23-Day-Old Child Taken By Woman

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman kidnaped a 23-day-old child from a West Side apartment Thursday. It was the city's second baby abduction this year.

Police and the FBI had teamed up in an all-night search of the Manhattan area where the child lived.

Missing from his family apartment was John Tavarez, whose mother had been sent off on a wild-goose apartment hunt by a woman she met just two days ago.

The grief-stricken father broadcast a radio and TV appeal for the baby's return.

Authorities described the woman being sought as 5 feet 2, weighing about 160 pounds, having brown hair with blonde streaks, and "obviously pregnant." They said she was wearing a dark blue coat and black shoes, and probably was Cuban. They said she was wearing a "slave braclet" chain on her left leg.

Two other Tavarez children, Josephine, 5, and Dorie, 3, also left in the care of the mising woman, were found in the apartment of a neighbor.

The distraught mother, Mrs. Doraliza Tavarez, 31, said she had met the woman Wednesday at Metropolitan Hospital, where she brought the little boy for treatment of a cold. The mother said the woman had given her name as Mrs. Gladys Garcia and told her she was receiving prenatal care at the hospital.

The missing child was described as 18 inches long, with brown eyes and black hair, and weighs 10 pounds. He was wearing white undergarments, a white sweater, and blue bootees, and was covered by a blue blanket.

Mrs. Tavarez said she was changing John's diaper when the woman came over and helped her.

It was raining, and the woman gave Mrs. Tavarez and her baby a ride back home in a taxicab. Mrs. Tavarez said she and Mrs. Garcia had discussed the difficulties of raising a family in cramped quarters. She quoted Mrs. Garcia as saying she might be able to help find a better apartment. The Tavarezes occupy a 1½-room flat.

The Tavarez family came to this country eight months ago from the Dominican Republic. The father, Jose, 30, works in a Manhattan lingerie factory.

Mrs. Tavarez said Mrs. Garcia had appeared at her second-floor apartment about 2 p.m. Thursday and given her an address of a "good" apartment in the Bronx, advising her to get there quickly.

VICE CHARGES FILED

New York Raids Net Four Arrests

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives posing as out-of-town professional men raided a well-furnished Manhattan apartment Thursday night and arrested four women on vice charges.

Five businessmen found in the apartment were not arrested.

The raid was led by First Dep. Police Commissioner James R. Kennedy, who is heading a police probe into the call girl racket touched off by allegations made on a nationwide radio program Monday night.

Kennedy, who entered the apartment in the raid with five detectives, said the establishment had been operating for about six months, furnishing girls at fees ranging from $50 to $100.

Charges were made on the CBS radio program, presented by commentator Edward R. Murrow, that some big business firms have employed prostitutes to entertain prospective customers and help to swing deals and make sales.

Murrow and others connected with the program have declined to give authorities the sources of information for the program, on which persons identified as prostitutes and businessmen spoke anonymously.

Kennedy, digging into the vice situation in the city, came up with a phone number and a coded conversation which opened the door to his detectives.

The raid was on a $250-a-month, three-room apartment at 412 West End Ave., near 81st St. Police and detectives, who made a telephone date by using a password, got into the apartment easily.

The raid was pulled a few hours after an Internal Revenue Service spokesman confirmed that some business firms have attempted to use call girl expenses as deductions on income tax returns.

"Such deductions, when spotted in a tax return, are of course disallowed," the spokesman said. "You know, we never get an argument on that one."

Such attempts, the spokesman explained, have not been made openly, but usually under a heading such as "business entertainment."

12 Men Trapped In Mine

By FRED B. WALTERS

PITTSTON, Pa. (AP) — Crews tried today to stop the rain-swollen Susquehanna River from pouring its freezing waters into a nearby anthracite mine where 12 miners were either trapped or drowned.

Thirty-three other miners escaped a watery tomb when the rushing river suddenly ate a hole into the Knox Coal Co. tunnel at nearby Port Griffith just before noon Thursday.

"We never heard the water come in at all," one miner said. "It was just there."

Seven men, some aided by a map of the complicated miles of ancient coal tunnels, got out by climbing an air shaft several hundred yards upstream from the hole.

Twenty-six others wandered through the maze of tunnels in waist-deep water for seven hours before a rescue team found and brought them to safety up the air shaft.

A little diesel engine kept pushing coal cars into the whirlpool of water and ice chunks that marks the seemingly bottomless hole. But the cars, and the tons of bailed hay also used to plug the breach, vanished in the swirling waters.

The tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad parallel the river, and a cliff rises almost vertically behind the tracks.

Worried relatives and townspeople watched quietly from the edge of the cliff as the crews worked hour after hour to stop the flow of water.

Until it is, said Mine supt. Robert Groves, rescue crews won't be able to begin pumping out the mine. The mine, he said, will have to be cleared before the search begins for the 12 missing men.

The water pouring into the mine also posed a serious threat to the economic life of the Wyoming Valley in northeast Pennsylvania.

After years of working, the anthracite vein under the valley is honeycombed with interconnecting tunnels. The Port Griffith accident forced nearby mines to close immediately as water swirled through the tunnels.

. . .Leaves Snyder as airline service ceases

AIR LINE SERVICE ENDS TOMORROW

Continental Transferring Manager Here To Chicago

Jim Babcock, Snyder manager for Continental Air Lines, is being transfered by Continental to Chicago.

The transfer will be a promotion for Babcock, who will become assistant passenger service manager for the Continental unit at Chicago's Midway Airport. He is to report there Feb. 1.

Babcock's transfer comes as Continental discontinues service in Snyder. Continental plans to stop service here tomorrow. Reports that the Civil Aeronautics Board had granted a 60-day extension on service to Snyder and other cities in this area pending investigation of need for airline service apparently were untrue.

Continental is halting service at Snyder, Sweetwater, Plainview, Breckenridge, and Mineral Wells, as well as at some other cities, tomorrow, which is the day the airline's temporary permit expires.

There is not at the present time any assurance of airline service for Snyder, although county officials and members of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee have been working toward the possibility of getting another airline to serve the city. Central Air Lines yesterday secured a permit to begin serving Plainview Feb. 1.

Babcock said that unless he receives further notice from Continental, tomorrow's three flights here will be the last for Snyder. There are four flights on weekdays, but only three on Saturday. Tomorrow's flights are the 9:20 a. m. westbound, 12:44 p.m. eastbound, and 7:27 p.m. eastbound.

Airline service began in Snyder Sept. 27, 1953. Pioneer Air Lines initiated the service here, and Babcock came here to open Pioneer's station. Later, Pioneer merged with Continental, which continued the service here. Continental has claimed during the past several months that it has been losing money on the feeder line stops in smaller cities.

While in Snyder, Babcock has been active in civic affairs. He has been on the board of directors for the Kiwanis Club and has been a member of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee. He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Babcock and their three sons, Jimmy, 13, Chan, 11, and Jack, 6, live at 218 Thirty-sixth Street. Babcock said he will probably go to Chicago first and move his family there later.

Babcock came here from San Angelo, where he had been assistant agent for five of his seven years as a Pioneer employe. Prior to that time, he was in the Air Corps during World War II and was a flight instructor in Texas and Oklahoma before the war. He is a native of Maine.

Magnolia, Union Sign Wage Pact

BEAUMONT (AP) — Magnolia Petroleum Co. and union representatives today signed contracts providing a 5 per cent increase in wages.

It was believed to be the first Gulf Coast firm completing agreements with the Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers Union, which had threatened a strike prior to a break in negotiations elsewhere last weekend.

Magnolia employs 2,419 OCAW members at its refinery here.

Negotiations continued meanwhile between the union and eight other companies employing about 12,000 additional OCAW workers in this area.

Union spokesmen said the Magnolia agreement, retroactive to Jan. 16, means 10 to 17 cents an hour more pay for employes who previously averaged $2.71 hourly. Magnolia granted the same raise to the remainder of its 3,150 workers here.

Two-year contracts of three OCAW units, plus one for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, at Magnolia permit reopening of wage talks next summer.

Still being negotiated in this vicinity were union agreements with Gulf Oil Corp. for employes in its Port Arthur, Tex., refinery; the Texas Co., which has a refinery at Port Arthur and asphalt plant at Port Neches, Tex.; with the Neches Butane Products Co., Goodrich Gulf Chemicals, Inc., Texas U. S. Chemical Co., and Pure Oil Co., all at Port Neches, and Jefferson Chemical Co. and the Atlantic Co. refinery, both at Groves, Tex.

Efforts of federal mediator Ray Majure of Houston revived talks broken off Wednesday by Gulf and the OCAW. He arranged further meetings with each side Saturday.

Union spokesmen said Gulf seeks to abolish craft trades in its Port Arthur refinery, and its proposal to reclassify some craft employes would put 30 to 60 men out of work. There was no comment from Gulf representatives.

Pure Oil and the Texas Co. both have offered the 5 per cent wage increase pattern set in negotiations elsewhere.

Neches Butane officials arranged to meet with employes today, and industry sources said the other firms were expected to make wage offers in the next few days.

New Panel Named To Study Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an anti-inflation move, President Eisenhower today created a government committee to study all federal activities affecting prices and costs.

"We need to make sure that we are not contributing to the nation's inflationary problems by the way in which we run our own government business," Eisenhower said in a statement.

The President said in his budget message to Congress earlier this week that he planned to set up such a study group.

Rocket With ICBM Cone Fired Today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Air Force fired another huge rocket carrying an ICBM cone of the future early today, but the powerful missile flamed out shortly after launching.

The attempt to propel the 90-foot Thor-Able rocket 4,400 miles failed when the second stage fizzled out shortly after launching.

The missile was equipped with a miniature version of the Titan Intercontinental Range Ballistic Missile guidance system to attain greater accuracy over the long range ocean flight.

The "brains" of the rocket never got a chance to do the job, however, when the second stage failed to ignite. The cause of the trouble was not known immediately.

This was the fourth attempt to shoot an advanced, highly instrumented cone close to intercontinental range and retrieve it from the ocean depths for study. None has been recovered.

The first three ventures included mouse passengers but, as far as it was known, there were no live riders this time.

Ice Jams Add To Miseries

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A flood that caused millions of dollars damage in Pennsylvania rolled down the Ohio River Valley today with diminishing force.

In areas west and south of Pittsburgh the crest swept past at lower than predicted levels and with relatively slight damage. East Liverpool, Ohio, reported the worst was eight feet above the city's theoretical flood stage but damage was only minor.

Many huge freight-carrying barges, ripped from their moorings, streamed down the river on the ice-choked tide. Some sank. Some banged into bridge pillars with shuddering impact. One snapped a guy wire of the suspension bridge at Wheeling, W.Va. Spectators said the sound was like the twanging of a giant guitar.

Worst Pennsylvania floods spots this morning were far up on the Ohio headwaters, at Meadville, Pa. and at Sharon, Pa.

A two-mile long ice jam choked French Creek, backing record high waters into Meadville. Fire officials aiding in the rescue work said 1,500 were homeless. Roads to the south were blocked.

Residents of Sharon, 45 miles northwest of Pittsburgh, found the heart of their city under water for the second successive morning. The Shenango River which overflowed Wednesday night stood three feet deep in parts of a 10-block area of the business district. Some 800 persons were housed in emergency shelter or with friends.

Downstream at New Castle, Pa., the Shenango was receding a half inch an hour after cresting at midnight.

Far to the east in Pennsylvania, rescue workers sought to stem the flow of the swollen Susquehanna River into a mine at Pittston where 12 miners still were missing. Three men drowned when the river punched through into the underground mine chambers Thursday. Thirty-three other miners escaped the rushing waters.

Ice was moving out from the upper reaches of the Susquehanna and flood threats appeared to be diminishing.

The flood crest of the Allegheny and Ohio had rolled past Pittsburgh without causing serious difficulty.

High water was reported at Rochester and Midland, Pa.; East Liverpool and Steubenville, Ohio; and Weirton and Wheeling, W. Va. Wheeling Island and Wheeling Downs race track were partly under water. Most residents had moved to high ground well in advance.

No casualties have been reported.

The most serious danger came from heavy river barges which broke their moorings and swept down river. At least 48 broke loose at Aliquippa and were carried as far as Steubenville.

Many banged into bridge piers and sank. Others ran aground and some hung up on the numerous locks and dams. There were no reports of serious bridge damage.

Ohio Towns Bracing For High Water

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Down along the banks of Ohio's rain-choked rivers whole communities waited today, bracing themselves for the terrible flood crests that have already brought death and destruction and untold misery to tens of thousands upstream.

At least 13 persons have died so far from the floods, and maybe more. No one can estimate the property damage. The destruction has been vast as the rivers, some small, some wide and deep, all turbulent, spilled over and boiled through the towns and cities in their paths.

As they tumble downstream, the rivers are threatening still other communities — McConnellsville on the Muskingum River, for example, and Chillicothe on the Scioto.

Down along the southern rim of the state the mighty Ohio River is adding another threat. The Weather Bureau forecasts a crest of 57 or 58 feet—5 to 6 above flood-stage — by Monday. Generally, though, it takes 8 or 9 feet more to do any real damage.

Columbus and Cleveland, among the major cities, were drenched and puddled-stained but otherwise out of flood danger. Cincinnati was never seriously threatened.

Zanesville, Warren, and Fremont were the hardest hit Thursday. Zanesville, at the confluence of the Muskingum and Licking Rivers, had 2,000 evacuees.

At Warren, the Mahoning River burst into the southern part of town and left 600 homeless.

At Fremont, 1,000 fled as the Sandusky River overflowed its banks.

Department Store Sales Up For Week

DALLAS (AP) — Sales of Texas department stores gained an average of 2 per cent in the week ended Jan. 17, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas said today.

The average was up, compared against sales the previous week, despite a 10 per cent decline reported for Houston stores. Those in El Paso and San Antonio gained 8 per cent, Fort Worth 6 and Dallas 5.

Labor Relations Trouble Forecast

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A stormy year in labor relations is forecast for 1959 by the country's top labor trouble shooter, Joseph F. Finnegan.

Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, gave out that appraisal even before the AFL-CIO announced a renewed drive to boost worker wages this year.

The big labor union federation, claiming 14 million members, said it emphatically disagrees with disagrees with President Eisenhower's wage hold-down plea and other economic views.

It contended that overly high prices are responsible for inflation and that the influence of wages on prices has been infinitesimal. New wage boosts, the AFL-CIO said, will help buoy the economy through increased purchasing power rather than do harm.

A statement issued Thursday by the AFL-CIO's Economic Policy Committee, headed by auto union leader Walter Reuther, said Eisenhower's recent budget and economic messages to Congress practically ignore the country's four million unemployed and below-capacity industrial production.

"At the very time when the American economy should be devoting its great material assets to facing the economic challenge of the Soviet Union," Reuther's group said, "the President has failed to set economic goals for the United States as required by the Employment Act of 1946."

It said 20 per cent of U.S. productive capacity is idle, living standards for millions of Americans remain intolerably low, and Soviet production advances are challenging the productive power of the free world.

Yet, it added, in America "stagnation apparently does not unduly disturb the administration."

Appliance Sales Rise Here In '58

Sales of electrical appliances rose during 1958 in Snyder about 10 per cent over the previous year, Bill Brown, manager here for Texas Electric Service Co., said as the company had its annual banquet for appliance dealers last night at Sallie's Dining Room.

Several factors contributed to the increase, Brown said, including residents' buying built-in appliances to replace their standard equipment. The popularity of the built-ins caused many to buy these appliances earlier than they would have ordinarily replaced their older ones, the TESCO man siad.

There were also many other contributing factors, including the increasing popularity of dishwashers, clothes dryers, television and high fidelity record players.

Speaking at the banquet, attended by 28 persons, were Brown and Daylon Bruce of Sweetwater, district sales representative for TESCO, who works with appliance dealers.

Brown told the group about plans for the new display kitchen which will be included in the new headquarters of TESCO new being built here.

The kitchen will be complete with many types of electrical appliance.

A fulltime home economist will also be assigned to the Snyder office when the new building is complete.

Brown said present plans call for the building to be complete and ready for TESCO about March 1.

Civil Rights Probes Set In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The U.S. Civil Rights Commission expects to move into Louisiana soon to investigate complaints that Negroes were denied voting rights.

Staff director Gordon Tiffany of the commission said so yesterday, and Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion of Louisiana notified Tiffany of a 1958 act of the state Legislature which named the attorney general as defense counsel for registrars of voters under fire from federal agencies.

Tiffany said he would tell Gremillion before he interviewed any registrar in Louisiana. He is a former attorney general of New Hampshire.

Tiffany said, "We have had complaints that Negroes were denied their rights in Louisiana, but complaints are getting to be commonplace in our office.

"We have had more than 500 complaints over the south, with 100 sworn to in affidavits.

Vote purges by citizens councils in Louisiana several years ago stripped thousands of voters from registration rolls on the grounds they did not meet qualifications. The FBI investigated, but federal grand juries returned no indictments.

Tiffany said the commission would use its investigators, not FBI agents, in digging nto alleged denal of votng rghts. He explaned that it was the agency's job to investigate and report to Congress, not to undertake enforcement.

Commission hearings in Alabama resulted in defiance by a state judge and a federal court order to produce registration records. The state judge was cited for contempt, and the issue is still in the courts.

In Louisiana the "watch dog" committee on segregation is meeting with registrars of voters and instructing them in means of enforcing registration laws to slow Negro registration.

Freight Train Catches Fire

MONROE, La. (AP)—A northbound Missouri Pacific freight train caught fire shortly before midnight, with 32 cars derailed and several others exploded or burned.

The train, carrying a cargo of rubber and chemicals, caught fire when a journal box in one of the axles of one car overheated and ignited. The car plunged from the tracks, pulling 31 others with it.

A tank car loaded with liquid gas exploded, along with other cars filled with molasses and other chemicals.

Firefighters said the heat was so intense several of the derailed cars partially melted. They said it was impossible to fight a chemical fire with water and they were trying to contain the blaze.

A sheriff's office car on patrol was cruising along the highway beside the train when a deputy noticed the journal box overheating. Efforts to warn the engineer failed.

A railroad official at the scene after daybreak estimated the loss at a million dollars. Several lengths of track were torn up.

All railroad traffic was halted and officials said it probably would be some time before normal operations could be resumed. Highway traffic was detoured around the area all through the night.

Living Costs Dip Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs dipped two-tenths of one per cent in December—their first decline since August.

Lower prices for food, automobiles and clothing overbalanced increases in rents, other housing items, medical care and other consumer costs.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics price index declined to 123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the base.

In reporting this today, the bureau noted the index stood 1.7 per cent higher than December, 1957.

The December index was exactly the same as that of last September and last June.

Some 700,000 workers whose pay rates are geared to quarterly and semiannual adjustments of the index consequently will receive no change in pay.

Grandmother, Girl Stabbed By Mechanic

DALLAS (AP) — A mechanic stabbed a girl and her grandmother in their home in a fashionable North Dallas area early today.

Linda Charnick, 13, was stabbed twice in the back—one of the thrusts piercing a lung—as she lay sleeping.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Rosa Smith, 60, who heard the girl's screams and ran to the bedroom, was stabbed in the left chest.

Police looked for a former roomer in the home.

The girl was able to tell a little: "I woke up and he was pounding me on the back. He had his hand over my mouth."

The girl was able to scream, however, and when her grandmother ran into the room, the man stabbed her—then ran out before the grandfather, Louis Smith, or the girl's brother, Jackie, 10, were roused.

Patrolmen C. F. Goodson and T. F. Moore put compresses on the victims' wounds. Both were considered in "satisfactory" condition today.

The patrolmen noted the girl had grease on her face, possibly from the attacker's hands.

Smith and Jackie said the suspected man came to their home about 7:15 p.m. yesterday and asked if he could spend the night there. He said he had about $900 and was afraid to stay in a hotel.

The family consented to allow the former roomer to sleep on the couch, and after watching television until about 9:30 p.m., all retired. The attack hapened at about 2:40 a.m.

No one could give a reason.

Boy, 7, To Get Sight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Buddy Thornhill, 7, who has undergone 11 eye operations, is going to see clearly — possibly within two months.

Dr. William J. Ferguson Jr., a specialist who treated the Natchez, Miss., youngster for glaucoma here, told newsmen that Thursday.

Mrs. Louis A. Thornhill, practically in tears, added: "You know what Buddy is doing right now He's chasing a balloon in our hotel room."

His mother said that Buddy, whose real name is Hugh, could detect only light previously but now could see colors.

Buddy may never need another operation, Dr. Ferguson said. The youngster's right eye was taken out in a previous operation.

Buddy's trip here with his parents was financed by Natchez residents.

The Thornhills arrived Jan. 14 and Dr. Ferguson has been examining and treating the youngster since then. The youngster's 7th birthday was the 15th, the day Dr. Ferguson told him there was hope that he would see.

Two Fires Causes Damage Thursday

Slight damage was caused by fire in a residence here at noon yesterday, and a storage building was destroyed five miles east of Snyder about 3 o'clock.

The noon fire was in a house owned by Arthur Townsend Sr., and occupied by the H. W. Cameron family. It is located in Bootheland addition in north Snyder. The fire was caused by a leaky rubber gas connection hose. The wall was slightly damaged above the gas jet.

The storage building destroyed was at the D. M. Pogue farm occupied by the Horace Davis family south of Plainview school house five miles east of Snyder on the Roby highway.

UT Building Is Damaged

AUSTIN (AP)—The Department of Drama building, oldest building on the University of Texas campus, was heavily damaged today by an early-morning fire.

The blaze, discovered shortly after 7 a.m. by two custodians, burned out much of the inside of the building and heavily damaged the university's wardrobe collection, one of the most extensive in the nation.

No damage estimate was available.

The four-story brick building was built in 1902 and for many years was a women's dormitory. In recent years it was used by the Department of Modern Languages before being turned over to the Drama Department in 1952.

CHEESE SPECIAL: Here's a Camembert set out on celery stalks and ready as a delightful snack. In its most customary serving, the cheese is a fine windup to a meal, spread on crackers and consumed with an apple or any fresh fruit.

Cheese For A Dessert Change

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Cheese, for dessert and snacktime, is in fashion.

Americans traveling abroad have discovered how good intriguing varieties of cheese taste when they are served at the end of a meal. Others of us, conscious of nutrition and calories, like to offer cheese at snacktime.

One of the most delightful varieties of cheese is Camembert. Although French in origin, it has been made in this country since the last century. Because it's a whole milk cheese, it supplies vitamin A; like other cheese it also offers protein of the best quality, calcium and riboflavin (one of the B vitamins). A small (1 one-third ounces) wedge of Camembert plus an apple will give you valuable nutrients and together they contain only half the calories of, say, a piece of pie.

If you want to taste this delectable cheese at its best, allow it to stand at room temperature before serving. And be sure to eat its slightly crusty rind — it's edible and delicious. The inner creamy portion of the cheese — almost fluid when fully ripe — has a melting quality on the tongue.

Camembert, like other soft cheese, should be refrigerated until you are ready to serve it. If you buy it in a half-circular box, containing three foil-wrapped wedges, keep it in this covered container during the refrigeration. You'll notice that the box is stamped with a month and a day, with the direction that the cheese be used before this date. That's because Camembert is a "continously ripening" cheese! Its surface mold keeps ripening it, changing its chalky color to a golden one, softening its texture and developing its flavor.

When recently we stuffed celery with a Camembert mixture it made a big hit with our family and friends. And the combination can do triple duty. You may serve it as a first course with tomato juice or some other beverage. Or you may arrange it on salad greens accompanied by French dressing as your salad course. Or you can serve it along with crackers, fruits and nuts at snacktime.

Camembert Stuffed Celery

Ingredients: 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, 2 wedges (1 one-third ounces each) Camembert cheese, 2 to 3 small stalks of white celery, paprika, halved Macadamia nuts.

Method: Have cream cheese and Camembert at room temperature; cream together and force through a fine sieve; refrigerate. Break stalk of celery into branches, wash and dry thoroughly. Trim, but leave some of the leafy tops on the small branches near the heart. Partly fill celery branches with cheese mixture. Sprinkle with paprika. Garnish with halved Macadamia nuts, pressing them down. Celery may be cut into 3-inch wedges before or after stuffing if desired.

French Dress Designers Should Make Trips To America Often

Associated Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Every French designer should be required to make periodic trips to America, says Mme. Yvonne Minassian, a petite and knowing blonde who has been with the House of Dior in Paris since its inception.

I talked with Yvonne during the first afternoon's showings of New York spring fashions, staged for 200 members of the nation's fashion press.

As the fresh, youthful — and mass-produced — fashions paraded down the runway, the Frenchwoman's eyes sparkled with appreciation.

"The things are charming," she said. "Anyone would like to wear them. Here in America they work on trends that are needed, I think, while in Paris they just design."

What America will wear next spring was evidenced in the day's showings by such designers as Anne Fogarty, Nettie Rosenstein and Wilson Folmar of the House of Edward Abbott. Yvonne applauded as the new Fogarty designs appeared — fresh, flattering shirtwaist dresses in gay silk prints, capsule sheaths in flannels and linens, sheer, full-skirted date dresses for the young in heart.

When it was announced that these dresses retailed at from $40 up, Yvonne gasped: "How lucky you are, you Americans!"

This alert ambassador of French fashion gives full credit to American know-how in making smart, wearable clothes available to the public at prices within the average budget. But she isn't selling French fashion short.

"I can see in many of these so-beautiful dresses inspirations from the last Paris collections," she said. "But they have been adapted so skillfully to the American taste. They are not copies. This I do not mean, but the original feeling perhaps was born in Paris."

Yvonne is happily and recently married, has a young stepson to whom she is devoted, spends summer vacations at her villa in the south of France, takes winter vacations in Switzerland, and comes to America at every opportunity.

"One must come here to keep up with the world — and to know what to sell American buyers," she says.

The Snyder Garden Club met Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at the Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. J. T. Hughes as hostess.

Gray, chairman of the nominating committee presented the following names for election: Miss Fay Harrell, president; Mrs. Richard Brice, first vice-president; Mrs. Harold Brown, second vice-president; Mrs. Rex Miller, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Wilson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bob Melton, treasurer; Mrs. Gene Best, newspaper publicity; Mrs. J. T. Hughes, radio publicity and Mrs. W. R. Bell, Sr., historian.

Mrs. Sidney A. Johnston was unanimously voted in as a new member.

GLAMOUR

is a lot of little things...

It's magic... it's a spell of charm... it's interest in or association with an object or person. Glamour may be a southern cruise... candle-light dinner for two... an evening on the town. Glamour means different things to different people—it's a lot of little things.

OUR VIEW

What Are Rockets Worth?

THE CORPUS CHRISTI CALLER:

Whenever the Russians score a fresh success with a space vehicle we hear clamor in this country for the spending of more money on our rocketry programs. Yet some experts doubt we could really make much use of heavier outlays.

They believe first, that we stand very close to the Soviet Union in the missile field.

The key device in the competition up to now is the intercontinental ballistic missile. We're roughly even with the Kremlin on this one. We'll both turn out small numbers this year for operational use, though the Russians may produce somewhat more than we.

Our program for our ICBM, the 6,300-mile Atlas, and the solid fueled Polaris are widely judged to be well managed and amply financed. Additional dollars would do little or nothing for them.

While the Russians fired a rocket shot that escaped earth's gravity and went past the moon, we narrowly missed this on two earlier tries. In each case, a little more speed per second and we would have had the velocity to get to the moon or beyond.

As always, our failures were well advertised, while Soviet misfirings were not. Russia is reliably said to have flubbed several earlier moon shot efforts.

We have many more attempts coming up, and most specialists think it won't be long before we match or surpass the Soviet lunik. Both nations soon may be stabbing for the planet Venue. Either of us could succeed, we are that close.

The one thing in which the Russians seem to enjoy some clear advantage today is their ability to toss big "payloads" of scientific equipment into space. This means their rocket engines are developing more power than ours.

But we already have the technical capacity and the plans—to develop three times as much engine power as the big Atlas employs today. The feeling is that within a short time—say a few months—we can pick up this lag.

What we seem to need in the highly competitive days ahead is not so much more money as the continuing, relentless application of all our scientific and technical skills to the stiff challenges of this space era.

We have money and we have the "makings." The premium is upon our putting them together in the right combinations.

Material Success Not So Important

NEW YORK (AP)— Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

The one thing the rest of the world feels surest of about the average American is this: That material success is his god.

And the rest of the world couldn't be wronger.

Great material success is admired rather than worshipped by the average American—just as he admires achievement in any form, whether it be in the art of home run knocking or hula hooping. He even has a sneaking admiration for a successful bank robber—so long as the fellow doesn't spill blood.

But material success isn't the major goal of the average American. It is only one of his major daydreams. But he doesn't want it bad enough to make his dream come true.

Take yourself, as an average American. Why aren't you a success?

You probably can't, with honesty, put the blame on fate, your boss or your wife. You can't even blame it on the fact you were born dumb and never outgrew it. The chances are you aren't a big success simply because it isn't worthwhile to you. There simply are other things more important to you.

In my work as a reporter I have interviewed perhaps 2,000 "successful" people over the last quarter century. Asked the reason for their success, about 99 out of 100 gave the same answer: "Hard work." The hundredth person would credit it to "getting the breaks," or admit, off the cuff, he inherited success or married into it.

Many successful people I have met have lacked the charm, personality and even the talent I have found among other men so spectacularly unsuccessful they couldn't buy their way into the city dump. They aren't nearly as much fun to be with.

One difference between the successful man and the average man is obvious. The average man has credit. The successful man has credit plus something else—it is called money.

But there are other differences. The big one lies in how they use their energy. The successful man controls his energy and directs it to a single aim—the winning of success. Everything else is secondary. The average man isn't that single-minded.

Does the successful man himself regret the price he had to pay to get where he is Often he does—in a very wistful human way. But there is a limit to his regret.

The average man sometimes likes to boast he wouldn't trade places with the most successful man he ever knew. The successful man returns the compliment. He isn't interested in changing places either.

No matter how stern the cost of success, the last thing any successful man I ever met was willing to give up was—success.

Liberals Taking Lumps In Session

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—That hardy little congressional band called liberals tried to throw their weight around, found out in a hurry they were underweight, and got smacked down four times in a row.

Yet the liberals' failures can't be dismissed as something absolute. They didn't lose entirely. They are an active and vocal force, even if very often they miss achieving their goals. They make their presence felt and have an influence on events.

But those post-November election predictions, when Democrats swamped Republicans, didn't come off. Then it was thought new blood and more liberal men would be a big pain to the conservative leaders of Congress.

These were the four liberal bumps on the head:

No. 1, first target for the bloc of Democrats and Republicans bearing the liberal label was the Senate rule which made it almost impossible to break a filibuster — the talkfest Southern Democrats traditionally relied on to stop a civil rights bill.

Under this rule debate couldn't be stopped unless a constitutional two thirds of the Senate — 66 of the 98 members — voted to do it. With Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill) leading the charge, the liberals set out to change this rule.

Douglas proposed that a simple majority of the Senate — 50 of the 98 members — be enough to stop a filibuster. Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, called Douglas' hand.

He let the Douglas proposal come to a vot — at a time when there was no filibuster to overcome — and the result was a staggering 67-28 against letting a majority of the Senate stop a filibuster.

Yet in the end the rule was changed just a little. Under Johnson's guidance the Senate changed the rule to require hereafter a simple two thirds of those present at voting time.

No. 2. A group of Senate Republican liberals tried to get one of themselves chosen leader of Senate Republicans. They wanted to keep a conservative like Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois from getting the job.

So all 34 of the Senate Republicans voted. The liberals were outnumbered. The majority picked Dirksen. But the liberals here, too, got a concession. One of their number, Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, was named assistant leader.

No. 3. Once again the liberal Senate Republicans made a try. This was to keep the highly conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona from being chosen chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee.

Again they lost. A majority picked Goldwater who frankly says he is so conservative that "I'm even a stronger conservative than people think I am."

No. 4. On the House side a batch of liberal Democrats and Republicans made noises about something they wanted. They wanted changes made in or about the House Rules Committee whose Democratic and Republican membership is highly conservative.

This is one of the most powerful committees in Congress and can pretty well prevent legislation from coming out for a full House vote when the members don't like it.

But this minor liberal revolt was squelched under the persuasion of Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House and boss of the Democrats. He reportedly assured the liberals, however, that he'd personally see to it that no worthwhile legislation gets buried in the Rules Committee.

Difficulty Noted In Iran, Pakistan

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has run into difficulties with Pakistan and Iran in negotiating special defense agreements aimed at bolstering them against outside attack.

Both Iran and Pakistan are reported insisting on stronger defense assurances than the United States is ready to extend at this time.

A third country, Turkey, is understood to be satisfied, however, with the draft of an agreement proposed in talks in Ankara.

Diplomatic authorities who disclosed the backstage argument Friday said there seems little chance the agreements will be signed, as had been hoped, at a Baghdad Pact meeting beginning Monday in Karachi, Pakistan.

The United States is negotiating the agreements within the Baghdad Pact framework in keeping with a pledge Secretary of State Dulles made in London July 28. That followed the internal revolt in Iraq, one of the original members of the pact.

Dulles said then that the United States would "promptly enter into agreements with nations in the alliance to give them added security in defense guarantees." He proposed doing this under authority already granted by Congress without the need for formal treaties. Such a course would avoid possibly dangerous delays while the U.S. Senate considered and approved new treaties.

The agreements proposed by the State Department would be a restatement of existing mutual security agreements already signed with them plus some words noting the Middle East resolution approved by Congress March 9, 1957. This resolution gave President Eisenhower authority to use armed force, as well as economic aid, to assist Middle East countries whose independence was threatened by outside attack or subversion.

The department apparently feels that any stronger pledge might require a formal treaty.

In the negotiations, however, Iranian and Pakistani government leaders have criticized the proposed wording of the agreements as far too weak.

Both have requested unequivocal American commitments to come to their aid in the event of attack from any quarter, Communist or non-Communist.

Turkey has made no such objections, mainly because as a member of the 15-nation North Atlantic Pact it believes it has sufficient defense guarantees from the United States.

Tiger 5 Entertains Tornadoes Tonight

Losers of two close district contests, the Tiger basketeers will be out to win their first conference decision tonight when they will entertain the Lamesa Tornadoes at Tiger Gym.

Tipoff time will be at 8 p.m. Meeting in a perliminary game will be the "B" teams of the two schools at 6:30..

Lamesa brings a perfect District 3-AAA record to town tonight having defeated the Sweetwater Mustangs in its lone conference start to date, 53-31.

The Tigers are 0-2 in loop competition, losing to Colorado City 56-43 and Sweetwater 51-42 after leading both teams at halftime.

The Tigers too, will be out to snap a seven-game losing streak tonight. The Bengals had dropped five in a row before district play began and the Black and Gold season record currently stands at 4-10.

Lamesa is just a notch above the .500 mark for the season with 11 victories against 10 defeats.

The Tornadoes are given the best chance of beating out favored Lake View for the 3-AAA title.

The Tigers once again will spot the Tornadoes several inches in height. Bruce Ashton, 6-4 sophomores, has developed into one of the Tornadoes' finest hands.

Howard Westmoreland, at 6-0, leads the Tornadoes in scoring. Westmoreland pumped in 20 points in the Tornado victory over Sweetwater.

Kenneth Barry (5-11), Ronnie round out the starting Tornado lineup.

The Tigers probably will open with Danny Tankersley, 6-2 Jerry Fleming, 5-11 Bill Dubose, 5-10; Stan Hulen, 5-9; and either Jimmy Don Robinson, 6-0, or Larry Patterson, 5-7.

Tankersley continues to lead the Tiger scoring for the season with 141 points in 14 games for a 10-point average. Dubose, however, leads the Tigers in district play with 35 points in two games for a 17.5 average. Dubose hit 15 points against Colorado City and 20 against Lamesa.

For the season Dubose has scored 99 points in 13 games, second high in the Tiger ranks.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

IF SNYDER HIGH SCHOOL can "survive" the next two years in the roundball sport, then things should really start looking up for the Tigers in the cage circles.

The way the Tiger "B" team is going at the moment the Bengals might just come up with a sound ball club next season. After a slow start, Tiger B has now won its last three starts and is going strong.

We believe the Bengals might have developed into a title contender this season had the squad been kept together. But injuries set in to weaken the already-inexperienced Tiger squad.

Jr Hi, Frosh Teams "Hot"

Getting back to our original subject, the two Junior High teams and the Tiger Freshmen are setting a "hot" pace at present.

These three teams have played 31 games between them and have won 27. One of the teams, the 8th graders, is undefeated in 10 starts.

The 7th graders are 8-1 for the season and the Tiger Freshmen are 9-3.

The Tiger Freshmen revenged one of its three defeats last night by defeating Goliad of Big Spring and the Yearlings might get a chance to revenge the other two defeats this weekend at the San Angelo Invitational Tournament.

Both Lee of San Angelo and Lincoln of Abilene, who hold wins over the Tiger Frosh, are entered in the San Angelo tournament.

It looks like the Tigers will have experienced hands flowing through in a couple of years. The thing that's hurting this year is that the first eight boys on last year's squad were seniors and consequently they did most of the playing.

Looking down through the next several years it looks like the Tigers will be equally divided between seniors and underclassmen on the varsity roster.

It's good if you can have it that way to keep some boys with experience coming back each year but sometimes you just can't work it that way.

Bridgers Doubled Salary

Sports at random:

Texas Tech's 61-57 win over TCU last Saturday was the first Raider victory this season that they were outscored from the field-TCU hit 22 fielders to 19 for the Raiders but Tech made up the difference at the free throw line—little Gerald Myers (5-10) is one reason the Raiders are so tough at the charity line—Myers, who ranked second nationally last year in free throws with 67 of 76, has hit 43 of 56 this season for 77 per cent — John Bridgers, the new Baylor coach, more than doubled his Baltimore Colt salary when signing to coach the Bears — Bridgers reportedly received $6,500 as the Colt's defensive coach and he's getting somewhere in the neighborhood of $17,500 at Baylor — four years ago Texas Tech could barely squeeze 2,000 fans into its gym for a basketball game and that was the number who were turned away from the doors of the Coliseum (seating capacity 10,000) the night of the TCU contest.

Ira, Gail Teams Advance In Meet

GAIL, Jan. 23 — Ira, Gail and Ackerly featured play in the opening round of the Gail Invitational Tournament here Thursday, each school winning two games.

Ira swept by Knott in both boys and girls games, as did Ackerly over Highland and Gail over Dawson.

Ira's girls defeated Knott, 39-34, and the Ira boys nipped Knott, 34-33. Pat Patterson with 15 let the Ira girls while Donnell Eubanks led the Ira boys with 16. Woods led the Knott girls with 19, Ray the Knott boys with 15.

Ackerly downed Highland 47-20 in the girls game and 56-54 in the boys game. Bearden led the Ackerly girls with 23 points with Lewis topping the Ackerly boys with 26. McAnear was high for the Highland girls with nine and Owens for the Ackerly boys with 22.

Gail nipped Dawson 30-29 in the girls division and 47-33 in the boys. Rawlings led Gail girls with 16 and Jerry Staggs paced the boys with 21. Blair with 13 led the Dawson girls and Kelly was high for the boys with 16.

Knott and Highland met in the consolation semi-finals this afternoon, starting at 5:30 and 6:45 with Ira and Ackerly clashing at 8:00 and 9:15 in the championship bracket.

Gail drew a bye into the championship finals while Dawson drew a bye into the consolation finals set Saturday night.

Blaik Gives Secret Of Lonesome End

NEW YORK (AP) — Col. Earl (Red) Blaik, most prolific and successful in Army's line of football coaches, at last has made public the secret of the "lonesome end."

Blaik broke a four month silence on the method devised to give end Bill Carpenter — who never went near an offensive huddle — the offensive play when he was honored by the Touchdown Club Thursday night.

"You noticed that Caldwell (quarterback Joe Caldwell) would stand facing the huddle sometimes with his left foot forward a bit," Blaik said.

"Well, that meant a run. If the right foot was forward, there was going to be a pass. If his feet were together there would also be a run.

" Now Carpenter had to take various cuts with each play and he would return the foot signal with a signal of his own to tell Caldwell which way he would go. The cut would be the same for a running or a pass play. His signal would be some motion, such as touching his helmet, tugging at his pants, or the like.

"Now wasn't that simple?" he asked as everyone looked at each other wondering whether it was as simple as Blaik described.

But Blaik steadfastly held to another cherished secret, that of his successor at West Point when his resignation becomes effective Feb. 15. Blaik announced his retirement as Army football coach last week after 17 years at the point.

Blaik received the Touchdown Club award for his 25 years as a head coach, eight of which were spent at Dartmouth before he took over at Army in 1941.

Jr. High, Frosh Sweep 3 From BS

Snyder's three lower class teams the Junior High 7th and 8th grade Blue Devils and the Tiger Freshmen made a clean sweep of three games from Goliad of Big Spring here last night.

The Tiger Frosh staved off a late Goliad rally to win 39-37 while the Blue Devils 8th graders continued unbeaten with a 20-17 win and the 7th graders notched win No. 8 in nine outings with a 33-23 triumph.

Larry McNair pumped in 15 points to lead the Tiger Freshmen past Goliad. Eddie Phy had eight, Steve Free 6, Mike Morris five, Freddie Miller three and David Gan two to round out the Tigers Freshmen scoring.

Jerry Tucker led Goliad with 11 points. The victory was the 9th in 12 starts for the Tiger Freshmen who left today to compete in the San Angelo Junior High Invitational Tournament.

Little Stuart Long bucketed nine points to lead the Blue Devil 8th graders' attack. Glenn Ramsey followed with four, Darrell Aldridge with three and Pat LaFountain and Luke Nigliazzo with two each.

It was a close game all the way with the score tied at 8-8 in the first quarter and the locals holding leads of 14-12 at halftime and 16-15 after three quarters.

Benny Minor and Roy Rice with 14 and 11 points respectively were the big guns in the Blue Devil 7th grade win. Four players, Jimmy Wilson, Billy Stewart, Jackie Stewart and Rickie Nutt rounded out the scoring with two points apiece.

Players Gain Ground On Pension Plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There were two schools of thought at the National Football League's annual winter meeting today. To wit:

1. The players association is making progress toward a pension for pro football players.

2. The players association is being taken for the proverbial ride and has as much chance of getting a pension as a snow ball has of freezing in you know where.

The viewpoint depends on where you sit.

Bill Howton, Green Bay end who doubles as president of the association, and his committee of six feel they are making progress.

Commissioner Bert Bell of the NFL gives the impression of a patient father who is willing to listen, discuss and investigate and then give a reluctant, "No." The owners he directs apparently are of a like mind.

George Preston Marshall, volatile owner of the Washington Redskins, doesn't even bother with diplomacy or niceties. An avowed opponent of the association and its pension request, Marshall sits outside the meeting room like a petulant schoolboy whenever the players discuss the pension with the owners.

Neutral observers believe the pension doesn't have a chance unless some magic formula is evolved to produce $213,000 in league contributed money to finance the plan.

In a nutshell, the plan involves a contribution of $213,000 from league sources and $125,000 from the players themselves. The plan would give the players, at age 65, $100 a month if they played five years in the league. The benefits go up $10 a month for each year of service over five.

National TV Audience To See Oscar In Action Tomorrow

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Young Mr. Robertson of Cincinnati, who was awarded an Oscar long before he became a basketball star, tries for a television Emmy Saturday afternoon.

The first appearance of All-America Oscar on the national TV college basketball series on NBC comes as the Big O and his Cincinnati Bearcats meet Xavier of Ohio at Cincinnati Gardens.

This one's for the championship of Cincinnati and, in addition to giving you a look at the fellow considered the best of the collegians, ought to be quite a tussle.

Despite an 8-5 record, Xavier fields much the same team that clicked late last season for an underdog's rush to the National Invitation Tournament title. Cincinnati, with Robertson scoring at a 32.5 pace and handling the brunt of the rebounds and assists, has won 10 of 12 games and ranks sixth nationally.

Coach Jim McCafferty and his Xavier Musketeers have pointed all season to the game with Cincinnati, hoping to convince the country there's more to basketball in the Ohio city than Oscar Robertson.

Hank Stein, a fiery backcourt man, and Joe Viviano, a 6-5 scorer-rebounder, trigger the Xavier attack—one that is potentially exceptional off last season's showing but disappointing so far this campaign.

As for Robertson, in case you've been buried in a storm cellar, don't usually cotton up to radios, newspapers and magazines, and don't have truck with word of mouth reports, here's a brief rundown.

He's a 6-5, 200-pound Negro from Indianapolis who went to Cincinnati as one of the highest prized schoolboy players in the history of Indiana's hotbed of basketball. He set all school records with the freshman team, set all-time collegiate season scoring records for a sophomore with the varsity last year, and was an overwhelming choice for All-America. Now a junior, he rates as surely the best all-around college player in the land.

Among other things, he's been a boon to the vocabularies of the sportswriters. They started describing him as great and brilliant, went on to amazing and sensational, and have been searching for additional superlatives ever since.

The Cincinnati-Xavier game touches off the return to action of most of the major teams this week-end after a week or more of midterm examinations.

There are a handful of major tests Friday night — West Virginia-Western Kentucky, Brigham Young-Utah, Oregon State-Washington State, and Montana State-Seattle are a few — before the courts resound again with some 40 big pairings Saturday night.

Amateur Cage Tournament In 'Scramble'

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Another victory by host Chile and official threats of forfeiture to balky Russia and Bulgaria left the world amateur basketball championships in a scramble today.

Chile, which sat out preliminary rounds as the host nation, raced to its second straight victory in the final seven-team round robin competition last night, 83-71 after Brazil had won its opening game, 94-76 over Nationalist China.

The hinese also figured in the Russian-Bulgarian situation. The Communist pair, having reaffirmed its decision not to play Nationalist China because "they do not represent a nation," now faces forfeiture of all victories by the International Basketball Federation.

If Russia refuses to play China Jan. 30 and Bulgaria does not go through with its scheduled game Jan. 31, the international group ruled, the teams would not only forfeit those games but would have all other victories in the tournament taken away. Each team plays the other in the round robin windup.

Russia has a 1-0 record in the finals, having beaten Puerto Rico 84-55 Wednesday night. Bulgaria lost its opener after three preliminary victories, 63-58 to the United States.

Field Closely Bunched In Thunderbird

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Long-hitting Paul Harney and Jim Ferree, a pair of former college golf stars, led the way into the second round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Tournament today.

Harney, 29, who on occasion can outdrive the prodigious George Bayer, and Ferree, 27, who once won the intercollegiate driving title while attending the University of North Carolina, went into the second 18 holes tied at 66, five strokes under par.

The setting is the exclusive Thunderbird Country Club with par 36-35-71 for its 6,800 yards.

Of the 41 invited professionals competing, 28 shot the first round under par.

Today's round promised further close competition. Nine players were within one stroke of the leaders, four just two strokes off the pace, and eight were deadlocked in the 69 bracket.

Such topnotchers as Masters champion Arnold Palmer and Doug Ford and Billy Maxwell were in the 67 group. Defending Thunderbird champion Ken Venturi is in the thick of things with a 68.

United States Open champion Tommy Bolt and a three-time winner of the tournament, Jimmy Demaret, along with such threats as Mike Souchak and Bo Wininger, were tied at 69.

Harney, who golfed for Holy Cross in his college years, scored 32-34-66 in the first round. Going into his final hole, he knew he had to make a birdie three to tie Ferree, and he did it.

Ferree, who won last year's British Columbia Centennial, made the tour in 36-30. He missed only one green and banged in five birdies on the back nine.

Massive Cold Wave Knifes Across Eastern Half Of U. S.

By The Associated Press

A massive cold wave knifed across the Eastern half of the country today in the wake of winter's most severe and destructive weather, which left a heavy toll of dead and homeless.

Storms abated, and floods in some areas appeared easing. But the punishing blows from the violent midwinter snow, sleet, and rain storms and floods left many sections staggering.

Conditions were in the disaster stage in some of the flood-stricken regions.

At least 88 persons were dead from floods and other effects of the storms in 14 states from New Mexico to the Eastern seaboard.

Damage to property was in the millions of dollars. No estimate could be made of the human misery and suffering in the flooded sections of Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky and Indiaana.

Although the influx of cold weather appeared lessening the flood danger in some of the five states, thousands remained homeless. The cold also added to the suffering. Downstate communities still were threatened by further damage and evacuations.

Thousands of workers were idled in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York as steel mills, coal mines, and other industries shut down because of floods. Roads were inundated, curtailing travel. Hundreds of schools remained closed.

A state of emergency was declared in many sections of western Pennsylvania and some Ohio cities.

A dozen coal miners were either trapped or drowned when overflows from the swollen Susquehanna River poured into an anthracite mine near Pittston, in northeast Pennsylvania. Thirty-three other miners got out. Twenty-six of them were rescued after wandering through the tunnels in waist-deep water for seven hours, while seven others escaped by climbing an air shaft.

The threat of serious flooding in Pittsburgh passed, but the swollen Ohio River menaced downstream areas as it surged into Wheeling, W.Va., Steubenville and possibly East Liverpool, Ohio.

The flooding Allegheny River and its tributaries caused heavy damage in western Pennsylvania.

Ohio reported 12 persons lost their lives in the floods, the worst in the state in 25 years. Other storm-related deaths included 13 each in Illinois and Wisconsin; Iowa 8, Indiana, Texas, and Michigan 6 each; Kansas, Kentucky, and New York 5 each; New Mexico 3; Oklahoma and Missouri 2 each, and New Jersey and Pennsylvania, 1 each.

The fresh outbreak of cold weather was not expected to moderate much during the day, except in Southern areas.

The widespread variety of intense storms which have pounded the Eastern two thirds of the country this week ended Thursday as the front, with cold dry air clashing with warm moist air, moved across the coast and out into the atlantic.

That left most of the country east of the Rockies covered by a giant cold air mass, with only light precipitation. This was mostly snow flurries in the Great Lakes region and light scattered showers in eastern Florida.

Nearly normal winter weather prevailed west of the Rockies.

Weather Warfare May Be Important

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) says weather warfare may some day be more effective than missiles in bringing a nation to its knees.

"Weather warfare could be so applied that the operator of the modification could not only damage his opponent but escape undamaged himself — something that might not be said of multimegaton thermonuclear blasts," Anderson said.

He addressed a symposium of weather modification Thursday night.

"Who needs to be told how long it would take to bring the United States to her knees if it lay in the power of another country to deny us at will our drinking water or our wheat crop, to alternately freeze us or burn us up, to flood our cities and scorch our farms?" he asked.

Two top meteoroligists joined Anderson in urging intensive further research on weather control techniques.

Dr. Horace R. Byers of the University of Chicago said progress in weather modification has been distressingly slow since such studies were started 12 years ago. He said this was mainly because most of the effort had gone into trying to apply principles that were too poorly understood instead of doing basic research on atmospheric processes.

Dr. Edward A. Ackerman of the Carnegie Institution of Washington said a new federal agency should be set up to promote basic research in the field.

Ackerman said "the exploration of outer space has captured our minds and our funds. However, it does not yet offer the same wide vista (beneficially) altering the conditions of life for the human race as manipulation of the atmosphere."

The symposium was sponsored by Resources for the Future Inc., a research and educational agency supported by the Ford Foundation.

Stans Says Revenue Is Ike's Guide

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Budget Director Maurice H. Stans said today the Eisenhower administration wants to meet all essential needs of the people, but only as revenues permit.

"For the present," Stans said, "we will go as far as we can."

In a speech prepared for the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, he said that we believe in meeting all the essential needs of our people. We will meet them when we can do so without a budget deficit."

The budget which President Eisenhower sent to Congress Monday envisions a surplus of 70 million dollars and spending of just over 77 billions.

Stans said a Republican congressman, unnamed, remarked several weeks ago that if Eisenhower balances the budget, "it would be the neatest hat trick of the year."

The budget chief added: "Let me assure you that it wasn't done with mirrors, hats, rabbits, or other props of that description, nor was it done with a broad. . . ."

He said the coming year will be the most prosperous in American history and added that "if ever there is a time when the federal government should live within its means, it is in periods of prosperity." He said this is the wrong time to operate in the red.

Dulles Seeks New Ideas On German Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has urged U.S. allies, particularly West Germany, to produce some basic new ideas on German reunification for possible proposal to the Soviet Union.

Reporting this Friday, informants said that Dulles and his advisers are particularly interested in the possibility that a plan might be devised for a German confederation. They are looking for some plan which would offer a constructive, fresh approach to reuniting Germany and on which the Soviet government might be willing to negotiate.

In the U.S. view any confederation plan would have to provide at least for a central government with control over such matters as foreign policy. Moscow proposed confederation in a Jan. 10 note but indicated it would be little more than a facade for continuing West Germany and Communist East Germany as completely independent states.

The German problem is being attacked on three fronts in the biggest review since 1955 of where the West stands on this whole crucial matter:

1. The most immediate problem is to prepare a reply to the Soviet Jan. 10 note, which calls for a 28-nation peace conference in March to write a German peace treaty. A peace treaty draft, which the Western governments branded as unacceptable, was offered at the same time. There is a possibility that the West may suggest a different set of peace treaty principles. But the probability is that the Western powers will call for a Big Four meeting of foreign ministers or deputy foreign ministers by early May to discuss the whole German problem.

2. Related to the problem of a reply is the more fundamental question of how the Western powers can seize the initiative with constructive proposals if they get into formal talks with the Soviet government on German issues. The United States, Britain, France and the German Federal Republic are forming a working group of State Department and embassy officials which will begin active work on the possibilities early next month.

3. Behind the policy review is the danger of a new Berlin crisis developing in May. This will result if Premier Nikita Khrushchev goes through with his plan to turn over to East Germany Soviet occupation authority in East Berlin and over the communications lines between West Germany and West Berlin.

If the lines are interrupted, the question will arise immediately how the Western powers intend to supply their troops and, if necessary, feed the 2,200,000 people living in West Berlin.

High officials said Friday that there has been no agreement yet among the allies on this critical problem. They are still considering an airlift, the device that broke the 1948-49 blockade. They are still considering the use of force if necessary to try to keep highways and rail lines open.

Diplomats report that the British government strongly favors the airlift plan but frowns upon use of force, while the United States and France feel that if the situation develops badly, force may be their only alternative to preserve their Berlin rights.

American officials are hopeful, however, that the combination of solid Allied firmness in Berlin and willingness to negotiate on the whole German question will persuade the Russians to handle the prospective crisis in such a way as to prevent any need for even a limited military showdown.

The National Fire Protection Assn., a non-profit membership organization, insists that 90 percent of fires are preventable.

Gunman Hits Two Stores In 10 Minutes

DALLAS (AP)—A tough, gray gunman held up two liquor stores in 10 minutes here last night, escaped with $250 and raised his score of successful Dallas stickups to seven in seven days.

Victims at last night's holdup sites looked at police photos of George Albert Scott, 37—a San Quentin graduate wanted for eight holdups and a murder in California, two El Paso stickups plus his Dallas crimes—and told officers "That's the man."

Homicide Capt. Will Fritz believes Scott is the same gunman who staged a $2,500 robbery last Thursday night at El Fenix Restaurant, where he pistol-whipped a victim and fired one shot escaping. Tuesday night, he said, Scott held up three East Dallas taverns in quick succession. Previously, police believe, he held up two Dallas food stores.

California authorities say Scott is charged with slaying film executive Kenneth F. Savoy during a holdup at a West Coast bar.

QUESTION: Why does heavy cream rise to the top of a milk bottle?

* * *

ANSWER: Just as meat has fat, so does milk. This is the cream. "Heavy cream" is a name used by dairies to mean the thickest possible part of the fatty substance, while "light cream" is more like milk. Actually, cream is lighter than milk and rises to the top.

Cream is what butter is made from. If cream is beaten or "churned" long enough, it turns into butter.

It may be that the bottle of milk you buy doesn't have a layer of cream at the top. This is homogenized milk. Through the process of homogenization, the bits of fat — or cream — are broken into very tiny pieces which mix with the milk.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Put a little cream in a small jar, seal it tightly and shake vigorously. Or, put some in a dish and beat it with your mother's rotary beater. If you shake, or beat, long enough, you might be able to churn a small amount of butter.

Republicans Seek More Patronage

By JACK BELL

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Patronage-hungry Republicans had a pledge from GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn today that party officials will have a hand in filling 100,000 census-taker jobs.

With the Republican National Committee indicating approval of an ambitious program to sell its candidates to the voters in 1960, Alcorn moved to chink up some of the cracks in party harmony.

One of these has been the Eisenhower administration's reputed failure to consult with members of Congress and local officials in handing out federal jobs. Another has been Alcorn's failure to check with congressional leaders on 1960 campaign plans.

John B. Martin Jr., Michigan national committeeman, brought the patronage matter out into the open with the observation that he had been informed the Commerce Department will hire 100,000 persons in its 1960 census operation.

Martin said he wants to be sure deserving Republicans share liberally in this windfall, which he said would provide employment for several months at pay ranging up to $400 a month.

Alcorn replied that this matter "is well in hand." He said he had conferred with Secretary of Commerce Strauss and other high administration officials and had been assured that the patronage is going to be available through local Republican channels.

Alcorn lacked any immediate solution, however, of an issue raised by Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown, Ohio committeewoman. She contended that Republicans in Congress had not been consulted in advance about the long-range program the chairman laid before the National Committee Thursday.

Alcorn replied sharply that he had drawn up the program at the President's request. He said he had submitted it to Eisenhower as a confidential memo and had not cleared it with anyone.

Among other things, Alcorn proposed that the Republicans set up a survey committee to recommend in three months a statement of party intentions on major issues. Some Republicans said they regard this as paralleling the Democratic Advisory Council, which has been at odds often with the Democratic leaders in Congress.

The fact that he and other GOP leaders in Congress had not been asked for their views before Alcorn laid down his program to the national committee was said to have contributed to the critical blast fired at President Eisenhower Thursday by Rep. Richard Simpson (R-Pa).

Simpson, head of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, won vigorous applause when he proposed that Eisenhower devote to the party some of the "unremitting effort" toward year-around campaigning the President called for from Republican workers.

Mrs. Power and the actor were married in Tunica, Miss., last May 8. She was Power's third wife. He had two daughters by actress Linda Christian, Francesca, 7, and Taryn, 5. His first wife was Annabella, French actress.

Mrs. Power's baby, born at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, weighed five pounds, 12 ounces. He was named Tyrone.

Candidate Joins Club In Big Way

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Marion Overby joined the 20-30 club in a big way.

At his initiation Thursday, fellow members of the local Civic Club dressed him in a tuxedo, vest and tie and sent him into a hotel lobby with 10 lead pencils. He was to sell them for at least $1.

Overby came back with $30 after selling the pencils, his vest and his tie to an unidentified man.

19 Elephants Snarl Traffic

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Nineteen elephants came to town Thursday and snarled traffic something awful.

When the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus pulled into Miami, it was still 10 miles from Miami Beach where the show opens today.

There is no railroad to Miami Beach, so the elephants had to walk.

The shortest route across Biscayne Bay is via Venetian Causeway, but nobody could figure out the toll for an elephant. So the elephants went over the McArthur Causeway, which is longer but free.

The drawbridge, between Miami and Miami Beach, went up to let two boats through.

DIVORCE & REMARRIAGE

(Question) "Does God allow divorce for every cause?"

(Answer) Though you may have wondered about the above question, yet our readers did not submit this question. The Pharisees asked this while trying to find Jesus in opposition with Moses. Note the answer Jesus gave. "And he answered and said, have ye not read, that he who made them from the beginning made them male and female, and said, For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother and shall cleave to his wife; and the two shall become one flesh . . . what therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder . . . whosoever shall put away his wife, except for fornication and shall marry another, committeth adultery; and he that marrieth her when she is put away committeth adultery." (Matt. 19:3-6, 9) Comments on this language could hardly make it plainer. The laws of our land may legalize that which the Christian under God's law could not do. Our government may grant divorce on other grounds than the one Jesus gave, but those who honor God's word and expect to reach heaven live first by the Royal Law of Christ. Some states and counties will license people to sell alcholic drinks, operate gambling devices and houses of prostitution. This does not mean that God approves. Any time a Christian forsakes God by departing from his word, God will forsake that person. Are you living in adultery today? Time cannot render an unholy alliance, holy. " . . . know thou the God of thy father, and serve him with a perfect heart and a willing mind: if thou seek him he will be found of thee; but if thou forsake him he will cast thee off for ever." (1 Chronicles 28:9)

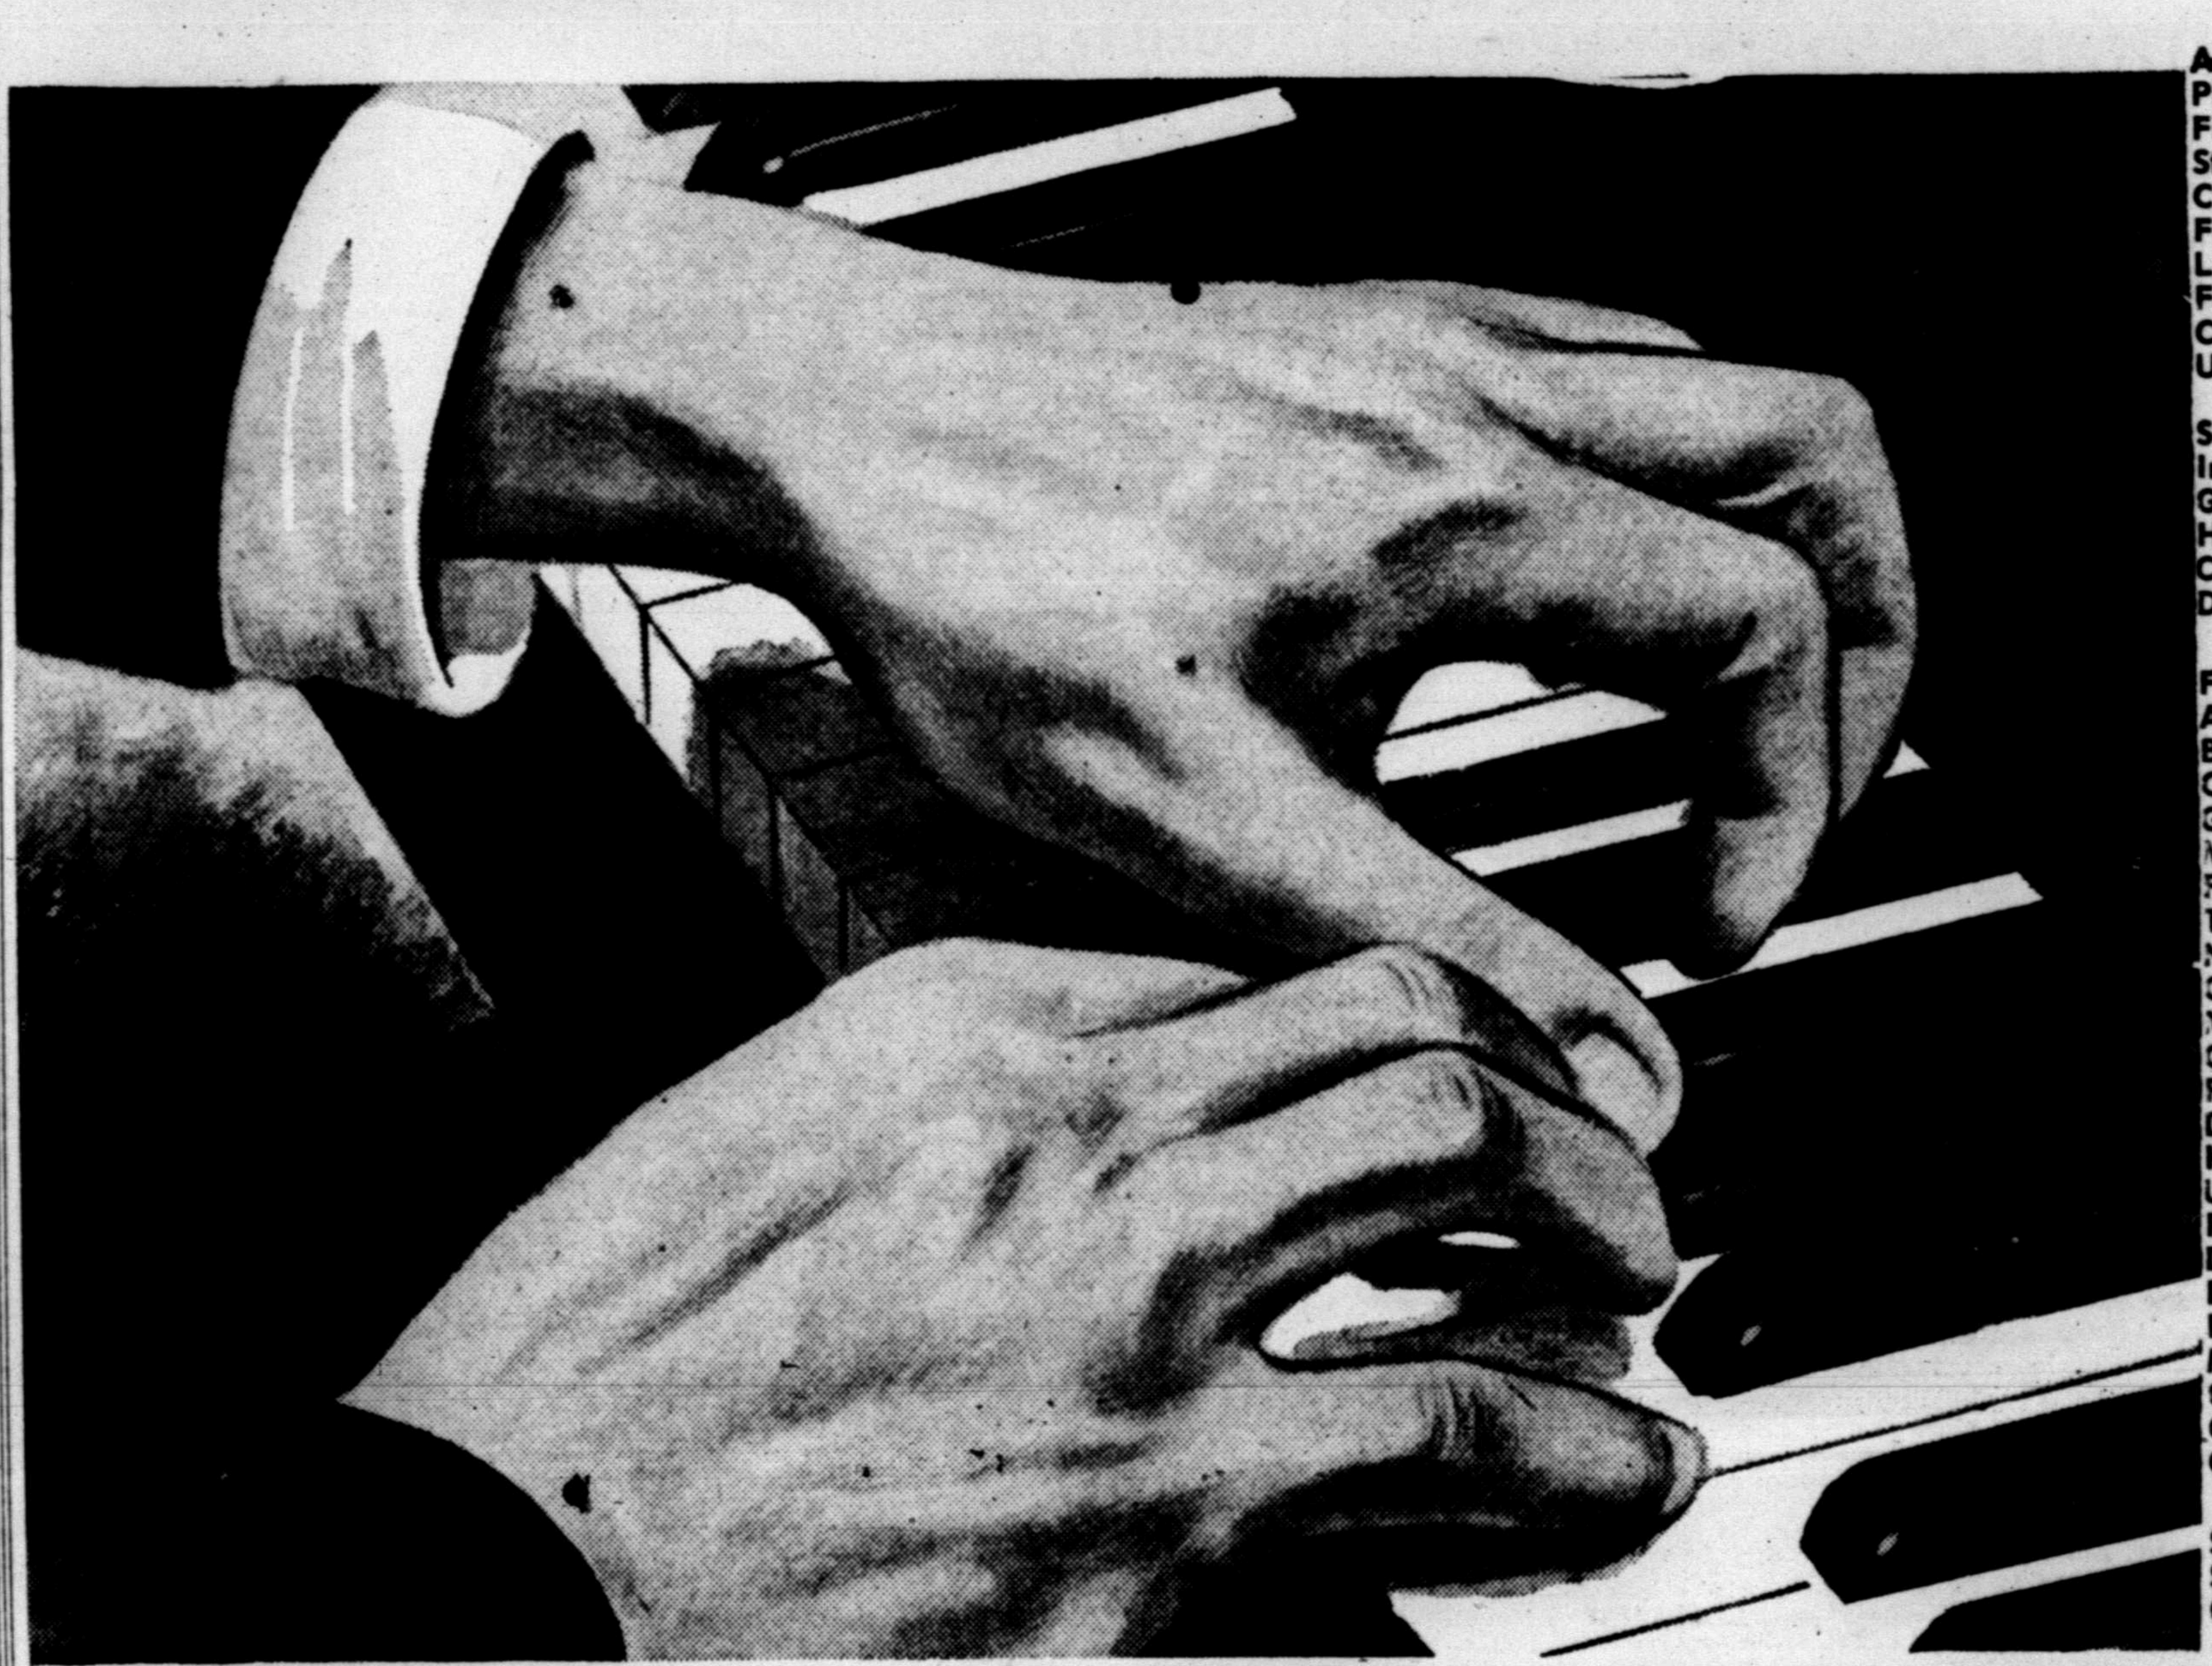
INSPIRATION

The Public Spirited Firms and Individuals on this page bring you this weekly message in the hope that it will point to a better way of life and be an inspiration to everyone.



What makes a champion? What is that extra force inherent in a great leader, teacher, musician, scientist, or a Christian? This extra force, this compelling quality, this something has a current all its own . . . out-shining our every-day efforts. It turns the common into the outstanding. It has been called "inspiration" and surely it must be just that. Want to possess it??? Of course! – then keep an open heart, a clear unprejudiced mind, clean body, and a receptiveness to the will and word of God. Learn of Him through regular church attendance and daily reading of His word. Only through God may we find this something, – this force, – this inspiration. "There is a spirit in man: and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding."
