National Guards Must Register Upon Discharge

Men who have served in the active National Guard are required to register immediately upon expiration of their service, even though they are not, under certain conditions, liable for further peacetime training and service under the Selective Service Act.

"That fact was stressed today by the local Draft Board, who said that all such men should present themselves to a local board for registration immediately upon their discharge.

"The act is specific," they said, "requiring registration of men within the age group of 21 to 36 who have served in the National Guard. Men who are members of the active National Guard on Oct. 16, 1940, and who have completed six or more consecutive years, are relieved from liability for peacetime service and training, but they must register. Those who were members of the National Guard and have served less than six years are relieved neither from registration or training."

The board said that attention has been called to the fact that some men in the National Guard in federal service who have been discharged because of expiration of their service have not registered. They should do so immediately, they declared, and added that the War Department has now issued instructions that such men shall be notified by their organization commanders at the time of their discharge of the necessity to register.

Former Local Golfer Scores Hole In One

A. D. McCarty of Spur was loaded down Thursday of last week when he started home—instead of carrying only one bag of golf clubs, he was toting four.

The reason, well, he joined the select "Hole-In-One" society of golfers when he holed out from the ninth tee box on the Clovis golf club's ninth hole, a distance of 155 yards. And here's where he got the clubs—according to golf tradition, those playing with the golfer who makes the hole-in-one lose their clubs. So, Walter Moeller, O'Neill Rocky and Dr. W. A. Schall, all of Muleshoe, are out shopping—they watched the ball settle in the cup in one shot.

Rain Continues To Fall; Breaks Existing Records

Rain continues to fall in West Texas. Records have been broken, then broken again. Monday night the territory from West Camp to Lariat was drenched with a downpour measuring from five to seven inches, putting the Blackwater Draw on another rampage.

Tuesday night the floodwaters reached Highway 214, just south of town, and Wednesday morning were going over the pavement for a distance of about 300 feet.

Water flooded into the YL community again Monday night and Tuesday morning, on the Highway 28 detour were either stuck or drowned out. Water is still standing over the pavement on No. 28 to Plainview, just east of town and with rains continuing it is difficult to remedy the situation.

Quite a few fields are weedy, but are being worked out. Local estimates as to crop conditions place the percentage from 60 to 70 percent of normal.

Navy Recruiting Station Opens At Lubbock

Active recruiting for the U. S. Navy and Naval Reserve was started here today with the posting of literature advertising opening of a Navy recruiting station in the Post Office building at Lubbock.

Opening of the recruiting station at Lubbock will result in considerable saving in time and expense to local men interested in enlistment. Chief Petty Officer Ray Lokey, here today, said, "Formerly local men who desired to make application and take examinations for enlistment in the Navy. All men registered for Selective Service may, if qualified, enlist in the Navy or Naval Reserve before being called for Army duty."

The Naval Reserve has an unlimited number of vacancies for both unskilled men and those trained in trades and professions, including clerical workers. Age limits for unskilled men are from 17 to 36 years. Skilled men may be enlisted up to the age limit of 50 years and with beginning pay ranging from $60.00 to $89 per month, plus board, lodging, etc., depending upon the individual's qualifications.

Men with two or more years of college work and between the ages of 20 and 28 years may enlist for training to become commissioned aviation pilots. Those with college degrees may enlist for training to become deck or engineer officers.

All men enlisted in the Naval Reserve have the same pay, trade training and promotional opportunities while on active duty as men of same rating in the regular Navy. They will be released from active duty at the end of the national emergency.

Enlistment in the regular Navy provides a career for young men interested in learning a trade and in retirement good pay at an early age.

Mayor R. L. Brown left last weekend for Hot Springs, N. M., where he will spend several days on vacation.

Bill Is Passed To Clarify State Publication Law

During the recent session of the Legislature, a bill was passed and signed by the Governor, which clarifies the laws of Texas in regard to the publication of legal notices, proclamations, advertising, etc., in the newspapers of the state.

There is, or was, a number of laws on the statutes in regard to publication of legal notices. These had become so confusing that few people knew just what was legal in regard to citations and other advertising.

The new bill clarifies all this and establishes the advertising rate. There has been some question, in Bailey county at least, as to when the law became effective. Last week The Journal wired Mr. Grady G. Roberts, one of the sponsors of the bill, for full information. He stated that the law became effective the day it was signed by the Governor, which was May 21, 1941.

Mr. Roberts also sent a copy of the bill as passed and signed by the Governor and for the benefit of those most interested we are reprinting it in this issue of The Journal.

Bailey County People Attend Olton Rodeo

Muleshoe received the "loudest and wildest" bunch of cowboys they had seen or heard in some time last Monday afternoon when they rode their "motorized horses" into town on a booster tour. They were advertising the annual Olton Lions Club rodeo, which was held at Olton Tuesday and Wednesday.

Cash prizes totaled $1,200 which was offered in various events. A $100 saddle was given the cowboy winning the most points in the show. Both morning and afternoon performances were held, and also a night show.

Many residents of Muleshoe and surrounding communities attended the two-day celebration.

Grand Opening Larger Variety Store Saturday

Saturday, July 19 marks the grand opening of the larger St. Clair Variety Store, long identified with the ever-growing business section of Muleshoe. The store has been completely remodeled and hundreds of feet of new floor space added.

The entire store has been brought up to the very latest business standards, with a new modern front and the finest fixtures installed.

Representatives of these chains are here this week, assisting in arranging the hundreds of new items which will be found in the new store.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair stated Monday that they had been in business in Muleshoe since April, 1939. "Now," they said, "we are proud to announce that the fine patronage of our customers' friends made it possible to complete the modernization of our store."

"It is our desire," they said, "to give the public a store in which it will be a pleasure to shop, and we believe that we now have a store that will meet the approval of every person in this territory."

In addition to playing in the game Friday night, August 29, the boys are to demonstrate during the week various plays and formations that Karow and Morgan will present at the school.

Wheat Producers Collect Insurance

COLLEGE STATION, July 16—All risk-wheat insurance claims already have been approved for 801 Texas wheat growers. E. R. Duke state crop insurance supervisor has announced.

These claims cover a total indemnity of 396,955 bushels on 75,733 acres and represent only a small percentage of the indemnities which will be paid producers who have suffered partial or total losses of their 1941 crops because of food, rust, plant diseases and excessive rains at harvest time which caused a growth of weeds so heavy that harvest was impossible.

Wheat growers in various parts of the state, Duke said, improvised different devices in an attempt to have part of their wheat which had been badly damaged by wind and rain.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Locke, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Locke and child, Mrs. Wanda and Don of Plainview, visited here Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hicks and with Mrs. L. D. Tipton.

NEWSPAPERS GET BULK RAILROAD ADVERTISING

Of the total amount spent by the railroads for advertising space in newspapers and magazines and radio time and talent in 1940, newspapers received 74.7 percent, magazines 20.7 percent, and radio 4.6 percent, according to the Association of American Railroads.

Muleshoe and Bailey county residents are expected to cooperate 100 percent within the next few days in the drive for scrap aluminum to be used in national defense.

County Judge Jim Cook is in charge of the drive in Bailey county. Muleshoe Boy Scouts will make a canvass of the town and local residents are asked to have their old aluminum ready.

On July 29 the aluminum will be collected from central points in Muleshoe, Bula, Enoch, Maple Goodland, Watson, Stegall, Baleyboro, Needmore, Circleback, Progress and West Camp.

Supplementing a previous letter to the 254 county judges of Texas, asking for their leadership in various phases of the civilian defense program in Texas, Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, as chairman of the National Defense Committee for Texas, today sent further details of the aluminum collection campaign plan to these officials.

The Governor was named by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, Director of Civilian Defense, as chairman of the campaign for Texas. He immediately designated the county judges as leaders for their respective areas and requested the judges to ask mayors of incorporated towns and cities to serve as chairmen for their localities.

In cooperation with the Governor's office, E. H. Williamson, Director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, requested the county judges to offer their services to the county judges in connection with the collection plans for the aluminum.

The purpose of the campaign, as communicated to the Governor by Mayor LaGuardia, is to help remedy a temporary shortage of aluminum in national defense production by conducting a nationwide campaign for donations of scrap aluminum. Scrap aluminum in large volume is required to prevent a slow down in the defense program.

No aluminum collected in this campaign can be used for non-defense purposes, by virtue of a priorities order effective June 10.

An attempt will be made to canvass every house in the nation to ask housewives to donate the scrap aluminum which can be spared without replacement.

The house-to-house canvass and collection will take place July 21 to 29, inclusive.

Aluminum so collected will be deposited in central bins, such as those in the collection, or in other designated places, then taken to the yards of waste dealers for sorting, classifying and baling; then shipped to smelters.

The waste dealers have been asked to perform a patriotic service by contributing their supervision and facilities without profit, the Governor was advised.

The metal will be sold to smelters at a special uniform price fixed by the Government. The smelters will pay directly by check to "National Scrap Aluminum Fund," care of the nearest Federal bank. The entire net proceeds will be available to the office of Civilian Defense, and any expenditures required for the proper defense of the civilian population.

Those wishing to participate in the collection of the aluminum may communicate with the mayors of their towns or with the county judges.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

But in Washington itself some ears have been burning and others have pricked up at the comments made by this Congressional body, which has the welfare of a part of the defense program entrusted to its care.

Most important action of the committee, of course, was its recent issuance of a majority report on the defense program part of which was discussed in this column last week. The report is fairly packed with valuable findings, however, and a few more words concerning it are in order here.

The document in question deals primarily with the subject of "stock piles" of strategic raw materials and the reasons why these were in some cases not accumulated in time. The Committee carefully identifies the source of such failures, and its listing is important because some of the points have a more general application than merely to the "stock piles" issue.

THE BUSINESS OF Living BY SUSAN THAYER

Gramps carefully knocked the ashes out of his pipe before replying. "Funny you two should both be talking the way you are today," he remarked. "Mary is interested in prices. She wants them to stay down. You're interested in wages—you'd like to see them go higher, even if it means raising prices. And then you mentioned dividends—"

"You're right, Mary," Gramps said, summing up the matter. "And though these three angles sometimes seem to conflict, they don't really as long as management keeps a proper balance among wages, prices, and dividends. Right now, we're in the consumer's angle—what's cooking for supper, Mary?"

Arm in arm, the three disappeared into the little white house.

"Corporations are subject to State and local taxation equal to the average to more than a third of the net profits before federal taxes apply."

Whoever made that error was probably thinking of the old adage, "It's the taxpayer who always gets it in the neck!"

LAUGHTER IN BACK SEAT

"I believe that when a man takes his family out for an airing on Sunday afternoon in his second-hand jalopy, the happiness that results from that outing is wholly different from the pleasure that would result if the father of the family, instead of spending his dollar for motor fuel, spent it for liquor on Saturday night. CARDS OF THANKS ARE CHARGED FOR AT THE REGULAR AD RATES. The Journal wishes to call the attention of its readers and others to the notice which always appears at the top of the advertising page in regard to advertising. In this notice, Cards of Thanks are listed as paid advertising. This charge is made with more in mind than mere financial greed. The cold fact is, that if a charge was not made, there would never be room for anything except cards of thanks. Thanking people is a custom much to be desired, and we are for it. But there must be rules to be guided by, as far as newspapers are concerned, so these charges are made in order to be fair to all. After all, it is a very convenient way to extend thanks, and, too, the charge is very high. It is an old newspaper custom, and not a greedy idea of our own. Please co-operate with us. Thanks.

THE EDITOR

From a school boy's essay on "The Editor."

"I don't know how newspapers got into the world, and I don't think God does, for He ain't got nothing to say about these in the Bible. I think the editor is the missing link we read of, and that he stayed in the business until after the flood, and came out and wrote the thing up, and has been kept busy ever since. "If the editor makes a mistake folks say he ought to be hung; but if a doctor makes a mistake he buries them and folks don't say nothing, because he explains it in Latin. When the editor makes a mistake there is a big law suit, and swearing, and a big fuss; but if the doctor makes one there is a funeral with followers and perfect silence. A doctor can use a word a mile long without him or anyone else knowing what it means, but if the editor uses one he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges for a visit, but if the editor goes he gets a charge of buckshot. Any college can make doctors to order, but a editor has to be borned."

UNCLE SAM IS BACKING EGG PRODUCTION

A call has gone out from the government for increased egg production to supply the needs of our own army and for England. As a part of the defense program, the departmental authorities will support the average price of eggs at about 22 cents basis Chicago until June, 1943. Better feeding and increased flocks of layers, including the retention of last year's hens, are the means by which farmers may capitalize on this situation and contribute to the defense program at the same time. Poultry and eggs turn farm-raised feeds into cash and since most grains are below parity on the cash market, offer a better price.

CCC Lets Down Enrollment Bars

The original objective of the Civilian Conservation Corps, to serve youths from relief families, has been superseded by its becoming an important cog in national defense. Public recognition of the merits and accomplishments of the CCC and the present national emergency have accelerated the pace of this transition to such an extent that the CCC regulations, keeping an ear to the ground, have removed all restrictions as to the financial status of the family.

Today, any white boy, including Latin-Americans, between the ages of 17 and 23, if he is unmarried, has good health and moral character, may have the opportunity to learn a trade that is vital to national defense if he is proven to have an aptitude for this particular trade. His parents no longer have to be "on relief," no longer must he send $15 a month of his salary home to be used as family income unless such a need for it actually exists. Rather, this money may be deposited with the War Department and paid to the enrollee in a lump sum on his discharge.

Instructions covering code, theory, assembly maintenance, and repair are given in the two radio schools located at El Paso and Ysleta, Texas. Special training in automotive assembly and disassembly, motor repair, ignition, fuel systems, body and chassis repair, use and care of tools, operation of lathes and drills, battery work, and stockroom operation is given in Lufkin and El Paso. Also, these boys are given invaluable training and experience in surveying, drafting, truck driving, tractor operation, welding, and many other specialized occupations right here in Texas; their particular occupational talents are discovered under the CCC training plan, and if they show special abilities, they can be transferred to the school best fitted for this development.

All unemployed young men meeting the necessary qualifications are urged to make application at the earliest date possible. The local selecting agency, headed by Miss Loray Covington, county welfare worker, is located at the Court House in Muleshoe. This agency is open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. It is suggested that any parents or relatives who wish to discuss CCC should get in touch with Miss Covington and she will be glad to furnish any information requested.

Acres Not Harvested Should Be Disposed Of

"It might be advisable," Lonnie Arnold, chairman of the Bailey county AAA committee has announced, "that in cases where Bailey county cotton producers will suffer total or partial loss of their 1941 cotton crops because of excessive rain, insects or abandonment, to dispose of the acreage on which cotton will not be harvested."

In explaining this point, Arnold said that a high acreage of cotton with a low lint yield per acre because of factors such as these, will, in all probability, affect cotton yields on individual farms under the 1942 agricultural conservation program and probably will have a direct effect on cotton insurance since an extremely low yield might affect premium rates.

Producers should remember, however, the AAA official continued that acreage will be considered as planted to cotton this year if the cotton is not disposed of before it reaches the bolling stage or within ten days after notice of the seeded acreage is given whichever is later.

This would not change the basis for cotton stamps to be issued on a farm since cotton stamps cannot be obtained on more acres than was shown on the original intention sheet.

Mrs. Alex Paul recently returned to her home in Muleshoe on an extended visit with relatives in Los Angeles and other points in California.

May Dispose Of Cotton In Order To Fully Comply

It is permissible for Bailey county cotton producers to dispose of cotton to comply with the supplementary cotton program to bring their acreage reduction in line with the reduction indicated on their intention sheets, Lonnie Arnold, chairman of the Bailey county AAA committee, has announced.

This is made possible, Arnold explained, by the recent amendment to the 1941 agricultural conservation program which provides that acreage will not be considered as planted to cotton if the cotton is disposed of before reaching the bolling stage or within ten days after notice of the seeded acreage is given, whichever is later.

"Under no circumstances, however, may a cotton producer receive cotton stamps for reducing more acreage than he signed on his original intention sheet on the cotton stamp program," Arnold pointed out.

"To make this ruling clearer," Arnold said, "assume, just for illustration to bring out my point, that a cotton producer has a 1941 cotton allotment of 50 acres. He planted 50 acres in 1940, and to receive cotton stamps, indicated a reduction of two acres. This would permit 48 acres to be planted to cotton for this year. However, when the cotton acreage was measured, he showed 49 acres was planted. He would be allowed to dispose of one acre to come within his intended 48 acres but he would not receive cotton stamps on more than two acres since this was the amount signed on his original intention sheet."

Under the original definition of cotton the acreage of cotton disposed of below the acreage allotment would still be credited as acreage planted to cotton.

The amendment also provides that if cotton is seeded but does not reach maturity, the smaller of (1) the acreage seeded to cotton, (2) 3 acres, or (3) 1 percent of the 1941 cotton allotment will be considered as having been planted to cotton. This provision was made, the AAA official pointed out, so that farms will not show zero acres of cotton was actually seeded.

The new amendment also permits producers to dispose of cotton acreage to come within total soil-depleting acreages. By this method, deductions for overplanting total soil-depleting allotments will be avoided.

Victim Of Negro's Bullet Undergoes Delicate Operation

DALLAS, Tex. — Wanda Lee Martin, 13, of Clovis, N. M., who was wounded by a charge from a pistol last December has undergone a delicate operation but should recover rapidly, surgeons said.

She was wounded in the side by a shot fired through the window at the home of a relative, where she was visiting. For a time she seemed to be getting better, but became ill again; a lung collapsed, and she was brought to Dallas last week.

X-rays showed the bullet had left a hole in the diaphragm and the stomach had forced its way upward from the abdominal cavity into the chest cavity, moving the heart and other organs out of place and crushing one lung. In an operation of one hour and forty minutes Tuesday, the stomach was pulled back into place; the diaphragm puncture closed, other organs put into place, and the bad lung given space in which to heal.

Wanda Lee was wounded the night of December 28 by a bullet fired through the window of her grandfather's home 13 miles southeast of Clovis.

The wounding of the child was the culmination of a hired assassin plot in which the estranged wife of Richard Mitzelfelt, Curry county farmer, was the intended victim.

Mitzelfelt confessed he hired two negroes to kill his estranged wife and was sentenced to 25 years in the Texas penitentiary. The two negroes involved, each of whom accused Mitzelfelt of hiring them to do the shooting, received prison sentences, one being sentenced to 25 years and the other 15 years.

The sentencing of the men culminated one of the most sensational crime cases in the history of this region.

The child was mistaken by the would-be assassins for the wife of Mitzelfelt. The bullet from a 44-40 revolver passed through her body.

Muleshoe Library News

One of the most prolific writers of the present time is Allis McKay, and her latest book, "They Came to a River," is still going on as a best seller. Miss McKay has unusual talents as a story teller, and, having associated with people of all walks of life, has a remarkable knack for getting native color into her stories. "They Came to a River" is a story of the Columbia River country with a setting among the vast orchards. Chris Halliwell, the main character, is a very real person who grew up on the Upper Columbia. The story takes you down the trail of this child's life to her marriage, the death of her husband and then the struggle to care for her children.

The final success is a reward well deserved, and is an example of everyday life which is being enacted every day in hundreds of communities of this country. Get the book and read it. It is one you will enjoy. This and many other excellent books are to be found on the shelves of the Muleshoe library. If you have a card, use it. If you do not have one, get one today. After the Honeymoon is over

Stop throwing tomatoes at your car, mister. And lady, remember, scowling gives you wrinkles. So both of you, let up and listen to simple common sense.

Just three months ago, after you bought that car and nursed it through the break-in period, you bragged to all your friends that it "runs like a watch . . . makes 16 miles on a gallon . . . licks cars twice its size and price getting away on the green light."

Now that the honeymoon period of your new car ownership is over, why let yourself get sour on a possession that should be, and can be, one of your most useful and pleasurable?

Tell your troubles to your car dealer. He's an honest, able business man, anxious to hold your good opinion. He may find the engine needs some minor adjustment, some squeaks require a squirt of oil, the brakes may take a little pumping-up.

Then fill the tank with a truly great July motor fuel, Phillips 66 Poly Gas. That's the gasoline motorists never tire of recommending. It is not only high anti-knock, high test, high energy . . . but it's more accurately matched to monthly changes in your weather.

Yes, sir! . . . yes, ma'am! it does things for your engine. You may find it makes your car run like new again. It delivers real pep and power . . . sweeter pick-up and easier hill-climbing. And mileage that's a real surprise.

Forget your "mad," and make up with your car, by stopping for a trial tankful of new Phillips 66 Poly Gas . . . at any Orange and Black 66 Shield. It costs nothing extra.

Tired after a hard day, a distinguished Congressman in Washington handed the menu back to the waiter and said: "Just bring me a good meal."

A good meal was served and the Congressman gave the waiter a generous tip.

"Thank you, suh," the waiter said. "And if you got any friends what can't read, you 'jus' send 'em to me, suh!"

She: Sorry I can't accept you. But circumstances over which I have no control prevent me.

He: And what are those circumstances?

She: Yours.

The young wife was heart-broken.

"What's the matter?" asked a friend.

"Oh, my husband is so absent-minded. After breakfast he left a tip on the table and when I handed him his hat he handed me another tip."

"Well, that's nothing to worry about. It's just force of habit."

"That's what worries me. He kissed me when I gave him his coat."

Fisherman: I tell you it was that long. I never saw such a fish.

Friend: I believe you.

Doctor (after bringing victim to): How did you happen to take that stuff? Didn't you read the sign on the bottle? It said "Poison."

Ebenezer: Yessah, but Ah didn't believe it. 'Cause right underneath it was a sign dat said "Lye."

Well, Fred, how's your wife coming with her driving?

Not so good. She took a turn for the worse last week.

A colored preacher was hearing confession. In the middle of it he stopped the young sinner. "Young man, you ain't confessin'—your braggin'."

Serve on squares of toast.

For Covers

A good way of making a covering for clothes is to take a worn pillow case, cut a slit in middle of sewn end of case. Slip this case over a clothes hanger that holds your garment and you will keep the latter clean from house dust. You can hang more than one article under each if you care to do so.

Doctoring:

For vomiting have the patient lie in cool place, put hot applications to abdomen. Give a little baking soda in water and have patient suck a small piece of ice. For a toothache, apply oil of cloves on a bit of cotton and put on sore spot oil of cinnamon or spirits of camphor will also ease the ache. For a stye on the eye, apply warm compresses. Ask your doctor the cause. For chills, put patient into a warm bed and apply external heat also giving him hot drinks to warm the system.

A Suggestion:

A reader suggests this list of linens as most essential to each housewife in her home: 8 face towels, 8 hand towels, 8 bath towels and 6 wash cloths for each person. Serving for guests have at least 6 "Sunday" towels, and each bath room needs one shower curtain and two bath mats.

CALIFORNIANS DEVELOP TASTE FOR TEXAS EGGS

AUSTIN, Tex., July 9 — Californians like Texas eggs, it seems. One out of every fourth Texas laid egg "exported" to other states goes to California, a University of Texas Bureau of Business Research report shows.

Out of the equivalent of 288 carloads of shell eggs shipped to other states during May, 78 went to California, the report reveals. New York and New Jersey each took 29 cars, Illinois 22.

Egg shipments continue to rise, gaining 82 percent over May, 1940, bureau officials said.

Meanwhile, shipments of poultry to out-of-state points declined sharply—from 94 to 47 cars, a drop of 47 percent. The May total was composed of 30 cars of chickens and 17 cars of turkeys.

Miss Ita Brummett, employee at the local FSA office, is visiting homefolks and friends in Lubbock this week.

In eleven months since the present national defense program began, the output of American industry increased 34 percent—the largest increase in physical output during any similar period in history.

Baltimore Pig Hunt

Hunting within the very confines of a great city? Sounds silly! But that's what dozens of passersby, railroad officials and motorists did recently — went on a pig hunt in the heart of Baltimore.

A railroad wreck liberated 845 little pigs, big pigs and medium-sized pigs. Reports are that the hunters found pigs in cellars, automobiles, streets and alleys. Final count was: 48 pigs killed, 351 recaptured, balance missing.

Baked Bass

Dust fish with salt, pepper and garlic salt. Fill inside with onion, celery and green pepper. Put strips of salt pork on top and brown in a hot oven. Cover and cook until tender in slow oven about one hour. Bread dressing can be used if desired. AND, boy is it good!

Spotted Javelina Spotted

Freaks of the wild are intensely interesting. Just what is it that makes one deer out of thousands an albino? And what makes a javelina do things like walking forth with very, very unconventional white spots? There are a few instances of albino javelinias being captured. Now comes the report of a "spotted" javelina. It was seen by a cowboy on the Crane ranch, nine miles from Pearsall, Texas. The animal was described as a white spotted peccary and the cowboy hadn't been drinking!

Bass Got Tough Bug

It would be pretty rough on a fellow to bite into a nice delicious apple and have it explode in his face. And I guess it was no bed of roses to the bass that insisted on making a meal of a lighted Fourth of July big firecracker tossed into the water by a Missus foolowing youraster. Results: One less bass in Missouri!

Luck?

Are you superstitious? Sportsmen as a whole are. They depend on various phases of luck to bring them results. Indians used to carry tokens—"Medicine," they called them—for good luck and protection against evil spirits. Most of us do the same thing. I know a sportsman who wouldn't think of going hunting or fishing without having a game-bird feather stuck in his hat. He tells himself that it is just useless superstition, yet he'd never really expect luck unless that feather is there!

Consumption Of More Fresh Peaches Urged

Plans for a public-spirited cooperative effort to increase the consumption of fresh peaches during the period of July 24 thru July 30, were announced today by Kenneth Duggins, area supervisor of the Surplus Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

He stated that the Georgia Association of Peach Growers, the South Carolina Peach Growers Association and the North Carolina Mutual Peach Growers Society, who have combined marketing efforts through the Georgia-Carolina Peach Marketing Board, are among the cooperating growers' associations. The Food Trades Industry are also cooperating with the United States Department of Agriculture in this effort to increase the home-consumption of fresh peaches and make the best possible use of our abundant peach crop.

"Fresh peaches in season are one of the most popular fruits on the American market," he said. "This year's crop is believed to be the finest and largest in many years. Fresh peaches are one of the important protective foods listed as a 'Blue Stamp Item' by the Secretary of Agriculture. It is the aim of the Surplus Marketing Administration to aid the growers, consumers and industry of America by encouraging increased consumption of these needed commodities."

He added that this cooperative educational campaign will augment the Food Stamp Plan under which fresh peaches and other basic health-protecting foods are available to needy families by means of Food Stamps, at this time.

One of the aims of the campaign will be to encourage home canning and preserving. This is in accord with the objectives of the National Defense Conservation and Nutrition program which urges adequate food supplies.
