Col. Butcher Leaves Webb, Dons Star

Col. Chester J. Butcher departs his post as wing commander at Webb AFB Thursday morning, to report Monday for an assignment with the Defense Communications Agency in the Washington area.

COL. BUTCHER

Also on Monday, he will don his star as a brigadier general, for which rank he was nominated February 14.

Col. Butcher will be assigned to the Defense Communications Planning Group as a deputy director. The Defense Communications Agency is jointly operated by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

While the wing commander here had anticipated new orders since he was nominated for star rank, the summons to the Communications post came suddenly. Col. Butcher was in Washington over the weekend conferring with command officers, returning here just last night.

In order for him to report in his new job on Monday, he will leave tomorrow, making the trip by car. Mrs. Butcher and the children, Judy and Bruce, are to remain in Big Spring until the end of the school term.

Col. Butcher came to Webb to assume command of the 3560th Pilot Training Wing, Dec. 5, 1965. At that time he had just completed a tour of duty in the Pentagon.

Col. Butcher will be succeeded here by Col. William C. McGlothlin Jr., currently deputy commander for operations for the 3500th Pilot Training Wing at Reese AFB, Lubbock. Col. McGlothlin, who has been at Reese since December, 1966, will assume local command on Tuesday of next week.

Pilots Killed

LAMPASAS, Tex. (AP) — Two men from Randolph Air Force Base were killed Tuesday when their T38 jet trainer crashed and exploded on a ranch 16 miles west of this Central Texas town.

Killed when the plane disintegrated was Capt. Robert M. Gower, 26, whose wife, Adele, lives in San Antonio and whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gower of Springfield, Tenn. Gower was the pilot-instructor, airmen at Randolph said. Also killed in the shattering crash and explosion was 2nd Lt. Walter V. Visser, 27, of New York, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Visser of New York.

Randolph spokesmen at San Antonio said the plane was on a routine training mission when the crash occurred about 1:30 p.m.

Norman Brister, on whose ranch the plane crashed, said he watched it fly over his home at an altitude of about 100 feet.

Brister said he looked away a moment, heard a crash and explosion and turned around to see the plane disintegrate in a huge fireball. He said he could carry the largest piece of the wreckage in his arms.

Easier To Hear

It's going to be easier to find out what's going on at the city commission meetings in the future.

Jack Watkins, who has been a regular attendee in the audience during recent weeks, advised the commission Tuesday night that it is difficult to hear from the audience area what is going on around the commission table, and that more people might be interested in attending the meetings if the sound system was improved.

On a motion of George Zachariah, seconded by Jimmy Morehead, the commission ordered plans be drawn to provide an adequate sound system.

School Funds Certified

The Office of Education has approved a tentative entitlement of $323,561 in federally affected area funds for the Big Spring Independent School District.

Rep. Omar Burleson notified the local district Tuesday from Washington that $161,780 of this had been certified for immediate payment.

Supt. Sam Anderson said the tentative entitlement figure corresponded closely with the district's expectations. He pointed out, however, that there is no assurance that all of the entitlement funds will be received, because this depends upon appropriations and availability of funds.

The payments are made to assist local districts in serving children of federally connected parents, in as much as federal installations do not contribute in local taxes.

Housing Bill Expected To Win Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Rules Committee, a Mississippi Democrat opposed to the civil rights bill, says enactment of the measure would be a direct result of Dr. Martin Luther King's slaying.

The House was to vote today on the bill—which includes a provision to ban discrimination in the sale or rental of about 80 per cent of the nation's housing—and most predictions are it would win passage and be sent to President Johnson for signing.

"I am confident that on Thursday before Dr. Martin Luther King was assassinated, the administration and the leadership did not have the votes," said Chairman William M. Colmer after the bill was cleared by a committee on a 9 to 6 vote and sent to the floor.

Colmer also told newsmen Tuesday he thinks the measure would instead have gone to a House-Senate conference committee charged with working out a compromise—particularly on the controversial open-housing provision.

Colmer called it "legislating under the gun" to consider the bill so soon after King's slaying. But the bill's supporters were predicting before King's death last Thursday that the legislation would be enacted in its present form.

Officers Are Sifting Clues For Assassin

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The task of finding the person who killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. apparently has settled down to the grueling police routine of sifting every clue and checking every lead.

There was no talk of an early arrest, as there had been shortly after King was assassinated last Thursday night. Robert G. Drewry and John C. Moore, the two U.S. commissioners here, said they had not been approached to issue a fugitive warrant by either the FBI or the U.S. attorney.

As federal officials pressed their manhunt, there were reports of arrests in various parts of the country and of a wide-spread search in Mexico.

The Mexican rumor started after Rolando Veloz, the Mexican counsel here, told authorities there was a resemblance between a composite sketch carried in a local newspaper and a young man who applied for a tourist card the day before King was shot.

The young man turned out to be a 19-year-old student at Memphis State University, Memphis police said. They said what was thought to be a false address and phone number were those of his father in Park Ridge, Ill. They dismissed the possibility that he was connected with the case.

It was learned that the gun found abandoned in a doorway next to the building from which police say the shot was fired was not among those stolen from a sporting goods store two days before the slaying.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — An ocean-going ferry with 614 aboard ran aground at Wellington harbor's mouth today and capsized in one of the fiercest storms in New Zealand's history. Officials feared 150 drowned.

With winds of up to 123 miles an hour lashing the seas into high waves, the 8,944-ton ferry Wahine keeled over and dumped passengers and crew into the icy water.

RESCUERS

A rescue armada of small boats dared the high waves and plucked many survivors from the water. Others escaped in lifeboats. Searchers reported 42 bodies had been picked up, either in the water or along three miles of shore stretching from the harbor entrance.

Wellington hospitals were packed with survivors suffering from injuries or exposure. Other survivors were in private homes.

As night fell, and searchlights swept the dark seas, officials said more than 100 passengers and crew were unaccounted for. Most survivors said that there was no panic when the Wahine hit the shoal or even when the ferry began to keel over.

Hilda Quinn said, however, there was chaos in the lounge, where many women and children were waiting. "Women were running around calling for their children," she continued. "This is when they got separated."

"TERRIBLE"

"It was terrible. The ship was tilting right over. To get to the boats we just sat down and slid to the rail, where men helped us in the boats. They were lifting little kiddies over the side and dropping them into a boat. My sister and I grabbed a baby each."

Mrs. Quinn said she saw a baby, about 12 months old, floating in the water on its back. The baby was rescued.

The Wahine lay on its side half out of water about a mile from shore.

The total aboard included the crew of about 130.

The Wahine, owned by the Union Steamship Co., hit a rocky shoal about 7 a.m. just inside Wellington Harbor as she neared the end of her daily 11-hour run up the east coast of New Zealand's South Island from Christchurch to Wellington.

Racial violence struck in major American cities for the sixth consecutive night since the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., raising the national death toll for the period to 34. All but five were Negroes.

While some of the worst hit cities cooled to the point where curfews were relaxed and patrols decreased, fresh outbreaks hit Tuesday in Trenton, N.J., Jacksonville, Fla., and Kansas City. Each city reported one death.

Firemen in New York City battled 25 fires which broke out almost simultaneously in a racially mixed Brooklyn slum which has twice been the scene of disturbances since King's murder in Memphis last Thursday.

In Newark firefighters responded to six major fires and 75

Political Campaign Under Way Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1968 political campaign—at a virtual standstill since the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King and the violence it touched off—regained momentum today.

Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., the only announced Democratic presidential candidates, planned campaigning in Indiana and Nebraska, respectively.

HHH READY
Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, reported ready to enter the Democratic race after Easter, was a likely candidate to throw out the first ball at the Washington Senators American League baseball season opener against the Minnesota Twins.

Republican Richard M. Nixon was the only announced presidential candidate with no campaign plans for the day.

Polish Cabinet Changes Likely

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Changes in the Polish Cabinet were in prospect today as the purge of government and Communist party ranks continued in the wake of student unrest.

The 460-member Parliament convened Tuesday for its spring session and was told it would deal with Cabinet changes and election of a new president to replace Edward Ochab, who resigned Monday pleading "deteriorating health."

RUMORS FLY
Informed sources said the new president is likely to be Defense Minister Marian Spychalski, 61, considered a staunch supporter of Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Rumors earlier indicated Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz as the probable successor to the largely ceremonial post.

Although Ochab, who is nearly blind, cited health in asking to be relieved as president, a Yugoslav report said his name had been linked recently with the student unrest which erupted in antigovernment rioting last month.

JEWS OUSTED
The report, by the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, said the officials to be replaced are members of the faction which spent the war in the Soviet Union. It indicated they were losing out to the ultranationalist faction of World War II Communist underground fighters led by

Oil Output Takes Dip

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Production of crude oil and lease condensate in the United States dropped sharply last week, with Texas and Louisiana listing the biggest declines, the Oil and Gas Journal reported.

Production for the week averaged 9,247,000 barrels daily, down 301,000 from the previous week.

Louisiana production was estimated at 2,184,000 barrels daily, down 278,000.

Texas output was estimated at 3,250,000 barrels daily, 76,000 below the previous week.

Oklahoma production averaged 670,000 barrels daily, up 49,000. New Mexico averaged 351,000, down 2,000.

Rocky Hires Vote Experts

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has hired Emmet John Hughes, the writer and political strategist, and three other advisers to help him formulate positions on national and international issues.

The move announced in a statement Tuesday was viewed by many political observers as accenting Rockefeller's availability for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller announced March 21 that he would not be an active candidate for the GOP nomination but said that he would accept a draft if one developed and meanwhile would speak out on the issues.

In the statement issued by his office, the governor said he is preparing to state his policies on foreign and domestic problems confronting the United States.

In addition to Hughes, those named to advise him were Henry Kissinger of Harvard University, Richard Nathan of the Brookings Institute and Oscar Reubhausen, a New York City lawyer.

A staff member said Rockefeller would discuss either the Vietnam war or the racial crisis in the cities in "a major speech" being prepared for his appearance before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington April 18.

Czechs To Slice Powers Of Police

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Czechoslovakia's new Communist leaders are promising their countrymen freedom to travel and live abroad, less censorship and a reduction in the power of the secret police.

Party leader Alexander Dubcek also told Czechoslovak liberals Tuesday to concentrate on a new constitution with these guarantees and on improving the economy and to stop worrying about further purges of the old guard leadership.

RIGHT TO TRAVEL
An action program published by the Communist party Tuesday outlined the guarantees for "social democratization" which it said would be incorporated in a new constitution.

It said citizens should have the right to travel freely abroad and reside in Western countries without being "groundlessly placed into the position of emigrants." Sources said planned legislation would permit issuance of passports without regard to the traveler's political attitudes.

By reducing the powers of the secret police, the program said, the party should insure that the police cease to be an instrument to "solve internal political questions" and to control "political convictions and personal opin-

CENSORSHIP BAN

The new leadership, which ousted Stalinist party chief Antonin Novotny in January, also said "factual preliminary censorship" would end although the government would retain authority to forbid dissemination of certain information.

The party's action program pledged full cooperation with the Soviet Union and other Communist allies but indicated a more independent course in international affairs that might in time include diplomatic relations with West Germany.

A Devotional For The Day

I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever. (John 14:16)

PRAYER: Father, we thank Thee that we can rely on the Holy Spirit to comfort us in our sorrows, stimulate us when we are discouraged, heal our wounds. May He kindle a living hope in our hearts and give us Thy peace, now and evermore. Amen.

Too Instant Instant

In this day of instant potatoes, polls and pulse feeling, it is time for the American public to back off and cool down.

If, in times past, we have reacted too slowly to the pressures and crises that can build up, it can be said with equal validity that we now appear to react too swiftly. Now this may be the boxing ring, but for something as massive and complex as the ship of state, a more deliberate pattern is in order.

Back of this is the seeming instant effect of the latest whims and trends of the public in compelling the attention of officials, who of necessity must be sensitive to the public weal. The stabilizing factor of time seems to have been sharply diminished. In theory this may be good, but government is so much a part of the life of business and individuals now that it cannot afford to be whimsical or capricious.

Perhaps it is the temper of the times; perhaps it is the plethora of self-appointed experts among the media; perhaps it is the voice of opportunity; perhaps it is in group instinct. But whatever it is, we need to cool it just a bit. We can't operate on the basis of exhilaration on the progress of war one day; or of despair the next day when a counter offensive makes a showing. Indeed, we can't settle deep-rooted social problems on the strength of events of one day. All of these actions and decisions should be reached on the basis of what is right, and not what the latest poll or fever indicates.

Seldom Looked Better

It has been years and years since this country has faced such glowing agricultural prospects at this time of the year.

For a time, blessed with almost unprecedented winter rains, that if we only got a planting rain in April or May we would be on our way. Then it became apparent that we probably didn't have to have that planting rain, but we hedged by saying "if only we don't get too many windy days."

Now, the soaking rain of Tuesday has changed that, and it appears that no matter what, we will have abundant seasoning for getting a crop up and for getting it off to a good start. Indeed, in some sandy areas, there is almost enough moisture to make a crop.

What can be said for fields can be repeated for the pastures. Rarely has this area supported such a luxuriant crop of winter and early spring weeds, and now a cover of grass. Conditions are such that it would be almost impossible to stock a place as fast as the cover will grow for the next few months. With stock tanks brimming, grass putting out, and with cows nursing young calves and ewes with lambs, the beleaguered rancher can sit back and smile for a change. This is one spring that he won't have to go to the bank to borrow for feed, or go on the market and sacrifice his animals and wool for prices depressed by dumping.

Rooted as this area is in a heritage of agriculture, all of this ought to have a psychological effect even more pronounced than even the apparent benefits.

David Lawrence

Peace Necessary In Our Own Land

WASHINGTON — The time has come for President Johnson to make a constructive effort to bring peace inside the United States, too. Just as the Vietnam issue can be removed from partisan politics, so also can the problem of race riots and violence be tackled firmly and effectively without regard to its possible effect on a presidential campaign.

The basic question is how long the politicians — not only on the national scene but in the states and cities — are going to be intimidated by threats by leaders who claim they can mobilize a huge vote off the white or Negro population in the coming campaign.

INASMUCH AS President Johnson has announced that he is not a candidate for re-election, he now has a dramatic opportunity to carry out the principles of a true democracy. He can insist that freedom of speech does not mean the right to incite violence and that the right of petition does not justify the disruption of the business of government in the national capital. Mr. Johnson can also declare that there are ample facilities for speeches and demonstrations in public halls, stadiums and parks, but that the mobilization of a large number of persons for street marches, particularly in business districts, must be prevented. They can be prohibited by court orders and injunctions enforced by local and federal authorities.

FOR A LONG time now there has been a lot of quibbling about the rights of "demonstrators." Officials have been timid about prosecuting individuals who are known to have organized "marches" ostensibly for the purpose of merely expressing views but really with the objective of creating disturbances that would assure wide publicity.

There are plenty of laws on the statute books to punish individuals who provoke violence, directly or indirectly. Cities have the right by ordinance to prohibit marches which are likely to lead to disorder. Various groups have been organized for the deliberate purpose of inciting riots. The question will be raised as to how such an intention can be proved.

NEVER in American history have so many "demonstrators" been allowed to go to such extremes in an effort actually to bludgeon the Congress of the United States into passing legislation favorable to their cause. The Constitution protects the "right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances." The Constitution, on the other hand, also imposes on the federal government the duty to protect the states against domestic violence and to deal with insurrection.

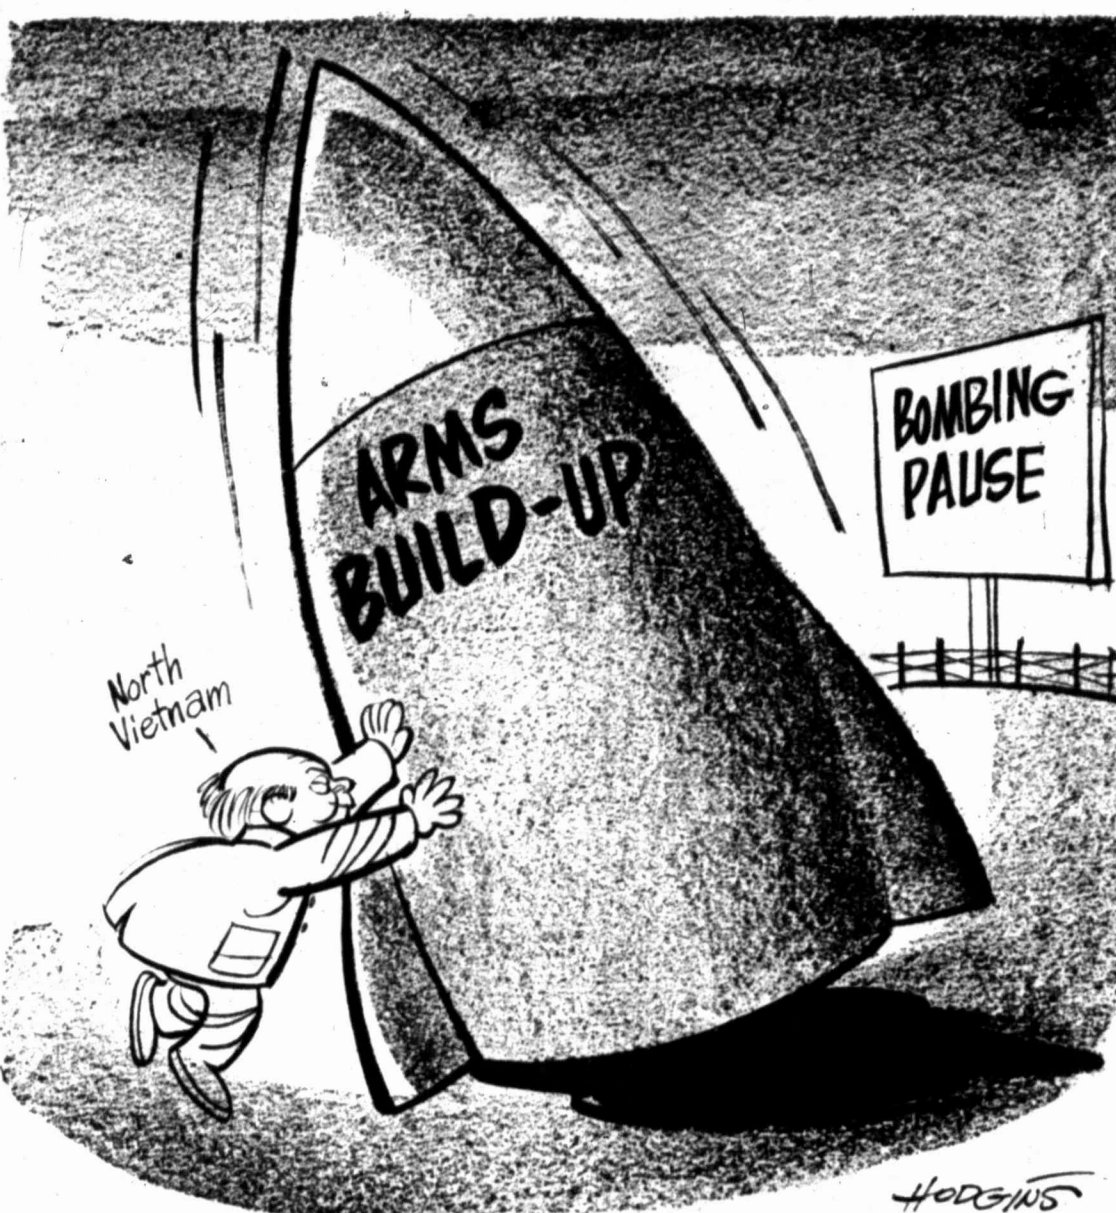

PRESIDENT JOHNSON has an opportunity to use the same realistic approach to the problem of making peace inside the United States as he did in proclaiming to the world his willingness to go to the peace table with our adversaries in Vietnam.

There is no doubt that the underlying issues of the civil-rights problem would get a better hearing and that more progress would be made toward removing discrimination if the riots and disorders, the looting and arson, the bottle-throwing and the sniping were eliminated. Then the nation could consider earnestly and dispassionately the reforms necessary to relieve the sociological conditions which have stirred up the civil-rights controversy itself.

Starchy Event

LOUISVILLE, Colo. (AP) — When a new highway was dedicated at Louisville, there wasn't the usual ribbon-cutting ceremony. Instead, Mayor Frank Rizzi snipped a ribbon of spaghetti that was 50 feet long and three inches wide. Many of Louisville's residents are of Italian descent.

Things That Make Life Worth Living

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

Children skipping rope to a chant their grandmothers knew when young. The healing of a wound and the falling off of an ugly scab. New hopes in a new spring. A line of daffodils making a yellow bonfire along a green hedge.

THE SOUND of gospel singing in a weathered rural church. Old ladies with fat arms leaning on pillows in tenement windows to get a breath of April air and see what's stirring on the streets below. Colts frolicking before a wind rippling across an emerald pasture. The twilight sound of bells, ringing from far away.

Tossing a stone into a small lake at dusk and wondering if the spreading ripples will urdulate forever. Consoling a sobbing baby after it falls down and hurts itself, or gets soap-suds in its eyes while taking a bath. Finding the paycheck unexpectedly larger by a few dollars, and deciding that maybe the boss isn't such a forgetful ogre after all.

PAINTING an old boat and planning on all the fish you'll catch from it come summer. The delicious ecstasy of taking a hot shower, after a day-long hike through the woods.

The red thrill of the first strawberries of the season upon the breakfast plate. Hitting a 200-yard drive over a golf course water hazard, or seeing Mickey Mantle or Willie Mays jog around the base paths after lofting a long ball into the stands. Telling ghost stories to Boy Scouts making their first overnight hike. Putting in a garden and counting how many long weeks it will be until the tomatoes ripen. God and the bugs being willing.

ASSURING A middle-aged wife you couldn't possibly love her any more, even if she dieted off 10 pounds instead of five. Listening to the kids laugh as they go through an old family album and see how funny Dad and Mom looked when they were teenagers.

Picking up a forgotten poetry anthology and finding the words now have a deeper, richer meaning to you than they did in high school or college. Watching robins collect worms for their young after a rain.

WINNING the one-legged hopping race at the annual P-T-A picnic. Discussing gravely with two precocious sales ladies from the Girl Scouts whether your family needs two or three boxes of cookies, price no object. Calling a family debate on how the budget should be stretched this year—to buy a new car you can't afford, or a color television set the kids say they can't do without.

Sitting alone on the front porch in the evening, hearing a whippoorwill's timeless plaint, remembering the past, wondering what the bewildering times ahead will bring.

No scream of bugles—just the steady hum of daily living.

James Marlow

Mushrooming Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The boom of the first American bomb on North Vietnam in August, 1964, signaled the mushrooming troubles at home and abroad that finally drove Lyndon B. Johnson out of the political arena.

One way or another the divisions within the nation, which the President gave as the reason for his decision not to run again, represent swelling reverberations from that blast.

THE LIST is nearly endless—accusations of fraud following the administration's stated reasons for the first bombing, complaints of a credibility gap in administration reports of war progress and prospects, immorality charges over U.S. participation in the war, trouble in the streets and protests that war money should be used instead to solve problems at home.

The first bombs fell on Communist shore installations in retaliation for a reported attack by North Vietnamese torpedo boats on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

THE NATIONAL split showed up—just a small crack initially—in the first event that followed. That was Senate adoption of the Tonkin Resolution to back the President in "all necessary measures" to resist attack and deter aggression.

Only Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, opposed that measure. They argued the United States had no right to make war in Vietnam and had no national interest to serve there.

But the Johnson administration has cited the Tonkin Resolution as its commission for whatever measures it felt necessary to meet the stated goal of deterrence for the Communists.

And the ballooning of the war effort on that basis has been matched, almost step by step, by the rising din of protest.

LEADERSHIP in that movement has been taken over by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He shepherded the resolution through to adoption in 1964 but now contends it was never intended for the uses to which it was put.

The issue moved into the even broader forum of national politics when first Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and then Sen. Robert F. Kennedy opened presidential drives with the war their overriding platform issue.

JOHNSON coupled his political pull-out with a new bombing pause offer as a bid for talks, and right up to the time when the Communists made some movement toward acceptance. That and similar points of last week, the administration was insisting there had been no sign of willingness on the other side.

Despite such contentions, the ranks of opposition continued to swell in almost precise proportion to the degree of American involvement in the war.

The time when the widening break became a chasm can almost be pinpointed as last August when U.S. forces in Vietnam went past half a million.

(By William H. Hickey, for James Marlow, who is ill.)

Around The Rim

That Was The Day

In the waning days of World War II, W. A. (Shorty) McGlaun of Snyder had to make a business trip into New Mexico to get signatures on some instruments.

In the pre-dawn, his lights caught the figure of a young man in uniform, and he stopped to give the youth a lift. It was a young pilot from a base in the vicinity of Alamogordo.

THEY EXCHANGED greetings as they rode along, heading west, when suddenly a strange thing happened. There appeared to be an explosion or some phenomenon ahead in the distance. The pilot groaned. Must have been a bomber exploding taking with it one of his buddies, he said. McGlaun didn't think so.

"If it was that, it must have been a couple of them got together."

EVEN AS THEY TALKED, the fiery ball boiled, then billowed. It kept on working like a mass in ferment—wired, uncanny, rising and spreading from a stem.

They had no way of knowing where it was; looking back on it, McGlaun figured that the thing must have been about a hundred miles ahead. Then he wasn't so sure, especially when the pilot kept worrying about a plane blowing up or a couple of them colliding.

IT WAS CONFUSING, too, for reports began trickling into the papers of a meteor. These were conflicting—some saw it in one direction, some another. Some disagreed what it looked like; some said it was like the sun suddenly had burst open before dawn, then died as quickly.

In a day or two, however, it was all-but forgotten. If experts ever were able to triangulate the meteor reports and get an approximate fix on it, there was no mention on the wires.

THEN on Aug. 6, 1945, an Air Force plane let loose an object that plummeted toward the Japanese city of Hiroshima. While some natives literally watched, the thing went off in a cataclysmic blast that destroyed 60 per cent of the city, searing and crushing, and then drawing an infernal, hellish wind back over the lot and up into the sky behind an ascending, billowing, boiling orange ball.

The President announced that a new bomb had been dropped. It employed, said the announcement, the principle of the sun's energy, and it was many, many times more devastating than anything man had heretofore contrived. Almost a day passed before the public began to grasp what had happened.

THEN what had happened above the desert floor near Alamogordo, N.M., began to make sense. The atomic age had been born in that crazy, convulsive ball of fire.

"I saw it," Shorty McGlaun told his wife. Maybe he was like a lot of other people who thought they saw it. Anyhow, he might have got his dates all mixed up. Why he might even have been sound asleep in Snyder.

SHORTY went to his lock box where he kept his valuable papers. He dug down until he came to the instruments he had gone to get signed. He ran his finger out to the date of the notary public—July 16, 1945. That was the day the bomb was born.

Nixon's Problems In Own Party

WASHINGTON — Can Richard Nixon kick the No Win habit? Not merely his own losing streak, but the combined propensity of the GOP to blow its big chances, and the anti-American heresy of our time which says that victory in Vietnam is impossible.

This combination of death-wish in the party and defeatism in the nation is the hydra-headed monster that Dick Nixon must overthrow if he's to become not just President (for Lyndon Johnson was that) but the acclaimed leader of a restored world power.

THE SELF-DESTRUCTIVE tendency within the minority Republican party is not a thing of the past, as I have just learned by some conversations with Senator Mark Hatfield of Oregon.

Hatfield, a freshman senator from a small state and 100th in Senate seniority, is a significant token of Republican instability for all his junior status. For one thing he is a man of parts, a sterling character, a dynamic influence in the college and church communities. For another, Hatfield holds an unincorporated partnership with two other vigorous Republicans, Sen. Charles McNamara of Illinois and Mayor John Lindsay of New York. These three meet. They pool their ideas. They compose a youthful liberal triumvirate of presidential caliber, and their defection or apathy would be a sore loss to the party.

HATFIELD STUCK with Barry Goldwater in 1964, but he may not stick with this year's Republican nominee. Hatfield is holding out on Nixon, has refused to encourage Nelson Rockefeller and almost certainly would bolt Ronald Reagan.

"I put my country above my politics and my party," is Hatfield's way of saying he will support a believable get-us-out-of-Vietnam man, even if it's Robert Kennedy.

WE HAVE HERE a little - noted menace to the Republican solidarity. The GOP has its peace-bund. Hatfield wants to hear more of Nixon's views on Vietnam. Hatfield's own formula, often repeated, is that we must "De-Americanize" the war by getting Asians to fight it. It is a desirable solution, as nobody can deny. It is everybody's panacea for every foreign war. It is what Johnson promised in 1964 when he was going to let "Asian boys" do the fighting. It is the framework of what little Nixon has said since the New Hampshire primary. It is the wishful nexus of our 40-odd mutual defense treaties. It hasn't always worked against communism.

THE ONLY THING that surely works against communism is the confrontation with American power. We broke a blockade in Berlin, we won a stalemate in Korea and a show-down in the Cuban missile crisis. We can still win in Vietnam, but Hatfield and the Republican peace-bund don't think so — not yet.

This is Nixon's triplex problem. He has these three No Win plates of the turtle's shell to shatter.

HE WILL BE a loser again unless he comes up with stronger ideas of foreign policy than his peace-mongering Democratic opponent seems to have.

He will have a divided party less he can satisfy the Republican peace-bund of at least a partial and eventual "de-Americanization" in overseas warfare.

Automobile Sales Spurt

NEW YORK (AP) — Automobile salesmen and dealers throughout America are talking up a real spurt in car sales. The increase began early in the first quarter of the year, but took off in the final 10 days of March.

The figures exceed even the estimates of many of the industry's positive thinking forecasters.

FIRST QUARTER sales of the nation's Big Four automakers totaled more than two million cars despite a sluggish start.

In the March 21-31 period alone, the combined sales of General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors were more than 322,000 cars, a pace that has been bettered only in 1965 and 1966.

In this 10-day period, Americans bought 36,000 cars more than in the same period a year earlier, or about 3,600 cars more a day—in spite of domestic and international turmoil. True, some peculiarities must be explained.

FORD, STILL rebounding from a strike, is providing cars now for many customers who couldn't buy them earlier. And sales incentive contests this year may have added to the bulge.

Still, the spring sales pace of 1968 stands close to the best, exceeded only by 1965 and 1966 when 2.2 million cars were sold in the first quarter. But, when increased purchases of foreign cars are included, Americans are found to be buying at a pace very close to the record.

Consider the situation just a couple of years ago. Sales were booming and manufacturers were projecting sales of cars and trucks of about 10.6 million. Henry Ford II foresaw sales in excess of 13 million by 1970. Confidence abounded.

EVERYTHING seemed to go sour at once. Safety, an issue that car makers had long pursued — but perhaps dutifully and sometimes ploddingly — suddenly was everyone's mind. Inflation spread through the economy. Consumer confidence began drying up in the heat of domestic and world tensions.

Car sales slumped beneath estimates. Millions of cars were found to have defects, mostly minor. American Motors got into serious financial trouble. Imported cars began taking a larger share of the American market.

SOME OF THESE problems still remain. In fact, imported cars are taking an increasingly larger share of the market, apparently because Detroit has failed to come up with suitable small competitors.

American Motors is still in serious financial trouble, but even this critical situation has improved a bit with the return of American profitability in the final quarter of 1967.

Confidence also seems to be returning to the auto buying public, although it seems to be a conditional thing that is not reflected in opinion surveys and which could be upset by a large dose of bad news.

Cold Comfort

HONOLULU (AP) — There is some cold reasoning prevailing in the State House of Representatives.

Rep. Cliff W. Krueger has been showing up in the house chambers with an overcoat with the collar pulled up.

The Arctic-like atmosphere in the chambers of the new State Capitol has brought several complaints from Republicans and Democrats alike.

"I know it looks funny," said Krueger of his coat, "but it's comfortable. What I need now is a radiating heater under my desk to keep my feet warm."

Annual Oscar Event Tonight

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Seventeen of the 20 acting nominees are expected to be present tonight for the 40th annual presentation of the Academy Awards.

Only Katharine Hepburn, Paul Newman and Spencer Tracy will be missing.

Tracy, nominated a record nine times for best actor, would be the first to win an Oscar posthumously should he be picked over four others.

The annual event of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, which draws a glittering crowd of stars, was postponed Monday night for the first time in its long history in respect to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

'BONNIE AND CLYDE'

The show will be telecast on ABC at 10 EST with Bob Hope as master of ceremonies for the 14th time.

The major nominees:

Best picture—"Bonnie and Clyde," "Dr. Dolittle," "The Graduate," "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner."

ing to Dinner," "In the Heat of the Night."

Best actor—Warren Beatty, "Bonnie and Clyde;" Dustin Hoffman, "The Graduate;" Paul Newman, "Cool Hand Luke;" Rod Steiger, "In the Heat of the Night;" Spencer Tracy, "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner."

'THE GRADUATE'

Best actress—Anne Bancroft, "The Graduate;" Faye Dunaway, "Bonnie and Clyde;" Dame Edith Evans, "The Whisperers;" Audrey Hepburn, "Wait Until Dark;" Katharine Hepburn, "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner."

Best supporting actor—Gene Hackman and Michael J. Pollard, "Bonnie and Clyde;" John Cassavetes, "The Dirty Dozen;" "Cecil Kellaway, "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner;" George Kennedy, "Cool Hand Luke."

Veterans Land Loans Limitation Revealed

AUSTIN (AP)—The interest in veterans land loans is so great that loans will not be allowed for more than 10 per cent of any subdivision, says state Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

He said, in a statement released Tuesday, that the limitation is to protect the veteran. "We want to give all veterans throughout the state of Texas an opportunity to purchase land under this program," Sadler said. "Therefore, we cannot spend all our money in a few isolated areas."

"It appears that real estate developers have blocked up as many as several thousand acres in one tract, offering it for sale to Texas veterans. We have large subdivisions that have put prices on their land far above market value in the area, which is discouraging to the veteran and the Veterans Land Board after we have gone to the trouble, time and expense of attempting to process a veteran's application based on market value of the land in the area," he said.

Racial Violence Snags Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The usual vast springtime tourist invasion has become a trickle in the heat of racial violence in the nation's capital, leaving the city's leading industry reeling in what should have been its richest week of the year.

The cost is staggering, apparently running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars daily.

TRIPS AXED

One sightseeing firm lists its losses at $8,000 a day. At a 1,000-room hotel, nearly three-fourths of the guests did not keep their reservations. High schools have called off class trips to the capital.

The full cost cannot be counted easily. Even the Washington Convention and Visitors Bureau was closed Tuesday along with most businesses in respect to assassinated civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The annual Cherry Blossom

Festival this year came only a week before Easter, when thousands of pupils converge on the city during spring vacation.

CABS VANISH

But racial violence flared last Thursday night after the slaying of King in Memphis, Tenn., and the city came to a standstill beneath a pall of smoke from scores of burning buildings.

The few small conventions planned this week generally have been canceled but the Daughters of the American Revolution convention and the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting remain on the agenda next week.

Transportation is still snarled and taxicabs disappear as a daily curfew descends at dark.

Airport Transport Inc. reports some of its limousines have been stopped and its passengers searched by police on trips from National Airport to downtown hotels at night.

Altho West held the setting tricks in his own hand, his failure to cash out promptly against South's four spade contract provided the latter with an opportunity to avert defeat.

West opened the king of hearts and continued with the ace. He shifted to the jack of diamonds and South won the trick in his hand with the queen.

It appeared that the contract must go down to defeat for, in addition to the two heart tricks, declarer has to lose the ace of spades and the king of clubs—both of which cards are marked with West by virtue of his vulnerable take-out double.

There was only one slim hope which required some favorable distribution and a bit of cooperation from the enemy. At trick four, declarer casually led a small spade from his hand. West should have hastened to go in with the ace in order to disengage himself from the lead while he could still do so safely. Instead, he played low, and dummy's seven of spades won the trick.

The ace and king of diamonds were played next and when both opponents followed suit, South was well on his way. A trump lead threw West in with the ace and, in order to avoid giving his opponent a ruff and discard, he was obliged to exit with a club. Declarer put up North's ten which held the trick to clinch the contract.

West should have been aware that the ace of spades was a potential liability to him if he held on to the card too long, and he should have released it at the first opportunity. After cashing the first two tricks, it would have been good strategy for him to cash the ace of spades and then get out waiting for the setting trick with the king of clubs.

Tax Battle Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional tug-of-war over a tax increase-spending cut plan has been called off for at least several weeks.

A conference of House and Senate members trying to work out a bill acceptable to both chambers agreed Tuesday not to press the fight for now.

The Senate has passed a bill which includes provisions for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, a $6 billion spending cut and a $15,000 rollback in the number of federal employees.

However, the House normally takes the first action on tax bills and is working on its own tax-spending plan.

The conference committee did adopt a resolution calling for a temporary extension of two federal excise taxes—10 per cent on telephone service and 7 per cent on cars.

These taxes technically dropped to 1 and 2 per cent respectively April 1 but have been collected at the higher rates on the assumption Congress would extend them retroactively.

Negro Wants Watts Renamed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Negro leader says Watts, scene of 1965 riots, should be renamed in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Ben Peery, president of the Watts Community Symphony Association, said the south-central Los Angeles district is known elsewhere as "a place of disorder and violence—everything Dr. King was opposed to."

He suggested Kingtown as a possible name.

LBJ ENDS STRATEGY TALKS AT CAMP DAVID

Prospects For Peace Cloudy

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — Prospects for peace in Vietnam appeared cloudy as ever as President Johnson wrapped up marathon war-and-peace strategy talks at the Camp David mountain retreat.

Although Johnson announced Tuesday he had dispatched a second formal message to Hanoi, he said nothing and merely shook his head negatively when asked at nightfall if there had been any subsequent developments.

NO WORD
No administration comment was immediately available on word reaching the United States early today that North Vietnam is insisting that any peace talks be held in Phnom Penh, Cambodia. The U.S. government has been strongly opposed to that site since it no longer has diplomatic relations with Cambodia, a circumstance that could cause communications and logistics problems.

The chief executive, spending a second night at Camp David, planned a morning return by helicopter to the White House today to greet Chancellor Josef Klaus of Austria.

RED MESSAGES
While millions of Americans watched and listened Tuesday to seven hours of funeral observances for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on television and radio, the President was closeted at his Marine-guarded hideaway with top diplomatic and military advisers.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was his representative at the King rites.

Johnson's last official guest at Camp David was the U.S. Pacific commander, Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, who flew in by helicopter for an hour's visit Tuesday night. Sharp is retiring in July. Latest activity on the Vietnam peace front began Monday when Johnson announced receipt of a formal message from Hanoi, replying to his own earlier communication to the North Vietnamese government.

In disclosing Tuesday that he had dispatched yet another message to North Vietnam, Johnson said the two adversaries in the Vietnam war were "discussing a number of alternative locations" for preliminary talks "which could be convenient to both sides."

VISITORS
Johnson's visitors during the busy Camp David stay included, in addition to Sharp, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker in from Saigon, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman, designated as Johnson's personal representative if peace talks develop.

The President told newsmen he spent most of the afternoon discussing with Bunker relations between Washington and the Saigon government.

Bunker, invited by Johnson to speak to newsmen, was at least as optimistic as Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the Vietnam commander, had been after weekend policy talks with Johnson at Washington.

The envoy said he reported to the President on the South Vietnamese situation following the enemy's Tet offensive. He said: "If Tet was a psychological and a political success abroad, it certainly was a resounding military defeat for them in Vietnam. I am beginning to think it was also a psychological and political defeat as well."

More Than 100,000 Troops Fan Out Over Saigon Area

SAIGON (AP) — More than 100,000 troops of five nations fanned out today over the Saigon area and 11 provinces around the capital in the biggest allied offensive of the war. Only light, scattered action was reported, and a general lull in the ground fighting in Vietnam continued for the second day.

NEW SWEEP
The U.S. Command announced that the big new sweep around the capital, Operation Toan Thang, or Complete Victory, began Monday. Its objective is the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops who got away from the 50,000 American and South Vietnamese troops in Operation Quyet Thang, or Resolved to Win.

U.S. headquarters announced Tuesday that Quyet Thang, a sweep of five provinces around Saigon, had ended with 2,658 enemy killed. But when it began early in March, a force of 13,000 Viet Cong and units of two North Vietnamese regiments were reported maneuvering around the capital, possibly for a renewal of the Tet offensive against the city.

ON THE RUN
U.S. spokesmen explained that Quyet Thang and all other allied operations in the 3rd

Texas Rangers brought the equipment back to Big Spring on Tuesday afternoon from Sherman where it had been recovered. It was in good condition, the officer said.

The men are under charge at Sherman Sheriff A. N. Standard said, and it is not known when they will be returned to Big Spring to face the charges against them here.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said that the burglary charges would be filed today and that a hold order would be placed against the pair to insure their return here when other cases against them have been disposed.

Firemen Snuff Out Small Fire

Firemen snuffed out a small blaze at the home of Eddie Johnson, 2216 Lynn, Tuesday afternoon which was started by foam pillows around a light bulb in the closet. There was slight smoke damage and a small carpet burn.

A grass fire was reported Tuesday at 912 NW 6th but was out when firemen got there.

Hubert Plans To Enter Race After Easter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will plunge into the race for the Democratic presidential nomination immediately after Easter.

The vice president now assesses his chances in a three-way contest with Sens. Robert S. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., as "looking good."

He has told friends he is more encouraged to make the race than he has to ever been to run for office in his political life.

MONEY WOES
The Humphrey campaign, once it is launched, will be aimed at the heart of nomination strength—the state conventions in which the majority of convention delegates are chosen.

The vice president has neither the money nor the inclination to go into presidential primaries. In line with this he instructed his friends not to enter a delegate slate for him even in his native South Dakota.

Delegate lists for Kennedy and McCarthy are being organized for the June 4 primary there. But Rod Barnes, organizer of a South Dakota drive for Humphrey, said in Huron Tuesday he had been told not to enter any slate for the Vice President.

CONVINCED
Humphrey is personally convinced he will have strong support from organized labor and the business community. This has been indicated in about 4,000 messages urging him to run after President Johnson's announcement that he would not accept renomination.

Junior Colleges Money Formula Increase Urged

The coordinating board of the Texas College and University System has increased by five per cent its recommended formula of support to public junior colleges. The funds go toward instructional costs.

The fiscal year 1970 support will be based on $18.36 times the semester hours for the summer and autumn 1968 and spring 1969; the 1971 figure will be based on $19.30. Current payments are based on $17.50.

The legislative budget board in a session Monday, accepted Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman's recommendation of marking $2.2 million for Odessa Junior College, which is in the district he represents, for help in vocational-technical buildings and equipment. The proposal by the Texas Education Agency and took the nature of a recommended direct grant to the Odessa school. At the same time the board turned down a $356,000 request by North Texas State University for help on a new chemistry building.

City Decides On System Of Modern Bookkeeping

The City of Big Spring will soon put its books into a system of electronic data processing, following action Tuesday evening to lease for one year equipment by the Burroughs Corp.

Cost of the first year operation will be about $9,600, after a $3,000 allowance for trade-in of the city's bookkeeping machines. After the initial year, a decision will be made on purchasing the equipment which can vary from $31,227 to $34,617, depending on the specific equipment officials decide to buy.

Some $6,500 of the lease cost paid the first year will be allowed against the purchase price, the commissioners were told Tuesday.

Recommendations to buy the Burroughs' equipment came from the city's auditors, George Thorburn and Max Green, who described the "magnetic stripe" equipment the best overall to handle the city's chores.

"There are better systems," Thorburn said, "but they are more expensive." Finance director Charles Smith joined with the auditors in pointing out that competitive equipment would require better trained employees, who would be more expensive.

The equipment will enable the city to keep tabs on its payroll, water billing, taxes, warehouse, and general ledger accounts, Smith said. Thorburn added that the Big Spring Independent School system has similar equipment.

The tax or ledger accounts will probably be placed on the machine immediately, he said, but the water bills will be delayed until October, after the peak months of usage.

Commissioners Tuesday did not discuss competitive equipment. Two weeks ago, before the matter was tabled, City

Resurrection Of Christ Will Be Commemorated

The Crucifixion and the Resurrection of Christ will be commemorated this weekend in community-wide services beginning Friday and ending Sunday with the traditional Easter sunrise service in the City Park.

On Good Friday, seven local ministers will portray the Seven Last Words of Christ in a special observance which will begin at noon and last until 3 p.m. at the First Methodist Church. There will be meditation, scripture readings, pastoral prayers, congregational hymns and special music by Richard and Pat Macklin, who will sing "Behold the Savior of Mankind," by Samuel Wesley.

Ministers participating include Rev. Dan Sebesta, St. Paul Presbyterian Church; Chaplain Robert Deming, wing chaplain, Webb AFB Chapel; Rev. Robert Knutson, Trinity Lutheran Church; Rev. Tom Strother, Wesley Methodist Church; Rev. John Beard, First Christian Church; Rev. Marvin Roark, Kentwood Methodist Church; and Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian Church.

Each of the ministers will speak approximately 15 minutes and persons who wish to attend only part of the services will be able to do so.

Sunday, at 6:19 a.m., the public is invited to the Easter sunrise service to be held at the amphitheater in the City Park. Bishop Lance Webb, Methodist minister from Springfield, Ill.,

Howard School Vote Canvassed

Howard County Commissioners Court Tuesday afternoon canvassed the vote cast last Saturday in the Howard County School Board elections. There was no opposition to the three members who were seeking reelection.

The official tabulations show: Wade Choate, member at large 807; Hayes Stripling Jr., Commissioner Precinct 3 member, 254; R. L. Heith, member from Commissioner Precinct 4, 107 votes.

The three were re-elected to the board for two year terms.

Garden City Super To Speak Tuesday

Roy Thurston, superintendent of Garden City schools, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Big Spring Life Underwriters Tuesday noon.

Winner of district contests and representative at regional contests of Toastmasters International, Thurston has made numerous appearances as a speaker in this area.

The luncheon affair will be held at the Downtown Tea Room.

Blen B. Brewster, charged with DWI, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court today and was fined $50 and placed on three months probation. He also was assessed costs in the case. Brewster's home is in Sand Springs. He was arrested by the State Highway Patrol.

Start Staff Gains Praise

The Big Spring Head Start program has received a pat on the back from Mrs. Frances Lyle, regional training officer, who was in Big Spring last month to make a film of the local program.

Mrs. Lyle said in a letter to Supt. Sam Anderson that she was "very proud of the Head Start program in Big Spring" and director Keith Swin has been able to stimulate his staff and is carrying on a better program than many of the other schools that have a full-time director.

"I have watched with interest the fine way he has encouraged the growth of staff members, who have, in turn, been able to give more to the Head Start children," she wrote. "This is especially reflected in the involvement of these children's

Confrontation Gets Hotter

KAROI, Rhodesia (AP) — The Zambezi River is our demilitarized zone," said the sun-bronzed farmer, sipping a noon-time beer.

"We are fighting communists here just like the allies in Vietnam," he pointed toward the main road through this prosperous tobacco and corn town. "These terrorists are the same as Viet Cong."

Fighting in the Zambezi Valley between African guerrillas and white soldiers and police is part of the confrontation in southern Africa.

ARMED FRONTIER

The armed frontier between white and black looms across the continent from Portuguese Angola's Atlantic coast, down to the Zambezi and across northern Mozambique to the Indian Ocean. Fighting has been fluid and desultory, but the tempo of hostilities is rising.

Black guerrillas have been fighting almost eight years in Angola and about four years in Mozambique. They don't have victory in sight, but are taxing Lisbon heavily in men and money.

The confrontation across the Zambezi between Zambia and Rhodesia is newer and potentially more serious. There are signs that this clash is entangled with global East-West power politics.

'FREEDOM FIGHTERS'

Rhodesia is a breakaway British territory almost as large as California, populated by some 230,000 whites and more than four million Africans. Infiltrators can choose more than 500 miles of frontier to enter Rhodesia from Zambia.

The white farmer in Kari who equates African "freedom fighters" with the Viet Cong knows that guerrillas captured recently were armed with Russian explosives, Czech grenades and Chinese rifles and bazookas. He is aware that they prob-

Wood Nickels Are In Demand

How are you fixed on wooden nickels?

If you have any on hand and want to do some trading with them attend the regular meeting of the Big Spring Coin Club Thursday night in Room 1, Hotel Settles. The business session, which W. E. Wozencraft, president, says will be brief, opens at 7:30 p.m. Remainder of the evening will be devoted to a swapfest.

Among the items expected to be in high demand are wooden nickels, particularly those which were issued as a publicity stunt in October, 1949, in Big Spring. The wooden nickels were a part of the Big Spring Centennial Celebration held that year. The original wooden nickels bear the names of Shine Phillips as president of the centennial committee and J. H. Greene as secretary. The nickels, once abundant, are now rare and collectors want copies badly.

Wozencraft said there were four issues of the Big Spring Centennial Wooden Nickels. All are collectors items now.

Wozencraft said there will be no auction this meeting.

Says Prostitute Sent Hubby Through College

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A witness testified in federal court Tuesday that a defendant in a prostitution trial made between $600 and $800 while working to send her husband through college.

The witness was one of the five women defendants on trial in U.S. District Court charged with conspiracy to commit bank burglary and conspiracy to commit prostitution. The women are among 14 being tried before U.S. Dist. Judge D. W. Suttle.

POODLE FARM

Mrs. Florence Craine of Deer Park, Tex., testified that defendant Sue Overton earned at least $600 weekly as a prostitute in Plainview and Longview. She said all of Mrs. Overton's earnings were turned over to her husband who was unemployed and attending college.

Besides working in Longview and Plainview, Mrs. Craine testified, Mrs. Overton also engaged in prostitution at the Poodle Farm in San Antonio. The case was transferred to El Paso from Del Rio after it was claimed that it had received undue publicity in Del Rio. Judge Suttle issued sharp restrictions on information which a government employee or an attorney in the case could furnish newsmen.

ALTERNATE JURORS

Four alternate jurors were selected in addition to the 10-man, two-woman jury because of the time it is expected to take to hear the case. It was feared a juror might become ill and cause a mistrial.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Ernest Morgan told the jury he would attempt to prove existence of an interstate prostitution ring in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, starting in 1964, and that the defendants also conspired to burglarize banks in Texas and other states.

Dear Abby

Problem Of 'Goodnight'

DEAR ABBY: I have recently moved into a high-rise apartment, live alone, and have a problem which I imagine other single girls who live alone must have. (I am 22.)

When my date brings me home, where shall we say good-night? In the lobby, where the doorman, night watchman, and tenants can watch us?

How about letting my date walk me to my apartment door, and saying good-night there? Or should I invite him to step into my apartment to say good-night?

When I first moved here, I let my date step into my apartment to thank him for the lovely evening, and it ended up in a one-hour wrestling match. I had a terrible time getting rid of him.

Please answer soon as I have no mother to ask.

ROSEMONT, PA. GIRL

DEAR ABBY: A girl's date should always see her safely to her door. Don't ever allow a man to "step inside" if you have any doubts about how he will behave once he's inside. Even the smartest girls sometimes misjudge a man, so should you find yourself with the "wrestling" type, don't say "good-night," — say "GOOD-BYE!"

DEAR ABBY: Twenty-five years ago I was very much in love with Bill, and he loved me. I married someone else because Bill wanted all the privileges of marriage with none of the responsibilities.

After 18 years of a happy marriage, my husband passed away, leaving me with two teenage children. That was two years ago.

Bill and I recently met again. He is 55 and still a bachelor (I am 47). The old spark was rekindled, Abby, and I think I am in love with him again. He says he's never stopped loving me, but would you believe he STILL wants romance without marriage?

I am too straight-laced for that, and besides I don't want to set a bad example for my children. Do you know any magic formula for getting a man to marry you? Or in this modern age is a woman foolish to turn down love on any terms?

CAROL

DEAR CAROL: There are traps and tricks, but no "magic formula" to induce marriage—especially in a man who has skillfully avoided it for 25 years. You were right 25 years ago. Stick to that decision.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want To Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

West Texas Gem Show Scheduled

West Texas Gem and Mineral Society's Annual Rock show will open at 9 a.m. Saturday with ribbon cutting ceremonies at Floyd Gwin Auditorium in Odessa.

On exhibit will be precious and semi-precious stones, mineral specimens, jewelry, agate from Texas and various parts of the world, and articles made from them, as well as educational exhibits featuring fossils, art-facts, and fluorescent minerals. Club members will be using various types of lapidary equipment to demonstrate how the stones are made into jewelry. Sherry Umsted is chairman of the show.

The adult grand prize is a woman's green spinel ring. The children's grand prize is a rock tumbler.

Admission for adults is 50 cents and childrens tickets are 25 cents.

The public is invited to attend from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Absentee Voting To Open Monday

Absentee voting or the May 4 primaries opens Monday in the office of Howard County Clerk Pauline Petty. Deadline for such voting is April 30.

Margaret Ray, chief deputy, said that the office already has 21 applications on hand for the primary and 28 for the general election.

All persons who are eligible to vote absentee and who wish to do so should come to the county clerk's office and obtain ballots.

The Kings March In Atlanta

Uniformed Police Guard King's Tomb

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Uniformed police stood watch today at the tomb of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Atlanta, where funeral rites were being held. The police, dressed in uniform, stood in a line around the tomb, which is located in the Inman Park cemetery. The funeral procession for Dr. King, which began yesterday, is expected to continue today with a service at the tomb.

FREE AT LAST
Mourners trickled into South View Cemetery for a look at the crypt even after darkness fell Tuesday. Inscribed on the Georgia marble are the words of an old slave song often quoted by King: "Free at Last, Free at Last; Thank God Almighty, I'm Free at Last."

A police official said the guards were posted as a precaution, and there had been no hint of attempts to molest the grave. King, 39, was killed by a sniper in Memphis, Tenn. He had returned for another march of striking garbage workers after an earlier march erupted into rioting.

His followers called for the nation to look at itself anew as they pledged at the final rites to carry out his crusade against racism, poverty and injustice. "Let us see to it that we do not dishonor his name by trying

Four More Texans Killed In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-four servicemen killed in action in the Vietnam war were identified Tuesday in a Defense Department casualty list. They included these four Texans:

Army—Capt. Dalton M. Estlin, husband of Mrs. Anna F. Estlin, 1210 Ashelman St., Waco; Spec. 4 Larry R. Creecy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Q. Creecy, 313 Souder Drive, Hurst; Pfc. David W. Chambers, husband of Mrs. Barbara C. Chambers, 9439 Beacon Hill Circle, Dallas; Pfc. Cephus Griffin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cephus Griffin Sr., 2607 Eagle Drive, Dallas.

Recount Of Ballots Cast In City Election Slated

A recount of the ballots cast in the April 2 city election will get started at 9 a.m. Monday at City Hall, following action of the city commission last night.

Named to the committee of three to count the ballots are John Currie, chairman; Bill Sheppard, and Mrs. Ivanelle Marr. Mayor Arnold Marshall originally announced appointment of representatives from each of the three banks to serve on the committee.

Mrs. Mary Thomas, who was listed fourth in the contest to elect three commissioners, said she understood First National Bank contributed to campaign expenses for the incumbent commissioners, and she opposed it being represented on the committee.

Marshall, in reply to her questions, said he did not know if the bank participated in his campaign expenses. Due to the fact that a question was raised, commissioners decided to substitute Sheppard for R. J. Ream of First National on the committee.

The committee members were approved on a motion by Jimmy Morehead, seconded by George Zachariah. The ordinance ordering the recount of the election ballots was approved on a motion by Walter Stroup, seconded by Garner McAdams.

Only witnesses to the recount will be the candidates on the ballot, or their representatives.

County Governing Body Remapped

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — The Rutherford County Quarterly Court, the county governing body, bowed to court edict Monday and reapportioned itself on a one-man, one-vote basis.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled April 1 that local governing units must follow the same population apportionment as state legislatures and congressional districts.

Trustees Check Votes, Elect Moss President

Big Spring school trustees Tuesday night canvassed the results of last Saturday's election, seated a new board member, and named Joe A. Moss, Grant Boardman and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper as officers.

Moss is president; Mrs. Cowper is secretary; and Boardman is the new vice president, filling the office left vacant by Dr. Carl Marcum, who did not run for re-election. Sworn in as a new member of the board was Jimmy Taylor, a vice president at the First National Bank, who led the ticket in balloting Saturday.

Final official tabulations were Taylor, 468; Moss, 455; Mrs. Cowper, 453; and write-ins, Mary Thomas, 3; James Cape, 3; J. M. Denson, 2; B. W. Hines, 2; Don Wiley, 2; C. E. Campbell, 2; Ralph McLaughlin, 1; Winston Wrinkle, 1; Noel Morgan, 1; J. S. Price, 1; and Eddie Acree, 1.

Moss commended Dr. Marcum for his services to the board.

"Being a professional man, it has not always been easy to be in attendance at each meeting," Dr. Marcum said. "The four years I have spent as a school board member have been re-are promptly removed," said Mays. "Let black and white alike search their hearts; and if there be any prejudice in our hearts against any racial or ethnic group, let us exterminate it."

Marching had been a big part of King's life. So in death, there was a final march for Martin Luther King. His wreath-shrouded coffin traveled more than four miles over Atlanta streets in a faded green farm wagon drawn by two brown mules—symbolic of the poor whose cause he had taken up.

Thousands marched with King the last time.

OUR LEADER

Ahead of the old wagon, behind it, beside it, in wide and uneven columns, numbering upwards of 50,000, they marched with the man who was called by most of the black mourners simply "our leader."

At the Morehouse rites following the march from Ebenezer Baptist Church, attendance was estimated at 150,000 by police. Red Cross workers cared for several hundred persons stricken by heat exhaustion in 80-degree weather.

Rehab Volunteers Honored

Importance Of Volunteers Emphasized At Rehab Meet

Using as his topic, "What in the World Are You Doing?", the Rev. Jack Boyett emphasized the importance of the role each volunteer worker plays in the operation of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center at the Volunteer Recognition Banquet held Tuesday evening at the Big Spring Country Club.

"I envy those of you who have a service to render," Boyett told his listeners.

The speaker said he would not diminish the role of a doctor in a hospital but said the nurses who work there, the attendants who cater to the needs of patients play equally important roles in such a facility.

The rehabilitation center would be less of a success, Boyett added, if everyone who volunteers his services did not do his job.

Don Womack presided at the meeting and introduced various speakers in addition to Rev. Boyett, among them Jim Thompson, director and physical therapist of the Roberts center; Rev. R. F. Polk, president of the center's board of directors; and Dr. M. W. Talbot, the board's vice president.

Womack was the recipient of a certificate given by Thompson on behalf of the Roberts center for services rendered the past year to the facility and its patients.

The American Business Club was praised for underwriting part of the expense for the banquet, which attracted more than 100 persons. Mrs. Dick Ream was also praised for heading up the committee that planned the meal.

Volunteers gifted with certificates included:

500 Hours — Mrs. Morris Robertson.

250 Hours — Mrs. Albert Davis, Mrs. Roy B. Granbery, Mrs. Dub Harkrider, Mrs. F. F. McElreath and Mrs. Joe Smoot.

100 Hours — Mrs. L. H. Gore, Mrs. John Hogan, Miss Beattie Love, Mrs. G. F. Painter, Mrs. Richard Rowe, Mrs. Akin Simpson, Mrs. Kenneth Sneed and Mrs. Jerrold Walker.

A Big Spring High School quartet consisting of Brad Cederberg, Keith Graumann, Steve Pyles and Roger Dixon, accompanied by Debbie Dunlap, sang several numbers for the gathering.

Ann Garrett provided dinner music.

Drainage Work Urged, City Promises Study

The Rev. Bob Bohannon, who submitted a petition urging a program to solve the drainage problem in the west end of the city, was assured by commissioners Tuesday night that the matter would be studied. The petition, which the pastor of the Fourth and Galveston Street Church of God said was initiated by him, carried almost 400 names.

The petition stated, and Rev. Bohannon repeated, that the poor drainage in the area is a health and safety hazard. He called it a "disaster area" following rains.

Ernest Lillard, public works director, told the commission that a drainage plan for the area was studied under the Master Plan, and he estimated the cost at some $250,000. He said that drainage pipe through the area large enough to be effective would be so big as to be "below the grade of the creek" in the railway right-of-way area. Thus, water carried that far would not drain away.

Lillard said the problem of drainage of the canal, which extends east through the city and onto the Colorado River watershed, had been under study since 1952 and will probably cost $3 million. This must wait on a study by the Corps of Engineers, as city residents cannot finance so mammoth a project, he said.

Bonds voted in the Master Plan program, he said, are to be used for studies and purchase of right-of-way for the larger project.

He said that the Texas Highway Department has been contacted about drainage across Third and Fourth streets, but has made no report.

Jim Townes suggested a graded storm drain across the two streets, but Lillard said this would create a maintenance problem. Jack Watkins was joined by Rev. Bohannon in urging that more streets be paved in the area. Lillard said a paving program is now being planned and he urged them to help encourage property owners in the area to participate in it. All agreed that paved streets would solve many of the problems developing during heavy rainfalls.

"I realize it can't be done overnight," Rev. Bohannon said, "but we would like to see a program started."

Gubernatorial Hopefuls Cover Variety Of Issues

By The Associated Press
Three of the 10 Democrats seeking the Texas governor's nomination brought the question of higher pay for teachers back into the campaign Tuesday.

Others stumping the state talked about a wide variety of issues to be weighed by voters in the May 4 primaries, and the pace of their efforts appeared to be gradually increasing.

Don Yarborough, the only Democrat in the race who styles himself a liberal, and Eugene Locke expressed views on the substantial raises for teachers recommended Monday by a special governor's committee on education.

"Texas didn't need a committee to tell us what we have known for years about the inadequate salaries paid our teachers," Yarborough said, adding that he nevertheless agreed with its conclusion.

"But the same old crowd who brought about the depressed pay scale and the overcrowded classrooms," Yarborough went on, "is now trying to wash its hands of those conditions by delaying action through committee studies, reports and then more reports. . . I am the only candidate for governor who is not part of this crowd."

Locke applauded the committee's recommendation during an Amarillo visit.

"We know the teachers in our public schools must have a substantial pay raise," Locke said, "but to pin down an exact figure at this time would . . . be demagoguery without considering the cost of such a program."

"I also was pleased to see the committee plans to put major emphasis on expanded technical and vocational training as a means to combat school dropouts."

Pat O'Daniel, son of former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, said in Dallas he favors both higher salaries for teachers "and a complete investigation into the retirement fund, for which the state is obligated dollar for dollar."

O'Daniel said his father, in 1940, was the only governor to force such matching by the state and added, "If this retirement fund is not being maintained by the state it should be brought up to date."

Dolph Briscoe, a Democrat, paid a visit to the Panhandle to Silverton in Briscoe County, named for his great, great uncle—Capt. Andrew Briscoe, who came to Texas in 1833 from Mississippi and fought in the Battle of San Jacinto.

Briscoe appealed for "a return to the old fashioned ideals and principles that helped to build Texas." At a stop in Canyon, he said "the lack of basic education of many of our people" is responsible for most of the state's basic problems.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith told Denison supporters he was concerned over public apathy toward the governor's race and state problems in general.

Smith said, "It seems most Texans are concerned with national problems, Vietnam and the riots. We go overseas to fight but wouldn't walk across the street to vote, a right that we're fighting for."

At a Greenville breakfast today, the lieutenant governor said his 18 years as a public official made it "quite apparent that this governor's race has proved one big difference in the candidates—that there is a wide qualification gap between myself and the others."

Edward Whittenburg, a wealthy Houston businessman, again chided his Democratic opponents about disclosing their sources of revenue as he did several weeks ago.

Whittenburg, making a televised appearance in Lubbock, asserted, "The other major candidates like Waggoner Carr and Preston Smith have made no effort to reveal their sources of income."

Carr and Smith both are from Lubbock.

Opening a Houston campaign headquarters, Carr pledged that as governor he would keep the costs of government down.

"We are going to cut down the doles and put people back to work all over Texas. . . That's what those who are receiving the doles want," Carr declared.

"We are going to put on the hardest fight to save the taxpayer's dollar this state has ever seen—and we just might even give the federal government a few ideas on how to do it."

John Hill, still another Democrat, said he would keep the costs of government down.

For the annual Roundup for the Buffalo Trail Council when more than 1,000 boys and leaders are expected here May 3-5, The Cubbers will talk about the Pow Wow which is coming up April 20 at the First Methodist Fellowship Hall with Bill Sneed as general chairman.

crat, urged in Beaumont and Port Arthur that the states industrial safety law be strengthened and its workmen's compensation benefits made more liberal.

Hill declared, "Something is wrong when a person who is unemployed is drawing unemployment compensation checks and gets more money than a person who has been hurt on the job and is drawing workmen's compensation."

Paul Eggers, one of three rivals for the Republican nomination for governor called in El Paso for increased educational programs as a crime deterrent.

Eggers said, "We must mount a concerted effort to reverse the trend of young Texans turning away from education into careers of crime. Education is the key to the future for our young people. Educators and parents must make every effort to encourage students to stay in school."

John R. Trice, also in the GOP race, was honored at a reception in Houston. His county campaign chairman, B. K. Doyal, rated the Dallas lawyer "the only candidate capable of carrying Harris County in the fall elections."

At that time, Mayor Arnold Marshall told them the commission has no choice in the matter, that a package store is located across the street. At any rate, he said, the applicant could probably win approval in the courts if the commission refused to grant it.

Commissioners approved an amendment to the ordinance establishing the police reserve force, striking out the limitation of 40 men and establishing the equivalency of a high school education rather than a high school diploma for applicants.

Public hearing was held for an off-premises consumption permit for the Ramada Package Store, requested by Marshall Fields for the Ramada Inn location. It won approval on first reading.

First reading was approved for the annexation of the original "big spring" site. Third reading was given the zoning change in Highland South for the new apartment complex, requested by Ike Robb.

Controversial Beer Bid Tabled By Commission

The controversial off-premises beer consumption permit for a service station has been tabled by the city commission.

The permit, requested by Rendal Hamby for the Rock Oil No. 1 Service Station, on US 87 south, was due for third reading at the Tuesday evening meeting of the commission.

When the matter was reached on the agenda, George Zachariah said that due to opposition to the matter he made a motion to table the third reading for further study.

Jimmy Morehead, lone commissioner to vote against approval of the permit on the first two readings, seconded the motion, which was approved.

At the public hearing and first reading of the ordinance, there was no opposition to the request. At the second reading two weeks ago, a delegation appeared to oppose approval, pointing out what they considered the dangers of selling alcoholic beverages in service stations.

Smith Named Forsan Supe

Herbert D. Smith, superintendent of schools in Van Horn, will become the new superintendent of the Forsan County Line School District effective Aug. 1.

The announcement was made today by Mrs. A. D. Barton, a member of the Forsan school board, who said Smith's contract was for three years, to run until Aug. 1, 1971. His salary will be announced later, she said.

The Forsan School board voted in January not to rehire Supt. Darrell Flynt, who had held the position as head of the schools for two years.

Smith has been superintendent in Van Horn for 12 years. He was previously superintendent at Fort Davis and at Valentine.

He received his bachelor of science and master's degrees from Sul Ross College and is listed in Who's Who in American Education and is a life member of the National Education Association, Texas State Teachers Association and Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Smith is a past "outstanding citizen of the year" in Van Horn and is an honorary citizen of the City of El Paso.

He served during World War II in the Army Air Force.

He and his wife, June, who will possibly be teaching in the Forsan schools, have one daughter.

Represents Club

Larry Shaw, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Shaw of Knott, will represent the Big Spring Breakfast Optimist Club in the district oratory contest in Odessa April 26. Larry is a student in the Sands High School at Ackerly and spoke on the topic of "The Golden Opportunities of Youth."

Trustees Table Uniform Request

Girls in the homemaking departments of Big Spring High School had better get their needles and thread ready—they may be making overlays for uniforms for the Steer Band.

Big Spring school trustees Tuesday night tabled a request for overlays for 200 Steer Band uniforms, which would cost approximately $7,200, until after consideration of the 1968-1969 budget, which will not come until mid-summer.

Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper and Jack Alexander were the most outspoken of the trustees in the discussion, with Alexander pointing out that the school district's budget was "tight enough" without having to bear the additional burden of the band overlays at this time.

Mrs. Cowper said she thought the overlays, which were shown to trustees at the meeting, were too expensive for the materials involved—the company is asking a price of $36.22 each—and said perhaps students in the home economics department could be making some of the overlays as a project.

Don Crockett, school business manager, received checks from the Band Boosters totaling $1,500 for last year's uniform partial payment and $160 as the share of the concession stands at the junior high football games.

Trustees gave Crockett the green light to use machine-printed checks bearing facsimile signatures for disbursement of payroll checks issued by the school district. The district is currently using machine-printed checks for fund disbursements together with a second machine operation imprinting facsimile signatures of the president and secretary of the board; these, in turn, are countersigned by either Crockett or Supt. Sam Anderson. Crockett pointed out that a cover payroll check for the total payroll is issued which carries the counter signature and a counter-signature of each check is time-consuming and not essential.

Trustees also gave Crockett approval to order one 80-passenger school bus and one 48-passenger school bus, to be delivered as early after the new budget is into effect as possible.

Police are investigating seven minor accidents which occurred Tuesday.

At Tenth and Rannels, Jay Fuselier, Route 2, and Patty King Prater, 2315 Eleventh Place, ran together; at Fourth and Rannels, the cars of Hubert Donald Aldridge, 205 W. 18th, and H. O. Lee, 1001 E. 3rd, were involved in an accident; and Frank Leon Paul, Route 1, and Carl Brent South, 733 Yale, collided at Fourth and State.

Truman Gerald Rumbro, 1009 E. 14th, and John W. Pratt, Box 4745, were involved in a mishap on Air Base Road, near the Airport School, at Sixteenth and Owens, Betty Fryar Thomas, Knott Route, and Karen Lynn Bell, 2715 Lynn, collided; Cran Robert Walker, Duncan Hotel, and David Wilder Overton, 1504 Mesa, had an accident at 1006 W. 3rd; and at 1101 Lamesa Drive, Steven Tom Field, Denver, Colo., and Peggy B. Scott, 1106 Lancaster, ran together.

Ballots for the May 4 primary election are on hand at the office of Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk.

She said that George Thornburn, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, had ordered 15,534 ballots. This represented 10 per cent more ballots than the total registered voters—14,122.

Absentee voting opens Monday at the office of the county clerk.

He is opposed in the May 14 Nebraska Democratic primary by Sen. Robert Kennedy and President Johnson. The President's announcement that he would not seek another term came too late for removal of his name from the ballot.

McCarthy planned to campaign in Lincoln during the afternoon and speak there Wednesday night.

Red Cross Volunteers Graduate At Webb

The Red Cross Volunteer graduation and capping ceremony was held Tuesday morning in the John H. Lees Service Club at Webb Air Force Base with 14 women comprising the graduating class.

The invocation was worded by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Robert Deming, after which Col. C. J. Butcher, wing commander, extended the welcome.

R. W. Whiskey, chairman of the Howard - Glasscock Counties Chapter, American Red Cross, presented certificates, and the women received pins from Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, executive secretary.

The graduates are Carol Cleaver, Janiel Cleaver, Marcia Chapman, Judy Edwards, Joan Eggleston, Carol Harris, Jerri Hopper, Mary Hudgins, Carol Hyde, Rosemary Kirkwood, Christine Lyle, Linda Messinger, Lee Myers and Irene Sorenson.

Lt. Col. E. C. Parker, commander of the Webb Air Force Base Hospital, spoke briefly in accepting the volunteer class, and Mrs. Carol Smith and Mrs. Patricia Amsden, co-chairmen of the Webb Volunteers, led the volunteer pledge.

Special awards were announced by Mrs. Ann Vetter, field director, American Red Cross, Webb Air Force Base.

Patricia Amsden was awarded a certificate of merit, and stripes were received by Carol

Lang, Elaine Nelson and Georgina Terry, all of whom have given at least a year's service to the volunteer program.

Helen Matthews' new stripe indicated four years service, and recognition came to Stephanie Roll for marking four years as a Red Cross Volunteer.

Following the benediction by Chaplain Deming, the women were honored with a reception at the club.

Treatment Of Arthritis Described

Treatment of arthritis was described by Dr. William A. Riley when he was guest speaker Tuesday for the Texas Nurses Association, Constituent No. 24, which met in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Dr. Riley, who is associated with Malone and Hogan Clinic, discussed current diagnostic tests along with various types of arthritis and the newest methods of treatment.

Mrs. Charles Condray, president, announced that plans are being made to have representatives at the May 13-17 national meeting in Dallas of the American Nurses Association.

It was reported that the Future Nurses Club (Texas Association for Careers in Health) will hold a state convention in Brownwood April 19-20. The local TNA unit sponsors the group, and Mrs. Perry Mathis will attend the meeting along with four club members.

Hostesses were Miss Audrey Elmore and Mrs. John Black who served refreshments and used an Easter theme in decorations.

Granville Hahn Speaks On Potential Of Plastic

The potential of plastics was discussed by Granville Hahn at the Monday meeting of the Chaparral Club in the home of Mrs. Roxie Dobbins, Coronado Apts. Mrs. Travis Carlton was hostess.

Hahn is manager of Polymer Technical Services at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, and he spoke on the subject, "Plastics and the Furniture Industry."

He demonstrated casts showing the future of plastics due to hardness, strength and comparative price with woods. He outlined the advantages of each and stressed the effort at Cosden to maintain quality. He cited the need in the industry for an independent laboratory to set standards and to grant seals of merit.

Hahn gave a brief preview of things to come in the furniture industry of tomorrow through the use of plastics.

Mrs. John Gary presided and gave a report on the Big Spring State Hospital project. The next meeting will be May 14, and new officers will be elected.

Teachers Told Of Association

"What Classroom Teachers Association Has Meant To Me" was the panel discussion presented at the Monday meeting of the Big Spring CTA at the high school cafeteria.

Those on the program were Mrs. Sandra Nixon, Mrs. Ray Cantrell and Mrs. B. F. Yandell. The group discussed merits of the "buddy" system where new teachers are assisted by others. They announced that the CTA has more than doubled its membership during the last year providing more prestige to teachers.

Mrs. Martin Landers presided, and new officers were elected. The slate includes Mrs. Bailey Clements, president; Mrs. Leland Calvert, first vice president; Mrs. Don Green, second vice president; Mrs. Joe Dawes, third vice president; Mrs. Ruby Lee Sims, secretary; and Mrs. Vergil Smedley, treasurer.

Reports were heard on the Texas Classroom Teachers Association meeting held in San Angelo, April 5. Mrs. Landers announced the National Education Association will meet in Dallas during July for the annual convention, and delegates will be sent from the local group.

Air From Underside Helps Dry Sweaters

Dear Folks:
Many, many people have written in and told me different ways to dry sweaters. If you have a dryer, naturally the best thing is to lay it on top and stretch it to size and let it dry there. Other people dry them on screens, etc.

Well, you know those aluminum folding chairs that have woven plastic in the bottom and back?

This is the greatest for drying sweaters! The reason is that the air comes up from the bottom. . . it's webbed you know.

If you have an old chair, I do suggest to put a bath towel over it first. These chairs accumulate soil.

That's why our clothes sometimes get dirty when we're sitting on them in white shorts or slacks. These chairs need to be washed from time to time.

So the next time you're watering your garden, wash down those chairs, too. They dry quickly and the aluminum and plastic are not harmed by water.

Dear Heloise:
When making belts for my dresses, I cover two buckles while I'm at it.

As this is the first part of the dress that shows wear, it gives me a ready-made fresh one to replace the old, soiled buckle.

Evelyn Street

Dear Heloise:

This is the time of year I love to wake up in the morning and hear the birds singing. To help them, I save all my short pieces of string and hang them on the clothesline for the birds to pick off and use in building their nests.

If they blow off on the ground, the birds will find them there, too.

Aren't birds wonderful? . . . Treva Mayer

I love 'em, too. Especially the cardinals. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Because my wife saves anything, and everything, this week's shelf-cleaning brought on an exclamation, "Oh dear, I don't know what to do with these long-handled, colored spoons from long-gone milkshakes."

I was going to tell her to throw them into the trash can, then I happened to think that I'm the one who has to haul it to the trash dump. . . So I said: "Why not use them as row markers in our garden?"

She said, "That's a wonderful idea—come up with some more of them."

How's that for a blue-ribbon idea? . . . Ross

That's great, sir! Even the short spoons are good. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Many of the liquid spices that come in regular screw-cap jars or bottles are hard to measure when adding to food. Liquid smoke, for example.

I've found that by using an eye dropper I can measure the exact amount I want drop by drop. . . Housewife

Dear Heloise:

Save an empty three-ounce plastic shampoo bottle, wash clean and fill with clear water.

I carry one in my purse and it is wonderful for little, sticky hands if you have wet toes. . . Mother of Three

Dear Heloise:

I needed tiebacks for my curtains so I used some colorful garters. When I need real fancy ones, I cover the garter with a pretty stitch using crochet thread. . . Mable Tillman

Rainbow Girls To Host Swim Party

Linda Roberts, worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbow For Girls, announced plans to host a swimming party and picnic for teenagers at the Big Spring State Hospital during the Monday meeting at Masonic Temple.

The party will be held at the YMCA, and a picnic will be held in Birdwell park.

Susan Smith gave a report on the joint Rainbow meeting in Midland. Those assisting with work at the meeting were Teresa Gay Johnson, Gale Webb and Ester Dennis. Twenty-four local girls attended.

Eagles Auxiliary Holds Initiation

Mrs. Foster Kemp was initiated as a new member at the Monday meeting of the Eagles Auxiliary in the Hotel Settles. Mrs. Grace Grandstaff presided and announced that the group will send $25 to the Lasker Home for Girls in Houston.

Members discussed the recent visit of Mrs. Thulah Semmelrogge of Galveston, state president; and Mrs. Kay Compton of Pasadena, state trustee and membership chairman. The women were honored with a dinner here, March 29.

A LOVELIER YOU

Spark Dreary Hair With Oil Treatment

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely writes: My hair has no sparkle even after a shampoo. Otherwise it appears normal enough. It's thick and fairly manageable. What can the trouble be?

The answer: Lusterless hair is a widespread complaint these days. Air pollution in urban areas is thought to compound the problem where it exists. Likewise the pressures of the modern workaday world.

Basically, however, dull looking hair results from either a too dry or oily scalp and from improper care. Scalp remedies take the form of corrective shampoos and conditioning rinses or treatments. Dryness responds to protein and lanolin products. Oiliness products are medicated or detergent in nature, sometimes with a rectifying pH.

Brushing and massaging with a high priority in the care department. Unless the hair is thoroughly brushed every day and the scalp is massaged at least three times weekly, a normal amount of glint is a sometime thing.

Then there's diet. Wouldn't you know? Like the total woman, hair thrives on high protein and vitamin foods—lean meats, eggs, cottage cheese, carrots and deep green vegetables. Overages of fats and

Easter Egg Hunt Set Saturday

An Easter egg hunt has been scheduled Saturday for the children of Jaycee-Ettes according to an announcement may be Mrs. Ben Faulkner at the Tuesday meeting in the home of Mrs. James Rackley, 2509 Central.

Also, a fund-raising project will be a garage sale April 18 in the home of Mrs. Faulkner, 422 Edwards, with Mrs. Max Moore as chairman. Proceeds will be used for delegates to attend the state convention in Austin May 10-11. It was noted that eight members attended the area convention held in Fort Stockton during the past week.

Mrs. Louis Tallant was introduced as a new member.

Ninth Graders In Pulattie Net Program

Swim Coach Sought; Park Use Okehed

Coach Spike Dykes told the Big Spring school board Tuesday night he would make a concerted effort to find a swimming coach for the 1968-69 school year after he was authorized to add such a man to his staff.

BSHS fielded no swim team this year because of the lack of a qualified instructor. A coach who had talked to Dykes about the job several weeks ago has since taken another position and is not now available.

Upwards to 20 men have expressed interest in the job, Dykes stated. If BSHS does field another swimming team, the schools will use YMCA facilities again since the district does not have a swimming pool of its own. The Y has offered to lease its pool to the school system for certain periods during the week on either a seven-months or nine-months basis.

The school trustees also authorized use of the high school baseball park to outside groups if certain requirements are met.

Teams using the park must pay a $15 maintenance fee per game and must have an off-duty policeman on hand.

The school's legal counsel will also be authorized to seek legal ruling on whether such groups need liability insurance during the periods of use.

Still Is No. 1

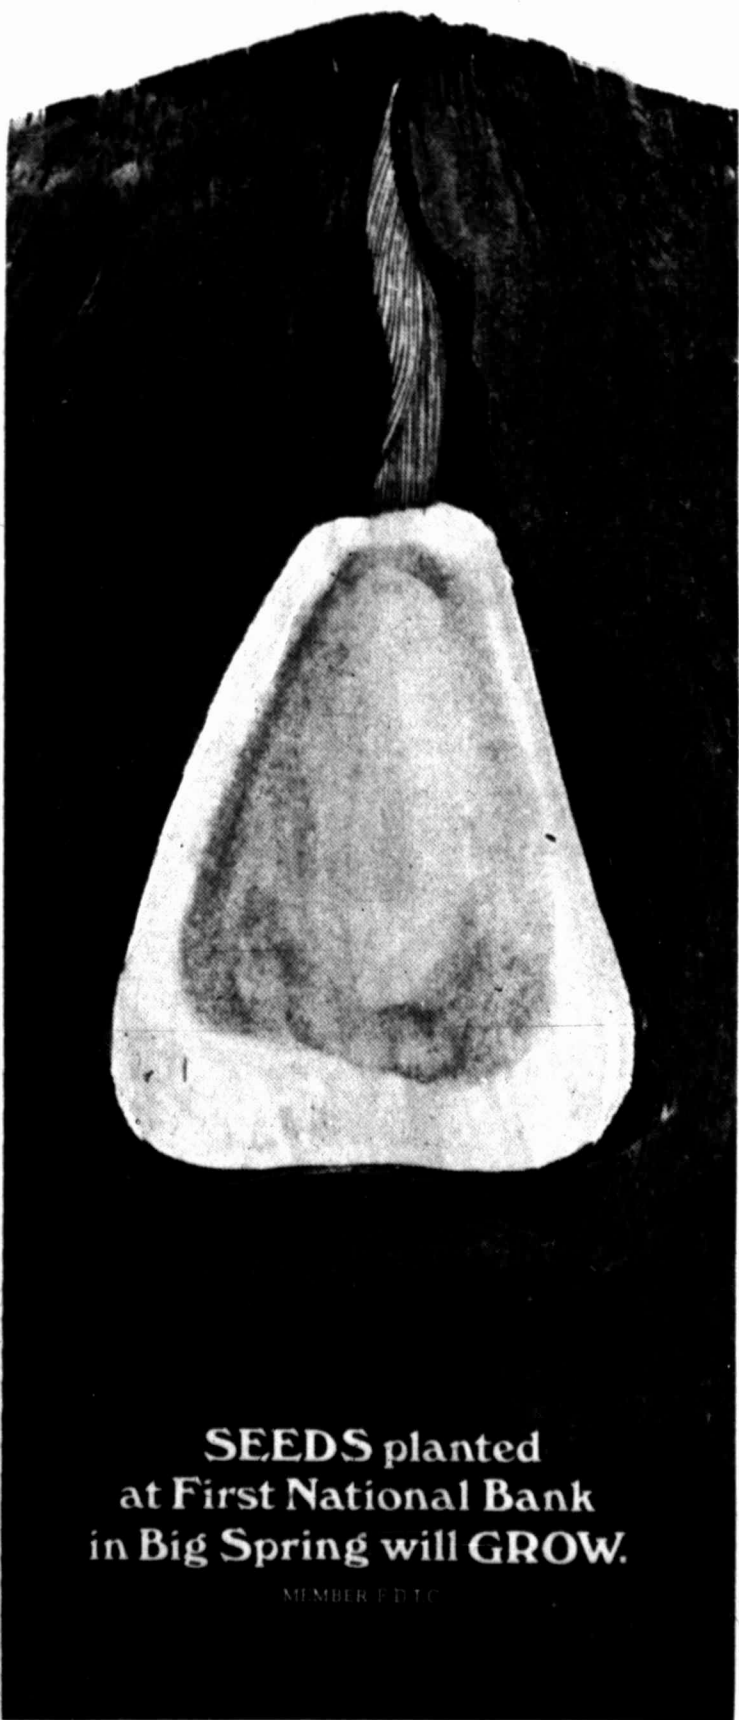

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gerry Bookmyer of Sycamore, Ohio, retained his No. 1 spot with the most victories among harness racing drivers the U.S. Trotting Association announced today. He has 63 winners through Monday. Del Insko of South Beloit, Ill. has won the most money $168,117.

seed

How can I save money? It isn't easy. It requires considerable self-discipline.

Is it necessary to save? The answer has to be yes. The farmer shows us the way. From every crop he saves some of the best for next year's SEED. This SEED is his assurance that he can plant a crop next season. It would be much easier to sell the whole crop in the fall, but we know how shortsighted this would be.

Save a part of your crop as SEED for the future. This practice will assure continued prosperity.

SEEDS planted at First National Bank in Big Spring will GROW.

ACC Gridders To Open Play In Louisiana

ABILENE — Abilene Christian College has added North-western Louisiana to its foot ball schedule to complete a 10 game slate for 1968, coach Wally Bullington announced Monday.

ACC will play Northwestern Louisiana in Natchitoches, La., in the opening game of the season, Sept. 18.

The Wildcats have six games in Abilene, including the Oct. 5 clash with intra-city rival Mc Murry.

Remaining non-conference foes on the Wildcat schedule are Lone Star Conference teams East Texas State and Howard Payne, plus Angelo State and Eastern New Mexico.

ACC opens Southland Conference action Oct. 19 in Beaumont against Lamar Tech. The Wildcats' homecoming game is Nov. 9 against the University of Texas at Arlington.

The schedule: Sept. 18—Northwestern Louisiana, Natchitoches, La.; Oct. 5—Howard Payne College, Abilene; Oct. 12—McMurry College, Abilene (Mc Murry home team); Oct. 19—Lamar Tech, Beaumont (L); Oct. 26—Arkansas State U., Abilene; Nov. 2—Eastern New Mexico, Portales, N.M.; Nov. 9—University of Texas at Arlington, Abilene (L); Nov. 16—Trinity University, San Antonio (L); Nov. 23—Angelo State, Abilene (L); Nov. 30—Southern Conference.

South Plains Has Another Player

LEVELLAND — Tim McLendon, all-district guard from Richland Hills, has signed a letter of intent with South Plains College, Coach Dub Malaise announced Sunday.

McLendon, 6-0, averaged 18 points per game for Richland Hills, runnerup to L.D. Bell in the District 4-AAAAA cage scramble.

He is the fifth player signed thus far by Malaise. Others are Dennis Berguin of Montgomery, La., Tim Lane of Plainview, Rick Dyer of Monterey and Scott Massey of Dallas Hillcrest.

Lee King Named Coach At Rotan

ROTAN — Lee King, assistant mentor at Garland High School, has been named head coach at Rotan High School.

King is a native of Ranger and at one time was an all-district quarterback. He graduated from McMurry. He coached at Cross Plains and Breckenridge before going to Garland three years ago.

Sunland Park's Betting Handle Shows Increase

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Sunland Park's handle was up all three days this past weekend. Sunday's handle of $200,626 was the high for the year, and the best figure since closing day of the 1965-66 season.

A crowd of 1,508 was on hand for Friday's 10-race program and bet $88,905 as compared with the $83,961 figure on a like day last year.

Saturday's crowd of 2,459 wagered $155,499 as compared with $142,422 last season.

Sunday's crowd of 3,314 was up over the 3,092 figure of last season, and the result was the biggest day at the track in many a moon. A total of $200,626 was wagered on the 12-race handle as compared to $176,038 last season.

The upsurge in handle showed a total gain of $42,669 over the weekend. It marked only the fourth time in three years that the handle at Sunland Park had pushed over the $200,000 mark.

Cycle Club Election Set

New officers will be elected during a meeting of members of the Big Spring Motorcycle Club at 1001 W. 4th St., scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

All members are being urged to be in attendance for the convocation, which should be of relatively short duration.

Other activities relative to the summer's program will be discussed during the session.

Following the business session, a time run will be staged and winners suitably rewarded.

Purse To Be Huge

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The Charlotte Motor Speedway announced Tuesday a purse to totaling $150,085 for its World 600-mile stock car race May 26.

Longhorns, 'Dogs Try Again Today

Big Spring and Midland High will get in their District 2-AAAAA baseball game here at 4 p.m. today, unless more rain falls. The two teams were to have met Tuesday but the downpour washed that one out. The Longhorns will be seeking their third victory in five assignments.

Over-all, Big Spring has the best record in 2-AAAAA, with a 13-4 mark.

Midland is 1-3 in conference and 5-10 over-all.

Coach Oakley Hagood will probably send Junior Mendoza to the mound against Midland. Today's junior varsity contest with Midland has been indefinitely postponed because the field there is under water.

Big Spring's baseball game Saturday with Abilene High, which is booked in Abilene, will be advanced to 2 p.m. Friday because of the Easter holiday. In addition, the Steers' junior varsity will square off with the Abilene reserves at 11:30 a.m. that day.

The local JV's also go to San Angelo Thursday for a contest.

Abilene Cooper and Odessa Permian square off in Abilene at 4 p.m. today while Abilene High and Odessa High clash in a makeup contest Thursday in Odessa.

The San Angelo-Midland League engagement in Midland was also tentatively set for this afternoon, contingent on a break in the weather and the condition of the playing field.

ON ALL-STARS

Dunbar Ace Is Signed By HC

Jerry Phillips, Lubbock Dunbar star who led his team to the Class AAA State basketball finals, has signed a letter of intent with Howard County Junior College, coach Buddy Travis has announced.

Phillips stands 6-3½ and weighs 213. He scored a total of 586 points in 34 games for Dunbar, 28 of which the Panthers won.

That averages out to 18 points a game. He was also a star rebounder for Dunbar, grabbing off an average of 16 a game. In all, he pulled down a total of 422 rebounds and made 242 of 449 field goals over the year.

Phillips, who will play inside for the Hawks, climaxed a fine season by being named to the State Tournament's all-star team over perhaps better known teammates.

In order to get out of District 3-AAA, Dunbar had to defeat defending state titlist Lamesa and the Panthers did just that in a playoff game at Snyder. Dunbar ultimately lost to the Lake Highlands team in the State tournament, 51-49.

Alston Idle For 3 Weeks

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Walter Alston, 56-year-old baseball manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, is reported in good condition today after undergoing surgery for removal of a kidney stone.

Dr. David Lester performed the surgery Tuesday night and a spokesman at Daniel Freeman Hospital said the date of Alston's release from the hospital depended on his recovery.

The 15-year Dodger manager was expected to be out in about three weeks.

The Dodgers open the National League season tonight against Philadelphia in Dodger Stadium. The squad will be directed by the coaching staff including Jim Gilliam, Preston Gomez, Danny Ozark and Lefty Phillips.

Huff Inks Pact

ABILENE — Bruce Huff of Abilene High School has signed a basketball letter-of-intent with Abilene Christian College, coach Dee Nutt of the Wildcats has announced. Standing 6-3, Huff averaged 9.3 points a game for Abilene.

Cards Have Series Lineup Returning

By The Associated Press
The St. Louis Cardinals' World Series lineup should be intact for their belated baseball opener tonight but the Los Angeles Dodgers will be starting a 1968 comeback drive without Manager Walter Alston.

Atlanta takes on the world champion Cardinals at St. Louis, Philadelphia visits the Dodgers and Pittsburgh is at Houston in arclight games, completing a full season-opening slate after two days of postponements.

In National League daytime inaugurals—deferred until this afternoon in respect to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King—the New York Mets were at San Francisco and the Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati.

Washington met Minnesota in the traditional presidential opener, with Vice President Humphrey expected to throw out the first ball as a replacement for work-laden President Johnson. Boston was at Detroit, Cleveland at Chicago, Oakland at Baltimore and California at New York in other American League opening games.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Grady Hatton, who knows the Houston Astros must prosper this year if he is to hold his job as their foreman, told a group of sportswriters in the Astrodome the past week that Midland-ex-Denis Menke is the best first baseman now active in the National League.

Menke, however, probably won't be playing there save for those times when Rusty Staub takes a rest. Denis will clock a lot of playing time, however, because he can also fill in ably at all other infield positions.

Staub is not only the best hitter on the club but, insists Hatton, has the best hands in baseball.

Hatton echoed the sentiments of his immediate superior, Speck Richardson, who expressed the conviction that the Astros are at long last about ready to make their move in the National League race.

Asked what his club might have that it hasn't had before, Grady answered as tersely as possible:

"Confidence."

Hatton says the Astros reek with it and with pride in performance.

"We gave away too many runs and too many games last year. That won't happen again. The opposition will have to work for what it gets," Hatton said.

Grady not only sees a first division finish for the Astros but expects the team to make a run at the flag if it can get a few breaks.

Judged off its performance against Minnesota, the Astros look like contenders. They have speed and daring. Defensively, they can go and get the ball. Most importantly, their pitching clubs better with the addition of Wade Blasingame.

The war could deeply wound the Astros as no other National League club is capable of doing. Houston has 11 ball players taking part-time military training, some of them as far away as the west coast. If the overseas situation darkens, all those players could be gone at one time.

Other teams around the senior circuit go with old, established players — many of them family men who do not have to constantly fence with draft boards. They seek temporary successes, just as the New York Yankees did a few years ago. The Yankees' foundation was seriously eroding all the time but there were those in the organization who apparently reasoned the mid-60's would never get here or they wouldn't be around to worry about it when they did.

The Astros started from scratch and immediately began to build for the future. The promise that future held may be on the verge of paying big dividends. (They are still one of the youngest clubs in big league baseball.)

All of Texas should be proud of the job the Astros have done since coming into existence and dynamic Roy Hofheinz, who masterminded the whole organization, wants the entire Southwest to feel it is a part of the Astro fabric. That is why he invited writers from Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico—as well as those in Texas — to be part of the preview party which watched the club against the Twins.

Hofheinz told his guests at a Sunday banquet that research had shown that 60 per cent of the Astros' home business comes from places other than Houston and environs. The figure jumps another 20 per cent on weekends. (Houston residents apparently want to get out of the rat race on Saturdays and Sundays and so turn to other endeavors.)

The Astros have made vast armies of friends in such remote places as Bastrop, La., Enid, Okla., and Hobbs, N.M., and Hofheinz says he and his minions cannot afford to take those people for granted, that everyone connected with the operation must work to see that the relations between the two are never allowed to deteriorate.

Little wonder the Astros are building a following that may, in time, be the envy of all of baseball.

Pros Coining Loot Between Campaigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Green Bay's Bart Starr is teaming up with the Bears.

Not the arch enemy Chicago Bears, but their fuzzy four-footed forerunners.

Starr's guest appearance this month in a television series built around a boy and his bear is all a part of the second season of a pro football quarter-back.

This January-through-June second season can mean as much work, more travel and perhaps even more money than the first—if the first was successful.

Baltimore's Johnny Unitas, the NFL Player-of-the-Year, has flown from New York to California to Florida in the last three months, making paid personal appearances. Last Thursday night he was back in Baltimore to open his plus new suburban restaurant, the Golden Arm.

Starr, the impeccable Packer quarterback who guided Green Bay to an unprecedented third straight NFL title, criss-crosses the country in promoting soft drinks, sporting goods and cars.

Washington's Sonny Jurgensen, who shattered NFL season records for passing yardage and completions last fall, spends his offseason in business investments, buying property and building what he calls "tax shelters."

Each is reluctant to say how much extra income is involved in the second season, but Starr volunteers, "I'm happy with the arrangement."

Starr is in the first year of a five-year contract with a soft drink bottling company.

Unitas makes two-day appearances before schools and youth groups in various cities as a fashion representative for a large chain store. In recent weeks he has traveled to Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Florida, Missouri, Louisiana and California.

Starr will fly to Florida to start filming an appearance on the television show, Gentle Ben, after Easter. He'll be teaming with the four bears used to portray the namesake of the series.

Chaps Rugged In Own Gym

By The Associated Press
The New Orleans Buccaneers strode into the den of the Dallas Chaparrals and, like everyone else, had a miserable time.

The Chaparrals, a team of homebodies, made the Bucs their 15th straight home court victim Tuesday night and evened their American Basketball League playoff series at 1-1.

Dallas fought off a desperate last period rally by New Orleans for a 112-109 victory in the best-of-7 Western Division final set, and the Buccaneers won't get out of Dallas until after tonight's third game.

Pittsburgh and Minnesota, also tied at 1-1, resume their Eastern Division final series tonight in Minnesota.

The National Basketball Association also begins play again tonight with Philadelphia at Boston and San Francisco at Los Angeles.

The Celtics will be trying to retain the home court advantage they gained last Friday by beating the defending champion 76ers in Philadelphia.

"Sometimes there is a tendency to let down at home, and if we let down any tonight we are in trouble," said Boston captain John Havlicek before the second game of the best-of-7 Eastern Division final series.

Los Angeles also holds a 1-0 lead in their best-of-7 set for the Western Division playoff title.

Cokes Preparing For Lefthander

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Curtis Cokes defends his world's welterweight championship for the fourth time here next week and if his showing in training is an indication he will do it even against a lefthander.

Willie Ludick, the South African with the brawling style, is his opponent for the April 18 15-round — and Willie is a southpaw.

Cokes claims that it makes no difference, that he has met three lefthanders in his long career and split even, drawing with Kenny Lane, beating Enrique Cruz and losing to Frankie Davis.

Then how come more of his four sparring partners have been lefthanders and Cokes is manhandling them so much they're quitting on him?

His latest punching bag is Frankie Evans, a light heavyweight from Beaumont, Tex., whom he whipped around only Tuesday.

"I imagine he'll be quitting

Somber Air Envelops Opening Of Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A somber, restrained air surrounded the opening of the 32nd Masters Golf Tournament Thursday, with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, as usual, ranking favorites.

Neither of the giants of the game was especially pleased with his game, however, while defending champion Gary Player was downright dismayed.

"I just can't putt," said Brewer, who hasn't won since taking the 1967 title. "The rest of my game is good enough, I suppose, but I just can't sink a putt. I can't seem to get my mind on it."

Palmer and Nicklaus had their chronic complaints. Palmer said he couldn't putt. Nicklaus said he couldn't drive.

Despite their troubles, they've won seven of the last 10 Masters, and easily rank as the men to beat in the relatively small field of 76 of the world's best.

But even their magic presence on the lushly green Augusta National Course Tuesday—both were late arrivals—failed to generate the excitement usually connected with this, the first of the world's four major tournaments.

The crowds for the practice rounds were small and subdued. Palmer, amazingly, walked through a crowd unnoticed when he first reached the course.

Both Palmer and Nicklaus admittedly are pointing for this Masters. Each feels he needs it. Nicklaus, the 210-pound Ohio strongboy who has won all the world's major titles, practically owned the Masters crown until he fell apart last year and failed to make the cut. He had won three of the four previous Masters and set the scoring record.

Palmer, the only four time winner, feels he is overdue.

Among the other favorites are Billy Casper, two-time U.S. Open champion and winner of last week's rain-delayed Greensboro Open; flashy Doug Sanders, and England's Tony Jacklin, a 23-year-old who won the Jacksonville Open.

The final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by CBS. The Saturday telecast will start at 3:30 p.m. EST. Sunday's round will be shown 4:30 p.m. EST.

Present plans call for the teams to play a triple round-robin, with all games scheduled for the City Park diamond.

Johns said it was imperative that all managers planning to field teams in the circuit be on hand for Thursday night's meeting, however.

Big Pitch Is Out For LBJ

NEW YORK (AP) — Laughing At Sports:

President Johnson was not expected to throw out the first ball at the Washington Senators' opener. He said on television 10 days ago he wouldn't make the big pitch this year.

By the time the postseason Stanley Cup hockey games are over, the players are liable to be all puckered out.

How will the computer scoreboard work, though, after the A's are mathematically eliminated?

Police Work Has Changed

The past 20 years have seen a great difference in law enforcement, and police work is now better than it has ever been, members of the Rotary Club were told Tuesday.

The speaker was Ira Scott, director of police training for the Texas A&M extension service. He is in Big Spring assisting with the Southwest Police Academy program now underway at Howard County Junior College.

Scott said that police work had changed vastly in 20 years because society wanted a change and has backed programs to upgrade the work. He recalled his own days as a patrolman when he was given the job and told what beat to walk without any formal training.

In contrast, Scott said that now policemen are required to have 140 hours training as a minimum and that nearly every officer in West Texas meets this condition.

The school at HCJC runs for six weeks and covers basics, criminal laws, criminal investigations, traffic investigation, firearms training and preparation for any civil disturbances. Scott also stated that the junior college would soon offer a two-year program leading to an associate degree in police administration. He was introduced by Pete Stone, assistant identification officer for the Big Spring police department.

President Bill Coleman reminded members of the district conference in Amarillo April 18-20. Several members indicated they would attend the parley.

Whoopers Wing Way To Arctic

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of 25 whooping cranes have left their Aransas National Wildlife Refuge near Corpus Christi, Tex., to fly to summer nesting grounds near the Arctic Circle.

The Interior Department said Tuesday that 21 of the huge white birds with black-tipped wings left the South Texas refuge Sunday.

Left at the Texas refuge were 22 of the record 47 that wintered there.

Four whoopers flew from Aransas March 25. Most of the other birds, if they follow their usual custom, should be on their way to the Arctic by May 1.

Closed Session For Rusk Booked

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee scheduled a closed session for today to hear Secretary of State Dean Rusk report on peace efforts and other Vietnam-related issues.

The session is an extension of the March 11-12 public hearings at which Rusk defended administration war policies before the committee.

He suggested additional, closed meetings, saying they would offer a chance for more candid discussions of matters often involving classified information. Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., agreed.

Flames Damage Colonial Hotel

FORT WORTH (AP)—A three-alarm fire about midnight Tuesday gutted the second and third floors of the Colonial Hotel on Fort Worth's west side.

The blaze caused $25,000 damage at a minimum, Fire Chief H. E. Owens said. There were no injuries.

Survey Shows RFK Leading Humphrey

NEW YORK (AP)—A survey by Newsweek magazine shows Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., leading Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination, with Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., running third.

The survey shows Kennedy with 558 prospective delegate votes, Humphrey 541, McCarthy 272, 473 uncommitted, and 478 committed to favorite sons. A total of 1,312 votes is needed for nomination.

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks to everyone. We want to express our grateful and humble thanks to everyone for their regards for Harold, that prompted the wonderful outpouring of love and kindness that surrounded us during his sickness and at his passing. Our special thanks to Dr. J. H. Burnett and the nurses at Malone & Hogan Hospital for the prayers, cards, flowers, food and the thoughtfulness of the ministers and others that helped transform this seeming tragedy into a golden set of memories. May God Bless each and every one of you.

Detroit Residents Claim TV, Radio Don't Fill Void

DETROIT (AP) — For nearly five months the two million residents of the Detroit area have had to depend on radio and television and a scant supply of newspapers from outside the city for their news.

Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, feels these sources don't sufficiently fill the void created by the 147-day shutdown of the city's two major daily papers.

A spot check showed other residents agree.

RACIAL STRIFE

The mayor felt the lack of papers caused such a flurry of rumors about impending racial strife that he went on television earlier this year to announce a special telephone center to help quell rumors and to urge Detroiters to stop buying guns.

After the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. caused a brief outbreak in the heavily Negro 12th Street area and prompted a mobilization of the National Guard, Cavanagh made a special appeal to the publishers and unions involved in the strike to resume publication to ease racial tensions.

The publishers responded by saying they were ready to supply "ground rules" Cavanagh requested leading to a possible resumption of publication, but the Council of Newspaper Unions refused to go along. They urged, instead, around-the-clock bargaining sessions.

The afternoon Detroit News was shut down by a Teamsters Union strike last Nov. 16 and the morning Free Press closed the next day, saying it negotiated some contracts jointly with the News. The Teamsters have since settled with the two papers, but four other unions are now on strike.

A labor mediator, Prof. Nathan P. Feinsinger, was brought in March 23 to help move the sides toward settlement. Cavanagh says that since then there has been some progress in bargaining on noneconomic matters but little movement on money issues.

TOO MANY ADS

Radio and television stations have expanded their news coverage since the strike began.

The distribution of newspapers from Toledo, Chicago and New York and three adjacent cities has increased. These are usually gobbled up quickly, and there haven't been enough of them to match the combined 1.2 million daily circulation of the News and the Free Press.

A resident of suburban Birmingham, Ann Squires, said she tries "to catch every radio and television news show available when I'm home."

"Most of my life," Miss Squires added, "I've enjoyed that morning paper, and when you don't get it you feel like your morning is shot."

"We get more TV and radio news now, but they nearly drive you nuts with all the ads they sandwich in."

Riot Panel's Plans Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward W. Brooke, only Negro member of the Senate, says he will file a package of bills later this month proposing congressional enactment of the presidential riot panel's recommendations on jobs, welfare and housing.

Brooke, who was a member of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, said jobs would get top priority among his proposals.

The commission recommended that two million new jobs be created in the next three years for the underemployed and jobless—550,000 of them this year. It recommended construction of six million housing units in five years and a vast overhaul of the welfare system.

Brooke and other commission members said in interviews that immediate action is needed to help solve some of the problems which contributed to the street violence—ignited by the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King and the rioting of past year.

Robert Lee Dam Report

The dam on the Colorado River above Robert Lee is now about 65 per cent toward completion, according to the latest estimates by the contractor, Clement Bros.

In statements to the Colorado River Municipal Water District, the total earned on the job is $5,528,715. So far, more than 7,500,000 cubic yards of materials have been moved. The construction of the service spillway was pegged at 60.02 per cent.

Latest figures show 926,448 yards of common core trench excavated, and another 978,403 in shale excavation. This is about 300,000 cubic yards over original estimates. The dam structure proper now has 6,552,966 cubic yards of wetted, rolled embankment in place, with 36,514 yards of blanket and 81,054 yards of heavy rock rip on the face of the dam.

Apollo Info Impressive

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Manned spacecraft officials say they are pleased with preliminary information from the Apollo 6 space flight last week.

First information from the unmanned orbital mission indicates the spacecraft's accomplishments were impressive, officials said Tuesday.

The main objective of the mission, which lasted nearly 10 hours, was to check the huge Saturn 5 rocket that is designed to send astronauts to the moon.

The Saturn failed to meet all firing commands, however, and a preliminary evaluation of the three-stage rocket was not made public.

Major accomplishments of the spacecraft included the longest firing of the service propulsion systems, the heat protection system and the performance of the guidance and navigation system, officials said.

Two of the five second stage engines in the Saturn rocket failed to fire as long as they were supposed to during flight. The most serious failure came when the third stage refused to restart, officials said.

Other information indicated a successful performance of the small spacecraft rockets that maintain its attitude, officials said. The new spacecraft hatch and fuel cells, which provide electrical power and some drinking water, also function properly, they said.

More Divorces Disposed Of Than Were Filed

For the first time in no one knows how long, the number of divorce cases filed in 118th District Court during a month were more than offset by the number of divorce petitions disposed by the court.

Fern Cox, district court clerk, said that a check of the dockets for March shows there were 20 new divorce suits filed to supplement the 222 on hand when the month began. Twenty-seven divorce decrees and dismissals were handed down during the month and the end of March saw the total number of divorce cases dwindled to 215.

Four tax suits were handled during the month to reduce the total of such suits on file from 326 to 322. Criminal cases on file dropped from 51 to 46. No new cases were filed. Five were disposed of.

Three more compensation cases were on hand when March ended, than when the month opened. Three new cases were filed to bolster the original 27 to 30.

No new annulments were filed and the dockets show two on hand.

Other civil suits climbed four for the month. When March opened, there were 543 of these cases on hand; when it ended 547 were on the books. Twenty-six new cases were filed and 22 were disposed of.

He Uses Radio To Nab Bandits

BOSTON (AP) — A businessman who saw three gunmen run from a bank and trailed them in his car, at the same time keeping his office informed by two-way radio, was credited today with thwarting a $34,823 bank holdup.

The three were captured at gunpoint by four patrolmen who heard a police radio account of the chase as relayed by the businessman's office. The chase began shortly after three gunmen entered the Western Avenue branch of the State Street Bank and Trust Co. Monday and scooped up money from four tellers' cash drawers.

Police declined to identify the businessman. The three men were charged with armed robbery.
