FROM THE HOPPER

Frank Truitt, the exclusive druggist at Bovina now, had a real complaint to make when I entered his store last Saturday. In the special Bovina irrigation section of the paper last week, we had run a picture of the interior of his store, showing a 5 cent sale on the cash register.

Well, Frank, a 5 cent sale beats a "no sale" on anybody's cash register. And, furthermore, it will show people there is still one store where a nickel can buy something.

If you want to appreciate the crop yields of Parmer County this year, you need to take a trip west and north of Clovis. After leaving Clovis to the west, throughout all the Melrose country and north to Tucumcari, there is hardly a crop that will be worth harvesting.

A few fields of broom corn just north of Melrose are about the only crops in evidence that will yield any returns this year.

However, in the Weber City, Field and Forrest section, many fields of wheat are up to a promising stand.

• • • •

And here's a letter from J. A. Loflin, who formerly lived at Bovina. He now lives at Springfield, Colo., who says, "We finally got a rain here . . . lots of wheat being sown."

Mrs. C. A. Cassady was just in and brought us a report of a birthday party she had given her son.

The average reader will never know how much a newspaper appreciates such thoughtfulness in helping to record the happenings of the community. We spend quite a sum of money every week in gathering the news and in spite of all our efforts there are many items that never reach the columns of the newspaper for the very simple reason that we were not informed of the happening.

Please don't blame the newspaper for the omission of news concerning you and your family. It's just possible that we were not aware of the happening. Next time you have a visitor, a party, go somewhere, or have a baby, just step to the phone and call 2131 and we'll thank you for your cooperation in helping to give you a better newspaper.

Merrill G. Rundell writes us from Atwater, Calif., that "We sure enjoy the paper since we are away from home."

Noticed one of our advertisers was advertising dressed catfish at 79 cents a pound in his ad last week. If you don't believe that is a bargain, just go out and try to catch them at that price.

E. M. Roop is probably the most ardent fisherman we have in town, and I'll gamble dollars to marbles that his entire season's catch has cost him not less than $5 a pound.

I stood on the boat docks at Conchas Lake a few minutes last Sunday afternoon and checked in a number of fishermen who were coming in completely empty-handed. The only man I saw with any fish had four small perch in his string, none of them as large as my hand.

And not one of those anglers drove less than 100 miles for his disappointment. But think of the fun they were having!

All this hullabaloo about the various candidates receiving outside money to further their political ambitions is so much hogwash to my way of thinking.

True, there might have been some crookedness, and certainly some indiscreet action. But, after all is said and done, one candidate seems to hold no monoply in these acceptances.

It has only served to keep the candidates in the spotlight with none of them more guilty than the other. Let us hope that the campaign will get down to basic issues and cease trying to prove who is the biggest crook in the field.

Thanks to Mrs. Ollie Williams for the biggest watermelon we have been presented with this year. I had to enlist the office force to get it out of her car. Thanks, lady, thanks!

Car-Truck Collision Hurts Car Occupants

Three women and four children were injured, none of them seriously, about 4:30 last Sunday afternoon on Mabry Drive between Texico and Clovis, when a car and truck collided.

The injured women were Mrs. O. S. Allred, and her two daughters, Mrs. R. J. Williams and Mrs. Charles Bell. The four children were in the car with them.

All of the injured persons suffered cuts and bruises about the face, head and body, none of which were of a serious nature, although several stitches were required to close the numerous lacerations.

Mrs. Williams explained that Mrs. Bell was driving the car in which they were returning home from Clovis. As they approached a cross road, a truck load of Negroes in front of them swerved to the right as though to make a right hand turnoff. Instead, the truck reversed and took the left hand road, directly in front of the small car. The car was demolished, and the truck was damaged by the impact.

The names of the Negroes were not obtained by the lady passengers in the car.

Conversion Of Building Is Nearing Completion

Conversion of the former Oklahoma Lane gymnasium into a Methodist church building is nearing completion says Rev. Vernon Willard, pastor of the Oklahoma Lane Methodist church. He states that the heating unit has to be approved, and the floors are to be sanded.

Next job wil be the installation of pews.

Interest On Bonds Aids Local Schools

The available School Fund of Parmer County will be enhanced more than $8000 this year from interest received on Series G Government Bonds, figures released by ex-officio County Supt. A. D. Smith revealed this week.

Investments have been made in the Series G Bonds during the past several years from monies received from Parmer County school lands located in Andrews and Gaines Counties for oil leases, royalties, rentals and outright sale of lands. Investments in bonds at this time stand at $328,100 and are drawing 2½ per cent interest.

The interest from these bonds is distributed among the schools of the county on a scholastic basis, and this year's distribution will amount to approximately $6 per student.

Farm Bureau State Convention Slated

Farm Bureau State convention is slated for October 10 at the Plaza hotel in San Antonio. Names of delegates to attend from Parmer County have not yet been made available.

The local group is entitled to six voting delegates, it was revealed here this week. Members of the Parmer Bureau have not yet set the date for their county convention; the membership drive is slated for February.

Water, Sewer Systems Given High Rating

The Texico-Farwell water system and the Farwell sewer system were both given a high rating of approval this week by J. G. Lynch, of the Texas State Health Department after he had inspected both systems.

Lynch said that the local sewer systems, although only in operation for a short period of time, seemed to be operating efficiently and with little or no operating expense. He especially praised the engineering work in installing the system without the use of any pumps in the whole set-up. The local system operates on gravity altogether and has worked very satisfactorily since it was installed more than a year ago.

His only recommendation was that at least four more manholes should be installed to facilitate working the lines should clogs develop.

Turning to the water system, Lynch said that his office in Austin had been receiving water samples from the local plant for the past fourteen years, and only twice has there appeared any evidence of polution of the water. He recommended that some repairs be made in the water tower.

V. C. Venable, superintendent of the plant, said that the repairs Lynch suggested had been evident for some time, but explained he had not been able to get in touch with the right man to make the repairs.

Arizona Tourist Flops Car On Texico's Curve

An unknown Arizona lady tourist and two small children escaped injury at an early hour Monday morning when their car went out of control and turned over "at least three times" on the dangerous S curve that connects Highways 60 and 70 near the state line in Texico.

The unknown lady driver explained that she did not see the curve in the highway, but investigators expressed the belief that she apparently dozed temporarily at the wheel. All the windows were smashed and the car was otherwise badly banged up, but was able to proceed after being righted.

The tourists were given a room at the Illini Court, where they rested briefly before resuming their journey to Arizona. The names of the car occupants were not obtained. The children, a boy and a girl, appeared to be about two and five years of age.

Final Rites Conducted For Little Dale Finley

Funeral services for little Dale Finley, 16-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Finley of nine miles north of here, were conducted at the Bovina Methodist church Wednesday afternoon.

With the Steed Funeral Home of Clovis in charge, burial was made in the Bovina cemetery.

The little lad died in the Clovis Memorial Hospital Monday afternoon, following a long illness. In fact, the little fellow had never enjoyed good health since birth, being troubled with stomach disorders.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a sister, Linda, 3, and a brother, Larry, 5.

WRIGHT GINS 3 BALES

Woodrow Wright, who farms 3 miles west and ½ miles south of Hub, brought three bales of cotton to the Mills & Fleming gin at Hub last Thursday afternoon. This was the first cotton to be ginned at that gin since the opening date, announced last week.

General Confusion Evident On County Water Problem

* * * *

Confusion on practically all levels seems to be the main obstacle between Parmer County and the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District; at the present time at least.

Over 150 Parmer County men who are interested in irrigation activity were present at a meeting in Bovina Monday night, and after considerable wrangling with problems of well spacing and other regulations, turned thumbs down on the whole issue of regulation at the present.

That there was much undecision among the crowd is evident in the fact that less than one-third, 45, present voted either way. Thirty-six irrigation men voted against control of any type right now, and nine were in favor of some type of control.

Willis Hawkins of Hart, who will represent Parmer, Bailey and Castro Counties at a district-level meeting in Hereford today (Thursday), was present to talk with the group Monday night. He answered questions offered by several farmers relative to what could be expected in the event Parmer decided to go along with district-level control, but several points seemed to be still in a confused state at the close of the meeting. As a result, the Parmer irrigation men turned down the entire program.

R. L. Douglas Jr., one of the non-office-holding irrigation men who was present, commented that he felt the vote did not reflect an accurate opinion of the group as a whole.

"Many of the men I know, myself included," he explained, "know that control is bound to come sooner or later, and we want it on a local level if at all possible."

Similar convictions were expressed by other Parmer County farmers.

The biggest development in policy for the District will likely come as an outgrowth of today's meeting at Hereford. The meeting, to begin at 10:30 will be held at the Deaf Smith courthouse.

Tom McFarland, head of the District office at Lubbock, said in a telephone conversation with the Tribune Wednesday afternoon:

"I've just come back from a meeting with the Governor's water board in Austin. While there I heard men from places like San Angelo talk about water control. They're hard hit down there, and are trucking in water even for domestic use.

"What this means is that we are going to have to get a lot more interested in our situation up her on the High Plains, or else have to listen to some of the ideas of those boys below the Cap Rock who are really getting worried."

Dry Land Feed Crops Making Fair Yields

It is no secret that many hundreds of acres of dry land feed crops in Parmer County will not be worth the harvesting this year, but most of the crops that justified harvesting are turning out fairly good yields.

A check-up made early this week at local elevators, reveals that the average crop yields are running in the 700 to 1000 pound category, with some fields running well above that figure.

Clarence Meeks reports 1200 to the acre from a field he completed Monday afternoon. E. G. Williams said that his yield was running 1500 to the acre.

On the other hand, L. R. Vincent, who harvested the first grain of the season here, gathered only 450 pounds from his first cuttings.

Unquestionably, the best dry land crops produced in this area this year will come from fields in the southwestern corner of Parmer and over into adjoining Curry and Bailey counties, where the rainfall was more favorable during the growing season. In fact, there were few complete failures in this particular area.

With grain bringing around the $3-mark, farmers are getting a fair return for their labors.

Turning to the irrigated fields of the area, there was little this week to base a report on, with little or none of the grain ready for harvesting. Growers contacted early this week agreed that most of the irrigated fields would not be invaded until after frost. All reports indicate, however, that the yield will be satisfactory to abundant.

Much Wheat Sowing Over Parmer County

Despite the limited moisture received from the rains of early last week, a substantial amount of wheat has been sown by Parmer County farmers, according to reports and observations made by a Tribune reporter.

Furthermore, fields that were "dusted in" prior to the rains are coming up to a good stand, it was learned. Most farmers contacted the past week agreed that the underground season was not too encouraging, but they decided to go ahead with their fall plantings in hope that additional moisture would be forthcoming.

The opinion seemed to be general that there was sufficient moisture to get the grain up and off to a good start. Farmers are fighting desperately to get up some wheat that will afford grazing for livestock to supplement the light feed crops produced on dry land this year.

There remains, however, quite a large acreage yet to be put in wheat when the moisture situation is more favorable.

Turner Brings First Bale To Bovina Gin

F. O. (Frank) Turner, who now farms the old Lewis Pesch place just west of Bovina brought the first two bales of 1952 cotton to the Morrison & Ely Gin at Bovina. The first bale was ginned Saturday and the second came in Monday.

The cotton was from an irrigated field and was somewhat green. The first 2100 pound load ginned out 510 pounds of lint, and Monday's load of 1900 yielded 495 pounds of lint. Pulling has been held up until the cotton matures a little more.

Turner was paid 40 cents a pound for his first bale by Morrison & Ely and the merchants of Bovina contributed a pure of $60 to the grower.

City Is Installing Speed Stop Signs

The first step toward making Farwell a safely-marked city was taken this week with the erection of speed-limit and stop signs at several places along the new paving.

The residence speed limit, 25 miles per hour, will be enforced with the aid of the State Highway Patrol, reminds Mayor Johnie Williams as he calls attention to the new signs.

In addition, G Street, running east toward Farwell Schools, will be made a through street, and stop signs are being placed at intersections leading up to it.

Bovina FB Recommends County Issue Permits

In a meeting at the Legion Hall Thursday night, Sept. 18, the Bovina Farm Bureau made a recommendation that local authority for issuance of irrigation well drilling permits be used.

Bruce Parr, county Farm Bureau president, presided over the meeting during the time a discussion took place concerning problems relating irrigation practices. Members present voted to rest authority in the county committeemen for permit issuance, rather than see the matter subjected to state control.

George Stanbough, a representative of the Rural Telephone Cooperative, gave a report to the Bureau concerning progress on rural telephone line construction.

The next meeting of the Bureau is scheduled for Oct. 16.

County To Vote On Tax Re-Allocation

In addition to voting on national, district, county and precinct officers in the general election on Nov. 4, Parmer County voters will cast a separate ballot on the subject of tax reallocation for county taxes.

A notice setting forth the details of this special election is being carried in The Tribune this week. Asked about this special election, Judge A. D. Smith explained that it is merely a matter of form that must be submitted to the voters of the county every six years, and in no way affects the present tax structure of the county.

"It is just a matter of form that we must go through every six years in order to maintain our present tax rate, which is 95 cents on the $100 valuation," Judge Smith explained.

Farwell CC Releases Report On Projects

Farwell Chamber of Commerce this week released a report on projects of the group, both those which have been completed and those under consideration, and in progress.

According to the report, the CC in cooperation with the American Legion helped on construction of the Legion hall; they initiated sewer system for Farwell in cooperation with the city and the necessary bond issued for the building of the system; initiated curb and guttering and pavement on main street; initiated street paving in the residential district, so far 30 blocks of paving are completed representing a $120,000 investment by residents without any bond issue, tax increase, state, federal or county aid; and street light program.

The Chamber of Commerce is now planning the annual Christmas light decorations, and is encouraging the community progress on the city park by donations from Chamber of Commerce members.

Projects under consideration by the group are: hospital and clinic, youth program, and a charity program.

Raymond Euler of Friona will be in Oklahoma City October 6-7 to attend a polio foundation leaders clinic. Euler is chairman of the polio drive in Parmer County again this year. The drive is slated for January.

Loyde Brewer is again chapter chairman, but local workers will not be selected until later in the year, says Euler.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterlyn Billington were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Billington Sunday.

Farwell Chamber Of Commerce Makes Plans For Christmas

* * * * *

Pioneer Texans have many stories to tell about reactions when they received their first view of the Lone Star State, but Mrs. J. T. Hulsey of Farwell has a new angle. Born in Iowa, Mrs. Hulsey was only a child when she and her mother and brother moved to Denton, County, Texas, and they arrived the morning after a cyclone, which did quite a lot of damage. But the local woman wasn't discouraged. She likes this state.

Born in Waukee, Iowa, on June 14, 1887, Mrs. Hulsey was the daughter of a farmer. She was only four years old when her father passed away. Immediately after his death, Mrs. Hulsey and her brother spent a year in an orphan's home until their mother could keep them with her again. She was about 8 years old when the small family of three came to Texas, traveling by train. "I can remember the trip so well," says the pioneer woman, relating that it rained all the way. She can't remember how long it took to make the trip from her birthplace.

The family remained in Denton until about 1906 when they went to Box, Okla. They then went back to Denton for a while, back to Oklahoma, and then to Taft, which was close to Ft. Sumner, N. M. That was about 1908 and Mrs. Hulsey's mother and brother filed on claims there. Remaining there until 1915, the three then lived in Osage City, close to Emporia, Kansas for a period and in Buford, Ark. They were gone from New Mexico for five years, then returned to Ft. Sumner.

A year later, the local woman went to Motley County where she met her husband, in the home of friends. The couple began going around together, and three months later, were married, on May 17, 1822. The couple lived in Motley County their first year of married life, then in the winter of 1923 and '24, they decided to take a trip, which was a memorable one. They traveled overland in a house truck from Texas to Florida. "I don't remember how many ferries we were on during the trip," says Mrs. Hulsey, "but there were several." They traveled all the way to Cape Soble. At one place, Homestead, they camped, and helped to can tomatoes for a cannery.

"It was a wonderful trip," says Mrs. Hulsey. They visited the 1000 acre coconut grove, and after seeing Florida, drove to Georgia to visit Mr. Hulseys relatives.

Going back to Motley County, the couple operated a cafe for 15 months, then in 1925, moved to Parmer County, where they began farming, on the same place southeast of Farwell, where Mrs. Hulsey now resides. In 1926, they went back to Motley county for four years, where they owned a cafe part of the time and farmed. Upon their return to Farwell, they remained until 1935, when they again went to Motley County to operate a cafe. Upon their return here, they remained.

It was in March of 1942 that Mr. Hulsey passed away. After his death, Mrs. Hulsey went to south Texas, to care for her mother, and stayed there until her mother's death about two years later.

She then came back to her home in Farwell. "I really like it here," she says, "I wouldn't want to live anywhere else."

Asked about occurances that remain outstanding in her memory, Mrs. Hulsey recalls one time when she had gone into Ft. Sumner and as she was leaving town, friends informed her that a norther was to hit. She felt that she needed to get home, so she traveled the 18 miles to the family homestead in the severe cold, driving a buggy with two horses. "I was wrapped in three quilts and nearly froze," she said. Then after her arrival home, she and her brother went seven more miles to a party. She said people didn't mind going places in a buggy, even if it was in the winter.

Also, Mrs. Hulsey recalls a trip, she and her mother and brother made from Oklahoma to Ft. Sumner and back to Denton in a covered wagon, and a hack. They had camped in the neighborhood of Wildorado, when a snow storm came up. While in Tucumcari, someone had stolen some of the supplies from the family, and they felt they had to get into Amarillo for food. So they waded into the storm and made it. "Before we got to Amarillo," adds Mrs. Hulsey, "it was one of the most beautiful afternoons I've ever seen." They were traveling for six weeks or more.

Mrs. Hulsey's brother now resides in the Rio Grande valley. He also lives alone, his wife having passed away some year ago. "But he won't come out here to live, and I don't want to live there," she concludes.

LETTERS from Our Readers

Mr. W. H. Graham
State Line Tribune
Farwell, Texas

Dear Hop,

You gave me a lot of pleasure by sending the copy of the TRIBUNE'S Historical Edition on the dairy show and fair.

Certainly, you are to be congratulated for the fine job which you did in reviewing the history of that worthwhile event. I know that your many readers enjoyed that special issue just as I did.

I know that newspaper people are not over modest about the job which they do but it appears that they never get an opportunity to take full credit for the contributions which they often make to progress in their communities. In thinking back over the history of this dairy show and fair, I cannot help but feel that probably the factor most responsible for its success was your own liberal use of your news columns in promoting the affair. Yes, I know that you made your living from it and I know that to have a real live issue of this kind was a help to your paper. But, your contribution went on beyond that and I know you are proud of this and many other fine contributions your paper has made toward a better community life.

I sincerely hope that this year's show was the success that all of you wanted it to be. It would have been a pleasure to have had the opportunity to see the show ten years after that first one was held.

Again, congratulations to you on a very fine edition of the paper. Please give our personal regards to our friends as you visit with them personally.

Sincerely,
Garlon A. Harper

YOUR ANSWER TO ALL THREE QUESTIONS IS AN EMPHATIC NO!

THEN WHY DO YOU CONTINUE TO USE AN IRRIGATION SYSTEM THAT WASTES

ACTUAL TESTS, conducted by various soil conservation specialists, have shown repeatedly that 35 to 40 percent of the water you run into open, earthen ditches is actually wasted by evaporation and absorption. It never reaches the thirsty crops for which it was intended!

WT Coach Looking For More Like Booth

If Farwell has any more football players like Toby Booth, Coach Frank Kimbrough at West Texas State would certainly like to know about it. If one could be found, Kimbrought might become a consistent and persistent visitor.

Booth, 6'2" and 200-pound senior from Farwell, is currently holding down the Herd's left end post and doing a more than creditable job. Although the young West Texas State squad (41 of 54 are fros-sophs) are not due to set the gridiron on fire this season, the things they can pick up from veterans like Booth should make them double-tough in the immediate years ahead.

In Booth and co-captain Marvin Smith, 200-pound Perryton senior, West Texas State has what many rate the best end-team in the Border Conference. Booth was tabbed "Defensive Lineman of the Week" from his performance in the McMurry-Buff clash in Amarillo. Time after time the husky ex-Steer broke through to dump McMurry for long losses.

Next opportunity Farwell fans will have to see Booth and the Buffs is October 11 when the Buffs entertain New Mexico A & M in the Homecoming tilt. Reservations via mail for the $2.40 reserved seat ducats can be made to Bob Clark, Campus Shop in Canyon.

Local Softball Teams Win Over Ranchvale

Texico's Wolverines beat the Ranchvale Trojans 9 to 5 in a hard fought game on the Texico diamond Friday afternoon.

The score was 5 to 3 in the fifth inning, with Texico trailing. Then the Ranchvale pitcher walked in two scores for the local team tieing the game. Then little Rodney Powell knocked a grand slam homer to win the game for the locals 9-5.

Line-up for the Wolverines was: Allred, Moss, P. Crooks, King, Curd, Clark, Taylor, Goldsmith, Doolittle, and A. Crook. Subtitutions were Powell, who was the winning pitcher; and Tucker.

The Texico Whirlwinds won their third consecutive game of the season Friday afternoon also against Ranchvale, by a score of 5-3. This leaves the Whirlwinds as the only undefeated girls team in the conference.

Anita Brown was on the mound for Texico, and Nina Barrow, for Ranchvale.

Line-up for the local team was: Palmateer, Doolittle, McDaniel, Brown, Halsell, Horton, Thornton, Henson, Tucker, and Curd. Horton and Doolittle each hit a home run for the winning team.

Steers Whip Bovina On Mustang Field

Farwell's improving Steers, apparently shy of a tank-like Bovina line, broke out with a rash of passes Friday night to trample the Mustangs 32-6 in a non-conference game.

The Steers, able to score in every period, opened early in the first quarter with a pass good for 30 yards and six points from Quarterback Lynn Carpenter to End Ronny Dial. Dial also figured in the two after-touchdown conversions for the Steers, kicking both goals.

The traditional game spirit between the two schools was evident in several spots Friday night, but for the most part, the contest was executed without too many player squabbles. A crowd of 1500 was on hand to see Farwell hand Bovina the top-heavy loss.

Dial scored in the second quarter again after snaring a pass for 30 yards, and converted, putting the Steers in the lead 13-0.

The Mustangs pushed across their only score of the night in the third period when Leon Ware, Bovina's versatile right half, punched through the line 18 yards.

Farwell lost both first-string ends in the third quarter to injuries. Both Dial and Ted Magness left the game with sprained ankles.

Carpenter made the longest run of the game when he sliced off tackle for 70 yards to open the third quarter. It was the Steers' first play from scrimmage in the second half.

Troy Christian, freshman Farwell back, got cheers from the Farwell fans when he snared a Bovina pass on the Mustang 45 and weaved his way to the 5-yard-line before being dragged down.

Carpenter's passes, the most potent offensive threat for the Steers, showered down on the Mustangs for two touchdowns in the last quarter. Ends Magness and Dial were benched with injuries, so Carpenter tossed to his halfback running mate, Dennis Raney, twice for 60 and 45 yard touchdown plays.

Farwell launched a total of 19 passes, which were completed 10 times for a superior average of 50-percent-plus. Bovina passed a lot, too—21 times, but only seven were completed.

Score by quarters was: 6-0, 13-0, 20-6 and 32-6, with the Steers in the lead all the way.

Mrs. J. C. Robertson is in Anson, Texas where she is visiting her sister and other relatives.

Steers Pack Bags For Game With Melrose

The Farwell Steers, fresh from two wins over Vega and Bovina, move to Melrose tomorrow (Friday) night for another non-conference game with the Melrose Buffaloes.

The Buffs trimmed Bovina 32-12 two weeks ago on the Melrose field. Last week the Steers also beat Bovina, by a score of 32-6. On paper at least, this means that Farwell should be rated about even with, if not a little higher than, their weekend opponents.

However, any number of factors could be pointed out that might make the difference between the two teams. For one thing, Farwell mentors have no information at all concerning Melrose except the scores from other games.

Shelby Jobes, assisting with Farwell coaching, says he only knows that they (Melrose) have at least one big back—a 190 pounder. But he adds that Farweil is not likely to be outweighed as it was last week.

Coach Ellison of the Buffaloes is a product of ENMU. Understandably, he is attracted to the split T formatidn, which is used extensively by ENMU coach Al Garten. This could possibly mean that the Steers will meet a new-type offense.

Lastly, both Farwell first-line ends were on the bench with injuries as of Wednesday morning. Ronny Dial and Teddy Magness, the two ends, were injured last week again Bovina. Jobes places them in the "Questionable" category, although he feels they may see some action.

Jobes was optimistic about future prospects for the Steers. "We were rather surprised with the success we had with passing against Bovina last week," he said. "The boys are keeping a good team spirit this year, and that helps, too."

Friona Chiefs Beaten By Wolverines 19-13 In Breath-Taking Tiff

The mighty Friona Chiefs fell before the Springlake Wolverines in a hard-fought football game Friday night, with a final score of 19-13.

The Chiefs received the kickoff and returned to the 35-yard line. After two plays and a gain of five yards, Virgil Phipps went through right guard for 60 yards and a touchdown, but the conversion was no good. Springlake took the kickoff and made a series of continuous drives for a score by Wayne Davis, who went around right end for the counter. Try for the point failed and the score was tied, 6-6 at the end of the first period of play.

Moving into the second period, Friona failed to gain any ground, and Springlake also failed to make any headway and the score was still in a one touchdown tie at halftime.

Beginning the second half, Friona couldn't get moving, then Springlake drove to the Parmer County team's 27 yard line. From there, Douglas Higgins swept right end for a touchdown giving them a slight lead. Conversion was no good.

In the fourth quarter, Friona had a sudden round of plays and D. O. Robason ran off right tackle for 12 yards and a touchdown to again tie the score. David Patterson put everything he had into the following play and converted to make the score 13-12, Friona.

But the Chiefs lost their rabbit's foot, when Springlake took the kickoff and pounded down to the 15-yard line where Wayne Davis scored off tackle. He then converted for a 19-13 count.

Friona had worked down to the nine yard line when the game ended, giving Springlake the top score of the evening.

Missionary To India To Speak At Friona

Straight from an area in India where she witnessed the stark human tragedy of famine—and did something about it—Mrs. Ruth Parker White, Congregational Christian missionary under the American Board of Foreign Missions, will speak at the Tuesday Oct. 7th afternoon session and the Wednesday Oct. 8th morning session of the Fall meeting of the Central Association of Congregational Church of Friona, Texas according to announcement by George E. Meyer, chairman of the Program Committee.

Mrs. White, the wife of Rev. E. White, District missionary in Aruppukottai, prayed earnestly and wrote vigorously for help when famine struck her section of India. As "Friendship Food" from Church World Service and CARE packages began to come in she routed them to the right spots and established 18 rural centers to distribute milk, reconditioned from milk powder, sent by the UNITED NATIONS CHILDREN'S EMERGENCY FUND.

When the Government decided to open a Gruel Kitchen in one of the worst hit villages, they asked Mrs. White to organize and oversee it and distribute the needed grains as well as keep the accounts. The village was nine miles by bus and four more miles by foot or bullock cart from where she lived—but she did it.

The wife of a missionary, like the wife of a minister in the USA, says Ruth White, "is expected to do all the things that no one else wants to do!" and she has lived up to this expectation.

When the Women's Society needed a treasurer, Mrs. White was it. When a group of Indian young men wanted to organize for evangelistic work in the villages, she became their "mother" and accompanied them each Sunday to villages within a radius of four miles, walking or riding bicycles.

When the big Mission Board School needed someone to supervise the boarding department; attend to the ration accounts; interview Ration Offices; set up a dispensary for the 350 children and train teachers to carry it on; oversee the repairs of the building; and keep three sets of accounts, two audited by Government Auditors and one by Mission Auditors, Ruth Parker White did it.

She was Secretary of the Committee on Work for Women which manages and plans for all the work among the women in the Diocese of Madura and Ramnad, part of the Church of South India. Mrs. White also reorganized the women's societies in the Women's Fellowship groups after the church union and found leaders for these new groups as they were organized in the villages.

It has been six years since Mr. and Mrs. White were last in the United States on furlough. Their home in India has been in Aruppukottai which is in the center of a nominally prosperous farming community and has a population of some 55,000 with cloth-weaving its major industry.

Born in Oakham, Massachusetts, and educated at Mt. Holyoke College, Ruth Parker White graduated, married Rev. Emmons E. White and sailed with him for India all in the year 1917.

Will Your Cotton Be Mechanically Picked?

IF YOUR ANSWER IS "YES," THEN YOU NEED TO DEFOLIATE YOUR COTTON !

Read what Fred C. Elliott of Texas A & M Extension Service says in the September issue of Southwestern Crop & Livestock magazine:

The ever-increasing use of machines for harvesting cotton has also increased the use of chemicals as plant defoliates. Defoliating the cotton plant, says Fred C. Elliott, cotton work specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is a practice, when properly carried out, will materially improve the machine harvesting job.

Here are Elliott's suggestions on doing a successful job. The time of the application of the defoliant is very important. In order to get maximum staple length development and yield, Elliott says the defoliant should be applied no sooner than 35 days after the period of maximum blooming. Another way to time the application is to wait 30 days after the cotton has quit making or when the youngest bolls are 30 days old. This condition will exist in most fields when about 10 per cent of the bolls are open. The defoliant should be applied from ten days to two weeks prior to intended picking dates in Central and South Texas and from two to three weeks on the High Plains.

Moist Exposure Necessary

When calcium cynamide is used as a dust, the plants must be wet with dew or when adequate dew is forecast. The chemical to be most effective must remain in moisture on the leaf for at least two hours but four or more hours of moist exposure are preferred. Monosodium cyanamide does not depend on dew for activation but takes the needed moisture from the air or from the leaf. The leaves, however, should be green and not wilted, says Elliott.

Spray defoliant may be used in the absence of dew and when humidity is low; however, the specialist emphasizes that the plant must be thoroughly covered with the material. If an airplane is used for applying the defoliant, a flagman should always be used. Fenders should be used on ground equipment in rank cotton.

Elliott points out that a better defoliation job is obtained when the cotton is mature, leaves not wilted nor toughened by drouth or starved by a lack of soil fertility, when plant moisture is adequate and the weather is warm and humid. He emphasizes the importance of using weather forecasts as an aid when defoliants are being applied.

Use Only Tested Chemicals

Defoliate only enough acreage to stay ahead of the picking, ays Elliott, and he warns against using any defoliant that is not labeled as to its exact chemical content. Using chemicals as defoliants which have not been tested may injure the open fiber, the unopened bolls or worst of all may cause fire hazards at the gin.

One final caution, Elliott says, before making the application, thoroughly clean the spray tanks, pumps, lines and nozzles to remove residues left in the equipment by liquid insecticides. The spray machines should be flushed with water after each day's operation.

Elliott suggests to cotton producers interested in obtaining more information on the subject that they contact their local county agricultural agent and ask for a copy of L-145, "Cotton Defoliation Guide in Texas." The leaflet has only recently been released and contains the latest recommendations covering the use of many defoliants.

DON'T LOSE PRECIOUS HARVEST TIME!

It isn't necessary for us to remind you farmers just how precious your harvest time is to you. Now, as never before, men of agriculture realize to what an extent they benefit from a service that they sometimes take nearly for granted — farm delivery of petroleum products. This, of course, has been a free feature of Charles Oil Company for a long time.

It's just another service that Phillips bulk men offer to the public. And too, now more than ever farmers realize how heavily they depend upon a product of uniform quality—Phillips.

Gasoline, oils, heavy lubricants, tires — all these are yours at a moments notice!

Students Give Reaction To Recent Band Trip

"The Texico High School Band left at 7:15 Monday morning for Amarillo to march in the parade that was part of the celebration during the Tri-State Fair," states George Hill, band director.

Polls were taken from a students out of each class that went, and this reporter found:

Charles Bennett Stockton, "There were lots of different bands there, and I really thought that the army band was the best, even though there were lots of other bands that were good. After we got through marching we all went to the Fair and there we saw many things that I had never seen before."

David Lockhart thinks that the band did a pretty good job even though they didn't bring any prizes back with them.

Bobby Patterson states, "After we were through marching, we went to the Fair. The Chamber of Commerce of Amarillo gave each of us a $1.00 to buy our lunch. When we had seen all of the things, we left for home, and I'm glad that I had the opportunity of going because I had a good time and think that I learned something."

Susan Levins and Mikala Faville saw a lot of good bands, and really liked the fair. They are hoping that they have the privilege of going again next year.

Ruth Ann Winkels states that she enjoyed all the things at the fair but what interested her most was the 300 horse-power car they had on display.

Naomi Hapke remarks, "I think everything was worthwhile; we had a lot of competition and found out what it means to be against someone else. We all had a good time at the carnival and I surely hope that the band gets to go again next year."

Darral Harris states that the people really applauded when we marched by and we were one of the fastest marching bands there, and the only one that was police escorted."

Jeanine Donahey says, "When people applauded us as we marched by, it gave me such a wonderful feeling that I sincerely wish that I could be here again next year to go again."

This concludes ethe thoughts of the people who went to Amarillo and the band members of Texico express appreciation to the Band Mothers and all who made it possible for students to go.

RANDOM THOUGHTS
By Jo Magerus

Have you ever noticed that:

You can tell a sophomore—by the way he talks.

You can tell a junior—by the way he walks.

You can tell a senior—but you can't tell him MUCH!!

Had you ever thought about suspenders very much? We should give suspenders more credit than most of us do. After all, they are one of the oldest forms of "social security."

Heard a good definition of "reputation" the other day. Reputation is a bubble which a man bursts when he tries to blow it up himself.

I have an article about being richer every day. I'd like to share it with you: "You are richer today than you were yesterday if you have laughed often, given something, forgiven someone, made a new friend or made stepping stones out of stumbling blocks—if you have managed to be cheerful even if you are weary. You are richer tonight than you were this morning if you have taken time to trace the handiwork of God in the commonplace things of life or if you have learned to count out the things that really don't count so much in this life, or if you have been a little blinder to the faults of a friend or foe. You are richer if a little child smiled at you or a stray dog licked your hand, or if you have looked for the best in others and given others the best in you." Are you growing richer each day?

See 'ya in two more weeks.

Third Grade Room Receives New Flags
