Bush protests 'detainees'

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (AP) - President Bush today protested Iraqi attempts to move Americans trapped in Kuwait "against their will," while appearing encouraged by Jordan's promise to uphold the international embargo against Iraq.

Bush, after a pre-dawn call to the situation room at the White House, said "there was nothing new" concerning the 2,500 Americans barred from leaving Kuwait. But asked what would happen if they were taken to Iraq, he said: "I don't think anybody ought to be moved against their will in contravention of international law."

Bush also said there were reports "about moving 30 Americans someplace" from the hotel where they had been confined in the Iraqi capital of Baghdad, but didn't provide details in his brief remarks before heading for the golf course. He also said "the Japanese were told that they cannot leave" Kuwait, either.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney was bound for Riyadh today to visit American troops standing guard in the Saudi desert against a possible further thrust by Iraq's Saddam Hussein, whose troops overran Kuwait Aug. 2.

The unprecedented deployment of U.S. military ground and air power in strategic areas of Saudi Arabia continued today with the unloading of tanks and other heavy equipment and arms. U.S. Marines are rapidly building to a force of 45,000 in the Middle East - almost a quarter of their full strength.

Bush, after spending more than two hours with Jordan's King Hussein on Thursday, said, "I can't say I am satisfied, but what I am is encouraged" that Jordan intends to abide by the United Nations sanctions against Iraq.

King Hussein's brother, Crown Prince Hassan, said on CBS "This Morning" that "His majesty made it clear (to Bush) that we will adhere to the U.N. resolution."

But the plight of the 2,500 Americans and of other foreigners barred from leaving Kuwait took a turn for the worse as Iraq ordered all Americans and Britons to report to separate hotels.

Hours after the deadline very few had complied, said a senior U.S. official in Washington. The official said Iraqi military authorities had implied to Ambassador Nathaniel Howell that they "would go out and find" any Americans who did not comply with the order.

Iraqi's ambassador to the United States, Mohamed Al-Mashat, today repeated his assurances that the Americans wouldn't be harmed. Interviewed in ABC's "Good Morning America," Al-Mashat said, "I can assure you they are well treated and will be released in due time."

Iraq withdraws from territories

By SIDNEY S. FEINGOLD
Associated Press Writer

Iraq today began withdrawing troops from Iranian territory and freed Iranian POWs, seeking peace with its eastern neighbor to focus on the escalating confrontation with the United States.

President Bush expressed pessimism Thursday that Iraqi forces would end its 2-week-old occupation of Kuwait, while a military buildup and economic embargo intensified in the Persian Gulf.

Bush ordered U.S. naval commanders to use "the minimum force necessary" to interdict shipments to and from Iraq. That could include firing across the bow to halt a ship.

But American efforts to squeeze the Iraqi president with a trade embargo could run into trouble. The United Nations chief said military enforcement of U.N. sanctions against Iraq requires U.N. approval.

In other developments:
-An Iraqi cargo ship, reportedly carrying food, steamed through the Suez Canal toward the Red Sea today after being stranded at the waterway's entrance for three days, a canal authority official said. The 7,000-ton Zain al-Qaws was the first Iraqi vessel to transit the 100-mile-long channel - the main route for European shipping to the region - since the United Nations imposed sanctions on Iraq on Aug. 6.

-Thousands of foreigners fled Iraq on Thursday. Iraqi authorities in Kuwait ordered the 2,500 Americans to assemble at a hotel because of

Local mom worries about soldier son

Regina Hayes is grateful for CNN.

That way, maybe, she can keep tabs on her son, Paul Bradford. Paul is an intelligence specialist with the 82nd Airborne. He was stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C. He is now in Saudi Arabia, waiting and wondering.

His mother is waiting and hoping. Paul attended Hereford High School his sophomore and junior years, then graduated from Randall High School in 1989. On June 20, 1989, Paul joined the armed forces. "He was in the second batch out of Fort Bragg," his mother said Wednesday. "I am very concerned about him, and all of his family has been."

"It has been like a time bomb, and I have no way of knowing when anything is going to happen."

She thought her son might have been among the first troops sent to the Middle East, and Paul couldn't tell her what his plans were until he was about to leave. Then, he was able to call home.

Was he scared? "A little, a little anxious, a little nervous. But, he said it was what he had been training for."

Meanwhile, Regina Hayes sits at home, keeping an eye on events on television.

"Thank goodness for CNN," she said. "They have reports on there all of the time. Sometimes I will try to watch one of my other programs on another channel, but I'm not interested in them. After a few minutes, it's back on CNN."

"It's all nerve wracking. I just hope everything goes all right."

To The Men In Saudi Arabia

It was bound to happen sooner or later,
It has been so long since something has been declared,
They say you have to defend your country,
But, there are so many tempers flared.
There's Hussein who has to be crazy,
He told his men to take Kuwait,
He thought he could do this with no problem,
He really thought he was making no mistake.
There's President Bush, who says without a doubt,
"Men, I need you to go, we won't take this anymore,
The Arabs need us to help them,
We are there to even the score."
Now here are all the people in the United States,
We are so proud, but yet we're scared,
To know our men are so far away from us,
Yet our feelings cannot be aired.
But we what you to know we're behind you,
You are the first and last thing on our mind.
We care about and love you,
Between you and us there's a never ending bind.
Our prayers are with you and God is above you,
He will bring you back safe and sound.
Remember, you are not alone, the world surrounds you,
So stay till it's over, proud to stand your ground!

Our thoughts are with you,

Fire damages NE home

Several thousand dollars damage was sustained in a house fire at 507 Ave. K at 12:13 a.m. today.

The home was occupied by the John McQuigg family. According to Fire Marshall Jay Spain, a dryer was pushed up against the wall of a utility room. The dryer had been in that position for about a week, and the unvented dryer had accumulated lint which eventually caught fire.

Spain said flames were shooting high into the air from the utility room, in the back of the house, when firefighters arrived. Six units responded to the blaze. There were no injuries to occupants or to volunteer firefighters.

'Ultimate Hunt' quarry surprised by hoopla

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) - An inmate pursued by dogs as the quarry on a top state prison official's "Ultimate Hunt" says he's puzzled by all the hoopla over disclosure of the chase.

"Really, it's insignificant," Alvin Hughes, 47, says of his role as the bait in what he calls a dog training exercise that occurred last year with Jerry Hodge, the vice chairman of the Texas prison board, and two of Hodge's hunting buddies.

"The only thing I was concerned about was doing my job. I can't understand what is the big deal here."

"I feel he was just doing his job. He wanted to see what was going on with this dog business. I don't really feel like he did anything wrong, but who am I to say?"

Hodge has been under fire since disclosure of the incident earlier this week.

Sources have said Gov. Bill Clements planned to name Hodge chairman of the Texas Board of Criminal Justice on Tuesday, but delayed the announcement after the revelations. Clements, however, denied Hodge had been selected to succeed Charles Terrell, who is stepping down Sept. 1.

Hodge, 47, a former Amarillo mayor, acknowledged taking friends along on the dog-training exercise in which inmates were tracked down. He said he later sent his companions jackets bearing the inscription "Ultimate Hunt."

Hodge has defended his attending the exercise and said the inmates all were volunteers and never were endangered. But while denying any impropriety, Hodge has acknowledged the jackets were a mistake.

Texas prison inmates long have been used as quarry for dog exercises, and officials have defended it as an effective tool in teaching the animals to hunt down prison escapees.

"I know that most people outside of this job don't ever know what we're doing," Hughes, of Dallas, said Thursday in an interview at the Ellis I Unit northeast of Huntsville, where he is serving a life sentence for burglary, his fifth prison term and second life sentence.

"I do it every day. The most important thing is that they find me," he said of the tracking dogs, which he cares for. "Wherever we go, they go."

"It didn't bother me. I was just doing what I do every day."

Hughes said he recalled one of Hodge's companions "looked like Buffalo Bill, with a big white goatee and handlebar mustache. I remember seeing him."

One of Hodge's companions was Glenn McMennamy, a member of the state Department of Human Services board. The other was Bob Wilds, of Indianapolis, an avid bear hunter.

After he was caught by the dogs and Hodge's party, "The only thing that was said to me was, 'Now there's a man that's tired,'" Hughes said, showing a big toothless grin.

He said a corrections department sergeant told him about the special guests on the hunt and asked him to "give them a good show."

"So that's what I did," said Hughes, saying he used some of the tricks he's picked up during his dog training experience since 1985 to make certain his pursuers would enjoy themselves.

Some of those diversions included doubling back over his own trail and leading them in circles before the dogs and the hunters on horseback finally found him in a tree.

"I really don't understand the seriousness of it," he said of the publicity surrounding the incident. "I don't know what the deal is. The only thing different to me was just some of the people I hadn't seen before."

"I feel like this: I'm a criminal. There has to be some way to maintain security. This is their way, using dogs. And you've got to train them some way. So they use inmates. Most people I work with like the job."

Hughes, one of four inmate dog handlers under the supervision of a sergeant, cares for three packs of 10 dogs, plus others that are being raised beginning at the age of 6 weeks so they can join the hunting packs. He gets up about 3:30 a.m. each day to begin his chores, which several times a week include walking into the country away from the Ellis Unit so the dogs can track him down about four hours later.

"You feel sort of free, four or five miles away," he said. "That's what I like about it, the freedom part."

Hughes has a long criminal record in Dallas that began in 1961 when he served 3½ years of an eight-year term for robbery. He got another two years in 1967 for carrying a pistol.

In 1971, he was sentenced to life for robbery but was paroled 11 years later, he said.

Then in 1984, a drug possession conviction got him a 20-year term but he was out by 1987. The following year, a Dallas burglary conviction won him a second life sentence. He could be paroled in 1993.

"I was just doing my job," he said of his day with Hodge. "The guys that were there didn't do me no wrong."

Texas couple raced across Kuwait to freedom

By The Associated Press

Driven by an Australian and a tongue-in-cheek desire to be home for Christmas, a Texas couple raced across the heavily armed Kuwaiti desert in a stolen all-terrain vehicle as they fled that country for Saudi Arabia.

About 30 well-wishers and family members greeted Bill and Sharon Gilbert as they arrived Thursday afternoon at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport on a flight from London. The Gilberts, who lived in the Central Texas town of Salado before leaving for the Middle East three months ago, fled Kuwait early Monday morning.

"Texas never looked so good," Gilbert, 55, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "Freedom has a new meaning."

The couple joked with reporters and relatives about their tense two-hour escape.

"We decided we didn't want to spend Christmas in Kuwait or Iraq, so we left Monday morning at 5 o'clock," Gilbert said.

The American businessman and his wife were helped out the country by an Australian man known only as "Wild Max."

"They said are you ready to go, and I said, 'This Australian will drive. He's a bush driver,'" said Mrs. Gilbert, 54.

The couple said they saw no atrocities committed by occupying Iraqi troops. "They were kind to us," Mrs. Gilbert said. "They kind of ignored us and we ignored them."

But the Gilberts said they sensed that the time was right to get out and decided to leave in a bullet-riddled all-terrain vehicle they found with half its front and rear windows blown out.

At one point the group sped toward a line of Iraqi tanks, but were determined not to turn back.

"We just said, 'We've come this far, y'all want to go for it?' And we said, 'Let's go for it.' So (the Australian) floored that car and we went between two tanks."

But other Texas families haven't been as lucky as the Gilberts.

Donnita Cole of Odessa spent much of Thursday waiting by the phone for word of her husband's whereabouts.

"That's why I grabbed the phone so fast," she said. "We're devouring the morning paper here."

John Cole, 50, is an OGE Drilling Inc. employee.

repeaters dropped in the dollar derby. And if you split up the total assets of the 100 richest - a whopping $34.4 billion combined - every man, woman and child in the state would get $2,050.

Geographically speaking, Dallas is the top-dollar home of choice. The city claims 34 of the top 100, easily outdistancing No. 2 Houston, home to 24. Fort Worth was third with 10, half of whom are in one family - Perry, Sid, Edward, Robert and Lee - Bass.

Other favored cities and their count of really wealthy are: San Antonio, six; Midland, five; Austin, Corpus Christi and Victoria, three each; and Denton, two.

Twenty of the 100 richest are women. The magazine said only one - Dallas cosmetics queen Mary Kay Ash - is self-made.

One of the women listed, at $120 million, is Pauline Gill Sullivan of Dallas, ex-wife of oilman Gov. Bill Clements. Texas Monthly said her half of Clements' interest in oil-giant Sedco "grew to be worth more than $100 million when Schlumberger bought Sedco in 1984."

Asked about her making the list that he didn't, Clements said, "Well, I know where the money came from."

Heading the Texas 100 list - again - is Dallas billionaire H. Ross Perot, whose worth is estimated at $3 billion.

"Perot is 60 years old, male, white, a native Texan, and self-made - a veritable poster child for the Texas 100," Texas Monthly said.

Second is Dallas financier Harold Clark Simmons, 59, whose worth was put at $1.7 billion.

Next in the rankings are Fort Worth's Bass boys: Perry Richardson Bass, 75; Sid Richardson Bass, 48; Edward Perry Bass, 44; Robert Muse Bass, 42, and Lee Marshall Bass, 34.

Investors all, they share a $5.8 billion fortune that rose $800 million since last year.

"They're Bases, okay?" Texas Monthly said. "Most heirs either do their own deals or hire a financial gunslinger to handle investments for them. The Bases are wildly successful both ways."

Three Dallas oil and gas hunters - Margaret Hunt Hill, Haroldson Lafayette Hunt III and Caroline Rose Hunt - placed next on the list, sharing a $2.2 billion fortune.

Robert H. Dedman of Dallas, who chairs the state highway commission in his spare time, tops the second 10 with a net worth of $830 million from his private club empire, ClubCorp International.

Midland oilman Clayton Williams has gotten nationwide publicity in his Republican gubernatorial bid this year - but he didn't make the Texas 100. Texas Monthly lists him as being "on deck" with an estimated $100 million pile.

IRAQ

"unspecified threats," but few complied, said a senior U.S. official in Washington. The order drew international criticism.

The repatriation of the first batch of Iranian prisoners followed Iraq's announcement Wednesday to free the POWs and withdraw from Iranian land in an effort to formally end the eight-year Iran-Iraq war and secure its eastern border. Peace would enable Iraq to transfer some of its estimated 300,000 troops on that front to Kuwait and the Saudi frontier.

Iraq's official Islamic Republic News Agency said the Tehran government was also releasing Iraqi prisoners today but did not say how many.

Pentagon spokesman Pete Williams said Iraq has pursued its armed forces buildup in Kuwait and its troops there now number about 160,000. The Iraqis have ringed Kuwait City with an air-defense system, a U.S. official reported, speaking on condition of anonymity.

The United States plans to send 45,000 Marines to back soldiers, air personnel and sailors already in place in the Persian Gulf and Saudi desert, Pentagon sources said.

The United States and some Arab countries have poured thousands of troops into Saudi Arabia since Iraq invaded oil-rich Kuwait Aug. 2 in a dispute over land and oil and massed forces near the Saudis' northern border.

Saddam wrote Bush an open letter Thursday calling Bush a liar and a shallow person. "But despite all that, we will continue to pray, and pray hard, that there will be no confrontation by which you will receive thousands of Americans wrapped in sad coffins after you had pushed them into a dark tunnel," he said.

Bush said after meeting Thursday with King Hussein of Jordan. "I did not come away with any feeling of hope" Iraqi forces will leave Kuwait.

Bush also said Thursday that King Hussein assured him Jordan would close Aqaba, the last remaining free port to most Iraqi trade, as the economic embargo on materials to Iraq continued unabated. Foodstuffs are among the goods being blocked from entry; Iraq imports about three-quarters of its food.

Washington has pushed hard with a maritime blockade following the U.N. trade embargo. Iraq subsequently announced it was annexing Kuwait, and Saddam calls it an "eternal merger."

Troops from Egypt, Syria, Morocco and Bangladesh are bolstering the U.S. deployment in Saudi Arabia.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar said in Peru Thursday that the use of military power to enforce U.N. sanctions on Iraq violates the U.N. charter unless the world body's Security Council approves it.

Britain, West Germany, Australia, Canada and the Netherlands are aiding the assemblage of 27 U.S. Navy vessels in blocking trade with Iraq. Belgium today deployed two minesweepers and a supply vessel to the eastern Mediterranean to help.

America's grandparents special celebration scheduled, Sept. 9

Grandparents have always valued for sentimental reasons. For most Americans, they are living symbols of cultural traditions, family history and moral values passed along through the centuries. But they're more than just symbols. Recent social changes are bringing today's grandparents back into the mainstream of life as workers, providers, child-rearers, and political leaders.

National Grandparents Day, which will be celebrated Sept. 9, gives Americans a chance to honor their grandparents for all of their contributions, both traditional and current.

National Grandparents Day has been an official national day of commemoration since 1978, but it hasn't yet achieved the public recognition of Mothers or Fathers Days. According to Texas Department on Aging spokesman Allen Baca, that is beginning to change.

"A special day for grandparents is an idea that appeals to nearly

Morrison earns ASCR credit

Brandy Morrison of Lone Star Agency has completed the Accredited Customer Service Representative designation program, it was announced this week by Ken Rogers, president of Lone Star.

"We're proud of the personal commitment Brandy has made in order to better serve our customers," Rogers said. Each ASCR attended a minimum of eight days on intensive insurance training and passed four comprehensive exams.

The ASCR can be earned in either personal or commercial lines. Brandy has earned a dual designation by attending six additional days of training and also passing three additional exams.

ACSR is a national program started by the Independent Insurance Agents of America to recognize agency personnel. In order to maintain their designation, each ASCR must attend a minimum of six hours of approved continuing education each year.

After Charles Lindbergh made history with the first solo flight across the Atlantic, he came home by ship.

everyone," Baca said. "We began promoting the holiday heavily when we first heard about it five years ago, and the response to a special day for grandparents just took off like crazy."

"I've noticed that a lot of greeting card sections in variety stores and supermarkets are featuring special Grandparents Day sections, which is really gratifying to us."

Baca said the recognition is overdue for older men and women whose contributions to society continue long after retirement and their children's establishment of their own families.

"Grandparents are more important than ever to their families, and to society. Many of them are taking care of grandchildren for their working children. A significant number of grandparents end up with custody of grandchildren after their children's marriages dissolve."

The role of seniors in the economy and workforce has also changed in recent years, Baca noted.

"It takes an increasing amount of family income to maintain a decent standard of living these days, so a lot of grandparents are rejoining or staying in the work force after they turn 65. They do it to supplement their own income, or to help support their adult children, or sometimes both.

"The truth is, most grandparents are far from the burden on their families they're sometimes thought to be. Their contributions are important -- and often essential -- to their families' economic survival."

Most people, though, would probably say their grandparents' greatest contributions are gifts of themselves like good advice, love, emotional support and a sense of family identity.

"We're urging everyone with living grandparents to take time to get in touch with them, and to let them know they're appreciated," Baca said. "This can be done individually, or by groups such as schools, civic groups, local governments, nursing homes or senior centers. We've found that intergenerational activities -- those that give young people and seniors a chance to be together -- have been especially successful."

"It's very easy for the elderly to feel forgotten or taken for granted. National Grandparents Day is a perfect time to show them that we remember, and that we care."

Charles and Lorraine Albus of Pampa provided a large sign designating the reunion area, and a detailed descendancy chart of over 1,500 names was displayed on the reverse side of the sign. Two large books of the Urbanczyk genealogy were provided for all to view.

ABC's Ted Koppel on Tuesday became the first U.S. network correspondent allowed into Iraq, then flew to Jordan.

Dan Rather, who entered Iraq on Wednesday, has been reporting from the Middle East for CBS since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait started the crisis.

Also sent to the Middle East are Harry Smith of CBS, ABC's Forrest Sawyer and Garrick Utley of NBC.

UT regents have no agreement on switching leagues

AUSTIN (AP) - There's no agreement on the University of Texas board of regents about switching to a particular conference, say three regents. But two say the Southwest Conference will certainly change and may not endure.

Texas Regent W.A. "Tex" Moncrief Jr. of Fort Worth said, "I'll have to say this, it looks to me like the Southwest Conference has had it. Arkansas has left, and it's common knowledge several other teams don't draw well at all. My feeling is something needs to be done. What it is I don't know," he said.

Arkansas, a charter, 76-year member of the SWC, will leave for the Southeastern Conference. Speculation is that Texas and Texas A&M will follow suit, either to the SEC or another conference, for greener financial pastures.

The regents were briefed on expansion possibilities by Texas President William Cunningham during the board's regular meeting last Thursday in Odessa. But Cunningham neither asked for a straw vote nor made a recommendation.

The Austin American-Statesman, quoting an unnamed source, also reported that two state House committees plan to have joint hearings to question athletic directors for Texas and Texas A&M about leaving the Southwest Conference.

Texas Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds said he had not been informed of joint hearings but would do "what my president tells me. I think it's good to get the issues out."

The regents are scheduled to meet again Oct. 12, in Dallas.

Dodds and Texas Women's Athletic Director Donna Lopiano met with Pac-10 Commissioner Tom Hansen in Kansas City Tuesday, but Lopiano said it may be a long time before a decision is made.

"Nothing is done," she said. "... When you've been married 75 years, you'd better think real hard about getting a divorce, and you surely don't want to jump into bed with somebody else."

Moncrief said he slightly favors the Pac-10 over the SEC and added that jumping conferences appears to be the wave of the future.

Regent Jack Blanton of Houston declined to say the SEC's days are numbered but expressed reservations about its viability.

"With very mixed emotions, I feel some type of change is ultimately inevitable," Blanton said. "... It's highly regrettable that television and dollars and football alone seem to have a dominating effect, but that seems to be the case."

Regent Shannon Ratliff of Austin said he would like to see Texas remain in the SWC.

"My feeling is I grew up with Southwest Conference football, and I guess I've got an emotional attachment to it," Ratliff said. "That's a factor we have to look at. I suppose I start with a bias for the Southwest Conference, but it's kind of an uninformed bias."

Rose takes big pay cut in prison

MARION, ILL. (AP) - Former Cincinnati Reds manager Pete Rose got millions when he played. Now, he gets 11 cents an hour as he pays.

Rose spends eight hours a day in the machine shop welding and fabricating metal. He works with 70 other inmates at the federal prison here.

It's a far cry from 1983, when he was playing with the Philadelphia Phillies for $1.2 million.

Rose is serving a five-month prison term for cheating on his taxes.

"His work supervisor says he has been getting good reports. He gets in there and works just as hard as the rest of them," Assistant Warden Randy Davis said Thursday.

After work, Rose has been watching the inmate softball teams play but hasn't been able to participate because his knee is healing from surgery on July 20, Davis said.

Rose lives in a non-air-conditioned dormitory while he awaits assignment to the modern main dormitory where most of the prison camp's 200 inmates stay. He is expected to move by Monday.

Questions about Rose's living conditions arose Thursday after reports in the Marion Daily Republican indicated he was getting special treatment.

The newspaper said confidential sources were reporting Rose had meals delivered to him, had his bed made for him, was allowed a television and had cut a deal to get out of prison early.

Tough shot, Bob

Bob Hughes tries to figure out how to hit his tee shot while sitting on a commode during Thursday's Crazy Tees Scramble at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. Golfers on nine teams were placed in unusual situations on each tee and green during the event to benefit the Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant.

Brown foursome cards 36 to take win in Crazy Tees Scramble

The foursome of Bill Brown, Tommy Weaver, Bobby Weaver and M.D. Franks survived nine holes of craziness Thursday to win the Crazy Tees Scramble with a one-over-par 36.

Players in the event were forced to hit their tee shots and putts on each hole under some rather unusual circumstances.

Drives were hit with a broom, while sitting on a commode or standing on box springs. The drive on No. 7 wasn't even hit -- golfers had to throw their balls off the tee.

Among the oddities encountered on the greens were using a pool cue, putting tennis balls and kicking the ball into the hole (which many players were surprisingly good at).

The scramble, which was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, benefitted the Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant. Approximately $800 was raised from entries with an undetermined amount gained from players paying bribes to get easier shots.

Second place went to the team of James McDowell, Rodney Barrett, Scott McGinty and Jason Culpepper with a score of 37. Dwayne Cassels, Cindy Cassels, Dave Hopper and Cal Miits combined to shoot 38 for third place.

Members of the winning teams received Beef Certificates as prizes.

SEC may pursue UH as new member

HOUSTON (AP) - The Southeastern Conference is considering the possibility of extending an invitation to the University of Houston to join the SEC if Texas and Texas A&M join the Pac-10 Conference, according to a report in The Houston Post.

An SEC official, who requested anonymity, said Houston "would be approached about joining (the SEC) if Texas and Texas A&M are admitted to the Pac-10," the newspaper reported Thursday.

Talk around the Southwest Conference has centered on Texas and Texas A&M leaving the SWC for financial reasons. Arkansas announced it was leaving the league after 76 years for the SEC beginning next school year.

Pac-10 officials have talked informally with Texas and Texas A&M, but no expansion offers have been forwarded from the league to either school.

Mark Whitworth, associate director of the SEC, said that because the SEC presidents voted last May to allow the league commissioner to discuss expansion with interested institutions only, and not to solicit membership, Kramer would not be able to contact UH officials unless they first approach the SEC.

He said SEC Commissioner Roy Kramer hasn't revealed with which schools the SEC is talking expansion.

"If the SEC is talking to somebody, it is because that school has expressed an interest in the SEC," Whitworth said.

Rudy Davalos, UH's athletic director, declined to confirm whether contact was made with the SEC before he left Wednesday for vacation on South Padre Island. Davalos, however, said he would continue to explore the school's options.

"We feel the SEC is the kind of conference we'd like to be associated with," Davalos said. "We feel we would fit in well with the SEC schools in a number of ways. Of course, we'd like to stay in the Southwest Conference, but we have to be realistic about our future. We have to do what's best for Houston."

SEC officials want an even number of teams, and the conference already has held discussions with South Carolina and Florida State regarding expansion. South Carolina is awaiting an invitation to join, but the Seminoles may be heading to the Atlantic Coast Conference, a turn of events that has left SEC officials looking at Houston as an alternative, The Post reported.

Houston would be an attractive addition to the SEC because of its lucrative television market.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE

The HEREFORD ISD will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1989 by 7.98% increase over the Effective Tax Rate percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on August 27, 1990, at 7:00 p.m.

FOR the proposal: John Fuston, Steve Coneway, Dennis Newton, Sylvia Flores, and Raymond Schlabs.

AGAINST the proposal: none
PRESENT and not voting: none
ABSENT: none

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents the effective tax rate that the unit published on August 17, 1990. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	$50,000.00	$50,000.00
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	5,000.00	5,000.00
Average taxable value	45,000.00	45,000.00
Tax rate	.7850	.9143
Tax	353.25	411.44

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $58.19 or 16.47 percent compared with last year's taxes.

Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by $12.93 per $100.00 of taxable value or 16.47 percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Tigers good for whatever ails AL opponents

By HARRY ATKINS
AP Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) - Baseball doctors would prescribe the Detroit Tigers for any ailing team right now. They're good medicine.

Just look what a trip to Tiger Stadium did for the Milwaukee Brewers, who beat Detroit 8-4 Thursday night to sweep their three-game series.

"It makes going back to County Stadium a little more comfortable," Brewers manager Tom Trebelhorn said. "We left there 0-8 but we've had a good road trip (6-4)."

In the only other American League game, Cleveland beat Minnesota 7-5.

The Tigers worked as an elixir for Milwaukee in many ways:

- Dan Plesac, the Brewers bullpen ace despite a 4.53 ERA, earned a save in all three games.

- Brewers outfielder Rob Deer, who came into the series batting .214, had two homers and a triple among his six hits, drove in seven runs and left town hitting .225.

- Utility man Darryl Hamilton had his first four-hit game and scored three runs Thursday night.

- The Brewers' defense, last in the American League with a .975 fielding percentage, committed three more errors during the series but came up with several sparkling plays that were highlight-film quality.

The problem for the Tigers, as usual, was pitching. Starter Dan Petry (9-9) gave up five runs on nine hits in just five innings Thursday night.

For the series, Detroit starters gave up 15 runs in 14 1-3 innings.

Detroit's 4.85 ERA is the highest in the American League.

There have been a few bright spots for Detroit, of course. Cecil Fielder, who had four hits Thursday night, leads the major leagues with 37 home runs and is tied with San Diego's Joe Carter for the RBI lead with 95.

The series sweep gave the Brewers their first three-game winning streak since May 16-18.

The loss dropped the Tigers 12 games under .500 for the first time this season.

Ron Robinson (7-3) won his third consecutive start, giving up three runs on 10 hits in five innings.

The Brewers trailed 3-2 when Robin Yount started the sixth inning with his 12th homer. Deer walked, Hamilton singled and Clay Parker relieved Petry.

Jim Gantner's bunt moved the runners up. Deer then scored the go-ahead run on an RBI grounder by Bill Spiers and Paul Molitor singled Hamilton across.

The Brewers got three more in the seventh off Parker. Indians 7, Twins 5

Greg Swindell won for the seventh time in nine decisions and Sandy Alomar homered.

Kirby Puckett, the Twins' All-Star outfielder, played shortstop, third base and second base in the eighth inning. He moved from position to position between batters and did not get any chances in his first career infield appearance. Minnesota manager Tom Kelly kept switching Puckett so that he could keep Kent Hrbek and Gary Gaetti on the bench for pinch-hitting roles in the ninth inning.

Swindell (9-7) gave up three runs on 11 hits in seven innings. Doug Jones got his 33rd save.

Kevin Tapani (1-6) left after 2 1-3 innings with a strained rib cage. He hurt himself on the pitch that Alomar hit for a home run in the second inning.

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

Pedro Guerrero again got the big hit for the St. Louis Cardinals. But this time it came on a punch, not a pitch.

Guerrero socked Houston pitcher Danny Darwin in the head Thursday night, starting a bench-clearing brawl that got both players and Astros manager Art Howe ejected.

The fight came in the seventh inning with the Astros ahead by two runs. Both teams scored again, and Houston wound up winning 4-2.

In other games, Pittsburgh edged Atlanta 4-3, New York beat Los Angeles 4-1, Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 6-4 and San Diego downed Montreal 3-2 in 11 innings.

Darwin pitched close to Guerrero in the sixth inning, and they exchanged words. In the seventh, Darwin reached on an infield hit and then got clubbed by the Cardinals' first baseman.

"He's a cheap-shot artist," said Darwin, cut on the left side of his face. "When the umpire got there he showed how brave he was and he swung around and hit me in side of the face."

Darwin tried to retaliate, but instead hit first base umpire Bob Davidson in the head. The benches cleared, but unlike the recent full-scale fight between the Mets and Philadelphia, this one ended without further bodily harm.

Guerrero and Darwin, however, traded angry words outside the locker rooms at Busch Stadium. After the game, several police officers were called to the clubhouse area for precautionary reasons.

Howe was ejected for arguing about Darwin's ejection. Guerrero didn't want to talk about the trouble.

"I ain't got nothing to say," Guerrero said. "I'm not talking to nobody."

Darwin (8-1) won for the sixth straight time since moving into the starting rotation. He gave up four hits in six innings and left with a 3-1 lead, and Dave Smith got his 20th save. Joe Lagrane (8-13) lost.

Pirates 4, Braves 3

Andy Van Slyke, cleared to play by team doctors just before game-time, hit a solo home run in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Van Slyke made his first start since Aug. 5 when he sprained his left ankle. He hit an RBI single in the seventh for a 3-2 lead, and hit his 13th home run with one out in the ninth against Kent Mercker (4-2).

Bob Kipper (5-1) pitched one scoreless inning for the victory. Atlanta's Dave Justice hit a solo home run.

Mets 4, Dodgers 1

Dave Magadan drove in two runs and Howard Johnson homered.

Ron Darling (5-7) gave up one run on eight hits in six innings. Bob Ojeda, whom Darling replaced in the starting rotation, worked 2 1-3 scoreless innings in relief, and John Franco earned his 27th save in 30 chances by getting the final two outs.

Tim Belcher (9-9) took the loss. Mike Sharperson went 3-for-3 for the Dodgers with his first home run in 446 major league at-bats.

Phillies 6, Giants 4

Von Hayes hit a two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Darren Daulton drew a one-out walk in the ninth from Mark

Thurmond (2-3) and Hayes connected on a 3-0 pitch for his 15th home run. Roger McDowell (4-6) went one inning for the victory.

The Giants scored in the second when Matt Williams, Greg Litton and Terry Kennedy opened with singles. Dave Anderson drew a bases-loaded walk, but Jason Grimsley struck out Will Clark with the bases loaded to end the inning.

Padres 3, Expos 2

Joe Carter got four hits, including his 20th home run, a double and an RBI single that capped a two-run rally in the bottom of the 11th inning.

After Montreal scored in the top of the 11th on first baseman Jack Clark's two-out throwing error, the Padres came back.

Tim Burke (1-3) hit Benito Santiago with a pitch, causing both benches to empty. Bip Roberts and Roberto Alomar followed with singles for a run that tied the score and Carter singled with two outs.

Rich Rodriguez (1-0) got his first major-league victory.

Computer mathematics lab opens at WTSU

A new computer mathematics lab will open for student use this fall at West Texas State University. Stocked with 15 IBM "clones," the lab will be used primarily for calculus and linear algebra by students in math and physical science (MPS) 497, a one-hour class in which students will use computer algebra systems to study mathematics.

"We're at least one year ahead of most institutions with this lab," according to David Patterson, associate professor of mathematics. "We're really fortunate to have this. It's a very new approach, and we're hoping it has an awful lot of use."

The new lab is in addition to another mathematics computer lab which consists of 21 Apple computers. The Apple lab is used primarily for elementary and secondary teacher preparation and for remedial and review use, Patterson said.

The mathematics labs are located in adjacent rooms in the Classroom center and will be open for student use, except when in use by classes, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 6 to 8 p.m. one night per week during the regular semester.

A director, graduate student Pat Bolwahn, has been hired to oversee the lab and help students using the computers, Patterson said. Bolwahn earned a bachelor's degree majoring in math and computer science in May 1990 and will begin work on a master's degree this fall.

Brown hosts meeting

Shirley Brown served as hostess when the Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met in regular session Tuesday evening.

Noble Grand Rosalie Northcutt presided over the session.

Thirteen visits to the sick, 19 cheer cards, 11 dishes of food and a flower arrangement were reported.

Appreciation was extended to members and friends who made the hot dog stand at the Town 'n' Country Jubilee a big success.

Members present were Northcutt, Verna Sowell, Susie Curtisinger, Emma Loving, Jim Loving, Lydia Hopson, Ursalie Jacobsen, Faye Brownlow, Irene Merritt, Ben Conklin and Leona Sowell.

Notice of Calculation of Effective Tax Rates, Estimated Unencumbered Fund Balances and Debt Schedule

I, Fred E. Fox, designated official for the taxing units listed below, have calculated the tax rates in accordance with Sec. 26.04 of the Property Tax Code. This notice presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate used to determine the 1989 property taxes. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same amount of taxes on the same properties as last year. This year's rollback rate is the highest tax rate the taxing units may set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. This notice contains a summary of the effective and rollback tax rate calculations. You can inspect the full calculations at Deaf Smith County Appraisal District, 402 W. 4th, Hereford, Texas.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

WE DO IT EVERY NIGHT OF OUR LIVES, WITHOUT EVEN THINKING ABOUT IT—BUT,
IN BIBLICAL TIMES, IT COULD HAVE A
VERY SERIOUS
CONNOTATION!

THE TAKING OFF OF A SHOE IN BIBLICAL TIMES WAS THE SIGN A MAN USED TO SHOW THAT HE WAS NOT WILLING TO MAKE A DEAD BROTHER'S WIDOW HIS WIFE—THIS WAS A LEVIRATE DUTY WHICH ENABLED THE DEAD MAN'S NAME TO BE KEPT ALIVE IN ISRAEL, FOR THE FIRST SON OF THIS UNION WOULD BE COUNTED AS THE DEAD MAN'S SON AND WOULD RECEIVE HIS INHERITANCE. BOAZ, A NEAR-KINSMAN OF THE WIDOW RUTH (RUTH 4:1-14) WISHED TO MARRY HER BUT THERE WAS A NEARER KINSMAN TO WHOM THE PRIVILEGE BELONGED. HOWEVER, THIS MAN WAS UNWILLING AND, IN THE PRESENCE OF TEN ELDERS AS WITNESSES, HE TOOK OFF HIS SHOE AND GAVE IT TO BOAZ, SHOWING HE DIDN'T WISH TO "STAND IN THE SHOES OF THE DEAD MAN," THUS BOAZ WAS FREE TO MARRY RUTH AS NEXT OF KIN, WHICH RESOLVED THE MATTER HAPPILY—HOWEVER....

...IT DIDN'T ALWAYS WORK OUT AS EASILY AS THAT! THE LAW, AS STATED IN DEUT. 25:5-10, HELD THAT A BROTHER OR NEAREST OF KIN WAS DUTY-BOUND TO TAKE HIS BROTHER'S WIDOW TO WIFE IF THE BROTHER DIED CHILDLESS (IF THE WIDOW HAD CHILDREN, THEY HAD TO CARE FOR HER IN HER OLD AGE). NOW, IF A MAN REFUSE TO TAKE HIS BROTHER'S CHILDLESS WIDOW AS A WIFE, THEN, BEFORE THE ASSEMBLY OF THE TRIBE, HE WOULD "LOOSE HIS SHOE FROM OFF HIS FOOT, AND SPIT IN HIS FACE," BECAUSE THE CULPRIT WOULDN'T DO HIS DUTY TO HIS DEAD BROTHER BY GIVING HIM A LIVING SON! HIS NAME WOULD THEN BE KNOWN THROUGHOUT ISRAEL AS "THE HOUSE OF HIM THAT HATH HIS SHOE LOOSED." SO TO REFUSE THIS DUTY WAS A MARK OF SHAME TO THESE ANCIENT PEOPLE—BEFORE A MAN DID THAT, HE'D BE BETTER TO—in the JARGON OF TODAY'S YOUNG PEOPLE—"COOL IT WITH THAT SHOE, MAN!"

NEXT WEEK: "LET'S GO HUNTING!"
