

BETA SIGMA PHI'S ANNUAL DINNER—The Exemplar and Ritual of Jewels chapters of Beta Sigma Phi held their annual Christmas dinner Tuesday evening at the Country Club. Shown in the serving line are Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Leveridge, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Jurden Brunken and Howard Gracey. Mrs. Leveridge and Mr. Basil Arnold decorated the dining tables with greenery entwined with small poinsetta lights and large poinsetta flowers.

Mrs. Henry is president of Exemplar Chapter. A miniature Christmas tree on a mirrored base edged with greenery is the center piece for the head table.

Office 'Lids' Win

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeatures Writer

An employer will hire a girl with less skills than he requires if she wears a hat and gloves, employment agency head Adele Lewis, said recently.

Now along comes intriguing confirmation of Miss Lewis' remarks: A news letter "From Nine to Five" distributed to business girls, published by a business texts company ran a poem about women's hats written by Wilbert E. Scheer, personnel director of a large outfit in Chicago. The company welcomed letters on the subject from office workers. Prizes were offered.

The poem, "Little Petruska" that started it all was this:

The little Petruska in frilly babushka
Go's scurrying down the street.
Her manner is pleasant, befitting a peasant!
Whose outfit appears incompleet.

In all of her clothing, there really is no thing.
That could not be called neat and pressed.
But picking a headress, her taste suffers deadness;
Her bonnet does not match the rest.

Her money she'll squander on pills quite beyond her
For haircuts and latest hair style.
But why does she manage 'this hairdo to bandage
In shawls that are so juvenile?
No one would imagine, this immature "Gretchen"
With improper millinery.

This little Petruska in her drab babushka
Was somebody's secretary.
Winners Janet Gerner an advertising agency secretary, Kay Miles an executive secretary in New York and Juanita Hinchee of Williamson, West Virginia all believed the hat was the key to the business girls' success.

Janet told about how everyone on their office elevator was happy when they saw a lady with the unusual hats. Kay, called Hattie because of her great hat collection related how one day she was without one when she met a male employee. He said: "Don't tell me that you are going to join the others and not wear a hat or join the kerchief brigade."

Juanita wrote she attracted considerable attention wearing a hat on her job as secretary to a member of law firm. "I feel my business success came about because I wore a hat to work when I first entered business. . . employers noticed me and began to ask who I was."

Runner-up Anna Lucht of St. Louis quoted a Cockney charwoman. "Life sometimes ain't wot yer want, but it's all yer got, so stick a geranium in yer 'at and be appy!"

Marquerite Boyles, secretary to a trucking company in Winston-Salem wrote an answer to Petruska which said in part:

Just between us girls, those cute little curls
look sweet 'neath a pillbox neat;
I abhor the 'snook' with the kerchief look that appears to hide a freak!
No guy likes a doll who looks like a moll,
lacking a pretty chapeau;
Men always stick to the pert 'little trick' whose top bears a crown with a bow.

No employer will pick the bare-headed chick
Seeking a job sans hat is sans brain;
And he'll shun the one like the point of a gun

For best flavor, brown ground beef in a little fat before using it in tomato sauce for spaghetti.

With ears sticking out like a crane!
No boss wants a sec with a pain in the neck
From the weight of a flower howl!
He likes 'Girl-Friday' fully dressed and tidy:
Office lids win - place - no - show!

Fashion Trends For Water Heaters

Modern water heaters are more compact in design than the old types. They occupy a minimum of space in utility rooms and basements. The manufacturers association points out that the trend in water heater design is toward a faster water-heat recovery rate rather than to larger-sized heaters. Another major improvement in heaters is in the use of corrosion-resistant materials.

Do you ever use zucchini (Italian) squash in a salad? Cut off the ends of small zucchini and chill before adding to crisp greens. If you like, you may leave the outside green skin on the squash, slice thin and use as is; in this case be sure to scrub the skin well with a vegetable brush.

Gooney Birds Still Holding Their 'Own'

By ROBERT MYERS
PEARL HARBOR (AP)—To the U.S. Navy the gooney birds of Midway Island are slightly less welcome than a common cold and a lot harder to get rid of.

The outcome of the Navy's long and costly war with the gawky gooneys—their scientific name is Laysan Albatross—is still in doubt but the brass continues to claim eventual victory. The Navy has been making that prediction for 40 years.

The gooneys don't claim anything. They just keep coming back to the Pacific atoll in seemingly ever-increasing numbers each November to re-establish their squatters' rights.

Both sides are convinced Midway is an ideal landing spot. The Navy uses it as a base for radar picket flights in the North Pacific. The Gooneys consider it a perfect nesting ground.

The Navy has called in experts from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the University of Hawaii, and its own research department. Once it's decided whether the birds might be necessary, this brought the Audubon Society into the act—on the side of the gooneys. The Navy made a hasty retreat.

Collisions between the gooselike albatrosses and naval planes cost the bird population—now estimated at 150,000—about 500 gooneys annually. The cost to the Navy is some $150,000 a year in damaged aircraft parts.

"Nearly every plane that takes off or lands on Midway is struck by a gooney," a veteran of island service estimated. Most of the hits are minor but occasionally a wing section is ripped loose or a wing tip chopped off.

Recently, the radar dome on the top of a picket plane was sheared in a gooney collision. The aircraft dipped and shuddered but turned around and landed safely. The gooney wasn't so lucky. He didn't make it back.

There have been no Navy casualties in this strange war but fliers live in constant dread of what could happen if a gooney hit a vital part during critical takeoff and landing.

The blundering, strutting birds cause other problems. They walk under the wheels of cars and trucks, overturn bicycles, smash into each other in flights and fall in squawking heaps on runways. Once several birds disrupted a training exercise by pecking at sailors taking cover in the brush.

The problem of the gooneys is a simple one—the birds nest in the same spot they were born. They refuse to move or be moved. Midway sailors say some even settle on asphalt covering their birthplaces.

Midway and an unknown island in the Aleutians (where the gooneys spend the summer) are the only places in the world where the birds gather in huge numbers. The gooneys fly away from Midway in June but always return by the end of November.

Attempts to lure the big creatures to other nesting places have failed. The Navy fixed up Green Island, 50 miles from Midway, with 19 runways to accommodate the gooneys. The brass figured such a layout would be just what they would want if they were gooney birds. It didn't work. The albatrosses took a look at their new home and flew right back to Midway.

When the Navy tried sprinkling molasses along runways, the birds mistook them for gooney eggs and sat on them. Another time, tires and sulphur were burned to smoke them out. Bazookas and mortars were fired to scare them. The gooneys seemed to enjoy the show.

Sand dunes have been leveled and cemented over to cut down the gentle updrafts the gooneys like so much. It cost the Navy $125,000. The result—negligible.

The Wildlife Service suggested paving a triangle formed by runways. That work will be done this winter but no one, including the Navy, is overly optimistic.

The gooney is a strange-looking bird with a seven-foot wingspread and webbed feet. He waddles, ducks fashion, and his long beak seems to hang against itself in a clicking noise. Around his eyes are dark markings which resemble a heavy coating of mascara.

His legs are for landing at sea. When he comes ashore, his long sticks out his feet like brakes, hits the ground and goes sliding into the dirt feet first.

The official Navy dislikes the gooney for the problem he creates. But sailors on the island love him.

"These birds are a source of never-ending pleasure and have proved to military-made bachelors a bigger morale booster than anyone not confined to our dubious 'paradise' could begin to realize," wrote one sailor from lonely Wotomless Midway.

"Let's hope," he added, "that a 'cure' for this problem is never found."

'Father' Of Atlas Views Final Test

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Karel J. Bossart, Belgium-born aeronautical engineer, watched proudly from atop a missile hangar as a great silvery projectile labored from its launching pad.

The 135-ton monster slowly picked up speed as its tons of fuel were consumed by three thirsty engines. Gradually it pitched over on a southeast heading and sped from sight.

Bossart, known as the "father" of the Atlas intercontinental range missile, received word minutes later that this Atlas was well on its way to a target 5,000 miles down the Atlantic training range.

The launching Wednesday was the last test for America's premier ICBM, closing out a flight program which began 5½ years ago on the same launching pad.

Bossart recalled that Atlas originally was conceived as a much larger vehicle, with five main engines and takeoff thrust of nearly 700,000 pounds, compared with 389,000 pounds for the most powerful breed of present-day Atlas.

In 1946, the Air Force awarded General Dynamics-Astronautics a contract to develop an intercontinental range missile capable of hurling a nuclear warhead 5,000 miles—4,800 miles farther than any U.S. missile had flown. The company named Bossart project engineer.

Because nuclear weapons were ponderous packages in those days, the five-engine Atlas was conceived. But in 1947, the Defense Department swung an economic ax and eliminated Atlas.

Russia, meanwhile, proceeded full steam with development of an ICBM to deliver the cumbersome payloads. As a result, the Soviets perfected a long-range rocket before the United States, and when man determined he could use such power to explore space, Russia had the boosters to put up seven-ton satellites and five-ton manned spacecraft.

Bossart persuaded General Dynamics to use its own limited funds to continue the Atlas program. Atlas was redesigned to the three-engine configuration and the first test vehicle, with only two engines and a dummy nose cone, thundered away from Cape Canaveral June 11, 1957. It went out of control and was destroyed by the range safety officer 51 seconds after blastoff.

Twenty-seven months and 29 launches later, the missile became operational. Today 12 squadrons totaling 108 missiles are war-ready. Atlases have been used more than 30 times on successful American space launches, including the orbital flights of astronauts John H. Glenn, Malcolm Scott Carpenter and Walter M. Schirra. More than 100 space firings lie ahead for this rocket which is serving until more powerful boosters are available.

9-Year Campaign Reaches Climax

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—January will become a major milestone for George McGovern when he is sworn in as South Dakota's first Democratic U.S. senator in 26 years.

It caps a campaign he started in 1953 when Democratic affairs in the state, traditionally Republican, were at perhaps their lowest ebb.

The Democrats then could muster but two votes in the 110-member legislature.

McGovern asked that something be done about the situation. Ward Clark, Democratic state chairman, named McGovern executive secretary.

McGovern already has come up with some firm philosophies. Such as, "Bad politics are caused by good people who don't take their political responsibility seriously."

He generally sums things up by commenting that, "If our political life is not what it should be, who is to blame but ourselves, the people?"

McGovern's ascendancy to the Senate was confirmed Wednesday when Republican Sen. Joe Bottum conceded the Democratic victory after a month-long recount.

McGovern held a 504-vote margin as he moved up to give the Democrats a 67-33 Senate majority starting next month.

The senator-elect became a Democrat in 1945 because he said he felt that party was "more on the side of the average American." He shies at the label of liberal, saying, "The longer I stay in politics, the less comfortable I feel wearing a label. I vote on either side, depending on the issue."

McGovern is the son of a Methodist minister. He attended public schools, then went to Dakota Wesleyan University, where he later taught government and history.

After serving as a B24 pilot in World War II, McGovern took his master's and doctor's degrees at Northwestern University in history and political science.

McGovern got his first active campaigning when he took time out from teaching in 1956 to win a South Dakota congressional seat. He was re-elected two years later. He made his first senate bid in 1960 against Republican Sen. Karl Mundt, but lost by 15,000 votes.

McGovern was tapped by President Kennedy to become Food for Peace director, a berth he held until embarking upon this year's campaign.

McGovern consistently has spoken out for high farm price supports and for federal aid to farmers and small businessmen. He also favors federal aid to all levels of education and the King-Anderson approach to medical help for the aged. He has a wife and five children.

Wintery weather, with strong winds, snow and cold rain, spread across wide areas from the Rockies into the Ohio Valley today. Cold air and light snow extended southward into Tennessee and northern Georgia.

The cold air mass had not reached the Atlantic seaboard but rain or showers dampened Florida and most coastal areas from South Carolina to Maine. The Atlantic storm moved northeastward and caused rough seas along the New England coast. Rain fell inland across New England.

Cold northwesterly winds carried snow from the Upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes across the Ohio Valley to the mountains of North Carolina and the Virginia highlands. Snow flurries peppered Atlanta, where the mercury dropped to 30 degrees.

Six inches of snow was on the ground in Akron, Ohio, with five inches during a six-hour period Wednesday night. Three inches fell in Youngstown, Ohio. Highways were snow packed in northeast Missouri between St. Louis and Hannibal. Bowling Green, Mo., reported nearly two inches of snow with similar amounts in parts of northern Indiana.

Fog was reported in the Middle and North Atlantic Coast states, the Lower Great Lakes region and in the North Central Pacific Coast states.

The coldest weather was from Minnesota and North Dakota southward into eastern Nebraska and western Iowa, with temperatures mostly in the teens. A low of 9 above was reported in Devils Lake, N.D.

A $250,000 wind tunnel that will simulate the searing temperatures and hypersonic speeds encountered by space vehicles has been developed by Goodyear Aircraft Corporation. It will be used to test new materials developed to protect space vehicles as they reenter the earth's atmosphere.

Texas Airman Is Found Dead At Base

HURLBERT FIELD, Fla. (AP)—Sgt. Jasper W. Driver, 30, of Weatherford, Tex., was found shot to death here Wednesday.

Officers said Driver had been despondent recently over family problems and that his death was apparently self-inflicted. He was a weapons instructor supervisor with the 1st Air Materiel Squadron of the Tactical Air Command's 1st Air Commando Group.

Kenova, W. Va., gets its name from Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia. It is located on a point where the three states converge.

Protest Made By TS&GRA

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Sheep and goat raisers demanded an immediate end Wednesday to what they called "abuse and illegal violations of basic human rights by gossamer-like federal law enforcement officers."

The tough resolution, directed at the commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, was approved at a meeting of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Association.

A county grand jury at Marfa indicted U.S. border patrolman Dudley Clanshaw of El Paso on a murder charge Tuesday in the death of a Mexican National, who was killed by a low-flying Border Patrol plane Nov. 20.

Authorities said the landing gear struck the victim, Yaldoro Chaparro, 23, while he was riding a horse on a ranch near Marfa, in far West Texas.

Referring to the death of Chaparro, the resolution demanded that "the pilot involved be delivered to a Texas district court grand jury for investigation without further federal intervention."

There was no immediate comment from the Border Patrol or other federal officials.

Jimmy Powell of Fort McKavett was elected president of the association.

Members selected Houston as their 1963 convention site. Quarterly meetings will be held in Waco, McGregor, Odessa and Kerrville.

Congress has grown from an original membership of 66 in 1789 to its present 437.

Election Winner Still Undecided

By GEORGE MOSES
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Minnesota elected a governor more than a month ago but still isn't sure who he is. And it may be weeks, possibly months, before the answer comes.

Legally, at the moment, the winner in the closest race in the state's history is the man now occupying the governor's chair, Republican Elmer E. Andersen, a St. Paul businessman.

The Minnesota Canvassing Board finally certified Andersen the winner over Democrat Karl Rolvaag, currently the lieutenant governor, by 142 votes.

This is about two one-hundredths of one per cent of the 1,267,502 ballots cast.

The canvassing board named Andersen the winner only after the State Supreme Court had told it to.

The board originally had split on whether to name Andersen or Rolvaag. At issue were 10 counties in which the original canvassed vote was changed after errors were discovered. Most of the changes were in Andersen's favor.

If the 10 altered county totals had not been accepted, Rolvaag would have been the winner by 58 votes. But the high court told the board to accept them.

To no one's surprise, Rolvaag immediately launched the legal preliminaries for a recount. He did so under Minnesota law by filing a petition in a district court, choosing a county in heavily Republican southern Minnesota for his petition.

Gov. Andersen then moved for a change of venue to the home county of both men, Ramsey, where the capitol is located.

The state Supreme Court has set a hearing for next Monday on which district court should take jurisdiction of the recount petition.

The race is so close that the question of disputed ballots in individual counties may well end up in court, too.

Few Minnesotans would hazard a bet that when the "new" governor addresses the 1963 legislature early in January it won't be Gov. Andersen—speaking as a holdover who stays in office until his successor under Minnesota law is duly elected and qualified.

Pessimists are talking of a July 4th inauguration.

Young AF Veteran Halts Bank Robbers

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)—Robert Dischler was not about to let two bank robbers get away with $1,600 the 24-year-old Air Force veteran had just deposited.

When two armed robbers entered the Bayway branch of the National State Bank of Elizabeth Wednesday, six customers and 12 bank employees looked on stunned and unmoving as one of the gunmen passed from teller to teller, stuffing $52,000 into a satchel.

Dischler swung into action. He jumped the bandit with the loot and wrestled the gun from him. At close range, Dischler fired a shot and the robber doubled up clutching at his stomach.

The second gunman advanced, spraying bullets. Dischler returned the fire until both robbers fled.

"I'd do it all again if I had to," Dischler said. "I was worried about a $1,600 deposit I had just made."

The deposit represented receipts from the gas station Dischler operates.

The fleeing bandits dropped the satchel, spilling hundreds of bills on the floor.

Los Alamos Trip Date Is Significant

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS
LOS ALAMOS, N.M.—President Kennedy's trip to Los Alamos Friday holds a symbolic meaning for this country's history.

On that day in 1941 World War II started and it was from that war that Los Alamos started work on the atomic bomb. The bomb ended the war.

In a way, Los Alamos was spawned on that date and it is conceivable that without that event it would still be a mountain retreat for boys instead of a bustling city of 13,500 persons busily engaged in supersecret nuclear experiments.

The President has never been to Los Alamos. He will find a community that is spread across the Pajarito Plateau—a series of finger mesas created by long-ago extinct volcanoes—in the Jemez Mountains.

It sits almost atop a mountain at 7,300 feet. The only access is by airplane, helicopter or on a twisting, turning mountain road.

The Hill City, as it is called by the natives, is 35 miles northwest of Santa Fe and 96 miles north of Albuquerque.

It has only been since February 1957 that the high, wire fence and the pistol-packing guards were removed. But a supersecret complex has remained with the city. Probably the sensitive nuclear work and the inaccessibility of the city have helped to develop this complex.

One of the main reasons for the President's coming to Los Alamos is to inspect the work being done to build a nuclear reactor to propel space ships into prolonged flights to the moon or the planets. The project is called Rover, which is a part of Nerva (nuclear engine for rocket vehicle application).

The Kiwi reactors, named after the flightless birds of New Zealand, are being developed as engines for the giant space ships.

Project Rover was set up in 1955 under the Atomic Energy Commission but has been taken over by the Space Nuclear Propulsion Office, a governmental agency staffed by personnel from the AEC and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The first planned use of Project Rover is the development of a nuclear third stage for the Saturn C5 manned lunar landing operation. With the nuclear third stage, a single vehicle would be all that would be needed for a landing and a return from the moon. Otherwise, a chemical-fueled rocket would require two-launch rendezvous of C5s or the development of a much larger chemical rocket.

The most important advantage of nuclear rockets is that they can use hydrogen as propellant. Hydrogen is more than a dozen times lighter, per particle, than the combustion products used to propel chemical rockets.

Rover reactors must generate great power on small fuel volume. To create the rather modest thrust of 50,000 pounds a reactor must produce about one million BTU per second, or enough energy to boil away a ton of water every two seconds.

In electrical terms, this power level is equal to 1,000 megawatts—a megawatt being a million watts. Hoover Dam's power production is 1,250 megawatts. Yet the core of the Kiwi reactor is barely larger than a kitchen range.

Another of the main projects at Los Alamos the President may inspect is Project Sherwood.

Project Sherwood searches for the control of the fusion reactions that occur in the H-bomb. If these reactions can be controlled, the inexhaustible supply of deuterium found in sea water will replace the world's dwindling supply of fossil fuels as a source of energy.

The energy potential in one gallon of water is equal to about 300 gallons of gasoline.

Sherwood got under way at Los Alamos in 1951. The first device for creating and controlling fusion was called permapatron—perhaps it would work and perhaps it wouldn't. It didn't, but the data obtained proved the idea would work some day.

Also being studied at Los Alamos is the detection of nuclear explosions in space, at the earth's surface and below ground. It is called the Vela program.

Health research programs also are being done at Los Alamos, mostly to determine the effect of radiation on people and animals. Cryogenics, a study of the effects on materials when they are subjected to extremely low temperatures, is another of the projects being developed at Los Alamos.

The test site at Alamogordo, near Las Vegas, Nev., to be visited by the President Saturday, has $45 million worth of test construction and equipment.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., has long been a proponent of nuclear power for space travel. It was largely through his efforts that the President decided to come to New Mexico to see its nuclear area.

Sen. Anderson is hopeful that what the President sees will impress him enough to give a higher priority to the projects and experiments being conducted at Los Alamos.

Questions Invited; Response Prompt

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, after telling U.S. students to prepare themselves for tough questions when abroad, invited questions from his audience Wednesday.

Nicholas O. Asinof of Ghana asked "When you came to Africa you got within a stone's throw of my country and then you didn't come. Why didn't you come to Ghana?"

Kennedy replied he was in Africa only two days, but did talk with a woman representative of Ghana who gave him a pair of Ghanaian cuff links.

Holding up his right arm, the attorney general said "I have them on now."

Supplies Of Turkeys Up This Week

By The Associated Press
Supplies of turkeys increased sharply this week at Texas food markets as the trade prepared for heavy Christmas buying, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Many markets are featuring specials on turkeys, dropping prices almost as low as they have been since the war.

Broilers are plentiful with prices little changed.

Some cuts of fresh pork reflect the slightly lower hog prices. Beef is generally edging upward.

Shrimp are in rather tight supply with prices much higher than a year ago. Maine sardines are plentiful.

Christmas favorites dominate fresh fruit markets. Red Rome and Jonathan apples, red grapes, bananas, Florida grapefruit and oranges, Florida navel oranges and cranberries rate as good buys.

Iceberg lettuce, sharply lower than a week ago, leads the bargain list as vegetable counters.

Cabbage is much lower as Texas harvesting increases. Other good buys include celery, carrots, onions, especially yellow varieties, sweet potatoes and round red potatoes.

Fresh radishes from Florida are unusually plentiful for this season and prices are attractive.

Pecans, lemons and cucumbers are scarce and prices much higher than they normally are during December.

Map Theft Case Solved

ATHENS, Tex. (AP)—Officers in two cities reported they've solved a theft of $1 confidential oil and gas survey maps valued at more than $1 million.

One man is in custody on a burglary charge. Another is being investigated on suspicion of receiving and concealing stolen property.

The maps, prepared by seismograph engineers in Texas and Oklahoma, were stolen Nov. 11 from offices of Lone Star Gas Co. in Athens.

Officers said the maps were sent by bus from Port Lavaca to a man in Athens. They identified the sender as Tom Spencer, an engineer who worked here for several weeks while some of the maps were being made.

Spencer, arrested in Port Lavaca for questioning about the theft of some automobile tires, is held on a burglary charge. The Athens man, so far not identified publicly, has been jailed.

Dist. Atty. Mack Wallace said the maps were recovered in the office of an Athens business firm after a tip from the district attorney at Port Lavaca.

The map contained confidential information and gave the locations of oil producing areas.

Professor Can't Shake That Castro

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Dr. Pedro Magli, a music professor who fled from Cuba during the Castro revolution, works as a piano tuner here. He returned from a job Wednesday to find that his car had been towed away by police for being illegally parked. He was fined $5.

The patrolman who ticketed Magli's car, Henry Castro.

BACK TO THE BANK—Detroit Patrolman Allen Hertz, left, counts the life savings of Andy Bari, center, while Detective Angus Gatherum and Detective Inspector William Ellenburg, right, watch. Tipped by a bank where Bari, 68, withdrew $30,000, police called on Bari at his home and were shown his life savings. Bari said he was afraid the Russians would invade the United States and he would lose his money. Convinced the Russians had no plans, Bari watched as the money was counted at police headquarters and then it was taken back to the bank. (AP Wirephoto)

Expense Account Living Is Proving To Be Lively Corpse

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Expense account living is proving to be a very lively corpse.

It was pronounced dead when the Internal Revenue Service announced tight new rules for deducting a lot of such items from income tax returns.

The business lunch and the night out at the girls shows were called doomed. But like a lot of other aspects of the American way of life that have been counted down and out, this form of free enterprise seems likely to be around for awhile. A bit tamer, maybe, but as a way of doing business still right in there.

And a tough customer gets more genial after a cocktail or two and a gourmet lunch. Also, say the business lunch enthusiasts, often that's the only time they can talk to their man, protected as he is the rest of the day by secretaries, colleagues sticking their heads in the door, and by a waiting room full of potential competitors.

Renoir Painting Brings $100,000

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the major works of French impressionist painter Renoir was auctioned Wednesday night for $100,000 at the Parke-Bernet Galleries. The sum will go to three charities.

The painting, titled "LA Fete de Pan," executed in 1879, shows a group of maidens and their companions decorating with roses the figure of Pan, in a scene of spring festival.

Finally there's the matter of good will. This is the hardest to explain to the tax collector. But if the business lunch guest goes home filled with kind thoughts for his host as well as with good food, days or weeks or even months later he may come forth with a highly desired order. Or he may give his erstwhile host a tip that can be translated into dollars and cents.

The business lunch is subject for debate in corporate as well as tax collecting circles. Some company treasurers think executives eat awfully well while mulling over problems with their colleagues, competitors, customers, suppliers, or branch office counterparts.

But the business lunch apologists have some answers ready. For one thing, the phone doesn't ring while they're talking—unless they're impressing their guest by Right or wrong, taxable or not, it's a way of doing business. And large segments of American business—from a small town store's dress buyer to the president of a billion-dollar corporation—use it.

Whooping cranes grow to about five feet tall. Often confused with pelicans, the long-legged cranes fly with wings and necks extended while pelicans fly with bent necks and have short legs.

All-Americans Named

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Fabulous Terry Baker, Jerry Stovall, George Mira and George Salinas—responsible for a combined total offense of over 5,000 yards this season—comprise the backfield of the 1962 Associated Press All-America Football team announced today.

Baker, an honor student in mechanical engineering at Oregon State, was named Heisman Trophy winner as the outstanding player of the year and was the top National Football League draft pick.

In all, six members of the All-America were first round NFL selections, including the versatile Stovall from Louisiana State, ends Pat Richter of Wisconsin and Dave Robinson of Penn State, center Lee Roy Jordan of Alabama and Purdue tackle Don Brumm.

Mira, the pass master of Miami, Fla., and fullback Salinas from Michigan State are joined by Damon Bame, fierce guard and linebacker from Southern California's national champions, tackle Bobby Bell of Minnesota and guard Johnny Treadwell, heart of unbeaten Texas defense.

Bame and Mira are juniors, the rest seniors.

An unusual feature of the line which averaged 212 pounds per man—20 pounds less than last year's All-America forward wall—is that the most weight is packed into the end position. Richter is a 220-pounder who guarded a flank for the nation's No. 2 power, Robinson goes 222.

The fast, hard-hitting aggregation was picked on recommendations of eight regional boards composed of sports writers and broadcasters who took action on all games through Dec. 1. Only one man in collegiate history ever cranked out more career total offense yardage than the left-handed passing Baker, whose 2,276 output this fall gave him 4,980 for his three varsity seasons. Johnny Bright of Drake set the mark of 5,903 a dozen years ago.

Baker was a Portland, Ore., high school teammate of halfback Mel Renfro, the brilliant University of Oregon star who landed a second team All-America berth in Mississippi's Glyn Griffing. Billy Moore of Arkansas and spectacu-

Tournament Play Slated For Bengals

Snyder's Tigers, following an opening 54-43 triumph over Hamlin, hit the tournament trail this evening in Plainsville when they engage the host quintet at 7:45 in the first round of play.

Plainsville will field a high-scoring outfit that is undefeated in three starts. Other teams entered in the tourney are McAdoo, Canyon, Littlefield, Floydada, Phillips, Tulsa, Dimmitt, Lockney, Big Spring, Midland L'E, and Abilene Cooper.

The Tigers will return home following tonight's game. A victory would have them playing their second game at 9 p.m. tomorrow; should they lose, they will play again until Saturday morning at 11-15.

Stellar Field In Sight For Local Tourney

An imposing array of teams—including three from class 4A schools—will make up the entries for the Snyder B Team Tournament which will be staged in Tiger Gym Friday and Saturday.

Class 4A teams entered include Lubbock, Monterey, Lubbock and Big Spring, while from the 3A ranks there will be Brownfield, Lake View and Lamesa in addition to host Snyder. Rounding out the eight-team field is Hamlin of class 2A, which dropped Snyder B in its opener Tuesday, 44-33.

Five games cram Friday's card beginning with the Lubbock-Hamlin fray at 1 p.m. Following at 2:30 will be Snyder-Brownfield, at 4 Monterey-Lake View, and at 5:30 Big Spring-Lamesa.

The fifth and final contest of the day is at 7 o'clock, and matches the losers of the initial two battles in a consolation match.

A trio of games is on tap for Saturday morning—one in the losers bracket and the other two in the winners. Starting times are 8, 9:30, and 11.

Saturday afternoon and evening it'll be the consolation championship encounter at 4:30, the battle for third place at 6, and the championship final at 7:30.

Trophies will go to the first, second, third and consolation placing teams. In addition, a 10-player all-tournament team will be named.

Both Lubbock B and Monterey B are undefeated and have been granted the nod as co-favorites on the eve of the tournament.

Winters-Denver City Tilt The Featured Attraction

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Texas schoolboy football race pushes into its semifinals this week with a clash of unbeaten united teams in Class AA heading the schedule of 16 games.

Denver City, pride of the plains, and Winters, a West Texas power, battle at Midland Friday night. It's the feature game of AA, which has no defending champion.

Class AAAA headlines the clash of Borger and San Angelo at Borger Saturday. It's a big test for the Bulldogs of Borger, who sent their first state title in history. In early season San Angelo lost to this same bunch of Bulldogs 19-13.

But San Angelo has improved greatly and in its last four games rolled up an average of 43 points. Borger may have its hands full.

Spring Branch, the other big Class AAAA title favorite, takes on troublesome South Park of Beaumont. In other AAAA games it's Dallas Samuels vs. Lufkin and Brownsville vs. San Antonio Brackenridge.

Borger, Samuels, Spring Branch and Brownsville should be the favorites.

Class AAA has one of the big games of the season—defending champion Dumas, losing only to Borger, vs. unbeaten, unbeaten Brownwood. The winner will become the title favorite without question.

McKinney plays Jacksonville, Orange battles Bay City and Austin Johnston travels to Pharr-San Juan-Alamo.

McKinney, Orange, and Pharr-San Juan-Alamo will be favored. Brownwood is a good bet to knock over the champion.

The Denver City-Winters winner will be installed as the big favorite, but there are some gaudy records among the teams playing in other Class AA games.

Jacksboro is unbeaten and untied and puts its record on the line against a Mineola team that has lost only one game. Sinton is unbeaten but tied. It plays Missouri City Dumas, a late developing powerhouse.

Rockdale and Huntsville, each with 11-1 records, clash in the other AA quarterfinal.

Denver City, Jacksboro, Humble and Sinton will be favored. Albany, defending champion of

Shrine Team Is Revealed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A balanced and talented West squad for the 38th annual Shrine East-West football game, to be played here Dec. 29, was announced today by managing director William H. Coffman.

Head Coach Dan Devine of Missouri will have 11 players, seven catchers, runners, kickers and defensive specialists on the 24-player team that was drawn from 16 different schools west of the Mississippi river.

TCU quarterback Sonny Gibbs, who can throw the ball a Texas mile, will enjoy the use of Hugh Campbell, the NCAA record-holding end from Washington State, and a number of other noted receivers.

The West squad will train at Stanford University and will report, as the East, on Dec. 19.

The squad:

ENDS—Hugh Campbell, Washington State; Gene Rasmussen, Utah State; Marvin Fleming, Utah; Conrad Hitchner, Missouri.

TACKLES—Steve Barnett, Oregon; Ron Snidow, Oregon; Dave Costa, Utah; Lionel Aldridge, Utah State.

GUARDS—Tom Hertz, Missouri; Robert Burk, Baylor; Raymond Schoenke, SMU.

CENTERS—Ray Mansfield, Washington; Jim Maples, Baylor; J. R. Williams, Tennessee State.

QUARTERBACKS—Sonny Gibbs, TCU; Larry Balliet, California; Jim Johnson, Missouri.

HALFBACKS—Charles Mitchell, Washington; Kenneth Alexander, UCLA; Ronnie Goodwin, Baylor; Terry Dillon, Montana.

FULLBACKS—George Reed, Washington State; Ed Cummings, Stanford; Bill Thornton, Nebraska.

World Series pitching hero Ralph Terry tossed four shutouts for the Yankees, N. Y., in 1961, his first season in organized baseball.

Cincy Tops Associated Press Poll

By The Associated Press
It took two long years and a couple national title games, but the Cincinnati Bengals finally reached the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press regular season weekly basketball poll.

The veteran Bengals were an overwhelming choice for the top spot in the first weekly poll Wednesday, gaining 38 first place votes on the 44 ballots cast and outdistancing the second team by more than 100 points.

Strangely, it was the first time in three years Cincinnati had topped the poll, though the school won the NCAA title the last two seasons. Ohio State led each week for the last two seasons, only to fall before the Bengals twice in the NCAA finals.

Only three other teams received first place votes. Duke got three, West Virginia two and Texas one. The Duke Blue Devils edged West Virginia for second place, 307 points to 281.

High-scoring Loyola of Chicago, which scored more than 100 points in each of its first two triumphs, took fourth, followed by Mississippi State, Wisconsin, Oregon State, Indiana, Kentucky and Wichita in that order.

Kentucky, ranked third in the pre-season poll behind Cincinnati and Duke fell to ninth after suffering a upset at the hands of ambitious Virginia Tech, 80-77, in its opening game.

Intersectional Strife Ahead

By The Associated Press
Southwest Conference basketball teams journey out of Texas to meet some strong opponents Thursday night.

Southern Methodist will play Georgia Tech in Atlanta while Texas Tech's Red Raiders invade Albuquerque to meet New Mexico.

The Raiders lost their single start 68-66 to Nebraska. SMU has a 500 record in two games, beating Oklahoma City 55-53 and losing 68-98 to Oklahoma.

The Texas Longhorns kept a perfect pre-conference record Wednesday night as they routed East Texas State 71-38 at Austin.

It was the first loss in three games for the East Texas Lions and Texas' second victory of the season. The Longhorns whipped Howard Payne 77-53 last Saturday.

Making their best defensive showing in more than a decade the 'Horns led all the way and everybody on the Texas squad saw action. Joe Fisher scored 14 points to pace the winners and Mutt Heller pitched in 11 for Texas. Ben Ridley scored 11 to pace the losers.

TOP TV TONIGHT

By BUD EVANS

8:30 NBC "Hall of Fame" presents Edmond Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac", translated by Brian Hooker and adapted for television by Robert Hartung. The verse tragedy, which has also been called a prime example of swash-buckling romantic theatre, is set in Paris in the year 1640. Christopher Plummer is seen in the title role with Hope Lange as Roxanne. Others in the cast are John Cullis, William Hutt, Donald Harron and George Rose. COLOR.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS
6:30 NBC "Wide Country" Andy Guthrie persuades his brother Mitch to help a war hero down on his luck, then learns that words alone do not a hero make. Ray Danton paints an exciting picture of his war adventures and then fails miserably when he gets a chance to be a real hero.

7:00 CBS "Perry Mason". Small-town prejudice erupts against a young high school teacher who is anonymously accused of improper behavior with her students. Mona Freeman is cast as the teacher, Edgar Buchanan as Judge Edward.

Knowledge Of Slant Denied
TYLER (AP) - B. B. Orr and W. R. Henderson assert that news that their wells were slanted under a Pan American Petroleum Corp. lease was a big surprise. Testifying in federal court Wednesday, the oilmen denied they knew the wells were not bottomed on the Orr-Snyder lease before Pan American named them as defendants in a $981,385 damage suit.

"I did not purposely kick (slant) the well back among the Pan American wells," Orr testified. Henderson admitted his supervisory capacity at the well site but said he saw nothing to rouse his suspicions in the drilling procedure.

The state has shut down and severed pipeline connections to a large number of wells found to be deviated, and is seeking penalties from the well owners.

Leases Sold On University Lands
AUSTIN (AP) - The state received $2,137,500 Wednesday from leases on 113 of 124 offered tracts, a board handling university lands reported.

Both oil and gas leases were offered at one-sixth royalty. The sale involved 831,962 acres and the average bonus was $66.87 an acre.

Pan American Petroleum Corp. spent $506,000 as top buyer. The largest bid was $375,000 on a drilling block of 2,297 acres in Andrews County.

'Young Bob' Taft Continues Family Tradition In Politics

By HAROLD HARRISON
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Back in 1876 Alphonso Taft was appointed to the Cabinet of President U.S. Grant. Since then, except for a few years, a Taft has been a prominent figure in the federal government—executive, judicial or legislative.

Next January, another Taft will appear on the national scene. He is Robert Taft Jr., elected in November as congressman-at-large from Ohio.

"Young Bob" is the son of the late U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, three times an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for president but who became known as "Mr. Republican."

He is the grandson of William Howard Taft who served one term as president, was a U.S. circuit judge, civil governor of the Philippines, and chief justice of the United States.

He is the great-grandson of Alphonso Taft, who served as an ambassador in addition to having been a member of Grant's Cabinet.

"Young Bob", 45, served four two-year terms in the Ohio House of Representatives.

He is more congenial among those not his close friends and seems to enjoy small talk much more than did his father. Yet there still is some of the Taft aloofness in casual conversation.

His thinking on many political issues such as spending, taxation and foreign policy is close to that of his father.

"I have never tried to pattern myself after my father," he said. "After all, 10 years have passed and we have to think of the particular time."

ANOTHER TAFT ON THE NATIONAL SCENE—Robert Taft Jr., 45, son of the late U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, is another member of the Taft family who will appear on the national scene, come next January. race eight years ago, was asked if he had long considered seeking elective office.

"I was brought up in politics," he said, "but I believe a man should have another way of life and I don't mean just in a financial sense. I like the practice of law and I like to know I have that."

"Without such a way of life there is the psychological feeling that you can't afford to lose and the pressure to follow the easy way is too severe."

There has been talk that Taft might seek in 1964 the U.S. senatorial seat now held by Stephen Young, a Democrat.

"It's too early to plan for 1964," Taft said. "Who knows, I might just get tired and decide to come home."

He says he is a firm believer that federal expenditures should be reduced except in the fields of defense and space age development. He does not favor tax cuts without a reduction in expenses. He urges an across-the-board reduction in government personnel.

As for the United Nations, he says, "I mistrust the U.N. as a major determining factor in our foreign policy, although I believe we should work through the U.N. to maintain contact with other nations. I mistrust the present administration's disarmament policy."

He does not believe the Republican party is as badly split between liberals and conservatives as are the Democrats.

"I don't see the Republican party veering to the right," he said. "I believe it will stay just about on the course it now follows and I believe the 1960 platform still is about the present policy of the party."

In the Ohio Legislature Taft was at his best in working with subcommittees to iron out difficulties in controversial legislation.

When the new congressman goes to Washington he will join his brother, William H. Taft III, a former ambassador to Ireland, who is now assigned to the U.S. Information Agency's selection agency to screen personnel for promotion.

"Young Bob" and Mrs. Taft, a former New Yorker, have four children. Robert II is a senior at Yale. Sarah Butler, 19, is a sophomore at Radcliffe; Deborah, 16, is a junior at Concord Academy in Concord, Mass. The youngest child, Jonathan, 8, will accompany his parents to Washington.

For hobbies, Taft likes the outdoors. He is an eight-handicap golfer and likes to go trout fishing in Canada.

Mountain Climbers Expect Tough Going On Mt. Everest

By FRANK CARLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The leader of 19 Americans preparing for the first U.S. assault on the "roof of the world"—towering Mt. Everest and two sister peaks—figures the climb will be "95 per cent sheer hell, 5 per cent beauty."

"But in such things, we remember only the 5 per cent of beauty when it's over," remarked Norman G. Dyhrenfurth, the expedition's 44-year-old chief.

He and some of the companions outlined their plans Wednesday at a news conference staged by the National Geographic Society, a sponsor of the $326,000 venture scheduled for this spring.

Six of the Americans will climb Mt. Everest, at 29,028 feet, the world's highest mountain. Two other teams of two men each will have a go at Everest's sister peaks in the Himalayas—Lhotse, 27,923 feet, and Mt. Nuptse, 25,726 feet.

It will be, they said, the first time a single expedition has attempted to scale the three peaks in a single season, although each has been conquered before by climbers.

Dyhrenfurth, of Santa Monica Canyon, Calif., said if the Americans reach the top of Everest, they will be the third expedition to pull off the trick.

The British, who were first, and the Swiss, who were second, reached the top of Everest in 1960 and left as proof a bust of Mao Tse-tung.

Their claim has been challenged.

If the bust of Mao Tse-tung is there, we'll send them a congratulatory telegram," said Dyhrenfurth.

One thing the expedition won't look for, he said, is the elusive "Aurora Borealis," which legend holds lives amid the snow and ice on Everest's slopes.

Dyhrenfurth said he believes the creature is more fact than legend, probably a man-like ape "very high on the evolutionary scale."

But the expedition aims at more practical results.

The Army, Navy and Air Force are also among sponsors of the venture, which expects to unearth new information about man's ability to perform under stress.

The men assigned to make the final stages of all three climbs will be pushed purposely, temporarily, beyond the "deterioration" point of physiological and psychological endurance.

Among other things, they'll be denied any auxiliary oxygen until they reach 25,000 feet—and during the final 4,000 feet, even though getting extra oxygen, their bodies will feel short of it.

Three teams of two men each will make the assault on Everest, and the hope is to place more than two men finally at the top. The expedition leader said that if things go well, as many more as possible would try for the grand prize.

The U.S. party will reach the peaks through the Nepal side. A more direct route lies in Red China, but the group didn't bother to ask permission to use it.

The Americans, all experienced mountain climbers, will have to reach the mountains and finish the climb during May, before the monsoon season sweeps in.

Sheriff Posse Meets Here, Maps Plans

The Scurry County Sheriff's Posse met Tuesday night at the Village. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Blake Walker, with several new memberships being taken.

An announcement was read of the American Association of Sheriff Poses and Riding Clubs Convention to be held in San Antonio this weekend.

George Maule, parade marshal, requested a parade drill December 9th at 2:30 p.m. at the rodeo grounds.

A report was made on the work and furnishings progress of the Posse Clubhouse.

A contribution to the Goodfellows was made, also service volunteered for helping to deliver boxes.

A club Christmas party was planned for Thursday night, December 13, at the Northeast Community Center. The club requests donations of a turkey and ham for the party with the members' families to bring a vegetable, salad or dessert to complete the meal. There will be an exchange of gifts.

Estes Must Pay For Transcript

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A federal appeals court has ruled that if Billie Sol Estes needs a stenographic transcript for an appeal, he must pay for it.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejected a plea, by the bankrupt West Texas promoter that he be allowed to proceed with an appeal using the government's transcript. His lawyers say he doesn't have the money for printing the stenographic transcript.

At issue is a motion to declare Estes a pauper. U.S. Dist Judge R. E. Thomson in El Paso had refused to consider the motion unless Estes appeared for questioning about his assets. The appeal is from that ruling and the appeal requires a transcript of the bankruptcy hearing for Estes.

It took the first congress in 1789 three sessions and 519 days to transact its business.

Decision In Tulane Case Is Rapped

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An attorney claims that a federal judge's decision in the Tulane University desegregation case could provide a new legal basis to thwart desegregation of public institutions.

U.S. Dist Judge Frank R. Ellis Jr. of New Orleans ruled Wednesday that Tulane, as a private institution, cannot be forced to admit Negroes.

Ellis—President Kennedy's civil defense director before being named to the federal bench—said there was not sufficient state involvement in the operation of Tulane to bring it within the scope of the 14th Amendment, the equal rights provision of the U.S. Constitution.

John P. Nelson, attorney for the two Negro women who sought to enter Tulane, said the decision "opens the door to new and more subtle forms of racial discrimination in higher education."

Nelson, in oral arguments and briefs, contended that a state university was transferred to the Tulane Educational Fund and that no new university was created. Tulane attorneys argued that the state institution called the University of Louisiana ceased to exist in 1884 and that a new private university, namely Tulane, came into existence.

Ellis cleared the way for Tulane to accept Negroes voluntarily, ruling that the state act under which the Tulane Educational Fund took over the University of Louisiana was unconstitutional to the extent that it imposed discrimination.

Nelson said he will appeal the decision to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here.

Estes Investigation Is Quietly Reopened

DALLAS (AP)—House probes are reported to be quietly reopening an inquiry into the Billie Sol Estes case, the Dallas News said today.

A dispatch from Washington gave these details: James Naughton, chief counsel for a House subcommittee headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., and two aides will leave shortly to see Dr. James Ralph, a former assistant secretary of agriculture, in California.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman fired Ralph last spring. This occurred after it was established that Ralph had used the telephone credit card of Estes, the bankrupt West Texas promoter who has been convicted on a state charge of swindling.

Ralph is working for a fruit processing company in California.

Collection Of Blankets For Algeria Set

At its regular meeting the Scurry County Ministerial Alliance approved an appeal for "Blankets for Algeria."

The Rev. Roy R. Havens, who will be in charge of the project, said that the seven-year civil war in Algeria has left 1,300,000 people destitute. It is felt that unless blankets are rushed to them immediately, many thousands of these men, women, and children in the cold, mountainous regions around Constantine and Batna will freeze to death in the coming winter months.

These refugees from war are natives of the low lands and fled to the mountains to escape death by shelling and planned demolition in areas of military operation. Help for them is desperately needed, Rev. Havens said. A good, new, old, warm, lightweight, narrow, wide, children's or baby blanket could save a life, he said.

Blankets to be contributed should be taken by the central fire station, or for persons who wish to donate a blanket but are unable to come to the fire station should call HI 3-6215. A fireman will come by for the blanket.

The ladies of the firemen's auxiliary have volunteered to pack the donated blankets and prepare them for shipment.
