Insull Is To Be Arrested On Arrival In Port Today

Sensational Flight Ends As Chicago Magnate Is Located On Steamer Bound For Egypt

Greek Government Officials Are Ired By Attempted Escape And Insull Probably Will Be Turned Over To Americans; Details Of Flight Made Public After An Investigation

(Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press)

ATHENS, March 16—Samuel Insull, whose sensational attempt to escape on a Greek tramp steamer was frustrated today by irate government officials, will be arrested immediately on his return tomorrow and turned over to American authorities.

He probably will be placed on the first American-bound steamer, it was indicated officially tonight, or, if any delay threatens such a course, he will be sent directly across the border within 24 hours.

Insull, aged former financier who is wanted in the United States to face embezzlement and larceny charges, was near the island of Crete when authorities established contact by wireless with his boat, the freighter Maitois, and ordered its master to turn about.

Following indications of Premier Tsaldaris' government that it will not hesitate to put the fugitive immediately in the hands of American officials, police said tonight he will be placed on the first boat or train.

—Mrs. Insull and the governess she brought to Greece were in the status today of undesirable aliens. They also were expected to be hustled out of the country with Insull.

His arrest on landing will be on a technical charge of violating the port code, it was learned, on the grounds that the Maiotis is a cargo boat and has no right to carry passengers.

It was reported that the fleeing Insull chartered the boat at a cost of $10,000.

Broke Aliens' Law

Tsaldaris in an interview tonight said:

"The reason we require Insull's return is that he broke the aliens' law. All foreigners on entering or leaving any country must conform to the laws governing them.

"Although he was under supervision here he escaped. We want to know how he escaped and where he is going.

"After this inquiry is concluded, he will and must leave Greece."

Carried Out Orders

Mrs. Insull previously declared her husband was merely carrying out the Greek government's orders that he leave the country.

She said if he left secretly it was because he feared to fall into American hands.

How the former Chicagoan was traced to the grimy and sea-battered freighter was disclosed tonight by police, who said his whereabouts were discovered through the questioning of an unnamed person last night and the interception of a telegram this morning from London.

The message referred to payment for a conveyance from Greece. Officers said the amount mentioned in the telegram was about $7,500.

Had Obtained Visa

It was learned on good authority that Insull had obtained a Rumanian visa.

Pastor Chosen McMurry Head

Dr. O. P. Clark Of Abilene Is Named Successor To Dr. J. W. Hunt; His Appointment Will Be Only Temporary

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, March 16.—Dr. O. P. Clark, pastor of the St. Paul Methodist church here, will—temporarily—succeed the late Dr. J. W. Hunt to the presidency of McMurry college. Appointment by the executive committee of the board of trustees and acceptance of the proffered post were made known tonight, after Dr. Clark had conferred with the St. Paul board of stewards. Dr. Hunt died at his home here last Monday night.

Meeting Friday afternoon, the executive board picked Dr. Clark, one of its members, as acting president, and instructed S. M. Jay, chairman of the board, to issue a statement defining his duties.

Tenure Temporary

The statement, released tonight, said the board had deemed it "advisable to elect an acting president, and thereby give the board more time for the selection of the president." In accepting the appointment Dr. Clark required the distinct understanding that his tenure would be temporary.

Dr. Clark is present chairman of the executive committee of the Texas educational committee of the Southern Methodist Episcopal church and a member of the Texas centennial commission. Last Tuesday he returned from Dallas where he made plans for a meeting of his educational commission there April 6. He was presiding elder of the Sweetwater district before accepting the St. Paul pastorate late in 1933.

Martin Insull Soon May Face Chicago Court

Associate In Gigantic Group Of Utilities Loses Fight In Canada Against Return To United States

(By The Associated Press)

TORONTO, March 16.—Martin J. Insull, the brother and associate of Samuel Insull in utilities companies once valued at $4,000,000,000, today was ordered extradited to the United States.

Chief Justice Sir William Muloch approved the order, after Insull appealed from a previous extradition document through which Cook county, Ill., seeks to bring him to trial on embezzlement and grand larceny charges.

End Of Long Fight

The decision was considered an end to the months-long fight Insull has put up against a return to Chicago.

This was started nearly 17 months ago when he was arrested in Orillia, Ontario, after the collapse of the utilities companies.

Previously Justice A. C. Kingstone found the charges facing him in Illinois constituted theft charges in Canada. An appeal was immediately instituted and Insull's bail was raised from $10,000 to $20,000.

Insull, who attended today's court hearing, was subsequently held to await the arrival of American authorities.

Spends Night In Jail

Sir William asked J. C. McCruer, Insull's counsel, if the defendant would surrender, to which the attorney replied, "yes, my lord."

(The justice department in Washington said it was considering extradition proceedings against Martin J. Insull, but added it was awaiting an appellate decision in the Illinois courts in litigation brought by the state to return him from Canada.)

Insull spent tonight in a jail cell at Don prison.

EL PASO, March 16. (AP)—Josephus Daniels U. S. ambassador to Mexico, arrived in El Paso late today to take part in the celebration of the straightening of the Rio Grande channel.

The ambassador was greeted on his arrival in Juarez, across the international boundary from El Paso, with military pomp. Mexican cavalry under command of Brig. Gen. Gaspar de la Garza Ruiz, formed a guard of honor.

Bids For Relief Bonds Will Be Opened In Austin Today

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP)—Bids for $4,000,000 in Texas state bonds, proceeds to be used in helping the needy, will be opened tomorrow.

Officials of the state commission, agency that is charged with printing and selling the securities, said a "number of envelopes that looked like they contained bids," had been received.

SUPPORT ROOSEVELT

CWA Workers Go On Strike

Thousands Of Men Quit Jobs In New York State; Strikes In Two Sections Are Said To Be Settled

(By The Associated Press)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 16.—Strikes of CWA laborers spread through New York state today, taking in 4,500 men at Syracuse, 400 at Solvay, 350 at Rome, 200 at Batavia, 40 at Glen Falls and 2,000 at Buffalo, but before the day closed, the strikes at Buffalo and Rome had been settled.

At Buffalo, where the 2,000 dropped their tools at a stone quarry this morning, the men agreed to go back to work after an order spreading their 24 hours over five days was withdrawn in favor of three eight hour days. Wages were not in question.

To Return Today

At Rome, after a conference with William A. Wolff, City CWA administrator, and an address by Police Chief J. T. Owens, the men, representing all but a hundred of the laborers on the rolls, agreed to return to their jobs tomorrow pending negotiations looking to readjustment of their wage rate or number of hours.

In all other cases the strikes were in protest against pay cuts.

Meanwhile Governor Lehman conferred with President Roosevelt in Washington about "the whole relief situation" and emerged from the White House saying he was "very hopeful we will work something out." He went there prepared to paint the "serious situation" likely to result from demobilization in his state, scheduled for April 1.

Jim Ferguson In Receptive Mood For Committeeman Post

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP)—James E. Ferguson, former governor and husband of the incumbent chief executive of Texas, is in a receptive attitude toward a place, now vacant, as national Democratic committeeman from this state, he said today.

He indicated that should his friends importune him to accept membership on the committee to succeed Jed C. Adams of Dallas, resigned, he would accept. He said a number already had mentioned the appointment to him.

The state Democratic executive committee, controlled by the Ferguson administration, has been called to meet in Houston March 24, when the national vacancy and other matters will be discussed.

Indiana Deputy Declares That Dillinger Did Not Make His Escape With Wooden Gun; He Will Offer Evidence

(By The Associated Press)

PORT HURON, Mich., March 16.—John Dillinger's negro aide in his sensational wooden-gun escape from an Indiana jail lay dead tonight—the victim of his own boasting and the guns of four St. Clair county officers—and the trail of the fugitive "cop killer" again was hot.

Herbert Youngblood, who was facing a murder charge when he accompanied Dillinger in a break from the Crown Point, Ind., jail on March 3, died this afternoon a few hours after he had shot it out with Sheriff L. Van Antwerp and three deputies. They had gone in search of a negro who boasted of a successful jail break, and cornered Youngblood in a small store.

Two Are Wounded

Two of the deputies—Undersheriff Charles Cavanaugh and Howard Lohr—were wounded seriously in the chest; Sheriff Van Antwerp received a bullet in one arm, but from his hospital bed he directed the search for Dillinger who, Youngblood said, he had seen only last night.

In Michigan and Ontario, police were patrolling the highways, for the outlaw bank robber was variously reported speeding toward Detroit with two men in a small automobile, and to have crossed the St. Clair river into Canada, in a rowboat.

Others Assisting

Assisting in the manhunt were Capt. Matt Leach, of the Indiana state police, who was in Detroit when today's shooting occurred, and John L. Murphy, an agent of the U. S. department of investigation. Four officers from Crown Point, Ind., left for Port Huron as soon as word of the latest develop-

Governor Ferguson Approves Texas Centennial Proposal

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today approved a bill providing for the creation of a commission which would make preliminary plans for an exposition to celebrate Texas' centennial in 1936.

It carries an appropriation of $100,000 to defray expenses of the commission incident to planning the Lone Star state's 100th birthday party. The commission would report its plans to the next legislature. Among other things it would recommend a site for the centennial, which its sponsors hoped to build on a scale that would attract international attention.

BELTON, March 16. (AP)—A jury trying Fred Blair, Killeen city marshal, for the slaying of Jim Baker, also of Killeen, was discharged today when it failed to agree after deliberating 38 hours.

Doye Arnold Is Given Death In Killing Of Wife

BAIRD, March 16. (AP)—Doye Arnold again was sentenced to death today upon conviction for the beating to death of his former wife, Zelma, on a Breckenridge street Sept. 10, 1932.

Arnold was unmoved when the jury returned its verdict after almost a day of deliberation. His attorneys indicated they would appeal, as they did after the first death penalty was returned at Breckenridge less than two months after his wife was beaten on the head with a rock.

The defense at the trial here sought to show that Arnold was insane and that his wife threatened him a short time before she was killed when she told him she had obtained a divorce while he was serving a prison term for automobile theft.

Injunction On Beer Sales Is Won By State

Alexander And Combs Ordered To Make $4,000 Bond Here; Fifteen Persons Are Freed On $300 Bond Each

The state won its first beer injunction suit in 72nd district court Friday afternoon.

While the sheriff's department was serving indictments charging sale of 3.2 beer, Judge Homer L. Pharr ordered Jack Alexander and A. L. Combs to make $4,000 bond to keep open a filling station the two operate here.

Evidence Presented

The prosecutors, County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson and Assistant District Attorney Burton S. Burks, presented evidence tending to show intoxicating liquors had been sold at the station. Unless the bond, pledging that intoxicating liquors will not be sold or given away at the place, is executed, the station will be closed, County Attorney Wilson said.

Alexander, charged in county court with sale of one bottle of 3.2 beer, and Combs were not present during the hearing.

Fifteen Free On Bond

Fifteen Lubbock and Slaton persons, each charged by indictment with sale of 3.2 beer, were released on $300 bond yesterday, the sheriff's department said. Only two other persons indicted had not been arrested. They were out of Lubbock Chief Deputy Sheriff Bedford Car-

Expert Medical Testimony Heard In San Marcos Case

SAN MARCOS, March 16. (AP)—Expert medical testimony and a graphic recital of Claude E. Kelley's own version of the attack in which he was mortally wounded marked the trial today of Mateo Cuellar and Julian Ybarra on murder charges in connection with his death.

Kelley gave a pantomime exhibition at his parents' home near Lubbock to his brother, Norman, several days after he was beaten and Norman and several physicians testified. Kelley was unable to talk or otherwise express himself although he understood questions asked of him.

Truce Called By NRA Delays Auto Walkout

Mediation Plan Of Johnson Is Administration Hope To End Strike Threat; Fear Recovery Program Endangered

Proposals Made

Labor Leaders Demand Federal Enforcement Of Industrial Recovery Act; Conferences Are Scheduled Monday

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 16. — A five-day truce in the struggle between the automobile industry and the union men of its shops resulted today from the intervention of NRA in a determined effort to prevent a strike which might seriously threaten the recovery program.

With the executive committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce called to consider on Monday a mediation plan proposed by Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, labor leaders postponed the threatened walkout until Wednesday.

Must Be Satisfactory

"If the answer is not satisfactory," said William Collins, chief organizer for the Detroit area, "the plants will be closed down Wednesday and work will remain suspended until the government does enforce the national industrial recovery act."

The principal issue involved is the company union. American Federation of Labor officials asserted the right of organization set forth in the recovery act had not been permitted by the employers of the industry.

Instead they contended, the employers have sought to establish company dominated unions and have used coercion and discrimination to prevent their employes from joining other labor organizations.

Agreement Expected

Johnson subsequently issued a statement saying it seemed "very probable" that Monday's meeting would produce a plan agreeable to both sides, based upon NRA suggestions. The executive committee, he pointed out, has authority to act for the entire coded automobile industry and its decision will be official.

Johnson had suggested two methods of settlement: (1) The creation

House Delays Bankhead Vote

Work On Cotton Control Bill Will Continue Today; Many Amendments Are Offered For Acreage Reduction

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Numberless amendments and continuing arguments forced the house to adjourn again today before it passed the Bankhead cotton control bill.

Because of the desire of the leaders to get the measure to the senate as speedily as possible, the house agreed, however, to forego its usual week-end recess and continue work on the bill tomorrow.

Feature Is Behind

Behind was one of the most controversial features of the bill—that tying the cotton control program in with others crop reduction plans promulgated under the agricultural adjustment administration.

The bill would fix the total cotton crop of the nation at 10,000,000 bales for this year. Each farmer would be given a certificate stating how much of that he could produce without paying a tax of 50 per cent of what he received for the cotton when sold.

Amendment Approved

As reported to the house by the committee, there was no provision to correlate cotton with other reduction programs. But the committee subsequently approved this amendment, which was adopted today over bitter opposition:

"No allotment shall be made to any producer unless he agrees to comply with such conditions and limitations on the production of agricultural commodities by him as the secretary of agriculture may, from time to time, prescribe, to assure the co-operation of such produced in the reduction programs of the agricultural adjustment administration and to prevent expansion of competitive production by such producer of agricultural commodities other than cotton."

British Leaders Reported Killed In Big Massacre

MOSCOW, March 16. (AP)—Several members of the British consulate's staff tonight were reported killed or wounded and 2,000 Uyguns, comprising most of the civil population of the town of Dashgar in Sinkiang, Chinese Turkestan, were massacred in fierce fighting between rebellious Tungan natives and forces of the newly-proclaimed "independent government."

This information was contained in reports from Tashkent.

Kashgar itself was virtually sacked during combat which occurred when Tungan detachments attacked the town and rescued a garrison of Tungans, which was besieged in a fortress there by independent government troops.

Three Texans Are Convicted In Bond Trail

Federal Court Jury Returns Verdicts; Two Others Found Not Guilty; Sentence To Be Pronounced Today

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, March 16.—Three men, including a former president of a San Antonio bank and an attorney, were convicted by a federal court jury here today of conspiracy to dispose of $546,000 in bonds stolen in New York and Chicago.

Z. D. Bonner, former president of the Commercial National bank here, bronzed cattleman-banker-sportsman, and John H. Cunningham, formerly one of the bank's attorneys, were placed in the county jail tonight, along with June B. Morrow, the third defendant in the case convicted.

Arrested In December

Bonner was arrested last December 21 as he prepared to leave his home for his downtown office, dressed characteristically in cowboy hat and high-heeled boots. Cunningham was arrested the same day on a train at Austin, enroute to St. Louis, and was returned here.

Each of the three men convicted faces a maximum sentence of five years imprisonment and $5,000 fine on five counts of embezzlement, five counts of misapplication of the bank's funds, and five counts of making false entries in the bank's books. Cunningham and Morrow of aiding and abetting Bonner in the transactions through which the bank purchased $531,000 worth of stolen government bonds, a general

Administration Forces Are Saved By A Scant Margin

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP)—The scant margin of one vote today saved administration forces from defeat in the house on veterans payments in the dispute-provoking independent offices supply bill.

The measure was sent to conference for adjustment of differences between the senate and house on restoration of federal pay and veterans legislation by a count of 190 to 189 as the climax of a gruelling day in the chamber.

DeVitt Estate Is Set At $365,000

Estate of the late David M. DeVitt, pioneer Texas rancher, was estimated at $365,000 in an application for probate of the DeVitt will filed yesterday in the county clerk's office.

The will of Mr. DeVitt, who died recently in California, named Sam C. Arnett of Lubbock and David A. Murphy of Kansas City as executors of the estate. Beneficiaries were Mr. DeVitt's daughters, Christine DeVitt and Mrs. Helen D. Secrist. The widow retained her share of the community property.

Major portion of the estate, the will set out, was in shares in the Mallett Land and Cattle company. Mr. DeVitt requested that this stock be kept intact or that shares were sold at the same time.

The Mallett ranch was situated on the South Plains.

CHANGE IS MADE

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP)—The war department announced today that Brigadier General Hamilton S. Hawkins, now with the first cavalry brigade, Fort Clark, Tex., has been assigned to command the first cavalry division, Fort Bliss, Tex., succeeding Brigadier General Walter C. Short, who retires April 2.

Noted Aviator Is Opposed To Mail Proposal

Declares That Companies Who Lost Contracts Should Be Given Right Of Trial Before Contracts Cancelled

Upholds Aviation

Claims That America Superior To Any Other Nation Where Commercial Aviation Is Concerned; Raps Mitchell

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—America's best known aviator, Charles A. Lindbergh, today told a senate committee, the cancellation of air mail contracts "violated fundamental American rights" and that a section of the administration's air mail bill "is as contrary to American liberty as anything I have ever seen."

This reference was flung at a section of the proposed measure which would bar the companies whose contracts were annulled from bidding for new awards if they press claims growing out of the cancellation.

Views Well Known

Lindbergh's views on the air mail episode have become well known since Postmaster General Farley announced recently that contracts were scrapped because of fraud.

His appearance today, however, gave him an opportunity to tell the members of the postoffice committee face to face what he thought of the measure before them and to discuss the cancellation and aviation in general.

Unattended and almost as boyish looking as in 1927 when he flew across the Atlantic, Lindbergh pushed his way through the crowd of spectators promptly at 10:30 a. m.

Takes The Chair

He waited patiently while photographers jostled and shoved in attempts to get their cameras into better positions. Then he flicked his still unruly hair back with his hand and took the witness chair. He testified in a clear voice, deliberately phrasing each word, and he never lost poise. Both Democrats and Republicans agree he was a "good witness."

He promptly and unequivocally stated his opinion of the order that took the air mail away from all domestic concerns who held awards.

"I feel these companies have—and should have had—the right to trial before being convicted of guilt which is only implied and not proved," he said earnestly.

Once or twice the queries swung to the testimony before another senate committee that laid the foundation for the cancellation.

"I know nothing of that," the

Accidental Death Verdict Returned

Death of Robert Eugene Adams, 8-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. S. L. Adams, was an unavoidable accident, a jury in 72nd district court ruled late Friday.

The Adamses had sued Jo Dick Slaughter for $20,000 damages as a result of the death. Slaughter was owner of the truck which fatally injured the child, and the jury decision absolved Slaughter of responsibility in the death.

The child was killed Nov. 14 at Nineteenth street and Avenue U. McWhorter & Howard and Bledsoe, Crenshaw and Dupree represented the defendant; Lockhart and Brown and Chas. Nordyke the plaintiffs.

Twelve Americans Having The Most Beautiful Feet Selected By Noted Paris Shoe Designer

Expert Explains That His Ideas Of Beauty In Feet Are Not The Usual; He Admires A Foot That Has Life And Action; Beautiful Little Foot On Large Women Said Terrible

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 16.—The twelve American women with the most beautiful feet were chosen today by Antoine Andre Perugia, famous Paris shoe designer.

Selecting his dozen, Perugia explained that his ideas of beauty in feet were not the usual ones. He admires a foot that has "life and action" rather than one that is merely perfectly proportioned, and a beautiful little foot on a large woman he regards as "terrible and stupid."

Here are the twelve:

Marquise Sommi De Picenardi, an American woman married to an Italian and the possessor of "very aristocratic feet."

Hope Hampton, actress, whose feet are not aristocratic but "interesting."

Mabel Boll, so called "Queen of Diamonds," who has "exactly the foot of my wife."

Marilyn Miller, actress, who has "intelligent feet."

Mrs. George Mahana, New York society woman and the owner of "pretty feet."

Mrs. Edna Woolman Chase, editor.

Mrs. Anita Baldwin of Santa Anita, Calif., who has "very well proportioned" feet.

From The Woman's Angle

TWO Lubbock men got together on the other side of the world the other day and the chances are that they talked about a lot of us who are home folk. These two were Austin Penney, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Penney, and Rankin Dow, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dow. The meeting was in the Philippines, where Rankin is stationed with the army air corps.

Austin was on his way to Sumatra—a mere 16,000 miles away from here.

Here's something interesting from Sumatra, coming from Austin in a letter home. There are no cows there, he relates, and the butter and milk are shipped in from Australia.

Lubbock is getting represented around the globe. One of us could start around the world now and have to stop-off every few weeks with some former home town boy or girl who is residing in a distant place.

SCHOOL GIRL UNIFORMS

THERE is something some woman here occasionally mentions to this column and it always strikes a note of approval. This is uniforms for school girls.

Many mothers—faced with the problem of "keeping up with the Jonses" in dressing a high school daughter would welcome a standard of dress such as a uniform demands. And the girls, once they became accustomed to the uniform, probably would like to wear it.

There would be objections, particularly at first. But this writer believes it would be advantageous and liked in the long run. She believes, too, that uniforms foster good taste in dress and the wearing of sensible clothing as nothing else will—provided the proper kind of uniforms are chosen. Uniforms can be attractive.

This is based on some experience. The writer wore a uniform for four years in college and—you can believe this or not—the uniform never consisted of middy blouses and pleated skirts. The uniforms were changed in style often enough to conform to current fashions and had enough different dresses to meet the demands of various occasions.

This exposition is not based on any study of uniforms in high schools but it seems reasonable to believe that such a thing would be economical and would prevent the wearing of evening and dinner gowns on the streets, of growing girls hobbling around over school campuses in high-heeled evening slippers and the wearing of party dresses to classes. Lots of girls dress sensibly because their mothers have taught them what is good taste but many others—and we see them on the streets going to and from school—are diked out like show girls or in tea frocks.

No one has called on this column for help in dressing high school girls but occasionally some woman of the town voices a hope that uniforms may eventually be adopted. Such hope is shared here. This writer likes them.

CHILDREN'S EASTER

THE children, or so it seems to me, still have the advantage of adults when it comes to an observance of Easter. For children have their Easter egg hunts which far surpass in pleasure anything that the Easter parade of fashions may have to offer.

The Easter parade can mean almost anything to a woman—envy of what other women wear, pleasure in being diked out in a new rig. Or it may mean virtually nothing to a woman who regards clothes as unimportant. But to children the Easter egg hunt is almost certain to be a happy occasion. If the weather is bad the hunt can be staged indoors. If it is pretty the eggs can be hidden outside. Then when they are found they can be hidden and hunted all over again.

The children have the better of adults in this Easter observance, if unalloyed pleasure means anything.

Marian Martin Pattern

MARIAN MARTIN ACCENTS NECK AND SLEEVES
PATTERN 9953

Necklines and sleeves make front page fashion news. The most popular of necklines is the one with a scarf treatment, and of sleeves, the raglan type is enormously chic—and the easiest to fit, too. Today's model is ultra smart because it features both these ideas. The scarf is drawn through open seams and tied in a huge bow in front or to the side—or graceful tie ends as shown in the small sketch. The sleeves are slashed for added interest—and may be worn flared when cuffs are omitted. Effective in a silk or cotton print with the scarf of contrast.

Pattern 9953 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 3-4 yards 39 inch fabric and 1 3-4 yards 3 1-2 inch ribbon.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

Order your copy of the new Marian Martin spring pattern book—a practical Spring sewing guide, offering stunning models for all occasions for grown-ups, juniors and youngsters, and for the woman who needs slenderizing lines. Price of new book, fifteen cents, book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Pioneer Woman Is Honored By Business And Professional Women's Club; Seven Sisters Have Reunion Here

Society of the last few days has included annual occasions for the Business and Professional Women's club, a reunion and meetings of several organizations.

A pioneer woman of the city was honored and employers were special guests at an annual dinner given Thursday evening at Hotel Lubbock by the Business and Professional Women's club. There were about 85 club members and guests in attendance.

Mrs. George R. Dean, a pioneer business woman of the city and the oldest resident of the South Plains in time of residence, was the guest of honor. She was type-setter for Lubbock's first newspaper, the Lubbock Leader, which was published by her brother, the late J. Winford Hunt of Abilene, soon after Lubbock was established. She was reared in the Estacado colony in Crosby county.

Miss Marie Gooch was toastmistress. A welcome was extended by Mrs. Olive Fluke and County Judge E. L. Pitts responded. Gordon Gaines accompanied by Charles Fike, sang, and Miss Lennie Bownds read. Jokes were told by the club members on their employers and by the "bosses" on the club members.

This dinner was a part of the observance of National Business Women's week here. Mrs. H. A. Welmaker will entertain for the club members at 8 o'clock this evening in her studio at 1009 Avenue Q.

Seven Sisters Meet

A reunion of seven sisters took place in the city this week. Mrs. Ressie Higginbotham returned to her home in Wichita, Kans., Thursday. Five of the sisters reside here.

The sisters are Mesdames R. B. Hamilton, 1916 Seventh street; J. H. Agee, 2019 Tenth street; F. A. Swan, 720 Avenue J; W. W. Ray, 1420 Avenue Q; R. L. Adams of Brownfield; Higginbotham, and Miss Consuelo Jackson, 720 Avenue J. The father of the women, J. B. Jackson, resides at 720 Avenue J.

In addition to picnics, dinners and other good times here, the women all went to Brownfield Wednesday and spent the day in the Adams home.

Name Is Changed

When members of the Student Religious council met at the Gloriata Thursday evening, they changed the name of the organization to the Religious Workers council. The Rev. Marshall Rhew, president, presided. A series of meetings was planned for the Tech campus, beginning April 2, and it was announced that Dr. Paul Quillan of Oklahoma City will be the speaker.

Sending a delegation of faculty people to a faculty religious conference next week-end at Texas Christian University was discussed, and an all-college social was arranged for April 13. A committee planning this latter event is composed of Mr. Rhew, R. C. Douglas and Misses May Tom Howell, Delene Reid and Sammie Marie Hitt.

This council is composed of representatives of all churches in the city that wish representation, the Y.W.C.A., Y.M.C.A. and the Tech faculty committee on religious life.

Cheerio Club Members Have Afternoon Party Thursday

Cheerio club members played forty-two as the guests of Mrs. R. C. Bethany, 716 Fourth street, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Frank Smart was a special guest.

Sunday Breakfast Is To Be Served By Wranglers Club

Members of the Wranglers club are to entertain with a breakfast Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Hilton hotel.

Jesus Responds To Faith

Text: Matt. 15:21-16:12

International Sunday School Lesson For March 18
By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D., Editor Of The Congregationalist

THIS lesson, which has been designed to teach and emphasize the reality of faith, has been a stumbling block to many people. If we were to read it with cold and prosaic literalism, it would present the Master in a character far different from that of the full picture that we have of him in the Gospels.

Instead of thinking of him as ready and eager to perform a deed of love and mercy, he would appear as very reluctant and hesitating. He would seem almost to share the prejudices of those who despised people of a foreign race, and instead of having that gentleness and graciousness that we associate with him in the blessing of the little children, and in other contacts, he would seem to have spoken and acted with a strange harshness.

What are the facts? As Jesus came into the coast of Tyre and Sidon we are told that a woman of Canaan met him, appealing to him to heal her daughter, who was "grievously vexed with a devil," or, as we should probably say in our terminology, seriously afflicted with some form of disease.

We are told that Jesus paid no attention to her, not answering her at all; but the disciples, troubled with her beseeching, came to him and asked him to send her away.

THE reply of Jesus to the disciples seemed as harsh and unsympathetic as their own attitude, for Jesus said, "I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

When the woman came then and worshipped him, appealing to him for help, the words of Jesus seemed even more stern, for he said, "It is not meet to take the children's bread and to cast it to dogs."

But the woman was persistent. Great in her faith and in her determination, she matched the challenge of the Master by replying, "Truth, Lord, yet the dogs eat the crumbs which fall from their masters' table."

Are we, then, to read this passage entirely apart from the picture that we have of Jesus in the Gospels, and utterly without the light and suggestiveness that the whole portrayal of the Master throws upon it? Surely only a very blind and prosaic reader could interpret the passage in that way.

WOULD it not seem to be the truth, rather, that Jesus was rebuking the attitude of the disciples who sent the woman away altogether, that he was trying them as he was trying the woman herself?

Is it not much more nearly the truth to believe that, when Jesus, in response to the woman's pitiful pleading, said, "It is not meet to take the children's bread and to cast it to dogs," there was a mildness and kindness in his eye that belied his words? As if he were playfully referring to a narrow and bitter prejudice that other men felt, in the very moment when he was going to perform for the woman the deed of love and mercy that she sought.

This would seem to us the only true and natural interpretation — an interpretation entirely consistent with both the spirit and the teaching of Jesus. He intended that the emphasis should be, as it is for us, upon the woman's faith, upon the faith that could triumph over prejudiced and the insulting attitude even of the disciples, and that, in trustfulness of the Master's goodness, she could believe that all things with God, through him, were possible.

A mild and gentle lover of children, in dealing with them, often will assume a playful harshness that the children do not misunderstand. It was in that spirit that Jesus acted and spoke the very moment that he was about to reveal his love and goodness in an act of mercy.

Brownwood Has Own Gas Well

BROWNWOOD, March 16 (AP) — The City of Brownwood has a gas well but does not want to go into the gas business.

The well is located on the southwest corner of the $90,000 memorial hall lot. It is 20 feet deep and has enough pressure to supply an ordinary home.

For some time gas has been escaping through the floor of the memorial hall and after investigation by city officials and others the well was ordered dug. After completion the well was capped and a three-quarter inch pipe in the cap was lighted with enough pressure to make a blaze 12 to 15 inches high.

Some experts believe the burning well may gradually force the pressure to come through the well and provide for the use of the hall. Others believe that wells drilled years ago and now covered are responsible for the gas coming in. Anyway, Brownwood has a gas well on its hand and its $90,000 memorial hall stands idle.

HEADS FIRE DEPARTMENT

CROSBYTON, (Special) — Hugh Nation was elected chief of the Crosbyton Volunteer Fire department at the annual election succeeding himself. Other officers named were: Fred Littlefield, assistant chief; Hubert Curry, secretary-treasurer; Hub Davis, captain of the chemical truck; Herman Perkins, captain of the house truck; Tillman Reeves, driver of the chemical truck and Edwin Brazier, driver of the hose truck.

Negro Is Using Oxen On His Farm; One Of Mules Is Dead

RUSK, March 16. (AP)—Travelers passing the farm of Earl Wallace, negro tenant living south of Rusk, stop to make sure their eyes do not deceive.

Earl is making a crop with oxen. Explaining his return to pioneer ways he said one of his mules died and he "just naturally always did want to plow oxen like when I was a boy."

WOMAN ESCAPES

McALESTER, Okla., March 16. (AP) —Pauline Herring, 17, serving five years for robbery with firearms in Seminole county and received in December, 1932, sawed out of her cell in state's prison here last night and escaped, it was learned today.

Warden Sam Brown said she was traced to a highway by bloodhounds. There had been little trouble in the women's ward and no guard was kept around it at night.

German Trade Boost Looming

New Trade Agreements Between United States And Germany Expected; Boycott On Goods Must Be Lifted

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER

(Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press)

BERLIN, March 16.—German official circles expect new trade agreements with the United States soon, it was learned today.

The 1925 treaty with its "most favored nation" clause is subject to notice of denunciation by either country this year, and it is believed here that President Roosevelt intends to replace the pact with an agreement calling for reciprocal tariffs.

Conversations Held

Some preliminary conversations have been held by Mr. Roosevelt and Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador to Washington, it was stated, but no conclusion has yet been reached.

The idea of reciprocity is accepted with mixed feelings here. One official declared that "the more the reciprocity principle is insisted upon, the more difficult it will be for Germany to pay her standing indebtedness to the United States."

Foreign office attaches hold that Washington is pursuing an economic policy toward one of her greatest debtors—Germany—which not only precludes an improvement of mutual trade relations, but is calculated to render uncertain the hope of Germany's repaying her obligations.

Relations To Improve

"The moment that America liberalizes the conditions for the importation of German goods," a foreign office spokesman said, "mutual commercial relations will improve and the debt question will, in turn automatically solve itself."

Arthur E. Dunning, executive secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce here, suggested that the United States turn to barter as the way to stimulate American trade with Germany. Dunning has been with the chamber since 1918 and knows all phases of the trade situation.

The idea of reciprocal tariffs appeals strongly to Dunning who believes that there can be no improvement in the American trade situation here unless there is a thorough reconsideration of the tariff question.

Must Lift Boycott

But even barter or reciprocity will not materially improve trade unless the boycott against German goods in the United States is discontinued, Dunning asserted.

"Irrespective of the reasons for it, which I will not go into, the fact remains that a boycott is being carried on at the cost of the American people," he observed.

Germany now buys three times the amount of American goods that the United States buys from Germany, he said. In addition, the United States has about $2,000,000,000 invested in Germany upon which prompt and regular interest payments are expected.

Dependent On Trade

"These payments are largely dependent upon Germany doing a reasonable amount of export trade," he stated, concluding:

"There is a growing resentment in Germany against the continuance of the boycott and it is perfectly obvious that, if we wish to improve our trade with Germany, we can't start while a boycott is in full swing."

Load Of Feeder Cattle At Stock Show Is Sold High

FORT WORTH, March 16. (AP)—The grand champion load of feeder cattle at the auction today at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show brought a record price for feeder cattle in the United States this year.

The load was sold at $13.10 per hundred to W. J. Raff, Hopkins Park, Illinois. The cattle were bred and shown by Hapgood ranch of Clay county.

Judging of draft and saddle horses began. Bartoo, owned by Pollock and Carter of Rising Star, was declared the senior and grand champion Percheron stallion.

WIDOW APPOINTED

PAMPA, March 16. (AP)—Mrs. Fannie Pipes was appointed sheriff of Gray county today to fill out the unexpired term of her husband, C. E. (Tiny) Pipes, who died yesterday of pneumonia. Funeral services for Pipes will be held Sunday.

Wins Award

As a result of the discovery of "heavy water" by Harold C. Urey (above), 41-year-old Columbia University professor, "heavy hydrogen" has been changed for the first time from a gas into both liquid and solid forms, a feat which opens the way to great scientific advances. In recognition of his discovery, Urey was awarded the Willard Gibbs medal, one of the highest honors bestowed by the scientific world.

Bank Robbery Suspect Held

O. L. Sharpe, Suspected In The Robbery Of Kansas Bank, Is Arrested In Wichita; Denies Part In Crime

WICHITA, March 16. (AP)—O. L. Sharpe, 34, suspected of participating in the holdup of the Farmers State bank, Canton, Kas., July 15, 1932, was arrested here today.

Detective Joe Maness, who made the arrest, said Sharpe denied any part in the crime, saying that on the day of the holdup he was serving time in the Texas penitentiary. Later, Maness said, he claimed to have been working on the Boulder dam on that day.

The detective said Sharpe's record shows that he escaped from the Texas prison where he was serving two years for burglary but that he was at liberty at the time of the robbery. In September, Maness said, the fugitive returned to the prison to complete his term, apparently hoping to divert suspicion for the crime.

The Canton bank was robbed of $2,000.

Negro Gets Death Penalty In The Slaying Of Woman

SILVER CITY, N. M., March 16. (AP)—After more than 12 hours deliberation, the jury in the trial of Alford Bentford, negro, charged with killing Gussie Thomas, Central, N. M., negress, returned a verdict of guilty of first degree murder today. A sentence to death in the electric chair is mandatory.

Bentford is alleged to have strangled the woman and thrown her body into a well near her home last December.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

AMARILLO, March 16. (AP)—Mrs. Florence Burdine pleaded not guilty when arraigned today on an indictment for murder returned in connection with the slaying of her husband, Stanley Burdine, at their residence here a week ago.

Her bond was raised from $1,500 to $4,000 after her indictment.

Relatives signed the new bond yesterday.

Oil Allowable In Texas Increased

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP)—Two small increases in the allowable production in two oil pools, which brought the state allocation to 952,462 barrels daily, were authorized today by the state railroad commission.

In West Texas, the Ector-Penn field was increased from 5,250 to 6,250 barrels daily, and the Taylor-Link pool from 800 to 1,250 barrels, the raise was made effective March 7.

The Pettus field in the Gulf Coast district was raised to 2,800 barrels daily, an increase of 500 barrels, and the Keeran pool from 150 to 350 barrels, effective March 19.

The commission ordered that wells in the Manvel pool in Brazoria county should be spaced one well to ten acres and the allowable of 2,000 barrels daily be allocated on an even division between acreage and potential.

There are 410 privately owned airplanes in England.

Knockout In Second Round Gives Windham Victory Over Kid Murdock

Three Kayoes Registered In Armory Fights

Small Crowd Sees Windham In Knockout Victory Over Kid Murdock In Main Even Last Night; Tech Stars Lose

A bloody knockout in the second round, one minute and 15 seconds after it started, spelled finis to the main event and the National Guard's second boxing show at the Armory last night and gave Woody Windham, Abilene puncher, another Lubbock victory.

Windham delivered the k. o. blow to Kid Murdock, announced last night as from Childress, to remain undefeated in local ring combat. Previous appearances, about four in all, have been marked by his decisive victories.

Murdock put up a grand battle in the first round and the first minute of the second round leading all the way and taking the fight so far. Then Woody got in a punch that hardly was noticed by the ringsiders, a short blow to the proboscis.

Good For Long Count

A stream of blood jetted from between Murdock's nose. He fell into the ropes, and slipped to the floor, on his back. Referee Jack Dalton counted ten. He could have counted fifteen, or thirty-five.

They brought Murdock to his feet with the blood still streaming. It was a peculiar wound. The crimson liquid seemed to flow from a spot no larger than a pea, and it kept spouting. Windham's blow apparently had described an arc, the leather breaking a jessel square between the eyes.

Murdock, one of the "fightin' Murdock family" which includes such well-known sluggers as Eddie and Thurman, welterweight title contender and bantamweight champion of Texas, respectively, easily won the first round, his left fist working like a piston against Windham's exterior and jarring his interior like a fall from a 10th story window.

Windham was the aggressor as the opening gong sounded, but before the first minute was over, Murdock was rushing the Abilene boxer and delivering a series of short body blows that resounded throughout the hall.

It was the same thing in the early part of the second round, Murdock working fast, too fast to suit the fancy of fans who hoped he would teach Windham a lesson. Then Woody started slinging his overhand right, and the results spilled blood all over the press table.

A very small but a very enthusiastic crowd looked on, laughed, cheered and pulled hair by turns as the National presented its show. Less than 300 persons purchased tickets for the event.

Flake Beats Ayers

There were two other knockouts besides the main event.

Ross Ayers, former Texas Tech football captain, went down before the two-fisted attack of "Snow" Flake another Tech athlete in one of the four-round prelims, and Carlton Luper, an end on the Tech team, was knocked out on his feet by J. D. Spann, of Plainview.

A scheduled comedy event that turned out to be a fair scrap was judged a draw as the Duval brothers, "Big "Un" and "Little "Un," weighing 290 and 260 pounds each, respectively, chose to slug it out in a curtain-raiser rather than do the light fantastic billed as a "superheavyweight" exhibition. The big fellows, who looked every ounce they weighed, came together in a battle in which brotherly love was conspicuous by its absence.

Flake proved more than a match for Ayers in the second battle. Ross went down twice for counts of 3 and 9 in the first round. He was knocked down three times in the second round, rousing himself on the count of eight as the gong sounded. Early in the third, he went down for the count, groggy and unable to rise.

Prim Is Winner

John Prim, Texas Tech boxer, pounded out a four-round decision over Buster Spann of Plainview in another preliminary, losing the first round, winning the second and fourth. There were no knockdowns, although Spann was punished severely in the fourth round. The third was even.

Luper was never knocked down, but he was out on his feet when Referee Dalton raised J. D. Spann's hand after two minutes of the second round. Luper lost the first, taking a lot of punches about the head from his opponent, but he recovered in the second to put up a brave fight and sock Spann considerably. He absorbed hard blows then, and went groggy, but never left his feet. Knocked into the ropes, he remained there while Spann was declared the winner.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16.—Fortified by one of the greatest crops of young infielders anywhere in the grapefruit belt, as well as emergency wrecking crew to aid the elderly G. Herman Ruth, the New York Yankees have put most of their pennant eggs in the pitching basket for 1934.

There is still plenty of power in the American League's greatest run-scoring machine, with or without the Babe, who is as big, brown and healthy looking as ever at the age of forty and insists he will play at least 100 championship games.

There is an influx of aggressive youth, too, headed by the sensational Red Rolfe, graduate of Dartmouth and product of the Newark "farm," who is the regular shortstop until further notice.

Moreover, the last of the holdouts donned uniforms for the first time today as Bill Dickey, backstop, and Lyn Lary, infielder, came to terms with Col. Jacobs Ruppert, owner of the club.

Up To Pitchers

All that's needed now, to put the Yanks right into the thick of any pennant debate, is for the pitching staff, headed by the great Vernon (Lefty) Gomez and the burly Charles Rutius (The Red) Ruffing to regain its 1932 championship form. The club will stand or fall on what the hurlers do.

"We are as strong or stronger in every position than last year," says Joe McCarthy, the general pilot, "but we have got to get that pitching. If Ruffing recovers his best form, and we can bring one more pitcher through to help the other starters—Gomez, Johnny Allen and Russ Vanatta—I won't concede a thing to any other club in the league.

"This business of winning pennants, you know, is simply a matter of the key men having a good year together. Last season Washington's best players all came through. Ours didn't. This year the whole league is better balanced, with Detroit and Boston the most improved. I look for a great race. I hope the Yankees will be in on the big pay-off, but I won't make any predictions."

Count On Ruffing

Ruffing, rather than Ruth, is the man who may mean an eighth pennant for the Yankees since 1921. The big red-headed right hander won only nine games last year, half as many as he did in 1932. So far he has reduced his excess poundage from 235 to 215 and looks to have the old back on his fast ball.

Gomez also dropped from 24 to 16 in the winning column last year, but there seems no doubt the talented southpaw will come through again. Allen, starting his third year as a regular, and Vanatta, one of the freshman sensations of 1933, when he was poison to the Senators, figure to keep improving.

Charley Devens, the former Harvard star, and Danny MacFayden, a disappointment ever since he came from the Red Sox in 1932, are fighting it out for the fifth job as a starting pitcher, with the chances so far favoring Devens. The Yanks will be in clover if both come through. Johnny Murphy, Newark, Harry Smythe, southpaw from Baltimore, and the veteran George Uhle will round out the staff and do relief work.

The Right Combination

McCarthy's infield problem is chiefly one of finding the right combination. There are at least three good ones, all with Larruping Lou Gehrig, the club's main powerhouse now, at first and two with Red Rolfe at short. If Don Heffner, the brilliant Baltimore recruit, makes the grade at second base, Tony Lazzeri will move to third. If not, Lazzeri will stick to second base and Frank Crosetti, in whom McCarthy has a lot of faith, will take the hot corner. The third and most remote possible combination includes Lyn Lary at short and Jack Saltzgaver, a left-handed hitter, on third.

Samuel Dewey Byrd, the eminent golfer, and Fred (Dixie) Walker give the Yanks all the reserve strength they need for the regular outfield trio of Ben Chapman, Earle Combs and Ruth. Walker will give Combs a tussle for the middle assignment and Byrd, a long hitter, is still understudying the Babe.

Dickey, minus his annoying appendix, is ready for a big year, with Arndt Jorgens and Joe Glenn for utility backstopping.

Army Of Athletes From Three States Will Battle Time And Distance Today In Annual TCU Track And Field Meet

FORT WORTH, March 16. (AP)—Carrying the colors of six universities, 11 colleges, 10 junior colleges, eight prep schools and university freshman teams, 60 high schools and 11 municipal playground units, an army of athletes from Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas will battle time and distance tomorrow in the twelfth annual Southwestern exposition track and field meet at Texas Christian university.

Most of the morning will be devoted to preliminaries. Qualifying performances will be required in the dashes and hurdle races.

Finals in all sections will be held in the afternoon. The feature race of the day will be the special 100 meter dash.

Competition this year is expected to be exceptionally keen in the university division. The University of Texas team, winner last year, will defend its title. The Steers are due to get competition from the Texas Aggies, Rice institute Owls, Texas Christian university Horned Frogs, University of Tulsa and the University of Oklahoma.

ACC Is Title Holder

Coach J. Eddie Weems, Abilene Christian college team, has won the crown in the college division for the past five years. However, Central State Teachers college of Oklahoma and Oklahoma Baptist from Shawnee, loom as strong contenders. Other entries in this division are Daniel Baker, Stephen F. Austin, Trinity university, St. Edward's university, East Texas Teachers, San Marcos Teachers and Howard Payne.

The Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Okla., are defending champions in the Junior college division. Although Coach Byron J. Griffin has another strong team, he will get keen competition in all events from Schreiner institute of Kerrville. Other schools in the junior college class include North Texas Aggies, Amarillo Junior, and Marshall college.

Wyoming And Tulsa To Meet In AAU Final

Oilers Beat Olympic Club As Wyoming University Downs Hutchinson Renos; Teams To Contest For Title

KANSAS CITY, March 16. (AP)—The Tulsa Diamond Oilers defeated the San Francisco Olympic club in the semi-finals of the A. A. U. national basketball tournament here tonight 38 to 26 and will defend their championship against the University of Wyoming tomorrow night.

The champion oilers had a hard fight in the first half which ended with the score tied at 16. Tom Pickell, Oiler center, broke the deadlock with a free throw on Lubin's foul after the intermission and then scored a field goal to spread the margin.

George Willis, formerly of Tulsa university playing his first year with the Oilers and a star of the game, scored next, followed by Pickell's free throw on Kintana's foul. Willis then hit a long side shot to bring the score to 24 to 16.

Larson, Tulsa guard, wheeled from the post for a field goal, making the score 26 to 17. Lubin fouled Hyatt and Larson and was expelled from the game on his fourth personal foul. Slavich hit a field goal for Olympics and Larson batted one in for the Oilers. Eifert, Olympic reserve, made two goals in a row and then Carlton made one for the Oilers and Eifert scored again. Rocky Mountain collegiate champions, advanced to the finals with a thrilling 30 to 27 victory tonight over the Hutchinson Renos.

The Cowboys were ahead through most of the game but never had a substantial margin and were behind at the end of the first half, 18 to 19.

STOEFEN, LOTT WIN

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—George M. Lott, jr., of Chicago, and Lester R. Stoefen, Los Angeles, advanced to the final round of the United States indoor doubles championship today by defeating Frank X. Shields and Sidney B. Wood, jr., New York, 7-9, 6-3, 7-9, 7-5, 6-4, in a two-hour third round match on the seventh regiment armory board courts.

Their opponents in the final to be played tomorrow will be Berkeley Bell and Frank J. Bowden, of New York, who won by default owing to the sudden death of the father of Dr. Lawrence Kurzrok, who with Jack Pittman, jr., was scheduled today to play Bell and Bowden.

Wood Shoots Sub-Par Golf To Lead Charleston Open

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 16. (AP)—Craig Wood, from Deal, N. J., shot a fine sub par 70 today to add to his opening round 69 for a two-round total of 139 and a one-stroke lead over the field in the Charleston Open Golf tournament.

The Jersey star, a long hitter who was the leading money winner of the 1933 season but has been unable to hit his stride consistently this year, was just in front of a trio of pros, Victor Chezzi of Rumson, N. J., Henry Picard of Charleston and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y.

The seawinds that were moderately quiet yesterday swept this Wappo course on historic James island for a while today and served to cut down the low scores that featured the first round.

Ghezzi and Runyan constructed the best rounds today, both finishing with 68's; Picard, the Wappoo course pro, fired another 70 to equal his first-round performance.

Dunbar School Beats Vernon Basketball Quintet Friday

Dunbar negro school of Lubbock defeated Booker T. Washington negro school of Vernon 42 to 15 in a basketball game at junior high school gymnasium last night.

H. Menefee of Dunbar was high scorer, with 16 points. Other members of the local quintet were D. Sedberry, center; U. T. Childress, forward; F. Moore, guard; C. Lawson, forward.

ARM IN SLING

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 16. (AP) Pitcher Bob Kline, who came to the Athletics in the Grove, Walberg, Bishop transaction of last December, arrived at the A's camp today, his left arm in a sling.

Kline was the last of the Mack absentees. A bone in his arm was cracked in a fall on the ice during the winter but it is rapidly mending.

GEHRIG'S HOMER WINS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16. (AP)—With one teammate on base and the score tied, Lou Gehrig connected with a home run inside the park today to give the New York Yankees a 6 to 4 victory over the Boston Braves in their opening game of the spring exhibition season.

Lubbock High Defeats Ralls In Track Meet

Goober Keys Team Displays Good Form To Beat Rabbit Thinly Clads, 79 To 57 In First Meet Of Season

Grabbing off first honors in nine of fourteen events, Coach Goober Keys' Lubbock Westerners rang up 79 points from the track and field against 57 points for the Ralls high Jackrabbits and 16 marks for the Slaton Tigers to take a tri-school meet held yesterday evening at the new field south of the high school.

Little Leo Patterson, of Lubbock, furnished the chief excitement of the evening, barely nosing out a team-mate, Bundy, to take the one hundred yard dash in the very respectable time of 10.6 seconds. Patterson also won the 220, running it in 24.7 seconds according to two stop-watches, and in 24, flat according to another.

Lubbock Takes Lead

Cleo Myers of Ralls took the first event, the 120 yard high hurdles, but in the succeeding events Lubbock took a small lead and never fell behind.

J. R. Arthur, winning the discus and shot, Day, Myers, and Walker, old the heavy duties for Ralls. The Jackrabbits won first in six events but fell sharply behind toward the last. Graham Stanfill, veteran Lubbock milleman, capped his specialty in easy fashion. Time, five minutes, and sixteen seconds. Hicks, the other returning letterman on the Westerner squad, took the pole vault after a long duel with Ware of Ralls.

The 220 low hurdles was run off in single fashion because of the scarcity of hurdles. Myers of Ralls took this event, clocking at 29.9 seconds.

Hodges Wins 440

James Hodges won the 440 for the Westerners in a fast race on which no time was kept.

The Westerner relay team made-up of Hodges, Bundy, Campbell, and Patterson, had easy sledding to take the event in three minutes and fifty seven seconds. The Ralls team was second beating out the Slaton unit in the last two laps.

Summaries:

120 yards high hurdles: Won by Myers, of Ralls, time, 18.9 seconds; second, Todd, of Slaton; third, Campbell, of Lubbock; fourth, Vermillion, Lubbock.

Pole vault: Won by Hicks of Lubbock, nine feet eight inches; second, Ware, of Ralls; tied for third and fourth, Kirksey and Minter, of Slaton, and F. Arthur, of Ralls.

100 yard dash: Won by Patterson, of Lubbock, time, 10.6 seconds; second, Bundy, of Lubbock; third, Woffard, of Ralls; fourth, Nichols, of Slaton.

Shot-put: Won by J. R. Arthur, of Ralls, distance, forty feet and nine and one-half inches; second, Perdue, of Slaton; third, Davis, of Ralls; fourth, Jackson, of Lubbock.

Mile: Won by Stanfill, of Lubbock, time, five minutes, and sixteen seconds; second, Emery, of Lubbock; third, Graham O., of Ralls; fourth, Graham B., of Ralls.

Discus: Won by J. R. Arthur, of Ralls, distance, 109 feet and one-half inches; second, Curtiss, of Lubbock; Jackson, of Lubbock; fourth, F. Arthur, of Ralls.

440 yard dash: Won by Hodges, of Lubbock, no time kept; second, Cox, of Ralls; third, Walters, of Lubbock; Welch, of Slaton.

220 low hurdles: Won by Myers, of Ralls, time 29.9 seconds; second, Hicks, Lubbock; third, Todd, of Slaton; fourth, Vermillion, of Lubbock.

High jump: Won by Day, of Ralls, height, 5 feet 5 inches; second, Campbell, of Lubbock; Curtiss, of Lubbock; Jackson, of Lubbock.

Mile: Won by Stanfill, of Lubbock, time, 2 minutes, 25 and fourtenths seconds; second, Bratton, of Ralls; third, Beran, of Lubbock; fourth, Phillips, of Lubbock.

220 yard dash: Won by Patterson, of Lubbock, time 24.7 seconds; second, Bundy, Lubbock; third, Nicholas, Slaton; Wofford, of Ralls.

Broad jump: Won by Hicks of Lubock, distance, eighteen feet, two and one-half inches; second hodges, of Lubbock; Davis, of Ralls; fourth, Patterson of Lubbock.

Javelin: Won by Jackson, of Lubbock, distance, 128 feet and 11 inches; second, Myers, Ralls; Emery, Lubbock.

Mile Relay: Won by Lubbock (Bundy, Patterson, Campbell and Hodges), time, three minutes and fifty seven seconds; second Ralls (Wofford, Cox, Arthur and Day).

Texas Aggies Scheduled To Meet Michigan State This Season At San Antonio Grid

COLLEGE STATION, March 16. (AP)—Dean E. J. Kyle, chairman of the Texas A. and M. college athletic council, announced today that the Aggies will meet the Michigan State college Spartans of East Lansing in a football game next fall.

He said the game would be played December 8 at San Antonio, as a curtain game for the Aggies' season schedule of eleven encounters. The Aggies' schedule, in addition to a full Southwest conference program of six games, will include also intersectional tilts with Temple university at Philadelphia and Centenary college of Shreveport, the latter game to be played at Beaumont.

RACING AT BRADY

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP)—The Texas Racing commission announced today it had authorized the Brady July jubilee and race meet to conduct three days of racing July 3, 4 and 5, at Brady.

Lubbock County Schools Send Teams Here Today To Play In Interscholastic Tournaments

Tennis, Volleyball And Playground Baseball Titles To Be Determined At Tech As Teams Of County Meet

High school athletes, masculine and feminine, will compete here today in events to determine the volleyball, playground baseball and tennis championships of the county of Lubbock.

County Athletic Director Harold Cooper has announced that the program will begin at 9 o'clock this morning at the Texas Tech athletic grounds. Matches and games in all three sports probably will be run simultaneously in order to get the eliminations out of the way in time for finals late this afternoon and tonight.

Nearly every school in the county is expected to send representatives here, Cooper said. Final directions and programs will be announced this morning at the Texas Tech gymnasium, where volley ball games will be played.

While both boys and girls teams will compete for division championships in tennis and playground ball, only girls will play the volleyball tournament.

Winners in the various events will compete later in the district tournaments as part of the interscholastic league program.

ON THE SIDELINES BY EDWARD J. NEIL

It seems to be the bounden duty of baseball men to sell the Giants at least twice a year for Charles A. Stoneham, despite the fact that Stoneham has a tremendously valuable property and hasn't the least apparent desire to get rid of it.

He came into baseball in 1919 at the instigation of John J. McGraw, and the rumors bubbled up with fresh force when his old manager died. The idea was that without McGraw Stoneham's interest in baseball would cool, that he would be willing to turn to other fields.

But at 61, Stoneham is perfectly content to go along with an investment that pays him handsome dividends for he realizes that at his age he'd have a great deal of trouble scurrying around and finding something else into which he could put his money with as favorable results. His interest in baseball, too, has been underestimated.

At a banquet given by the Giants shortly after he bought control from Harry Hempstead in 1919, one speaker with more sentiment than tact bewailed the hint that baseball was becoming the plaything of millionaires, passing from the hands of real lovers of the game.

Stoneham Tells 'Em

Pretty well miffed about that, Stoneham got up to answer.

"There are still slivers in the seat of my pants," he said, "from sliding up and down on the edge of sandlot benches. I could show you evidence of plenty of skin I lost shinnying up and down telegraph poles outside ball parks. I've got plenty of scars from night sticks that caught me peering through knot holes. What do you mean, no interest in baseball!"

Some of the bellicoseness of that situation creeps into Stoneham's denials that the Giants are on the market now that the triumvirate of John McGraw, Francis X. McQuade and himself has been broken up by the death of his old manager. They had an agreement that none could sell without the consent of the other two, an agreement that still exists, despite legal difficulties McQuade took to court. Mrs. McGraw, widow of the Little Napolean, now joins the triumvirate.

"When we sell the Giants, if ever," Stoneman says, "the whole world will know about it and it won't be in the form of rumors. But I don't think I'll ever sell my majority share under any circumstances. It's too valuable. No one would pay the price."

A Potential Purchaser

Strangely enough, there is one purchaser—and the name is most bizarre in this connection — that could pay the price and is interested.

At a huge oil company meeting one day, the big fellows were trying to think up something unusual in the way of advertising. It came to one suddenly that sports offered a tremendous field.

"Look at the way Sinclair got in the papers with his horse races, and Wrigley with his chewing gum," he suggested. "Maybe we could buy the Giants, everyone is always saying they're for sale."

"But we've got no contacts there," was the objection, "and who do we have who knows anything about baseball?

"Only the top man in baseball," was the reply. "William H. Terry, manager of the Giants. He works for us all winter."

So there was much scurrying around and great excitement for a while. To this company the price of a ball club is small change. The advertising would be tremendous.

Cambridge Blue Is Favored In Match With Oxford Team

LONDON, March 16 — Unless their shell springs a leak or some other calamity overtakes them, Cambridge's powerful crew will enter its 86th rowing contests with Oxford on the Thames tomorrow favored to sweep to its eleventh straight victory.

A large crowd lined the banks of the twisting stream today for the final workouts and gained the impression that the light blues packed too much rhythm, speed and experience for their old rivals.

SOX BUY OUTFIELDER

PASADENA, Calif., March 16. (AP) The Chicago White Sox today purchased Stanley (Frenchy) Bordagary, a young outfielder, from the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast league.

The Sox gave cash and will turn two players over to Sacramento for Bordagary, who batted .351 in 177 games last year.

The names of the players in the deal were not announced, but it was expected one of them would be Paul Gregory, right handed pitcher.

SENATORS TROUBLES SOLVED

BILOXI, Miss., March 16. (AP) — Most of Clark Griffith's pre-season troubles are over.

The Washington club president has settled salary differences with Joe Kuhel, who wanted a bigger raise than Griffith offered; Heinie Manush, outfielder star who has been a holdout many times, and Dave Harris, pinch hitter.

Only Catcher Cliff Bolton continues at odds with Griffith.

JOE SHAUTE SIGNS

TAMPA, Fla., March 16. (AP)—Joe Shaute, left hander formerly with Cleveland and Brooklyn, signed a contract with the Cincinnati Reds today, as training proceeded with the 9 to 7 lacing handed the colts by hard-hitting regulars.

Fight Carnival Tuesday Night At Armory Due To Please Fans Seeking Comedy As Well As Serious Scraps

With wrestling matches and boxing bouts running from the serious to the ridiculous, most of the program for the American Business clubs' second annual athletic carnival has been announced.

The carnival will be staged at the National Guard Armory, 10th street and College Avenue, Tuesday night of next week.

Six wrestling matches and seven boxing events have been announced. Included in the card are at least two battles that bid fair to provide plenty of comedy.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the evening's entertainment are being offered for sale by members of the American Business club, and they are reported going fast at 35 cents each.

As a special "added attraction," selected members of each Lubbock civic club will tangle in a battle royal. Names of the contestants have not been announced, but it is believed that the Rotarians, the Kiwanians, the Lions and the A. B. C.'s will present fighters of ability if not of popular renown.

Texas Tech athletes will contribute to the fun and drama in several boxing and wrestling matches. Fans will have an opportunity of becoming better acquainted with the various wrestling holds, both amateur and professional, when Jack Van Bebber, Tech rassle coach and popular professional grappler, appears in an exhibition with James Gordon May, Texas Tech wrestler.

Complete schedule and program will be announced tomorrow, American Business club officials said.

GOD SAYS:

"Upon this rock I will build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." Matt. 16:18.

"Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for it, that He might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word; that He might present it to Himself a glorious church not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish." Gal. 5:25-27.

"I will declare thy name unto my brethern, in the midst of the church will I sing praise unto Thee,." Heb. 2:12.

"Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock over which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God which he hath purchased with his own blood." Acts 20:28.

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethern to dwell together in unity!" Psalms 133:1.

"A day in thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a door-keeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness." Psalms 84:10.

"Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob: and He will teach us His ways and we shall walk in His paths." Isa. 2:3.

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord." Psalms 122:1.

"And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works; not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another, and so much the more as ye see the day approaching." Heb. 10:24-25.

Everybody Is Irish Today

AN Irish friend sends a greeting with "Just a feather for your hat on St. Patrick's Day," Green, of course, and it decorates what is left of that which the good wife pronounces "a disgrace to the head of any selfrespecting man."

All of us are Irish today, praise be. All of us Irish, and the better for it!

St. Patrick, they say, was not an Irishman. But if he wasn't, then he made all Irishmen what they are today. Certainly it would seem that the Irish of St. Patrick's period were not what we like to think of the Irish of our time, for they stole away St. Patrick from his parents' side, while he was yet a bit of a boy and for years he worked as a slave to a cruel master in Ireland. And then he escaped so the story goes, and went back home.

Did he nurse any grudges? Did he determine to take his daddy's clan and go back to wreck vengeance upon those who had wronged him? Not so! He took compassion upon his captors and determined to lead them into better ways of life and living. Which he did, and so converted Ireland to Christianity. That alone shows the caliber of the man. No mere mortal could have made all Ireland about face and stay that way since long, long before Columbus thought of turning the attention of a busy world to a Continent that should one day house more Irishmen than Ireland itself. Think of that for a moment! What would have been the history of these United States had not St. Patrick done for Ireland what he did?

"The evil that men do lives after them," says Shakespeare, "the good is often interred with their bones" Not so St. Patrick. Men remember him for the good he did, and cheerfully today wear a shamrock as a tribute to his reverence.

RELIEF FOR ROYALTY

One of the pleasant little oddities in the day's news is the story from Bucharest, capital of Rumania, telling how a former Russian prince finally has won "promotion" to a full-time job as cleaner of the city's streets.

This titled white wing, Prince Sergei Vladimirovich, escaped from his homeland when the revolution broke, wandered into Rumania, and for a long time was right on his uppers. Finally he got a part-time job as street cleaner.

The other day he was at work near a railway station when he heard a foreign tourist vainly trying to make a policeman understand him. He intervened courteously, translated the tourist's remarks, and set the matter right.

So now, as a reward, he has a full-time job as a street cleaner.

This gives rise to a number of satisfying reflections, not least of which is the thought that here, if nowhere else on earth, is a prince who actually is employed on a useful job.

UPHOLDING OUR FAITH

A fair sample of the queer things that are done in the name of censorship was provided the other day by the Ohio board of movie censors.

These functionaries had to pass on a movie in which a district attorney quashes a murder charge against a sweet young thing who shot her boy friend. The district attorney, it seems, took this step because he personally was interested in the sweet young thing.

The censors deliberated earnestly, and then decided that it was against public policy to permit the showing of a film which cast such aspersions on a government official.

So the thing is out, as far as Ohio is concerned—and the confidence of Ohio citizens in their elected officials, one presumes is saved.

It would be hard to find a case in which the ridiculous nature of censorship is illustrated more clearly.

NOT SAVED YET

"The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved."

Thus may some of us look at the first year of our new administration. True we are not yet saved, but happily the harvest is not yet over. Let us hope that when it has passed we shall never know of another night so dark and dreary.

The News Behind The News

By BURTON KLINE

WASHINGTON has another seizure of the soothsayer mania. If you read "Revelry" and other such books of the '20's you'll recall this amiable weakness as especially rampant during the Harding administration — especially adorned by a practitioner who cloaked her talents under the title of Madame X. By testimony of those books the country was indebted to this far-seeing lady for guidance to Harding himself.

Now again, it's said, she's set up shop—so proving that business is another of the matters she sees right through. Her profits stand to be enlarged by the coming election. More Congressmen than ever burn this year for affirmative answer to the question "Am I to be re-elected?"

Perhaps, with constituents harrowing them with embarrassing questions, the New Deal may also have something to do with reviving this ancient human hunger to know what's coming next.

By report the technique of this gifted lady is about as follows: A party desiring the low-down on something indispensable to his political, economic, or romantic happiness calls up by 'phone. His identity is fixed by number only—never by name, age, or girth.

At the hour appointed he calls on the seeress—addressed at once by name, with house and business address, in case he happens to have forgotten these.

After this breath-taking exhibition of sight through the darkness the lady gets down to business and opens the scroll at any burning issue—from "Is my sweetness true?" to "Am I to be elected?"

The worth of the answers? A question in itself.

A young Washington woman is said to have paid the Madame a recent visit—to be instantly identified in the usual way. After the session the seeress said she foresaw what was to happen but thought it unpleasant to mention. Was that the truth or a nimble side-step?

What she did mention was that her client had no future. The disgusted young woman stepped out of the salon in the way of an automobile and immediately her future became her past.

She was killed.

General Johnson has others than his widely publicized troubles. One of them was to be cooped in Walter Reed Hospital with a sinus affection. This was enough in itself, and it had implications.

This gathering of the code clans was coming on, and the chief of all the General's troubles at the moment was the question of whether he'd have his voice!

Voiceless he tackled a hornet's nest with both hands tied and the code authorities would have listened to the most sulphorous silence they ever heard.

A Washington mystery: "How on earth does Franklin D. Roosevelt find out everything? How does he know what's abuzz behind every locked door in the country?"

The recent air mail party was another instance of his knack in turning a handicap into a blessing. Such is FDR's extensive knowledge of what's going on—or his reputation for having that knowledge—that some of the parties involved were afraid to go to bed in the dark, for fear of dreaming treason and being found out.

FD has had his pipe-lines ever since he has been in office. But some of the pipes lie right on the surface. Both the President and Mrs. Roosevelt know how to talk out freely—and say next to nothing. By appearance they pour out their innermost hearts—and listeners are encouraged to do that actually. They pour out priceless information and all they've heard is "Isn't it a lovely day?"

"Teddy" had the same little way of going about with his conversational coat apparently unbuttoned from tail to lapel—and his thoughts were sealed as tight as a driver's helmet. Once in a while, when he let something slip, he'd laugh it off with "Don't you know when a fellow's kidding?" The Ananias Club took care of those who inconveniently quoted some real opinion delivered in confidence.

The present Roosevelt will talk to any one with anything to say. Mrs. Roosevelt skips about the country talking to everybody from magnate to commoner. Especially the commoner. And there's no better political barometer than he. What easier than to put together the pattern of fact and opinion thus gathered—and astound those who look only to those in high places for signs and omens?

The method has escaped detection by its very simplicity.

A toothpick placed at the proper spot at a river's source might lay a Niagara as bare as a barron cliff. The trick is to know where to plant the pick!

Then there's Louis McHenry Howe. Henry I of England had a court jester— Rahere—who might and should have been his premier. Rahere stuck to jesting because he had in his bauble a key to every mind and heart. Then Rahere reported to Henry.

Mr. Roosevelt's Rahare is Louis who, with a poker face, listens to White House callers, cracks simple disarming jokes, and lays what he learns before his boss.

That lined and wrinkled face of Louis's is a fooler. Visitors take him to be harmless and tell him all—forgetting his eyes. There's life enough in those and they miss nothing. Neither do his ears.

When you're chasing a pig it's more important to know which way a pig will run than to know the love-life of an atom. Louis Howe isn't interested in the political atom. But he never misses the pig.

AT LARGE

By Pleasanton Conquest, Jr.

FOR years, we've begged these Frenchmen to repay us what they owe,
But France's only answer's been, "You know where you can go."
French honor and French gratitude withstood our each assault,
To every plea for settlement, their answer was "Default."
'Twas Shylock this, and Shylock that, and Shylock's such a bore,
But now they sing a different tune, when Hitler's at the door.

By threat of German armament, La France is so upset
That Fear may win where Honor Failed, collection of our debt.
But French death-bed repentance seems to me a vicious slam
Upon the scorned intelligence of poor old Uncle Sam.
The Shylock this, and Shylock that, we've listened to before
May change to "Darling Uncle Sam" with Hitler at the door.

TO file a true return, I tried.
I added up, and multiplied
Subtracted Items 5 and 9
And filled in every vacant line,
But just as I was getting warm,
They said "That's not the proper form."

My work I sadly saw destroyed,
And found myself again employed
Upon a blank of smaller size,
But full of spaces for replies.
My figures showed, to my dismay
I had no income, anyway.

Ye "Fiction Writers" of all ranks
Who battle with your Income blanks,
Who file alleged arrays of facts
And now must ante up the tax,
Today your Uncle Samuel yearns
For many, many more Returns.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERAY'S CARTOON

"GROWING YOUNGER"

Though medical science denies the possibility of the human being ever being able to "grow younger", it seems there is a contradiction in the person of Mrs. Mary Elliott, age 75, of Beaverton, Ontario. This strange case of apparent rejuvenation reached a third thrilling stage recently when Mrs. Elliott regained her eyesight after being blind for a number of years. She had previously experienced the cutting of a third set of teeth, and her gray hair had turned dark again.

THE SILENT SITTING SADDHUS

My sketch of this pitiful Hindu ascetic was made a few years ago when I visited India, in any part of which country one can see unbelievable examples of what these queer people do in the name of religious penitence. This man had sat alone under the blazing sun or in the rain for forty years—never uttering a sound, never expressing any wish, and never receiving any of life's material necessities except the scant alms of his fellow men. A chapter of my first Believe It or Not book is devoted to other forms of worship in this strange land.

Married Flirts

by MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married the same day as LILA HOTALING and DEREK BLISS. Lila expects to live in luxury, while Gypsy intends to go on with her job teaching in a settlement.

After returning from a honeymoon in Europe Lila asks the Weavers to dinner. Among the guests is wealthy MARKO BROUGHTON, who once asked Gypsy to marry him. He showers Gypsy with attentions and Tom is jealous.

Broughton offers her a job on Saturdays, cataloguing his library and Gypsy accepts without telling Tom. Just as she finishes the work she is taken ill and the doctor tells her she is going to have a baby. Tom insists she must give up her job at the settlement. Gypsy is happy keeping house until Lila comes back from a winter in Florida and asks her to luncheon. Gypsy realizes her clothes are shabby in comparison with Lila's.

Summer in the New York apartment is hard on Gypsy. Then a friend who lives on Long Island loans the Weavers his home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XX

They had been established in the little blue-roofed house for two weeks now and life had taken on a different hue. Was it possible, Gypsy thought, awakening in her narrow green bed, looking out at the interlocking branches of apple trees just beyond her window, was it possible that 14 days ago she had been possessed by a very madness of despair and sickness? The air of this place renewed her. She sang about her work now. Everything was fun—marketing in the little car, boiling fat lobsters until they were scarlet, steaming clams for Tom's dinner, stringing beans in the deep-cushioned swing in the garden.

Mrs. McKinnon's small house seemed a very paradise to her after the cramping walls of the flat. The brass kettles twinkled, the water sang a little tune of its own as it splashed into the dishpan, beds were made to the accompaniment of robins and thrushes. Roses bloomed in the dooryard and peonies and mock orange made a screen for the kitchen garden. Could life be so different?

Yes, it was a new Gypsy who moved about the bare, neat little rooms. Sometimes in the evenings it was cool enough to have a fire lighted on the hearth and neighbors dropped in, friendly people who lived down the road and wanted to share their largesse of flowers and advice with the newcomers.

Gypsy filled the vases with flowers. She dusted and sewed and read, all with a full and happy heart. Life was glorious and complete.

One afternoon she was sitting in the garden swing, shelling peas into a wooden bowl, happily planning a dinner of chops and salad and custard, when she heard the purr of an expensive motor in the drive. She looked up hastily to see an expensively shod and stockinged foot emerge from the tonneau, and threw her apron over the peas hating herself for the snobbish impulse that prompted the gesture but unable to prevent herself from doing it.

Presently the clack of high heels sounded on the flagstone walk and Gypsy rose to greet her visitor. Her eyes widened.

"Lila, my dear! However did you find me?"

Her caller was exquisite in white—simple and perfectly made frock of dull crepe with a little jacket, white hat atilt on her shining golden waves.

"I rang up your apartment and the operator told me," Lila was glancing about her with appraising eyes taking it all in, the pleasant, rather shabby garden, with no pretension about it. Just a tangle of old-fashioned flowers and overgrown shrubs.

Gypsy cleared a space for her on the swing, pushing books, vegetables and bowl aside. "But how nice to see you," she said. "I've been wondering where you were and what you were doing."

Lila was thin, petulant, restless. Her eyes roved, her conversation was gay and morbid by turns. Things were dull, she said. Everybody had gone abroad. There was absolutely nothing to do. Through her discourse wove the thread of discontent, although the happenings she sketched sounded, to Gypsy's simple soul, dazzling enough. The garden party at the Tewksburys, the fete at the Chisholms, the bathing, tea-ing, dancing existence that was the sum of Lila's daily round.

"My dear!" she murmured indulgently. "You have no idea—you simply have no idea how deadly it is. Sometimes I think I'll run away Majorca, to Bali, or some place where one doesn't have to see people . . . "

Now it was Gypsy's turn to be amused.

"I hear those places are crowded, too," she said with a pleasant laugh. To distract Lila, she offered a promise to tea. She had bought some little cakes in the village that morning, pink and white ones, looking like cakes for a children's party. These she offered her caller on a tin tray painted green, with the ice clinking delightfully in the amber glasses.

"This is—nice," Lila offered, laying aside her gloves, her expensive-looking bag, to accept the plate Gypsy offered. "You're a very comfortable sort of person, do you know

Capitol Chatter

By Charles E. Simons

Associated Press Staff Writer

Charles E. Simons

AUSTIN, March 16 (AP) — The proposal of Senator John Hornsby of Austin for a series of joint debates between candidates for lieutenant-governor was not popular.

Hornsby, who is considering entering the race, suggested that all candidates for lieutenant-governor travel in a group and discuss the issues in all parts of the state. The right to speak first would rotate.

The plan was advanced at a dinner to which only prospective candidates for the office were invited. Present were Hornsby, former state Senator Benjamin F. Berkeley of Alpine, Senators Joe Moore of Greenville and Walter Woodul of Houston and Rep. R. M. Johnson of Palestine. George Purl of Dallas, who was to have been master of ceremonies at the debates, also was there.

A majority gave the proposition a cold shoulder.

"I told them it would sure draw a crowd if it was advertised that a rodeo of this kind was going to be held," Hornsby said. "I believe it was a good idea and would have been lots of fun for everybody including the candidates."

---

When John Wood of Timpson assumed the office of chairman of the state highway commission he also became "Mister Wood" again.

A friend said that when Wood was in business in East Texas and doing well he was "Mr. Wood." When the depression arrived he became "old John Wood" and when he became highway commissioner the "mister" was reinstated.

Most of the formality has been dropped, however, and his intimates now refer to him as "John."

Suggestion That Kerrville Set Day Aside In Honor Of First Mayor Is Considered; Tivy Great Benefactor

KERRVILLE, March 16. (AP)—Suggestion that the city and schools of Kerrville set aside Feb. 25 of each year as "Tivy day" in honor of the city's first mayor, is receiving serious consideration.

Capt. Joseph A. Tivy, who came to Texas from Canada in 1837, a youth of 19, was destined to not only become one of the greatest benefactors of Kerrville but to other towns and sections as well.

Brushes With Indians

He debarked at Houston, went inland to Washington county and thence to that portion of Milam county which later became Burleson county, making his home there several years. For a number of years he was a surveyor spending much time in the company of the famous frontiersman, Capt. George B. Evart. Tivy had many brushes with the Indians and was in constant demand as a scout when the red men were hostile.

In 1884, he went to San Antonio and joined the Jack Hays Texas rangers, leaving them the next year after being appointed deputy surveyor of the Bexar land distrist, a large area in the western portion of Texas surrounding San Antonio. In that capacity he surveyed and made land locations in Gillespie county and in 1846, surveyed lands located on the upper Guadalupe river.

Was In Gold Rush

Tivy went overland with a wagon train in the California gold rush. His first California venture was in the hotel business, in 1853, he was elected surveyor of Tulare county, Calif., and served as a member of the California legislature.

In 1885, he was ordered to run a surveying line through the wild Sierra Nevadas and, in spite of engagements with Indians and grizzlies, was accredited with running the first standard correct line through those mountains.

Tivy returned to Texas and joined the Confederate ranks. From a second lieutenant promotions came steadily and as Captain Tivy the soldier returned to Karnes county and thence to Kerrville where he settled on a rich tract of land now embraced in the southern section of Kerrville. In 1873, he was sent to the legislature of Texas and when Kerrville was incorporated in 1889, he was selected its first mayor. Late in life he was married to Mrs. Ella Losee, widow of an army surgeon.

Aided School Building

Tivy gave the 16 acres of land that became the site for Kerrville's first public school building, additional lots to be sold for school maintenance.

During the time of his residence which terminated at his death in 1892, he saw the gradual transformation of Kerrville from a frontier village to a modern town and a school system change from log cabins to well appointed buildings and a well-selected curriculum.

THE SON OF TARZAN, No. 42

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As the leopard leaped for the great ape, Meriem gasped in surprise and horror, not for the impending fate of Akut but for the boy's. A minute before he had angrily struck his strange companion. Now with drawn knife the youth leaped far out, and as the leopard was in the very act of sinking fangs into Akut's back, the Killer landed full upon the leopard's shoulders. The cat halted in mid-air, missing the ape by but a hair's breadth.

With horrid snarls it rolled on its back, clutching and clawing in an effort to dislodge the antagonist who was biting at its neck and knifing its sides. Akut had sprung into the tree with agility little short of marvelous in so heavy a beast. But when he saw what was going on below him, personal differences were forgotten and he dropped to the aid of his human companion. The result was a battle royal as the three rolled in the underbrush.

Shrieking, snarling and growlings rent the jungle air. It was the boy's knife which finally decided the fight. As the fierce feline shuddered convulsively and gave its final breath, Korak and the ape faced each other over its prostrate carcass. Korak pointed to the girl. "Leave her alone, Akut, she is mine!" The ape grunted, blinked his little eyes and turned to the body of the leopard. Standing erect on it he threw out his great chest.

Raising his face skyward, he gave voice to so horrid a scream that the girl shuddered. It was the victory cry of the bull ape that has made a kill. The boy looked on in silence; then he leaped into the tree again to the girl's side. Akut presently rejoined them and busied himself licking his wounds. For many months after this, the strange life of the three went on unmarked by any unusual occurrences.

Over the fence, around the house, from under the barn, comes the red combed richly plumed flock—the profitable kind.

It takes more than just feed to make chickens profitable. Careful attention, proper kind of housing and the right kind of feed. All three are necessary even when you have the finest types. Any one of the three lacking and you have mediocre results.

Let us show you a plan for a chicken house, economical to build. Extremely sanitary and easily kept so, together with more scratch room per square foot.

Relief Funds For Oklahoma

Allotment Of $301,000 Made To State; None Of Money To Be Used In Taking Up Overdrawn Checks

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP) — The federal relief administration today made an allotment of $301,000 to Oklahoma, but made it clear none of the money was to be used in taking up $75,000 worth of checks alleged to have been overdrawn during Governor Murray's jurisdiction of relief in that state.

The money will be divided—$250,000 for general relief work during March and April and $51,000 for emergency educational activities during March.

Senator Thomas (D-Okla) recently turned over to the administration a wire from Lt. Gov. Robert Burns of Oklahoma charging around 1,000 destitute persons had been given over drawn checks totaling $75,000 before administration of relief was removed from the Murray setup, along with an appeal that Washington set aside money to make good the drafts.

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 16. — Stocks found firmer footing today and improved quietly after some further offerings had been absorbed around opening time.

The better tone was attributed to several factors, among them a recovery in silver futures, optimistic comment on retail and wholesale trade, a new 1934 high for freight car loadings and hopes that the automobile labor controversy was nearing a settlement. U. S. government loans were firm but corporation bonds looked spotty and their average was down slightly. The stock composite of 90 issues closed two-tenths of a point higher on a turnover of 1,177,180 shares.

The silver market was rather heavy during the morning but it rallied on news that two recently introduced silver bills would come before the house Monday for a record vote. U. S. Smelting closed 3 points to the good; Cerro De Pasco, Dome and McIntyre Porcupine gained less extensively. Metals began to firm around noon and their performance, following yesterday's break, was helpful to other groups, although none except the mining issues and a few specialties got very far.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 16. (AP)—Cotton eased moderately in extremely quiet trading today as all interests continued to center attention on congressional debate on the Bankhead bill. Final prices were 8 to 9 points net lower.

The market opened easier as Liverpool cables came in lower than due although sterling was some firmer. First trades showed loses of 6 points on all active months and as stocks opened lower and there was little buying support prices continued to ease off after the start until May dropped to 12.14, July to 12.24 and October to 12.38, down 8 to 11 points from the close of yesterday.

The market thereafter showed little or no animation but October lost a point additional to 13.37. Prices then fluctuated narrowly within the previous range and near the lows. Although outside markets improved in the late trading, cotton did not respond and gained only 1 to 2 points at the end on some short covering. May closed at 12.16 down 9 points net. July at 12.25 and October at 12.38, down 8 points net on both months.

Port receipts 28,275, for week 88,107, for season 6,662,133, last season 7,458,197. Exports 23,724, for week 120,115, for season 5,790,453, last season 5,850,693. Port stock 3,242,654, last year 4,402,908. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 144,309, last year 98,698. Spot sales at southern markets 8,362, last year 13,160.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Cotton was lower today in a quiet market under liquidation and foreign selling owing partly to further delay in consideration of the Bankhead bill. Fluctuations were narrow and irregular within a range of 4 to 6 points. July moved between 12.30@12.25, closing at the latter figure, with the general market ending barely steady at net losses of 9 to 13 points.

The market opened easy at a decline of 8 to 10 points under moderate selling while May liquidation was also somewhat more in evidence. Overnight reports from Washington that the house would probably postpone the vote on cotton control legislation while reconsidering the independent offices bill apparently caused some disappointment.

At the same time continued quietness in primary cotton goods markets and reports of limited demand for spot cotton in the south left traders without fresh incentives. Trade price fixing was again noted in July at around the 12 1-4 cent level and Liverpool was credited with buying here on differences.

This support, combined with a sharp rally in silver and a steadier tone to stocks and grains brought in some local rebuying during the afternoon. However, rallies were checked as levels advanced to within 4 or 5 points of the previous close. Failure of the market to rally further caused late liquidation by long and May sold off from 12.20@12.15 and October from 12.43@12.39 at the close or practically at the lowest for the day.

Exports today 20,972 making 5,906,491 so far this season. Port receipts 21,690. U. S. port stocks 3,233,307.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, March 16. (AP)—With receipts of hogs at midwestern markets considerably over those of last Friday, trade was slow and generally 5 to 10 lower on the early rounds mostly to outside interests. Closing prices at most points were 10 to 20 under Thursday's average. The bulk of the desirable 190-300 lb. weights ranged generally from 4.00@4.50 at the various markets.

Trade in fed lambs was uneven with most centers reporting prices generally steady to 15 higher. Most other classes of sheep were practically absent and the few offered were qouted steady. Most good and choic wooled skins ranged generally from 8.50@9.35. A few choice 78 lb. spring lambs at 10.65 were sold at Kansas City. Receipts were 29,000 at eleven markets and on last Friday actual rrivals were 26,600.

Cattle trade around the circuit was mostly on a cleanup basis and prices were not materially changed. The break of prices on medium weight and heavy steers on Thursday caused numerous loads to be withheld from today's trade at several markets At Omaha, two loads of choice 1179-lb. steers scored 7.00, the highest price reported, while at Chicago 1423-lb. beeves reached 6.25.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, March 16. (AP)—Hogs 1,000: truck hogs steady to 5c higher; top 4.50: good to choice 175-270 lb. truck hogs 4.45@4.50: better grades 160-170 lb. averages 3.80@4.40; packing sows 3.50@3.75 or steady.

Cattle 1,000; calves 500; market fully steady on all classes; 2 or three loads plain killing steers 3.75@4.00; better grades fed yearlings 5.00@5.50; good fat cows 3.00; few good heavy fat calves up to 5.00.

Sheep 400: not enough good lambs offered to test market; few good wooled fat ewes 5.00, or steady; medium grade wooled fat lambs 7.50: medium grade shorn fat lambs 6.50: stocker wooled lambs 6.50.

Cop Killer

ment in the hunt for the escaped prisoner was received.

Coincident with the killing of Youngblood came word from Indiana that Ernest Blunk, a Crown Point deputy whom Dillinger forced to accompany him in his flight, would attempt to prove that the desperado had a 45-caliber automatic pistol, instead of a wooden gun carved from a broom handle when he made his break.

Faces Early Trial

Blunk, who faces an early trial on a charge of aiding in the escape, was quoted as saying that Dillinger used the wooden gun only to conceal assistance given him from the outside in smuggling a real gun into the jail.

"Dillenger showed me a wooden pistol while we were in the sheriff's car out on the road," a dispatch from Indianapolis quoted Blunk as saying in Crown Point, "but it did not look anything like the weapon he had in the jail." Blunk also was quoted as saying that Dillinger replied "they'd do as much for me," when asked whether he would attempt to free Harry Pierpont, Charles Makley and Russell Clark from the Lima, O., jail where they were held on murder charges.

Reveals Identity

Realizing he was dying, Youngblood revealed his identity after he was taken to a hospital here with six bullet wounds in the chest and abdomen. He said Dillinger and three other men had come to Port Huron with him. His statement was made between frequent intervals of unconsciousness, and much vital information he must have possessed could not be obtained.

He said, however, that he had seen Dillinger and three companions last night in a small (Ford V-8) automobile, and such a car, with either Indiana or Illinois licenses, was the will-o'-the wisp focal point of tonight's search.

A description of the gun battle which marked the end of the trail for Youngblood was furnished by Deputy Sheriff Charles F. Lohrstover, who also revealed that the negro lived up to his boasts of being a bad man in his own right by carrying two guns. It was the second gun with which he wounded his three captors, after Sheriff Van Antwerp had snatched the other one from him.

"I was stationed outside," Lohrstover related, "with a sawed-off shotgun and orders to shoot the man if he came out. The sheriff, Lohr and Cavanaugh went to the rear door of the store first, but it was locked, so they went in the front way. The negro was there and the sheriff asked him his name. He said it was 'William Jerry.'

"The sheriff could see he had a gun, and snatched it from the negro's pocket. Then the negro drew another gun and started firing.

"Cavanaugh was hit first, and then the others, but they also were shooting and brought him down. When Cavanaugh came out, supported by the sheriff, I went in and found the negro lying on the floor. I handcuffed him, his hands behind his back, and stood over him until the ambulance arrived."

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, March 16. (AP)—Slow demand continued today on the Fort Worth cash grain market.

Prices ranged as follows basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to delivery points:

Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: wheat No. 1 hard 91 1-4@94 1-4. Barley No. 2 nominally 55@56; No. 3 nominally 54@55. Sorghums No. 2 milo nominally 1.13@1.15; No. 3 nominally 1.11@1.13. No. 3 kafir nominally 97@98. No. 3 kafir 95@96.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: corn No. 2 white 65 1-4@65 3-4; No. 2 yellow 64 1-4@64 3-4. Oats No. 2 red 41 1-2@42 1-2; No. 3 red 40 1-2@41 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 16. (AP)—Late gains in wheat prices today accompanied Washington announcement that despite cabinet opposition the house of representatives Monday next would vote on proposed silver legislation.

Optimism regarding likelihood of enactment of measures favorable to silver was supplemented by talk of probable coming reduction of taxes on grain futures dealings. The fact also that for several successive days the wheat market had been declining led to some speculative demand because of belief an oversold condition prevailed, and that an upward swing of the pendulum was overdue.

Wheat closed firm, 1-4 to 5-8 above yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to 1-8 higher, oats 1-8 to 1-4 advance, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents down.

flier crisply said when asked by Chairman McKellar about the circumstances under which the contracts were let in 1930.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) also sought to draw him into a discussion of the award of contracts but Lindbergh termed several of his queries "hypothetical."

He promptly agreed, however, with a suggestion by Senator Logan (D-Ky.) that the contracts should be restored to the private companies pending a final review of the entire situation and a "definite determination of guilt."

Technical Advice

Lindbergh said he "was" a technical adviser to Transcontinental and Western Air Express, one of the companies which held an air mail contract.

The committee members questioned him briefly about his salary and stock bonuses.

"Let me say," he smiled, "that I've never received a gift or gratuity from an aviation company. I've worked for them. I might have received more in another field—probably could have—but I preferred aeronautics."

The witness described the cancellation as a blow to American aviation "whose extent is as yet unrevealed."

Has Rebuffed Plea

Twice Lindbergh has rebuffed a plea by Secretary Dern that he serve on a board to investigate army aviation, including its transportation of the mails, but he did not criticize the service's unlucky effort to take over the job.

"The army mail carrying was not as efficient as that of the private companies," he said, but he added the service lacked "proper equipment and the time to prepare for the task."

"Why," he smiled, "if I attempted to fly my old mail route from St. Louis to Chicago it would be weeks before I would really be able to do a good job."

Lindbergh disagreed with testimony yesterday by Brigadier General William Mitchell that American aviation was behind that of other countries.

"We are far superior where commercial aviation is concerned," he insisted.

Mark Halsey, Local Druggist, Claims "Beat" On Depression In Drug Volume

In 1931, Mark Halsey decided to "beat the depression" and today he declared he has accomplished his goal for he boasts of the largest volume of drug business he has ever experienced in his twenty-one years as a druggist.

And to prove it, he can show you figures on his business which reveal a steady increase since that time.

Increased 33 1-3 Per Cent

"My business thus far this year has shown more than thirty-three and one-third per cent increase over 1933," he says.

He is celebrating his third anniversary under his cut-rate policy by staging a gigantic drug sale.

"About three years ago, I decided that people didn't buy marble and glass fixtures, they bought merchandise," Mr. Halsey said Friday in his store 1219 Broadway. "I also decided that the key to success of any business was all in buying and selling, there was nothing in keeping goods on your shelves.

"So I just started out to do a thing I had wanted to do all the time I had been in the business. I started out buying drugs in large lots and lowering the price so that only a small margin of profit was realized but sufficient to justify the business of a rapid turnover. And that's the way my business has grown."

Employs 13 People

In 1931 the Mark Halsey drug store had three employes, Mr. and Mrs. Halsey and Ted Moser. Today, thirteen people are employed regularly in the store. Besides the original trio, other employes today are: Jake Warnick and Marvin Senter in the prescription department, F. E. Elliott, Chal Moser, Miss Neva Anderson, Joyce and Janell Halsey, Forrest White, Marcus Halsey, jr., and Don Stafford.

In 1931, the store used a 45 by 25 feet floor space, today that has been increased to 115 by 25 feet and every inch is covered with merchandise, all prominently displayed. His stock is six times as great as it was three years ago. Mr. Halsey says his store is probably the only drug store in West Texas that doesn't have a stockroom. When he received a shipment of drugs, it is immediately unpacked and placed in the store. Each day, an employe checks every item in the store to see that a sufficient supply is on hand and as soon as the number of articles starts diminishing, a new order is placed.

Ordered Ton Of Malt

Two years ago, wholesalers and other druggists of West Texas were startled at this Lubbock man placing an order for an entire ton of malted milk but today this is one of his regular orders. A complete fountain service is offered by the store.

Mr. Halsey attributes a large part of his business to advertising, the majority of which he places in newspaper lineage.

Truce Called

of a board which would hear and adjudicate the complaints of both workers and employers and (2) an election at which the workers would choose representatives for collective bargaining.

These were proposed to William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors, and spokesman for the industry. He was understood to have rejected the election idea and to have found some fault, too, with Johnson's suggestions for a conciliation board.

Consider Proposals

From a lengthy conference with the NRA chief, Knudsen emerged with an announcement that the executive committee of the automobile chamber would meet in New York Monday to consider the situation and Johnson's proposals. The committee consists of Alvan Macauley, Alfred P. Sloan, jr., and Walter Chrysler.

"The executive committee will report with some proposal for action Tuesday morning or there abouts," Knudsen said. He added it was his purpose to create some agency to avert not only the threatened strike but others in the future as well.

"We have no understanding with labor nor have we made any commitments," he said. "It would be deplorable if the strike were called. Business has been good this year, and we have so many men at work. I want to assure you now we have tried to comply with the national industrial recovery act."

Labor Men Irritated

The labor men frankly somewhat irritated at the delay adjourned immediately to American Federation of Labor headquarters to discuss the Johnson proposals and make their decision whther the strike, already scheduled to begin Monday or Tuesday, should be postponed.

They stood by their plan to leave the city at 4:15 p. m. to return to Detroit and report to the union members.

There they will await whatever proposal the chamber's executive committee has to make on Tuesday and will then meet to decide whether it is acceptable or the strike shall be called for Wednesday morning.

ian visa for his travelling papers. It was believed it was secured through a resident of Bucharest who recently visited Greece.

The captain of the Maiotis, meanwhile, in a wireless message to the marine ministry expressed the fear Insull might try to commit suicide. The minister replied the captain would be held responsible.

The owner of the Maiotis—listed in Lloyds register as A. P. Sinodinos of Piraeus, the port of Athens to which the craft will return—was arrested by police when it was learned that the fugitive sailed on that boat at 4 p. m. Wednesday.

Intended No Wrong

He was questioned for four hours and satisfied authorities that he intended no wrong. He was charged with breaking harbor rules.

His testimony revealed that Mme. Coumoujoglou, wife of a Baghdad date merchant and a friend of Mrs. Insull had approached him several days before the getaway. He was convinced of her good faith, he said, when he was shown a Greek travel permit.

According to the ship owner's testimony, Insull apparently boarded the boat Tuesday evening and hid, begging that his presence be kept secret because he "was adverse to publicity and because of his ill health."

Refuge In Egypt

The understanding was that the Maiotis go to Port Said, at the north end of the Suez canal and in Egypt, for possible refuge, the owner asserted.

If such a course would not prove possible, he added, the intention would be to keep Insull aboard and continue to some port on the Red sea.

In case no refuge could be found, Insull had agreed to pay one pound daily (about $5) for board, according to the testimony, after Insull's payment of 1,500 pounds for a trip to Port Said.

Hint Is Received

Police said the first hint of Insull's departure came from a travel bureau they refused to name.

While the Maiotis steamed back to Piraeus, where she is due Saturday afternoon, there were other repercussions in the Insull affair.

Opposition political leaders attacked the police department for letting Insull slip through its fingers; Interior Minister John Metaxas resigned because of it; Mrs. Insull, after hours of grilling, faced deportation, and the public attitude changed from sympathy to impatience.

Two ships sail soon for the United States. The Aquitania, on a cruise, leaves in four days; the Italian Vulcania will pick up American-bound passengers at Piraeus—Athens' port—March 24.

Insull, ever since he came to Greece in 1932, has fought against a return to the United States to face embezzlement and larceny charges in connection with the failure of the Insull enterprises—a utilities empire once valued at $4,000,000,000 and extending through 37 states and parts of Canada.

New Revenue From Evaders

More Than $3,000,000 Given Up By Tax Evaders During First Nine Months New Law Is In Operation

(Special To The Avalanche)

AUSTIN, March 16.—Gasoline tax evaders "coughed up" more than $3,000,000 in extra revenues to the state during the first nine months the new enforcement law was in operation, the Texas Good Roads association estimated today from Comptroler George H. Sheppard's complete report for 1933.

Three hard-pressed state departments—schools, bond refunding and highways — share in the captured bounty, the first two at the rate of $750,000 each and the last-named at $1,500,000.

The impressive sum, regarded at the capitol as "just like finding money" because it took nothing from any other bureau and required no new taxation, came entirely from sources which had been able to avoid gas tax payment until violation was made a felony and the comptroller provided with adequate enforcement machinery.

Value Is Shown

A comparative table of gas tax payments, month by month, for both 1932 and 1933, compiled by J. W. McReynolds, the comptroller's chief of gas tax operations, shows vividly the value of the new law.

Gasoline tax collections fell $200,000 a month below 1932 during the first three months of 1933. The law was enacted March 21. April payments were off only $63,000, while in May they jumped $33,000 ahead of the previous May. June was $122,000 ahead, August $189,000, September $303,000 and December $465,000.

The improvement in gas tax payments ranged from a 10 per cent decrease in January to a 20 per cent increase in December.

An additional $189,000 is involved in gas tax claims now in the courts, the comptroller reported.

Civil War Veteran Dies At Home In Vernon On Friday

VERNON, March 16. (AP)—Josian W. Rainwater, 90, civil war veteran and believed to have been one of the oldest Master Masons in Texas, died at his home here today.

He was born in Pulaski county, Kentucky, and moved to Taylor in Williamson county, Texas, in 1890, and to Wilbarger county in 1907. Rainwater was a captain under General U. S. Grant in the civil war and was Pulaski county, Kentucky, tax collector for several years.

He owned property here and was a director of the Oklaunion bank. He was survived by his widow, two sons, seven daughters, 45 grand children and 39 great grandchildren.

MAN FOUND SHOT

SAN ANTONIO, March 16. (AP)—Duffy Thomas Holland, secretary of the Alamo Live Stock Commission company, was found shot to death in an outbuilding at the rear of his home early today. A pistol was near his body.

DIES OF WOUNDS

DALLAS, March 16. (AP)—Vestrict Tolbert, 42, of Greenville, died today as the result of a triple shooting at a South Dallas house and Mrs. Bessie Wilson, previously charged with assault to murder, was charged with the slaying.

Mrs. Wilson also was charged with shooting Tom Atchley, 34, at whose home she lived. After wounding the two men last night she inflicted a wound in her chest with the same pistol.

County Tax Collectors Of Texas Talk Beer Licenses

FORT WORTH, March 16. (AP)—County tax collectors of Texas, meeting here, had a new subject to occupy their attention today—the issuing of beer licenses.

This is the first convention of the tax collectors since the legalization of 3.2 beer and they spent considerable time discussing the new problem. Leading the discussion were M. D. Bardwell of San Antonio and J. J. Pierce of Tyler.

"Current tax receipt forms," was discussed by Phil Harris of Dallas, Rube Hanks of San Angelo and Gibson Gayle, Waco, vice-president of the association; "poll tax collections" was discussed by Hall Buchanan of Weatherford, W. E. Lewis of Galveston and Jewell Davidson of Amarillo.

that, my dear? There's something about this garden, simple as it is. . ." She did not finish the sentence, but Gypsy knew what she meant. And indeed the peace and simplicity of the place laid cool hands upon you. There was a sort of magic there, for those wise enough to find it.

Gypsy told her friend something of the stress of the past months; her feeling of weakness and misery, the heat of town, their release when Tom had found this place. Lila laid her long, slim-fingered hand on her cheek and looked at the younger girl with wide, serious, concerned eyes.

"But my dear, why didn't you let me know? You might have come to us."

Now she was more like the old playmate Gypsy had played sand tag with on the beach in Maine so many happy summers. She had for the moment dropped her air of boredom and artificiality and was simply another girl, sympathetic, sincere and loving.

Gypsy laughed aloud at the picture of herself, in her old gingbams and dimities, among Lila's Southampton crowd. "You're awfully kind," she said. "It's sweet of you to say that, but I didn't want to leave Tom, anyhow."

The heat of the afternoon deepened around them. Birds sang in the bushes and a salt breeze blew off the Sound and still Lila stayed on.

Gypsy asked about Derek and it seemed to her that his young wife answered hastily and almost coldly, that she turned her eyes fleetingly away.

"He's all right. He's splendid," she added most unconvincingly. What was the matter with Derek these days, Lila asked herself with resentment. He was always tired, taciturn, reserved. You grew tired of playing up to a man's moods. She, herself didn't believe in it. Men ought to realize—her father always had—that the woman, the wife, was the important cog in domestic affairs. She was the one to be petted, amused, made happy. It was the man's business to make as much money as possible, to surround his wife with lovely things, give her the setting she deserved.

She wasn't like Gypsy, to be contented with a hearth and blue aprons and a rickety little car. She had to have life, movement, color. What was it Marko had said to her the other night: "You're like some wild bird . . . bird of paradise, flashing by." Marko said things like that, made you feel young, precious, infinitely desirable. She said abruptly, "Marko's wonderful, isn't he, Gypsy? I wonder you ever refused him."

Gypsy looked up, surprised.

"Why, yes, I suppose he is. But marriage . . . " Her voice trailed away, her eyes were on the glossy foliage of the Claudius Bernet rose bush just under the living room window. Marriage with Marko Broughton! Out of the question, her rebellious heart said. Marriage meant Tom and shared simple meals and apricots in a green bowl.

"Why, I couldn't have married Marko," Gypsy said wonderingly. What was Lila thinking of?

Lila shrugged her shoulders. It was none of her business, after all.

"Hilda Blanchard often asks about Tom," she said carelessly after a moment. "She thought he was marvelous looking. Hilda's a bit of a devil," she added admiringly.

Gypsy felt the color rise in her cheeks. She knew it was foolish to care. It was horrid, too, to be so possessive, but she just couldn't help it. She hated that girl who had behaved so outrageously at Lila's dinner party.

"She's very attractive," was Gypsy's contribution.

But Lila had already forgotten Hilda in some recital of a real or fancied grievance. Did Gypsy remember the Ramsom Howes? Well, they had been at Newport—they didn't go to Maine any more—and Ellen Howe had rung her up to say they'd like to come down to luncheon. They had all descended, bag and baggage, a week before, with four dogs. "My dear, can you believe it? Four! And Noggins (that's my new chow) was in a beast of a temper. I was a wreck when they pulled out."

Gypsy listened, agreed, nodded. She had a feeling that under Lila's chatter there was a deep undercurrent of restlessness, a hidden meaning. Lila was talking at random. She didn't really care what the Howes did, nor how long they had stayed.

It all seemed very petty and shallow and (in spite of the electricity and glamour) rather sad. Lila's life was one valiant pursuit of pleasure and apparently she seldom achieved her aim. Gypsy enjoyed the unwonted sensation of feeling sorry for her friend. The contrast between them was great: one thin, brown, eager, with apricot tints in her cheeks and lambent lights in her brown eyes; the other willowy, elegant, scented, all in purest white, with rings on her slim fingers and paint on her lovely, restless, unhappy mouth. And yet, of the two, Gypsy felt the richer — the more content.

At long last, Lila rose to go. She would be slain, she said, when she arrived home. There were guests for dinner and she hadn't ordered the flowers. Koto would be in vile humor. He always was. With outflung hands, Lila implored Gypsy's sympathy on this point. "Servants, my dear," she said, with raised brows. "Servants!"

She seemed oddly loath to go. At parting she held Gypsy's hand fondly. "I didn't tell you what I came to say," she said in a half whisper. "I have something to ask you. Most important. But it will have to wait."

TWO ARRESTED

ST. LOUIS, March 16. (AP)—Lawrence Callah, 25, a chauffeur, and Joseph Degnan, 26, a bricklayer, were arrested here last night for questioning in connection with the robbery of the Exchange bank of Atchison, Kas., in which $21,000 was taken.

Both men denied any knowledge of the holdup.

Good For Biliousness

"I decided to take Thedford's Black-Draught, as I had been having bilious spells," writes Mr. Charles E. Stevens, of Columbus, Ind. "When I get bilious, I feel sleepy and tired and do not feel like doing my work. I get awfully dizzy. After I found how good Black-Draught is, that is what I have used. I guess it rids me of the bile, for I feel better — don't feel like I am dropping off to sleep every time I sit down. That, to me, is a very bad feeling."
