values. But if he names a new suit or makes a jump-rebid, you will certainly bid again, while if he doubles one spade (for penalties), you will happily pass.

Texas' Adrian Beltre hits one out during the ninth inning of Thursday's 3-1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels. The win put the Rangers four games ahead of Oakland in the AL West.

Beltre belts homer in 9th, puts Rangers past Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Although Adrian Beltre was nearly doubled over in abdominal pain before the game, he still demanded a spot in Texas manager Ron Washington's lineup.

After Beltre's ninth-inning homer, the Los Angeles Angels were the ones with a sick feeling in their stomachs.

Beltre hit a tiebreak-

ing two-run shot off closer Ernesto Frieri, and the Rangers dealt yet another blow to Los Angeles' fading playoff hopes with a 3-1 victory Thursday night.

Texas (89-60) improved the AL's best record and stayed four games ahead of Oakland (85-64) in the AL West by taking two of three from the Angels

Cowboys having to go distance to score

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Tony Romo and the Dallas Cowboys have had to go a long way to score their touchdowns this season.

Their four touchdown drives have averaged 78 yards, including a 95-yarder for their only score in the last game.

"You have to do a lot of things right to go 80 yards, 60 yards, whatever," Romo said Thursday. "When you have a short field sometimes, it makes things a lot easier. You're just always going out there to score points and you don't really think about how far you've got to go, but obviously, that plays a role."

But the Cowboys (1-1), who play their home opener Sunday against Tampa Bay, haven't had a short field yet this season.

The average starting position for 19 possessions is their own 20. Only one drive started beyond the 30, and that was at the 34 on the second drive of the season opener after the New York Giants fumbled.

That fumble is the only turnover forced by the Cowboys this season. And they haven't had any big plays on special teams.

Felix Jones has averaged 21.3 yards on his eight kickoff returns this season, and the longest was a 29-yarder against Seattle last week that only set the Cowboys up at the 21 since he took the ball eight yards deep in the end zone.

Dez Bryant has four punt returns for a total of 2 yards, and Dwayne Harris had one return for 3 yards.

Gillispie resigns as TTU basketball coach

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Texas Tech fans had pinned their basketball hopes on Billy Gillispie.

He had turned around two other flagging programs in the state, and they hoped he would do the same for the Red Raiders.

They watched a difficult first year in which Texas Tech won just one Big 12 game. Now fans won't get a chance to see a possible turnaround similar to what the 52-year-old coach had done at UTEP and Texas A&M.

Gillispie, a West Texas native, resigned on Thursday, citing health concerns.

"Billy has decided to focus on his health, and we wish him a full recovery," athletic director Kirby Hocutt said in a news release. "We are proud of the young men that he has brought to this campus. Billy's decision allows him to concentrate on his well-being and allows us to turn our attention to preparations for the upcoming season."

Gillispie didn't immediately return a call or text from The Associated Press seeking comment.

Gillispie will be paid the remainder of this contract year, about seven-months' worth, or about $467,000. Chris Walker, who took over day-to-day operations, will remain in that position until an interim head coach is chosen.

Gillispie's resignation letter said he appreciated the opportunity to coach the Red Raiders, but that he needed to tend to his health, officials said.

The move came less than a month after the school announced it was looking into allegations of player mistreatment last fall by the veteran coach — a sensitive topic at Texas Tech, given the 2009 firing of football coach Mike Leach after claims that he mistreated a player suffering from a concussion.

Hocutt, who declined to make further comment Thursday, earlier this month called the allegations "very troubling."

In January, the school reprimanded Gillispie and assistant coach Brooks Jennings after a review found the team had exceeded practice-time limits in 2011. The school reported the secondary violation to the NCAA and penalized itself by reducing the team's practice time by about 12 hours.

While all that was filtering out, Gillispie's health was apparently growing worse.

Twice in a 10-day span this past month, 911 calls were made from Gillispie's home. The first, on Aug. 31, came hours before he was to meet with Hocutt and led to a six-day stay in a Lubbock hospital. The two men never met to discuss the allegations.

Gillispie wasn't taken to the hospital after the second call on Sept. 10. But the following day, he left for the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., where he said he got treatment for kidney problems and abnormal headaches. Doctors there told him to avoid stress for 30 days.

Gillispiesucceeded Patrick Knight, who went 50-61 in his three-plus years. Knight had taken over after his father resigned in February 2008.

Five years ago, Gillispie was one of the hottest names in the college game and had reached a pinnacle: coaching at perennial powerhouse Kentucky.

That peak lasted just

This Date In History

Today is Friday, Sept. 21, the 265th day of 2012. There are 101 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Sept. 21, 1912, magician Harry Houdini first publicly performed his so-called "Chinese Water Torture Cell" trick at the Circus Busch in Berlin, escaping after being immersed upside-down in a vertical water tank, his ankles secured in a set of stocks which made up the tank lid, which was locked into place.

On this date: In 1792, the French National Convention voted to abolish the monarchy.

In 1893, one of America's first horseless carriages was taken for a short test drive in Springfield, Mass., by Frank Duryea, who had designed the vehicle with his brother, Charles.

In 1897, the New York Sun ran its famous editorial, written anonymously by Francis P.

Church, which declared, "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

In 1912, legendary cartoon animator Chuck Jones was born in Spokane, Wash.

In 1937, "The Hobbit," by J.R.R. Tolkien, was first published by George Allen & Unwin, Ltd. of London.

In 1938, a hurricane struck parts of New York and New England, causing widespread damage and claiming some 700 lives.

In 1948, Milton Berle made his debut as permanent host of "The Texaco Star Theater" on NBC-TV.

In 1962, "The Jack Paar Program," a weekly, prime-time show that followed Paar's stint on "The Tonight Show," began a three-year run.

In 1970, "NFL Monday Night Football" made its debut on ABC-TV as the Cleveland Browns defeated the visiting New York Jets, 31-21.

In 1982, Amin Gemayel, brother of Lebanon's assassinated president-elect, Bashir Gemayel, was himself elected president. National Football League players began a 57-day strike, their first regular-season walkout ever.

In 1987, NFL players called a strike, mainly over the issue of free agency. (The 24-day walk-out prompted football owners to hire replacement players.)

In 1989, Hurricane Hugo crashed into Charleston, S.C. (the storm was blamed for 26 directly-caused U.S. deaths). Twenty-one students in Alton, Texas, died when their school bus, involved in a collision with a soft-drink delivery truck, careened into a water-filled pit.

Today's Birthdays: Actor Larry Hagman is 81. Poet-songwriter Leonard Cohen is 78. Author-comedian Fannie Flag is 71. Producer Jerry Bruckheimer is 69. Musician Don Felder is 65.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Awkward socializing can make people wish they had stayed home alone. But the people who do stay home alone are the ones most likely to perpetuate awkward socializing, as interacting breezily takes practice. The Sagittarius moon urges us to sharpen our skills, circulate and see relationships for what they are: a lot of work!

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You don't need to branch out to strangers now. Shake down your current circle of friends first, and get personal recommendations. Also, your friends will recommend you to others and speak of you in the highest esteem.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Problems spin in your head for a reason: so that you can experience them from all angles. Your subconscious process is magnificent, and there's no reason why you should try to make it conscious at this point. Trust.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). There will be very few instances in which it will be appropriate to share your opinions — e.g., not in someone else's house, nor in general assembly. Share only when asked sincerely and in private.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Even the most adamant rules followers will thrill to the reckless way you abandon certain constraints. You act as if you don't care what anyone thinks, and for key moments, this will be true.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You can talk about your experiences and gain insights from others, but when all is said and done, you learn best from experiencing life first-hand. There's really no substitute.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You'll be made more aware of what brings you down and also of what brings you up. An air sign (Gemini, Libra or Aquarius) will live up to the reputation, bringing lighter spirits.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Each person you meet is a world connected to the world of other people on an endless chain. You'll consciously work to keep your reputation in line with who you really are, knowing how quickly word gets out.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Wholesome aspirations hang low in the air inviting you to grab on, but so do a few other less than wholesome temptations. As the shorthand version of St. Augustine's prayer goes: "Oh, God, please make me a saint, but not yet."

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Just as nutritional needs are different from person to person, so are other kinds of needs. It takes emotional maturity not to impose your own requirements on others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You want to be able to help everyone, and yet if you were to try, then the people who most need your attention wouldn't get very much of it. Focus on your inner circle today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). It's not so strange that other people read your responses before you even realize you are responding. You are unselfconscious today, and you'll give your unguarded self.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). The universe seems to test your ability to keep your cool, but only because it's preparing you for something bigger, something that will require the utmost patience. To the patient go the spoils.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Sept. 21). Over the next five weeks, a healing power soothes your sensitive soul. In November, you'll be ready to play a bigger game professionally, and this affects lifestyle choices, too. The chance to commit yourself contractually comes in January. March amplifies your passion, and you'll race to a finish line in May. Leo and Capricorn people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 6, 1, 3, 24 and 19.

COUPLE OF THE WEEKEND: On this eve of the autumnal equinox, Virgos experience the last bits of energy of the sun in their sign. Tomorrow, the attention turns to Libra. These signs come together now to pass the torch, and for a brief while, they will both be holding the same light, testing each other to be sure that the other can be relied on to do his or her part. Couples of these signs will be aware of the power shift.
