The SDN COLUMN

The Snyder "sparkle book" went to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce yesterday, and merely transferring the huge volume from the city hall to a car outside was no small chore.

Gene Merrifield, the Chamber of Commerce Manager, talked City Manager George Patterson into making the trip to Abilene with him to deliver the book. The truly king-sized compilation of exhibits shows a multitude of examples of projects in Snyder during the past two years that have enhanced the appearance of the city.

The exhibits will be in competition with those of many other cities within the 132-county area encompassed by the WTCC. It was a subtle method of stimulating some improvements and beautification projects throughout the WTCC territory, and like a lot of other projects, it came just in advance of San Antonio's HemisFair.

If I said the book was as large as the Chamber of Commerce manager himself, someone would question the accuracy. But it required two men to load the book for transport.

Merrifield and Brud Boren were stimulated somewhat by a message from Frank X. Tolbert, the Dallas Morning News columnist Tolbert contacted Merrifield over the weekend and requested some information on our white buffalo.

John Ben Shepperd had told Tolbert about the buffalo, and Tolbert indicated that he would welcome an opportunity to tell the people of Texas about it in his widely circulated column. The buffalo, located on the northwest corner of the courthouse square, is a replica of a white beast slain by J. Wright Mooar in what is now Scurry County.

There was general dismay around Snyder High School when students reported for classes Monday. Someone had mutilated the new bulletin board, which had just been completed and put into service by the Student Council. The first attraction advertised on the new facility was last Friday night's Snyder - Brownfield basketball game. It was left over the weekend, but sometime Sunday night some of the letters were taken off and others were twisted and mutilated.

Students and faculty alike were disturbed, to say the least. Through the years, pride in their school facilities has been one of the distinguishing traits of the Snyder High School student body. Consequently, the incident of the sign was particularly puzzling. Of course students of the school may not be responsible, but it doesn't necessarily lessen the sting. The Student Council had put in a lot of time and raked and scraped to gather up money for the bulletin board project— WACIL McNAIR.

DEATH TOLL CLIMBING

New Tremors Hit Sicily

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)— The casuality toll in Sicily's catastrophic earthquake moves steadily up today as new tremors spread more panic through the devastated western tip of the Mediterranean's largest island.

The unofficial toll rose to more than 300 dead, nearly 1,500 persons missing and more than 1,500 injured. Officials said with that many missing, the final death toll might be 500 or 1,000.

As new waves of undulating shocks toppled ruined walls in shattered communities, a growing army of rescue workers fought against the clock in a desperate search for buried survivors still alive under the ruins.

Gigantic bonfires lit up the snowy fields and vineyards where thousands of refugees spent the night in the open. Families salvaged chairs and tables from the rubble of their villages, eating bread and milk brought by rescue workers and reliving the catastrophe before dawn Monday.

Tens of thousands of survivors of the island's worst earthquake in 60 years spent the freezing night out of doors, wrapped in all the clothes they could find and in blankets rushed in by rescue teams.

Several more tremors rolled through the area during the night, convincing the survivors of the desirability of remaining outside.

Even in the two largest cities of western Sicily, Palermo and Trapani, where there was no serious damage, hundreds bedded down in cars and tents.

The havoc Monday evoked memories of the terrible earthquake of 1908 that crumpled the city of Messina and took 75,000 lives.

The greatest blow Monday was the collapse of an emergency hospital at Montevago. About 200 persons were believed killed in the wreckage. Another 100 persons were reported missing at Montvago.

Gibellina, with 7,000 inhabitants, was totally destroyed and so was the smaller town of Salaparuta. The major part of eight other towns was badly damaged.

The stricken area was a triangle whose corners are the towns of Salemi, Poggioreale and Santa Margherita di Belice. It is considered a Mafia stronghold.

Italian President Giuseppe Saragat scheduled a flight from Rome today for a first-hand look at the disaster area. Interior Minister Paolo Emilio Taviani toured the section Monday. Pope Paul VI sent what the Vatican called a "conspicuous" amount of aid money, and city and provincial councils throughout Italy set aside contributions for the homeless.

Some 2,900 firemen and soldiers have so far been dispatched to the island off the Italian boot. Convoys of airplanes, helicopters, trucks and ships made their way to Sicily all day with food, medicine, tents and clothing.

Five ships of the British Navy were en route with 1,000 blankets and supplies, and a Royal Air Force plane with doctors and attendants flew to the island.

U.S. officials advised the government they were prepared to transport tons of supplies if needed.

Two U.S. Air Force planes flew from Germany to Trapani with 1,000 blankets, 600 tents, emergeney food rations and two medical teams. The planes also carried trucks to distribute the supplies.

In Rome, U.S. Ambassador Frederick Reinhardt turned over $50,000 in disaster funds for the stricken area.

3 Ambushes By Guerrillas

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong soldiers killed 14 South Vietnamese infantry men and wounded 32 in their third ambush of the day Monday, but the Vietnamese caught up with the guerrillas eight hours later and killed 40, South Vietnamese headquarters reported.

The South Vietnamese were ambushed in the coastal lowlands 357 miles northeast of Saigon, while U.S. troops reported two ambush attempts on American supply convoys 75 miles apart in the central highlands.

U.S. spokesmen said 37 Communists and three Americans were killed in the two clashes, and 23 Americans were wounded. They said damage to the convoys was light.

The South Vietnamese Infantry company was on a road-opening mission when the guerrillas pounced on it. A battalion of South Vietnamese reinforcements, backed up by armored personnel carriers, chased the Viet Cong.

Besides killing 40 guerrillas, the pursuers reported capturing nine weapons. They said one of their men was killed and two were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters also reported that last week was one of the bloodiest of the war for government troops, with 357 soldiers killed, 946 wounded and 110 missing or captured. The high casualties resulted from a Communist offensive that began just after the New Year's truce.

Many of the casualties were militiamen, hit when guerrillas attacked outposts.

The government also reported 2,216 Communist soldiers were killed last week, 605 by government troops and 1,611 by American and other allied forces. U.S. weekly casualty figures will not be announced until Thursday.

U.S. Command reported one other firefight Monday, a 25-minute clash 59 miles northwest of Saigon and nine miles from the Cambodian frontier. Four men of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division were killed and 29 wounded.

Vehicle Bids Are Opened By County

County Commissioners yesterday accepted bids for two vehicles.

A low bid of $1,696.74, submitted by Wilson Motors, for a pickup for the park department was accepted with trade-ins.

The other bid, for a new road truck for Precinct 4, was awarded to Snyder Truck and Tractor Co. They, also, were apparent low bidder with an offer of $2,866.77 which includes trade-in.

Papandreou May Return To USA

PARIS (AP) —Leftist Greek political leader Andreas Papandreou arrived in exile from Greece today and said he "no doubt will go on to the United States.

"Whether I will go to Washington, go back to teaching, or what, I cannot say now," said Papandreou. "I will be able to tell you in a few days."

Papandreou, 48-year-old son of ex-Premier George Papandreou, was arrested when the military junta seized control of the government last April 21. He was released on Christmas Eve after promising to live quietly and make no statements to newsmen.

Andreas had been the chief target of the military coup. Rightist military leaders accused him of leading a leftist plot to take Greece out of the North Atlantic alliance and feared his father's party would win the elections that were to have been held in May.

He was accompanied to Paris by his wife, the former Margaret Chant of Chicago, three of their children, and his mother. His oldest son went to the United States last week to visit his mother's family in Chicago.

Andreas was hospitalized overnight early this month after a fainting spell. Friends said he had lost a great deal of weight in prison and was very weak.

Papandreou came to the United States in 1940, took a doctorate in economics at Harvard, became an American citizen and got a commission in the U.S. Navy. After the war he taught at Harvard, the University of Minnesota, Northwestern and for six years at the University of California in Berkeley.

Eugene Locke In Governor's Race

DALLAS (AP) — Eugene Locke, the deputy ambassador to South Vietnam, is resigning and will come back to his native Texas to enter the Democratic race for governor, the Dallas Times Herald said today.

The newspaper reported in a copyrighted Washington story that Locke apparently received pledges of plentiful campaign money and support to make the gubernatorial race.

Incumbent Gov. John Connally, also a Democrat, has announced he will not seek a fourth term. Locke, 50, in 1962 was state campaign manager for Connally.

Locke was appointed ambassador to Pakistan in 1966 and was appointed deputy ambassador to South Viet Nam less than a year later.

Locke was in Dallas over the Christmas holidays, apparently to line up support for the gubernatorial bid.

N-Ship To Delay Visit

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S. nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise may be delayed a day or two, but she will definitely visit Japan this week, informed sources said today.

With leftist students gathering at Sasebo by the hundreds to demonstrate against the Enterprise's visit, a Japanese government spokesman said earlier there was a chance the 75,000-ton ship might postpone her visit. Other sources said later in the day the ship, originally expected Thursday, may be delayed until Friday or Saturday but definitely will come.

The Enterprise reportedly ran into rough seas off the Bonin Islands, in the Western Pacific.

Masashi Ishibashi, chairman of the Socialist party's executive committee, said the Enterprise was delaying her arrival at Sasebo "because she is afraid of the demonstrations opposing her visit."

Drawing Of Coliseum On Phone Book

A drawing of the entrance of the Scurry County Coliseum is featured on the cover of the new, joint Snyder - Hermleigh telephone directory which will be distributed this week.

Gary Stevens, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, said directories were being mailed to all customers in both towns today. However, the new directories are not to be used until Jan. 21, when all-numeral numbers and Extended Area Service between Hermleigh and Snyder are effective.

Stevens said approximately 8,200 directories will be distributed. There will be 34 pages of alphabetical listings in the Snyder section and two pages of listings in the Hermleigh section. The directory will contain 84 pages of Yellow Pages advertising.

"We are happy to feature the coliseum on the directory cover," Stevens declared. "We feel the building is a definite point of pride for Snyder, Scurry County and the surrounding area."

Files Against God And Co.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — God—and his agents in Lake Worth—are being sued for $25,000 by an accident victim whose injuries were attributed by a jury to an act of God.

The man, who identified himself as George Albricht, an electrician, paid a $17.50 filing fee and handed astounded circuit court clerks copies of his allegations to distribute to the defendants.

They include 32 Lake Worth churches and synagogues lumped by the plaintiff under the term "God and Co."

Albrecht claimed he was injured in 1964 when a rain-sodden sidewalk collapsed under him. The defendants in the first suit were a construction firm and the city of Lake Worth, a suburb of West Palm Beach.

BELT-TIGHTENING PROGRAM

Britain Calls Home Armed Forces

LONDON (AP) —Prime Minister Harold Wilson announced today the withdrawal of all British armed forces from the Far East and the Persian Gulf by the end of 1971.

Unfolding his austerity program before the House of Commons, he also announced a campaign to slash benefits in social welfare.

Although the intention is to leave the Far East by 1971, Wilson said his government was prepared to continue aiding Britain's Commonwealth partners in Southeast Asia through a "joint air defense system for Malaysia and Singapore." Britain will also train personnel to operate the system.

Wilson announced cancellation of a contract to purchase 50 American F111 swing-wing bombers at a cost of $1.02 billion.

The prime minister was grim faced as he rose in the House of Commons to announce details of the Labor government's drive to make Britain solvent.

Princess Margaret was in the gallery sitting near Wilson's wife.

The prime minister said Britain's future foreign role will have to depend on its ability to pay.

"We have to come to terms with our role in the world," Wilson declared.

He told the House Britain will retain its bases in Europe from which forces can be deployed overseas in time of conflict.

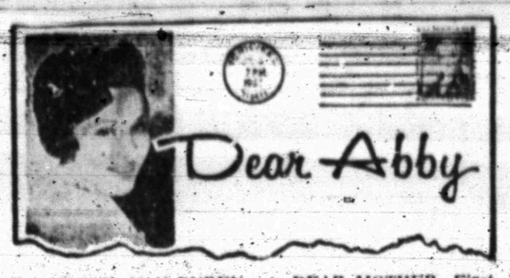

The prime minister said the F111 cancellation will mean a saving to this country of $960 million even when penalty costs for cancellation are taken into consideration.

His announcement of the cancellation brought cheers from Labor benches in the House.

Wilson's austerity package was the result of more than 30 hours of tough wrangling within his government over the past week.

"Our purpose in this review is to make devaluation of the pound) work because until we do, until we are earning year in, year out, a substantial surplus on overseas payments, we are unable internally or externally, to do all the things which as a nation we would like to do," the prime minister said.

"Abroad it means reassessing our role in the world and realistically limiting commitments and outgoings to our true capacity."

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter wrote a letter to you, but she didn't mail it. I found it on her desk. Everything she wrote was true, but she left out a few very important facts. Here is her letter:

"Dear Abby,

I am a 16-year-old "in trouble," and my mother refuses to let me get married. The boy I'm going with is 19 and wants to marry me. We've gone together for seven months. My mother THINKS she is going to send me to a home for unwed mothers and get me to give the baby up, but she is altogether mistaken and I have told her so.

CARES"

Abby, I think you ought to know that my daughter is not yet 16. The boy is married, but not living with his wife. He says he will get a quick divorce and marry my daughter, but in my eyes he will make a very poor husband.

I want her to go to a home for unwed mothers and give her baby up, but she doesn't want to.

Abby, is it such a terrible thing for a girl to give her baby to a family who can give it all the advantages if the girl is not equipped to care for it?

I married at 16, had a family right away, and had to raise my children alone as my husband walked out on me. No one knows how rough this kind of life can be unless she has gone thru it.

I wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy, let alone my own daughter. I want her to finish high school, go on to college, and meet a nice man who will marry her and give her a better life than I have had.

She's pretty and intelligent and could easily do it if she doesn't spoil everything now. She has already made one mistake. How can I keep her from making two?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: First, I don't think it is so "terrible" to give a baby up for adoption if the mother is not "equipped" to care for it. (By "equipped" I don't mean with material things. I refer to a good home with two parents who love each other and have a solid marriage.)

A 19-year-old married boy who as "gone with" a girl who is not yet 16, and has gotten her pregnant, is not my idea of a very promising husband. Even if he were to get a "quick divorce" and marry the girl, it would offer no real solution.

If your daughter is wise, she'll listen to you. If she won't listen to you, I hope she'll read these words, and listen to me. I agree with you wholeheartedly.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended an open-house party honoring a couple who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. I took them a very nice gift.

I noticed a beautiful three-tier wedding cake on the buffet table, but the guests were served plain home-baked cake. Far as I know, no one even got a taste of the beautiful wedding cake.

I can't understand why anyone would order an expensive cake to serve 100 people, and then give their guests plain, home-baked cake. I was very much insulted.

Both guests of honor have high blood pressure and diabetes and cannot eat sweets anyway. Was I wrong to feel insulted?

GUESTS WITH A GIFT

DEAR GUEST: If you are suggesting that your gift entitled you to a piece of the "beautiful wedding cake," I think you're wrong. Whether one serves the anniversary cake to guests, saves it to eat privately, or lets it petrify, should be of no concern to the guests.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: In reply to the rude ones who ask others how old they are, I have had a stock answer for years. I simply say, "I'm over 21." It's true. I'm WAY over 21.

Capitol Hill Still Calling For Federal Spending Cut

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The money message from Capitol Hill to the White House as Congress reassembled wasn't changed from last year: President Johnson must cut spending if he wants a tax hike.

There was little official action Monday with the launching of the second session of the 90th Congress but there was talk domestic spending must be cut.

It came from Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee.

Johnson's proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, submitted to Congress last year, is still in Mills' tax-writing committee. The Arkansas Democrat said it will stay there until he sees the President's new budget, due for presentation before Jan. 29.

Mills said his committee will challenge any increases over the current fiscal year's domestic spending. He said a spending hike of $10 billion to $12 billion would violate his precondition for backing a tax hike—that spending be held at current levels or cut back on anything except Vietnam-related projects or fixed outlays such as interest on the government debt.

But he wouldn't pinpoint for newsmen just how much of a hike he would tolerate.

"A $10 billion to $12 billion increase in spending would just equal what the surtax would yield," Mills said. "Imposing a surtax under those circumstances doens't give any assurance that the time will ever come when we don't need it."

Dirksen said it is time to delay or "stretch out" already authorized spending on some domestic programs. He cited the multibillion-dollar space program as an example.

Bow, who led a successful $4.1 billion economy drive last year, said the House GOP goal for spending cuts this year—with Vietnam projects excepted—may range from $8 billion to $13 billion.

He said in an interview Republicans would try to hold the spending total to about $137 billion in the administrative portion of the budget.

Bow said if reports are true the administrative budget may range from $145 billion to $150 billion, it will indicate Johnson "is not going to take the initiative in cutting spending."

Although spending was a key issue on the first day of the session, the House took time to authorize pay increases for administrative assistants to top congressional leaders.

This action allows the assistants to get the same pay hikes voted by Congress last year for other federal workers at the similar salary range of $26,000 to $28,000.

In other opening-day congressional developments:

—Sources said that while Johnson's package of tax revision proposals may reach Congress this spring, it's unlikely there will be a push for passage until next year at the earliest.

—Speaker John W. McCormack urged Congress to try to adjourn by Aug. 1, guaranteeing members sufficient time to campaign for the fall elections.

—The Senate adjourned until the President's State-of-the-Union message Wednesday night. On Thursday it launches debate that members say could develop into a filibuster on a civil rights bill to protect Negroes and civil rights workers from racially motivated violence.

—Some 3,000 women came to Washington to tell Congress they want the Vietnam war stopped. They were led by former Rep. Jeannette Rankin, 87, of Montana. Miss Rankin was the only member of Congress to vote against America's entry into both World War I and World War II.

Solons May Again Debate Viet Bombing

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newly reconvened Congress appears headed for another debate on U.S. bombing of North Vietnam in the wake of a nonpartisan group's assessment that U.S. air attacks offer no "cut-rate route to victory."

As the 90th Congress reassembled Monday for its second session, the group that includes former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and retired Army Gen. Omar N. Bradley said the military effectiveness of the bombing was overrated—while contending it is not the obstacle to peace talks its critics contend.

A march to Capitol Hill by some 3,000 women opposing U.S. participation in Vietnam also focused congressional attention on the war.

A number of congressmen were quick to react to the statement on U.S. bombing by the Citizens Committee for Peace and Freedom in Vietnam. A special panel of the committee, which included Eisenhower, Bradley, former Illinois Sen. Paul H. Douglas and former Harvard President James B. Conant, said:

"Bombing is a military tool which supports and helps protect America's fighting men now committed in Vietnam. However, bombing is only one of America's weapons. It is not a panacea—it is not a cure-all. It is not a cut-rate route to victory."

The group concluded the beginning of any extended pause in air attacks "must be promptly followed by Hanoi's cessation of sending men and materials into the South and any firing from the North upon our fighting men."

President Johnson has made clear the United States would expect reciprocal action if it calls off the air attacks. Nguyen Duy Trinh, North Vietnam foreign minister, has said that if the bombing is halted Hanoi "will hold peace talks" but has not pledged any slowdown in the Communist war effort.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk moved Monday to assure South Vietnam's leaders that the United States will make no decisions on peace negotiations without consulting them, and will not try to impose a coalition government in Saigon.

Rusk's statement, read to newsmen by State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey, came on the heels of a Saigon speech in which President Nguyen Van Thieu indirectly told the United States to avoid peace efforts in which it did not have the full consent of the South Vietnamese government.

McCloskey said the State Department is carefully studying the Trinh statement.

Painting Less Inventive Than American Sculpture

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1967 Whitney Annual is larger and more varied than ever, and brings together more new artists. But it tends to demonstrate that current American painting contains less exploratory inventiveness than American sculpture.

The Whitney Museum of American Art alternates its annual shows between painting and sculpture.

This year it is painting's turn, and the impression is that the show is not as full of innovative excitement as last year's review of current sculpture.

Participation in the 36-year-old series of exhibitions is by invitation, and there are no prizes. More artists were invited this year — 165, each represented by one work.

There are 61 artists appearing in the Annual for the first time, and the geographical distribution is better than it used to be. In part this is the result of the frequent trips made across the country this year by members of the museum's staff, through the financial help of the Ford Foundation.

The 165 artists reside in 17 states, Washington and several European cities. Predominating as usual are the New Yorkers, but most of these have moved in from other parts of the country.

California is represented by 24 artists, including several of the "funk art" school that has developed there. Chicago all members of the "Hairy Whos" group of that city.

All the current trends are in the show — hard - edge abstraction, "Pop," "Op," geometric patterns, kinetic art, shaped canvases, minimal art and giganticism.

But is any art lover has been hoping for a breakthrough of new ideas, he is likely to be disappointed.

After all, new movements can't be expected every 12 months on the dot.

Virtually all the works in the show have been created in the past two years, which would seem to give an advantage to the younger generation. But that doesn't mean the old timers have been omitted.

There are several generations. Georgia O'Keeffe, at 80, is the oldest artist in the exhibit. Among the "Real Old Timers" are Jack Levine, whose "The Great Society" is a reminder of the social conflict themes he was doing years ago; Mark Tobey, still engaged in calligraphic designs; Ben Shahn, who seems to be as vigorous as ever, and Philip Evergood.

There is another group that gradually has acquired the "Old Timer" label whether they like it or not.

For example, Helen Frankenthaler, whose abstract "Flood" is in the huge size (124 by 140 inches) now popular; Willem de Kooning, who still is doing those swirling masses of color with a suggestion of the human figure; and Adolph Gottlieb, who still is making those solar effusions as seen through a fog of color.

Another veteran is Josef Albers, represented by another "Homage to the Square." One of his disciples, Richard Anuskiewicz, is back with an Op Art example.

It is interesting that among the more recent stars of popular fame, Andy Warhol has been included in a Whitney Annual for the first time. His contribution to the show is a silk screen "Portrait of Holly Solomon," in which the girl's face is repeated in different color combinations in nine duplicated sections, in the manner of his Marilyn Monroe portrait.

Other familiar names in the annual are James Rosenquist, Larry Poons Roy Lichtenstein, Ellsworth Kelly, Jasper Johns, Robert Indiana and Jim Dine. Among the exponents of the more recent minimal art school is Kenneth Noland.

One of the newcomers to the Annual, Robert Huot, is an example of the artists now interested in gigantic size. His "The Rolls Painting" is a combination of plain oblong patterns, 10 feet by 13 feet, 4 inches.

The recent blurring of distinctions between sculpture and painting results in a few examples that could have been classified either way.

One is David Novros' pattern of five sections of glass fiber, painted white. Another is Seven Lukin's "Ooze," a shaped representation of that concept.

It could be that in the future the Whitney will have some problems in deciding whether to put a new work into a painting show or a sculpture show.

Filbert Sand Cookie

1-3 cup butter
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup grated toasted filberts (use a rotary hand device)
2-3 cup unsifted regular flour

In a medium mixing bowl, cream butter, sugar and vanilla. Add filberts and flour; with hands blend thoroughly. Using 1 tablespoon for each, shape into balls; place about 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheets; with palm of hand, flatten to a little more than ¼-inch thick; if edges crack, mold together. Bake in a 325 -- degree oven until lightly browned — about 20 minutes. Makes about 20. (To toast filberts, bake in a single layer in a shallow pan in a 300-degree oven, shaking pan a few times — 5 to 15 minutes. Rub off as much of the brown skin as you can.)

The piano accordion was not introduced in the United States until 1910, when it came to the vaudeville stage from Europe.

Judge McCloud To Be On Panel At Ira PTA

Mr. Austin McCloud, 32nd District Judge of Colorado City, will be moderator for a youth panel at the Ira PTA meeting Thursday at 4 p.m. in the school study hall.

The panel will consist of Ira High School students and the topic for discussion will be "Pressures of Youth Today."

Everyone in the Ira community and neighboring areas are invited to attend according to Mrs. J. L. Byars, publicity chairman.

Allegro Meets With Miss Griffin

The Allegro Junior Music Club held their January meeting in the home of Julia Griffin.

President Dee Peveler opened the meeting with the Junior Hymn, collect and national pledge.

A brief business meeting was held by the president during which plans to attend the Junior Music Club Festival in Lubbock, in March were made. Members received their club magazine "Junior Key Notes."

The program, "Obey The Classic Rules" was presented by Dee Peveler. Various degrees of loudness and softness and fastness and slowness of music was explained as examples were played on the piano. Members were then instructed to listen for the four changes in the selections. "By The Fireside" by Schumann, played by Amber Walker; "Jazz Prelude" be Nevin, played by Debbie Sadler; and "Barefoot Boy" by Makrey's played by Janna Tharp.

Refreshments were served to one new member, Toni Townsend, and 15 regular members, Debra Davis, Susie and Mack Walker, Beth Herrington, Julia Griffin, Trussha Farquhar, Lynn Bollinger, Laurie Bethel, Ginger Howell, Janna Tharp, Bryant Young, Debbie Sadler, Jonlyn Thomas, Amber Walker, Dee Peveler, and Mrs. Jack Patchell, club sponsor.

What Would Be The Price Of Proposed Bombing Halt?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — What does the price tag say?

If the United States called a pause in the bombing of North Vietnam, and if the North Vietnamese responded by slowing down their fighting in South Vietnam, then, the pause would be worth it and peace talks might get started.

If the United States stopped bombing the North in the hope of a reciprocal response but the North used the pause to build up its forces in the South with men and supplies, U.S. ground forces in the South would have to pay the price.

So far the North has never shown any intention of slowing down its own side of the war when there was an American pause. But the calls for a bombing halt, temporary or permanent, go on.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield is the latest one to oppose the bombing. He wants a permanent halt to it.

He thinks what the North said on New Year's Day may be "one small indication" that, if the United States stopped the bombing the North Vietnamese might be willing to talk peace.

This is what he said Sunday. He was referring to the North Vietnamese statement Jan. 1 that an end to the bombing will bring peace talks. In the past Hanoi had only said such U.S. action could—rather than will—bring talks.

But North Vietnam really didn't make it that simple.

Hanoi said there will be peace talks if the United States unconditionally ends the bombing and all other acts of war. But it didn't say it would stop its end of the war if the United States met its demands.

And so far President Johnson, thinking of the price tag, has refused to end the bombing. Instead, he is trying to find out what exactly North Vietnam will do if the bombing stops.

But Mansfield went beyond just hoping for the best. He said of the bombing, and gave it as a principal reason for wanting the bombing stopped altogether, whether or not the North Vietnamese respond:

"I think that militarily it has not accomplished its objective, politically I think it's very risky, and morally I think it's quite calamitous."

On Monday, a committee of distinguished men, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, tried to take a detached view of the bombing problem. Some of the others in this group are retired General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, and Paul Douglas, former senator from Illinois.

The group—called the Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam—published a pamphlet giving the two sides of the argument about ending the bombing of the North. But it also offered conclusions of its own.

It said the bombing is not as central to the American effort in Vietnam as some of its proponents claim nor as much of an obstacle to negotiations as its opponents claim.

It said the war cannot be won in the air by bombing the North. But the bombing is a help to American ground forces fighting in the South and the war can be lost on the ground, the group said.

But the committee takes pretty much the same position as Johnson has, saying: "We believe that the beginning of an extended bombing pause must be promptly followed by Hanoi's cessation of sending men and materials into the South and any firing from the North upon our fighting men."

Rainmaking is becoming an accepted industry, though many questions remain unanswered. Weather modification programs have been carried out in Japan, Mexico, Colombia, Russia, Israel, Australia and the United States.

Here's A Simple Test Of Status

Status Test Gratis: How to Tell if You're Forging Ahead or Falling Behind.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you forging ahead or falling behind in the old rat race?

Just as you go to the doctor for an annual physical overhaul, it is wise to give your status a periodic checkup, for in our civilization a fellow who has lost his status is in a social graveyard — whether he knows it or not.

But how can one be sure, since sometimes even your best friend won't tell you?

Well, here's a simple status test gratis. You're still climbing up the ladder, if —

You have more credit cards in your wallet than you do pictures of your family.

Other guys in the office washroom stand respectfully aside when you reach for a towel to dry your hands.

You received 10 more Christmas cards last year than you did the year before.

The bookies call you to see if you want to place any racetrack bets instead of waiting for you to phone them.

Either you take a winter vacation in Florida or manage — sometime between the first of January and the middle of March — to attend an important business convention in Arizona, Honolulu, Puerto Rico or the Bahamas.

Whereas formerly you used to take your family ice skating at a local pond, you now take them for a weekend at a ski resort.

You are considering taking up polo because the people you meet on golf links these days seem to have become so dreadfully common. Naturally, you gave away your bowling ball long ago.

Most of the groceries your family consumes are delivered to the rear door, and you settle the bill by check.

Your wife puts in more time at her hairdresser's than used to spend shopping for bargains at the supermarket.

The reason that you don't make an annual contribution to your college's alumni fund isn't that you can't afford to — it's because of annoyance that you haven't been elected yet to the board of trustees.

If there are any leftovers in your refrigerator, the maid is the one who has to eat them.

The gin you drink in your martinis is bottled for you by a snobbish little old boozemaker in Britain who sells only to a clientele that has been especially recommended.

When your pet dog gets sick, you don't take him to the veterinarian. You are so important that the veterinarian makes a house call.

Instead of playing the numbers game, you now play the stock market. You like to brag when you make a killing even though, as you admit ruefully to close friends, "it'll only muddy my tax picture."

In your home you keep a pistol and rifle hidden, just in case the Communists should change their tactics and attack the outer suburbs where you live.

Now and then you wonder whether the game is worth the candle.

Brother, you don't have to worry about lack of status. Your problem is to keep from being suffocated by status.

A Junior Editors Quiz About FLAGS

QUESTION: Where did the idea of flags come from?

* * *

ANSWER: Flags originated because ancient armies needed conspicuous symbols which could be held high and would tell what was happening in the battle. By seeing where the flags were, generals could plan their strategy—and the fighting men would know where the enemy was and in what direction to throw their spears. Flags also served as symbols of a nation's power and pride. The Egyptian kings had a chariot sent in advance of them with a tall pole and long streamers, by which all men could know that the Pharaoh was coming! The Romans developed such flag-like symbols further, by having them identified with various units of their armies. In later days, a cross on a flag identified Christians as they fought with various non-Christian peoples. Many countries still use flags with a cross design, a good example being that of Denmark, a white cross on a red ground. This flag has represented the Danish state for more than 700 years. Many modern flags represent the unity and authority of all the people in a country. Such is our Stars and Stripes, of which we are so proud.

Hopeful Bengals Test Sweetwater

Unless they let their guard down, Snyder's Tigers should easily capture their fifth straight triumph in the District 3-AAA basketball race at Sweetwater tonight. Tipoff is on tap for 8 p.m. in the new Pony gym following a "B" team clash at 6:15 p.m.

Coach Ned Underwood's Tigers clipped Brownfield twice in their last outing and will be big favorites to tame the Mustangs.

Possible starters include Mickey Almond and Tommy Bullard, Drake Snyder, Frankie Grimmett and Jerry January.

The Ponies haven't fared so well in district play after compiling a respectable 7-5 non-loop record under new coach Jessie Walker. They suffered successive losses to Levelland (88 - 44), Littlefield (61 - 60), Brownfield (71-59) and to Dunbar (91-42).

However, they could present the Tigers with some difficulty if Bill Donnelly and Harold Williams have a good night. Both hit consistently in double figures. Donnelly, a 6-1 senior, averaged 18.5 points per tilt in non-district action while Williams, who is one of the better underclassmen in the district, posted a 16.1 average. Sidney Green, a 6-4 senior, is tough under the boards and he hit for a 15.8 average during non - loop tilts. Bobby Towell is another top-notch newcomer.

Snyder has its work cut out for it during the final three games of the first round. The Tigers take on Dunbar in Lubbock Friday, then test Lamesa there the following Tuesday (Jan. 23).

Possible starters for Coach Jerry McLeod's "B" team tonight are Wesley Bishop, Randy Rushing, Lee McNair, Dennis Carlton and Ronald Ward or Don Light or Bill Hood.

Several of the boys had the flu and may not see action.

Big Race Shaping Up

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Ryun of Kansas, the world's fastest miler, and Dave Patrick of Villanova, prssently rounding into the best shape of his sub-four-minute-mile career, may run the mile against each other Feb. 9.

The race would probably be the high point of the 1968 indoor track and field season. And it could—in theory at least—cost Ryun, Patrick and some 200 other athletes a chance to go to the Olympics.

The Amateur Athletic Union fired the latest round in its interminable battle with the National Collegiate Athletic Association Monday. The target was the Feb. 9 track meet in New York run by the U.S. Track and Field Federation, an arm of the NCAA.

The meet, called the Madison Square Garden Invitational, will feature mostly college stars, such as Ryun, Patrick, long-distance champion Gerry Lindgren and pole vault record-holder Bob Seagren.

But three of those scheduled to run—Tommie Smith of San Jose State, Charlie Green of Nebraska and Wade Bell of Oregon—are no longer eligible for college competition, though they are still at their respective schools.

The AAU maintains it must sanction any meet in which non-collegians participate. The Federation will "absolutely not" ask for such a sanction, a spokesman said Monday.

Col Don Hull, executive director of the AAU, said that any athlete competing in the meet will be reported to the International Amateur Athletic Federation, which in turn will suspend his eligibility for international events such as the Olympics.

"It would be automatic," Hull said. "The IAFF has told us specifically that in their judgment all athletes competing in open competition not sanctioned by us lose their eligibility."

As a practical matter, it is extremely unlikely that things would ever get that far. If 200 top American athletes, including Ryun, were declared ineligible for the Olympics, the halls of Congress would surely shake to such an extent that matters would be put right.

Still, the situation is serious and the next move apparently will come from the federal panel that for more than two years has been trying to settle the dispute.

A WOW OF A FINISH — Johnny Pott gives with the big gesture as his putt from off the green goes into the hole for a birdie and the Bing Crosby golf title. Pott sank the putt on the first hole of a three-way sudden death playoff with Billy Casper and Bruce Devlin. The win was worth $16,000 to Pott. (AP Wirephoto)

Lamar 7th Grade Teams Triumph

Both Lamar teams came through in fine style Monday, putting down two Travis 7th grade teams in a basketball showdown. The Lamar Red beat the Travis Blue 48-30, and the Lamar Gray tripped the Travis White 49-29.

Lamar Red trailed Travis Blue 5-11 after one period, then settled down to play ball. They sunk 19 points while holding the Blue to 5 in the second period to gain the lead at 24-16 at halftime. Whirlwinds Hit Texans

LAMESA — The host Whirlwinds breezed past a flu-struck Lamar 9th squad 59-45 here Monday.

The Whirlwinds shot ahead 12-6 in the first quarter. A Lamar rally narrowed the halftime gap to 26-22, but the Whirlwinds went on a scoring spree in the third quarter to put the game out of reach.

Cecil Davis won scoring honors for the night. He sank 11 field goals for Lamesa. Teammate Danny Renner contributed 10.

For Lamar, Bruce Almond and Tony Breedlove each was credited with 12 points while Steve Dillaha posted 11.

BRUINS LEAD COUGARS IN WEEKLY CAGE POLL

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's no way of telling whether UCLA or Houston will win Saturday night's big game between the unbeaten college basketball giants in the Houston Astrodome. But it's an open secret that the Bruins are considered the superior team by most experts.

UCLA maintained a commanding lead in The Associated Press' latest weekly poll. The Bruins collected 32 first-place votes and 347 points in the balloting by a national panel of 35 sports writers and broadcasters.

Houston drew only three votes for the top position and 317 points, the latter on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc. The balloting was based on games through last Saturday.

The Bruins, who have won 46 games in a row, including 12 this season, play the University of Portland, Ore., at home Thursday night before their important meeting on the Cougars' court.

In last week's games, the Bruins beat California 94-64 and Stanford 75-63. Houston lifted its record to 16-0 by trouncing West Texas State, 98-53. The Cougars are idle until Saturday.

While the two top teams held their positions, there was some shifting among the other clubs in the first 10.

North Carolina, victorious over North Carolina State and Clemson last week, remained in the No. 3 spot.

However, Tennessee, Utah and New Mexico all gained ground. Tennessee moved up one notch to fourth after downing Vanderbilt and Georgia. Utah, winner over Arizona State and Arizona, also advanced one place to fifth. New Mexico, 14-0 after defeating Wyoming 81-65, rushed up from ninth to sixth.

St. Bonaventure, unbeaten in 12 games, remained in seventh place. The Bonnies beat DePaul 77-67 in their only outing last week.

Kentucky, upset by Florida, fell four places to eighth while Vanderbilt's loss to Tennessee dropped the Commodores one spot to No. 9. Columbia's Lions, 94-68 winners over Colgate for a 10-3 mark, are 10th, the same position they occupied a week ago.

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. UCLA (32)	347
2. Houston (3)	317
3. North Carolina	270
4. Tennessee	205
5. Utah	178
6. New Mexico	137
7. St. Bonvaenture	131
8. Kentucky	101
9. Vanderbilt	55
10. Columbia	40
7. St. Bonaventure	131

Hermleigh, Fluvanna Vie In 70-B Program

It should be close when Hermleigh's Cardinals collide with Fluvanna's Buffaloes in a District 70-B basketball tilt tonight. Tipoff is set for 7 p.m. in the spacious Scurry County Coliseum with the girls tangling first, followed by the boys contest.

Hermleigh's boys defeated Fluvanna by a 6-point margin on the Cardinal court during the tournament there earlier this season. However, the Cardinal girls lost by about a 5-point spread. So, the rematches are expected to provide fans with close, thrilling contests.

Hermleigh is a slight favorite. The Cards have an edge in height, and Fluvanna will be without the services of Joe Below, 6-1 senior, who has the flu.

"We'll miss his rebound power," said Coach Bruce Land of the Buffs, "but we'll be in there trying" Three other Buffs have been weakened by the flu, but will see action. Coach W. C. Hodges said several of his boys are recovering from the same type of illness, but will compete tonight.

Fluvanna has an 8-6 record for the season. The Buffs won the Ira tournament — both boys and girls divisions. The girls' record is 9-7. The Buffalo gals socked Loraine by about a 30-point margin in their first district game last week, but the boys, weakened by the flu, lost.

Probably starters for Fluvanna include Victor Contreras, 6-0, senior post man; Larry Patterson, 5-10 freshman guard; Johnny Dunnam, 5-10 senior forward, and Johnny Stansell, 5-7 junior forward.

Contreras is the best inside shooter, and Patterson and Dunnam are the best outside shots. White will be subbing for the ailing Below.

"We run the man-to-man and the zone," said Coach Land, "and break when we can."

Top subs for the Buffs include Ricky Evans, a senior, and freshmen Randy Gill and Mike Landrum and junior Ronnie Reeder.

The Fluvanna girls rate as slight favorites. Probable starters include senior forwards Sandra Stansell and Nanette Bruner and Charlotte Toombs, a junior forward. Guards are senior Sue Smith and juniors Cindy Patterson and June Stansell.

Hermleigh's boys are 12-5 for the year, and they beat Ira last week in their first district game. The Cardinals won their own tournament and copped consolation honors at Highland.

Leading the Cardinal attack is Ted Winter, a 5-8 senior guard, who has better than a 20-point average. Tom Chorn, 5-11 junior center, and Danny Peterson, 5-9 senior guard, also can put the ball through the hoop from long distance. They have 16 and 11 point averages respectively.

Best inside shooter for Coach Hodges' Cards is Jim Averitt, a 6-2 sophomore forward. Rounding out the starting alignment is a steady performer, Billy Joe Odstrcil, a 5-9 senior forward.

Coach Hodges employs two units. The second one is comprised of Ronnie Helm, Robert Peterson, Leonard Kuss, Bruce Hess and Hector del Toro.

Hermleigh's girls have posted a 9-8 record. Although they lost their first district tilt to Ira last week, they placed third in tournaments at Hermleigh and Roscoe and copped the Consolation prize at Highland.

Three of the Cardinal girls stand 5-9 or taller: forwards Jane Wall and Sherry Adams and guard Mary Hudgins. Hudgins and Wall are sophomores while Sherry is a junior. Other girls in the starting six are sophomore forward Sharon Pieper, junior guard Jan Averitt and freshman guard Delores Schwarz.

The absence of a single senior among the starters in the Hermleigh lineup puts their girls at a distinct disadvantage. Although they are taller, the Hermleigh girls do not have the experience of the Buffalo gals.

"We run a 2-1-2 zone mostly, but press some," declared Coach Hodges.

Both coaches spoke favorably of the facilities at the Scurry County Coliseum. Hermleigh worked out there from 3 p.m. to 4:15 p.m. yesterday. Fluvanna drilled there from 4:15 p.m. until 5:30 p.m.

Whatever the outcome, fans can expect to see two close, evenly - matched tilts.

Travis 9th Bombs Post

POST — Travis 9th grade bombed Post 48-28 here Monday in a 9th grade tussle that never was close.

The Blue Devils took a 13-6 lead in the first quarter, extended it to 27-13 at halftime, and 40-17 in the third period.

Three Travis lads finished in twin figures: Johnny Mata 12, Jesse Speer 11, and Harvey Pinkerton 10. All of the Travis subs — eight of them — saw action in the last quarter. Long was high point man for Post with 8 points.

TRAVIS 9TH (48) — Sims 4-0-8; Farmer 2-3-7; Mata 6-0-12; Pinkerton 5-0-10; Speer 5-1-11; totals 22-4-48.

POST (28) — Poer 10-2; Ayala 1-0-2; Jennings 1-0-2; Long 4-0-8; Bullock 1-5-7; Pace 2-2-6; Hodges 0-1-1; totals 10-8-28.

Ira Wins Two Tilts

LORAINE — Ira won a couple of Junior High basketball contests here Monday with the girls flailing the hosts 40-9 and the boys taking a narrow 31-30 verdict.

Loraine trailed 7 points going into the last quarter of the boys game and staged an exciting rally, but it fell one point short of sending the tilt into overtime.

Ira's Obie Crawford captured scoring honors with 15 points. Other Ira boys posting points: Ricky Cox 9, William Rasco 3, Stephen Sallee 2, and Robert Ramon 2. For Loraine, C. Williams sunk 13 points, T. Moreno 12, R. Darnell 4, and R. Ritchey 1.

Ira had little trouble in the girls game as Jan Kruse and Janie Roddy paced the attack with 16 and 14 points respectively. Annette Erwin was credited with 7, Connie James with 2, and Debbie Haddox with 1. For Loraine, Green pitched in 5 and Atkins 4 points.

Gibson Sends Pact Back To Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis baseball Cardinals have experienced their first bad moment since pitcher Bob Gibson posted his third World Series victory last fall and brought the title home to St. Louis.

Gibson said Monday he has turned down a contract mailed to him at his home in Omaha, Neb.

"I received a contract and I returned it," Gibson said in St. Louis. Gibson said General Manager Bing Devine offered a very generous settlement, but he added, "it wasn't even close to what I have in mind.

Battles For Fighting Men

EDITOR'S NOTE: "I have no ax to grind," says Mrs. Beverly Lasher, whose son was killed last year in Vietnam. But for months, she has conducted her own war in an effort to help America's fighting men. And it appears she's winning.

By MARTHA HAND
Fort Worth Star-Telegram Writer
(Written for Associated Press)

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — A remarkable story surrounds a tiny Texas widow who, without wealth or power, has influenced Congress to take a new look at the M16 rifle.

She is Mrs. Beverly Lasher, who last August lost her 20-year-old son, Spec. 4 Rick Lasher, in combat in Vietnam.

Rick died when he stepped on a mine while fighting with the 9th Infantry Division.

His death had nothing to do with the M16.

But he had written home many times asking for a different kind of non-military cleaning solvent and oil for the M16—for himself and his buddies. She sent both.

When Rick was killed, Mrs. Lasher decided to battle for the living in Vietnam.

First she started the Rick Lasher Memorial Fund with Rick's savings. She bought a solvent and sent it to fighting men in Vietnam who had asked for it to use in their M16s, which they said were jamming in combat.

Next, she took her plea to Congress.

"The gun oil and solvent sent these boys in Vietnam isn't working for the M16," she wrote her congressmen.

"I have hundreds of letters from boys in all branches of the service. I have documentary proof that the M16 is a good rifle, with a few flaws, but the solvent and oil supplied our men isn't what the M16's designer recommended...it is too greasy."

At first, she got letters bound in red tape, some of them from the Pentagon.

But Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., took up her cause.

And about the same time, the House Armed Services Committee appointed Rep. Thomas Morris of New Mexico to head a subcommittee to investigate the M16.

Mrs. Lasher told her story to the Star-Telegram and The Associated Press.

Morris read a story in a Washington newspaper about Mrs. Lasher and her campaign.

He called long distance.

She flooded his office with her "proof"—much of it quotes from letters from men of all ranks in Vietnam.

Suddenly, all of the VVL800 gun oil was withdrawn from Vietnam. New specifications called for ML46000A, which Mrs. Lasher says is a good lubricant.

"I have this one letter from a boy who wrote of being under heavy fire when his M16 jammed. He skimmed off grease from a can of ham and lima beans in his C-rations and used it as lubricant, knowing it wasn't good for the gun but might save his life. It did," reported Mrs. Lasher.

"I have no ax to grind, except to see that our youngsters fighting over there have the proper lubricants for that M16—which I am convinced is a good weapon."

Morris' subcommittee recommended modification and retesting of the M16. Retesting began in Panama in January under conditions simulating Vietnam.

Meanwhile, Rep. Wright of Ft. Worth said the Armed Services Committee "believes the lubricant problem has pretty well been solved."

And Mrs. Lasher is happy.

"I don't seek the spotlight," she said. "Just results. Just knowing those boys have a fighting chance. We can't pick our weapons and their oil and solvent on a cost factor basis. It means their lives," she said.

The widow, a 5-2, 95-pound secretary who supports her two other children, Kevin, 8, and Maureen, 13, is impressed with Congress.

"We live in an era of big government," she said. "It is refreshing to know Congress does listen to those of us who are unimportant and uninfluential."

McLean Resigns Insurance Post

AUSTIN (AP) — William Hunter McLean, state Insurance Board chairman since 1963—except for two months off as President Johnson's 1964 Texas campaign director — has resigned. First Assist. Atty. Gen. George Cowden will succeed him.

Cowden, a state representative from 1963 to 1967, will take the chairman's post Feb. 1, when McLean's resignation becomes effective.

No successor for Cowden in the attorney general's office has been named.

McLean, 58, said he has no plans but had wanted for some time to leave public life and return to Fort Worth, where his children live and where he made his home before entering government service.

Gov. John Connally announced the resignation and Cowden's appointment Monday.

Cowden, 37, will be the youngest man on the board. Board member Durwood Manford is 50, and Ned Price, the other member of the three-man board, is 53. Both served in the legislature before coming to the board.

Cowden won his 1966 race for reelection to his House seat from Waco, while serving as Crawford Martin's campaign manager in Martin's successful bid for attorney general. Martin named Cowden his top assistant in the attorney general's department, and Cowden relinquished his House seat.

In his new post, Cowden will head an agency that often has been embroiled in controversy, particularly over automobile insurance rates, in recent years.

After graduation from Baylor University in 1953, Cowden served two years in the Air Force, then returned to earn his law degree from Baylor in 1959. He entered private law practice in Waco and became an officer in a small insurance company but later disposed of his interest in the firm. He was on the House Insurance Committee during both of his terms in the legislature.

McLean founded the American Standard Life Insurance Co. with his father after World War II, during which he served as a Marine. He was deputy state life insurance commissioner from 1933 to 1943.

Connally said McLean's "contribution to the people of this state as well as to the orderly growth of the economy of Texas cannot be measured, and it is with regret that I view the loss of his capable services."

As for Cowden, Connally said he "is a dedicated and conscientious public servant, and his experience in the insurance field, the legal profession, the legislature and the attorney general's department provide him with an excellent background for this position of responsibility. I have the utmost confidence he will meet this challenge in a superior manner."

Harvesting Still Lags

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' cotton harvest was stalled by cold, damp weather again last week, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports. Statewide, it was 98 per cent completed and was two weeks behind the 1967 pace.

Also, the department said in its weekly crop-weather report Monday, wheat was dormant in most areas and furnished very little grazing.

The conditon of cattle in East Texas deteriorated because of the bad weather, the department said, but were rated in fair to excellent condition in Central, South and Southwest Texas.

Oats made good growth but were too wet to grave in many fields in East and South Texas.

Harvesting of winter vegetables was stopped in South Texas by the cold, drizzly weather, and the growth of vegetables and spring onions was very slow. The weather restricted the vegetable harvest in the Lower Rio Grande Valley also, but light shipments of cabbage, lettuce and mixed vegetables continued. Vegetables escaped freeze damage. Grapefruit and oranges moved in fair volume. The cold weather was not expected to harm the citrus trees.

Building Resumed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Bad weather relented and workmen hoisted the hefty tophouse for the Tower of the Americas, theme structure of San Antonio's HemisFair '68, 22 feet higher Monday.

This put it just one foot and eight inches short of being two-thirds of the way toward the lofty final goal.

The tophouse is a six-story, 600-ton steel structure built around the base of the 622-foot tower and being slowly lifted into place by hydraulic jacks.

When it's completed, the tower tophouse will include a revolving restaurant and several observation decks for visitors to the international exposition.

Weather had forced a temporary halt Friday night to the around-the-clock job of raising the tophouse. It was resumed Sunday.

Cool Colors Hottest News In Fashions

By LEONORA DODSWORTH

ROME (AP) — Cool colors—that is the hottest news from the Italian spring-summer fashion collections, in their fourth day of showings today.

Designer after designer is driving the point home. Frosty white and pastels appear to have been bleached even paler with chalk. This, rather than any drastic change in line, is the headline hitter.

As always in the Italian collections, fabrics are big scene stealers.

Intricate intarsia work impressed buyers at Mila Schon. Inserts and appliques in flower shapes, circles, chevrons and undulating stripes had the fashion crowd gasping at their intricacy and impeccable workmanship. These motifs were used with beautiful discretion on suits and unlined coats in cream- smooth wools.

Colors were pale and melting —powdery gray, ice-cold blue and, of course, white.

Funnel necklines, yokes and short capes kept the eye up high on suits. Hip-length jackets were softly tailored and sometimes slackly belted.

As at Fashion House Forquet earlier in the day, two-tone dresses were popular with white collars, sleeves and yokes in contrast with another color.

Slubbed silks were in keeping with the Italian trend for nonshiny surfaces.

Antonelli's discotheque dresses rattled, like bead curtains with flying hula skirts made from sequinned fringe. Harpo Marx wigs were teased into frizzy bushes that screamed out for strokes of the brush.

NASA To Test 'Enriched Air'

By LAWRENCE LEE
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Pressed for time, NASA Wednesday will begin testing "enriched air" as a safer substitute for the pure oxygen atmosphere that fed the fire which killed three astronauts early last year atop their rocket at Cape Kennedy.

Pressed for money, the agency has junked a 1970 pure research flight using secret reconnaissance photography techniques the Defense Department quibbled at lending the program after helping with a $3 million design effort. Decision to scrap the flight was made Dec. 27, but acknowledged only Monday.

The atmosphere decision was reached Saturday by a board of space scientists named after the tragedy to assure the fire safety of future American spacecraft.

They acted after a dummy of the new, more fireproof Apollo command ship flunked five of 38 burn tests in which Manned Spacecraft Center engineers purposely short-circuited its wiring. Control panels, cables and soundproofing material blazed unacceptably.

Wednesday, testing resumes with the ship filled with a mix of 60 per cent oxygen and 40 per cent nitrogen, intended to keep overheated wiring from so easily triggering fires. The air we breathe is 78 per cent nitrogen, 21 per cent oxygen and the rest, traces of rare gases.

Pure oxygen is food for fire, but was used safely in Mercury and Gemini flights. NASA defended it strongly in the probe after the fatal blaze.

Oxygen requires less plumbing than a mix, making for lighter spacecraft and simpler spacesuits.

The agency said Monday that "enriched air" is merely an option to its scientists, and that, in any case, spacecraft will be filled with pure oxygen, once in orbit. There, a fire could be put out instantly by letting the oxygen rush into the vacuum of space.

If the fire problems mean major changes in the apollo command ship design, they could delay delivery of the first model, to be flown this summer in America's first manner space venture since December, 1968. North American Rockwell Corporation, its builder, is committed to deliver it March 15, although April or May delivery is more likely.

Crude Nominations Up For February

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission says major purchasers of the state's crude oil have nominated for 3,138,101 barrels daily in February, an increase of 52,691 from January.

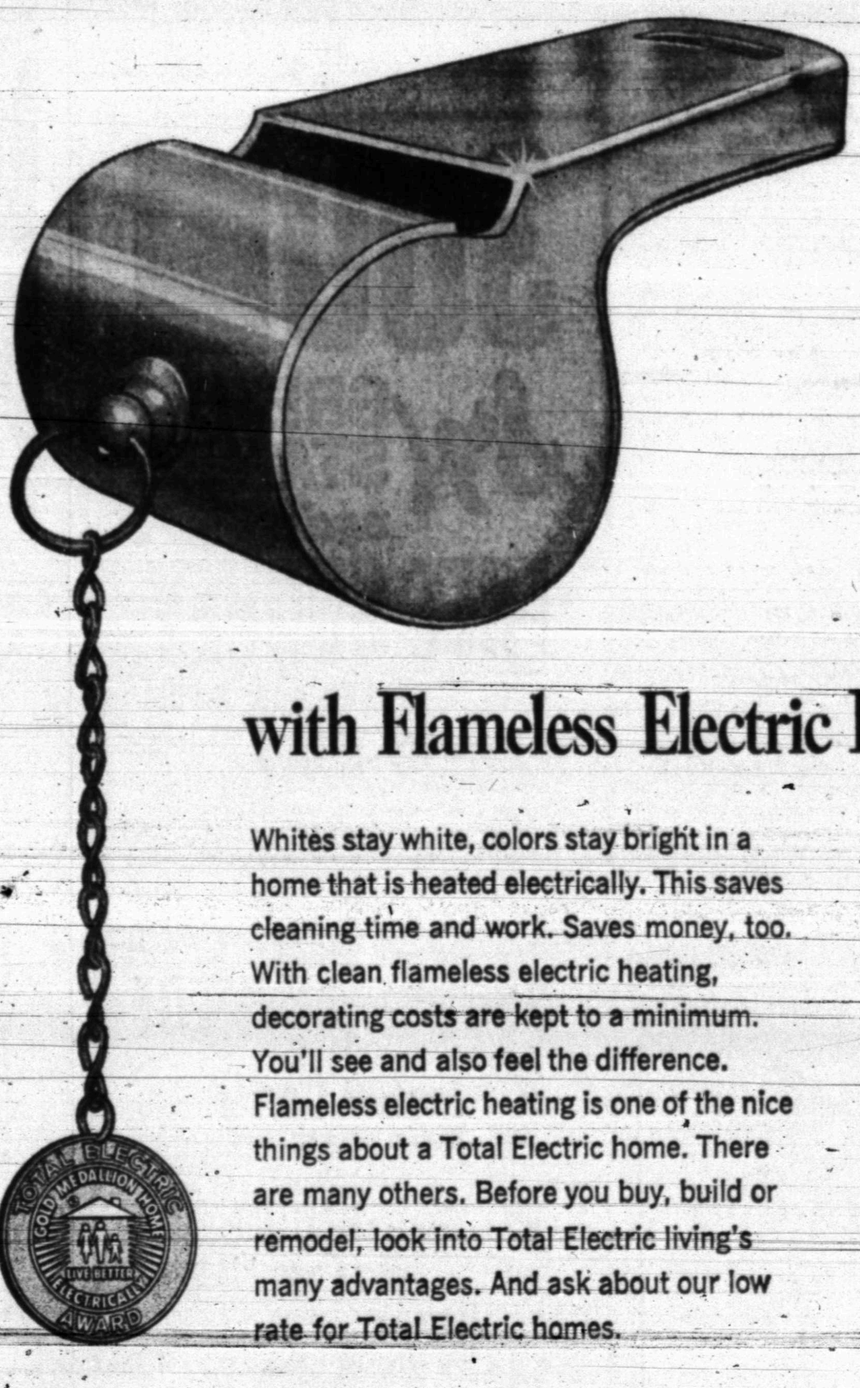

The commission said the U.S. Bureau of Mines forecast for February demand for Texas crude is 3,170,000 barrels a day, an increase of 10,000 from this month.

The commission, meeting Thursday to set the statewide oil allowable for next month, will consider the nominations and bureau's prediction in determining the allowable.

Explosions Rock Houston Channel

By LARRY LEE

HOUSTON (AP) — Fire followed by a gigantic explosion damaged an outbound foreign freighter, the Christiane, after a collision also involving a tug and gasoline barges in the Houston Ship Channel.

Almost miraculously, state police reported, none aboard any of the vessels suffered serious injuries. They reported 34 persons were taken off the still burning ship.

Flames visible for more than 20 miles swept the superstructure of the 372-foot craft, of Liberian registry and owned by the Christiane Shipping Co. of Bermuda.

The near-disaster occurred about 12:30 a.m., two hours after a series of blasts and towering flames engulfed a unit of the Shell Chemical Co. plant 12 miles up the ship channel.

At least four persons required hospital treatment after the chemical plant blaze. Authorities said there was no connection between the freighter explosion and the fire at Shell.

Witnesses in a crowd gathered at the Shell plant, which is 20 miles southeast of downtown Houston, told of feeling a mighty explosion a few minutes before fire engulfed the ship.

Hundreds of firemen battled for hours afterward to quench the ship and barge flames.

With the tug, which went aground on the opposite side, the heavily damaged ship and barges blocked the channel to all traffic between the Port of Houston and the Gulf of Mexico.

The freighter blew up near Morgan's Point, about 500 yards from one entrance to a highway tunnel linking the cities of Houston and Baytown.

There were conflicting details in rerports of what happened hours afterward.

Coast Guard spokesmen said, contrary to early word, that the freighter did not sink.

"The entire hull seemed to be in flames," one resident of the ara said.

The Christiane blew up in an area near an oil field but not adjacent to industrial facilities like those clustered about the Shell plant rocked by the earlier blasts.

In the traffic control tower at Ellington Air Force Base, 15 miles west from the ship, Sgt. Phil Anderson said the explosion was so heavy it rattled the windows of the tower severely and the tower itself swayed. The windows are designed to withstand hurricane force wnds.

Anderson said there was a series of small explosions at least three and "we could see two or three balls of flames shoot into the air" before the main blast.

A policeman told of seeing the ship burn five to 10 minutes before the heaviest blast, felt for miles around.

"Flames shot up thousands of feet," said another witness, "and then there was a big explosion with huge pieces of the ship being blown high in the air."

Persons living in the area estimated the tanker explosion occurred about 12:30 a.m.

"The whole superstructure of the ship went up in flames in a few minutes," one of them related.

At the chemical plant, manager Frank Caddy said a feedback of hydrocarbon gas from a furance caused a big explosion and several smaller ones in a department processing solvents, including alcohol.

The extent of damage to the Shell facility was not determined at once, but Caddy said it would not be shut down.

Officials found three employes suffered injuries in the immediate area of the Shell blasts and fierce flames, and four others escaped.

Workers taken to a hospital for treatment of burns included Frank Howard, 42, of Genoa, Tex.; and Leroy Ford, 50, and F. M. Butler, 56, both of Houston.

The guard, C. H. Campbell, suffered an apparent heart attack and also was taken to a hospital.

Caddy said there were 60 to 80 workers in the Shell plant but only seven in the immediate vicinity of the explosions.

"We heard a rumbling sound followed by an explosion which shot fire 100 feet high," recounted a Shell employe.

Another whose home is about one-half mile from the chemical facility said he heard a tremendous boom, went to peer out a window, and heard another blast which rocked the dwelling. He said, "the whole sky looked like it was in flames."

Murder Trial Begins

GILMER, Tex. (AP) — A jury of 11 men and one woman begins hearing testimony in the murder trial of Jerry Haddaway, 17, charged in the shotgun deaths of his parents and grandfather last April.

Defense attorney F. L. Garrison said he would present a plea of innocent by reason of temporary insanity.

Dist. Atty. Lowell Holt said no death penalty would be sought because Haddaway was 16 at the time of the offense. The youth could receive if convicted, two years to life in prison.

Sheriff Doyle Johnson said Haddaway made a statement at the time of his arrest and indicated a family argument was involved.

Haddaway is being tried only in the death of his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Haddaway, 34. Also slain were Vale Haddaway, 48, an oil field worker, and Ernest J. Haddaway, 71.

The three bodies were found April 29 in a shallow grave near the Haddaway farm home eight miles southwest of Gilmer.

Educators Hear Barnes

By GARY GARRISON

MERCEDES, Tex. (AP) — "Respect, responsibility and restraint" should be taught in Texas schools, House Speaker Ben Barnes told Lower Rio Grande Valley educators Monday night.

Barnes, speaking at the Lower Rio Grande Valley School Administrators Association meeting, said he felt the greatest internal threat to this nation is the fundamental breakdown of respect for law and order.

"The right to dissent is fundamental," Barnes, a candidate for the Democratic nomination as lieutenant governor, said. "We are on the verge of having too much freedom."

Automobiles parked in the Mercedes Civic Center parking lot during the speech had anti-Barnes leaflets placed on their windshields. The same leaflets were also distributed Sunday at an Edinburg meeting of the Political Association of Spanish Speaking Organizations (PASO).

Barnes was pictured along with Gov. John Connally and former state Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and leaders of the 1966 farm workers march to Austin in support of aproposed $1.25 an hour minimum wage.

The state officials met with the marchers at New Braunfels and turned down an invitation to appear at a Labor Day rally at the end of the march in Austin.

"2-down and one to go," was written on top of the picture, and Barnes' face was circled in black.

"It's time for a change in Texas," was written on back of the leaflet beneath a picture of Texas Ranger Capt. A. Y. Allee. Allee commanded a detachment of Rangers assigned to nearby Starr County last spring during a labor organizational drive by the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO.

Speaking of the breakdown of respect for law and order, Barnes cited a lack of communications as one reason. He pointed out that Texas' teenage crime rate is rising faster than any other state with 52 per cent of the state's crime committed by persons under 19.

"We have got to get those telephone lines of communications back up," Barnes said.

In the summer of 1587, there were between 15,000 and 20,000 beggars in Paris. A bad harvest that year was the cause.

Skis have been found in Scandinavian bogs which are known to have been made over 4,000 years ago.
