CRASH SCENE — Arrows point to spots on the rim of the Grand Canyon near Grand Canyon Village, Ariz., where TWA and United Airlines planes crashed, killing all 128 persons aboard the two planes. It was the greatest air disaster in commercial aviation history. The two ships enroute from Los Angeles to Kansas City and Chicago, are believed to have collided while flying through dense clouds over the Grand Canyon. (NEA Telephoto)

Rescue Teams Make Plans To Reach UAL Wreckage

By PAUL CORCORAN
United Press Staff Corerspondent

GRAND CANYON VILLAGE, Ariz. (UP) — Three helicopters left at dawn today to conduct exploratory operations into the possibility of reaching wreckage of a UAL plane which crashed with a TWA airliner Saturday into the Grand Canyon with a loss of 128 lives.

Rescue teams were prepared with climbing gear and provisions which would permit them to spend a week at the site if necessary.

The UAL wreckage is on a ledge described as wide enough only to perch on, and a helicopter would be forced to keep its rotor spinning to prevent falling into the gorge.

The three helicopters were prepared to move into the area of the downed TWA plane to remove personnel stranded Monday when winds halted removal operations after seven bodies were removed. The rescue party had spent the night on a rocky shelf of the mile-deep gorge.

More Bodies at Site

The three 'copters also were equipped to bring out remains of more victims from the TWA craft.

Included in this morning's flights were search and rescue director Capt. Byrd Ryland, of March Air Force Base, Calif., and technical crews from UAL's Denver office. Ryland landed at the perch above the UAL wreckage to plan rescue attempts.

Officials investigating the cause of the crash, apparently after the United Air Lines and Trans World Airlines planes collided in the air, asked tourists who had taken pictures near the area Saturday to look for any photos which may have included the planes minutes before they crashed.

Probers Press Efforts

Investigators, prodded by nationwide demands for improved air traffic control methods, pressed their attempts to determine whether the TWA plane swung up under the blind belly of the UAL plane and rammed it.

Thirteen men, including acting Coconino County Coroner Shelby McCauley, and Assistant County Attorney Laurence Wrenn, were left stranded in the mile-deep gorge overnight when the helicopter lift was abandoned as winds reached 60 miles per hour.

Bedrolls and supplies were dropped to them and high winds threatened to keep them in the canyon for another day or two.

Capt. Byrd Ryland, heading the body recovery detail, said there was no certainty that the bodies of the victims in the wreckage of the UAL plane ever would be brought out, or even approached on foot.

CAB Examiner Jack Parshall Monday night questioned Morgan and Palen Hudgins, who operate a private flying service, and they told him they were flying over the area of the crash all morning at about 9,000 feet and experienced no drastic weather conditions. The planes crashed about the time the Hudgins were in the area.

"We wouldn't have been flying if we had," said Morgan.

The United plane carried 58 persons and the TWA plane 70, making it the worst commercial air disaster in history. If it was a collision, it was the first fatal one between two commercial airliners.

GRAND CANYON VILLAGE, Ariz. (UP) — Coroner Shelby McCauley said today that evidence found at the scene of the world's worst commercial aviation disaster, where two planes crashed with loss of 128 lives, indicates the planes "definitely" collided in flight.

Rebellious Poles Shot

By JOSEPH FLEMING
United Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN (UP) — A Scandinavian businessman said today Polish Communists already have executed the leaders of the "food and freedom" uprising in Poznan.

A purge of Polish Communist party ranks also appeared imminent because of the bloody uprising last week. The official Communist party newspaper warned that heads will roll.

The businessman who arrived here from Poznan today said workers suspected of leading the demonstrators were placed before firing squads and executed as soon as they were caught.

Others captured with arms in their possession also were summarily shot, he said.

The businessman said he was told in Poznan that "dozens" were executed by the Communist firing squads.

The official Polish Communist newspaper Trybuna Ludu today attacked party officials in Poznan for cowardice during the uprising and said they will "answer for their acts."

The Communists admitted labor unrest elsewhere in Poland and warned that any Poznan - type revolt would be crushed "without mercy."

The Warsaw government said 50 persons died in the uprising which flared in the big industrial city in West Poland last week. But Western estimates placed the death toll as high as 500.

Some 30,000 Polish troops backed by tanks held Poznan in an iron grip while other soldiers moved through the city to flush out rebels from the just closed Poznan fair. Western businessmen back said at least 1,000 anti - Communists already have been seized in house - to - house and haystack-to-barn searches by soldiers with fixed bayonets.

Still more troops reinforced guards along the Polish frontier from the Baltic Sea to Czechoslovakia to prevent rebel leaders from escaping to the safety of the West.

Western observers said that the large-scale troop movements indicated the Warsaw government was not only searching for rebels who took part in the Poznan uprising but was now determined to crush the anti-Communist underground which has plagued the Red regime since World War II.

Sporadic reports reaching from the West in the past have said the underground has blown up bridges and bombed Soviet troop trains.

What Next?

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. — You might say Michael J. Mangino, age four and one half, is accident prone. Last month he broke his arm in a fall, his nose in a collision with a toy mechanical horse, he was bitten by a dog and stung by a bee.

Yesterday, driving with his left arm in a cast and sling, Michael borrowed the family automobile, sideswiped a parked car, hit a tree, plowed over three front lawns, through a hedge and back to his own lawn where the front porch stopped him.

Solon Says Congress Wants More Bombers

By JOHN W. FINNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON —UP— Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.) today accused Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson of disregarding a congressional "mandate" to accelerate B-52 bomber production immediately.

Chavez, chairman of the Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee, said Congress intended that an additional $900 million it has voted for the Air Force be used largely to turn out more B-52s.

Wilson said Monday he will not impound the extra money but that, at the same time, he is not going to be in any hurry to spend it. He made it plain that he has no present intention of stepping up B52 production.

Testifies Third Day

Wilson was recalled this morning for a third day of testimony before the Senate Armed Services subcommittee investigating whether the United States is in danger of losing air supremacy to Russia. He faced further questioning about B52 production and particularly whether the United States miscalculated the rate at which Russia was building a comparable long-range jet bomber, the Bison.

Wilson told the subcommittee Monday that he did not interpret the extra Air Force funds voted by Congress as an expression of congressional opinion that currently planned production of B52's is "too low."

Actually, Wilson said, the planned peak rate of 20 B52's a month is the "optimum" recommended by the Air Force and added, "I myself know of no reason to change it right now." Wilson left open one possiblity — if Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, recommends an increase upon returning from Russia, he said, he will seriously consider it.

Will of Congress

Chavez, who was instrumental in pushing through the extra Air Force funds, said in an interview that Wilson was "running contrary to congressional will" in not using the money to order more B52's.

In approving the extra money, Chavez said, it was the congressional intent that it obligated or spent in the coming fiscal year. To my way of thinking it was a mandate." Noting that 8 senators voted for the defense appropriations bill — with the Air Force increase — on final passage, Chavez said, "If that wasn't a mandate, I don't know what is."

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass), senior Republican on the military appropriations subcommittee, said, however, that he does not believe Wilson is running contrary to congressional intent. "It is going to take a little thinking and planning before the money can be used," Saltonstall said.

Benson Hikes Wheat Support

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTO N(UP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson used his discretionary powers under the flexible price support law and jacked up the government support price of 1957-crop wheat to $2 a bushel.

Under the current parity price of wheat, this support rate reflects 82½ per cent of parity. The same rate is being paid on 1956-crop wheat.

Benson announced the 1957 support rate Monday, well in advance of the July 20 referendum in which wheat farmers in 36 commercial wheat states will vote whether to accept marketing quotas on next year's crop.

If the producers accept quotas—as they have for several years—the government will support 1957 wheat at $2 a bushel. If they disapprove quotas, the available support level will be 50 per cent of parity, or about $1.21 cents a bushel.

On the basis of the supply situation, Benson could have set the 1957 support rate at 77 per cent of parity. This would be about $1.86 a bushel. This was about the same figure at which he ordered the 1956 crop supported before President Eisenhower overruled him in this presidential election year and raised the rate to $2 at 82½ per cent of parity.

"I am glad that the factors affecting the wheat situation make it possible to hold price supports at higher levels than the minimum indicated by the legislative provisions," Benson said. "It has been possible to increase wheat exports, through aggressive use of the special authorizations congress made available.

"The soil bank, through both its acreage reserve and the conservation reserve programs, opens the way for very substantial production adjustments in the years immediately ahead. We have turned the corner and expect to start making steady reductions in the huge wheat surplus."

In computing the total supply for 1957-58, Benson estimated 1957 wheat production at 668 million bushels. He said this "reflects fully effective soil bank operation for that year." The actual total supply for the 1957-58 marketing year is 1,668,000,000 bushels. This includes an estimated carry-over of 995 million bushels on next July 1, and his figure of 668 million bushels for 1957 production, plus imports of five million bushels.

U. N. Starts Disarmament Session

By BRUCE W' MUNN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)— The United Nations Disarmament Commission began its 1956 session today, primed for a Russian propaganda offensive designed to capitalize on the Kremlin's announced military cutback of 1.2 million men.

The Soviet Union unexpectedly sent its former "boy wonder" diplomat Andrei A. Gromyko, from Moscow for the meeting of the 12-nation group. The commission comprises the 11 members of the U.N. Security Council, plus Canada.

Gromyko hoped to get the floor early, but the West moved to spike his oratory by inscribing British Minister of State Anthony Nutting as the first speaker on the list.

Nutting was expected to restate the solid position of Britain, the

Aviation Heads Seek Solution To Congestion

By RICHARD E. MOONEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)— Aviation officials in government and private industry today told of plans and ideas for greatly increased control of planes in flight to prevent collisions in the air.

Investigators seeking the cause of Saturday's fatal double crash in Grand Canyon have made no official finding, but the circumstances pointed to the possibility that the two airliners ran into each other.

Many air-conscious people have been voicing concern for several years about current air traffic congestion and the likelihood of critical congestion in the future when there are more and faster planes. There was some feeling today that last weekend's tragedy in Arizona would have ironically beneficial results in bringing more energies to bear on solution of the problem.

Long before the latest catastrophe, plans and programs were being started.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration has a $265 million five-year-plan for multiplying its its ground installations for air navigation and traffic control — radar, radio signals and ground-to-air communications. Congress recently voted $40 million for the first year's work.

The Air Transport Association, made up of the nation's 47 scheduled airlines, decided only last week to make a big push in their search for a device to warn pilots when they are on a collision course with another plane nearby.

The CAA and the military are working on the possibility of using U.S. air defense radar installations in the control of non-military aviation as well as military. These units are parts of the system for detecting an enemy air attack and guiding U.S. fighter planes to the invaders.

The CAA's five-year-plan envisions 46 more airport surveillance radar installations. There are 34 now operating. The plan also would increase long-range radar installations — two now operating and two more authorized — by adding 87 more.

Steel Walkout Hits Transport Industry

By J. ROBERT SHUBERT
United Press Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The pile-driver economic blows of the three-day nationwide strike of 650,000 United Steelworkers hit the transportation industry today with furloughs scheduled for thousands of "noncombatant" workers.

Railroads alone scheduled layoffs for upwards of 30,000 workers by the weekend. Truck, lake and driver workers also faced hard times.

With the evidence of a prolonged shutdown piling up, the U.S. Mediation Service abandoned its sideline position and scheduled "exploratory" talks with each side in the bitter contract dispute. But it did not intervene immediately.

Separate Conferences Planned

Mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan said he would confer separately Thursday with David J. McDonald, USW president, and John A. Stephens, U.S. Steel Corp. vice president and chief industry bargainer.

Chances of bringing the sides together this week appeared slim. Both the union and industry seemed adamant in their positions in the deadlocked contract dispute which led to the strike at 12:01 a.m. Sunday.

The union calls the company-proposed five-year, no-strike contract "inadequate." The companies call the union's demands "exorbitant."

Walkout Claims Toll

The strike which has cut off 90 per cent of the nation's steel production, was already claiming its toll on these segments of the economy:

Railroads: At least 30,000 railroad workers are to be laid off by the end of this week. The Pennsylvania, a big steel hauler, began laying off 18,000 with the initial furloughs amounting to 15 to 20 per cent of the force. The Baltimore and Ohio will furlough 5,000 workers on Friday at operations from New York to St. Louis. By the weekend, Elgin, Joliet & Eastern expects to have laid off 3,000 in Chicago - Gary steel center. The Duluth, Mesabe & Iron Range Railroad, Minnesota, Ore., Road, plans to furlough 3,000. The Erie gave layoff notices to 205 men in the Youngstown, Ohio, district and the Lehigh said it has furloughed 400, mainly at Sayre and Packerton, Pa.

Great Lakes Shipping: Officials predicted the lake iron ore boats will be tied up at their docks in two weeks. The Pittsburgh Steamship Division of U.S. Steel, with 58 vessels, said its entire fleet would be out of service by mid-July. The Columbia Transportation Co. will dock its 21 boats after present cargoes are delivered. On Saturday, Hanna Co. will begin laying off crews of its 10 boats.

River Transportation: The Union Barge Line Corp. of Pittsburgh expected to feel the effects of the steel strike when present commitments for its almost 300 barges are fulfilled in the next few days. U.S. government navigation Lock No. 4 on the Monongahela River above Pittsburgh reported tow traffic through the big locks has dropped as much as 90 per cent.

Capitol Hill Roundup

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) accused defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson of ignoring a congressional "mandate" by not planning an immediate increase in B52 bomber production.

Chavez, chairman of the Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee, said Congress intended most of the extra $900 million it voted for the Air Force to be used largely for more B52s.

Meanwhile, Wilson was recalled for more testimony before the Senate Armed Services subcommittee. It is investigating whether the United States is in danger of losing air supremacy to Russia.

Wilson made it plain Monday that he has no present intention of stepping up B52 production. But he left open one possibility — if Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, recommends an increase upon returning from Russia, Wilson said, he will seriously consider it.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass), senior Republican on the military appropriations subcommittee, said he does not believe Wilson is running contrary to congressional intent. "It is going to take a little thinking and planning before the money can be used, he said.

Philippines Get Titles To Bases

By RUDOLFO NAZARENO
United Press Staff Correspondent

MANILA, P. I. (UP) —President Ramon Magsaysay and U. S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon announced today the United States will transfer to the Philippines all title claims to U. S. Military bases in the islands.

The announcement came in a joint statement less than seven hours after Nixon landed here on the first hop of his goodwill tour of the Far East.

"The United States has, since the independence of the Philippines, always acknowledged the sovereignty of the Philippines over such military bases and expressly reaffirms full recognition of such Philippine authority over the bases," the statement said.

The United States signed a pact with the Philippines in 1947 leasing 23 bases for 99 years. Subsequently, U. S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., held that the United States never relinquished permanent claim to parts of Clark Air Force Base, parts of the Cavite and Subic Bay naval bases and a small area at Fort McKinley when it granted Philippine independence.

The joint statement apparently meant the United States now has abandoned this view in the face of sharp opposition and criticism both in the Philippines and abroad.

On his arrival at the airport Nixon said there is no country in the world "with which we have closer ties than the republic of the Philippines."

Nixon received a rousing welcome and full military honors when he arrived with his wife Patricia aboard a military air transport plane at international airport.

Nixon accompanied Philippines Vice President Carlos P. Garcia to an improvised platform at the terminal grounds. Garcia made a brief speech in which he warmly welcomed the Nixons on behalf of the president and the Philippines people and offered them the hospitality of the country.

Garcia also paid tribute to the United States on the occasion of the 180th anniversary Wednesday of the Declaration of Independence.

Nixon, making a whirlwind goodwill tour of friendly nations in the Far East, replied that it was "a very great privilege to have the opportunity to come here and share with you our Independence Day."

The U.S. Vice President will represent the United States at the 10th anniversary celebration of Philippine Independence Day Wednesday.

"The Fourth of July is a very special day for those of us who live in the United States and the Philippines, a symbol of the close association and the close comradeship between our two peoples marked by our fighting together to preserve our independence and by our dedication to common ideals, to freedom, to peace," Nixon said.

Change Made In Cuyler Parking

Parking on S. Cuyler, one block on either side of Brown, will return to angle parking, the City Commission announced at the regular meeting of the group this morning.

The decision to change the parking from parallel, which was under a 30-day trial period, came about when a group of businessmen in the blocks on Cuyler affected presented a petition to the commission requesting indenture parking.

It was the decision of the commissioners that parking should return to the type previously in use and that the problem be turned over to the city traffic committee for arrival at a workable solution.

Mayor Lynn Boyd pointed out that the city was working on plans to turn all of S. Cuyler from Brown south to the city limits over to the state for maintenance and that if this was done the state would automatically install parallel parking.

Mayor Lynn Boyd stated this morning that it has been brought to the attention of the City Commission that residents of Pampa are allowing water to run in the streets.

The Mayor requested that all persons please watch their lawn sprinklers and try to conserve the water so that adequate pressure can be obtained during the peak periods of usage.

In other action the commission approved payments of $7,350.70 for seal coating of city streets and $12,030.83 for asphalt surface treatment of city streets to Ned B. Hoffman, contractor for the work.

The commissioners also approved the payment of $1,995.00 for the

If there was a "Courtesy" Award given out annually like the Oscar ceremonies so dear to Hollywood, the City of Pampa would surely have been in the running for it after what happened here a few days ago.

The next lines you are about to read are not a Chamber of Commerce blurb, but rather the heartfelt thanks of a woman driver from Canadian whose car experienced some mechanical difficulties and finally stalled smack-dab on Cuyler during a 6 p. m. traffic rush period. The letter received at the Pampa News Monday morning, bearing a July 1 postmark from Canadian, read as follows:

"A few days ago I was in Pampa when my car stalled on Cuyler at six o'clock when traffic was so congested. A traffic officer whistled for me to move on. I told him my car was dead. He said, 'You are blocking traffic.' He could have been real nasty about it, but he was so kind and courteous."

"I went into Franklins to phone, but couldn't find the Chevrolet garage listed. Then, a little colored girl said, 'May I help you., Finally, the wrecker came and took my car to a garage. They looked it over and when I asked for the charge they told me there was none."

"Now if this officer is a sample of the police force, you certainly have a good one in Pampa. After my contact with these three people (officer, colored girl and wrecker employee) I thought, 'That Man's Extremity is God's Opportunity,' Ididn't learn the name of any of these lovely people, but I want them to know I certainly appreciated their kindness to one whom was in a jam. Sincerely, Mrs. F. D. Leas."

Pampan Is Eagle Scout

George Smith, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, 1336 N. Russell, was given his Eagle Scout award in ceremonies held in the Presbyterian Church last night.

Smith, who started in Boy Scout Troop 14 at the church three and a half years ago under Scoutmaster Garvin Elkins, is now a member of Post 14, under post advisor, Jack Lockett.

Smith has an honorary Order of the Arrow, has been chosen for the Canadian Canoe Trip, on which 39 boys from the Adobe Walls Council, B.S.A., are going, and is one of the less than one per cent of boys in scouting who achieve the rank of Eagle Scout.

He became a Tenderfoot in 1952, second class in the first part of 1953, first class in the last part of 1953, star in 1954, life in 1955 and now Eagle Scout.

Neslage, who presented the award, remarked that this is not the final step in scouting for George even though he has reached the top as a Boy Scout. It is now his duty and responsibility to assume a position of leadership in his community life and help other young boys along the ladder of progress leading to the same heights he has achieved, Neslage said.

Collision Is Reported Monday

Leon Revious Stimbridge, 205 Tignor, was in collision with Clarence Battreall, 920 S. Faulkner, at 10:50 a.m. Monday, on Tignor, 100 feet north of Wheeler. Neither were injured.

Battreall's 1955 Plymouth was damaged amounting to $175, and Stimbridge's 1955 Ford received damage amounting to $100.

Rain falling intermittantly Monday afternoon and night, brought approximately one-tenth of an inch of moisture to Pampa, according to the rain gauge on top of The Pampa News building.

Psychology Professor Has Wolf Girl Cited

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—The attorney for a University of Illinois professor said Monday his client is tired of being "constantly pestered" by an amorous 22-year-old coed.

The educator, Prof. Josef Cohen, 34, signed a peace warrant last week charging the girl, Dawn Wolf, with "disturbing the peace of an individual."

"I don't think there is any question but that she has been pursuing him—but after all it is leap year," replied George Hebel, a lawyer hired by Miss Wolf's parents to guard her interests.

But, he said, Cohen could have avoided her pursuit if he had really wanted to.

The psychology professor said Miss Wolf returned to the campus after she was graduated in June, and flooded him with love notes and gifts.

Cohen said she also proposed they take blood tests so they could get married.

"Mr. Cohen has made his position very clear," his attorney said. "He doesn't want to be constantly pestered by this girl."

Sheriff's deputies had a difficult time locating Miss Wolf in order to serve the warrant. She was rumored to be hiding out in a sorority house, but turned up during the weekend at her parents' home in Aledo, Ill.

Her attorney said Cohen's reaction to her advances would "lead a normal person to think there was some merit to her idea that they could get together."

He said he was puzzled "how a man of 34 who is supposedly teaching our children could find it impossible to handle this case himself, I could have."

Miss Wolf's lawyer said a hearing would prove she had reasons to believe she might be married to the professor. Cohen's attorney answered that the professor doesn't want to "create any feud."

"This whole thing is getting out of hand," state's attorney John J. Breese observed.

United States, France and Canada that the West will not agree to a reduction of armed forces until settlement of outstanding political problems, chiefly the reunification of Germany is reached, and that any disarmament program must include some cutback of nuclear strength within controllable limits.

He will present, on the West's behalf, a resolution asking the full commission to endorse a set of principles submitted by the West at the London meeting of a subcommittee of the Big Four and Canada. The principles would guide future work on reduction of armaments.

The last minute Kremlin substitution of Gromyko for Soviet U.N. Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev, who has never handled the disarmament question, led Western diplomats to expect a tinsel-wrapped Russian proposal.

Western diplomats did not expect Russia to be ready to talk substantively about "real disarmament" until its military cutback is completed—or about this time next year. They found it interesting that the total of Russian reductions announced in the past two years, subtracted from the last known Soviet armed strength of 5 million men, would bring the forces to 2.8 million — or the announced manpower of the U.S. military might.

America—He Loves You!

Maybe he thought of it first in the cornfields of Iowa or Illinois or Indiana.

Maybe along a Mississippi delta or in a street canyon of New York or Boston or Philadelphia.

Maybe it came to him on a pony's back in Oklahoma or New Mexico—or on the sun-hot seat of a combine in Kansas or Nebraska.

Maybe it was deep in the heart of Texas or on a trail in the High Sierras.

Wherever he may have been when the thought came to him is unimportant.

But the thought itself is of the essence: This is America—the land of freedom and opportunity—where a boy can grow up to be his own man.

And so on this anniversary of American Independence, we greet and congratulate him—the man of commerce, the lawyer, the physician, the rancher, the banker, the actor, the politician, the statesman—the self-made man of accomplishment in every line of human endeavor.

We know him well—and along with our congratulations on his success, we should like to register our own sense of gratitude.

For such are the owners of Cadillacs—the men whose approval created the "Standard of the World" and made it a symbol wherever highways lead.

It is a rare privilege to know these men—to sell them their cars—and to render them the type of service they deserve.

We feel it is appropriate to acknowledge it, most gratefully, on this occasion when Americans do honor to their great nation and its unparalleled freedom of personal opportunity.

Horse Show, Rodeo, Reunion, Dances Featured In Canadian Celebration

CANADIAN — (Special) — Plans are nearly complete for a big three-day Fourth of July Rodeo Celebration in Canadian, featuring the first annual Canadian Quarterhorse Show, three Rodeo performances, nightly dances, an Old Settlers Reunion and a free public firewords display.

The celebration will be opened this afternoon with the Quarterhor Show. . .an official American Quarterhorse Association event. . .at the Rodeo Arena; following at 8 p.m. with the first performance of the annual Canadian Fourth of July Rodeo.

A full day's program is scheduled for the Fourth, beginning with the annual Old Timers Reunion, sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Comerce, at the American Legion Hall Wednesday morning.

The second Rodeo performance is scheduled Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Rodeo Arena; a free public fireworks display will be staged by City of Canadian employees at the City Park Wednesday night and there will be a dance at the City Auditorium beginning at 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Another rodeo performance at the arena, followed by dancing at the Auditorium, will close the celebration Thursday night, July 5.

The annual Rodeo is sponsored by the Canadian Roping Club, under the direction of President Johnny McMordie. Stock will be furnished by Tom Harlan.

Seven events will feature each performance of the rodeo; saddle bronc riding, bull riding, bulldogging, calf roping, ribbon roping, and a cowgirl's barrel race.

Purses in the first four events will be $80 plus $20 entry fees added. Money will be split among the first four places on a 40-30-20-10 per cent basis.

Calf roping, ribbon roping, and the girls barrel races wil be Jackpot events, with a $30 entry fee in the roping events and $20 in the barrel race. Prize money will be paid for two go-rounds and average in each event.

Night shows begin at 8 p.m. and the afternon performance on July 4 is slated for 2 p.m.

Dances under the auspices of the Roping Club are slated each night at the City Auditorium, with music by Hurshel Clothier and his orchestra.

Rain Needed All Over The Southwest

AMARILLO (UP) — The Santa Fe railway's monthly crop report summarized the situation today in a few words: Rain is needed almost everywhere in the Southwest.

Weatherwise, June was a freakish month. The drought continued in most sections; there were high winds, dust storms, floods and hail.

State-by-state, the report had this to say:

KANSAS — Except for a few late fields, combine operations are completed in the extreme southern part and are nearing completion in the central counties; June rains were extremely beneficial to corn and soybeans but the western part of the state is quite dry.

OKLAHOMA — The 1956 wheat harvest is almost a matter of history after what proved to be one of the shortest harvests of record; surface soil conditions continue to be dry over much of Oklahoma and a general rain is needed to keep pastures and sorghums coming along.

TEXAS — After having gone through the winter and early spring months with little or no effective moisture, the 1956 winter wheat crop was materially improved by early May rains in the low rolling plains and in North Texas; pastures range from very good on some Panhandle areas to very poor in much of Central and West Texas.

NEW MEXICO — With a few local showers coming at the right time, the condition of the New Mexico winter wheat crop has improved to the extent that 750,000 bushels may be harvested; pastures and ranges in New Mexico are only fair.

Eight Men Enlist In Navy

The Navy recruiting officer, Vincent M. Bland, chief quartermaster, USN, located in room eight of the P.O. building in Pampa, released the names of eight men processed through his office during the month of June.

They are: Donald L. Maple, Eldon L. Maxwell and Otis D. White, Pampa; Donald M. Jones, White Deer; Jack L. Stafford, McLean; Charles E. Copeland and George O. Riddle, Booker; and Troy E. Narron, Perryton.

The Navy urgently needs men in the field of electronics, according to Bland. If you are a high school graduate between 17 and 31 years old and feel you can qualify for this program, you are invited to make application in room 8 of the P.O. building, in Pampa, Bland said.

Mrs. Morris Rites Held

CANADIAN — (Special) — Funeral services for Mrs. R. P. Morris, 57, of Canadian, were held Friday, June 22, at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Morris died early Thursday morning, June 21, after a long illness. Rev. Douglas E. Carver, Pampa, officiated at the rites.

Mrs. Morris, a resident of Canadian for the past 32 years, was born at Mobeetie on May 27, 1899, the daughter of Will and Caroline Ellis. She was married to R. P. Morris on June 23, 1922. She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Canadian.

Survivors include her husband, R. P. Morris; mother, Mrs. Caroline Ellis, Levelland; three daughters, Mrs. Georgia Leigh Isaacs, Canadian; Mrs. Carrie Lou Riley, Amarillo; Mrs. Glenna Colley, Amarillo; one son, R. P. Morris Jr., Rapid City, South Dakota, stationed at Guam in the Air Force; four brothers, Charles O. Ellis, Canadian; Hugh M. Ellis, Pampa; Neely B. Ellis, Pampa; and Jack Ellis, Fort Worth; one sister, Mrs. Georgia Tribble, Levelland.

Pallbearers were J. C. Bernson, G. B. Mathers, Bud Webb, Tom Abraham, Grady Harris, and Leslie Webb. Interment was in the Canadian cemetery under the direction of Stickley Funeral Home.

Ray Siegmund Promoted To District Farm Agent

WHEELER — (Special) — Ray D. Siegmund, Wheeler county farm agent, has been promoted to district agent in Extension District 8 with headquarters in Fort Stockton, effective September 1, according to an announcement Wednesday by Director G. G. Gibson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station.

Siegmund's promotion was made public in Gibson's announcement of a three-way move of personnel. He will succeed J. M. Glover, a district agent since July 1, 1951, who in turn will succeed V. G. Young, district agent in Extension District 10 with headquarters in Gonzales. Young goes to District 7 with headquarters in San Angelo.

Siegmund could not be reached today for a statement as he and his family are in Fayetteville, Ark., where he is attending the Southern Regional Extension School being held at the University of Arkansas, they will return to Wheeler about July 15.

Siegmund has been county agent in Wheeler County since March 5, 1951, and an Extension Service employee since February 1, 1949. He took training work in Haskell County and served as assistant county agent in Bell County before coming to Wheeler County.

His degree from the Texas A&M College was in animal husbandry, the predominant industry in the far-western Texas Extension District he will serve.

Siegmund was married to the former Jo Sipes in 1951 and have two sons, Eric Don and Brent. They are very active in civic and church work and have served their community well.

Four Perryton FFA Members Rate Lone Star 'Degree'

PERRYTON — (Special) — Four members of the Perryton FFA chapter have qualified for the Lone Star Farmer Degree and they will receive these degrees at the state FFA convention in Dallas on July 25-27. Also a Perryton man has been named to receive the Honorary Lone Star Farmer Degree, one of ten men in the state to be so honored.

The four FFA members who have qualified for the Lone Star Farmer Degree are Lewis Waggoner, Bill Jines, Gary George, and Bernhard Philipp. Percy Powers is the one who will receive the Honorary Lone Star Farmer Degree.

To qualify for the Lone Star Farmer degree, an applicant must have held the Chapter Farmer degree; have an outstanding project program on his home farm; must be able to lead a group discussion for 30 minutes and pass the state FFA parliamentary procedure exam.

Each applicant must also have earned by his own efforts from farming or other agriculture work and have deposited in a bank the sum og $500 and he must have made at least $333.33 net profit from his supervised farming program while enrolled in high school. Each applicant has his records inspected and must pass a personal interview before being approved for the degree.

Percy Powers will be awarded his honorary degree for his outstanding service to boys of the local FFA chapter in securing show livestock, working with them in other ways during their program.

His citation reads: "For his unselfish contribution of time and energy to many boys not only from his own state but from other states as well in giving personal and direct assistance in the problems that affect farm youth."

These five and FFA chapter advisor Josh Hopkins will attend the state convention in Dallas. There were 109 Lone Star Farmer degrees approved in Texas this year and Perryton with four was among the state leaders.

Jumbo Causes Jam

CHICAGO (UP)— State police didn't quite know what to do Sunday when called to clear a suburban traffic jam caused by a 9,000-pound elephant.

The elephant — and the police— just stood there until the animal's handler George W. Boone arrived to explain he went for help after using the elephant, Big Babe, to haul his stalled truck off the street.

Red Army Shrinkage

So Russia has announced that she intends to cut the size of her armies. Across the western world in many places has come a great sigh of relief. It is obvious that many believe such a cut mirrors peaceful intentions on the part of the Soviet.

We don't hold to the view that this announced cut indicates peaceful aims. Rather we adhere to the thought that Russian leadership is getting just a little smarter than it has been.

We have looked anxiously for some announcement from the Kremlin that the oligarchy there has decided to abandon world socialism and now favors free enterprise. We haven't seen such an announcement.

We have eagerly scanned the releases for some word that the Russian dictators plan to free their people and permit them to make their own economic way in the world. But instead of these longed for statements comes the automatic rumblings of a gigantic government. All persons in Russia are owned by the state. All persons work for the state. All decisions are made by the state. Blessed be the name of the state. World socialism is to come, we are told. The Soviet Universal State will triumph over decadent capitalism. Let the world beware of the U.S.S.R. as it moves forward on its pre-destined pathway.

But the fact remains that despite these aims, the Soviet says it plans to reduce the number of men under arms by 1,200,000 men.

Why?

For a number of years our own military leaders, who have refused to come under international influence, have testified that Russia's huge army of foot soldiers posed no particular threat to this country. The only place where those foot soldiers could be used to advantage to the Soviet would be in Europe or Asia, some place where they could move by land to their objectives. So long as the movement of such troops entailed a wide use of either air or sea power, the large number of men under arms contained little of military advantage to Russia. They were a constant economic drain upon the Soviet.

All governments are consuming, not producing mechanisms. Armies are extensions of the political device of government and likewise produce nothing. From the standpoint of economics, the bigger the government and the bigger the army, the larger the overhead, the less progress to be made by the nation itself. Thus, so long as Russia kept this great force of men under arms, it was hampering itself far more than it was hampering us. All those able bodied men and women, under order from their dictator, to produce nothing!

Russia finally sharpened up. 1.2 million are being demobilized. To what purpose?

In announcing the reduction the Soviet leaders made the point. These men are being sent back into production. They will be used as government-controlled (slave) labor in the growing industry of Russia. They will also be used as government farm (slave) labor. Instead of drilling endlessly as infantry, they will be putting together the bombers, the fighters, the tanks, the mechanization and growing the food which will make the remainder of the Russian fighting machine more effective.

And as far as reducing its foot soldier strength is concerned, even after the shrinkage Russia will still have 166 divisions in Eastern Europe which is opposed by a mere 60 divisions provided by Western powers. Red divisions average about 10,000 men, Western divisions about 15,000. So, on the basis of manpower, Russia will still have nearly a two-to-one superiority.

But there is another very interesting possibility, and one which has not been mentioned by the Western observers.

It is known that following the postmortem disgrace of Stalin, unrest has swept the Soviet world. A good share of that unrest is in the army. Could it be that Bulganin and Khrushchev are are playing it very cagey? Could it be that a demobilization of some of the army was an absolute essential to prevent an armed uprising?

It is safe to say that those being removed from the army will be the very persons least trusted by the new lords of the Comintern. If the simmering antagonism can't be halted, at least such a reorganization of the army would help to pull the serpent's fangs. Factory workers don't carry guns.

We are doubtful if these moves on the part of the ruling clique can be construed as peaceful.

We think that the bosses are in fear of their lives. Not so much from the standpoint of anything that might happen to them from the Western world, but on the basis of what they know they deserve from the hands of their own people. We think the economic situation in Russia is growing more and more intolerable to the people there. We think that Russia's reduction in armed troops was essential to reduce its own overhead and to make at least a stab at further mechanization.

Whether we like to admit it or not, the pressure is mounting behind the Iron Curtain. Whether that pressure can be contained within the Soviet orbit, which is devoutly hoped, or will break out overtly somewhere else remains to be seen.

In any case, now is not the time for us to shut our eyes and rejoice in the "new look" for Russia. The look isn't new. It's just more shrewd.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Year's Debt Growth

Persons who are trying to plan ahead need all the information they can get in order to intelligently protect their lives and property. If people are going to pay their debts, the amount of debt we have is an important factor in determining coming events as far as employment and general business conditions are concerned.

If, on the other hand, our national debt, public and private, is to be eventually repudiated by inflation so that those who have loaned money or have had money taken from them by way of "social Security" do not believe the "money" they get for these debts, including life insurance, bonds, pensions, etc., is not worth carrying home, then the course of action will be different than if the debts are really to be paid. So the rate the debt is growing should have some bearing on which course will be followed.

The American Institute for Economic Research, on our growing debt during the past year, has the following to say:

"Net public and private debt in the United States increased last year about $51,000,000,000 or about 8 percent to a total of $658,000,000. Department of Commerce, the increase is equal to a little more than half the increase in the Nation's stock of 'real assets,' after allowing for depreciation. 'Real assets' are described as comprising durable equipment and inventories of business and both residential and nonresidential construction. Not included among these assets are automobiles and other durable goods for which last year consumers paid about $35,000,000,000. Increases in private debt accounted for nearly $9 of every $10 increase in debt last year. Of all debt owed at the end of 1955, 59 percent was private, 41 percent public. A year earlier these percentages were 57 and 43 respectively.

"Net public debt increased 2.4 percent last year $270,000,000,000, of which seven-eighths was Federal debt. During the year Federal debt increased about one-half of 1 per cent; state and local government debt increased 15 percent. The increase in the State and local government debt compares with increases of 17 and 11 percent in the two preceding years respectively. As in the preceding years borrowing for highway and school construction accounted largely for the increase."

Of course, the above is not the total obligation. The United States Government has guaranteed billions and billions of dollars that do not show up in this total. If the guarantee such as "Social Security" is included, the total debt approaches a trillion dollars. And a trillion dollars' debt means that each person owes on an average of $6,000, including women and children.

If anyone thinks this debt is going to be paid in dollars of value, he undoubtedly can site no place in history where debts of this amount have been paid. Our Federal Government owes more than the combined debt all other nations.

The Institute's article continues:

"Private debt increased 13 percent last year to $388,000,000,000 of which only a little more than half was corporate. During the year corporate debt increased 11 percent, noncorporate debt increased 16 percent. Both long-term and short-term corporate debt increased last year. An increase of 12 percent in short-term debt compares with a decrease of 6 percent in 1954. About half of this increase was in the form of loans from commercial banks; the remainder of the increase was in the form of trade credit extended by suppliers.

"Farm and nonfarm debt, the 2 components of noncorporate debt, increased 7 and 17 percent respectively last year. Farm mortgage debt, which accounts for a little less than half of all farm debt, increased 11 percent last year compared with 5 per cent in 1954. This increase of a little more than $1,000,000,000 was the largest increase in farm mortgage debt since 1920. Nonmortgage farm debt increased 3 percent in 1955, the same percentage as in 1954.

"The 17 percent increase in nonfarm noncorporate debt last year was again the largest of any of the major debt components. And, as was true in 1954, nonmortgage debt increased relatively more than did mortgage debt. However, the $14,000,000,000 increase in nonfarm mortgage debt was the largest increase ever recorded for this category of debt. The percentage increase for nonmortgage and mortgage indebtedness were 19 and 15 respectively. The nonmortgage category which includes 'debt incurred for commercial (nonfarm), financial and consumer purposes, including debt owed by farmers for financial and consumer purposes,' reached $63,500,000,000 at the year end compared with $53,200,000,000 a year earlier.

"In commenting on the sources of loan funds, the Survey of Current Business points out that although the commercial banks acquired new evidences of debt last year in about the same proportion as they did in 1954, their debt acquisitions in 1955 were financed largely by the sale of Government securities to nonbank investors. This development is referred to in our bulletin of February 27, 156 (p. 35), in which we pointed o that during 1955 the commercial banks substituted about $8,000,000,000 of purchasing media derived from private debt for a corresponding amount derived from Government debt."

Several Demo Groups Will Vote For Ike

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Several normally Democratic voting groups will support President Eisenhower, if he is the Republican candidate next November, according to numerous private and public polls. They seem to be emerging from the spell cast on them by Roosevelt - Truman social and economic appeals.

Roy Wilkins, head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has urged his followers to behave more independently. His remarks drew a scolding from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt on the ground of ingratitude. Whereas it is estimated that 70 or 80 per cent of the Negroes have been voting the Democratic ticket for years, Republican headquarters believes that Ike will pick up more than 50 per cent.

As a matter of fact, a survey by the American Heritage Association suggests that the colored vote is highly overrated by the politicians. There are supposed to be about 15,000,000 Negroes in the United States, with less than 5,000,000 eligible to vote. In 1952, according to this canvass, only 33 per cent showed up at the polls. Such a balloting, widely scattered, can be decisive in only a limited and local way.

Ike will get a better break among labor voters than any Republican nominee in recent years. For that he can thank Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell of New Jersey, who has been praised by many leaders as "one of the best friends we have ever had at Washington in that post."

Four influential union officials — Dave Beck of the Teamsters, Martin Hutcheson of the Carpenters, James C. Petrillo of the Musicians, and possibly John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers — will back Ike openly and enthusiastically, or privately. It is extremely doubtful that the AFL-CIO organization, as it did in 1952, will endorse the Democratic nominee, although the president and vice president — Geroge L. Meany and Walter P. Reuther — lean that way.

The Heritage Foundation's study recorded other Republican trends. It indicated that several classes of voters supposedly hostile to Republican conservatism do not vote in large numbers, whereas Ike's friends get to the polls because of a greater interest and stake in public affairs.

In 1948 and 1952, only 50 per cent of the 21-29 year group, estimated to number 20,000,000, bothered to register their choice on Election Day. A majority are assumed to be Democratic sympathizers because of childhood memories of the "Hoover depression" and parents' unhappy recollections. However, working opportunities for this year's graduates are unusually bright.

In 1952, only 53 per cent of the low-income group, meaning people who earn less than $2,000 a year, voted in the Presidential contest. Only 48 per cent cast a ballot in 1948, when Harry S Truman said that "any workingman or farmer who voted Republican ought to have his head examined."

According to the latest statistics, the number of individuals earning less than $2,000 or even $3,000, has fallen sharply in the last four years. With 53,000,000 potential votes, 59 per cent of eligible women turned out four years ago, and President Eisenhower is believed to be popular with them.

The groups which "like Ike," according to all polls, said it with their ballots in 1952 with the following percentages:

Urban residents, 79; college educated, 90; professional and managerial, 88. These three classes had the highest voting record in 1952.

Another movement regarded as generally advantageous to the Republicans is the postwar population shift to suburban and rural areas, where the GOP always runs strongest.

As home-owning taxpayers, they frequently become more conservative, and skeptical of the Democrats' attitude on finances, business, industry, etc. These pockets are counted on to offset the normal Democratic majorities in the metropolitan areas.

The CRACKER BARREL

The Mayor of Los Angeles has completed a population survey that proves there are seven women for every man who reaches the age of eighty-five. But by that time it don't make much difference.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN
President, Sabitual Mobilization

Said a recent news story from New York:

"Man is now standing at the gateway to a new flowering of civilization...

"There will be no shortage of minerals, meals, or metals...

"Only one possible raw material shortage is foreseen—brain power. ...

"The conclusions are part of a 'speculative projection' on the resources of the world that has been drafted by faculty members of the California Institute of Technology."

However, away down at the bottom of the column, was this sentence: "The predictions apply only if world catastrophe is avoided."

And this means that it is not in brain power, after all, that the most crucial shortage may appear —but in moral and spiritual power, since nothing but an adequate supply of such power can avoid world catastrophe.

The hopeful element in this situation is that there is an infinite supply of moral and spiritual power available to us. But the disturbing part is the uncertainty as to whether or not we have either the inclination or the capacity to make use of it.

Looting Of Union 'Welfare' Funds Exposed

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Rackets and the looting of union "welfare" funds in Detroit and other cities in Michigan and Ohio were thoroughly exposed by a subcommittee of House Committee on Welfare and Education in November, 1953. These inquiries were held in Detroit and they were compressed into a "report" published in 1954 which got practically no publicity. The chairman was Wint Smith, of Kansas, but the principal aggression was provided by Clare Hoffman, of Michigan, a tireless, consecrated, elderly fighter.

About the same time, William Keating and Robert Green, employed by a private organization called the New York City Crime Commission, were fighting the De Konign mob of hoodlum-racketeers of the Operating Engineers union on Long Island. This campaign called for unusual bravery. Keating, Green, and reporters of the Long Island paper, Newsday, operated by Alicia Patterson, went about their jobs without guardians or the slightest show of concern. De Koning, Pere, went to prison and Fils got a suspended sentence as a result of their enterprise. Keating went to jail for five days for contempt of court, a serious matter to a lawyer, for refusing to reveal to Frank Hogan, the District Attorney, the names of certain informants who might have been maimed or murdered if Keating had betrayed them. Keating formerly was an assistant to Hogan. In consequence of Keating's sentence, the backers of the Crime Commission abolished it. Keating then wrote a book entitled "The Man Who Rocked The Boat," which is well worth the time of any citizen who prefers information to melodramatic cheese-cake on this subject. Green is now a reporter for Newsday, still blasting the De Konings on their own home grounds.

Hogan's office, professing ferocious determination, has done practically nothing about union rackets in the last five years. Hogan is friendly toward unions having the blessing of Dave Dubinsky, of the Garment Workers. One year when Hogan was hopefully waiting for Dubinsky to promise him the support of his vest-pocket Liberal party as candidate for mayor, he delicately asked me not to write anything good about him until Dubinsky had announced his decision. My approval would have been a black mark in Dubinsky's eyes. Dubinsky turned him down after all.

Later, I placed in hands of Al Scotti, in command of Hogan's rackets bureau, an open-and-shut case of "welfare" racketeering in a group of unions of liquor workers in New York and New Jersey. Scotti and his staff mauled this case for more than two years, but finally came in with an indictment. The leading hoodlum was our old friend, George Scalise, who had done ten years for extortion as president of the old Capone union of building service workers. Scalise was favored and courted by Fiorello La Guardia and Vito Marcantonio when La Guardia was mayor. The indictment against Scalise and little Augie Carfarno, alias Pisano, was an insurance agent named Abe Saperstein. Saperstein got scared and refused to testify, but changed his mind when he got a long sentence for contempt. He agreed to talk and got out.

After the indictment had failed and while he was supposed to be under armed guard, somebody shot him four times in the head. He did not die, but his memory has been impaired. So the case against Scalise and Little Augie seems to be dead. This challenge of "The Mob" to righteousness received routine publicity.

Those who naively trust that a "Committee On Ethics," even with President Ike's Benison, will deter the likes of Scalise and Augie are reminded that William Green, he predecessor of George Meany as president of the AL of L, officially implored F. K. Roosevelt to pardon Scalise and restore rights forfeited when he was convencted of acting as bargaining agent for a child prostitute in interstate traffic.

Congressman Clare Hoffman was double-crossed and thwarted during the campaign of 1952. Senator Homer Ferguson, of Michigan, was having a hard time with the union crooks and Congressman Bender, of Ohio, was in similar trouble in his campaign to make senator. So, Hoffman's original expose of the Hoff-Dorffman multimillion dollar "welfare" rackets and other colossal graft in the Teamsters' union went for nothing.

Congress took this lying down. The palace guard couldn't save Ferguson, but Bender got by and the whole rotten shebang has been suppressed ever since. The Department of Justice has never lifted a finger. James R. Hoffa, unknown four years ago, and a graceless, impudent scamp, recently delivered a learned address at Harvard.

War In Algeria Doesn't Scare Mary

By HENRY McLEMORE

ALGIERS — There's a pretty good shooting war going on here, and right around here, but my wife, Mary, is treating it with splendid disdain.

Just because there are no bombers flying over the city dropping bombs, and no tanks blasting away at intersections, she conducts herself as if she were in a bird sanctuary in lower Louisiana.

The facts that assassins notch up a couple of victims here every day, and the silence is occasionally punctuated by the rat-a-tat of rebel commandos spraying sidewalk cafes, are not sufficient evidence of war to alarm her. Neither are the facts that the streets are filled with French patrols, there's a midnight curfew, and the Casbah has been placed off limits.

Mary hasn't said so in so many words, but I am quite sure she considers me a devout coward. Having been an infantryman in World War II, I am very respectful of people who are vexed and carry guns. I know that the Arab Nationalists are not out to shoot Americans, and that it is the French they are mad at, but I am not convinced that they can tell me from a Frenchman, especially when they are tearing through the streets in a speeding car, firing indiscriminately.

You may be sure that I am behaving as much like an American as possible. When I find myself on a half-deserted street I zing or whistle "The Star-Spangled Banner" as loudly as I can or break into a Rock 'n' Roll step.

Mary likes to sit at the very front table at a sidewalk cafe, while I prefer a table well toward the rear, situated behind as many amply proportioned Frenchmen as possible. If I had known I was coming to Algiers I would have rented me one of those Fourth of July Uncle Sam suits before I left New York.

Save for the patrolling soldiers, Algiers is calm enough on the surface. To me, it appears as sort of a combination of Hong Kong and Paris.

Built on hills that rise sharply from the sea, it is a spectacular city. It is terraced like a giant garden, with street above street. Not even Hong Kong, as seen from the top of the Peak, offers a more arresting view.

For some reason, I had expected Algiers to be dirty, dusty, squalid, and a city of unpleasant smells and alive with beggars. But it isn't at all. It is much cleaner than most American cities of comparable size, and the shops along Rue Michelet are as smart as those of Paris.

But underneath, it boils. Algeria is as determined to be free of France as France is determined to keep it. The French expect to have upwards of 400,000 troops in Algeria by the middle of July. As to France's ability to hold it, there are a dozen opinions. But the most prevalent one is that it is merely a matter of time — twenty-five years at the most — until the Algerians get their independence, just as have neighboring Morocco and Tunisia.

France, one hears on every side, does not have the money or the tenacity to maintain control.

With its population divided almost equally between Arab and French, Algiers is the real center of the rebellion, even though the serious fighting is taking place from fifty to 100 miles away, chiefly in the hills. But is could flare up here in a second.

But one person remains calm throughout the turmoil —Mary. I run, dragging her by the hand, to beat the curfew. I eat early, to guarantee that I offer no target in the late hours. She eats as placidly as if she were in her mother's kitchen.

I am sorely tempted to smash a light bulb on the floor in our room tonight. I'd like to see what she'd do. My guess is that she'd beat me under the bed.

Does anyone have an old, 100-watt bulb to spare?

It's fun to be footloose and fancy free on hot summer days. These slippers, with their washable fabric tops and slim rubber soles are both pretty and comfortable. Ideal for: the beach, picnics, vacations and just relaxing, both indoors and out. Inspired by the southwest, this shell (upper left) has glinting-gold Indian braid collar, satiny sole and tiny heel. Ballet pump (upper right) has spangle print on poplin fabric; is done in several color combinations. We show it in blueberry with blue ice print. Strapped slipper in wild apple candy stripes (lower left) is done in solid colors of licorice, blueberry and wild apple, too. Straw braid upper is used for shoe with cork wedge heel (lower right) and sling back buckled strap in poplin. This is a good sightseeing shoe for the girl who likes to see the sights on foot.—By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Miss Joyce Miller And Hoppy Mathis Exchange Vows In Home Ceremony

Miss Joyce Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Miller of Pampa, and Hoppy Mathis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mathis of Canadian, were married June 1, in the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Sanford Cole, pastor of the Durham Baptist Church, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina-length dress of chantilly lace and tulle over satin. Her mitts were white lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a white satin bandeau, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations with blue satin streamers.

Miss Beverly Mathis, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina-length dress of blue cantilly lace over taffeta. Her gloves were of white nylon, and she wore a corsage of white Frenched carnations.

Bill Miller, brother of the bride, served as bestman, and Gene and Jack Miller, also brothers of the bride, were candlelighters.

The couple was married before a setting of candelabra with blue tapers and baskets of roses and blue and white daisies. Miss Ann Cline of Canadian played traditional wedding music, and Mrs. Jerry Green sang "Through The Years."

Mrs. Miller, mother of the bride, wore a blue crepe dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a blue crepe dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

A reception following the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth and was centered with an arrangement of blue and white daisies. Mrs. Gene Cockrell of Canadian, sister of the bride, registered the guests. Miss Julia Willmoth presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Gwenette Forrest served the cake.

For the wedding trip to Eagle Nest and Red River, N.M., the bride wore a white and yellow cotton-satin dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The couple is at home at Cantwell Apartments, Canadian.

The bride attended Canadian High School. The bridegroom was graduated from Canadian High School and is now employed by the Steinberger Drilling Company in Canadian.

COOK'S NOOK

Serve Chuck Wagon Fare For Fourth of July Thrill

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

For your Fourth of July cookout, how does this sound to you?

CHUCK WAGON

Get a 2-inch steak and have the butcher cut out the fillet that surrounds the small bone. The remainder is properly ground for chopped meat. We put both steak and hamburgers on the grill at the same time. Then the youngsters who never seem to be able to wait, get first serving while the steak is still being cooked. A 6-pound chuck steak will give you a 2½ pound fillet and about 3 pounds of hamburger. This will serve 6 adults and 6 children nicely — even very hungry ones.

STEAK SANDWICHES

(Makes 12 servings)

One quarter cup salad oil, ¼ cup wine vinegar or red wine, ½ teaspoon oregano, ½ teaspoon thyme, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 medium onion, sliced, 1 clove garlic, minced, 2½ pounds chuck fillet, 2 inches thick, 2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet, 12 frankfurter rolls.

Combine all ingredients except the kitchen bouquet and cover the steak with the marinade. Allow to stand overnight or at room temperature for several hours. Drain. Brush on both sides with kitchen bouquet. Broil over moderate heat for 15 minutes on each side. Remove to platter or board and slice diagonally into thin slices, about ¼ inch thick. Serve over toasted frankfurter buns.

HAMBURGERS

(Makes 12 hamburgers)

Three pounds ground chuck, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon rosemary, 12 hamburger rolls.

Combine meat and seasonings and form into patties. Broil hamburgers over moderate heat for 8 minutes. Turn and broil for 8 minutes longer. Serve on toasted picnic buns.

Oxford-Style Work Shoes Gain Favor

Work shoes, long a basic, have joined the upsurge in men's shoe fashions with plenty of new ideas for both looks, wear and comfort. Time was when the heavier the shoe, the longer it was supposed to last and the better buy it was.

New leather treatments have changed all that. Top grade kips and oiled leathers are supple, give added protection, wear as well or better than their heavier forebears.

Neoprene soles are a big added feature. They're practically impervious to oil fertilizer and other damaging factors in farm or factory work. They are skid proof on slippery factory floors.

Who wears work shoes? Practically everybody who does any work on his feet. The postman, the truck driver, the policeman, even the desk worker who spends his weekends working on his lawn and garden. Amateur sportsmen like them too now that they are softer, more flexible on the foot.

In the old days high shoes greatly outsold any other type. But new styling has made the work oxford a big feature, especially with younger men. These are popular both in plain toe and moc styles and look very much like the regulation sports shoe except for a slightly more rugged appearance.

In some instances comfort feature shave been added for the man who needs extra support when he must be on his feet all day.

RUTH MILLET

In one southern city, representatives from all the high schools were called together to see if the children, themselves, could figure out what to do about juvenile vandalism.

They had ready answers to the problem, but it was disappointing to see that about all they did was shift the blame from the teen-agers to the parents.

One of their suggestions was that parents be made to pay for the damage their children do to property.

It didn't occur to any of these teen-agers that if a boy is old enough to be in high school and old enough to drive a car, he might just possibly be considered old enough to earn the money to pay for any malicious damage he might do.

No, they didn't think of that. "Let pop pay," was their considered opinion.

The teen-age panel also suggested that community recreation centers weren't "made attractive enough to draw active participation by teen-agers." In other words, the children were saying that it was the community's responsibility to keep teen-agers amused at all times. They were saying that if they were not amused, some of them would naturally start shotting out automobile windshields and picture windows with air rifles — just for kicks.

They didn't suggest that teen-agers might use some of their spare time to do something constructive. They just wanted their places of amusement made more enticing.

And so their suggestions went, most of them based on the child-like belief that if a teen-ager gets into trouble it is either the fault of his parents or of the community.

They didn't say just when they thought a teen-ager should assume the responsibility for his own actions.

It looked mighty like the young people thought they should have grown-up freedom without grown-up responsibilities.

FOUR EASY-TO-CARE-FOR OUTFITS make one wonderful vacation! Good news to send the young traveler packing is a travel-tested capsule vacation wardrobe that will take girls through a whole round of holiday activities with scarcely a moment's care! Introduced in a recent issue of "SEVENTEEN", the travel-worthy Arnel wardrobe boasts washability, drying speed and crease-resistance for easy care. Coordinated to meet all occasions prettily—from a morning tennis match to a super-by-the-sea — the four-piece wardrobe includes a casual shift, a one-piece playsuit, a halter bathing suit, and a date dress with matching jacket.

PERFECT for cruise or shopping spree is the cool shift of white Arnel sharkskin, which really stays white! Sport collar and self-belt are casually-cut details.

The brief one-piece playsuit, also in Arnel sharkskin, will leap neatly over tennis nets anywhere. The suit is sleeveless, and single breasted with tiny flap pockets at the hips.

The indispensable halter bathing suit will go from suitcase to sea and back again, quickly-dried with nary a wrinkle. Pretty as well as practical, it's made of an Arnel-and-cotton gingham, scattered with appliqued flowers.

To encompass all festive occasions, the wardrobe includes the pretty date dress with cummerbund-waist and camisole top in checked Arnel-and-cotton. The full skirt packs easily, thanks to Arnel's crease-resistance. And for quick cover-up, there's a matching solid-color, rib-length jacket with mandarin neckline and short sleeves.

LOOK COOL, be cool in summer whites! White dresses are now as practical as iced tea on a hot summer day, reports "Seventeen," with a snowy collection in washable, crease-resistant materials and pleated, full and sheath silhouettes.

Permanently-pleated to perfection from bateau neck to hem is one Dacron sleeveless white dress with free-moving skirt. A white-washed cotton knit sheath with square neck and back-straps is flattering contrast to a summer tan. For sudden breezes, there's a matching zipped-back jackelet with easy-going push-up sleeves.

Straight and supple as a birch is a pretty white day shift which by-passes the waistline completely. Buttons of bamboo parade down the front and more of the same decorate the back view on a smart half-belt.

STREAK through the surf in red, white and blue! Swim suits go all-American according to the magazine which features several gay patriot beach stars in sheath-slim shapes.

Seafoam white is one suit with blue and red trim at top and blue stripe down each side. Another sleek sea-farer has white mid-panel, red side-panels and is laced in blue at opposite top and bottom corners.

DAINTY flowered cottons meet their sweater-mates this summer! For bare-armed flattery in sun; light cover-up in shade, the dress-and-sweater duo is perfection.

One wallpaper print of flowers and stripes is full-skirted and sleeveless with high, square neckline. Pretty plus is a lined-to-match yellow cardigan.

The tiniest of yellow flowers are scattered over a lemonade yellow cotton with slim camisole shoulder straps. Dress bodice is lined; full gathers foam the skirt. A soft, white cardingan echos the dress with bands of print appliqued along the closing.

BABY

By BETSY WADE
NEA Staff Writer

Baby's not much interested in a stuffed egg at a picnic. But he does enjoy a whole hard-boiled egg, once he's old enough to eat egg white. He will probably prefer a hamburger to barbecue; so carry along a small one, ready to cook.

It's a sad fact, but true: on most trains, the Baby under five travels free when with his parents; on most planes, the Baby over two must pay half fare when with his parents. This is worth considering if the budget is small.

Travel services available to mothers traveling with Babies include special nurseries in many airports and train stations. If a layover is anticipated, inspect the time tables for the locations of the helpful cribs, hot plates and sinks.

Birthday Party Given For Shamrock Girl

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Mrs. Clarence Morris honored her daughter, Marilyn Sue, on her tenth birthday with a swimming party. Refreshments featured a birthday cake decorated in pink with green tapers.

Those attending were Gayle Blake, Janet Coffman, Betty Cooper, Janis Ruth Holmes, Peggy and Camilla Byers, Elaine Hardin, Zena Stribling, Judy Clay, Cheryl, Melinda, Kathy Morris, and Steven and Susan Hardin. Mrs. R. H. Francis of Perryton, the honoree's grandmother, was also a guest. Mrs. Guy Hardin assisted Mrs. Morris.

Woolen garments need a good hard brushing after each wearing to remove the invisible dust particles that act as an abrasive to the fabric. A firm brush should be used, but not one which will pull the fibers apart.

Clothes hangers should fit the shoulders of the garment so it will hang with its natural folds and hold its shape.

Woolen garments should be given a 24-hour rest in a roomy closet between wearings so the wrinkles will hang out of the fabric.

New Styles Feature Silks And Leathers In Summer Shoes

Not news, but new-looking. The summer shoe that combines silk and leather. Last summer, shantung appeared as a shoe trim, making much of pastels and bright colors.

For summer, higher styling, darker colors, types of shoes appeal to men of all ages.

Black is top choice, with brown second, but there is also interest in combinations of grey or beige with darker leathers.

Younger men particularly like the Norwegian moc blucher in these silk and leather combinations. It has a slightly dressier look than the conventional blucher and is light on the foot for hot weather.

Two-eyelet wing-tips are also featuring shantung with both smooth and grained leathers. A typical example combines brown shantung with glove soft Llama calf in a dressy wing tip with medallion toe cap. . .a smart shoe for men of all ages.

The slip-on is a natural for silk and leather — sleek, slim, sophisticated with a continental air. Here again both the moccasin toe and wing tip are features, with preference going to the moc.

Low-cut sides and high-riding or straight cut instep lines have the new look. Lights soles, soft heels and glove fit are features of these summer town fashions.

Chuck Comiskey Made Good Deal On Pitcher Jim Wilson

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE
(Reg. U.S. Pat. OFF.)
By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)— No less an authority than Casey Stengel believes that Vice President Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox may have made the key deal of the American League pennant race when he acquired 34-year old right-hander Jim Wilson from the Baltimore Orioles.

"They always said that Frank Lane could make great deals and I guess he could," the Yankees' 65-year old manager said. "But that Comiskey made a pretty good one when he got Wilson."

Stengel considers the deal so important that he's changed his mind about the Yankees' chief rival in the pennant race. Stengel rated the Cleveland Indians his most dangerous opponent during spring training but now he considers the White Sox threat more alarming.

Deal Prompts Spurt

"Getting Wilson fixed the White Sox up just right," Stengel said. "He's rounded out their pitching staff for the first time in years. It's no coincidence that they've won 25 of 36 games they've played since they got him."

The White Sox had only a 14-13 season's record when Comiskey swung the deal for Wilson but they're breathing down the Yankees' necks now and may just have enough to give Chicago its first American League pennant since 1919.

Jim had a 4-2 record with the Orioles when the Sox obtained him and has compiled a 6-2 mark with Chicago. Stengel demonstrated Monday his respect for Wilson when he named him to the American League All-Star squad — the first time in a career dating back to 1935 that Jim has been honored.

A six-foot, 195-pounder from San Diego, Calif., Wilson insists most of the credit for his brilliant showing with the White Sox "should go to our double play combination of Luis Aparicio and Nelson Fox."

"Aparicio and Fox are by far the best combination in our league and I guess the best in baseball," he explained. "That Aparicio can make any play in the book and looks like he's going to be one of the greatest shortstops of all time. Fox, of course, is the most solid defensive second-baseman in the league."

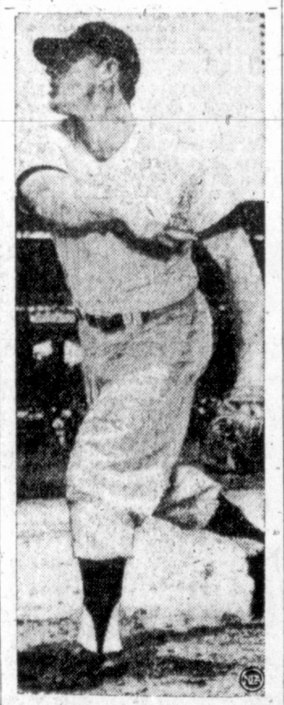

Pitched No-Hitter

Wilson pitched a no-hitter and compiled an 8-2 record for the Braves in 1954 but was sold the next season to the Orioles in a deal he admits "I'll never fathom." He had a 12-18 mark for the seventh-place Orioles last season and points out: "Wouldn't you think that proved the Braves made a mistake when they let me go? I sure could have helped when Gene Conley came down with that sore arm last year."

There were frequent reports that Jim would be traded to the Yankees during the winter and he disclosed that he finally went to Manager Paul Richards of the Orioles and asked him about the rumors.

"He told me to forget about them," Wilson recalled with a grin. "A few weeks later, I'm traded to the White Sox.

"Of course, I was hoping to go to the Yankees because they always have a chance to win the pennant," he went on. "But I couldn't be happier than I am now because don't let anybody kid you —this little team of White Sox has one helluva chance to beat those Yankees!"

KNUCKLING DOWN — Here's Mickey Mantle in a typical pre-game pose — making like a pitcher with the knuckle ball he claims to have down pat. But the Yankees prefer to see him with a bat in his powerful paws.

Pampa News Pass Atlas Tank, 15-5

The Pampa News stumbled past Atlas Tank, 15-5, in a Teen Age League, Monday evening at the Optimist Park.

Bill Walsh collected the only two hits given up by the News and tallied one run. Jimmy Butcher went the route for the news to pick up the win with the loss being chalked up to Billy Norris. Butcher walked 10 while Norris issued five walks.

The big gun in the News attack was Myerle Terrell who tallied three runs on two hits. V. Butcher, Paul Brown, Larry Ingram and Jerry Blanton each picked up two runs each for the News.

Game today: Pampa News vs Celanese, 6 p.m. at the Optimist Park.

Pampa On Road, Meets Carlsbad Tonight

The Pampa Oilers continued their drive for a first division berth Monday as the locals won their fifth straight, an 8-3 protest game, from the Plainview Ponies in a game played at Oiler Park.

Pampa had taken a 1-0 lead in the first frame and the Oilers were at bat in the second inning when the Ponies declared the game was being played under protest. Plainview's player-manager Frank Tornay argued with plate umpire Felton about the lights being turned on too early.

Charles Bogan, rookie Oiler hurler recently purchased from the Shreveport Sports of the Texas League, picked up his second win without a loss. Bogan proved to be very effective as he allowed two walks, struck out five, and threw just 94 pitches to dump the Ponies.

The Oilers' big gun was center fielder Len Tucker. Tucker picked up his 22nd four bagger of the season, his 23rd stolen base and batted in four runs.

Pampa broke the ice in the first frame. A. B. Cross singled. Jim Robinette was hit by a ball thrown by Pony starter Jack Corday, getting free transportation to first. Len Tucker followed with a solo drive to right field allowing Cross to come home.

The Ponies tied up the game for a brief period in the third frame. Corday doubled to center field, getting the first hit off the steady Oiler hurler, Bogan. Dick Hutzler whacked a double into center sending Corday in. Plainview added one run in each of the fourth and fifth innings to round out their scoring.

Len Tucker blasted a homer over the center field wall to deadlock the game in the fourth for the Oilers. Pampa came back in the fifth to shove home three more runs. Robinette doubled and Bruzga reached first on an error by first sacker Frosty Kennedy. Catcher Jim Martin then walloped a three run homer over the left field wall with Robinette and Bruzga aboard.

Pampa applied the clincher and set down any hopes of a Pony victory when they added three insurance runs in the seventh. Guzman and Cross both singled. Tucker followed with a two-base hit scoring Guzman and Cross. Then Tucker caught Pony hurler Corday off guard and stole home, much to the delight of the crowd that turned out to see the game. Davidson replaced Corday on the mound for the Ponies in the eighth.

The Oilers are currently on the road for five games. They meet Carlsbad in a two game series starting tonight and concluding with a three game stand in Roswell.

Bob Shipman, recently purchased from Brington, N.Y., a New York Yankee farm club, will be on the mound for the Oilers tonight.

Myers And Davis Retain World's Tag Team Title

Talented Sonny Myers and rugged Dizzy Davis successfully defended their world's tag team mat title against battlers Rip Rogers and Art Nelson, Monday night at the Sortsman's Club arena. The match was declared a no contest event.

Former tag team titlists Nelson and Rogers took the first fall from Myers and Davis in 12:55. Then a spectator, Homer Jobe interfered with the match as the second fall was in process and suffered minor cuts and bruises which caused an uproar with the crowd. Tommy Phelps and Farmer Jones also interfered in the second fall match with the match being stopped by referee Bill Wagner.

Farmer Jones, his eloping feet and wild bore proved too much for his opponent as he downed newcomer Tommy Phelps in the second event in two-out-of-three falls.

Phelps lost to Farmer Jones in the first fall in 7:03 and came back in the second fall to win in 6:23 with a body press.

The third fall Farmer Jones and his flying feet won the match and deciding fall as Phelps was disqualified.

Wrestling every Monday night at the Sportsman's Club arena is sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club with all proceeds to go to the Crippled Children's Hospital.

Bob Maxwell Turns To Pro Golf Line

ABILENE, Tex. (UP)— Bobby Maxwell, younger brother of golf pro Billy Maxwell, has turned professional and will join the PGA tour immediately, he announced Monday.

Bobby, who wound up his collegiate career with North Texas State last week by winning second place in the NCAA championships, becomes the fourth member of his family to enter professional golf.

His father, W. O. Maxwell, Sr., and another brother, W. O. Maxwell, Jr., are also professionals.

HEALING WITH KINDNESS

It is said that an American soldier was one day placing some flowers on the grave of a fellow comrade when he observed a Chinese placing a handful of rice in an unr at another grave. The custom seemed queer to the American and he asked, "When do you expect your departed friend to return and eat your rice?"

The Chinese replied: "Same time your friend return to smellee loses."

The use of Chiropractic to correct the cause of so many chronic ailments could appear strange if you had never been brought up to date concerning this new Health restoring method. Miller Chiropractic Clinic brings you these actual case histories from our files to encourage you to inestigate for yourself.

Dr. Gordon Miller D.C.

A lady, age 45, with a very bad spinal curvature affecting her ability to walk had tried almost everything since 1938. She had worn a brace for over nine months and still suffered from back pains, nervousness, neck rash, despondency, swollen hands, feet, face and throat, had pains in neck and shoulders and low blood pressure when she came to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic. No. 746.

Heart trouble causing shortness of breath, just walking on the street, and that heavy pressure in his chest, fatigue, indigestion, sleeplessness, pains under ribs and in back and neck and tight feeling in his head brought this thoroughly frightened middle aged father to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic not daring to hope that something might be done but still hoping. No. 937.

Both cases terminated favorably after we had corrected the nerve interferences in the spinal column that were causing the trouble.

Sure, the idea is strange and new to you and many others but it gets sick people well. You can't overlook that fact. So be good to yourself and investigate this new method. It may be the cross roads leading to the return of your health and happiness.

Freak Play

In a freak accident during the ninth frame of the Oiler-Pony tilt, Ernie Bartolomei, Oiler left-hander was struck on the right knee cap by a ball.

Bartolomei was warming up Bob Shipman in the bull pen which is located just outside of the third base line when a ball struck his knee cap and left it numb for a brief spell. The capable left-hander for the Oilers had to be helped from the field.

Team physician R. M. Brown stated that Bartolomei suffered only a bruise which shouldn't keep him from taking his regular turn on the mound.

Reds' Johnny Klippstein Is On The Beam, Beats Braves

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's muscle-men looked more menacing than ever today from their first place perch in the National League race because right-handed pitching star Johnny Klippstein apparently is back on the beam.

There is a gnawing fear among National League managers that if the Redlegs acquire just a little more pitching they can suddenly turn the wild pennant scramble into a cake-walk. With Klippstein clicking that could be the difference.

Monday night in a showdown battle with Milwaukee for first place, Cincinnati's sluggers for the most part were silenced. The only homer was by Milwaukee's Bobby Thomson.

But Klippstein, turning in his best performance in almost a month held Milwaukee to eight hits and struck out six including two when the Braves threatened in the ninth, and genuinely earned his 2-1 triumph.

Klippstein Outshines Spahn

Gus Bell, the All-Star center fielder, drove in one of Cincinnati's runs with a single and the other scored on a fumble by third baseman Thomson after Bell had set up the rally with a single.

Klippstein, outshining Milwaukee southpaw Warren Spahn, hadn't won a game since June 8. Since then he had tried four previous times for his seventh victory, losing twice and being knocked out of the box the other times. He now has a 7-4 mark.

The third place Dodgers lost ground when the Giants scored a 5-2 triumph on the strength of homers by Willie Mays and Bill Sarni and run-producing extra base hits by Jackie Brandt and Bill White. Allan Worthington gained his fourth victory with relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm. The Giants moved from eighth to sixth place with the victory.

The Cubs got steady scatter-hit pitching from Warren Hacker to defeat the Cardinals, 6-3. Hacker yielded 11 hits, at least one in every inning but the eighth. Don Hoak and Gene Baker collected three hits each for the Cubs. Hal Smith hit a St. Louis homer.

Chisox Beat Tigers

In the American League the White Sox utilized four Detroit errors to score seven unearned runs, coming from behind for a 9-3 triumph that put them within 3½ games of the idle top-dog Yankees. Two runs scored when usually reliable shortstop Harvey Kuenn fumbled a double play ball as Detroit led 3-1 in the seventh. Jim Rivera drove in the lead run with a sacrifice fly and five more unearned runs came over in the eighth on four singles, a walk, two sacrifices and two more errors.

The Red Sox came from behind to top the Senators 3-2 when Ted Williams touched off a two-run seventh inning rally with a double. Relief pitcher Ike Delock gained his third victory in six days and his fourth of the season.

There were no other major league games scheduled.

Buddy Enlistment To Help Fill "Gyroscope" Units

Two Army "Gyroscope" units, scheduled for future service in Europe, will accept direct enlistments of young men from this area who have not had prior military service, it was announced today by M-Sgt. Thurman Young, the U.S. Army Recruiting Sergeant for this area.

The 498th Engineer Battalion, now at Fort Sill, Okla., are the new "Gyroscope" units named under the Army's rotation plan of replacing units overseas with like units from the United States.

Departure date for Europe for the 534th Field Artillery Battalion will be February 1957, when it replaces the 290th Field Artillery Battalion. In April 1957, the 498th Engineer Battalion will fill the vacancy of the 54th Engineer Battalion.

"This is an excellent opportunity to see Europe and choose your branch of service, as well as being assured of serving in the same unit with friends and buddies throughout a complete enlistment," M-Sgt. Young pointed out.

Applications for enlistments in the 534th Field Artillery Battalion must be completed before July 15th, while openings in the 498th Engineer Battalion will be accepted until September 15th.

Additional information regarding this choice of Army service may be obtained from M-Sgt. Young, at the Post Office here in Pampa Thursday.

What's New Around Nation's Capitol

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — What's new in Washington:

The capital loves tourists, who drop a lot of money on their visits. Sometimes, though, they bring on headaches. The cop on the beat swears this one is gospel. It happened at a busy intersection during evening rush time. A Michigan motorist decided to make a U-turn right in the middle of the street, something against the rules.

"Hey, bub," yelled the law. "You can't do that here."

The visitor poked his head out of the window and replied:

"I think I can, if I back up a little."

The Wolverine backed and he U-turned and the man with the badge shrugged, scratched his noggin and blew his whistle at the next change of lights.

In the Commerce building they have an elevator for the exclusive use of Secretary Sinclair Weeks and his immediate staff.

The little girl operator has a lot of time on her hands and knits while she sits, purling one and dropping two. Already she has knitted three sweaters.

Jane Goodsell, who does a folksy column for the AFL-CIO news, allows in print that mere man is a nuisance in the kitchen. "men," she says, "cook when they feel like cooking and they almost never feel like cooking when people are hungry." She winds up with the remark that you couldn't expect a man to clean up the kitchen. "You wouldn't expect Toscanini to sweep the hall after a concert, would you?" Jane says.

And speaking of eating, the United Mine Workers Journal likes the one about the worker who opened his lunchbox and growled: "Cheese sandwiches!" "Why don't you ask your wife to make some other kind?" asked a fellow miner. "Wife!" cried the undergrounder. "Who's married? I made these myself."

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, the Democrat from Oklahoma, came up with another "Kerr kernel" in his newsletter. Said he: "Even if you have the best of aim, you still have to pull the trigger."

HOT NEWS—Radio telescope behind three scientists at the Naval Research Laboratory, Washington, D.C., has picked up some hot news for would be planeteers. Venus is much too warm for spacemen to date for a visit. Radio signals indicate that the second planet of our solar system has a daytime surface temperature of about 220 degrees Fahrenheit.

Rep. James C. Wright Jr., the Texas Democrat, knows what hot weather is — and Washington isn't much different from the Lone Star State. So the lawmaker goes to work early, when it's cool. He told his voters that when he gets down at a decent hour he can think and avoid the heat of the Washington streets which "feel like a shapeless sack of wet laundry."

The 4,000 National Federation of Republican Women's Clubs around the country are heading up their press releases with "Let's Go places with the NFRW."

There still is some confusion among visitors about where the President lives. Folk still walk up to guards on the Capitol grounds and want to know where the "President's home is." The White House, as all natives know, is down Pennsylvania Ave. a piece.

By UNITED PRESS

GRAND CANYON, Ariz.—Henry Hudgin, on his aerial inspection of the area in which two commercial airliners crashed, killing 128 persons:

"I flew down to within a few feet of the planes, and the biggest pieces of wreckage I saw was a wheel."

SAN FRANCISCO—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, on the civil rights record of the two major parties:

"They have been busy scratching each other's backs, while we (Negroes) have been left out in the cold."

CHICAGO — Union leader Orval Kincaid, on the steel strike:

The only thing we can do is tighten our belts and handle this in an orderly fashion."

GETTYSBURG, Pa.—Army Secretary Wilber Brucker, on whether the Communists will one day permit freedom of speech behind the Iron Curtain:

"If the free world can exercise sufficient patience, events may hasten that day."

ROXBURY, Conn.— Playwright Arthur Miller, on reporters' interest in his marriage to Marilyn Monroe:

"We've had enough publicity to last us a lifetime and we'd like to live our own private lives from here on."

WASHINGTON — Philippines Ambassador Carlos P. Romulo, on how the U.S. may better its relations with his country:

"Recognize the sovereignty of the Philippine government over the entire Philippine area."

Super-No-Roach Rids Home Of Resistant Roaches, Ants

* * *

Many housewives have made the shocking discovery that old-fashioned roach powders and sprays no longer kill roaches the way they used to.

The reason is that some roaches have developed resistance to these poisons much as flies became immune to DDT a few years ago.

But now science has produced an entirely new roach - control product that kills resistant roaches — called Super No-Roach.

No-Roach is a white viscous substance which you apply with a brush. Within minutes it dries to form a colorless, odorless contact insecticide, that stays effective for months.

Coackroaches

Apply No - Roach to cupboard walls, baseboards, near sink and cabinets, on pipes, and wherever you see cockroaches.

Ants

Brush No-Roach around table legs and counter tops, across window sills and door sills, and across ant trails. Ants will not cross the coating. Pour a few drop into ant hills.

No - Roach is also effective against resistant roaches, bedbugs, silverfish, waterbugs, spiders, and other crawling insects.

Common Sense Way

Remember, when you use Johnston's Super No-Roach, you don't have to move dishes, pots and pans, or breathe harmful vapors, as you must with contaminating sprays. Apply No-Roach just where you want it, the invisible coating stays effective for months.

Guard against crawling insects this common sense No-Roach way. 8 oz. 89 cents; pt. 1.69; qt. 2.98.

Available at Furr Foods, Buddies, Cretney's, Clyde's, Perkins, and your local food or drug store.

The Aiming Stake

By K. L. FANCHER

Preparations for Summer Camp are still under way in the 474th Field Artillery Battalion. Units are now in the process of organizing after having returned from Austin and Fort Worth. The Unit Administrative Assistants made the trip to Austin to pick up necessary clothing and equipment, and the local Service Center personnel traveled to Ft. Worth to pick up the new five ton wrecker to be used by the center.

Things have got to hum however, there are only five more weeks until the battalion leaves for Fort Sill.

This week end it will be Battery "B" of Dalhart doing the small arms firing at the Canyon Range. Each of the units of the battalion will fire small arms at Canyon sometime before summer camp.

On the local scene, Western Fence Company of Pampa received notice of the granting of a contract for the fencing that will go around a portion of the Armory site on the Miami Highway. There has still been no word as to who might have received the contract on black top for the parking area at the Armory and Service Center.

After taking a week off, Headquarters Battery will hold drill again Monday night, beginning a new fiscal year and getting things in shape for camp. We might remind those that have not already done so, to be sure to make those arrangements for camp as early as possible, the boss will appreciate it and he'll be glad to help you "Help Keep Your Guard Up!"

Interrupted Melody

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Mrs. Doris Hamsher, 30, in court on a car theft charge Thursday, told the judge why she was limping. She had been dancing to "The Tennessee Waltz," Mrs. Hamsher explained, and when the juke box flipped to a "rock and roll record, I broke my leg changing over."

Nine Attempts Foiled

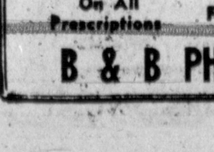

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UP) — Marriage licenses will cost $3 instead of $1 beginning Sunday, to discourage wavering applicants who might otherwise fail to pick them up after the 24-hour waiting period.

Probate Judge A. Ray Ninnant said one man "applied for nine licenses with nine different women and never picked up a license to marry any of them."

London Musician Says Fie On Hi-Fi

(This week's column is written by Reginald Kell, a musician, who, in effect, says fie on hi-fi. Kell is acclaimed today's greatest clarinetist. He wears his accolade modestly, but, by his own admission, is the world's greatest trout fisherman. A Londoner, Kell came to this country in 1948. Between concert tours, in the off (fishing) season he lives in Aspen, Colorado, where he teaches and performs in the summer music festival.)

By REGINALD KELL

Written for United Press

Permit me to make one thing clear from the start: I believe that hi-fi is the atomic age applied to sound. It can go one of two ways — either in a constructive direction, or in exactly the opposite.

It was in 1928 when I was first invited to help make a gramophone recording. The 'microphone' in those days was a large 6-foot-long metal horn, which seemed to take up most of the small studio.

It was somewhat vague, for to make an impression on it, the musician with the solo had to elbow his way through the rest of the orchestra to a vantage point — let off his solo, then make a hurried retreat back to his place in the orchestra. The finished results were a distant sound, completely round and in a way characterless, which offended or harmed no man.

Recording, and many other things, have changed during the past 28 years. For instance, we now have hi-fi, which I understand is short for "hello faithfulness". Hi-fi is a kind of clangorous crusade, which to appreciate to the full, one must cultivate microphone ears.

Aim Is Exaggeration

To me, (please remember I was born between 40 and 50 years ago), it is a caricature, with all the usual and unusual aspects of sound being presented in a naked way, for the people responsible for its development and acceptance, in order to make their point—"You haven't heard nothing yet"—must aim at exaggeration.

It reminds me of an advertisement I saw regarding the size of a television screen in one of the more comfortable hostelries on Third Avenue — "The biggest life-sized television in New York" was proudly announced!

Put your ear to the bell of a clarinet while it is being played, or close to the bridge of a violin, or in the lid of a piano, and one is faced with a revolting development.

In place of a beautiful clarinet sound, we have signs of a definite asthmatic condition, due to the breath passing the cane reed. The sound of resin and the scrape of the bow across the strings destroys one's accepted idea of true violin tone, and in the lid of the piano, chaos reigns, but these extraneous noises are the goal and stock-in-trade of the "hello faithful" boys.

Sound Will Break Glass

This is their idea of honest sound reproduction. The triangle and the snare drum become the essence of recording technique. and the whole, in the case of an orchestra, is literally shattering to the glass in one's hand.

I have an obligation to record a given number of discs each year, but now that I can no longer recognize the sound of the instrument I have spent so much of my time with during the past 35 years, due to the distorted outlook of sound engineers. I lose faith in their efforts, as they have lost sight of their objective.

I realize we do not see, or even hear, ourselves as others do, but in the same way that mirrors can distort images, so can the efforts of a few engineers and equipment distort sound.

Sure, there have been amazing improvements made in the field of sound recording since 1928, but don't let us blow the lid off this progress by encouraging a few to go too far.

Mishap Kills Houston Youth

HOUSTON, July 2 — UP — William Ahrens, 15-year-old Houston youth, was killed early Saturday when an MG sports car careened off highway 71. The car was being towed behind another vehicle, which slowed, slackening the tow chain. The chain caught one of the MG's front wheels and snapped and the sports car then spun off the road.

Will Build NTSC Dorm

DENTON, July 2—UP—The McClendon Construction Co., of Longview held a $765,000 contract Saturday for building a new men's dormitory at North Texas State College. The 300-student dormitory, scheduled for completion in the fall of 1957, will be air conditioned.

Pilferer Potted

LUCEDALE, Miss. (UP)—When the city fired night policeman Ed Walley six weeks ago, no one asked him to turn in his parking meter key along with his badge.

Walley, 36, was under arrest today for using the key to pilfer coins from the meters.

Good And Bad Of Week's News

Foreign News Commentary

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The Good

1. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said in Washington that the whole Communist world had been shaken by the official Soviet Russian disclosure of Josef Stalin's crimes. Speaking at a press conference, Dulles said that non-Russian Communist parties had shown "a very high state of dissatisfaction" with the present Kremlin leadership. "... The ties that have... bound these local Communist parties to the Kremlin have been very much shaken and loosened," he said Dulles asserted also that there is even "grave discontent and dissatisfaction" in the Russian party itself. He hinted that the leadership of Nikita S. Khrushchev, leader of the party, might have been weakened.

2. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chief of staff of the Air Force, did some plain speaking after his arrival in Moscow on a visit to the Soviet air force. He said at a reception that the United States "completely disbanded" its armed forces after World War II. It was then necessary, Twining said, to build the forces again for the Korean War. "We are not going to reduce (again) until we are sure of world-wide arms control," he said.

3. The United Nations Security Council rejected a demand by 13 Arab and Asian countries that it debate the issue of French rule in Algeria. The vote was seven to two, with Nationalist China and Yugoslavia abstaining. The council majority took the view that U.N. interference could only impede a settlement of the dispute.

The Bad

1. Riots and strikes, and reported assassination plots, threatened trouble in several Latin American republics. In Guatemala, the government said it had unearthed a Communist subversive plot. Four persons were killed in anti-government riots, undoubtedly fomented by the Communist underground, in Guatemala City. The government imposed a state of siege, comparable to martial law. In Peru, riots accompanied a nationwide strike by 100,000 unionized workers. The government was compelled to suspend constitutional guarantees. Strikes broke in the big copper and nitrate mines in Chile. There were reports of plots to assassinate President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and President Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil.

2. Anti-American parties won a parliamentary election in Iceland, where the United States has important air bases. The anti-American coalition, which demands that United States forces be ousted, failed to win a majority in parliament. But the Communists now hold the balance of power. Officials in Washington said that the United States will withdraw if a formal demand is made after the formation of a new government.

3. Extremist violence intensified in Cyprus at a moment when the British government planned an attempt to renew negotiations on the future of the island. Extremists who demand that Cyprus be given to Greece bombed the automobile of a United States consular official. They had killed a United States vice consul in a bombing on June 16. Attacks on Britons and on Greek and Turkish Cypriots continued.

Wheel Of Fortune

NEW YORK (UP) — Gypsy fortune teller Mary Rossini told a young caller Thursday she would "lose her husband" unless she made a fat donation. The caller, policewoman Arlene Van Dunk arrested the fortune teller. Miss Van Dunk is not married.

No Stings, No Honey

BONN, Germany (UP) — A stingless bee has been bred by an institute in Lower Saxony, according to a West German government bulletin. The only thing is, the new breed has less desire to swarm and make honey.

Kiwanis Directors' Meeting Set

Kiwanis Club President Ralph McKinney announced Friday that the regular club directors' meeting will be held in Lovett Memorial Library Thursday at 7 p.m.

McKinney also urged all club members needing makeups to attend the meeting.

Barbara and Dorothy Blair entertained the club at the regular Friday noon meeting with a program of songs including popular, classical and semi-classical solos and duets.

Song sung by the pair included "If I Loved You," "You'll Never Walk Alone," a take off on "Hero," "Blue Moon," "Somebody Loves Me," the last two sung simultaneously, and a duet from "The Marriage of Figaro."

An inter-club visit to the Downtown Amarillo Kiwanis Club will be made July 9, according to McKinney, who urged all golfers to attend the inter-club and participate in the scheduled golf match between the two clubs after the meeting.

McKinney also stated that committee reports will be due by next Friday. The reports are to be turned in to club secretary, Malcolm Hinkle.

Club guests included Dr. Don Barker, Thurman Adkins, John Pitts, John Thurman of Perryton and Susie Johnson.

Call In Hypnotist

TRENTON, N.J. (UP) — Miss Shirley Weiss, 22, cautiously agreed to submit to hypnosis today, at the request of her employers, who operate a radio station.

The station sold a safe to a Pennsylvania newspaper, but after the sale was completed, it turned out Miss Weiss forgot the combination, which she alone knew.

A hypnotist will probe Miss Weiss' subconscious for the important set of numbers.
