Federal Troops Continue Push

(By International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 29.—Federal troops continued their northward advance today into central Mexico. General Juan Andreu Almazan had penetrated beyond Escalon at the head of 13,000 troops. On the west coast General Lazarbo Cardenas was moving northward to subjugate rebels in Sinaloa and Sonora with his force of 12,000 men. Rebels are retreating before General Almazan and are expected to make a stand at Bachimba Pass, 30 miles south of Chihuahua City.

EL PASO, Mar. 29.—Rebel agents today admitted that the Mexican federals are advancing north of Torreon and have reached Escalon after two skirmishes with the insurgents. According to news from Mexican government sources, Gen. Gonzalo Escobar, the rebel commander, is falling back from Jiminez towards Santa Rosalia. Rebels claim their aviators bombed the federal troops of Gen. J. Andreu Almazan, who was in command near Escalon.

SPIRITS TELL ARCHDUKE TO DIVORCE AND REMARRY

(By International News Service)

VIENNA, Mar. 29.—Orders received from one of his ancestors during a spiritist seance caused Archduke Joseph Ferdinand, Austrian army leader during the war, to get a divorce from his wife after eight years of wedded but childless life and to marry Fraulein Klothilde Gertrude Tomanek, daughter of an ex-colonel, but a commoner.

The archduke's first wife was Fraulein Rose Jockl, daughter of an Austrian estate owner.

Joseph Ferdinand is now 63 years old and takes great interest in spiritist science.

Four Nations in Controversy

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29.—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson assumed office today and was confronted by one of the most internationally acute incidents yet to grow out of the prohibition enforcement activities of the United States. He faces Great Britain, Canada and France, who with a united front, will make a drive with the international law as their weapon, to settle definitely the scope of authority the American government has on the high seas in enforcing domestic laws. The controversy grew out of the sinking of the Canadian ship, "I'm Alone," off the New Orleans coast and killing of a French seaman.

Sought for Years, Finally Sunk

The British schooner, "I'm Alone," for years sought as a rum-runner, was sunk off the gulf coast by the Coast Guard cutter "Dexter," when the ship's crew resisted search. While Capt. A. L. Gamble, commander of the Coast Guard forces in the Gulf of Mexico, reported to Admiral F. C. Billard, commander-in-chief of the Coast Guard service, that the Dexter's action in sinking the British ship was "proper and commendable," international complications with Great Britain may result.

Dixon was brought here following his arrest and alleged confession of the Van Alstyne bank robbery and also the robbing of a filling station at Coleman where a man was shot through the stomach.

Easter Egg Hunt Will Be Divided into Groups

All children under 12 years of age are requested to gather on the courthouse lawn Saturday not later than 2 o'clock. The Ballinger Band will begin a concert shortly before that time and as the children gather they will be arranged in groups and placed under adults who will lead them to Fair Park at 2 o'clock. The eggs will already have been hidden in their nests and ready for the children to be turned loose to start the hunt. While the hunt is in progress the Ballinger band will play a concert and parents are requested to accompany their children or to take seats in the grandstand and watch the fun. All the park will be used to hide the eggs and not just the athletic field. Plans are being made for at least 3000 children and plenty of eggs will be provided.

The committee that canvassed the firms for eggs and one prize egg each, started Friday afternoon to gathering up these eggs and will have them ready by Saturday morning to be turned over to the committee who will hide them at the park. These eggs are being assembled at the chamber of commerce and in case any one is overlooked and the eggs not received Friday afternoon, they are requested to take the eggs to the chamber of commerce office not later than Saturday morning.

R. W. Earnshaw, chairman of the entertainment commitee of the chamber of commerce announced Friday morning that the following rules would be used for the occasion: In assembling on the courthouse lawn children six years and under will meet around the bandstand and monument. From six to nine years will meet across the sidewalk from there on the south side of the lawn, and from nine to 12 years will meet on the east end of the lawn near the jail.

These three divisions of ages will be placed under leaders and will be taken to the fair park in separate groups and will hunt in separate places there. The plan of the hunt will be explained to the children before they leave the courthouse lawn so that when they arrive at the park there will be no misunderstanding. At the park each group will be joined by a large number of adults who will assist in running the hunt and see that every child has a fair chance. No child in any age group will be allowed to keep more than two of the prize eggs and every child at the park will get eggs. If they can't find an egg, one of the parties in charge will assist them until they find a nest.

It is the desire of the committee that all children attend the hunt. Preparations have been made for the entertainment of several thousand children and several hundred dollars worth of prizes will be given in the gold eggs to the hunters.

Winters is planning and perfecting an organization for the purpose of staging a "live at home fair." Several meetings have already been held and a board of directors from the entire county elected. This board has been called to meet in Winters on Saturday March 30 to discuss the plans for the fair and elect officers.

Prowlers at San Angelo have become so bold that the American Legion at that place Thursday started an all night patrol of 30 armed men to assist the police in putting a stop to the annoyance. The kidnapping and assaulting of an 11-year-old girl Wednesday night in that city brought a crisis and every precaution is being taken to stop the crime wave that has seemingly been there for the past two weeks.

As San Angelo runs her undesirables away from there these characters are likely to make stops in Ballinger for some of their meanness. Now is a fine time to take every precaution to avoid something happening here that we do not want. Precautions around the home will make a criminal think twice before he attempts anything.

It is about time that the garden enthusiast is getting a few new tools, some seed and deciding to live at home. Some people do this every year and usually soon after the planting is over their fever dies down and the yield is not so good.

During muddy spells like we have just been through with it makes people dream of the day when Ballinger will have paving on all our principal streets. In this respect we are far behind most towns and only two streets serve the town in muddy weather. The other streets are alright when it is dry but following a rainy spell they become very bad.

In the Churches Easter Sunday

Every church in Ballinger is preparing special Easter programs for both services. The Easter thought will be the most prevalent in the 11 o'clock service at all churches and Easter music will be rendered by the choirs. At a recent meeting of the pastors' association it was decided to adopt a slogan for this week: "Go to Church and Sunday School on Easter Sunday." This slogan has been used in many ways this week and all churches will expect to have large crowds at their services.

At the Methodist church Sunday the sermon subjects will be as follows: At the 11 o'clock service Rev. R. B. Hooper will preach on "The Empty Tomb," and at night, "If a Man Dies Shall He Live Again." At both services the choir will render special Easter music. Sunday school will carry out the Easter spirit and all other services of the day.

At the Christian church Rev. G. T. Reaves will use for his morning subject, "The Career of a Prince." In the evening the subject will be "The Fullfilment." This evening service will be an illustrated lecture of the life of Christ. As a feature of the evening service a dramatization of the old hymn, "Rock of Ages," by Mrs. Reaves will be given. Mrs. A. McGregor will sing the hymn for the presentation.

At the Eighth Street Presbyterian Church there will be a special Easter service at the morning hour. The subject could not be obtained as Rev. Alvin O. Rue is out of the city holding a meeting at Santa Anna. There will be no service at this church in the evening.

At the Nazarene church the morning hours will be the Easter program and at night Rev. W. Lawson Brown will preach on "The Devil's Gospel."

Rev. E. W. McLaurin announces a special Easter program at the First Presbyterian Church for Sunday. At the 11 o'clock service the sermon subject will be "The Resurrection and Man" and in addition to the message a choir will sing "Lord of Heaven" a special Easter anthem. A duet will also feature this service sang by Mrs. Giesecke and Mrs. A. McGregor. At the evening hour the sermon will be "The Call of Discipleship."

The Baptist church will observe Easter in all departments of the church. At the morning hour the subject of the sermon will be "The Triumph of the Resurrection" and at the evening service the sermon will be "The Christian's Triumph in Christ." Rev. J. H. McClain will deliver both messages. Special music by the choir will also be rendered along the Easter thought.

Each church in Ballinger issues a hearty welcome to everyone of their faith to worship with them Sunday. A check will be made at each of the morning services to see how many people attend church in Ballinger based on the population of the town. You will be welcome in any church and you will also hear a message and program that will be well worth going to hear.

Prize Money in Big Sweepstake To be Revised

By Charles A. Smith
(International News Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Mar. 29.—Because the present value of the first prize is held to be too great, drastic changes in the allocation of prize-money are to be made this year with regard to the world-famous Calcutta Sweepstakes.

Organized every year by the Royal Turf Club of Calcutta, India, the sweepstake is held on the result of the Epsom (England) Derby classic. The sweepstake has obtained such a strong hold on the gambling element of the public here and abroad that hundreds of thousands of tickets are sold annually, and last year the first prize winner received $1,250,000.

The officers of the Calcutta Club feel that the value of the first prize is far too large, and that a more popular appeal would be made by increasing the chances of a return for an investment in a ticket.

Therefore, providing the approval of all the members of the club is forthcoming, there will be three or more first prizes this year totalling $500,000 each, instead of one first prize of over a million dollars.

Captain V. P. Douetil, assistant secretary of the club, has issued a circular to members, which reads in part:

The stewards will decide after the close of the sweepstake and after computing the value of the pool whether one, two or three or even more numbers shall be drawn against each horse.

The stewards have decided that the actual percentage of the total pool to the winning horse, placed horses, and horses drawn will remain as heretofore, but each percentage will be divisable by the number of tickets to be drawn against each horse.

From peers to clerks and from wealthy society women to humble servant girls, thousands of persons purchase a ticket or a part of a ticket in the sweepstake every year in England alone.

The tickets are sold to club members at $5, but so great are the number of applicants that two weeks after the tickets have been allotted it is almost impossible to buy one except through speculators, who reap a rich harvest in consequence.

When the numbers are drawn two weeks before the race and horses allocated to the winning numbers, there is a rush from the speculators to buy part or the whole of tickets drawing favorite horses. Thus, in one year, the holder of the ticket against which the favorite has been drawn was offered $100,00 for half of his ticket.

Usually the odds are against the speculators getting their money back, since it is very rare that a favorite wins the Epsom Derby classic.

German Camera Catches Swift Moving Objects

By Walter Dietzel
(International News Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Mar. 29.—Three million clear, even-sized snapshots per second taken on a stationary film at an exposing time of one tenth of one millionth of a second each, sufficient to photograph objects moving at a speed of 6000 miles per second.

This is the remarkable record which Professor Carl Cranz, one of Germany's most famous experts on ballistics claims to have established by a new device of electric spark photography which he explained in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

Professor Cranz believes that this invention may contribute to the perfection of flying by studying more thoroughly the technique of the flight of small birds and insects and that it may also prove helpful for the improvements of manufacturing methods in various industries.

"The invention makes it possible to take pictures of any visible object on earth moving at the quickest known speed," said Professor Cranz. "The highest speed ever attained and measured was 1,800 to 2,000 meters per second. It was reached by splinters of the shells fired into Paris by the famous German long range gun during the called the 'Big Bertha.' The shells themselves move a little slower. But with the new device one could easily catch a mass moving at a speed of 100,000 meters per second. Such a speed has never been attain on earth and will, in all probability, never be reached by men.

"High frequency cinematography analyse infinitesimal phases of mass in motion and notes the mechanical reactions upon it most minutely.

"In 1909 I reached a frequency of 5,000 pictures per second and in 1912 Br. Glatzel and I reached a frequency of 5,000 to 100,000 pictures per second. Such a frequency had never been attained before. The pictures were produced on a film reeled at high speed.

"Making three million pictures per second has been possible by using a stationary film on which light is thrown by electric sparks of an extraordinarily high frequency.

"Through the new device one obtains pictures of 2.8 centimeter heights and breadth.

"The invention will, I hope, turn out to the benefit of natural science and industry, and, I may add, of ballistic experiments. The Allied Military Commission, after the war, visited my ballistic institute at the former Military Technical Academy here and demanded it to be closed down. We have reorganized the institute on purely scientific lines and we are now applying our experience to peaceful purposes only.

"The new invention may offer a new clue to the technique of the flight of insects, some of which are credited with 30,000 wing flappings a second.

"The new device may also prove helpful for industrial purposes. It will contribute to improve tools used in metal turning by analyzing the motion and the breaks of metal chips turned off at a very high speed.

"Automobile manufacture may learn through the invention how to improve tubes through which oil is injected into the combustion chamber of a motor.

"Finally, snapshots taken at such a high speed will greatly increase our knowledge of the exact process of the explosion, the shot, the development of powder gas and the so-called 'dum-dum' effect of bullets can be closely examined by discharging a gun into plastic bodies.

"The question of what really happens during an electric short circuit, in many respects a puzzle to electromechanics, may be answered through the new device, the character of chemical explosions be revealed and electrical sparks may be caught on the film and their qualities investigated more thoroughly."

FORMER FOOTBALL STAR LEADS PRISON BASEBALL

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, March 26.—Johnny Hawkins, former football star of the University of Southern California, is again to perform on the athletic field—this time as a leader of prison baseball.

And, contrasted with gay college crowds which hailed him on the gridiron, will be the cheers of convicts in a grim, four-walled arena.

"But I'm looking forward to it," smiled the stalwart Hawkins as he toiled, menially, in the prison jute mill. "I am in the best of health and I'm going to use my time here as advantageously as possible."

Dry American is Rare Bird, Says Paris Observer

By Alice Langelier
(International News Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Mar. 29.—The good Americans who come to Paris before they die are not "dry," according to P. M. Velter, director of the restaurant in the Hotel Continental in Paris, who has had the opportunity of watching the drinking habits of many Americans both here and on the other side.

"The total abstainer," says Mr. Velter, "is a rare bird when traveling abroad—less than one per cent, as a matter of fact. We see him once or twice a month at our hotel, but every time an American turns his wine-glass upside down, and thereby serves notice that he is not drinking, it is a sensational event.

"Most Americans abroad drink, and with moderation, although they often drink at the wrong time. Their knowledge of wine being absolutely zero, they order Bourgogne rough with the fish and Bordeaux blanc with the meat course, which is gastronomic heresy; but they drink. Although their choice of wines is frankly bad, Americans abroad forget their grape juice and soda water and drink—French wines."

Three exceptions are made to Mr. Velter's statements, for he finds that of course there are a few Americans abroad who must follow a medical regime from which alcoholic drink is barred. Generally they must content themselves with mineral water.

Then there are a few dry congressmen, who were once wet, but being abroad officially, find it in better taste to be on the water wagon.

"I'm here officially," whispered one of them once to the hotel director. "Today it's Vichy water for me; next year when I return, it will be good old Burgundy."

Another exception must be made for the ladies, many of whom bring their prohibition beliefs with them. They drink tea, chocolate, coffee and mineral water when dining with other women, but if men are of the party, the wine bottle generally appears and circulates among the ladies.

Dr. Charles Paul, coroner of Paris, has cleared the former Central Powers of one charge of "frightfulness."

He refuted allegations made by Sir Berkeley Moynihan, president of the Royal College of Surgeons, at Londan, that Germany bombed the Allies with bubonic plague germs.

Sir Berkeley asserted that active plague bacilli had been found in airplane bombs, dropped in the Fifth Army Zone.

Dr Paul, who was director of the military laboratory during the war, said:

"Never, throughout all hostilities did we perceive the slightest indication of such atrocious attacks. My laboratory constantly analysed shell fragments. None revealed the slightest traces of the plague or any other disease.

"The Germans never would have employed bombs loaded with germs for they would have endangered their own troops as well as those of the enemy.

"I am surprised at Sir Berkeley's statement because our laboratory always exchanged data with the British. There was never a question of germ warfare."

Jones Law to Crowd Courts U.S. Atty. Says

By Francis Armstrong
(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, Mar. 29.—Federal courts in this district, already overburdened with liquor law violation cases, with dockets falling steadily behind, will be flooded with ten times as many felony cases, as result of the new Jones Law, in the opinion of United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson.

What the outcome of the new influx of trials on the already straining judicial system will be, none of the federal authorities here are willing to hazard.

Johnson expects the federal grand jury to return more than 250 true bills a month in the future, under workings of the new law. Formerly one 25 true bills a month were returned by the investigating body, in this type of cases.

Possessing illegal beverages and maintaining a nuisance are now the only counts which are not felonies. These two types of cases may be prosecuted by filing of information by the district attorney.

From now on, however, Johnson said, the government will present every case before the inquisitorial body that concerns manufacture, sale, transportation, importation or exportation of intoxicants.

Formerly it was necessary for the government to charge conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, to make offenders liable to the maximum penalty.

Now, however, the Jones law penalty, at discretion of the court, may be five years in the penitentiary and $10,000 fine, for first violators.

As yet no additional facilities for handling the expected flood of liquor cases have been made in the midwest federal courts, and officials here are attempting to solve the problem as rapidly as possible.

With the burden on grand juries increased tenfold, and with the task in the courts and prosecutors augmented many more times, the solution is worrying federal officials.

If means can be found, it is believed the Jones law may result in a cleanup of some of the notorious gangs whose activities have put this district into the spotlight of national print.

The bill, many federal enforcement men contemplate carries teeth to break up such underworld organizations as the one believed to have been responsible for the Moran murders here, the Frankie Yale killing in Brooklyn, and the Walsh killing in Miami. These gangland machines have been able to function, it is pointed out, because the leaders, who maintain interlocking "directorates" in crime in midwestern and eastern cities, have seldom been convicted more than once for violations of the liquor laws.

More frequently their alcohol transgressions have been tried only as misdemeanors.

If the Jones law provisions can be applied to the "big money" sources in this city, it is believed probable that the national and international alliance of criminals, using bootlegging and alcohol cooking as their fountain of revenue, may be stamped out.

Meanwhile the office of Prosecutor Johnson is re-aligning its program to care for as many true bills as possible, and in the order in which they will best be calculated to strike at the fundamental problems of enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

AMERICAN WOMEN USE MANY TONS COSMETICS

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 29.—It requires 139,274 tons of cosmetics to keep American women beautiful for one year, Madame Helena Rubenstein, internationally famous authority of feminine pulchritude, estimates.

"Figured out in pounds," Madame Rubenstein said, "an average of 7.9 pounds of cosmetics is required annually for every woman. The expenditure is approaching the two billion dollar mark annually."

Legion Show Seats On Sale at Weeks

Reserve seats for the American Legion Play, "The Cat and the Canary" will be placed on sale at Weeks' Drug Store begining Sunday. Two boards will be placed on sale at the same time, one for the 8 o'clock performance and the other for the 10:15 show.

The Legion announces that only the center section will be reserved and that both sides of the aisles will be left unsold for general admission tickets to be sold the night of the show. Patrons are requested to secure their reservations as fast as possible so that the Legion may determine if a third performance will be necessary. The 10:15 show is being staged so that teachers attending the convention here may see the show if they desire as the night session will be over before the second show starts. In case the program at the schoolhouse runs a little late the curtain will be held until it is over and the teachers given a chance to attend.

Tickets will sell at the usual price, 75 cents for the center section and 50 cents on the side aisles.

A whirlwind advertising campaign will be staged next week telling the patrons of the show and the special features that may be expected. One of the outstanding features will be the special lighting for the effects in the play. Using no overhead or footlights the stage is made very attractive by colored wing lights and colored spots from the house.

The cast has been working hard now for two weeks and is making good progress on the hardest bill the Legionaires have ever attempted. The play is a mystery that grips and holds spectators and one that is costing more royalty than any show ever staged here before.

ANNUAL CLAM DIGGING HAS STARTED ON COAST

(By International News Service)

ABERDEEN, Wash., Mar. 23.—A horde of 3,000 enthusiastic clam-diggers, armed with a motley assortment of digging instruments, descended upon that unprotesting member of the bivalve family—the razor-backed clam—and began the annual harvest of potential clam-chowders along the beaches of Grays Harbor as the 90-day season opened here.

Veteran clam-chasers deplored the advent of hundreds of "amateur" diggers whom, they claim, cause the wary razor-back to scuttle for deeper and safer depths by their unskilled approach and inexperienced prodding. Some of the veterans secure catches worth $60 in a single day.

Four canneries are kept in operation during the open season.

Trudy, Deaf, Didn't Hear Judge Say "Suspended"

Speeding Case Reveals Swimming Has Hurt Ears

Gertrude Ederle, so deaf she could not hear the magistrate, smiled happily when a traffic court attendant shouted into her ear that sentence had been suspended after she had pleaded guilty of speeding on Riverside Drive. She won the suspension, Miss Ederle was told, because of the glory she brought her country by swimming the English Channel and because of the explanation she offered for her offense.

GERTRUDE EDERLE

Charge Overshadowed

The revelation of Miss Ederle's fight against deafness since 1926 when she conquered the Channel completely overshadowed the traffic charge, on which a warrant had been issued for her arrest.

About eight months ago, she said, it became apparent her hearing was failing rapidly. She had just completed movie and vaudeville contracts.

Three months later, at her Pelham home, she said, she could hear only the most terrific noises. Since then she has been under treatment and her hearing has improved.

Miss Ederle was ordered into Traffic Court on February 18 and March 18 on the speeding charge, but failed to appear on either date. On March 18 Magistrate Rosenbluth issued a warrant. Yesterday she explained she had not heard of either order until Thursday, when she read of them in the newspapers at Highland, N. J., where she had been staying with a friend.

Late for Appointment

In pleading guilty of speeding Miss Ederle said she was late for an appointment with her ear doctor and drove faster when she saw traffic was light.

As she was leaving the court someone asked her if it were really true that she had been totally deaf five months ago. She replied smilingly:

"Yes. I couldn't even hear the sweet words my boy friend was telling me—that was the worst of it. Just think I might have missed a proposal."

A prize winning pen of ringlet Barred Rock chickens has been purchased by a Dalhart poultryman. The pen cost $85.00 and won first honors at the Madison Square Poultry Show in New York. The formation of a poultry show in Dalhart recently has aroused considerable interest in poultry raising.

INFANT MORTALITY RATE HIGHER IN PENNSYLVANIA

(By International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 29.—The infant mortality rate is increasing in Pennsylvania. While the number of infant deaths in 1923 were 14,377, as compared to 14,486 in 1927, the mortality rate jumped from 69 to 72. This increase was attributed to the decrease in the number of births.

MOODY'S MELODY MAKERS PLAY AT LIONS LUNCHEON

The Ballinger Lions Club enjoyed a musical program at their Friday luncheon. The Moody Melody Makers furnished music for the luncheon and a number of the latest song hits were presented by the orchestra. A. L. Brady and C. R. Stone also entertained with a vocal selection.

The club voted on the application of G. P. Teague and received him as a member of the club.

It was decided after some discussion to have the Lions-Rotary ball game as soon as the infield at Fair Park is put in shape. This game has been postponed twice on different dates for various reasons and another date will be set as soon as the league officials get the park in shape.

The attendance prize Friday was won by B. N. Wilke and was a box of cigars donated by H. H. Carsey.

The club was very appreciative of the music furnished by the Moody Melody Makers and voted thanks to the orchestra for the entertainment.

The Women's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church will hold an Easter Flower Sale at the City Drug Store on Saturday, March 30th. Orders will be taken for bedding plants, shrubs, cut flowers and pot plants. Come early and see our display. d-25-26-28-29

Perry Bros. Get Big Opening Crowd

Perry Brothers' new store here opened at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon for the public to inspect the store. From 2 to 4 o'clock nothing was sold and as the crowd passed through the store they were given souvenirs by the girl employes. The store closed at 4 o'clock opened again at 5 offering their goods for sale to the public.

The store was very attractive and drew lots of favorable comment from the visitors as they inspected it from the front to the rear. Moody's Melody Makers furnished music for the two hour reception.

The goods in the store are attractively displayed and the fixtures are well arranged. Special lighting fixtures are built in with the other fixtures and this shows the merchandise to good advantage.

A complete new front has been built in the building and new show windows added. Following the opening Friday the store will be open each day for business.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN, Mar. 29.—A special institute for scientific research of tourist traffic is to be added to the Academy of Commerce.

The work of the institute will cover the causes and the social, economic and political results of tourist traffic, the study of the methods of transportation, hotels, expositions, etc.

A library of works dealing with the subject will be assembled, and regular instruction will be given on all phases of the traffic, with special courses for directors, and managers of spas, hotels, fairs, etc. This will be the first attempt made anywhere in the world to deal with the whole tourist problem along scientific lines.

RADIO ON STREET MUST NOT KEEP LATE HOURS

(By International News Service)

MODESTO, Calif., Mar. 29.—A radio loud speaker may blare forth on a business street during "reasonable hours."

Such was the decision of Superior Judge Fulkerth in ruling on the complaint of Henry Neubaumer, hotel proprietor, against Charles Gray, radio shop owner. Neubaumer sought to have Gray's loud speaker in front of the radio store enjoined from operating, declaring it jarred on the nerves of his hotel guests. Gray, however, may let his loud speaker speak, and loudly, during "reasonable hours" the court has decided.

HAVANA HAS DAILIES IN SPANISH, ENGLISH, CHINESE

(By International News Service)

HAVANA, Mar. 29.—This city is unique in many respects, including the number of its newspapers. In addition to several Spanish language dailies there are three English language daily newspapers published in this city and also three Chinese dailies.

The Chinese dailies are printed under laborious and tedious conditions. Most of their cables are received in Spanish. Before they are published it is necessary first to translate them into English, and then use an English-Chinese dictionary to find the Chinese symbol equivalent to the desired word.

MANNEQUINS IN LONDON SHOWING LATEST STYLES

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Mar. 29.—When women smoke, they must wear trousers. This is official. It has just been announced at the exhibition of artificial silk in London.

There is another important innovation concerning Eve's waist. The waist line is to be shortened, enabling the waist to be shown in what is described as "its natural position."

At dail ymannequin parades, visitors are enabled to see Miss 1929 wearing the clothes which the rulers of fashion picture women wearing in 1959.

BRANDON, Ia., Mar. 29.—A "hiccough expert" had to be called in to attend R. E. Bowers here after regular physicians had failed to stop the attack that lasted for 85 hours.

But the "expert" didn't have a big chance to practice, for soon after declaring that it might take several days to cure Bowers the hiccoughs stopped.
