How Good Is Goliad?

Good enough for accreditation with the Southern Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools, local school authorities hope. A committee representing the SACSC was here today to look over the new junior high school and prepare its recommendation. Supt. G. E. (Tommy) Thompson of Kermit, center, is chairman of the group. He confers with Soc Walker, left, Goliad principal, and Floyd Parsons, local superintendent, in the GJHS library.

Fire Severely Damages K-P Lodge Building

Fire early Wednesday inflicted severe damage to the Knights of Pythias hall at 1407 Lancaster.

Dr. Billy T. Chrane, chancellor commander, said it was too early to fix any accurate figures on the loss. However, he did peg the potential figure at $12,000 to $14,000. Only $7,000 of the amount is covered by insurance.

Firemen were summoned at about 1:10 a.m. when a passerby noticed smoke issuing from one of the air conditioning vents. The kitchen area was well afire by the time firemen could get water on the blaze, and the remainder of the interior was beginning to burn. Within 10 minutes part of the roof over the kitchen was caving before firemen brought the blaze under control.

There had been a lodge meeting at the hall Tuesday evening, said Dr. Chrane. The session broke up about 10:15 p.m., but some of the members were still around at midnight.

Firemen reported the fire broke out in the area around a trash container, but Dr. Chrane said he thought it was caused by faulty wiring.

The firemen were able to save some records from the building, but practically everything else was either completely lost or severely damaged.

Firemen fought the blaze until almost 5 a.m. and then had to go back about 30 minutes later after a small blaze broke out again.

The fire occurred at a time several activities were scheduled. One was a bingo party the Pythian Ladies were sponsoring this evening, and this has been moved to the Legion Hall. The fall ceremonial of the Dramatic Order of the Knights of Khorassan is scheduled this weekend and a district meeting of the Knights of Pythias next Tuesday. Both of these will be held, said Dr. Chrane, but the meeting place is due to be the Legion Hall on U. S. 87 south.

As soon as the damage can be appraised, the lodge will be convoked for a decision as to replacement, said Dr. Chrane. He speculated that the order might seek a location further out.

State Agencies Cut Little Out Of '60 Budgets

AUSTIN (AP) — State agencies have voluntarily cut their budgets only about 1½ million dollars for 1960-61 after Gov. Daniel said their previous total requests were "wholly unrealistic."

Yesterday, Daniel said seven boards had cut their budget requests by $1,490,631.

Last month the governor said request received from all state agencies showed an increase of 272 million dollars over the current 1958-59 budget with $98,095,000 coming out of the general revenue fund.

Daniel also:

1. Said he believed raising present taxes or adding other taxes would meet the state's financial need without the necessity of a sales or income tax. He would not say he would veto such a tax if passed by the Legislature.

2. Urged Texans to vote in the Nov. 4 election and pointed out that the Democratic vote for governor determines the voting strength of all precincts and counties in the next party convention. The May 1960, convention will determine the position of the Texas delegation at the National Democratic Convention.

3. Said he would vote for all nine of the proposed constitutional amendments, including annual salaries and annual sessions. He especially urged support of the state advertising proposal.

4. Advocated a state-paid juvenile system similar to the adult parole system set in motion by the last Legislature. He said he did not favor a reduction in the age by which a juvenile may be prosecuted for a felony offense.

Truman Slashes Foreign Policy

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Harry S. Truman sought to label Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy today as one of "blunder, bluster and brink of war."

The former President also dubbed Vice President Nixon the "chief hatchetman" for the Republicans. He said Nixon is trying to help the GOP candidates by using "verbal garbage."

Truman said this and more of Eisenhower and Nixon as he carried his Democratic campaign from Pennsylvania into Delaware.

In an address prepared for a Democratic rally, he spoke scornfully of Eisenhower's claim of running a "sound government."

"A 'sound' government to the Republicans," the 74-year-old Democratic campaigner argued, "is the kind of government in which the President makes nice sounds while the vice president snarls."

And he added the Republicans can't make up their minds whether to aim their campaign "at the reactionaries for their money or the liberals for their votes."

Nixon, Truman said, admits the Republicans are doomed to inevitable defeat unless they charge that the Democrats "are dedicated to socialism at home and warmongering abroad."

The voters, he said, "are not going to fall for that kind of verbal garbage again."

Truman was in top campaign form at a rally in New Castle, Pa., Tuesday night. He got a welcome there earlier in the day that rivaled some of his 1948 campaign appearances. He is flying into New York this afternoon to do some extra campaigning for Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman in his vigorously contested race for re-election against Nelson Rockefeller.

In his speech Tuesday night Truman again charged that President Eisenhower had "surrendered to the Communists" in reaching an armistice in the Korean fighting.

"We are paying the fiddler right now for doing it," he said.

Truman has contended he could have made the same agreement on the same terms years before. But he didn't do so, he said, because the knew what would happen—Red Chinese troops would be freed to exert pressures elsewhere.

The ex-President took note of differences between Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif), candidate for governor of California, and GOP Gov. Goodwin Knight, seeking Knowland's Senate seat—differences President Eisenhower has sought to patch up.

"In one state," Truman said, "the Republican candidate for the Senate is not even supporting the Republican candidate for governor."

Nation-Wide Talk Due At Chicago

By The Associated Press

President Eisenhower carried his vote-Republican offensive into the Midwest today after raking the Democrats in a California foray. Former President Truman said Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon are jittery over election prospects.

Eisenhower flew to Chicago Tuesday night from San Francisco, where he blamed Democrats in Congress for preventing enactment of his proposals to "fumigate" corruptly run labor unions.

The President also said Democrats have given impetus to what he called a "dangerous drift toward centralization" of government.

He was billed to make a coast-to-coast televised speech from Chicago tonight on behalf of Republican candidates for Congress.

Truman was due in Wilmington, Del., to beat the drums for Democratic candidates.

Truman said he had been asked if the Democrats had the jitters because Eisenhower and Nixon were on the campaign trail. It's Eisenhower and Nixon who have the jitters, the 74-year-old Democratic leader said.

Nixon, whose stumping has taken him across the country, was bound for New England today, with stops scheduled in Hartford, Conn., Burlington, Vt., and Providence, R.I.

Speaking in Baltimore Tuesday night, Nixon moved to woo what he described as Democratic moderates who back Eisenhower foreign policies. He singled out for special mention Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader.

Nixon said he distinguishes between Democrats of the Johnson type and "the leadership which presently controls the Democratic National Committee, which is radical in its approach to economic problems and . . . bitterly partisan in its criticism of the Eisenhower foreign policy."

The vice president's remarks about moderate and radical Democrats came amid a row between Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and some Southern Democrats over the civil rights issue.

Water Line Is Third Finished

About one-third of the work laying a water line around Scenic Mtn. to Webb AFB has been completed, and the job should be finished sometime next week, the city engineer reported today.

City Engineer Clifton Bellamy said that work was progressing at a normal rate today on the water line. R. B. Hodgson, a Dallas contractor, is doing the work. The line is being laid from the Edwards Heights reservoir to the east gate of Webb. This morning, Hodgson's men were working well past the intersection of FM 700 and Canyon Dr. The line will follow the north side of FM 700 around to the Air Base.

Work done constitutes about one-third of the project, said Bellamy, and without complications, Hodgson should be through sometime next week. The work already completed took longer than what is ahead because of rock. The contractor is about out of the rock though, and the digging should proceed at a faster pace.

Man Cleared Of Raising Marijuana

COLORADO CITY—Pete Orona, 21, of Colorado City was found not guilty of cultivating and growing marijuana Monday night after an all-day trial.

Local officers had found six plants in the Latin-American section which they alleged had been cultivated and watered. Witness Ed Miles testified that he had seen Orona watering the plants, which were on a neighbor's property. Orona in return, said that he hadn't watered the plants but had seen Miles watering them.

The plants had been found by officers in May and Orona had been indicted by a 32nd District grand jury.

Airliner, Jet Collide Over Italy; 30 Killed

ANZIO, Italy (AP) — A British airliner and an Italian military jet collided four miles above Italy today, killing all 30 aboard the passenger plane.

Wreckage of the British European Airways four-engine turboprop plane was scattered for more than a mile near this famous World War II battlefield 30 miles south of Rome.

The military plane exploded in the air. Seconds before that the Italian pilot parachuted, landing in the Mediterranean. A fishing boat picked him up. He was taken to a hospital in grave condition.

The airliner's dead included Jane Buckingham, London model involved in a romance in which she had pictured actress Eva Bartok as trying to take over an Indian prince who "is mine."

The prince, 27-year-old Shiv of Palitana, is in Naples and Miss Buckingham, 22, was presumably en route there to try to patch things up.

The BEA Viscount airliner was on a flight from London to Naples and Malta. The collision came 15 minutes before the plane was due at Naples.

Within three hours, Italian police had recovered all 30 bodies.

BEA in Rome said its plane was flying at 23,500 feet.

Rome's Ciampino airfield reported weather in the area was clear.

The shattered British plane crashed into an Italian artillery testing ground and only about 200 yards from an explosives dump.

Cosimo Baggialemani, 33, of nearby Nettuno, who was picking mushrooms, said he heard an explosion.

Looking up, he saw flames and then bits of wreckage fell around him.

One wing was about 600 feet from the smashed part of the fuselage. Part of the tail was 1,000 feet away.

The airliner carried 25 passengers and a crew of 5.

Witnesses said the military plane continued its flight for a second after the collision, then nosed over as the pilot, Capt. Giovanni Savorelli, bailed out.

Crash crews were rushed from Rome's Ciampino airfield to this small fishing port where British and U. S. troops landed in World War II.

This was the latest in a series of crashes involving commercial and military planes.

A collision Nov. 1, 1949 between an Eastern Airlines plane and a P38 fighter near Washington, D. C., took 55 lives.

A United Airlines DC7 and a U. S. Air Force F100F jet trainer collided and exploded over the Nevada desert last April 21. Forty-nine persons were killed.

Last May 20 an Air National Guard jet trainer collided with a Capital Airlines Viscount near Brunswick, Md. The death toll was 12.

Two civilian planes — a United Airlines DC7 carrying 58 and a TWA Super Constellation airliner with 70 abcard—collided over Arizona's Grand Canyon June 30, 1956. All aboard both planes were killed.

German Boy Due Surgery

BALTIMORE (AP) — Young Klaus Kaemmerer, his mother by his side and some 500 American soldier buddies rooting for him in Germany, was ready today to have his deformed heart repaired.

The 5-year-old curly-headed German boy and his attractive young mother were reunited at Johns Hopkins Hospital late Tuesday.

Today, Klaus goes under the skilled knife of Dr. Alfred Blalock, surgeon-father of the "blue baby" operation Klaus needs. Dr. Blalock will attempt to repair a congenital defect in the youngster's heart.

The Kaemmerers have three other children in Germany and little money. A trip to this country would have been unthinkable without help. But they had plenty of help.

The men of the United States 3rd Missile Battalion, 71st Artillery, stationed in Karlsruhe, have been the family's benefactors.

More than 500 men of the battalion raised some $2,500 to send Klaus here for the operation.

Then they joined townspeople to raise some more to send his mother over.

3 Wrecks Occur In Big Spring Tuesday

Police investigated three accidents here Tuesday.

Gene Kirby, 204 Lockhart, and Willie Waller, 1109 Eleventh, were driving cars involved in an accident at 300 Scurry. In the 600 block of E. 2nd, Mrs. James Newsom, Rt. 1, and Huey Lytel of Sweetwater were in collision. Glenn Guthrie, 1018 Stadium, and Rayford Harrison, 1804 Young, collided at 8th and Owens.

United Fund Gifts Climb To $44,629

United Fund gifts and pledges reached a $44,629 total Tuesday evening at the first report meeting of workers in the Employe Division. Goal of the drive is $89,900.

Employe groups reported $10,716 to go with $33,913 turned in earlier by Advance Gifts and Special Gifts workers.

Setting a hot pace for Employe Division gifts were personnel of Reef Fields Gasoline Corp. who turned in $1,480.08—an average of $30.20 for the 49 employes who contributed. Added to this was a company gift of $479, pushing the Reef Fields total to $1,959.08.

Campaign officials said the individual giving by Reef Fields employes is the highest ever reported for a United Fund campaign.

Cosden Petroleum Corp. employes also are coming in strong. With their phase of the drive about 65 per cent complete, gifts and pledges total $4,719.78. Of this, $1,587 has been given by members of the International Union of Operating Engineers in the refinery maintenance and operations divisions. Refinery office personnel have given $980 and downtown office workers have contributed $2,001.50.

Meanwhile, a preliminary report from T&P Railway employes showed $1,027 given there with the drive just getting under way.

Campaign totals are due to climb again today and Thursday with reports from the Public Employes Division scheduled for this afternoon and from the Special Gifts Division Thursday afternoon.

Meat Production Shows An Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — More meat is moving to market. The Department of Agriculture says meat production under federal inspection exceeded 400 million pounds last week.

U.S. Seeking Release Of Cuba Kidnap Victims

HAVANA (AP)—For the second time in four months, the U.S. Consulate in Santiago today sought the release of Americans kidnaped by rebels in eastern Cuba.

The American Embassy in Havanna said Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith had instructed Consul Park Wollam "to take a firm position in his contact with the rebels."

Two Americans and seven Cubans were abducted from a Texaco refinery near Santiago Monday and taken to rebel hide-outs in the jungled mountains. The rebels told the Texaco manager they would be returned shortly, the embassy said.

The Americans are Charles R. Bennett, 35, the refinery supervisor of maintenance and construction, whose wife and year-old son live in Santiago; and Kenneth H. Drewes, 40, of Joliet, Ill., machine shop foreman, whose wife also lives in Santiago.

It was not immediately learned whether the kidnapings were ordered by rebel leader Fidel Castro, who has been waging guerilla warfare against President Fulgencio Batista for the last two years from jungle camps in the Sierra Maestra Mountains west of Santiago.

Billingsley Jury Is Being Selected

SEMINOLE — Selection of the last two jurors in the murder trial of John A. Billingsley of Lamesa was expected today. Tuesday night, eight men and two women had been named as jurors in the case being held here in 106th District Court.

Billingsley is charged with the killing of his wife in Lamesa last November.

Jury Deadlocks On Divorce Suit In Stanton Court

STANTON—A jury in 118th District Court was ordered discharged Tuesday when it reported to Judge Charlie Sullivan it was hopelessly deadlocked.

The jury was trying a contested divorce suit—Robert James Shortes versus Laverne Shortes.

The jurors told the court they were divided nine and three and there was no chance of an agreement.

Officials said that a hung jury in a contested divorce case was almost unheard of in local courts. It is rare when a divorce suit is laid before a jury and even rarer, court attaches explained, when a verdict is not returned by the jury.

No Integration

HOUSTON (AP)—The chairman of the state AFL-CIO convention civil rights committee said today his group will not recommend that local unions in Texas integrate their memberships.

School Construction Projects Approved

Final plans for four school construction projects were approved by trustees last night, and bid opening date for the work was set for Dec. 11.

The plans still must secure the approval of the Federal Housing & Home Finance Agency before they can be released to contractors, but speedy authorization is expected from the agency. The FH&HFA approval is necessary because some $377,000 in federal funds are to go into part of the construction program.

The projects include the new 12 to 16-classroom Marcy elementary school southwest of Big Spring, a six-room addition to Park Hill elementary, an addition of some 20 classrooms and other facilities to the high school, and a general administration building.

Going into the program along with the federal money will be proceeds from a $400,000 school bond issue and possibly other local funds left over from previous building programs.

The federal funds are restricted to the elementary and administration buildings, and trustees said last night they favor putting all of the money into classrooms, dropping administration building plans unless bids are considerably under present estimates.

Architect Jimmy Fox, of Atcheson, Atkinson and Fox, Lubbock, estimated the Marcy project will cost $280,428 for 12 classrooms or $331,382 for 16 rooms. He estimated the high school project, including additions to the shops building and gymnasium, at $359,962. Cost of the Park Hill expansion is expected to reach $84,380.

Architect John Gary, of Gary & Hohertz, Big Spring, said the administration building probably would cost $142,484. By leaving off a book storage and central supply facility, the cost might be lowered to about $115,000, he said.

Individual and combined bids on the four projects will be asked for 2 p.m. Dec. 11. The proposals will be opened in the high school cafeteria.

Sandwich Sign Carrying Pays Off With Employment

DETROIT (AP)—Charles Hamilton, who pushed a huge sandwich sign through the downtown Detroit area Monday in search of a job, went to work today.

Hamilton, 37, father of a 4-year-old boy, and unemployed except for odd jobs for over a year, will operate a drilling machine at a machine shop.

Hamilton said he was swamped with responses to his sign which read "First Class All-Around Man Wants Job-?-" He received 18 offers, including one at a Ford Motor Co. plant, and a scheduled appearance on a national TV news show.

Now Hamilton says he's worried about how to thank all of the people who offered him jobs.

Job Hunter

Charles Hamilton, 37, caused quite a stir in downtown Detroit, Mich., as he spent the day pushing this seven-foot wooden signboard on rollers up and down Woodward Ave. A twice-decorated [illegible] ran of World War II with a wife and four-year-old son, Hamil[illegible] said he is a trained machine repairman but lost his regular [illegible] a year ago when the small shop he worked for folded. Since then he has done odd jobs. But today his efforts at job-finding had paid off.

Stanton Youth Is Tops In State 4-H

COLLEGE STATION — Carl Wright, an outstanding Martin County 4-H Club member who got his 4-H start in Tennessee, has been named the State's top 4-H boy in citizenship. He will receive a $50 bond from the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corp. of Houston and a Certificate of Honor which honors the late Thoms. E. Wilson of Chicago.

His record will be submitted for consideration in the national finals. The boy and girl national winners will each receive all-expense trips to National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago and $400 college scholarships.

Carl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wright of Stanton and is completing his fourth year of 4-H work. His major activities have included project built around community service. He is probably best known for his abilities as a public speaker. For the past two years he has been a county and district winner and hopes to add a state title to his collection before he is through.

He is active in church and social affairs and has been a leader in the community improvement work which has resulted in their winning two cash awards on the district basis. He is a community recreation leader and takes an active part in planning youth activities. He says, "4-H participation has helped me to be a more useful and happier citizen."

His county agent, Bobby Johnson, describes him as an outstanding example of what 4-H training can contribute to leadership and citizenship development in its members. Carl gives his 4-H training much credit for developing his speaking talents and for giving him opportunities to meet, know and work with many individuals and groups.

Trustees Cut School Budget To Meet Expected Revenues

Trustees last night peeled $31,112 off the Big Spring school budget, reducing it to the level of anticipated revenues for the current school year.

Cuts included $11,000 from the athletic program, $10,000 from outlays for school furniture and equipment, $5,700 from instructional supplies, $2,412 from travel funds, and $2,000 from outlays for paving.

Reduction in the budget became necessary when taxable property valuations dropped from an estimated $55 million to $53,670,350 following equalization board hearings. That resulted in a loss of $21,180 in tax revenues. The budgeted sums were lowered an additional $10,000—total of $31,112—to provide a financial "cushion" in the budget, trustees said.

All of the cuts were made on recommendation of Supt. Floyd Parsons who told trustees that the reductions will have an adverse effect on the school program, "but we believe these items will have the least adverse effect."

It was left up to Athletic Director Al Milch to decide where the $11,000 slash in athletic funds will be applied. Travel reductions are applicable to practically every segment of the faculty and administrative staff.

Instructional supplies were reduced in the fields of audio-visual education, music, physical education and driver education. The $2,000 cut in paving funds came out of $4,000 which had been set up for paving 6th Street in front of the Boydstun elementary school.

Furniture and equipment allowances were reduced for Marcy, Park Hill, Goliad and Runels schools and Special Education.

The original budget for the current year provided for expenditures totaling $1,975,122. The new total is $1,944,010.

Expert Arrives To Fight Gas Fire

ALTA LOMA, Tex. (AP)—Myron Kinley of Houston, a world-famous oilfield fire fighter, flew in from Oklahoma City last night to help control a spectacular gas well fire.

The blaze, 3½ miles southwest of here, continued to illuminate the Galveston County countryside.

It caught fire Monday night. There were no injuries.

Phillips Petroleum Co. said no damage estimate has been made.

First County Tax Payments Are Made

First wave of taxpayers reported to the office of Tax Assessor Viola Robinson on Tuesday to pay their current county taxes.

The statements on tax bills went into the mails on Monday.

Mrs. Robinson pointed out that tax payers who pay their bills before Nov. 2 will be given a 3 per cent discount. After Nov. 2 through Dec. 2, the discount diminishes to 2 per cent and from Jan. 1 to Feb. 1, there is no discount. Taxes become delinquent on that date.

Due to the delay in the preparation of the tax rolls, the period in which taxpayers can receive the 3 per cent discount has been sharply curtailed. Normally, the taxes are payable on Oct. 1 which would provide a full month's time in which the 3 per cent discount is in effect. This year, taxpayers have only nine days to take advantage of the lower payments.

The tax rolls were approved on Monday. Mrs. Robinson and her staff were delayed in preparing the rolls by the volume of work brought about by the county wide revaluation program carried out this year.

Twenty-eight poll tax receipts had been issued and 28 exemption certificates through Tuesday.

Secrets Of Girlish Figure Are Shown

By LELORD KORDEL
Installment Sixteen

During my stay in Buenos Aires, I was a guest at a formal dinner party in one of the old Argentine mansions. My host was the elder brother of my estanciero friend who raised thoroughbred horses, and on whose estancia I had met those marvelous old gauchos saluted in an earlier installment.

The guests were a cosmopolitan group made up of an English couple, several Argentinans, a Brazilian scientist and his wife, a Uruguayan diplomat, a French count and countess.

The evening hadn't progressed very far when I noticed the French countess, an extremely attractive woman, speaking earnestly with our host who singled me out with his glance, then nodded, apparently in answer to some question of hers concerning me. Immediately the countess came over to me. "Monsieur Kordel," she said, "how old would you think me?"

I was taken aback by this abrupt question. It's not good policy to play at age-guessing games with the ladies, no matter how charming and youthful they may be. A guess of a year or two too many, and one really has blundered!

GUESSES AGE TOO YOUNG

I looked closely at her clear, fresh skin, her sparkling gray eyes and her lustrous dark brown hair. She could have been anywhere between 30 and a youthful 40. Her figure was well-rounded without being lumpy, and her carriage was remarkably graceful. So I waded in with my best guess.

"Thirty-three, perhaps. And surely not more than 35."

She gave me a searching look. "Yes, I believe you are being honest. Well, monsieur, last month I celebrated—yes, that is the right word, celebrated—my 53rd birthday! I have a son as old as you guessed me!"

She called her husband, who extracted from his wallet a small, worn photograph and passed it to me. It was a picture of a woman, quite evidently a relative of the countess, for the features showed a marked resemblance to hers. Yet this was a much older woman.

"That, Monsieur Kordel," she said, "was my face five years ago, before we left France."

Her husband said to me: "My wife has been a zealous follower of your teachings on nutrition since arriving in Buenos Aires to live. An American friend loaned her a copy of one of your books. And from that day it has become the book of rules for our kitchen."

EATING FOR PLEASURE

The countess broke in smiling. "Sincerely, Monsieur Kordel, when I read your book it came like a great revelation to me. Always in France we have eaten for the sheer pleasure of it, never thinking what harm all those rich foods did to our appearance. Or whether we were fully nourished. But now, with the so plentiful meat of this country and its delicious cheeses, fruits and vegetables, I have found a new, plainer way of eating . . . And I have found the youth I lost many years ago in France."

She turned toward her husband. "You, too, Georges, how much younger you look than when we left France. Only you, vain one, were too wise to have a photograph made then!"

If only I could bring this young middle-aged woman as "Exhibit A" into the beauty salons where women spend fortunes each year to be massaged, creamed and dyed back to a semblance of their former youthful attractiveness — and all the while they are eating themselves into a prematurely aged appearance that even the most expensive beauty treatment can never conceal.

The average person of middle age—and many younger people—exists on a diet woefully deficient on almost every nutritional count (proteins, minerals, vitamins), unless a conscious effort is made for planned diet. Small wonder that good looks and charm are so rare past 40.

And small wonder that this early loss of vitality and youthful appearance is particularly true of men, since they need even greater amounts of the B-vitamins (paramount factors in helping your youth stay on the job) than women. Yet how many men at this critical period in life make a conscious effort to guard against losing the sensations and appearances of youth in the only sure way—through a planned diet? Too few, I'm afraid. All too often the convert to a planned diet is the woman of the family, and her efforts to make friend husband realize the dietary facts behind his loss of energy and youthful appearance meet with indifference, if not open derision.

MEN JUST AS VAIN

And yet men are as vain of their good looks as are women. They may not admit that their appearance matters as much to their happiness as it does to a woman. But I, as one of the "stronger sex," will admit it for them. We men do care—and how!—when the signs of age begin to sneak up on us.

In the preceding chapters I have dwelt at length on the paramount need in every diet for plenty of protein — meat, fish, fowl, eggs, cheese, skim milk and seed cereals. But I have saved until now the full story of the youth-bestowing B-vitamins because they enter so frequently into any mention of "diet and good looks."

TOPS IN DIET AIDS

All the youth-preserving members of the B-complex family are found in varying degrees in meats, fish, fowl, eggs, skim milk, cheese, green vegetables, legumes, whole grains, berries, melons and fresh fruits. Wheat germ (the raw variety found mostly in health food stores) is another good source of the B-vitamins.

A generous mention of these foods belongs in any advice on "diet and good looks," because they are unusually rich sources of riboflavin, the B-vitamin everlastingly concerned with the health of your eyes, your skin, your hair.

Here's what usually happens when your body is skimped on riboflavin. Your elbows may become red and wrinkled; the skin over your entire body may coarsen with a quick tendency toward rashes and other forms of skin disorders. Your hair may grow dull and fall out readily. Unsightly fingernails—split, grooved or fissured — often disappear after the body receives enough riboflavin. If you suddenly develop an abnormally oily complexion, more than likely it's because you need more riboflavin in your diet.

Riboflavin also acts on the muscles and nerves of the eyes—which will be discussed in tomorrow's installment.

Tomorrow: Bloodshot eyes show youth is vanishing; skin's condition revealed by dark, puffy pouches, lustrous hair found linked to diet.

New City Charter

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP)—Corsicana voters approved yesterday 186-125 a proposal to write a new city charter to replace the present charter which was written in 1917. The city has a city commission-city manager form of government.

School Emptied On Bomb Threat

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Classrooms were evacuated briefly at integrated Midwestern University Tuesday after the second threatening anonymous telephone call in two weeks.

Eddie Wyatt, senior and university telephone operator, said a man told him over the phone to "get everybody out of there by 11 o'clock."

Wyatt said the caller sounded like the man who phoned two weeks ago, asked if Negroes were students at Midwestern and said, "We give you until tomorrow to get everybody out of the building."

That call was ignored but Dr. Travis White, president of the city-owned school, ordered classrooms emptied after the second one. About 1,400 persons left the classrooms for about 20 minutes.

Dr. White said Negroes have attended the school for five years without previous incidents.

Woman Bears Son Following Mishap

DALLAS (AP) — A Carrollton woman gave birth to a son last night, only minutes after she was thrown out onto the pavement following a traffic accident en route to the hospital.

The mother, Mrs. Augusta Hartline, 17, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Edna Hartline, were thrown out of the car in which they were riding when they were involved in a 3-car collision three blocks from the hospital. Both mother and son were reported doing fine.

Dies Of Injuries

LA FERIA, Tex. (AP)—A third person died yesterday as a result of a 2-car collision at the edge of this Lower Rio Grande Valley town. Mrs. Cecil Harris died in a Harlingen hospital yesterday. Dr. Joe Moet and Tom Wynn were killed in the accident. All were from La Feria.

Found Dead

WEATHERFORD, Tex. (AP)—Charles Crider, 22, was found dead in his garage yesterday. The engine of his pickup truck was running. No verdict was returned immediately.

Nov. 4 Vote May Set New Record In U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Official and unofficial estimates today placed the nation's eligible voters for the Nov. 4 elections at 76,145,600. This is a record for a midterm election.

Despite scattered reports of voter apathy, the same sources estimated the probable total vote in the 48 states at 48,131,226, including the 284,226 already officially recorded for Senate candidates in Maine Sept. 8. This also would be the highest for any nonpresidential year.

The Associated Press tabulation is based on estimates gathered from state officials, party chairmen and in a few instances from veteran political writers.

It showed a gain of 1,266,454 qualified voters over the record established in the last midterm election in 1954. However, it is about four million under the total of eligibles for the 1956 presidential election.

The estimated vote represents an increase of 3,683,730 over the previous midterm highest vote in 1954. That total of 44,447,496 was reached by adding the top vote in each state whether for senator, governor or combined House vote.

The 1954 official vote for representatives was 42,582,927, including 22,366,386 for Democratic candidates and 20,016,809 for Republicans. The remainder went to independent and small party candidates. The largest presidential vote was more than 62 million in 1956.

The estimate of 76,145,600 eligibles for this year compares with a Census Bureau estimate of 104,600,000 "potential" voters for the coming election (civilians 21 years of age and over; 18 and over in Georgia and Kentucky). The potential vote has gained 4,377,000 over 1954.

Twenty-seven states show gains over 1954 in the estimated number of persons who have registered, paid poll taxes, or otherwise have met state voting requirements for the elections Nov. 4. The biggest gains are in California, 867,000, and Iowa and North Carolina, 200,000 each.

Nine states have qualified fewer voters than in 1954, although in some instances election officials said their estimates four years ago were too high. The nine states: Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Mexico, Ohio, South Carolina, Tennessee and West Virginia.

Estimated registrations for 12 states remained about the same as 1954.

States showing gains of 200,000 or more in estimated vote, over 1954's combined House vote, are California, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio and Texas.

Private School Expansion Due

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — After running into early registration difficulties at its new all-white high school, the Little Rock Private School Corp. planned to start expanding enrollment today.

W. C. Brashears, superintendent said junior students will sign up. Sophomores will register Thursday.

There are no teachers or facilities for juniors and sophomores. The school building, a former orphanage, isn't large enough to handle three grades, and only 14 teachers have been hired.

Seniors, who expected to start their studies Tuesday, were dismissed two hours after reporting because of what school officials called a registration mixup.

Before Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed Little Rock's four high schools in an anti-integration move last month, Negro and white enrollment totaled 3,698. At least 600 white and Negro students have transferred out of the school district and several hundred more are attending privately operated church schools.

Swallows Exit Due Thursday

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—For the 181st time of record, the swallows of Mission San Juan Capistrano are due to leave their summer home Thursday.

Legend has it that these North American swallows quit their nests in the mission Oct. 23, the day of St. Juan, and return March 19, St. Joseph's Day.

There may be variations either way, depending upon the weather and the leaders' inclinations. If the wing commander has a hangover or spots storm clouds to the south, he could keep the swalow squadron around a day or so.

This sort of heresy is frowned on in these quarters, however. The target days are held by some of the devout to be inviolate. They point out that San Juan and St. Joseph's Day are feast days and that for reasons beyond the ken of mortal man the swallows use these days for their migrations from and to this historic mission, founded in 1776 by Father Junipero Serra.

A Bible Thought For Today

"Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time." (1 Peter 5:6)

Progress Doesn't Always Come Fast

The current Reader's Digest carries the story of one Joseph Dixon who, in the early days of the 19th Century, invented and developed the lead pencil. The company he founded is still one of the world's largest.

Joe Dixon also concocted a stove polish, a highly profitable business that helped to keep him experimenting with lead pencils until, in the Civil War, the new "writing stick" finally caught on when Union soldiers used them to write back home.

Most oldtimers remember only one kind of pencil from our youth—the "cedar pencil" which sold for a penny apiece.

But they also remember that much school work was done on a slate, using a stylus—perhaps made of flint — that could be heard a country block, the most nerve-wracking screech imaginable. Or you could use chalk, which made hardly any noise at all, but resulted in letters and digits so fat the slate was filled all too soon.

The slate pencil was hardly larger than a matchstick, and you had to bear down hard to make a mark with it, hence the screech. It was worse than the noise produced by earlier generations of school children who attended a "blab school," in which the kids all read everything aloud simultaneously. What a silly custom that was! And yet it had its merits; reading aloud taught clear enunciation and correct pronunciation—and right spelling. It also taught the most difficult of all arts—concentration.

Looking back on Joe Dixon and his crazy notion of shoving the goosequill pen off the market, we are reminded that many of our most useful inventions had a hard time catching on with the public. Men of vision toyed with various forms of self-propelled vehicles for generations, using steam, before the internal combustion engine made the automobile—self-moving vehicle—possible.

The dream of free flight was in men's mind as far back as Icarus, and balloons were "invented" in the 1700s and successfully "flown."

Leonardo da Vinci, probably the most versatile genius ever born of woman, dreamed up and committed to paper a whole chain of contraptions, including the airplane and the submarine, that had to wait hundreds of years for development.

Yet we moderns gripe like sixty because most of our guided missiles and spatial rockets fail to come off.

The 'Best' Without The Box Office

What was the one best movie of all time?

Well, so far, there is not one, but six of them. At the World's Fair in Brussels Saturday night a seven - man international film jury, with 12 nominations to choose from, was unable to make a choice, so it picked the half dozen as the "best film of all time."

There were boos from the audience, natch. The list of all-time best included two Russian films (Potemkin, 1925; Mother, 1926); two French (The Passion of Joan of Arc, 1928; The Grand Illusion, 1937); one Italian (The Bicycle Thief, 1946); and one American (Chaplin's The Gold Rush, 1925).

Few Americans ever heard of, much less saw, more than one or two of the five foreign films; the film jury of course was made up of "experts," the kind of experts who go in for the arty stuff that the average film fan cares not a fig for.

Left to the fans the world around, including the U. S. of A., only Chaplin's Gold Rush probably would get the nod from that list of six "best."

But from the whole mass of films of all time, The Birth of a Nation and Gone With the Wind probably would rank near the top of the 10 best films of all time—not artistically, but for sheer entertainment content. After all, if you leave out that meat-and-potatoes element, what have you got left from the film-going public's standpoint?

Emotional Issues In The Campaign

WASHINGTON—The oldest rule in the campaign textbook of American politics is that the party in power must be blamed for every adverse happening, including the bad weather that ruins a farm crop. This autumn, in accordance with a precedent rarely broken, the incumbent administration, through no fault of its own, is expected to lose seats in both houses of Congress.

The main reason, of course, is the business recession. So deeply rooted is the illusion that the party in power can perform miracles in maintaining uninterrupted prosperity that both parties have for generations used it as a means of appealing to the unemployed or of claiming credit when employment is high.

The present recession really began in the spring of 1957 and, politically speaking, there has been lots of time for political prejudices to be cultivated against the Republican party. Even though the nation now is slowly coming out of the recession, it may be too late to change the votes of many who have been adversely affected.

"Does this mean that with every recession the party in power must go down to defeat in the next election and that prosperity is a sure winner for the party that has that issue on its side? Not at all. Actually an emotional issue can sway votes far more than economic questions. The country was still suffering from high unemployment in 1940 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt was running for a third term, but the general fright over American involvement in World War II caused many a citizen to give the administration a vote of confidence at the polls. The same thing happened in 1916 when "peace and prosperity" was successful as a slogan that helped re-elect a Democratic president, Woodrow Wilson, during World War I.

There is an "emotional" issue emerging in the present campaign, but neither side is as yet getting much benefit from it. This is the effort to pin the getting-us-into-war label on the Republicans in connection with Far Eastern developments and the counter-effort of the Republicans to point with pride at the President's firmness against the Communist enemy as well as to claim credit for the administration's success in keeping us out of a world war.

Basically, as it looks now, the campaign for Congress this year will be decided in the local appeal of the candidates and on economic issues—responsibility for the recession. The Republicans have a good argument in their charge that the recession was "union-made" because of the exercise of monopoly power by nationwide unions in forcing wages up faster than productivity of labor—the cause of the present inflation. But the unions are spending many millions of dollars to help the Democratic candidates, while the Republicans are finding it hard to collect the normal amount of campaign contributions. Senator Knowland's campaign manager, for instance, was reported recently to be without money to pay for a single statewide television appeal in the California gubernatorial race.

The Republicans are handicapped by the fact that their own party strength is not being fully mobilized. The middle and upper classes throughout the country, most of whom have not been really hurt by the recession, just don't bother to vote in the same proportions as do the people in the lower-income groups who are dragged to the polls through union-organized battalions of precinct workers.

The Republican party could win the election if all who voted Republican only two years ago voted that way again and particularly if those Republicans who are resentful over various issues that are really less important than the economic future of the country were to lay aside their grievances.

For there is a bigger economic issue at stake than most people realize. Will business really feel the jolt of a Democratic triumph in November and see a socialistic era ahead? Will businessmen after the election become hesitant about going ahead with plans for expansion till they know what the radical Democrats will do in Congress in 1959 and get a line on what to expect if the Democrats win the White House in 1960? The recent recession was largely due to a drop-off in confidence by the public when unemployment started in 1957 in what might otherwise have been a normal readjustment of mild proportions. Will confidence sag again if enemies of the free-enterprise system take control of Congress and prepare to take over the White House two years hence?

These are some of the aspects of the political situation which the disgruntled Republicans will have to bear in mind. They will have to accept some of the responsibility for economic adversity if they don't go to the polls to support conservatives in the current campaign.

Not A Memorable Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is not going to be one of the most memorable political campaigns. If there's any excitement, it comes from the orators.

In this campaign there have been the usual exaggertion, the usual gas, some stumbling, and a division within the parties.

Most unusual feature: the Eisenhower administration's apparent uncertainty on what strategy to use.

In the field of exaggeration: former President Truman's crack that some of Eisenhower's advisers—"the big boys"—apparently "deliberately planned to bring this recession about."

In the gas field: the long-overworked Republican cry that a Democratic victory meant socialism. Republicans have been crying that for more than two decades.

But when they had a chance—after President Eisenhower's first victory—to try to wipe out New and Fair Deal legislation, they embraced most of it and expanded on it.

Some examples of divisions within the parties:

1. Truman took a stand against partisan attacks in the field of foreign policy right after his former secretary of state, Dean Acheson, made foreign policy a major issue. A whole swarm of Democrats followed Acheson, not Truman.

2. There's division between the conservative and more liberal Republicans and even between Republican candidates in one state. For example, take California's Gov. Goodwin Knight and Sen. William F. Knowland.

3. Truman and the Democratic national chairman, Paul Butler, not unaware of the big Northern Negro and liberal vote, castigated some of their own party, Southern Democratic supporters of public school serregation.

4. Dulles and Eisenhower seemed unsure what to do about letting foreign policy get into the campaign. At first they were in agreement with Truman on keeping it out. Dulles, in fact, said he agreed with Truman.

He even rebuked Vice President Nixon for tearing into the Democrats' handling of foreign affairs when they were in charge. Eisenhower seemed to rebuke him too. The President said: "I realize that when someone makes a charge, another individual is going to reply. I deplore that."

But Nixon wouldn't shut up or backtrack. News surveys indicated the Republicans were in for a real beating in the November elections, While Eisenhower sat at home with an above-the-strife attitude, Nixon was out campaigning hard.

It was he who was providing the campaign leadership, not Eisenhower. He made it plain he wouldn't stop talking on foreign policy. This could have meant a split between him and Eisenhower.

Faced with this prospect, both Eisenhower and Dulles melted, switched around and gave Nixon a go-ahead.

If Eisenhower gave the appearance of being uncertain what strategy to use, he brought it on himself. On Oct. 6 he called Republican leaders to the White House to "combat complacency and apathy" among Republican voters.

After leaving Eisenhower, the leaders issued a blazing statement full of political cliches, attacking the Democrats. Because they did this right after leaving the President, some people interpreted it as meaning he blessed the statement.

It seems he didn't. On Oct. 15, asked at a news conference if he approved, Eisenhower replied: "It was not my statement, it was theirs, and I think politicians do love to make things very positive."

A few days later he started out on the campaign trail himself, landed in California, and with the help of some speech writers, made his own blazing attack on the Democrats.

Whether at this late date in the campaign anything any of the politicians say can swing a vote is, for them, only a hope and a guess. But anyone who's been around a few years has heard it all before.

Where The Steaks Are Good And Cheap

NEW YORK (AP) — Snapshot memories from a South American visit:

In Argentina nobody seems to care so much what a tourist thinks of the country's politics. The big question is,"How do you like our beef?"

Most Americans, accustomed to meat aged longer, find the steaks juicy but a bit on the tough side. But Buenos Aires is paradise to a real meat eater with good molars.

The steers are more outgiving than those in the United States. The steak portions come in big chunks.

And the price is about a third of what it would be back home. For $2 you can get a complete dinner consisting of a huge steak, potato, salad, wine, dessert and coffee.

The South American population is growing at a tremendous rate, and the continent also is spurting industrially.

In both Brazil and Argentina one is impressed by the inescapable evidence of boom, inflation, and great nationalistic pride.

A foreigner, living in Rio de Janeiro, observed: "Brazil is going to end up one of the biggest political busts in history—or one of the greatest countries in the world. The possibilities here are infinite, but the people here want Brazil for the Brazilians. They want to end up owning their own country."

Another observer, in Argentina, said: "I don't know any country where a young man could come with $100,000 and become a millionaire faster."

Getting that first $100,000, however, seems to be a pretty hard problem in South America—as it is on every other continent.

The ordinary tourist to South America says: "Everybody down here seems to be either very rich or very poor. The middle class doesn't seem to be very strong. Look at all the slums."

The slums are only too evident. The slums in the United States are now largely big blocks of tenements. In countries such as Brazil, the slums are still individual huts.

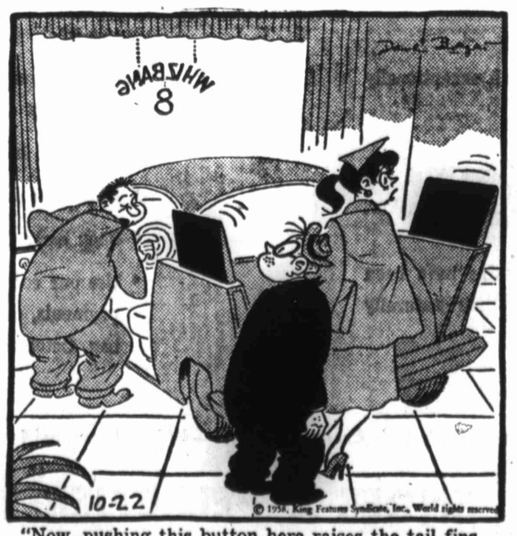

But in Sao Paulo, one of the world's fastest growing cities and often described as the Chicago of South America, a guide claimed proudly: "We are building a new home here every 12 minutes."

The office building skyline in the heart of the city seems to be growing as rapidly as resurgent Manhattan.

A strolling American in Brazil or Argentina runs into little obvious "Yankee-go-home" kind of antagonism. The people are courteous and polite to the stranger and helpful in small emergencies.

"The kind of foreigners they tend to dislike are those who come here, live entirely in their own groups, and after 20 years in the country still haven't taken the trouble to learn the language," one U.S. citizen stationed in South America said.

Salute To The Valiant Group

When the San Antonio Symphony tunes up Thursday evening in the Municipal Auditorium and Victor Allesandro brings down his baton to draw music from his 75 musicians, it will mark another milestone in efforts to bring better entertainment to Big Spring.

It's been a rocky road, and not all the bumps are out of it yet. Efforts to maintain a quality program drawing mostly on experienced performers mean higher budgets. And of course, no program can hit 100 per cent of the musical, dramatic and other tastes all the time.

But the fact that groups such as the San Antonio Symphony; the Chicago Opera Ballet; the Kermit Bloomgarden production of "The Diary of Anne Frank," not to mention an increasingly popular folk song collector and singer, Dylan Todd, come to Big Spring is a tribute to the perseverance of the Big Spring Concert Association.

Heading the association is Maj. Vincent Brophy, who elected to make the Air Force, rather than music, his career. In the past two years he has performed prodigious service on behalf of the programs, selling season memberships with the zeal of a missionary.

There have been a number of Big Spring ladies who served with nothing short of heroism in making good programs possible. In fact, they are still the heart and core of the organization. Time and time again when the outlook was rather bleak, they dug down into a reserve of energy and faith and somehow came up with the budget underwritten.

In the days past, the asspociation and its predecessors have been instrumental in bringing such notables as the late Jan Kubelek, famous Czech violinist; the Vienna Choir boys, the original Don Cossack Chorus; Ampira Iturbe, sister of the renowned Jose Iturbe and every bit his equal as a pianist; the pianist-composer, Percy Grainger.

Nor have all the programs been in the musical field even though they have included both the Dallas and San Antonio Symphonies, and Montavani and his silken orchestra. There have been some creditable dramas such as Harvey, The Rivalry, Caine Mutiny Trial. There have been vocal, violin and piano soloists. Once the Fiesta Mexicana added color and vivacity, and Polgar, the famous mentalist-hypnotist, brought a change of pace. The list could be extended on and on.

Everyone who has bought a season membership in the past and this year has had a hand in building the appreciation which makes this calibre of entertainment possible. But everytime a new series starts I want to salute people like the major and especially that valiant band of ladies without whom it simply couldn't be done.

Old Wall Street Yardstick Outdated?

HARRIMAN, N. Y. —In day time in the Ramapo Hills on the manorial premises of the late Edward H. Harriman, to which Columbia University's American Assembly brings legislators, government officials, bankers, businessmen, writers,, university professors, and others for serious discussion of serious contemporary problems, you're tempted to walk in the woods now catching autumnal fire rather than attend rigorous arguments about inflation, Federal Reserve policy, and Treasury debt management.

But when night falls and giant logs burn slowly in giant fireplaces, minds play with random ideas. On one such evening, Wall Street—the furious rise in stock prices on record volume—got a going over. There were a baker's dozen in the group.

"When bad news gets treated as good news, then you can be sure of one thing—inflation's catching hold." He referred to the rally in the market immediately after the Federal Reserve Board boosted margin requirements from 70 per cent to 90 per cent.

"But was it bad news?" rejoined another. "Here's the Reserve Board saying recovery is going along fine, that inflation is a danger. So the astute Wall Streeter accepts the Board's verdict. He buys stocks." This is the Law of Sophisticated Reaction. The investor doesn't respond to what Authority does, but to why Authority does it.

A talk by Burns to the full Assembly in which he declared "inflationary psychology is spreading," set the stage for the fireplace argument. Over a long stretch of history, Burns had said, prices rose briskly during periods of expansion and declined briskly during bcsiness slumps. But in recent recessions, this has not been so.

"Why can't the stock market be justified on the same basis?" some one asked. "Why should we shudder just because industrial stocks sell at 18 times earnings? We still measure stock prices with the yardstick of our fathers and grandfathers. That was before Keynes, before unemployment compensation, before the Employment Act of 1946. It was before welfare economics. Now, we say the U. S. can't afford to have a deep depression, or widespread unemployment. Why don't we apply that to Wall Street?"

A house attendant rustled the logs on the fire as those farthest from the speaker strained to hear him as he continued: "In grandpa's day, companies were small and many. Failure was frequent. The common-stock owner insisted on 6 per cent a year for his risk. He figured that a company had to earn 10 per cent a year in order to pay a 6 per cent dividend. That's how the 10-times-earnings yardstick developed.

"That was when corporations were whipped about by the cycle. In depression, they had to omit dividends. They weren't big, powerful, and cash laden. In the postwar period, we have had three mild recessions. Bethlehem, Republic Steel and U. S. Steel all continued regular dividends. Yet steel's supposed to be feast or famine. Investors and speculators say, 'See, we now control the business cycle even as some day we'll control rainfall.' "

"That's all very well," said a new voice, "but how can you justify stocks selling to return less than bonds? Isn't that complete loss of perspective?"

"Not at all," was the answer. "It fits perfectly. If people reason that recessions will be mild, then common stocks assume some of the characteristics of bonds. Dividends will be safer, income steadier. Therefore, stocks may be entitled to sell for 15 times earnings or 20 times earnings."

"But bonds are still bonds," several persisted.

"That's just it," was the answer. "Stocks—good stocks—give the holder a double play: Dividends plus a chance at appreciation. You get the best of two investment worlds."

"When you try for the best of two worlds," said the man who opened the subject, "are you really in either world?"

Somebody put another log on the fire. Somebody yawned. We straggled off to bed—each with his own conclusion. That's what makes an argument and a stock market.

One American Designer Makes Sense

It is one American man's opinion that if American dress designers had the courage of their native talents, the American woman wouldn't go crazy trying to retool herself every six months in the image of some crazy, mixed-up foreign couturier.

Now if most American men said this, it wouldn't mean a fig. But it just so happens that the man who thinks the American woman shouldn't have to make herself over twice a year is Mainbocher, the premier American couturier. Furthermore, an impressive number of the world's best-dressed women are unalterably convinced that Chicago-born Main R. Bocher is the greatest living designer on either side of the Atlantic, the Pacific or the rest of the Seven Seas.

"The fashion pace is too quick," this quiet, dignified gentleman said the other day. "I don't think a woman can make herself over every six months. Or a designer, either."

As a designer, Mr. Bocher, the only American who ever established and operated a successful couture house in Paris (between the two World Wars), refused to retool a year ago for the Italian-French inspired sack. Now he has refused to retool himself or his customers for the knee-length skirt or the high-riser waist indicated by a bow just slightly south of the chin.

"I don't like to see a woman so breathlessly chic that she looks as if she had just rushed upstairs and done a quick-change into everything new from the skin out," he continued. "The extreme high waist looks wonderful on kids. But I design my clothes for the more normal figure."

The result is that Mainbocker's classic clothes are a little higher in both hem and waist line this season, but the knee is covered and the waist not confused with the Adam's apple.

"There is snake oil in clothes, too," said the man who designed the Duchess of Windsor's wedding dress. "And some women are patsies for the fashion medicine man and his barker. Women have to work out their own clothes salvation. But the American woman showed her mettle in refusing to accept the sack en masse.

"The rank and file of American women are the best dressed in the world, bar none. An opportunity to dress well is placed before every American woman, thanks to the assembly-line dress. Good dresses at all price levels are at her disposal. If she doesn't choose well, she doesn't have good taste.

"American designers do a wonderful job. There is ability in America. But the American designers would do a great job if only they trusted themselves. Unfortunately, not much is done here for creative talent, which needs a receptive mood and surroundings. As a result, American designers tend to become adopters and adapters.

"As the sack proved, there are no dictated fashions. There are only fashions that women like and need. I can propose, but my customers dispose. And that is true in the whole fashion field. Only a few women will kill themselves to have the last word in fashion, whether it becomes them or not."

Mr. Bocher looks askant at the new fashion for wigs. His mannequins not only wear their own hair, but it is neatly coiffed. No egg-beater hairdos on his premises, and no clown make-ups. He believes ladies should look like women and vice versa.

Fortunately for those of us who could not afford a Mainbocher wardrobe short of heisting a bank, his advice comes free.

Wrong Post

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — They may have to change the name of the student newspaper at Ohio University here . . . or else the wording of the sign over its office door.

The newspaper is the POST. The sign over its door reads: POST OFFICE. Staffers have to refuse a lot of freshmen trying to mail letters and packages.

Not Enough Room

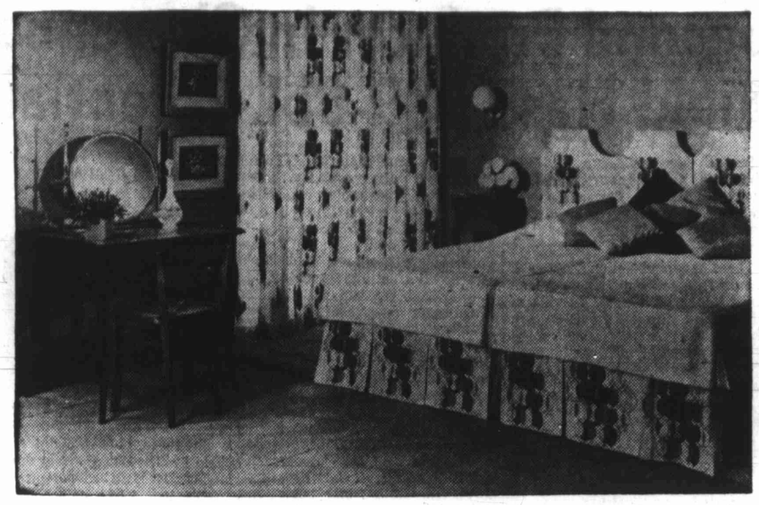

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) —Daniel Blain Jr., ran out of space when he tried to list other members of his family who had attended Washington and Lee University. There wasn't room on the entrance form to list six generations who had attended beginning in 1789.

Pointed Prospect

GRANTS, N. M. (AP)—First National Bank officials turned down one prospective depositor who wandered in and sent clerks scrambling: a porcupine.

First Aid Lesson

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Jesse Couch learned how to apply a tourniquet by watching television programs and the result may be a Boy Scout life-saving medal. Dr. M. C. Maddrey says the 10-year-old boy's action in applying a torniquet on his mother's arm after an automobile accident saved her life. The doctor is signing a certificate to that effect.

From Home Decorating Travelogue

Wrought iron grille-work from an elegant home in Rio de Janeiro inspired the fabric design shown in this bedroom ensemble. It is one of 40 room settings featured in "New World Of Ideas" Home Decorating Travelogue presented by a fabric company. The showing was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ben F. Johnson, where members of the Barbara Reagan and Emily Andrews Classes of First Baptist Church gathered for a party. Mrs. Johnson will also read the commentary on the 57 slides for the Faculty Ma'ams on Oct. 28.

Home Furnishing Slides Are Screened At Sunday School Party

New fabrics and home furnishings inspired by South America were viewed by members of the Barbara Reagan and Emily Andrews Classes of the First Baptist Church, Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ben F. Johnson. Cohostesses were Mrs. Harold L. Davis and Mrs. Jack Hendrix.

A collection of 57 colored slides prepared by a fabric manufacturer revealed the designs into which more than 300 South American treasures had been translated. Mrs. Johnson read the commentary. Preceding the showing, Mrs. T. K. Price brought a devotion on The Home.

Refreshments were served to 22 from a table reflecting fall beauty. At the center of the green linen cloth a footed copper piece held a towering arrangement of yellow roses, flanked by candles. Mrs. Hendrix poured coffee from a copper service. Appropriate napkins took note of Halloween.

In the livingroom, the coffee table held a giant cornucopia from which tumbled fruit, vegetables and Indian corn.

Guests were Mrs. Ora Hardin of Dallas and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien. Mrs. Price and Mrs. W. F. Taylor are teachers of the classes.

Workshop Held At Garden Club

An arrangement workshop was conducted for members of the Rosebud Garden Club Tuesday morning when the group met at the home of Mrs. J. G. Lewis with Mrs. Walter Ross as cohostess.

Mrs. J. R. Hensley, a member of the Big Spring Garden Club, was the guest speaker. With the Fall Flower Show in mind, the speaker took as her subject the various classes scheduled and suggested numerous types of arrangements and containers to be used. She told the club that use of the judges handbook would be advantageous in assembling the materials for their work and also in knowing what the judges base their decisions on.

Following the demonstrations, Mrs. Hensley worked with individuals on their arranging problems.

Mrs. Odell Womack was elected to serve as council representative to replace Mrs. J. F. Wheat, who has resigned from the post. Mrs. Jess Thornton will serve as alternate.

Mrs. Joe Pickle will be hostess at the flower show to replace Mrs. C. M. Boles, who has moved from the city.

Mrs. Horace Reagan was named chairman of a committee to prepare a car for the Big Spring High School homecoming parade.

Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr. will be hostess at her home for the Nov. 25 meeting.

Coffee was served, preceding the meeting, to Mrs. Hensley and 19 members.

Journey Made To Tech Flower Farm

A pilgrimage was made Tuesday to the experimental gardens of Texas Tech in Lubbock by several members of local garden clubs.

In the group were Mrs. Norman Read, Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr., Mrs. John Knox, Mrs. C. C. Brown, Mrs. J. P. Dodge, Mrs. J. E. Hardesty, Mrs. D. S. Riley and Mrs. Della K. Agnell.

The women visited the college greenhouse and also the chrysanthemum farm, where, from a great variety of plants, selections may be made for individual gardens.

Director of the work is E. W. ZuKakas.

4-H Groups Meet At Gay Hill School

Boys and girls of the Gay Hill 4-H Clubs met Tuesday morning at the school to learn more about keeping records of their work.

Bill Sims, assistant county agent, discussed the subject at the boys' meeting, and Mrs. W. R. Jones, HD agent, instructed the girls' club. Correctly kept records were displayed at the meetings.

In the girls' session, members decided to study sewing and the care and preparation of dairy products as the project for the year.

Knott Folks Tell Of Trips, Visitors

KNOTT — Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Ditto and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ditto have returned from Whitney where they attended the funeral services of their cousin. They also visited in Waco and Meridian.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Airhart were in Muleshoe Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Airhart.

Attend Austin Meet

Dr. and Mrs. Akin Simpson returned Tuesday night from Austin where they attended the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and Auxiliary meetings. They also visited her sister, Sandra Dillard, at the Gamma Phi Beta sorority house. Miss Dillard is a graduate student in the School of Psychology, University of Texas.

Casserole Prepared For HD Club

Hamburger and noodle skillet was prepared as a demonstration for members of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club, meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. S. P. Jones. The hostess presented the devotion.

Preparation of the dish was made by Mrs. Jim Smith and Mrs. Jones. They showed the convenience of the casserole, which may be frozen for future serving.

Mrs. L. A. Griffith led a period of recreation for the 17 attending. Mrs. Skalicky reported on the tour which the HD Council sponsored on Monday when members of clubs visited homes in the county.

Mrs. H. S. Hanson will be hostess for the club on Nov. 4.

Wesley Women Have Study, Book Review

Climaxing a study of the Middle East, directed by Mrs. J. T. Gilmore, members of the Wesley Methodist WSCS gathered at the church Tuesday morning for a review of the book, Through Gates Of Splendor. Elizabeth Elliott's book was highlighted by Mrs. Royce Womack.

The 11 were told of the Oct. 30 session, from 9 to 11 a.m., in connection with the Week of Prayer and Self Denial.

Elbow P-TA Meets

Ted Phillips was guest speaker for the Elbow P-TA Monday in the meeting at the school. The first grade presented the program, and the date for the Harvest Festival was set for Nov. 8. Mrs. Son Dunagan was elected delegate to the state convention to be held in El Paso in November.

Baptist Temple WMS Has Filipino Study

A colorful grass cloth which had been sent from the Philippine Islands was the point of interest for the Baptist Temple WMS, Tuesday morning, when they met for a Royal Service program at the church.

In the mission program, led by Mrs. Robert Leeper and presented by the Evan Holmes Circle points of interest were pointed out on the map as imaginary visits were made to the centers. Pictures depicted phases of the Filipinos' life. Taking part in the program were Mrs. A. T. Boren, Mrs. A. R. Posey, Mrs. Pete Shepherd, Mrs. D. D. Johnston and Mrs. Leeper.

Accompanied by Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, Mrs. Shepherd led the group in singing Oh, For a Thousand Tongues to Sing. The calendar of prayer feature was given by Mrs. Posey.

It was announced that the women will have a luncheon for the visiting missionaries, who will be here Nov. 20 for the school of missions; other special guests will be the Baptist pastors.

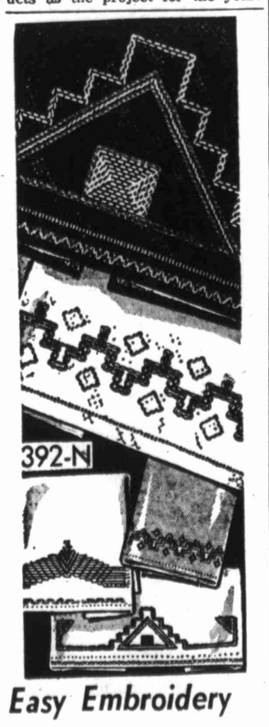

Mrs. Grady Ramsey and Mrs. Winston Gregg were introduced as new members.

Members of the Fishers Circle served refreshments to 23.

Bingo Party Changed To AL Hall Tonight

The Family Bingo Party, sponsored by the Pythian Sisters of Sterling Temple No. 43, will be held at 7:30 tonight at the American Legion Hall. Castle Hall, at which the fete was originally scheduled, was damaged by fire Tuesday.

Proceeds from the party will be used in providing Thanksgiving and Christmas boxes for the Children's Home at Weatherford. The public is invited to attend.

Rebekah Lodges Plan Halloween Festivities

Halloween festivities were planned by both units of the Rebekah Lodge at separate meetings Tuesday evening. A number of delegates will attend the Canton and Auxiliary State meeting in Lubbock over the weekend.

BIG SPRING LODGE

Members of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284, assembled Tuesday night at the IOOF Hall, readied plans for their Halloween party which will be at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 30. Mrs. C. D. Herring Sr., Mrs. A. F. Gililand, Mrs. J. R. Petty and Mrs. Eugene Thomas form the arrangements committee.

It was announced that six members of the unit will attend the state meeting of the Canton and Auxiliary in Lubbock, Saturday through Tuesday. Mrs. Earl Wilson, state secretary, will be accompanied by Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Gilliland and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas.

Visits to ill members were reported by 30 to Mrs. Don Atwood, noble grand.

JOHN A. KEE

Money-raising projects were discussed at a meeting of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge Tuesday evening in Carpenters Hall. Members may still get Christmas cards to sell, it was announced.

Additional plans for the Halloween party, to be given by the group at the state hospital on Oct. 31, were formed, and the announcement was made that such articles as combs, candy, soap, cigarettes and various cosmetics are needed to be given as bingo prizes. They are to be brought to the next meeting of the lodge.

Twenty-eight attended the session, which was presided over by Mrs. W. E. Parker.

Baptists Meet Tuesday For Varied Programs

Circles of the Baptist Churches heard the initial chapters of a new book, Into A New World, at their meetings Tuesday morning.

COLLEGE BAPTIST

The Juanita Arnett Circle met in the home of Mrs. Ben Caldwell, while the Melvina Roberts Circle met at the church.

Reviewing the study for the Arnett group was Mrs. Robert Izzard; Mrs. Artie Williams was the Roberts reviewer.

Mrs. O. L. Stewart opened the meeting for the Arnett Circle, whose 11 members received Mrs. Rudy Montaei as a new worker. Eight attended the Robert Circle, which was opened with a prayer by Mrs. R. E. Chambers and dismissed by Mrs. Bob Swift.

Ivy was taken to a shut-in by the Arnett members. The Roberts Circle will meet Friday at the state hospital for a singsong and devotional period, it was announced.

FIRST BAPTIST

A new study book was introduced to the Anne Dwyer Circle of First Baptist Church at the Tuesday morning meeting in the home of Mrs. Bob Dean.

Mrs. F. B. Bettle reviewed the first part of the book, Into A New World by J. W. Crawley. It deals with Southeast Asia. A report was made that the group had sent $15 to Anne Dwyer, missionary in the Gaza Strip, with which she will buy Christmas gifts for the children in her charge.

Secret pals were revealed with a gift, and new names were drawn. A gift was presented to Mrs. Charles Tyler, who is to leave soon for Mississippi, where the family will make a home.

Mrs. Marvin Baker, 1733 Purdue, will host the next meeting of the group, it was announced.

NORTHSIDE BAPTIST

Mrs. Arnold Tonn presented the devotion for the Northside Baptist WMS when the group met at the church Tuesday morning.

The life of a missionary in China was reviewed by Mrs. Earl Davis. Mrs. Billy Scott opened the meeting, which was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Bert Bradberry. Fourteen members and two guests attended.

Methodist Circle Slants Study Toward Hawaii

Hawaii came in for her share of attention Tuesday afternoon when the Mary Zinn Circle of First Methodist Church met for a continuation of the study, Christian Concern of Our North American Neighbors. Mrs. D. W. Dennis and Mrs. Bob Eubanks were hostesses at the former's home.

Mrs. Jake Bishop, who visited her son in the Hawaiian Islands last year discussed the area from a tourist's viewpoint. A resume of Methodist work there was brought by Mrs. A. D. Franklin, and Mrs. H. H. Stephens spoke of ways to assist.

Mrs. W. A. Laswell led the study and, as background, brought out points from the book Concerns of a Continent. The opening prayer was worded by Mrs. W. L. Vaughan.

Announcing forthcoming events, Mrs. Laswell told of the WSCS general session scheduled for 9:45 a.m. Tuesday, to be preceded by the executive meeting at 9 a.m. A meeting at 9:45 a.m. next Wednesday in the chapel will be in observance of the Week of Prayer and Self-Denial.

The gist of the amendments to be voted upon in the Nov. 4 election was given by Mrs. Clyde Thomas Sr. The group of 19 also learned that Nov. 7 will be World Community Day.

Mrs. Clyde Denton, Gail Rd., will be hostess to the circle Nov. 4.

To Homecoming

Mrs. J. R. Petty plans to leave Friday for Brownwood where she will attend homecoming festivities of Brownwood High School over the weekend. She will be the guest of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Moore.

Here From Houston

Dr. Robert O'Brien of Houston is here for a visit with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien.

Kappa Xi Tri Hi-Y

Kay McGibbon presented the program at the meeting of the Kappa Xi Tri-Hi-Y Monday evening at the YMCA. Based on a discussion of the Similarity Between Protestant Denominations, her talk was followed by a general round table session.

VICTOR ALLESANDRO AND THE SAN ANTONIO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

PROGRAM SET

Symphony Group Is Due Thursday

Victor Allesandro, conductor of the San Antonio Symphony, and his 75 musicians will arrive here Thursday afternoon for their opening concert on tour here Thursday evening.

The event will also mark the opening of the 1958-59 season of the Big Spring Concert Assn.

While Maj. Vincent Brophy, president of the association, and others checked with the city on last minute details at the auditorium, other directors and workers were taking season memberships in the association.

Allesandro, one of the nation's leading symphony directors, announced a program that includes symphonies or passages from Monteverdi, Berloiz, Wagner and Tchaikowsky. In the past the orchestra has been gracious in its encore policy.

The orchestra was brought together last weekend for the season's opener with Elisabeth Schwarzkopf as the guest artists. Reviewers found the orchestra, in fine form both on its own and in support of the famous soprano.

The orchestra this year has 17 new members and the full compliment includes musicians from throughout the United States plus Europe, Mexico and South America. Allesandro, together with Nannette Levi, concert master, Bill Harry, principal cellist, George Yeager, associate director, has been working for several weeks with components of the orchestra.

Thursday evening's concert by the symphony, which a few years ago scored a big hit here, will touch off a series of four offerings for the season. Next, on Dec. 3, will be the celebrated play, "The Diary of Anne Frank," which details the story of a few families hidden away in an Amsterdam attic until the Gestapo came. It is told with the bright optimism and gaiety of the teen-age Anne, who kept her "day book" throughout the hiding period.

After the holiday season will come Ruth Page's Chicago Opera ballet, and finally Dylan Todd, rising young folk song collector, singer and expert guitarist.

No single admission tickets are sold. Season memberships $7.50 and $3.50) may be had from directors or at Alexander's Jewelry.

SEASON TICKET SALES SLATED

A booth where season memberships may be obtained is to be set up in the foyer of the Municipal Auditorium Thursday evening.

Maj. Vincent Brophy, president of the Big Spring Concert Association, emphasized that this is for the convenience of those desiring season memberships only. No single admission tickets are available for any of the four programs on the current series.

T&P Veterans To Leave For Annual Outing

Twenty-four veteran employes of the Texas & Pacific Railway Co., all residents of Big Spring, including 40-year and retired workers, will leave tomorrow on their annual expense-free trip to New Orleans. They are to be guests of the railroad. First trainload of 250, travelling in special trains and pullman cars, will entrain from Marshall, on the 12th annual trip Oct. 23. Second group of 150 will leave one week later.

A luncheon at the Roosevelt Hotel on Oct. 24 honoring 14 employes with 50 years service to the company will be a highlight.

In addition to the 24 Big Springers on the guest list there will be one man—T. J. Collins—from Colorado City and E. D. Tilley from Loraine.

The Big Spring delegation:

D. Bailey, C. T. Botvidson, J. H. Crowder, William Dehlinger, J. P. Dodge, Charles Eberley, R. A. Eubank, J. F. Flock, C. L. Gill, W. L. Harrell, A. C. Hart, Y. W. Heard, J. H. Johnson, S. V. Jordan, C. S. Kyle, J. C. Lane, R. H. Miller, B. F. Sims, A. M. Ripps, E. J. Smith, H. H. Squyres, W. T. Steward, F. B. Wilson and W. R. Yates.

FOR TB WORK

Christmas Seal Sales Scheduled

Reports on projects and on the annual Christmas Seal sale were heard at the regular meeting of the Howard County Tuberculosis Assn.

Much of the work of the meeting in the Chamber of Commerce conference room Tuesday evening dealt with the important seal sale drive. Work of the chapter is dependent upon the sale of the traditional seals for its functioning throughout the year.

Mrs. Odis Wilson, publicity chairman, said that the newspapers, radios and television had pledged cooperation in publicizing the event. Boy Scouts will distribute posters and Hemphill-Wells Co. will boost seal purchases in one of its window displays.

The Medical Auxiliary will stuff the envelopes on Nov. 10, it was announced, and Tri-Hi-Y girls will sell balloons, bearing the twin cross emblem of the tuberculosis association, as an aid to the campaign. A demonstration, calling attention to the need for seal purchases, will be presented during halftime at the Nov. 6 football game with Midland.

Jack Watkins, chapter president, said that he planned to attend a state directors meeting on Nov. 9.

The association is planning to sponsor Manitu tests, in lieu of the mass chest X-ray program. These involve sub-dermic injections which produce reactions where a potential chest disorder exists. These, then, are followed by X-ray.
in which the association has taken which the association has taken an active part.

Twin Boys Die, Services Today

Graveside rites were to be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday for the infant twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Coyle, 1308 E. 6th St.

The babies, Lonnie Joe and Ronnie Gene Coyle, were born at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in a hospital here. Ronnie died at 2:15 p.m. Tuesday and Lonnie at 6:15 a.m. Wednesday.

Services were to be conducted in the Trinity Memorial Park by the Rev. D. R. Philley, pastor of the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church. Arrangements were in charge of River Funeral Home.

Besides the parents, survivors include a brother, Ernest Ray Coyle; a sister, Debra Denise Coyle; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. O. Coyle, Big Spring; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rouse, Big Spring.

Theft Suspect Is Questioned

Deputy Sheriff Jack Hackney said today he was investigating a suspect in connection with the theft sometime Tuesday of a quantity of clothing from a car parked on the Cowper Hospital parking lot.

Hackney said that the car, with the clothing hanging on racks in the rear, was left unlocked from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday.

When the owners, Ellis Dyer, Ackerly, and Andy Upton, Oklahoma City, returned to their car they found thieves had taken one man's suit, two women's skirts, two men's sports coats and a woman's short length coat.

Hackney said the man he is questioning is known to have been in the vicinity of the car at some time during the period when the theft occurred.

500 Boxes Of Ball Gum Sold

Big Spring Kiwanians, on a city-wide selling spree to distribute boxes of ball gum as trick-or-treat supplies, Tuesday night sold 500 boxes in a two-hour drive, Sherman Smith, chairman, reported.

The Kiwanians will be back on their routes at 6 p.m. tonight and again on Friday night, Smith said.

The club is selling ball gum in packages 100 for $1. The organization hopes to sell 1,000 boxes the three nights the drive is on.

All receipts above expenses go to the fund for aid of underprivileged children of the city.

Seventeen Kiwanians were on the job on Tuesday night and Smith said that the reception was excellent from the residents of the city.

Tonight and Friday, the sales drive will last only one hour—from 6 to 7 p.m.

The ball gum is the same as that dispensed in the numerous vending machines seen all over town. These machines are sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Medaris Opposes Transfer Of Army Missile Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's missile chief said bluntly today that this is no time to surrender its best scientific brains and resources to the new Civilian Space Administration.

This widely-held Army view, hitherto muted by Pentagon policy restrictions, was voiced by Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the Ordnance Command at Huntsville, Ala.

Medaris told the Army Assn. convention "there is a time to paddle and a time not to rock the boat."

His comment came in response to a question from the floor asking the Army's opinion of the Space Administration's announced proposal to absorb some 2,100 top Army scientists and engineers and the Army's key missile and space laboratories.

Medaris said any effort to divide what he called the Army's patiently built-up scientific team, including top German scientists, would interfere with the momentum gained.

"If this momentum is interfered with for any reason," he added, "the results wil not be so good."

The proposal by Dr. Keith Glennan, the new civilian space administrator, to absorb the Army scientists and laboratory facilities is one to be decided at the White House. President Eisenhower told a news conference a week ago that he was having studies made of what missile facilities should be transferred to the civilian agency.

Baptist Lauds Church Meeting

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A world churchman, an outsider, came to the International Convention of Christian Churches after it had been talking for five days of its passion for Christian unity.

"We are beginning to succeed," declared the Rev. Edwin T. Dahlberg, a Baptist and president of the National Council of Churches.

"More than any other denomination, you have been the pioneers."

Applause rolled through Kiel Auditorium's Opera House as 3,500 members of the convention for the first time broke into an address with acclaim.

There was more when he said: "I wish I could have come here as part of a merged Baptist and Disciples brotherhood."

The Rev. Mr. Dahlberg served on the Baptist side of a commission which studied the possibility of a merger between the American Baptist Convention and the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ). It did not work out.

'Y' Directors Hear Reports

Young people in the various small group activities of the YMCA explained their programs to YMCA directors Tuesday evening.

Included were Dick Ebling for the Junior Hi-Y, B. F. Newton for the Lakeview Hi-Y, Shirley Ransome for Lakeview Tri-Hi-Y, David Terry for the Gra-Y, Clifton Coot for the Y-Indian Guides, and James Howard Stephens for the senior Hi-Y.

Dan Krausse, chairman of the speaker committee for the annual dinner, said five men are being considered. The annual meeting will be held during the week of Jan. 18-24.

Grover Cunningham Jr., adult program chairman, said six classes have been organized and are in progress. The Letters of Paul class for laymen is slated for Thursday evening and people may still enroll. The housewives trim-and-fit will start Oct. 28. The class on understanding adolescents had to be cancelled due to lack of enrollment, and the senior citizens activity was dropped.

George Oldham reported on the four-front program of youth activities and on the special interest classes for boys and girls. Devotional for the meeting was conducted by Bobo Hardy, general secretary. R. H. Weaver, president, presided at the meeting.

Biffle Rites Slated Today

Funeral for J. R. Biffle, 76, who died at his home northeast of Big Spring Tuesday morning, was to be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Nalley-Pickle Chapel.

Burial was to be in the City Cemetery. Officiating at the services were to be Darrell Robinson of the Bethel Baptist Church, and James Gammon, Big Spring.

Mr. Biffle had been a cement contractor until his retirement. He had lived in the Big Spring area for about 30 years.

Pallbearers were to be Virgil Little, Wayne Brown, Herman Scott, Ralph Proctor, Jeff Painter and Hollis Puckett.

Temperature Hits 43-Degree Low

Tuesday night was the coolest of the current fall season. Temperature fell to a chilly 43 degrees after reaching a high of 74 in mid-afternoon.

The 43 degrees failed by far to equal the coolest Oct. 21 on record. In 1911 and again in 1955, the low reading on that date was 29 degrees.

Cotton farmers are well pleased at the failure of the weather to hit freezing levels. Those who have late cotton would like to have a few more weeks of above-freezing weather — particularly weather with no moisture.

Crash Victim's Services Slated

LAMESA — Funeral services were to be held here this afternoon for Elvis R. Walker, 41, who was killed in a plane crash near Alpine on Sept. 30.

Services were to be held in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Cox of Littlefield officiating. Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park. Mr. Walker is a former Lamesan.

Mr. Walker leaves his wife, Mrs. Frances Walker of Lamesa; a son, Duane Walker of Odessa; a daughter, Dorothy Walker of Lamesa; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Walker of Littlefield; a brother, Herbert Walker of Odessa, and a sister, Mrs. C. W. Smyrl of Canyon.

Plumlee Services Set For Lamesa

LAMESA — Final services for Charles E. Plumlee, 59, who died Monday in Colorado, will be held here Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at Higginbotham Chapel. The Rev. J. L. Mayhew of the First Methodist Church will officiate.

Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park.

Mr. Plumlee is a former resident of Lamesa but has resided for the past several years in Clovis, N. M.

Survivors include his wife, of Clovis; three brothers, Ray of Seminole, and Lowell and Lloyd of California; two sisters, Mrs. J. T. Bell of Seminole, and Mrs. D. P. Switzer of Arizona.

Three Defendants Plead Guilty, Get Fines, Jail Terms

Carl Gene Watkins, 36, Big Spring, charged with DWI, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court Tuesday and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and serve three days in the county jail.

Fred Landcaster, also charged with DWI, pleaded not guilty and his bond was set at $500.

Billy C. James, 34, who was returned here from Monahans last week, pleaded guilty to two counts of cashing worthless checks and drew fines of $100 and jail terms of 15 days in each count.

Irene Wilson, 44, who was arrested with James, pleaded guilty to theft in two counts and was sentenced to 15 days in each count.

Missing Inventor Is Songwriter, Too

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A missing inventor, found early this month in a hobo jungle, has signed a contract involving not his invention but two songs he wrote.

They are "Through With Me" and "We Lived When We Loved," composer-inventor Elmer Meukel said. He added that Billy Eckstine will record the first one, written 14 years ago.

Four companies have expressed interest in his invention, a device supposed to help prevent plane collisions, Meukel said. They are also interested in another of his inventions, one that tells when a missile misses its target, he reported.

Meukel left his home here last summer for Spokane, Wash., where he hoped to borrow money through a brother. He got no loan, broke a leg while train-hopping and wound up in a Reno, Nev., hobo jungle, where a reporter found him Oct. 4.

Slick Highways Fatal To 2 People

FORT WORTH (AP) — Traffic accidents on rain-slick highways killed two persons east of here yesterday.

Mrs. Julia Dexter, about 50, of Dallas was killed and nine others injured, none believed seriously, in a Texas Motor Coach that skidded into a power pole broadside on U.S. 80.

Eugene McDade, 45, Fort Worth, died after his car hit a bridge abutment on the Fort Worth-Dallas Turnpike. Two passengers in his car were injured.

The bus driver, Robert Sullivan of Fort Worth, suffered cuts and bruises. He said he lost control of the bus after braking to avoid hitting an oncoming car that was passing another one.

Elementary Boys' Athletics Dropped

The athletic program for boys in Big Spring elementary schools will be eliminated with the start of the next school year.

Trustees voted to abandon the program last night. In its place, emphasis will be shifted to "a well-rounded program in health and physical education for the benefit of all elementary children," they said.

The action is in accord with accreditation standards of the Southern Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools which prohibit competitive athletics in the elementary grades.

Elimination of the competitive program in the elementary schools was recommended several months ago by Athletic Director Al Milch.

Due to the late mailing of school tax notices, trustees set up a new schedule for allowing discounts for early payments. Taxpayers who pay their bills between Oct. 27 and the last of November will receive a three per cent discount. December payments will draw a one per cent discount.

Normally, three per cent is allowed in October, two per cent in November and one per cent in December. However, tax statements are to be mailed approximately a month late this year, due to a general revaluation program completed recently. Statements now are expected to go into the mail about Oct. 27.

Employment of three teachers was approved by the school board. The teachers are Mrs. Irene Gatewood, Mrs. Cathryn Herndon and Mrs. Joan Thiel, all assigned to Washington elementary school. Mrs. Thiel resigned a few days ago, due to baby-sitter problems, but was re-employed. Resignations of James Aplan, industrial arts teacher, and Fred Coffin, Washington elementary, also were accepted.

Antenna Stolen

James Smith, 3202 Auburn, told the police that a radio antenna was stolen from his car Tuesday. Smith said the car was parked at Big Spring High School from 1 to 4 p.m., and the antenna was taken during that time.

Second Producer In Cheyenne Field Has 1,989-Bbl. Potential

Second big producer in the Cheyenne (Fusselman) field has been completed in Borden County, and an Ellenburger wildcat has been located in Garza County by Humble Oil.

The Cheyenne No. 2 Clayton & Johnson flowed only six hours on potential but made 497 barrels of oil flowing through a 28-64-inch choke, thus giving a calculated 24-hour potential of 1,989 barrels. The discovery well flowed 1,876 barrels.

The young field is about 10 miles north of Vealmoor.

In Garza County, Humble Oil located the No. 3 Slaughter Estate as a wildcat about 13 miles southwest of Post. The exploration is contracted to 8,900 feet.

Humble has gone to work on the No. 1 O. E. Hamlin wildcat about 14 miles northwest of Big Spring in Howard County.

Borden

The Cheyenne No. 3 Clayton has been finaled for a calculated 24-hour flowing potential of 1,989 barrels of oil. Operator carried potential test only six hours, using a 2864-inch choke, and the well made 497 barrels. Location is 663 from north and 664 from east lines, 40-32-4n, T&P Survey, and about 10 miles north of Vealmoor.

Flow was from perforations in the Fusselman 9,710-30 feet. Gravity of the oil was unreported, but the gas-oil ratio hit 428-1. Tubing pressure measured 625 pounds.

In the same field, Cheyenne No. 2 Clayton & Johnson cored today below 6,855 feet. Operator cored from 6,820-54 feet, but description of recovery wasn't reported. The venture is C NE SW, 40-32-4n, T&P Survey.

Stanotex No. 1-4 Good, an offset to the Lone Star No. 1 Porter Fusselman discovery 12 miles northeast of Vealmoor, drilled today at 5,440 feet in lime. It is C NE NE, 9-32-3n, T&P Survey.

Harper & Huffman, No. 1 Hiawatha-Stoker prepared to drill out cement after setting 5½-inch string at 8,439 feet. Operator will test the Ellenburger open hole after drilling plug. Location of the venture is C NE NE, 2-30-5n, T&P Survey.

Shell No. 1-MA Jones, C SW SW, 423-97, H&TC Survey, penetrated to 8,273 feet. It is a wildcat six miles southwest of Fluvanna.

Shell No. 1-A Williams, in the Lucy (Pennsylvanian) pool, waited on cement to set intermediate string at 2,579 feet. It is 1,060 from north and 2,310 from west lines, 259-97, H&TC Survey.

Dawson

Davison & Pembrook No. 5 Burkett, in the Welch field, pumped 74 barrels of oil and 30 per cent water on 24-hour potential test. It is 660 from north and west lines, 14-C39, PSL Survey. Total depth is 4,962 feet, with production reached at 4,887. Perforations extend from 3,887-904 feet.

Garza

Humble No. 3 Slaughter Estate is a new site, 1,980 feet from south and west lines, 12-1, Hays Survey, and about 13 miles southwest of Post. The site is contracted to 8,900 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Shell No. 1 Sims, 10 miles south of Post, cored this morning below 8,200 feet in lime and chert. It is a wildcat 1,980 from south and 926 from west lines, 987-97, H&TC Survey.

Shell No. 1-G Slaughter made hole in lime and shale at 4,740 feet today. It is a wildcat 660 from north and east lines, Section 3, Abstract 1,162 and about 13 miles south of Post.

Howard

Operator waited on cement to set surface string at 225 feet today at the Humble No. 1 Hamlin about 14 miles northwest of Big Spring. The new wildcat, contracted to 10,000 feet, is 660 from north and east lines, 15-33-2n, T&P Survey.

Martin

Texaco No. 4-A-NCT-1 Mabee Foundation has been completed for 175 barrels of 32.2-degree oil and three per cent water. The well is 666 from north and 1,991 from east lines, 11-39, G&MMB&A Survey. Total depth is 4,710 feet, and top of the pay zone is 4,670.

Humble No. 1 McKaskle, C NE NE, 15-32-1n, T&P Survey, displaced mud with oil and prepared to acidize Strawn perforations from 9,842-78 feet today. It is a wildcat 15 miles west of Big Spring.

Cornerstone Of Church Opened

A faded Bible, prayer book and a copy of The Pantagraph, Big Spring's first newspaper, were found in the cornerstone of the old St. Mary's Episcopal Church building at 5th and Runnels Tuesday.

Workmen ran across the receptacle as they dismantled the structure. The newspaper was dated Friday, Sept. 2, 1898. The Rev. William D. Boyd, rector, said the cornerstone probably was sealed about that time.

Church records show the building was erected in 1898. It replaced a structure built in 1896 and which was destroyed by wind in 1897.

St. Mary's Episcopal Church moved from the 5th and Runnels location to new facilities at 10th and Goliad early this year. The old building has been sold to the IOOF lodge and a portion of it will serve as a lodge hall at another location. The church still holds title to the land.

VIClub Initiates 16 New Members

Sixteen new members were initiated into the Big Spring chapter of the Vocational Industrial Club at a meeting Tuesday night. Members of the VIC from Snyder were guests of the local club and initiated the new members.

The meeting was held in the High School cafeteria with about 40 persons present. Louis Maneely is sponsor of the local chapter, and J. C. Jackson was in charge of the Snyder High School group.

Fight Results In Four Being Fined

A Nalley-Pickle ambulance rushed one man to Big Spring Hospital this morning after a disturbance on the east side of town. He wasn't admitted to the hospital but was transferred to the city jail.

The injured man was taken to the hospital by the ambulance for treatment of wounds sustained in a fight but he was released. He and three others were arrested on charges of drunkenness and disturbance.

In corporation court today, the injured party drew fines of $65, while the other three got fines totaling $125. The trouble came up in the 300 block of E. 2nd.

Nurses Chief Goes To St. Louis Meet

Bessie Love, chief of nurses at the local VA Hospital, left today for St. Louis to participate in a regional conference of VA chiefs of nursing services. Miss Love plans to spend a few days with relatives near Iowa City, Iowa, before returning to Big Spring.

Goes To Workshop

George Archer, president of Howard County P-TA Council, attended a leadership workshop in Lamesa, Tuesday.

Gins Running Around Clock

The end of the recent wet interval has revived cotton picking and gins were working round the clock. Jimmy Taylor, county agent, said he had not checked all of the gins but the two plants at Coahoma had ginned nearly 1,000 bales so far.

Fairview gin was getting the grand rush and there was heavy business at the Lomax plant.

Reports told of a few fields of cotton in the Fairview area which would make a bale an acre and there are many fields in the county yielding a half-bale. In the dry Lomax district, it was estimated a third of a bale would be realized.

So far none of the grade cards received have shown any downgrading due to spotting.

High Court Denies Plea For Rehearing

Texas Supreme Court has overruled a motion for rehearing for writ of error in the case of Commercial Standard Insurance Co. versus Lonardo Villa.

The case originated in Howard County. Lonardo Villa was employed by G. R. Simmons when he allegedly was injured in an accident. This was on Dec. 14, 1956. He sued for compensation and the case was tried in 118th District Court in July 1957.

The judgment was for the plaintiff and the defendant carried an appeal to the Supreme Court.

P-TA Carnival Set

Gay Hill P-TA Carnival will be held at 6 p.m. Saturday at the school. The public is invited to attend the event, which will feature a variety of booths and plenty of food.

Rights Panel Faces Struggle For Life

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — The Civil Rights Commission's failure to gain access to county voter records may touch off a legal struggle which could forecast effectiveness of the federal agency in the South.

If the commission takes court tion of a state's right to privacy action over Macon County's guarded registration files, the questof the records will be an issue as well as the complaints of discrimination.

Such a legal fight, some observers believe, might make or break the new Civil Rights Commission.

White supremacy will not be surrendered easily in Macon County, where racial strife long has been commonplace, these observers say. And Atty. Gen. John Patterson, Democratic nominee and thus assured of the next governorship in this Democratic stronghold of the Deep South, has solidly blessed efforts to maintain white reign.

Negroes outnumber white residents about 6-1 in the county, home of famed Tuskegee Institute. At the polls, however, white voters rule by a 2-1 margin and sew up all county and city government posts.

Defiance of any possible change in this pattern came to the fore Monday when county voter registration officials refused to turn over their records to two of the commission's agents from Washington.

Indications that a showdown may be brewing came Tuesday night in a telephone interview between the Montgomery Advertiser and A. H. Rosenfeld, director of the commission's Office of Complaints, Information and Surveys.

"The commission will have to consider some sort of action when it meets in Washington Thursday," Rosenfeld said, "but I don't have the slightest idea what the action will be."

Rosenfeld, reached at Alexandria, Va., said he had not heard from Burton J. Goodyear and O. J. Peterson, the agents who he said "intended to check the voter records as a result of complaints we had received."

Pie's Still In Sky For Most Russians

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Forty-one years after the Russian Revolution the pie is still in the sky for 99 per cent of the Soviet people.

The way the Russians feel about it is illustrated by one of their anecdotes:

One Soviet citizen says things are going to be great—every Russian will have a private jet plane by 1960.

"What do I want a jet for?" a friend asks.

"Don't be a fool," the first man says. "When Pravda reports there are eggs in Vladivostok you jump into your jet and go to Vladivostok."

The Russians have made impressive strides in housing and consumer goods since Stalin died.

Drive into Moscow from any direction and your view is blocked by uninspiring but massive construction projects. And GUM, the biggest department store, has a window full of high-heeled shoes.

But 90 per cent of Moscow's residents haven't a hope of getting a new apartment in the next few years. Most live one family to a room, sharing a four-burner gas stove and bathroom with three or four other families. And it takes months of waiting to buy an ordinary attractive pair of shoes let alone high heels.

NEW RAINCOAT

On the surface, Moscow looks a great deal better than it did three years ago. There are more goods. Clothes are still shapeless and drab. But last year the government put out a neat raglan-sleeve raincoat in tan and navy blue. It has improved the street appearance of the Soviet male as nothing else in 41 years.

Even Warsaw is a riot of color and revelry compared with Moscow.

Everything's crowded in Moscow. The streets are a sea of gray humanity. It's a fight to get into the stores. The restaurants are nearly always crowded. People hover outside every theater, movie, opera house and sports stadium cadging tickets. Tickets to most amusements are allotted by party or trade union organization. The public gets the leavings.

There are lines for nearly everything in Moscow, from buses to streetcars to the pop and ice cream vendor on the corner. In the better stocked grocery stores the lines are three deep.

Once at GUM I saw a line of several hundred people. I asked women near the end what they were waiting for. They weren't too sure. It turned out to be cheap Chinese tablecloths. The line starts forming at dawn, two or three hours before the store opens.

NOT ENOUGH

There aren't enough stores, theaters or stadiums to go around. As long as the government owns them all, it would be poor business to open more to compete with one another.

A family budget would stagger an American housewife.

Rent runs less than 5 per cent of income, or 30 to 60 rubles. The ruble is worth 10 cents at the tourist rate.

Medical care is free, if you can spend days waiting your turn at a state clinics, or work your way through the cots that line corridors of the average hospital.

Vacations at state sanatoria are free or cut rate if you have a good job, work hard or have influence.

The bulk of the Soviet family budget goes on food. Most Russian families, with everyone working, have money to spare.

They can't afford to buy anything as luxurious as clothes regularly, so they spend it on amusements, or more food. Every year or so they splurge on a coat for Ivan or a pair of shoes for Galina.

The Soviet Union has produced a generation of cynics, and the most cynical are its youth.

NO ROBOTS

An American in Moscow soon finds that 40 years of hothouse breeding has not created an unthinking robot and stifled human curiosity, skepticism or ideals.

But this may still turn out to be a discouraging discovery.

The cynicism of youth is no direct threat to the regime. It is not of the sort that moves mountains.

Most young Russians have a consuming curiosity about the world outside, especially the United States.

They don't believe most of what they're told—that's propaganda, and they've built up an immunity to propaganda—but they have little to fill the holes.

They pick up the Voice of America—it comes booming out of tenement windows in Moscow, Leningrad and Tiflis—and they buttonhole tourists for scraps of information.

Many young Russians are interested in American movies and jazz. They're still in the Deanna Durbin and Tarzan era. I've been asked many times: "Is Glenn Miller really dead?"

Some of the interests are more basic.

ANYTHING, U.S.

I've been stopped dozens of times by youths wanting to buy anything and everything American, from records to cameras to the shoes off my feet.

Pravda faithfully reported U.S. unemployment figures throughout the recession but young Russians I talked to asked: "Those stories about U.S. unemployment aren't really true, are they?"

Moscow radio drones out its messages of hate, dressed in words of peace, but Russians you talk to couldn't care less. They're far more interested in the price of shoes in New York.

Some Russians I know read only the newspaper Soviet Sport, and wave impatiently when you mention Pravda.

Unquestionably, many young Russians accept the party line—hook, line and sinker. They are the 10 per cent or so who end up with the good education and know which side of their bread gets the butter. Others, at the other end of the social spectrum, are too busy earning their bread to think too hard, but not too busy to bear resentment.

DEAR ABBY

FOOD AGREEMENT

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We play bridge with our next door neighbors and for an evening snack we agreed not to fuss. Just to serve coffee and doughnuts. That's what I served. When we went to her house she served chicken salad sandwiches and coffee and brownies. The next time at my house I served coffee and doughnuts. When it was her turn again she served ham sandwiches, fruit salad, coffee and ice cream. I told my husband I didn't care if she served porterhouse steak, I am only going to have coffee and doughnuts. And they don't have any more money than we do. Please tell me if I am doing right?

PLAIN PEOPLE

DEAR PLAIN: If you agreed to serve only coffee and doughnuts, serve coffee and doughnuts.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is about religion. My father won't let me accept a date with a boy who is not of my own faith. I am only 16 years old, Abby, but I think I have pretty good sense. I wouldn't turn away from my own religion for any boy, but how can I convince my father that just because I have a few dates with a boy of a different faith it doesn't mean I am going to marry him? VOTED DOWN

DEAR VOTED: As long as you feel strongly about your own religion, why tempt the Fates and complicate your life? Do yourself a favor and confine your dates to boys you could marry should Cupid's dart prematurely find your heart.

DEAS ABBY: My husband works as night electrician at a hospital. A few months ago a woman who works in the laundry started to do his wash for him so he wouldn't have to bring it home for me to do it. I told my sister about it and she said, "No woman is doing a man's wash just because she likes to wash." I got mad and said I thought it was very nice of her to do it. I asked a few other friends what they thought about it and they changed the subject. My husband is 44 and most women at the hospital are much younger than he is so they wouldn't go for a man his age. He told me so. Should I make him bring his wash home or not?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: A married man (age 44) should not give a co-worker the shirt off his back — even if she offers to launder it for him. Quit asking your friends and relatives what they think about it and short-circuit the connection between your hubby and the laundry lady—pronto!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I don't object half as much to the woman who, when shopping for a dress, will let me show her every dress in the place and then say, "That isn't what I had in mind," as the woman who wear a size 42, tries a dress on without a girdle and says, "It doesn't do a thing for me."

ELLEN B. (25 years experience)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Since sales people are airing their complaints, may I add mine? How about the woman who will come into the drapery department spend hours of your time while you help her match colors, compare, explain and educate and then she will leave—undecided. She returns the next day with her ladyfriend and I go through the same routine all over again. They leave—undecided. The next week she will bring her husband in. This makes THREE times I must go through the same routine. She leaves with my name and sales number on a day I come back from lunch and find out that the lady was back and bought the first thing I showed her—from somebody else.

N. Korean Guard Deserts To South

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The U.N. Command announced today that a Communist guard in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea killed his captain and deserted to the South.

The guard, Pfc. Kim Yung Chul, 20, was picked up last Friday by an American lieutenant.

The North Korean told investigators for the U.N. Command that he had been on guard duty at the entrance to the Panmunjom joint security area where Communist and U.N. representatives meet on armistice matters.

He said he first suggested to his captain that they both desert but the captain was unwilling. Kim said he then fired at the officer three times, killing him, and fled.

No specific reason for the soldier's defection to the South was given.

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — A large ship reactor designed to prove the effectiveness of atomic propulsion for a cruiser and an aircraft carrier went into operation Tuesday at the nearby National Reactor Testing Station.

Standard Acquires Most Of Humble

HOUSTON (AP)—Standard Oil of New Jersey says it now owns more than 98 per cent of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

Jersey officials estimated Jersey now holds all Humble common stock except for about 1,500,000 shares still owned privately.

Acquisition followed a recent offer to exchange five shares of Jersey common stock for four shares of Humble. More than 5,500,000 additional shares of Humble common were acquired, officials said.

The announrement said Standard of New Jersey sought to increase its domestic holdings.

Science Closer To Test Tube Life

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Science may be getting close to producing rudimentary life in a test tube, the Smithsonian Institution said today.

"The way seems open, following recent revolutionary chemical developments, to the actual laboratory synthesis of a structure having most of the properties of a living agent," said the institution.

It did so in summarizing an article by Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, director of the virus laboratory of the University of California, in the Smithsonian's annual report.

Stanley has described remarkable recent progress in breaking down the barriers between nonliving molecules and living organisms, the Smithsonian Digest said.

"The remaining essential step, he says, seems to be synthesis of one of the chemically highly complicated nucleic acids which forms an essential component of viruses and of genes, the units of heredity. This may be close at hand," the article said.

The government research agency said Stanley pictures a kind of "ladder of life" as being constituted as follows:

(1) nucleic acids; (2) viruses, which incorporated nucleic acids; (3) single-celled living things, such as bacteria and protozoa; and finally (4) multicelled organisms comprising all higher forms of life.

"The barriers between these have broken down one after another in the last few years," said the Smithsonian, adding:

"This progress seems to have culminated very recently, Dr. Stanley says, in a demonstration by Dr. H. Fraenkel-Conrat at the University of California that one of the nucleic acids may have all the essential properties of a gene or of a group of genes. Already proteins, building stones of life, have been produced from amino acids."

This finding, said the Smithsonian Digest, "nearly completes the connection" between nonliving material and that which is undoubtedly living.

"The remaining step," it said, "seems to be the synthesis of this nucleic acid out of its constituent parts . . . just as proteins have been synthesized from amino acids.

"It would be one of the outstanding events in all history."

Radiation Band Is Danger To Spacemen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first space man must cruise within 600 miles of the earth or zoom more than 2,000 miles up to escape a layer of deadly cosmic radiation, a noted rocket scientist said today.

Dr. Ernst Stuhlinger of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency presented those estimates in a speech prepared for a convention of the Association of the U.S. Army.

Above 600 miles, he said, radiation is up to 10,000 times greater than it is nearer the earth, and this area can be penetrated only for limited periods.

The German-born scientist based his estimates on radio reports from the Army's Explorer satellites, none of which exceeded 2,000 miles in orbital height.

He made no mention of this month's Air Force moon rocket, shot to a height of nearly 80,000 miles. Preliminary information from that shot indicates the radiation may increase in intensity to a height of 5,000 or 6,000 miles and begin to diminish about 10,000 miles above the earth. A State University of Iowa scientist said, however, these reports were premature.

Dr. Stuhlinger said that, based on analyses of reports from the American satellites, the radiation belt may peter out at about 2,000 miles altitude. He said that if this is proven true, a space man could journey through the forbidden zone if he spent no more than an hour or so in the area.

Among other discoveries made by analyzing the messages from the Explorers, Dr. Stuhlinger noted the presence of nearly twice as much air in lower space as had been believed. He said the density of the air at around 200 miles altitude was not only about 40 per cent greater than was anticipated but also that it built up into enormous air mountains which change constantly due to changes in sun radiation.

Reports from the Explorers have also indicated, he said, that the earth is apparently one half to 1 per cent less curved than previously thought; that tiny meteorite particles found in space offer no hazard to human orbiting; and that "man can easily control the temperature in a space vehicle to that range desired for human existence in comfort."

Norther Slashes Through Texas

By The Associated Press

A norther slashed Texas Tuesday night and early Wednesday with hard rains, strong winds, hail and freezing temperatures.

Three deaths were blamed on the weather.

But the flooded Rio Grande below Falcon Dam continued to fall and no more rain fell on its watershed.

The front lay early Wednesday from between Dallas and Tyler to College Station, east of Austin and San Antonio and on to Cotulla.

Dawn temperatures ranged from 32 degrees at Dalhart to 76 at Palacios and Galveston.

Rain fell early Wednesday at College Station, Austin and Lufkin.

The brunt of the fierce weather hit North Central Texas.

SEC Teams Produce 17 Football Upsets

BY JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

It used to be that preparing for a Southwest Conference football team was risky business.

Things are different this year. The Southeastern Conference has taken over the spoiler role, with neighboring Atlantic Coast and Southern Conferences right behind.

The SEC has produced 17 upsets compared to seven for the Southern Conference six.

Four teams from the ACC have helped produce three each — win lose or draw — while the SEC's Vanderbilt also has been involved in a trio. Two of the teams — North Caroline State and Duke — meet Saturday, while the other three, Maryland, Wake Forest and Vanderbilt meet teams which have been involved in at least one upset.

Duke's Coach Bill Murray, whose team is a 10-point favorite, is doing his best to guard against a fourth upset, he had his boys under the lights in cold, windy Duke Stadium Tuesday, minus guard Ron Bostian, out with a bruised hip.

NC State's Earle Edwards concentrated on running and pass defense after telling his squad that Duke's offense was designed to "keep them guessing."

Maryland, 14-point underdog to Auburn, will probably have to play without guard Rod Breedlove and Tom Gunderman, who missed Tuesday's hour and a half scrimmage aimed at stopping the Tigers' passing attack. Both were injured last Saturday against North Carolina.

Wake Forest, seven point underdog against North Carolina, held its second consecutive secret practice, working on offense.

Virginia, on the other hand, is taking aim on 13-point favorite Vanderbilt, though it will have to play without quarterback and passer Reece Whitely, out for the second straight week with a bad ankle. The Cavaliers, after hearing of Vandy's great speed, divided their time between offense and defense.

There is upset potential galore in other parts of the nation as teams got down to the bruising work in the week's practice schedule.

Princeton learns today whether star tailback Dan Sachs will be available for Saturday's Ivy League game with Cornell. Sachs was injured against Penn two weeks ago.

Two games in the Big Ten Saturday have upset written all over them. Iowa meets undefeated Northwestern and is a 10-point favorite while undefeated Ohio State entertains Wisconsin, a 6-point underdog. The Hawkeyes were strengthened by the return of fullback and Capt. John Nocera, out with bad knees, while Northwestern went through dummy drills and scheduled its only contact work for today. Tackle Dewitt Hoopes is a doubtful starter Saturday.

The Buckeyes, with halfback Don Clark watching from the sidelines, went through a stiff scrimmage. Clark, suffering from an injured shoulder, is expected to do contact work today. Wisconsin also ran through a stiff contact drill with another slated for today.

Group Returns With Bear Tale

A group of five Big Spring men returned Monday night from a hunting trip into Colorado with tales of deer and 'quilled bear'—with some evidence to back them up.

The party bagged six deer, the largest of which weighed 190 pounds, dressed out, and had 14-point antlers.

Dalton Carr killed two of the animals. Others in the party were J. D. Jones, Merrill Creighton, L. D. Hayworth and C. W. Lomax.

Hayworth also reported seeing a bear in the thick brush but a thorough investigation of the area flushed out only a huge, unfriendly porcupine.

Still later, Lomax did get a bear in the scope-sight of his rifle but it disappeared into the bushes before he had a chance to pull the trigger.

The party used a cabin in the wild area about 75 miles northeast of Cortez as headquarters. They reported there was some ice at a nearby spring in the mornings but the weather was so warm no one wore coats.

The group was away from home a little more than a week.

Betty Smith Paces Blue Monday Loop

Betty Smith was the top individual in this week's Blue Monday bowlerette league play. She scored a 166-427 game and series to eke out Jean Buchanan who had 164-417.

Suggs Construction showed the best team effort, gaining a 536-511-1504 games and total pins count.

Casey Packing was second with 1433.

Splits were converted by Betty Smith 2-5-7, and Ann Cheney who picked up the 5-10 three times and the 3-10 once.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

(Note: This column was written prior to the school board's announcement made Tuesday night to the effect that the Elementary school athletic program would be abandoned here starting with the 1959 school year, in the face of rising costs.)

Are our schools wasting money by underwriting a football program for the elementary schools each fall?

Would we benefit more by discontinuing grade school football and hiring more men to handle the coaching load from the seventh grade coaching on up?

You can hear arguments pro and con about football on the grade school level. Critics say boys of elementary school age have no coordination and very little is accomplished. They also point to the rising costs of the athletic program and caution that something is going to have to be done about reducing expenses.

The patrons who would eliminate football on the elementary school level say the youngsters would get just as much good out of a 'pass and touch' type of game, where little body contact is made, where very little equipment other than a football is needed and where expensive playing gear would not have to be purchased.

Champions of the elementary phase of the grid program spotlight the fact that the boys learn invaluable lessons in team-work and get an early insight on the other fellow's problems. The age of reason blooms faster for them for that reason, is the contention.

Not many of the school systems out this way run an elementary school football program. Athletic directors in places where grade school football has either been abandoned or never been undertaken say they've weighed the advantages gained in such an endeavor against the cost of such an undertaking and the scale is badly out of balance.

Some high schools in the northern sections of our nation actually do not permit a youth to report for football training until he reaches the ninth grade.

* * * *

What ever the final decision might be on elementary football here, I'm in favor of giving coaching relief to the seventh and eighth grade teams.

Each of the ninth grade contingents have two coaches. The four men assigned to coaching duties on the seventh and eighth grade levels (two at each school) are doing tremendous jobs and certainly cannot be faulted for any of their work, but they need help.

Anytime one man is commissioned to work with anywhere from 25 to 35 boys, there is going to be so much he can't do, so much he can't get around to teaching. Too many of the youngsters stand around doing little if anything, in such instances.

* * * *

In only rare instances have our football teams been successful this fall. Few expected any of the clubs to experience outstanding success, since Goliad Junior High School became a part of the school system and the material had to be divvied up, so to speak.

In the long run, the varsity program will benefit from the fact that more boys are being given an opportunity to play.

* * * *

Winning complexes should be developed early in the careers of a football player and team, however.

In other words, if a boy becomes associated with a team which takes its lumps from the time he starts playing, it is often difficult to rid him of a defeatist attitude. There is grave risk that more and more he begins to think in terms of losing, of going into any game as second best.

It's a big job the coaches have, that of selling the boys on themselves, and perhaps more men are needed in the junior high schools to do the job.

Recruiting Campaign Now Paying Off For Wildcats

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A painstaking recruiting campaign now is paying off for this season's Cinderella football team, Northwestern.

Unbeaten and suddenly ranked No. 8 nationally, after crushing Michigan 55-24, Northwestern has made one of the Big Ten's most dramatic comebacks.

The Wildcats did not win a game last year and failed to take a conference decision since 1956 until they trimmed Minnesota and Michigan the last two Saturdays.

The man behind the rags-to-riches move is 35-year-old Ara Parseghian, an intent, dynamic coach who turned out undefeated teams at Miami of Ohio before coming to Northwestern three years ago.

Ohio remains lush recruiting ground for Parseghian, who does it so matter-of-factly that even Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes has not openly accused him of poaching. Six of his starters listed for the pivotal homecoming clash at Iowa Saturday are from the Buckeye State.

These include two of the finest halfbacks in the Big Ten, Ron Burton of Springfield and conference sprint champion Willmer Fowler of Mansfield. The others are sophomore Mike Stock of Barberton at fullback, tackles Gene Gossage of Wadsworth and Andy Cvercko of Campbell, and end Doug Asad of Fairview Park.

Sixteen sophomores are on the first three teams, four of them on the No. 1 unit. Topping this group is quarterback Dick Thornton of Chicago, who punts, runs and passes.

"Thornton has the Northwestern team in the palm of his hand with his remarkable poise and ability," says Forest Evashevski of Iowa. "He is the best sophomore in the Big Ten without a doubt."

Leeka Selected As Top Lineman

Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Leeka, UCLA tackle, put on his college football pads for the last time Saturday. He played such a bangup game against Washington that he was named today the Lineman of the Week.

Leeka, a 6-0, 202-pounder, was one of six UCLA seniors who closed out their half-season of eligibility because of Pacific Coast Conference penalties. Leeka and his mates bowed out in style as UCLA surprised by beating the Huskies 20-0 for their first PCC triumph.

"I've never seen tackle played better than Leeka played it against the Huskies," declared Bill Barnes, UCLA coach.

Jeff Langston, Iowa end, and Monty Stickles, Notre Dame end, were high up in the voting by sports writers and broadcasters in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Langston plucked a Wisconsin fumble out of the air and ran 21 yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown in Iowa's 20-9 victory. Stickles scored all of Notre Dame's points in the Irish 9-7 victory over Duke. He first caught a forward pass for a TD, then after the Blue Devils went ahead he booted a 23-yard field goal in the second half for the winning points.

Jim Healy, Holy Cross guard, and Jim Wood, Oklahoma State end, also stood high in the balloting. Healy blocked a Dartmouth field goal try. The ball flew off to one side and was caught by John Esposito, Healy's teammate, who ran 80 yards for the winning touchdown.

Wood's tackling and punting helped Oklahoma State tumble Houston from the unbeaten ranks. He had a total of 11 individual tackles and assisted in nine more as the Cowpokes made on several goal line stands that preserved their 7-0 victory. In addition he punted six times for a 39.8 yard average. One of his kicks went for 56 yards.

Win Over Cuban Doesn't Please Len Matthews

By NOAH HALPER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — You'd hardly guess by listening to young Len Matthews today that the unbeaten lightweight prospect had just successfully passed his most important ring test.

Somewhat dejected despite his unanimous 10-round decision Tuesday night over crafty Orlando Zulueta, Matthews complained, "I never really got a good shot at him. He taught me a lot but I'd like to fight someone who would throw more punches."

Zulueta, 30-year-old Cuban veteran of 110 fights, seemed relieved that he had survived two knockdowns and lasted the distance.

"The kid's got class," Zulueta said.

The bout was the 15th for Matthews, a 19-year-old Philadelphian who only once before had gone 10 rounds. The greater experience of the Cuban showed in early rounds when he held his own strictly on his boxing and counterpunching ability.

He inflicted an inch-and-a-half gash over Matthews' left eyebrow midway through the fourth round.

As Matthews explained it afterwards: "I wanted to get him suddenly, as fast as I could." He said trainer Quenzell McCall warned him against this, cautioning that he might leave himself open.

Matthews, at 133, two pounds less than Zulueta, said he took McCall's advice, but it didn't look it from ringside. He started moving faster and throwing harder and more often, apparently worried that ring physician Alfred Ayella Jr. would stop the fight.

Zulueta, whose record now is 63-36-11, couldn't cope with Matthews after that. He was floored in the sixth for the mandatory eight count when Matthews caught him off balance. Then a left uppercut and a right to the head in the seventh put him down with authority.

The Cuban, who had been knocked down previously only by lightweight champion Joe Brown, was through at this point.

He clinched more and resorted more to using his head at close quarters in a futile attempt to open the cut beyond repair.

Manager Anthony Graziano said Matthews will rest at least two months and then hopes to meet Carlos Ortiz or Johnny Busso.

JIM BROWN THREATENS ALL-TIME PRO MARKS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Statistics are proving what many opposing football players already accept as fact—that Jim Brown may be the greatest rusher in the history of the National Football League.

Official NFL figures released today show that the bruising fullback of the Eastern Division—leading Cleveland Browns is well on his way to setting a rushing record for one season and also has a good shot at a scoring record.

The former Syracuse star has accounted for 635 yards on 94 running attempts in the Browns' four winning efforts this year. That figures out to a 6.8 yard average per carry and a game average of almost 159 yards. The game figure is about 65 yards more than Steve Van Buren averaged when he set the present NFL league rushing record with 1,146 yards for the Philadelphia Eagles in 1949.

Another big reason for the Browns' success is rookie Bob Mitchell whose season total of 370 yards rushing is second best in the league. Mitchell has averaged 8.8 yards for each of his 42 runs. Tom Wilson of Los Angeles is a distant third with 302 yards by running.

Eddie Lebaron of the Washington Redskins, John Brodie of San Francisco and John Unitas of Baltimore continue to head the passers. Lebaron has the best average gain per pass attempt, 9.70 yards. Brodie has the best completion average, 58.8 per cent in 68 attempts. Unitas' passing has accounted for the most yards, 907.

Brown heads the scoring parade with 10 touchdowns for 60 points in his four games. The league record for TDs in one season is 18 in 10 games by Van Buren. Willie Galimore of the Chicago Bears has 42 points for second place in the scoring race.

Raymond Berry of the Colts has caught the most passes in the 1958 season, 23 good for 361 yards. But Del Shofner of the Los Angeles Rams has gained the most yards, 424 in 19 catches.

Other statistical leaders are Sam Baker of Washington, a 45.7 yard punting average; Billy Wells of Philadelphia, a 14.9 yard average for his punt returns; Don Maynard of the New York Giants, a 31 yard average on kickoff returns, and Jack Butler of Pittsburgh with six pass interceptions.

Average Turnout Of 3,757 Has Seen Longhorn Games

Game	Attendance	Receipts	BS's Share

TOTALS	22,541	$23,418.00	$10,161.64

The Big Spring Steers have played to an average paid attendance of only 3,757 in their six games to date, five of which have been played here.

Total attendance amounts to 22,541. Of that sum, 4,052 saw the game in Sweetwater between the Steers and the resident Mustangs.

Cash receipts for the six engagements come to $23,418. Big Spring, forced to give guarantees to three teams which played here (including $1,000 to El Paso Austin last week) before a 50-50 split of the gate receipts, took considerably less than half of that, or a total of $10,161.64.

The biggest turnout of the home season saw Big Spring play Snyder. On that occasion, 5,214 persons were in the stands and they paid out a total of $5,659.50 for the privilege.

Last week, a total of 2,773 customers filed through the gates to watch the Longhorns edge El Paso Austin. They paid $2,704.70 for their ducats. After El Paso's guarantee had been met, the local school realized only $878.35 as its share of the gate.

The Steers still have Abilene and Midland as home games. They go on the road to play Odessa and San Angelo.

Two Boys Quit Steer Squad; Team Stages Secret Drill

The Big Spring Steers, who have been operating short-handed all fall, must get along without two lettermen in their game Friday night with the Abilene Eagles.

Don Payne, who has been alternating at one tackle spot with Kenny Johnson; and J. B. Davis, reserve fullback, haven't been out for practice since last Friday's game with El Paso Austin.

Coach Al Milch said he had taken up the suits of both athletes. Davis quit one time previously this year but asked to be returned to the team. He was able to do so only after getting the approval of the four captains.

Departure of Payne leaves the Steers with only two tackles, Chubby Moser and Kenny (Rock) Johnson. Should anything happen to them, some one would have to be moved from another position to fill the gap.

The Longhorns worked behind closed gates Tuesday, practicing a couple of new formations for the invasion of the Eagles.

Milch said he was far from satisfied with the progress his team had shown. He stated new injuries had cropped out. Wayne Fields, star running back, hurt his knee in a pileup and may be hobbled in Friday's contest with the powerful War Birds.

Another rough workout is in prospect for today, after which the Steers will tail off with play rehearsals on Thursday.

Abilene has come back strong after losing that early season game to Sweetwater, so well, in fact, that it is now considered the No. 1 Class AAAA team in the state.

The Eagles boast a fine, speedy line and a set of rugged backs led by Stan Cozby.

McMurry And McNeese Vie Monday Night In Abilene

ABILENE (SC)—The McMurry College Indians, who move as deadly by air as they do on the surface, will test its one-two punch against McNeese State College in a unique Monday night affair here October 27.

McMurry, still possessing possibilities for a post-season engagement, will meet a Lake Charles, La., eleven that relies mostly on a hard running game.

The McNeese Cowboys have stuck mostly to the surface in six games this season, winning three and losing three. Quarterback Sammy Stribling leads the 'Pokes aerial game with four of 14 for 140 yards and two touchdowns. McNeese has gone to the air only 22 times this year.

McMurry's Redskins, however, have utilized their explosive passing game to good advantage in its 4-2 record. Quarterback Tommy McAdams from Big Spring, has hoisted 34, completed 17 for 354 yards and five TD's. Alternate field general Terry O'Brien has completed 13 of 37 for 367 yards and a pair of six-pointers.

The Indians and Cowboys originally had scheduled their second meeting for October 24, but rescheduled the tilt to avoid conflict with another game in Abilene.

McMurry and McNeese met for the first time in 1957, with the Redskins winning, 7-6.

McMurry has one of the nation's leading small college scorers in Fullback Ernie Davis, brother to the Tribe's Little Al-American guard, Charlie Davis. Ernie has scored 68 points in six games, and held the third spot in NAIA scoring ranks last week.

Charlie Davis, rated "one of the best defensive linemen in the Southwest, "usually is a key interference man for Ernie. Charlie, a fire-plug-constructed, 200-pound senior, has been the bulwark of the Indian defense.

The Indians sustained their second defeat of the year last week against East Texas State. McMurry had command of the game until the fourth quarter turned into a nightmare.

Leading 14-6 as the final period got under way, East Texas State turned on a weary Tribe defense for 33 points.

But the Redskins were not to be denied one last scoring sortie. On a fourth and 15 situation from the Indian 17, McAdams hit Ernie Davis on a screen pass play that covered 83 yards and paydirt.

In the first half, McAdams put the Warriors out front 6-0 with a 80-yard TD pass play to wingman Dalton Hicks. McMurry led at the intermission, 6-0.

The Monday night fracas closes out McMurry's home stand. Their three remaining games, New Mexico A&M, Louisiana Tech and Eastern New Mexico University, will be road games.

Heise, Osborne Tops In Scoring

Harry Heise, Webb AFB bowler in the Big Spring Men's Classic bowling league, pulled down a 231 high game for individual honors in this week's action in the circuit.

Madewell Humble's Roy Osborne took the individual high series with 187-214-203—604. Standard Sales scored the best team series, 2652.

B&B Construction ripped Cosden for three games, Madewell grabbed two of three from C. D. Turner Drilling, as did Webb AFB treat Campbell Construction. Standard Sales piled on Jimmie Jones Shell for two out of three games also.

Standings:

Team	W	L
Standard Sales	13	8
Jimmie Jones Shell	10	8
Webb AFB	9	9
Cosden Pet.	8½	9½
Madewell Humble	8½	9½
Campbell Cons.	8	10

C. D. Turner Drilling	7	11

Brown - Cardinal Game On Channel 4

The pace - setting Cleveland Browns, winners in last Sunday's tilt with Pittsburgh, take on the Chicago Cardinals in Sunday's televised professional football game. The Cardinals will be fresh from an upset victory over the powerful New York Giants.

The game, telecast over the Columbia Broadcasting System, can be seen in this area over station KEDY-TV.

Boxing Game Goes Formal On Coast

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Boxing goes slightly black tie tonight when Gaspar Ortega of Tijuana, Mex., and Don Jordan of Los Angeles hook up in a 12-round rematch. The winner is set for a title fight with welterweight champion Virgil Akins.

The bout will be nationally televised via ABC, starting at 6 p.m., PST.

The setting will be the grand ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel, where in July beauties from all over the world resided for the Miss Universe contest.

Lines Drawn In Delinquency Fight

AUSTIN (AP)—Battle lines are being drawn in the legislative fight against juvenile delinquency.

Gov. Daniel told newsmen yesterday he would seek a paid parole system for juvenile delinquents.

The Legislative Budget Board said recently it would make no recommendations, leaving paid parole in the hands of local authorities.

And the governor's Senate floor leader, Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, said the present need is for more housing and not the parole system.

Budget Director Vernon McGee warned there was a danger in letting Gatesville, the state's main training institute get too big. He said the major need is for a separate school for youngsters who are first offenders and can be separated from the tougher, repeater delinquents.

Humble Cuts Oil Purchasing Prices

HOUSTON (AP)—Humble Oil & Refining has cut posted prices for Sweden and Refugio crude in 25 South Texas fields.

The firm said the adjustments were made to meet competition.

Sweden crude from 17 fields in the lower Gulf Coast area was cut from $3.35 to $3.25 a barrel. Refugio prices were cut in eight fields from $3.35 to $3.25.

Mirando crudes from 18 Southwest Texas fields were cut two cents a barrel for each degree below 24 gravity down to 20 degree. The 24 gravity Mirando remains at $3.21 a barrel, while the new 20 degree price is $3.13.

Choirs Open For Concert Practice

Two church choirs will open their rehearsals for practice on the upcoming Christmas music program.

The First Methodist choir meets Wednesdays at 8:15 p.m. in the church's sanctuary, Ira Schantz, conductor. St. Paul's Presbyterian choir meets Wednesdays at 9:15 p.m., also in that church's sanctuary, Betty Ware, director.

Both Schantz and Mrs. Ware have extended a cordial invitation to singers to meet with their choirs, and help beef up the massed community choir which will present "The Messiah" at 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 14.

These two choirs, since they are the only two in town which already know "The Messiah," will act as nuclei for the larger choir which will be drawn from other choral groups and unaffiliated vocalists. "The Messiah," says Mrs. Ware, is not really a difficult composition, especially if one can practice with a group which already knows the score.

The Christmas concert can be one of the really big events for Big Spring, if singers will stop being bashful, and will cease awaiting an engraved, personal invitation. "The Messiah" does require practice to learn it, and the time is getting shorter.

Program For S.A. Symphony

Here is the program for the San Antonio Symphony's concert Thursday evening:

"Sonate Sopra Sancta Maria Ora Pro Nobis," by Monteverdi.

"Symphonie Fantastique," by Berlioz.

"Siegfried Idyl," by Wagner.

"Cappricio Italien," by Tchaikowsky.

• • •

Excerpts from the program notes:

Monteverdi was the spiritual father of modern opera. He brought about a revolution in vocal music, breaking from the traditional polyphonic style and developing what is known as the "modern" concerted style. Some of his music, however, was purely ecclesiastical in style, adding only that mysticism which was an integral part of his character. The "Sonate" was the final work of Monteverdi's 1610 Masses.

Berlioz was the first composer to give importance to brass instruments in symphonic music. His "Fantastique" is actually autobiographical, since it describes his ins and outs with the object of his affections, whom he believed to be unfaithful. Later, Berlioz married his true love, but they lived unhappily ever after.

The five movements of "Fantastique" that tell a tragic tale of Berlioz' love, are "Dreams, Passion," "A Ball," "Scene in the Meadows," "March to the Scaffold," and "The Witches' Sabbath."

The music, besides telling a story, reflects the unreconstructed nature of the composer—Berlioz was a former medical student who quit the profession in disgust, and was not above dressing like a woman in a grand hoax.

The Siegfried of Wagner's "Idyl" is not the ancient Teutonic hero—it's Wagner's own infant son, and the piece was composed especially for the child. Wagner here is exceedingly sentimental, borrowing portions of some of his more famous works, and adding an old German lullaby. Not at all like the old fire-and-thunder Wagner.

The "Cappricio" is the only major work of Tchaikowsky that cannot be classified by hook or by crook as "Russian." The great master composed this piece during a prolonged stay in Italy, and based his theme on folk and popular tunes. The music begins slowly and mournfully, but builds up to a crashing climax with a tarantella.

Obviously, the San Antonio Symphony is not intent on giving us a program of so-called "popular" classics, the ones that are already well known and recordings of which most homes are well stocked with. The Tchaikowsky composition being the one exception.

And this is as it should be. There is a bottomless well of satisfying symphonic music that is known only to the musician or the advanced music lover. True, hi-fi owners are rapidly filling their libraries with the less well known works, but only an extremely wealthy man could afford a complete catalogue.

It is gratifying that our guest artists have chosen a program of music that, to most of us, is new.

Inflated Balloon Next Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — An inflated balloon of aluminum foil and plastic film may be the next United States satellite to go into orbit around the earth.

Such a sphere is to be included in the next Army satellite firing attempt, expected in the near future at Cape Canaveral, Fla. It is to be sent aloft in a modified Jupiter-C rocket and inflated automatically with nitrogen hundreds of miles above the earth.

Blown up to a diameter of 12 feet, it could be seen with the naked eye in the reflected sunlight of dawn and dusk.

Similar balloons have been fired aloft—with no attempt to put them into orbit—from the Wallops Island, Va., experiment station now operated by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The final stage of a slightly modified Jupiter-C wil be a three-foot cylindrical case carrying the compressed balloon and a two-channel radio transmitter for tracking purposes.

The balloon will not have any instruments aboard, but scientists hope to learn something through visual observation of it.

Whooping Cranes Flying To Texas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The few remaining wild Whooping Cranes are flying south to their winter home at the Aransas National Wild Life Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast.

In reporting on the annual migration the Fish and Wildlife Service said yesterday a pair of the birds was sighted Oct. 19 at the Aransas Refuge.

Manager Almo Adams of the Medicine Lake National Wild Life Refuge in Montana sighted a single Whooper Oct. 4 and then Oct. 13 he saw four birds, including two young, the Service said.

The Canadian Wild Life Service some time ago reported sighting three young birds in the Great Slave Lake summer nesting area.

Last January the service counted only 32 of the big birds still remaining in the world—26 wild and six in captivity in New Orleans and San Antonio.
