Polls open Saturday for city, school elections

Polls will open at 7 a.m. Saturday, April 2, for four elections in Aransas County, including a decision by residents of Rockport on whether to adopt a charter that will convert their city to a home rule government.

Candidates in the city and school district elections express their views to the voters. The Pilot election section begins on page 9B.

The charter question is a special election being held in conjunction with the regular city elections for two places on the Rockport city council. Incumbents W.B. Allen and Richard Beck are running unopposed for re-election as aldermen of Wards 1 and 2 respectively.

In a change from last year's election, Rockport voters will go to one of two polling places this year, according to which ward they reside in. Residents of Ward 1 — the area inside the city south of Laurel Street — will cast their ballots at City Hall.

Eligible voters residing in Ward 2 — inside the city from Laurel Street north — will go to Rockport Elementary School to vote.

In Fulton, voting will be at the town hall on 7th Street. Three places on the Fulton town council are up for election, with races for two of the posts. In Place 2, incumbent Katherine McLester is being challenged by Gary LaBerge, and in Place 3, the race is between incumbent Isabel Gutierrez and Lynelle Hunt.

Fulton Alderwoman Pat Loflin is running unopposed for Place 5.

Elections are being held for two places on the Aransas County Independent School District board of trustees. In Place 7, Durene McCain and Horace Naquin are running in opposition; incumbent Gene Gregory is not seeking re-election. William Buckley is running unopposed for re-election to Place 4. Voting will be in the Rockport-Fulton Junior High School cafeteria.

One other election, for two places on the Aransas County Municipal Utility District board of directors, serving Goose Island Lake Estates in Lamar, is set for Saturday. Incumbents Wilton Bluhm and Steve Shenk are running for re-election unopposed.

Only residents of Goose Island Lake Estates are eligible to vote in that election held at the utility district office in Lamar.

Local shrimpers oppose boat tax exemption proposal

By PAT BLAIR
Staff writer

A number of local shrimpers are in opposition to a movement to exempt commercial fishing boats and equipment from ad valorem taxation, according to shrimpers Alton Kinsel, president of the Rockport Shrimp Co-op, and Raymond James.

Kinsel and James Monday declared they are opposed to proposed legislation to exempt the boats and equipment and said they are seeking public opinion on the issue.

They indicated they were not alone among area commercial fishermen in opposing the proposed exemption. "A lot of them (fishermen) feel the way we do," James said.

"We don't think it's right," Kinsel said, "for us to be exempt." James added. "Taking the tax burden off of us puts it on someone else."

Commercial fishermen seeking the exemption do so on the basis that they are "sea farmers" and should have the same exemption granted on implements and equipment used by farmers in agriculture. In place of the ad valorem tax, commercial fishermen pushing for the exemption propose a productivity tax.

Kinsel and James say the productivity tax would not be a fair substitute and challenge the claim that commercial fishermen are "farmers."

"We don't plant, fertilize, things like that," James said. "It's a natural resource."

Kinsel and James said the exemption measure is being sought primarily by the Gulf fishermen. "The people with the Gulf boats are the ones pushing it," Kinsel said.

Bills were introduced by Texas senators John Sharp and James E. (Buster) Brown that would grant the exemption to commercial fishing boats on an ad valorem basis, Sharp's as a simple bill and Brown's through a constitutional amendment.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox, asked to rule on the matter, said a constitutional amendment would be required to grant the exemption, clearing the way for Brown's measure — Senate Joint Resolution 39 — to be introduced into the Senate Finance Committee. As of Monday afternoon, the

ACND rescinds fee action

By TED NORMAN
Managing editor

After listening to audience comments from the more than two dozen shrimpers present the Aransas County Navigation District special meeting Tuesday evening, March 28, the commissioners voted 3-0 with Commissioner Kirk Holman abstaining to rescind their action on March 15 to charge $45 per month to sell seafood products from boats.

ACND Chairman Bobby Landrum, arguing that the matter should be returned to the method it has always been where shrimpers and oystermen could sell from their boats, opened the meeting saying he would entertain comments from the audience.

Rockport shrimper J.C. Harlan began the audience comments saying he believed that the commissioners had set up a situation where every shrimper and oysterman in the harbor could be in business for $45 per month with the March 15 ACND action.

Harlan told the commissioners he felt there should be some restrictions saying, "I won't sell a shrimp off my boat except to a good friend, and I don't have many friends."

Commissioner Holman asked Harlan if he was admitting the navigation district needed more revenue and Harlan replied no to the question.

"No, Kirk, you're mixing it up — $33 per month is enough for right now," said Harlan.

Harlan said if the navigation district did not rescind the $45 per month charge in the new lease agreement he felt every bait stand operator in the two harbors would give up their bait stand leases and just lease a boat stall to do business.

Harlan said he would sell shrimp from his boat — to a friend — if a game warden was standing next to him because he would do what he wanted to do.

Fulton shrimper Dale Prack told the commissioners, "I assure you it will not work, it's very bad, what can I say."

Prack said some tourist asked him about the charge and he told the commissioners he just couldn't explain the action to them.

Landrum said he didn't believe the ACND commissioner have interefered with shrimpers selling their catch off their boats in the past and he told the audience he felt the March 15 action should be rescinded and that things should be done like they have been done in the past. "Why cant we continue to operate like we did in the past and say that retail signs are forbidden?" asked Landrum.

One of the major topics of discussion was the fishermen who were putting signs up advertising shrimp and oysters for sale.

Commissioner Hillis Dominguez, arguing to leave the decision as it had been voted March 15 and continue with the $45 per month charge, said he didn't believe any shrimper was going to sit on his boat all day selling his catch when he could be out catching more shrimp.

Dominguez said he would like to hear from the members of the audience as to what they thought the solution to the problem is. "I thought this would deter selling shrimp from boats; it didn't," said Dominguez.

Holman questioned Dominguez, saying, "In other words Hillis, a man can go buy shrimp at a fish house then sell it from his boat as fresh caught shrimp."

Prack responded, "I have never seen anybody sit around all day. You might sell five or six pounds then the rest goes to the fish house."

One member of the audience said, "I think every man should be left to attempt to do what he wants to do. I don't want to be charged or taxed for a privilege. We are in the United States."

During the discussion ACND Attorney Reese Rozzell wrote the paragraph to the lease and Landrum read it to the audience, adding, "To me that says it like it used to be."

"How do you enforce it? You can't apply it to everybody," Holman said of Landrum's

County will receive appraisal cards

The Aransas County Appraisal District board of directors confirmed their intention to allow Aransas County Tax Assessor/Collector Allena Jones to copy the district's property appraisal cards by June 14. The decision came during the board's meeting Thursday afternoon, March 24.

Chief Appraiser Jack Groseclose said in a telephone interview Monday, March 28, that the board had sent Jones a letter telling her she could copy the records by June 14 — the earliest possible date the district would be able to let her have them since they are busy putting together the 1983 tax rolls. He added that if by some chance the district finishes earlier than estimated, she will be welcome to the cards at that time.

Jones has sent several letters to the appraisal district asking for copies of the property appraisal cards to facilitate the collection of both current and delinquent taxes. "This is the same thing they've told me before," said Jones in a telephone interview Monday. "My problem is that these taxes go delinquent July 1" — the two weeks in between just don't do us much good," she added.

The appraisal board also appointed Judy Meyer and reappointed Ed Armstrong to the 1983 Appraisal Review Board to fill the expired terms of Armstrong and Cam Leonard. The two-year terms of those serving on the appraisal review board are staggered, with three people up for appointment one year and two people the next. Groseclose said that it was his understanding that Leonard did not wish to be reappointed to another term.

Appraisal district auditor Ray Harris gave a breakdown and brief of the 1982 audit report. Groseclose said that the report showed the district to be financially sound. It was agreed to send all county taxing entities a copy of the report.

City serves notice: permit ordinances will be enforced

Effective immediately, construction or installations requiring city permits must receive those permits prior to the beginning of work — or work will be stopped and fines of up to $200 per day may be levied.

Rockport's city council voted Monday night, March 28, to enforce city ordinances requiring that permits be taken out before work begins on building construction and installation of utility lines and systems in the city.

Rockport Mayor Burt Mills noted that, in many instances, contractors or owners of property begin the work first, then come to the city for a permit, and added, "This is getting out of hand."

City ordinances require that permits be issued before work can begin, and City Administrator Herman Johnson proposed, with the council's concurrence, to stop a job that has been started without the issuance of a required permit.

City ordinances call for a fine of up to $200 per day for each day that a violation continues. Johnson added if a building has been completed without issue of a permit and is in violation of any city regulations, a fine of $100 will be assessed for each day until the violation is corrected or the building is removed.

A structure that is built or installed without permit, Johnson added, is nonconforming and no improvements may be made to any noncomforming structure or installation.

Alderman Richard Beck moved to approve enforcement of the permit requirements. The motion, seconded by Betty Jean Ward, passed by a 4-0 vote.

The council approved a request for installation of an eight-inch water line from Hwy. 35 North "to and down" Fulton Beach Road to serve a proposed development of LBJ Enterprises on land just south of the H.E.B. reservation on Live Oak Point. The area involved consists of 5.891 acres.

The council convened at 7 p.m. Monday for a public hearing — the first of two — on a request by Murray McMillan for annexation of 1.0399 acres at the corner of Glass and Percival avenues. No comments were heard from the audience and the hearing closed about 7:05 p.m.

A joint public hearing followed at 7:15 p.m. between the council and the city planning and zoning commission. As a result of that hearing, the planning and zoning board later recommended — and the council agreed — that the following actions be taken:

— A request by Daniel Solis for rezoning a portion of three lots at his residence on 700 Orleand from R-3 duplex to business zoning be denied. Solis was asking for zoning to enable him to conduct a vinyl retail business from his residence. The zoning board said the property does not meet requirements for parking and setbacks.

— A request from Bracht Lumber Co. for industrial zoning of a portion of its property, to conform to the zoning of the present lumber yard site, was approved. Also approved, at the recommendation of the zoning board, was a request by Bracht Lumber Co. — tabled from an earlier meeting — for industrial zoning of a 0.5018-acre parcel of property in the same area.

Another request tabled from an earlier meeting — by Philip F. and Connie Snow for R-3 duplex zoning of one lot and a portion of another at 1109 Lady Clare — was denied at the zoning board's recommendation. Zoning board members said a zoning change would constitute spot zoning.

The council adopted an ordinance setting

Child daycare need greater than ever

COLLEGE STATION — "The need for child day-care centers in Texas is greater now than ever," says Delores Stegelin, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Texas has over 900,000 children from infants through age 14 whose mothers work. Yet in 96 Texas counties, state-regulated day-care centers are available for fewer than 100 children.

"The greatest concern of most parents is how to find a quality day-care center for their children," says Stegelin.

A safe environment and appropriate equipment are obvious necessities for any day-care center. The center should display a sign indicating that it has passed state and local licensing standards, which insure a safe building and equipment.

In addition, Stegelin advises parents to check the amount of space available per child. A quality center will contain 40-50 square feet of indoor space, and 100 square feet of outdoor space for each child.

Day-care facilities should include a cot and a private place to nap for each child, as well as child-sized furniture and bathroom equipment. The center should also provide nourishing lunches and frequent nourishing snacks for the children.

"But the most important sign of a quality day-care center is the staff," states Stegelin. Two or three adults should be available to care for each group of eight to 10 children.

According to Stegelin, a philosophy of parent involvement is an important indicator of staff quality. The day care director and teachers should want parents to be a part of the daily routine and learning activities.

Most successful day-care directors will welcome parents into their centers and will be eager to answer questions and discuss their concerns, says Stegelin.

"Visit several day-care centers to observe the daily routine before making a choice," advises Stegelin. Parents should look for a cheerful atmosphere, where children enjoy their daily routine and smiles are typical.

Parents who place importance on quality day-care may have to pay more for nutritional meals and snacks, well-trained teachers, and spacious, clean facilities and equipment, notes Stegelin.

"A quality day-care center can provide rich learning experiences for children, but it's up to parents to make sure their children receive that kind of care," she adds.

Workshop features microcomputers

COLLEGE STATION — Workshops to help farm and ranch families and agribusinessmen learn more about microcomputers will be held at the Marriott Hotel in Austin, April 4-5.

The workshops will deal with the use of microcomputers in farm and ranch management and will include both basic and advanced sessions on using computers, say Lawrence Lippke and Joe Pena economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Lippke is coordinating the event at Austin while Pena is handling the San Antonio Service, Texas A&M University System. Lippke is coordinating the event at Austin.

Advanced sessions will provide some insight into operating systems and basic programming procedures (a special computer program for beginners). Use of computers in the home will be discussed and there will be opportunities for workshop participants to get "hands on" experience. The latest is microcomputer hardware and software currently available for the agricultural family will be displayed, note the economists.

Each workshop will begin at 1 p.m. the opening day with introductory and advances sessions.

Discussions on microcomputer applications in farm and ranch management and in home and family resource management will highlight the introductory sessions. Also, discussions on computer hardware and software will be briefed on what Texas A&M is doing in developing software for computers.

Those attending the advanced sessions will hear discussions on operating systems and will get an introduction to basic programming, note Lippke and Pena.

Further information about the workshops is available from Lippke at 713/823-8011 or from any county extension office.

Sun Bird theft under investigation

Theft of a Pontiac Sun Bird valued at $6,500 was under investigation this week by Aransas County sheriff's deputies.

The car, belonging to Michelle Miller, was reported taken between March 19 and March 20 from an area on FM 881 just west of the Red Fish Camp.

Tools valued at just over $1,200 were reported taken when a barn belonging to Max Kluge was burglarized sometime between March 9 and March 21.

Items taken include a power plant, chain saw, a Skil Saw, jigsaw, an electric drill, two 50-foot extension cords, one with a light, a claw hammer, tow chain, crowbar, level, axe, shovel and a five-gallon gas can.

A color television set, microwave oven, ice chest and 10 pounds of shrimp valued at $50 — totalling $1,200 estimated value — were taken when the residence of Angie Cantu on Joclyn Road was burglarized. The incident occurred between March 11 and March 14.

Fishing gear — including two rods, two reels and a fishing box and tools, valued at about $160 — was taken from the garage at the residence of Ray Thomas sometime March 19. Thomas reported the thieves also took an estimated 12 gallons of gas from his car.

A go-cart valued at $350 was taken from the West Terrace residence of Cesar Rodriguez on March 19.

A hog valued at $150 was reported taken from property off Hwy. 35 near the Carbon Black Plant. The hog was apparently taken between March 22 and March 23. Officials speculate the animal was removed and butchered.

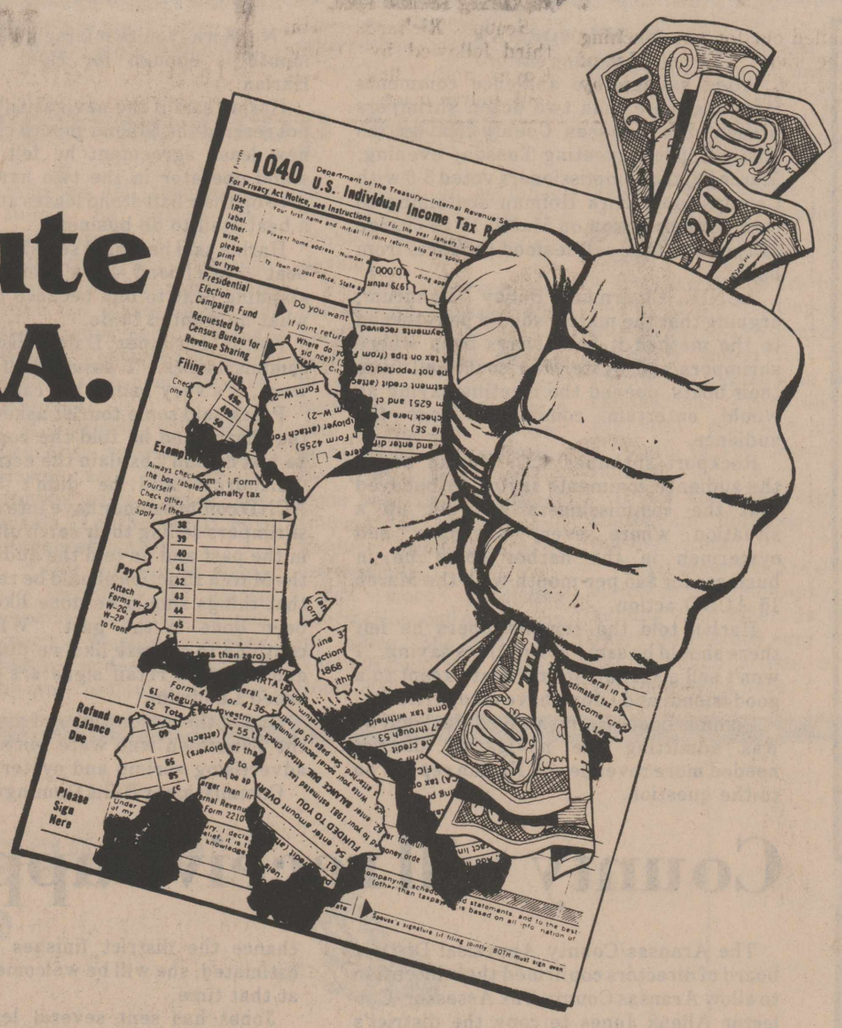

Two power saws, totalling $60 in value, and a radio valued at $75 were taken from a house on Smith Road between 11 p.m. March 12 and 7 a.m. March 13. The house was under construction at the time.

Officers this week were still investigating the March 20 destruction, apparently by explosive charge, of a mailbox at a residence on Ling Road in Copano Cove.

An incident of vandalism was reported by Susan Cannon who told a deputy sheriff someone entered her home on March 23 and reportedly "messed up" the house.

WHEN YOU USE PAINTS & FINISHES

The use of paints, varnishes, lacquers, enamels and their solvents presents both a fire and a poison hazard. The following are some things to remember when using these substances:

* Persons using all types of paints and lacquers should clean hands thoroughly with soap and water before handling food.

WHEN SPRAYING, REMEMBER:

* Many solvents for sprays on the market today are highly volatile and flammable.
* When possible, spraying should be done out of doors. If necessary to work inside, the room should be thoroughly ventilated and there should be no sources of ignition.
* Proper respirators should be worn because solvents in most sprays are highly toxic.

WHEN REMOVING PAINTS OR FINISHES, REMEMBER:

* Removing lead-pigment paints with blow torches or scraping with a wire brush may discharge sufficient lead into the air to be a health hazard. Respirators are a must.
* Paint and lacquer removers are both fire hazards and toxic. Work in a well-ventilated room away from flames or other sources of ignition.

Pirates run away with meet title

Things came together for the green and gold of Rockport-Fulton as the Flying Pirates ran away with the team title at the Sinton Invitational track meet in Sinton Saturday.

The Pirates rolled up nearly 150 points in the meet, outdistancing their nearest competition by over 70 points. All of the teams of District 15-4A were there. The thing about the Pirates is that the team is made up of many "unknowns" who are young and still learning.

Everyone in the area is familiar with what Dwayne Walls and David Ramirez are capable of doing, but what about the others. Trinelle Walls has had a good showing at a couple of meets, but he's just a sophomore. Rockport has never had any quartermilers, but Saturday the Pirates unveiled Joe Lara, Doyle Parr and Steve Theodore who took second, third and fourth in that event, scoring a total of 18 team points in that race. Add Trinelle to that trio and you have a good mile relay team which may push Beeville and Robstown for the top spot in the event at district. That foursome set a new school record Saturday and finished third.

Pirates Coaches Bill Daws and Bob Gore put the performance Saturday into proper persepctive by saying, "It was a day of 'wearing the green' and 'carrying the gold!' "

Dwayne Walls joined Trinelle Walls, Theodore and Parr to win the 400-meter relay. Then D. Walls won the 100 meters and the 200 meters. Trinelle scored one more individual point than Dwayne by running on the 400-meter relay and the third place finishing 1600-meter relay team. Trinelle took first in the long jump and second in the high jump. Just as an addition, Trinelle took sixth in the 200 meters.

Ramirez finished first in the 800 meters and second in the 1600 meters. Teammate Damaso Galvan scored points in those events as well by getting a fourth and a sixth place finish.

Randy Foote took fourth in the 300-meter hurdles and came back with a sixth in the 110 hurdles. Joe Cantu took fifth in the 300 hurdles.

In an event where the Pirates have seldom scored in the past, Tom Weaver took sixth place in the pole vault.

In the weight events, Charlie Ochoa took first in the discus and placed third in the shot put. In the discus, the Pirates took 1-2-3 as Darren Gurley and Greg Shellenbergar finished behind Ochoa.

The Pirate team will be sharpening their skills before the district event comes up in April.

JV and Frosh tracksters make good showing over weekend

Rockport-Fulton JV and Freshmen tracksters had some good showings in Sinton over the weekend as the JV took third overall, and the Freshmen claimed fifth.

Oscar Martinez got his feet to flying as he took first in the 800-meter run, and then he joined Rodney Simmons, James Blair and Louis Solis in a third place finishing by the 1600-meter relay team.

Bill Mott had a big day with a second in the 100 meters, a fourth in the high jump. He also ran a leg of the 400-meter relay team which finished second. Louis Solis also ran a leg on the 400-meter relay along with Simmons and Robert Dominguez. Simmons was also fourth in the 200.

Demetrius Lewis paced the JV discus throwers with the winning toss in that event. Joe Castro rounded out the scoring with a third in the 1600 meters.

At the freshmen level, David Cantu led the way with a second place in the 400 meters. James Huff cruised to a second in the 200 meters.

The 1600-meter relay team of Manuel Cabano, John Hattenbach, Huff and Cantu pulled in with a third place finishing effort.

Pirates defeat Flour Bluff Hornets, 3-1

Things turned around a little for the Rockport-Fulton Pirates, who had been losing close games, as they used some shaky pitching and fielding by the Flour Bluff Hornets in a 3-1 Pirate win in Flour Bluff last Friday, giving Rockport a 1-0 district record.

Tim Redden pitched a six-hitter, allowing the Hornets only one run in the first inning. From there on in, Redden and the Pirates kept the Hornets away from home plate.

The Bluff picked up a run in the first on a pair of hits and a fielder's choice. Then the door was shut. Rockport, however, could not make a run at the Hornets through the first six innings.

Trailing 1-0 going into their half of the seventh, the Pirates fought to stay alive. David Cochran led off the Pirate seventh with his third walk of the day and then moved up to second on a passed ball on the catcher. A walk to David Perkins put two men on with Jim Ponton at the plate. Ponton sent a ground ball into the infield and Cochran raced home with the tying run.

In the eighth, Rockport picked up their two go-ahead runs when Hornet fielding turned the Pirates loose. Before the inning was over, Pat Nava and Rudy Soliz had crossed the plate with Pirate runs. Aaron Commander also crossed the plate, but was called out for not touching the plate. The only hit of the inning was a single by George Nava.

Golf team scores 404, ties for fifth place in local tourney Monday

A team score of 404 tied the Rockport-Fulton Varsity golf team for fifth place in the tournament held here Monday. The tournament, at the Live Oak Country Club, was won by Beeville with a low team score of 345.

Aransas Pass, with 348, came in second, followed by Flour Bluff with 381, Tuloso-Midway with 392 and Ingleside, tying Rockports's 404.

Coach Bobby Flanagan summed up the tournament play saying, "We're not playing as well as we have been playing." He added that the dampness of the course and Monday's high wind contributed to the R-F team's problems.

After a tournament in Sinton on April 8, the team will head for District play on April 11 and 12 at Corpus Christi's Padre Isles Country Club.

Golfers on the Rockport-Fulton team are Bart DeForest, the teams's only senior, Darrell Roper, George Morales, Hoot Baez, Hal Newberry and Donnie Perkins.

An ACISD custodian is charged in incident

The Aransas County Independent School District has suspended 64-year-old custodian Edward Arroyos for a March 10 incident at Rockport-Fulton Junior High School and the Aransas County Sheriff's Office has charged Arroyos with idencency with a child.

The complainant, a 12-year-old female student, told authorities she had gone into the ladies restroom during an exercise period. Arroyos was cleaning the restroom and according to Aransas County Sheriff Robert O. Hewes, he apparently offered the girl candy and money, then grabbed her from behind and would not release her. After the incident, Arroyos saw the girl in the hallway and told her, "I like you, don't tell anybody I was in the bathroom," according to the report by investigating officer Lee Wagoner.

According to the report, a 14-year-old female student has stated that Arroyos had been in the ladies room on several other occasions. The girl said he had made lewd advances to another young girl who she did not know by name while she was in the restroom. She said that when Arroyos realized that she was in the room he walked out. None of these other incidents have been reported to authorities.

Arroyos, who is free after posting a $2,500 bond set by Justice of the Peace David Boling, faces a possible sentence of 2-20 years in prison plus a fine which is not to exceed $10,000. Indecency with a child is a second-degree felony.

Aransas County Independent School District Superintendent E.J. Randow said that Arroyos has been suspended from his job with pay pending the outcome of the charges against him. Randow said this is the first complaint the district has received of this nature and said that Arroyos has been a school district employee for the past five to seven years, a figure he said may not be exact.

The case will up before the Aransas County grand jury on April 12.

Report stranded mammals

COLLEGE STATION — With only a few weeks remaining in the season when whales, dolphins and porpoises most frequently beach themselves along the Texas coast, scientists at Texas A&M University say public cooperation to save the stranded mammals is increasing.

Raymond Tarpley, research associate in the Department of Veterinary Anatomy, said 50 strandings have been reported since the Texas Marine Mammal Stranding Network was established in late 1980.

Eighteen of those reports have occurred since last October, when the current season began, he said. Most beachings take place during the colder months.

Tarpley manages the network, an important communications link between people who find stranded marine mammals and marine veterinarians and scientists. The goal is to save animals that are still living and to acquire animals that have died for scientific and educational purposes.

"We have more people calling in each year," Tarpley said. "Usually it is the tourist or fisherman who first sees the stranded mammal and calls a local authority. The local officials then contact one of the network's base offices."

Most of the mammals found stranded in Texas have been Atlantic bottlenosed dolphins — like the famous Flipper — but other mammals such as pygmy sperm whales have become beached, Tarpley said.

Tarpley and several research associates, including veterinarian Allen Riggs, rejuvenated the stranding network in Texas in 1980 following an earlier network begun by a Texas A&M biologist. It is operated by volunteers with some funding from the Texas A&M Sea Grant College Program and Harris and Eliza Kempner of Galveston.

"Each year we print posters and distribute them along the coast. Sea Grant has helped us prepare and distribute radio spots and with other publicity and coordination," Tarpley said. "We also get a great deal of help from Texas A&M at Galveston students.

"Even if the animal is dead, please telephone the network," Tarpley urges the public. "If it hasn't decomposed too badly, it is a storehouse of information for biologists interested in marine mammals. These animals aren't available from supply companies or other means because of state and federal protection laws."

Besides serving as specimens for basic research, the dead animals may contain clues to why they beached. This year Tarpley's group completed a slide show of dolphin anatony for teaching purposes, supported a graduate student and sent specimens to several other researchers across the state.

"Never try to push the animal back to the sea," he cautions. "First telephone the network. Keep pets and crowds away. If the animal is in the water, move it to shallow water and splash water on any parts of its body that are exposed to air. Keep its blowhole above the water. Do not return a beached animal to the water. Remember that it is a mammal, not a fish and therefore can drown."

For live strandings in any region, call SeaArama marine park in Galveston, Tarpley said. Other members of the network include Texas A&M at Galveston, the U.S. Coast Guard, the National Marine Fisheries Service and the federal and state parks and wildlife services.

Calendar of events

AUSTIN — The diversity of Texas and its people is reflected in dozens of events featured in the just-relased Calendar of Texas Events for the coming spring and summer.

Issued by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, the new calendar covers the Texas sun season from April through September.

Among hundreds of activities are such ethnic celebrations as Indian powwows, charreadas (Mexican rodeos), folklorico dancing, Czech festivals, polka and waltz fetes and German fests like volksmarches and schuetzenfests.

For those who want lots of ethnic flavors, but don't wish to travel too far, two events combine virtually all Texas traditions: the State Festival of Ethnic Cultures at Ballinger in April and the prestigious Texas Folklife Festival in San Antonio in August.

There are also, of course, such typically Texas activities as chili cookoffs, rodeos, rattlesnake roundups and horse shows.

Texas agricultural products — strawberries, rice, cotton, peaches and corn — all have their special celebrations.

Both distant and close-to-home activities can be found among diverse listings in the free summer calendar. It's available at any Tourist Bureau or by mail from Calendar of Texas Events, P.O. Box 5064, Austin, TX 78763.

RFHS one-act play, 'Orestia,' advances from district to regional competition

"Orestia," a one-act play performed by the Rockport-Fulton High School theatre students at the University Interscholastic League contest Thursday, March 24 in Flour Bluff, was one of two plays chosen to advance to regional competition.

"They liked our play very much," said David Rice, RFHS theatre sponsor, during an interview at the High School Friday.

Rice said that two RFHS students, Lorena Short and Kristi Cosby, were named to the All-District all-star cast. This achievement is especially reflective of Short, who joined the cast only one week before the contest when another cast member withdrew from school.

Margarette Little received an honorable mention for her individual effort. The rest of the cast received an honorable mention on a group level.

The play is a cutting of the three earlier plays of Western culture, said Rice, all written by ancient Greek playwright Aeschylus. Agamemnon, the leader of the Greek army during the Trojan War, returns home after 10 years and is killed by his wife, Clytemnestra. The play's main conflict is the story of Orestes, their son, who is caught between the desire to avenge his father's death and love he has for his mother.

The plays were written about the time of the Greek victory over the Persians. They are a celebration of the new judicial system established after the victory, Rice said.

"Orestia" now advances to the regional competition April 14 at the Harbor Playhouse in Corpus Christi. The RFHS play will be one of eight competing from the region south of Austin.

Smiths host two foreign students

Kenneth and Pat Smith of Rockport hosted four foreign students during the spring break of the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor recently. The students, two from Taiwan and two from Mexico, came to Rockport with the Smiths' son Kenneth, also a student at the university.

Pu Ving Dee and Pu Ving Lee, brothers from Taipei, Taiwan, and Rapael Valdes and Fernando Vanzzinni, both of Mexico City, spent the week in the Smith home.

The boys plan to return to Rockport before the end of the school year.

Author addresses English classes

By Kathy Arnold
Contributing writer

Noted author and lecturer Jon Guthrie spoke to freshmen English classes and invited guests at Rockport-Fulton High School Wednesday, March 23. Guthrie encouraged students to not only write prolifically, but well.

In describing his own writing process, Guthrie noted that people learn to write simply by writing "one page a day," and by improving each time. He further explained that many people want to write but they create excuses for themselves. "Anyone can write," he said.

Guthrie, leader of the writer's workshops at Corpus Christi State University and author of award - winning short stories "Ruby" and "The Shave," plans to return to RFHS May 6 to judge a writing contest sponsored by journalism advisor Kathy Arnold and librarian Suzette Turner. An autograph party is planned for the same day in the library.

Better work submitted in the contest will be published in an anthology, a collection of poems, short stories, fiction and nonfiction. High school students must submit their entries by April 22.

The anthology will go on sale May 6. Proceeds will be used to augment journalism funding.

Fulton holds book fair

Fulton Elementary School will hold a book fair April 4-8 in the school library. Students may purchase books during their library hour or from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A variety of subjects will be covered, including classics, fiction, biography, adventure, science, nature, crafts, mystery and reference.

Parents and visitors are invited to attend.

Profits from the book fair will go toward purchasing books for the library.

Guest chef visits RFHS class

The Homemaking I class taught by Janice Spears at Rockport - Fulton High School will feature demonstrations from faculty and school staff members during its study of food and nutrition.

The class knows the subject matter to be presented, but does not know who will be making the presentation.

The class recently studied convenience foods and learned in a demonstration by Bob Crawford how egg rolls could be prepared quickly by using convenience food items. Students made their own egg rolls after Crawford demonstrated the technique with the assistance of student Billy Nunez.

HOWC offers scholarship

The Harbor Oaks Women's Club is offering a college scholarship grant to seniors at Rockport-Fulton High School.

Seniors wishing to apply for the grant may obtain an application form from the high school office. The application form must be completed and returned to the high school office before May 1.

The Harbor Oaks Women's Club was organized in September 1982. The year's various activities have included the recent Trash and Treasure Sale, which made the scholarship grant possible.

Burglars take 110 blocks

Approximately 110 concrete blocks were reported taken from the yard of Prophet's Rockcrete in a burglary between March 14 and March 21.

In another burglary — this one of a residence — a pair of slacks, two mason jars and a set of legal papers were reported taken. The burglary occurred between 5 p.m. March 18 and 8 a.m. March 20. The residence is that of Lillian Payne.

An incident of criminal mischief was reported at a Rockport motel where bath towels, hand towels and wash cloths were reported taken and a bedspread belonging to the motel was used by someone working on their car. The spread reportedly was damaged beyond repair by oil and grease stains.

Police made two arrests this past week on charges of driving while intoxicated and arrested an Aransas Pass man for driving with license suspended.

When you kill a little time, you may be murdering opportunity.

ROCKPORT POLICE were called to investigate this accident Monday morning at the intersection of Austin and Liberty. Earl Jacob Stevens of Rockport, driver of the car shown, was southbound on Austin when his vehicle was reportedly struck by a car driven by Ladean William Ferdig of Shreveport as Ferdig was eastbound on Liberty. Ferdig was ticketed for running a red light and failure to show proof of liability. He reported suffering minor injuries in the accident but refused treatment at the scene.

Mobile home, recreational vehicle park status clarified

FULTON — Zoning Committee Chairman Charles Belaire called a press conference Monday morning, March 28, to clarify what he called misunderstanding with regards to the proposed Fulton zoning ordinance. Belaire specifically referred to statements made by Gary LaBerge, who is running against incumbent Katherine McLester for the Fulton Town Council, concerning the status of mobile home and travel trailer parks under the proposed ordinance.

Belaire said LaBerge, who addressed a meeting of the Aransas County Taxpayers Association last week, did not have a full understanding of the proposed ordinance when he said that the ordinance provided for the deletion of mobile home/recreational vehicle parks within five years.

Belaire said that section 4-4.06 of the ordinance is especially designed so mobile home parks, through issue of a special permit, would be considered conforming uses instead of non-conforming uses. The permit is to be granted upon request, Belaire said — no decision is to be made.

The permit would then give trailer and mobile home parks the status of other conforming uses and would allow them the same priveleges to build and rebuild in the event of destruction.

Belaire said he welcomes questions about the proposed zoning ordinance from interested persons.

March oil & gas report

MIDLAND — The Railroad Commission today set the Texas oil production rate for April 1983 at the market demand factor of 100 percent for the 74th month in a row and the 130th time since the Commission first went to the ceiling level in April 1972.

Chairman Mack Wallace and commissioners Buddy Temple and Jim Nugent directed the continuance of the maximum statewide allowable after receiving and reviewing purchaser nominations for Texas oil in April totaling 2,459,380 barrels per day, an increase of 9,381 barrels daily when compared with March buyer requests. April 1982 nominations totaled 2,423,538 barrels daily.

Next month's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 2,871,884 b/d with actual production estimated at 2.37 million b/d. The maximum allowable applies to all but 10 fields in Texas that are assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation purposes. Actual production in April 1982 was 2,428,492 barrels daily.

Wallace reported that April 1983 nominations for the purchase of Texas gas totaled 18,089,172 Mcf/d (thousand cubic feet per day). Gas nominations for March amounted to 19,678,172 Mcf/d. April 1982 gas nominations totaled 24,015,878 Mcf/d.

CPL builds coal and nuclear plants to combat rising fuel costs

Because natural gas prices have increased so sharply in recent years (1,600%), Central Power and Light Company now is producing part of its electricity with a less expensive fuel—a change that holds down your electric cost.

Coleto Creek Power Station, our first coal-fired plant, generates electricity for 35% less fuel cost than our gas-fired plants, and accounts for 30% of our total production. Coal will become an even more important power source for South Texas as CPL builds and shares in additional coal-fired units.

The cost of nuclear fuel remains the lowest of all available fuel sources, so CPL is continuing its participation in construction of the South Texas Project.

CPL
CENTRAL POWER AND LIGHT COMPANY
A Member of the Central and South West System

For the years ahead, CPL also is considering the use of lignite—another low-cost fuel that could help hold your energy bills down. In fact, anytime new fuels or methods are developed that might cut production costs, CPL will investigate the possibility of using them.

While CPL works to keep your energy costs as low as possible, you can help, too, by learning new ways to control your use of electricity.

Inquire at your CPL office for information on high efficiency air conditioning units or the energy-saving heat pump that provides both heating and cooling for your home.

Third party call needs verbal approval

Effective April 1, Southwestern Bell operators will not complete long distance calls placed from a public phone and billed to a third number without verbal approval from someone at the third number.

Al Hedtke, customer services supervisor for residence installation and maintenance for Southwestern Bell, said that since February 1982 operators have been attempting to obtain verbal authorization for charges to a third number on long distance calls placed from public phones. However, if there was no answer or the line was busy, operators completed the call.

Hedtke emphasized the new guidelines requiring verbal approval for charging long distance calls to third numbers involve only calls placed from public telephones. "It's a relatively simple task to trace long distance callers who charge their calls to a third number from another residence or business telephone," he said. "It becomes more time consuming and difficult, however, to trace the originator of such calls placed from a public phone."

In Texas during 1982, about 600,000 long distance calls were charged illegally to third numbers. Last year Southwestern Bell in its five state area, "was left holding the bag for about $4.5 million the company was unable to collect," Hedtke said.

"These revenue losses eventually are reflected in the cost of customers' basic services," Hedtke said, "much in the same manner as most department stores include an amount of the cost of merchandise to help defray losses attributed to shoplifting."

Hedtke said that use of Southwestern Bell's long distance credit-card-the Calling Card-can be a time and money saver for those who place long distance calls from public telephones. The Calling Cards can be secured at no charge from the company.

An additional charge is added to collect and third-number calls since they require operator handling. However, by using a Calling Card, customers can save as much as 50 cents on out-of-state or 75 cents on intrastate long distance calls.

Hedtke said Southwestern Bell customers who do not have a long distance credit card may apply for a Calling Card simply by calling the Southwestern Bell business office number listed on their phone bill or in the Customer Guide section in the front of the white pages directory.

New weight tables more realistic

COLLEGE STATION — New height-weight tables recently released by the insurance industry may encourage people to be more realistic about their weight.

"Too many women look to fashion models as examples of the ideal weight, and this simply contributes to unrealistic weight goals and fad dieting," says Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The new weight tables show a 5 to 7 percent weight increase in most height categories.

"But people should be less concerned about how much they weigh, and more concerned about how much fat they have," states Cooksey.

According to Cooksey, the problem is one of distinguishing "overweight" from "overfat." Overweight can result from many different factors, such as body frame, musculature, or fluid retention, and is not necessarily bad.

Overfat is purely the accumulation of excess fat, which has been linked to heart disease and other risk factors. It is not always easy to tell the difference, particularly when a person is not too much overweight, says Cooksey.

A height-weight table won't tell people how much fat they have either, she adds. That is why a person should consult with a doctor before beginning a weight loss plan.

The new weight tables are based on insurance records and published by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of New York. They indicate the weight ranges at which people of various heights and builds will be statistically at less risk of premature death.

Cooksey predicts that the tables will be widely circulated in diet books, publications and commercial diet programs as appropriate weight goals for the general public.

"However, most educational programs such as ours will continue to stress good nutrition as a means of weight control rather than acheiving the weights found in these tables," says Cooksey. Extension Service nutrition and weight control programs serve adults and youth each year.

Secretarial Seminar scheduled

The seminar is sponsored by the Center for Continuing Education and is open to the public. Diane Pryor, a communications consultant with Professional Development Programs in Orlando, Fla., will be the seminar leader.

The fee is $95 per person. Company team registrations are welcome. For groups of two to five people the fee is $85 each, and $75 each for six or more. The cost covers all instruction and training materials.

Reservations are required and can be made by calling the Center for Continuing Education at (512) 595-2861.

CCSU mime crew to perform

The University Theatre at Corpus Christi State University will present a performance of The Mime Crew at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 10, in the Center for the Arts Warren Theatre. Admission is free.

The Mime Crew director Sue Finley describes the production as mime, ideas, movement and energy. "The Crew will present an afternoon of creative and delightful pantomime," she says.

The Mime Crew cast includes David Coronado, Francis Russek, Rebecca Cortez and Patty Roberts, all students at Corpus Christi State University and Del Mar College.

Due to limited seating, tickets for this free performance should be picked up in advance. Tickets will be available in the Center for the Arts Theatre Office, Room 106, during the week before the performance. For more information, call 991-6831.

Susan Gill showed an Egyptian doll and an Egyptian flag.

The winners of game afternoon on Thursday, March 24, were Helen Barker and Bud Howard in bridge. The finale was won by Frank Ogle.

There will not be a bridge game on Thursday, March 31.

Figs & Loquats Grow Well In Rockport Area

One of the oldest fruits eaten by man is the fig. Some times called the fruit without a flower, the fig has proven that it can withstand Rockport's winds and salt air. We are so limited on what can do well here in the fruit department, but with a little effort you can grow and produce figs. They do well in full sun or even with a half day of sun. It's not out of the ordinary to pick hundreds of figs a year with only one fig bush.

Another hardy fruit to consider for this area is the Loquat. It is an orange-yellow fruit that has the shape and size of an egg. It grows on an evergreen tree that may grow 18-20 feet tall. (In California the fruit is grown commercially.) The fruit may be eaten fresh, cooked or as jelly.

The tree is a magnificant landscape plant. The thick deep green leaves make a good leaf texture contrast with our native trees and plants.

These two low-care fruits, the figs and the loguat, should be considered for your yard.

Fund is growing for Michelle Flores

The fund for Michelle Flores, an Aransas County girl injured in an accident March 12, grew by another $300 this week, according to Joe (Pepe) Zambrano, president of the G.I. Forum which is heading up the fund drive.

The total as of Monday morning was $3,766.87, according to Zambrano. The largest single donation was made last week by Mildred Spencer, widow of the late Emory Spencer, who gave a check for $3,000 to the fund.

Michelle, 8, was injured when she struck her head in a fall from a horse. She was taken to Memorial Medical Center Hospital in a coma but was discharged from the hospital on March 22.

Dr. Alejandro Echeverry of Corpus Christi, Michelle's physician, said the child suffered a brain contusion and had seizures as a result of the accident. "So far," he said when contacted Monday about Michelle's condition, "she's recovering pretty well. When she was discharged from the hospital," he added, "she was pretty much back to where she was before the injuries."

A fund has been set up in Michelle's name at First National Bank in Rockport and donations may be made to the bank or by calling Zambrano at Pepe's Hacienda Restaurant or G.I. Forum Treasurer Richard Dominguez at 729-7247.

Students observe Career, Awareness Week

Texas Public Schools Week was the setting for Rockport Elementary School's third annual Career and Community Awareness Week. Field trips, speakers and contests highlighted the week, which was organized by fifth grade teachers to enable students to learn more about potential career fields and their community.

Each fifth grade class took field trips to the Aransas County Library, The Rockport Pilot, First National Bank and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department marina in Rockport Harbor.

The library entertained students with two films, "Greenhouse" and "A Parent for Tonight."

At The Rockport Pilot students got a firsthand look at the work involved in printing a newspaper.

The TP & WD marina afforded students the opportunity to learn and observe native sea creatures.

Robert Mosier of First National Bank gave students a tour through the bank and allowed them to hold $50,000.

Numerous speakers addressed the fifth grade classes throughout the week including Aransas County Independent School District Superintendent E.J. Randow; Rockport Mayor Burt Mills; Rockport Pilot reporter Pat Blair; Mosier; detective Andy Valdez; deputy sheriff Doug Carroll; H.E.B. employees Connie Rivera and Gilbert Gonzales: conservation pilot Don Meek; fisherman Leslie Casterline; artist Steve Russell; Dr. Stephen Smith, family practitioner; Charles Cruser, D.V.M.; paramedic Bobby Albin; physical therapist Karen Meador and nurse Blanche O'Lear.

Randy Detrick spoke to the students about careers in instrumental music, and brought several junior high school students to perform. In addition, the Shapettes performed dance-exercise routines to popular music. After the performance, students were awarded prizes for career-oriented contests.

Nutrition important for older adults

As an older adult you should be aware of your body's nutritional needs to insure your continued good health. The nutritional needs of older adults actually differ only slightly from the needs of younger adults.

The primary difference is a reduced need for energy or calorie intake. Because you need less energy you may eat less in general. Be sure that the foods you eat provide the nutrients you need.

A diet that provides more energy than your body needs will result in putting on extra pounds. Obesity leads to an increased risk of heart and circulatory diseases and diabetes. So restrict yourself to consuming only the calories your body needs.

Although you may be counting your calories, don't skip breakfast. Skipping breakfast makes it difficult to get all of the day's nutrients required in other meals.

But do watch what you eat for snacks. Try to avoid snacks that interfere with regular meals by making sure that the snacks are light. Milk, milk drinks or fruits and vegetable juices with a couple of crackers make a good light snack.

Here are some suggestions to help you maintain a healthy diet and the zest that goes with it:

- Drink water, eat raw fruits and vegetables and exercise to avoid constipation.
- Include plenty of fruits and vegetables in your diet to prevent vitamin and mineral deficiencies.
- Eat green vegetables, whole grain and enriched cereals and meat — especially liver — to avoid nutritional anemia.
- Drink plenty of milk to maintain your intake of calcium and vitamin D. Calcium intake is especially important for older women since it may prevent osteoporosis, or porous bones, which can lead to fractures.

Watch out for promoters who try to convince older persons that their nutritional needs are unique and cannot be met by ordinary foods. They may try to sell you special supplements and "health foods, or get you to experiment with unbalanced diets. These will do more harm than good.

Also, you will wind up spending much money — the money you need for ordinary food — on special foods with exaggerated promised of benefits.

There is no nutritional cure for aging, but there are nutritional requirements for good health at any age. Be sure that you are eating a diet nutritionally balanced for your age.

If you would like more information on nutrition for older adults, contact your county extension office.

Elections

Absentee voting — for those who will not be in the county on election day, those age 65 or over or who are physically unable to go to the polls — will continue through 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 30. Absentee voting is at Rockport and Fulton city halls for those cities' elections, at the school administration building for the ACISD elections and at the utility district in Lamar for elections there.

Polls Saturday will remain open until . p.m.

Exemption

resolution had not yet been heard, according to a spokesman in Sen. Brown's office.

From the finance committee, the resolution must go to the Senate then to the Texas House of Representatives where it must receive a two-thirds vote in both bodies.

If approved by the legislature, the measure would be presented to Texas voters as a proposed constitutional amendment on Nov. 8, according to the spokesman in Brown's office.

As proposed, the measure calls for exemption on a local option basis. Sen. Sharp, who earlier said that was the only condition under which he would support the exemption measure, said, "Some counties have so few of these (commercial) boats that it costs more to go out and find the boats than they get back in taxes. In my opinion, that's what this bill is for."

Shrimpers in support of the bill have gone before county and city governments along the Texas Coast seeking passage of resolutions supporting the tax exemption measure. Both the Rockport city council and Aransas County commissioners court passed such resolutions after they were placed on the agenda for meetings of those bodies. Similar resolutions were approved by city councils in Aransas Pass, Freeport and Port Isabel.

Art center seeks area-wide participation

By Dorothy Kucera

Corpus Christi's Art Community Center at 902 Park Avenue is reaching out to artists and art appreciators in the surrounding areas hoping they will join with the present members in an effort to make the ACC an exciting hub for art related activities in this part of South Texas.

What does the center have to offer artists of Rockport, Ingleside, Aransas Pass, Refugio, Sinton and other surrounding areas?

As a member of the ACC artists have the opportunity to enter judged shows and compete for ribbons and cash awards. The winner of the ACC Dimension Show receives a Best of Show ribbon, a cash award, the E.J. Patterson Silver Cup trophy and is given the opportunity for a one-person exhibit in the Main Gallery.

Members receive a yearbook which lists all members and phone numbers, a schedule of events at the center, etc. A monthly bulletin keeps one abreast of what is currently going on at the center, along with bits and pieces of news relating to the members themselves. All members receive invitations to opening receptions as each show is scheduled, and is notified of workshops and classes and demonstrations by visiting artists.

The sponsoring organizations of the Art Community Center are the Art Association of Corpus Christi, Corpus Christi Art Guild, South Texas Art League, Southwest Sculpture Society, Watercolor Society of South Texas and Independent Artists not associated with any of the above groups.

Guest teachers who have held workshops at ACC include Dalhart Windberg, Sonny Timme, Dick Turner, Robert E. Wood, Jerry Seagle, Milford Zornes, Zolltan Szabo, Frank Webb and Bud Biggs. Classes are open to everyone for a nominal fee.

The ACC features a one-person exhibit in the Mini Gallery each month, and sponsors one-person exhibits at the Bayfront Auditorium. This means only 24 artists will have this opportunity each year; but as a member of ACC you would be considered along with other members for these shows.

Individuals who are not practicing artists who have an avid interest in the arts are welcomed as art-appreciators and will have all the benefits of artist members. The ACC could not operate without these supporting members, and they are always welcomed if they care to attend demonstrations as observers.

The Art Community Center is asking the City of Corpus Christi to relocate the organization to the City Hall Annex on Shoreline Drive in 1984 when the new city hall is built and the annex is no longer needed to house city personnel.

In this location the center would be within walking distance of the downtown hotels and motels and would be able to expand its activities in many directions.

Exciting things are happening at the Art Community Center. The board of directors hopes to see membership double in the coming year. Visit, talk to the staff, and add your strength to the organization.

It is a non-profit organization and donations are tax deductible.

Artist members are dedicated to the philosophy of helping each other. In the years ahead some very fine South Texas artists may get their start here.

desire to return to the old method.

"If we are going to delete any or all of this we should eliminate signs," said Holman.

Commissioner McKnight, whose research into the matter was instrumental in bringing about the vote March 15 to charge the $45 monthly fees, said, "I go for it like we had it and no signs."

Dominguez made a motion to rescind the March 15 action and Commissioner Dave Maguglin made a second. The motion passed 3-0 with Holman abstaining.

"Kirk, why did you abstain? Is it from conflict of interest?" asked Maguglin.

"I abstained because I never agreed with the rental agreement," said Holman. "I made a public statement that we should charge $55 or $60 per month."

Maguglin then made a motion to simplify the motion to just the first and last sentence, "and leave all the rest out and everyone can understand it."

Dominguez made a second to the motion which passed by a 3-0 vote to allow seafood products sold from boats as long as no signs or advertising are used and that all state and county laws are obeyed. Holman abstained on this vote.

fees for the coming year (April, 1983, to April, 1984) at $256 per month for the mayor and $100 per month for each alderman. The fees are the same as for the previous year.

The date of the council's second April meeting was changed from Tuesday, April 26, to Monday, April 25, to avoid two meetings in the same week.

The council scheduled sale of its $600,000 certificates of obligation issue for April 25 — a Monday — prior to a decision, earlier this month, to begin meeting on Tuesday nights effective next month. Under this system, the council would meet on April 12 and April 26, but that would have required the council to meet twice in the same week, April 25 and 26.

The council will meet on Tuesday, April 12, as planned.

Double planting increases crop yield

By Mike Rothrock
County Extension Agent - AG Aransas - San Patricio Counties

Break custom this spring by planting two rows of vegetables in a single bed instead of just one row. The logic behind planting double is to produce as many vegetables as possible from the garden space available.

Planting double is mainly for vegetables which produce small plants. These include beets, carrots, lettuce, onions, parsley, radishes and turnips and should be spaced two inches apart.

Beans, garlic and spinach also can be grown in double rows but plants should be four inches apart. Chard, collard, kohlrabi and mustard plants need six-inch spacings.

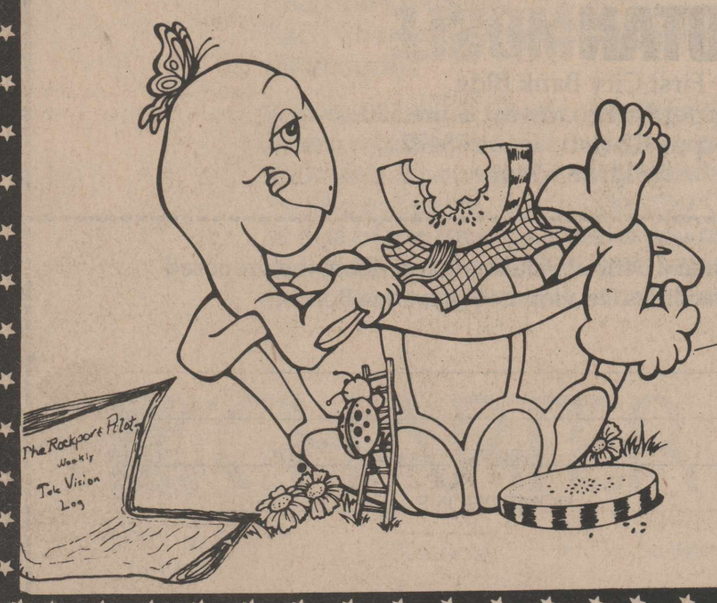

If growing broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower and peppers on double rows, space the plants 24 inches apart in a staggered pattern.

Avoid the double planting technique for plants needing more than 24-inch spacing. Weeding a garden planted in double rows will be more tedious during the first weeks of establishment, but will be less of a problem as crops grow and develop.

Proper watering and periodic side-dressing with ammonium sulfate or ammonium nitrate fertilizer will help insure maximum yields. If you use a drip irrigation system, place the hose between the two rows planted on the same bed. Thus the same amount of water will produce twice as many vegetables.

For more gardening information, call or come by my office, 364-2334, 313 North Rachal St., Sinton, Room 206.

Unplug it for sake of safety

Always unplug any small electrical produce after using it, cautions the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers and Underwriters Laboratories.

Don't assume that if the switch is "off," there's no danger of electrocution. This may not be true if the product comes into contact with water.

Electrocutions may occur in kitchens, bathrooms or outdoors — anywhere near water sources.

Never use any electrical product while bathing or put it where it can drop or be pulled into the tub or sink. If the appliance accidentally falls into the water, don't reach into the water for it. Unplug it immediately at the wall outlet.

Never leave a small portable electrical appliance within the reach of small children. Children left unattended could pull the plugged-in, but switched-off appliance into the tub or sink and risk being electrocuted.

Make Someone Happy

Card of Thanks

WE WOULD LIKE TO extend our sincere gratitude and blessings to all our relatives and wonderful friends to include Father Gregory Deane, who devoted their time in prayers for "Michelle" in hopes that the Lord would bring our child back to life. Very special thanks to the American G.I. Forum, Mr. Richard Dominguez and Joe "Pepe" Zambano, responsbile for setting up an emergency fund account and all of you that have since contributed. Our thanks go to all Live Oak Elementary faculty members and students that have showed so much concern and respect.

Taylor Printing will do the "bestest" for the "leastest"

If you need something printed, contact La Donna Donnan. "We can print anything," she says, "except newspapers and paper bags."

Donnan, along with partner Jerry Taylor, formed Taylor Business Forms in November 1982. She describes the business as a brokerage firm — which means their costs are lower since they have no overhead.

Taylor Business Forms carries such items as carbonless forms (NCR), computer forms, carbon sets, business cards, letterheads, envelopes, posters, logo design and will also print cups or buttons to order.

The firm has its own art department, where rough drafts of designs are done and then the printing cost estimated. In addition, they can also adapt business forms to the format desired by the customer. They send all their material out to be printed, Donnan says, the majority of which is done right in the area so they get it back much quicker than their competitors who might send it elsewhere. Donnan says that she and Taylor check prices from manufacturers coast to coast to determine the least expensive way to get the job done.

Donnan, who has lived in the Rockport area for some time, is familiar with the area and its residents. She will call on customers at their conveneince and delivers products upon arrival.

Taylor Business Forms also has an office in Corpus Christi. The phone number here in Rockport is 729-5988.

Black golfer Calvin Peete, who walked off the course at the Inverrary Classic in Luderhill, Fla., without explanation did so because of verbal harassment by a spectator, a spokesman said.

Vince Smith, Peete's publicity director, said Peete told him remarks by a gallery member "were very vicious and very, very personal. Calvin is livid about it, but at the same time, very crushed."

Other spectators said Peete was the object of harassment by a short white man in his 30s. Milton Stewart, an elementary school teacher in Fort Lauderdale and a friend of Peete's for 20 years, said the abuse became so bad by the ninth hole that Peete's caddie, Bobby Morgan, had to be restrained from attacking the man.

At that point, Peete, who was three-over-par for the tournament, walked off the course. "I felt that with the frame of mind this put me in, it would be best for me to withdraw from the tournament," Peete said Saturday.

It had been daylight for only a few minutes when Darrell Waltrip crept out of bed and quietly slipped past his parents' bedroom. As he picked up the phone, he made sure no one in the house was listening as he called his grandparents. "Don't forget to call me today and ask if I want to go to the races," he whispered as his sleepy grandfather answered the phone.

That was the only sentence spoken, but both parties were beaming as young Darrell eased the phone back into its cradle. The smile on Waltrip's face expands as he recalls the many Sunday mornings back in Owensboro, Ky., that this one-sided conversation took place.

Racing is all I ever wanted to do since I was 6 years old," said Waltrip. "It has consumed almost my every thought since those days when I would go to the two dirt tracks in Owensboro with my grandmother and grandfather who were big race fans. "My mom and dad wouldn't let me go to the races if my grandmother and grandfather didn't call first to invite me to go with them. So a lot of Sundays, I'd get up before anyone, slip into the living room and call my grandparents to remind them not to forget to call me."

This type of determination and dedication to the sport he loves has played a major role in Waltrip's climb to the pinnacle of his profession, climaxed by his second straight NASCAR Winston Cup championship.

He recently received the coveted Winston Cup trophy for the second time at the NASCAR Winston Cup awards banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Sports book operators in Las Vegas have given the fledgling United States Football League a "strong B" for its weekend debut, although many books flunked when it came to setting a betting line. "I was very encouraged with the public response to the new league," said Jimmy Vaccaro of the Barbary Coast Sports Book. "I would grade them (the USFL) a solid B." The marks weren't quite as good for those like Vaccaro who set the betting line each week.

With little on which to judge the new teams except track records of coaches and quarterbacks, most books missed the mark. "We lost every game, probably $20,000 total," said Vaccaro, who added that it probably will be mid-season before Las Vegas books "get the feeling" of the new league.

Portland Trailblazers owner Larry Weinberg believes a National Basketball League players strike would be a $34 million "catastrophe" that would cause a number of teams to fold. Weinberg said that if the players strike, as threatened, on April 2, it would be a result of poor communication between leaders of the NBA Players Association and the players.

"I calculate that if the players go out April 2 it will cost each team $1.5 million," he said. "How many teams can survive under those circumstances? Portland will survive. New York will survive. Los Angeles will survive . . . I think. I'm not sure how many other teams I can say with certainty can survive.

Owner George Steinbrenner last week donned a blue sweat suit and worked out alongside his New York Yankees. Steinbrenner did wind sprints, worked on the Nautilus machine and said he planned to continue the regimen whenever he was at his team's training base. "I'm 52 and I want to get in shape," said Steinbrenner, who also took batting practice against a pitching machine.

While he was running, a stadium worker asked him what he was doing. "Wind sprints," responded Steinbrenner. "Is that what you call it?" replied the worker.

Carl Eller says he became dependent on alcohol and drugs during his NFL career to give him the esteem he felt he never had.

School district board of trustees

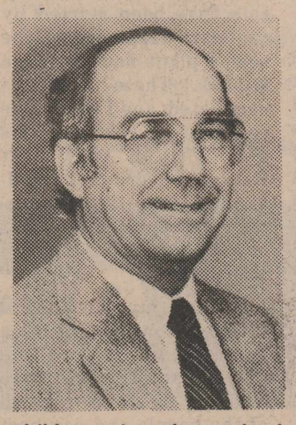

Place 4

William H. Buckley

As candidate for School Trustee, I request your support.

By way of introduction, I have served on the board since December. I accepted the appointment to fill an unexpired term because I am concerned about the quality of our Elementary program and the quality of students we are graduating. I attended the Rockport-Fulton school system from first grade through graduation and then went to the University of Texas for an Engineering Route to Business degree. Later I received a Masters in Business Administration from the University of Michigan. I have been notified by the Texas Board of Public Accountancy they will confer full certification in May.

My wife, Carol, is active in the Rockport Elementary PTA. We have three children in the school system.

As far as objectives, I feel the Board needs to establish curriculum and educational goals. The school needs to expand the offerings in foreign language and establish computer programming and computer operation classes. I would like to hear from the community on how they would like the vocational program improved in regard to course offerings.

The community must become more involved and discard its apathy. More pride in our school system can be achieved if the community will demand more from the system. Please attend board meetings when possible.

Place 7

Durene H. McCain

After serious consideration I have decided to run as a candidate for Place 7 in the school trustee election Saturday, April 2.

I am a professional educator with 11 years as a classroom teacher. I hold a B.S. degree in the humanities with all-level teacher's certification and a M.S. degree in school administration with a mid-management (principal's) certification. I have taken temporary retirement from teaching to be with our infant son and probably will not return to full-time school participation until Bryan is in school.

I feel I can be of service to the school and community as a school trustee because of my experience, education and genuine interest in the best possible education for all children. Since I am not gainfully employed, I have the time to be of service to the school community.

My husband, M.D. (Mac) McCain, and I have lived in the Fulton community since 1980. Mac is a retired Navy Chief Petty Officer, owner-broker of Texana Realty and is currently with Yeargin Construction Co. I "retired" from Flour Bluff ISD in Corpus Christi this past May in anticipation of our son's birth in July. I was with Flour Bluff eight years as classroom teacher and department chairman. Bryan is our long-awaited first child.

If elected, I will endeavor to:

1. Encourage competency for each student in the curriculum for each level and abolish social promotion.

2. Encourage innovation and creative teaching to stimulate interest through supporting workshops and meaningful inservice for teachers.

3. Encourage open lines of communication between school personnel and the members of the board through personal contact to help identify needs and problems at the various schools.

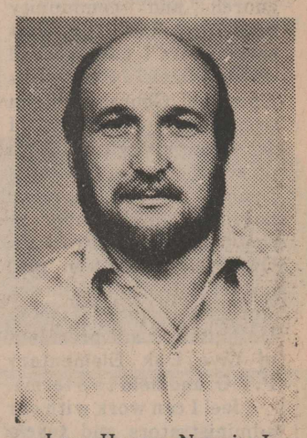

4. Expand and intensify the drug education program.

5. Encourage firm discipline policies.

6. Eliminate discrimination in personnel policies and establish a uniform contract tenure for all school certified personnel.

7. Encourage active parental involvement in the school community.

Horace Naquin Jr.

I am Horace Naquin Jr. and would like to take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for the Aransas County School Board, Place 7.

My family and I moved to Aransas County 11½ years ago when I began working for Rockport Yacht & Supply Company where I am still employed.

My wife Frances and I have been married for 16 years and have three children: Gavin (14), a freshman in high school; Sherry (10), a fourth grader; and James Andrew (6), in kindergarten at Rockport Elementary.

I am actively involved in church and community activities. For the past three years I have served on the vestry of St. Peter's Episcopal Church and am presently Senior Warden. I am now serving as a director on the Aransas County Tax Appraisal board, vice-president of the Peninsula Oaks Property Owner's Association and am actively involved in the Rockport Chapter of Ducks Unlimited. I am president of Live Oak Elementary P.T.O. and held two terms.

I feel I can work with our administrators and teachers in a positive way to improve our school facilities and curriculum. I want our children to receive the best possible up to date education for our tax dollar spent.

I believe we should offer incentive programs for our teachers to attend workshops and further their education.

I will encourage our administration and teachers to instill pride and self discipline in our students. Learning can and should be a joyful experience for our children. Let us all work together to accomplish this goal.

Please remember to vote Saturday, April 2, at the Junior High School Cafeteria.

Rockport council

Ward 1

W. B. Allen

I am W.B. Allen, your councilman for Ward 1 and am soliciting your vote and support for another term. I have experience as a public servant having served as councilman in the '30s.

My tenure as county commissioner was 26 years, during which time my precinct never operated in the red. I endeavored to serve the people to the best of my ability.

If elected I will continue to serve the people as I have before, making their problems my problems. Remember to vote April 2. Your vote and support will be appreciated.

Ward 2

Richard E. Beck

I want to thank The Rockport Pilot for providing the forum for candidates to speak to the voters of Rockport. Even unopposed candidates have a duty to the electorate to make their ideas and attitudes known in regard to the position to which they are seeking.

Upon graduation from the University of Texas College of Pharmacy in 1968, I was employed as a pharmacist in Corpus Christi and later in Portland. We moved to Rockport in 1972 and became associated with Roaten Drug Store Inc. Shelley Roaten retired and sold the store to us in 1975. My wife, Lenora, and I have two children. Kelli, our daughter, is 13 and attends Rockport-Fulton Junior High. Our son, Alex, is 5½ and attends ABC Learning Center.

For the past 11 years, I have been active in community affairs such as Rockport Area Chamber of Commerce, Rockport Lions Club, SeaFair, Aransas County Medical Services and have served on the board of directors of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District and the board of directors of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association.

The city council appointed me to fill the unexpired term of Burt Mills when he was elected mayor. This past year has been an enjoyable one mainly because I have been privileged to serve with dedicated people who put the best interest of the people of Rockport first and foremost. This council works together very harmoniously, which makes your city government operate very smoothly.

Your current city council is totally united and committed behind the effort to get the proposed City Charter adopted by the voters on April 2. My election or the election of any other alderman is secondary to that. It is absolutely imperative that we adopt the new charter. The people of Rockport are capable of controlling their own destiny through home rule rather than have it dictated to them by the State of Texas by general law. One very important aspect of the charter is that it gives more control of city government to the citizens of Rockport through initiative, recall and referendum. Two important projects have been started by the city: expansion of the sewer plant and drainage studies. These must be completed, and I would like to assist in reaching this goal. We all know that Rockport is growing rapidly, and your city government must make sure that this growth is orderly and well planned.

As far as my own political beliefs, I consider myself a conservative and believe that a governmental body or entity exists to serve all of the people and can best accomplish that by operating efficiently and within its means. We must not mortgage our children's future by placing on them unsolvable problems and burdensome debt. Good government should be open and responsive to the people it serves. During the last year, I have tried to seek the input, advice and council of Rockport citizens in making decisions and will continue to do so.

I am on the board of directors of the Texas Association of Camp Ground Owners and served as director on the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association Board as well as treasurer.

I want to be involved in each step of the planning process of our town. I will use my judgement, intuition and vision, as well as challenge current assumptions and examine resources. I will focus on direction for Fulton and keep this in mind when developing and implementing each step. Every town needs a plan of action to know where it is going, and what is needed to get there.

By working for and with the people of Fulton these goals can be realized.

I would appreciate your vote on April 2 as alderman for Place 3, Fulton Town Council.

Thank you.

Place 3

Katherine McLester

To the voters of the City of Fulton:

I am asking for your support for re-election on April 2.

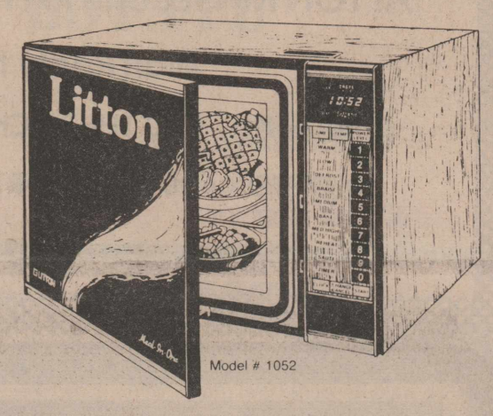

I have lived in Aransas County for 36 years and in the City of Fulton for 27 years. I have raised a fine family here. I have served in public office at the Aransas County Independent School District, the City of Rockport and, at the present time, I am employed at the Aransas County Tax Office.

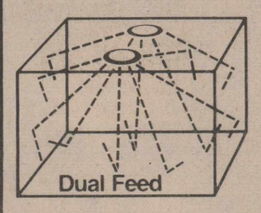

I am quite proud of the City of Fulton. We have come a long way since it was incorporated in 1979. I wish it to continue in this healthy and steady growth. We still have many goals to accomplish and with your support I am sure this can be done.

Thank you for your consideration.

My wife, Bobbie, and I moved here from Austin in December 1981, and purchased Travel Trailer Haven. Prior to becoming a park owner, I was an independent insurance agent for 25 years. I was on the Insurance Board of Directors in Austin and served on many committees and organizations.

I was a class instructor for 13 years with the Power Squadron. I also have a real estate license.

Obviously, Fulton is a growing city. However, we need to control its growth in a reasonable and sane manner . . . not with all the current zoning proposals. Enforced zoning requires money which Fulton does not have without raising taxes. Good city ordinances could take care of Fulton's needs for some time to come.

We need people on the city council with good judgement, insight, dedication and a fresh point of view. It is not a job, it is a duty. A duty to serve the people who live here and love Fulton. People who are concerned with Fulton's future. I want to get involved with Fulton's future. If elected, I will do all in my power to insure the controlled growth and betterment of Fulton.

Stretch your food dollar, shop for ground beef

Add a big bonus to your food dollar by shopping for ground beef. Special sales on ground beef are important money savers. Before buying, review how to get the most for your money.

Consider which lean to fat category of ground beef will be the best buy. The three categories of leaness are stated on the label:

— Not less than 70 percent lean — lower price.

— Not less than 75 percent lean — medium price.

— Not less than 85 percent lean — higher price.

One recent USDA study compared 75 percent lean to 85 percent lean ground beef. Both lost about the same amount of weight, but the 75 percent lean lost more fat and the 85 percent lean lost more water. The 75 percent lean patty, or least costly one, was judged the more juicy and flavorful.

Also anticipate how you will be preparing the ground beef. If you are using the meat in a recipe without browning first, or in a low calorie recipe, then you'll prefer the 85 percent lean ground beef. Leaner meat creates a firm product which cooks slower than the one with higher fat content.

The 75 percent lean ground beef is also recommended for recipes in which the meat does not have to be browned before adding other ingredients. It reduces the cost of preparing meat loaf, meat balls or ground beef casseroles. You get a firm product (at a lesser cost) with this type of ground beef.

Use ground beef with high fat content in recipes where the meat is browned and the drippings poured off, such as tacos or chili. This will provide a moist and juicy product which cooks faster.

Make note of the amount of ground beef to be purchased. One pound contains about four 3-ounce servings after it is cooked. Buying in large economy packages usually provides more meat for less money. To repackage a large amount of beef into smaller servings, rewrap in moisture proff freezer paper and freeze immediately. If you will be preparing the ground beef in patties, shape the patties prior to freezing them.

Think of the nutritional value of ground beef when you buy. You want the most nutrition you can buy for your money. Ground beef provides complete protein which helps maintain growth and repair of body tissues. Beef is a good source of the B-complex vitamin which helps change food to energy and aids in digestion. It provides iron needed for healthy red blood cells and the transfer of oxygen to cells. Beef also adds zinc which is needed for chemical changes that occur in protein, carbohydrate and fats after digestion and absorption.

Let ground beef be a real bonus for you. Remember it when considering cost, versatility, nutrition and just plain good flavor.

Growing Child

"No, no!" is an automatic response to babies who grab at glasses or poke curious fingers in your eye.

A firm but loving "No, no!" can also be a tool to teach toddlers to control their own activities and to respect the rights and possessions of others, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

Toddlers can be taught that "No!" means "Stop what you are doing — NOW!" When they learn this, "No, no!" provides a way of controlling their activity when they are out of immediate reach. Their response will give you time to get to them when they are headed for trouble.

If "No, no!" is to be effective and useful, parents must be selective in the use of it. The anxious parent who says, "No, no!" to everything only confuses a child.

Nor is it enough just to say "No, no!" Parents must follow through at first by actually stopping the child by removing him from the hazard — or by removing the endangered object from him. Follow-through every time is important until a toddler responds consistently.

Don't expect miracles! It is not enough just to teach a toddler that "No, no!" means "Stop!" That is important to his safety and is necessary for that reason. But it is only a negative approach, because toddlers are always doing something. If you stop them from doing one thing you must provide them with an acceptable substitute activity.

Very young children, especially toddlers, have so very much to learn. They must learn the names of objects, what the objects do, how they are used. They must learn what objects may be touched safely and which ones can be handled, thrown, pulled, pushed, squeezed, sat on or jumped on. Young children must learn all this and much more.

Parents can help children learn by naming objects, by using them properly and by talking about actions and activities. And they must help children learn to control their own actions. A good start is to use "No, no!" firmly, consistently and wisely.

Broadway is my beat — with Joey Sasso

The NASCAR Winston Cup point fund will be boosted to a record $500,000 in 1983, making it the richest point fund in auto racing history.

The $200,000 increase was announced at the 1982 NASCAR Winston Cup awards banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel here by Gerald H. Long, president and chief operating officer of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

"The NASCAR Winston Cup Series is the most prestigious auto racing circuit in the world and is the world leader in attendance. In recognition of its major league status, we at Reynolds Tobacco feel the sport deserves a half million dollar point fund," said Long. "The sport's tremendous growth in the last decade is due in large part to the emergence of the Winston Cup championship as the ultimate prize for a race driver.

"In 1983, the champion will receive $150,000," Long said. "This is the fourth straight year that the company has increased the point fund and the increase we are announcing today is the largest ever."

Despite Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's apparent withdrawal from the 1984 presidential race, insiders believe that a secret plan to elect Teddy president next year is still underway.

Included in the plan was the possibility that Teddy might bow out of the race early, sit out the mad scramble for the Democratic nomination that would then result from his announcement, and finally bow to demands that he accept that nomination when his party realized he was the only candidate who could win in 1984. "It was a dry run," one inside political observer confided.

"Cable television will give rise to products and services our imaginations cannot now possibly comprehend," according to Jim Perkins, president, Hearst/ABC Video Services.

Speaking at the San Francisco Advertising Club, he used the auto as an example saying, "Who could forecast interstate highways, motels, the energy crisis and the myriad work, play and life styles that emerged dependent on the auto?"

One of the nation's most respected festivals, the Columbus Film Festival, has given six Hearst ABC ARTS shows honorable mention and one, "Joseph Papp Presents 'The Dance and the Railroad'," won the festival's Bronze Plaque. Honorable mentions went to ARTS' "The Creation of a Ballet: The Overgrown Path," "Curators' Choice," "The Eighteenth Century Woman," "A Portrait of Giselle" and Robert Altman's "Rattlesnake in a Cooler."

Warren Beatty is about to get a discreetly conveyed message from President Reagan: Keep your hands off my daughter!

"President and Mrs. Reagan are both deeply upset and angry over reports that Beatty has been seeing their daughter, Patty Davis," an insider with close White House ties told me. "They've always tried to respect their children's independence, even when the kids publicly oppose the President's policies, as both Patty and Maureen have done. "But this Beatty business is different. In their eyes, he's a serious threat to Patty's happiness and they won't just stand by and see her badly hurt the way so many other of his past conquests have been."

Perhaps the reason actor Richard Foronjy is one of the film industry's most sought after character actors is because he is a great character in his own right.

Brooklyn born Foronjy got off to a bad start and spent time in Sing Sing and Attica. In 1971 he saw an episode of Kojak and decided to become an actor. "I saw Telly Savalas and I knew I could do all that police stuff. I went to acting school for about a year to learn the ABCs, and then I got a job in "Serpico."

Foronjy tells all in an exclusive interview published in the March issue of "Gallery Magazine," on newsstands today.

You've seen him in "The Gambler" with James Caan, "Fun With Dick and Jane," "True Confessions," and as Detective Marino in Sidney Lumet's "Prince of the City." Later this year, you'll see him with Robert DeNiro in "Once Upon a Time in America" as, you guessed it, a cop.

Ney York's newest night spot, The Wildcat Saloon, produced by Jerry Brandt and Stanley London, is an American version of a French version of a New York nightclub, replete with a score of beautiful women, magic, comedy, imported champagne, all crammed into a newly designed and executed jewel box of a cabaret, located at 227 East 56th Street.

The revue has been directed and choreographed by Victor Upshaw, who, for a dozen years, constructed much the same genre of entertainment at Le Crazy Horse de Paris.

The girls are stunningly beautiful. The show is full of gaiety and excitement with which Paris is traditionally synonymous.

Connoisseurs of the genre will no doubt regard The Wildcat presentation as the most artistically exciting revue in the world, for poetry and sculpture most aptly describe the presentation of the Wildcat girls, whose entertainment is supplemented by comedian George Carl and magician Norm Nielson.

For perhaps the first time, American audiences will see what Parisians have thrived on for decades. Some of the costumes are in the form of lighting with scores of lighting effects and illusions designed by Barry Arnold.

I met Lucille Ball the other night at the famed Gaslight Club (she had an Italian cut, light on the hot stuff) and she whispered to me: "The secret of staying young is to live honestly, eat slowly, sleep sufficiently, work industriously, worship faithfully — and then lie about your age."

Harrison calls for state incentive pay program bill

State Representative W. O. "Bill" Harrison, (D.-Dist. 36) has filed legislation calling for the establishment of an incentive pay program for state employees.

Many private businesses have established such bonus programs to induce higher productivity and have met with favorable results. Harrison, an attorney/businessman, recognizes that "performance and productivity are aspects that concern any organization, whether it is in the private or public sector." He believes that "an incentive program can act as a powerful motivating force to increase state employee productivity."

In past reviews of the various departments of Texas state government, both management and employees have expressed an interest in establishing such a program. Seven states already have some type of incentive/bonus program.

The proposed bill will establish the Incentive Pay Review Committee which will organize and implement the new program. The bill states that "the committee shall award to the employees of the division an amount not to exceed 25 percent of the the level of services rendered by the division." Once the amount to be awarded has been determined, it will be distributed equally to the employees.

Extension office will conduct family needs survey

During the month of April the San Patricio and Aransas Counties Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas A&M University System will be conducting a telephone survey of 200 county residents. The survey is part of an area-wide consumer needs assessment that will gather responses from some 3,000 families in a 16-county region.

The purpose of the survey is to determine local trends and issues that may be affecting consumers and families in the 1980s. The results of the survey will be used to help the Texas Agricultural Extension Service develop educational programs for the family in the next four years.

The survey information will also provide valuable benchmark data for detecting changes in local family needs and interests in the coming years.

The survey will be conducted by volunteers under the supervision of Kaye Woodward, San Patricio and Aransas County Extension Agent. According to Woodward, the telephone survey will be made to a sample of 200 county residents. The sample was selected randomly from county telephone directories.

Respondents will be asked their opinions about the ability of today's family to manage their resources, the health and nutrition habits of today's family, and the needs of families in coping with all ages of family members. All responses will be kept entirely confidential and results will only be revealed as percentages of total responses.

If you are interested in finding out more about the survey, or would like to volunteer your services as a surveyor, call the County Extension Office in Sinton at 364-2334.

The San Patricio and Aransas Counties Extension program is sponsored by the Texas A&M University System, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the San Patricio and Aransas Counties Commissioner's Courts.

TP&W expecting good turkey hunting season

AUSTIN — Excellent wild turkey populations across the state are raising expectations for a good spring turkey hunting season in April.

Don Wilson, upland game program leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said hunters harvested an estimated 54,600 turkeys during the fall hunting seasons, the highest total ever reported. "This occurred because of the abundance of turkeys, and we expect the good success rates to carry over into the spring season as well," Wilson said.

The spring season will be April 16-May 1 in 119 Texas counties covering the primary range of the Rio Grande Turkey. In portions of East Texas, where stocking programs have brought the eastern turkey subspecies back to huntable numbers, there will be two separate seasons. In portions of Houston, Jasper, Newton, Polk, Trinity and Tyler Counties, the season will be April 2-17. In portions of Anderson and Henderson Counties, the season will be April 16-May 1.

The season limit is one gobbler per hunter statewide. To determine counties or portions thereof where spring turkey hunting is permitted, consult the department's 1982-83 hunting regulations guide, available from department offices or locations where hunting licenses are sold.

Wilson said the current high populations of turkeys is somewhat unusual, since hen-poult counts completed last summer indicated low production. "It appears that the percentage of hens producing poults was fairly low in most areas," Wilson said, "but the difference is that there were so many mature hens available for production."

The spring gobbler hunting season is held after most breeding activity has occurred, Wilson said.

"Since there always are more gobblers available than are actually needed for breeding, a portion of the surplus gobblers can be taken without harming the populations," he explained.

"Most turkeys harvested during the fall are taken incidentally to deer hunting and most from deer stands. In the spring, it's almost essential to be able to use a call to bring the gobblers within range."
