Toll May Reach 147; Victory At Oro One-Sided

Nips Fail To Get Through To Allied Shipping In Bay

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in the Southwest Pacific, Oct. 18. — Allied airmen have blasted 104—and probably 147—more planes out of the Japanese air force in the Southwest Pacific.

In a series of brilliant victories Friday and Saturday, announced

TOLL REACHES 212

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Oct. 17 (Delayed) (AP) — In three days of air operations in the New Guinea theater, the Japanese have lost at least 212 aircraft to hard-hitting Allied airmen on the basis of combat records.

today, Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney's fliers shot down 92 planes and destroyed 12 on the ground. Twenty-four more probably were shot down and 19 probably destroyed or damaged on the ground.

The most one-sided victory was scored over New Guinea's Oro bay Friday. The Japanese lost 26 bombers and 20 fighters and probably 11 other aircraft. Not one Allied plane was missing, though some were damaged.

Apparently seeking to emulate the Allies' recent punishing raid on Rabaul, New Britain, the Japanese sent approximately 62 bombers and fighters against Oro bay. Their divebombers came in low—a customary surprise tactic—but the surprise was on the Japanese. American fighters in P-38's intercepted the first wave and then P-40's came roaring into the battle.

Dog Fights Raged

Dog-fights raged from altitudes of 100 feet to 23,000 feet.

The enemy found it impossible to get through to Allied shipping in the bay. And when those still in the air gave up and streaked for home they found it nearly as impossible to escape. Allied fighters pursued them all the way to New Britain.

General MacArthur's communique said the big force of enemy planes was "virtually annihilated."

Finschhafen Raided

The same day the Japanese sent 15 bombers and 12 fighters against Finschhafen. A small formation of P-40's intercepted and shot down five bombers and a fighter and probably got three more fighters. Again, all Allied planes returned.

Saturday, Mitchell bombers,

Miners Ignore Plea Of Lewis

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 18. (AP)—Seventeen of Alabama's 81 union mines were re-opened today but a survey of the coal fields indicated at least 80 per cent of the 22,000 idle miners had failed to heed the return-to-work plea from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers of America.

The list of operating mines included the big Dolomite shaft of the Woodward Iron Co., with 550 men, and the Bradford slope of Alabama By-Product Corp., with 500. Other captive workings were idle. They supply coal for the fuel-shy iron and steel mills here

Union Mines Idle

All Alabama union mines had been idle over the weekend. The miners walked out beginning last Wednesday when Secretary Ickes returned the mines to their owners, saying they had no contract with the operators as their work agreement had been made with the government. The walkout was not authorized by the UMW.

merican Planes Best emy By Four To One

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — American Army and Navy planes are besting the enemy by a score of four to one or better, an official report says, in every phase of air fighting.

Army aircraft, the Office of War information (OWI) announces, have destroyed almost four Axis planes for every one American craft lost from Dec. 7, 1941 to Sept. 1, 1943. The Navy says its air arm has taken a toll of four or five enemy planes for every United States loss.

The estimates do not include thousands of German and Japanese planes damaged and countless others listed as "probable losses."

OWI's second report on American combat plane performance said the ration of superiority over enemy craft may be increased sharply with the production of a larger and more deadly bomber.

London Paper Reproves Five U. S. Senators

Disunity Is Said Created By Report Of Touring Solons

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 18—The London Daily Mail, taking another pot shot at "the five talking American Senators," declared today that their report "has created so much anti-British feeling in America and, by repercussion, so much anti-American feeling in Britain that it is essential the truth of lend-lease be known."

Denying that Britain was taking credit for lend-lease material received from America and transferred to other governments, The Daily Mail said the senators were "ignorant of the facts" and added that "it is worthwhile pointing out that America herself has gained a good deal of credit for material supplied by Britain."

Milk Distribution Cited

"In November, 1942," the paper continued, "it was essential to supply milk to mothers and children in North Africa. That milk was distributed by the American Red Cross. So far as the Moroccans and Algerians know it came from America, as it certainly came at the demand of American authorities.

"But it came from our own stocks at a time when it could ill be spared."

The Daily Mail devoted three columns to explaining that lend-lease was "never intended to be a one-way affair" and itemized many things which it said Britain "has given America without payment."

Figures Are Quoted

"Between June, 1942, and April, 1943, the United Kingdom provided to American forces 1,362,681 ship tons of articles and equipment and 1,177,384 ship tons of constructive materials," the article declared on the basis of figures it said had been compiled by British and American sources.

"The contribution has ranged from barbed wire to cooking stoves; from bombs to locomotives; from nissen huts to parachutes; from Spitfires to lemon squash; from artillery to socks."

The Daily Mail concluded this phase of its review with the remark that it was realized all the time that "it was not love of Britain but the stark realization of the possibility of total war engulfing the United States that

Opponents To School Bill Foresee Victory

SEN. CARAWAY ASKS PASSAGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Senator Caraway (D-Ark) today appealed for Senate passage of legislation authorizing $300,000,000 in federal grants to public schools.

In one of her rare speeches, the only woman senator told her colleagues that 110 schools in her home state had closed because of inability to obtain qualified teachers and 200 others will be unable to operate for normal terms, because of a shortage of funds.

southern states, which would get the largest proportional benefits—conceded the outcome would be close.

With debate resuming on the measure today, some senators looked hopefully toward cleaning up urgent measures and recessing from possibly mid-November until the beginning of next year.

At least three hurdles stood in their way. The House ways and means committee is just getting to work on the new tax bill. Legislation governing the food subsidy question and extending the life of the Commodity Credit corporation must be considered. And the Connally postwar peace resolution has not yet been accepted by the foreign relations committee, let alone the Senate itself.

Kansas City Reports Record Cattle Run

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18 (AP)—The largest run in the nation's history jammed the stockyards here today with 57,000 head as the western ranges started trimming down their herds for the winter feed.

It bettered by more than 5,000 the previous record run of 51,508 established in Kansas City Aug. 27, 1923 and was nearly 8,000 ahead of the largest run ever reported on the Chicago livestock market. The top Chicago run was 49,128 on Nov. 16, 1908.

Grown under the supervision of scientists in the Research Laboratories of American Cyanamid Co., the crop was the subject of experiments made to observe the effect of a chemical which causes premature defoliation. Leafless cotton is a boon to cotton growers because it permits mechanical harvesting in place of hand labor. (NEA TELEPHOTO).

Fortresses Smash At Nazi Europe Today

RAF Mosquitos Pound Berlin

LONDON, Oct. 18. (U.P.)—American Flying Fortresses smashed in force at Nazi Europe again today in pacing the renewal of the Allied air offensive which sent traffic over the channel soaring to a high peak of intensity.

The three-day lull in the aerial campaign was broken last night by light British Mosquito bombers which made one of their periodical nuisance and reconnaissance thrusts at Berlin.

Picking up by daylight a large formation of United States Eighth Air force Fortresses carried out their first major operation since the attack Thursday on Schweinfurt, which cost a record high of 60 bombers.

Watchers on the southeast coast of England saw the big Boeings returning from the continent. Stragglers were bringing up the rear, possibly indicating that the bombers had tangled with German fighters in an air battle of considerable scope.

Miners Straggle Back To Work In Indiana

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 18. (AP)—Miners straggled back to work at two of Indiana's closed coal shafts today, but there was no rush to obey the resume-production plea of John L. Lewis, United Mine workers president.

Less than one-third of the normal operations force of about 600 reported at King's mine of the Princeton Mining company — largest in Indiana.

Labor's Suit Is Under Fire

AUSTIN, Oct. 18. (AP)—The state today asked District Judge J. D. Moore of Travis county to dismiss a suit brought by the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrail Organizations seeking to enjoin enforcement of the union registration law.

Assistant Attorney General Fagan Dickson argued that the declaratory judgment act under which the litigation was brought permits a court to refuse to enter a judgment when, if entered, it would not terminate a controversy. Argument by plaintiff was scheduled after a noon recess.

The declaratory judgment act makes possible the adjudication of bona fide disputes prior to the filing of any actions alleging violations.

Dickson contended the declaratory judgment act did not supercede an age old rule which prohibits the state from being sued without consent of the state and that the suit was not an exception to another rule that equity will not enjoin criminal prosecution.

An attack on constitutionality of the law is now pending before the Supreme court which will hear arguments Wednesday on application for writ of habeas corpus by R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automatic Workers of America.

Exchange Of Nationals To Start Tuesday

Japs Ask Delay To Complete Plans; Baggage Shifted

(By The Associated Press)

MORMUGAO, Portuguese India, Oct. 18.—The American consulate announced today that the exchange of American and Japanese nationals aboard the liners Teia Maru and Gripsholm will take place tomorrow beginning at 8 a. m. (11 p. m. Eastern War time today).

The announcement was made by the consulate after a conference with Japanese authorities while the expectant repatriates hung over the rails of the two vessels eagerly awaiting their transfer.

Japs Ask For Delay

It was explained that the Japanese had asked a day's delay in the exchange to enable them to finish arrangements for accommodating their nationals.

The Japanese have not yet completed their berth assignments. The Americans are ready to move from the Japanese ship Teia Maru to the Swedish Gripsholm, which will take them home, but there was nothing for them to do but wait.

A hundred Japanese of the 1,500 on the Gripsholm visited the Teia Maru yesterday afternoon to inspect the quarters they are to occupy and to work out assignments. Those aboard the Tela Maru—1,500 United States, Canadian and Latin American nationals—were permitted ashore for a few minutes while being registered and assigned berths on the Gripsholm.

Baggage Is Transferred

Huge cranes worked steadily shifting baggage and Red Cross supplies between the two vessels, drawn up end to end in this tiny harbor. The Gripsholm was brought into her dock Saturday, the Teia Maru the day before.

From a Chilean newspaperman returning aboard the Teia Maru came the first statement yesterday bearing on conditions within Japan. This correspondent, not a repartriate since his country is not at war with Japan, said high Japanese officials appear to expect that Germany will collapse but declare the war will continue for five years after that.

The official Japanese position,

Handling Of Army Contracts Flayed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—Lindsay Warren, comptroller general, told the House military committee today that Army contracting officers had allowed hundreds of erroneous contractors' claims including charges for such items as false teeth, liquor and juke boxes.

Warren opposed legislation requested by the War department to give its contracting officers final and conclusive jurisdiction in settling terminated war contracts. He cited 270 cases in which he said claims allowed by the officers had been questioned by the general accounting office and recoveries made from the contractors.

War department regulations covering the settlements, he told the committee, "have all the appearance of having been put forward by special pleaders for industry."

"Untold billions of dollars are involved," in contract settlements, he declared, and the question of whether Congress shall "permit the by-passing" of the general accounting office in their settlement.

Russians Pour Through Gap In Dnieper Bend; Entire German Front Threatened

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Oct. 18—The Red army rolled forward in two new offensives west of the Dnieper river today to clinch its hold on both banks of the river and threaten the disintegration of the entire German front.

Battleline dispatches said Soviet forces were pouring through a widening gap made yesterday in the German defenses inside the Dnieper bend in the Kremenchug sector behind Dnepropetrovsk. An important bridgehead was simultaneously established north of Kiev by a crossing of the Dnieper in the Gomel sector and the capture of Loev.

Red army troops consolidated this bridgehead today and pushed forward against furious German resistance.

Drives Menace Kiev

Both drives menaced the Ukrainian capital of Kiev with encirclement.

The Soviets, meanwhile, reported encountering German reserves

The newspaper added that these forces were now in a position to press all-out offenses from completely-equipped bases on the west bank.

Guerrillas Get New Support

Gen. Mihailovic's Forces Join Fight

(By The Associated Press)

CAIRO, Oct. 18 — Gen. Draja Mihailovic's Yugoslav guerrillas, relatively inactive since the Nazis began occupying garrisons formerly held by Italian troops, have taken the offensive and are fighting bitter battles with Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces on three fronts, Yugoslav government leaders said today.

Apparently, Mihailovic's army is confining its drives to western Serbia, Bosnia and Hercegovina and the new offensive is independent of the battles being fought along the coast and in northern Yugoslavia by the red-starred partisans of Gen. Josip (Tito) Broz.

Marshal Rommel, acting swiftly to counter this new threat to his Balkan forces, has opened a fierce aerial campaign against villages held by Mihailovic's forces from his new general headquarters at Belgrade, these sources said.

NEW SUCCESSES ARE CLAIMED BY PATRIOTS

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Bitter fighting continued today along a wide front in Yugoslavia, with the Yugoslav national army of liberation reporting new successes against German communication lines while acknowledging the loss of Zenica in central Bosnia.

Troops retreating from Zenica in the "Balkan Ruhr", a communique said, destroyed the Bilo railway station, derailed a train near Lasva, blew up a railway bridge and ripped up nearly two miles of track to slow the German advance.

The communique, broadcast by the free Yugoslavia radio, reported hard fighting near the Adriatic port of Split, where repeated attacks by Marshal Erwin Rommel's Nazi forces were said to have been thrown back.

The partisans announced the defeat of an enemy column near Emotski in Bosnia and the occupation of the village of Studeni.

Yesterday's Yugoslav broadcast, summing up the situation, said that Gen. Josip (Tito) Broz' forces now command all of the Croatian coastal region and the northern coast of Dalmatia except Zara and Sibenik.

In the northeastern coal and timber region of Bosnia, Nazi forces were said to have been repelled after they had advanced almost to Tuzla.

More than 400 Germans were killed and 200 wounded when a partisan group derailed a German train in northern Italy and turned hidden artillery on the wreckage the communique said.

Allies Gaining In Air--Arnold

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP) — Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces, speaking as if in reply to discussion of the loss of 60 American bombers over Schfeinfurt, Germany, asserted today the loss was "incidental" and added: "We're getting the upper hand in every theater in this war."

"Now don't conclude that the war is going to be over soon, or that it's about over, or anything of the kind. But that we are getting the upper hand is clear," Arnold said.

Germans Are Desperate

Germany, he said, is desperately turning every effort toward fighters—to defend against growing Allied bombing.

Japan "now has her fifth or sixth team" in the air over the southwest Pacific.

The general arranged a press conference to which half a hundred Washington reporters, new executives, columnists and radio commentators were admitted by special invitation only.

"Regardless of our losses," Arnold declared, "I'm ready to send over replacement crews for every one lost—and at the same time keep building up our strength."

Arnold spoke for nearly an hour, interrupted only occasionally by a question, and he provided a

Walkout At Houston Continued By AFL

HOUSTON, Oct. 18 (U.P) — A walkout by more than 1,200 A. F. of L. building tradesmen at the Sheffield steel plant stretched into its second week today as State Labor Commissioner John D. Reed prepared to conduct his own inquiry into the labor controversy.

The labor commissioner, after conferring at Austin with Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, was expected to leave for Houston sometime today.

Construction operations were at a virtual standstill.

The union men walked off the $20,000,000 Arthur G. McKee Construction Co., job last Monday after the W. S. Bellows Construction Co., holder of a $17,000 sub-contract, refused to recognize a closed shop for common laborers or truck drivers on their particular job.

It was understood no progress had been made toward settling the controversy and the possibility was seen that the National War Labor board might be asked to help end the dispute.

Johnsons Comprise Imposing Bloc In Congress; There Are Ten Of 'Em, But Views Vary Widely

BY CLAIR JOHNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—This is strictly an "inside story" about a new congressional bloc.

The Johnsons, it seems, outnumber any other family in Congress,—there are ten of 'em.

To commemorate this numerical superiority over the Smiths, Browns, Jones, et al, the Johnsons arranged a luncheon in the House restaurant today, and invited this Johnson to attend.

The Johnsons say they aren't against anything or for anything, except:

"Letting the rest of the world know how superior and outstanding the Johnsons are."

Could Swing Close Vote

At that, though, the clan could easily hold the balance of power on a close House vote, declared Rep. J. Leroy Johnson (R-Calif), originator of the get-together, since eight of the ten are representatives and of the 435 House seats 221 are held by Democrats, 206 by Republicans, four by minor parties and four are vacant.

"We could be a mighty effective bloc," Rep. Luther A. Johnson (D-Texas) commented.

The ten represent decidedly different viewpoints, however, ranging from what their "youngster," 35-year-old Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) termed his "strong internationalism" to opposite opinions often expressed by the veteran, 77-year-old Senator Hiram W. Johnson (R-Calif).

First Time In History

J. Leroy (in this yarn he couldn't have any other last name but Johnson) said he believed this was the first time in history the House ever had so many members with the same name.

Rep. Noble J. Johnson (R-Ind) added that in the present Congress there are only two Browns and one Jones, "which clearly shows we are way ahead."

Rep. Ward Johnson (R-Calif) admitted ther are six Smiths in Congress, but—

"Did the Smiths, or Browns, or Jones, ever have a president though? We did, remember." (Andrew Johnson, 1865-69.)

Others on hand for the clan luncheon were:

Reps. Jed Johnson (D-Okla), Calvin D. Johnson (R-Ill), and Anton J. Johnson (R-Ill), and Senator Edwis C. Johnson (D-Colo).

P. S. The House restaurant staff also includes a Johnson. (a dish-washer named Annie.)

Kite Flying Prison Offense In Holland

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Kite flying, already forbidden in Holland, has been made a crime punishable by prison sentences and fines for the parents of offending children, the official Dutch news agency Aneta said today.

The sport was first banned by the Nazis last May, presumably because of their fears that kites might be used to signal Allied planes.

Aneta said it gained its information from the German-controlled Amsterdam newspaper, De Tijd.

British Patrols Are Stabbing Toward Rome

More Material, Men Landed By Allies In Italy

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 18.—Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army in slashing give-and-take battle has driven beyond the Volturno and "firmly occupied" the towns of Cancello, Ruviano and Nerrone. British Eighth army patrols are stabbing westward into the Apennine backbone toward Rome. Allied headquarters announced today.

Important new Allied landings of men and material in recent days have been made on the Italian mainland as a part of the steady reinforcement of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces, it was disclosed.

From both the Fifth and Eighth army fronts came reports of numerous fires in the enemy rear areas. This pointed to the possibility that the Germans were destroying supply dumps preparatory to a general withdrawal, else to indicate that further Allied advances toward the Italian capital from any direction would be made except in the face of the most stubborn opposition.

Taken In Fierce Fighting

Gen. Clark's American veterans of Salerno captured the towns of Nerrone and Ruviano in the high ground dominating the surrounding lowlands after fierce "merry-go-round" fighting in which strong formations from each side repeatedly stabbed deep into the opposing lines, creating a fluid situation over an area five or six miles deep in which units frequently became isolated.

British troops occupied Cancello, a former important Axis airbase eight miles inland and on the north bank of the Volturno river, after beating back a massive German counterattack in the course of an advance from the sea.

It was near that area that British sea-borne forces swept ashore last week north of the Volturno's mouth.

Ruviano Is Occupied

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's troops also have occupied Ruviano in a further plunge up the valley formed by the northward sweep of the Volturno above its junction with the Calore. Ruviano, west of the Volturno, is about

Rat Eradication Drive Planned

Members of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce will start contacting 325 business establishments in Lubbock this week for donations to conduct a rat eradication program in Lubbock. They will meet at the Hilton hotel in a breakfast at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and 13 teams will canvass the downtown business and wholesale sections in the campaign.

Regardless of whether businesses subscribe to the fund needed to conduct the program, their premises will be cleaned of rats in the campaign, it was pointed out by Frank Baker, Jaycee president, in the luncheon program at the Hilton today noon.

E. G. Pope, director of predatory animal and rodent control of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, spoke at the luncheon and explained how the rat-killing campaign will be conducted.

"This war is of no little magnitude and will require individual and combined support of every business house to be treated in the designated area," Pope said. "To make a successful campaign,

Enjoy Garden All Winter

When you begin to feel the chill of autumn days you think the Victory garden season is over but one garden season extends into another. You can plan now for the frame garden and prepare the soil for a better garden next year.

Divide the frame garden into sections, one section reserved for quick maturing vegetables and in another medium, the slow growing plant. Plant lettuce, radishes, spinach, mustard, onions, carrots, parsley and other vegetables now. You can enjoy them all through the winter if you make a cover of muslin for the frame thin enough to let light and air in. In severe cold, cover with a heavier material.

Tomato vines can be pulled up and hung by the roots which will enable you to enjoy ripe tomatoes much longer. After frost, clean all trash, burn or put in a compost heap, which will insure the killing of insects and plant diseases. Then dig in humus, cotton burrs are excellent, and leave rough.

Asparagus and rhubarb may be planted now and strawberry plants may be transplanted.

Roses should be planted in the fall while the ground is warm. In order to root quicker. When the ground is cold in the spring the tops start growing before the bushes are rooted and many of them are lost. Cover each bush almost entirely with soil until spring. Perennial plants should be divided and reset or new ones planted.

Plant the following hardy annuals now: poppies, larkspur, sweet sultan, arctotis, gaillardia, cornflower, cynoglossum, Texas blue-bonnet and many others. These things accomplished you will be assured better vegetables and flowers.

SPAAF WACS Perform Many Tasks Formerly Done By Men

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

There are two ways in which a woman whose family has been her No. 1 interest in life can meet the situation when the war scatters the family and leaves her alone.

She can sit around and feel sorry for herself and figure that since she has given her family to the war effort she has done her share.

Or, she can show the fighting spirit and get-up-and-go of Mrs. Bessie Heers of Waterloo, Iowa, who followed her husband, daughter and two sons into the service on the very day the last remaining member of her family joined the Navy.

A woman left alone wouldn't have to join the WACs as did Mrs. Heers, or any of the other uniformed services in order to show the same fighting spirit. She could fill her time with such undisputably worthwhile volunteer work as being a nurses' aide or helping out in a day nursery.

SHE'D BE HAPPIER

Or, she could get a war job, or go into some kind of work necessary to the welfare of civilians.

It wouldn't matter how she decided to help in the war effort—if only she would decide to devote all of her time and strength to working for the same cause the other members of her family had left home to work for.

Women like Mrs. Heers aren't only playing a real part in winning the war. They are going to be far happier women during the war years than the women who decide to sit the war out.

And, they will have more in common with their daughters, sons, and husbands when the war is over and they are again homemakers.

They might have been the cooks and bakers and candlestick makers and bookkeepers, girls at home, students in college and business women yesterday, but they are the Women's Army corps today.

From every walk of life the women who make up the WAC are writing a new chapter in military annals.

Those at South Plains Army Air field are characteristic of the WAC wherever they may be found. A glance and introduction to a few of them is in order.

Pvt. Ellen Kelley of Long Island City, N. Y., may get a spot of grease on her coveralls occasionally but she is enjoying her work at SPAAF. She is a maintenance mechanic and helps "Keep 'em flying" at the big glider pilot training center by working on big two-engined towplanes which tow the gliders. The part of her work she likes best of all is taxiing the ships around the ramp to check instruments. In civilian life, Pvt. Kelley was a rock welder. She received her basic training at Fort Devens, Mass., and from there was stationed at SPAAF. Pvt. Kelley is married and her husband is stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Other WACS On The Line

Pvt. Kelley isn't the only member of the WAC who is doing an essential job "on the line" at SPAAF. Take two radio operators of the corps. There is Technician Fifth Grade Phillis Abry of Princeton, N. J., and Technician Fifth Grade Mildred Elkins of Greensboro, N. C.

Both girls received three months of Army specialist training at United Radio Television Institute, Inc., Newark, N. J., then assumed duties such as checking radio equipment in planes and gliders. Not only are they doing a big job for Uncle Sam now but are ready for careers in this line of work after the war is won.

Uncle Sam's fliers coming in to air bases over the nation are no longer startled to hear a woman's voice giving them instructions, weather data and other information. The WACS are doing a great job as control tower operators and SPAAF has one in Cpl. Velma Mahurin of San Diego, Calif. In civilian life she was a bookkeeper for a grocery chain.

Dot And Dash Girls

Along the same line, there are "dot and dash girls," the women who teach the "Winged Commandos" code. Priscilla Famous of Webster, N. Y., joined the WAC early this year, received her basic training at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. In civilian life she was a board of education secretary. She now teaches code along with Helen Zikos of Joliet, Ill. In civilian life Helen was an assistant bookkeeper in an eastern factory. Florence Hewitt of Valley Park, Mo., and Margaret Christie of Austin, Ind., also teach the future commandos their dots and dashes. All four of the girls attended twenty weeks of training at the Midland Television and Radio School in Kansas City, Mo.

They are the "didit da da didit" girls.

For those women who yearn for an apron, the WAC has plenty waiting. All is not office and radio and mechanics. The woman with domestic traits may have a free hand in the menu or pie dough at SPAAF. And testimony to the fact that experienced cooks handle the food problems of the WAC is the absolute lack of complaints about food. Guests among the soldier personnel who now and then get an opportunity to sample the food at WAC open houses always ask for second helpings.

Georgia Fluharyt of Blacksville, West Va., is mess sergeant and as such goes into the huddles from which come the inviting tables of food. She knows what she is doing because along with other mess hall personnel she attended a cooks and bakers school in which not a biscuit nor omelet was left unturned. Others who have an answer for "what's cookin'" include Technician Fifth Grade Nina Dent of Little Rock, Ark., Technician Fifth Grade Helen Dursch, who was a practical nurse in Brooklyn, and Pfc. Lucy Butler of Cumberland, Maryland.

There are numerous others who also are in interesting jobs, who have been trained in new duties. Such is the picture over the entire nation where women are doing their part.

Famine Is Seen In Greece This Winter

ISTANBUL, Oct. 18 (AP) — A repetition of the 1941 famine during which many thousands perished appears in prospect for the Greeks this winter unless their country is freed quickly from the Nazis or new and larger shipments of relief food are sent to them.

Swept by enthusiasm over the Allied victories in North Africa and Sicily, the Greeks threw stocks of hoarded foodstuffs on the market in the belief that they would be liberated before the winter, according to information reaching here.

This was said to have exhausted their last reserves and they now face the winter months with insufficient clothing and fuel amid a rapidly rising disease rate caused by two years of undernourishment.

Food Supplies To Be Smaller

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Civilian food supplies may be somewhat smaller next year, the bureau of agricultural economics reported today, although production probably will equal or exceed this year's record prospects.

Analyzing production goals set recently by the War Food administration, the bureau said there should continue to be an abundant supply of cereals, and as large a per capita supply as this year of chickens, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables, potatoes, dried beans and peas.

Shorter allowances of meats and dairy products are predicted, while supplies of foodstuffs and oils as a group are expected to be maintained at the ration levels of recent months.

Canned Foods Short

There probably will be smaller civilian supplies of canned fruits and vegetables in the first half of 1944, but in the second half the supply may be larger than in the corresponding period this year.

Military, lend-lease and other non-civilian requirements probably will more than offset any increase in production, the bureau explained.

The 1944 outlook for major food items:

Meats—Production to be about as high as this year's record, but non-civilian requirements are expected to be 25 per cent higher.

Milk Short Of Goal

Milk—production expected to fall eight billion pounds below the food administration goal of 122 billion pounds, and two billion pounds below this year's expected output, because of tight feed supplies and producer dissatisfaction with prices.

Poultry—total production should be about the same as this year's record.

Eggs—expected to equal this year's record of five billion dozens.

Fruits—with normal yields, civilian supplies would be somewhat above this year.

Vegetables — an unprecedented demand expected next year. Substantial increases in acreage required.

Nazi War Plant Said Devastated In Raid

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Reconnaissance photographs show the entire works of the Schweinfurt ball and roller bearing plant, devastated by American bombers Thusday, are "now inactive," it was announced officially yesterday.

At the same time a dispatch from Stockholm quoted a Swedish industrial expert as saying the damage inflicted was so severe that two years would be needed to put the vital war plant back into full production.

Germany Has New Pursuit Plane

MOSCOW, Oct. 18 (AP) — The Soviet Army newspaper Red Star said today that the Germans had introduced an improved Messerschmitt Pursuit Plane—the ME-109G—with a more powerful engine and better streamlining than its predecessors.

The newspaper said this is the fourth in the Messerschmitt series which has appeared on the Russian front as the plane is steadily modernized.

Foreign Labor Worries Nazis

MADRID, Oct. 18 (AP)—As a result of recent developments on both the military and political fronts, the 12,000,000 foreign workers who the German boasted in July were "working contentedly" in the Reich now bid fair to become one of the Nazis' biggest problems.

Apparently disturbed by the possible effect which the trend of events in the Mediterranean might have on these improved workers, the Germans are said to have deprived them of the last vestiges of "reasonable freedom" they were promised originally.

The French were a problem even before the downfall of Benito Mussolini and Italy's subsequent withdrawal from Axis partnership.

Italians Are Problem

With Italy's declaration of war upon Germany the great mass of Italian workers within the Reich also definitely warrant the gestapo's suspicions that they may be far from content. So do tens of thousands of disarmed Italian soldiers who were sent to Germany where they were given the choice of working or fighting.

To these great, dissatisfied and unruly masses of French and Italian labor now may be added the thousands of imported workers from Croatia, Serbia and other parts of the Balkans—as well as a small contingent of Portuguese labor volunteers.

Unrest in all these people may conceivably be inspired by recent events, and reliable reports from Germany indicate that the Nazis—taking no chances—have tripled guards around the camps where both voluntary and involuntary workers from the Mediterranean nations are quartered.

Himmler Appeals To Hitler

Heinrich Himmer, gestapo chieftain, is even reported to have appealed to Adolf Hitler to move some of the most suspicious foreign laborers out of Germany "before it is too late" and the workers "poison the minds of good Germans."

Within the last month there is said to have been a striking increase of sabotage within Germany which the gestapo traced back directly or indirectely to foreign workers. Even Polish and Russian workers, who apparently have been docile enough until this fall, are said to be an increasing problem.

After 26 Years Man Gets To Thank Buddy

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. (AP)—For 26 years Eddie Gibbons has wanted to thank Eddie Libassi for saving his life in the battle of Ypres in World War 1.

He found—and thanked—him today.

Unknown to each other both have been living in Brooklyn, and both have been working there for three years in the Todd Shipyards Corp., Erie basin plant. They met by accident at work today.

Libassi received the Croix-de-Guerre for capturing two German machine gunners, who had riddled Gibbons' legs, and forcing the prisoners to carry his buddy to safety behind the lines.

The broadcast, recorded by Reuters, quoted the Teheran radio and said that Eden had talked with the Persian prime minister.

The German reports were unconfirmed.

Mother 'Surprised' When Her Baby Born

TULSA, Oct. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Wilbur Shedrick, a soldier's wife, insisted to disbelieving friends that "no one was more surprised than I" when she became the mother of a 5½ pound daughter.

The short, slender woman who had been married two years said she had no idea she was pregnant.

The child was born early Wednesday after Mrs. Shedrick had become ill Tuesday night. Her mother-in-law acted as midwife. The 26-year-old mother said:

"She was here and had squawked before I could be sure. I heard the baby cry and asked mother what it was. I just couldn't believe her."

A doctor, called after the surprise birth, told them that such events sometimes happened, Mrs. Shedrick said.

Last year, the U. S. armed forces consumed 8,000,000 cans of food every day.

New Plan Set For Recruiting WACS

Service with the Army Air forces in the job of their choice was made available today under a new Womens Army Corps recruitment plan.

The campaign of the Army Air forces to fill its quota of enlistees will be inaugurated on a nationwide basis Tuesday.

During the Army Air Foces recruiting campaign all eligible women will be permitted to choose the type of job for which they wish to be recommended for assignment. A list has been compiled of 18 occupational fields, representing more than 100 Army Air force positions, which volunteers will be allowed to use as a guide in selecting the job for which they are fitted, and in which they are most interested.

Lubbock's two Army air fields and the West Texas Recruiting and Induction center will handle the campaign in the South Plains.

To Cover Area

Getting underway Tuesday morning, the campaign will cover the city and surrounding area completely. Teams of workers from each field and from the induction center will visit women in Lubbock and nearby towns.

The campaign will be started in the city for the next few days, then will take in a number of the larger towns in the area. The campaign coincides with that of the "All States" campaign in which 70,000 WACs are being sought in the nation to replace that number of casualties. WACs enlisted in Texas will be kept in the same company during training and when possible will be sworn in as a group. This is being handled by the induction center.

One team from South Plains Army Air field and one from Lubbock Army Air field will visit surrounding towns. A few days will be spent in each, giving women of the area an opportunity to thoroughly investigate what they have to gain by joining the WAC.

Two Fields Cooperate

In the entire campaign, the two fields will work in cooperation with the induction center which is under the direction of Lt. Col. Marvin B. Durrette.

The LAAF team will visit Slaton, Brownfield, Denver City, Tahoka, Post and Seagraves. The SPAAF team will visit Plainview, Littlefield, Levelland, Floydada and Spur.

In each of these towns the team of officers, WACs and enlisted men will set up an information booth to interview applicants. Dates for the visits will be set later.

Goulding In Charge

The LAAF team includes Major Byron Goulding, adjutant at LAAF, in charge of the group, Lt. Gordon R. Close, Capt. Jamie P. Luttrell, commanding officer of the WAC company at LAAF, and Chief Warrant Officer Lawrence W. Bobb.

Those on the SPAAF team include Lt. Bedford Thurman, in charge of the group, Lt. Mary Lou Randall, supply and mess officer of the WAC company at SPAAF, Staff Sgt. William A. Berlin and Cpl. Ray Mason with Pvt. Ethel-Larsen, Technician Fifth Grade Gordon Margaret E. Christie, Technician Fifth Grade Mildred N. Elkins and Technician Fifth Grade Ruby Alice Burkett of the WACs as alternates.

Many Jobs Clerical

The announcement indicated that at least half of the specialized jobs for which qualified women are sought are clerical; however, many will also be assigned as link trainer operators, radio operators, weather observers and control tower operators.

The Army Air forces choice list open to women who enlist in the WACs during the present campaign was said to be the outgrowth of a close study of the effectiveness of women in certain positions in contrast with men in the same work.

Women interested in joining the WACs for service with the Army Air forces will be given an opportunity to visit air bases and observe just how jobs in occupational fields for which they would volunteer are being handled, thus, they will know precisely what will be expected of them. They will be given the opportunity to inspect WAC barracks, mess facilities and recreational rooms, and to interview air-WACs to gain first hand information on their suitability to Army life.

They also reported "heavy defensive fighting" in the Kremenchug sector .The Nazis called the fighting in the Velikie Lukie sector "savage," but said Soviet attempts at a break-through were "frustrated."

Large forces of Allied fighters swept across the channel toward France before the Fortresses flew back to England, and activity was at a high pitch.

Berlin last was raided on Oct. 9—also by Mosquitos.

Enemy Waters Mined

Other bombers last night laid mines in enemy waters, a communique said, and fighters attacked shipping off the Dutch coast as well as enemy airfields and railway targets.

About 15 German planes stabbed at Britain during the night, hitting at points in East Anglia and southeast England and penetrating to the London area to cause a one-hour air alert in the capital.

A communique said bombs caused some fatalities and that one of the intruders was destroyed.

Four Killed In London

It was announced subsequently that bombs dropped in the London metropolitan area killed at least four persons and wrecked many houses. Anti-aircraft batteries blazed away at the enemy planes in one of their biggest barrages for months.

The alert was the capital's second in two nights.

In the attacks on targets in occupied territory, Canadian-manned Mosquitos damaged seven locomotives in moonlight attacks in northern France. An RAF squadron leader flying a Hurricane sank a tug and at least one barge off the Dutch coast.

"You can't run a war on a dollar basis," the general expostulated at one point. "But," he added, looking about the room, "if you want to put it on that basis, consider the dollars loss in what we destroy."

SENATOR WANTS MORE PLANES OVER EUROPE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP) — Senator Downey (D-Calif) predicted in the Senate today that if American and British fliers make 10 huge bombing attacks on Germany monthly Nazi fighters will be driven from the skies, the enemy's war production will be smashed and the Hitler government will collapse by February 1.

Downey took the floor to criticize what he said were plans of "the high command" to add another million men to the net strength of the Army by April 1, declaring that these men "will be of no value whatsoever in any attack upon Germany for 15 months, 18 months or even two years from the present day."

He said the cost of maintaining these additional men in the next 15 months would be at least nine billion dollars, arguing that this money would be better spent increasing American airpower.

OFFICIAL APPEALS FOR BRITISH-U. S. HARMONY

DETROIT, Oct. 18 (U.P.) — Col. John Jestyn Llewellin, British minister for supply and chairman of the British supply council at Washington, today appealed to Britain and America to settle their differences and urged that the two countries "continue together as friends along the road, pooling our manpower, our ships and all the resources each of us have."

In an address to the Economic club of Detroit, Llewellin said we had "better deny ourselves the immediate and very transitory satisfaction of becoming headline news, especially when we know that that is the one thing that Dr. Goebbels likes to see us do."

Cites Value Of Unity

His address, "Combined Planning—Combined Victory," was concerned primarily with the ways in which British and American resources have become interrelated to provide for an ultimate Allied victory.

He pointed out that Great Britain furnished an aircraft carrier to serve with the American Pacific fleet when it was temporarily short. When it was decided that the British fleet would take the burden of the campaign connected with attack on Italy and Sicily, some American ships were attached to the British home fleet, he said.

He also touched on the correlation between the two air forces, the British bombing by night and the Americans by day.

John J. Hanratty, international representative to UMW, predicted a "growing march back to the mines." He said he did not know of any local union in session yesterday which voted against returning to work.

In a radio appeal to the miners yesterday, Hanratty reminded them of a telegraphed return-to-work plea of their national president, and said that plea was backed by William Mitch, UMW district president, and other local union leaders.

LEADERS ARE SLOW

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP) — Asserted specialties exhibited a fair amount of strength in today's stock market while many leaders acted a bit tired after last week's mild recovery.

Earnings prospects apparently accounted for most of the buying that appeared. Some commitments were reinstated on the theory the recent comeback might have farther to go before meeting any real profit taking resistance. Discussions of post-war problems served to keep the conservative ranks well filled and tax skepticism continued as a handicap.

In the favored division were American Distilling and Western Union which touched new tops for 1943. Support was accorded American Cable & Radio, Morris & Essex, Paramount Pictures, Texas Co., Santa Fe, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Sperry, Douglas Aircraft, American Can, La Clede Gas preferred and J. C. Penney. Intermittent losers included Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Boeing, Anaconda, Dow Chemical, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and Pullman.

Among occasional curb gainers were Glen Alden Coal, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, American Cyanamid "B", Niagara Hudson Power and American Light.

Texas Steel Plant Is Using Oklahoma Coal

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 18 (AP)—Eastern Oklahoma mines now are supplying coal for the 78 by-product coke ovens of the Lone Star Steel Co., Daingerfield, Tex., Director Robert H. Dott of the state geological survey, said today.

It marks the first time in 35 years that Oklahoma coal has been used commercially to manufacture metallurgical coke, he said.

Dott estimated that coke ovens would require a trainload of Oklahoma coal daily when in full operation.

The coal now being used comes from near McCurtain, Haskell county, and Carbon, east of McAlester in Pittsburg county. Proper blending of the two supplies makes a satisfactory metallurgical coke for the Lone Star plant. For the present, Lone Star will make only pig iron for shipment to mills in other sections of the country.

Three Italian Towns Taken

three miles northeast of captured Caiazzo.

The Fifth Army advances were registered against desperate resistance, it was announced, while to the northeast the British Eighth Army pursued an offensive west of the Termoli-Vinchiaturo road.

A communique said more tanks and heavy equipment were streaming across the bridged Volturno and into the Fifth Army battle zone.

In striking out westward from the Termoli-Vinchiaturo highway, complete control of which was announced yesterday, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces apparently were aiming at cutting in behind the enemy above the Volturno.

Communications Pounded

Allied air forces kept up their steady hammering of the enemy, both bombers and fighters attacking communications yesterday. Last night, bridges south of Rome and the east coast railway near Pescara were bombed.

The communique said that reconnaissance photos confirmed the sinking of a merchant vessel off the coast of Greece Saturday.

In a two-way flanking movement against the Nazi center along the Volturno, Fifth Army forces have hammered deep penetrations into enemy territory at both ends of the line.

The Germans counter-attacked at several points north of the Volturno, but the Allied bulletin said all the counter-attacks were beaten off.

Army Supplies Moved

Additional bridges were thrown across the stream by engineers to carry an increasing load of reinforcements and supplies for the Fifth Army.

Yesterday's air attacks were carried out despite unfavorable weather.

Medium bombers attacked Alife on the highway above Capua. In daylight yesterday, fighters made sweeps up the east coast toward Ancona, 130 miles northwest of Termoli, hitting the coastal railway and knocking out trains and motor transport. Three aircraft were listed as missing from all operations.

Rail Units Hit

Two locomotives and a number of railway cars were shot up in the raids toward Ancona.

In other sweeps up the Adriatic coast Warhawks scored direct hits on a bridge south of Caramanico, southwest of Chieti.

Air force headquarters announced that the Germans had lost more than 6,500 aircraft in the Mediterranean in the 11 months since the Allies landed in North Africa. The official statement said 1,245 Axis planes had been found on airfields in Italy, most of them smashed by Allied raids.

Of the abandoned planes 697 were German and 566 were Italian.

In all nearly 3,000 enemy planes have been found abandoned on airfields captured by the Allies since Nov. 8, 1942 to Oct. 18 of this year.

In addition 3,529 planes were destroyed in the air.

Rat Eradication

no individual can escape contributing some time to this work. There is no special value in one merchant treating his building and an adjoining building not being treated. This building may happen to harbor all of the rats in the block."

Citing the enormous losses caused by rats yearly and the menace to public health by spreading of disease, especially typhus, Pope said a pair of rats if left unmolested may multiply into as many as 350,000 rats in three years' time.

The fish and wildlife service will furnish the service of a special trained man, at no cost, to mix the prepared poison baits and with the assistance of two helpers to be employed out of funds raised for the work, place this poison bait out where rats will eat it, also to pick up left-over portions of the uneaten baits.

Work By Sections

The area to be treated and poisoned for rats will be blocked off in sections and the baits exposed at the closing time of the business, and then picked up the following morning, or the second morning where possible to leave out 36 hours.

The merchant will not be required to handle any of the poisoned baits. The men putting out the poison will take each block in rotation until they have covered the designated area to be treated. They will then double back over the heavily-infested areas and retreat some as well as places that might for some reason or other failed to get the desired results.

The poison used will be thallium sulfate mixed in hamburger meat, vegetables and canned fish and will be furnished at government cost for the work, the cost being about $1.25 an ounce. In most eating places, as far as possible, red squill will be used at approximately $2.70 per pound. The poisons are not available form any other source.

The junior chamber of commerce is sponsoring the raising of the funds to carry on this rat campaign and it will not be started until sufficient funds have been raised to treat the designated area, (the amount necessary to treat premises will range from $2 to $50 and it is estimated that in the neighborhood of $1,000 will be needed to treat the downtown retail and wholesale districts and outlying areas.

Stevenson Not Ready To Announce Plans

AUSTIN, Oct. 18. (AP)—Governor Coke R. Stevenson is not ready to declare whether he will seek re-election to a second full term.

Asked at a press conference today if he was prepared to make an announcement or to comment on a statement by Attorney General Gerald C. Mann which criticised the governor as being out of harmony with the national administration, Stevenson asserted:

"There is no necessity for saying anything on either score."

Mann's statement, made last week, said further that if the attorney general remained in public life it would be as governor. Governor Stevenson was quoted in Amarillo as saying he would be a candidate for re-election. He has denied this.

At his press conference the governor exhibited wtihout comment an anonymous letter from San Antonio asking him what he had done for the state of Texas and asserting:

"You are just a yes man for Roosevelt."

The governor gave no indication when he might make a statement with reference to his future political plans.

His next scheduled public speech is before an independent petroleum association meeting in Fort Worth Oct. 27.

Television Chain On East Coast Predicted

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18. (U.P.)— An Atlantic seaboard television broadcasting chain shortly after the war has been predicted by Harry Boyd Brown, vice-president of Philco Corp.

Brown said the chain would be made possible by a series of radio relay stations located 40 to 50 miles apart along the entire length of the eastern coast.

"Television will have a tremendous effect on politics," Brown said. "We all know the importance of a radio personality—and it is entirely good radio voice—of the so-called possible that in the future our candidates for office will need to have a television personality as well."

NAM Opposes New Taxation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)— The National Association of Manufacturers asked Congress today to reject all proposals for new taxes, but added that if the lawmakers decide more revenue is essential, then a national retail sales tax should be imposed.

J. Cheever Cowdin, chairman of the association's committee on government finance, told the House ways and means committee the administration's proposal to raise $10,500,000,000 through increased income and excise taxes is "unsound and unrealistic to the point of bordering on the fantastic."

The NAM spokesman, who is board chairman of Universal pictures, Los Angeles, argued against further taxation at this time, saying present revenue laws would bring to the federal Treasury in the next calendar year $44,500,000,000. The Treasury estimates the current revenue collection rate at $38,000,000,000.

Consideration Urged

NAM also told the tax-framing committee:

1. Congress should give serious consideration to the problems of "white collar business," which Cowdin identified as that large section "caught in the same net of rising taxes, rising costs and dwindling reventes—many of their employees gone into the services or into war work." He said their condition "grows steadily worse."

2. Industry must have reserves for postwar production.

3. The automatic increase in the social security tax rate to become effective in 1944 should be postponed "since the reserve funds have already achieved a huge balance."

Plan Said Unsound

4. "It is unsound and unfair to tax corporate income first when it is earned by the company and secondly when it is received by the stockholders. We urge Congress to study proper methods of relieving income derived from corporate sources from double taxation."

Cowdin challenged the $11,000,000,000-plus Treasury estimate of the sum business has retained after taxes and distribution of dividends during 1941-42-43, saying a survey by the NAM indicated a figure at least $5,000,000,000 under the Treasury estimate.

Baker was stationed at Sheppard field, near Wichita Falls, and was on a weekend furlough.

Charges of negligent homicide and drunkeness were filed against John D. Smith, negro, driver of the truck.

Texas Bond Total Is Near 520 Millions

DALLAS, Oct. 18. (AP)—Texans officially were credited today with $519,942,695.50 of war bonds bought in the third loan drive.

Nathan Adams, chairman of the Texas-wide state organization, proudly said that Texas not only exceeded its $420,000,000 goal by one hundred million dollars or 24 per cent but also exceeded its goal for sales to individuals by 30 per cent.

The Texas goal for bonds to individuals was $201,000,000 and Texas individuals actually bought $262,117,602.50 in bonds during the drive or more than sixty one million dollars in excess of the goal set.

Individual Sales High

Adams said: "whereas our nation as a whole had a sales goal of five billion dollars in war bonds to individuals, which was one-third of the fifteen billion dollar national goal, Texas had a sales goal of $201,000,000 to individuals which was nearly 48 per cent of the Texas total goal. Yet while the national sales to individuals in the drive totaled far less than the 33 1/3 per cent goal, Texas sales to individuals amounted to 50 per cent of total sales. In other words, Texas did twice as well as many other states in obtaining dollars direct from plain citizens for Uncle Sam and thus did twice as much to combat inflation."

"Final tabulation included all bonds processed from September first through October second and all E, F and G bonds processed through Saturday, October 16th," Adams said.

State headquarters said the unofficial total through last Thursday was $18,644,000,000.

IZZARD PROMOTED

AMARILLO, Oct. 18 (AP)—Publisher Gene Howe today announced the promotion of Wes Izzard to the post of editor-in-chief of The Globe-News. He succeeds John McCarty who was freed of editorial work to devote his time to executive duties.

House Studies Allotment Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)— The House drove rapidly today toward virtually certain approval of legislation to boost financial payments to dependents of service men of enlisted grades.

The amount of increases was the only question remaining.

General sentiment as the second and final day of debate got under way favored payments of $50 monthly for a wife, $80 for a wife and one child, and $20 for additional children, with smaller increases for totally dependent parents, brothers and sisters, and cuts in present allowances for secondary dependents.

Allotment Bill Studied

The military committee dug in for a last-ditch fight for its own scale of payments, $50 for a wife, $75 for a wife and one child, $95 for a wife and two children, and $15 for additional children.

These figures compared with present payments of $50 for a wife, $62 for a wife and one child and $10 for additional children.

The higher payments of $30 for the first child and $20 for additional children were incorporated in a bill already passed by the Senate, and reflect the views of a majority of the Republican members of the House committee and of the Republican house leader, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts.

De Marigny Pleads Innocent To Murder

NASSAU, Bahamas, Oct. 18 (AP) —Alfred de Marigny stood before a red-robed, white-wigged justice today and in a firm voice pleaded innocent to the charge that he murdered his wealthy father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes.

It was the 35-year-old yachting enthusiast's first formal plea since he was arrested July 9, the day after Sir Harry's badly-beaten body was found in a smoking bedroom at his sea-side villa.

The Bahamas supreme court chamber was crowded to its capacity of 105 spectators as Chief Justice Sir Oscar Bedford Daly entered to open the most sensational trial in the history of this tiny tropical island. Hundreds stood outside.

Supreme Scottish Rite Council In Session

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)— The Supreme council, southern jurisdiction, of the ancient and accepted Scottish Rite of free masonry convened today for a five-day session during which it will hold its biennial election of members to receive the honorary 33rd degree.

Approximately 200 masons from 33 states in the southern jurisdiction are expected to be selected for the honor by the council at an election tomorrow. Some of those elected will be invested with the honorary degree in a special ceremony here Friday night; others will be formally invested with the honor at ceremonies in their local masonic organizations.

If You Lose Your Rationing Coupons—

Board Outlines Procedure In Getting Duplicate Book

Persons who lose their ration books henceforth will be required to advertise their loss three times in the press, before they can obtain new books.

This requirement was announced Wednesday following a conference of Lubbock county rationing board officials, and applies to gasoline and sugar-coffee rationing books and to other rationing books which may be issued in the future.

They explained the procedure as follows: When a book is lost, the first thing the owner should do is to insert a newspaper advertisement. After the ad has run three times, the newspaper supplies the owner with an affidavit attesting to proof of publication. He should take this with a clipping of the ad to the rationing board office, 1215 Texas Avenue, where he must make application and a sworn statement that the book has been lost.

Officials emphasized that it will be needless to go first to the rationing board, that the initial act should be the insertion of the newspaper advertisement.

The plan is designed, they said, to aid the holder in locating his book and to protect him from use of the book by some unauthorized person.

INSERT A "3 DAY AD" IN THE LOST & FOUND COLUMN

A Small INEXPENSIVE "10 Word Ad" in the Lost and Found Column of the Avalanche-Journal, published for three days, will comply with the ruling now in force. Here is all it will cost to place such an ad in the Avalanche-Journal—

10 WORD AD PUBLISHED FOR— 3 Days WILL COST 80c

IF Within THREE DAYS your RATION BOOK is not returned, the Avalanche-Journal will furnish you with an "Affidavit of Publication" This signed and notorized statement contains a copy of the ad, and certifies that you have complied with the Rationing Board's advertising regulation. To CONSERVE for VICTORY

IT'S UP to every member of every family to back up the war effort every inch of the way! Public transportation facilities are usually over-crowded during the morning hours. Children can help relieve the congestion, make room for war workers . . . and help those war workers to get to their jobs faster . . . by walking to school.

Communications are indispensable tools of war' You can help to speed VICTORY by using your telephone sparingly. Avoid calling "Information." Call "long distance" only when absolutely necessary. Avoid making calls between 7 and 10 p. m. so that members of the armed forces can get their calls through.

Household gas, must be conserved! Do not waste it by letting kettles boil too long, turning the flame too high, or using hot-water heaters unnecessarily. Feature "one dish" meals in your menus several times a week. These small savings are important to full scale conduct of the war!

Water must be conserved, too! It is a critical war material. Leaky faucets waste thousands of gallons yearly. Have your plumbing checked and repaired as soon as possible. Sprinkle lawns and gardens only when absolutely n'cessary. Help the war effort by cooperation with every phase of conservation.

You can't afford to heat the "great outdoors" this winter! Gas, and petroleum shortages can be averted through judicious use of fuels and the installation of heat-savers. Insulate your walls, attic, and roof. Consult an insulation dealer for complete details.

Tungsten can't be spared for use in non-essential electrical fixtures. Save your fixtures and electricity by turning off all unnecessary lights. Turn off the radio, too, when not listening. Replace burned out bulbs with those using lower wattage if possible.

Four Teams Change Schoolboy Outlook

Darkhorses Loom In Four Districts

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Four teams that had not been considered in pre-season forecasts have shoved their way forward as able contenders for district championships in Texas schoolboy football.

Ysleta, Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Longview and Galveston have given a new complexion to their respective areas.

Ysleta is undefeated and untied and probably will enter its game with Bowie (El Paso) favored to win the district 4 championship. Bowie was given top rating before the season opened.

Woodrow Wilson Tough

Woodrow Wilson, getting tougher with each week, now is tied for the lead in the Dallas district, the latest Wildcat victim being Sunset which the triple W boys walloped 27-12 last week in helping cut the state's undefeated, untied list to 14 teams. Sunset has been ranked with the best in North Texas.

Longview is throwing plenty of fear into the heralded powers of East Texas. The Lobos right now are pacing the interscholastic league in scoring with 185 points in five games. Marshall is the district 11 championship favorite but must think about sharing top billing with Pete Shotwell's fast-moving eleven if the present pace continues.

Galveston lost to Austin (Houston) 7-6 but now looks like trouble aplenty for the Goose Creek Ganders in the district 14 race. The Bucs have rolled up 86 points in two district games, smashing South Park (Beaumont) and Orange.

Favorites Clear Cut

Favorites are clear-cut in most of the other districts, even in No. 9 where Breckenridge has just lost three regulars. George Luke, veteran quarterback; Tommy Cruse, who was on the second all-state team at guard last year, and Mack Spain, another guard, withdrew from school. But Breckenridge showed it still had a good team in rolling over Stephenville 33-0 last week.

Four teams tumbled out of the undefeated, untied ranks last week to leave these with perfect records:

Amarillo, Sas Angelo, Sweetwater, Ysleta, Denison, Highland Park, Masonic Home (Fort Worth), Poly (Fort Worth), Longview, Marshall, Lufkin, Reagan (Houston), Goose Creek and McAllen.

This week finds Masonic Home playing in the state's feature game. The Masons clash with their Fort Worth rivals, North Side, in a conference tilt. North Side is undefeated but has been tied.

This week also finds every district with conference games, thus marking the entry of district 1 into title play with Amarillo meeting Plainview and Brownfield going to Pampa. The Panhandle is the final sector to start the conference drive.

Texas-Rice Game Is Top Southwest Tilt For This Weekend

(By The Associated Press)

Robbed of much of its interest because of the poor showing of the participants, the Texas-Rice game at Austin still holds the top spot in Southwest conference football for the week.

Texas will be an overwhelming favorite not only to beat the Owls but to do it decisively because Rice has lost four games out of four and scored only one touchdown. Still, an Owl-Longhorn meeting always will get attention because the rivalry is deep-seated.

Another reason this tilt holds the top spot is that there's not another game for conference teams in which muchly-beaten elevens do not figure.

Southern Methodist goes to New Orleans to play Tulane. S. M. U. has lost two games and won one—over Rice last week. Rice was swamped by Tulane, which had been walloped heartily by Naval Air Technical Training center of Memphis.

Texas Christian engages Oklahoma A. and M. at Oklahoma City. T. C. U. was defeated by Texas A. and M. last week while the Aggies were taking another licking—this time at the hands of the Navy Zoomers.

Texas A. and M. plays North Texas Agricultural college at College Station. A. and M. is the only undefeated, untied team in the conference whereas NTAC has taken a couple of whippings, both from Southwestern. But at least this game will give a comparison of the strength of Texas and Texas A. and M., teams now favored to battle it out for the conference championship. Southwestern downed Texas 14-7. Now should NTAC beat A. and M. or play the Aggies a close game, it would boost Texas stock back where it was before A. and M. started its surprising drive for four straight victories.

Texas, A. & M., S. M. U. Tied

Texas, A. and M. and Southern Methodist are tied for the lead in conference play. All three won their first games last week, Texas cracking down on Arkansas 34-0, A. and M. beating Texas Christian 13-0 and Southern Methodist trimming Rice 12-0.

To say Arkansas, T. C. U. and Rice are offensive would be to compliment them. The three teams combined made 75 yards running with the ball and 132 passing. Arkansas ended up owing itself a yard with its ground game against Texas. T. C. U. made a net of four yards running. Rice was better rushing than passing, showing 72 yards with the former and 36 in the air.

Ralph Park, Texas tailback, has taken over the conference scoring leadership with 39 points. He added 10 points last week against Arkansas.

Bronko To Try For Tackle With Bears

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP) — Bronko Nagurski, who returned to the Chicago Bears this season after several years retirement, isn't going to make a bid for his old fullback post now that Bill Osmanski is leaving the team.

As to reports that he would replace Osmanski, who is going into the Navy, the 34 year old Bronk said: "I'm having enough trouble at tackle. Why should an old guy like me look for trouble like that?"

Military consumption of fish amounts to 1,750,000 pounds a week.

"NOW GO IN THERE AND FIGHT"—And 55 pound Rowland Hutchinson, 9-year-old Manoa grammar school halfback, did as instructed by his coach, Miss Kay O'Connell. But the Monoa team lost to Oakmont, 20-14, despite Miss O'Connell's "secret."

Texas Vs. Rice At Austin Or Texas Vs. Rice At Houston--Fans Have Choice This Week

HOUSTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Southwest conference football fans have their choice Saturday of seeing Rice and Texas play at Austin or Rice and Texas play at Houston.

No, this is not a barnstorming tour by airplane; neither is it a typographical error or double talk.

You see, the Rice and Texas that are will tangle in Austin; the Rice and Texas that would have been will get together in Houston.

It all has come about because of the war.

Texas and Rice expected to have great teams this season—among the best in conference history—but the Marines took away most of the regular players. Texas' footballers went to Southwestern university and Rice's stars landed at Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

Southwestern Has Won Five

Southwestern is undefeated and untied in five games and includes Texas among its victims. Southwestern Louisiana has played only one game but looked impressive in that, defeating Fort Benning, Ga.

Well, Saturday afternoon Rice and Texas play in Austin. Appropriately enough Southwestern and S. L. I. have been matched for a game here that night with a sell-out crowd predicted, meaning 27,000 will see the contest and contribute to war relief.

It could be that some folks will attend both games. However, that would mean road-burning the likes of which the OPA wouldn't approve. It's a three-hours' drive at 50 miles an hour from Austin to Houston—if you have the gas.

Reconnaissance planes fly so high they seldom can be seen and rarely heard, yet pictures taken from them can be enlarged up to 50 times.

U. S. Golfers Enter Mexico Tournament

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 18. (AP)—Chick Evans, Johnny Dawson, Bobby Riegel and Bruce McCormick, all of Los Angeles, are among the amateur golfers from the United States who have entered the National Mexico championship tourney, opening October 30, the Mexico City country club announced today.

Other entries include Bill Feniken, Ed Anderson, George O'Leary, Louis Douglas, George Tyson and Norman Heftner, all of Houston. Schoolboy Rowe, star right handed baseball pitcher for the Philadelphia Phillies, also may play, club officials said.

Leahy Tops On Conservatism

Team's Greatness Still Questioned

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sport Writer

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Well, Mr. Leahy, what have you to say about Notre Dame? Careful, now, don't be too optimistic.

Frank: "It wouldn't be wise on my part to admit that we've got a great team yet—one that would compare with the great Rockne teams, for instance. A team with the stamp of greatness must be a team that has shown the spirit and fight to come from behind to win."

But, Mr. Leahy, your team hasn't had a chance to prove its greatness by coming from behind.

Frank: "Ha, ha, that's right, but don't make me laugh. We'll be behind plenty, let alone even coming on to win. We must play Illinois, Navy, Army, Northwestern, Iowa Seahawks and Great Lakes—remember?"

Plenty Worried

Yeah, bet you're plenty worried about Illinois.

Frank: "We're taking each game as it comes. Of course I'm worried about Illinois."

Oh, come now, Mr. Leahy. Things really aren't so bad as you would lead us to believe. Look what you've said in the last two months:

Sept. 1—"We'll lose at least four or five games this season, and that's not a professional moan."

Sept. 24.—"Pitt, I'm afraid, may surprise us."—Notre Dame 41, Pitt 0.

Can't See Win

Oct. 1—"Can't see us even coming close to beating that great Georgia Tech team."—Notre Dame 55, Georgia Tech 13.

Oct. 8.—"My boys were keyed for Georgia Tech and it's hard to keep them at that pitch . . . Don't know why we are favored against Michigan . . . They're obviously too much for us" . . . Notre Dame 35, Michigan 12.

Oct. 15—"I'm afraid the boys are letting down too much and Wisconsin will take good advantage of it" . . . Notre Dame 50, Wisconsin 0.

That's batting exactly .000 for you, Mr. Leahy, don't you ever come out bluntly and hint of a victory?

Frank: "No."

You can't argue against the record, Mr. Leahy, Notre Dame is clicking. Why?

Starters Experienced

"Our entire starting lineup, with the exception of Rykovich, was with us last year. This fall those boys have stepped in as veterans of the T formation. Also, unlike most other schools with service students, most of our boys originally enrolled at Notre Dame. Thus, we possibly have a better all-around school spirit to win. Then, too, we did not think Creighton Miller and Jim Mello would return. They did—and are our leading ground gainers.

"Angelo Bertelli's generalship has been above reproach, and he, probably more than any other player, has done the most for our improvement. Bert has found himself. Last year he was relieved of signal calling because of his complex of never calling a play for himself. That move made Bert take a personal inventory, with the result that this year he is a remarkably confident quarterback.

"But we'll still be lucky if we don't lose three or four games."

Tsk, tsk, Mr. Leahy.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Anyone know what became of the baseball Bill Dickey slammed out of Sportsman's park to make it game, set and match for the Yankees in the World Series? . . . If it can be found, Alfred McVay of Walla Walla, Washington, noting the interest shown there in a couple of balls autographed by the Yanks and Cards, suggests that it would be a swell idea to get Dickey's signature on the trophy and then send it on a tour of Army and Navy posts throughout the world . . . "It would be a poor substitute for the teams that were supposed to travel, but it would be a taste of the series," says Al.

HEADLINES, HEADACHES

Admitting that we've missed seeing a lot of good players, this dept. nominates Army's Glenn Davis as the best broken field runner seen personally in a good many years. Davis not only is fast but its impossible to tell from one step to the next which way he is going to dodge . . . And, getting out at the end of the limb, its our guess that the first team strong enough to stop Army's wide runs will stop Army; the Cadets' line doesn't open those holes quickly enough for 'T' plays.

Granville Barrere, Hillsboro, O., News Herald: "If the St. Louis Cardinals had played throughout the season as they played in the World Series, they would not have played in the series."

NO WORDS WASTED

Bill Johnson, the Yankees' rookie third sacker, claims that the day training began last spring Manager Joe McCarthy said, "you're Johnson, I suppose. Let me see you strut your stuff at third base." The next time Skipper Joe spoke to Bill was after Johnson hit that triple with the bases full in the third game of the World Series. As he entered the dugout, McCarthy grunted: "nice going, kid."

The name of the turkey is probably derived from its call of turk, turk, and not from its supposed Turkish origin.

Unbeaten Minnesota, Southern Cal And Navy Face Tests This Weekend In Top Grid Games

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 — Just how good are Navy, Minnesota and Southern California? Their games this week against Georgia Tech, Michigan and College of the Pacific should give the answer and help clarify the college football picture.

The Midshipmen, Gophers and Trojans are among the nation's 18 unbeaten and untied teams, but whether they rank with such recognized juggernauts as Notre Dame, Army, Purdue and Pennsylvania still is debated in some quarters.

Their games shape up as the best three in the country since the Irish, Cadets, Boilermakers and Quakers again take the field against opponents who do not rate in their class.

Navy, with Notre Dame lurking around the corner on October 30, faces a real test in Georgia Tech. Notre Dame is the only team that has beaten the Engineers. That was a 55-13 walloping. If the Navy, after taking Duke and Penn State on successive Saturdays, duplicates the Irish feat the Middies will be deserving of the most flowery adjectives.

Minnesota, too, is on the spot in its battle with Michigan for the little brown jug. Like Georgia Tech, Michigan has lost only one game, that to Notre Dame, 35-12. Idle last week the Wolerines will be out to redeem themselves as well as end their Gopher jinx. Minnesota has beaten Michigan nine years in a row.

Southern California hasn't yielded a point in four games, but the Trojans tangle with an inspired College of the Pacific outfit that may shatter their dreams of a perfect season. It will be a battle of unbeaten teams since Pacific, coached by 81-year-old A. A. Stagg, sr., upset the Del Monte Pre-Flight eleven, 16-7, on Saturday.

Others Went As Expected

Otherwise Saturday's games went pretty much as expected although Penn State battled Navy even for three quarters before losing, 14-6, and Ohio State threw a scare into Purdue by holding a 7-0 lead for more than 30 minutes. Final score: Purdue 30 Ohio State 7. Oklahoma and Missouri also scared Tulsa and the Iowa Seahawks, but each yielded two touchdowns in the last quarter and lost 20-6 and 21-6, respectively.

Most of the other leading teams merely had a good workout. Notre Dame crushed Wisconsin, 50-0; Army, held to 13-0 at half time, went on to wallop Columbia, 52-0; Pennsylvania rolled up its biggest score in years in trouncing Lakehurst Naval, 74-6; and Southern California smashed San Francisco, 34-0.

The purpose:

It gives the boys experience in trench digging, recovers needed lead and provides the marksmen an added incentive to group their shots.

NEW YORK—The Atlantic charter's four freedoms already have paid off as far as 89 employes of the Bank of China in Wall street are concerned.

The board pondered, related Kheel, then a member said, "I know, let's give it to them on the basis of the four freedoms."

The vote was unanimous.

HERE is a recent remark from a responsible member of the U. S. Senate, recently returned from an inspection trip to the various battle zones, and who, until called back by presidential orders, was on combat duty as an officer of the U. S. Army:

"Certainly, no one is more interested than the parents of our American boys in the success of the Russian arms over Germany. But it is also true that the whole character of the Pacific war would change if the United States had access to the Pacific coastal area of Russia."

ALL men are liars. Not conscious, malicious liars, but unconscious liars, in the sense that their talk and their treatment of issues daily falls short of the exalted ideals of truthfulness that does not admit partial, distorted, or exaggerated reports.

The most difficult thing in the world is to recognize a fact when it is a fact, and to state a fact truthfully. It is not an easy thing to see a fact clearly. To state it clearly is even harder.

The unconscious liar has inaccurate powers of comprehension, or inadequate powers of expression, or both. His morals are not at fault. His mind is very much like the poorly made window pane which distorts the landscape.

THE big, black headlines tell of mass killing; of huge bombs desolating whole blocks of city dwellings; of ships being sunk on lonely oceans. The airwaves reverberate with the chants of hate, hate, HATE in a world locked in a gigantic struggle to the death.

Yet behind the sordid scenes and stores there is still left a lot of human kindness; a lot of thoughtfulness, and tenderness and plain decency.

We just don't hear much about it, that's all.

From time to time there come to Avalanche-Journal offices the mothers, the fathers, the sisters and the brothers of our men who have fallen in the war.

They come, may heaven bless and comfort them, to tell us about their loved one; where he was, what he had been doing — how, to the best of their slim knowledge, he died for his country.

And we are struck with the fact that conversation with these mourners frequently brings out acts of sympathy upon the part of others — others who are strangers and who themselves are ekeing out a precarious existence on some far-flung fighting front.

LETTERS from "buddies" of their lost ones come to mothers, fathers, sweethearts, sisters and other relatives.

An Army or a Navy nurse carefully pens a message from a jungle hut in the South Pacific, from a frigid shore on Kiska, from a rubble-strewn village in Sicily or Italy.

An overworked chaplain, perhaps of a faith different from that of the dead boy, writes in a firm hand, guided only by candle light in an insect-infested tent, his comforting words to people whom he has never seen and probably never will see. And letters come, too, from grim, harried commanders of fighting men — letters which will be handed down for generations to come, for the commander says, "John was a fine soldier," or "he lived and died in the best tradition of the United States Navy."

Not infrequently we are privileged to read some of these letters, crinkled and worn from long journeys and many readings. And our reaction to them is, strangely perhaps, reassuring.

For these letters are proof, it seems to us, that man's humanity to man still lives in a world aflame with violence; that the strong lights of sympathy and good will burn brightly even in those sectors where human misery is rampant and human life is cheap.

There isn't much that those of us who remain at home can say or do to soothe the hurts of those who have given their all to the principles of freedom and honor.

But the written words of those who were there—and who remain there—bridge gloriously and tenderly a gap which can never be altogether closed.

If there is a shining star for those who lose their loved ones in battle, it must be the messages from afar. For these messages remind us all that God still is in His heaven; that somehow right still survives in the world.

FORMATION of a Latin-American Citizens council to serve the interests of the Mexican colony here, and also to promote better understanding between the English and Spanish speaking peoples of Lubbock, marks a forward step in this community. Few people realize that we have here now a permanent Mexican population of around 1,500; and, of course, during harvest months, a great many more temporary Spanish speaking people.

The local council has as its chairman Rev. J. A. Ramirez, for several years a Baptist pastor in the Mexican section. Its spark, however, is Mrs. F. Montero, whose husband succeeded to the Mexican Baptist pulpit.

Born, reared and educated in Texas, Mrs. Montero is an extremely personable and intelligent young woman; gracious and with high ideas. Possessor of sparkling Latin beauty and a quick mind, she is well equipped to do not only a great deal for the Mexican community, but also to make for better relations between the people of Mexican extraction and the Anglo-Saxons.

Because few Lubbock citizens residing south of the Santa Fe's tracks ever have occasion to go into the Mexican quarter, it is not generally known that the latter has been growing and improving in recent years. Neither is it recognized that the war has brought a new feeling of responsibilities to this country on the part of citizens of Mexican extraction.

The Latin-American Citizens council is dedicated, among other things, to improvement of morale, education, general understanding and morals in the Mexican quarter. Much work lies ahead for the council and for those Anglo-Americans who sense and understand the importance of its philosophies.

But in the end—and providing the task is approached with patience—the work will bear fruit in the form of a better, stronger Mexican community and, therefore, a better Lubbock as a whole.

ZAMAN KHAN

CHAPTER XIII

A moment later, a man stepped out from behind a tree. He was tall and of extraordinary width of shoulders, ruddy-skinned, full-bearded, with a great, predatory hook of a nose and twinkling, humorous, steel-gray eyes. A blue-and-read-checkered turban, ornamented with a regimental insignia, was cocked at a devil-may-care angle on his bullet-shaped head, and he wore a tattered, stained British khaki uniform.

He reached out a strong hand and pulled Lincoln to safety.

Again he laughed.

"I know a saheb" he exclaimed, "not always when I see one—for, indeed, you look like a Bedawin—but when I hear one. Splendid words you used!"

He interrupted himself.

"Words," he went on, frowning, "not altogether English, though."

"I'm American," explained Lincoln.

"A glorious race, I understand, if not quite as glorious as the Afghans."

"Guess you're one of them?" smiled the other.

"I am that same. Zaman Khan is my name, and I am a sergeant of the Sixteenth Pathan Rissala in the service of the British Raj."

"And what," demanded Lincoln, "are you doing in this neck o' the African woods?"

"There was much grand fighting" — the Afghan gesticulated vaguely towards the north—"and I and many of my comrades were wounded and captured by the little black-haired men who smell of garlic and the big yellow-haired men who smell of pig. And I did not like it in prison, in the land called the Sudan. No—I did not like it at all! So," calmly, "one night, having, with Allah's aid; stolen a knife, I cut some throats and helped myself to a rifle and ammunition, and I went quickly away from there."

"I shall rejoin the Sixteenth Pathan Rissala," he continued. "I heard in prison camp that they are now battling in Libya."

"Aren't you going the wrong way?"

"Why?"

"Libya is north, not south."

"But north are the garlic-eaters and the pig-eaters. I must keep away from their smell—and their revenge. So I am traveling by roundabout roads."

"You know them?"

"A friendly black man told me. And I could have got to Libya before this. But," with a little apologetic cough, "I have been busy—trading in horses."

"Whose horses?"

"Anybody's horses."

"When the owner wasn't looking?" demanded the American, slowly winking an eye.

"By Allah!" roared the Afghan. "But you are a man after my own heart, of quick wit and most nimble tongue! Ah—soul of my soul!" He drew Lincoln to his massive breast and, in spite of struggles and protests, implanted a smacking kiss upon his lips. "I like you! I like you fine!" Another kiss. "And what are you doing here, O heart's delight?"

"What does it matter?" interrupted Zaman Khan. "Belike you killed a man—for the sport of it; belike a woman—for the sake of the red passion. What difference" Allah will forgive you, and so," grandiosely, "shall I. I like you, I repeat—I, Zaman Khan. And your name?"

Once more Lincoln hesitated; and once more the other said:

"What does it matter? Come with me!"

"Where are you going?"

"To the little town of Yebba. I have been there before"—he grinned—"with horses. A profitable market there for horses, and no questions asked. And the wines there are honeyed. And the women . . . ahee!" He blew a kiss into the air.

"Sounds attractive," admitted the American, with a laugh.

"You do not dare, because of the sahebs' foolish laws in the matter of your small killing?"

"That's it."

"Have no fear. Yebba is an Arab settlement in the heart of the country. No sahebs are ever seen there. And if, by Shaitan's cursed devicing, they should learn of your being there and come after you—why—the town is not far from the jungles the other side of Lake Tchad."

Lincoln looked up.

"Ever hear," he inquired, trying to sound casual, "of a place, somewhere in the jungle, called the Meeting of the Elephants?"

The Afghan roared with mirth.

"Now I know," he cried, "that you are running away from the sahebs' laws. For the Meeting of the Elephants is deeply buried in the wilderness, and just the place where a man might hide for a day, a year, an eternity."

"You know the way?"

"No. But somebody will, in Yebba."

Yes—the American echoed in his mind—somebody would, in Yebba. He would be able to hire a guide there; was playing—he though—in luck.

"I'll go with you," he said.

"Good! My camp," pointing, "is over there. I promise you a splendid mutton stew, charmingly flavored with wild herbs, and a drink or two of fermented liquor—although forbidden the True Believer by the Prophet Mohammed—may he intercede in my behalf on the Day of Judgment! And, while we fill our bellies and pleasantly warm our gullets, we shall talk as it behooves men to talk. Of strife, a little. But, mostly, of women!"

Today's Journal Editorial

WHOSE COUNTRY IS THIS, ANYHOW?

The President has been eminently correct in his assertions that the critical statements of senators who returned recently from American fighting fronts throughout the world might arouse resentment at home.

Undoubtedly the reports thus far revealed concerning the statements by the senators have added to home front resentment for at least two reasons:

First, their observations have made clear that a good deal has been taking place in many matters vital to the war that should not have taken place; and second, it is equally clear that the secretive administration has kept from the American people a great deal of information that should have been placed at their disposal without the necessity of sending senators on tour to ascertain what has been going on.

It is clear, from the senatorial reports, that the administration has done a great many things without the knowledge of the American people that it would not have dared attempt if the people had known about it. Indeed, it is inherently a characteristic of Americans that they resent that sort of business.

The passing of time since the return of the senators has re-emphasized one fact: That, no matter how diligent the attempts at secrecy may be, the American people usually find out, sooner or later and in one way or another, what they are entitled to know. And the re-action usually is worse for those who have attempted the gagging tactics than if they had taken the people into their confidence at the outset.

Russia Entertains Foreign Diplomats

MOSCOW, Oct. 18 (AP)—Moscow, as the setting for the forthcoming three-power conference of American, British and Russian Foreign Ministers, is having its brightest season, social and otherwise, since the start of the war.

The Ballet, Opera, concerts, plays and movies all are going. Foreign diplomats are giving parties in a way they have not done since the winter of 1940—before the invasion by Germany.

The bomb damage to Moscow is almost completely repaired. The university, which was hardest hit, now is getting a new coat of yellow plaster.

The subway stations all have been given a fresh coat of pink paint.

More than 200 languages and dialects are spoken in India.

It Sounds Like Fiction, But Pyle Says The Tale Is True

Ernie Relates The Story Of Klondike Kate

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of the Ernie Pyle columns from past years that are being reprinted while Ernie rests. He wrote this one during a trip to Alaska in 1937.

By ERNIE PYLE

STEAMBOATIN' Down The Yukon—The Lady Known as Lou hasn't put in her appearance yet. But this evening, coming down the Yukon into Dawson, I sat on the deck of this little river steamboat and heard the story of Klondike Kate—from her own lips.

The Lady Known as Lou was fiction. But Klondike Kate is real. She came to the North in 1900 to perform in the dance halls of the new Eldorado. She came down through White Horse rapids dressed as a boy. She is a genuine sourdough.

But Klondike Kate is no crude nugget—isn't today and never was, despite that nickname. She is tall and straight and stately. Almost regal. Her table steward tells me she has the finnest manners, and is the most considerate, of anyone at his table. He says her manner is like that of a queen. Even when she's rolling a cigaret.

ERNIE PYLE

In 1900 her name was Kate Rothrock. She was young and beautiful and good. It isn't true that every Klondike dance-hall girl was a prostitute. Kate had her man all right, and lived with him. But she was a one-man woman. She was in love with him.

Everybody in the Klondike, even today, knows the story of Klondike Kate and her man. They lived in Dawson three years during the boom days—Kate dancing, her man tending bar, working in stores, finally going into a little business.

You would know the name of the man if I told it. He became rich and famous, known throughout the United States. And it was Klondike Kate who staked him. It was Kate who shelled out her poke for him, because she loved him, to give him his big chance "outside." And he took it, and made good, and then he threw her down.

Took It On The Chin

She didn't cry or squeal. She went to work like a man. She stayed in the show business until a knee injury put her out of professional dancing for good. And then she took in washing. And finally she homesteaded a place back in Oregon, and proved up on it. She traded that for a house in Bend. And that one for another. She built herself a beautiful garden, and a fireplace with rocks all of different kinds.

Somehow she could never learn to hate him. Even in later years, when she went to him appealingly and was turned away, even that didn't teach her how to hate him. She stayed in love, and the years passed to 10, and to 20, and to 30—and still she couldn't hate him.

DURING all that time she never went back to Dawson. The Klondike was far, far behind her. And then a funny thing happened.

She got a letter. It was from a prospector, somewhere up on one of the Yukon tributaries. He had seen her name in the paper. He said he remembered her from the dance-hall days of 1900, and wanted to correspond with her.

So they corresponded. And finally the prospector went all the way from the Yukon frontier down into Oregon to see Kate Rothrock. And they were married.

It was one of those unbelievably fictional things. Johnny Matson had fallen in love with Kate Rothrock when she was a Dawson dance-girl. But he was a rough, backward man, and she was taken anyhow, so he said nothing.

And then she disappeared; to where, he didn't know. He stayed on in the hills, panning a little gold. Not much, just a little. Through all these years he has lived out on the creek, alone. And then he found her. That happened less than five years ago.

Still Loves Dawson

Kate Rothrock still lives in Bend most of the year. But every summer, on the first Yukon boat, she comes north all the way to Dawson to see "her Johnny."

They see each other only twice a year. He comes in from "the crick" for a few days after she gets here. And again for a few days just before she leaves in the fall, on the last boat out. That's all Kate Rothrock sees of her Johnny.

She'd go out on the crick and live, gladly, but he won't let her. "No, he says he waited 30 years for me, and now he's not going to have me living in a cabin up some crick," she says. "This is what he wants me to do, and I want to do it for him."

All summer she stays in Dawson, living in a room in the home of a friend, strolling the dead boardwalks of the town that once roared and fumed to the touch of gold.

"Doesn't it make you sad," I said, "to be in Dawson again, after all that happened to you there? And to see Dawson so quiet and still now, remembering how it used to be?"

She said "No, I love it. I've learned long, long ago to live within myself. I had to. Memories of the old Dawson are still there, but they don't hurt me. It's beautiful to be back."

"I SAY you talking to Klondike Kate," said my friend Albert Moss, a little later. "I don't expect she told you the real lowdown on her life."

"No, I expect not," I said. "What was the real lowdown?"

And then Mr. Moss told me, from his own memory, slowly and rememberingly as though it were a great epic, the very same story that Klondike Kate had told me. So it was all true. And more so . . .

"I haven't talked to her on the boat," Mrs. Moss said, "for I know she wouldn't remember me. But I knew her well in the old days in Dawson. She was a wonderful woman.

"The man she lived with was a skunk. But I guess she was in love with him. She staked him to everything she had. She gave him the start that made him famous. She gave him $40,000. And then he absolutely repudiated her."

So Klondike Kate Rothrock, who couldn't learn to hate, and her Johnny, who waited 30 years, go at last with each other into the sunset.

It is too late now, far too late for either of them, but they did reach in time to snatch something—a quality of unusual tenderness, and a beauty surely, the beauty of brown autumn leaves along the north rivers. Leaves that the frosts can't hurt, because the frosts have already touched them.

Nazi Withdrawal Foreseen In Russia

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

A general view of the crucial struggle on the Russo-German front gives the impression that the Hitlerites are on the verge of another great withdrawal of their line in face of the continuing Red onslaught.

As a matter of fact, an unexplained official reference to a "big detaching movement" of Nazi forces invites speculation whether a fresh retreat isn't already in its initial stages. In any event we know that such a retirement is quite possible.

This whole vast front of more than a thousand miles—which right now overshadows all other European land fighting in importance— is in a state of volcanic eruption at half a dozen strategic points. At the moment, however, the crisis is pivoting in the south, and the battle is fierce.

The Russians have made a major breach in the German Dnieper line above Dnepropetrovsk on the bend of the great river, and are threatening to surround big Hitlerite forces to the south. Also in danger of being cut off is the Nazi occupied Crimea which once more is splashing the pages of history with the flaming colors which have characterized its adventurous life.

The Crimean has a special significance beyond the fact that it's an important part of the general engagement. Your maps will remind you that the big Crimean peninsula, which now is a hot potato in Hitler's hands, is connected with the mainland to the north by the spindly Isthmus of Perekop. The hard-driving Reds to the north already are fighting in the city of Melitopol which is the right-wing anchor of Hitler's line and is only 100 miles east of the Perekop isthmus.

Provides Land Escape

Now that little isthmus provides the only land avenue of escape for something like 100,000 Nazi troops who are cooped up on the Crimea. It's reported in Stockholm that the fuehrer has ordered these forces to "defend, if necessary to the last man," this peninsula which, as things now stand, is the key to domination of the Black sea and is thus a mighty atom in the global war.

I never think of the Crimea without also thinking of the Crimean war of almost a century ago, perhaps because it's easily marked in memory by the charge of the light brigade and the immortal story of "The Lady With the Lamp"—Florence Nightingale.

However, apart from these romantic touches, the strategic importance of the Crimea was an issue then as now and for similar reasons.

The significance of the old Crimean war is clearly shown in the treaty Russia signed after being defeated by the Allied forces of France, Britain, Turkey and Sardinia. The Russians gave up their protectorate over the Danubian principalities, ceded part of Bessarabia to Moldavia, and agreed that navigation of the Danube was free to all nations and that the Black sea should be neutralized.

Will the Nazis in the Crimea make a suicide stand as Hitler is said to have ordered? It looks like a futile sort of gesture, which might act merely as a delaying action against the Red forces.

If Hitler's right wing collapses it will mean the second big retreat along the whole line is underway.

Jap Town In Burma Under Strong Attack

NEW DELHI, Oct. 18 (U.P.) — British ground and air forces have launched a strong attack against the Japanese-held town of Maungdaw, 60 miles north of the important Burmese supply port of Akyab, a communique disclosed today.

A terse communique from Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters revealed that British troops struck across the Indian border Saturday night under cover of diversionary patrol raids and "successfully attacked" Maungdaw with mortar fire.

There was no immediate indication as to the size of the British force involved, but the communique announced that RAF dive bombers and fighters joined the attack Sunday morning, pounding enemy troop concentrations throughout the area.

Medium bombers followed up the daylight raids with a series of attacks against Akyab and the Sagaing railway station south of Maungdaw, setting large fires in both target areas.

Nazi Chief Suicides; His Family Arrested

LONDON, Oct. 18. (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that the family of Nazi Lt.-Gen. Schmidt, reported to have committed suicide on the Russian battlefield following the defeat of his tank division, has been arrested by the gestapo and sent to a concentration camp.

Quoting a Tass agency report from the German frontier, the broadcast said that Gen. Schmidt's family was arrested by the enraged Nazis because papers which the Russians found on his body gave details of his defeat at Belgorod.

The Moscow radio had previously reported Gen. Schmidt's suicide, identifying him as commander of the German 19th tank division.

Harvard University Gets Art Collection

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 18 (AP) —Harvard university officials announced today that the most valuable and comprehensive art collection ever given to an American university had been bequeathed to the Fogg Art Museum by the late Grenville L. Winthrop of New York.

The collection comprises more than 4,000 objects valued at many millions of dollars and Harvard officials said the gift makes Fogg Museum first in this country in Archaic Chinese Jades and in 19th century European drawings and pre-raphaelite art and places the museum among the first three in the field of Chinese bronzes and Buddhist sculpture.

Axis Prisoners Aid In Crop Harvesting

CAMP POLK, La., Oct. 18 (AP) — Axis prisoners of war have begun work harvesting rice and sugar cane crops in Louisiana, it was announced today by Lt. Col. Theodore E. Burleigh, commanding officer of the prison camp here.

One camp already has been opened at Jennings and another in the Lake Charles area. Other branch camps due to get underway in the immediate future will be located at Sulphur, La., and at Beaumont, Texas, Col. Burleigh said.

EXPORTS BANNED

REYNOSA, Mex., Oct. 18 (AP)— The Mexican government has banned exports of gin and rum to the U. S. and as a result liquor dealers north of the Rio Grande say that the alcoholic shortage recently experienced is likely to become a drouth in no time at all.

One Dies, Seven Hurt When Train Derails

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 18. (AP)— The first section of the Atlantic coast line's "Havana Special," speeding northward between Petersburg and Richmond, derailed shortly before midnight last night, killing a soldier and injuring at least seven others.

The military withheld the dead soldier's name pending notification of his next of kin.

Four pullman cars and the train's diner were derailed, but none of the cars overturned. A rail, dipped from the tracks as the train skidded to a stop, crashed through the last car of the train and caused the only casualties.

Main Jap Column Is Reported In Retreat

CHUNGKING, Oct. 18 (AP) — One of the main Japanese columns in a drive to force the Chinese in Yunnan province back across to the east bank of the Salween river, has been broken up and now is retreating in several directions, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

The communique said the Japanese column, one of three said to be pushing north along the Burma road where it enters southwestern China, had suffered severe losses from heavy Chinese fire.

Man Held For Army Officials

A 26-year-old man who said he lived in Houston before his induction into the Army was arrested in Lubbock Sunday by Aubrey Fawver, assistant chief of police, and Sgt. Lewis Kittrell for Army officials of Roswell, N. M., where he allegedly had broken to liberty from the guard house.

The man, one of two who were said to have broken out, allegedly deserted the Army at Fort Sill, Texas. He was held here today awaiting instructions. The other fugitive had not been reported arrested.

Burglary Is Reported

A burglary was reported Sunday from three miles north of Roundup switch, where a .38 caliber pistol, a .22 caliber rifle, a woman's wristwatch and a bracelet were taken. A 23-year-old man and his wife were listed as suspects. The man was described as 6 feet tall and driving a 1929 model A Ford coupe with Oklahoma license. The car had a bed roll on the back, and there was a black dog riding with the pair, police said they had been informed.

Brownfield authorities said a 1942 two-door green Chevrolet, Texas license K83-646, had been stolen there, and asked that the car and its occupants be held.

Boy Hit By Taxi

Two witnesses, one of them an Army man, informed police a taxicab driver here had "cut" a corner at Texas and Fifteenth street and had struck James Grant, 15, about 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Police indicated the boy's injuries were not serious. Further information was given about the cab driver.

Bikes were reported stolen from Clarence Noles of 218 Avenue P and William Hood of 1802 Broadway.

A bag reported stolen from Clifton Kirkpatrick of Camp Polk, La., from a bus station here, had been recovered and forwarded to him in Wichita Falls. A Mexcian suspect was under arrest.

Juveniles Cause Trouble

R. L. Popejoy of 2313 Ninth street accused two persons in a car he minutely described even to license number had thrown a rock through the windshield of an automobile.

A woman in 1500-block Nineteenth street reported children who "won't stay off my house and quit beating my children." Juvenile authorities will investigate.

Police arrested 14 drunks over the weekend, five of them having been questioned into their draft status. The sheriff's department said seven of eight persons arrested for drunkenness had paid fines and been released.

Re-Entries To State School Show Decline

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 (AP)—The number of readmissions to the Gatesville state school for boys has declined from a peak of 43 per cent to a current total of nine per cent, the board of control announced today.

The board said the principal factor in the decline probably was an improved school training program although lack of efficiency in community follow-up work and a lack of follow-up work by the school due to personnel shortage might be factors.

It declared 80 per cent of the boys paroled by the school now hold good paying jobs. More than 300 boys who once were in the school are helping in the war effort through employment or by making gainful civilian contributions.

W. B. Ford Killed In Mishap Near Spur

SPUR, Oct. 18. (Special)—W. B. Ford, about 26, farmer of near Calgary community, was killed, probably instantly, in an unusual mishap about 2 o'clock Sunday morning 15 miles southwest of Spur.

En route home from Spur, his car struck a steel inclined plane of a bridge bannister, slid up it a ways, then fell into the flooring of the bridge.

Ford suffered internal injuries and, suggested by Sheriff Fred Christopher and J. R. Whitmire of the state highway patrol office in Lubbock, possibly glass slivers in his neck.

He is survived by his widow and several children.

In another mishap, about 30 minutes earlier, Mrs. R. J. Rumbeck, about 40, was walking with her husband to their home east of Spur, and she was struck down by a truck driven by W. E. Johnson, 35, of Girard, and one of her arms broken. Steering apparatus of the truck apparently failed, Whitmire said he had been informed.

State Programs Save Mileage

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP) — Mileage conservation programs of the various states will save the nation more than 255,000,000 miles and $10,000,000 in cash this year, the council of state governments estimated today.

To reach these totals and at the same time maintain essential services, the council reported, the state governments have adopted the following means, either singly or in combination:

Car Pools Popular

Pooled passenger cars; required use of public carriers where possible; eliminated unnecessary trips; withdrawn vehicles from service; operated all state-owned vehicles from central garages; maintained daily records of car movements; required advance clearance for official business trips; and maintained rigid control over issuance of gasoline and oil coupons.

Centralized control systems are in operation in 15 states while others have adopted certain features of these systems without using the whole. Twenty-nine states operate car pools, and all 48 states have mileage administrators.

Results of conservation measures were illustrated by the case of New Hampshire which cut state travel 2,632,491 miles during the first six months of 1943. This was a 65.1 per cent reduction from the previous year.

One Workman Killed In Refinery Fire

HOUSTON, Oct. 18. (U.P.)—Investigation of a flash fire which killed one workman, Joe T. Vitek, 33, of Cedar Bayou, and injured seven others, was underway today at the Baytown plant of the Humble Oil and Refining Co.

Officials said the fire, which lasted but a few seconds, came Saturday while the men were cleaning a still unit. Property damage was reported as negigible.

British Pacific Help Assured

GUADALCANAL, Oct. 14. (Delayed) (AP)—When the right moment comes, Britain will throw its full weight against Japan, British members of an Allied military mission in the Pacific, said today.

"Our intention is to send out every single thing we've got—air, sea and land forces," RAF Air Commodore Lachlan MacLean told interviewers.

"From what I've seen, I'm sorry for the Jap," he went on. "He can't cope with the weight of force to be thrown against him. He has manpower but that's all."

Tokyo Propaganda Cited

MacLean's colleague, General John S. Lethbridge, a veteran of the battle of France and later Britain's war office munitions expert, said Tokyo propagandists had tried to twist the recent statement of Prime Minister Churchill to give the impression that the British planned to demobilize whenever the European war ended.

Lethbridge declared all combatant forces, except purely home defenders, will remain under arms and fight Japan until she's overthrown.

Churchill's statement, he said, meant only that English home guards and various women's organizations would be disbanded and conscription of middle-aged women for factory work be discontinued.

Jap Losses Exceed Production Capacity

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. (AP)—Losses inflicted on Japan by the forces of General MacArthur and Admiral Halsey "already are greater than her production capacity," Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., (R-Mass) who recently returned from a tour of war theaters, said today.

Addressing the foreign policy association annual forum here, he said that with the aid of Admiral Halsey, "General MacArthur has cut the spreading tentacles of Japanese imperialism and has actually pushed them back," and he added:

"Just think what we will do to them when we give them both barrels."

Senator Lodge, one of five senators who made the war fronts tour, praised the "complete harmonious cooperation between the Navy, Army ground forces and the Air forces" on all fronts.

Marshall's Saluting Technique In Photo Declared All Wrong

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (U.P.) — Newsweek has received several letters objecting to a photograph of Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. Army chief of staff—caught in the act of doing something that might well have meant a week on the coal pile if he had been a befuddled private.

What Marshall was doing, in a photograph published by Newsweek, was saluting with his palm out, somewhat after the manner of the British.

Newsweek got several letters from privates, veterans, and informed citizens wanting to know, in effect, how come? All asserted that the salute was "not regulation," the soldiers handbook definitely prescribing another kind altogether.

The handbook says the palm should be "to the left," the hand and wrist straight, the forearm inclined at a 45-degree angle.

Three Violations

Marshall violated the handbook rules on at least three counts. His palm was out, the wrist was not straight, and his forearm extended at a 90-degree angle from the upper arm.

Soldiers to whom the photograph was shown agreed 100 per cent that they couldn't get by with what one of them had the temerity to call "such a sloppy salute."

Along higher military critics the consensus was that "when you get to be chief of staff you can salute any way you want to."

We could be persuaded to tell you about a certain section of the telephone directory that tells newcomers where to buy what they need. Know what it is?

Why certainly! The new Yellow Pages. They're so handy and easy to use that most old-timers here always depend upon them, especially in these days of difficult buying. When their regular dealer can't fill all their needs, or when their pantry shelves run low between infrequent deliveries, they find another dealer in the Yellow Pages. This saves time, tires, and random phone calls.

Fleet Told To Destroy Enemy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox gave these orders to the fleet today: "Seek out the enemy—and destroy him!"

His orders are contained in a message commemorating Navy day, October 27, in which he also pledges that "the most ruthless and cruel enemies of all time shall be driven from the seas.

The text:

"Navy day of 1943 is fighting day for the United States fleet on every ocean of the world. In the Atlantic, the Pacific, the Mediterranean and in other theaters of action, our men in navy blue are slugging it out with the enemy. The hearts of more than a hundred and thirty million Americans are with them in the tremendous task ahead.

Mighty Fleet Cited

"During almost two years of war, a patriotic nation has dedicated trained hands and willing effort to the construction of a mighty fleet—the greatest in our history. Upon this ability to build, and keep on building, rests the Navy's ability to carry out future attacks. Our fighting men afloat have proved their battle worth. Given the ships, the planes and the guns in sufficient quantity, they will never let us down.

"Thousands of these valiant men have already given their lives as their contributions to the ultimate victory which is now assured. I am confident that the people of this country will not forget that sacrifice, nor what is being done by our gallant allies.

"On this Navy day, every patriotic American salutes the men of our Navy, Coast Guard and Marine Corps with a hearty 'well done,' and those at home proudly join with those who are far away in a silent battle pledge that the most ruthless and cruel enemies of all time shall be driven from the seas.

"To the men of the fleet I say with confidence and with pride: seek out the enemy—and destroy him! Today, tomorrow and tomorrow we must attack!"
