BILLION DOLLARS PAPER PROFIT LOST WHEN STOCK PRICES SKID IN CRASH ON N. Y. EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—General liquidation continued in the stock market today, most of the leading issues making new low prices for the decline, which gained headway yesterday. United States Steel common dipped below $140 for the first time this year, but rallied slightly and Midland Steel Products preferred, dropped $13.25 to $190. Losses of $4 to $5.50 were numerous.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Stock prices, which hit the toboggan with considerable violence yesterday, continued to slide down hill today as support was withdrawn from the recent pool favorites. Despite the usual flock of margin calls which go out after such a break as yesterday's early declines were held to from 1 to 3 points. This was construed as an indication that speculative accounts were well margined, and that short covering was acting, temporarily at least, as a shock absorber.

General Motors opened with a block of 3500 shares at the spread price of 133 to 133¼, off ⅜ to ¼. U. S. Steel common showed an initial recession of ¼ at 140⅝. Freeport-Texas quickly tapered off 3 points to 68, or more than 40 points below the year's high, and Montgomery-Ward and International Nickel dropped 2 points. Scores of others, including International Cement, Pullman, Reynolds Tobacco B, Crucible Steel, Mack Trucks and National Dairy Products yielded a point or more.

Yesterday's decline is believed to have wiped out more than a billion dollars in quoted values, the paper loss in General Motors and U. S. Steel stocks alone aggregating nearly $60,000,000. Speculative uneasiness over the brokers' loan situation was believed to be the primary factor in the selling movement.

The day's sales aggregated 1,831,000 shares, a new Saturday record. More than 1,000,000 of these were executed in the last hour.

Last minute orders reached the market so rapidly and in such volume that the final transaction was not recorded on the ticker tape until 35 minutes after the market closed. While not a record, this is the longest delay since the abbreviated system of reporting stock prices was introduced.

THIRTY SWEPT FROM DECK OF 'FRISCO FERRY

SEVERAL PERSONS MISSING AFTER ACCIDENT ON BAY CROSSING

CAUSE OF DISASTER NOT YET DETERMINED

Fear That at Least Ten Lost Their Lives Expressed in Newspaper Reports

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18. (AP)—A revised list of persons believed missing in the Peralta ferry boat accident was completed by the police today as follows:

J. W. Collins of Oakland.
Hugh Findlay, trade journal editor of Berkeley.
——— Tyrell.
Lewis Kean of Oakland.
W. Sayre of Oakland.
Bert Langrer of Oakland.
Walter Foley of Oakland and San Francisco.
An unidentified negress.
The mate of the Hayward, whose lifeboats figured in the rescue work, declared he saw a small boy washed overboard, and that the lad disappeared quickly beneath the waves.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18. (AP)—At least eight persons were missing today when police and rescuers checked their reports in an effort to ascertain the number of casualties in the accident to the ferry boat Peralta, from whose decks an unknown number of passengers were swept into San Francisco bay yesterday.

Revised figures showed that 10 persons believed to have been on the boat last night when her passenger-laden prow dipped into the bay had failed to return to their homes. The number of passengers swept into the water still was undetermined and investigators were without any means of checking. Estimates of passengers were that from 30 to 100 persons were plunged overboard. The official list showed 17 had been rescued.

What caused submerging of the forward part of the boat as she sped toward Oakland with a heavy load of commuters during the evening rush hour likewise remained undetermined.

Six Found Safe

Six persons originally reported missing returned to their homes during the night. A systematic search of the bay up to daybreak failed to reveal the trace of any bodies. State, federal and harbor officials made an early start on their inquiries, but no new evi-

SEA REFUSES TO ACCEPT BODY OF MAN FOR BURIAL

VENTURA, Calif., Feb. 18. (AP)—The body found on the beach here yesterday and believed to be that of one of the missing Dole flight aviators late today was identified as that of Henry Froelich of Honolulu, who had been buried at sea.

Deputy sheriffs identified the remains by a necktie, the only article of clothing left, and by three scars.

According to records in the sheriff's office, Froelich died at sea en route from Havana to Honolulu, aboard a Panama-Pacific liner.

Wireless instructions from relatives in Honolulu ordered disposal of the remains at sea and the body was lowered over the side in an airtight coffin off the California coast June 19.

The casket was picked up, afloat June 20, by Ventura fishermen, who brought it ashore here and notified the sheriff. Official photographs were taken, all means of identification noted, and on June 25 the body was wrapped in a blanket, weighted, taken out nine miles into the Santa Barbara channel and for the second time consigned to the deep.

Yesterday it was found again on the Ventura beach.

SNOWS PUT CRIMP INTO HOPES FOR EARLY SPRING

CHICAGO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Midwest reports of an early spring, harbingered by robins and budding lilacs, were smothered today beneath a six-inch blanket of snow.

Two deaths and numerous injuries were attributed to the storm, which swept over Chicago yesterday, following several weeks of spring-like weather.

MOODY PICKS 100 TO ATTEND COTTON MEET

R. O. HARVEY OF WICHITA DESIGNATED TO VISIT JACKSON PARLEY

S. B. JACKSON, OF IOWA PARK, ALSO A DELEGATE

Quanah and Seymour Cotton Men Also Named to Take Part In Conference.

AUSTIN, Feb. 18. (AP)—More than 100 Texas business men, farmers, bankers and others will represent Texas at the South-West conference on means of holding down the cotton acreage and fighting adverse "propaganda." Governor Dan Moody, who called the conference for Jackson, Miss., next Monday said Friday night.

He announced a list of 95 who have definitely accepted appointments to go, and said the final list will run more than 100. The governor himself expects to leave Saturday night, perhaps earlier. He has been informed that Mississippi will have about 700 delegates. Letters of endorsement from chambers of commerce throughout the South were received by the governor Friday and this week. Among the federal officials to attend is E. Youngblood of the federal department of agriculture, who will report on an inquiry into better utilization of cotton.

Texas Delegates

Following is the list of Texas delegates: Clarence Ousley, Dallas; F. S. Abeney, Brownwood; W. S. Stouch, Cooper; E. E. Reynolds, Abilene; W. R. Holsey, Texarkana; E. B. Alford, Henderson; Henry R. Wernette, D'Hanis; Dr. L. P. Gabbard, College Station; George J. Schleicher, Nixon.

S. B. Jackson, Iowa Park; E. K. Atwood, Ennis; Pat E. Hooks, Itasca; W. P. Allen, Terrell; J. E. McDonald, Waxahachie, Mike H. Thomas; Dallas; J. M. Ballard; Waxahachie; J. W. Fitzgerald, Tyler; John McAdams, Winters; Smith Price, Longview; J. R. Kubena, Fayetteville; F. B. Gillett, Palestine; Dr. H. E. Griffin, Graham; J. A. Moore, Grand Prairie; J. H. JOE BAILEY TO PRESIDE AT MEETING FOR REED

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP)—Former United States Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey has been chosen to preside at the meeting here Monday night at which Senator James Reed of Missouri will open his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, Roger Lewis, president of the Texas-for-Reed club, announced today. Former State Senator T. H. McGregor of Austin will introduce the candidate.

VETERAN AVIATOR KILLED IN CRASH CAUSED BY WIND

GORMAN, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP)—Captain William M. Randolph, adjutant at Kelly field, an experienced flier, was instantly killed when his plane went into a nose dive at about 200 feet as he was taking off for San Antonio at 6 p. m. Friday after a visit to Ben Reed, his brother-in-law here.

Captain Randolph had been prevented from taking off the day before by strong winds and a stiff norther was blowing when he essayed to leave Friday. He headed into the face of the wind as he took off, then started to turn at an altitude of 200 feet. As he did so the plane crashed to the ground demolishing itself.

KELLY FIELD AMBULANCE PLANE GOES TO GORMAN

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Kelly Field's airplane ambulance, piloted by Master Sergeant E. F. Nendell with Major C. L. Beaven, flight surgeon, as passenger, took off at 7:25 o'clock for Gorman, Texas, to bring to Kelly Field the body of Captain William M. Randolph, post adjutant, who was killed at that place in an airplane crash Friday afternoon.

The ambulance plane is expected to cover the 200 miles to and from Gorman in four or five hours, returning to Kelly field about noon.

Captain Randolph left Kelly Field on a cross country flight to Gorman Wednesday. Friday afternoon a message from him received at the flying field stated that he was having trouble starting his motor. Lieutenant James B. Dur-

ALBATROSS PLANE AFTER RECORD FOR ENDURANCE FLIGHT

IMPERIAL COUNTY AIRPORT, Calif., Feb. 18. (AP)—The Albatross tri-motored monoplane with Relief Pilot Jack Reed at the controls made a perfect take off here at 8:56 o'clock this morning, beginning an effort to break the world's endurance flight record. Charles Rocheville, resigner of the plane, was chief pilot. A. K. Peterson was second pilot. The plane carried 1294 gallons of gasoline.

NAVARRO OFFICIAL OUSTED FROM POST BY COURT'S ORDER

CORSICANA, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP) Removal of Legrand J. Woods as Navarro county attorney and appointment of Cleo G. Miller, a former assistant, as county attorney pro tempore was ordered late Friday by Judge Hawkins Scarborough of the 13th judicial district. Woods' suspension was ordered to remain in force until the case involving Woods and the Navarro county grand jury, which indicted Woods on several counts recently, is disposed of.

The ouster proceedings against Woods are scheduled to begin in district court here Monday as well as six other cases against Woods resulting from the investigation of his office by the grand jury.

Miller was assistant county attorney under Woods until he resigned to go into private practice several months ago.

An answer in the ouster suit pending against Woods was filed today. Mr. Woods denied all and singularly the material allegations in the suit and attacked the right of the attorney general of the state to maintain the suit.

In another motion filed in behalf of Mr. Woods the disqualification of Judge Hawkins Scarborough to sit in the case was sought. That motion alleged that the judge was the personal and political enemy of the defendant, was seeking to oust the defendant from office, and to disbar the defendant from the Navarro county bar. It also alleged that the judge aided the grand jury in a private capacity and as a lawyer, and had become an active assistant prosecutor in the grand jury investigation.

The court will rule on the motions Monday.

Couple Held for Hanging in Canada After Murder of Taxicab Chauffeur Wanted in U. S. Bogus Check Fraud

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 18. (AP)—Federal authorities here today disclosed that Doris Palmer McDonald, of New York, and her husband, George McDonald, scheduled to be hanged next month in Canada for killing a taxicab driver, were wanted in Pittsburgh in connection with a counterfeit check case.

The McDonalds, secret service men said, were suspected of being the persons who passed several counterfeit checks or warrants of the Continental Motors, Inc., of Detroit, on local business men several months ago.

The worthless checks or warrants were printed in imitation of the government drafts recently counterfeited and circularized in New York, according to the federal operatives. The McDonalds were said to have had 900 checks printed while in this city.

The pair were traced to Chicago, where, it was learned, the agents said, they passed other spurious checks on the Continental company. When the trail was lost in the Illinois metropolis, government agents sent circulars to the Northwest which resulted in their apprehension at Butte, Mont. The couple later were identified as the slayers of the taxicab driver.

STATE RESTS IN CASE OF JOHN S. LAWRENCE ON TRIAL AT DALLAS

DALLAS, Feb. 18. (AP)—The state rested its case against John S. Lawrence charged with killing Jack Kimbell, 38-year-old farmer, when the two met on the public square at Mesquite, October 6 last, at noon today. The defense was ready to start its testimony when court convened at 2 o'clock.

The state called Charlev Kimbell 45, brother of the man killed as its last witness. He said he was in the real estate business and told of having called on Lawrence at his home last spring and telling him "it looks bad for Vera Kimbell (the slain man's wife) to leave Mesquite on the interurban and you to follow out of town in your car."

"I told him I had come to talk with him about Jack," the witness said.

"I told him Jack was getting suspicious about him keeping company with Vera," he added, he had said to the defendant, "now John if you are messing around with Vera I wish you would stop it."

Kimbell testified further, "he just looked at me and said, 'I know you haven't any of that hotel dope on me.'"

The witness then told of business transactions with Lawrence at the bank and also of the events at the time Jack Kimbell was shot. He denied he had assaulted Lawrence, but said Jack Kimbell had knocked him down while he, the witness, watched.

The witness described conversation with the defendant about a past due note for $55 signed by the father of the Kimbells had just before the fight. He said that Lawrence hit Jack and then was knocked down. Lawrence got up and went into a nearby store. He said he, his brother, Oscar, and Jack Kimbell were standing on the street talking when Lawrence reappeared and fired one shot. Jack Kimbell ran and Lawrence fired again the witness said and Jack then fell.

The witness then told of gossip in the little town of Mesquite which connected the names of the defendant and Mrs. Jack Kimbell. He also told of having followed Lawrence to Dallas to the place where Mrs Kimbell was employed and of seeing Lawrence leave shortly before Mrs. Kimbell left.

The defense on cross examination attempted to show that the witness had trailed Mrs. Kimbell in

COOLIDGE OUT OF STEP WITH U. S. CONGRESS

PRESIDENT NOT AGREEABLE TO MANY PROPOSALS BEFORE SOLONS

STATUS OF TAX SLASH DOESN'T PLEASE CHIEF

Also Congress Trend on Farm Aid and Flood Control Not Quite to Liking.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—President Coolidge is out of sympathy with the course congress is pursuing in respect to appropriations, farm relief and flood control, and he believes the chances for tax reduction now are critically endangered.

He feels that the two houses have been too liberal in appropriating federal funds and that as a result tax reduction is correspondingly remote. He has noted that in addition to the $65,000,000 increase in the proposed tax curtailment voted by the house, congress has added $8,000,000 to the army appropriation in excess of what he thought necessary, and has doubled the shipping board appropriation.

Tax Bill Dormant

The tax bill now is lying dormant in the senate, where leaders have tucked it away to await additional revenue information with the March 15 returns. There have been administration warnings that too great reduction would be worse than none at all, and only recently Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking Democrat on the house

GERARD TO FILE SUIT TO PREVENT CAVELL PICTURE

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—The British motion picture, "Dawn," depicting the career of Edith Cavell, executed by the Germans in Belgium, is threatened with trouble in this country. Announcement has been made by Arch Selwyn that he has bought the American rights to the picture.

The Berlin foreign office made an official protest against the showing of the picture in England and James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, threatens court action if an attempt is made to show it here. It has been barred in England.

Mr. Gerard said he would do everything in his power to prevent its presentation, "applying if necessary to the courts for an injunction on the ground that such exhibitions would be contrary to public policy."

Will Rogers News Digest

NEWTON, Kan., Feb. 17. (AP)—Had visits from two of my "bosses" just before leaving California. Mr. Lormier who was out drumming up subscriptions for his Saturday Evening Post, and his charming wife and two fine grown sons come out to our shack slumming. We settled the Republican nominations. The next day Mr. Adolph Ochs, owner of the New York Times, and his gracious wife and entertaining sister-in-law, spent the day with us. We took up the hardships of the Democrats. He thinks, of course, Al will be nominated with my friend Jesse Jones of Texas for vice president. Aided by Mrs. Rogers I coyly hinted for a raise from both gentlemen but even socially they are always the business man, so it looks like I just fed two hungry editors for nothing. TRUNK WHICH CONTAINED GEMS WHEN SHIPPED HERE ARRIVES FT. WORTH FILLED WITH BRICKS

Word that a trunk containing $60,000 worth of jewelry, chiefly diamonds, was stolen while en route from Wichita Falls to Fort Worth Friday was contained in press dispatches received here Saturday.

The property was in custody of Joe Optican, salesman for the Michael Levy company of New York, who was in Wichita Falls Friday on his quarterly trade visit to the Art Jewelry company of this city.

The theft, according to information received by J. L. Art here, apparently was carried out by switching a dummy trunk for one containing the jewelry sometime after the shipment had been started in Wichita Falls toward Fort Worth. The theft was discovered Saturday when the dummy trunk was opened at a hotel in Fort Worth, and was found to be weighted with sacks of flour, newspapers and bricks.

Later Saturday according to press dispatches, the jewelry trunk, stripped of valuables, was found beside a road near Handley, Texas, which is a few miles east of Fort Worth.

Sheriff W. G. Bralley announced Saturday afternoon that he was communicating with authorities in Fort Worth in an effort to ascertain whether the contents of the dummy trunk may supply any clues which may be further traced here.

According to Mr. Art, Mr. Levy spent only Friday in Wichita Falls, being accompanied here by William Rothchild, salesman for Hipp-Didichein, watch importers of New York. The two salesmen met in Oklahoma City, and as their routes were the same for several hundred miles, traveled together to Wichita Falls, reaching here Friday.

Each sent his trunk of samples to the Art Jewelry company Friday where the wares were displayed to the local jeweler. The contents of each trunk, Mr. Art said, were valued at about $60,000. Later in the afternoon the trunks were closed and were delivered to a local transfer company, which in turn transported them to local railroad offices, according to information received here. The trunks were constantly under observation until delivered to the transfer company, Mr. Art said.

The stolen trunk was of the ordinary, medium sized wardrobe style, Mr. Art said. It would not have been extremely difficult to have obtained a similar one to have been used as a substitute.

The fact that the empty trunk was found near Fort Worth, in the opinion of railroad officers here, indicates that the switch was made after the jewelry had arrived there.

That theory, however, is at variance with that attributed in press dispatches to Mr. Optican, who was said to express the opinion that the claim check on the trunk was switched in the depot at Wichita Falls.

TWO COLUMBIA GIRLS ARE BURNED TO DEATH WHEN PLANE CRASHES

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 18. (AP)—Two young Columbia girls were burned to death today when the airplane in which they were passengers crashed at the edge of the city. The pilot escaped.

The girls were a Miss Holt and a Miss Rogers, each about 17 years old.

Don Diegel of Cheraw, S. C., the pilot, was taken to a hospital after he had managed to extricate himself from the burning wreckage.

A heavy wind was blowing and the pilot and Dr. G. A. Bunch, who was at the field with the girls, endeavored to persuade them not to go up. They insisted, it was said, and the plane took off. A heavy gust of wind blew it against a floodlight tower at the Southern Railway freight yards at Andrews.

The plane burst into flames as it struck the ground. The girls were caught in the wreckage.

SCORE HURT WHEN AIRPLANE CRASHES IN BUSY STREET

TWO FLIERS KILLED AFTER AERIAL BOMB FIRES PREMATURELY

MACON, GEORGIA, SCENE OF TRAGEDY OF AIR

Two Girls Killed in Airplane Crash at Columbia, S. C., When Ship Burns

MACON, Ga., Feb. 18. (AP)—Its pilot killed in mid-air by the premature explosion of an aerial bomb, an airplane entered into the southeastern derby in progress here, crashed down into Cherry street, main business thoroughfare today, killing the other occupant, perhaps fatally injuring one pedestrian and inflicting slight hurts to a score or more.

Part of the sidewalk collapsed under the impact of the crash and precipitated a dozen or more onlookers into the cellar of a store. Many of the pedestrians received their injuries there.

The most seriously injured suffered a mangled leg and arm. At the hospital to which all the injured were taken it was learned that two unidentified men and a negro woman also were struck by parts of the falling plane and immediate operations were resorted to.

The dead are Buck Steele, veteran airman and stunt performer of Shreveport, La., and an instructor at a Macon flying school, who was at the controls, and Francis Ashcraft, a brother of another instructor here, whose home was at Towandah, Pa.

The aviators were tossing out the bombs as a part of the air carnival from an altitude of about 7,000 feet. One of the missiles appeared to have struck a wing of the plane and exploded prematurely, instantly killing Steele, who was decapitated.

Minus a guiding hand at the controls, the craft went into a tail spin while hundreds of persons in Cherry street looked on in horror. Shouted words of warning failed to clear the thoroughfare entirely one man being grazed by a wing of the plane just as it hurtled to the street and several others being struck by wreckage hurled through the air at the impact.

There was no explosion in the airplane's gasoline tank when it crashed, leading to the belief that the bomb may have set off the fuel in midair.

U. S. SURGEON TO TEST APPLICANTS FOR AIR LICENSE

Dr. Eugene E. Morris, a flight surgeon, medical examiner for the aeronautic division of the U. S. department of commerce, was to arrive in Wichita Falls Saturday, to spend two days here giving physical examinations to those desiring to become air pilots.

Those desiring the examination were asked to get in touch with Al Bedinghaus, telephone 5060; Paul Hines, 1206 Ninth, or Fulcher Armstrong, 1200 Staley building.

The department of commerce, Mr. Bedinghaus said, is desirous to examine as many men as possible in Wichita Falls because of the recognition that this is the air center of northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma.

Dr. Morris' headquarters are at Dallas. He will remain here through Sunday. Ten applicants living in Wichita Falls had asked that they be given the examination, which is the direct cause for Dr. Morris' visit.

MOTHER DRINKS POISON AT GRAVE OF DAUGHTER

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Annette Dixon, about 27 years old, was found unconscious today on the grave of her four-year-old daughter, Irene, who died last June.

According to the caretaker at San Fernando cemetery Mrs. Dixon had visited the grave every day since the funeral.

She was rushed to a hospital where physicians said that she had little chance to recover from a poison which she had swallowed.

THIRTY ARE SWEPT FROM FERRY DECK

dence of what caused the accident was uncovered at the outset.

The big electric-driven ferry, operating between San Francisco and Oakland for the Key Route Transit system, was nearing its East Bay destination during the rush hour last night when the accident occurred. Homeward bound after a day's work, a large number of the passengers had gathered in the forward section, anxious to be the first ashore and aboard interurban trains waiting at the Oakland mole.

The Peralta passed Goat island, about the half way point across the bay, at normal speed. About half way between Goat island and her destination, the boat lurched and many of those on the lower forward deck were swept over the side before anyone knew what was wrong. Water surged over the deck. Panic ensued. Women screamed and prayed while men scrambled for preservers. Those in the water cried for help. For an instant it appeared to the passengers that the big ferry was going down. Then in an instant she righted herself, and stopped.

Life Boats Save Some

Lifeboats were launched from the Peralta and from the ferry Hayward, which was but a short distance away. Several persons were fished out of the water, but whether all were saved was not known.

The waves were strewn with coats, hats, wreckage from the cabins and life preservers which had been thrown to those overboard. In the rapidly gathering twilight it was difficult to tell whether more persons remained in the water.

Prompt action by sailors stationed at Goat island, naval training station, resulted in quick rescue of several persons. Captain George Landenberger, commandant, and Lieutenant H. V. Perron, who witnessed the accident, dispatched two parties of rescuers. The sailors were among the first to reach those struggling in the water. Those taken aboard the navy boats were suffering mostly from cold.

Eye Witness Story

"I watched the Peralta from shore, she being 300 to 400 yards from me," said Perron. "I could see the crowds massed in the ferry's bow. She was traveling at good speed. Very suddenly, evidently from overcrowding in the bow, she was brought down by the head, and water rushed over the bow. I could see that some people were swept overboard, but I could not tell how many.

"As quickly as I could I ordered 15 or 20 men into the captain's gig and all the other suitable boats that were handy to get out and give all possible assistance. They acted quickly and were able to take several people out of the water."

Captain Landenberger said the Peralta may have struck a swell made by another vessel and because of the heavy forward load, nosed into it. The commandant said the navy rescue party picked up five or six persons. The ferry Hayward rescued seven.

"Freak Tide" Blamed

John K. Bulger, supervising inspector of hulls and boilers for the federal government, expressed the opinion that the accident was caused by a freak tide "and other conditions not accountable to the vessel." He started an investigation, as did the state railroad commission.

All agreed that many passengers in the bow of the boat suddenly found themselves engulfed in water higher than waist deep. Some were washed overboard, others leaped into the bay in the belief that the Peralta had struck another boat.

The passengers who were rescued suffered from submersion, but were revived when brought to emergency hospitals in San Francisco.

Many Stories Told

Their versions of the mishap and the eye witness stories of passengers on other ferryboats differed widely. Some said the Peralta ran into a big wash from a passing lumber schooner. Others said the ferry suddenly "dipped" its bow beneath the waves, as if its water ballast tanks had shifted and unbalanced the craft.

The safety equipment of the Peralta included water ballast tanks which operate automatically to keep the boat on an even keel in the event of a rush of passengers from one side of the craft to the other.

Police boats which cruised the scene reported that no bodies had been found, but that the bay was dotted by coats, caps and other garments. It was believed possible that several persons had been drowned and swept out through the Golden Gate by the strong tide.

One Man Missing

James W. Collins of Oakland was reported by his wife as missing.

The accident was the second to occur to the Peralta, commissioned last March 29. On March 30, while carrying 3000 commuters, the steering gear failed to work, and the boat crashed into its mooring berth on this side of the bay, resulting in $30,000 damage and causing a mild panic among the passengers.

Tales of being buried under a wall of water that swept the deck of the ferryboat Peralta, and of being rescued were told today by victims of the strange accident in the bay here late yesterday.

Miss Peggy Naylor, a 16-year-old art student, of Oakland, was one of the passengers swept overboard.

Girl Tells Story

"I was standing on the front of the boat," she said. "All of a sudden the water began to rise over the bow. Then it came in a terrible rush. One of the rails was swept away and the next thing I knew I was under watter.

"It seemed as though I was never going to come up. If I hadn't been a good swimmer I would certainly have been drowned. When I finally got my head above water I managed to get my hat and coat off and started to swim away to get clear of the boat.

"I don't know how long I was in the water. It seemed ages that I just swam and swam and I was almost worn out when one of the life boats from the Hayward reached me."

Swimmer Saves Self

Ralph L. Mack, Oakland, like Miss Naylor, attributed his rescue to his ability as a swimmer.

"As soon as I was swept off the boat I began trying to get clear of the others and away from the boat," he said. "I thought the ferry was sinking. I swam until I was picked up by a life boat."

A statement that at least 50 persons were thrown into the bay was made by T. W. Parsons, Oakland.

"I managed to swim clear of the crowd and was picked up by one of the Hayward's lifeboats," he said.

Like Wreck at Sea

Like a shipwreck on the high seas, was the description of the ferry boat Peralta accident given by Mrs. Lydia O'Neill of San Francisco, who was aboard when its passenger-lined bow was submerged in San Francisco bay for a moment yesterday.

"We thought the ferry was making a nose dive to the bottom of the bay," said Mrs. O'Neill, who saw the confusion from the forward upper deck. "It was horrible to stand there and watch the water sweeping toward us over the bow.

"The Peralta was very crowded forward—packed with people. As I glanced toward the front of the lower deck all the people there seemed to lurch forward.

"The terrible rush of water was such a shocking thing to see that one almost lost consciousness. There must have been a moment when I did not realize what was happening for when I came to my senses there was terrific screaming on the lower deck.

Crowds in Mad Rush

"The crowds below made a sudden, mad rush for the stern and the upper deck. About a dozen men and girls started clambering up the ladder leading to the shell house. The crowd thronged the companionways to the upper deck like a mob gone mad. Many were wet to the waist and the companionways were running with water that dripped from their clothing. The people on the upper deck remained calm except for a few women who went into hysterics.

"After some delay life boats were lowered from the other ferry (the Hayward). As everyone rushed to the port side of the Peralta to assist in the rescue and to watch, the Peralta listed. It seemed that she keeled over almost 40 degrees. Here the panic of the passengers saved them, for when they saw what was happening many of them scrambled back and the ferry settled to an even keel."

COOLIDGE AT OUTS WITH CONGRESS

ways and means committee, predicted that there would be no reduction this year.

The flood control bill given to the house by its flood committee does not meet the president's desires because it provides that the government bear the entire expense of protecting the Mississippi valley. Mr. Coolidge clings to his belief that communities concerned should pay a part, and he is considering designation of a special committee to determine just how much those cities could contribute toward the cost, if congress cannot obtain that information itself.

Wants Work Started

In the meantime, he think initial appropriations should be made so that the work can be begun, but he believes that the area to be controlled should include only that affected by last spring's flood. The present house bill, he feels, is too ambitious.

The farm relief bill recently approved by the senate agriculture committee, with its equalization fee, draws from the president the same objection that prompted him to veto last year the McNary-Haugen bill. In his veto message he selected the fee as the most objectionable feature. He has heard of the Yoakum farm relief plan now under discussion here and has learned from the agriculture department that while the proposal has some merit it includes other features regarded as not feasible.

SENIOR MEMBER PIONEER HOUSTON FIRM IS DEAD

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Henry Henke, senior member of the firm of Henke and Pillot of Houston, died in San Antonio early Saturday at the residence of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. S. Legare Bethea, 418 West French place. He leaves his widow, daughter and three grandchildren. Henke had never fully recovered from a heart attack suffered late last year, relatives said.

Funeral services will be held in Houston Monday afternoon.

Pioneer Business Men.

HOUSTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—Henry Henke who died in San Antonio Saturday, was one of the pioneer business men of Houston. Born in Germany, he came to Houston in 1872 with less than $1,000 he had saved from wages and opened a grocery. Out of it grew a chain of similar stores radiating from the first establishment, which has occupied the same spot near the city hall for more than a quarter of a century.

Mr. Henke suffered a heart attack last December from which he never fully recovered.

OFFICIALS OF FERRY NOT ABLE TO EXPLAIN DISASTER

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Confronted with reports indicating that seven of 20 or more persons swept into San Francisco bay last night from the ferryboat Peralta were missing, officials of the Key Route Transit system which operates the ship, today announced they could furnish no definite information as to possible casualties or as to the cause of the accident.

William F. St. Sure, assistant to the company's vice president, issued the following statement shortly after midnight:

"According to the best accounts we have of the accident 20 persons were swept overboard and 13 have been rescued. We have nothing further to say at this time because that is all we know. We do not know definitely what caused the

STATE RESTS IN LAWRENCE CASE

an effort to obtain evidence in an alienation suit.

Eye Witnesses Testify

Several additional eye-witnesses Friday testified they saw Lawrence shoot Kimbell in the back as the latter fled. In an effort to complete taking of state testimony Saturday, court continued half an hour later Friday night.

The defense is expected to consume several days next week with the presentation of its evidence, having summoned about 100 witnesses who have been put under the rule.

Oscar B. Kimbell, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Mesquite and brother of the slain man, told in detail of the fight on the square and the shooting which followed. The fight occurred a few minutes after Jack Kimbell had received a notice from John Lawrence, president of the First State Bank of Mesquite, addressed to J. A. Kimbell, 74, father of the three Kimbell brothers, demanding payment of $55 note due several days previously.

Miss Opal Shipp and Miss Gene Harris, telephone operators, testified that they saw Lawrence turn away from the wounded man after the shooting and heard him exclaim: "I guess I've got you now."

Lawrence immediately after the fatal shot said, with an expletive, 'I'll show you how three on one goes," T. A. Dean, farmer and carpenter living near Mesquite, testified. Dean's wife is a cousin to Jack Kimbell, he testified under cross-examination. He said he saw Jack knock Lawrence down during a scuffle on the square and saw the defendant run into Scott's grocery store. A minute or two later, he testified, he saw Lawrence with a rifle at the northeast corner of the square shoot twice at Jack Kimbell, near the southeast corner.

Jack Kimbell had been married 18 years and had two sons, 16 and 10, and a daughter 13, Oscar Kimbell testified.

TEXAS OFFICERS BRING DAILEY BACK TO SERVE HIS 124-YEAR SENTENCE

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 18. (AP) J. L. Dailey, arrested here last week while attempting to rob a pressing shop, left here last night in custody of Texas officers to begin serving the remainder of his 124-year sentence for robbery with firearms and smaller offenses. While Dailey thought his own term was a little too long for him to hope to outlive, he smiled broadly when he learned that the night watchman who had him arrested got $25 reward. He will not be tried on the robbery charge here.

TIMES' DAILY MARKETS

COTTON PRICE BACK UP AFTER MARKET BOLSTERS IN RALLY

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Early selling in the cotton market today was absorbed by trade buying and covering. May rallied to 18.14 after selling off to 17.92, and closed at 18.12. Buying was promoted by reports of a steady spot situation and of a more favorable labor outlook in Lancashire. The general market closed firm at net advances of 5 to 11 points.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—The cotton market opened barely steady today at unchanged prices to a decline of 4 points under renewed liquidation, May contracts selling off to 17.92 and October to 17.85 by the end of the first hour, or about 9 to 12 points net lower. Trade buying appeared to absorb contracts on a scale downward which steadied the undertone of the market, but buying otherwise was attributed chiefly to covering.

Relatively steady cables from Liverpool were attributed to trade calling and covering on the more hopeful labor situation in the Lancashire mills.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 120,440 bales against 182,022 last year.

Futures closed very steady, 8 to 11 points higher. Spot steady; middling, 18.50.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18. (AP)—Following a period of intense weakness when traders evened up for over the weekend the cotton market rallied on pre-holiday covering and March contracts traded up from 17.73 to 17.90; May from 17.89 to 17.98 and July 17.74 to 17.91. The close was at or near the best, showing net advances of 8 to 9 points.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18. (AP)—Cotton futures were rather easy in the early trading today under realizing and liquidation in advance of the holiday here in the early part of next week. First trades were 2 points down to 3 points up, but as Liverpool was barely as firm as due March sold up to 17.72, May 17.89 and July 17.74, or 7 to 8 points net down. When the offerings were absorbed prices recovered 2 to 8 points of the loss.

Cotton futures closed steady at a net advance of 8 to 9 points.

well, accompanied by a mechanic, took off to his assistance.

A message received from Lieutenant Burwell after the accident stated that they had started the motor and Captain Randolph had taken off to start for Kelly Field. As he started to make a turn, the ship darted toward the ground and crashed with the motor still running at about cruising speed.

Captain Randolph was so badly injured that he died in the ambulance on the way to the hospital at Gorman.

Captain Randolph was a native of Austin and former student of Texas A. & M.

ARRANGEMENTS FUNERAL OF FLIER NOT COMPLETED

AUSTIN, Feb. 18. (AP)—Arrangements for the funeral of Capt. W. M. Randolph, 35, adjutant of Kelly flying field, San Antonio, who was killed in an airplane crash Friday night at Gorman, had not been completed Saturday noon, his brother, D. H. Randolph, said here.

Whether the victim will be given a military funeral will depend on the wishes of his wife, Mrs. Cornelia Randolph, his brother said.

He and his wife and sister, Mrs. Merton Harris of Smithville, went to San Antonio Saturday to make arrangements.

Captain Randolph, an experienced flier, was almost instantly killed when his plane went into a nose dive at about 200 feet as he was taking off for San Antonio at 6 o'clock Friday evening, after a visit to Ben Reed, his brother-in-law, at Gorman. The plane was demolished.

SCORES HURT WHEN AIRPLANE CRASHES

were burned to death today when the airplane in which they were making their first flight burst into flames after crashing into a railroad floodlight tower at the edge of the city.

Don Diegel, the pilot, escaped from the burning plane and was taken to a hospital here, where it was said he was badly injured, though not necessarily in danger of death.

The two girls were said to have been advised by Diegel and also by Dr. C. A. Bunch, of Cheraw, one of the owners of the plane, not to go up this morning, because of the unfavorable weather conditions. They had all motored to the state fair grounds landing field, where the plane was kept, accompanied by the mother of Miss Rogers and several friends.

Yielding to the pleading of the girls, Diegel agreed to take them up for a short trip. They flew over a part of Columbia and in making a circle back toward the starting point, preparatory to landing, they came over the Southern railway freight yards at Andrews, a suburb. A sudden gust of wind swept the plane against a 100 foot floodlight tower and eye witnesses said a wing crumpled, the plane fell nose first to the ground and immediately caught fire.

Diegel was bleeding from the nose and mouth as he crawled from the wreckage an instant after the plane struck. "It wasn't my fault; I begged them not to go up this morning," Diegel cried repeatedly from his bed in the hospital.

UPWARD TENDENCY IN GRAIN MARKETS AFTER LOW START

CHICAGO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Reports of big flour sales to the East helped to strengthen wheat prices today. It was estimated that 250,000 to 300,000 barrels, representing 1,250,000 bushels of wheat had been taken, the best flour business this year. These large purchases of flour were asserted to indicate that stocks of flour in second hands and in course of distribution have become scarce.

In connection with reports today of crop damage to wheat in states east of the Mississippi, it was explained that although last night's snow covered nearly the whole domestic wheat belt, and would protect the crop from severe temperatures, in prospect there had previously been alternate freezing and thawing conditions. It was from these conditions that injury east of the Mississippi was reported.

Announcement today that the Spanish government has authorized immediate importation of 1,600,000 bushels of foreign wheat attracted some notice as a bullish factor. On the other hand, reports were received that the principal European countries have raised about 15,000,000 tons more potatoes than a year ago and that this surplus will have an important influence toward lessening of demand for breadstuffs grain.

Ticklers from Ticker

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Prices of heavy melting steel scrap No. 1 are firmer in the Pittsburgh district, a few sales being made at $15 a ton, an advance of 50 cents a ton over quotations a few days ago.

R. G. Dun and company reports 320 commercial failures in the United States this week, against 346 last week and 464 a year ago.

Data upon general industrial production for January as indicated by the consumption of electrical energy shows that the business and industrial optimism in virtually every section of the country is based upon a solid foundation, Electrical World states. Reports of energy consumption by about 3000 large manufacturing companies reveal that the rate of industrial production for the month was close to 6 per cent greater than that in December and 14 per cent above January, 1927. The gain reflects greater activity in the metal industries, automobiles, lumber and its products, rubber and its products, chemicals, and food and kindred products.

FORT WORTH R. O. T. C. UNIT IS AFTER TROPHY

FORT WORTH, Feb. 18. (AP)—The Fort Worth R. O. T. C., which last year stood seventh in the annual Eighth Corps area rifle shoot among cadet units of Texas, Arizona, Colorado, Montana and Oklahome, is looking forward to winning the trophy this year.

The Fort Worth unit in recent shoots has defeated teams of Rockford, Ill.; Phoenix, Ariz., and Pasadena, Cal. Scores were as follows: Fort Worth 3,754, Rockford 3,212; Forth Worth 3,684, Pasadena 3,142.

The win over the Arizona unit was by a margin of only 39 points.

DECATUR MAN EXPECTED TO DIE OF BODY BURNS

DECATUR, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP)—Bruce Banks, about 55, who was seriously burned Tuesday night when the gasoline lamp he was pumping up at his farm home two miles north of Springtown, exploded and set fire to his house, is not expected to recover, according to attendants at the Decatur hospital.

88 MEN RESCUED WHEN SHIP BREAKS ON ROCKS

YMUIDEN, Holland, Feb. 18. (AP) Thirty-eight men, the entire crew of the British freighter Shonga, which stranded and broke in two yesterday were rescued today.

Life boats, which stood by all night, took the men off the fore part of the ship to which they had clung.

STOCKS CONTINUE REACTIONARY TREND ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Further liquidation of stock prices brought about another sharp decline in today's brief session of the market. Many of the industrials and specialties in which pools have been operating dropped 3 to nearly 10 points. United States Steel common dipped below 140 for the first time this year, but General Motors received good support around 133. Rails were but little affected by today's selling.

There was nothing in the day's news to influence the selling movement which appeared to represent the further correction of a top heavy speculative position. Considerable difference of opinion exists among expert market observers as to whether the current decline is a temporary interruption of the "bull" market or the beginning of a major reaction.

Baldwin Locomotive, which has been rather inactive of late, broke 9 points, Midland Steel Products preferred collapsed 6½, Vanadium Steel 5½ and Green Cananea Copper, Freeport Texas and Calumet and Arizona sold 4 to 5 points below yesterday's final quotations. Among the many issues to drop 3 points or more were International Nickel, A. M. Byers, Brooklyn Edison and Peoples Gas.

The closing was weak. Total sales approximated 1,500,000 shares.

The early decline was an orderly one. Trading was in relatively small volume, which was considered an indication of the absence of any extensive forced liquidation. Short-covering also acted as a buffer to absorb the selling shocks. U. S. Steel common and General Motors received fairly good support, showing only fractional recessions. Freeport Texas extended its opening decline to 3 points by touching 68, as compared with a high of 100½ earlier in the year. Texas Gulf sulphur, which reached a peak of 80¾ a few weeks ago, reached 2 point overnight to 68¾. More than a score of issues dipped a point or so in the first half hour, the list including Montgomery Ward, International Cement, Mack Trucks, Pullman, Reynolds Tobacco B, International Nickel and Westinghouse Electric. Foreign exchanges opened steady, with sterling cables quoted at $4.87 9-16.

MERCURY SKIDS WHEN NORTHER HITS FLORIDA

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 18. (AP)—A whole drop in temperatures ranging from "slight" in parts of Florida to the neighborhood of 20 degrees in states farther North, rode into the Southeast this morning on the wings of a northwest gale.

Prevailing winds indicated that southern states were feeling the back wash of cold blasts which had struck the middlewest, banishing hopes for the immediate advent of an early spring.

SENATORS WILL VISIT COAL FIELDS OF PENNSYLVANIA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—A senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee will leave here Tuesday for Pittsburgh to make a personal inspection of conditions in the Pennsylvania coal strike region.

This was announced today by Chairman Watson after a meeting of the entire committee. The subcommittee, which is headed by Senator Gooding, Republican, Idaho, is to take no testimony, but merely observe conditions in the strike district and report back to the full committee.

ENGLISH DRIVER MAY TRY FOR OFFICIAL RECORD SATURDAY

FRANK LOCKHART LIKELY TO BRING HIS CAR OUT FOR ITS FIRST TEST ON BEACH TRACK

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 18. (AP)—Capt. Malcolm Campbell, English automobile racing driver, having tested his Bluebird Special at an unofficially estimated speed of 193.02949 miles an hour, was prepared Saturday for his first attempt to set a new world's record.

His mount, propelled by a secret motor of the British air ministry, used by Great Britain in winning the last Schneider cup race, was declared to have behaved beautifully.

His official trial Saturday, he indicated, would depend on the weather and condition of the beach. No time for the test was announced.

The beach was greatly improved over its condition of Thursday, when the rain-beaten ocean speedway caused him to strike a rut and slightly damage the machine.

Perfect Control

During the trial Friday, the Bluebird apparently skimmed over the sands under perfect control. Once, near the end of the course, the machine ran just inside the edge of the water, but the pilot quickly straightened his course and continued down the beach. It required four and a half miles for Captain Campbell to bring his machine to a halt after he attained his maximum speed.

Meanwhile, Frank Lockhart, American driver, who also is out to beat Maj. H. O. D. Seagrave's record of 203.7 miles an hour, failed to finish work on his Stutz Blackhawk in time for a test Friday, but will probably take a trial run Saturday.

Triplex in Trial

Ray Keech, veteran driver, brought the Triplex machine of J. M. White, Philadelphia manufacturer, out for a trial during the day and reached an unofficial speed of 125 miles an hour.

F. E. Speicher of Chicago won the most important stock car race on Friday's program of the twenty-fifth annual speed classic here, driving his Stutz Blackhawk Special over a 20-mile circular beach course at an average of 72.75 miles an hour.

John M. Rutherford of New York was second in a Stutz with an average speed of 72.59 miles an hour.

Man-Killer Is Easy Prey for Dempse Moore

Beckwith Beaten in Fifth Round After Four Knockdowns; Cossey Also Wins by Kayo.

The followers of Dempse Moore Saturday were trying to figure out just what the Wichita Falls amateur had accomplished in knocking out Russell Beckwith, Oklahoma City light heavyweight, in the fifth round of Friday night's feature bout at The Gym. Beckwith's appearance was loudly ballyhooed as Moore's "greatest test" and all that sort of thing, but the so-called "man killer" didn't make a very profound impression in departing from the evening's activities late in the fifth round.

In three of the five rounds Beckwith looked the part of all that Promoter Ross had claimed for him. In the other two he looked very much like a seeker of a soft, fluffy spot on the canvas. At any rate, young Dempse's punches cut him down for good in the fifth after two knockdowns of seven and nine counts. Beckwith also went down for a short count in the first. The weights were announced as 173 pounds for Moore and 175 for Beckwith.

Battling Cossey returned to the ring coterie after an absence of more than a year and was the same little tiger of old, disposing of Kid Murdock, Sulphur, Okla., in the third round. He stayed on top of his man from start to finish and beat him down for good on the third knockdown. A vicious right swing in the first failed a count of nine and early in the third Murdock took a five count, the kayo coming immediately afterward. One of the most popular of Wichita Falls' home products, Cossey must have added to his following with his victory Friday night.

Cossey's weight was announced as 135 pounds and Murdock's 131.

Lefty Hemmi of Scotland, Texas, was sadly overmatched in a six-rounder with Sam Riley, the stocky Altus, Okla., mauler. The southpaw Dutchman took a lot of punishment in four rounds and would have stayed longer if the promoter hadn't stopped festivities at the end of the fourth. Hemmi's weight was announced as 148 pounds and Riley's 149.

Floyd Anderson, 150 pounds, bested Swede Lusk, 145 pounds, both of Wichita Falls, in a four-rounder. Lusk had little to rely on other than his experience.

Alvie Anderson, 140 pounds, fought bravely against Spike Stewart, 145 pounds, but was forced to take the short end in all four rounds of their curtain raiser.

COYOTES PLAY OKLAHOMA QUINTET SATURDAY NIGHT

Wichita Falls High school and Union Valley, Oklahoma, high tangle Saturday night in a practice clash at the junior college, with the Oklahoma team a topyheavy favorite to win. The Coyotes lost to the Sooner team on a foreign court earlier in the season and Union Valley is expected to make it two straight.

The Pack will be without the services of its regular forwards, who are out with minor injuries. Coach Bud McCallum is not expected to use either Bain or Anderson in the goal shooting posts, preferring to give the cripples a complete rest for the district interscholastic league tournament next week.

The Coyote second team will play the National guards of the Commercial league in a second game, the opener starting at 7:30 o'clock.

FROGS STILL HOPE FOR FIFTY-FIFTY SEASON

FORT WORTH, Feb. 18. (AP)—Still hoping to finish their Southwest conference schedule with at least a .500 percentage, the T. C. U. Horned Frogs seemed primed for a real battle this weekend as they completed workouts for their cage contest with the Texas Longhorns here Monday night.

The Longhorns likely will be just as determined to carry off a victory as the Frogs are to improve their standing inasmuch as the Austin quintet dropped both games to the Frogs in 1927. The Christians opened the season in Austin last year with the Steers the heavy favorites to win. The game played here was a 28 to 24 victory for the Frogs. The second game played here was a 32 to 27 triumph for the Frogs.

TEXAS FRESHMEN WIN

FIFTEEN SEN PITCHERS ON WAY TO TAMPA CAMP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—Fifteen pitchers under contract by the Washington Senators packed their bags Saturday to entrain for the spring camp at Tampa, aware that six of their number will be back in the minors before the playing season gets well under way.

One more hurler, Garland Braxton, completes the mound staff but because he doesn't have excess weight to remove and rounds into form quickly, he has not been required to report for early training. He is tentatively assured of a regular berth, leaving nine vacancies to be filled from the 15 ordered to entrain Saturday.

Other pitchers with the inside track at present are Marberry, Hadley, Lisenbee, Gaston, Jones, Zachary and Burk. Manager Harris now is of the opinion, to be confined or upset by the manner in which his charges react to the spring grind, that the doubtful members of the staff are Sam Jones, the veteran righthander, Tom Zachary and the rookie Bob Burke, lefthanders. Zach and Jones are old in baseball, while Burke, who showed considerable ability last year, has good competition to face among the other rookies.

URBAN SHOCKER SAYS HE HAS QUIT BASEBALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Urban Shocker, veteran right hander of the New York Yankees, has announced his retirement from baseball, but officials of the Yankees are sitting back to find out whether he means it or not.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the world champions, announced he had received a telegram from St. Louis in which the veteran said he "felt the urge to retire" from the game so that he could devote his time to the furtherance of his business interests at home.

Asked what the club intended to do about it, Barrow said the next move was up to Shocker.

"If he doesn't report the case will be allowed to end there," he said.

"We will do nothing. We don't know whether Shocker means what he says or not."

ROSTER AMERICAN LOOP UMPIRES IS ANNOUNCED

CHICAGO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Appointment of William J. Guthrie, Chicago, to the American league staff of umpires, completes the roster of the league's arbitrators, President E. S. Barnard said Friday.

Guthrie, an experienced umpire, worked in the American league for a brief period in 1923, and since then has officiated in the Pacific Coast league, the Southern and American associations.

All the league umpires were here Friday for a two-day conference with President Barnard, marking the first time such a meeting has been held.

The fact that 12 umpires have been engaged indicates that the American league chief executive favors the three-umpire system.

Barnard revealed that Clarence Rowland, one time manager of the Chicago White Sox, and umpire for several years, has been dropped.

EAST TEXAS TEACHERS BEAT M'MURRY HANDILY

COMMERCE, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP) The East Texas State Teachers' college won handily in their basket ball game with McMurry college here Friday night, 41 to 21.

Stringer, Teacher forward, was the outstanding star, scoring 22 points, or more than all five Indians. Williams, his teammate, was second with 12 points.

Three McMurry players who started the game were forced out on account of personal fouls.

ABILENE CHRISTIANS BEAT BOBCATS, 41-25

SAN MARCOS, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP) The Abilene Christian college basket ball team defeated Southwest Texas State Teachers' college, 41 to 25, here Friday night.

Coons, A. C. C. forward, was the outstanding star, scoring 16 points. The Bobcats had no star player.

Nebraska Wildcat Earns Chance at Joe Dundee's Crown

PACHYDERMS OF THE DIAMOND By Laufer

Too much of the old avoirdupois usually is the worst evil that besets the noble athlete, but baseball has its strange exceptions.

To look at some of the fat boys who are in the major leagues, one wonders how they withstand the strenuous competition, but a look in the record books gives cause for more wonder, but in a different way. No manager would refuse Bob Fothergill of the Detroit Tigers or Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs a job in his outfield and there are many pitchers in the American league who gladly would trade records with Garland Buckeye of the Cleveland Indians.

Babe Ruth can hardly be called a delicate lad and plenty has been written of his baseball accomplishments.

Hack Miller, son of a strong-man and a "behemoth" in his own right, didn't find his excess beef too much of a handicap to stick with the Cubs for several seasons. He is still hitting them on the nose in the minors.

And who will ever forget the roly-poly "Ping" Bodie, who performed for the Athletics, Yankees and White Sox a decade ago. "Ping" furnished the fans plenty of excitement with his robust hitting, and even more excitement to the scribes with the ponderous meals he would stoke away. But "Ping" overdid it and finally ate his way right out of the majors and back to the Pacific coast, which goes to prove there is a limit to everything.

ACE HUDKINS WINS SEVEN OF TEN ROUNDS FROM BAKER AND EARNS UNQUESTIONED VERDICT

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Ace Hudkins has out-maneuvered Sammy Baker in the scramble for the role of challenger in the welterweight division.

Through 10 rounds of torrid boxing in Madison Square garden Friday night, Hudkins bombarded the one-time regular army sergeant with a ceaseless two-fisted attack to carry off a judges' decision.

Baker dropped to the canvas twice before the furious drives of the Nebraskan, taking counts of nine on each occasion in the second and sixth rounds.

In keeping with his reputation as the wildcat of pugilism, Hudkins ripped out with his customary slam-bang tactics without a letup, which frequently drew frenzied reprisals from the outclassed but game Mitchell field boxer.

Foul Protest

Hudkins floored his foe in the second round with a terrific right to the jaw and then bored in with rights and lefts to the body and head, giving Baker no quarter. During a savage mixup in the sixth, Baker fell to the resin and protested a foul, which was not allowed by the referee although the blow was considered low.

Baker arose at the count of nine and renewed the struggle, fighting back desperately but not enough to diminish the fury of the Nebraskan's rushes. Hudkins ran up against a vicious right to the jaw in the eighth round which nearly proved his undoing, but he clinched and came back with a harder assault.

Hudkins was given seven of the rounds, while the rest went to Baker. The big chance of the night for Baker was in that eighth round when he drilled a hard right to the jaw. Hudkins appeared to be on the verge of passing from the picture, but Baker was slow in following up his advantage, permitting Ace to recover.

"Rubber" Bout

By his victory Hudkins has made the count two to one in his series with Baker, the Nebraskan holding the edge. Ace was whipped by Baker in the first meeting on a technical knockout in the seventh round last summer and in a return engagement Hudkins carried off a 10-round decision.

While there had been considerable comment that Hudkins would be unable to make the welterweight limit of 147 pounds, he entered the ring at 146, while Baker scaled 144½. Hudkins probably will be matched to box Joe Dundee of Baltimore, welterweight champion, in a bout at the Garden late in March, provided Dundee is reinstated by the New York State Athletic commission.

A crowd of 16,876 paid $76,459 to witness the fight.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

NEW YORK.—Ace Hudkins, Nebraska, won from Sammy Baker, New York, 10 rounds. Andy Divodi, New York, knocked out Buddy McDonald, St. Paul, four rounds. Manuel Quintero, Tampa, Fla., stopped Johnny Kochansky, Bayonne, N. J., five rounds.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Lefty Cooper, San Francisco, won from Willie Greb, Scranton, Pa. (halted by referee), five rounds. Jimmy Evans, Boston, won from Artie Sullivan, Boston, four rounds. Battling Dozier, Omaha, outpointed Johnny Fugate, Portland, Ore., four rounds.

DETROIT.—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, N. B. A., flyweight champion, defeated Billy Shaw, Detroit, eight rounds. Joey Ross, New York, won from French Belanger, Toronto, eight rounds. Clarence Rosen and Pete Firpo, both of Detroit, drew, 10 rounds. Billy Peterson, Detroit, outpointed Jimmy Darragh, Akron, Ohio, six rounds. Patsy Ruffalo, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., won from Jackie Johnston, Toronto, six rounds.

AKRON, Ohio.—K. O. Christner, Akron, won on foul from Johnny Urban, New York, three rounds. Jack Bentley, Terre Haute, Ind., defeated Harry Harris, Akron, 10 rounds.

ST. PAUL.—Al Van Ryn, St. Paul, defeated My Sullivan, St. Paul, 10 rounds. Honeyboy Conroy, St. Paul, won from Mike Sauro, St. Paul, six rounds. Red Wilson, St. Paul, knocked out Art Nelson, Minneapolis, one round. Billy McCabe, St. Paul, knocked out Ted Nacey, Minneapolis, one round.

DENVER.—George Manley, Denver, beat Yale Okun, New York, 10 rounds.

GOLF AND DANCING ARE FORBIDDEN M'GRAWMEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Golf and dancing are forbidden to the New York Giants at Hot Springs, Ark. The players hope that when Manager John J. McGraw arrives he will lift the restrictions.

Meantime Jess Petty of the Robins, Earl Whitehill of the Tigers and Sam Rice of the Senators are being followed with envious eyes as they trudge off to the golf gardens.

PIRATES CLOSER TO CONFERENCE HONORS

AUSTIN, Feb. 18. (AP)—A Texas conference basket ball championship for the Southwestern university Pirates looked possible after their 28 to 25 victory over St. Edward's university here Friday.

The win gives the Pirates a game and a half lead over the Simmons Cowboys, runners-up for the title.

The Pirates had no easy sailing. They were pushed to the limit to down the Saints.

RULE BOY TO CAMP

RULE, Texas, Feb. 18.—Sammy West, one of Rule's boys who has been playing professional baseball for several years, left this week for Tampa, Fla., where he will join the ranks of the Washington Senators. He is showing up two weeks early to join the battery men. He is being groomed to take the place of Tris Speaker.

Rules Set Down For Stecher and Lewis Skirmish

Two Heavyweights Travel Different Roads in Final Stages of Conditioning.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18. (AP)—Diametrically opposite methods are being used by Ed "Strangler" Lewis and Joe Stecher in bringing to an end their training for their championship wrestling bout here Monday night.

Strecher, the "Scissors King" finished his heavy work several days ago and Friday a short mat session and some road work finished his conditioning. His training headquarters in East St. Louis, across the river, was closed Friday and Saturday found him with his brother Anton at a St. Louis hotel where he will rest for the big event.

Lewis on the other hand faced an unusually heavy program of hard work for Saturday after which he will have only two days of rest and light exercise. Friday three husky training mates gave him a stiff workout behind closed doors.

The conditions under which the men will meet were outlined late Friday by Harry Sharpe of St. Louis who will referee the match. The rules in short follow:

1. After being brought from under the ropes by the referee, the wrestlers will stand in the center of the ring facing each other.

2.—An ordinary foul will cost the fouler a fall.

3.—A wrestler accidentally hurled through the ropes and injured so as to be unable to continue, will forfeit the match.

4.—A wrestler intentionally throwing his opponent out of the ring will forfeit a fall and if his opponent is injured too badly to continue, the offender will forfeit the match.

5.—The match is to continue to a finish with no time limit.

The last rule has been in effect here for some time and several matches have lasted until early in the morning.

SOUTHERN VALLEY TEAMS WIN TRIO OF CONTESTS

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 18. (AP)—Three southern valley basket ball teams won by comfortable margins on their home courts Friday night to tighten the skirmish for second place and to eliminate all ties in the column.

Missouri beat Drake, 28 to 21, to hold second place with eight won and three lost, while the Oklahoma Aggies trounced Iowa State, 54 to 43, to remain in third with nine wins and four losses.

Kansas, tied with the Kansas Aggies for fourth, defeated Nebraska, 33 to 27, to send the Cornhuskers from a deadlock with Washington for sixth to seventh place.

SEMI-FINALS REACHED IN A. A. U. TOURNAMENT

CLARA, ELECTRA, IOWA PARK AND BURK TEAMS IN SEMI-FINALS OF COUNTY PLAY

Harrold Quint Plays Fargo in Wilbarger Final

Megargel Goes Into District Competition by Beating Out Rivals In Archer County.

ELECTRA, Texas, Feb. 18.—Clara, Electra, Iowa Park and Burkburnett are scheduled to mix it Saturday afternoon in the semi-final round of the Wichita county basket ball tournament. The first three teams won their first round games Friday, with Burkburnett advancing a notch by virtue of drawing a bye.

First round results were as follows:

Electra 33, Cashion 15.
Clara, 28, Valley View 13.
Iowa Park 27, Fairview 10.

Survivors in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon will meet Saturday night in the Electra High school gym for the Wichita county championship and the right to represent the county in the district tournament at Wichita Falls next week.

In the junior division Friday Electra High juniors defeated Thompson ward, 15 to 9, and Clara beat Iowa Park, 21 to 20.

In the intermediate class Iowa Park beat Allendale, 15 to 5 and Electra eliminated Burkburnett, 18 to 17.

Harrold vs. Fargo

HARROLD, Texas, Feb. 18.—Preliminary play in the Wilbarger county interscholastic league basket ball tournament Friday ran true to form, the Harrold Hornets and Fargo advancing to the final, which will be played Saturday.

Fargo drew Oklaunion in the first round and won by a score of 22 to 16. Harrold won a surprisingly easy victory over Vernon high, 26 to 9. The Lion scoring machine could never get started. Fargo and Harrold in the titular game Saturday night should give the fans one of the best battles of the season.

The final round in the class B division also was reached Friday, Odell and Bourland winning their way into the big game.

I nthe first round Wells Valley defeated Antelope, 16 to 9; Odell eliminated Lockett, 18 to 14, and Bourland beat Vernon juniors, 23 to 13. In the semi-finals Odell defeated Elliott, 23 to 13, and Bourland eliminated Wells Valley, 24 to 17.

Megargel Wins

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Feb. 18.—Megargel High school captured the Archer county championship in the interscholastic league tournament played here Friday, defeating Eagle Bend, 26 to 20, in the final contest.

Four teams besides the champions entered the tournament, Archer City, Holliday, Eagle Bend and Dundee.

In the first round Megargel eliminated Holliday, 25 to 16, and Eagle Bend defeated Dundee, 26 to 22. Archer City drawing a bye. Megargel played Archer City in the next to last round and eliminated the Wildcats, 15 to 9, in a close guarding contest.

Roosevelt's Greatest Endorsement of Boxing

Dignities of Presidential Post Did Not Prevent Teddy from Having His Boxing Under Private Instructor

By GENE TUNNEY
World's Heavyweight Champion

The world's greatest endorsement of boxing was given the sport by Theordore Roosevelt.

There are but few people who do not grant that he was in a general way, the ideal American. They follow his advice and admire his principles and I wish they would go a step further and accept his theories on boxing. I think we would be a happier nation for it.

"Boxing," he said to the great Mike Donovan who used to pepper him all around the White House gym, "is the thing I need after all other exercises. I can keep my health and get all the fresh air and exercise I need from hunting, tennis, riding or any other outdoor sport of which I am fond. But boxing, like calomel pills, is a specific. It does one certain thing for me. It gives me the ability after a long hard grind, to put something over. The world is full of 'stayers,' but there are only a few good finishers."

Roosevelt took his boxing seriously. No man of his vitality and rugged constitution could help hunting, riding and exploring, but he took his boxing as he would take advice from a lawyer or a physician. If it isn't creating a new profession, I might say he hired a "boxing counsellor" when he signed up Mike Donovan.

One of my friends from Washington whom I met in Florida was telling me not long ago, the story of the ex-president's boxing.

Engages Trainer.

"Teddy had no more than stepped into the White House," he said, "then he suffered the same flood of office seekers and log-rollers that all presidents have to put up with. It was pretty hard to get a minute with him. So there was great consternation one morning when through the crowd cooling their heels while awaiting coveted appointments, strode Mike Donovan, boxing instructor of the New York Athletic club. Mike said afterward that he was as surprised at being sent for as the office seekers were to see him walk in ahead of everybody else. And the president's secretary said that there was a hasty departure on the part of several callers who apparently were accustomed to being bounced out of high places.

"At any rate, the interview lasted a long time and when Mike came out he was followed by the president, shaking his hand all the way to the door. From then on Mike was the only man in the United States who could hit the chief executive on the nose and get away with it. Imagine that for a privilege!"

Mike, of course, knew what was expected of him and never went easy with Teddy for a moment, my friend continued. In fact, Roosevelt took him to task in one of his earlier lessons for pulling his punches. It was then, too, that Teddy told Mike how he regarded boxing.

Not Great Boxer.

"See here, Donovan," he said, according to the teller of the tale, "are you trying to let me down easy? I am boxing to make myself alert and what's the use of being alert if there is nothing to be on the lookout for?"

"I'm not letting you down easy," said Mike, "You've a better boxer than you think you are and if I'm not hitting you it's because you are using that guard as I told you to use it."

Roosevelt was never a great boxer, but he got out of it just what there is in boxing, an on-the-toes feeling that no other form of sport quite gives. However, he was never satisfied to be on the defensive. He was a bit handicapped by poor eyesight in watching for openings, but Donovan often testified that he had a wallop in both hands which frequently got to him. And when that is said it speaks well for the presidential glove wielder, for old-time boxers tell me that Donovan was the greatest natural boxer of that age. He was the gentlemanly exponent of the game and scores of New York business men owe their present excellent physican condition to his training.

Incidentally, my friend who was very close to Roosevelt, denied the old story that Roosevelt was blinded in one eye through boxing. The trouble had been advancing gradually, he said, and his doctors had advised him against boxing fearing that the optic nerve might be hurt. Therefore, when he finally did lose the sight of one eye, it was blamed upon Donovan's punches.

Dynamic Personality.

I am convinced that Roosevelt's dynamic personality largely was due to his boxing. Those who knew him always speak first of those qualities which boxing develop above all things—a perfect poise, quick decision and an intense interest in the other fellow. I do not think I know a single boxer who hasn't these qualities. Roosevelt's interest in the person with whom he was talking was the great secret of his popularity. He analyzed people rapidly and his interest in them never fagged while they were in his presence. That was a great deal the way it was with Georges Carpentier when he came to America. He was tremendously interested in everything and in everybody and nobody can say that Georges did not gain a lot of merited popularity on his visits here as well as with Americans in Paris.

The friend of Roosevelt who related the story about his boxing, concluded by asking me whether or not I believed that President Coolidge had the temperament of a boxer. I do think so. By the Roosevelt test, he is deeply interested in the people he meets and analyzes them rapidly. He is straightforward, rugged and tenacious—full of vitality. I am sure he would have made a great boxer if he had chosen to follow that sport under the tutelage of a man like Mike Donovan.

EASTERN CAGE LEAGUE FACES SCORE SQUABBLE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18. (AP)—The solidarity of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basket Ball league is threatened by a controversy over the game here Thursday night between Pennsylvania and Dartmouth, part of which was played under protest by Pennsylvania.

Dartmouth, according to the official scorers, won the game 30 to 29, wresting the lead in the championship race from Pennsylvania, but Pennsylvania officials claim that Schaaf scored three foul goals in the first half instead of two as recorded by the student scorers. The disputed point was credited to Pennsylvania on the score board.

FLORIDA RESTORED

A writer in a current magazine, discussing Florida, makes a point that is worth keeping in mind.

Real estate is moving slowly now, he says, and countless "for rent" signs are to be seen. The cities are not crowded as they were two years ago during the boom, and many a once-promising subdivision is being reclaimed by the scrub pines and palmettoes.

Yet, for that very reason, he declares Florida this winter is an ideal vacation spot. Accommodations are plentiful, prices are low; and, he adds, nothing can ever take away Florida's warm breezes, Florida's yellow sands and blue water.

His moral is this: There never was such a good time to go to Florida for pleasure. The passing of the boom is really a Godsend to the tourist. Florida is a better, more pleasant place now than ever before.

PREVENTING DIPHTHERIA

A bulletin issued by Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, Chicago's commissioner of health, stresses once again the value of diphtheria anti-toxin.

The bulletin points out that in 1880, before anti-toxin was in use, Chicago's diphtheria death rate was 290 per 100,000 of population. In 1927 it was 14.1 per 100,000. It is added that the best time to guard against disease is before it makes its appearance; in other words, that children might well be given diphtheria anti-toxin while they are in perfect health.

There is a point you might discuss with your family doctor one of these days. You may recall the old saying about the value of an ounce of prevention.

THE PILOTLESS PLANE

A Los Angeles man is building a "pilotless airplane." Next summer, he says, this plane will fly from Los Angeles to New York without an occupant. It will be controlled entirely by radio, operated from a second plane flying half a mile behind.

The science of aeronautics, verily, has been making vast strides. It was only 25 years ago that the Wright brothers made the first airplane flight in history. Now plans are being made for a plane that will fly without anyone in it. What marvels of engineering and scientific skill have been compressed into the period between those two events!

YOUNG ROCKEFELLER'S WISE WORDS

It was a fine thing that John D. Rockefeller Jr., did in urging Robert W. Stewart to give the senate oil investigators every fact he had that they might want. A public-spirited act—and also a wise one.

For the whole oil industry is suffering because of the attitude of the officials who have been called for questioning by Senator Walsh. It is idle for them to protest against "condemning a man before he has had his day in court"; for four years the government has been trying, vainly, to get this business settled by the courts, and the delays are, without exception, the fault of the oil men.

Public suspicion is aroused, and it soon will embrace the entire oil industry. And the oil industry, very soon, will be wanting the government to help solve problems of over-production and foreign price wars. How sympathetic do these oil men think the government is going to be if the public has grown to regard all the leaders of the industry as smeared with the slime of Teapot Dome?

DUELS WITH BOXING GLOVES

It does seem as if romance were dying out swiftly.

The other day in Paris, two upper-class Frenchmen got into an argument that could only be settled on the field of honor. One challenged the other to a duel. The challenge was accepted, seconds were appointed and the usual arrangements were made.

But the weapons—ah, hearken! The Frenchmen fought, not with swords, nor even with pistols, but with—boxing gloves! They fought, we read, five rounds before they decided that their honor was satisfied.

We submit that the world has come to a pretty pass when things like that can happen. To be sure, a duel with boxing gloxes is ever so much more sensible than a duel with swords or pistols. But who in thunder wants to see duels conducted with common sense?

Romance is dead. All that remains is to open D'Artagnan's grave and see if he hasn't turned ....

A COSTLY EXPERIMENT

A Detroit lady went to a "plastic surgeon" in Chicago the other day to have some facial defect or other remedied. The "surgeon"—somehow, we just can't help putting that word in quotation marks—noticed that her legs were a bit crooked, and offered to straighten them for her.

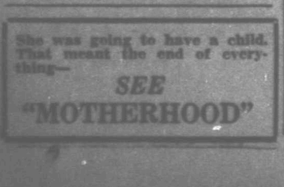

So she let him perform an operation to make the crooked legs straight. Unfortunately, something went wrong. She was at last compelled to call her family doctor; he discovered that gangrene had set in, and only by operating promptly and cutting off both her legs was he able to save her life.

The impulse to beautify oneself is natural. But it is a good idea to go slowly. Crooked legs are a great deal better than none at all.

She was going to have a child. That meant the end of everything—

INDIAN SOLONS VOTE BAN AGAINST BRITISH

NEW DELPHI, India, Feb. 18. (AP)—The Indian legislative assembly today adopted a motion urging a boycott of the Simon commission, which is now in India to investigate the progress of Indian self-government within the past 10 years.

The motion was introduced by Lajpat Rai, and was adopted by the narrow margin of 68 to 62.

Fire Threatens Block on Scott Avenue Saturday

Calm weather with practically no wind from any direction aided firemen in fighting a blaze at the rear of 508 Scott avenue about 6 o'clock Saturday morning when wind from any direction might have caused a conflagration.

The small building in which the fire started was located on the alley between Scott and Lamar avenues, and was surrounded by two-story houses of frame construction.

The fire had already gained considerable headway when firemen arrived, and sparks were shooting up 300 feet into the air. Had there been any wind to sweep the sparks to nearby shingle roofs the entire block might have burned.

Firemen used 1,200 feet of hose while fighting the blaze.

RAZORBACKS SPEED UP IN SECOND HALF AND DEFEAT OWLS, 20-11

HOUSTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—Striking their gait in the second half, the Arkansas Razorbacks, who are headed for their third consecutive Southwest conference championship, Friday night defeated the Rice Owls, 20 to 11, in a game featured by tight guarding. The fighting Owls swept the visitors off their feet at the start and the game was seven minutes old before Arkansas tallied a point. Rice led, 6 to 5, at the half.

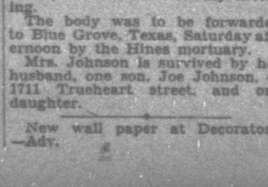

PONY GOAL DEFEATS ABILENE POLO TEAM

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 18. (AP)—A goal kicked by the pony of one of the Fort Bliss riders eliminated Abilene from the annual Southwestern mid-winter polo tournament here Friday. Fort Bliss winning 10 to 9, while Camp Wood was eliminating the Eighth Corps Area team, 13 to 12, in a 10-chukker contest.

The Fort Bliss team gained its victory by virtue of a goal kicked by one of the ponies at the beginning of the game. Nine more goals were added by the team itself. Abilene, having a five-point handicap advantage, drove only four goals between the posts.

Friday's games leaves six teams in the running for the second round, which will start Monday if the weather continues good. Fort Bliss has played two games, and has already qualified for the third round. Abilene having entered the second round through a bye. The teams which will enter the second round are Camp Wood, Camp Marfa, Austin, Fort Clark, Ninth infantry and the air corps training center.

There was some girls that had got past 30 years old and hadn't got married. They all worked in the same neighborhood, so they kinda got to talking it over at lunch. Then they decided to make up a sort of clinic and talk about ways and means.

After a club had been formed, the girls had a big secret meeting, and they all talked about the whys and outs about catching a man.

One of them was speaking, "Of course," she says, "it's my opinion that a blonde has got a better chance than a brunette anyhow."

"I object to that," says a real determined lady in a back row. "This girl is talking about something she knows nothing about. Blonde and brunette ain't got nothing to do with it. I been both twice, and it didn't make any difference!"

MASKAT TEMPLE SHRINERS MAKE GOOD WILL TRIP TO BURKBURNETT SATURDAY

Maskat temple divan, officers, band, patrol and chanters will leave Wichita Falls at 6 o'clock Saturday evening for Burkburnett on another of the series of good will trips which the members have planned for this spring, it was announced Saturday morning by officials of the lodge.

The nobles expect to stage a patrol drill on the streets of Burkburnett about 7 o'clock after which a band concert will be held and the chanters will sing.

Potentate Martin D. Rowe has issued orders that all members of the shrine who make the trip must wear the fez.

DYNAMITE BOMBS BLAST OUT DEFI OF CHICAGO GANGLAND

HOME OF CITY OFFICIAL IS WRECKED BY FORCE OF EXPLOSION

HOMES OF THREE CITY OFFICIALS NOW LISTED

Series of Bomb Attacks on City Officials Was Begun Several Weeks Ago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Dynamite bombs, silent for three weeks, ripped their way through two buildings in separate parts of the city last night.

The home and undertaking establishment of Municipal Judge John A. Sbarbaro on North Wells street, was bombed almost at the same time that a blast tore away a portion of the Century garage on West Harrison street—a place frowned upon by police and federal agents as a gangster hangout.

Coming less than a month after bomb attacks against the homes of City Comptroller Charles Fitzmorris and Dr. William Reid, both of whom are close allies of Mayor Thompson, the bombing of Judge Sbarbaro's home and business place was looked upon by police as another defiance of the administration for its war upon organized crime.

Gang Rivalry Blamed.

The Century garage bombing puzzled police, although they were agreed the motive undoubtedly was rooted in gang rivalry. It was in front of this garage last Tuesday that Isadore (Nigger) Goldbergh, known as a strong-arm man for a vice and gambling syndicate, was shot down and fatally wounded.

No one was hurt at either place, although Judge and Mrs. Sbarbaro, occupying the third floor of the Wells street building, were thrown from bed by the force of the explosion. Windows two blocks away were shattered.

The bomb had been placed near the front entrance. When it exploded it wrecked the richly furnished funeral chapel which takes up much of the first floor. It was from this chapel several years ago that the gun-guarded casket of Dion O'Banion, florist-gangster, was taken in one of the costliest, strangest funerals Chicago ever had seen. The same chapel served for the funeral of Vincent (Schemer) Drucci who, like O'Banion, fell before the bullets of gang vengeance.

$10,000 Bomb Loss.

Judge Sbarbaro, who estimated his bomb damage at $10,000, was unable to offer a motive. He doubted that politics had any connection. He suggested that stiff penalties imposed recently in his court in an effort to break up gambling may have been responsible.

Police learned that Judge Sbarbaro received an anonymous telephone threat Wednesday against his life.

Threats also had been made to Frank Lauer, owner of the Century garage. Lauer said that he had received a telephone call in which the voice at the other end of the wire had said:

"If 'Nigger' Goldberg dies, your joint will be blown up."

Goldberg died early yesterday.

Cops Fail On Job.

The warning was relayed to police who stationed four officers at the garage. The policemen were on duty near the front of the building when the explosion knocked over the rear wall, demolished one section and damaged surrounding places. One patrolman was knocked down by the force of the explosion, but uninjured.

DEATH WARRANT FOR ED HICKMAN SIGNED BY COURT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18. (AP)—The last official act of the court which tried and condemned William Edward Hickman for murdering 12-year-old Marian Parker—the signing of his death warrant—today put the young killer one step nearer the gallows. Judge J. J. Trabucco, who presided over Hickman's sanity trial, signed the warrant late last night. "The Fox" was ordered to be hung April 27 at San Quentin prison.

With the noose hanging over him for one murder, the 20-year-old confessed criminal waited over the weekend in a county jail cell for the beginning next week of his trial for another slaying. He and Welby Hunt, who on Monday will observe his 17th birthday, face a jury for fatally shooting C. Ivy Toms, druggist, in a holdup a year ago Christmas eve.

The third day spent in choosing a jury for this trial yesterday closed with the jury box tentatively filled with seven men and five women. The defense, which earlier had indicated its intention to employ all the challenges it possessed, had used its 20 joint challenges and one of the five individual ousters allowed each defendant.

Ninety-three talesmen had passed through the box under a tedious repetition of questions.

FUNERAL FRANK BLANK HELD HERE SATURDAY

VETERAN NEWSPAPERMAN OF SAN ANTONIO IS DEAD

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP)—Harrison L. Beach, aged 65, veteran newspaperman and at one time head of the central division of the Associated Press, died in his hotel room here early today.

Beach was a native of Dubuque, Iowa, but had made his home here for years. He first became prominent as a newspaper man during the Spanish-American war when he served as a correspondent at Santiago and other cities in the war zone.

From 1909 to 1911 Beach had charge of the Chicago division of the Associated Press, which included all of the central part of the country. From 1911 to 1924 he was associated with Charles E. Diehl of San Antonio as publisher of the San Antonio Light.

He retired from active work about three years ago and his health began to fail. His death followed a four months illness.

Besides the widow, Mrs. Jessie May Beach, he is survived by a brother, Maj. Gen. Lansing H. Beach, retired, of Los Angeles.

The funeral will be held in Chicago.

INDIANA WOMAN CLAIMS SHE'S HEIR OF SLAIN WIDOW

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies today were investigating the claim of a former Indiana woman that she was the hitherto undisclosed daughter of Mrs. Amelia Appleby, wealthy widow for whose murder Dr. Charles McMillan is being tried here.

The woman, Mrs. Agnes Morris, appeared briefly yesterday in the murder trial to assert herself as heir to the Appleby estate. McMillan has been accused by the state of killing Mrs. Appleby to obtain her property, and with having forged a will bequeathing the real estate and jewelry to himself.

The deputies, who talked with the woman, expressed the opinion she could not establish any relationship.

The trial recessed for the week-end.

51 CARRIED TO SAFETY DURING HOSPITAL FIRE

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 18. (AP)—Fifty-one women patients in the hospital of the Hamilton county infirmary were carried to safety today when a fire which caused about $600 damage started in the basement of the building.

There were 175 patients in the building when the fire under the women's ward enveloped the building in smoke.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—The body of Eddie Foy, veteran comedian who died at Kansas City, was brought to New York today and taken to New Rochelle, his home, where funeral services will be held next week. A group of Foy's old friends, most of them his contemporaries on the stage, were at the Pennsylvania station when Mrs. Foy and six children arrived with the body.

LEATHER BIBLES GIVEN CONGRESS

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Two leather-bound Bibles have been sent to the senate and house at Washington by the American Bible society which learned that a senate committee hearing recently was held up because committee attaches were unable to find a Bible on which witnesses could be sworn.

WHITELAW OPPOSES CITY MANAGER PLAN

E. S. Whitelaw, who has announced as a candidate for street commissioner, has declared his position on the city manager plan. Mr. Whitelaw is opposed to the plan. His statement to The Times follows:

"In view of the fact that I am a candidate at the coming city election for the office of street commissioner, I hasten to state my position in regard to what is known as the 'city manager' plan, as requested by you of all candidates for a city office in your issue of February 17. I am against the city manager plan for the reason that it is contrary to Democratic principles of government."

SIX OF FAMILY HURT WHEN TRUCK OVERTURNS

HOUSTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—A. H. Ferguson's skull was fractured and five members of his family suffered broken bones or bruises when their truck filled with household goods overturned on the highway near here Saturday.

The family was en route from Rosenberg to their new home in Beekman, La. The elder Ferguson's condition was said to be critical.

TEXAS GIRL SAVED FROM SUICIDE IN CITY SEWER

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 18. (AP)—A young woman, thought to be Leona Eden of Bryan, Texas, was arrested by police here late tonight when she made an attempt to drop herself through a sewer line manhole. Workers at a local charity said she had given them her name when she applied for aid several days ago.

REGULATION OF AIR BY CITIES OF TEXAS FORT WORTH PROGRAM

FORT WORTH, Feb. 18. (AP)—Appointment of a board in each city of Texas to pass final judgment on worthiness of aircraft flown in its vicinity will be one of the legislative steps sought by the Fort Worth Aviation club which will perfect its organization at a meeting Tuesday, B. B. Buckeridge, temporary chairman announced.

The club will study air regulations in regard to stunt flying and flying over population centers. The city board would be given authority to condemn, old, carelessly constructed or otherwise faulty planes and to prevent their being flown over cities. According to plans of the club, which has not yet elected officers, the board would consist of the municipal airport manager, a commercial flier and the president of the aviation club.

"It should be within the authority of the airport management or some appointed board to condemn faulty planes," Buckeridge said. "There are a number of planes in Fort Worth and this vicinity which create a hazard when flown over a center of population.

"Cities have building inspectors with the authority to condemn weak buildings. There are boiler inspectors who can condemn faulty boilers. A person driving a horse too old and weak to last much longer would be accosted by the humane officer and forced to put it in a stable or kill it. Regulation that would permit only worthy aircraft to fly over a city would be just as plausible."

Police don't know what charge to place against the man arrested in a cafeteria with a stick of 40 per cent dynamite in his hand.

The poor guy was probably going to use the dynamite on the pie crust.

Or perhaps he carried the dynamite to get salt out of the shaker.

Anyway, if the dynamite had exploded no one would have been able to hear it in a cafeteria.

DIG AROUND YOUR ROSE BUSHES, PLEADS FRISBY

News picture shows prominent citizen who yesterday joined in the nation-wide search for Frisby's teeth, believed buried by canine.

WASHINGTON — "Search around your rose bushes!"

This was Congressman Frisby's plea to a griefstricken nation today, when he personally took charge of the nationwide search for his missing false teeth.

"Dogs," explained Frisby, "often bring home a bone culled from the garbage pails.

"Your dog—anybody's dog—may have found my teeth and mistaken them for a toothsome bone.

"Your Congressman's teeth may at this moment lie buried in your back yard!"

Congressman Frisby is holding up wonderfully well, considering what he has gone through, and personally led a party of searchers in digging up around some shrubbery across from the depot.

He is being fed liquid foods and seems to enjoy them very much.

LADY DOUGLAS Prefers AMERICAN MEN

Titled English Visitor Finds Them Ever So Much More Sincere and Trustworthy Than Continental Men, Even Though the Latter Are Suave and Gracious Past Masters in Art of Love-Making; Europeans Are Philanderers, but Americans Are the Most Devoted Husbands, She Says

Lady Georgina Sholto Douglas, who finds American men more attractive than Europeans because they are "refreshingly sincere"

Husband or Career?

FOR the second time within a year Lady Georgina Sholto Douglas, famed for her wealth and matrimonial ventures, is visiting in this country. Last June she arrived with the avowed intention of seeking a husband; now she is here in quest of a career.

She is now in Hollywood, and, after filing a suit for divorce from her fourth husband, Count Berthier de Sauvigny, in Los Angeles, she is making the rounds of the studios to further her ambition for a movie career. She took a screen test before she left England, which was said to be most successful.

Lady Douglas is small and fair, and is said to possess the smallest adult feet in Europe, an asset which she hopes will prove valuable in her movie work. Before leaving London she had them insured for $100,000. Her shoes are size 1.

Prince Burhaneddin, son of the late Sultan Abdul Hamid of Turkey. His marriage with Lady Douglas was annulled

Count Berthier de Sauvigny, from whom Lady Douglas is seeking a divorce in the California courts

LADY GEORGINA SHOLTO DOUGLAS, who recently arrived in New York for a few months' visit, holds no brief for the European man, who is supposed to be preferred by romantic ladies of this country.

Her Ladyship prefers American men. Because—

They are so sincere!
They are so dependable!
They are not gold-diggers!
They are so str-r-r-r-ong!
They are so pr-r-rotective!

Not that she has a very extensive acquaintance among American men, but because of her four unfortunate matrimonial fiascos she is quite certain they must be preferable since they are the antithesis of the Europeans she married.

Up until the age of 16 Lady Sholto Douglas' life was a fairy tale. Her father, the late R. F. E. Mosselmans, married the daughter of the founder of the great Dorrepaal Bank in Amsterdam, and left a fortune of several million pounds. A few years later an aunt died, leaving her more millions.

THEN the bad fairy who had not been bidden to the christening showed up and got in her innings. The good fairies had given her untold wealth, stately homes, beautiful yachts, wit and loveliness. These, they probably took for granted, would automatically bring her an ideal husband.

But the English army officer named Barnard, whom she married just after her 16th birthday, proved to be anything but an ideal husband, according to Lady Douglas, and there was a divorce. Thrice since she has had equally bad luck, each husband proving progressively worse, in her opinion, than the one she had before.

In 1921 she married Lord George Sholto Douglas, a son of the eighth Marquis of Queensberry. After that divorce she married Prince Burhaneddin, seventh son of the late Sultan Abdul Hamid of Turkey. This marriage was annulled, and the money princess took another chance with the Count Berthier de Sauvigny, from whom she expects soon to be free. By some sort of an English Lucy Stone League arrangement, she still clings to the title she acquired with her second husband.

Still youthful, with a few of the millions left and houses in Paris, London, Egypt, Lido and Deauville, Lady Douglas isn't downhearted in the least. She is no misogamist and hopes for better luck the fifth time—with an American? She discussed all this seated on the chaise-longue of her drawing room in the Ambassador Hotel in New York.

Petite, red bobbed hair, sparkling eyes, dazzling white teeth, the famous feet which wear a No. 1 shoe, she was daintiness personified in a lace frock over orchid satin and black satin pumps.

"Naturally, I was little more than a child when I married first," she explained in those Gallic accents which cause the r's to roll furiously. "I was probably spoiled a little bit, as all wealthy children are likely to be, and I believed all the profuse compliments I received from the men when I made my bow to society.

"I did not appreciate they were paying court to my wealth and to my position. I thought it was my girlish attractions before which they were sending up the incense. I have no false modesty. I know I have a certain attractiveness, but it was not long before I was faced with the fact that it was not for that attractiveness that I was being hunted by men.

"It does not surprise me that American girls and women are fascinated by the manners of European men. The idle classes they meet are so suave, so gracious, so courteous, so ready to flatter the little vanities of women. They are past masters at this little game. But, oh, so often, there is something sinister behind all this gallantry. They are so charming and so ingratiating because they hope it will eventually pay them for being so.

"Not all European men are thus insincere, of course. There are good and sincere as well as bad and false among the English and the Continental men, as everywhere.

"BUT what I like so much about the American men is that they are so refreshingly different from the European men. The average American man we meet on the Continent and in England has no manners. He does not know how to walk into a room; how to close the door; how to sit down; how to rise up. He is too big for such petty conventions.

"I do not say that none of your men knows how to do these things as well as the European men. Some of them are equally polished, but this polish is not inborn. One senses that it is acquired and offered merely to make others comfortable. I look on them as real men, who regard these social trimmings as something which belongs peculiarly to the fops.

not like them on men. To me they appear terrible. Probably they think that clothes are unimportant. They are not nearly so important as a great many other things, but the way men dress over here does detract from their appearance. That is why, though American men may be handsome, they are not well groomed, except their hands.

"One soon forgets their clothes, however, when one begins to talk to them. They are not only so thoroughly well informed on all subjects but they are so ready to discuss those subjects with women—and to listen to their views. The European man starts in to flirt immediately after the introduction. He will not take it for granted that women are interested in serious things.

"I can very well understand how American women and girls are blinded by the glamour of the men they meet in Europe. Titles suggest romance. Titles used to stand for romance, but no longer. Just as you have your newly rich here, we have the new titles over there; these two classes are on equal standing. All sorts of tradespeople now possess titles, while the men bearing some of the oldest titles, such titles as are backed by centuries, talk, dress and act like coachmen and grooms. They are the ones interested in sporting country life and are mixed up with the hunting and the stables.

"It is usually the titled men of the Latin races who are so volubly flattering. For centuries their most important aim in life has been to acquire a high polish and to know how to turn a pretty compliment. They are empty words, and are addressed with equal fervor and flourishes to a homely girl, an old woman and a ravishing beauty.

"Not always do those men mean to be insincere, but as one learns how lavish and indiscriminate these gentlemen are with their compliments one simply discounts them.

"I cannot imagine an American gentleman wasting time with all these compliments, and I am quite sure it would not be at all difficult to decide whether he meant them or not if he did make an attempt to flatter. That is why European women admire American men. They feel that they can trust them. I do not say that American men never flatter nor pay pretty compliments. They certainly do, but such compliments and flatteries are not a vital part of all their intercourse with women.

"In Paris, for example, I overheard a handsome young Spaniard say to a fat, overdressed woman of middle age: 'It is an honor to escort you; you are like a beautiful, exotic, voluptuous flower!' And that woman was listening in an ecstatic daze. It is so easy for the scamps of good families to fool women, for they are merely exaggerating their natural suavity and gallantry.

"This suavity and gallantry are not a part of the American man's make-up, so as an adventurer of this type he would not be a success.

"Especially now since the war there are so many more women than men that girls over there are becoming very bold. They do not insist on the deference they used to command and which the American girl still demands.

"While your men are the worst-dressed in the world, your women are the smartest. So far as coloring and features are concerned, the English girl may be more beautiful, but it is only the head. From top to toe the American girl is so chic that she gives the illusion of far greater beauty than she possesses.

"She is much more feminine than the English girl, I think, because the English girl goes in more for sport and good-fellowship with men. Perhaps it is because the American woman demands deference and straightforwardness that men of this country have developed individualities that place them apart from those abroad.

"Besides, the average American girl is much more intelligent than the average English or European young girl. She has a keenness of insight and such definite views on topical subjects. She is not so athletic as the English girl, but she is trig and chic. Her figure is the ambition of every woman in the world, so slight, so graceful, so feminine!

"Certainly, I prefer American men, but I believe it is the women of America whom I have to thank for making them what they are."

"YOU believe with Count Kerserling, then, that women rule America?" she was asked.

"Tosh!" Lady Douglas ejaculated with a quick smile. "What nonsense! Men rule America, and women seem to be interested in themselves far too much and to understand the advantage of making good in their own spheres to bother aspiring to domination.

"When I first arrived newspapers published a foolish report that I had come to America to get married. How could I have done that, since I am still married to my last husband?"

"However," it was contended, "since your divorce is pending, perhaps you will try an American for your fifth."

No mention was made of the $2,000,000 which the Count is demanding as alimony; or the Lady Douglas' retort that as they had been married only two days, $1,000,000 per diem was a pretty high rate for his companionship. Nor did she refer to it as she smiled cryptically and again bestowed her approval on American men as husbands and America as a country where only the men are made to pay and pay and pay.

"Do you believe in women proposing marriage to men during leap year?" the parting question was put.

"Women don't need to propose outright. The men take care of that during leap year as well as at any other time," she answered.

COLORADO REQUISITION FOR GOSSETT IS GRANTED

AUSTIN, Feb. 18. (AP)—The Colorado governor's requisition for Marshall G. Gossett, charged with burglarizing the shop of Joseph Adamek, La Junta, Colo., of about $4117 worth of jewelry, has been granted by Governor Moody.

Gossett recently was discharged from the Texas penitentiary after having served time on burglary conviction, the application for requisition said.

Oswald Nettles was charged jointly with Gossett in the Colorado indictment. J. D. Hall, assistant secretary to Moody, said it is "reported" that Nettles had been in custody for some time. Gossett, officers declared, is in custody at Madisonville, Texas.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM GUEST AUSTIN "FAREWELL" TEA

AUSTIN, Feb. 18. (AP)—Women prominent in the councils of the Democratic party from many cities of Texas will attend Saturday's outstanding local social event, a tea to be given for Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, candidate for the United States senate by Mrs. D. H. Doom and Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, at the Doom home here.

Mrs. Cunningham arrived in Austin Friday and visited her state campaign headquarters.

An announcement has said the tea will be a "farewell" event for the historic home which for years was headquarters for the victorious campaign for woman's suffrage.

The house has been sold and will be razed to make room for the "greater Texas university" building program.

February 18, 1908

At half past five this morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Curry, the marriage of Miss Tott Curry to Mr. A. E. Myles took place the Rev. J. A. Stafford, pastor of the Tenth Street Methodist church, officiating.

Mr. Myles and his bride left on the early morning train for a bridal trip of about 10 days, during which time they will visit Kansas City and St. Louis. The couple will return to this city to make their home, and Mr. Myles will engage in business here.

A collision between two automobiles at the corner of Seventh street and Indiana avenue, adjacent to Trevathan and Bland's grocery, at about 6:30 o'clock last evening, caused considerable excitement and resulted in some damage to one of the automobiles. One of the machines was driven by Bennett Reed and the other by Billy Keys.

Young Reed was driving south on Indiana avenue and turned east on Seventh street, making the turn in a wide circle to the right to avoid some wagons and at the same time avoid Mr. Keys' machine, which was coming west on Seventh street. Mr. Keys either did not see Reed's machine on account of the wagons or thought that the latter was turning to the left. In any event, Keys turned the machine to the left, running its front into the rear of Reed's machine. The latter being the heavier machine, it took off the front left wheel of Keys' automobile and damaged it otherwise.

Neither of the autoists was injured.

CREAGER TAKES HOOVER FIGHT TO PANHANDLE

LEADER SAYS REPUBLICANS "HAVE CHANCE" IN TEXAS

COMMITTEEMAN IS HONOR GUEST AT DINNER HERE

Fight for Control of State's Delegation to Begin in Precinct Conventions.

R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman from Texas, carried his campaign on behalf of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for the Republican nomination for president into the Texas Panhandle Saturday after having stopped long enough in Wichita Falls to address a banquet in his honor at the Kemp hotel Friday night.

Although expressing the belief that Republicans will "have a chance" to carry Texas if the presidential race should become a Hoover-Al Smith affair, Mr. Creager devoted most of his address to urging the Hoover supporters to attend the precinct conventions to be held on May 5.

The national committeeman disclosed that the principal reason for his present tour is to urge attendance at the precinct conventions, where delegates to the county convention will be named. The county convention names delegates to the state convention, at which the delegates to the national convention are chosen.

"The next president of the United States will be named, not in November, but at such meetings as those to be held in Texas next May 5," he declared. "If Hoover supporters control the precinct conventions, it naturally must follow that they will control the county and state conventions.

"I want you Hoover supporters to attend those conventions, and to declare for a Texas delegation bound by the unit rule to Herbert Hoover."

Major Leonard Withington, former editor of the Fort Worth Record and now secretary of the Republican executive committee of Texas, and Captain J. F. Lucey, vice president in charge of the Associated Hoover clubs of Texas, like Mr. Creager, were honor guests and speakers at the banquet. The three are traveling together during the present tour.

Orville Bullington, local attorney and vice chairman of the Republican executive committee in Texas, presided over the banquet after Roy B. Jones, president of the Wichita Falls Hoover club, had called the meeting to order. Approximately 60 were present at the banquet, which was not arranged until after the visitors had arrived early Friday afternoon. Local leaders had been uncertain whether Mr. Creager and his party could remain here long enough to attend such a meeting.

Others of the several speakers at the banquet expressed more confidence than the national committeeman in the possibilities of a party victory in this state, should the race narrow down to a Hoover-Smith contest. Mr. Bullington declared that he was as positive that Hoover will carry Texas, in such event, as he was that the "sun will set tomorrow." Major Withington said positively that the nomination of Smith by the Democrats is certain to make Texas a doubtful state.

Major Withington, the first of the speakers, declared that one party control in Texas has brought a condition of "political enslavement among a larger group of the white race than can be found in any other place on the globe." Democratic control of Texas, he explained, has so lessened the interest of citizens of political affairs that fewer than half exercise their right to vote.

Captain Lucey, whose friendship with Mr. Hoover dates back to young manhood, when both were in China during the Boxer uprising, declared Hoover is one of the best qualified men for sound business reasons ever to be considered for the presidency.

"The highest average monthly cost of construction of the Panama canal was about $4,000,000," Captain Lucey said. "Mr. Hoover spent an average of from $16,000,000 to $19,000,000 a month after taking charge of the Belgium relief work following the outbreak of the world war. The work was so splendidly done that there has never been the suggestion of a scandal." Captain Lucey was associated with Mr. Hoover in the Belgium relief work, heading the transportation organization.

Mrs. Mamie Dale of Iowa Park declared that women will be among the staunchest of Hoover supporters, particularly if Smith should be nominated by the Democrats.

"How a woman could vote for a wet candidate, such as Al Smith, is beyond me," she said. "Besides I do not agree with his religion—if he has any religion."

Mr. Creager spoke after Mr. Bullington had declared during the introduction that if Texas were a doubtful state, "Wichita Falls would not now be begging for a new postoffice; they'd be asking us how big a postoffice we need."

Mr. Creager also stressed the advantages which, he said, accrue to a two-party state. When Texas becomes a doubtful state, he said, it will then begin contributing nominees for the presidency and vice presidency.

"The best governed states as a rule are the most doubtful ones," he said. "God knows that Texas needs better state government."

The visitors went to Amarillo from Wichita Falls, and will there confer with party leaders from all sections of the Panhandle.

Ideal Kitchen Described by Mrs. Plummer in Closing Lecture Times School at Auditorium Friday p. m.

Ending her week of free lectures on cooking, housework and the art of making a home, Mrs. J. F. Plummer, noted domestic art and domestic science expert, spoke to one of the largest audiences of the week Friday afternoon at the Memorial auditorium, where all of her lectures were given, under the auspices of the Wichita Daily Times.

The ideal kitchen was described by Mrs. Plummer, using the one on the stage as her basis of description. New ideas as to arrangement were given, one being the installation of a telephone in the kitchen, in order to save steps. Another idea was to leave a card in the front door instructing all callers to come to the rear entrance, and still another was to have a comfortable rocking-chair and cozy nook where one might rest in the kitchen. "The kitchen is the heart of the home," the speaker said, "and the housewife has a right to make it as cheery and comfortable as she can."

Several recipes were given, some of which follow:

Creole Sauce with Mushrooms (for Steak)

3 tablespoons Crisco.
1 cup tomato pulp turned into Crisco and browned.
Add 1 cup tomato juice, 1 tablespoon onion juice, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, ¼ teaspoon ground cloves, 1 slice lemon, and 1 cup mushrooms.

Ice Box Cake

1 dozen lady fingers.
½ dozen almond macaroons.
2 egg yolks.
1 cup sugar.
½ cup butter.
1 cup whipped cream.
1 cup chopped fruit.

Line cake pan with oiled paper and then put in lady fingers. Cream sugar, butter and egg yolks. Add fruit. If fruit is not acid, add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Fold in cream. Put layer of mixture in pan, then a layer of broken macaroons. Set in icebox over night. If you want to serve it sooner, pack in cracked ice.

Angel Parfait

1 cup shredded pineapple.
2 tablespoons thick fruit juice.
1½ cup heavy cream.
2 egg whites stiffly beaten.
¼ cup sugar.
½ cup water.
1 tablespoon gelatin softened with 2 tablespoons cold water.

Boil sugar and water until almost thick enough to spin a thread. Beat into egg whites. Melt gelatin over warm water and add. Let cool. Fold in fruit and whipped cream. Then mold.

Frozen Fruit Salad

Pack can of fruit in crushed ice (3 parts ice to 1 part salt); four inches deep all around can. Let freeze solid, slice, and garnish with whipped cream and cherries.

WAR OF 1812 WAS IMPORTANT FIGHT

In United States history we are studying the second war of independence or that which is better known as the war of 1812. By this war we taught England and other nations of Europe that we would hold our own on the sea as well as on the land. After this our sailors could cross the seas in peace. Though this cost the country a great deal of money it was well worth it as it built for home industry.—Marcus Brown, seventh grade, St. Mary's.

JAMES QITE INTERESTED IN FRANCIS SCOTT KEY

In my study of history Wednesday, I could almost see Francis Scott Key on board a British ship watching earnestly for our dear flag to be still flying over Fort McHenry as the dawn broke. As he sees it, he takes his pen and writes that wonderful hymn, "The Star-Spangled Banner." England was taught by us in the war of 1812 that we would not abide by her motto, "Once an Englishman, an Englishman forever.—James Boyle III, Seventh grade, St. Mary's school.

THE STORY OF RAINDROP

Once upon a time there was a little raindrop. He had fallen in the lake at the last rain. His name was "Raindrop." Raindrop's mother's name was Mother Lake. Mother Lake had hundreds and hundreds of little children. Raindrop always had wanted to see his father, the Sun. So one day he slipped away and said he was going to see his father. So Father Sun drew him up with his great power. When he got up there he found some of his playmates. They were so glad that they joined hands and made a ring. They didn't notice themselves, but they were going up higher and higher, and all at once their ring broke and they were going down. In a few minutes they had fallen into the arms of Mother Lake.

Every once in a while they would go up and see Father Sun, and then they would go back to Mother Lake. That is the way rain comes from the earth and back into a cloud.—Marjorie Hamilton, high fifth grade, Carrigan school.

Student Writes Story of "Aida" To Be Sung Here

The opera "Aida," which is to be presented here by the Chicago Civic Opera company February 29, has been studied in the music department of the public schools, and the story of the opera is a familiar one with all the students now. Evelyn Toylar, student in the Alamo school, has written a short synopsis of the story for the Junior Times, which follows:

The Story of Aida

Characters—

The King of Egypt, basso.

Amneris, his daughter, mezzo-soprano.

Aida, slave of Amneris, dramatic soprano.

Radames, captain of the guards, dramatic tenor.

Amonnsaro, King of Ethiopia, baritone.

Ramphis, the high priest, basso.

A messenger, tenor.

Priests, priestesses, captains, soldiers, officials, Ethiopian slaves, prisoners Egyptian populace, etc.

The time of the story is when the Pharaohs were puissant and the scene is laid in the cities of Thebes and Memphis.

Composer—Guiseppe Verdi.

Author—A. Ghislanzoni.

The opera was first sung at Cairo, Egypt, December 27, 1871, and at Milan, February 6, 1872.

Act I

All Egypt was troubled with wars and rumors of wars. Many men were waiting in Memphis, the court of the king of Egypt, for the decision of Isis, the war god. Isis was to speak and say who should lead the Egyptian army against their enemies, the Ethiopians. It was in this beautiful temple, Memphis, that Radames, a gallant soldier, met Ramphis, the high priest, on the day when Isis was to choose the general of the army.

Isis had already spoken and Ramphis knew it, but he did not tell Radames. Radames was too modest to think that Isis should choose him out of all the worthy men of Egypt, but still he wished to do great and valorous deeds, and wished that it might be possible for him to be chosen. These great and valorous deeds were strengthened by the love of a slave girl, who attended the Egyptian princess, Ameris. The slave girl's name was Aida. The only thing that troubled him at that moment was that Aida was an Ethiopian, and the Egyptians were about to go to war against the Ethiopians. Aida had been captured in war and made a slave in the land of the Egyptians. She was truly an Ethiopian princess, for her father, Amonasro, was king of Ethiopia.

When Radames reached the garden, Aida asked him if he would not betray his country and go to the land of the Ethiopians with her. At first, Radames was stricken with horror, but finally consented. They were to go out of the city by the unguarded gorge before daylight.

Ameris, in the temple, heard all that was said. She ran out of the temple, shrieking, calling his a traitor. Aida urged Radames to flee with her, but he would not go. Aida and her father escaped.

Act IV

Radames was put in prison in the great temple.

Ameris called Radames before her and said if he would never see Aida again, he could have his freedom. But Radames said that he could not fulfill that promise, so on the next day he was buried alive under the war god, whom he had destroyed.

When Radames was put in the tomb, he saw a white figure coming toward him. It was Aida. She had come to share his doom with him. The princess put on black mourning clothes and wept over the tomb. Thus, while Aida and Radames suffocated below, Ameris died above. The curtain falls on "Aida."—Evelyn Taylor, high sixth grade, Alamo school.

Room nine had a candy sale Saturday. We had it at the E-Z store at Eleventh and Holliday. Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Dobbins had charge of it. We made $5.11. We are going to buy books for our library. We already have many interesting books and we hope to have many more. The children that sold candy were: Cynthia Wilbur, Oneida Reynolds, Mildred McHen, Reda Damerall, Sidney Dobbins and Luther Tekell.—Dorothea Whitehead, low fourth grade, Austin school.

Principals in Austin School Operetta

Irma Cline and Truett Oakes, who played leading parts in the colonial operetta, "When Betsy Ross Made Old Glory," which was presented by pupils of the Austin school, sponsored by the Austin P.-T. A., at the Reagan Junior high building Friday evening. Irma played the part of Betsy Ross and Truett was George Washington.

ENGLISH STORY CLUB HAS AN INTERESTING PROGRAM

We are enjoying our Tells-Tale club. Everyone seems to be interested in it. Mr. Rundell visited our class today but he came too late for the program. Helen Garner gave a reading, "The Tongue Tied Girl." Jerry Kohutek told a story, "The Monkey and the Family." Bervin Harper gave a reading, "She Powders Her Nose." Melvin Wilson told a story, "The Fat Man."—Margaret Hammock, low fourth grade, Carrigan school.

SEVERAL ABSENT FROM ROOM 11 FOR ILLNESS

The following pupils were absent from room 11 on account of illness: Jack Gant, William West, Constance Clark, Josephine Willis, Elizabeth McGee, Charles Prothro, Fred Pryor, Jarrell Davis and Eugene Law.—Ruth Vogel, low fourth grade, Austin school.

FIFTH GRADE BARELY DEFEATS FOURTH, 14-13

On Thursday of last week the fourth grade first team of Austin school challenged the fifth grade first team to a game. The final count was 14 to 13 in favor of the fifth grade—but they sure had to step to get that extra score. The game was a very interesting one with hard playing on both sides. But we are going to beat next time. —Charles Parker, fourth grade, Austin school.

GIRLS WIN OVER BOYS IN SPELLING MATCH

Our room had a spelling match between the boys and girls. The girls won the match but the boys are going to win the next one.—Earl Miller, high fifth grade, Austin school.

AUSTIN DEFEATS HUEY IN BASEBALL, 17-16

Yesterday Austin school's fourth grade beat Huey's fourth grade team. It was a good game, but both teams were punk at first. The score was 17 to 16. Miss Berry was umpire.—Howard Gill, high fifth grade, Austin school.

DR. CANTWELL SPEAKS TO GEOGRAPHY CLASS ON LINDY

Doctor Cantwell visited our school yesterday. He told our geography class about Lindbergh.—Zora McClendon, low sixth grade, Carrigan school.

RED CROSS NURSE VISITS AUSTIN SCHOOL

The Red Cross nurse has been to our school talking to the pupils about their health and about the foods we should eat and drink.—J. C. Mann, high sixth grade, Austin school.

AUSTIN SCHOOL TO GIVE COLONIAL PLAY FRIDAY

A group of children from Austin school have been practicing for a colonial play. They have been putting lots of hard work on the play. Austin school has no stage so Mr. Franklin of Reagan junior high school has told us we could use their auditorium. They will have this play February 17 and will charge 10 cents admission.

We are hoping for a big crowd because the money will go to the Mothers club. The Austin school orchestra is going to play and I know their music will be worth hearing.—John Bone, high fifth grade, Austin school.

MISS NORMAN'S ROOM HAS VALENTINE BOX

Miss Norman's room in the Carrigan school had a fine time in having a very nice valentine box.—Pauline Davis, low sixth grade, Carrigan school.

CARRIGAN SCHOOL TO HAVE SAFETY COUNCIL

Mr. Trussell, a teacher of Carrigan school, is organizing a safety council club, so that we can help people do things without hurting them.—Mike Beer, high sixth grade, Carrigan school.

CARRIGAN WINS SECOND GAME FROM BARWISE, 3-1

Carrigan ball team played Barwise Tuesday evening. Carrigan beat 3 to 1. We have played two games and won them both.—Mike Beer, high sixth grade, Carrigan school.

EVERYBODY GETS PLENTY OF VALENTINES IN BOX

Yesterday we had a valentine box in our room. Miss Norman got a lot of pretty valentines. I got 16.—Helen Brashear, low sixth grade, Carrigan school.

THIRD GRADE STUDIES HOW TO TELL STORIES

Our "Tell-a-tale-and-listen-a-while" club met last Friday. We called the meeting to order and told stories. We think it is a good plan. We had three stories told. We decided that if we talked louder and didn't say so many "and's" and "so's" we could tell our stories better. Pattie Gene McDaniel, high third grade, Crockett school.

"A" AND "B" PUT TOGETHER WHEN TEACHER LEAVES

The high fifth "A" and "B" classes have been put together on account of the school losing one of its teachers, and we are all going to try to make a good class, because it is so big, and is hard for the teachers to teach a large, noisy class.—Marjorie Hamilton, high fifth grade, Carrigan school.

MISS BARRIER LEAVES TO FINISH UNIVERSITY

We are very sorry that our best teacher has left us. She has gone to Dallas to finish her university. She was music teacher. Her name is Miss Margaret Barrier. We have one of our old teachers, Miss Dean, who is going to take her place. We think she is going to be as good a music teacher as she was in writing.—Marjorie Hamilton, high fifth grade, Carrigan school.

HIGH SECOND TO PLAY LOW THIRD VERY SOON

Miss Pierce, the first grade teacher, says that the high second will play the low third some time. I hope we will get to play them.—Leslie Mear, high second grade, Ben Franklin school.

SIX MAKE 100 IN SPELLING THIS TERM

Mrs. Lovejoy, our spelling teacher, has put the names of all those who made 100 in spelling this term on the board. Those that are on the board now are Vivian Taylor, Dorothy Orchin, Evelyn Tucker, Jewel Jeter, Caroline Gerbert and Albert Owen.—Jewel Jeter, high sixth grade, Ben Franklin school.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED IN SAFETY COUNCIL

The Junior Safety council met February 1 and elected new officers. The house was called to order by the president. The officers were: President, Susanna Mitchell; vice president, Ilalie Griffin; secretary, Flo Owen; program committee, Marjorie Peacock, chairman, Mary Elizabeth Douglas, Robert Morgan, Edith May Hunt; reporter, Phil Mosley.—Susanna Mitchell and Flo Owen, Ben Franklin school.

BILLY MAKES "E" IN READING CLASS

In our reading class this morning I made "E." We read the story, "The Fisherman and His Wife."—Billy Maxson, high second grade, Ben Franklin school.

ROOM SURPASSES AVERAGE IN READING EXAMINATION

Last week our room had a reading test. We were supposed to read 122 words per minute. The average of the room was 147 words. The three best grades were made by Reese Carter, Zeno George Steinkoenig and Fred Pryor. In comprehension we were supposed to make 8. The room average was 11.—Edwin Heath, high fourth grade, Austin school.

MEMORIZE STEVENSON'S "FOREIGN LANDS" IN ENGLISH

In English Friday we memorized a poem written by Robert Louis Stevenson. It's name is "Foreign Lands." I think it is a beautiful poem. Rita Ruth Slaughter, high fourth grade, Benjamin Franklin school.

ROBERT FIVE AHEAD OF PHIL IN ARITHMETIC

The low fourth grade has an arithmetic match every Friday. Phil Mosley is captain of one side and Robert Morgan is captain of the other. My side is five ahead of Phil's side. Robert Morgan, low fourth grade, Ben Franklin school.

CELEBRATE LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY WITH PROGRAM

Sunday, the 12th, was Lincoln's birthday. We couldn't have the program on Sunday so we had it Monday. I was in the program. I was supposed to tell the last part of his life. Jack Rudy and Ruth Lucile Crouch sang a song about Lincoln. Rosemary Lane, Ben Franklin school.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN TO HAVE BALL GAME SOON

Benjamin Franklin is going to have a ball game Thursday and I hope we win.—Burchie J. Burchfield.

LIKED VALENTINE BOX VERY MUCH, SAYS JAMES

We had a valentine box. Everybody got some. We liked them very much.—James Smith, high first grade, Crockett school.

SAM HOUSTON PUPILS TO PRESENT GOOD PROGRAM

The pupils of Sam Houston school are giving the Mothers club a program, and it is going to be very interesting. Otera Childress, high sixth grade, Sam Houston school.

SIXTH GRADE GIVES INFORMAL VALENTINE PARTY

The sixth grade at Barwise had an informal valentine party on Tuesday after the tests were finished. We had a valentine box. The following were postmen: La Fon Duncan, Floyd Pitts and Curtis Rawls.—Arline Cook, high sixth grade, Barwise school.

GIRLS AHEAD OF BOYS IN BARWISE SCHOOL

The boys and girls in the sixth grade at Barwise school are having a contest in spelling. The girls are ahead of the boys now, but we are going to get ahead of the girls next time.—Floyd Pitts, Barwise school, high sixth grade.

CLASS ENJOYS HEARING STORY OF OPERA "AIDA"

This morning in music our teacher told us all about a grand opera and read us the story of "Aida." We enjoyed it very much. The class bell rang just as she finished. It was so interesting when we came back to our room we wanted her to finish and she said that was the end.—Dorothy Raley, high sixth grade, Bowie school.

GOLDEN RULE CLUB HAS GOOD PROGRAM

The Golden Rule club of Benjamin Franklin school met Friday. We had a program consisting of a story by Edgar, a piano solo by James Hill and one by Evelyn Tucker, and stories by Caroline Gerbert, Nina B. Price and Raymond McAbee.—Juanita Anderson, high sixth grade, Beenjamin Franklin school.

CARRIGAN SIXTH GRADERS STUDYING SOUTH AMERICA

We are studying South America in geography. Mr. Trussell is going to have somebody draw a large map of South America on the blackboard.—Bobby Hones, low sixth grade, Carrigan school.

ALAMO SCHOOL ENTERTAINS PARENTS WITH BIG PARTY

The Alamo school had a party for our mothers. It started at 7:40 Friday evening, February 10. The teachers had a play. Miss Clifford was the teacher. The rest of the teachers were the pupils. Kathleen Jackson, high fourth grade, Alamo school.

Make This Deck of Cards And Mystify Your Friends

Every boy or girl who has attended the performance of a stage magician is familiar with the marvelous stunts that the conjurer seems to perform with a pack of cards. Of course, there are any number of card tricks, many of which are simple to do and very effective in mystifying your friends at parties and other entertainments. Any good book of magic will tell you how to master some of these tricks.

But some of the most effective things that the magician does are performed with a specially prepared deck. You can prepare such a deck easily yourself, and use the displays described below to open your little performance in card magic.

How to Prepare the Deck

Take a convenient number of the cards—twenty or so will do,—

group. Now as you start your stunts you may make some remarks about these, and remove them, which will give your observers the idea that the whole deck is loose. You can move the cards about in your hands for the same purpose.

One of the prettiest stunts that you can perform with the deck is that of running them up your arm. Grasp the pack in your left hand and with the fingers of your right hand press the edges toward your elbow. Each card will then slip up your arm in succession as far as the thread will allow it to go. Now, with the cards spread out as though by magic on your arm, you can turn the last card over, whereupon all the other cards will turn over after it, making a clever display. You can then run the cards back from an ordinary deck. On one of these draw a line directly through the middle of the card from top to bottom. Parallel to this middle line and one quarter of an inch from it, draw another line from top to bottom. Then draw a line across the bottom and top of the card an inch from either end. The lines are placed as shown in figure 1.

At each of the crossings of these lines you have drawn, make a hole with the point of a needle. This card will now serve as a master card. Laying it over each of the others which you wish to prepare, make holes in them through the holes in the pattern card.

When all of the cards are punched, take two fine needles and thread them with long pieces of fine silk thread. Run each needle through one set of the holes at either end of one of the cards, making several loops in the thread and finally fastening it with a knot directly over the center hole. The card will then look like figure 2.

Now do this with each of the other cards, stringing them on the two threads so they appear as in figure 2. There should be exactly three quarters of an inch of thread between the cards. To finish off the prepared deck, paste an unpunched card on the top and bottom cards to keep the threads from showing.

Use This Deck

The cards are now ready for your use. Of course, you will need a regular deck for your ordinary tricks, and this specially prepared one must not fall into the hands of your audience.

Take a few of the cards that have not been strung and place them on top of the prepared

Other Stunts

To elongate the pack, as shown in figure 4, grasp the top cards with the right hand and the bottom cards with the left, then quickly draw them apart as you would an accordion, bringing them together again even more quickly.

directly beneath them, and let the cards drop one at a time, as nearly as you can. The effect is splendid, and with a little practice you can pour them from one hand to another and back again with great ease.

A Nature Puzzle

By Florence H. Moore

Hidden in this picture is an animal, known in biology as a carnivorous mammal. (Better look that up in the dictionary!) There are many species of his family both in America and Europe, but this particular one is native of the United States. He is considered quite a clever, crafty chap, and is hunted and trapped for his fur.

His name consists of two words, each with three letters, and these letters are also hidden in the puzzle. Find the animal, then find the letters and write them down as you find them. Then assemble in order.

And just in case you shouldn't get them all, we're telling you what the animal is elsewhere in this page!

The Forward Chancery and Bar Hold

This combination hold has already been described as applied when both men are standing. The hold, when combatants are on the carpet, is pretty much the same, although methods of blocking it naturally differ. The under man can save himself to some extent by bracing himself with his outside arm, as shown in the picture. A strong attacking man, however, can gradually wear down his support by sheer force and obtain a fall in spite of it.

The Forward Chancery and Bar Hold (when on the carpet.)

The pressure of the attacker's chest on the near shoulder is of great value as in many other holds.

The Scissors

The scissors is a punishing hold hat will invariably result in a fall. You must work your man into it gradually, for, as the illustration shows, the hold is not such a one that it can be applied offhand.

The scissors is often obtained by rolling a man (when on his hands and knees) so that he will slip between your legs when parted, one resting on the floor. Force the defensive contestant on his back and extend your upper leg across his stomach, grapevining your feet so that he cannot force them apart. Squeeze his stomach between your legs. Hold down his head with one hand, so that he cannot rise by bending at the waist. With your other hand prevent him from raising one shoulder off the mat by bracing himself with his near hand.

By squeezing your contestant severely between your legs you can tire him considerably, so that he may not be able to do good work during the remainder of the match.

Combination Bar and Hammer Lock

This hold is one difficult to obtain, but it enables the aggressor to secure an almost unbreakable grasp. When you get this combination hold, pull your opponent toward yourself with the bar hold, at the same time pushing his wrist up between his shoulders with the hammer lock.

The under wrestler can block the hold by thrusting his right arm around your leg as shown. He can possibly counter by suddenly lunging forward, pulling your leg under his stomach and falling on you.

(This concludes the articles on wrestling tricks by "Young Hackensmith.")

Editorial

GOING TO SLEEP

PERHAPS you have read accounts of how some of the world's great men did their work with very little sleep. It is often related that Napoleon, and Thomas A. Edison, and other famous persons slept only a few hours every night.

Yet close investigation in every case has revealed that these men, while they might work throughout the night without sleeping, still snatched their rest at odd moments during the day. They could not go without sleep any more than we can. Edison has a couch in his laboratory where he frequently takes a nap. Napoleon is said to have lost the battle of Waterloo partially because he was weary for want of sleep.

Everybody needs rest, to allow his body and mind to recuperate their powers and prepare for new labors. It is especially important that you get plenty of sleep during youth, when your body is growing and your mind developing.

Don't slight those important hours spent in bed. Don't be lazy—of course not—but get plenty of sound sleep every night.

CHINOOK

THE OLD TRAPPER'S LANGUAGE

By EL COMANCHO

(Cut this out and save it. With other lessons, appearing each week in this page, you will soon have the complete Chinook vocabulary.)

CULTAS—Pronounce Kul-tas. This means Bad, and the degree of badness is indicated by qualifying words. DELATE CULTAS is "very Bad." and HIYU DELATE CULTAS is very, very bad indeed,—in fact about as bad as you can indicate in Chinook unless the speaker goes on and refers to some known thing, the badness of which is simply overwhelming. The word is used to mean anything evil or undesirable, such as not brave, not strong, or not good in any way. If used as a prefix to the word COOLEY, which by itself means "Travel" or "Run," the meaning changes and the two words mean a Pleasure Trip. This is one of the queer double meanings found all through Chinook, which make it hard to learn until one actually talks it. Then it is surprising how the various meanings of the various words seem to drop right in where they belong, with nothing else to take their places.

OKE OKE CULTAS meaning "That is bad", and CULTAS NIKA TUM-TUM can mean "I feel badly", or "I am sorry," "I feel blue", etc.

(Additional words of the Chinook Language will be published next week.)

Let's Limit Time in Guessing These Teasers

How about a time limit on guessing riddles? We'll give you two minutes each on these, and no fair looking at the answers.
