Revolutionary Bomb May Be Peace Enforcing Weapon For United Nations Police Force

By JOHN A. PARRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 7—The revolutionary atomic bomb might become the peace-enforcing weapon of the United Nations through a special air police force equipped with the secret, terrible missile by the United States and Britain, some diplomats suggested tonight.

They also speculated that the bomb would raise the question of putting all militarily-important scientific inventions under control of the United Nations security council when the new world organization is born.

One prime question was whether the secret of the atomic bomb would be—or should be—shared with other Allied nations, and whether Russia already had been informed of the secret.

Could Be "Big Stick"

There was general agreement that the weapon could become the "big stick" of peace and security, provided it did not fall into the wrong hands, and that it promised to change radically the modern concepts of security and strategy.

Some diplomats said that the Americans and British, even if they did not wish to reveal their secret, might agree to furnish a special air force to the security council. Under such an arrangement, the international organization would not be given the secret of the bomb, but could use the air force wherever aggression might break out.

Speculation Over Proposal

There was broad speculation that a proposal for security council control of military scientific inventions would be made during the first plenary session of the new world organization.

Most often heard was the comment, "It is more important than ever now that the new international security organization should be made to work. Now it is either peace and security, or total destruction of civilization."

While authoritative officials would not comment on the question whether Russia had been kept informed of the developments, most unofficial sources expressed belief there was no reason why Britain and the United States were obligated to disclose the workings of the bomb to the Soviets, since Russia is not fighting Japan.

Might Be Discovered

There is always the possibility, they pointed out, that scientists of other nations may discover the secret, even without aid from the United States or Britain.

Some military experts said the bomb already had outdated some of the strategical decisions made at Potsdam and earlier conferences. Such a weapon puts an entirely new aspect on many matters of strategy and security, they said, altering the importance of control of certain ports, rivers, mountains, or frontiers.

Truman Returns To U. S. Tuesday

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 7.—President Truman returned to his home shores today, back from the historic Big Three meeting at Berlin.

A cabinet meeting was called for Friday. He will be back at his White House desk tomorrow.

The President plans to delay any news conference until he has made

BACK IN WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Truman returned to the White House tonight from the Big Three conference at Potsdam. His special train reached here at 10:50 p. m. Eastern war time.

Members of the cabinet met the President at the White House. He conferred with them until about 11:45 p. m.

a radio address to the nation on the agreements reached in Germany with British and Russian leaders.

Mr. Truman disembarked from the cruiser Augusta here today at 4:54 p. m. (ewt). He and his party immediately boarded a waiting train and headed for Washington.

Tanned by sun and wind, he looked fit as he said good-bye to Capt. James H. Foskett, the Augusta's skipper, and other officers and thanked them for two smooth Atlantic crossings.

The chief executive brought back agreements signed with Britain and Russia intended to keep the peace of Europe and to complete plans with the British for the knock-out assault upon Japan.

Left Month Ago

A key to the British-American strategy is the successful use of the new atomic bomb, first announced to the world yesterday by Mr. Truman.

The President was concluding tonight a 10,000-mile journey by land, sea and air in the cause of enduring peace. He left Washington one month ago.

He listed development of the new bomb, along with the United Nations charter and the Big Three agreements at Berlin among potent assets by which peaceable nations can keep down future aggression and provide unprecedented benefits for the welfare of mankind.

"Greatest Discovery Of Age"

The chief executive, talked with reporters, viewed successful use of the atomic bomb on Japan as raising hope that this country and its Allies have in their hands "the most powerful weapon for war and peace ever devised."

Besides foreshadowing early victory over Japan, he said, "it means a wonderful peacetime release of

Top-Ranking Nazis Moved To Nuernberg

LONDON, Aug. 7. (AP) — Top ranking Nazis held as prisoners of war will be moved shortly from Mondorf, Luxembourg, to the Nuernberg jail, where they will be held for the approaching major war crimes trial, it was disclosed today.

They will lose their status as war prisoners and be held without bail as civil criminals.

Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief United States war crimes prosecutor, declined to divulge the identity of the group to be removed, pending their arrival in Nuernberg.

He would not say whether they were being transferred as a security precaution against any desperate attempt by fanatical Nazis to deliver their erstwhile leaders. They will be moved in small groups under guard.

Limitations Lifted On Inexpensive Footwear

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (AP)—A larger supply of inexpensive shoes was forecast today as the War Production board lifted controls on the number of pairs that may be produced.

The revocation covers rationed and non-rationed lines of adults' children's and infants' shoes which sell at retail at an estimated range of $1.25 to $6.25.

WPB predicted improved supply in about 60 days, but said total production still would be below prewar volume. Both leather and non-leather, work and dress types are covered by the order.

Witnesses Tell Of British Pact

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Aug. 7—Two witnesses, testifying in defense of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, insisted today that Britain concluded a secret agreement with the Vichy government after the fall of France. One named Lord Halifax, present British ambassador to Washington, as a principal intermediary.

The allegations were made in the face of official British denials of such a secret negotiation.

Consented to Relax Blockade

The agreement, the witnesses asserted, related mainly to obtaining French assurances that the French fleet would not be used against the British, that colonial bases and areas would be denied the Germans and that Vichy would refrain from attempting to regain overseas areas then under control of Gen. de Gaulle's Free French forces.

In return, both witnesses testified, Britain consented to relax her blockade and permit French shipping to pass through the straits of Gibraltar and bound herself to furnish certain needed foodstuffs to France.

Working For Allies?

The witnesses were Jacques Chevallier, former Vichy secretary-general of education, and Admiral Jean Fernet, former secretary general of the presidency council.

The defense was counting heavily on their testimony to support the contention that Petain, far from collaborating with the Germans and plotting against the security of France, was working behind the scenes with the Allies.

BELGRADE, Aug. 7. (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito told the peoples front congress today that King Peter would not be allowed to return to Yugoslavia. Tito said the decision was based on the grounds that Gen. Draja Mihailovic and Milan Medic acted in the king's name during the German occupation.

Force Of 225 B-29s Spills 1,500 Tons Of Bombs On Japs' Steel City

Cities Of Kyushu Hit By Bombers

(By The Associated Press)

GUAM, Wednesday, Aug 8:—Two hundred and twenty-five Superfortresses, escorted by 140 Thunderbolt fighters, spilled 1,500 tons of demolition bombs today on Yawata, "the Pittsburgh of Japan," in as many days on the enemy homeland. Yawata had been warned only three days before it was marked for destruction.

Returning pilots brought back word they started large fires which spread to conflagrations—noteworthy because it was a demolition and not an incendiary attack.

Yawata, on the north tip of Kyushu, has a population of 261,000.

The weather was clear over Yawata and the bombardiers bombed visually.

City Warned On Aug. 5

The big sky dreadnaughts, flying from the Marianas covered by Thunderbolts from Okinawa, hit a city which had been warned on Aug. 5 it was listed for B-29 bomb treatment.

Yawata was the first target ever hit on Japan by the B-29s, having been attacked June 14, 1944, again July 7 and a third time Aug. 20, by China-based B-29s.

It was the third straight B-29 raid in as many days on Japan, following a 580-plane attack in the pre-dawn of Aug. 6 with 3,850 tons of bombs on four cities and a coal liquefaction plant, and a strike by about 121 B-29s at Tokawa naval arsenal Aug. 7.

Bombing Results Excellent

In this morning's raid the big bombers loosed approximately 1,500 tons of demolition bombs.

Today the U. S. Army Strategic Air force said the B-29s dropped 70 tons of high explosives on the arsenal at Tokoykawa and returning crews said results were generally excellent. There was no enemy interception and anti-aircraft fire was meager. One damaged bomber was abandoned while flying back to base but the crew was rescued.

Warned By Leaflets

Yawata's industrial area comprises the cities of Yawata, Wakamatsu, Tobata, Kurosaki and Kokura.

The raiders struck three days after the leaflets warned residents to evacuate their homes in the area.

During the raid over Toyokawa, 97 P-51 Mustangs were over Japan, strategic headquarters disclosed today. Half of the force escorted the bombers. The other half strafed the Yokosuka area, exploding a 200-foot freighter, setting two oil tanks afire, damaging three locomotives, 25 freight cars, two railroad stations, radio stations, power lines and transformers and 19 small vessels. The Mustangs were not challenged in the air. Anti-aircraft fire varied from meager to intense. One fighter was lost going to the target. The pilot was rescued.

Small forces of B-29s were disclosed to have dropped 92 tons of high explosives on Marcus island and 88 tons on the Dublon boat base at Truk on Tuesday afternoon.

Headquarters said B-29s mined enemy waters Tuesday and today. This was in continuance of an operation which already has blocked every major port of Japan.

CARRIER PLANES ACTIVE

GUAM, Wednesday, Aug. 8 (AP)—Carrier planes of the U. S. Pacific fleet raided Wake Island Monday and struck shipping off the coast of China Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Announced in a fleet communique today, it was the first disclosure of carrier action since Aug. 1. During July, Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet shelled and bombed Japan with unprecedented fury, destroying or damaging more than 1,500 vessels and more than 1,000 planes.

Mitchells of the 5th and 7th AAF's escorted by Thunderbolt fighters, bombed its submarine assembly yards, oil storage depots and iron and sheet metal works.

Strafe At Tree-top Level

After bombing by instrument because of heavy undercast, the low flying Mitchells dived through smoke and clouds for treetop strafing of the city of 180,000.

Pilots reported they saw many fires in the wake of their bombing.

Kagoshima last was hit on July 30, when FEAF bombers flew 700 sorties over Kyushu.

The enemy made a reprisal raid by sending four planes on a predawn attack on Okinawa Sunday. One raider was destroyed and one probably was downed by a Black Widow night fighter.

O'Daniel Wants Stevenson To Be A Federal Judge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Sen. O'Daniel (D-Tex) today recommended Gov. Coke Stevenson of Texas for appointment as federal district judge for Western Texas.

O'Daniel withdrew his previous recommendation of former Rep. Richard Kleberg after, he said, he had learned that Kleberg is not a resident of the Western district. He had been "under the impression," he added, "that Kleberg had intended to change his legal residence.

Stevenson Very Happy?

O'Daniel said he had taken up the matter with Stevenson, a resident of Junction, Kimble county.

"I think the governor was very happy about it," said the Senator. "At least he appeared to be. He is well qualified."

O'Daniel said he knew that one "did not necessarily have to be a legal resident of the district to which he might be appointed as a federal judge, but as a matter of policy this usually is required."

Kleberg, a Democrat, and part owner of the famous King ranch, was defeated for re-election last year after serving 14 years as a member of the House.

STEVENSON SAYS HE MUST FINISH JOB AS GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson said today that he was not interested in a federal judgeship now, and would not be interested in any other job until his term as governor has been completed.

He said at his press conference that his record for completing his terms of office had been consistent, and that he felt election to an office carried with it an obligation to finish the job.

Stevenson conferred for half an hour this morning with Rep. Lyndon Johnson, Congressman from this district who has been often mentioned as a possible candidate for governor in next summer's primary.

Both the Governor and the Congressman said they had discussed only personal affairs. Johnson was not ready to talk politics, and let it be known he was not prepared to answer any questions about his own future plans.

Atomic Bomb Discussed From A To Z By Local People Tuesday

THE atomic bomb was discussed in Lubbock Tuesday from A to Z and then back again. Everybody realized it was something big and they wanted to chin about it.

On all tongues was the expressed view that it would shorten the war against Japan. There were many who were a little frightened — afraid that mankind had brought forth a Frankenstein.

A reporter got these on-the-spot comments:

W. J. Roberts, farmer of Lubbock route 1: "I haven't read much about it yet but it sounds good. Plenty of them ought to get this thing over in a hurry. . . . Sure inventing some great things these days."

L. C. Ellis, banker of 1639 Main: All reports indicate it's a very useful development. It should be a big aid to ending the war soon. The Japs are hollering that it's inhumane—but look who's hollering?"

A. L. Ferguson, auto supply dealer of 2420 Taylor: "It's difficult for me to imagine it. It's a little beyond comprehension. The weapon should make useful propoganda designed to get the Japs to surrender."

Dr. William H. Whyburn, president of Texas Technological college: "If everything that we read and hear is anything near true the bomb should terrify the Japs into submission. The harnessing of atomic energy should, no doubt, set the stage for another industrial revolution. It should be a formidable addition to our sources of energy and power."

New Ultimatum For Japs Seen In Wake Of Atomic Bombing

City Believed 'Eliminated'

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Aug. 7—There is reason to believe tonight that the Japanese city of Hiroshima, hit by a single American atomic bomb, no longer exists.

This is despite the fact that men who participated in the actual first use of the new weapon, could give no estimate of damage other than that it "must have been extensive."

Struck In Center of City

But they did relate that the lone bomb struck squarely in the center of the industrial-military city of 343,000 on southern Honshu in the Japanese mainland Aug. 6 (Pacific time) with a flash and concussion that brought an exclamation of "My God" from a battle-hardened superfortress crew 10 miles away.

For following up on other enemy targets, there are more B-29s ready to carry more of the same awesome bombs. This was announced here by Gen. Carl S. Spaatz, commander of the U. S. Army strategic air force.

Crew Felt Concussion

Crewmen who carried the awful new bomb which is declared to have an explosive power the equivalent of bombs that 2,000 Superfortresses would have had to carry previously although they were far away, felt the concussion like a close explosion of anti-aircraft fire.

Col. Paul W. Tibbets, jr., of Miami, Fla., who piloted the Superfortress and Navy Capt. William S. Parsons, of Santa Fe, N. M., Navy ordnance expert, described the explosions as "tremendous and awe-inspiring."

"It was 0815 (8:15 a. m.) when we dropped our bomb and we turned the plane broadside to get the best view," said Capt. Parson. "Then we made as much distance from the ball of fire as we could.

Like "Close Flak"

"We were at least ten miles away and there was a visual impact even though every man wore colored glasses for protection. We had braced ourselves when the bomb was gone for the shock and Tibbets said 'close flak' and it was just like that—a close burst of anti-aircraft fire.

"The crew said 'My God' and couldn't believe what had happened.

"A mountain of smoke was going up in a mushroom with the stem coming down. At the top was white smoke but up to 1,000 feet

Document Aided Dunkirk Escape

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 7. (AP)—The accidental discovery of a secret German document enabled the British to evacuate 330,000 men from the trapped beaches of Dunkirk, the U. S. Army disclosed today.

"This was the paper that lost the war for Germany because it opened an escape hatch through which the core of the British regular army slipped through and gave Britain at least the semblance of enough strength to hold on until Russia and the United States were drawn to her aid," and intelligence officer of G-2 said.

Pushed Too Far Ahead

At an hour when the French were being slaughtered and the British were making a desperate effort to evacuate their helpless divisions, a member of the German general staff on a reconnaissance mission pushed too far ahead of his own lines and was fired upon by a British patrol.

The Nazi officer and his men took off across the fields but their vehicle was set afire and was captured by the patrol. In it was a copy of a surprise attack in the Calais region aimed at cutting off the British escape.

The document fell into the hands of the commander of a small Brit-

Extinction Of Entire Jap City Is Said Possibility After First Bomb Dropped

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—Possible extinction of a Japanese city the size of Memphis by a single, devastating atomic bomb underscored tonight predictions of a new surrender-or-die ultimatum to Japan.

A Guam account of the attack on the military and industrial center of Hiroshima said "there is reason to believe . . .

CITY 60 PER CENT DESTROYED

GUAM, Wednesday, Aug. 8 (AP)—Four and one-tenth square miles "or 60 per cent" of Hiroshima were wiped out by the devastating atomic bomb dropped Monday by a B-29, the U. S. Army strategic airforce headquarters reported today.

Five major industrial targets were wiped out in the city of six and nine-tenths square miles.

"Additional damage was shown outside the completely destroyed area," said a communique based on reconnaissance photographs made over the city of 343,000 on the morning of the day the bomb was dropped by a Superfort which felt the concussion of the parachute-dropped weapon while 10 miles away.

this southern Honshu city of 343,000 no longer continues to exist."

Appraisals of damage were incomplete. But the War department announced here that experts were analyzing reconnaissance photographs and that results would be disclosed tomorrow.

A report on the damage caused by this new terror from the skies will be issued here or in Guam. An "impenetrable cloud of dust and smoke" hid Hiroshima immediately after the attack Sunday.

Japanese broadcasts warned the people to be ready for more superbomb raids, and the Japanese cabinet was reported meeting in special session.

NBC in New York picked up a BBC broadcast which said Radio Tokyo indicated the cabinet had been summoned to discuss the new menace.

Ultimatum Expected Shortly

How soon the use of atomic bombing may be followed by a new surrender ultimatum, or a Japanese decision to fight on or quit now, was highly conjectural.

But one able military authority here said "inevitably" Japan will be told—quickly—that she must quit or face the onslaught of the most terrible weapon ever devised. And another declared the Japanese may be expected to make up their minds within six weeks whether to get out of the war or see their home islands devastated from the air.

A prepared Navy department read on the Navy hour radio program (NBC) said this about the bomb:

"It is too early yet to tell what effect the atomic bomb will have on Japanese morale. We may have to destroy four or five cities before they actually believe we have such a bomb. But we will bring them the proof. With the destruction from this new type of bomb and with the continued damage from Adm. William F. Halsey's carrier planes and ships the Jap-

Jap Cabinet Is Called Together

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—The Japanese cabinet was reported assembled in special session today, presumably to discuss the drastic turn of events prompted by the loosing of an atomic bomb on the homeland.

As enemy broadcasts warned the people to brace for renewed attacks by the superbombs, NBC in New York picked up a BBC broadcast quoting the Tokyo radio as saying the cabinet had been called together.

Premier Summons Advisers

BBC said the wording of the broadcast implied that Premier Suzuki had summoned his advisers to discuss the atomic bomb raid which ripped the big military base of Hiroshima Monday.

Throughout the day the Japanese had broadcast repeated accounts of the new bomb, carefully refraining from using the word "atomic" or admitting the breadth of destruction, but branding it a "diabolic weapon."

"Since it is presumed that the enemy planes will continue to use this new bomb," the Osaka radio said in a domestic broadcast, "the authorities will point out measures to cope with it immediately."

"Several Bombs" Reported

Japanese accounts said "several bombs" fell on the big military base Monday, coming from the bombbays of only a few Superforts, and Osaka added: "Even if the enemy does raid with a small number of planes we must be careful not to look at the raids lightly."

Another broadcast beamed to the United States declared that the use of the atomic bomb branded "the enemy for ages to come as a destroyer of justice and mankind."

All travel into Hiroshima—which the Japanese conceded was "considerably damaged"—was forbidden.

"The destructive power of the new weapon cannot be slighted," warned Domei agency, which said "a few" of the annihilating bombs floated in over the military city by parachute and burst "before reaching the ground."

OPA Promises Decision On Price Of New Cars

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (AP) — The OPA today promised a decision in about two weeks as to whether prices for new passenger cars will be higher than those of 1942.

However, Bowles authorized a spokesman to say there is no possibility of an increase as high as 25 per cent. This statement, it was explained, was aimed at reports that an increase of that size might be allowed.

Explanations Of Atomic Bomb All Gobbledegook To Othman

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — Here is the place to find out about the atom bomb. What makes it go boom. And how to build a steam-heating plant; vest-pocket size.

Heads of government today are issuing statements about the cataclysmic discovery. Scientists are being interviewed. The experts are writing columns about heavy water, uranium and cosmic rays.

That's all to the good and President Truman's announcement undoubtedly is one of the most important in history. The trouble is that the explanations sound like gobbledegook to me.

On the theory that there may be a few people as ignorant as Othman, I called on my favorite professor. He had the dope, all right, but said if I embarrassed him in print, he'd split every atom in Othman. Enough of introduction: let us enter the realms of atomic science:

Two Kinds of Atoms

There are two kinds of atoms, complicated and simple. We'll skip the fancy atoms and consider, as did the scientists in the secret factory in Tennessee, the plain ones.

A simple atom is made of two pieces, glued together. Good glue, too. The two hunks of an atom are stuck so tightly that science spent 40 years vainly trying to chop 'em apart.

Only way to do the job was build a fire under 'em. A hot fire; hotter than the hinges of you-know-where; hotter than any fire ever kindled before.

The atom finally was split in

Slow Rains Soak Section's Crops

Slow, soaking rains, ranging from .25 of an inch to 1.41 inches at Lubbock, fell generally over the South Plains Tuesday morning.

County Agent Jason O. Gordon predicted the moisture would jerk young grain crops from a standstill and put them to growing. Crops, several weeks later than usual this year, must grow and mature at a rapid rate to beat the coming of frost.

The 1.41 reading was taken at the agricultural experiment station. Fire Chief W. E. Twitty said the gauge at central fire station showed 1.58.

Weather Is Cooler

The rain brought a sharp drop in temperatures, welcomed after days of readings in the high 90's. Yesterday's low was 64, the high 80.

Good rains were reported general in Floyd and surrounding counties. From .75 to three and a half inches fell in Floyd county. Abernathy got an inch and a half, Hale Center about .75, Plainview a shower and Slaton .25.

Average Is .50 Inch

The Santa Fe's railroad dispatcher at Slaton said an average of .50 came between Lubbock and Texico. Pretipitation in the Littlefield area was said heavier. In the Lariat area, northwest of Muleshoe, two inches fell. The Santa Fe tracks at one point in the vicinity were under water early yesterday morning. No rain was reported between Slaton and Sweetwater.

At Tahoka .46 was recorded and a lesser amount at O'Donnell. Farmers living east of Tahoka

ALAS, LASSIE

WE think the producers of that dog movie, "Son of Lassie," presumably screened for children, should be ashamed of themselves. Perhaps we are at fault and the movie was meant to be adult fare, but movies featuring dogs usually are interesting to children and that's why we went to see it last week end, taking along five-year-old nephew Michael.

The plot was built around murder mobs, flaming planes, snarling Nazi soldiers, midnight rendezvous between an English flier and a member of the Norwegian underground, killings, bombing and other intrigue hardly thought appropriate for a little boy.

We confess we found the film so entertaining we were lost to our surroundings (and that, my friends is concentration in these times when a movie house also serves as a nursery for unhappy babies) and were suddenly brought back to reality by shivering Michael, who with knees hugged to his chest and sitting as close as the chair arm would permit begged in an excited little voice, "Let's go home Aunt Margaret, I'm scared!"

Having read somewhere that movie plots have little effect on the child's growth, we took a few minutes out to explain that the show was not real at all, only make believe like "Dick Tracy."

"Which one do you mean?" demanded Michael, "the one on the radio or the one in the funny papers?"

Taking a long shot, we said, "The one in the funnies."

"Oh, said the little five-year-old, returning to the edge of the seat in order to see better, "then it's all right."

DEAR H. T.: The writer thinks you paid a lovely tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Finberg and there is little more to be added. What more worthwhile work is there than that done by people like the Finbergs who give of their time and money and never ask for credit? We, too, know of their work on the Girl Scout council, agree they will be missed and wish them well in their new home.

Texas Federation Votes For Preserving Records Of Valorous Texan Deeds In War

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—Records of the valorous deeds of Texans in World War II should be preserved officially by each county of the state, leaders of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs believe.

They voted yesterday to recommend to the 1,000 clubs in the Federation that they petition the various commissioner's courts over the state to include this military history along with discharge data, the recording of which is now provided by law.

Other Projects Approved

This was one of three work projects approved. The others will set up an architectural students contest to further plans for construction at the Federation clubhouse here of a memorial fountain honoring the late Mrs. Clara Driscoll of Corpus Christi, and will provide for aid in the construction of a 36th Division memorial at Temple.

Mrs. Florence Johnson Scott, state president, announced that the federation's 1945-47 board of directors will meet here Nov. 7-8.

Plan Already In Motion

Mrs. Scott said she had already set in motion the plan for preservation of military records in her home county.

"Suitable facilities should be provided for recording the military citations awarded to the hundreds of Texas service men whose valor has brought distinction to the nation, the state, and to the numerous local communities," she said. "It is important that these records be kept for posterity."

Original plans for the Driscoll fountain will be submitted to a committee, yet to be named, to encourage architectural students. A special fund was set up by the Federation several years ago for the building of the Driscoll memorial, but war restrictions have held up completion of the plans.

Projects To Be Statewide

Mrs. Scott, commenting on the executive committee action, said: "The Texas Federation of Women's clubs, in both immediate and postwar activities, will build its work projects first, in cooperation with other Texas agencies in the promotion of statewide projects; second, the completion of projects set up by former administrations of the federation; and third, the promotion of any new projects which will conform to the objectives of the organization and community needs of the day."

The Federation's executive committee includes: Mrs. Scott, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, Midland, and Mrs. M. Howard Gibson, Waxahachie, vice presidents; Mrs. W. Howard Bryant, Tyler, secretary; Mrs. John O. Douglas, Houston, treasurer; Mrs. Reuben Jackson, Dallas, and Miss Ethel Foster, Sterling City, appointive members.

Personals

Mrs. Chris P. Hodgson, who has been visiting Miss Lucille Gbssinett at 1902 Broadway, has gone to Oklahoma City to join her husband, Capt. Hodgson, who has recently completed Command and General Staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kas.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Holmes and son, Bennie, of Dallas are visiting Mr. Holmes' uncle, R. D. Holmes and family of 1902 Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Harvey have as their guest their son, Ensign Robert Harvey who is en route to the East Coast to report. The Harveys recently returned from Fort Worth where they were called by the illness of her father who is reported to be improving.

Pvt. R. Kendrick Green, who is stationed at Camp Hood, visited his wife and baby daughter here Sunday.

Movie Starlet Marries Lieutenant From Texas

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Movie Starlet Augusta Terry, chosen by the War department to portray WACS and Army nurses in official government training films, was honeymooning today with 1st Lt. Roy Hardy of Ft. Worth, Tex.

They were married yesterday at Wilshire Methodist church.

Hardy, recently returned from combat duty in Europe, is a veteran of seven major battles and wears the Purple Heart.

The couple will live in Hollywood.

Japs Can Be Beaten By Air Alone, Says Ace

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP)—Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker expressed the opinion today that Japan can be defeated by air power alone.

The World war I ace and Eastern Airlines president said in a statement:

"I believe that in a very short time the Japanese people and industry will be so demoralized and battered by the daily ration of atomic, demolition and incendiary bombs that they will cry quits."

Recent Wedding Is Announced Here

The marriage of Miss Gladys Fox of Atlantic City, N. J., and Lt. Hayden A. Gregory, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Gregory of 1918 Sixteenth, which took place Aug. 1 in Fort Worth, is being announced here.

The bride has been a guest in the home of Lt. Gregory's parents for the preceding week. She and her husband met when he was in training at Atlantic City. The couple has gone to Brunswick, Maine, where he is to be stationed.

Lt. Gregory has just completed a leave from the Pacific, where he piloted a carrier-based Navy Hellcat fighter plane on a total of 62 combat missions with Fighting Squadron 82.

Goering's Automobile Arrives As Souvenir

BOSTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.) — The automobile once owned by Hermann Goering arrived here today aboard the George Shiras, one of two transports bringing GI's hame from Europe.

The car, a Mercedes-Benz was consigned to the "commanding general of the 20th armored division" whom the Army here believed was Maj. Gen. Orlando Ward. He was said to be on the high seas now enroute home but was to dock at another unidentified port.

Officials said Goering's automobile would be uncrated tomorrow when the Shiras is moved from its present mooring at the Army base to nearby Castle island.

Also aboard the Shiras and the transport Alexander Graham Bell, which sailed from London and Liverpool respectively, were 1,144 veterans.

The vessels carried engineering, ordnance and truck companies, most of them attached to air force units.

LOCOMOTIVES ARRIVE

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—Two test model diesel-electric locomotives, part of a shipment of 20 from the Baldwin locomotive works, arrived here today, the Mexican National Railways announced. In addition to the 20 diesel-electrics, 32 steam locomotives have been ordered by National Railways from the United States.

AFL Warns Of Economic Disaster Unless Reconversion Is Speeded

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (U.P.) — The American Federation of Labor, warning that the nation faces economic disaster unless action is taken to speed reconversion, today set forth a six-point program "to win the peace."

A statement issued at the conclusion of the first day of a 10-day quarterly meeting of the union's executive council asserted that this country was "far less prepared for peace today than it was for war at Pearl Harbor."

Agrees With Committee

The 15-man council, representing 7,000,000 members, said it agreed with sentiments expressed by the U. S. Senate War Investigating committee which reported that "as conditions stand now, sudden victory over Japan will plunge millions of workers into unemployment and destroy any chance of rapid recovery."

The council suggested as the basis of its program that the government:

Should Scale War Effort

1. Scale down the war effort to a one-front basis in order to release surplus materials and manpower for an accelerated reconversion drive.

2. Initiate a new peace production program "on a scale large enough to meet the nation's needs but without interference to war production."

Should Relax Controls

3. Relax wartime controls over labor and industry with the substitution of voluntary methods.

4. Encourage private industry to expand its production in order to obtain full employment.

5. Approve President Truman's recommendations for supplementing inadequate state unemployment compensation, establishing higher minimum wage standards and expanding the national social security and housing programs.

6. Halt the "present alarming shrinkage of the worker's purchasing power by restoration of collective bargaining between labor and management."

The Chinese were the first to discover a practical method of paper making by the weaving of fibres.

Training For Pacific Starts At Bastrop

BASTROP, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Camp Swift settled down today to training men for the Pacific war with a vanguard of more than 35 units from European service assembled.

Largest unit is the 1469th engineer maintenance co., commanded by Capt. T. E. Voss of Bonham. Another of its officers it Lt. S. E. Cartwright, Dallas. Most of its members are from New York and Pennsylvania.

OFFICERS TO BE HONORED AT CAMP GRUBER, OKLA.

CAMP GRUBER, Okla., Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commanding general of the Fourth Army, and Maj. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the Eighth Service command, will join other War department dignitaries here Friday at formal inauguration of the redeployment training program.

The ceremonies will honor Undersecretary of War Robert P. Paterson and Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general of the Army ground forces.

War Contract Cutback Said Mounting Higher

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—War contract cutbacks, affecting 1945 and 1946 production schedules, totaled more than $15,000,000,000 up to July 28, the War production board reported today.

The WPB emphasized, however, that this figure was not adjusted to reflect new contracts that have been or will be let for war work or of any increases in production due to rescheduling.

The board said that its production readjustment committee had processed cutbacks totaling $8,509,000,000 in war contracts affecting 1945 schedules and a total of $6,725,000,000 affecting 1945 schedules.

About three-fourths of the 1945 cutbacks take effect in the last five months of the year, when they will average close to $1,300,000,000 a month.

Jap Colonel Is Taken Alive After Texan Orders His Capture

By JAMES HUTCHESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOROTAI ISLAND, Dutch East Indies, Aug. 7—A 93rd division patrol, operating on a "bring him back alive" basis, has returned from the Morotai bush with what is believed to be the highest ranking Japanese prisoner of the Southwest Pacific campaign.

Maj. Gen. Harry H. Johnson gave the patrol its live-prisoner order as it started into the jungle-covered hills to find Japanese Colonel Ouchi, commander of the remaining Japanese on Morotai. Five days later the weary Yanks were back at camp with the colonel.

Johnson, who was a Houston, Tex., and Laredo oil man before the war, said that after he was captured, Ouchi folded his arms and asked the Americans to shoot him.

Ambush Cleverly Set

The capture was made after an ambush was cleverly set around the command post the Japanese used in a valley 25 miles beyond the Allied perimeter. Lt. Col. Jack McKenzie led the patrol of four officers and five enlisted men, with Maj. P. O. Settle, Fort Worth, Tex., second in command.

Colonel Ouchi was taken when he ran from a shack when the shooting started. The Japanese adjutant was killed in front of the colonel and Ouchi fell over him and was captured as he lay unceremoniously with his face in the dirt.

Killed Nine Guards

The patrol killed nine of Ouchi's guards without losing a single man.

"Did you hear that Tokyo had been bombed?" the general asked Ouchi.

"Yes, but don't believe," the prisoner replied, "if Tokyo being bombed Japan would surrender."

"Why didn't you surrender?" was the next question.

"The emperor would not allow me to surrender," was the reply.

The 93rd division is composed of negro enlisted men and includes many negro officers.

Mahon Is Speaker At Lions Club Luncheon

Cong. George Mahon gave a quick resume of factors contributing to the discovery and refinement of the principle actuating the unparalleled destructiveness of America's new atomic bomb to Lions Club members at their weekly luncheon Tuesday in the Hilton hotel. The congressman, as a member of the House appropriations sub-committe, was one of the few who saw the process of making the weapon and one of a handful who even knew of the existence of a workable atomic formula.

Cong. Mahon feels the challenge of this nation's responsibility to determine that unscrupulous nations do not become acquainted with the formula, or accumulated sufficient quantities of uranium, which is necessary to the formula now employed.

Europeans Involved

He, however, knows that numerous European scientists—none of whom knows more than parts of the formula and manufacturing process—are not citizens of this country They fled here from Hitler's Europe. They may return after the world's jigsaw puzzle is fitted once more together. Perhaps they then would give or sell their knowledge. In that possibility, the congressman points out, lies danger ahead.

He is for international control of the principle, but cannot escape the ever present fear that if uranium will release the pent up energy of its atoms, perhaps other elements more plentiful likewise would.

So far, he points out, one item of expense alone costs $400,000,000 in preparing America's weapon

"Other nations attempting to produce our weapon, or one similar, would have to have vast financial resources," he said.

"And you don't make the bomb in a cellar."

Dr. J. William Davis was program chairman. Dunagan School of Music entertainers played musical numbers. President Bob Harvey presided.

German's Property In Santa Fe To Be Sold

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Real estate at 371-373 East Garcia street, Santa Fe, New Mexico, is being offered at public sale by alien Property Custodian James E. Markham, it was announced today.

The property to be sold consists of an irregularly-shaped lot about 89 by 110 feet, improved with a one-story house and garage, both in a state of disrepair.

Sealed public bids on the property will be received until 10 a.m. August 21, 1945, by the First National bank of Santa Fe, which is representing the custodian in this sale. Information and forms necessary for bidding may be obtained from J. H. Haley, office of alien property custodian, 120 Broadway, New York 5, New York or from the bank.

Under the terms of the trading with the enemy act, Mr. Markham explained, property owned by residents of enemy or enemy-occupied countries in the United States is subject to seizure by the federal government. The Garcia street property was formerly owned by the estate of Elise Hedwig Wienhold, a resident of Germany.

TEXAS WAS KILLED

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 7 (AP) — Tech Sgt. Glenn P. Hamilton, 24, of St. Paul, Minn., and WAC Pfc. Vivian L. Walsh, 25, of Olney, Tex., were killed and another soldier and WAC injured early today when the car in which they were riding plunged into the Yahara river near here. All were stationed at Truax field.

CURFEW IS LIFTED

NORMAN, Okla., Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Capt. A. H. Douglas, commanding officer of the Norman Naval Air technical training station, today announced lifting of the curfew on sailors in the Oklahoma City-Norman area. His announcement followed that from Eighth Service command headquarters in Dallas yesterday that the Army curfew had been abolished.

Landing Wheels of a Boeing B-29 Superfortress.

ROUGH ON RUBBER!

You're Looking At A "Run-Down Heel"!

Out where the palm trees wave and they carve the air strips out of coral, the ground crews were going nuts.

It was the tires on those rear landing-wheels! Like the heels on a well-walked pair of shoes, those big tires just seemed to get an awful lot of the gaff.

Result—at one time those big rubber doughnuts were being chewed up and torn to shreds in about fifteen landings!

Suppose you had to have new heels after wearing a pair of shoes only fifteen times! It would mean plenty of expense, trouble, and bother, wouldn't it? Well mister, just multiply that worn-out heel on the B-29 by all the jeeps and peeps and planes and you'll begin to get some idea of Uncle Sam's rubber troubles!

That's why it was so important that some way be found to keep America's mechanized might rolling on rubber—when practically all raw rubber stocks were in the hands of the Japs. America's Synthetic Rubber Program had to work out!

Well, it did work out. And one of the most important reasons why it did was the tremendous production of butadiene—essential ingredient of synthetic rubber—by oil companies such as Phillips!

Today, we know that when you see the Orange and Black 66 sign, you think of good motor oil and gasoline. In the future, when peace comes, we hope you'll remember Phillips as one of the greatest producers of wartime butadiene, and of the essential chemical ingredients for medicines, explosives, aviation fuel, and dozens of other things vital to the defeat of Germany and Japan.

Plan To Set Up An International Zone In U.S. Under Consideration

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.) — A plan to set up an international zone in this country, to serve as headquarters for the various United Nations organizations, is being studied by government officials, it was learned today.

The proposed zone, a sort of District of Columbia on a world scale, would be the center of the international monetary fund and bank, the peace and food organizations and any other bodies set up by the United Nations.

May Be Grouped Together

A treasury official revealed the idea in discussing a locale for the international monetary fund and bank. Inasmuch as it is pretty well agreed that the organizations will be established within the United States, he said, it is quite likely that they will be bunched together.

He said many countries have indicated approval of the San Francisco bay area and that the proposed "world capital," if agreed upon, might be located somewhere in that region.

The international zone probably would not be set up in any great city but would be established as a city itself, possibly 10 miles square. The represented countries would build the homes and officers of their staffs just as they now provide embassies and legations in Washington for their diplomats.

More Building In City Sought

Chamber of commerce board of directors have voted to seek the H-2 building program for the city and the allocation of sufficient houses to meet the city's needs in an act to solve Lubbock's housing shortage.

Officials of the chamber explained, following the meeting, that a survey would be conducted immediately to determine the amount of labor and materials available, as the number of buildings allocated here will be limited by those requirements. The number of residences sought will be based upon the outcome of this survey.

A change in local building conditions, it was explained, led the Chamber board to re-consider the housing problem. On July 6, the Chamber had voted not to seek the H-2 building program, then recommended by the F. H. A. At that time, C. of C. officials felt that an appeal for the H-2 program would result in a slow-up of buildings, which were being constructed here under the H-3 plan. Under H-3, persons subjected to "personal hardship" by not having a home of their own, were permitted to build.

Regulations Tightened

Tightening of regulations since has resulted in a decline in the number of permits issued under the H-3 plan, and as there has also been a temporary let down in building, the Chamber directors concluded that the H-2 program would not now offer the same competition to H-3 that it did a few weeks ago. The need for additional homes has also increased in the meantime.

Figures showing the failure to building to keep pace with the growth in population were submitted at the meeting. For the four years prior to and inclusive of 1941, a total of 2,764 homes were constructed in Lubbock, or 691 each year during the four years. For the three and one-half years — 1942 to and including 1945 up to the present time — only 632 residences were built, although the population of the city had grown over 12,000, possibly 15,000 since 1940.

Because of this growth, it was pointed out, many families are now living in rented rooms and under other undesirable conditions since houses are not available.

To Be Six-Room Homes

The houses, which are expected to be made available here by the H-2 program of the F. H. A., will be 6-room homes with a price ceiling of approximately $7,500. They will rent for $65 a month and will have three bedrooms.

When the H-2 program was considered here in July, approximately 100 houses were being constructed here under the H-3 plan, and since only so much labor and material was available in this area the Chamber hesitated to seek the H-2 program, a representative of the Chamber explained. The Chamber believed at that time that endorsement of the H-2 plan would draw workers away from homes urgently needed by those constructing under the "personal hardship" provision.

The proposed housing, Chamber officials said, would not solve the problem facing Texas Technological college, which is badly in need of apartments and houses for married war veterans who wish to enroll but are unable to find living accommodations.

Portable houses and a trailer camp city are being considered as possible solutions of the college's housing difficulty.

Research Bureau To Be Formed In Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Acting City Manager V. R. Smitham announced future formation of a new municipal research bureau to analyze municipal needs, make special studies and improve municipal efficiency.

The research bureau was to be established as soon as former Assistant City Manager Elgin Crull returns from the Army Air forces in Washington to head the bureau. Crull was a Dallas newspaperman before being named as assistant city manager.

U. S. Citizenry Apparently Cling To Tradition

Majority Opposed To Martin Suggestion Of Seating Ex-Presidents In Congress

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J. — Should Presidents of the United States automatically be given a seat in Congress after they leave office?

Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts recently made this proposal, believing that the country should continue to avail itself of the talents and experience of presidents after they leave the White House.

GALLUP

The proposal was put to a vote of the people in a cross-section survey by the Institute, as follows:

"It has been suggested that after a United States President has finished his term he automatically be given a seat and a vote in the United States Senate for as long as he wishes. Do you approve or disapprove of this?"

The vote:

Approve	34%
Disapprove	53
No Opinion	13

A similar question was asked about permitting past Presidents to hold a seat in the House of Representatives. The vote was 38 per cent in favor 48 per cent opposed, and 14 per cent undecided.

More opposition to the plan comes from Republicans than from Democrats questioned in the survey. This may be because the incumbent President is a Democrat. If the President were a Republican the party attitudes on the question might be somewhat different.

British System Noted

Under the British parliamentary system the Prime Minister is elected to a seat in the Parliament just as any other member of that body. As a result the country has the benefit of his presence in the legislative and policy forming functions of government after he has ceased to be Prime Minister. Mr. Churchill, for example, was re-elected to his seat in Parliament even though his government fell.

In the United States only twice has a President served in Congress after leaving the White House. John Quncy Adams was elected to the House of Representatives from Massachusetts after his term as President, and Tennessee sent ex-President Andrew Johnson to the United States Senate in 1875.

Another proposal made by Rep. Martin is that a $25,000 annual pension be given to American presidents after they leave office. This idea was also opposed by voters in an Institute survey reported last week.

Public opinion studies have found that, in general, the American people are slow to accept changes in political tradition.

Manchester Guardian Sums Up Situation

LONDON, Aug. 7. (U.P.) — The Manchester Guardian, one of the world's most erudite newspapers, summed up the atomic bomb in an editorial today in these words:

Young War Hero Gets Around To That Kiss

HOUSTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Gloria Neas, 15-year-old girl friend of Bob Kelso, 14, Houston's youngest war hero and wearer of the Purple Heart, said today that the long awaited homecoming kiss finally arrived.

Gloria said that it took Bob two days to muster the courage, but yesterday evening after a show, Bob kissed her goodnight.

Japanese Determination May Be Shaken By Use Of Atomic Bomb

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press War Analyst

The unloosening of the basic powers of the universe contained in the first atomic bomb may shake the alleged determination of the Japanese people to fight on rather than reject the Potsdam ultimatum.

Overnight the whole potency of war has been increased a thousand fold. Japan's vulnerability, an isolated island now completely blockaded by air and sea surface forces and by underwater mines, is such that continued resistance can bring irreparable devastation.

Military In Authority

No one knows that better, today, than Japan's industrialists and, perhaps, the imperial court. But war remains the prerogative of the Japanese military caste. There are no indications thus far that the military caste will surrender the authority and power they hold in the Japanese government.

Talk about the imminence of Japanese surrender will continue to be "loose talk" until the civil industrial and financial caste can dispossess the miltary caste of their power within the cabinet. The next cabinet shakeup will indicate clearly whether Japan wants peace.

Takes On New Significance

There may have been many in Japan who discounted as "Yankee bluff" our warning in the Potsdam communique that "utter destruction" would follow Japanese rejection of the peace program. When the catastrophic consequences of a single "atomic bomb" are known to the Japanese themselves, however, that vision of utter destruction takes on an entirely new significance.

At this crucial point in the war today, the Japanese home islands are, in the words of Admiral Nimitz and many officers of his staff, wide open for invasion. Yet the Japanese army is to all intents and purposes intact and undefeated.

Navy No Longer A Force

The Japanese navy has lost so many warships that it no longer can present a balance force. The enemy submarine fleet, however, is still a menace.

The Japanese air force is estimated at 750,000 men. Production which was 1,200 planes a month until early this year is undeniably smaller now.

Japan no longer is master of half her home waters and more than half her home skies.

But British sources estimated today that Japan has 4,000,000 men in its active ground forces, plus a Japanese home guard of unknown value but estimated at another 2,500,000 to 3,000,000.

Henry Hudson was looking for the Northwest Passage when he and his 14-year-old boy discovered Hudson Bay in 1609.

Club Boys To Visit At Air Fields Today

As a climax to a year's work in which time they raised enough food to feed one or more American soldiers more than 125 4-H club boys will tour Lubbock Army Air field and South Plains Army Air field today, W. B. Griffin, assistant county agent, has announced. The boys are from over the South Plains area.

The boys will visit LAAF during the morning and at 3:15 will be conducted on an automobile tour of the South Plains depot where "combat returnee" B-17 Flying Fortress bombers are stored.

After their journey past the rows of planes they will be shown several of the giant bombers that have been stripped down during the "pickling" process at the huge depot.

This visit will conclude the day's activities of the South Plains county "fighter feeders."

Coaching School Attendance Sets New Peak At Abilene

ABILENE, Aug. 7 (AP) — The world's largest coaching school outdid itself today. It showed 433 registrations, the largest in the history of this annual Texas clinic, and enough money in the bank to have paid for itself already.

The All-Star game, matching top school boy footballers of the last season, will be just so much velvet. This game, set for Eagle stadium, Friday night, is due to attract 6,000 fans.

In Second Day

The school is in its second day with previous records for enrollment and attendance already smashed and with prospects of a number of registrations still to come.

Tomorrow night the visiting mentors will go on the social side. They will be guests of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce in a barbecue at the American Legion hall with Cal Farley, originator of the Maverick club and Boys Ranch at Amarillo, as the principal speaker.

Jobs Outnumber Coaches

Jobs continue to outnumber the supply of coaches. The Texas High School Coaches association is operating a bureau here to bring together schools needing coaches and men who might take the positions. The jobs now open—and there are approximately 75—pay up to $4,000 a year.

Coaches jobs paying $3,000 to start are open at a dozen points in Texas, and not one of these is in a city. It is the smaller schools that are upping the ante, they being the ones where no coaches have been employed for the past year or two.

There are a number of $2400 jobs open over the state, some of them in the finest consolidated school plants in the country.

Top jobs on the list are director of physical education at Freeport and head coach at Sweetwater.

Entry List Grows For Softball Meet

With four Lubbock teams on the dotted line, and three out of town clubs giving assurance of entering, the Junior Chamber of Commerce's invitational softball tournament nears its full bracket, with Friday night the deadline of entries to get in.

The double elimination tournament will get underway Monday night at Hubbar Park, with Blue Bonnet laundry, the Jaycees, Edwards Grocery and Cummings Grocery already entered. Promises have been obtained from teams in Littlefield, O'Donnell and Post that these cities would have teams in the local tournament. Teams should contact Ralph Bumpass at Blue Bonnet Laundry regarding entries.

Ticket sales have already been launched by the Jaycees, with prices of $1.50 for season tickets prevailing.

The entry fee is $10, with top prizes of $50 for the winning team, $30 for the runnerup team, and $20 for the third place winner. There will also be a number of individual prizes.

Last Inning Homer Gives SPAAF Victory

South Plains Army Air field's softball ten handed Cumming's market a 3-2 defeat Tuesday afternoon as Hahn homered in the last of the seventh to win the exhibition game at SPAAF.

Oleksiak worked on the mound for the winners, Styp receiving. Payne pitched for Cummings with Sherrod behind the bat.

The line score:

CUMMINGS	100	100	0—2 5 0
SPAAF	110	000	1—3 5 3

BIG ENTRY EXPECTED

BILOXI, Miss., Aug. 7 (AP) — More than 100 contestants are expected to enter Keesler Field's Silver Gloves tournament between basic and school boxers scheduled for the AAF Training Command station's outdoor arena from August 16 to August 23.

The welter king, Pvt. Raymond Hicks of Denison, Texas was the initial entry for the school squadrons.

Oil Bowl Teams Ready For Tilt

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 7. (AP)—Texas and Oklahoma all-star high school squads shaped up today as sponsors listed acceptances of invitations to play in the Aug. 17 Maskat Temple Shriners' annual Oil Bowl benefit football game here.

Two power packed squads of 24 players each were selected for the clash. The Oklahoma crew will be coached by Snorter Luster, head coach for Oklahoma university and Billy Stamps, coach of Duncan, Okla., High. Rusty Russell, Southern Methodist university mentor, and Thurmon Jones, coach of Wichita Falls High, will direct the Texas team.

Acceptances from 19 Texas youths and 20 from Oklahoma had been received. As they now appear the Texas squad includes:

Merle McCracken, fullback, Pampa; Ernest Keily, tackle, El Paso; August Pelz, halfback, Wichita Falls; George McCorstin, halfback, Ballinger; Sammy Pierce, fullback, Vernon; Preston Smith, halfback, Bryan; George Graham, fullback, San Angelo; Bob Goode, halfback, Bastrop; Lillard Hart, end, Tyler; Harold Clark, end, Highland Park; Odie Gilliam, tackle, Hondo; Benton Ratcliff, tackle, Marshall; R. W. Moyers, tackle, Lubbock; Bobby Terry, guard, Cameron; Ted Leveridge, guard, Polytechnic, Fort Worth; Gene Reed, guard, Stephen F. Austin, Houston; Dick Harris, center, Wichita Falls; Hobert Red Simmons, center, Temple; Charles Shurleff, guard, Mount Vernon.

South Coach Pleased With Pair Of Backs

ABILENE, Aug. 7 (AP) — Skip Palrang of Boy's Town, Neb., coach of the South team in the annual feature all-star football game to be played Friday night as the closing feature of the annual Texas High School Coaching school, was particularly impressed with the work of Leon Joslin in the opening workout yesterday.

Joslin just filled the bill as the ball handler and passer under the T formation.

Skip didn't know that Joslin had been indirectly handed over to him by Dutch Meyer, coach of Texas Christian university who is tutoring the North All-Stars.

Pat Gerald of Vernon, selector of the North squad, asked Meyer for a recommendation. Meyer told him he had Joslin at TCU and said he could be used in the all-star squad. But Gerald found Joslin was from Waxahachie, which is in the South's territory, thus the TCU freshman went to Palrang's team.

Another boy who impressed Palrang was Byron Gillory, the Marshall speedster now at the University of Texas. "We are going to shake that boy loose," Palrang beamed, "Because he can really go."

Rickey Favors Texas League Resume Play

FORT WORTH, Aug. 7. (AP)—Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, said today "the sooner the Texas League gets started again, the sooner it will reach normal strength.

Brooklyn recently bought the Fort Worth club of the Texas League. Rickey was here on an inspection trip.

"Thinness of material will equalize itself among the leagues which operate," he predicted.

Rickey flew in today, and will leave as soon as he can get transportation back to New York.

OSBORNE WINS TITLE

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 7 (AP) Margaret Osborne of San Francisco won the Delaware Women's Tennis championship for the second straight year today by defeating National Champion Pauline Betz, of Los Angeles, in the tournament final here.

Teams Bolstered For Final Drive

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP)—It's opportunity day for such Johnny-come-latelys as rookies Art Rebel of the St. Louis Cardinals, Byron Laforest of the Boston Red Sox and Tommy Brown of Brooklyn as the majors stock up on new talent for the final third of the pennant drive.

With recruits moving up from the minors in wholesale lots, players like Hank Borowy and Lou Finney changing uniforms and service stars returning to the game, fans have to look twice to recognize their favorite clubs tomorrow when play is resumed after a two-day travel lull.

Rebel, a chubby lefthander from the Cardinal chain gang, jumped in the world champ's outfield to replace the injured Al Schoendienst and has clipped the apple at a .429 pace in eight games. If he can keep it up while the Red Birds tour the East for the last time, he will be an important factor in their bid to catch the Cubs. St Louis also brought up pitcher Bill Crouch and the veteran outfielder, Pep Young.

Brooklyn, still a factor, brought in Tom Brown from St. Paul along with pitcher Ralph Branca and catcher Fats Dantonio. Young Brown's erratic throwing arm forced the Dodgers to farm him out in the spring but scouts say the 17-year-old shortstop now is ready.

With the addition of Borowy, who won two straight since leaving the Yankees, the Cubs are standing pat with a first place club. The New York Giants are still looking for a first sacker to spell Phil Weintraub and now have recalled Mike Schemer from Jersey City for a trial.

Most American League changes have been due to the return of discharged servicemen like pitcher Red Ruffing and catcher Aaron Robinson of the Yanks, outfielder Buddy Lewis to Washington, catcher Gene Desautels to Cleveland and Hank Greenberg to Detroit.

Boston brought up Laforest from Louisville farm club to replace Jimmy Bucher at third base and sent Ben Steiner back to the Colonels for further seasoning. The Red Sox also lured Dolf Camilli from the Pacific Coast League and shunted Lou Finney by waivers to the St. Louis Browns where he has been playing regularly.

Outfielder Jake Powell shifted from Washington to the Phillies who also picked up catcher Stan Andrews from the Dodgers. Outfielder Morrie Aderholt was waived to the Braves by Brooklyn.

Golfers Starting To Come In For Tourney

The vanguard of the golfers moving into Lubbock for the annual Lubbock Country club invitation tournament, which starts Thursday, has started to pour into Lubbock, with the total entries expected to exceed the 200 mark.

There have been 150 entries turned in to date, with several men working on entries yet to report their work.

Of the golfers coming from out of town for the tournament, five of them reported in Tuesday, and will be waiting for start of play on Thursday when the John Kattmann Cup teams take the fairways.

Among those to report early were Bob Farmer, captain of the visiting cup team, Shorty Hornbuckle, Odessa Country club, and Walter Walsh, all three of Odessa. Bill Keith, Amarillo city champion, and J. R. Farmer, well known Big Spring linksman, are the others to come into Lubbock Tuesday.

George Aulbach, Amarillo Country club pro, and Jack Allen, club champion from the Amarillo club, are expected to arrive today. A. C. January of Dallas, and perhaps Bill Skeeters, are due in today from Dallas, with Warren Cantrell, Abilene Country club pro, also expected to arrive today.

Monday night's general rainfall has done wonders to put the Lubbock Country club course into top shape for the tournament, but perhaps a little tougher. Following the rain, Herb Schroeder, club pro, said the course would be in the best shape of the year for the big tournament.

Horse Ties In Third Place, But Is Victor

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 7 (AP) — A turf rarity happened in the first race at Garden State park today when a horse which finished in a dead heat for third was moved up to be the winner and the other mount figuring in the deadlock was officially placed fourth.

Linson, ridden by A. Daniels, came in first by a head over Worries. Coming to the finish, Worries, on the inside, ran wide and Lilson, on the outside, lunged in with Attune sandwiched between.

Jockey Nick Wall up on Attune lodged a claim of foul against both Lilson and Worries and the stewards allowed both claims.

ELECTORS TO MEET

Changes Named In Hunting Law

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—Changes in the 1945 hunting regulations for migratory game birds were analyzed today by the Texas Game, Fish & Oyster commission.

Major alterations as ordered by federal rules include: changes in the North and South zone boundaries and five extra days to shoot mourning doves, addition of a tier of West Texas counties in the white-wing dove zone, and elimination of the additional daily bag of five mallards, pintails or widgeons.

Twelve counties which were in the mourning dove South zone last year have been placed in this year's North zone. They are Milam, Robertson, Limestone, Leon, Freestone, Houston, Anderson, Cherokee, Nacogdoches, Rusk, Shelby and Panola counties.

Seven counties which were in the North zone last year but which are in the South zone this year are Kenney, Uvalde, Medina, Bexar, Comal, Hays and Travis.

The season on mourning doves in the North zone opens Sept. 1 and ends Oct. 30. The season in the North zone ended on Oct. 25 last year.

Oct. 20 is the opening date of the mourning dove season in the South zone and ends on Dec. 18. The season ended on Dec. 9 last year.

Residents of Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr, Zapata, Webb, Maverick, Kinney, Dimmit, LaSalle, Jim Hogg, Brooks, Kenedy and Willacy counties, all located in the South zone, get a break with some early and additional shooting. Mourning doves may be hunted in those counties on Sept. 13, 16, 18, 20, and 23, from 12 o'clock noon until sunset, and thereafter from Oct. 20 to Dec. 13 from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Eight counties in West Texas have been added to the whitewing area. They are Val Verde, Terrell, Brewster, Presidio, Jeff Davis, Culberson, Hudspeth and El Paso. The whitewing season in those counties and in the counties of Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr, Zapata, Webb, Maverick, Kinney, Dimmitt, LaSalle, Jim Hogg, Brooks, Kenedy and Willacy is on Sept. 13, 16, 18, 20 and 23 from 12 o'clock noon until sunset.

Bag and possession limits on mourning and whitewinged doves—10 in the aggregate of both kinds. No person may have in his possession more than 10 mourning doves or more than 10 whitewinged doves.

The duck and goose season opens in Texas on Nov. 2 and ends on Jan. 20.

On those portions of Lake Texoma in Cooke and Grayson counties, the season opens on Oct. 13.

The post-season period for possession of migratory game birds has been extended from 45 to 90 days.

No change was made in the regulation that forbids taking of waterfowl by means of bait or live duck or goose decoys.

UMPIRES ARE PICKED

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 7 (AP) — The umpiring staff for the National Baseball Congress' championship tournament beginning here the night of August 10 was announced today by President Ray Dumont.

The officials include Neeley Vaught, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Durango, Colo. Paper Purchased By Texans

DURANGO, Colo., Aug. 7 (AP)—Sale of the Durango (Colo.) Herald-Democrat, a daily newspaper, to Alton C. Dorsett of Abilene, Tex., and Harold L. (Prexy) Anderson, Minneapolis, Minn., was announced today by Mrs. Doris M. Wilson, outgoing owner, president of the Herald Publishing company. The new owners take charge immediately.

Both Dorsett and Anderson are Texas born and reared. Dorsett has been advertising manager of the Abilene, Tex., Reporter-News. Anderson has been a member of the United Press staff in St. Paul and Minneapolis for the past two years. Previously he was a member of the editorial staff of the Reporter-News in Abilene.

Japanese City Is Believed Extinct

from the ground there was swirling, boiling dust. Soon afterward small fires sprang up on the edge of town but the town was entirely obscured. We stayed around two or three minutes and by that time the smoke had risen to 40,000 feet. "As we watched the top of the white cloud broke off and another soon formed."

Spaatz Highly Elated

Details of the bombing were disclosed at a press conference attended by Gen. Carl Spaatz who termed the new bomb the "most revolutionary development in the history of the world."

"Spaatz was obviously highly elated at the new bombing weapon. He said if he had had it in Europe "it would have shortened the war six to eight months." Maj. Gen. Curtis LeMay said that if this bomb had been available there would have been "no need to have had D-day in Europe."

General Spaatz is commander of strategic air forces in the Pacific and LeMay, former commanding general of the 20th Air force, is chief of staff under Spaatz.

Smoke In Photographs

Just what damage was done to Hiroshima was not known. Photographs taken at the time of bombing showed only smoke. Photographs taken four hours later showed smoke still obscuring the city and rising to 40,000 feet.

The Superfortress which carried the bomb took off from a Marianas base and only three men knew what they carried—Col. Tibbets, Capt. Parsons and the bombardier, Maj. Thomas W. Derebee, Mocksville, N. C., another crewmen knew only that it was a highly secret, important mission.

Awarded DSC

Tibbets had been trained specially for this mission, which Gen. Spaatz considered so vital he awarded Tibbets the Distinguished Service Cross as he stepped from his plane after the flight. The plane was named "Enola Gay" after Tibbets' mother in Miami.

There were many secrets about the flight and the bombing which followed. One secret was the selection of Hiroshima as the target. It was believed probable, however, that it was selected not because of its great importance but partly because the weather was clear there and visibility was such as to permit a close watch of the bomb explosion.

Organized Months Ago

No difficulty was encountered in reaching the target.

Many months ago, a special unit was organized to do this special work.

"When we went out we had the best of facilities made available to us," Tibbets said.

Speaking matter-of-factly, he said, "the bomb run up to the target was uneventful and there were no disturbing elements in the bomb run when the release was made.

"We saw a flash, felt the concussions and it reminded me of a close burst of flak. We stayed in the target area looking at the scene below and the towering column of smoke. I have never seen anything like it."

Capt. Parsons said he had been assigned by the Navy to work on this weapon with the view to making it safe to handle. When one of the correspondents asked "if there was danger in handling this thing," General Spaatz interrupted him with, "what do you think?"

Carried By Single B-29

Discussion of the size or other features of the atomic bomb wasn't permitted, but it is carried by a single Superfortress.

Spaatz, LeMay and other general officers disclosed guardedly the possible effectiveness of the new bomb which was described as giving off intense heat for some distance around it. In experiments in New Mexico, the heat was said to have been felt 20 miles away.

One officer described it as essentially an air weapon when asked if it would be possible to be used by the fleet. Parsons was asked whether a bomb was capable of starting tidal waves. He said if it were dropped in the sea, there would be a lot of waves and high geysers but expressed doubt that "its effect probably would be disappointly slight on shipping."

Spaatz only smiled when he was asked if the bomb would be dropped again in the near future. He wouldn't comment on what would happen if 600 Superforts—a normal size raid—all carried the new atomic bomb against Japan.

Webb Trial Moves Into Second Day; State Rests Tuesday

Trial of Weldon Webb, 21, for burglary April 12 of Lubbock Metal and Roofing company this morning will move into its second day.

The state rested Tuesday afternoon after presenting testimony of nine witnesses.

The defense introduced six witnesses, including Mrs. Alma Webb, mother of the defendant. Defense counsel indicated it might offer "two or three witnesses" this morning, then rest. One of them was likely to be C. W. Webb of 2007 Tenth, father of the accused.

State witnesses were J. B. Vickery, manager of the place burglarized; Eleene Mayfield, 16, of Hereford; Frank Trimm, Lubbock taxicab driver; Rita Foraker of Hale Center; O. J. "Bo" Sexton, manager of Western Union; Mrs. Zena Mayfield, mother of Eleene, also of Hereford; C. C. Taylor, cemetery employe; Jenkins Ater, employe of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Bill Mabray, assistant chief of Lubbock police.

The defense called L. E. Smith, a painting and brick worker; H. H. Guin; Sunset Boone, a dealer in wholesale drug sundries; Bob Searcy, 15, employe of a food store chain; L. D. Rankin, operator of a wholesale house and former Lubbock postmaster, and Mrs. Webb.

Webb known as "Curly," was well bolstered by attorneys when the tall slender youth went to his counsel table. G. H. Nelson and Franklin Brown were there, in addition to Roy Carpenter, whom court officials had expected.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks represents the state.

The defense filed application for a suspended sentence, in case of conviction, reciting that Webb had never been convicted of any felony.

The jury: Roy Forkner, H. V. Fields, H. F. Holland, Gradie W. Bownds, D. C. Zeh, C. M. Adams, L. R. Johnson, L. V. Preston, A. A. Foster, A. H. Glasco, W. W. Snodgrass and T. V. McLean.

Peace's "Big Stick"

bomb, declared "the Allies new atomic bomb is certain to end the war quickly."

Control Question Important

The new explosive "is probably one of the most powerful weapons for peace the world has ever devised," Wallace continued.

The concensus among authorities was that the question of control of the manufacture of the atomic bombs was much more important than strategic frontiers. There were predictions that as soon as experts of the Big Three have had an opportunity to study all the strategic implications, new consultations will begin to consider methods of agreed control over the manufacture and use of the weapon.

The reverberations of the first bomb dropped on Japan were felt on the London stock market, where prospects of a shorter war against the Pacific foe brought a general show of strength in stocks.

The Soviet radio fully reported the development of the atomic bomb in broadcasts going to the whole nation. Tass carried President Truman's announcement.

Norwegian newspapers gave the story unprecedented headlines.

In Chungking, Chinese officials said they expected the new bomb to hasten the war's end.

munique, first to acknowledge a new weapon had been unleashed, said "considerable damage" was reported in Hiroshima.

"As a result of this wanton attack," added Domei, "a considerable number of houses in the city were demolished, while fires were caused to start at several points."

Domei declared the people must be prepared for new attacks by "this new bomb—nowhere did the Japanese speak of atomic bombs—and that until authorities found means to combat it the only remedy was "to strengthen the present air defense structure."

It was possible the extent of the damage still was unkown in Tokyo for a number of broadcasts reported that investigations of the havoc still were under way 36 hours after the attack.

It foretold a hook movement by a German force moving up from Abbeville and striking in the rear of the Dunkirk area.

Gambling everything on bold strategy, the British commander concentrated every man he had at the point of attack.

The Germans attacked on schedule but their initial thrust was stopped cold and the British covering force held for three days while the frantic skippers of the wierdest assortment of junks, garbage scows, barges, yachts and other small craft ever assembled, emptied the beaches of 330,000 British and French troops.

energy if its powers can be harnessed for commercial use." Industrial studies, scientists have told him, indicate it may be "the greatest discovery of any age for the benefit of the people."

Mr. Truman, looking physically fit and smiling, came down the gang plank immediately behind George Dresher, head of the secret service detail. New Ultimatum For Japs Seen anese fighting strength—and perhaps even their will to fight—will rapidly weaken. They must now take their choice; mass suicide or surrender."

48-Hour Deadline Seen

The London press spoke of an ultimatum — one newspaper said it would carry a 48-hour deadline for acceptance.

Yet there was a possibility that for the moment the Allies of the Pacific war would be content to capitalize on the tremendous propaganda value of the first atomic bomb strike Sunday on the army city of Hiroshima, and on the threat of repeat performances.

That would give Japan a chance to change its mind about accepting the "surrender now" decree already issued by Britain, China and the United States at the Potsdam conference.

Can't Avoid Surrender

In the immediate picture, there was widespread agreement that the atomic bomb will hasten Japan's doom.

One highly placed army spokesman said:

"I don't see how the enemy can avoid surrender any longer."

By speeding the collapse of the Nipponese, he said, both American and Japanese lives would be saved.

Another military expert declared that if Japan doesn't yield within some such period as six weeks it will signify that the enemy has "elected to follow a suicide course. That would mean fighting on for perhaps months and resisting invasion forces from caves and dugouts of a ravaged homeland.

This authority said it might take the Japanese six weeks to reach a decision because assessment of the damage inflicted at Hiroshima may be difficult, partly because of the ripping up of communications.

News Briefs

A law violator came to Sgt. A. L. Stroud of the highway patrol. About 10 miles west of Lubbock Tuesday afternoon Stroud's automobile was almost forced off the highway by a wild driving motorist. He arrested the man, a 33-year-old Baileyboro resident, and lodged him in the county jail to await a formal charge of drunk driving.

Inability to resist temptation put two juvenile youths, 14 and 16, in the juvenile ward of the county jail Tuesday night. They were accused of taking a lady's purse containing $45 from a bowling alley yesterday afternoon, where they were employed as pinboys. They admitted to Bill Mabray, chief of detectives, and Policemen R. L. Adkinson and Harvey Nix that they took the purse and went on a buying spree. They bought a watch, drank pop and consumed several kinds of goodies and fed nickels by the dozens into juke boxes. When found they had spent all but $11 of the money. The purse and other contents, including a fountain pen and a cigaret case, were recovered. They belonged to the wife of a soldier.

Two automobiles that were reported stolen here Monday were announced recovered Tuesday night. B. E. Lester of 607 Ave. C recovered his own car, a 1936 Chevrolet coach. Another 1936 Chevrolet also was found.

Two reports of a fake radio repairman were received by police Tuesday. The man, about 28, called at the homes of Mrs. L. M Harrison, of 2425 Twenty-third, and Mrs. Fred Hodges, of 1709 Seventh, and took a radio from each place. He said he had a repair shop on College Ave. The women later became suspicious and checked the address to find that there was no radio shop located there.

Velma Pierce, 37, of Amarillo, whose purse contained $1,622.64 in money and several government allotment checks when she was arrested, Tuesday was fined $200 and costs in county court on a liquor law violation charge and $50 in corporation court for drunkeness. Capt. Bill Bell of night police received a call just after midnight Tuesday to go to his own home, an apartment house at 908 Ave. K.

Police Have To Guard Cpl. Newman's Grave From Souvenir Hunters

FORT WORTH, Aug. 7. (AP)—Police today guarded the final resting place of Cpl. Jim Newman to keep souvenir hunters from the flower-banked grave of the hero who lost his fight for life but won the hearts of a nation.

Newman, 26-year-old victim of three years' imprisonment by the Japanese, was given a full military funeral yesterday.

His body lay in state for three hours at the First Baptist church auditorium while friends and relatives—and many strangers who had prayed for his recovery—paid their last respects.

Two ministers from the Church of Christ said the last rites.

An Army guard of honor fired three volleys over the Garden of Memory cemetery as the casket was lowered into the grave. Tears streamed down the faces of many of the 2,500 to 3,000 spectators.

As the final strains of "taps" sounded, hundreds of onlookers rushed to the graveside, seeking flowers or other souvenirs of the gallant veteran of the March of Bataan!

Cpl. Newman, ill of malnutrition, tuberculosis and beri-beri, was brought home July 2 when Army physicians said he had only 48 hours to live.

He lingered for more than a month after medical experts said he should be dead. But last Friday he suffered a fatal asthmatic attack.

Portland cement, made by an English stone mason, Joseph Aspdin, first appeared in 1924.

Maj. Robert Young Is Named Attorney

FORT WORTH, Aug. 7. (AP)—Maj. Robert B. Young, jr., former Fort Worth assistant city attorney for 12 years prior to entering the AAF in 1942, today was appointed by Federal Judge James C. Wilson to serve as interim U. S. district attorney for the northern district of Texas.

Judge Wilson said that, with other judges of the district, he was naming a man who has had no previous connection with the office. This action, Wilson said, was taken at the request of U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark, who notified Judge Wilson that he wants a special grand jury called to investigate the U. S. district attorney's office here.

The office has been under investigation by the Department of Justice since February, and the former attorney, Clyde Eastus, was suspended several months ago. He returned to the office July 6, however, and announced that he would not seek reappointment.

Young, who received his discharge from the Army Monday, was sworn in Tuesday. Attorney General Clark also requested that there be no change in other office personnel.

All Gobbledegook

two with such a bang that it smashed the atom next door, which split in two and smashed and so on, until what happened to Hiroshima shouldn't happen to any one but a Jap. Or, as President Truman said, if the Japanese had brains they'd have surrendered before the atomic bomb hit 'em. What happens next to them is anybody's guess.

The war won't last forever and that's where the vest-pocket furnace comes in, plus other things straight out of Jules Verne. When you've got a row of atoms lined up, going boom to order, you've got a source of inexhaustible power. The whole universe, including the dime in your pocket, is made of atoms.

Trick Is Right Fire

The trick is to build the right kind of fire under the right kind of atom so it'll explode inside of a steam engine, instead of in your face. The boys'll work on that next; all they've got so far is a package of very costly atoms that explode all over the place. This is okay for blasting Japan, but not so good for warming your water, running your automobile, or lighting your lamps.

My professor said it probably would be years before the scientists learn how to explode cheap atoms (they're the complicated ones, drat it) and to keep 'em under control like steam in a locomotive. Some day, he said, they'll turn the trick.

And So On

When they do, a furnace not much bigger than a cigaret case should heat your house; you'll feed the fire box with a teaspoon instead of a coal scoop. Atoms will run your automobile and you won't ever have to fill the tank; the manufacturer will put in enough fuel to last the life of the car.

And so on. Anything that moves except your own feet, will be propelled by atomic power. The human race could kill itself off with atomic bombs, but everybody knows it, and that fact, itself, may prevent future wars.

It's going to be a wonderful world and if you think my professor and I are nuts, get out your dictionary and read in the other columns of this paper what the scientists say: the same thing, but with bgiger words. Leaves you speechless.

Homer Daniel, Smyer, Dies Early Tuesday

Homer Daniel, 50, of Smyer, Hockley county, died at his home early Tuesday morning after an illness of only several hours. He moved to Hockley county from Hobart, Okla., 10 years ago.

Funeral services will be in the Church of Christ at Smyer at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Survivors are his wife; one daughter, Christine Rose Daniel of Smyer; three brothers, Dennis of Clarita, Okla., Bruce, who is in service stationed in California, Clarence, who is overseas; five sisters, Irene Daniel of Shallowater, Mrs. Nora Wall of Anadarko, Okla., Mrs. Jewell Freeman of Oil Center, N. Capt. L. G. Compton Killed While Flying Home Over Leyte

Capt. L. G. Compton, jr., 23, brother of Mrs. Marshall Harvey of 2311 Thirty-first and a former student of Texas Tech, met ironic death March 15, Mrs. Harvey and the late officer's mother, of Corsicana, have been informed by the War department.

Capt. Compton, detached, was en route to the States from Luzon, after fighting in most of the major Pacific invasions with a field artillery unit. His transport, flying over Leyte, was shot down.

COMPTON

There were no further details.

Known as "Weinie" when here, Compton was a second lieutenant in the Texas State guard's 131st field artillery, later known as the Lost Battalion. He transferred to New Orleans and became a first lieutenant in the Louisiana guard. Overseas, he won quick promotion to captain.

He was married and the father of a daughter, 3½ years old. The widow and daughter live at Atlanta, Ga.

He lived with Dr. and Mrs. Harvey approximately six years here, and was a bellhop at Hilton hotel. He lacked one year of study for his degree.

Four LAAF Officers Receive Promotions

Four Lubbock Army Air Field officers have been promoted from the rank of second lieutenant to that of first lieutenant, it was announced at the field Tuesday afternoon.

All four of the officers who received the boosts have been on the field for more than a year.

The four officers promoted from the rank of second lieutenant to that of first lieutenant included 1st Lt. Albert J. Griffin of Miami, Fla., ground safety officer who has been stationed at LAAF since June 1944; 1st. Lt. Clark Jesse Shreck of Prescott, Iowa, purchasing and contracting officer who has been on the post since December, 1943; 1st. Lt. William R. Dubs of York, Penn., flight test maintenance officer who has been on the field since December, 1943; and 1st. Lt. John Satrazens of Duluth, Minn., engineering officer who has been at LAAF since December, 1943.

FIRST BALE ARRIVES

HOMER, La., Aug. 7 (AP)—Claiborne parish's first cotton bale of the 1945 crop was delivered here Monday.

The cotton was grown by Elson Tims, tenant on a farm some six miles from town, who had also brought to Homer the first cotton bloom this spring.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson of 1310 E. Alabama, Houston, on birth of a son weighing 6 pounds 7 ounces at 6:06 o'clock Tuesday night in West Texas hospital.

Cattle, Sheep And Goat Men Ask For Proteins

FORT WORTH, Aug. 7 (AP) — Viewing the prospective shortage of cottonseed cake and meal as alarming, a joint committee representing cattle, sheep and goat raisers met here today and wired Secretary of Agriculture Anderson the result of their survey of the protein and feed situation.

The telegram to Anderson, urging that a sufficient supply of soybeans to produce 300,000 tons of cake be made available for shipment to Texas oil mills as soon as possible, was signed by Vestal Askew of San Angelo, chairman of the protein feed committee of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association, and by John C. Burns of Fort Worth, chairman of the protein feed committee of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association.

NAVY STUDENT DIES

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—William Arthur Alexander Hamilton, Navy V-12 student at the University of Texas from Oklahoma City, died today at the Navy hospital in Corpus Christi of infantile paralysis.

Mrs. J. C. Gardner, PBX operator of 1111 Sixteenth: "The bomb is so powerful that it almost frightens me. I shudder to think that sometime in the future an enemy nation might use it against us. It looks almost inhumane but the Japs asked for it and they should get it."

Jason O. Gordon, Lubbock county farm agent of 2417 Thirtieth: "It's a whizzer—almost unbelieveable. I'm worried a little about its control, however."

James Gammill, policeman: "It's a son-of-a-gun!"

MORE MILES-OF-SAFETY ON RIVERSIDES!

EVERY RIVERSIDE PLY IS 12% STRONGER!

Yes, Riversides are actually stronger than our pre-war tires! Stronger, because Riverside cords are stronger to start with; then chemically-strengthened . . . to make your tire last longer, and lessen the possibility of a blow-out. (More Miles-of-Safety on Riversides!)

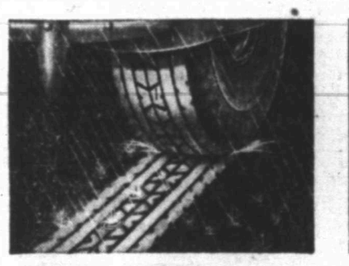

PROOF THAT RIVERSIDE TIRES CAN "TAKE IT"!

Tests like this one prove that Riversides' 12% stronger plies give greater protection against blow-outs! This big steel spike is "shot" into the spinning tire like a projectile! It actually buries itself in the tire. Yet . . . no damage, no rupture, NO BLOW-OUT!

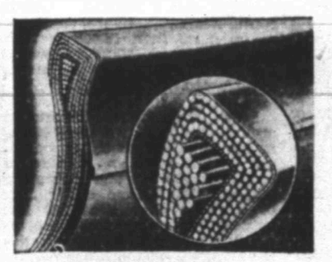

89% OF RACE WINNERS CHOSE RIVERSIDE TIRES!

Auto-Race Drivers, to whom tires meant life or death, bought Riversides. They bought regular "stock" Riversides, in Wards stores. Why? For the same reason that makes thousands of car-owners choose Riversides today:—MORE MILES-OF-SAFETY.

6-ROW TREAD STOPS FAST WITHOUT SKIDS!

It's the WET of the pavement that causes skids. Eliminate the water—and your car stops. The Riverside 6-row tread does just that; it squeezes the water out from under . . . FORCING IT INTO THE GROOVES for a quicker, safer stop!

280,000-LB. STEEL STRENGTH IN BEAD!

It's this steel bead (or wire) that keeps your tire where it belongs . . . on the rim. Riverside's extra-strong bead is extra-firmly anchored. It's thoroughly insulated to minimize friction. (You'll find that in Riverside tires, not a single safety-detail has been overlooked.)

25% OF THE "BIGGEST" BOUGHT RIVERSIDES!

When peace-time plenty permitted them to choose ANY brand of tires, one of every three of America's biggest truck-operators (who keep a miles-per-dollar record of every tire) bought Riversides. And more Riversides! They got more miles . . . more miles-of-safety.

"RIVERSIDES DIDN'T COME ON MY CAR; I CHOSE THEM!"

Your neighbor's Riversides didn't come on his car; he chose them himself . . . to replace the tires he found on his car as "original equipment." He chose Riversides deliberately, in preference to all the other well-known makes of tires. (Ever ask him why?)

38,621,055 RIVERSIDE TIRES SOLD TO DATE!

Yes, a grand total of more than 38 million Riverside Tires have been sold. And every last one of them was a deliberate "replacement" sale, the careful choice of a person like yourself. (It couldn't have happened . . . without some pretty good reasons!)

NO FINER TIRE MADE REGARDLESS OF PRICE!

Now (with a ration certificate) you can get the extra-wear and extra-safety of Riverside Tires, at prices lower than other makes. For More Miles-of-Safety, change to Riversides—warranted to give satisfactory service . . . without limit of time or miles.

Will Japs Quit Soon?

Atomic Bomb May Be The Answer

WHAT will the Japs do now? Will the use of the devastating atomic bombs — the most destructive force ever unleashed by man—cause them to abandon their struggle as hopeless? Or will it so completely crush their island empire that an invasion will be unnecessary?

We should know soon. If one of these bombs is more powerful than 20,000 tons of TNT, or has 2,000 times the blast power of the 11-ton British "Grand Slam," as reported, it will not take many to level the remaining Japanese cities.

It is the kind of a weapon that the creators of "Superman" and "Flash Gordon" comics have dreamed about—possibly the greatest single development in warfare since the Sultan of Morocco, Abou-Yousouf, used gunpowder to fire cannon in 1273, while besieging the town Sidjilmesse.

By using stratosphere robot-planes, directed by remote radio control, it may be possible to bomb an unsuspecting nation out of existence as completely as if it had been obliterated by a meteor. Thus the discovery of the atomic bomb has added a new and awful terror to future warfare.

There can be no question but what its use will aid in bringing the Japanese war to a speedy termination. It may save thousands of American lives.

The danger is that the Nipponese may at some future time use a super atomic bomb in a sneak attack on us. It was Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry's action in opening up Japan to world trade that first taught them their respect for modern armaments. Now we have shown them a new trick.

We must make doubly sure that they are never able to turn this trick on us. The secret of the atomic bomb is one of the most deadly known to science. This secret and the world's supply of uranium cannot be too closely guarded.

The Writing On The Wall

THAT "moving finger," which "having writ moves on" has written on the wall for Generalissimo Francisco Franco those same words—"Mene, mene, tekel, upharsin," which struck terror to the heart of the ancient Nebuchadnezzar.

Still quaking from the doom, he read in the Potsdam "blackball' declaration which hit Spain like a diplomatic buzzbomb, the Spanish dictator must have been worried anew by the United States State department blast, voiced by Assistant Secretary of State Archibald MacLeish.

These two events, coming so close together, must have been to the trembling generalissimo the "handwriting on the wall." They must mean that the Falange and the bloody regime of the iron-fisted Franco are numbered.

For while Franco had sought to stave off his day of doom by going through the motions of restoring monarchy to Spain, all of his moves have been "too little and too late" to alter the growing opposition in the Democracies. And all along Stalin has been calling for his blood.

MacLeish in his broadcast, which indicates an about-face in American foreign policy toward Spain, said it was not "realized until recently how strongly American opinion is and was opposed to Franco and the role played in Spain by Hitler and Mussolini."

Speaking with MacLeish on the same program, Assistant Secretary of State Dean Acheson pointed to the rise of the Franco regime as an important link in the chain of events leading to World War II.

The two State department leaders also pointed to the 1936 neutrality act as an aid to Franco and his Axis partners in throttling the Spanish Republic. This act prevented the United States from aiding the Democratic government of Spain from defending itself against the dictators. MacLeish asserted that the act was never popular in America and that it "is now almost universally condemned."

In criticising the Neutrality act, which once was so ardently defended in this country, MacLeish gave warning that the State department's attitude toward Franco has changed.

Yet there is no indication that any of the "Big Three" powers intend to take any active part in booting Franco from his dictatorial throne. They will wait for the people of Spain to do that. But the words—"Mene, mene, tekel, upharsin" are on the wall.

Texan Ingenuity Blooms

THE good news on the soap front is that shipment of copra is en route to the United States from the Philippines. It is the first shipment since the Japs took over three and a half years ago.

Copra is dried coconut meat, from which coconut oil—one of the ingredients of soap—is obtained.

But many Texans faced with the problem of the soap shortage have not waited for shipments of copra to start.

They have been making their own soap in the old-fashioned way practiced by the pioneers in the days of the War between the States. First they put clean wood ashes in the big hoppers and poured in water. Out came lye. Into this lye, they dropped pieces of fat—waste pieces of meat. In time they had home-made soap.

This is a true story of the men who fly the "hump" — carrying passengers and cargo over the high Himalayas between India and China. Pilots call it the toughest airline route in the world.

* * *

"SOME GUYS WANT TO WIN MEDALS—"

XV

When we had returned to Dinjan after that first—but not last—safari in Tongsawa, Al and I had met an old friend. We hadn't known he was coming, that he had signed on with the C. N. A. C. But there he was when we stepped into the lounge of the pilots' quarters that evening.

"Petach!" Al and I cried at the same time.

For a good five minutes the three of us clapped each other on the back and cursed and swore and laughed and talked all together and, in general, acted like a bunch of nitwits. But then it's a long way from India to England, and that was the last place we had seen Short Stride Petach.

Petach checked out in short order as a full-fledged C. N. A. C. flight captain, and it was on March 11 that he and Fox and I took off in a three-plane formation from Kunming carrying a load of tin back to Dinjan. We had overloaded our planes with tin on that trip—that is, loaded them beyond usual capacity—because there had recently been little Jap activity in the south and the weather was good on that route. We could figure on flying at no more than 13,000 feet all the way across. Thus we would use less gas—and less gas meant more cargo.

From Kupming to the region around Yungping we encountered nothing but smooth flying weather. We held to an altitude of around 10,000 feet and rode along without threat from either Japs or storms with a good 200 feet between our planes and the blanket of white clouds below. It was not until we hit the lower reaches of the Santsungshan range, about midway between Assam and Kunming, that we encountered the last obstacle. As we approached the 11,400-foot peaks near Tating and went into a slow climb to give those snow-capped hazards plenty of room, I began to feel the pressure of turbulent winds. With my controls set to climb I would feel the C-53 move slowly upward for a moment, then veer off to the right or left and drop quite suddenly, throwing the altimeter back anywhere from 100 to 1000 feet.

I was in the lead of the three-plane wedge formation and, looking back, I could see Petach and Fox having the same trouble.

To turn back or to seriously alter our course at that point was out of the question; we hadn't met obstacles serious enough to send us back to Kunming, and our gasoline supply wasn't sufficient to permit much searching around for an easier route. We stayed on the course, straining to gain altitude and bucking the winds. I picked up 11,000 feet at one point and though I was in the clear; then a downdraft drove me down almost to 10,000 in spite of the fact that I held the ship at a 45-degree angle to take advantage of the updrafts rising against the sides of the hill. I had the controls practically in my lap and the air speed was down to only 90 miles per hour.

The highest peak on the route we had mapped out was just west of Shueiching, 12,260 feet. As we approached that range the winds became more and more turbulent.

Then there was a long moment of smooth flying, and I thought we had outdistanced the disturbed winds, when suddenly the plane lurched violently and we were driven deep into the overcast. I knew that the 12,260-foot peak was almost within touching distance, and when the altimeter slid from 12,500 to 11,900 my heart was in my mouth. I could expect only one thing—a crash.

I pulled the ship into a right-hand chandelle, belly flat toward the hill, nose high and wings at 45 degrees. I couldn't see a thing, the gray blanket of cloud was all around us, and I had a horrible feeling that this was it. Then, as though a light had been snapped on in a darkened movie theater, there was a break in the clouds and we saw sunlight again—sunlight on the long and ice-crusted slopes of Shueiching, beautiful and gleaming, but much too close. We missed that peak by less than a hundred yards. As we climbed above it, our motors pulling hard into a wind that wanted to force us down, I heard Hung gasp. He was looking behind us.

I couldn't look then. I had to get the plane above the peak, into the clear; but I looked back in time to see Petach and Fox in their heroic fight against death. I saw Petach's ship miss the Shueiching peak by not more than twenty feet and I saw Fox crash into it, head on.

We could have gone back, Petach and I. We could have gone back when we saw Bill crash. But we could not have landed; we could only have seen the flames spring out of the ship and burn its occupants alive. We could have tried to land—and left two more ships and six more men to mark the grave. We could have been as heroic as hell—and as foolish. When Petach got drunk a few nights later he talked that way. "We should have gone back . . ." But what for?

Skippy Lane was usually a pretty quiet guy, but that night when Short Stride began to sound off Skippy really said a mouthful. "You've got to remember, Short Stride," he said, "some guys want to win medals—and some guys want to win wars."

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

WHENEVER I see those little advertisements in the "Personal notices" of the New York newspapers—and unfortunately I see anywhere from three to seven every day—I almost get ill.

This is how those ads usually read:

"My wife, Mary Doe, has left my bed and board and I am no longer responsible for any debts incurred by her. John Doe."

BRANDEIS

There is something so ugly and sordid about those ads.

They seem to be such a hopeless ending to something that, in nine case out of ten, began with love and romance.

So she has left your bed and board?

Is that all your marriage was—just bed and board?

And why "your" bed and board? Didn't she have any part of it?

Didn't she make your bed and change it and cook your meals and wash your dishes?

Isn't that part of bed and board, and didn't the work she did to earn that bed and board make her a partner in it?

* * *

Don't misunderstand me.

I don't say that every woman who leaves her husband is an angel or every man, who is being left, a devil.

I fully agree that when two people cannot get along there is no sense in sharing their bed and board in hate.

But when two married people have to part, why can't they part decently and without bitterness and spite and fighting?

Why must all the ugliness and futility of their married failure be dragged out into the open and why must divorce trials in the courts be made so similar to saloon brawls?

* * *

MARRIAGE is a contract between two partners each of whom should have an equal share of the responsibilities and the profits.

The responsibilities consist of earning the money to support the home and of the work connected with maintaining it.

The profits of happiness, prosperity, companionship, security.

When the responsibilities are greater than the profits or when there are no profits the partnership is dissolved like any other partnership.

The assets should be decently divided and the losses decently written off.

The man whose wife is leaving "his bed and board" may disclaim responsibility for money debts hereafter incurred by her.

But there are other debts less tangible, perhaps, but just as valid.

Have they been paid?

Ordinance On Dogs Requested Of City

Requests for a city ordinance, requiring owners of vicious dogs to keep them muzzled and banning kennels of barking dogs from quiet residential neighborhoods, were received by City Atty. Vaughn Wilson yesterday.

A large dog, which is alleged to have bitten two persons, was the source of one complaint. A kennel of seven cockers, blamed for keeping a neighborhood awake by their nocturnal barking, was the source of the other. Whether or not the city will take steps to tighten its control on dogs may be considered by the City Commissioners at their regular meeting tomorrow.

$1-A-Year Men On Spot

Charges Are To Be Investigated

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE CHARGE that dollar-a-year men in the War Production board, as well as top civilian officials of the War and Navy departments, have taken advantage of their government positions to "feather their own corporate nests," has been advanced by responsible spokesmen before the Senate Small Business Enterprises committee and other agencies dealing with postwar reconversion problems.

Numerous emergency plants, especially those in the light metals (magnesium and aluminum) industries, have been located so disadvantageously that their peacetime operation may not be feasible. The sites were selected by high level men in War, Navy and WPB, and many of these executives were drawn from old-time firms which would suffer from war-inspired competition.

Incidentally, it is also alleged in these discussions that the Aluminum Company of America received preferred treatment in choice of sites from the standpoint of labor supply, transportation, market accessibility and general low charges.

TUCKER

These production factors will have a tremendous effect on future trends in these fields, especially in the industrialized West and Northwest, because the great obstacle to a full use of aluminum and magnesium will be their ultimate cost to the manufacturer and consumer of goods.

Although the price level varies in different plants, it still requires at least 15 cents to produce a pound of aluminum and it takes 20½ cents for a pound of magnesium. On that basis the metals can hardly be expected to compete generally with steel, which can be manufactured for 2½ cents a pound.

There will be no new and vast markets for these recent metals — in household goods and furnishings, automobiles, ships, planes, building materials, medical supplies etc.—unless their production costs can be reduced materially. Naturally, the older firms enjoying these outlets do not relish the prospect of such competition. They have built laboratories to improve the quality and to lower the selling price of their own products.

INQUIRIES: In other instances now under Congressional investigation it is claimed that some dollar-a-year men, many of whom were paid their pre-war salaries by their original employers during their service in Washington, prescribed processes of manufacture and plant construction which, besides hindering the war effort in the early days, cannot be employed in peacetime.

House and Senate eventually will authorize an investigation of this charge, as both Britain and ourselves did after the last conflict. In both countries it was discovered that certain favored friends, especially in the chemical and drug industries, made huge killings because they happened to be on the ground floor.

Pending these inquiries, even the severest critics point out that victory over the Axis was our only objective after Pearl Harbor, and that the planners of plants had speed of production in mind, not costs or postwar advantages, when they remade the industrial map of the United States.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

BIG BUSINESS is girding to fight the drive for "60 million jobs" to be provided by direct government manipulation.

With Congress on vacation and hearings on the Full Employment bill adjourned until October, industrialists were inclined to ignore the agitation for changes in our economy, as it came mainly from those left of center.

But new factors have developed: 1. The prospect of chaotic deflation if the Jap war ends suddenly — as forewarned by the Mead committee. 2. Impact of the British Socialist victory, which has spurred New Dealers to more aggressive tactics.

An analysis of the British soldier vote also shows that the majority backed the Attlee program. It had been assumed in business circles here that because American fighters were angered by strikes in war factories, they would be antilabor after the war. But should our veterans follow the British trend, they might be another bloc which favored alterations in our employment system.

LEMAN

National business organizations with headquarters in New York, bankers, manufacturers and conservative economists plan a campaign to educate the public on possible consequences of the "60 million jobs" project.

Liberal groups also propose to present their case. Hence one of the greatest popular debates on economics is about to start.

The Full Employment bill is an introductory mechanism to determine employment possibilities; enabling acts would come later.

In a nutshell, the bill authorizes the President to make up an annual budget showing what private production will do to provide jobs. The government would then fill any gap by means of public works and adjustment of taxes, wages, prices and other factors that might stimulate business.

The bill is somewhat vague in its language. This looseness itself frightens orthodox economists. It could be merely a forecast of the national economy for a coming year — like those made in agriculture, or it might become an open door for entry of drastic federal controls.

The whole plan of guaranteed employment is based on the premise that every citizen has a vested right to a job. This idea has wide support. But conservative analysts warn that when the dream is examined in the cold light of reality, it contains many "jokers."

LOSS: If government guarantees the right to a job, they say, it must exercise the power to make the job available. To do so Uncle Sam might be obliged to interfere in the free enterprise system and loss of liberty could be the price of security.

It could be necessary for the government to establish central planning and control over investment capital, consumption, location of industry and mobility of labor. Choise of occupation, collective bargaining, strikes and other advantages enjoyed by labor might be restricted. The paralyzing hand of politics might touch every owner and worker.

Conservative economists say that for anyone to believe that such a plan is workable is to assume that the laws of economics are subject to Congressional revision. "The conclusion seems inescapable," declares a warning just issued by one of the largest New York banks, "that full employment cannot be guaranteed in a free society."

Even if there was agreement on the desirability of the objective, financiers contend that the scheme would increase taxes and national indebtedness and endanger public credit.

ACCUSATIONS: Such opposition by powerful business groups is bound to be challenged.

A wide segment of the public believes deeply that a nation which could provide jobs for all in war can do the same thing in peace if Government and business will cooperate.

Union spokesmen point out that millions from the ranks of the underprivileged "one third of the nation" entered war jobs or the armed forces. They have experienced benefits which many never enjoyed previously. Their self-assertiveness has been so increased that they will never accept without a struggle the old conditions of want and worry and the dole.

Labor leaders insist that it is false to accuse them of hostility to the free enterprise system.

Everyone is crazy to more or less extent. The fact that a person can and does live in this fool world constitutes prima facie evidence that he is not altogether sane.

Inasmuch as we owe the national debt to one another, why don't we dissolve it by trading I.O.U.'s?

Foreign Ministers Due To Take Over Again

"Big Shot" Diplomacy Nears End

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Diplomacy and the handling of international affairs during this war have been on the stratosphere level. They have been out of sight of the crowd which was fighting and dying and had an earnest interest in preservation of peace.

World leaders have stepped quickly into airplanes or boarded fast war vessels and gone off to some corner or other. There they sat down, in resplendent isolation, and made decisions affecting their people. Oriental potentates of old never did it much more grandly, or more secretly. All that was missing were the houri, the harem and the Narghile.

STOKES

This was true of the Big Three, in witness whereof were the secret sessions at Teheran, Quebec, Yalta and then Potsdam.

It was true, too, of our enemies who started the war. Mussolini and Hitler used to hop about to meet each other and plot some new plot to top the plots they had already plotted.

It was star chamber, castle-top stuff for which, of course, there were valid reasons. It was airplane diplomacy. The airplane brought a new type of diplomacy, just as it brought a new and more awful sort of warfare.

Normalcy Is Approaching

It seems a rather healthful development, therefore, from the Potsdam conference, that this personal, "big shot" sort of business apparently is about to end. It is more conductive, too, to a normal state of affairs, both diplomatically and otherwise.

It would appear that hereafter, through creation of the Council of Foreign Ministers at Potsdam, that these big matters will be handled on a more routine, regularized basis at the level below the chiefs of states, whether they be Presidents, Prime Ministers, or dictators. It appears that it won't be necessary to have the "big shots," themselves, slipping off secretly to talk for days and then decree a communique, with everything irrevocably fixed.

INCIDENTALLY, the creation of this more or less permanent organization of foreign ministers, in which France and China also will be included, will supply a continuous contact between the big powers which should make for greater harmony. The lack of it almost got us all into a lot of trouble several months back, when things went awry in Italy, Greece, Poland and Belgium. Everybody was blaming everybody else for it.

It was cried aloud then that some permanent organization of foreign ministers was needed. Now we've got it.

Maybe, in time, diplomacy will get back to the stage where foreign ministers and secretaries of state write notes to one another, which never stopped wars, it is true, and probably started some. But at least that was written down in black and white, even if it was sometimes black and white double talk.

Tough On Historians

It is old-fashioned, but it seems somehow more sane and orderly. And it will help the historians. Think what a time they're going to have trying to figure out what Hitler said to Mussolini on such and such an occasion, and what Mr. Roosevelt said to Mr. Churchill and vice versa, and what each said to Stalin and vice versa, and what Mr. Truman said to Mr. Atlee and Mr. Stalin, and so on—and what they thought about it all.

Maybe somebody in the big three kept a diary.

WOODROW Wilson used to tell it to the kaiser in nicely polished notes, which you can read in a history book. And he said it very neatly, too.

Maybe diplomatic writing is becoming a lost art. That might not be too bad, either. But over the long term, perhaps it's better than the secret sessions of the "big shots" which is not a good diet for the health of the world. We can get our sights better on the smaller fry.

Army Officer To Face Low-Flying Charge; Plane Strikes Car

HOBART, Okla., Aug. 7 (U.P.) Kiowa county officials today considered filing charges against a Childress, Tex., Army Air field officer whose plane struck a car Sunday and injured eight persons.

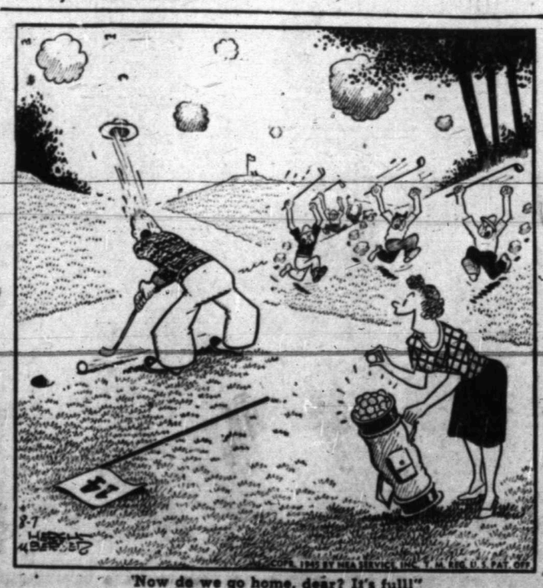

Sheriff W. P. Dugan said the state Civil Aeronautics Director, Alfred Young of Oklahoma City, had requested him to obtain all the facts about the incident for possible use in court. Seven of the eight persons in the car, returning from a fishing trip, received only minor cuts and bruises, but Bud Ayers of Hobart, the driver, suffered a serious eye injury.

Officers said the plane, after striking the top of the car and losing one wheel, returned to the Childress Army Air field and made an emergency landing. The privately-owned PT-19 plane reportedly having been borrowed by the pilot, identified as Lt. Russell H. Ford, from a fellow officer at Childress.

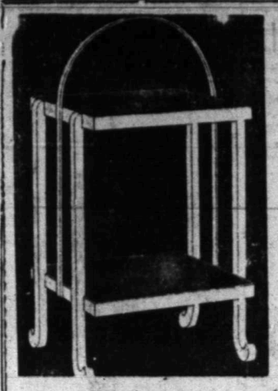

Ayers told officers that the plane made several sharp turns at low altitude, then swooped directly at the car. The plane's wheel hit the car top just above the windshield.

By the end of 1943, U. S. production of aluminum was approximately six times greater than it had been in 1939.

PIMPLES Disappeared Overnight

Blackheads, Too, Went Fast

Yes, it is true, there is a safe, harmless, medicated liquid called KLEEREX that dries up pimples overnight as it acts to loosen and remove ugly blackheads. Those who followed simple directions and applied Kleerex upon retiring were amazingly surprised when they found their pimples and blackheads had disappeared. These users enthusiastically praise Kleerex and claim they are no longer embarrassed and are now happy with their clear complexions. Use Kleerex. If one application does not satisfy, you get double your money back. Ask for Kleerex today, sure.

PEACE WAVE TRIMS PRCES

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP) — After appraising the atomic bomb attack on Japan for almost 24 hours, Wall street decided today that the amazing new development might mean a quicker-than-expected peace and ensuing selling drove down stock market prices 2 points and more.

Biggest retreats appeared in the heavy war-rated stocks like rails, utilities, steels, aircrafts and metals. A few favorites managed to tack on plus signs. Eastman Kodak and Union Carbide were up fractionally.

One standpoint was Vanadium Corp. of America, producer of uranium used in the cosmic bomb. It closed at 26¼, up 2¼ but slightly off from the high for the day.

Volume picked up. It totaled 980,000 shares compared with 490,000 yesterday, lowest session for almost a year. Of 906 issues dealt in, 693 declined, 94 advanced and 119 were unchanged.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was down .9 of a point to 63.8.

Bonds were lower with rails losing as much as 2 points.

Extra Gasoline For Vacations Advocated To Ease Travel Strain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.) — Sen. Brien McMahon, D., Conn., proposed today that the government ease the vacation-season strain on railroads by granting a "small quantity" of extra gasoline to A card motorists.

He said in a letter to deputy Petroleum administrator Ralph K. Davies that the plan would be of "considerable" help to overcrowded railroads.

"I might suggest," he said, "that it would be beneficial to the general transportation situation if you were to dip into the stockpile with an idea of making it up in the latter part of the year by a reduction, if necessary."

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP) — Uncertainties created by the new war developments and increased hedging pressure accompanying the expanding movement of the new cotton crop to markets depressed cotton futures today. Southern selling and commission house liquidation carried prices off as much as 55 cents a bale although prices subsequently recovered partially on mill buying. Volume of trading was restricted pending the first government report on the 1945 cotton crop tomorrow.

Cotton prices rallied into new high ground for the day on short covering and mill buying towards the close of trading.

Futures closed 5 to 15 cents a bale lower.

Former Lamb County Judge Is Welcomed Home From Service

With a brand-new discharge in his pocket, former Cpl. Stanley Doss of Littlefield, has been shopping for some civilian clothes after two years in the Army Air force with the Air Transport command. He was formerly county judge of Lamb county.

To welcome the returned veteran back to civilian life and to celebrate his recent election to mayor of Littlefield, Mayor Art Chesser entertained with a fish fry at his home on the edge of the city Monday night. Over 100 guests were present to eat three cat fish weighing a total of 85 pounds. The fish were caught by four Littlefield fisherman at Buchanan dam on a trip that netted 400 pounds.

Doss was discharged at Fort Bliss last Thursday after his return from Guadalcanal where he had been stationed with the Post Exchange service at the ATC base there. He had been overseas a year.

At the time he went in service, Doss was in the mercantile business in Littlefield, but he hasn't made definite plans as to what his next venture will be.

While he was in the Army, his wife and daughter made their home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Emfinger in Littlefield.

Return Of Yoshizawa To Jap Privy Council May Presage Peace Move

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7 — A tiny, 71-year-old career diplomat has been slipped quietly into the emperor's privy council in Tokyo.

This probably has nothing to do with atomic bombs, but it just happens that diplomatic trouble-shooter Kenkichi Yoshizawa is Japan's most practiced dissembler and probably the one most trusted by the throne.

WHITE

It also happens that in the past he has conducted with varying success some very extensive negotiations with Britain, China, the U.S.A., France and the Netherlands — all of whom are on the winning end of Japan's war. He also had some success with Soviet Russia, which, Japan fears, might come into the war against her.

Since Pearl Harbor, this widely experienced little man has been mentioned by authorities on Japan as a possible post-war premier for a country which must learn all over again how to get along with other people.

Is Liberal Conservative

He has the mark of what passes in Japan for a liberal conservative.

He started as a secretary in the London embassy back in the days when Japan was a naval ally of Great Britain.

In 1932 his job as empire trouble-shooter got tough. As ambassador to France he was also Japan's chief delegate at the League of Nations. When the league condemned Japan's grab in Manchuria, Yoshizawa walked out with his delegation. The league and the world, he claimed, did not understand Japan's true intentions.

Headed East Indies Mission

Later, when it became plain that Japan's chief obstacle to conquest was American opposition, he was made director of the foreign office's American bureau. Japan thereafter was depicted in tourist literature as a land of cherry blossoms and peaceful Geisha girls.

In 1940 he headed a special mission to the East Indies to pry more oil out of the Dutch. Vice-Governor Hubertus Van Mook argued, stalled, and eventually turned him down.

Next year Yoshizawa was given the job of special ambassador to Indo-China, which the Japanese were then in process of taking over by mere bullying and intrigue rather than the usual method of outright invasion. Yoshizawa retired from this position last fall, when the military really took over supreme authority in the lush French colony.

Retired In January

He retired from the diplomatic service in January this year, but this spring was appointed adviser to Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo in the new Suzuki cabinet. The Japanese press said that in view of his wide experience both at home and abroad Yoshizawa would be a "source of strength" to Foreign Minister Togo, who had spent most of his time in Russia.

Yoshizawa's new place on the privy council may mean no more than customary honor for one of the empire's most experienced negotiators.

But on the other hand, his government may have bigger things in mind for him.

Aid To Veterans Is Talked To Optimists

Speaking in the interests of returning veterans representatives of various institutions and organizations told Optimist club members at their regular meeting in the Lubbock hotel Tuesday of the provisions that have been made for returnees. G. C. Stewart was program chairman.

Speakers introduced by Grady West, who explained the objects of the program, were Jack Hall of the American Legion Veterans' service; W. P. Clement, registrar at Texas Tech, who told of the educational program for veterans; George Sessums of the veteran's contract office in this district, who told the functions of the G. I. Bill of Rights; Wade Cooper of the Lubbock National Bank, who explained the loan division of the veteran's administration, and J. D. Hassell, jr., manager of Hemphill Wells company who told of what business will expect of the veteran employe.

Guests at the meeting were Walter Switzer, Dr. H. H. Lansford, Dewey Knowles and John Cocanougher.

SOLDIER GETS PURPLE HEART

CAMP WOLTERS, Aug. 7. (U.P.) —Col. William H. McCutcheon, commanding officer of the 14th regiment, presented the Purple Heart to Pfc. Natividad R. Martinez of San Antonio, Tex., at a retreat ceremony Monday, it was announced today.

The regiment passed in review after Martinez received the medal for wounds sustained on Biak island in the Pacific campaign.

Curry solicits your aid in securing Authority to include Lubbock in rapid, efficient and competitive shipping service which includes Amarillo, Plainview and intermediate points because:—

(1) Lubbock and Amarillo are now connected by only one common carrier Motor Freight line.

(2) Transportation is the life's blood of business now and after the war and the future development of the North and South Plains area demands rapid, efficient and competitive transportation.

(3) Curry now serves all but 46 miles of this route and has the equipment, manpower and know-how to complete this new service.

(4) Curry is a Texas Plains Institution with years of experience in moving freight and our owners and employees are deeply rooted in this country. We make our money here and spend it here.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN THIS NEW FREIGHT SERVICE

Call on the phone and one of us will drop by to explain how a few minutes of your time can help in establishing this service. We welcome inquiries about our present or proposed service.
