WORK IS UNDER WAY NOW ON HIGHWAY

Place Curve Markers On Highway Near Oil Mill

Work has gotten underway on the improvement of Highway No. 5, which runs through Memphis, in Donley County. Working orders were received recently by the contracting firm, Cocke and Braden of Amarillo.

The first unit from the Armstrong County line to Clarendon is 12.4 miles in length and will cost $62,888. The second unit will cost $61,210. This work runs from Hedley to Clarendon and is a distance of 13 miles.

The third unit is from the Hall County line, just north of Memphis, to Hedley. This unit also has been awarded Cocke and Braden, but working orders are being held up pending approval of the public roads department of the federal government.

When final work has been done on the Donley County section of the highway, Memphis motorists will be able to make a trip to Amarillo in considerably shorter time.

Yesterday largely bright colored highway markers were placed on Highway 5 near the oil mill here as a temporary assistance to motorists. A movement is now underway in Austin to have the State Highway Department straighten out the dangerous curve near the oil mill here.

Schultz Escapes from Justice

Arthur Flegenheimer, who as Dutch Schultz became the New York underworld overlord, won't have to stand trial on twice evaded charges of federal income tax evasion. Death helped him beat that "rap," and here you see him at the end of his long struggle with the law, stretched out on a slab in the morgue of the Newark, N. J., hospital, where he died a victim of gangland assassins.

ESTELLINE MAN IS FREED ON BOND

Examining Trial For Defendant Is Held

Ralph McCollough, of Estelline, driver of the car which collided with that of G. H. Baten, Wolf Flat school teacher, resulting in the death of the latter and the serious injury of his wife and small child, was yesterday bound over to await the action of the Grand Jury, and made bond for appearance in the sum of $3,000.

An examining trial was held yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Lee Lockhart, of Precinct Four, at the courthouse. With the Justice and the various witnesses being in the city, in connection with the case, the examining trial was held here instead of at Turkey, where the complaint was filed in Justice Lockhart's court.

Sufficient evidence was introduced at the examining trial to hold the defendant over for the action of the Grand Jury at the next term of District Court on two charges, murder and driving an automobile while intoxicated, and this action was taken by Justice Lockhart.

Bonds were set in the sum of $2500 for the murder charge and $500 in the drunk driving charge, and McCollough was remanded to jail until bond was made later. (Continued on page 8)

JAPAN WARNS NORTH CHINA

Delivers Ultimatum To Authorities In China

By Associated Press
 TIENTSIN, China, Oct. 29. — Japanese authorities imposed a strong hand over North China this morning, with a formal demand that the Chinese officials immediately liquidate the anti-Japanese and anti-Manchuokian elements.

The Japanese Major General Tada followed the ultimatum with a statement that Japan "feared for the welfare of China's four hundred million people, as well as the peace of the Orient."

FARMERS RUSH DISMISS COUNTY OFFICE OF AGENT COURT UNTIL FRIDAY

Newspaper Report On Federal Ruling Is Cause Dispose of One Civil Case at Session Yesterday

The county agent's office was swamped with farmers this morning, with frequent interruptions from telephone calls, in regards to an article that was carried in yesterday's Wichita Falls Record News, daily newspaper.

The News stated that sales certificates on 1935 cotton hereafter must be filed by producers with the county agents of their respective counties within seven days from date of sale, according to information received Sunday from the AAA at Washington, D. C.

"Blank forms for reporting all sales of 1935 cotton have been distributed by G. D. Everett, county farm agent here, and are still available at his office. Upon receiving certificates of sale, the county agent is instructed to mark the date of receipt.

"Cotton price adjustment payments to cooperating cotton producers amount to the difference on the date of their cotton between the average price of seven-eighths inch middling lint at the 10 designated spot market and 12 cents per pound. In no case is adjustment payment to exceed two cents per pound," the News reported.

Workers in the county agent's office here stated this morning that nothing had been received from Washington in regards to the matter, and that the subsidy forms were being handled in the usual manner.

LEGION PLAY PLEASES ALL

'Sk' High' Presented Last Night At The Ritz

"Sk' High", the home talent production presented at the Ritz last night, under the auspices of the Charles R. Simmons Post of the American Legion, played to a fair house, and was well received by those present.

The play, a musical comedy drama with an air-minded theme dealing with the struggles of a young airplane designer, was ably acted by the cast, and the novelty numbers were well executed.

Highlights of the performance were the tap dance by Mr. Black, who took the part of the negro porter in the show, which stopped the performance and made him take an encore, and the tap dance number by Misses June Power, Martha Thompson and Hattie Dem Ward.

HOME LABOR

YESTERDAY'S issue carried an appeal from the County Judge, the Mayor and a representative of the Federal Government, urging Hall County farmers to use local labor on their farms wherever possible, instead of transients.

Hall County, as is true of all other counties, has just so many jobs in the fields during cotton picking time, and the filling of these places with transient labor leaves on our hands local unemployment.

We feel that our first duty is to our home folks, and we add our entreaty to those of the gentlemen above mentioned that you give our home folks the first chance at any work you have.

CONFIDENCE

THE New Deal received a distinct pat on the back in Saturday's cornhog referendum, when the farmers of the nation voted by a more than six to one majority for the continuance of the A. A. A. control of production for these commodities.

Despite the loud howls of opposing political forces against anything and everything that has the least stamp of the New Deal, the folks who are in trolonic...Naetaoshr vitally concerned in the production control measure walked up to the polls Saturday and spoke their piece in no uncertain terms.

The farmer evidently knows what's good for him, and he is now beginning to do his own thinking, instead of letting himself be influenced by the blatant bombast of the paid propagandist. More power to the tillers of the soil!

The Hallowe'en Spirits Get an Early Start

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JEAN DUNN, secretary to DONALD MONTAGUE, lawyer delays her answer when Bobby Wallace automobile salesman asks Jean to marry him.

At The Golden Feather night club she meets SANDY HARKINS, whose business connections are vague. Sandy introduces Bobby and Jean to MR. and MRS. LEWIS and Bobby arranges to sell some bonds for Lewis. He sells them to Jean's employer.

LARRY GLENN, federal agent long a friend of Jean's parents, is trying to locate Wingy Lewis, bank robber. Larry locates some stolen bonds and questions SONY BOYD, gambler, about them. Boyd confesses he bought the bonds from Donald Montague. Montague tells Larry he bought them from Bobby.

Larry talks to Bobby, learns Lewis bought a car recently, and suspects it is armored. Federal men go to Lewis' hotel, but he and his wife have disappeared. As a joke, Larry takes Jean's fingerprints. She quarrels with Bobby over Sandy. Jeans sets out for a vacation visit to her home town. A few days before she had told police Sandy was with her at the time of a robbery. Jean suddenly realizes this was not true.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXII

Jean Dunn returned to her parents' home in the little town of Maplehurst in a sadly confused state of mind.

The sudden realization which had come to her on the train—the discovery that she had made a mistake when she told the police that Sandy had been with her on the afternoon of the robbery—disturbed her deeply. It meant, of course, that what she had supposed to be clear proof of Sandy's absolute innocence had fallen completely flat; it meant, furthermore, that he himself had knowingly persuaded her to testify to something that was not true.

It was Sandy, she remembered, who had led her to believe that that canoe trip of theirs had taken place on Friday, not on Thursday. What had he said? Something to the effect that he was sure of the date because Eve Lewis had had a birthday party that night. Jean remembered that she had paved the way for his little trick by asking him what day of the week they had met; how easy she had made it for him!

And then she remembered something else. That funny little man from the boathouse, from whom they had rented the canoe—he had been brought down to police headquarters by Mr. Montague, and he, too, had said that the affair took place on a Friday. Had he got mixed up, too? But Mr. Montague, surely, would not get a witness to testify falsely. He was a prominent and respected lawyer, a leader of the bar, everyone called him—he must have been mixed up, himself. Or was she, after all, mistaken about it? No, now that she thought back, she knew she was not. She had had that date with Sandy on a Thursday, not a Friday, and that was all there was to it.

Yet no matter how much she mulled the whole business over in her mind, Jean could not come to any definite conclusion about it. At one moment she would be thinking that Sandy, like herself, was simply the victim of an honest mistake; at another, she would feel that he had willfully deceived her—which of course, must mean that he was not at all the sort of chap she had thought him to be.

And yet, although this mental turmoil stayed with her through the rest of her train trip, she found, after a day or so, that it was losing its power to bother her.

Maplehurst was a long way from Dover. When Jean walked along the quiet, maple-shaded streets of the little town, or sat in the living room with her father and mother, or stopped to chat with this or that old acquaintance of her younger days, it was hard to believe that anything that happened in Dover mattered so very much, after all. It seemed as if this little town were where she belonged; the Jean Dunn who worked in an office in Dover was almost a make-believe person, and nothing that had happened to her was of very great consequence.

So she managed to put the whole difficult question in the back of her mind, where she mentally tagged it as something to be investigated when she got back; and she entered into all the exciting little activities of vacation with her old zest, and unconsciously did her best to forget about Dover entirely.

Maplehurst was not a large place; the bank of which her father was president was only three blocks from the old-fashioned, white-pillared house that had been the Dunn home for two generations. Jean fell into a habit she had acquired during her college vacation days: she would stroll down to the bank, along toward noon, go into her father's office, and wait for him to finish his morning's work so that she could take him home for lunch.

She was sitting on the corner of his desk, on the morning of her third day in Maplehurst, waiting for him to complete a telephone call when she chanced to notice through the open doorway that some workmen were being very busy in the lobby of the bank. She watched them, trying to figure out what they were doing. It all seemed to center about the grilled window of the cashier's cage, where the men were splicing wires, drilling holes in the floor and otherwise being exceedingly active.

"Dad," she said, when he hung

BEHIND THE SCENE IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The New Deal has accused of everything except execution of affections. Now it is sued for that.

The charge arises in the Oklahoma utility company and said to prevent PWA from coming through a $100,000 allotment to Hominy, Okla., for a municipal electric power plant. The suit court will have to decide.

Attorney Dean Acheson, undersecretary of the treasury who was let out when he is unsympathetic, left no doubt in appearance before the District Columbia federal court that he sought to picture the utility company as a third, royal hound the municipality an erring the PWA as a free-spending time-Charlie who had put the lady away.

The utility and the town dwelt in happy contractual relationship, the lawyer said, though the franchise was on a day-to-day basis. PWA had secured a contractual relationship. This argument, aimed at aid for power plants, is a recent and about 15 other cases have been around to Attorney General Cummings since the firm lately with the same.

The good judgment of scores of congressmen taken on that junket to the Phillips is indicated in this excerpt from a letter received by your correspondent from a congressman in western state:

"My dear constituents, I am flanked by the flank, the right and left; they swarm in through the windows; they come in through the cracks in the walls; they are in my sleep and they are in my bed with me at night. Big Gargantua, I am brave, I shall do battle, and go for the end."

Meaning that the pressure of all jobs, never lets up. The Civil Service Commission will have examinations for new postal jobs created by the hour-week law for post-employees. It estimates it will perhaps 365,000 applications for those positions.

Rexford Guy Tugwell, secretary of agriculture and ment administrator, lately in Mexico, stopped off in Texas many Texans. Arriving in night in San Antonio, he was met by his friend, Congressman Maverick, and insisted he see the Alamo at once.

Returning to Tugwell from the Alamo, they met a lobby of former Gov. Jim Hargis, husband of the famous Democratic administration. "I am for the AAA," he said. "You folks are all right," he told him.

Tugwell thanked him warmly for those kind words. "Yes," added Jim, "I'll have AAA check this morning."

Old university mates of Alf Landon of Kansas, a Republican presidential campaign just named "Fox" Landon. The report that he doesn't let him that any more.

up the receiver, "what are men doing out there?"

Mr. Dunn peeked out the and leaned back in his chair placently.

"Tear gas," he said. "It's a new form of ins against bank robbers."

"Tear gas?" she repeated. "do you mean?"

He pushed back his chair got up.

"Come on in," he said. "I'll show you."

They walked across the went through an iron grill into the cashier's cage. Continued on page 3.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE

CHILDREN of assorted sizes offer mothers lots of problems. One is when they come home from school at different hours for their noon meal. You can't be constantly cooking, yet each must have hot appetizing, nourishing, easily-digested food. One answer is chowder and custard-like desserts.

There's a lot to be said for the chowder made with milk. It contains a large amount of nourishment, is easily digested and is not rich or heavy enough to produce the foggy feeling that frequently makes afternoon work so trying.

Chowder Is Guide to Dessert
Serve with the soup toast sticks, croutons or toasted crackers to supply bulk, radishes and celery for crispness.

The composition of the chowder is an important factor in determining the type of salad and dessert. If grated cheese is stirred into the hot soup just before serving the food value is increased. Eggs also increase its food value. If the chowder must stand for some time between servings, it's a good idea to add an egg to each individual portion as it is served.

Corn and Tomato Chowder

Two cups diced potatoes, 1 can corn, 2 cups tomatoes, 1 onion, 4 tablespoons diced salt pork, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-1/2 cups milk.

Try fat slowly from salt pork and add sliced onion. Cook slowly until tender but not brown. Add potatoes, corn, tomatoes, pepper, sugar and parsley and 4 cups boiling water. Simmer until potatoes

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Stewed dried apricots, cereal, cream, bread crumb pancakes, honey, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Corn and tomato chowder, toast sticks, head lettuce with French dressing, date pecan pie, milk, tea.

DINNER: Boiled corned beef with cabbage and potatoes, baked squash, orange and onion salad, pineapple upside-down cake, milk, coffee.

are tender and add milk. Serve with toast sticks or toasted crackers.

Date Pecan Pie

One and one-third cups sweetened condensed milk, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup pitted dates, 1-2 cup pecan nut meats, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 unbaked eight-inch pie shell.

Chop dates. Beat eggs separately, beating yolks until thick and lemon colored. Combine milk, dates, nuts, vanilla, salt and egg yolks. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff. Turn into unbaked pie shell and put into a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for ten minutes. Reduce heat to 300 degrees F and bake half an hour longer. Cool thoroughly before serving.

If you want to serve this pie to quite small children you can use a graham cracker crust. Zwebach can be rolled and used just as you do crackers, too. These crusts are considered more desirable for small children than the usual pie crust.

ESTHER JOHNSON, TO PLAY HERE, IS OF LONG LINE OF MUSICIANS

From a long line of distinguished musical ancestors comes Esther Johnson, world-famous pianist, who will be presented in concert at The High School Auditorium on November 5th.

Although known internationally through broadcasts from continental capitals, Miss Johnson has played few public programs in the United States.

One of the first appearances in America was her home-coming concert in Amarillo more than two years ago. She returned in mid-summer for a visit before resuming a tour in Europe. Because of war threats, Miss Johnson has decided to remain in America for at least part of the winter and will begin a Texas tour in her home town.

"American genius has been recognized before in Europe but seldom if ever has such recognition been gained in more than one capital," comments the Paris edition of The Chicago Tribune in a long, interesting article about Miss Johnson. The article continues in part:

"However, Miss Esther Johnson, an unpretentious and modest American artist from Amarillo, Texas, counts Paris, Vienna, Berlin and Stockholm among those European cities which pay tribute to her as one of the leading pianists of the day.

"Miss Johnson is of Swedish descent and follows a long line of family musicians. Her father, A. W. Johnson, was well known in musical circles and was one of the first choral directors in Chicago. She has studied music since the age of three and credits her success to years of daily practice.

"Ester Johnson won her first honors in the musical world when she was graduated by the University School of Music at Lincoln, Nebraska, where she won the degree of master of music. At the same time she was awarded the scholarship of Sigma Alpha Iota sorority and was elected to the Pi Kappa Lambda fraternity, a national honorary society for musicians of special talent.

After being graduated at Lincoln the young artist went to Europe and studied music under Macpherson of London, Boulanger in Paris and Sauer in Vienna.

Previously she had studied piano three years under the tutelage of Sigismond Strojowski in New York, where she played before Paderewski, who informed her: "You can play with distinction anywhere in the world."

Mrs. S. L. Seago and son, Norman, spent yesterday afternoon in Childress.

W. M. CONFERENCE FOOTBALL OFFICIAL COMPLIMENTS TEAM COACHING

The Memphis Cyclone is the coached football team in the district. That is the tribute paid to Harold "Chesty" Walker of his Black and Gold twisters yesterday night, after the Memphis team had taken a hard-fought victory from the powerful Irishmen of Shamrock.

Referee Gillam of Carey, who officiated at the district games over the district probably has called more conference games than any other man, and he has been connected with football circles for many seasons. He made the declaration to a Democrat sports scribe.

The football official's declaration was boomed out in the Cyclone's play last Friday night, as the Memphis team, battling at a weight handicap of 20 pounds to each man, played a hard, head-up brand of football to chalk up more first downs and more yardage gained from scrimmage than the district favorite Memphis' strength was displayed in the team as a whole. The Cyclone functioned as a machine, with Raymond Powers and Den Walker faded back about 35 yards, all told, to pass, they were unhurried and deliberate in their actions. The heady line backfield blocked off with ease any opposing lineman that might be sifted through the Cyclone's hard wall—which few opponents did.

As a unit, the Memphis High school team blocked and played better than a similar team that has donned the Black and Gold to do battle for the title of "Old Memphis High" in any season.

Cyclone fans spoke as of one voice after Friday night's game, praising the Memphis coach and the manner in which the local men conducted themselves on the field.

McLean Should Defeat Wheeler

The McLean Tigers and the outstanding game in District 3 Wheeler Mustangs tangle this outstanding game in District 3 Class B football.

Shamrock and Clarendon have off-weeks in conference gridiron play. Shamrock will likely play some minor team, but most of the Clarendon fans are expected to pile into Memphis Friday night to watch the conference clash between the Cyclone and the straggling Wellington Skyrockets. Clarendon scouts and fans will probably be here en masse to witness the brand of football the Cyclone adheres to, because the week following will see the annual traditional gridiron clash between the Cyclone and the Bronchos for the Armistice Day celebration.

Mobeotic fans will journey to Lefors Friday for the other conference game, a game that will mean little so far as a district winner is concerned. Both teams have met defeat repeatedly in conference play thus far.

The McLean Tigers are picked to win over the Wheeler Mustangs; however, the Mustangs are not easy pickings for any team, and if the Tigers have a let down they will likely meet with their first defeat of the season. The Memphis Cyclone is favored to win over the Rockets—if the Memphis squad plays the same type football that was shown at Shamrock Friday night, although losing 14 to 0. Lefors should experience little difficulty in running over the trailing Mobeotic Hornets, who have failed to get started this year.

CARDUI

Eased Pain

Cardui is a medicine for such conditions as described below by a lady who used to take it.

"I took Cardui for pain and swelling, also for run-down condition, and I found it eased the pain and built up my nervous system and helped the weakness."

Writes Mrs. E. D. Carrell, of Laboro, Texas. "I would have given any spells that would unfit me for my work. I took Cardui and I would get all right. I was never without it when needed."

Functional pains and nervousness at monthly periods often go away when better nourishment has been provided. Cardui relieves certain pains, increases the appetite and improves digestion. If it does not benefit YOU, consult your physician.

68 TON SEA MONSTER IS COMING TO MEMPHIS

An opportunity to see one of the greatest educational exhibits of all time will be given the people of this vicinity next Wednesday, November 6th, when the Eureka Whaling company of Long Beach California brings to Memphis their mammoth marine exhibit. The exhibit is transported on a specially built railroad car over 100 feet long and will be placed on a siding near the Ft. Worth and Denver passenger depot. The feature, with the exhibit is "Colossus" the 68 ton whale, over 55 feet long and in a perfect state of preservation, and just as it appeared when encountered off the coast of San Clemente a few months ago.

In addition to the whale, the exhibit will include over 40 other specimens of marine life such as the Octopus or Giant Devil fish, the pilot fish, sword fish, shark, stingray, the harpoon cannon, and the modern harpoon with the explosive spearhead.

Another feature that accompanies the whale is Madam Sirwell's European Flea Circus. Madam Sirwell has over fifty performing fleas that kick little footballs, juggle, pull a small cart, run races, walk a tight wire and many other astonishing feats. An added attraction is the Penguin village, a family of live penguins from Little America. The only exhibit of live penguins traveling in America.

Captain David J. Barnett and his crew of thirty men of the whaling ship "Hawk" that captured the monster whale, accompany the exhibit on its transcontinental tour. They lecture on and explain some startling facts of untold biological value. The exhibit will be open from noon until 10 p. m. and will remain here Wednesday only.

Exemption Checks Due in December

Word was received here yesterday morning by County Agent James A. Jackson to the effect that estimates had been made by United States Government authorities concerning the tax-exemption certificate special pool and that checks would be forthcoming.

County Agent James A. Jackson said that the checks would reach here about December 1, and that the surplus tax exemption certificates would be here by about Christmas.

The letter received from E. L. Deal, manager of the certificate pool, division of cotton, stated in part:

"While there yet remains some money to come in from the pool operations, we have estimated that approximately 40 percent of the special pool poundage was actually sold prior to and including October 19. This will leave approximately 60 percent of the poundage submitted by each producer which may be returned to him or repooled in the regular 1935 pool, according to his wishes.

"The latter provision is made possible in a recent amendment to the regulations, and will be handled by special forms, which will be forwarded as promptly as possible from the State offices."

The special tax exemption certificate Federal pool was discontinued Monday, October 21, and liquidation of the pool began on that date. Certificates from this county listed in the pool amounted to some 7,824,511 pounds of cotton, or 15,649 bales.

Ollie Davidson of Estelline was a Memphis business visitor yesterday.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

WON A COUNTRY FOR THE CZECHS

CZECHOSLOVAKIA was only a diffusion of subject states under Austrian rule, up to the World War, when Prof. Thomas Garrigue Masaryk, great Slovak scholar and patriot, began his untiring campaign to make a single nation of his people. He led to the organization of Czech prisoners in Russia into a legion that started on an arduous 5000 mile trek across Siberia with the idea of sailing on around the globe and fighting on the western front.

In danger of his life, he toured the allied countries and finally came to the United States where he directed his campaign for the liberation of his people and the formation of a Czech nation. His efforts were recognized by the Allies, and Czechoslovakia was sliced out of Austria-Hungary by the Treaty of Versailles. Masaryk then became the new country's first president.

Many stamps of Czechoslovakia honor him. The one shown here was issued in 1923 on the 10th anniversary of Czech independence.

It has always been a mystery how a rabbit could appear and disappear in so many different places. He is likely to tumble out of anyone's hat and just as likely to vanish in someone's whiskers. Mel-Roy's is like that. His antics will give you many minutes of fun and thrills, he will absolutely captivate you with his skill and performance, as he has done many audiences both over the radio and from the stage of most of the leading cities thru-out the United States.

Some of the Oriental mysteries on Mel-Roy's program are particularly interesting. He presents the bewildering and seemingly impossible mystery of shooting a steel arrow through an assistant's body, an effect that more than $350,000, has been spent on trying to stage this one effect. It must be a great mystery. This is only one among other effects too numerous to mention.

The entertainment is for the whole family. For everybody both young and old. Tonight will be the most enjoyable evening spent by you in a long time if you see this performance. Proceeds will be for the benefit of the American Legion.

Rural Schools To Resume So

With Pleasant Valley and I lie reconvening yesterday morning after lay-offs of about month in order that students might assist in gathering the crops, Hall County now has rural schools running.

Fifteen common schools are dismissed for cotton picking, they will take up again within next week or two, Miss Vera Leah, county school superintendent, stated this morning.

The other two rural schools in session are Gammage and N. lin.

Dismissal of the rural schools for cotton picking is more or of an annual occurrence, and always results in considerable confusion in the county superintendent's office. The culcating library and other wide matters get behind in the work.
