Ranchmen Are Cooperating in Wildlife Conservation

PLAN TO STAGE DEMONSTRATION ON WOLF CREEK

Nine County Ranchmen Will Place Land Under Demonstration Area to Cooperate

To Protect Wildlife

State Game Commission To Aid in Conservation of Game Birds and Restocking Fish

Nine Wolf Creek ranchmen met Thursday night with County Agent E. W. Thomas at the Alfalfa school house and organized the Wolf Creek Wildlife Management Demonstration Area. Officers elected were J. H. Callihan, president; Lawrence Elzey, vice president; Roy Linn, secretary and treasurer. Attending the meeting were J. W. Daniels, J. H. Callihan, Keith McLean, Val McLanahan, Charley and George Dutcher, Roy Linn, Lawrence Elzey, Pood Herndon, E. W. Thomas and Sam Handy.

The present area includes all ranches touching Wolf Creek east of the new highway 83 to Lipscomb county line and will embrace an area of approximately 80 square miles. The purpose of the organization is to enlist the aid of landowners to cooperate in the protection and improvement of food and cover for wildlife. Control and harvesting of game crops will be emphasized by the group. Quail and turkey are the game birds commonly found in this vicinity. At the present time breeding of these game birds is practically at a standstill. With the cooperation of the individual land owners it is hoped to increase the game bird population along Wolf Creek.

Officials of the organization expect to receive support and cooperation of the State Game Commission at Austin in securing seed stock for replacing both game and fish and for policing the area when necessary to protect game. It is not the intention to establish a permanently closed hunting season in this area, but rather to regulate hunting to the extent that a continuous supply of game birds will be built up and maintained. Signs are to be posted by individuals cooperating at the various entrances to the ranches pointing out that the land is included in the demonstration area.

FINNELL VIEWS SCS PROJECTS

LOCAL DELEGATION ESCORTS SCS OFFICIALS ON INSPECTION TOUR OVER THE COUNTY

Following the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Lions Club, a group of Lions Club members, Chamber of Commerce officials, and county officials, escorted H. H. Finnell, Warren R. Landrum, and other SCS representatives on a 90-mile tour of SCS projects located in the south-east part of Ochiltree county. Superintendent Howard Finch and technicians from the Perryton Soil Conservation camp accompanied the motorcade to point out and explain the conservation methods. Among the farms visited were those of N. N. Plather, Mr. Bird, Andy Peterson, Jack Porter, C. C. Freeman, T. V. Elzey, Ollie Morris and the Wolf Creek dam. Examples of the value of terraces, contour plantings and contour pasture furrowing convinced the group of the great value of the projects as a practical demonstration of sound soil and water conservation methods.

J. M. Jackson was a business visitor in Dodge City, Kans., Sunday.

LIGHT SNOW IN COUNTY SUNDAY NIGHT, JAN. 22

One and one-half inches of snow gave another boost to the moisture total received in Ochiltree county for the month of January. The snow began falling at 10 p. m. Sunday night and continued intermittently during the night. The snow which was of uniform depth throughout the county recorded .17 inches of moisture according to the government weather gauge kept by Jack Allen. Surrounding counties reported similar moisture.

The light snow that fell over the county in various depths Monday night, January 16, has given this territory more moisture for January, 1939 than has ever been recorded in any January. The total recorded in Perryton was 1.94 inches to January 26.

HIGHWAY TEAM IN FIRST AID CONTEST THURS.

Seven Members of Local Department Are in Wichita Falls

WON IN DISTRICT

Seven members of the State Highway Department at Perryton left Wednesday morning for Wichita Falls to compete in the statewide semi-finals of a first aid contest being sponsored by Harry Hines, Highway Commissioner, and the Red Cross. Perryton earned the right to compete in the contest at Wichita Falls by winning first place in the elimination held at Amarillo, December 19. Over teams from Canadian, Pampa, Clarendon, Dalhart, Dumas, Amarillo and Panhandle. Among the districts to be represented at Wichita Falls are Paris, Wichita Falls, Childress, Lubbock and Perryton, who will compete on Thursday.

The winning team at Wichita will go to Austin on February 29 where it will meet other state winners at Gregory gym for the finals. All state highway employees finished a basic course in first aid last April given to create interest in applying first aid in a sane and safe manner in case of accidents. The course was composed of questions, tournaments, bone setting, general first aid treatment. The contests are based on the display of knowledge the contestants have on the subjects.

H. L. Cantrell, section foreman maintenance department, is manager of the following team: Lloyd Holland, H. R. Dickson, Buck Smith, N. A. Hightower, Don E. Gill and Jack Lovett. Each member of this local team will be awarded medals engraved with their names for winning the District, December 19.

LUNCHES FOR 11 CHILDREN

SERVICE CLUB AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS FURNISHING LUNCHES TO ELEVEN IN THE SCHOOL

Hot lunches at noon are now being provided for eleven underprivileged children attending the Perryton schools, according to Supt. Roger A. Burgess. Of this number, eight are being paid for by the Community Service Club, which is sponsored by the Pierce Johnson Post of The American Legion.

The American Legion Auxiliary is paying for lunches for two children, and the Wesleyan Sunday school class of the Methodist Church is paying for one child's lunch. The Community Service Club plan to purchase lunches for more children, if the need arises. Designation of the children for the lunches are determined by school officials, TRC case workers and the officials of the Community Service Club.

The money for these hot lunches, furnished by the Club, comes from the profits of the Club. By paying your 10c per week dues in the Community Service Club you make it possible for these underprivileged children to enjoy a hot lunch at noon every school day.

Unusual Quilt Presented Del Taliaferro by His Daughters

D. D. Taliaferro, pioneer cattleman and present deputy Sheriff of Ochiltree County, received an exceptional gift at Christmas from his three daughters, Mrs. R. M. (Pats) Lemon, Mrs. Byron (Gordie) Pletcher and Mrs. Alex (Ludean) Barton. He was given a beautiful quilt containing the cattle brands and names of 61 of his friends. This quilt contains 63 blocks. In the center block is Mr. Taliaferro's name and his cattle brand. One block gives the daughters' names and the date. Each block is white with the brand and name embroidered in red, and the blocks set together with red and white.

Although the daughters had spent many months obtaining the brands and doing the work, it was a complete surprise to Mr. Taliaferro. The quilt is greatly prized by him because of the associations that the names recall.

Mr. Taliaferro has kindly consented to display this exceptional quilt. You may see it in the window of the Herald office.

The following men and their brands appear on the quilt: G. B. Mears, D. C. Kettell, J. S. Talley, W. O. Montgomery, A. Barton, Sr., John Pletcher, Dave Wilson, Albert King, H. O. #### PAY TAXES BY JANUARY 31ST

TAXES BECOME DELINQUENT ON FEBRUARY 1; LAST DAY TO AVOID PENALTIES IS JANUARY 31ST

County, State, School and City taxes for 1938 are due and payable on or before January 31 to avoid payment of penalty and interest. Poll Taxes must be paid also before February 1.

J. S. Talley, Tax Collector of state and county taxes, reports that total collections on 1938 taxes is considerably less than the amount collected this time last year. He states that the number of full payments of county and state taxes is about equal to last January, but that there were fewer half payments this year. At noon Wednesday, only 165 persons had paid their poll tax. This means that over 1,000 eligible voters were delinquent in the payment of poll tax. Even if you are unable to pay other taxes, you should pay poll tax so that you could vote.

Mrs. Luther Wade, Collector for the Perryton Independent School Tax, states that the total amount of school taxes collected this year is practically the same as collected at the same period last year. There were 47 half payments for 1938 taxes made to 34 half payments for 1937. According to M. M. Cusick, City Clerk, the total collections for City Taxes for 1938 show a slight increase over collections for this period last year. All 1938 taxes unpaid on February 1 will bear interest at the rate of one per cent per month, until July 1, 1939, when the penalty will increase to 2 per cent and interest charges at the rate of one-half per cent per month.

Machines Plus Land Shortage Equals Share-Cropper Dilemma

WASHINGTON.—The problem of finding a place in the economic picture for the share-cropper has Department of Agriculture officials worried. They are in the position of a man who has completed a jig-saw puzzle and has a great heap of leftover pieces.

The leftovers are the tenants and share-croppers who work a small part of a big farm owned by someone else. Farm Security officials who have studied the situation say the recurrent discontent of share-croppers is not limited to those cases where landowners have reduced tenants to the status of farm laborers to avoid sharing benefit payments with them.

In some cases this does happen. But more generally, the problem is broader and the blame cannot be placed on any individual or group.

As simply as it can be stated, in the opinion of government students of this situation, there are just more farm workers than there is productive farm land.

On top of that, machines are taking away the jobs of thousands of farm hands throughout the country. A tractor displaces from one to three farm tenant families.

For example, Agriculture Department records show that in Texas the number of farm tractors in operation jumped from 9000 in 1920 to 99,000 this year.

It is no longer profitable to operate on small plots of farm land. In the state of California, for instance, it is estimated that 90 per cent of the farms being worked today are of 1000 acres or more.

There has always been a floating farm laborer population. As machines have displaced tenant farmers, this group has steadily increased.

Farm Security Administration, and earlier Resettlement Administration in an attempt to stabilize this mobile army, has set up migratory camps near the centers of seasonal farm production. But agriculture officials confess this device has only skimmed the surface of the problem.

And the outlook is darker. The men who are studying the problem and trying to find a way out, despair of the day when and if the mechanical cotton picker is perfected. For this machine may displace—as effectively as has the motorized tractor—the thousands of farm laborers who depend on cotton picking for a living.

Regional Conservator Finnell Addresses Perryton Chamber of Commerce Banquet

Ed. Note: H. H. Finnell, Regional Conservator for Region No. 6 of the Soil Conservation Service of the United States, was the principal speaker at the annual membership banquet of the Perryton Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening. Following is Mr. Finnell's address.

Our experiences in facing the soil and water conservation problems in the Southern Plains area, during the past 5 years, are unique in some respects. In the first place, conservation is a problem of the land but in order to reach the land, it is necessary to travel by way of the mind of the individuals who own and operate it. Conservation therefore becomes as much a human problem as it is a physical problem. The spectacular nature of dust storms on the Plains has resulted in some incidents that were disturbing and some that were amusing as well as some that were encouraging. In trying to represent the interests of this area, I have frequently, during this period, been in contact with persons in the East who were concerned about the problems here—more concerned than some who live here. Many prominent individuals interested in National welfare and consequently in the Dust Bowl, because it was a considerable slice out of our grain and fiber producing area, have, largely I believe because of insufficient information, formed some peculiar ideas about this country. There is the notion, for example, that the Plains have all been plowed up and that it is now one vast and continuous wheat field. Well, as you know, roughly two-thirds of the area remains in native grass and has never been touched by the plow. Less than one-half of that portion which is in cultivation has ever been planted to wheat as any one time.

It might interest you to know that there are people in the East who never saw a wheat field, who are so much interested in the problems of the Southern Plains that they warmly engage in debating the subject of wheat versus grass in the Dust Bowl. Well, wheat is grass. I am also reminded of the occasion upon which I was gravely assured by a learned group of consultants that our problems should not be difficult since we have only three simple elements to deal with, namely (1) soil, with a question mark behind it; (2) wind, without a question mark behind it; and (3) idiots. Now the simple solution, of course, was merely to remove the idiots and everything would be all right.

Wind erosion, in reality, is a simple mechanical action, but many of our own people do not understand some of the fundamentals regarding it. Wind does not cause dust storms. Wind does not vary from year to year and season to season nearly so much as many of our other climatic factors, like rainfall. We have never recorded the wind for a year yet which was much out of line with the average. We have had winds capable of eroding the soil every year and always have had. Of course, dust storms are much worse in some seasons than in others and it is because they are more closely related with moisture actually than with the wind. It would be nearer the facts to say that instead of dust storms being caused by hard winds, they are caused by the neglect of farmers to produce crops. Unless you are a farmer, you will immediately wonder how in the world that it could be that a farmer would neglect to produce crops; presumably crop production is the aim of his business. I was a farmer and I have dealt with farmers all of my life. I would be the last person to question the motives or sincerity or common sense of farmers. Nine times out of ten, they know more about their own problems and how to meet them, than the average professor. It is true, however, that in an area where the agriculture is new and inexperienced, as it is here in the Plains area, that when all the knowledge which exists is rolled together in one bundle, it is inadequate to answer all the questions that arise. Actually, a farmer who has been here since farming started on these Plains has not yet had a full cycle of experiences. When our experience is more mature, more people will make fewer mistakes.

Important information has increased rapidly in the last few years and we also have some instances where the knowledge of certain facts has existed for a long time but it never occurred to anyone to make a practice use of it. For example, water does not abide by economic laws; it abides by physical laws. It is incapable of exercising judgment, although it is exceedingly persistent. It will run down hill as long as it is able to find a hill to run down and does not care a whoop whether it is needed here or there. Making water behave is one of the important jobs of Southern Plains farmers because it is essential both to profitable land use and safe-guarding the soil from wind and water erosion.

Conservation, in the true sense, is never hoarding. There are soil and water resources that would surely go to waste if not currently used. So the aim of conservation is one of saving natural resources from waste in such a manner as to permit the maximum efficiency of their use. These considerations are often inter-dependent.

Man is always at his best when developing and using the methods of nature. The odds are in favor of the success of his undertakings when he works in harmony with, rather than against, the forces of nature. We derive, therefore, them major means of erosion control under the artificial conditions created by our more intensive methods of land use, from a direct imitation of nature. Vegetation under natural conditions is both the builder of soil and the protector of soil. A successful system of erosion control embodies the efficient use of vegetation to maintain a continuous and adequate cover of vegetation, either in the form of growing crops or the trashy remains of previous crops. This is the backbone of soil conservation under almost any circumstances. The dozen other devices which we employ, all contribute to this end in one way or another. They include the manipulation of tillage practices, crop utilization, engineering structures, permanent plantings and crop management. Even the organization of the farm business may have an effect upon the ease of soil erosion prevention. With the elements of soil, water, wind, plants, heat and cold, diseases, insects, prices, distance to market, the kind of equipment and amount of labor available, and then a handful of miscellaneous governmental programs all thrown into the pot, making the most of any given combination of conditions really becomes somewhat of a complicated matter. Whether the problem is difficult or not usually depends on how well the operator understands the factors he is working with. It is easy to see how different combinations of these things makes it necessary to apply different conservation methods, even on different tracts of the same farm. If we travel from low to high elevation, from shallow to deep soils, from short growing seasons to long growing seasons all within the Southern Plains area, major variations in the combinations of conditions are encountered.

So in reality, instead of three simple elements to contend with, we have found it necessary to recognize not less than 18 major problem areas as a basis of specific recommendations. This map, which I do not intend to take time to explain, will show you at a glance how these major problem areas are intermingled throughout the Plains area. Each color here represents territory in which a general set of conservation recommendations apply fairly well. But we must never lose sight of the fact that each individual farm unit presents some peculiarity of its own which must be taken into consideration in planning for conservation and that each field and pasture requires individual attention. There is one consideration, however, that remains the same in every problem area and on every individual farm—no single method of control is capable of adequately safeguarding soil and water resources to a maximum utilization. We used to think so. The appeal of a cure-all is great. I may wish we had one but I know we haven't. The result of this delusion has been a soil loss of $400,000,000 a year in the United States, which represents a removal of plant food elements by dumping into the ocean twenty times as much as that taken off in marketable crops. The lesson of this experience is that rather than depending upon a single method or practice, we must depend upon a proper combination of methods and practices, selected to fit the conditions and needs on each individual field and pasture and coordinated into a complete and harmonious program of related practices. Dr. H. H. Bennett, made, in my opinion, the greatest contribution to conservation science in a century when he introduced coordination of methods into conservation practice.

Coordination recognizes multiple factors and multiple considerations. Coordination is an act of management. We all have our management problems. Physical management to a farmer consists of taking the land and water resources at his disposal, the plant material, the equipment and labor and seasonal opportunities and manipulating them in such a way as to obtain the maximum efficient production consistent with conservation. Business management to a farmer consists of taking the elements of markets, credit conditions and facilities for crop utilization, and disposing of the products of the soil in an effort to convert them into the goods and services required for the use of him and his family. Management to the manager of a government project consists of taking a specified job, men, equipment and funds supplied to him for the purpose, and putting them together in such a way as to accomplish the ends of his program. Management to a Service, like the Soil Conservation Service, consists of taking the several programs entrusted to its administration and operating them in such relation to each other as to efficiently accomplish the major objective of land and water conservation. That same principle of coordination which is so essential to the success of our conservation efforts in a given field or pasture or farm or conservation district, is just as important in making our programs function efficiently to the ends of general public welfare.

Our Soil Conservation Service began the operation less than six years ago as a single government program, consisting of demonstration projects. Under the leadership of Dr. H. H. Bennett, these projects made a coordinated attack upon the erosion problems of the areas they represented. Since that time, additional programs have been added to the responsibility of the Service unit now we are operating 8 separate programs under 5 different Acts of Congress; enumerated, they are:

1. Conservation Demonstration
2. Conservation Research
3. Technical Cooperation with Districts
4. Technical Cooperation with CCC
5. Flood Control Surveys
6. Flood Control Projects
7. Water Facilities
8. Land Utilization

Temporarily, at least, we are also operating programs under WPA and PWA and will shortly become responsible for a program of Farm Forestry. Each of these programs applies to a particular phase of conservation or provides a particular implement for conservation.

The big job of our Service is now to take these several implements of conservation and coordinate their activities in such a way that they will efficiently and harmoniously contribute to our long time and permanent conservation objective. This can only be done by applying their facilities in relation to each other, in relation to the physical problems of land and water, and in relation to the physical problems of land and water, and in relation to the best interests of communities and their efforts, in such a way that all will contribute to the mutual support and furtherance of each other.

Using Wolf Creek Dam as an example, and considering it primarily as a recreational asset to this community, we want a clear water lake, not only because it looks pretty adequate to the pleasure of its use and increasing its wildlife possibilities, but because we want to keep the lake for a long time and maintain it in a useful condition. Our ability to do this is directly related to soil and water conservation on a watershed, as you well know. Any unit, in a system of conservation, becomes a better unit for its specific purpose if it is an integral part of a complete coordinated program of land and water conservation and utilization for the whole watershed. By protecting this project from a rapid diminution of usefulness through the prevention of siltation, by the most practicable and feasible known methods, we are at the same stroke safeguarding the productive land in the watershed, increasing the efficiency of utilization of the water resources of the watershed, increasing the economic stability and prosperity of the people in the watershed, conserving and increasing the business opportunities of the community and at the same time, incidentally, increasing the capacity of both the rural and urban community to enjoy the recreational facilities of a better lake. If we can also use this lake to aid in the prevention of flood damages down stream, we will enlist the support of people who have no present interest whatsoever in Wolf Creek Watershed and its development. This is merely one of many examples of what I mean by coordination.

Every program operated by this Service is cooperative in nature. The fullest utilization of each by any community requires a concerted and

International Sunday School Lesson

Peter's Acknowledgment

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Jan. 23
Text: John 21:11-19

It would have been only natural that Peter have an immense disgust with himself after his denial of Jesus and his bitter repentance. With no evidence as yet of the resurrection, probably without any understanding of Jesus' words suggesting the hope of the resurrection, Peter might easily have regarded his hopes as disappointed and that phase of his life at an end.

Fishing had been his occupation. It was from this that Jesus had called him, and naturally he turned back to his old life.

It is quite possible, of course, that this conception of Peter's attitude may be all wrong and that, with sincere repentance, but without any undue loss of his faith, he was simply turning to his old occupation. Peter may have been in the mood of those who say, "It is better to have sinned and lost than never to have sinned at all."

Whatever Peter may have thought or felt, all the enthusiasm with which he had first responded to the Master was revived as he realized that Jesus was living and not dead. But this was not all. As the Master had singled him out for some of His keenest words, including His warning against Peter's being "sifted as wheat" and His own prayer that Peter's faith should not fail, so now the Master, realizing all that was in Peter's heart, turned to him with the question, "Simon, son of John, lovest thou me?"

Peter's words were simple and sincere: "Yes, Lord, Thou knowest that I love thee." His old boasting was gone, but there was a restrained and quiet faith. It was no longer for Peter a matter of ambition and power and preferment.

Again a second time came the question to Peter with the same reply, and yet a third time; for Peter had denied his Lord three times. Following this threefold acknowledgment and the admonition to feed the lambs and the sheep, there came prophetic words telling how Peter would also suffer for his Lord.

How different from the day when Peter, had left his nets with a vision of a delivered Israel and of a new kingdom in which he would occupy a place of power and influence!

ANNOUNCE LEGISLATIVE AIMS

LEGION AND AUXILIARY PRESENT A FIVE POINT LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM TO CONGRESS

With Congress in session, principal attention of the American Legion Auxiliary's 465,000 members is being focused during January upon support of The American Legion's legislative recommendations, according to Mrs. Jack Allen, legislative chairman of Perryton Auxiliary Unit.

The Legion is urging increased defensive preparations, enactment of a Universal Service law, tightening of immigration, naturalization and deportation laws, federal protection for widows and orphans of World War veterans, and improvement of employment opportunities for veterans.

Building the additional warship needed to make the United States Navy the equal of any afloat is being asked by the Legion and Auxiliary as a measure to give increased security to the country's peace, said Mrs. Allen. For this purpose, too, development and modernization of the Army is being urged, with special emphasis upon aviation. The Universal Service law is being recommended to give greater efficiency to the national defense in case of war and to remove the profiteering motive from war.

Total restriction of immigration for the next ten years, or at least until the country is able to take up slack in employment, is another Legion recommendation. Deportation of all aliens convicted of a felony, those advocating overthrow of the government by force and violence, and those who fail to apply for citizenship within one year after they become eligible, is also recommended.

Extension to all widows and orphans of World War veterans the same protection now given to those of veterans of other wars is being urged. At present this protection goes only to widows and orphans of veterans who had ten per cent of more disability proven to be the result of war service.

The Legion and Auxiliary are urging rigid enforcement and extension of Civil Service in the federal government, with adequate preference for veterans. Preference for veterans in employment and retention on all projects where government money is used is also asked and any attempts to take away from veterans the preference now in effect will be vigorously opposed. Maintenance of the United States Employment Service under the Department of Labor is recommended.

Syphilis Problem

Any Community To Determine Own Death Rate By Control of Disease Exercised by Citizens

Austin, Texas—"A public health axiom, often proved, states that public health is purchasable and within natural limitations any community can determine its own death rate." To no other serious communicable disease can we apply this axiom with more dramatic results than syphilis," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

In the first place no more serious disease is as widespread as syphilis. Annually we have twice as many cases of syphilis as tuberculosis, 13 times diphtheria, 28 times typhoid and 50 times infantile paralysis. Secondly the attack of syphilis is devastating. It is a killer and no part of the body is immune. Syphilis cuts off life in early adulthood at man's greatest period of productivity. Annually in America syphilis steals one million years of life from the normal life span of its victims, but before it kills, syphilis seriously wounds and tortures, bringing blindness, deafness, chronic illness, crippled

Largest Membership

American Legion Auxiliary Has The Largest Advanced Enrollment In Its History

The largest advance enrollment in its history was on the membership books of the American Legion Auxiliary as the organization entered the new year, Mrs. W. M. Boston, membership chairman of Perryton Unit of the Auxiliary, has announced. Approximately 350,000 members had been enrolled for 1939 in advance of January 1, an increase of 30,000 above last year's high record.

Total membership for 1938 was approximately 465,000, a gain of more than 20,000 over 1937. A total membership of nearly 500,000 was indicated for 1939.
 First national membership prizes for 1939 were won by the Departments of Wisconsin, Oklahoma and Panama. Wisconsin, with 89.00 per cent of its 1939 quota enrolled, was first among Departments of more than 15,000 members; Oklahoma, with 86.94 per cent; and Departments of between 5,000 and 15,000 members, while Panama enrolled 93.25 per cent of its quota to lead the Departments of less than 5,000 members.

minds and bodies to those it selects.
 Approximately fifty million dollars in taxes are spent each year for the support in eleemosynary institutions of those blind and insane from syphilis. Fifteen per cent of all blindness and 12 per cent of all insanity are attributable to syphilis. A small portion of this considerable tax money spent annually for education and disease prevention would more than pay for itself through money saved in future years. This economic argument is less important when we consider that by the same efforts we simultaneously reduce the appalling total of misery and death resulting from syphilis.
 "Public health is purchasable." Apply this to the syphilis problem. If we would appropriate adequate funds for syphilis control we would save not only the tax bill for institutional care but we would also save 168 million dollars in wages now lost to American male workers each year because of illness attributable to syphilis and other venereal diseases.

Funds for education and for finding and treating cases of syphilis are an insurance for future health security. Educating the public to the danger of syphilis and helping them to guard against it means fewer infections and exposures to syphilis.
 Individual and family health depend upon public health at large and as can be proved public health can be purchased. Its cost is never too high. Whatever public health may cost per capita outlay dwarfs to insignificance when compared to the tremendous cost of supporting eleemosynary and correctional institutions, indigency caused by disease, misery and ill health.
 The poets used to write beautiful verses about the raindrops. It seems to take drops of gasoline poured into the automobile tank to enthuse the present age.

Becomes Big Hero

Comedian in "I'm From the City" Showing at the Ellis Theatre, Saturday, January 28

How a timid young man with a horse phobia becomes a daring bareback rider in a circus, and the winner of a dangerous cowboy race, is riotously revealed in Joe Penner's current fun-film, "I'm From the City" showing at the Ellis Theatre, Saturday.

The well-known radio and screen comedian plays an obtuse young man who is a virtual zombi to Richard Lane, ringmaster of the circus, a smooth-talking slicker with mesmerizing powers. The hypnotic trances in which he places Penner on various occasions overcome his fear of horses and make him a sensational rider.

It is around this situation that the hilarious events are woven, all building to the thrilling race, in which Penner, as an entry of a ranch, is pitted against Paul Guilfoyle, as the champion Indian rider of the plains; and Penner wins!

Paralleling this is the hectic romance between Penner and the silly granddaughter of the ranchowner who is sponsoring the circus performer in the annual cowboy race. Richard Lane engages in a romance with the ranchowner's beautiful daughter, an alluring woman with a mercenary soul, and the pair conspire to swindle a rich rancher by using the innocent Penner as a foil, in this RKO Radio story.

Lorraine Krueger is seen as the comedian's empty-headed romantic interest, while Katherine Sheldon is cast as the old ranchwoman who hires Penner to ride for her ranch, and Kay Sutton as her vampish daughter.

The store may have the biggest bargain within 50 miles, but if it is not advertised, how will the public know it is there, and be induced to come and look at it?

Hilarious Hit

Mister Average Man Hero of Hit "Thanks For Everything" Showing At Ellis Theatre

Expounding the droll idea that there is such a thing as a Mister Average Man in this country of ours, and that he would be worth a fortune to any promoter who knew how to handle him, "Thanks For Everything," shows Tuesday and Wednesday, January 31-February 1 at the Ellis Theatre, and will keep a delighted audience on the edge of their seats one minute, and howling with laughter the next.

With a great cast of high and low comedy experts, the picture merrily proceeds to probe and explore this hapless common denominator of the American male to see what makes him tick, and the process gets morbidly hilarious as each layer is exposed. But when the probers reach Mister Average Man's heart and meddle with his Miss America—he collects himself and establishes a new high average in the behavior of an American in love.

Wide-eyed Jack Haley was a happy choice for the role of Mister Average Man and he plays it for all it is worth, which is plenty. As Haley's tormentors, saturnine Adolphe Menjou and doakish Jack Oakie were never better, while lovely blonde Arleen Whelan represents the emotion in the life of Mister Average Man—who therefore proves himself a rare picker of feminine charm.

Binnie Barnes, Tony Martin, George Barbier and Warren Hymer are as expertly funny as ever, and Gordon and Revel have written some rollicking new tunes which Haley and Martin sing. William A. Selter directed, and Darryl F. Zanuck was in charge of production. "Thanks for Everything" is just the thing for what ails you!

This Is the Church That Parishioners Built

OVERALLS are as common as religious frocks to Rev. Frank Brdlik of Brookfield, Ill., and his parishioners have become accustomed to carpentry.

In the spring the new Baptist Church will be ready for occupancy, a monument to the unselfish and untiring efforts of the pastor and the congregation. By building the structure themselves, the church people saved $17,000 for the budget.

When the old church became too small to accommodate an increasing number of Sunday worshippers, Reverend Brdlik called a meeting. A contractor figured the cost of a new building at $25,000. The laymen voted to do the work themselves.

Volunteers gathered at the site. Bricks were piled on the sidewalks. The men loaded them on their backs, carried them, and piled them up to a height of 40 feet. The pastor donned his work clothes, grabbed his hammer, and helped prepare the beams for the roof.

Women of the parish did extra kitchen duty to supply the male workers with sandwiches and hot coffee at the noon lunch hour on working days.

When completed at a cost of

$8000, the new church will be 87 feet long and 38 feet wide with a seating capacity for more than 300. An auditorium and Sunday school quarters will be located on the first floor with the house of worship on the second story. A balcony in the rear of the structure will accommodate 50 people. The front of the church will contain the pulpit and the choir loft.

FARMERS GET SORGHUM SEED

DISEASE RESISTANT GRAIN TO REPLACE SUSCEPTIBLE VARIETIES WITHIN ANOTHER YEAR SAYS KARPEN

College Station, Texas—Within another year farmers and certified seed growers will be in possession of a sufficient quantity of disease resistant grain sorghum seed to replace entirely the susceptible varieties, according to R. E. Karper, agronomist, in charge of sorghum investigations for the A. & M. College Texas Experiment Station.

Breeding work with the object of developing resistant varieties of all of the better commercially important sorghums that are susceptible to Pythium root rot has been carried on with very successful results, Karper declared. Resistant varieties of Dwarf Yellow, Standard Yellow, Double Dwarf Yellow, Early Yellow, or Sooner, Early White, Darso and Quadroom milos have been developed and either are already distributed to farmers or are now in process of distribution.

Further trials with the many resistant selections of these varieties will require several years to decide those superior in all respects. In the meantime, since the scope and damage of milo root rot disease is increasing so rapidly, and resistant varieties are the only solution, the best appearing selections have been increased and distributed.

In 1938 at Chillicothe, Lubbock and Spur Experiment Stations the new resistant Dwarf milo yielded 12, 13 and 44 bushels more to the acre, at the respective stations, than the old susceptible variety.

Virulence of the disease was from moderate to severe, but was prevalent throughout the High Plains country this year.

J. D. Strickland of Lorenzo public schools has sent in an interesting report on the success of Future Farmers of America in that section.

Elton Ellison planted four pounds of selected seed and produced 7,500 pounds of threshed milo. He sold his excess seed for 3 and 4 cents per pound and realized $240 from his work. All of his seed will be replanted in the Lorenzo area next year, and the community yield will reflect his good work, Strickland believes.

Henry Stence, another F. F. A. boy made 2,200 pounds of milo from less than 2 pounds of seed, and Paul Scoggins made 3,400 pounds of seed from his two-pound allotment. Thus with an initial planting of eight pounds of blight resistant milo seed, there will be available in the Lorenzo community a total of 13,100 pounds of healthy resistant milo seed for next year.

CROP AND FEED LOAN POSSIBLE

FARMERS MAY SECURE MONEY FROM FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION FOR LIEN ON CROP

Applications for emergency crop and feed loans for 1939 are now being received at County Attorney Office, by Clyde P. Milam, Field Supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration.

The loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who can not obtain credit from any other source. The money loaned will be limited to the farmer's immediate and actual cash needs for growing his 1939 crops or for the purchase of feed for livestock.

Farmers who can obtain the funds they need from an individual, production credit association, bank or other concern are not eligible for crop and feed loans from the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration. The loans will not be made to standard rehabilitation clients whose current needs are provided for by the Farm Security Administration, formerly known as the Resettlement Administration.

As in the past, farmers who obtain emergency crop and feed loans will give as security a first lien on the crop financed, or a first lien on the livestock to be fed if the money borrowed is to be used to produce or purchase feed for livestock.

Where loans are made to tenants, the landlords, or others having an interest in the crops financed or the livestock to be fed, are required to waive their claims in favor of a lien to the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration until the loan is repaid.

Checks in payment of approved loans will be mailed from the Regional Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office at Dallas.

1939 Grasshopper Infestation to Be More Severe, it is Estimated

College Station, Texas—Texas may expect a 1939 grasshopper infestation estimated as 28 per cent more severe than that of 1938 and one capable of causing 15 million dollars damage to crops, in spite of the fact that there will be fewer hoppers in the United States as a whole.

This estimate comes from R. R. Reppert, entomologist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service and state grasshopper control leader, and is based on egg surveys made by federal supervisors and county agricultural agents.

Most of the damage will come from the migratory species which threatens 23 counties in the Panhandle. In all, 115 Texas counties may expect infestations of varying degrees.

The 1938 infestation caused losses estimated at $1,766,998, while savings estimated at $10,238,988 were effected by the control campaign. About $200,000 of federal funds, administered through the USDA Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, were expended in Texas in 1938, and local contributions of labor and material were in excess of this amount, Reppert said.

The federal-state-county plan of control in effect in previous years will again be used in 1939, and plans are already being made to combat anticipated infestation.

EDITORIAL

The Seniors are attempting to sell one hundred annuals. Last year, it was impossible to have annuals, but this year the Seniors, as well as their sponsors, are trying very hard, and hope to sell one hundred annuals within the next week.

The annual will consist of forty-eight pages of pictures. There will be individual pictures of the Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, as well as group pictures of the different clubs, organizations, teachers and different snap-shots. The back is to be of maroon imitation leather with the Rangers printed in gold on the front.

The Seniors have talked to the students and the majority of them seem to favor an annual; but so far the goal has not been reached. It is rather discouraging, but the Seniors are keeping their chins up and are doing their part to sell the annuals. Unless one hundred annuals are ordered it will be impossible to have any annuals. Each annual will cost $2.50, one dollar down and $1.50 due on delivery.

Without the co-operation of the different classes, it will be impossible to get the annuals. The Seniors would appreciate it very much if everyone would co-operate with them so the annuals will be a success.

DECREASE SEEN IN AUTO DEATHS

NOVEMBER BANNER MONTH IN TRAFFIC DEATHS IN TEXAS ACCORDING TO STATE POLICE RECORDS

AUSTIN, Texas—Texas scored its safety banner month in November when the lives of 83 pedestrians and motorists were saved, compared with the records of the corresponding month of 1937.

State police said the record shattering figures, which showed that 137 persons were killed in traffic crashes last month, made "wrong guessers" out of safety statisticians who had predicted a toll of 166 for that football-fanned period. Safety Director Homer Garrison, Jr., referred to the sharp decrease as "the greatest encouragement state officers have had in many months."

Faced with the prospect of unfavorable weather, heavily trafficked roads and shortened periods of clear visibility highway patrolmen, Director Garrison said, strengthened their vigilance along death "corridors" in November and worked many extra hours in their efforts to deter speeding and reckless motorists. Even the Thanksgiving holiday death record was halved, he said.

With 36 pedestrian deaths listed on the November crash reports—19 less than that month last year—the safety director declared that the education of those who walk on streets and highways is the most likely way to make headway in pedestrian safety work.

"With nearly 40 pedestrians killed each month in Texas," Director Garrison said, "there is every need for increased vigilance on their part. Motorists, contrary to many opinions, are not often at fault when a pedestrian is struck down by a vehicle."

Selective enforcement, the safety department's remedy for decreasing serious and fatal vehicle collisions, will be continued "more intensely than ever before," Director Garrison continued. He said necessity for a strict and impartial program of that type had been proved in the general 22 per cent death drop maintained in Texas this year.

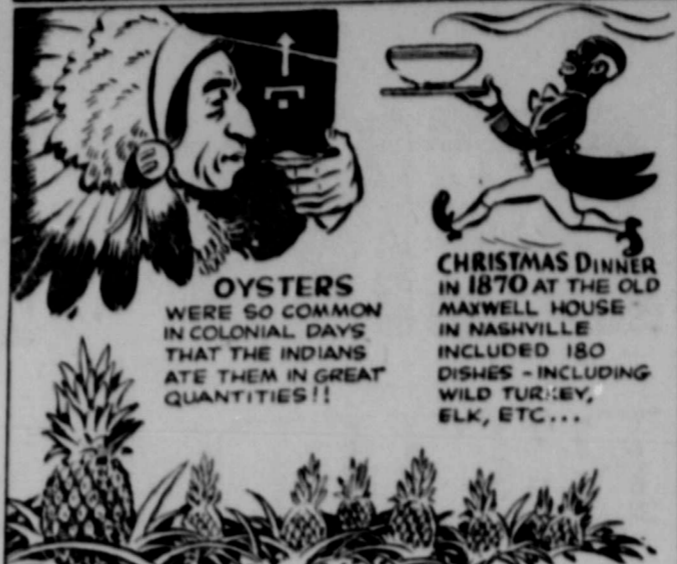

The primary causes of accidents as reflected by information on accident of Public Safety were as follows:

Did not have the right-of-way 188; driver or pedestrian had been drinking 128; driving too near center or on wrong side 76; driving too fast for conditions 55; pedestrian (or bicyclist) ran into path of vehicle 51; disregarded traffic control sign or signal 38; blinded by lights of approaching vehicle 33; passing with insufficient clearance 32; improper left turn 32; driver failed to signal or gave wrong signal 28; liveslock on road 27; lack of attention on part of driver 26.

Pedestrian (or bicyclist) ran into vehicle 25; tire failure 20; no lights or no tail light 20; stopped in roadway 20; driver fatigued or asleep 19; cutting in while passing 18; pedestrian crossing not at intersection 17; defective brakes 15; skidded on wet pavement 12; miscellaneous mechanical defect 10; visibility poor account weather conditions 9; driver's attention diverted 8; fell or jumped

Business Map Whitens as New Year Begins

This map represents current business conditions as compared with a year ago. It appears in the February issue of "Nation's Business", official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The Map: Unexpectedly high volume of holiday buying throughout many sections of the country helped to whiten the map. The Barometer: The rapid and continuous rise of the chart from the low point reached last summer showed signs of leveling off in December, due to holiday shut downs in industrial operations.

LOCAL MAN INCREASES YIELD

ROGER BURGESS ADOPTS COMPLETE EROSION CONTROL PROGRAM ON LAND IN LAMB COUNTY

LITTLEFIELD, Texas—Raymond S. Cravens knew that something was wrong on the 177-acre farm he operates about seven miles northwest of Littlefield. The land owner, Roger A. Burgess, who is superintendent of schools at Perryton, Texas, also realized that conditions on his land were not what they should be.

The land owner knew that the operator was a hard-working farmer, yet the crop yields were not what they should be. Together, they inspected the farm. Part of the topsoil was being removed by wind erosion. Water rushing down the slopes was causing sheet erosion and in some spots, gullies were being cut.

While the operator observed and studied soil and water conservation practices being demonstrated in the Littlefield Soil Conservation Service CCC camp area, the land owner made a similar study of conservation practices in the demonstration area at Perryton. They decided that the use of conservation practices would check the loss of valuable soil through erosion, and that conserved moisture probably would increase the crop yields.

The field was terraced and fenced on the contour in order to conserve all the available moisture for crop use and to check the flow of water with resultant washing of soil. Grain sorghums were planted on the terraces to strengthen the structures and to provide protection for the cotton strips during the blow season.

New Hudson Hood

Safety Experts Laud New Hudson Designed Hood for Prevention of Accidents

Praising the ceaseless efforts of automotive engineers in the development of safety devices and features that protect drivers in spite of themselves and the carelessness of others, J. A. Purdy, Director of Safety for the Michigan Mutual Liability Company of Detroit, declared today that the 1939 automobile, as a vehicle, was safer than at any time in the history of the industry.

Citing Hudson's new Dash-Locking Safety Hood as an example of the alertness of automotive engineers in seeking to eliminate all possible chance of an unforeseen accident, Purdy said: "Every motorist who drives into a gas station to have his oil or water checked takes it for granted that the attendant has locked the hood after service. Granting that the man at the pump is privileged, like the rest of us, to make mistakes and leave the hood unlatched, then we must admit there is a chance for an accident caused by the hood blowing open and blinding us at an unlooked for instant."

"Hudson engineers have minimized that chance. By hinging the hood at the front like an airplane door, so that the pressure tends to close rather than open it. In designing the hood latch, the engineers discovered that they could further protect the driver against theft of cars or parts by having the latch operated from within the car at the dash so that when you locked your car you locked your hood."

Mrs. John Stroupe, Houston, visited all last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Whippo. Mr. Stroupe joined her for the week-end.

COUNTY FSA COOPERATORS SHOW PROGRESS IN RECENT SURVEY

More abundant life has come to many farmers in the Great Plains. On the farms of persons cooperating with the Farm Security Administration there are more cows, more tractors, more cans of food, more gardens, more chickens, better hanks, better health, and better bank accounts.

For instance, there are more head of livestock in Ochiltree County than there were on January 1, 1938 says Arthur R. Turner, county supervisor, due to livestock purchases by FSA borrowers to provide them with a subsistence program. And there are more cans of food in the pantries of FSA families, adds Mrs. Sallie B. Allen, county home management supervisor.

Here are some of the accomplishments of the county at large: Farm Security Administration borrowers have adjusted their agricultural programs to meet the changing agricultural conditions either by adding to the acreage they have been operating, revising their cropping program or putting into effect better farming practices such as contouring and terracing, diversified farming, livestock and livestock products.

Debts of farmers have been adjusted and scaled down so that a total of $7,988.00 has been saved. Creditors have realized collections from long over due accounts as a result of these adjustments and many farmers have paid their taxes and other delinquent bills as a result of this service.

Even with the low price of farm products, the FSA borrowers have been able to meet their payments and in some instances pay notes not due. Farmers and their wives have kept complete farm records, establishing farms as business units.

Cold figures cannot tell of the rebirth of hope, and faith in the future which has been wide spread through the county. Nor do they tell of the new clothes, the new wells, the new fences and similar improvements that have been obtained. Adequate attention has increased. Medical diets have improved the health of many farm families. New knowledge on farming and homemaking has been widespread by the workers in this program.

Mrs. Allen believes that the making of family budgets and the keeping of home records has shown the greatest advancement during the past year. "No business man would attempt to go blindly about his system of income and expenditures," she points out. "Neither can a farm family if it expects to become self-sufficient and thrifty."

Mr. Turner said that in addition to carrying on his various other programs, the Farm Security Administration in 1938 loaned $712,293 to farmers in 56 counties in Texas, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and New Mexico, taking assignments on ACP payments, thus making it possible for hundreds of farmers to protect their lands from wind erosion. This program established cover crops on approximately two million acres of land in the more seriously affected areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Glasgow, Guyton, Okla., visited Sunday in Perryton.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Finch and daughter, Miss Frances, visited over the week-end with relatives and friends in Memphis. Miss Frances remained for a weeks visit.

Mrs. Wesley L. Voth came in Sunday from Dalhart and will spend two weeks visiting with her mother, Mrs. A. S. Brillhart, other relatives and friends in this community.

Under treatment which includes the use of sulfanilamide, an antipneumonia serum, 15-month-old John DeVries of Chicago, above, is recovering from pneumococcal meningitis, a generally fatal disease of the spinal cord.

past years when moisture conditions were better," Mr. Cravens says. "My cotton yielded a half-bale to the acre, while the grain sorghums threshed 1,000 pounds to the acre."

"I hand headed my grain, and am confident that the strips of stubble will furnish ample protection from both wind and water erosion this winter," he says. "I find that it takes a day or two longer to farm with terraces and on the contour, but much longer to harvest because of the increased yields."

NOVEMBER BANNER MONTH IN TRAFFIC DEATHS IN TEXAS ACCORDING TO STATE POLICE RECORDS

AUSTIN, Texas—Texas scored its safety banner month in November when the lives of 83 pedestrians and motorists were saved, compared with the records of the corresponding month of 1937.

State police said the record shattering figures, which showed that 137 persons were killed in traffic crashes last month, made "wrong guessers" out of safety statisticians who had predicted a toll of 165 for that football-fanned period. Safety Director Homer Garrison, Jr., referred to the sharp decrease as "the greatest encouragement state officers have had in many months."

Faced with the prospect of unfavorable weather, heavily trafficked roads and shortened periods of clear visibility highway patrolmen, Director Garrison said, strengthened their vigilance along death "corridors" in November and worked many extra hours in their efforts to deter speeding and reckless motorists. Even the Thanksgiving holiday death record was halved, he said.

With 36 pedestrian deaths listed on the November crash reports—19 less than that month last year—the safety director declared that the education of those who walk on streets and highways is the most likely way to make headway in pedestrian safety work.

"With nearly 40 pedestrians killed each month in Texas," Director Garrison said, "there is every need for increased vigilance on their part. Motorists, contrary to many opinions, are not often at fault when a pedestrian is struck down by a vehicle."

Selective enforcement, the safety department's remedy for decreasing serious and fatal vehicle collisions, will be continued "more intensely than ever before," Director Garrison continued. He said necessary for a strict and impartial program of that type had been proved in the general 22 per cent death drop maintained in Texas this year.

The primary causes of accidents as reflected by information on accident of Public Safety were as follows:

Did not have the right-of-way 188; driver or pedestrian had been drinking 128; driving too near center or on wrong side 76; driving too fast for conditions 55; pedestrian (or bicyclist) ran into path of vehicle 51; disregarded traffic control sign or signal 38; blinded by lights of approaching vehicle 33; improper left turn 32; driver failed to signal or gave wrong signal 28; livestock on road 27; lack of attention on part of driver 26.

Pedestrian (or bicyclist) ran into vehicle 25; tire failure 20; no lights or no tail light 20; stopped in roadway 20; driver fatigued or asleep 19; cutting in while passing 18; pedestrian crossing not at intersection 17; defective brakes 15; skidded on wet pavement 12; miscellaneous mechanical defect 10; visibility poor account weather conditions 9; driver's attention diverted 8; fell or jumped

Business Map Whitens as New Year Begins

This map represents current business conditions as compared with a year ago. It appears in the February issue of "Nation's Business", official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The Map: Unexpectedly high volume of holiday buying throughout many sections of the country helped to whiten the map. The Barometer: The rapid and continuous rise of the chart from the low point reached last summer showed signs of leveling off in December, due to holiday shut downs in industrial operations.

COUNTY FSA COOPERATORS SHOW PROGRESS IN RECENT SURVEY

More abundant life has come to many farmers in the Great Plains. On the farms of persons cooperating with the Farm Security Administration there are more cows, more tractors, more cans of food, more gardens, more chickens, better homes, better health, and better bank accounts. For instance, there are more head of livestock in Ochiltree County than there were on January 1, 1938 says Arthur R. Turner, county supervisor, due to livestock purchases by FSA borrowers to provide them with a subsistence program. And there are more cans of food in the pantries of FSA families, adds Mrs. Sallie B. Allen, county home management supervisor.

Here are some of the accomplishments of the county at large: Farm Security Administration borrowers have adjusted their agricultural programs to meet the changing agricultural conditions either by adding to the acreage they have been operating, revising their cropping program or putting into effect better farming practices such as contouring and terracing, diversified farming, livestock and livestock products. Debts of farmers have been adjusted and scaled down so that a total of $7,988.00 has been saved. Creditors have realized collections from long over due accounts as a result of these adjustments and many farmers have paid their taxes and other delinquent bills as a result of this service.

Even with the low price of farm products, the FSA borrowers have been able to meet their payments and in some instances pay notes not due. Farmers and their wives have kept complete farm records, establishing farms as business units. Cold figures cannot tell of the rebirth of hope, and faith in the future which has been wide spread through the county. Nor do they tell of the new clothes, the new wells, the new fences and similar improvements that have been obtained. Medical attention has increased. Adequate diets have improved the health of many farm families. New knowledge on farming and homemaking have been widespread by the workers in this program.

Mrs. Allen believes that the making of family budgets and the keeping of home records has shown the greatest advancement during the past year. "No business man would attempt to go blindly about his system of income and expenditures," she points out. "Neither can a farm family if it expects to become self-sufficient and thrifty." Mr. Turner said that in addition to carrying on its various other programs, the Farm Security Administration in 1938 loaned $712,293 to farmers in 56 counties in Texas, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and New Mexico, taking assignments on ACP payments, thus making it possible for hundreds of farmers to protect their lands from wind erosion. This program established cover crops on approximately two million acres of land in the more seriously affected areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Glasgow, Guymon, Okla., visited Sunday in Perryton.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Finch and daughter, Miss Frances, visited over the week-end with relatives and friends in Memphis. Miss Frances remained for a weeks visit.

ROGER BURGESS ADOPTS COMPLETE EROSION CONTROL PROGRAM ON LAND IN LAMB COUNTY

LITTLEFIELD, Texas—Raymond S. Cravens knew that something was wrong on the 177-acre farm he operates about seven miles northwest of Littlefield. The land owner, Roger A. Burgess, who is superintendent of schools at Perryton, Texas, also realized that conditions on his land were not what they should be.

The land owner knew that the operator was a hard-working farmer, yet the crop yields were not what they should be. Together, they inspected the farm. Part of the topsoil was being removed by wind erosion. Water rushing down the slopes was causing sheet erosion and in some spots, gullies were being cut.

While the operator observed and studied soil and water conservation practices being demonstrated in the Littlefield Soil Conservation Service CCC camp area, the land owner made a similar study of conservation practices in the demonstration area at Perryton. They decided that the use of conservation practices would check the loss of valuable soil through erosion, and that conserved moisture probably would increase the crop yields. In March, 1938, they adopted a complete erosion control program on the farm in cooperation with the Littlefield Soil Conservation CCC camp.

The field was terraced and farmed on the contour in order to conserve all the available moisture for crop use and to check the flow of water with resultant washing of soil. Grain sorghums were planted on the terraces to strengthen the structures and to provide protection for the cotton strips during the blow season. As additional protection against wind erosion, border strips of sudan grass were planted around the field. Sorghums and cotton were planted in a strip-crop pattern. 12 rows of sorghums being alternated with 36 rows of cotton.

Although rainfall was far below normal in 1938, there being only five inches during the growing season, Mr. Cravens harvested much better crops than did neighbors who did not use conservative practices.

"My crops had a more uniform stand and matured better than in past years when moisture conditions were better," Mr. Cravens says. "My cotton yielded a half-bale to the acre, while the grain sorghums thrashed 1,900 pounds to the acre. "I hand headed my grain, and am confident that the strips of stubble will furnish ample protection from both wind and water erosion this winter," he says. "I find that it takes a day or two longer to farm with terraces and on the contour, but much longer to harvest because of the increased yields."

Okla. Pioneer Dies

R. F. Heintze, 85 Years, Passes Away at Home Near Boyd, Okla., January 24

R. F. Heintze, a resident of Beaver County, near Boyd, Oklahoma, for the past 22 years, died at his home January 24 at the age of 85 years. He is the father of Bill and George Heintze of this community.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Haworth at two o'clock Sunday in the home, and interment was in the Bethany cemetery. The grandchildren, Roberta Denton, Wilbur Billy, Scott and Scott Jr. were pallbearers.

Henderson P. Heintze was born near Lexington, Illinois, September 20, 1853, and passed away at his home, two and one-half miles south of Boyd, Oklahoma, January 24, 1938, at the age of 85 years, 2 months and 24 days.

Mr. Heintze, who was the last of a family of ten children, has lived a long and useful life, and the community is indeed sorry to lose this well-beloved citizen who had won the respect and admiration of his acquaintances.

On July 29, 1875, he was married to Mary Ellen Mosta, and to this union five sons were born. In 1878, Mr. and Mrs. Heintze moved to Kansas, thence to Oklahoma in 1891, and when the "strip" opened for settlement, he settled near Holena, Oklahoma, where they lived until about twenty-two years ago, when they came to Beaver County and established the present home.

Since the death of his wife in April, 1927, Mr. Heintze has not enjoyed the best of health, but with the help of two sons, William and George, he has maintained the home which meant comfort and contentment to them, and where he appreciated the visits and association of his relatives and friends.

The deceased is survived by the five sons, William and George, at home, Joe and Robert of Twin Falls, Idaho, and Ike of Fairview, Okla.; nine grand-children and nine great-grandchildren.

Births Outnumber The Deaths In County 3 to 1 During 1938

Sixty-six births were recorded in Ochiltree County for the year 1938, according to Dewey I. Allen, Justice of the Peace, compared to 20 deaths, making 46 more births than deaths. Twenty-six deaths were recorded for 1937.

One set of twins was born during the year, and the largest number of births reported for a single month was in November, with eleven. During June only two births were recorded.

Of the 42 boys and 24 girls born in Ochiltree county the past year, two were born on Perryton's birthday August 23. January had the second largest number of births, with nine on record.

Perryton Implement Co. Bringing Hollywood Picture To Perryton for John Deere Day, Tuesday, January 31

L. D. Stinson, manager of the Perryton Implement Co., local John Deere dealer, is putting on another big John Deere Day program in Perryton on Tuesday, January 31 for farmers and their families of this and neighboring communities.

The program will start at 10:30 a. m. in the salesroom of the Perryton Implement Co. This program will include demonstrations and lectures on new farm machinery that John Deere has developed for the needs of this area. At the noon hour, every farmer and their families are invited to be guests of the Perryton Implement Co. at a free lunch. The free picture show will be held at the Ellis Theatre, starting at 1:00 p. m. Valuable merchandise and cash prizes will be awarded to many of those attending.

"The Tuttle Tugger", an all-Hollywood picture, will be the main feature of the all-day entertainment and educational meeting. Packed with one hearty laugh after another, this rollicking all-talking picture promises to be a real treat for everyone who sees it. In the cast of Hollywood actors are Arthur Lake, Judith Allen, Victor Post, Greta Meyers, Agnes Ayres, Jack Rice, Charles Mays, and many others.

The picture tells the story of a salesman and a saleslady who get their simple cases mixed up, and what a mix-up it causes! Leroy Bagley, the new milking machine salesman for the Tuttle Tugger Company, thinks he knows all about farming and tries to help the hired man. At the same time, he is trying to sell a milking machine. Every time he tries to help he causes trouble and plenty of it. It's a picture everyone will enjoy.

Four other brand-new, all-talking pictures will be shown in addition to the feature presentation. They include "Around in Farm Cook"—an interesting educational picture showing up-to-date power farming methods and equipment; "The Mark of the Genuine"—an instructive picture that shows how to keep farm equipment working like new down through the years; "Mr. Sheppard Looks Inside"—an inside story of the precision manufacturing of modern farm tractors, and a short newsreel showing new developments in agricultural equipment.

In addition to the five talking pictures, the John Deere Day program will include several talks and demonstrations in which you will be interested.

The Perryton Implement Co. cordially invites every farmer, every farmer's wife, and every farm boy in this area to take part in this big day of entertainment and education. Plans are being made to make this open house one of the big events of the year in this community. Many new ideas will be presented during the day which will be valuable to everyone present. According to Mr. Stinson admission will be by ticket only, and any farmer who has not received tickets can get them for the asking at his store any time before the show.

Okl. Pioneer Dies

H. P. Henline, 85 Years, Passes Away at Home Near Boyd, Okla., January 14

H. P. Henline, a resident of Beaver County, near Boyd, Oklahoma, for the past 22 years, died at his home January 14, at the age of 85 years. He is the father of Bill and George Henline of that community.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Haworth at two o'clock Sunday, in the home, and interment was in the Bethany cemetery. The grandchildren, Roberta, Denver, Wilbur, Billy, Scott and Scott Jr. were pallbearers.

Henderson P. Henline was born near Lexington, Illinois, September 29, 1853, and passed away at his home, two and one-half miles south of Boyd, Oklahoma, January 14, 1939, at the age of 85 years, 3 months and 24 days.

Mr. Henline, who was the last of a family of ten children, has lived a long and useful life, and the community is indeed sorry to lose this well beloved citizen who had won the respect and admiration of his acquaintances.

On July 29, 1875, he was married to Mary Ellen Moats, and to this union five sons were born.

In 1878, Mr. and Mrs. Henline moved to Kansas, thence to Oklahoma in 1893, and when the "strip" opened for settlement, he settled near Helena, Oklahoma, where they lived until about twenty-two years ago, when they came to Beaver County and established the present home.

Since the death of his wife in April, 1937, Mr. Henline has not enjoyed the best of health, but with the help of two sons, William and George, he has maintained the home which meant comfort and contentment to them, and where he appreciated the visits and association of his relatives and friends.

The deceased is survived by the five sons, William and George, at home, Joe and Robert of Twin Falls, Idaho, and Ike of Fairview, Okla.; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

MANY New and Improved FEATURES ON THE NEW WORLD'S STANDARD De Laval SEPARATORS

THESE new De Laval Separators are the crowning achievement in the 60 years of De Laval's leadership. They have many new, important features and improvements which we are certain will be of interest to every cream producer. They will separate more cream in less time; produce more cream of better quality; run easier; are easier to operate, clean and wash; and will last longer than any separator ever made. They are the most beautiful of cream separators, and really must be seen in order to be appreciated.

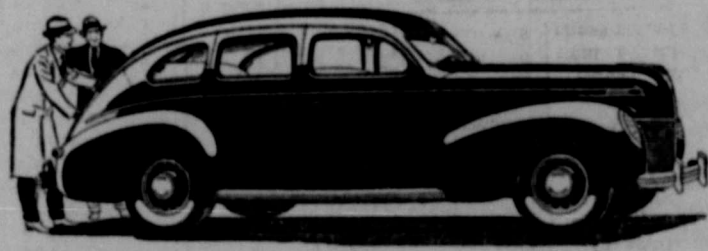

This new De Laval is now on display at our place of business, and we shall be pleased to let you examine it.
