SAN ANTONIO PASTOR WILL AUCTION OFF BOY AND BOTTLE OF BOOZE TO SEE WHICH BRINGS HIGHEST PRICE

By United News.
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 12.—"Is booze worth more than boys?"
"Will Rev. Melvin C. Eidsen of the Beacon Hill Baptist church be arrested Sunday night when he flashes a pint bottle of whiskey before his audience?"
"And if the Rev. Eidsen is arrested can members of the W. T. C. U., in protest, get themselves arrested too?"
These are the questions which were puzzling San Antonians Friday night. The answer will come following Rev. Eidsen's sermon next Sunday when he will face his audience to auction off a boy and a bottle.

Rev. Eidsen in making a drive against liquor violations, advertised his plan to see which will bring the higher price at auction to be held in his church Sunday night.
When informed Friday by a prominent woman that he was slated for arrest should the contents of his bottle be of the genuine pre-Volstead brand, the pastor replied:
"I've reserved quarters in the jail and I double dog dare anybody to arrest me."
"But nevertheless," he declared, "the bottle will be in my left hand when I begin my sermon. I'm opening a campaign against liquor drinking in San Antonio, and nothing like this is going to stop me."

Rev. Eidsen said that members of one faction of the local W. T. C. U. had informed him they would be behind him in full strength Sunday night when he opens his announced campaign.
"They said that they would see that I get out of jail if I am arrested," he declared.

Cooking School Conductor Here Tomorrow

Mrs. Florence Austin Chase of Los Angeles, California, who will hand out hot tips to South Plains housewives, beginning Monday.

INSTRUCTION IN CULINARY ARTS STARTS MONDAY

The event to which hundreds of South Plains housewives have been looking for weeks, the visit of Mrs. Florence Austin Chase, begins Monday, March 15, at 2 o'clock.
The speaker is the new Dyke Cullum building on Ave. K, where everything for the comfort and convenience of the crowds, who will attend Mrs. Chase's lectures on Domestic Science, Home Furnishings, and Arts and economical household management has been done.
Long experience, coupled with scientific knowledge and a pleasing personality which enables her to impart her lectures with a minimum of unnecessary words and movements all combine to make Mrs. Chase a most efficient lecturer on domestic science subjects.
She has the scientific knowledge and laboratory as well as kitchen experience in foods, but her lectures are not dry discourses of calories, proteins and carbohydrates. She shows what a balanced ration should be, but she also knows that foods should be appetizingly prepared and artistically served in order to be eaten and her appeal is directed to the eye and the palate as of prime importance as well as the phases of dietetics which deal with individual metabolism.
There are many women who regret they do not have the opportunity provided for school girls of today by the home economic department in schools. Housewives appreciate the benefit and value of such instruction and would grasp an opportunity to take a course in household arts if such a thing were practicable. By reason of their own duties and responsibilities, as well as school regulations, they cannot attend the public schools, but out of the needs that present themselves along this line have arisen various sources through which the housewives can acquire as practical instruction in home economics as is given in schools.
Mrs. Chase comes to Lubbock under the auspices of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche and will conduct courses and demonstrations in every phase of home-making and food preparation and serving.
Her lectures will be found especially helpful to the young housewife and the matron who is desirous of serving better meals at less cost. She seeks to encourage better health through the use of good home-made dishes.
The lectures begin promptly at 2 o'clock and continue with demonstrations for about two hours. There will be ample opportunity for questions to be asked and opinions exchanged among those attending. This phase of the meeting is expected to bring out some new and valuable ideas. Every housewife has her own pet recipe which will find a hearty welcome at the convention.
No one attending will be under any obligation. But every woman is asked to go, every day, and get her friends to go. Take a pencil, notebook, saucer and spoon. Be prepared to learn something and be very highly entertained at the same time. These are the only requirements and those complying with them can be assured of ideas and incentives for better homes.

ANDREWS PREPARES TO DRY UP LIQUOR IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

WETS GET UNEXPECTED AND QUICK ACTION ON CHARGE

BLEASE STARTS IT

FIERY SOUTHERNER OFFERS TO BUY DRINK UNDER CAPITOL DOME

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
United News Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, March 12.—Somewhat to their discomfort, the wets have achieved results sooner than was expected from their charge that drunkenness has increased in Washington and other cities under prohibition.
Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, in charge of all federal enforcement, has asked the prohibition supervisor for the District of Columbia, Gerald T. Murphy, for a conference on liquor conditions in Washington.

This development followed the statement of Senator Blease of South Carolina in a public speech here that bootleggers make daily rounds to the offices of senators and congressmen.
Andrews, stated diplomatically that he didn't want to be drawn into that, but his summons of his local enforcement officer immediately after Blease made his charges caused general inferences to be drawn.
Andrews also reiterated that the federal prohibition enforcement policy was aimed at the big liquor dealer rather than apprehension of the his pocket peddler who should be handled by local authorities.

Blease, incidentally, is the only dry in congress who has the courage to admit that he drinks. Some others vote dry and drink wet, but are afraid to confess it. Blease opposes prohibition but believes that in voting he should reflect the sentiment of his state which is dry. He has never sought to hide the fact in his political campaigns or in his senate speeches.
"Liquor can be bought today in the house and senate office buildings," Blease said. "Every day they come to me and say, 'how much do you need today, senator?' If you think I don't mean that, come up to the capitol some day and I'll buy you a drink."

Wet senators and congressmen have spoken recently regarding the alleged increase in drunkenness in Washington and a general laxity of enforcement. Their arguments were directed to show that federal prohibition was a failure even here, where the law was made. It is probable that these severe criticisms will react toward a tightening-up enforcement here.
Wets heard further bad news when Chairman Cullmins of the senate

RUSSIA OUTSTEPS REST OF WORLD IN AVIATION, SPREADING NET WORK OF AIR LINES OVER HER VAST TERRITORY

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Russia is fast outstepping the rest of the world in the development of aviation, information reaching here indicates.
The soviet nation will double its mileage of regular commercial airplane routes during the present year, the Russian information service has announced.
With a territory three times the size of the United States and a railroad mileage only one fifth as great co-operative aviation organizations backed by the government are reaching out to tap hitherto inaccessible territories by establishing rapid means of communication and aiding in the development of provinces which would have to wait years for the coming of more cumbersome channels of commerce.

The nation is thrilling to this new romance of transportation. Planes bearing passengers, mail and compact freight sweep through the air, cutting into hours trips that formerly required days.

PRO CZAR

(Continued from Page 1) Judiciary committee appointed a dry sub-committee to consider wet bills and to decide whether bear hearings should be held. Three bone dries and one wet were named.

This makes both the full committee and its sub-committee too dry to make any beer hearing probable. Drys are much excited over the wet majorities shown in newspaper polls and are making offensive measures. The executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League will call on President Coolidge Saturday. This probably will furnish the occasion for a statement from the Anti-Saloon League regarding the present situation.

MEN'S BIBLE STUDY CLASS AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The subject for the lesson tomorrow in the Men's Bible Study class is "The Judgment Seat of Christ." The Bible speaks of seven judgments, but this is the place where the believer will be judged as to his faithfulness to Christ and his willingness to walk with Him in sacrifice and separation. Every true believer in Christ will be saved, but many will be burned up, for their works will be burned up, for they were not built on the right foundation. Read First Corinthians 3:12-15. The rewards of those believers who are true to Christ are spoken of as crowns. There is the incorruptible crown, the crown of life, the crown of righteousness, the crown of glory, the crown of gold. That will be a great day when we receive the rewards for what we have done for the Master. He will be long suffering and merciful towards us because of our weakness, but there will be many disappointments among those who thought more of the things of this world than of the things of God. Let us bring our Bibles and notebooks and study together what the Guide Book has to say about the rewards of those who are faithful to Him.—Class Reporter.

Auditor's Report

March 3, 1926

Hon. Chas. Nordyke, County Judge, and Members of Commissioners' Court, Lubbock County, Texas.

Gentlemen: In accordance with your instructions we have audited the accounts of the County Treasurer of Lubbock County for the purpose of determining the status of the various funds of the County as at February 28, 1926.

All monies shown to have been received by the Treasurer were traced into the depository and all disbursements have been made upon duly authorized warrants.

The following exhibit sets forth the receipts and disbursements of each fund in total, the details of which will be submitted to your honorable body in one final report when all officers of the County shall have been audited. The condition of the County's finances, briefly stated, are as follows:

Another Wife Faces Charge of Plotting To Kill Husband

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Mar. 12.—Mrs. Olive Orr Bowers, prominent society woman and cousin of the late Barbara La Marr, must face hearing together with her alleged associated "soul mate" Elmer M. Archer, bank clerk, on charges of plotting the death of her 68 year-old husband, W. M. Bowers.

Despite her husband's plea that she be released, Mrs. Bowers was bound over for preliminary hearing on March 19, after she was arraigned Friday along with the bank clerk, aged husband in order that they could marry and enjoy his wealth.

While Mr. and Mrs. J. Alcide of Brooklyn were out visiting friends, robbers carried away everything in their home except one chair.

LANSING, Ill., March 12.—Taking a leaf from the history of Mahatma Gandhi, campaign of prayer for home rule in India; 500 church people here have set out to convert twenty roadhouses into gospel missions through the power of prayer.

The movement, which has been gaining impetus for ten days is headed by Isaac Williams, a reformed gambling house keeper, and Rev. Benjamin M. Brown, Chicago evangelist. They claim that already several of the roadhouses have been offered for sale.

Like Gandhi of India, Williams and Brown are teaching their followers a policy of non-violence and that anything can be accomplished through faith and prayer.

Each night the church people of the community gather at the churches and offer prayers asking that the roadhouses be closed by divine power. No appeal is to be made to federal agents to raid the resorts which dot the highways of the Lansing and Okla. Gen. districts.

Mumtaz Begum and her protector Abdul Bawia were attacked in Bombay a year ago last January by high officers of the deposed Maharajah staff. The girl had been in the maharajah's home since early childhood. Tiring of her master she escaped to Bawia.

Bawia was killed during the attack. Mumtaz was wounded and her beauty marred. Investigation proved to the satisfaction of the British that the maharajah had ordered or at least assisted in the attack.

PROF. HARRISON TO DELIVER TWO ADDRESSES TODAY

Prof. R. C. Harrison, head of the department of English, will have a busy day to day. This morning at 11 o'clock he will talk at the Lubbock County Teachers Institute which will be held at Carlisle. His subject for this speech will be "The Need of More Thorough Training in English in the Rural Schools."

This afternoon he will go to Slaton where he will address a joint meeting of the Civic and Cultural Club and the Wednesday Study Club of Slaton. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. W. B. Price. Prof. Harrison will use "Dialect in American Literature" for his theme in the talk. He will show how the little rivulets of dialect pour into the great stream of American Literature. Although this phase does not represent the best of the series of American Literature, it is literature of popular nature that really gets close to the hearts of the people. American dialect shows how America is the great melting pot for many languages. The talk will include readings from some of the literature of the West.

American Literature is Prof. Harrison's field and he is well informed on all phases of it. He has a hobby of making a study of the dialect of this field. Last night he made a talk at a community meeting at Post City and had as his subject "Seeing Life With the Other Fellow." Mr. Harrison is a very interesting speaker and the clubs will be benefited very much by his talk.

DR. PFLEGER TO CONTINUE HIS LECTURES ON WOLFRON

Dr. Pfeleger, professor of French and German, lectured to Miss Boone's history class yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. He will continue his lecture at the next meeting of the class. He lectured on the story of Parsifal written by a French author and also by Wolfron von Eschenbach. Eschenbach was one of the great medieval singers of Germany, the people who practically established the literature and legend of the nation.

Parsifal is the story of youth who is brought up in seclusion by a very selfish mother. She does not want him to become a man of the world. He meets some knights, decides to go out into the world. His mother dressed him as a fool and consoled him regarding his manners. The theme is to follow the law in spirit but not in the letter. His adventures in following her advice furnishes the story, which is humorous in many instances. The story leads Parsifal to the Holy Grail and he lost his chance to be King of the Grail because of following the law to the letter. The story is very interesting and of the imaginary type. One of its features is the development of character which is one of the important phases of modern literature. The lecture was very interesting and the students are anxious to hear the rest. The public will also be invited to hear the lecture.

Y. M. C. A. TO STAGE MEMBERSHIP AND ATTENDANCE CAMPAIGN

At a regular cabinet meeting of the "Y" Thursday night, the members voted to stage a membership and attendance contest during the next term. The chapter was divided up into groups with a captain for each group. Each captain is to see that his men are present at every meeting. If a visitor is brought, so many points are added, a certain number is also added for new members. At the close of the contest the losing group will banquet the winning group. The boys have been taking a great deal of interest in the contest and this should be a new incentive to work for. Already the captains have started to work and it is expected that many members will be added to the roll.

In commenting on the school, Dean Hall stated that he liked the college fine and that all the classes, and courses were in good condition.

SUNDAY RELIGION

A youth rummaging in an old attic came across some books of several decades and was frankly amused by them. In these books church people were described as having Sunday religion. "Sunday saint, week-day devil," was an expression much used. The men and women in the old time stories put on their good behavior with their Sunday clothes, as they were termed; but six days in the week they were mean, narrow minded, hypocritical and stinky, according to the writers. The young man's grandmother, to whom he appealed, explained that it had been quite popular with a certain class of novelists at that period to belittle church going people and give the impression that most of them were hypocrites. "It wasn't true," said the old lady, "but people who habitually read such books began to be convinced that all church goers were Christians only on Sunday." Occasionally some writer of the present depicts the people who go to church as few elderly ladies and some brethren of the type known as negatively good; but considering the confusion of thought and the outside attractions, one is inclined to think the heroes and heroines of real life are the ones who possess Sunday religion, these days.

Everywhere in every denomination the cry goes up that the church pews are mostly empty on Sunday mornings, while the night services have long ago been discontinued for lack of listeners in many churches. "Why do not people go to church?" is the question that troubles every thoughtful person. Sunday is the day when people run hither and thither, even Christian people, without a thought of obligation to God and his house.

In a daily paper on one of the July days of this year a man's letters to the men and young people of his town were printed. The man had been told that he could not live twenty-four hours, so he dictated the letters to his friends and neighbors in the town of Ossipee, N. H. The letters were read in connection with his funeral services. In one he said: "Permit me to earnestly ask you to take the time from the busy walks of life to do your duty as a citizen, a father, a husband, or a son." In the opening sentence he had told them of the deplorable condition of the church and said: "I am the last male member of the church but one." It was a source of great relief and anxiety that his friends and neighbors should thus neglect the house of God. "The church needs you and you need the church and all it stands for," he wrote as his dying message. "God is calling you to duty, do not delay." It was not a long letter, but a most appealing one, as was the other message addressed to the young folks of the town. Reading them both, one is forced to conclude that the town of Ossipee needs a revival of Sunday religion of the most devoted type, and it is not alone in that respect.

Thoughtful people hesitate about opening the Monday morning paper because it is always filled with accidents and calamities that can almost always be traced to breaking the law of God regarding the Sabbath. Ten killed here at a grade crossing, three drowned at a bathing beach, pistol duels that take large toll at Sunday dances, speeders on the highway crashing into pedestrians and others, maiming and killing—death in every headline. A young nurse in a hospital said she always dreaded to see Sunday come, for it was sure to be a day of sickening work and mangled bodies. Now, to be sure, all persons on the highways are not violating the Sabbath; but the physician on his errand of mercy seldom exceeds the speed limit, though the case be urgent, and the minister on the way to the dying doesn't find it necessary to race the engine to the crossing.

The Bible is filled with promises to those who respect God's laws, but there is nothing consoling in Holy Writ for the disobedient. May God hasten the day when Sunday religion will be the rule and not the exception and the empty pews will be filled with those whose highest delight is to honor the Lord of the Sabbath by reverent worship and service.

A GREAT NATION

The United States at the present time has the greatest industrial capacity in its history. There is room for further expansion and there is a wide field for investment. We are entitled to judge the future by the past, and the past twenty years in this country have given us machine production, electric power, the telephone, the automobile, the engine, chemical processes, the x-ray, the motion picture, the radio, and a thousand devices that have widened the opportunities of the people, absorbed the fruits of industry and employed capital in ways that were not seen in advance. Like other industries which have contributed to national welfare for generations past, new industries are making of themselves a primary need. Luxuries of ten years ago are now necessities. Modes of life have changed completely with new modes of travel, new modes of thought and new mechanical inventions. Opportunities of this country are so great that as time goes on, production is bound to increase while buying power expands, lifting to higher levels the standards of our national life.

S-O-S

During the recent terrific storms on the Atlantic four ships almost simultaneously reported themselves in peril. "Fifty years ago," says the Paris, France, Times, "not only would they have been unable to call for help, but they would have stood strong chances of going down with all hands. Even in the steamer lanes a sinking craft blown off her course or just out of range of visibility of passing ships would have stood small chance of rescue. However, when the faint three dots, three dashes and three dots of the distress signal were picked up by some watchful wireless operator, the word was passed and the air was cleared for reception of the unfortunate ship's position and the organization of relief. The signals of the powerful navy stations crashed through the atmosphere, demanding right of way and silencing broadcasting. The music and entertainment going out from scores of American stations was stopped for the longest period since the popularization of the radio. Millions of listeners-in on two continents were informed that ships were in distress and that they would have to forego their evening entertainment. "The world is growing smaller—and safer."

Attorney General Dan Moody has announced his candidacy for governor of Texas. He attacked the administration of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and mentioned her husband, the former governor, as the person primarily responsible for the ills which he said have befallen the people of Texas under the present regime. The campaign promises to be red hot.

Some wisecracks want congress to build a bridge across the Atlantic ocean with the money owed the United States by the allies. We suggest that congress withhold appropriations for this purpose until the last ultimate, final cent has been collected from those dear people and landed in Uncle Sam's plethora coffers—or words to that effect.

At the celebration of the eighth anniversary of the founding of the red army, War Commissioner Voroshilov of Moscow, Russia, asserted that France, Japan, Great Britain and America have gone ahead of the soviet in military matters and urged the passage of laws for training of high school youth in military knowledge. From the soviet viewpoint he said that the League of Nations in stead of furthering the cause of peace is in reality preparing for a war "more monstrous" than the last war. The Washington conference he declared was followed immediately by the building of more warships by both America and Great Britain.

Little Avalanches

Theodore Roosevelt and his brother Kermit returned home in triumph from Asia bringing samples of Marco Polo's celebrated sheep and other rare game. Theodore's governmental aspirations seem to have been lost sight of in the general demand for Charles Evans Hughes.

"As you hold loving thoughts for every person and animal and even towards the plants, the ocean, the stars, the rivers and hills, and as you are helpful and of service to the world, so you will find yourself growing more happy each day. And with happiness comes health and everything you want." This beautiful sentiment came from Luther Burbank, on his 77th birthday anniversary. It contains practically the whole philosophy of life in a few short words.

Steam is power, explosives are power, money is power—they all represent power to do if handled by a competent engineer.

The battles of advanced civilization have been fought in the world of ideas rather than the world of brute force. Whether applied by government or bandit brute force gets us nowhere.

There are those who have beaten the Louisiana lottery, those who have beaten Monte Carlo, those who have beaten the race track and stock market—but they are an infinitesimal part of the whole number of speculators.

Calvin Coolidge has been President a year in his own right, and, by common admission, remains unusually strong in public esteem. As the second half of the President's first full term approaches, conviction grows that Mr. Coolidge will be a candidate to succeed himself in 1928.

Notwithstanding the loss to somebody of over 25,000 millions of dollars in the recent stock slump, financiers assert that it will not have any effect on the fundamental industrial situation, but will result in more nearly normal conditions.

Notwithstanding all claims and statements made by "experts," the Bureau of Labor says that the cost of living has increased 82.7 per cent since December, 1914. This will no doubt stand as official—though most of us are of the opinion that the figures should be higher.

Because he asserted that the claims of Dr. Cook to having discovered the North Pole, were as sound as the claim of Commander Peary, Captain Ronald Amundsen, arctic explorer, has practically been dropped by the National Geographic Society, and will return to his home in Norway.

SO THINK WE

We think it is too bad that a town should be penalized for growing too fast, but this happened to Lubbock a few days ago, when a certain industry was being courted, and the representative stated that they would not consider Lubbock because the town was too big and was growing too fast. We referred them some of the less progressive towns, and believe they will find a location somewhere in Central Texas. We doubt if they can find the place they are looking for.

We think the man who fears God as he should will not be afraid of anyone else.

We think there is more heroism in a smiling face sometimes than in half of the great heroic deeds that are published in the headlines of the daily papers.

We think there is an art in knowing when to speak, and there is also an art in knowing when to be silent, especially in this true when the temper is rising a bit.

We think that one should feel sorry for folks who are always afraid to speak a pleasant word because they fear some one will get them into a skin game somewhere.

We think it must be an awful feeling like everyone that you have any dealings with is a crook.

We think that after it develops that more than ninety-five per cent of the business of the country is done on a credit basis that there must be a great number of honest folks left yet.

We think that after all with the number of cars running up and down on the streets of Lubbock we have comparatively few accidents, but a little more cars might help to avoid others.

We think there is really no use to be waiting till the spring clean up campaign is started to clean up. If everyone will do their part it will not be necessary to have a clean up campaign at all.

We think one reason that Lubbock has been able to accomplish many things that some other towns have thought impossible is that most of the people get in the collar, and all pull together. Co-operation is a big word and is used many times in a meaningless way, but it has served to good advantage in this city.

We think the crop growing contest will become a very important factor in the development of the more feed production in this section of the country. The business men, the bankers and the members of the Chamber of Commerce are of the opinion that it is a mighty good thing; we hope the farmers will take advantage of it.

We think it would be a great honor to have a sign placed in your yard stating that you have won first prize by having the very prettiest yard in the city.

IT IS REPORTED

That there will be a big get together meeting held at the Tech cafeteria on April 1. Lubbock is strong for the Tech and the business men are anxious to get better acquainted with the faculty.

That the fellow who rises at 8:30 a. m. with hands soft and white, and with his hair parted in the middle held in place by "stay-comb," is the fellow who has nearly all of the sure cure remedies for the farmers troubles.

That one young woman's club in this city has the dope on the old bachelors. They say bachelors are merely men whom the girls have found out, and that is the reason they are bachelors.

That vindication is a disease that is peculiar to state officials and comes only every two years. It is rather serious however, and will possibly prove fatal to some of them this year.

In the fashion plates that skirts are to be shorter but the comments do not say how much or why.

It is reported now by the weather prognosticator that we may have a killing frost about the first of April or we may not. He may be right and he may be wrong. We are just as definite as he is, and there is just about as much sense in what we said as what he said.

That there are more ways of making a fool of yourself now than there used to be. That possibly accounts for so many fools in the world today.

It is reported by one of Lubbock's old grouchers that the "horn of plenty" is the saxophone.

It is reported that some folks say they can see improvements in jazz music. We believe they must have very bad eyesight.

It is reported that some folks are so fond of worry that they even let other people's troubles worry them.

It is reported from the board of directors of one of the local concerns that there is nothing that keeps the stockholders in a good mood quite so well as regular and large dividends.

This and That

A Good Excuse
Teacher—Johnny, what do you mean by coming to school like that? Your hair is disgraceful.
Johnny—No comb, miss.
Teacher—Can't you use your father's comb?
Johnny—No hair, miss.

Guilty
"Last night I made an awful mistake."
"That so? How?"
"I drank two bottles of gold paint."
"How do you feel?"
"Guilty."

SCISSORED EDITORIAL

WHAT TO FORGET
If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life forget your neighbor's faults. Forget all the slanders you have heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault finding, and give little thought to the cause which provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories you have heard by accident and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Riot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life; they will come, but will only grow larger when you remember them, and the constant thought of the acts of meanness, or worse still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday, start out with a clean sheet today, and write upon it, for sweet memory's sake only those things which are lovely and lovable.

A Little Talk on Thrift

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift

far better progress in their personal affairs as a rule than those who are continually drifting from place to place and from job to job.

The most wholesome advice that can be given any young man is this—find an anchorage. And the best way of finding an anchorage is to establish a bank account, buy a home, or become interested in a business.

One of the values of thrift lies in the fact that it has a stabilizing effect on the individual. It often requires fortitude and will power to remain steady when the world of pleasure seems to hold out so many allurements. But it is through this eternal fight against temptation that characters are built.

Establish your anchorage through thrift. Do not be a drifter.

READING TO A LITTLE GIRL

Reading to a little girl,
Well, I'll tell you, there's a chore!
Nursery rhymes, a thousand times
I have read them o'er and o'er.
Here and there and everywhere
Following the little bear.
Peter Rabbit, line by line,
I have read it from the start,
Fast and slow, till we know
Every word of it by heart.
Still she climbs upon my knee,
Pleading, "Read this book to me."

SHERIFF ADDS FINAL TOUCH TO MIAMI FIASCO BY FORBIDDING PRIZE FIGHT, ALREADY CALLED OFF, LACK OF FUNDS

MIAMI, Fla., March 12.—Miami's first big plunge for a big spot on the pugilistic map flopped here late Friday with a few bubbles remaining on the surface when the bout between Gene Tunney and Young Stribling was called off definitely and finally.

The fight failed to be carried out for a number of reasons, the most important of which was that Jess Baugh, the promoter failed to pay Tunney $50,000 and Stribling $35,000.

The interested little group of business men, which had turned from commerce to fight promoters so that the good name of Miami might be saved from the odium of a flop, went through another hectic day trying to find money.

They gathered at conference in the office of the chief of police, attended by "Pa" Stribling and his boy, Billy, Bill Gibson, manager of Tunney, Judge D. J. Heffernan, representing the business men and "Tiny" Parker the ticket concessionaire, who complained that he was holding the bag of $21,000.

Just when the conference was getting down to real business the sheriff of Dade county, Henry Chase, was ushered into the meeting by a police captain, and he told the listeners that Governor Martin had just instructed him that a prize fight was against the law and he would be held responsible if the law happened to be violated.

The sheriff warned also that not only the promoters and the principals were liable to arrest, but that the spectators would be running the risk a free ride in the wagon.

Baugh, the promoter and all concerned then agreed that the fight was off and it was so declared.

There has been some talk of a postponement until Saturday night, or some night next week, but when the sheriff said his piece there was no more conversation.

Gibson walked out of the meeting with his lawyer, Fred Payne, and in the presence of several amazed coppers and two New York newspaper men he pulled five $1,000 bills, several $100 and a $50.

"Here's all the money I've been advanced. I have about $4,000 worth of tickets at the hotel that I will return tonight," Gibson said. "Pa" Stribling would not answer when he was asked if he would refund $6,500 that had been advanced to him by the promoters. "Pa" said his lawyer told him that he did not have to refund the money and he indicated that he might take his counsel's advice.

"Tiny" Parker, who used to be a minor league umpire, said that he had sold $21,000 worth of tickets and that he had turned the money over to the fighters and for a few payments to the contractors who built the stadium.

Parker said that he had agreed in the presence of the chief of police to refund the money to all ticket holders who had made purchase.

Billy Gibson issued a statement Friday night with a denial that Tunney had taken a run out of the fight. "We are all ready to talk business on a fair basis when the sheriff walked in and said that it was all off," Gibson said.

"To show you that Tunney has been on the level, I will guarantee Stribling $50,000, and that is $25,000 more than he was to get here, if he will meet Tunney in any state where boxing is allowed and where there is a law that will permit a referee or judge's decision."

The fight had been so much of a "Shelby" that the population was not excited over the news that there was not a chance for the bout to take place. The only interest shown was from those who had bought tickets and wanted to know how they were to get their money back.

SENATORS PUT ON TWO EXHIBITION GAMES TODAY

TAMPA, Fla., March 12.—Two squads of the Washington Senators will engage in games here Saturday, the regulars meeting the Boston Braves in the afternoon and the rookies elating with the University of Florida nine in the morning.

It will be the second exhibition game between the Senators and the Braves, Boston having won the first at St. Petersburg a few days ago.

DEMPESEY PUTS UP CASH TO INSURE WILLS BOUT

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 12.—Financial details of the scheduled $3,000,000 Dempsey-Wills world championship fight were being ironed out here Friday night in a conference between Jack Dempsey and Floyd Fitzsimmons, middle west promoter.

All preliminaries have been attended to but the depositing in local banks of a few hundred thousand dollars, which both the champion and Fitzsimmons declare will be done Friday night.

Dempsey and Fitzsimmons are each putting up $250,000 to "insure" the fight. The promoter has already given the champion and the colored challenger $200,000 between them for training expenses. It was said.

Dempsey's financial gesture, unprecedented in pugilism, is to "convince the public that I am not kidding about my willingness to defend the title."

Both Dempsey and Wills will fight on a percentage basis, according to Fitzsimmons. Dempsey's end of the gate, which the promoter expected to total $3,000,000 will be approximately 87-1-2 per cent, Fitzsimmons said. Wills cut was not revealed.

Miss Wills Meets American Today

NICE, March 12.—For the first time since Miss Wills' arrival upon the Riviera, two American girls will meet in the finals of one of the winter tennis tournaments.

The American champion will play Isabelle Lee Mumford of Boston here Saturday, having defeated Miss Petele the Hungarian girl, 6-2, 6-2, in the semi-finals. Miss Mumford, who plays a "soft" game in contrast to Helen's driving attack, beat Eileen Bennett of England, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0.

In the mixed doubles, Miss Wills and her partner, Charles Kingsley, defeated Mile Bourgeois and Garon of France, 6-1, 6-3.

Mrs. Raymond Adams of Gloucester City, N. J., found a diamond worth $80 in the gizzard of a chicken she was preparing to be cooked.

BERKLEY BEARS WILL MEET PRINCETON ON TRACK

BERKLEY, Calif., March 12.—The University of California track and field team will engage Princeton in a dual meet on May 22. R. W. Cortelyou, graduate manager of athletics, has announced.

The Bears will leave for the east immediately after the Pacific coast conference meet at Stanford on May 16. After the Princeton engagement the Californians will go to Cambridge for the I. C. A. A. A. championships, May 28-29, according to the plans announced Friday.

Leaky 'Alum' Leads to Huge Booze Haul

NEW YORK, March 12.—A "leaky" sack of "alum" which leaked as it was being hoisted from the hold of the President Polk led custom officers to seize a $75,000 shipment of champagne Friday.

More than 400 cases of the bubbles, found in casks labeled "alum," "colored earth" and "sulphate of aluminum" were confiscated by the government men.

Dr. Richard H. McCarthy of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., cancelled all bills owed him by his patients in celebration of his recent birthday.

ALL DAY MEETING TECH COMMITTEE HELD FRIDAY

R. A. Underwood, of Plainview, Clifford B. Jones, of Spur and H. T. Kimbro, local member of the board of regents of the Texas Technological College who compose the local affairs committee representing the board in matters pertaining to the operation of the school, were in an all day meeting here yesterday when much business of a routine nature was transacted.

The Plainview and Spur men were pleased with the progress that has been made in the school here and were pleased that the proposition of conducting a summer term has been given a great deal of publicity already and that plans for the opening of the term are being developed with expected rapidity.

DEMAND ONE PRICE FOR ALL IN RADIO CAMPAIGNING

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—Equal rights for politicians who want to broadcast for votes became a center of lively debate in the house on the White bill regulating radio. Charges of monopoly against radio manufacturers also were revived.

Representative Davis of Tennessee, democrat, who led the fight for putting more teeth in the measure to prevent monopoly, discussed the political angle, declaring that broadcasting charges should be equalized so that all candidates for office, for instance, who wanted to campaign over the radio should have the same opportunity. There is a great danger, he said, this broadcasting privilege might be abused and used for propaganda.

Representative Celler, New York, democrat jumped up to give a personal experience saying that during the last campaign he was required to pay $10 a minute for every speech he made, while his opponents were charged nothing.

The house spent Friday in general debate on the bill. It sets up a special commission of five appointed by the president to supervise radio regulation and handle appeals taken from the secretary of commerce, who is empowered to issue licenses and handle the general administration as now. The bill will be voted on Saturday and is expected to be passed. It will then go to the senate.

BULLETS AND BRICKBATS FLY IN CHICAGO AS BEAUTY PARLOR WAR RAGES OVER PRICE OF MARCELLES

CHICAGO, March 12.—Bullets replaced hair tonic as the hair raising element in the south side beauty parlor belt here Friday.

A trade war broke out over the price of a marcelle and rolled up what may prove to be a permanent wave of ill feeling between organized beauty parlor owners and the independents.

The latter claim they are being "terrorized" because they refuse to bring their marcelle price up from 50 cents to $1. The campaign of threats has been accentuated in several cases by the hurling of bald-headed paving stones and bullets through elaborate front window hair tonic displays.

Police are patrolling the district following reports of violence against the establishments of Mrs. Myrtle Ellsworth and Mrs. A. Simon, proprietors.

Mrs. Ellsworth told authorities she received her first warning a month ago when a brick came crashing through her front window. Previously she had been warned by telephone that she would be sorry if she didn't put her shampoos up to 75 cents and her marcelles up to $1.

SCOUTS WILL CAMP NEAR POST THIS YEAR, IS PLAN

Members of the South Plains area Boy Scouts of America will enjoy their annual summer camp this year, but will be nearer home, according to plans being worked out by officials of the council.

A committee representing the council and composed of Dr. Paul W. Horn, W. H. Hedges, W. O. Stevens, K. N. Clapp, R. J. Murray and L. S. Harkey went to points near Post in Garza county yesterday seeking a location for the camp and upon their return to Lubbock were enthusiastic over prospects for locating the camp in that vicinity where every recreational advantage will be offered the boys and where it will not be at all difficult to carry all necessary supplies for the camp from Lubbock and Post.

The establishment of the summer camp in Garza county will be of more than usual value to the boys in that many who could not be away from home for the entire camp season can go there for just a few days and can return to their homes here without difficulty.

It was pointed out here yesterday that it would not be impossible for the more mature members of the scouts to hike from Lubbock to the camp ground, however, this will not be resorted to in making the trip as Lubbock business men will gladly furnish trucks as was the case last year.

No definite announcement about the camp was made by the committee upon their return to Lubbock yesterday, but the enthusiasm shown by each member of the party proved that they had found a place that doubtless meets all the specifications for a real camp.

Officers Dig Up Nine Gallons and One Quart, Idalou

Nine gallons and one quart of corn whiskey are what Lubbock officers say they found concealed in various places about the premises of Fred C. Tarver, 35, eight miles north of Idalou yesterday.

Tarver was being held in the Lubbock county jail last night awaiting bond, which is expected to be furnished today.

Tarver is a married man with three small children.

Sheriff H. L. Johnston, Deputy Vernie Ford and Chief of Police T. E. May, who made the raid, said the alleged whiskey was in fifteen quart bottles and nine half gallon fruit jars, and was distributed over the premises in feed sacks. They found no manufacturing equipment, however, and said last night that they thought Tarver was merely distributing for another man.

Ethel Kuhlman was freed of a liquor charge at Bridgeport, Conn., when nine male jurors smoked out three women disinters with their strong pipes.

SAN DIEGO SOCIETY SPLITS WIDE OPEN ON QUESTION OF GENERAL BUTLER'S CHARGES AGAINST HOST

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 12.—San Diego society in which the army, navy and marine figures prominently was split wide open Friday night on questions of prohibition and social etiquette aroused by General Smedley D. Butler, the new commandant of the local "leather necks."

Many social leaders favor "social ostracism" for the general in retaliation for his accusations of intoxication against Colonel Alexander Williams, which followed a "wet" party in honor of Butler's succession to the colonel's job here as commandant.

Other prominent members of the marine and army set, however declare that the dry crusader was placed in an embarrassing situation, and that he did precisely what any other "officer and gentleman" would have been obliged under similar circumstances.

The latter will uphold the crusading commandant in his campaign against liquor. They point to recent naval scandals here as justification for General Butler's activity.

"It was time we had some discipline here," one high ranking officer said.

The first complete story of what actually occurred at the home of Colonel Williams on the night of the "cocktail banquet" and the hotel party which followed was revealed to the United News tonight by authoritative informants.

Liquor flowed with traditional freedom until the entrance of the new commandant, when the officers became embarrassed and maneuvered their glasses out of the picture.

Butler, according to eye witnesses immediately sensed the situation and accompanied by another officer went out on the front porch. The guests then finished their cocktails.

"Let's get away from here," General Butler is reported to have said to his companions and they departed to the hotel Del Coronado where a dance was being held.

Colonel Williams and some of the other guests followed shortly afterwards and after arriving at the hotel Colonel Williams began to show the apparent influence of liquor, according to the witnesses.

Officers and guests knowing the reputation of General Butler as a prohibition enforcer, became interested in developments. Again the commandant left, going this time to the marine base to attend a dance of enlisted men.

Talk of the party and remarks were being tossed about the general and how he apparently preferred "not to practice what he preached." The general meanwhile explained the situation unofficially to his own superior officer, Rear Admiral A. H. Robertson, commandant of the eleventh naval district. The charges of intoxication and inability to perform his duty were then filed against Colonel Williams.

Marine officers requested to make affidavits to support the charges, were placed in an embarrassing position. Some of them testified Colonel Williams the host, was intoxicated, and others that he was not.

The happiest marine officers here are those who did not attend the party.

General Butler declined to comment any further on the affair Friday night, other than to say: "What else was there to do? A private or a lesser officer in the same circumstances would have to face the same charges as Colonel Williams."

A speech which General Butler has been making at various club meetings in southern California since his arrival from the east inspired an attack Friday local labor leaders.

The San Diego county federated trades and labor council has asked Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and Attorney General U. S. Webb of California to investigate "anarchistic and inflammatory" statements in the Butler address.

General Butler in his public address has reviewed his regime as director of public safety in Philadelphia, telling about his instructions to Philadelphia policemen to "shoot to kill" in recommendation at "red" meetings. These remarks and the general's alleged "disregard of court orders" were objected to by the workmen's order.

King Winter Keeps Coolidge From His Father's Bedside

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Wintry conditions in the mountains of Vermont will prevent President Coolidge from visiting his father unless Colonel John Coolidge's illness takes a more serious turn.

A spokesman for the president Friday said that Vermont was in the midst of a hard winter and that travel there would be practically impossible except by sleighs or snowshoes.

Mr. Coolidge talked with his father over long distance telephone Thursday night and the colonel told his son that he was suffering greatly.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge will go aboard the yacht Mapleleaf Saturday for the week-end. The yacht will keep within easy communication distance of the capitol so that the president could be notified should his father's condition grow worse.

GEORGE GOULD'S CHILDREN CAN'T GET AT HIS MILLIONS

NEW YORK, March 12.—The appellate division of the supreme court Friday upheld the Equitable Trust Co., trustee for the late George J. Gould's share in his father's $78,000,000 estate, in its refusal to pay anything at present to the seven children by Gould's first wife.

Three children by Gould's second wife have appealed against the ruling of Referee James A. O'Gorman, and are asking a share in the estate. Until this matter is settled by a higher court, the seven children whose mother was Edith Kingdom Gould will receive no money, the court ruled.

Confesses Killing Young Wife; Will Plead Insanity

TROY, Ohio, March 12.—Jacob Nesbitt, young son of a socially prominent family in Troy, confessed here Friday night according to officers that he had killed his wife, Mrs. Frances Drake Nesbitt, and placed her body in the bath tub of their home. The body was found on February 19.

Nesbitt's confession was vague as to the motive for the crime except that of shattered nerves following a bitter quarrel. It is indicated young Nesbitt will make a defense on grounds of insanity.

Mysterious circumstances of the death and reticence by the authorities in publishing an investigation delayed solution of the murder.

Nesbitt is 28 years old. His marriage to Mrs. Nesbitt, who was 26, was the culmination of a "small town" romance which had its beginning here and grew to the engagement stage while the couple attended Ohio University at Columbus. Mrs. Nesbitt was the women's tennis champion at Ohio state and after her graduation was a social worker in Cleveland.

Nesbitt's murder of his bride, an attractive young girl of athletic type, was the first crime of violence this little town had known in 99 years. It soon became the most talked of murder mystery in Ohio as young Nesbitt, proclaiming his innocence and declaring he had seen in Dayton when his wife met her death, joined detectives in their efforts to trap the slayer.

Speedy Schooners, In Deep Sea Race Drop Out of Sight

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 12.—The two picturesque wind jammers which started off so bravely last December on a race from the west coast to Florida, apparently have encountered serious difficulties in the first leg of their journey.

The Alvena and the Irene, twin four masted schooners, left Aberdeen, Washington, last December with cargoes of lumber for Miami. Although the ships made sail five days apart, the cruise was hailed as a new epic of speed and endurance between the two stout old crafts whose day is nearly past.

With the Alvena straining every stay and spar to make up the advantage her rival had gained by an earlier start, the ships spanked smartly down the California coast. They were reported by other vessels whose radios clicked out messages of white winged things of beauty, heeling to winds that drove them to the south with flashing rolls of spray at their bows.

But now nearly two months have passed since the Irene was spoken of off the coast of Lower California. A month ago Saturday the Alvena Hood, San Francisco bound, sighted the Alvena, becalmed in the doldrums off Central America.

Since January 16 no word of the Irene has been received by her owners, who say that both vessels should have arrived at the Panama canal early in February. Food so last four months was aboard the ships, each of which carried crews of nine.

James Morin of Chicago, caught committing a burglary, had an eye put out while resisting arrest.

We wish to extend our thanks to the friends who so kindly assisted during the illness and at the death of our wife and mother. For each word of sympathy spoken, for each act of kindness we are truly grateful. Especially do we appreciate the consolation Bro. Jennings gave us. May God bless each of you.

Cudahy's Puritan Ham

Finer Flavor Because ripened naturally

Do not parboil this fine Puritan Ham before frying or broiling.

Cudahy's Puritan Ham is distinguished for its finer flavor and delicious tenderness. It owes these qualities to the special Cudahy process of "ripening naturally." This method slowly and naturally diffuses the rich, natural meat juices without scorching or hurrying. The result is like tree-ripened fruit compared to artificial ripening. This superior process and the exacting care in selecting and curing Cudahy's Puritan, assures to you rich, tender, delicious ham with a finer flavor and makes parboiling unnecessary.

Like all other Cudahy products—"The Taste Tells."
