

HOUSE THROWN INTO UPROAR BY ARGUMENT

DEBATE WHETHER FDR VIOLATED HIS OATH

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—A resolution to adjourn congress August 10 was introduced today by Senator Hastings of Delaware, leader of the republican move to postpone consideration of the Roosevelt tax program until next winter.

Hastings introduced the proposal without comment, letting it "lie on the table" to be called up later.

Recently he proposed in a resolution that congress should adjourn as soon as it completed its legislative program except for the tax bill, and return for a special session on revenue in November. That resolution has never been called up for a vote.

Under the new resolution, Hastings would have congress adjourn "sine die" on August 10, with no provision for a special session.

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—A bitter political dispute over whether President Roosevelt had violated his oath to support the constitution and whether he and his congressional leaders should be impeached threw the house today into an uproar.

Rep. Warren (D., N. C.) started the exchange by referring to a newspaper interview given Rep. Fish (R., N. Y.) in which the latter said that if the president were impeached his leaders should be too.

Describing Fish's remarks as "scurrilous and insinuations," Warren added: "Ever since the gentleman became the republican presidential candidate of Congressmen Knutson of Minnesota and former Congressman De Priest he seems to have lost all sense of proportion and frankly many of us doubt if he even knows what is going on in the house."

He reminded that only last week Fish's remarks were expunged from the record when he used the word "snoop" in reference to Rep. Patman (D., Texas).

"I don't think the gentleman from New York is hurting either the speaker or the president," Warren said.

Rep. Rich (R., Pa.) replied immediately by attempting to read a newspaper editorial which argued that the president had violated his oath to support and preserve the constitution.

Democratic objections blocked the reading. But Rich reminded that the president had asked Rep. Samuel B. Hill (D., Wash.) to expedite the Guffey coal stabilization bill despite doubts, "however reasonable," as to its constitutionality.

"Any man who makes that statement," Rich continued, "should be severely criticized. If any man so violated his oath of office he ought to be impeached."

"Roosevelt is a socialist, and not a democrat."

Government May Mint Half-Cent, One-Mill Piece

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—The midwest coins the government proposes to mint will save sales tax payers money, officials said today, and also will return a tidy profit for the treasury.

Secretary Morgenthau announced last night that "within the next day or so" congress will be asked to grant permission for the creation of half-cent and one-mill pieces. The purpose, it was said, was to correct inequalities in sales tax systems which now prevail in 22 states.

For example, it was said that most of these states have a two per cent sales levy. If a person makes a 25-cent purchase, the tax would be a half cent. But at present there is no half-cent coin, and so, in many instances, a full cent is collected.

The profit to the government will be in the form of seigniorage. Last year coinage of one-cent pieces alone netted the treasury a profit of $330,000. There would be less return on half-cent and mill (one tenth of a cent) pieces, but much more than out even these coins at a profit.

Morgenthau denied that the treasury's decision foretold a federal sales tax.

The new coins may be of copper, but Morgenthau was not prepared to say this definitely. The mill coin will be the smallest denomination ever minted in the United States.

BRITISH MASS FAST FLEET IN MEDITERRANEAN

To Command Italian Routes to Red Sea

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.) LONDON, July 23.—Coinciding with the concentration of Italian troops in East Africa, Great Britain is massing what naval experts rate as the strongest, fastest fleet ever assembled in the Mediterranean.

These official announcements disclosed today that the capital ship strength in the Mediterranean is being increased at least 30,000 tons, which commands the Italian routes to the Red Sea.

British experts said that although many more capital ships were sent into the Mediterranean until 15 years ago, they could not compare to the present contemplated fleet because they were smaller and lacked modern war equipment.

Officials asserted the move had no connection with Italian military activities. They said it was but a coincidence that the announcements pointing to a thorough shakeup of the Mediterranean fleet came public after the Italo-Ethiopian conflict arose.

Without infringing on any of its treaty obligations, Britain also is reinforcing its home fleet by re-assigning to war vessels' stations. The signing of the naval agreement with Germany granted Reichsmarschal Adolf Hitler a navy virtually on a par with the past strength of the home fleet.

Besides its past strength of five battleships, the new Mediterranean fleet will have three battle cruisers heretofore included in the home fleet. These are the hood, 42,000 tons, Britain's biggest war ship; the Renown and the Repulse, 32,000 tons each.

The Severn, fastest submarine in the world, returns to Malta, and three new fast submarines will replace other units in the fleet of eight.

ITALY DEALS NEW 'INSULT' TO ETHIOPIAN

AMERICAN ENVOY IS GIVEN OVATION AT RECEPTION

ADDIS ABABA, July 23 (AP)—Reports circulated this afternoon that a refusal by the Italian minister to attend Emperor Haile Selassie's birthday anniversary reception today may cause a rupture of diplomatic relations between Italy and Ethiopia.

The emperor was 4 years old today and the event was celebrated with royal splendor.

Luigi Orazio Conte Vinci-Gigliucci, the Italian minister, refused to attend the diplomatic reception and an evening banquet because of the bitter tone of the emperor's recent address to parliament.

The absence of the Italian from the official reception caused a sensation in the capital and the minister's action immediately was regarded as an Italian rebuff which may cause an immediate complication in the already strained relations.

On the other hand, a pro-American demonstration featured the morning. An immense multitude gathered outside the palace and cheered wildly when William Perry George, the United States charge d'affaires, arrived for the reception.

As George arrived, a sudden flur of small American flags swirled through the great crowd and the Ethiopians shouted: "Long live America!"

The popular demonstration for a freedom in Addis Ababa was interpreted as a tribute to the American people's love of independence and of humanitarianism.

The reception was impressive and conducive with an air of cordiality. Dr. Francis Janssens, the dean of the diplomatic corps, spoke, offering good wishes to the emperor on his anniversary.

Haile Selassie, seated on his throne, replied.

A grim note of war preparations formed part of the colorful festivities as armaments were displayed in the streets adjacent to the palace while champagne flowed inside.

All were gorgeously arrayed in ceremonial costumes.

Nazis, Communists Fight at Meeting

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP)—Nazi and anti-Nazi sentiment failed to mix at a meeting called to protest the treatment of Jews in Germany. Fists nearly broke up the assembly.

Abraham Cahan, editor of the Jewish Daily Record, precipitated the near riot last night when he arose to address a joint meeting of the Jewish Labor committee and the American Jewish congress.

Cahan, whose paper has been printing anti-Nazi articles, waited five minutes through hisses and boos. Finally, he leaped on a chair, shook his fist and cried: "You bunch of communist gangsters!"

Immediately fists began to fly over the Hotel Pennsylvania ballroom. Police restored order.

France Seeking Treaty To Stop Italo-Ethiopian War

BY RICHARD G. MASSOCK, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

PARIS, July 23 (AP)—Authoritative quarters disclosed today that France seeks a treaty giving Italy economic domination over Ethiopia in exchange for Italy's guarantee of Ethiopia's nominal independence.

This treaty is sought, it was said, as the only likely preventive of war. These same sources said that France intends to use the forthcoming session of the League of Nations council at Geneva for the negotiation of the treaty.

In it, Italy would be given special privileges including immigration rights and in return, would have to guarantee the sovereignty of the Ethiopian emperor.

While this suggestion would be akin to a protectorate, the French sources concerned said they hoped it would circumvent Emperor Haile Selassie's objection to an outright protectorate.

The intention of France to block any effort by Great Britain or other powers to precipitate league action in the conflict was indicated in high quarters which said they feared such action would cause Italy to wreck the league by resigning from it.

Said a French personage close to the government: "The peace of 400,000,000 Europeans is more im-

Edison Company Paid Cost Of 761 Telegrams From New York to Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—Testimony that one of the messages sent from New York, Pa., opposing the utilities holding company bill was "signed" by a man who had been dead about two years was received today by the senate lobby committee.

This was given by Luther A. Coleman, Postal Telegraph manager at New York for 28 years, after Chairman Black of the committee had said persons from "all over the United States" had denied sending anti-utility bill telegrams to which their names had been attached.

Black said the matter might be referred to the communications commission because it "will be impossible for this committee to go into every case, even those received up to date."

Coleman said 766 telegrams opposing the utility bill were sent from New York and all but five had been paid for by the Metropolitan Edison company, a subsidiary of the Associated Gas and Electric company.

He was asked if he recognized any signers of the messages.

He called off several names, including a Charles E. Small, but he said Small had been dead "about two years."

Small, he said, formerly was connected with the Farmers Fire Insurance company.

He also said he knew another signer, a meter reader for the Electric company, and a Miss Clara Boll, a retired insurance company employee.

Another telegram was signed by Harry Read, former president of the Read Machinery company, who.

Jury Dismissed In Ballew Case; Two Sentenced

Yesterday and this morning were busy times in 31st district court, nearing close of this term. Jury cases will be heard the rest of this week with next week being set aside for non-jury suits and closing of the term.

A jury which heard testimony in the case of the State versus Andy Ballew charged with theft of an automobile and burglary, yesterday, was dismissed this morning when an agreement could not be reached. The case was scheduled to be tried again this afternoon.

The jury hearing the case was composed of Ray Jones, Jesse Wynne, Ralph Turcotte, J. R. Phillips, Raymond Howard, L. C. McMurtry, Edwin J. Prouse, Taylor Wilson, Edgar Bailey, E. N. Vanderberg, Nowell Porterfield.

Harold J. Longwith, alias H. J. Norris, charged with theft of a car from the Tex Evans Motor company, entered a plea of guilty before Judge W. R. Ewing yesterday afternoon and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

This morning George Bishop entered a plea of guilty on a charge of driving while intoxicated and asked for a suspended sentence.

Following presentation of testimony, Judge W. R. Ewing accepted the recommendation of District Attorney Lewis Goodrich and gave the defendant a one year suspended sentence. Bishop was represented by John Sturgeon.

Six Million Gallons Of Whiskey Lost In Explosion

PEORIA, Ill., July 23. (AP)—Fire which swept the huge $6,500,000 Hiram Walker distillery following a terrific explosion was brought under control today after causing damage estimated at $2,700,000.

Twelve men were injured in the blaze and searchers were seeking the body of John Barton, an employee, missing since the blast in the rickhouse where he was working.

Another worker, William Hulsbush, was found after being reported missing earlier. He reported that he had narrowly escaped being buried by falling debris and had crawled to safety through a hole in a fence.

Six million gallons of whiskey were set afire. The force of the explosion was felt through the city. Rackhouse number 3, where the blast occurred, was destroyed. Although the fire was under control, firemen said it would be sometime before the whiskey burned itself out.

The rackhouse was the only building entirely destroyed. Other structures in the $6,500,000 plant—said to be the largest distillery in the world—were seriously damaged.

Frank Dornberger, an employee, was blown 20 feet from the doorway of the rackhouse into an excavation.

ROOSEVELT'S FOES BEATEN IN AAA VOTE

AMENDMENTS LOSE AS FINAL BALLOT APPROACHES

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—An amendment to the AAA bill to permit the government to examine the books of anyone seeking to recover processing taxes was approved today by the senate.

The proposal was offered by Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.) as an aftermath of the senate's decision to leave the courts partially open to processing tax recovery suits.

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—For the second time in two days the senate today tabled an amendment to the AAA bill by Senator McCarran (D., Nev.) to take away President Roosevelt's power to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements without senate approval.

The motion to table, made by Senator Walsh (D., Mass.), carried 51 to 24.

The vote came soon after Senator Norris (R., Neb.) had protested the McCarran proposal as an attempt to tack "extraneous matter" on the AAA bill.

Immediately afterward the senate by a shouted voice vote tabled an amendment by Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) seeking repeal of the reciprocal tariff act entirely.

But that did not put the question out of the way, for Senator Casey (R., Wyo.) promptly put forward an amendment to prevent leakage of agricultural products.

Democrats voted almost solidly for the Walsh motion to table. The only democrats opposing were Adams of Colorado, Maloney of Connecticut, Murray of Montana, Thomas of Oklahoma, Tidwells of Maryland, and McCarran.

Two republicans, Norris of Nebraska and Norbeck of South Dakota, and Senator LaFollette (Prog. Wis.), voted with the democratic majority.

Carney said he understood negotiations were under way with Canada looking toward a reduction in cattle duties.

Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) replied that studies looking to a Canadian agreement were being made but "no negotiations" were under way. He added there were "no steps for lowering the tariff on cattle or any other commodity."

The Carey proposal also was tabled on motion of Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, and the senate sped toward a final vote on the AAA amendments. The vote was 53 to 23.

Striking at the Carey proposal, Robinson said commodities subjected to special price-parity treatment under the AAA administration were safeguarded under the foreign trade policy.

FEW BUSINESS HOUSES OPEN AFTER RIOTS

GENERAL STRIKE GRIPS TERRE HAUTE, INDIANA

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 23. (AP)—National Guardsmen used tear gas for a second time shortly before noon today to disperse a crowd assembled at a stamping mill whose labor troubles fomented the general strike called in this city.

Guards officers reported that a crowd of several hundred men surged up to the patrols surrounding the plant and ignored orders to disperse.

Earlier in the day there had been a similar occurrence and tear gas was used. Several men in the crowd were taken into custody.

The plant was the scene of a riot several weeks ago in which considerable damage was done to the property.

Only a bare sprinkling of business houses opened as from 1,600 to 2,000 Indiana National Guardsmen tightened down military control on this city of 66,000 which is in the second day of a general strike.

A guardsman, Eugene Harvey of Martinsville, received face and breast injuries this morning when hit on the head with a piece of cement as approximately 1,000 strike-sympathizers resisted National Guardsmen who set up a mile-square military zone around the plant of the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company, whose opposition to a closed shop started the controversy.

Windows were broken and tear gas bombs thrown before the crowd was dispersed. Five of the alleged sympathizers were arrested and placed in the military and city prison.

Walter J. Smith, who said he was work manager of the Enameling plant and that he spoke for C. R. Gorbey, president, asserted today there would be no compromise with the strikers, that the plant would open "in three days or a week, or

State Official To Issue Stock Licenses Here

E. B. Bynum, Jr., inspector for the Texas Securities commission from the office of the secretary of state, will be in Pampa all day tomorrow, with headquarters in room 202, Rose building. He will issue licenses for dealing in securities and leases in accordance with the Security commission act passed by the last legislature.

In the immediate future," Mr. Bynum said, "cease and desist orders will be issued from the secretary of state's office on all unlicensed lease and security dealers, and it is the hope of the commission that these dealers will get their permits on their own volition while I am in the city."

Criminal prosecution will be initiated against unlicensed dealers, it was said. The purpose of the act is to rid the state of bucket shops, fraudulent lease dealers, and give the buying public authentic information about investments in which to invest its money.

The definition of "securities" includes any "certificate or any instrument representing any interest in or under an oil, gas or mining lease, fee or title." This includes unit interests, stock, drilling subscriptions, development contracts, leases, deeds, assignments and any other form of instrument.

EDITORIAL

TEXT BOOK AMENDMENT OPPOSED

On August 24th the people of Texas will be required to vote on a slate of proposed constitutional amendments which, in the aggregate, constitutes perhaps the most heterogeneous, and in many respects the most hazardous, group of suggested changes in the fundamental law ever submitted to the electorate. The most controversial issue is repeal; most subtly dangerous is the text book amendment; most disappointing is abolition of the fee system; and palpably the worst is that which would authorize the payment of old age pensions. These four, together with three others—commitment of the insane without jury trials, authorizing judges to suspend sentences assessed in criminal trials, and empowering the Legislature to submit proposed constitutional amendments in special sessions—all of which I believe should be rejected, comprise the motley assortment of issues which may lead to a new high in political confusion.

The question of repeal need not be discussed in connection with the rest. It is a highly controversial, highly emotional question about which most people have long since made up their minds irrevocably. It will be bitterly fought and the outcome will be close. It should have been submitted alone, in order to gain a clearer expression of the public will, uncolored by prejudice for or against other amendments on the slate; but inasmuch as it was thrown in with the lot, it would behoove the public to disassociate the repeal question from the rest of the amendments and not permit their own prejudices on this question to affect their intelligent consideration of other proposed changes in the fundamental law.

The most potentially dangerous of the amendments is that which most persons have passed over as innocuous. It is that which would empower the State to furnish free text books to children in private as well as public schools. The most obvious arguments against it are conclusive. Separation of the church and State is a cardinal principle in the Bill of Rights of the Texas Constitution, and it was not without cause that the forefathers made it so. In the first place, public schools are provided indiscriminately by the State for all children in the State, and the State should not be made to bear the burden of supporting students in parochial schools of various denominations. It may be argued that providing them with free text books is not supporting them, but experience has wisely taught that a precedent once established often becomes a practice. If students in sectarian schools should be provided with text books by the State, should they not also be provided with teachers by the State? And with new buildings later? Once religion is injected into politics, grief inevitably follows.

But even these basic arguments are less important in condemning the amendment than is a "joker" written into it which goes far beyond providing textbooks to school children. It would change the entire method of distributing school funds in the State of Texas. In Section 5 of Senate Joint Resolution No. 24 this statement is made: "The State Board of Education may furnish State adopted textbooks free to every child of scholastic age, attending any school within the State; and the available school fund herein provided shall be distributed to the several counties AS MAY BE PROVIDED BY LAW."

The phrase I have capitalized is the profoundly significant change about which little is heard. It means that the present constitutional method of apportioning school funds to counties on the basis of their scholastic population would be abandoned. It means that the Legislature would be empowered to say just how much money each county should have this year and whether it should have much more or much less next year, leaving schools and teachers constantly in perplexed uncertainty. It means further that political rivalry between big counties and little counties would be kindled by the millions of dollars which the Legislature could juggle as it saw fit, leading to discrimination first against one class and then another, depending on the changing wave of political leadership. Whether or not the present method of apportioning school funds is the best that can be devised is beside the point. It may be that a better system can be worked out, and if so it should be written into the Constitution and kept out of the reach of political manipulation. But the proposed amendment suggests no alternative whatever. If adopted, it would throw the public schools into the arena of politics, with practical politicians the winners and school children the losers. This proposed amendment is bad in principle and poorly written.—Dale Miller in Texas Weekly.

RELIGIOUS RIOTS CLOAK GRAVE DECEPTIONS

It is turning the pages of history back for a quarter of a century to read of the recent anti-Jewish riots in Berlin.

To be sure, outbreaks of anti-Semitism in Germany are no new thing, these days. Perhaps we ought to be case-hardened to them by now. And yet there is something appallingly reminiscent of Czarist Russia at its worst in these accounts of uniformed bands of Nazis roaming the streets, beating men and women, spreading terror and chanting bloodthirsty slogans.

The worst thing about an outbreak of this kind is not its brutality. That is something which this imperfectly civilized human race of ours never entirely succeeds in quelling. We are born to trouble as the sparks fly upward, and getting poked on the nose now and then by our brother man is just one of those things that go with human existence.

What makes a performance of this kind especially dismaying is the fact that it represents a case of self-deception. In order to rouse yourself to the point where you want to go about the streets beating people whose religion or race is not like your own, you have to persuade yourself to believe something which obviously is not so—to wit, that the mere presence of these people in the same community with yourself is somehow a threat to your well-being.

Nor is that all. While you are giving way to this delusion, you may depend on it that off in the background, unseen, someone is getting away with something that he wouldn't get away with if you were keeping your eyes open.

The pogroms of the old Czarist government remain the classic example of this sort of thing.

Under the Czar, the people of Russia suffered so many glaring injustices that the danger of revolution was always present. But whenever public sentiment got too dangerous, the government would trot out the old Jewish bogeyman. Riots would be fomented, horrible waves of violence would sweep through ghettos, and in the blood-lust of the pogrom the people would forget how the ruling class was victimizing the entire country.

That is the sort of thing these anti-Semitic riots in Germany call to mind. By giving way to them, the people

There is one more point. In the long course of human history one rule seems to hold good: a government which rules by terror perishes, sooner or later, in the same way. A government which foments pogroms and mass brutality is running up a dreadful bill which some day, some day, will have to pay.

HOLLYWOOD — It's a queer notion for any girl who is in the acting business, but Margaret Sullivan says she meant it: "I don't want to be famous."

You get many a glimpse of the Sullivan personality on the set. Today she is not in the scene. A couple of actors are working in the plantation's "big house", and Margaret star of "So Red the Rose" is just watching. Her hair is neatly coiffured, with a coy braid of roses as tarsi in the fashion of belles of the sixties. But instead of the flowing hoopskirt, she wears her favorite costume slacks and blouse. There she is—a belle of the old south in slacks.

Sometimes 'Difficult'

Miss Sullivan has been at times what the publicity boys call "difficult." She would run out of town and not tell anybody where she was going. She wouldn't tell much of anything. But they all liked her anyway. "She has a way with her," you heard them saying, "and you can't help liking her."

At first Margaret Sullivan did not like Hollywood, or maybe it was simply that she liked New York better. Whatever it was, she says now that she does like Hollywood, understands the people, and hopes to stay for some time to come.

"But there's a tendency here to glorify film stars," she said. "In other words, it's considered good business to make gods and goddesses of the players."

Only One Difference: "I'm not one of those people who rush to Hollywood for the money they can make, then turn about and bite the hand that feeds them. But I do take issue with the policy of manufactured fame, although I can see both sides. The glorifying is pure showmanship, I know, designed to make a player more interesting to audiences. But I am not a showman and I don't suppose I ever will be."

To the Sullivan way of thinking a movie star is just like the girl who makes her living doing a good job in an office, the "only difference" being that the one job is more "glamorous" than the other. And so glamor, being a salable commodity, gets more attention.

Margaret Sullivan does not want to be "glamorous."

"Who knows?" she says laughing. "It might run me for life. It might give me ideas about myself which would be hard to lose when the time came to quit."

Coltuxo Black Cats Defeat Advertisers To Lead League

Indians Hand Hoover Pitcher First Beating

A full schedule of games was played in the Two I league on Sunday afternoon. Some of the games were close while others were won by large scores.

Coltuxo Black Cats went into undisputed lead in the race by downing Pampa Advertisers.

Coltuxo Tops League
Taking advantage of opponents' errors, Coltuxo Black Cats of LeFors hung up their 17th consecutive victory of the season on Sunday afternoon when they downed the Pampa Advertisers 5 to 2 in a great game played at Shaw park. Coltuxo lost a game by default, when they were unable to meet Phillips a week ago.

Hess was on the mound for Coltuxo with Leggett receiving. Hess limited the Advertisers to 5 hits while his teammates were getting 9 singles off Haley, former Coltuxo gasoline team hurler. James was behind the bat for the losers.

Coltuxo scored in the first and then added four runs in the fourth on four Advertiser errors. The Advertisers scored their runs in the eighth, Haley singled and was sacrificed by James. Sandy singled to score Haley. Harvey then banged out a triple, scoring Sandy, but he died on third.

Indians Win
Hitting the ball hard behind Barham's perfect pitching, the Pampa Indians handed Andy Andrews his first defeat of the season by beating Hoover 10 to 5. Barham didn't allow a walk or hit a batter. G. Moore was behind the bat for the winners. Ritchie relieved Andrews in the ninth. Barber caught the game.

Cargay Wins Sluggest
Cargay came from way behind to defeat Shell 25 to 23 in a slugfest. The winners were 10 runs behind going into the tenth but staged a rally to come out on top. The work of Red Weathered in the Shell hot corner was the highlight of the game. He slugged out two home runs and a single and walked three times. Offer also hit for the circuit. Trenary went the distance for the losers with A. Barnett receiving.

Osman and Stevenson hurled for Cargay with Wagner behind the bat. Stevenson hit a home run, and scored five times. Free connected for two triples.

Skellytown Wins in Tenth
Skellytown took 10 innings to down the Stanolind team 14 to 13. Stanolind led until the ninth when Skellytown tied the count. The oilmen went scoreless in the tenth while Skellytown put across the winning run.

The game was witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season. There were 132 cars parked around the Stanolind diamond.

Carroll and Porter divided hurling duties for the winners with Williams behind the bat. Terry went the distance for Stanolind with Bryant catching. M. Sorenson hit a home run in the ninth to tie the score. Howard and Williams also hit homers.

Texas Elf Wins
Texas Elf swamped Laketon 25 to 12 in a wild game. Sharp hit a homer with two on and Theison hit for the circuit with one on base. Gibson hit six for seven and scored 6 runs. Bozarth and Theison were on the mound for the winners with Sharp receiving. West and Terry divided mound work for Laketon with Loper receiving.

Rams Win First
The Pampa Rams broke into the win column by defeating the newly organized Black Sox 33 to 5. Pres Kremer started for the Rams and fanned five men in the two innings he pitched. Carl Baer finished the game. Roy Kretzmeier was behind the bat. Flemming, Langley and Ford saw mound duty for the losers with Wilson receiving.

Hopkins Wins Another
Babcock pitched great ball as the Hopkins nine defeated White Deer 8 to 1. Guthrie was behind the bat. Pokey and Urbanzyk pitched for the losers with Bednors behind the bat.

Western Carbon Wins
The Just Rite Cleaners, new team in the league, got off to a bad start, losing to Western Carbon, 24 to 10. Sharum and Quinn pitched with Klause and Williams receiving.

Kingsmill Wins
Kingsmill downed the Pampa Independents but the score of the game has not been learned.

Outcome Unknown
No report on the Sinclair-Prairie-Magic City game has been made.

MINNESOTA AND ALABAMA TO PROVIDE MOST GRID STARS

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP)—Minnesota, champion of the Big Ten, and Alabama's Rose Bowl victors, have been called upon by the nation's football fans to provide the framework for the college all star battle against the Chicago Bears at Soldier's Field, August 29.

Of the 22 senior members of the 1934 college and university teams named in a country wide ballot that produced a total of 737,918 votes, five are from Minnesota and three are from the great Alabama eleven.

Included in the first 22 are four All-America selections, while two other members of the mythical team who failed to land among the leaders in the voting, were invited to join the squad because of their outstanding records.

The All-America stars are Don

Hutson of Alabama, whose 143.648 was the top individual total, and Frank Larson of Minnesota, ends; Tackle Bill Lee of Alabama, and Minnesota's star back, Francis (Pug) Lund. The two selected on their records are Fred (Buzz) Bottles, Navy halfback, and George Barclay, North Carolina tackle.

Millard (Dixie) Howell, if he is able to obtain leave from his base-ball employer, will round out the Alabama delegation. The other Copher stars voted in were Fullback Stan Kostka, Guard Bill Bevan, and Phil Bengston, tackle.

PAMPA COMES FROM BEHIND TO WIN GAME

1,200 Fans Watch 10-Cent Baseball Game; Borger Team Beaten 5 to 3.

For an exciting price of ten cents, the Road Runners and Phillips "66" of Borger staged one of the best and most spirited games of the season to date, with the Road Runners coming from behind to win, 5 to 3, before 1,200 yelling fans.

The visitors' first, third, and fourth innings, by scoring one run. Further damage was avoided, by a fast double play, George to McHenry to end the frame, with the bases full. With one down, Bulla committed the unpardonable error in walking George and caught the ball and threw to McHenry, thus doubling Jackson off second and ending the frame.

The home team trailed until the last half of the fifth when Seitz led off with a double to center. He scored easily on Lyle's single to right. McHenry then singled and throw pulled Hodgkinson off first base and McHenry was finally called safe after considerable argument. Bulla fanned for the first out. Lyle was caught at the plate on Beckell's grounder. Hodgkinson to Francis. McHenry went to third and Seitz led off with a walk and was sacrificed to first. On a double steal McHenry scored easily when Francis' throw to second was high.

The visitors landed right back in the ball game with both feet in the seventh when Blasengame's single, Hodgkinson's single and McHenry's single tied the count. George got his glove on Mulroney's bloop, but failed to hold the ball for the third out.

Bulla won his own ball game in the locals' half of the same inning with one of his formerly frequent, but recently not-so-frequent doubles. Seitz led off with a walk and was sacrificed to first. Summers, batted for McHenry and fanned for the second out, but Bulla lined one down the left field foul line for two bases, scoring Lyle. He scored a run on the local's half of the inning to right, but the manager was caught at second trying to stretch it into a double.

The Road Runners scored their final run in the eighth without the aid of a base-hit. George was safe on a sacrifice bunt. McHenry scored on Seitz's sacrifice, took third on a wild pitch and scored on Nell's long fly to left field. The visitors scored one more in the ninth on Hodgkinson's double, an out, but George's error on Beaver's grounder.

Bulla and Mulroney both pitched good ball, each allowed but seven hits, Bulla, however, limited the visitors to one extra base hit, a double by Hodgkinson in the ninth, whereas Mulroney allowed doubles by McHenry, Seitz and Bulla. Bulla whiffed six to Mulroney's four, but walked three to his opponent's 1. Mulroney, however, made two damaging wild pitches, whereas Bulla had none of the latter.

An unusual feature of the game was the fact that Nell had six unassisted put-outs on ground balls hit to him during the game.

"Red" Lowrance came up with one of his usual brilliant stunts in the first inning when he went far into right field towards first base and made a one handed stop of George's grounder. However, he was so badly off balance he couldn't make the throw to first base.

Jackson made a pretty running catch to rob Seitz of an extra base hit in the fourth when he went to the fence in left field to take his liner. It looked like a home run for Sammy and was a mighty clutch for a left-handed batter.

TULSA OILERS DEFEAT TRIBE IN 4-2 GAME

DALLAS WINS DOUBLE-HEADER FROM MISSIONS

(By The Associated Press.)

The Tulsa Oilers threw a scare into the Oklahoma City Indians, holders of second place in the Texas league, last night by defeating them, 4 to 2, on Oklahoma soil while a pair of doubleheaders and a postponed contest marked the activities in Texas.

Dallas took a pair, 3 to 2 and 6 to 5, in over-time periods from San Antonio while the Houston Buffs and Galveston were dividing a twin bill. Houston took the first, 6 to 5, and Galveston won the afterpiece, 6 to 1. Beaumont and Fort Worth were rained out.

Art Jones knocked out of the box in the second inning Sunday at Oklahoma City, came back last night and held the Indians to six hits. Frank Brazil led the Oilers at bat with a triple, double and single, and he drove in two runs and scored another.

Dallas staged the club's famous late game rallies to cop two games from San Antonio. In the first game, the Missions started with a one run lead, made in the opening inning, and counted again in the eighth to have Dallas stage a two run rally to knot the count and force the extra inning in which the Steers put across the pay tally.

The Missions also leaped ahead in the second game, making one in each of the second, third and fifth innings and two in the sixth before the Steers put across five in their half of the sixth to tie the count. The game then went two innings, one over the scheduled 7-frame contest, without a score being scored. Then the Steers managed to get one across in the ninth.

Houston and Galveston battled through four and one-half hours of baseball last night and early today on the local mat for the first time. The Salor is one of the recognized middleweights of the nation. He is fast, clever, and can give and take in any kind of a match, although he prefers the going rough.

Jack Van Beber, former Olympic champion, will be Moran's opponent for the big match. Van Beber, now a resident of Pampa, has been going like a streak lately. His speed is the wonder of fans and opponents.

In the semi-final, Sailor Otis Clingman will appear with Pat Garrison, Pampa's Irish mauler, who has been making things uncomfortable for the big boys the last few weeks. Clingman will be making his first appearance in many months. The popular grappler has been in Mexico City for a long stay. Opening the card at 8 o'clock will be Curly Lewis, Pampa, and Ken Daly, Borger's wrestling attorney.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burrow have returned from a fishing trip in Colorado.

Mrs. Edna Yearly, who recently underwent a major operation, was taken to her home today.

All-Star Game To Be Played Tomorrow Eve

There was joy in the Road Runner camp this morning, a day before the Pampa team plays the Panhandle All Stars at Road Runner park. The Pampa team that will go to the Denver tournament will meet a team of players from the other strong Panhandle baseball clubs at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

Tickets, good for the ball game and for a dance at the Pla-Mor auditorium immediately after the game, have been sold for $1. Those desiring to see the game only, will be admitted at the gate for 40 cents. A special attraction will be the appearance of the Summer Kid band which will give a concert before and during the game. At the Pla-Mor, special vaudeville attractions will be presented.

TOP-NOTCHERS WILL GRAPPLE HERE TONIGHT

VAN BEBBER, SAILOR MORAN TO HEAD CARD

Fans are up in the air about tonight's wrestling card at Road Runner park when some of the best middleweights in the country will appear. They don't know whether the going will be according to Hoyle or of the rough and ready variety.

The main event will see Sailor Moran on the local mat for the first time. The Salor is one of the recognized middleweights of the nation. He is fast, clever, and can give and take in any kind of a match, although he prefers the going rough.

Jack Van Beber, former Olympic champion, will be Moran's opponent for the big match. Van Beber, now a resident of Pampa, has been going like a streak lately. His speed is the wonder of fans and opponents.

CARDS TRAIL GIANTS ONLY HALF A GAME

ST. LOUIS WINS 17TH TILT IN EIGHTEEN STARTS

By ANDY CLARKE Associated Press Staff Writer

There is little joy on the sidewalks of New York, for the five cent series is in jeopardy.

A few weeks ago the Giants were "way out front." The Yankees became stronger and stronger until they were at the head of the class. "It's the stadium and Polo Grounds," they said. "Another subway series."

Then the Cardinals and the Tigers, the champs, stepped out to dispute the issue with such effectiveness that today they are just one-half game each behind the leaders.

It was a year ago today that Dizzy Dean beat the Giants to hang up his tenth straight victory and break Hal Schumacher's streak of nine wins in a row. The records also disclose some other facts not conducive to pleasant dreams for Terry and his mates.

In 1916 the Giants under McGraw ran up a record of 25 straight victories and later put together 15 in a row. No body thought they could be beaten that year either, but the New York Nationals of that year followed the Dodgers, Phils and Braves to the wire.

Perhaps that winning streak history doesn't bode well for the Cardinals either. They won their 17th game in 18 starts yesterday, taking the measure of the Giants, 8-5.

Even as a year ago it was Hal Schumacher who met defeat. Schumacher left the mound in the third inning. The rejuvenated Bill Hallahan allowed 11 hits, but they were well scattered, as he hung up his sixth straight win. He did not issue a single pass.

The Yankees and Detroit were rained out. Mickey Cochran announced Schoobay Rowe would pitch today.

The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 14 to 13 in an 11 inning game in which 42 hits, six of them homers, came from the bats.

The Boston Braves ended their 15 game losing streak by taking the Cincinnati Reds 4-2. Cy Blanton, Pirate rookie, pitched Pittsburgh to its fifth straight victory, defeating Philadelphia 5-4.

The Chicago White Sox moved within four games of the Yankees by defeating the Philadelphia Athletics 12-3 in the opening game of their series.

The Cleveland Indians celebrated Walter Johnson day by defeating Washington 6-4. For the second time in as many days, a ninth inning homer by Wes Ferrell won a game for the Boston Red Sox, 2-1.

British Mission Group Advised to Leave Ethiopia

LONDON, July 23 (AP)—The British government today advised the women and children of all British missionaries in Ethiopia to leave the country and warned the missionaries themselves to concentrate in and around Addis Ababa, according to informed sources.

The warning was issued by the British missionary societies of London with a request that it be called immediately to Addis Ababa.

In Ethiopia, it was said, there are less than 100 British missionaries with their wives and children.

British efforts to bring about peace in the conflict between Italy and Ethiopia were still without results, but the government was stated to be hopeful that a center Mussolini of Italy might change his attitude in view of the close approach of the League of Nations council session.

Today's easy to sew dress, opens at front, and is so quick to don.

Cottons, linens, tub silks, wool jerseys are especially suitable fabrics for its development.

The original was very individual in aqua-blue linen with navy contrasting trim and buttons.

White poplin with navy trim is also much favored this season.

Again, this little model is very effective in a dashing plaided gingham or seersucker in red, white and blue with navy pique collar, belt and sleeve trim.

Style No. 784 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 1/2 yard of 39-inch contrasting.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE

NEA Service Staff Writer

Whether you live in the city or country, its high time to be thinking of jam or preserves on the shelves.

Even in these days when the boughten varieties are so good, the homemade varieties have a flavor all their own. Here are a few recipes that will delight your family, just as they do mine.

Ruby Conserve

One quart red currants, 1 quart red raspberries, 1-2 pound raisins, 2 oranges, 6 cups sugar.

Wash currants. Put in preserving kettle with just enough water to prevent burning. Bring slowly to the boiling point and crush with potato masher to extract the juice.

Simmer until juice flows freely and fruit looks white. Strain through a jelly bag. Wash oranges, cut in halves and remove seeds. Put through food chopper. Wash raisins, cover with boiling water and stone if necessary. Put through food chopper.

Wash and drain raspberries. Put chopped oranges and juice with 1-2 cup water into preserving kettle and bring to the boiling point. Simmer until tender. Add sugar, currant juice, raspberries and raisins and cook until a spoonful tried on a cold saucer thickens. It will take about twenty-five minutes. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin.

Another favorite in our family is watermelon preserves. It is very pretty and uses only the rind of the melon.

Watermelon Preserves

Six pounds melon, 1-2 ounce powdered alum, 41-2 pounds granulated sugar, 3 lemons, 2 ounces ginger root.

Trim off the green rind and cut away the pink flesh. Make small balls with a vegetable cutter or cut in neat half-inch cubes. Dissolve alum in water and let watermelon stand in alum water to cover overnight. In the morning, drain and weigh. Slice lemon very thin and remove seeds. Put all ingredients in preserving kettle with 1-2 cup water. Let stand an hour to draw out the juice. Bring to the boiling point and simmer until melon is clear. Skim out fruit and boil syrup until heavy. Return fruit, bring to boiling point and seal in sterilized jars.

Peach Conserve

I like to make this early while pineapples are still plentiful in the market.

Four pounds ripe peaches, 1 medium sized pineapple, 1 large orange, 1 lemon, 1-2 pound blanched and shredded almonds, 1-2 pound white seedless raisins, sugar.

Peel and dice peaches. Pare and grate pineapple. Grate rind from lemon and orange and squeeze out juice. Cook peaches and pineapple until tender. Add grated orange and lemon rind, raisins and lemon and orange juice. Measure and add cup sugar to each cup fruit. Cook until thick, adding almonds ten minutes before removing from fire. Stir almost constantly after adding sugar. Turn into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin.

Bus Passenger

Endangers 24

Persons' Lives

TRUCKEE, Calif., July 23 (AP)—Neil McCue, Chicago, accused of having jeopardized the lives of 24 passengers on a trans-continental bus and attempting to turn the hand of the clock over a bank and into Donner Lake, was held in custody here today.

Quick action by the Rev. A. French of Shattuck, Pa., and the driver of the bus, Fred Mund of Oakland, Calif., was credited with having prevented a tragedy.

When McCue suddenly lunged forward and wrestled for control of the steering wheel, Mr. French, other passengers said, leaped upon the man, giving the driver time enough to set emergency brakes and stop the bus just four feet short of the lake, which is reputed to be bottomless.

"I grabbed the man's arms and pulled him away from the wheel," Mr. French said. "He fought desperately, but I succeeded in subduing him just as the stage came to a stop."

McCue was given a mental examination today.

McCue's 11-year-old son, Thomas, remained on the bus. The boy said he and his father were en route to San Francisco to see his grandmother.

INVENTIONS TO PREVENT FIRES ARE PERFECTED

Oil-Gas Blazes Now Almost Thing Of Past

TULSA, July 23 (AP)—The inventive genius which enables man to search 10,000 feet underground for oil is providing new safeguards to protect him from the forces he unleashes.

The wild wells and disastrous oil and gas well fires are becoming ever more rare.

In the past year at least two methods of preventing unrestrained flow of gas and oil have been perfected, and for a third development is claimed the ability to choke off wild wells and well fires when they do occur, before life and property is destroyed.

With these in use oil men say there might never have occurred the great oil well fire in Rumania, that burned hundreds of million cubic feet of natural gas and thousands of barrels of high grade oil in 1930, may never have gone astray.

Similarly, scores of other costly fires in oil producing areas might have been prevented.

While admittedly not "fool proof," the new methods help.

One provides the driller an accurate picture of what is taking place in the hole several thousand feet underground as the bit bites into the producing horizon by reflecting gas pressure. As pressure rises to the danger point he increases the weight of fluids used in drilling, thus holding the two in equilibrium.

The second, called "washing in" to complete wells, is a method of cleaning foreign matter from the hole, under equalized pressure, until the gas and oil are started into commercial channels.

And now a Tulsa inventor has completed a giant hydraulic clamp with which he claims wild wells, if they do occur, may be pinched in without permanent damage to property by a workman operating simple valves at a safe distance from the potential fire demon.

COUNTRY CLUB IS APPEALING TO THE WOMEN

NEW HOUSE ATTRACTS MORE FEMININE INTEREST

Women are finding the Pampa Country club appealing as a social center since the new club house is in use. The move country clubward has resulted in greater popularity of the links as well as the enthusiasm for the new ballroom and bridge room.

Mrs. C. Leuders and Mrs. Arthur Swanson were winners yesterday in the weekly ladies' day play. Every Monday morning the golf course is set aside for women, who are invited to enter competition.

Opening of the club house last week was largely directed by women, who sponsored a benefit bridge tournament Thursday with 48 tables of players, then took the least as hostesses for a dance Friday evening that was attended by a large crowd.

Other dances and bridge hours are tentatively planned for this summer, some to be open to friends, and some for members of the club.

BASTIONS ARE HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bastion entertained a small party of friends at dinner last evening at their home. Places were laid for Dr. and Mrs. K. L. Buckner, Miss Ione Buckner, Mrs. Lorene Thomason, William Reeves of Shamrock, Kossie Buckner, Leiland Bastion, and the hosts.

CHOIR TO PICNIC

First Methodist choir with the families of members will meet at the church Wednesday evening at 6, to go on a picnic. A spot southeast of the city has been chosen to spread the lunches. An invitation is extended to all members and families.

NAVY LIMITATION PARLEY SEEN AS RESULT OF BRITISH ACTION

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—An attempt to achieve a compromise agreement putting a limit on the world's big navies is foreseen by many observers studying disclosures made at London yesterday.

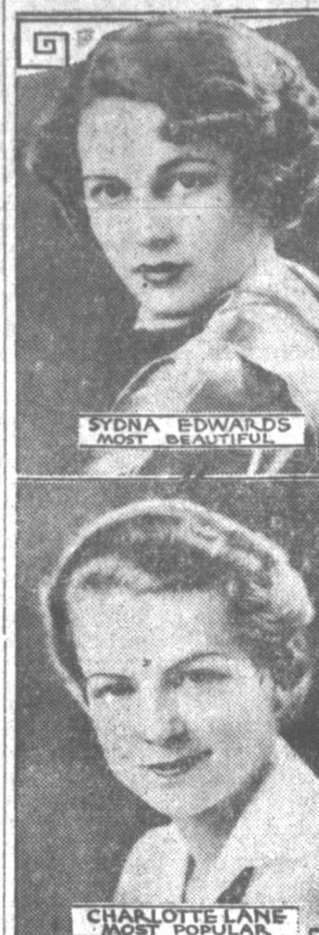

The British admiralty announced yesterday that it was abandoning naval ratios, such as the famous 5-5-3 formula limiting the fighting fleets of Great Britain, the United States and Japan. It was indicated that Britain would seek other means of avoiding the costly naval race which so many students of the subject fear.

While American officials declined any comment on the British announcement, observers saw in it material to build the framework for a new limitation conference.

The Washington treaty, which set up the 5-5-3 ratio in 1922, provides that a conference shall be held in 1935 to discuss continuance of curbs of sea power. No naval power has made a definite move to call the session.

Great Britain did, however, take the lead in calling preliminary talks in London last fall, and they are now the way for the proposed conference. At those conferences the British made overtures for a

16 Car and Truck Tires Are Stolen

Thieves broke into the Gulf Service station at Kingsmill last night and stole 16 automobile and truck tires, George Prather, manager, reported to Sheriff Earl Talley who started an immediate investigation.

Entry to the station was gained by prying open the front door with a large bar. Mr. Prather, following a check-up, reported that 11 Lotta Mile tires, three McLaren tires, and two Kelley registered tires, were missing.

Dr. and Mrs. K. L. Buckner have as their guests their daughter, Miss Ione Buckner of Fort Worth, and their son, Kossie Buckner medical student at Tulsa University, New Orleans.

DEMOCRATS SEE BOOMERANG IF AAA IS VOIDED

Believe Farm Hordes Will Rise up to Defend FDR

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

As they look toward 1936, the administration's political planners are less downhearted about the legal plight of AAA than might be supposed.

The case is quite different from that of NRA. Under the Blue Eagle, the government undertook to reorganize industry on a basis which called for certain sacrifices by individual business men. Under AAA, the effort is to reorganize agriculture on a basis which calls for certain benefits to individual farmers.

It is necessary only to consider the words "sacrifices" and "benefits," to realize the political disparity between the two situations.

NRA made so many political enemies that when the supreme court overthrew it, there was no convincing uprising among business men to restore its principles. It was the Republicans, not the Democrats, who undertook to make political capital out of that development.

If the supreme court overthrows
AAA, however—as Washington generally expects it will—Democratic strategists predict a really powerful political reaction of protest among the farm millions whose benefit payments thereby will be suddenly cut off.

Organized Support

Of course no one contends that all farmers are for AAA, or that the farm voters would rise up as one man to defend it.

That it does have hundreds of thousands of friends in the farm belt, however, is undeniable. The results of the referendum on various phases of the agricultural program evidence an important numerical support.

Furthermore, this support is organized, and for the most part the opposition is unorganized. The ease with which the celebrated farm march on Washington was executed some weeks ago astonished seasoned politicians, accustomed as they are to the methods by which these things are accomplished.

AAA officials attribute all of this to genuine enthusiasm for the Roosevelt farm policies, while the other side gives the credit to selfish impulses arising out of the government's spending program.

So far as practical results are concerned, it need not matter much which of these opinions is correct.
Whatever the cause, the politicians must deal with the established fact that the sentiment does exist, and undoubtedly will have to be reckoned with as a political force henceforth.

'Something' Has Happened

In other words—speaking still from the viewpoint of practical politics—whatever the cause, the court may do to AAA, something will remain.

Out in the country something has happened. This something need not depend on anything written on the statute books for its political perpetuation. If it then it can turn to new channels of political activity.

The "something" which has developed is an organized dependence on Washington, and an organized confidence that Washington will answer the farmer's call for help if the pressure is strong enough.

And that remains equally true and equally important no matter how you view the merits of the case —whether you are one of those who believe the "something" represents the long-deferred fulfillment of the farmer's prayer for his rightful place in the economic system, or whether you are one who thinks the "something" is the mark of a vicious, habit-forming paternalism thoroughly unsound and un-American.

The point is that the "something"
is there, and under all the rules of politics, the Democrats may be expected to capitalize it.

Pray, Not Cuss Like A Sailor, Says Chaplain

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—
Father E. A. Duff, just appointed head of navy chaplains, says the sailor is more religious-minded than the average citizen.

"There's no doubt about it," he asserted yesterday, "both officers and men go to services to a larger extent than the general public. And don't forget that there isn't anything compulsory about it."

"That's right," put in Captain Sydney K. Evans, whose Father Duff is succeeding. "I've noticed a constant increase in the interest of both officers and men since the world war."

Father Duff, the first Catholic to direct the navy chaplains, became widely known when he accompanied the body of the unknown soldier from France to Washington in 1921.

Well built and silver-haired, he has a ruddy complexion that bespeak the 20 years which have gone by since he became a navy chaplain. He assumed the post four years after he was graduated from St. Mary's seminary, Baltimore.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

Chapter Two COLLARED

Was Gladys putting just a trifle too strong a make-up on her exquisite face? Weren't her eyes almost too bright, and always restlessly glancing here and there, as if she was expecting something?

But, then, Laurie was always a little anxious about Glad. Lovely, simple, high-spirited Glad, only eighteen, who wouldn't listen to anything Laurie said, but insisted on learning to dance and going on the stage!

Yes, she knew she was always worried. She was worried now, in spite of the nice manager and his sensible wife. She always would be worried when Glad was away from her, ever since that awful agony of nearly losing her in Sydney, and the days of vigil by her bed in the hospital that followed. Glad was too lovely, too young, too innocent, too feeble.

Laurie sighed, as she climbed into a coach of the train. But what could she do? She was a girl of today. She knew that girls must live their own lives, like men. Must work when they had no money. Must learn to look after themselves. If only God wasn't so terribly lovely!

Yet, there had been something a little different about Glad this time.
They had not seen each other for three months. The troupe had been touring the Northern cities. Was she keeping something back? Was that the reason why Laurie had felt once or twice that she was with a stranger?

Or was it only that Glad was growing up? It must be that, of course. Glad would never keep anything from her. What a wonderful little beauty she was! And how she knew what to wear! She was as smart and perfect as any rich young debutante walking down Bond Street, or lunching at the Ritz.

It was frightfully clever of her to manage to look like that on her small salary, with all the little extras that members of touring companies have to pay out.

It was stupid to worry. They had both of them such a lot to be thankful for.

Laurie's luck had been amazing, and what kindness had been shown to her these last two years!

There seemed not to be many people traveling.

Laurie found an empty compartment and put her suitcase on the rack.

Then she stood in the corridor by the window of the door that she had shut, and watched the people on the platform. She was always interested in what was going on anywhere.

She had, under her business-like and responsible manner, a great and avid interest in life. A keen observer like Mark Albery had soon found that out.

Just as the guard blew his whistle,
she saw a boy with tea baskets on a truck. She would like a tea basket.
She had had no lunch.

She called to the boy just as the train moved out.

He hurried along and called out the price.

She was taking the money out of her purse, the boy running beside the train, when she leaned against the door to hand it to him and take hold of the basket. The door flew open.

Laurie had the sickening feeling of falling into space.

There had been shouts from the platform. At the same moment a strong hand clutched the collar of her coat from behind and jerked her back in the nick of time.

She found herself flung on to a seat, and the same strong hand slammed the door.

"What ever made you do a fool thing like that?" asked a man's voice angrily. "You'd probably have been killed if I hadn't been here!"

Lemon Slaying Is Described by State Witnesses

TULSA, Okla., July 23. (AP)—Garland Creekmore, Broken Arrow farmer charged with the murder of his rival in love, today was bound over for trial in district court following a preliminary hearing.

State witnesses described how Creekmore shot Elmer Lemon, Pampa, Tex., oil worker, to death on July 8 at the Broken Arrow home of Ora Benedict, Lemon's fiancée.

Mrs. Ina Blythe, sister of Miss Benedict, said that Creekmore walked to his car with his arm around Lemon's shoulder and then started shooting as soon as they reached the automobile.

Elmer Lemon, brother of the slain man, testified that Creekmore, at noon on the day of the shooting told him that he had told Elmer, "I'll kill him if he broke us up." Creek-more also had been paying attention to Miss Benedict for years.

Cross-examination of witnesses by the defense indicated a plea of insanity, which John Ward, defense attorney, said would be combined with a self-defense plea. No defense testimony was offered at today's hearing. Creekmore, denied bond, was returned to jail.

House Not Taking Borah Seriously

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)— Democratic leaders today refused to take seriously the statement by Senator Borah (R., Idaho) that inflationary groups behind the Patman bonus and Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage refinancing bills would combine to attach these $5,000,000-000 proposals to the administration tax bill and keep congress here until November 1.

Senator Robinson, the party leader,
said he did not believe these measures could be disposed of this session.

He and Senator Barkley (D., Ky.) stuck to their previous statements that congress should adjourn by August 15.

Saying, "I do not think these measures should be attached to any bill as amendments," Robinson added:

"If they are to be considered they should be treated separately and I do not see how they can be taken up and disposed of this session."

Barkley said: "I think there is not the slightest likelihood that congress will be in session until November 1. Practically every important measure has either passed one or both houses and is in conference, except the tax bill."

And the house will undoubtedly send that to the senate by not later than August 1, by which time the senate committee will have concluded its hearings."

Celebrates Her 100th Birthday

MacDonnell, who has made her home in Laredo since 1880, celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary at the home of Mrs. John Convery here
July 16. She was born in Ireland July 16, 1835, and was reared and educated in her native land. She attended some of the leading educational institutions in Europe more than three-quarters of a century ago.

She has been a resident of Laredo 46 years. She is a sister of the late ranchman of a half century ago in Laredo and Webb county, in whose honor the MacDonnell grade school in Laredo is named, and of Allan MacDonnell, civil engineer, who died a number of years ago. Although in

FAN DISCUSSES JERRY, 'GOOFY'

A copy of a letter sent to Jerry Main, Amarillo News sports editor, has "fallen" into the hands of the Pampa News. The letter was written by a Pampa fan whose name is on file.

Here is the letter:
Dear Jerry:
So! the "Goofy One" is burning up because he was left off the All-Star team that will play the Road Runners next Wednesday night. And "the Road Runners got only four hits off his delivery during his tenure on the mound in two different games?"

It's true, the Road Runners didn't get many hits off him, but why was he taken out of the box? Certainly the Road Runner management had nothing to do with that.

Since you and the rule book are constant companions, you will readily admit rule 15 states, among other things, the bat may not be more than 42 inches in length. If we allow 18 inches extension for the length of the batter's arms, simple arithmetic, without going into higher mathematics, shows the batter will have a maximum reach of 7 feet in swinging at a pitch. This, of course, is not conducive to good hitting, but it serves to limit the space through which a pitched ball must pass in order for the batter to at least touch it with his bat.

Naturally, if the ball does not come within those limits, to say nothing of the small matter of its passing over the plate, a matter of some 17 inches wide, between the batter's shoulders and knees, the batter can not hit it.

"Goofy's" pitching reminds one of the story about the pitcher who,
after filling the bases and walking in two runs on twenty consecutive pitches, was yanked by his manager, whereupon some loud-mouthed fan wanted to know why he was being pulled "since he was pitching non-hit baseball." That is the way
"Goofy" limits his hits against the Road Runners.

However, I'll admit Goofy is the best pitcher in the Panhandle as long as he doesn't have to go into the box. The only trouble is the pitchers who will be used in the All-Star game will have to do a little twirling from the pitching rubber and not from their respective mounds. The only way "Goofy" can beat the Road Runners is to get out there on the mound and pitch a verbal game without using a baseball. I am sure that in this respect he would have all of the Road Runners combined tongue-tied.

But in order to create a little amusement for the fans and give the wolves something to chew on, I, for one, would like to see him in uniform that night.

AN "IMPARTIAL" FAN
P. S.: You might suggest to "Goofy" that he borrow a St. Louis
Cardinal uniform from "cousin"
Dizzy or Daffy for the occasion.

Canadian Park Near Completion

CANADIAN, July 23.—Young park, located about six miles north of Canadian on highway No. 4, will be completed about the first week of August. Those who have visited it declare the park is one of the most beautiful spots in the entire state. Located in a setting of huge cottonwood trees which furnish more than ample shade, it will be equipped with several fire place and table units, a baseball diamond, swings and a well of good drinking water. $2,500 has been appropriated and will all be used in its improvement. Many picnics and outing parties have been held there during the past two weeks.

FORMER SLAVES TO FIGHT WITH ITALIAN ARMY

Eritrea Has Been a Haven for Black Fugitives

BY ANDRUE BERDING,
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

ROME, July 23. (AP)—Several thousand former Ethiopian slaves will fight and work for Italy if Premier Benito Mussolini gives the order to advance into Ethiopia.

These are natives who escaped from their masters and fled into the Italian colony of Eritrea, haven of escaped slaves for many years.
Owing to its geographical position,
Eritrea has received far more refuges than the British and French colonies.

The fact that Eritrea has been the chief refuge for escaped Ethiopian slaves has been one of the points of bitterness between Italy and Ethiopia. The bitterness has been such that Italian officials in Eritrea have been embarrassed on receiving the refugees.

This embarrassment is increased by the fact that the slaves' masters can easily accuse them of a crime and demand their return. Since a slave can hold no property, it is legally possible for the master to accuse him of theft for running away with the miserable remnants of clothing on his back.

The invariable rule, however, is for the Italian magistrates to declare the slave a free man, and to permit him to work with the Eritrea natives.

Now these former slaves are among those working to build the roads leading to the Ethiopian frontier to convey Mussolini's legions into Ethiopia. Many have enlisted in

Prisoners Taken To Penitentiary

The "chain" dragged this morning when Jim Crane, representative of "Uncle Bud" Russell of the state penitentiary, visited here and took two prisoners to the penitentiary.

The truck picked up J. D. Lyons, sentenced to five years for bil-lacking, and M. W. Deardorff, sentenced to two years on a charge of assault with intent to murder in connection with the stabbing of Joe Stone.

Seven prisoners had previously been taken to the penitentiary during this term of court.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ed Wolgemuth and family left yesterday on a vacation trip which will take them to points in Pennsylvania.

Peasants Demand Governor Resign

MEXICO CITY, July 23 (AP)—Two peasants were reported today to have been killed in Villa Juarez as a movement against Governor Rafael Villalard of Tamaulipas and municipal authorities in the state gained strength.

Three thousand agrarians paraded last night in the state capital, Ciudad Victoria, demanding the resignation of the governor, and 20,000 others were reported ready to march on the city unless Villalard quit.

Dispatches from Ciudad Victoria said machine guns were placed on the government palace in preparation for any possible attack.

Silvano Barba Gonzalez, federal secretary of interior, planned to fly to the capital today to study the situation and attempt to avert further disorders.

GOBBLES, GOBBLING GYPSUM, Kas. July 23 (AP)—Victor Van Meter, farmer, contributes to the day's success hint. Raising 700 young turkeys for market was expensive, and other farmers were having trouble with grasshoppers overrunning their crops. So Van Meter hired out his young gobbles at $2.50 a pair to gobble grasshoppers. The result: No turkey feed bill and $2.50 a day, net profit.

Italy Puts Gold In Shape To Buy Materials For War

Ethiopia and Japan Are Condemned in New Outbursts

BY A. E. STUNTZ, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

ROME, July 23 (AP)—Italy went off its old gold coverage requirements today to meet the "necessity and urgency for producing means for payments abroad of an exceptional nature."

A royal decree, published in the official Gazette last night, suspended a clause in the stabilization law of 1927 fixing the gold coverage of notes and deposits of the Bank of Italy, and authorized the coverage to drop below the legal 40 per cent.

Informed circles said the action was Premier Mussolini's solution to the problem of purchasing large supplies of raw materials abroad to furnish the equipment for his army in East Africa.

The point of depression was not stipulated in the royal decree, but bankers said the government reserved the right to carry the legal limit down to any level it deemed proper.

Statements of the Bank of Italy showed that the coverage has declined sharply in the last few weeks, while there has been an increase in foreign credits.

Rising prices and a growing necessity for expansion of credit had forestalled the reduction in the coverage limit. Italy now has more than 5,000,000,000 lire in gold.

The press, repeating its criticism of Japan for reported opposition to an attack which led to the posting of guards about the Japanese embassy—also displayed prominently an interview of Il Duce with a representative of the newspaper L'Echo de Paris.

Mussolini was quoted in the interview as asking whether the League of Nations should become "a tribunal before which negroes, backward savage races of the world, shall bring great nations which have revolutionized and transformed humanity."

Milan trucks, bearing placards condemning Ethiopia, paraded thru the streets while crowds cheered. In the cafes, people cheered and sang the Marseillaise, voicing their approval of Il Duce's statement.

Similar scene prevailed in Genoa, with the people holding demonstrations in the streets.

Reports received in Rome that the British cabinet has decided to lift an arms embargo on Ethiopia added fuel to the fire of Italian patriotism.

Authoritative sources said subaltern officers and aviation ground forces of the classes from 1906 to 1911 have been called to active service.

The call was reported to include also non-commissioned experts, some private soldiers and aerial machine gunning and bombing corps from the classes from 1900 to 1902.

GRID STAR DIES

ABILENE, July 23 (AP)—Buford G. (Fats) Brian, 16, one of the youngest college football stars in Texas, died last night of pneumonia. He had undergone an operation for appendicitis last week. A sophomore at McMurry college here, Brian won all Texas conference honors at center last fall. He was only 16 years old at the first of the football season.

WACO, July 23 (AP)—Two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Hargett of Moody and Mrs. Geneva Merrell of Bowie, were killed late yesterday when struck by an automobile while en route to church. Both women were dragged about 150 feet before the driver of the machine was able to halt.

Italians Arouse Japanese Press

TOKYO, July 23 (AP)—The Japanese press, aroused by Italian press attacks on Japan, gave vent to bitter feeling today, expressing a belief that the Italian criticism were officially inspired and that the bringing up of the racial question in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute was proving provocative to Japan.

A foreign office spokesman said that thus far no particular protest has been planned, but that Japanese diplomats everywhere have been warned not to be misled by inflammatory press reports.

EMPEROR CONGRATULATED

TOKYO, July 23 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito of Japan sent a congratulatory telegram to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia today on the latter's 44th birthday.

BIG BEND COW HANDS TO OPEN ANNUAL CAMP MEETING FRIDAY

'GRUB' TO BE SERVED EVERY ONE PRESENT

DR. GEORGE TRUETT OF DALLAS TO PREACH

ALPINE, July 23. (AP)—Cowhands of the Big Bend country will hobble their broncos to Paisano Peak Friday night to mix "grub" and preaching at their annual camp meeting, said to be the largest cowcamp gathering in the west.

Preaching twice a day by noted ministers and barbecue pit fare dished out in huge quantities three times daily to all comers are chief items on the program which will last through Aug. 4.

Only cowhands will be allowed to preside at the pots and pans. About 20 of them aided by Mexicans, will prepare the food—barbecue, stew, steak, chili, "son-of-a-gun" beans, frijoles, rice gravy, prunes, dutch-oven biscuits and coffee—and serve it as the hungry ones pass through chutes to the dining shed which seats 1,500.

For meat, the cowboys will "knock calves in the face" from the encampment's own herd which roams the 1,000-acre park. "Feeding of the multitude" will be supervised by H. L. Kokernot, Jr., Big Bend rancher. He and his father, H. L. Kokernot of San Antonio, are two of the largest contributors to the camp meeting.

The meals are free—except for free-will offerings which usually amount to $10,000 to $12,000 each summer.

Established 15 years ago primarily for cowboys of this deep southwest section, the encampment now attracts hundreds of persons from over Texas and from many other states.

The camp is in the Davis mountains, highest elevation in Texas, and the grounds, which surround Paisano Peak, are equipped with some 60 buildings and cabins and with water, sewage, telephone and emergency hospital systems. Recent improvements cost around $100,000.

The Rev. L. R. Milligan of El Paso, 82-year-old son of the west, who has preached to Texas cowboys more than 50 years, will be on hand, the veteran minister used to ride the lonely trails on a bronc and later in buckboards. Now he travels by train and auto. Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the Dallas First Baptist church and president of the World Baptist Alliance, also will preach to the cowhands.

Other speakers will include Dr. C. Roy Angel of San Antonio, Dr. J. B. Tidwell of Baylor university at Waco, E. L. Carnett of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. J. E. Williamson of San Antonio.

Sunday school work will be directed by Secretary G. S. Hopkins of Dallas and the young people's division will be in charge of Secretary T. C. Gardner of Dallas. Mrs. J. B. Tidwell of Waco will direct the women's work.

Nurses from Baylor hospital at Dallas will be station at the camp for emergency work, and a physician will be on hand.

The camp ground is mid-way between Marfa and Alpine. A daily bus schedule from Pecos to the grounds will be maintained throughout the encampment.

Japs Rejoice as British Abandon Tonnage Ratios

TOKYO, July 23. (AP)—The declaration by Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the British admiralty, that England was abandoning the principles of naval ratios received a warm welcome today in all Japanese circles.

Official circles said Great Britain was coming to an understanding of Japan's position, and that with British agreement, the United States probably would be unable to adhere to the present ratio system.

Renzo (Japanese) news agency dispatches said naval circles were enthusiastic over the declaration, recalling the Japanese government's proposal for abandonment of naval ratios and establishment of a common upper limit.

The naval tonnage ratios of the leading powers were set at 5 for Great Britain and the United States, to 3 for Japan, under the Washington treaty of 1922, supplemented by the London treaty of 1930.

The naval circles were represented as being of the opinion that Sir Bolton's declaration meant Britain's partial consent to the Japanese proposal, but opposing his suggestion that the nations communicate to one another what their naval powers will be in 1942.

The newspapers Nihon Nichi and Asahi said the navy was absolutely against a declaration of naval strength in 1942, fearing that it would perpetuate the present ratio system, with nations having strong navies in 1942 continuing to be strong and nations with weak navies staying in that category.

Two nominees for important posts in the U. S. Diplomatic service are shown here, Hoffman Philip of New York, above, and Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., of Philadelphia, below. Philip, with years of service in the corps, will go from Norway, where he has been minister since 1930, to Chile as ambassador. Biddle was nominated to succeed Philip in the Norway berth.

Traveler United With His Family After 24 Years

CHILDRESS, July 23. (AP)—After spending 24 years in foreign countries out of touch with his family, Robert L. Simmons recently was united here with his mother, Mrs. W. A. Simmons and his two brothers, John and J. E. Simmons. He left home 24 years ago while his family was living in New Mexico. Mrs. Simmons and her other two sons left that state soon after and came to Childress, failing to receive Robert's letter telling her he was going to China.

More than a week ago he located a relative in Greenville, Tex., who informed him that his mother and brothers were in Childress and he came here immediately.

Blanton Celler In Disagreement On Nazi Program

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—An economic boycott against Germany for alleged religious persecutions was urged today on the house floor by Representative Celler (D., N. Y.).

He said such a drastic step would help stop "brutal attacks on defenseless people."

He mentioned Catholics particularly, but Representative Connery (D., Mass.) asserted not only Catholics and Jews were being persecuted but also anyone who did not adhere to Nazi doctrines.

Celler advocated "some punishment to Germany if it is in our power to do so."

Representative Blanton (D., Texas) suggested that congressmen mind their own business with reference to what "Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin are doing."

"Let these men run their own government and let us attend to ours," he said. "How would we like it if they were constantly criticizing the way we run ours?"

Harry A. Nelson and family recently returned from a trip to California and vicinity.

GOERING HITS CATHOLICS IN NEW DECREES

WAR VETERANS GROUP IS DISSOLVED IN ORDER

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

BERLIN, July 23.—Gen. Hermann Goering, minister of aviation and Premier of Prussia, today dissolved the reichsbund (national association) of the Catholic war veterans on the grounds that the unity of the German people was disturbed by the existence of separate veterans' organizations.

The action against the Catholic veterans followed close behind another decree which provided that students in higher schools need not attend religious exercises.

Regarding the war veterans, the official decree read: "The Prussian premier, on the basis of a decree for the protection of the people and the state dated Feb. 28, 1933, has dissolved the reichsbund of Catholic front fighters including its subdivisions, because the formation of confessional organizations of veterans is calculated solely to lead to the splitting up the unity of the people (volksgemeinschaft) and to carry confessional divergencies into the federations of veterans."

Decrees Interpreted.
An official order, issued by the education ministry, proclaimed:

"For all male and female students of higher schools attendance at morning prayers, school worship periods, school masses and festivals of a religious character arranged by schools will henceforth be optional regardless of whether these are conducted on workdays or Sundays in school houses or nearby churches."

"The obligation to participate in these arrangements therefore no longer exists."

Various interpretations were placed on the decree—that it might be another attempt to break the hold of parochial schools, that it might be an effort to curb religious resentment among youths, or that it might be a concession to non-Pagans, paving the way for more general teaching of the "Germanic" religion. The decree, at any rate, was considered to loosen further the traditional German links between the state and schools and religion.

This decree followed another, issued by Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, ordering Catholic and Lutheran confessional youth organizations to cease all mass appearances in public and to discard their uniforms and emblems.

Windows Plastered.
The well-drilled Nazi press, meanwhile, fanned the flames of anti-semitism with allegations of Jewish "racial irregularities."

"Typical of this attack were dispatches from Wesermunde, reporting the arrest of a 49-year-old Jew for attacking an Aryan girl, and from Breslau, asserting that a 78-year-old junk dealer kept five girls in his home for immoral purposes."

"Direct action" persisted in North Berlin, where windows of stores owned by Jews were plastered with stickers and signs bearing such slogans as "You old Jew sow, this is a Jewish store, Aryans don't buy here."

A Jewish clothier told the Associated Press that his recent sales have been only 25 per cent of their normal volume.

An Aryan restaurateur said his trade has fallen off "considerably because patrons seem afraid that

ANTI-PROTESTANT ATTACK IN IRISH FREE STATE IS FEARED

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 23. (AP)—Fears of a wide-spread anti-Protestant attack in the Irish Free State received fresh impetus today as houses in Comesth and elsewhere were plastered with the slogan, "Remember Belfast."

Religious strife, arising from Orangemen's celebration July 12 of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, spread extensively. Anti-Catholic outbreaks occurred in Protestant demonstrations in the Catholic Free State to the south.

This city, where the conflict originated, became quieter today, although a 19-year-old girl, Mary Cunningham, was wounded in the leg last night during an exchange of shots in the Brookfield street area.

After a special conference of nationalist members of parliament, a delegation departed for London, hoping to meet Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin immediately.

Strikes, street fights, fires and demonstrations marked the strife both in north and south.

Dock workers at Limerick, on the Shannon river in the southwestern section of the Free State, called one strike, refusing to unload a cargo from a vessel owned by a Belfast firm.

Windows were smashed in several sections of Ireland. Among the buildings destroyed by fire was a Protestant church in Kilmallock, County Limerick, Irish Free State. With nine fatalities registered here, Coroner Thomas Alexander held an inquest after which murder indictments were returned naming "persons unknown."

The coroner denounced the ten days of disorders, following the Protestant Orangemen's celebrations of the battle that made Protestantism secure as the religion of the north as "all so wanton and meaningless."

"Bigotry is the curse of peace and good will," he said.

TEXAS YOUNG DEMO FACTION PLANS REVOLT

TO OPPOSE NOMINATION OF ROOSEVELT IN 1936

DALLAS, July 23. (AP)—Vice-President John N. Garner's home state was threatened today with a party split as a group of Texas Young Democratic club members planned a fight against President Roosevelt's renomination.

The bolting group of state's lights adherents was led by Joe Bailey Humphreys, Crockett county attorney and former executive secretary of the Texas Young Democrats, and Phil Overton of Dallas. The pair led a recent unsuccessful fight to unseat Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, as vice-president of the state organization.

On the other hand, John L. McCarty of Dalhart, state president of the Young Democrats, took the rebel move lightly and said organization of Roosevelt-Garner clubs would go forward in the state and that the organization would affirm its support of Roosevelt and Garner at the Milwaukee convention.

Revolt leaders spiked reports that they would turn republican as they unleashed scorching charges of "double-cross" and "betrayal" by the Roosevelt administration.

"The purpose of our new state's rights organization will be to send delegates to the 1936 convention with instructions to nominate a real democrat for president," Humphreys said.

No definite organization plans for the states' rights organization had been announced, but the leaders said they had good backing in the venture.

Saying that the doctrine of states' rights had been the motivation force behind the democratic party more than a century, Overton said the president and the party in some respects had "drifted far a sea."

Humphreys lodged the main charge against what he called party betrayal. He said:

"In our last democratic platform we condemned republican practice of restricting agricultural products to the demand of the domestic markets, and yet, when in power, we went the republicans two better by plowing up more cotton, killing more livestock and generally destroying food-stuff, while our national malady, unemployment, went unchecked."

ten days at the outside as soon as repairs have been made.

Charles L. Richardson of Washington and Harry E. Sheek of Chicago, conciliators for the U. S. Department of labor, today began conferring with the strikers and company officials.

Although only a few stores, including eating establishments, opened, Brig. Gen. D. Wray de Prez, in charge of National Guard forces, said "stores can open if they wish and will be adequately protected." He said employees of a brewing company and dairies had indicated they wanted to return to work.

Smith said an employment office will open some time today for those workers who wish to return to work. He emphasized that those who come back to work will be under the same wage and hour scales and with "the understanding as to a continuance of an open shop."

Smith estimated the strikers and sympathizers have caused more than $15,000 damage to the plant buildings.

Meanwhile armed company guards continued to control the inside of the Enameling plant. At a Sunday mass meeting of forty eight local unions resolutions were adopted protesting hiring of the guards and declaring the general strike would continue until the guards are deported from the county.

Smith said there was "100 company police on the job, 80 of whom are from out of town." Smith who made it plain he "is in full and complete charge of the situation," said he came here in May from the Rome Facturing company of Rome, N. Y. The local factory closed down on March 13. The plant manufactures all kinds of enameled kitchen ware.

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—Belief that withdrawal of imported private police by the Columbia Enameling company would clear up the Terre Haute, Ind., general strike was expressed today by Secretary Perkins.

"I believe that if the enameling company would withdraw these 50 or 60 men brought in from Chicago, the general strike could be cleared up almost immediately," Miss Perkins said at her regular press conference.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—The firmness of mining issues, rails and steels enabled the stock market to breast profit-taking currents in today's active session.

While some of the utilities, motors and scattered "blue chips" slipped back reluctantly, the closing tone was fairly steady. Transfers approximated 1,700,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 23. (AP)—Wheat futures prices slid more than two cents a bushel below the early high level today amid bearish interpretations of northwestern crop news.

A sharp break of around five cents at Minneapolis was believed by bears here to be an indication that crop damage from rust and drought in spring wheat territory is proving less serious than had been anticipated.

Wheat closed 1 1/2 cents below the previous finish, September 84 1/2-1 1/2, and corn was 1/2 off to 1 cent higher, September 75 1/2-7 1/2. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 up, rye 1/2 lower to 1 cent higher and barley was a cent lower. Provisions were slightly higher.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 23. (AP)—The issuance of notices of 500 bales supplying the market came as surprise during the morning and July proportions. October dropped 8 points from the previous close.

The rest of the market dipped a little, but losses were held to small proportions. October dropped 2 points to 1.38, December 2 points to 1.28, and March 1 point to 1.24.

The action in July created an unusual situation in the market. At the same time July was selling at 11.53 on the hundred-bale board, the position sold for 11.75 on odd-lot contract. Spot middling at New Orleans closed yesterday at 11.96, and traders were at a loss to explain this technical action.

The notices were said to be still circulating around 11 o'clock and July held at 11.53, off 37 points from the previous close.

Wild Oil Well Flooding Lake In Venezuela

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—Stories of the disastrous flooding of Lake Maracaibo, Venezuela, by a wild oil well were brought to New York today by passengers returning from that country on a Pan-American Airways plane.

The huge lake covers one of the world's richest oil fields, the wells being driven directly into the lake bed and the oil taken off in barges.

With a heavy oil scum covering the water to a depth of three inches, Pan-American has been forced to land its planes five miles out. From that point on the planes are led in to the base by a lake boat which clears a path through the sludge of oil as an ice-breaker clears the way for steamers.

The operation is a difficult one and sometimes has to be repeated several times. Lake traffic has been demoralized, according to the stories. Divers going to the bottom to investigate the possibility of rapping the runaway gusher have discovered the oil is pouring to the surface not only from the drilled hole but from a break in the lake bottom as well, and it may be necessary to cap the whole immediate area.

The authorities have resorted to the expedient of sinking the oil by dumping barge-loads of sand on its surface, but the oil drifts in faster than the sand can be dumped. Most of the great American and European oil companies have holdings in the lake.

FIRE

30 feet from the blazing building. Originating at rackhouse No. 2, where newly made liquor was stored for aging, the flames destroyed the building—11 stories high and 150 by 180 feet in size and then it spread to the cooperage shop and threatened another rackhouse. The first explosion, which witnesses said was followed by lesser ones, occurred at about 10:15 p. m. (CST) last night and flames threw a lurid light across the sky until daybreak.

For a time six carloads of alcohol, standing on a siding close to the blazing rackhouse, were endangered by flames and until a switch engine hauled them away were a menace to fireman and spectators alike.

Firemen were handicapped in their fight against the leaping, alcohol-fueled flames by low water pressure, but eventually brought the blaze under control after hope for the entire plant had almost died.

A dozen persons were treated for injuries, caused principally by falling debris. The majority of those hurt were firemen and policemen, though a few spectators were singed by the flames.

The estimate of the damage, made by H. F. Wilkie, plant manager, covered only the rackhouse and its contents, the cooperage shop and a building housing the cistern which supplies water for distilling operations. He said the building loss was approximately $700,000 and the destroyed liquor worth about $2,000,000.

"The plant, located at the southern edge of the city, was completed a year ago at a cost of approximately $5,000,000, and since then $1,500,000 has been spent on improvements. The company advertises it as the "largest whiskey distillery in the world."

The cause of the blast which started the blaze was undetermined. Fireman and company officials would not hazard a guess as to the reason for the disastrous conflagration.

UTILITIES

he said, had been living in Baltimore four or five years.

Irvin Stewart, chairman of the communication commission's telegraph division, told reporters his office would be glad to try to comply if any request is made for an investigation of sending telegrams to which fake names have been signed.

If such an investigation were made, the commission undoubtedly would leave to states involved the question of prosecution of any cases of law violation that might be uncovered. There is nothing in the act permitting it to institute criminal proceedings itself.

Quay C. Haller, York, Pa., representative of the Associated Gas & Electric company, testified to the senate lobby committee today the names for 700 anti-utility bill telegrams from that city had been furnished him by E. A. Barnitz, vice president of the York Railway company, from a list of its employees.

Haller conceded under questioning that only about 300 of 1,800 telegrams sent to members of congress from York had actually been signed by the senders.

He said he asked Barnitz to get expression from his employees on the bill and Barnitz "passed the word on."

The employees, he said, were notified their names would be used for the messages unless they told their bosses they would object.

singles matches. On the other hand Uncle Sam's forces need only one more victory to advance to the challenge round.

The final singles contests will pit red-headed Donald Budge of Oakland, Calif., against the talented von Cramm, while Allison will take on young Heiner Henkel in the opening singles. Budge registered a four-set victory over Henkel and von Cramm disposed of Allison in straight sets.

There were two vital factors in the Americans' triumph today. First, they finally succeeded in solving von Cramm's whip-lash, high-bouncing service in the all-important fifth set and secondly they managed to coordinate their fore court offensive effectively.
