City To Call $5,894,000 Bond Election

Labor Parley Progress Is Said Slow

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 — Despite progress toward solving union jurisdictional strife, the labor-management conference was officially reported tonight to be "just coming up against the tough problems."

Secretary George W. Taylor gave that estimate, saying he apparently would have to change his forecast that the session would finish in two or three weeks.

No Issues Solved

Taylor said none of the committees, to his knowledge, had yet tackled the important question of recommending mediation, fact finding, or voluntarily arbitration machinery when ordinary collective bargaining breaks down. This was a goal specified by President Truman.

Taylor reported, however, that the committee on representation and jurisdictional problems expected to have final recommendations — rather than merely an interim report—ready Friday.

Some Progress Made

Another committee was reported by its own members to be near the end of its work. This was the committee on existing collective agreements, charged with finding workable machinery for settling grievances arising under contracts, negotiations of succeeding contracts, and no-strike and no-lockout clauses.

There was some disagreement with Taylor's generally pessimistic report on progress. Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said he believed the delegates "were making definite progress."

Murray Denies Progress

On the other hand, CIO President Philip Murray, asked whether today's meeting of the key executive committee had accomplished anything, replied "no."

Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, indicated the executive body was not wholly satisfied with the parley's progress in grappling with specific labor relations problems.

Partly for this reason, he told newsmen, the executive group has decided to lend "guidance" to the subordinate committees. It has asked conference Secretary George W. Taylor to suggest means of coordinating their work and tell-

U. S. Warned On Aviation Wane

"Everybody loved the airplane when it was winning the war for us, but now they're beginning to find all kinds of reasons for objecting to aviation development and I'm afraid that when our pattern of national defense is set, we're not coming out with a very strong air force," Lowell Swenson of Washington, D. C., manager of the National Aeronautics association, declared in a talk at a dinner of the Lubbock NAA chapter in the Hilton hotel Wednesday night.

"Certainly the lessons of this war should have taught us that we cannot let our air force lapse back into the weak defense weapon it was before Pearl Harbor," he continued. "Our only defense from a devastating attack in the future is a strong air force through a single department of national defense . . . This unification of defense is a critical issue and one that may well affect the whole future of our nation."

Ninety Persons Present

Swenson urged the approximately 90 persons attending the dinner to get in touch with their Congressional reperesentative and let him know their views on the issue.

Previously he had reviewed briefly the effort of his association throughout the years to secure passage of some form of national airport legislation and predicted that national airport legislation would be approved and enacted before the end of November in the present session.

"Aviation is in much better shape, they tell us, when the act

Progress Reported In Bond Campaign

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP) — Sales of Victory bonds to individuals now total $1,128,000,000 of which $465,000,000 are in E bonds, the war finance division announced today. The goal for individual sales is $4,000,000,000 including a $2,000,000,000 E bond goal.

The overall goal is $11,000,000,000.

Communists Hurled Back In Big Battle

Savage Fighting Rages As 10,000 Red Troops Bear Down On Capital

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, Nov. 14—Crack Communist troops were thrown back in savage fighting as they hurled heavy attacks at two major Nationalist strongholds in Inner Mongolia, an official dispatch said today.

The battles swirled about the railway terminal of Paotow and long-besieged Kweisui, capital of Suiyuan province 80 miles to the east, where the Communists threw in 10,000 reinforcements, the dispatch added.

Thousands Involved

The attack on Paotow, western terminal of the now-severed Peiping-Suiyuan railroad, opened at 3 a. m. yesterday and 3,000 Communist troops forced the western gate, this account claimed. Eleven hours later they were expelled.

Gen. Ho Lung, famed Communist commander, meanwhile was reported to have attacked Kweisui with five columns 10,000 strong.

The dispatch said the attackers inflicted "considerable casualties on civilians" in the southwestern section of the city before most of them were wiped out.

The situation remained obscure on the southern border of Manchuria, southeast of this battle zone, where neutral advices had reported Nationalists troops had captured the Communist fortress city of Shanhaikwan (Linyu).

A Communist spokesman was unable to confirm Shanhaikwan's fall but said at last reports government troops were but two-thirds of a mile from the city.

He declared the government had landed four armies at the U. S. Marine-occupied port of Chinwangtao for the sole purpose of seizing Shanhaikwan and pushing on into Manchuria.

Thousands of U. S.-trained and equipped Nationalist troops began landing meanwhile at Tsingtao,

Witness Warned Not To Talk At Trial

Story Of Beheading Of Woman Is Told

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Thursday, Nov. 15—Master Sgt. Richard Sakakida, Hawaiian-born Japanese, testified today at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita that he had been warned by the general's judge advocate, now a prisoner of war, not to appear as a witness.

Sakakida was captured by the Japanese at Corregidor, then later made a civilian interpreter in the judge advocate's office at Yamashita's headquarters in the Philippines.

American Woman Beheaded

Sakakida said he saw an American woman, Mrs. Blanche Juika, whose son is a major in the United States Army, blindfolded and beheaded along with other victims at Manila north cemetery a year ago by soldiers of Yamashita's command. He said the victims first were informed of the sentences after arriving at the cemetery.

The witness told of seeing two American fliers, downed in Manila bay in August, 1944, quesitoned in the judge advocate's office. He saw them two months later at old Bilibid prison and hardly recognized the "frail, thin, beaten bodies." The fliers later were executed, the witness added.

Witnessed Many Executions

He told of witnessing many executions, including those of at least six Americans.

The stream-lined decapitation of 26 civilians in 40 minutes and the bayoneting and burning alive of two American airmen were among atrocities described yesterday.

In addition the prosecution submitted a lengthy document containing photographic evidence of butcheries by men of Yamashita's command and asked that time be allowed for the showing of official motion pictures disclosing details of other barbarous acts.

More Trials Planned

At the same time it was announced that a second war crimes tribunal headed by Philippine Maj. Gen. Basilio Valdes would hear evidence in the cases of Japanese officers and enlisted men directly charged with the murder of two Americans and five Filipinos in

Big "E" Setting Out On New Job To Help Bring Troops Home

BOSTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—With her flight deck transformed into a football gridiron, and "enough food to go to Calcutta and back" the aircraft carrier Enterprise, fighting flagship of Admiral William F. "Bull" Halsey, sets out to sea tomorrow as a troop transport for 4,400 men.

The carrier, described as a "luxury troopship," will said for Southhampton, England, on the first voyage of her peace-time job.

The flight deck can be used for almost any kind of sports.

The hangar deck has been converted into bunk room for 3500 men with a mess hall and recreation quarters, and the elevator shafts as washrooms. The officers' quarters are installed on the galley level.

Baptist Leader Takes Pastorate At Waco

FORT WORTH, Nov. 14 (AP) — Rev. W. W. Melton resigned tonight as executive secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas to accept the pastorate of the Columbus Avenue Baptist church in Waco.

He has been executive secretary of the state organization for five years, leaving the pastorate of the Seventh and James street Baptist church in Waco, which he had held for 30 years, to accept the state post.

His resignation was accepted "with regret" at a called meeting of the executive board immediately after the close of the Wednesday night session at Will Rogers Memorial auditorium. Rev. Mr. Melton agreed to serve until January 1, 1946, in event a successor is not picked before that date.

Nov. 17 Proclaimed Admiral Halsey Day

AUSTIN, Nov. 14. (AP) — Gov Coke Stevenson proclaimed Nov. 17 as Admiral Halsey day in honor of the naval hero's anticipated visit to Texas on that day.

Inviting all citizens to observe the celebration, Stevenson said: "Texans are honored in the official visit of Admiral Halsey at Houston and appreciate the opportunity to pay homage to a distinguished guest."

Bloody Fights Again Raging In Soerabaja

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 14—Determined Indonesian troops, using artillery and frequently counter-attacking, clung firmly to fortified positions along the east-west railway in Soerabaja today and limited British Indian forces to scant gains in the fifth day of bloody fighting.

The British continued bombing some key Indonesian positions, but declared they were using "only minimum force" against the Indonesians, entrenched in concrete pillboxes and air raid shelters built before the war.

New Cabinet Appointed

Meanwhile, in Batavia the new 36-year-old premier of the unrecognized Indonesian republic, Sutan, Sjahrir, was assembling his cabinet to try to stop the fighting in Soerabaja and restore order throughout Java.

Minister of Information Amir Sjarifuddin said he was confident the Indonesian government could restore order if it received cooperative support from the British.

British Maj. Gen. D. C. Hawthorn, at his headquarters in Batavia, bluntly accused the commander of the Japanese 16th Army and his chief of staff of having deliberately handed over arms to "unruly elements" in Java.

Hawthorn administered a verbal lashing to the two Japanese officers, Lt. Gen. Yiuchiro Nagano and Maj. Gen. Moichiro Yamamoto, at a formal surrender ceremony held a full six weeks after the arrival of British troops.

The two generals and another staff officer of the 16th Army, Maj. Gen. Junji Nakamura, later were placed aboard a plane which took off for Singapore, where they will answer charges of violating the Allied surrender terms.

Contracts To Be Awarded Tonight

Contracts will be let on two units of the Lubbock Independent School district's expansion program at a special meeting of the Board of Trustees commencing at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the district business office, 1007 Texas Ave.

The contracts will be for the construction of a new 12-room elementary school to be located in the southeast part of the city, approximately a half mile southeast of the intersection of Ave. H and Thirty-fourth; and the building of a six-room addition to McWhorter school, a new elementary unit in northwest Lubbock.

Part Of Big Program

Bids have been asked on three types of work, general, electric and heating and plumbing, according to A. C. Jackson, schools business manager.

Jackson said he was unable to predict when construction of the two units could be started. However, plans call for the completion of the two units and the remodeling of the Junior High school before the start of next term.

The expansion program, also, comprises plans for two new junior high schools, addition to the negro school and the modernization of cafeteria facilities throughout the system.

OPA Won't Suspend Ceiling On Poultry

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Declaring against any piecemeal removal of food price ceilings, Price Administrator Chester Bowles today refused to suspend the ceilings on chickens and turkeys.

Bowles outlined the government's policy on ending price controls in a statement to a House Agricultural subcommittee.

The subcommittee had urged removal of ceilings on chickens and turkeys as a means of bringing producer and consumer prices closer in line and of encouraging greater consumption.

Plenty Food, Housing, Clothing Said Available For World

"Enough For Everyone"—Truman

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press Business Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—President Truman said tonight that for the first time in history "it is technically possible to produce enough material goods so that all men everywhere may be adequately fed, decently housed, and comfortably clothed."

The chief executive, in a letter transmitted to the concluding session of the 32nd National Foreign Trade convention, added:

"The question," he said, "is whether our arrangements for exchange and distribution will be such that these enormous productive powers are enabled to operate freely for the benefit of everyone."

The 2,000 International Trades and Bankers gathered at the Waldorf Astoria hotel also heard:

Herbert Vere Evatt, Australian's foreign minister, declare that his country wanted the United States to take the lead in the postwar world, but that "Australia's Willingness to follow your leadership in any new international program must be measured by our confidence in your ability to remain prosperous."

Spruille Braden, assistant secretary of state, who recently was attacked verbally as ambassador to Argentina, asserted in obvious reference to that country that there was only one "notorious exception" to economic cooperation in the Americas.

Beardsley Rumi, chairman of the New York Federal Reserve bank and author of the pay-as-you-go tax plan declared that if world tension is not eased within two years "then those nations that can unite should do so, leaving the way open for a broader federation later on."

The convention as a whole adopted a declaration for creating "most favored nations" agreements between the United States and as many other countries as possible.

President Truman professed not to know all the answers as to how best to make the world's enormous productive capacity operate to the best advantage for everyone, but he said flatly that a relaxation of government controls and the elimination of private monopoly would help.

Big Program Is Outlined

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

CITY commissioners voted in a special meeting Wednesday afternoon to submit a proposed $5,894,000 five-year all-encompassing municipal expansion and improvement program to the electorate within 30 days.

Tentative date for the election was set for Tuesday, Dec. 11, but the matter of drawing up certain legal papers pertaining to the election by a bonding firm and bond market attorney may alter the date. Commissioners expect to meet again Monday to finally fix the date should these matters be prepared by that time.

Most Ambitious In History

The five-year expansion program is the most ambitious in the city's history and when completed will provide municipal buildings, fire stations and equipment, parks, airport improvements, sewer systems and plants, street improvements, street lighting, a municipal auditorium - coliseum and a water supply and system to care for the needs of the city for more than the life of the 25-year bonds the commission voted to issue to cover cost of the over-all program.

Should the program be approved in the election the city's bonded indebtedness will be increased to approximately $7,500,000, and call for an estimated 40 to 50-cent increase in the tax levy city officials have estimated. Final figures on how the bond issue will affect the tax rate are being compiled and will be presented to the voters in connection with publicity regarding the bond election, Mayor Ribble said.

Plans Are Pushed

The commission voted to make $3,744,000 of the bonds tax obligation bonds and the remainder, $1,950,000 revenue-pledged bonds against the city's water system. Interest rate was set at "not to exceed three and one-half" per cent and a 10-year call feature was attached to the water revenue bonds.

Contract with Crummer and Company of Dallas, represented by C. N. Smith of Plainview, and C. R. Woolsey and Elmer East of Lubbock, for preparation of the election supplies, printing, issuance and sale of bonds at a fee of $2.50 per $1,000 bond was approved by the commission.

R. Bush Smith, W. E. Ba... Glen Hess, Knox Thomas ... Lewis Murfee were tentatively named as election officials, subject to their acceptance.

Wednesday afternoon's meeting was taken up with final setting of total amounts for the nine expansion projects to be submitted to voters for approval or rejection.

Totals were fixed after several weeks study of various city needs, costs, etc., on the part of Mayor O. W. Ribble, members of the commission and City Manager Marlin R. Smith.

In reducing the projects to nine, several phases of the expansion program were grouped under one project and these groupings may later be revised before submission to the voters.

Minor Changes Possible

For example, city hall improvements, the construction of three new fire stations, with new fire-fighting equipment, addition to the police station and the construction of a city ware... garage were grouped under heading of municipal buildings, fire fighting equipment.

Parks improvements will cover the construction of at least two additional city swimming pools, one in the negro section of Lubbock and wading pools in all of residential parks in addition to other regular parks expansion work.

The proposed municipal auditorium-coliseum building will provide Lubbock with one of the most modern and up-to-date structures of its kind in the Southwest. The auditorium will provide facilities for almost any type of entertainment ranging from

Atomic Talks Near Climax

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—The War department called today for quick creation of domestic controls over atomic energy, as American, British and Canadian leaders neared the end of their conference on international controls.

Secretary of War Patterson told a news conference that domestic legislation should be adopted promptly to clear the way for international action.

Commission Is Talked

The War department's idea of legislation, he said, contemplates that a nine-man commission would control all atomic energy activities including the construction of atomic bombs.

President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada met again at the White House. Allied diplomats speculated that if the leaders agree on any plan for control of atomic force through the United Nations, the plan would be immediately communicated to Generalissimo Stalin of Russia, and possibly to leaders of France and China as well. Those countries, with Britain and the United States, would have primary responsibility for carrying it out as permanent members of the United Nations security council.

Communique Expected

Beyond this it was considered likely by persons close to all the conferees that a communique would be issued on Friday disclosing at least broad objectives and principles.

After a two-hour session this afternoon, the three government leaders scheduled another meeting at 10 p. m. tonight and still press secretary, did not indicate William D. Hassett, White House press secretary, did not indicate what progress was being made. Asked when a communique might be expected, he replied, "when the conferees have reached a con-

Reds Renew Demand For Jap Veto Power

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Russia once more is demanding a veto power in the proposed control council for Japan, Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed today.

The U. S. advocates a council on which Russia and the other Allies would be represented but in which Gen. MacArthur as supreme commander would have a decisive say in case of disagreements. Several weeks ago Byrnes reported that Moscow apparently agreed to this plan.

But now, Byrnes told his press conference, the Russians have veered back to their original demand. This was for a council like the one which governs Germany in which all members must agree upon a course of action before it may be adopted and in which any one member alone could veto a proposed action.

Lone Write-In Voter Increases 50-Fold

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 14. (AP) — Ernest Cawcroft, attorney who received one write-in ballot for mayor in the Nov. 6 election, announced he would buy the voter a dinner.

Cawcroft said today he had 50 claimants to the meal "so far," but was going ahead with arrangements to entertain the whole group.

NO BOOST IN CARS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors Corp. asserted today that with present capacity the corporation's plants will be unable to produce more passenger cars in 1946 than it did in 1941, even working as much overtime as in 1941.

Plight Of Lonesome Prisoner Stirring Law's Sympathy

MONTROSE, Pa., Nov. 14. (AP)—Sheriff Walter G. Benedict says he almost wishes the people of Susquehanna county would "hurry up and break a few laws."

The population of the county jail, which has accomodations for 35, has been exactly one for the last two weeks, and the lone prisoner is tired of his solitary confinement.

"It's going to be a lonely Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's around here unless things pick up soon," says Benedict.

Rioting Flares In Palestine

TEL AVIV, PALESTINE, Thursday, Nov. 15. (AP)—British paratroopers of the Sixth airborne division restored order in riot-ridden Tel Aviv at 11 o'clock last night after a huge crowd of Jewish civilians stormed through the streets in four hours of stoning and burning in which two persons were killed and more than 40 wounded.

Shortly after nightfall, following a large mass meeting against British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevins' statement in the House of Commons Tuesday on Palestine, crowds marched through the heart of the city, attacking four government buildings and stoning police who attempted to restore order.

Soldiers Fire On Citizens

When the police were unable to quell the rioters by attempting to disperse the crowds with sticks, fully-armed airborne troops were called into action and for the first time since the riots of 1936 and 1939, British soldiers fired on Palestine citizens.

The heaviest fighting occurred in the vicinity of Colony square along the main business street, Allenby Road, when the large crowd of Jews stormed the district commissioner's office and the Tel Aviv central postoffice.

The district commissioner's office was set afire and gutted by glazing torches, but the paratroopers arrived in time to prevent the crowds from firing the postoffice.

TO DECIDE NAZIS' FATE

LUENEBURG, Germany, Nov. 14 (AP)—Five senior British officers will start deliberations tomorrow to decide the fate of 44 defendants accused of war crimes at the Belsen horror camp. The court may give its findings Friday.

'Sneak' Probe Opens Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP) — Congress tonight summoned an admiral and a colonel as first witnesses in the Pearl Harbor inquiry.

The joint Congressional committee will start public hearings tomorrow with Rear Admiral T. B. Inglis and Col. Bernard Thielen on the stand.

Inglis is chief of Naval intelligence. Thielen is on the Army general staff. Neither was at Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

GOP's Actions Criticized

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) didn't explain why the committee selected these two. The inference was that their testimony will set the stage for developing what was happening in higher circles during those tense days preceding the outbreak of the Pacific war.

A new pledge of a "fair, impartial" inquiry was made on the eve of the hearings. It came from Rep. Murphy (D-Pa), a member of the committee, during an angry exchange in the House.

Murphy took special time to denounce Republican members who have insisted on conducting what he called their own investigation. He was aiming at Reps. Keefe (R-Wis) and Gearhart (R-Calif) who have interviewed a Naval intelligence officer, Capt. Alwin D. Kramer, and only yesterday called on J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI.

Charge Is Hurled

Murphy shouted at Keefe that the Republicans were "trying the case in the newspapers."

Gearhart tried repeatedly to get the floor and Murphy refused to yield. So the Californian started talking anyway. Democrats cried "order," Speaker Rayburn slammed his gavel and finally Murphy shouted:

"This isn't a duet."

Messages Are Cited

Murphy said both Keefe and Gearhart were wrong when they said the Army and Navy never warned commanders at Pearl Harbor except in "weasel words" that the situation was critical.

He read from a voluminous Army-Navy inquiry board report messages from each branch to the Hawaii Post. In one of them he quoted the Navy as saying that "this is a warning of war." The Army message said, according to Murphy, that the Japanese negotiations had broken down and "hostile action" could be expected at any moment.

Gearhart finally got the floor long enough to say that the FBI "alerted" its men in Pearl Harbor but neither the Army nor Navy put their forces on a proper "alert."

JAPAN'S OBJECTIVES

NOT only were the European partners of the Axis unable to coordinate their plans and resources and agree with their own nations how best to proceed, but the eastern partner, Japan, was working in even greater discord. The Axis, as a matter of fact, existed on paper only. Eager to capitalize on the preoccupation of the western powers in Europe, Japan was so greedy for her own immediate conquests that she laid her strategy, not to help Germany defeat Russia and Great Britain, but to accumulate her own profit. Had the way been open Germany and Japan would have undoubtedly joined their armies in Central Asia, but to Japan this objective was secondary to looting the Far East while there was no real force to stop her. The War Department General Staff's analysis of Japanese objectives follows:

MARSHALL

"The Japanese, for many years, bolstered by a fanatical belief in divine guidance and their own spiritual and military supremacy, had planned the domination of the Far East and eventually the world. Japan in her inland empire was not self-sufficient. She required broader land areas and access to oil, rubber, and other raw materials if she were to become a major industrial world power. This principle of expansion was outlined in the 'Tanaka Memorial' purportedly a secret memorandum

Palestine's 'Hot Potato' Sent To United Nations By British

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The Palestine dispute, as part of the whole question of the displaced Jews in Europe, finally has been headed where it belongs—the United Nations.

The United States has accepted joint interest with Great Britain in the matter. It became obvious that Britain could not handle it alone, because of her pledges to both Jews and Arabs. Moreover, Britain holds Palestine under mandate, which is an international concern.

Acting as a "friend of thecourt" on behalf of the Jews, the United States has stepped into the picture to support the British stand for a thorough investigation and eventual reference to the United Nations for a "permanent solution."

Neither the Jews nor the Arabs will be happy over the compromise, because both realize that their complete ambitions will not be fulfilled.

The extreme Zionists want primarily a Jewish state in Palestine as a national homeland. The Arabs want a completely independent Palestine under Arab rule.

Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, was in an unhappy position in his statement of British policy to the House of Commons yesterday.

He felt impelled to sound the death knell of Zionist hopes for a Jewish state in Palestine.

Arabs Not Satisfied

At the same time, Bevin was unable to promise an independent Arab state. He proposed instead a trusteeship under the United Nations, which does not satisfy Arab aspirations at all.

Bevin made the telling point, directed at the Zionists, that the British government undertook to establish a Jewish national home, but did not undertake to establish a Jewish state. In the face of accusations that he is quibbling, he has only to quote the Balfour Declaration of 1917, which is the accepted basis of British policy. The Balfour Declaration said:

Wording Of Declaration

"His Majesty's government view with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people and will use their best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of this object, it being clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of the existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine or the rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in any other country."

Promises of Arab independence throughout the Middle East previously had been made to the Arabs, in return for their support of the Allied cause in the first World war. Thus Britain made two commitments which were not basically conflicting, but difficult to reconcile in practice.

Behind Eight Ball

Britain is in a trying position, and can scarcely be blamed, from her viewpoint, for trying to get the United States to shoulder part of the burden and eventually pass it on to the United Nations. Bevin had to brace the reaction of certain sections of opinion in the United States, such as that expressed by Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York, who scented a "British dodge and a stall" and said he was "amazed that President Truman has fallen into a British trap."

Bevin, however, seemed to feel that the British had stepped into something of a trap when he said that they had undertaken "for good or evil" to establish a Jewish national home, and proposed to stick by it. His most revealing statement, illustrating Britain's concern over Arab reaction and its effect on the empire lifeline to the Far East, was his reference to the settlement being "a matter of keen interest to 90,000,000 (Hohammedan) co-religionists in India."

Homefolks Give Farm To Vet As "Thanks" For Service In War

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Nov. 14. (AP)—A homeplace for a hero—"Thank You Farm"—becomes the castle today of a sharecropper's son.

Sixty-two acres of good earth it is, with a modern house and furnishings. It's not far from Hogback mountain, where he was born 24 years ago.

It was bought for $7,500, chipped in by the homefolks who've known Pfc. Gene Atkins all his life and by folks who read of his bravery

Officials At Presentation

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and other dignitaries participated in the formal presentation ceremony late this afternoon.

It was Atkins who, back in the jungles of Luzon, lay wounded all night in a foxhole, yet kept plugging until his rifle had picked off 44 Japs.

The people back home when they read of his feat felt that a hero should come home to something better than a sharecropper's shack.

Doctor Proposes Idea

A. R. Walden, a country doctor, proposed the idea of a "Thank You Farm" in a letter to the Spartanburg Herald - Journal. The response was instantaneous. The money poured in.

Pfc. Atkins was flown home on a bomber. Once home, he married his childhood sweetheart.

On their honeymoon they went to the White House—and there President Truman pinned on Atkins the Congressional Medal of Honor.

And today their new home becomes theirs. Friends from miles around came to wish them happiness.

With the aid of government agencies, young Atkins hopes to make his piece of land a model farm.

Bond Issue Vote Set In Hockley Saturday

LEVELLAND, Nov. 14, (Special)—Taxpayers of Hockley county will vote Saturday on a proposed $500,000 road bond issue presented by the county commissioners court.

Hockley County Judge Z. O. Lincoln said the bond issue was proposed to make available to all parts of the county a system of hard-surface roads comparable to those in the southwest part of the county. The latter roads were built entirely of federal and state funds.

An additional 130 miles of hard-surface roads will be constructed in the county, giving a network of farm-to-market roads serving all of the county's smaller communities, according to Judge Lincoln.

The commissioners' report says these bonds can be matured in 10 years and paid for with present tax levies, the statement based on a 32 cent levy for interest and sinking funds together with surplusses in the county's present interest and sinking fund accounts. Surpluses, according to an official budget estimate for 1946, will amount to $174,096.

Eligible voters are those persons who are qualified as such in their county and precinct. The voter must have paid property tax on the county tax roll this year. Men and women discharged from the armed srevices within 12 months of the election date, otherwise qualified to vote, are eligible to cast their ballots without a poll tax receipt.

Keeton's Sentence Upheld On Appeal

The 25-year sentence in connection with Alfred Homer Keeton's 99th court conviction of rape was affirmed Wednesday by the court of criminal appeals in Austin.

Keeton, 21, is a laundry deliveryman.

Keeton was convicted of having raped Ruth Jameson of Dumas, a pretty, 20-year-old red-haired freshman of Texas Tech, the night of Feb. 23 at a tourist camp here. On the stand the girl related evidence of other repugnant treatment, and said she had been beaten so that one of her eyes closed almost completely.

The conviction was April 19, before Judge G. V. Pardue and a jury of which W. J. Rogers was foreman.

The law firm of Vickers & Campbell represented Keeton, and the firm of Crenshaw, Dupree & Milam assisted District Attorney Burton S. Burks of the state as special prosecutors.

The case originally was set for submission to the court of criminal appeals Oct. 17, when a member of the defense counsel appeared and gave oral argument. The state asked leave to file a reply. The request was granted and a brief was filed about Nov. 5. Because of insufficient time, the high court passed its decision on the case until Wednesday.

ROUNDUP IS EXTENDED

ROME, Nov. 14 (AP) — A police roundup of so-called "Neo-Fascists" accused of trying to form an underground organization was extended today to Turin, Milan and Genoa. A number of men, women and youths allegedly implicated in underground operations were arrested in the cities.

Headless Bodies Of Five Fliers Found

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 14. (AP)—Allied investigators said today that natives had found the headless bodies of five American fliers, executed by the Japanese on Celebes island near Makassar.

The bodies lay in unmarked graves in a Japanese execution burial ground.

Allied authorities said the airmen were believed victims of Tokki Tai—the Japanese Navy secret police—at headquarters at Makassar.

They said the victims were taken to the headquarters after capture and tortured before being killed.

Younger Krupp To Face Trial

NUERNBERG, Nov. 14. (AP)—French and Soviet prosecutors reversed themselves today and voted in favor of a United States proposal to substitute Alfried Krupp for his father, ailing Gustav Krupp on Bohlen Und Halbach, as a defendant in the forthcoming war crimes trials.

At the same time Justice Robert H. Jackson, U. S. prosecutor, recommended a 12-day postponement of the trials until Dec. 2. The trials are scheduled to open Nov 20. The motions were heard today in the first public session of the court.

British Had Opposed Plan

The British prosecutor, Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, has opposed the substitution, holding that the elder Krupp should, be tried in absentia. He also opposed any delay in the opening of the trials.

The French and Soviet decision came after a unanimous report from a medical commission that the aged Krupp had "senile softening of the brain," and would never be able to face trial. He is believed near death.

Jackson filed a motion with the International military tribunal yesterday, requesting that Alfried, who took over active management of the huge Krupp arsenal empire in 1943, be tried in place of his father. He is under arrest by the British.

The court session was attended by all key personnel except the Soviet prosecutor, who telephoned from Moscow his reversal of his previous stand. At two previous meetings of the prosecutors, the U. S. proposal to include the younger Krupp as a defendant was defeated by a three-to-one vote.

The judges filed into the trial room promptly at 10:30 a. m., defendant Krupp's black-robed attorney at once asked permission to change his pre-trial form request for a continuance to a request for an outright dismissal, because of his client's critical condition.

In view of the French and Soviet reversals, it seemed likely that Jackson would win his point, although he himself deplored the necessity for delay.

Jackson argued that the evidence against Gustav Krupp was identical with that available against the son, adding that only the briefest delay would be necessary.

The tribunal announced it would return a decision at a later date on the motions for the delay and the substitution.

Escapee Captured At His Home Town

TUNNELTON, W. Va., Nov. 14. (U.P.)—Paul H. Hahn, 21-year-old second offender who broke out of the Preston county jail Monday with William Turner, convicted killer, was captured by state police in his home town, Tunnelton.

Turner, scheduled to die next month for the slaying of pretty 15-year-old high school girl, tried to cheat the hangman Monday by breaking out of the Preston county jail with Hahn.

Turner was captured yesterday in a wooded section near Clarksburg, W. Va., after a hunt by police, bloodhounds and an airplane. He was unshaven and tired when he surrendered to state police.

"I've had enough," he told his captors. "I'm glad to give up."

Services Discharge 3,434,000 By Nov. 10

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (U.P.)—The War and Navy departments disclosed today that 3,434,000 servicemen and women had been discharged ir the six months ended Nov. 10.

The total included 2,827,000 from the Army and 607,000 from the Navy.

The Wa department said 379,000 Army personnel were discharged during the first nine days of November.

Approximately 2,235,000 of the discharges occurred between Sept. 2—VJ day—and Nov. 9, the Army said.

A Navy spokesman said the weekly discharge total reached 97,800 with a daily average of 13,900. The peak day, he said, was Nov. 8 with 15,700 separations.

The spokesman said there would have to be some further reductions in the Navy's critical discharge point scores after the first of the year. He added, however, that no specific date or plan has been arrived at.

The Navy announced that enlisted Marines, discharged since VJ day or soon to be discharged, may enter the volunteer Marine corps reserve for periods of three or four years at ranks held at the time of discharge.

Decision On Return Of Jews Is Delayed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—A final decision on whether large numbers of homeless European Jews can go to Palestine appeared little nearer today despite added official Washington and London solicitude over their plight.

The Senate foreign relations committee expected to act during the day on a resolution to facilitate that migration, but senators knew that regardless of how they voted, this was the situation:

No large numbers of Jews would be permitted to go to Palestine until—and unless—a British-American "committee on enquiry," whose members have not yet been selected, recommended such action.

Even then, large-scale Jewish immigration would not be assured. The recommendations of the joint committee, announced yesterday in Washington and London, will not be binding on the British government, which governs Palestine under a League of Nations mandate.

Rep. Celler (D-NY) termed the committee idea "another British dodge and a stall." He said in a statement that there had been "Palestine investigations galore" and that all had concluded unrestricted Jewish immigration should be permitted.

Fat salvage is still a "must." Peace has made little difference in the supply of American fat and oil. It stopped only one important use, for explosives. All other uses will continue.

Do You Know

HOW TO SHAVE?

MANY MEN shave all their lives, yet never learn how! They simply smear a little lather or brushless cream on their face, grab a razor, and shave. Result: scratch, scrape, pull—an irritated skin—an unsatisfactory shave—and much unflattering comment about blade, razor, soap or whatever!

TO SHAVE PROPERLY, the first requirement is adequate preparation. Wash your face thoroughly with hot water and ordinary soap to remove the grit, oil and perspiration that ordinarily coats the face, and to soften the hair. Use good hot water—the time required for proper softening decreases rapidly, the hotter your water is. Then rinse the face thoroughly.

Now apply a good shaving soap (rubbing the lather in well with fingertips) or, if you prefer, a brushless cream. These preparations further emulsify the natural oil of the skin and permit the hairs to be wet more thoroughly. Allow from two to three minutes, or even longer for these simple tasks, and your shave will be quicker, easier, and more satisfactory.

AND NOW, the last requirement of a good shave—the blade you use. There are many satisfactory blades on the market, but one is quite unique and offers a great advantage over usual blades. This blade is hollow ground. Usual blades are ground like a jackknife, like this /. The hollow ground blade is ground like a barber's razor like this /. Due to hollow grinding, this / blade is not held rigid by the razor guard. The slight "play" at the flexible edge permits the blade to follow facial contours effortlessly without "bearing down". And it's "bearing down" that irritates tender skins and wears out delicate blade edges prematurely.

So men, prepare your face properly, use plenty of time and water, get yourself some of those hollow ground blades and—learn to make shaving a pleasanter, easier task.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

REACTIONS vary. One woman with a furrowed and troubled brow, said, "I just hope they don't split any more atoms — one's enough!" Thus unscientific minds, too, are grappling with the universal problem of the split atom.

"Because our scientific and technological development has so far outdistanced our social engineering, we now have no choice but to turn our full powers of creative imagination to control the forces we have unleashed and to bend them to man's use rather than to his destruction, said James H. McGraw, jr., in releasing a nontechnical and authoritative account of the known facts and implications of atomic power.

Reading part of the article, we found ourself numbly hoping this fierce energy is tamed and also hoping discussions will scon turn to other matters since we haven't known what the "atomic generation" is talking about at any given time.

There seems to be differences of opinion as to what person originated the expression "hubba hubba." We are more concerned with what person is going to stop saying it!

IN THE MAIL!

DEAR Miss Turner:

I just wanted to thank you for your farewell column to the servicemen that appeared in the Morning Avalanche Nov. 9. It's very easy for someone to get the idea he is not wanted in a town as crowded as this one and it just made us feel good to hear somebody say she hated to see us go.

I think most of us will hate to leave Lubbock, too, in spite, of all the "GI griping" we do about crowded conditions, high prices and lack of entertainment. You see, if you choose a place to spend a few months, you try to make the best of it, so you won't feel you are wasting your money. But, if you are in the Army and you are SENT somewhere, your first impulse is to criticize the place, especially if you left a place you liked. And if you have to walk along the streets and make hundreds of fruitless phone calls, looking for an apartment, it adds to the bitterness. It's rather unreasonable because we know it's a situation that's almost impossible to correct but that's why so many of us complained about the towns to which we were sent, including Lubbock.

Actually, I think Lubbock people on the whole have been darned nice to us. I have met some who have been exceptionally kind and hospitable and everyone has been courteous. Believe me that is rare in a crowded Army town. We have been stationed in places where landlords refused to rent empty apartments to Army people, telling us flatly that they didn't want anything to do with us—and where tradespeople were rude because they had more business than they could handle.

In comparison with these, Lubbock shines like a bright light. And how wonderful it has been to live in a clean, well kept town! I imagine the cleanliness and the courtesy are due to the same cause—the wonderful civic pride you Lubbockites have.

Truly, we'll leave Lubbock with many regrets; wish we could stay.

Sincerely,
A Serviceman's Wife.

Dear Serviceman's Wife: Wish we knew your name so we could call you and tell you what your letter meant to us. When so many wives wanted to use our column as a means of venting their spite against neighbors, unkind landladies, bothersome children or rude clerks, it is delightful to know that there also were women like you who liked us and enjoyed living here. We hope you may be able to come back someday, since Lubbock meant so much to you and good luck wherever you go.

Dan Blair Home Is Scene Of UDC Tea

A memorial tea in tribute to Stephen W. Wilkinson was given Wednesday afternoon by the Stephen W. Wilkinson chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in the home of Mrs. Dan Blair. The tea is an annual affair given on the meeting date nearest the birthday anniversary of the man for whom the chapter was named.

Mrs. A. W. Evans met guests who were introduced to a receiving line made up of Mrs. Blair, Mrs. Marion Leftwich, president, Mrs. Marvin McLarty, treasurer, Mrs. G. W. Blair and Mrs. E. A. Hankins. Mrs. J. S. Johnson presided at the register.

The tea table was appointed with a lace cloth, candles and yellow, red and bronze chrysanthemums. Mrs. J. H. Hankins poured from the silver service. Also assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Russell Ray and Mrs. T. R. Prideaux.

During the receiving hours, Mrs. H. O. Waters played Southern melodies and Mrs. Marlin Hayhurst sang, "Only a Rose," accompanied by Mrs. James Atchison.

Seventy-five called.

Allies Ponder Russian Reaction At Climactic Atom Conference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. u—Allied officials involved in the atomic bomb talks here indicated today they are largely concerned now about Russia's reaction to the forthcoming Anglo-American-Canadian proposal for controlling atomic force.

There is a strong feeling evident on the part of some that this is one of the climactic weeks of history. Decisions now being whipped into shape will influence vitally the future of Anglo-American relations with Russia. These relations are the core of United Nations plans for policing world peace.

Seek To Reassure Russia

Evidence recently available from British authorities is that President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada will seek particularly in their communique of plans for international atomic controls to reassure Russia. This may be done by offering to share scientific knowledge of atomic power fully with the Soviet Union and other countries.

Indications are that at the same time Russia will be invited to reassure the Western Allies about her policies and intentions by agreeing to toss her scientific information in the contemplated pool and, possibly, by giving some evidence of her long-range territorial and political aims.

But what if Russia doesn't want to accept the Anglo-American proposal? Would a negative reaction from Moscow, they ask, tend to split the world into two camps? Would it take all the wraps off an atomic armament race?

May Leave Way Open

Because of the dangers forseen by Allied diplomats in any real disagreement among the Big Three over the handling of atomic power there is some chance that the proposals put forward by Attlee, Truman and Mackenzie King will be general in approach to the problem rather than hard and fast specifications for a solution. This would leave the way open for Russian suggestions and counter-proposals and avoid the appearance of laying down a demand for a take-if-or-leave-it reply.

Filipino Currency Reported Stolen

HOUSTON, Nov. 14. (U.P.)—J. T. Saunders, 40-year-old ex-Army sergeant, today appealed to police to help apprehend the person who stole $1,500 in Filipino currency from his hotel room yesterday.

He said his room was ransacked while he was at work and that in addition to the money $150 of clothing was stolen.

Saunders said the money was being saved until his twin brother, Johnny, who was captured by the Japanese in 1942, returns home from overseas.

Britain To Get More Rations For Holidays

LONDON, Nov. 14. (A.P.)—Extra rations for Britain's first peacetime Christmas in seven years were authorized today.

Clower, Victim Of Polio, Given Gala Fete On Birthday

Last Thursday was a big day for LeRoy A. Clower of Lamesa, a war veteran who contracted infantile paralysis several weeks ago and is now in a veteran's hospital at Muskogee, Okla.

His body still encased in an iron lung, Clower celebrated his 25th birthday and his third wedding anniversary with a party staged in his hospital room.

Both Dates Celebrated

"LeRoy's birthday is just two days after our wedding anniversary date, and we celebrate them together," Mrs. Clower was quoted as saying.

With him at the party, besides his wife, were his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Clower of Lamesa, and hospital attendants.

To the left of his iron lung and in the line of his vision was a serving table upon which rested a three-tiered wedding cake. Close by were many gifts, the presents of friends.

Flown From Lubbock

Clower, in the iron lung belonging to the City of Lubbock, was flown from Lubbock to Muskogee Sept. 14 in a Flying Fortress. It was necessary to bring the lung back to Lubbock, and General Omar Bradley, veterans administrator, hearing of the case, dispatched his personal plane from New York to Muskogee with another lung for Clower's use.

The Lamesa veteran has improved physically since his arrival at the veterans hospital, it was reported. His physician said he had gained weight and that his spirit was exceedingly high. Upon arrival there, he was completely paralyzed but now is able to show some signs of motion in his hands and feet, and can turn his head. However, his diaphragm is still unable to function and, therefore, is not able to breath voluntarily.

Ruml Sees Atom War In Few Years Unless Tension Is Eased

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (A.P.)—Beardsley Ruml, chairman of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., today warned that "there could be an atomic war within five years" if international tensions are not reduced.

Ruml, father of the pay-as-you-go income tax plan and chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, made his statement in an otherwise off-the-record press conference preceding delivery of a prepared speech before the 32nd National Foreign Trade convention.

grand opera to rodeos and livestock shows and will handle meetings of from 250 persons to approximately 12,000.

Other Improvements Set

The music or concert auditorium is planned to seat 3,000 persons. Flanking it will be a little theater seating 500 and a banquet hall or ballroom which will care for a banquet of 600 or meetings for 1,200 The coliseum, adjoining the auditorium, is planned to seat 8,000 persons around the arena and 4,000 additional persons on the arena floor for large gatherings.

The buildings and grounds will cost an estimated $1,750,000.

Airport improvements call for construction of a new administration building at Municipal airport and erection of T-hangars for use of private fliers. The new administration building would be erected during the second year of the expansion program under present plans.

Would Improve Streets

Acquisition of right-of-way for the contemplated traffic dispersal system of highways through Lubbock and any other additional street paving and expansion work were grouped under street improvements.

Street lighting, proposed over a five-year period to cost $245,000, will provide for four and one-half miles of whiteway in the main business section, seven miles in second business areas, nine miles on major traffic routes, six miles on secondary routes and more than 25 miles of lights in residential areas. A complete new traffic lights system and additional traffic lights over the city are also included in this project.

Water Softening Plant

Extension of storm and sanitary sewers would provide for needs of a city with an estimated 75,000 to 100,000 population. The sanitary sewer treatment plant would also be expanded accordingly with the growth of the city.

Under the heading of water supply and improvements, plans call for the construction of a water system which will provide an estimated 25,000,000 gallons daily from a system of wells and storage to the northeast of Lubbock. A water softening plant, costing an estimated $650,000, is also included in the water improvement project.

Would Mean Many Jobs

Expenditures on the expansion program have been temporarily allocated over a period of five years, but they might be spread even longer over a period of seven years. Much of the construction work is planned within the next three years as soon as materials become available so that hundreds of jobs will be made available for returning war veterans.

The commission will be guided by conditions and circumstances in letting of contracts and issuance of the bonds, Mayor Ribble pointed out in the meeting. The first year's program calls for starting of work calling for $2,225,800; the second year $2,733,400 and the third year $655,000 with for and fifth year expenditures dropping to $153,400 and $126,000 respectively.

Studied Several Months

Commissioners have had under consideration for several months the overall bond issue and five-year expansion program and first announced preliminary details of the proposal on Oct. 3. Careful estimates have since been made on all proposed projects for submission to the voters.

H. D. Woods and Chas. Whitacre, representing the American Legion, appeared before the commission during the meeting and presented a request from the legion that additional land adjoining the Legion home be leased for expansion of the building.

No action was taken on the request.

Nadine Connor Makes Big Hit In Program

Singing to a very responsive audience, Miss Nadine Connor, soprano, Metropolitan Opera association, was called back for encore after encore when she appeared at Lubbock High school auditorium last night as part of the Tech Artist course.

Obtaining her greatest applause from the more popular arias and songs, Miss Connor, notable for her diction, range and control, sang in French, German, Italian and English. Her personal charm was reflected in her audience in several piquant numbers on the program.

Called back after the last group on the program, Miss Connor sang "One Kiss" from the Dester Song (Romberg, "Summertime," (Gershwin) and "I'll See You Again," (Coward). Her Brahms numbers were very expertly sung as was the aria from Madam Butterfly, (Puccini). A substitution, "Waltz Song," from Romeo and Juliet, was also very well taken by the audience.

Galen Lurwick, accompanist, played Sherzo in B Flat Minor, Opus 31 (Chopin) and "Andaluzia" (De Falla) in a piano group and was given wild applause. As encores he played "Little White Donkey" and "Oriental."

Indictment Returned In Collins Slaying

BEAUMONT, Nov. 14 (AP) — An indictment alleging that Riley McCain, Houston tire salesman, "strangled" Miss Elnora Collins "with his hands" and "set fire" to her body was returned today by the Jefferson County criminal district court grand jury.

The jury formally indicted McCain for murder in connection with Miss Collins' death.

McCain is now the object of a nation-wide search.

The partially burned, nude body of Miss Collins, daughter of a Liberty county minister, was found in a clearing on a side road near Beaumont Oct. 5.

Woman Beheaded

Cebu last spring.

How Japanese military policemen stream-lined their mass executions in the Philippines was told by Yamashita's Japanese interpreter, who formerly worked for the south Manila military police garrison. Called to the stand as a witness, he testified that he saw Japanese MP's decapitate 26 Filipino men and women in 40 minutes at a north Manila cemetery. He added he had seen an order to the garrison signed by Yamashita commending the force's treatment of "guerrillas in and around Manila."

Evidence Is Shown

The story of how two American fliers, gunners from a twin-engined plane that crashed off Cebu, were bayoneted and then burned alive was told by an American officer of the graves registration service.

He exhibited photographs of the charred bodies, their hands still tied behind their backs. He said a Filipino told him the men had been bayoneted beside a hole, then doused with gasoline and ignited. One of the wounded airmen struggled to the edge of the hole, where his pleas for water were answered with a deluge of gasoline.

Women Are Attacked

One 16-year-old girl testified that a Japanese officer raped her after killing her mother and sister. Another woman told how the Japanese cut out her husband's tongue because he refused to answer questions, then bayoneted him to death and raped her.

A Chinese, editor of a local paper, described acts of cruelty he witnessed in a prison where he and others were held as suspected guerrillas. He said some persons were strung from the ceiling with ropes and then allowed to fall on boards with protruding nails. Others were pumped full of soapy water, after which the guards jumped on their stomachs.

Yamashita's trial has had a powerful attraction for GI's who fought the "Tiger's" men to a standstill in these islands. Daily they stand in line waiting for the doors of the courtroom to open.

Barber Shop Singers Set Meeting Tonight

Regular bi-weekly meeting of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Lubbock hotel, President Harry D. Delaney has announced.

Members plan to listen to a broadcast over a national radio network featuring Rupert Hall of Tulsa, Okla., organizer of the first chapter, and songs by a quartet from the Jersey City, N. J., chapter.

Patrols On Guard In Honolulu Riot Zone

HONOLULU, Nov. 14 (AP)—Police patrols were doubled tonight in the Damon housing district and detectives swarmed through the dim-lit area looking for hoodlums suspected of provoking Monday night's riot between 1,500 Navy men and civilians.

Navy participants in the fighting had said they charged into the district looking for "local toughies" who had made repeated attacks on sailors. They claimed the police had done nothing to check the wave of unprovoked assaults and robbery.

The Naval air station near the Damon district announced that its male personnel would remain confined to the station until an inquiry was completed and steps taken to prevent a recurrence of disorders.

All was calm last night after the shore patrol called in police to help them break up crowds of sailors congregating at the gates of the station.

Meanwhile Navy officers met with Honolulu police officials at the Pearl Harbor Naval yard to discuss a plan for joint law enforcement in order to prevent further outbreaks.

Lt. R. M. Singer, air station public information officer, charged that more than 30 of the station's personnel had been beaten by Damon civilians in the last two months without the police making an arrest.

Police Chief W. A. Gabrielson insisted that his department had co-operated with the Navy.

No one was injured seriously in the clashes, in which Detective Captain Eugene Kennedy said the sailors charged with knives, clubs and rocks.

Atomic Talks Pushed

clusion."

There is some talk around town of a meeting of Truman and Attlee with Stalin.

Indications are that Attlee and Truman have concentrated almost exclusively on the atomic bomb problem and on related world questions of foreign affairs, particularly the situation existing between Britain and the United States on one hand and Russia on the other. Nonetheless Attlee has found time since his talks with the President and Mackenzie King started on Saturday to confer with various British officials in this country including, it is understood, those who have been concerned with negotiating a loan from the United States.

Attlee Leaves Friday

Attlee will leave here Friday for Canada with a reasonable assurance that his government will receive financial aid.

The question of a loan came up at Secretary of States Byrnes' news conference today and he said that whereas a week ago there were four or five questions still outstanding, today there are only two or three.

Here are the points still in discussion, according to diplomatic officials:

1. The amount of the loan.
2. Exchange control.
3. Waiver clause on repayment.

Loan At Two Percent

On the general terms of the loan there is final agreement. Interest would be at the rate of 2 per cent, beginning with the start of repayment after a five-year period, this gap being provided to allow Britain to get back on her feet from the war. The 2 per cent is described by American officials as just about the cost to the American government of borrowing the money to lend to the British.

Another point which has been agreed in principle is that of breaking down trade restrictions but the British insisted on holding up any announcement of this until the loan question was also settled.

China War Raging

Shantung province port 275 miles south of Chinwangtao.

The Communists have dominated this strategic coastal province since the end of the war, but unofficial reports recently indicated they were pulling out by sea for Manchuria.

American Marines previously had secured Tsingtao, but the Nationalists themselves had no foothold here. Chinese Red troops hold positions on all sides of the port.

Admit Soviet Disagreement

A foreign office spokesman, meanwhile, made the first official Chungking admission that China was having difficulty in negotiating with Russia for the entry into Manchuria.

"Negotiations are continuing but so far we have not overcome all the difficulties," he said.

A government spokesman denied a Communist charge that American lend-lease material still was being sent into China for use in the campaign against Chinese Reds.

Nationalists difficulties in moving into North China were re-emphasized by cabinet spokesman P. H. Chang, who asserted that the Communists had destroyed one-tenth of all China's railroads.

is passed that the states were whe nthe first federal highway act was passed," he declared, pointing out that 34 states now have aeronautics agencies compared to three with highway agencies when the highway program was passed.

Airports Said Essential

"Our greatest difficulty lies in the fact that we find relatively few towns and communities that are air-minded and sold on the need of an airport," Swenson said. "An airport is simply a part of a municipal plan and a city without an airport is like a city without highways or railroads."

Cities are too prone to discount the worth or need of an airport and in many cases locate them too far from the town, he declared. He said there were 4,000 communities in the nation without landing facilities and declared that establishment of these facilities was a vital need in the development of aviation in the U. S.

Need More State Support

Too many states lack necessary state agencies and airport-enabling legislation, he declared. He also said too little attention was being paid to airport zoning problems.

The two federal airport aid bills now in conference committee in Congress will provide approximately $75,000,000 in federal aid for airports and the little towns and communities will have to scramble if they compete with big cities for funds. Obviously the big cities are going to try to get theirs first, he said, and the little towns will be left out.

Swenson was introduced by Fred Lindall of San Angelo, president of the Texas State council of the association. Lindall was introduced by Virgil Musick, recently elected president of the local chapter.

Robt H. Bean, retiring president, acted as master of ceremonies. Invocation was by Jack Douglas.

Out-of-town visitors at the dinner included: G. O. Paudler, and W. P. Lamarr, Crosbyton; Spencer Campbell, V. C. Smart, C. H. Elliott, J. Russell and M. H. Costatener, Spur; Arno Struve, Abernathy; Roy N. Rodgers, Bob Morris, J. Russell Mitchell and J. S. Mansfield, Levelland; Carroll Hinners, Fort Worth and Frank W. Cazaer, Amarillo.

Mrs. W. R. Meek Is Claimed By Death

Mrs. W. R. Meek was found dead in their apartment at Idalou Wednesday by her husband, an oil well driller, when he and his brother came in from work. Death apparently was due to a heart attack.

The Meeks moved to Idalou about a week ago. He was recently discharged from the army. Other survivors include one child.

The body will be sent to Centralia, Ill., her former home, for burial, Rix funeral home reported.

ing them what is expected of them.

Edward G. Wilms, chairman of the independent unions of New Jersey, declared that unless millions of workers in independent unions are granted representation on the National Labor Relations board—as well as a place at the labor-management conference table—there could not be peace with justice on the homefront."

Another witness, Walter W Generazzo of Waltham, Mass., president of the 8,000-member American Watch Workers' union, urged that other unaffiliated unions organize a "third federation of labor, dedicated to union Democracy and labor-management cooperation," in order to get recognition for independent unions at future conferences equal to that of CIO and AFL.

Generazzo attacked the wage policies of Secretary of Commerce Wallace and said they can only bring "discord." Wallace has urged general wage increases with a minimum of price increases. Generazzo contended "no national wage policy can be established that will cover all industries or all plants."

COLD WEATHER COMING!

CHANGE TO THIS NEW FIGHTING AVIATION OIL WITH Twin Action

*FLOWS FREELY AT ZERO OR BELOW

*STANDS UP AT BOILING OR ABOVE

In winter, your car needs an oil that flows freely and lubricates instantly. Equally important, the oil you use must not thin out and breakdown after your motor gets hot.

With Champlin HI-V-I . . . the new fighting aviation oil . . . you get this TWIN-ACTION.

For Champlin HI-V-I was developed especially to meet all weather demands of our air forces . . . to be used wherever they had to fly . . . in freezing northern outposts . . . seething desert wastelands . . . and through the stratosphere.

N-Hexane, an extraordinary new solvent, throughly de-waxes Champlin HI-V-I, producing a remarkable new cold pour test rating.

It flows freely at zero or below.

Then, the unusually high viscosity index of Champlin HI-V-I gives it extra stamina to withstand the most extreme temperatures . . . even boiling or above.

So this winter, give your aging car on the ground, the TWIN-ACTION lubrication essential in the sky. Use Champlin HI-V-I.

Available now in refinery sealed cans from friendly Champlin service stations and dealers. Also always ask for Champlin PRESTO gasoline.

Japan Offering To Barter Goods To Meet Threat Of Food Famine

TOKYO, Nov. 14. (AP)—Beaten Japan, facing a cold and hungry winter and a war reparations bill, today proposed a system of barter with the United States and other countries.

Primary purpose of the plan, requested by Minister of Agriculture Sanukpo Ogasawara, would be to obtain staple foods immediately and set up a long range program for reviving the nation's wobbly economy.

No Answer Given

Allied headquarters, to which Ogasawara made his application, said it was not yet prepared to indicate its policy in the matter.

Specifically, Ogasawara asked permission for Japan to import 3,000,000 tons of foodstuffs, 1,000,000 tons of salt and sizeable tonnage of cotton, copra, coal, iron-ore and non-ferrous metals.

Barter payments would be made in gold and other precious metals; diamonds, silk, cotton goods, chemical products, medical supplies, machinery, hardware, tin and other Japanese products.

While the Allied reparations commission conferred on the amount of the bill to be presented to Japan, the Kyodo news agency said it had learned that the government would set up its own reparations commission. It would be composed of experts from the various ministries, such as finance and agriculture.

Victory Bond Drive Is Organized Here

The city's Victory bond campaign, to be held next week, was tentatively organized Wednesday morning at a meeting of bond leaders of the Allen Bros. post of the American Legion, drive sponsor.

The campaign will commence Tuesday morning after a "kick-off" meeting, Charles Whitacre, campaign co-chairman, announced. The remainder of this week will be spent in completing organization work and publicizing the loan through radio and newspaper advertising.

Army Nurse To Speak

A bond speaker in the person of Lt. Margaret C. Bowen, an Army nurse with a record of service in Guadalcanal, Tulagi and other South Pacific campaigns, will appear at the Senior High School auditorium at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. She will relate her war experiences. She will be heard by students and the public.

Lt. Bowen was awarded the Navy commendation while on detached service on the USS Solace.

Whitacre, who serves with Hop Halsey as administrative leader of the campaign, said solicitors would contact all individuals. Those buying bonds will be tagged. The tag reads, "I Bought a Bond."

A simulated pill box-type booth will be built somewhere downtown, where bonds will be offered for sale, Whitacre said.

The county quota is $2,950,000, of which $800,000 is in E, or the small denomination, bonds.

Attlee's Use Of U. S. Plane Is Criticized

LONDON, Nov. 14. (AP) — Air Commodore A. V. Harvey, conservative, told Commons today that Prime Minister Attlee flew to the United States in an American plane and asked assurance that he would use British aircraft in the future.

Wing Commander J. Strachey, undersecretary for air, answered that British planes would be used when possible, but added:

"We consider that the care and safety of the prime minister is a matter of some importance."

A House member asked: "Do you mean that not one single British aircraft of suitable type was available to fly the prime minister?"

Strachey replied that, in the opinion of the transport commander, "that is so."

U. S. Sovereignty Is On Block In Current Atomic Bomb Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The word "sovereignty" stands like a red light on the track leading toward full world agreement—an agreement with real meaning—on controlling the atomic bomb.

"We've always been jealous of our national sovereignty." So have other nations. The word means simply this:

A free and independent nation will not let any other nation or group of nations tell it what to do. Would we be willing—since the bomb is so catastrophic—to let a majority vote of the other nations make decisions on the bomb?

Plan Is Outlined

If we entered that kind of agreement — where we'd abide by a majority vote—we'd be yielding some of our sovereignty. So far we haven't been willing to abide by a majority vote on international affairs.

Yet in our domestic affairs we run our country by a majority vote and hold up that method as the truly Democratic way of life.

Right now the problem of national sovereignty in connection with the bomb is being talked of widely.

Senate To Decide

The word sovereignty haunted the San Francisco conference last spring that led to creation of the United Nations organization (UNO).

Even in the face of the atomic bomb, it is not likely the Senate would be willing to yield any of our national sovereignty.

Yet some senators already have said the bomb must change our thinking, that we must enter fully into international agreements, even if it means yielding sovereignty.

It has been argued here, especially by the British, no change would be necessary in the UNO charter if the Security council took control of atomic energy developments because it would be part of the council's job to prevent wars and the bomb is a war threat.

The atomic bomb is our secret. Now the question is: if we share the secret, do we have to yield sovereignty to some extent?

Fate Of Europeans Said In U. S. Hands

On leave from the Allied Military government in Germany, Maj. Steve Debnam told Lubbock Rotary club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday in the Hilton hotel that the fate of Europe's millions is in the hands of the American people who must understand the need for international goodwill and understanding for a lasting peace.

"If we pull out now, the people will be turned back to the same group who led them to war," the speaker warned. In the last war the United States was the one big power, and yet when peace came, we took our catcher's mitt, ball and bat, stopped the game and came home, he said.

"It is no longer a question of getting back at somebody," the major said. We must take time and trouble to understand the economic problems of Europe or we will be back right where we started."

Thousands of people in Europe will starve this winter because of the lack of food, and those people can only be fed by an act of Congress. "We as individuals must be willing to make sacrifices if we would eliminate the causes of the last war."

The speaker is of the opinion that it is high time we impress Europe with our democracy and tolerance instead of our might.

Capt. Gordon Treadaway, program chairman, introduced the speaker Bob Click of Texas Tech was introduced as the junior Rotarian for the month of November. Visiting Rotarians were Bill Blakney of Abilene, Carrol F. Hinners of Fort Worth, Homer Akers of Seagraves and Oscar McGinty of Spur.

Woman Opposes Plan On Freight Rates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—A Texas woman who identified herself as a "Brazos bottom dirt farmer" urged the House Interstate Commerce committee today to reject the so-called Bulwinkle railroad freight bill.

The committee had concluded its hearing so Mrs. Jup Collier of Mumford, Tex., submitted to Chairman Lea (D-Calif) a statement of her views.

Recalling that Attorney General Tom Clark and Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia had opposed the measure, Mrs. Collier said:

"We in the south want Congress to know that our fight for equalization of freight rates is lost if the Bulwinkle bill passes."

"It takes the ratemaking bureaus or "conference methods" of the railroads companies cut from the scrutinty of the department of justice's anti-trust division and places them subject only to the scrutiny of the interstate commerce commission. It is a bad precedent for the Congress to start exempting large corporation or parts of large corporations from our anti-trust laws.

She declared that the effect of the bill would be to nullify the Supreme court ruling of last May, scheduled to go into effect in January, calling for an equalization of certain categories of freight rates.

Seaman Found Dead On Railroad Track

NEDERLAND, Nov. 14. (U.P.)—Joseph W. Ross, 30-year-old seaman, was found dead today on a railroad track one mile north of Nederland, apparently killed by a passing train.

Deputy Sheriff Howard Allen said the body had been dragged 250 feet after Ross evidently was hit at a crossing.

A member of the crew of the Tanker S. S. Elk Hills, Ross was last seen alive at 10 p. m. Tuesday. His home address was not known as his ship sailed from port today.

Red Raiders Build Defense For Oklahoma Aggie Attack

Faced with the task of stopping "Rapid Robert" Fenimore and the rest of the Oklahoma Aggies, something that the last sixteen colleges to try it has failed to do, Coach Dell Morgan again centered his attention on the defense Wednesday afternoon at Tech field as the Red Raiders continued drills for Saturday's clash at Stillwater with the Aggies.

Morgan finished up the afternoon session with a polishing up of offensive plays, using alternate elevens to run the plays that will be hurled against the Aggies on Saturday.

The team is still slowed down with cripples, but the greatest blow this week has been to players down with the flu, and none of them had reported back to Morgan on Wednesday.

Pat Farris, former Lubbock Westerner, was working at the tackle slot Wednesday afternoon, and likely will see plenty of action at this post in the Stillwater battle.

The Aggies will be seeking their 17th straight intercollegiate football victory and if they conquor stubborn Tech, only Oklahoma lies in the way of the Cowboys' first all-victorious season in 45 years, and a possible bowl bid.

The Aggies held a hard scrimmake Wednesday, according to word received from the Associated Press, and likely will hold another today. But Coach Morgan said there would be no scrimmage this week for Tech.

The Red Raiders will leave Lubbock Friday morning, work out that afternoon in Edmond, Okla., and go on into Stillwater for a night's rest before the game.

NMMI Polo Club To Play Lubbock Team

The New Mexico Military Institute polo team will gallop into Lubbock Sunday afternoon to play the Lubbock polo club at the Fair Ground race track at 2 o'clock.

The Lubbock club has played Roswell's crack polo club twice this season, and hold two victories over the New Mexico club. But both wins were by close scores of 8 to 7 and 9 to 6, and have a lot of respect for the ability of the New Mexico team.

The game will offer a father vs. son duel as a sidelight, with Lubbock's Tom Mather playing against his son John Mather. Both play position three for their respective teams.

Cavarretta Most Valuable Player

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (AP)—Phil Cavarretta, smooth fielding and hard hitting first baseman of the champion Chicago Cubs, today was named the most valuable player in the National League in 1945 by the Baseball Writers Association.

Once again the title went to a player on the pennant winning club, snapping a three-year reign of St. Louis Cardinal performers. Mort Cooper copped the crown in 1942, Stan Musial in 1943 and Marty Marion in 1944.

Cavarretta, rated by many as the No. 1 hustler of baseball, earned the honors by capturing the batting championship in a stretch duel with Tommy Holmes of Boston and by leading both clubs at bat in the World Series.

Polling 15 first place votes, seven seconds and one fifth, Cavarreta failed to score on only one ballot. He piled up a total of 279 points out of a possible 336, more than a hundred points ahead of Holmes' second place score of 175.

It was Cavarretta and Holmes who dueled for the league batting crown most of the season. Although the Boston flychaser set a new circuit mark by hitting safely in 37 consecutive games, the Cubs' first baseman caught him on a late spurt with an unofficial final .355 average.

Despite the fact that a shoulder injury forced him to the sidelines during the Cubs' final Eastern swing, Cavarretta played 132 games, including 33 doubles, 10 triples and six homers in his 177 hits. His .423 mark in the World Series was tops, earning him the distinction of matching Honus Wagner and Al Simmons as champs who had doubled up by leading in the fall classic.

The continent of Africa is deficient in natural harbors, gulfs, and bays.

Pairings Named In Golf Tourney

Pairings for the matches in the Lubbock Country club dinner tournament were announced Wednesday, with matches to be played Saturday and Sunday, and the winners being the guests of the losers in a dinner scheduled for 6:30 o'clock Monday night at the club.

The teams have been divided into the Hookers and Slicers, with three points given on each match in the order of one point for the first nine, one for the second nine and one on 18 hole play. Players are urged to arrange their own foursomes.

Buck Luther and Don Mitchell are co-captains of the Hookers and Jack Henry and Fenner Tubbs lead the Slicers. The pairings are as follows (with the Hooker named first and Slicer second):

Buck Luther-Jack Henry, Don Mitchell-Fenner Tubbs, Herb Schroeder-Chick Trout, Jimmy Goldman-Melvin Best, Terrill Patterson-Dr. W. A. Schaal, Amos Howard-Ted Tipps, Dr. J. H. Stiles-O. A. Denton Honors Byron Nelson At Luncheon

DENTON, Tex., Nov. 14. (AP)—"Farmer" Byron Nelson, making hay while the sun shines as he takes a vacation from the golfing wars, will be honored by his fellow citizens tomorrow with an appreciation luncheon at which the presidents of two colleges will pay him tribute.

The greatest money-winner in links history, who returns to golf's golden trail next month, has been doing a lot of work out at his 50-acre farm three miles east of here.

Byron said when he retires from the game he plans to settle down on this picturesque farm and raise Herefords.

Nelson took out for a vacation after setting a new world record of 259 for 72 holes at Seattle. He had announced in advance he was going to quit for a good rest. He will end the month-long vacation Dec. 14 when he rejoins the PGA players in the Fort Worth Open.

Hunt Pioneers Romp Over Bean Bronchos

The Hunt Pioneers romped to a 20-0 victory over the Bean Bronchos Wednesday afternoon at Dupre field in a grade school touch football game.

Bo Sexton started the scoring spree with a 55 yard gallop for the first touchdown, and J. R. Bradford passed to Jim Crawford for the extra point. The other two touchdowns came on short passes, with Bradford throwing to Jack Hawkins for the first, and to Bob Newell for the second. Sexton kicked the extra point after Hawkins' touchdown.

Tech Field Scene Of Class B Title Game

The championship of District 1-B will ride with the winner tonight when the defending champions, the Meadow Bronchos, take the field at Tech stadium at 7:30 o'clock to battle the Hale Center Owls for the right to enter the bi-district playoff, the highest honors for Class B schools.

Indications from the District 2-B territory points to Rochester as the likely opponent for tonight's winner in the bi-district play. Meadow lost to Leuders last year in the playoff.

Meadow Is Favored

On the basis of season's records, the Meadow eleven will be given the nod as favorites tonight, but the Owls, led by a 148 pound scatback, Jackie Caudle, is due to bound back from a midseason slump that has seen the team beaten three times in a row, after sweeping through five conference games without a defeat.

Hale Center won the north half honors without a defeat, and Meadow was undefeated in south half play.

Meadow, paced by Jack Barnes, 170 pound fullback, has been one of the highest scoring teams in the area, rolling up 215 points in eight games. But only once this season has Meadow been able to hold on opponent scoreless.

With the exception of two Meadow tackles, and one tackle from Hale Center, the lines will be light. Lee Roy Shannon at left tackle and Billy Boyd at right tackle for Meadow weigh 210 and 235, respectively, and Hale Center counters with a 206 pounder in W. S. Nichols at left tackle. Only two other linemen, both with Hale Center, will top 160 pounds.

The season's records of the two clubs are:

Hale Center 13; Petersburg 0.
Hale Center 19; Anton 7.
Hale Center 19; New Deal 0.
Hale Center 19; Abernathy 13.
Hale Center 24; Idalou 0.

Hood Takes Feature Of Local Mat Show

The Hood, the masked grappler, took the featured event of the weekly grunt and groan show Wednesday night at the Lubbock Horse and Mule Auction arena, beating Jose Manuel in two out of three falls.

Manuel was substituted for George Hackenschmidt, who was unable to get to Lubbock for the match.

Several knee bumps to the chin gave the Hood the first fall in 10 minutes, but the speedy Mexican grappler came back to even the match in 11 minutes with a full nelson. The Hood won the winning fall in 19 minutes with a leg split.

Milt Olsen was the winner in the semi-final event of the card, winning the first fall in 17 minutes with a leg split, then being awarded the match by Referee Babe Ritchie when Johnny Atkins insisted on throwing Olsen from the ring, and hitting Olsen's head on the ring posts. The second session lasted 15 minutes.

Tony Ross won the opening preliminary over Charley Trejo, using a body block and slam for the victory in the one fall event in 16 minutes.

District 4-A Grid Classic Due Friday

FLOYDADA, Nov. 14. (Special)—The Crosbyton Chiefs, who are celebrating their return to football after a two year absence with an undefeated drive for the district 4-A pennant, invade Wester field here Friday night to meet the local Whirlwinds, also an unbeaten conference aggregation, in this area's weekend highlight.

Kickoff is slated for 7:30 p. m. Friday.

From this game will come the conference champion, although there is still a chance that the pennant-race may end in a tie Each team has one game left on their schedule. Floydada has yet to tackle a tough Spur team that has lost only to the Chiefs, and that by one point.

Crosbyton, if they pull through Friday, has a clear shot at the title with only oft-beaten Ralls in their way.

The Floydada-Spur clash comes here in an annual Thanksgiving day affair.

Spur could tie for the title providing Floydada wins the Crosbyton game, and then Spur whips the Whirlwinds. The Whirlwinds have been runner-ups in the district race for three consecutive years and odds have them finishing no lower than this again this season.

The Pearl Harbor Probe

Will The Truth Ever Come Out?

PROSPECTS for a fully revealing picture of the Pearl Harbor disaster, untouched by partisan politics, seem dimmer by the day.

Two senators, New Mexico's Carl A. Hatch, Democrat, and Indiana's Raymond E. Willis, Republican, predict failure of the congressional investigation because of political squabbles.

Though public hearings on the issue do not commence until today, dissension already has broken out among members of the joint investigatory body of representatives and senators. Its six Democratic and four Republican members have split along party lines. Their differences have spread to both houses of Congress, where opposing party members have indulged in heated debate over the issue.

Senator Hatch does not blame either side, but says, "politics has so permeated the matter, that there is a serious question what good purpose can be served." However, Senator Willis blames the committee's Democratic majority, charging that Republican members have been denied the right to look individually into government records.

The Pearl Harbor occurrence has been an issue over which the Republican minority has chafed for more than three and a half years. It has been more insistent and voluble than the Democrats for bringing out all facts of the disaster, a natural attitude, inasmuch as the attack took place under a Democratic administration. By the same token, many Democratic congressmen have not been as vigorous in their demands for a strict accounting as they might have been.

The Republicans' repeated demands for enlightenment were effectively and unanswerably blocked by requirements of military secrecy. Now, with that barrier out of the way, the Republicans intend to solve the mystery, one way or other.

PERHAPS this slam-bang, demanding attitude of the Republican membership, with its connotations of a Democratic plot to soft-pedal the investigation, has contributed to the situation for which it blames the opposition. For one thing, it is difficult to see any justification for the demand of Republican committee members to probe into secret records individually. It would appear that they seek to undertake an investigation of their own, and separate from the work of Democratic members. Certainly, all secret records which may bear on the disaster should be combed, not by individual members but by the investigators as a unit.

By this time, even those Democrats who might have been reluctant at one time to have the Pearl Harbor case thoroughly opened to the world, surely have realized that the American people demand—and will not be satisfied with less—the complete story of what happened on that Dec. 7. Scores of Democrats in both houses have come out for a fuller disclosure of the Pearl Harbor facts.

While there is probably a certain Democratic element, out of fear of what might happen to the record of the late Franklin Roosevelt, which would like to dismiss the disaster as water under the bridge, we do not think that the Republicans can correctly make the blanket allegation that the opposition party is attempting to block the investigation.

THERE are, however, groups in both the War and Navy departments which do not want all the facts known. This became evident when the highly unsatisfactory Army-Navy report was made after V-J day.

President Truman's statement that the disaster was the collective fault of the American people also was unsatisfactory. The American people might properly be blamed for the accumulation of ill-preparedness and smugness which set the stage for Pearl Harbor, but they cannot be accused of responsibility for the disaster itself. Something was wrong both in official Washington and at Pearl Harbor, and the people know it. Explanations in generalities will not satisfy them. They want the persons responsible for the disaster to be identifed, whoever they might be, and their negligence reported in detail.

The people have depended on the congressional committee to give them the truth. Its failure to do so will cast serious public doubt on Congress' willingness to serve the country.

It isn't fair to blame the voter for the poor administration of governmental affairs. His choice of officeholders is necessarily limited to the persons who run for office.

"Had you noticed that girls with the prettiest figures wear the screwiest hats?" asks a columnist. No. Do they wear hats?

So live that the minister who officiates at your funeral will not be unduly embarrassed.

MOTHER'S HEALTH FAILS

XXVIII

I often took mother with me while rehearsing my tableau for the revue at the Palace — I knew she loved this. The Wonder Bar presentation, a spectacle which I originated, did rather well, and I received an offer from Henri Hallais and the famous cartoonist, Rip, to produce and dance two more tableaux for a revue they were presenting at the Theatre de l'Avenue early in Mary.

I accepted this offer, and there ensued a stormy scene with Henri Varna when I gave him my notice: he resented my leaving the Palace for another house, but it was an opportunity I couldn't pass up.

Mother spent a week or so in Spain, then went to England and wrote she was sharing a house at Marlow on the Thames — about an hour and a half by train from London — with the Australian singer, Nellie Melba. I gathered from the tone of her letters that she was feeling perfectly well and intended singing again in opera, for she spoke of studying two or three times a week in London. One night, just as I was going on at the Theatre de l'Avenue, Marie handed me a telegram. It said: "Mother has suffered a stroke. Please come at once"—signed by a Dr. Maclean, and there was the address of a nursing home in Marlow.

I read it twice before the full horror of that short message became clear to me. Then I automatically went on and did the best I could with my dance. It was impossible to let the performers down because of a personal sorrow. When I came off, Hallais was standing in the wings waiting for me, Marie having already told him the terrible news. He thanked me for dancing under the circumstances and very kindly told me to go pack a bag, and he would telephone the Imperial Airlines for a seat on the first plane to England.

I did not arrive at the Marlow nursing home until afternoon, and I learned that Dr. Maclean had been called the previous evening by mother's hysterical maid and found her condition desperate. He had judged it best to send for an ambulance to remove mother to a sanitarium, but on the way she suffered a further brain hemorrhage, and his hopes for her recovery were very slight. My brother had arrived several hours before me and was bitterly resentful that mother should have been moved from her own room without our consent, for he was certain the effort of the trip had produced the second hemorrhage.

For 10 ghastly days we fought to save her life. The day following my arrival, I went to London and arranged for the best specialist I could find, Sir Frederick Treves, to drive down to Marlow immediately for a consultation. His opinion was that mother might live but would remain an invalid, partially paralyzed, for an indefinite length of time and that there was nothing science could do to effect a complete recovery.

When I met father at the boat train a week later, he looked so old and frail, my heart ached for him. It was not difficult to see that my mother's illness was the crowning blow to a long series of sorrows he had suffered all his married life and that the thought of losing her had completely unnerved him. He would not accept the opinion of either the doctor or the specialist, nor could he believe that such a brilliant, beautiful woman would be tied to a bed in helpless inertia, to drag out her remaining days in a way that would have revolted and horrified her.

During the third week of her illness she improved enough to speak a few words, recognized my father, and even smiled at the flowers he brought her every day.

Father's finances were in no condition to stand the terrific expenses involved in a long illness, so I did what I could to help by making a quick trip to Paris to break my lease, if possible, and send Marie and the animals to Violette, whose sympathy and kindness, like that of many such friends, were beyond expression. I was trying to do some packing when I received a long-distance call from father. I could hear the anguish in his voice vibrate over the wire as he told me that Dr. Maclean had noticed a change in mother that morning and thought I should come back at once. Violette drove me to Le Bourget where I caught the afternoon plane.

When I arrived in Marlow at 6 o'clock that evening my mother was dead. The doctor cautioned me to get father back to the hotel as soon as possible for there was a possibility of his having a complete nervous collapse. All sorts of sad details had to be attended to, so I begged him to stay with Bunnie at the hotel and let me do everything. I could not stand the look of utter misery in his tired gray eyes, and the thought of saving him a moment's sorrow that could be avoided strengthened me to spend the night in vigil beside my mother's body. As the nursing home was a Protestant one, father had encountered all sorts of obstacles in obtaining their permission for a priest or nun to remain with mother as he wished.

Perhaps the only consolation o the whole tragedy was that she died in a coma, without fear or pain or ever realizing what happened. Her beautiful face was peaceful as it rested in the pillows of flowers father had arranged. We buried her in the old Marlow cemetery, whose dead sleep beside the River Thames.

Commons Disturbed By Follower Of Shaw

LONDON, Nov. 14. (AP)—A woman visiting in the central lobby of the House of Commons today suddenly began shouting:

"Mr. Bernard Shaw is God's right hand man."

Police ejected the woman. She was not identified.

Hobby Thinks Texas' Demo Split Healed

DALLAS, Nov. 14. (AP)—Belief that the 1944 split in Texas' Democratic party is healed that the party will be united in next summer's state campaigns was expressed here today by former Gov. W. P. Hobby, Houston Post publisher and long time party leader.

The split, Hobby pointed out, was caused by the candidacy of President Roosevelt. The anti-Roosevelts swung back into line behind President Truman.

But while Truman is the cementing factor today, Hobby said he wasn't sure whether he would still have all the party together by the time the 1948 campaign gets underway.

"The whole situation is so 'hot' and there are so many controversial issues developing that no one can predict as to 1948 at this time," he said.

Hobby with Mrs. Hobby, was in Dallas to visit relatives.

Well Near Olney Is Now Under Control

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 14. (AP)—After flooding the vicinity with 25,000 barrels of oil the L. T. Burns No. 1 well on the C. F. Kunkel farm 21 miles southwest of Olney was under control today.

A flow of 1,000 barrels per hour was cut off by 1,650 sacks of baroid. No casings had been set when the well shot off with several joints of drill pipe in the hole early Monday morning and ran wild for more than 24 hours.

Pipeline company pumps were busy today salvaging oil from hastily erected dams and pits which partially surrounded the sea of oil.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

MILLIONS of people were lined up along the avenues of New York on Navy day to watch President Truman pass by on his way to review the fleet.

At Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue a middle-aged woman, trying to cross, walked up to a policeman and asked him:

"What is this all about? Why are all these people blocking the street so that I can't attend to my business?"

BRANDEIS

"Madam," said the astonished policeman, "don't you read the papers? For days they have been full of news about the President and the parade."

"How silly," said the woman, with a shrug of her shoulder, and walked away.

"How silly!" say so many people about whatever they don't know.

How silly, says the older woman about the younger one who wears a dress that is very becoming to her, but would, indeed, look silly on the scoffer.

How silly, say the Republicans about things the Democrats do, just because it didn't come out of their brain—or vice versa.

How silly, the blacksmith said when he saw the first automobile; and how silly it seemed to so many when the first plane went up into the air.

Haughtiness is a sign of ignorance.

Ridicule and contempt are often caused by envy.

In every social circle and in every office and shop there are people who belittle and malign their betters.

It is easy to sneer, much harder to accomplish.

People who have business of their own usually mind their own business.

Knowledge breeds understanding, and only those who do nothing begrudge others everything they do.

ONE of the most delightful persons I have ever met is Mrs. May Sells, the mother-in-law of my friend, John Medbury, the humorist. Every once in a while I see the letters she writes him from her home in Richmond, California.

"You are a pretty smart fellow," she wrote him a few days ago, "but I don't envy you. Sometimes I think that I am better off not being quite as smart as you.

"Smart people do too much reasoning. They want to know the whys and wherefores of everything they read and hear and see.

"I look at the facts and don't worry about the causes and effects. If I see a tree full of leaves I know it is summer. When its bare, it's winter. That is enough for me. Why worry what made the tree green or what made the leaves fall off?"

Pretty good philosophy, I think. Mrs. Sells doesn't think anything that happens is silly—even if she doesn't know the reason, she knows there is one.

And thus she saves herself many a sleepless night.

Rayburn "On The Spot"

Radical Element Is "After" Him

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SAM RAYBURN, perhaps the most popular man on Capitol Hill, is the victim of a violent campaign of abuse by the Wallace-Hillman spokesman and certain overenthusiastic friends of President Truman. They accuse the Speaker of spiking the social and economic program on which National Chairman "Bob" Hannegan hopes to retain control of Congress next year and re-elect Mr. Truman in 1948.

Although the verbal blitzkrieg is based on an abysmal ignorance of parliamentary procedure and rules of the House, that does not excuse it in the minds of the Texan's friends.

The liberals blame Mr. Rayburn because he referred the Full Employment bill to the House Committee on Executive Expenditures. They wanted this considered by Mrs. Mary Norton's Labor committee, which is packed with legislative friends of the CIO.

TUCKER

Indeed, the lady from Jersey has toyed witth the idea of trying to force the measure from the hard-boiled, reactionary group by the discharge technique. If she can get 218 signers to a petition, she can force the proposal to the floor for a vote. She can't.

The CIO insists on action to demonstrate to its followers that it can crack the whip over Congress. "Bob" Hannegan figures he can hold the mass of the metropolitan vote if he can "point with pride" to the enactment of the relief measures.

Neither the Full Employment nor the Unemployment Compensation bill has made much progress, and it is probable that they will be unrecognizable to their original sponsors if they emerge in any form. And Mr. Rayburn is being blamed for the blockade.

BURIED: When the Rayburn enemies took their complaints to friends of the Speaker, the latter gave a sharp lecture on the power and jurisdiction of the Executive Expenditures committee. It is a story which only a few member of the House know in detail, and it completely exonerates Mr. Rayburn.

The time was when this committee was an unknown and innocuous body. It had as law a status as the Committee for the Disposition of Useless Papers or the group which handles such subjects as coinage, weights and measures. Members fought to avoid an assignment to it for fear they would be buried politically and legislatively.

WATCHDOGS: But in 1927 it became one of the most potentially influential bodies of House or Senate by an amendment to the Budget law. It was given jurisdiction over almost every problem involving the expenditure of money by the federal government.

Under a broad interpretation, it can claim jurisdiction over almost every financial question except funds devoted to the national defense. It reached a parliamentary level almost equal to that of Ways and Means and Appropriations.

In the Coolidge and Hoover administrations, however, it was given no opportunity to use or enjoy its greater authority. Neither of those conservative Chief Executives spent scads of money, proposed radical changes in the federal organization, introduced far-reaching reforms or transferred departmental balances from one office to another without Congressional authorization. They ran a tidy, careful and inactive household.

Not until FDR and the New Deal arrived did the rejuvenated committee see a chance to flap its wings and claims its jurisdictional rights. Indeed, members thought it necessary to intervene. They felt the hour had come to assert themselves as watchdogs over public monies and properties, if only in Congressional self-defense.

PICKED: The subsequent history of the committee's growth and development discloses that Mr. Truman now suffers from Congressional fear of Mr. Roosevelt. The Expenditures group was deliberately packed as a buffer against New Deal demands and reforms emanating from 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Democratic and Republican leaders named their most stubborn and conservative men to this committee. They picked them from safe and rural districts, where their defiance of a President would not damage them with the home folks. There are more individuals from way stations and unheard-of towns on this committee than on any other in either body.

There are few factories or industrial activities in their districts. Therefore, labor's show of strength in the recent elections will not frighten or move them to report out the Full Employment bill in the form sought by the President.

BOTTLED: Chairman Carter Manasco hails from Jasper, Alabama, while Clare Hoffman, ranking Republican, is from Allegan, Michigan.

Ironically, Democratic members of Executive Expenditures are hand-picked by the Ways and Means committee, which serves as a selection board. And it is Ways and Means, ruled in czarlike manner by "Old Bob" Doughton of North Carolina, which has bottled up the Unemployment Compensation Bill demanded by "Bob" Hannegan for the 1946 and 1948 campaigns.

"So," wound up the parliamentary historian after his lecture to the Wallace-Hillman-Truman chorus, "don't blame Sam Rayburn"

RETIREMENT: Henry Wallace's friends have slipped word to Democratic wheel horses on Capitol Hill that he may resign from the cabinet soon after the first of the year or early in the Spring. The very suggestion of his voluntary retirement, coming in the wake of his labor allies' recent demonstration of their ballot-box strength, has caused consternation among the Trumanites.

The Secretary of Commerce is obviously unhappy in his present post. As only one of two top-flight Roosevelt hangovers, he regards himself as an unappreciated orphan in the presidential family. Fellow cabinet officers do not talk his language or dream his dreams. He cannot forget that he might have been President had it not been for the opposition of men around the White House and the machine politicians he despises.

He can be a more effective and outspoken critic of the administration from the outside. He can, if the opportunity and Mr. Truman's future policies give him encouragement, angle for the 1948 presidential nomination with the same sort of radical backing he had in Chicago in 1944.

STRIPPED: Mr. Wallace entertained bright hopes of transforming the Department of Commerce into a dynamic agency, as FDR had promised that he would be permitted to do. But the unit is ever more meribund than ever before in its innocuous history, and that includes the soporific reign of the late Daniel C. Roper.

He has been stripped of power and jurisdiction in both the domestic and foreign fields. He has lost control over small business and the disposition of surplus consumers' goods. Congress has cut his appropriations and even Democratic committee members have berated him during recent appearances on Capitol Hill. The world trade he had expected to nurse along will be supervised by other agencies with more conservative viewpoints.

SHIFT: His Vice Presidential rival at Chicago, James F. Byrnes, intends to retain a firm hand on exports because of their effect on the tense diplomatic situation. Mr. Wallace has not been asked to sit in on financial negotiations with England or Russia, although these decisions will affect his department.

His "Good Neighbor" policy in China and South America has blown up in the flames of civil war, revolution and Argentinian recalcitrancy, and some responsibility for the disturbed conditions has been attached to his do-good philosophy.

Nevertheless, his quitting in a huff affrights the Hanneganities lest it confirm liberals' suspicions that Harry Truman is not another Franklin Roosevelt. Tentative plans contemplate shifting him to some honorific post in the United Nations Organizations or a proposed World Food administration.

New Effort At Cooperation Necessary

Relations With Soviets Talked

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The biggest question in world affairs today is whether, and how, this country and Great Britain can get along with Russia. That is the prime essential.

It is predominant in the background of discussions between President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee, and is a chief consideration in framing joint policy for international control of the atomic bomb.

STOKES

As a matter of fact, the atomic bomb has become the center about which the two leaders are trying to build a positive course of policy for what diplomats would call a rapprochement with Russia. It could be used as a threat, but the approach is rather the reverse—more in the nature of invitation.

It works out in theory this way:

Control of the bomb by the United Nations organization, which includes Russia, would be conditioned initially upon recognition of the United Nations organization as an effective and going organization. It is basically, therefore, a question of good faith. Recognition of the United Nations organization implies trust of the powers by each other, beginning with the dominant big three, the United States, Great Britain and Russia.

May Resume Talks

An obvious way for Russia to exhibit this trust and a desire to work with her war Allies is to resume the negotiations that were broken off at the recent London conference.

The hope, then, is that out of the Truman-Attlee conference here may come a resumption of big three negotiations, either among the heads of states, or the foreign ministers, or perhaps a full-dress conference of both.

That is the first step of a series which could come out of the meeting here.

THE atomic bomb is by no means the chief sticking point in difficulties with Russia, though it has been so advertised in some quarters. It has been over-magnified and exaggerated. It is true that foreign commissar Molotov recently warned that it should not be exploited "in the play of international forces" and pointed out, simultaneously, that methods of producing it could not be long kept secret. Here undoubtedly Mr. Molotov was talking partly for home consumption.

There are many other points of difference that, for the moment, are more important. This was revealed at the London conference. They will take time and patience to adjust.

But the atomic bomb, which hangs over the world as a dire threat in the minds of ordinary people, can be used positively as an entering wedge to reopen negotiations with Russia—or at least it is so contemplated here. Something constructive may thus start from this terrible destructive force.

This raises another question, realistic and important.

If Russia shows by resumption of negotiations that she is changing her suspicious attitude toward us, then how do the two western powers give proof that they are ready to drop their suspicions of her?

This might come in several ways, but, practically, once the powers sat together at the table, they could indicate that they are ready to go along to try to iron out the other differences revealed at London.

It will not be easy or simple, and it will take time to resolve all the conflicts. Many compromises will be required. It is something that will have to be built up step by step. But it will have to be built up.

THE encouraging thing is the desire to start and the good will shown here toward Russia by the two heads of state which seems to imply a softening of attitude that has been indicated in other ways.

They deserve public support in this approach.

Sabine Pass Vet Is Charged In Shooting

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 14. (AP)—Claude Louis Trinkle, 24-year-old ex-serviceman of Sabine pass today was charged with assault with intent to murder in the shooting of Donnie Williams, 34, of Port Arthur.

Williams was shot last night at the home of his father-in-law, Ross Yoakum, former constable at Sabine Pass. Hit in the arm and shoulder by two close-range shotgun blasts, Williams was in a critical condition today.

Sheriff T. C. Pool said the shooting followed an altercation at a filling station owned by Trinkle's aunt, Mrs. Carrie Trinkle.

Amarillo Man Given Award For Flight

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 14. (AP)—The Distinguished Flying Cross was presented yesterday to first Lt. William H. Shore (2904 Van Buren Ave.), Amarillo, Tex., at Buckley Field.

The citation said that Shore, making a reconnaissance flight Nov. 2, 1943, when one of his plane's engines was shot out, eluded enemy aircraft and returned with "highly important intelligence matter."

Shore was overseas 22 months in North Africa, Italy and Southern France. He was shot down and was a prisoner of war 14 months before he was liberated. He is now assigned to the 16th photo squadron at Buckley.

OPA Car Price Plan Is Flayed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP) — OPA's new automobile pricing policies were criticized in the House today, with Rep. Taber (R-NY) accusing Price Chief Chester Bowles of trying to create price control "on a racketeering basis."

Rep. Hebert (D-La) put a statement in the record saying Bowles is using "pressure tactics" with Congress, and declaring, "it's about time that the American people wake up and bowl Chester Bowles out."

Views Are Filed

Approximately 100 members of the House and Senate filed auto pricing views with the House small business committee.

But, a meeting of the committee, set to hear lawmakers who wanted to present their opinions orally, adjourned in 15 minutes. No senators or representatives showed up. Some members apparently preferred to make their speeches in the House instead.

The committee, headed by Rep. Patman (D-Tex), is inquiring into OPA's plan to require car dealers to absorb part of all price increases granted manufacturers.

To Announce Prices

OPA, which says this will hold new auto retail prices near 1942 levels, is expected to announce new car prices for some manufacturers tomorrow.

Some of the statements filed with the committee by 11 senators and approximately 90 House members vigorously protested the OPA price policy, declaring it would destroy the normal relationships between manufacturers and dealers.

Other members merely relayed to the committee statements they have received from dealers back home. These bitterly opposed the OPA price absorption policy.

The committee will hear auto dealers tomorrow in rebuttal testimony to the argument presented yesterday by OPA. The dealers already have told the committee that OPA's plans to cut their prewar discount margins would force many of them out of business.

Favorite wild flower of the United States is the wild rose, according to the American Nature Association.

MARKET TRENDS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—Buyers continued to seek out some low-priced utility and realty stocks today while rails and selected industrials also advanced in an otherwise irregular market.

Last-minute demand lifted a few mining shares to new highs for 1945 or longer, including Dome Mines, Roan Antelope and Alaska Juneau. Equitable Office Building and United Cigar-Whelan Stores also touched yearly peaks.

Steels, rubbers and farm implements generally fell off fractions while chemicals were down as much as 2 points. American Telephone retreated 2½ points to 191½.

Volume totaled 1,610,000 shares against 2,500,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .1 of a point to 74.1. Industrials and utilities were down on average but this was partly offset by .3 of a point rise in rails.

Higher were Bethlehem, Chrysler, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Consolidated Edison, American Water Works, Air Reduction, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Texas Co., Standard Gas and Electric $4 preferred and U. S. Realty.

Lower were Youngstown Sheet, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Caterpillar Tractor, Phelps Dodge, American Can, Du Pont, Union Carbide and Standard Oil (NJ).

Bonds were about steady. Chicago wheat ended unchanged to 1 cent a bushel lower, rye was unchanged to off 4, oats ⅛ to 1⅜ up and corn unchanged at ceiling prices. Cotton rose 15 to 75 cents a bale.

Tilting upward in the curb were Bowman-Biltmore Hotel, Claude Neon Lights and Silver Lead. Cities Service and Niagara Hudson Power were down. Transfers totaled 1,740,000 (more than on the big board) compared with 2,500,000 Tuesday.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Cotton futures turned firm today after weathering an early flurry of commission house liquidation, which had depressed prices as much as 55 cents a bale. Persistent mill buying, short covering and replacement demand met an oversold condition following the sharp setback on Tuesday. Final prices were 15 to 75 cents a bale higher.

Support appeared to stem from the poor crop outlook and larger export demand, which overshadowed less favorable prospects for the enactment of the Pace bill to boost parity prices sharply through inclusion of farm labor costs in the parity formula.

Distant months lagged and the advance was attributed to the report that there will be no restrictions in the 1946 cotton acreage.

Futures closed 15 to 75 cents a bale higher.

Report On the War

By General George C. Marshall

Biennial Report of the Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army 1943 to 1945, to the Secretary of War
Published by NEA Service, Inc., in co-operation with the War Department

prepared for Hirohito by the Jap Premier in 1927. Authentic or not, it provided the pattern which Japan has followed, culminating in the great Pacific conflict.

Time Was Ripe

"Strategically, Japan was well poised in 1941 to carry out her aims in Asia. All the major world powers who normally maintained the status quo in Asia were absorbed in the war in Europe. France had been overrun and eliminated. England was threatened by German invasion. The U. S. S. R. was attempting to repel a German invasion on her western front reaching to the gates of the capital. The United States had become the Arsenal of Democracy, with major efforts directed toward the support and preservation of our European Allies.

"The Tripartite Pact had been signed, giving Japan a free hand in Asia. She had a large and relatively well - equipped army and a moderately good air force well trained by actual combat in China. She had obtained by forced agreements a staging area in French Indo-China. She had a fairly large navy especially strong in the transport craft available. She had accumulated by great national economy a good stockpile of strategic materials at home for the initial effort and with each successive conquest she obtained new and important areas from which other supplies of materials could be drawn, such as oil, rubber, and metal. The Japanese mistakenly believed in the hearty cooperation of 'liberated' peoples of the so-called Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere with their huge labor pools. Japan considered herself ready to strike.

"Japan's objective was the conquest consolidation, and eventual domination of the whole Far East. She intended to make her conquest in a rapid surprise drive which would overpower all resistance, to form an iron ring of outer defenses against which the spiritually inferior, pacifistic combination of opponents could beat themselves into weariness, while she consolidated her gains at leisure."

What Japan Intended

The best estimate of Japan's plan for the accomplishment of her objectives appear to be the following:

1. Neutralize or destroy the U. S. Pacific Fleet by an attack on Pearl Harbor.
2. Drive rapidly south overcoming the Philippines and the Southwest and South Pacific Islands in order to cut sea routes of supply or attack from the East and gain the vast natural resources of the East Indies.
3. Cut China's supply line from the west by an invasion of Burma.
4. Form a flank by the seizure of the naval base of Singapore and the islands of Sumatra and Java.
5. Isolate or possibly invade Australia.
6. Invade the Hawaiian Islands via Midway.
7. Invade the Aleutian Islands to form a northern flank, dependent on initial successes and retained momentum.
8. Bring the American Northwest under aerial bombardment, raid our West Coast aviation industries, and then seize critical areas.
9. Stimulate unrest to eventual revolution in India.

The Japanese strategic plan initially failed when she missed the opportunity of landing troops on Hawaii, capturing Oahu and the important bases there, and denying us a necessary focal point from which to launch operations in the Western Pacific.

There can be no doubt that the greed and the mistakes of the war-making nations as well as the heroic stands of the British and Soviet peoples saved the United States a war on her own soil. The crisis had come and passed at Stalingrad and El Alamein before this Nation was able to gather sufficient resources to participate in the fight in a determining manner. Had the U. S. S. R. and the British Army of the Nile been defeated in 1942, as they well might if the Germans, Japanese, and Italians had better coordinated their plans and resources and successive operations, we should have stood today in the western hemisphere confronted by enemies who controlled a greater part of the world.

Our close approach to that terrifying situation should have a sobering influence on Americans for generations to come. Yet, this is only a prelude of what can be expected so long as there are nations on earth capable of waging total war.

News Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Allen of 1720 Twenty-fourth, formerly of Idalou, received a telephone call Wednesday from their son, Carpenter's Mate 1-c M. T. Allen at Terminal island, near Los Angeles, Calif., where he arrived Wednesday from Okinawa. He also served in England and France. His wife lives at Idalou. Allen will receive his discharge Saturday, he told his parents.

Tommy Mason, 22, of Plainview, was arrested there Wednesday and returned to county jail here on a charge of forgery. Deputies Frank Mitchell and Raymond Land effected the arrest.

A car fire which caused minor damage was extinguished by firemen at 1909 Tenth late Wednesday.

A double-breasted dark blue overcoat valued at $50 was stolen from him at a downtown theater, C. E. Robinson told police Wednesday.

AAF Will Discharge 4,000 More Trainees

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (UP)—The Army Air Forces said today it would discharge about 4,000 enlisted men with two or more years of service who had volunteered for air crew training.

The Army said it was decided to discharge the men because it would be uneconomical to train them in a new skill when they would become elibile for discharge in the near future. Some of the men already had completed part of their training.

Atom May Get You, But There Is Time Yet For Rules On Control

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The atom can get you if you don't watch out, but it hasn't done so yet.

Playing atomic marbles threatens to be for keeps, but there still may be time to agree on rules to control the genii which has risen from the laboratory test tube. In two blasts the genii warned men everywhere to get together and start living with one another instead of cherishing fences of suspicion and separatism.

WHITE

This is the problem of our day. With a new and terrible weapon in our hands we must first agree somehow on how to control that weapon, but one may doubt if any control will work until we agree on how we are going to live with each other.

Soviet Discovery

While Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman are discussing the announced American-Anglo-Canadian "secret" of atomic bomb technique, the Soviet press discloses that a Russian scientist has discovered "a number of heavy protons, the kernel of atomic hydrogen."

At present uranium is supposed to be the most suitable element for producing atomic energy, but in theory any form of matter is convertible into energy if you only know how and have the resources.

Nations everywhere hesitate to write rules among themselves because of inhibitions like sovereignty, which actually are assaulted almost as much by devices like the airplane and the impulses of international economics as by the merely new threat of atomic energy.

Some Possibilities

If you grant that atomic energy may be produced eventually from anything, and remember the momentum of the human mind and its child, science, it is imaginable that some day high school students can split atoms out of such unlikely things as a bale of hay or an old juke-box record.

And if you go that far, you'll realize that the answer, in the end, lies in the heart and mind of every one of two billion human beings.

Every religion, every moral code in history has contained one common suggestion for man to get along with his neighbors. Christianity knows it as the golden rule.

The field still is open for a better one.

Isolationism Is Hit By Baptist Leader

FORT WORTH, Nov. 14. (AP) — America can not have peace through isolationism, blackmail or fear or by relying upon the leadership of politicians and militarists, but only by building on spiritual foundations, Rev. Wallace Bassett of Dallas told the Baptist General convention of Texas here today.

More than 4,500 representatives from churches throughout Texas attended the session.

"It is ridiculous to think we can keep the atomic bomb a secret," Rev. Bassett declared. "We must build a peace of justice and not of revenge, remembering that there is no such thing in the world as a super-race — and that goes for America as well."

Rev. J. M. Dawson, Waco, who introduced Rev. Mr. Bassett, expressed the belief creation of the United Nations organization was a "providential" step which may prevent an 'unparalleled, exhausting" armament race and bring atomic energy under international control, thus "making the world a garden instead of a grave."

The convention elected H. L. Kokernot, San Antonio; Carr P. Collins, Dallas, and A. E. Kerr, Houston, to the board of the Baptist foundation of Texas, with terms expiring in 1948.

Pair Accused In Kidnaping Of Girl

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 14. (AP)—Two men in custody of Brownwood police today were accused of kidnaping by a 14-year-old girl who said one of the men forced her to accompany them in a car after breaking into her hotel room in Brady.

The girl said that one of the men, a discharged soldier, forced his way into her room at 1:30 a. m. and compelled her to accompany both men. They were traveling by car to Fredericksburg, Miss., she told officers.
