County Roads

Program Would Be Unified Into A Single Department

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles designed to give information on the "Optional Road Law" proposition on which Howard county voters will ballot at the general election on Nov. 2. Other articles will appear in subsequent issues of The Herald.)

When Howard county voters go to the polls on November 2, they will be handed, in addition to the large general election ballot, a separate smaller ballot on which they may vote For or Against the "Optional County Road Law."

This is a law enacted by the legislature in 1947 which authorizes counties to hold an election to determine whether or not a unified county road department shall be established.

Organization of such a road department will be mandatory upon the commissioners court, in event a majority of voters give it approval. The program would continue in effect until ordered out in another election, and there would have to be at least a two-year wait before another election could be called.

The county road unit system, as it may be called, is not a radical idea, although it might be new to most Texas people. However, it is in use in whole or in part today in Chambers, Collin, Harrison, McLennan, Limestone, Smith, Henderson, Falls, Panola and Potter counties, and is standard practice in Middle Western states.

Briefly, the law provides for the establishment of a county road department which would consist of the commissioners court as the policy-determining body, a county road engineer as the chief executive officer, and other road employees.

The construction and maintenance of all county roads, the ownership and use of all road equipment, materials and supplies, and the administration of the road program as a whole would be on the basis of the county as a whole, without regard to commissioners precincts.

Under the law, the commissioners court would be expected to draft an over-all program of road construction and maintenance, and direct the engineer to see that such a program is carried out.

It is not designed to take any rightful authority from the commissioners court, since that body still is the policy-making body, and has the authority to hire and fire (after a public hearing if circumstances so warrant) the engineer.

The program would proceed on the assumption that a qualified engineer (he must meet state qualifications) would have the technical and supervisory skill to handle road building and upkeep projects more economically, and with better results, than could laymen.

It would proceed on the assumption that road building and upkeep would be done, in order of priority, where it is most needed, and where the most people would be served, without such projects being handicapped by precinct demands or minority pressure.

Future articles in this series will deal more in detail with the functions of the proposed road department, and will include reports from counties where the unified road program is in operation.

Reviewing The Big Spring -Week-

Joe Pickle

Don't expect the Howard County Fair, upcoming this weekend, to be any State Fair, or even a West Texas Fair. After all, it is starting from scratch, and any start at all must be regarded as worthwhile, so that better exhibitions can be built in the future. Meanwhile, a lot of credit for how the fair does shape up—and it is going to be interesting—is due such young men as Lloyd Wooten, Harvey Wooten, Culin Grigsby, Ray Griffin and others for many hours of hard work.

The city has every right to resentment over a Texas Highway Department finding that automatic-light traffic signals are not justified on Gregg street, either on the South side at Park and 18th, or the North Side. Lights were approved for some Third street intersections, but many local people regard the Gregg street intersection just as hazardous. There may be some would argue that the city should be "rebel" enough to put up lights on Gregg, just to see what the state would or could do about it.

Our town has been honored with visits of notables during the past week. Gibb Gilchrist, chancellor of Texas A&M, was here for the county agents' gathering; Sam Jones, a Louisiana governor, made an appearance in behalf of the State Rights campaign; and the popular president of Texas Tech, D. M.

GIANT NAVY PLANE GETS LIFT FROM ROCKETS—The Navy's giant 180-passenger Constitution receives a terrific thrust from six rockets in a takeoff at the Los Angeles airfield, Burbank, Calif., in one of a series of final tests. The six Jato (jet assisted takeoff) rockets shorten the takeoff run by nearly 24 per cent. Tests were made up to 184,000 pounds gross weight on the Lockheed-built transport with the controls unaffected by the added power. Six rockets give the plane added power roughly equivalent to one of its four 3,400 horsepower engines. (AP Wirephoto from U. S. Navy.)

Chest Leaders Hope To End Drive Friday

Hopes of completing the local campaign by Friday were expressed late yesterday by Community Chest officials, although they said it was apparent that solicitation efforts must be redoubled if the $37,000 goal is reached by that date.

One mile stone was reached on schedule Saturday, but only after the Chest headquarters office was kept open after hours to receive late reports. The final tabulation for the week amounted to approximately $19,000, which meant that the half-way mark was exceeded. That was the preliminary goal for Saturday, but officials had hoped that it would be reached in time for the office to observe the regular noon closing hour. Instead, personnel remained on duty throughout the afternoon to tabulate late reports and reach the week's objective.

Actual solicitation work began last Tuesday, which means that the current total was reached in exactly five days, and establishing Friday as closing date provides a period of similar length to raise the remainder of $18,000. Such a schedule will require a speedier pace for solicitation workers for several reasons, officials explained.

For one thing, early contributions always bring in reports from the community's most dependable contributors and the first reports always result from the efforts of the most energetic workers. Also, big gifts, which account for the "big chunks" usually are established early in the campaign.

This phase of the current campaign has passed, the officials explained, and from now on the success of the drive depends upon large numbers of smaller contributions, particularly from employees of the various business establishments and industrial concerns.

The ideal chest contribution for an employee has been set at a day's pay, based on similar campaigns throughout the country. That standard was arrived at by considering that the chest offers the individual an opportunity to contribute only once instead of donating to several agencies at different times, which would be the case if the participating organizations were not cooperating in a combined effort.

Cannvass workers again have been urged to make prompt reports to Chest headquarters in the Empire Southern Gas office. Above all, however, officials are asking that contacts be made as rapidly as possible, since the drive is expected to fall short of the goal unless all canvass areas are thoroughly covered.

Another encouraging report was received from Jo Hestand, who is handling solicitation in the public schools. She submitted $375 Saturday and promised another report by late Monday. Large numbers of pupils, as well as teachers, have made contributions in the school canvass.

North Palestine Reportedly Scene Of Serious Fight

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 23. —An Israeli army statement tonight reported an outbreak of "serious fighting" in the north just after a week of heavy battle with the Egyptians in southern Palestine.

This time the fighting apparently was with the Syrians. The action took place north of Lake Hula in the small thumb of Israeli territory between Syria and Lebanon.

Who started the fight and who was on the offensive was not known here, but the Army statement said the fighting was still in progress.

An Associated Press report from Haifa said some additional details were known there but rigid censorship was in force.

The announcement here said the Arabs had captured the height of Sheikh Abdad, which dominates the highway over which the Jews supply a score or settlements, including Dan, Daphne and Kfar Glati, in the northern thumb.

The height is in the region of Manara where a Lebanese commando last night said Jewish forces with tanks attacked at dawn yesterday. The Lebanese said their heavy artillery joined the battle and that the Jews were repulsed after a full day of fighting.

Russians Reject Face Saving Plan

Reds Due To Veto Berlin Resolution

PARIS, Oct. 23. (AP)—Andrei Vishinsky of Russia has rejected the six-power face-saving resolution for solving the Berlin crisis, an authoritative information said tonight. A Soviet veto of the resolution when it comes before the security council on Monday apparently is in the cards. Although there is no certainty that Moscow has given its final answer, it appeared Vishinsky took his stand after consultation with the Kremlin.

The informant disclosed Vishinsky's attitude after the Soviet deputy foreign minister had conferred for two hours with Juan Bramuglia, Argentine foreign minister and leader of the six neutrals on the Security Council.

The six powers yesterday introduced a resolution in the Security Council proposing that Russia lift the Berlin blockade immediately; that the four military governments in Germany begin immediate negotiations to implement the Moscow agreement of Aug. 30 for a Soviet-backed, four-power controlled mark in Berlin by Nov. 20, and that a foreign ministers council be convened within 10 days thereafter to take up other German differences.

Vishinsky's objection, it was reported, was to lifting the blockade before a currency solution went into effect.

"Some of my friends have asked me whether the contest I have filed with the United States Senate is in conflict with my support of Jack Porter for United States senator from Texas," Stevenson said in a prepared statement.

"My answer is that it is not. I am wholeheartedly supporting Jack Porter and I sincerely hope he is elected. I believe he will be elected and when he is elected, that will settle the contest so far as the office of United States senator from Texas is concerned."

Stevenson, unsuccessful candidate for the Texas Democratic nomination for U. S. senator, said today his contest filed with a Senate committee is not in conflict with his support of Jack Porter, Republican nominee for the post.

He also said he will document his charge of fraud in the Aug. 28 primary in which he lost to Lyndon Johnson by 87 votes in a statewide radio broadcast Monday night.

HUNTER IS HIT IN EYE BY FOX

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 23. (AP)—Jesse Marlin swears that a fox hit him in the eye. His right eye is swollen and two witnesses back up his story.

Marlin, a resident of Blanket, and two companions were fox hunting when their dogs treed a fox. Marlin said while he sat holding one of the dogs, the fox leaped from the tree, striking him in the eye.

Auto Industry Is Tooling Up For New Models

Three Concerns Show Restyled Cars To Public

DETROIT, Oct. 23. (AP)—More of the automobiles the motoring public expected to see after the war are coming from the assembly lines.

This week Kaiser-Frazer introduced its new Frazer models; Nash disclosed its re-designed 1949 units and Cadillac showed re-styled vehicles to its distributors. A private preview also was given by Chrysler's Dodge division of a new line of all-steel door-to-door delivery trucks.

Along with these developments General Motors' Buick division closed its assembly plants to switch over to a re-designed 1949 model. Buick goes into production on the new models on Nov. 1.

Oldsmobile is expected to start installing its new 1949 V-8, higher compression engines in the Futuramic models early next month.

The new Chevrolet and Pontiac models both to be completely redesigned, the Chrysler line and others will not be given initial showings until after the first of the year. Chevrolet and Pontiac probably will get their first showings around mid-January.

Houston War Dog Gets Death Reprieve

HOUSTON, Oct. 23. (U-P)—Fritz, a dog of war, may at last find the peace he had forgotten existed. The veteran of a year and a half in the South Pacific as a K-9 dog has received a new lease on life. He has found a new master, Buster Jones, operator of Houston's Arrowhead Park, and a week's reprieve from death now stretches indefinitely. Fritz, a maladjusted veteran, was doomed to death in the city pound gas chamber at 5 p.m. Thursday. An appeal to the mayor's office from an unidentified woman won him stay of execution.

Picard's Sphere Will Make Descent

ABOARD THE SS SCALDIS OFF CAPE VERDE ISLAND, Oct. 23. — Prof. Auguste Piccard's deep-sea diving ball, the bathyscaphe, is to make its first dive with a crew aboard tomorrow. The bathyscaphe will descend about 100 feet to test ballast and check the various forces setting upon the hull. The descent had been scheduled to take place today, but adjustments took longer than expected.

Newspaper stories and pictures yesterday brought "hundreds of calls" from dog lovers who wanted to save the war veteran.

The dog pound received dozens of calls from towns as far away as El Paso and in Louisiana.

Jones plans to use Fritz as a watchdog at the park, scene of midweek auto racing in Houston. He has no fear that he will have to return his new pet to the pound as four other persons have done in recent months.

Fritz hitherto has proved intractable.

His former owner says the dog suddenly "went wild."

Pound Master Kenney Poston, on granting the reprieve Thursday in hopes a farmer or rancher would claim Fritz, had said he would not permit the dog to go to anyone residing in the city.

Today, Fritz was being the perfect gentleman, contentedly following his new master.

Kyle Says Develop Natural Resources And Win Friendship

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 23. (U-P)—Don't play Santa Claus but help develop natural resources and you'll win friendship of Latin American countries, Dr. E. J. Kyle declared here.

Dr. Kyle, former ambassador to Guatemala, said yesterday that if the U. S. was to lead the world it must hold the friendship of the Latin-American countries.

Finnish Police, Strikers Clash

HELSINKI, Finland, Oct. 23. (U-P)—Police and strikers clashed for the second straight day this morning outside the Arabia Porcelain factory here. Today's skirmish began when 100 club-wielding police charged about 1,000 strikers and onlookers who were milling outside the factory gates trying to prevent non-strikers from entering.

Two officers were injured and taken to the hospital. Communist workers in the plant struck two weeks ago seeking wage adjustments.

A famous rug, "The Holy Carpet of the Mosque at Ardebil," now in the South Kensington Museum in London, is valued at more than $500,000.

Texans Are Now Eagerly Competing For Once Abundant And Cheap Milk

AUSTIN, Oct. 23. (AP)—Remember when you used to put down a nickel and tote home a generous quart of milk in a lard pail?

Those good old days are gone for good, along with the nickel movie, the nickel beer, the five-cent hamburger and the five-cent cigar.

Texans now are competing for the privilege of putting a quart carton or bottle of Grade A pasteurized milk in their market baskets at prices ranging from 22 to 25 cents.

Milk is big business now. Man's first food has increased in popularity because of health education and prosperity and supply is hard pressed to keep up with the demand.

Where a city's source of supply used to be its neighboring farms, improved refrigeration and pasteurization methods have spread it out to distant counties and even other states.

They call these areas "milk sheds." Unlike water sheds, where gravity guides water down land slopes toward the sea, money makes the milk flow. Bidding for the limited supply has forced prices up and up in Texas.

The contest has reached the courts here. Attorney General Price Daniel has charged a number of major big city dairies with price fixing in violation of the state anti-trust laws. The South Texas Milk Producers Association and six Houston dairies have been temporarily enjoined in 98th district court here against alleged price fixing practices.

In issuing the order which will remain in effect until the case can be tried, Judge Charles O. Betts said:

"There is no doubt from a practical standpoint the South Texas milk producers association is a monopoly in the area where it operates."

The association, organized in Harris County under state cooperative marketing laws in 1931, has extended its memberships until it now covers 57 counties in south, east and central Texas. In addition to the price injunction, the cooperative also is under court order not to seek memberships outside its present area.

Outside of the competitive situation, the outlook for the Texas milk supply this coming winter is dependent upon the weather, like all other farm products. A survey discloses that the prospects are spotty, ranging from poor in drought-stricken areas to good in sections where there are bountiful feed crops.

Prospects and prices in Texas cities include:

Big Spring—recent showers have brought hope of winter pasture in this south plains area, with a consequent prospect of an adequate milk supply. The retail price of milk is 25 cents a quart and producers receive $6.60 per 100 pounds. This is an area of high production costs.

Wichita Falls—Area producers, county agents and distributors agreed the milk supply will be short this winter. "But production should be above last year's if we have rains," a distributor said. Feed prices have gone up. The wholesale price is $6.60 per 100 pounds, the retail mark 22 cents per quart.

Palestine—Retail prices have advanced from 22 to 23 cents per quart while feed prices have dropped. Palestine is within the Houston milk shed. The Anderson county agent noted that 10 of the 30 dairies in the county have been set up since the first of the year and predicted six more would be in production by Dec. 31.

"They wouldn't be expanding production if they weren't getting premium prices," he said.

Denison—A dairyman asserted that his price is four cents a quart higher than it should be because of outside influence.

San Angelo—The area's milk shed outlook was termed "fair to good." Five new dairies were reported going into operation soon, and this is expected to offset the seasonal drop in production.

Denton—Producers and distributors predicted a milk shortage and a general scarcity over the state. They agreed that rainfall sufficient to keep feed prices down would have a restraining effect on milk prices. The wholesale price in the area is $6.40 per 100 pounds, with milk retailing at 22 cents a quart. A dairyman observed that the high price of dairy cows has been contributory to the high cost of milk. The average price of grade dairy cows is $200. If meat prices stay high, a cow that doesn't pay off in dairy production will certainly end up in the packing house, he said.

Abilene—The milk supply here is better than in the last two or three years, creamery officials say. Milk retails for 23 cents per quart with the wholesale price $6.60 per hundredweight.

Fort Worth—Milk retails for 23 cents a quart, with the wholesale price $6.60 per hundred.

Large Alfalfa Crop Predicted For Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 23. (AP)—The fourth largest alfalfa seed crop in Texas history is predicted this year by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The crop reporting agency today estimated the crop at 35,000 bushels threshed-run compared with the 10-year (1937-46) average of 30,000 bushels.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way: Everytime food enters the stomach, a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing the flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalies to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Chevrolet... Leader in Value

Your choice for QUALITY on all these counts

...at prices that are lower than those of any other car in its field!

Your No. 1 Choice for RIDING SMOOTHNESS

There's a very good reason why people agree that Chevrolet gives a much smoother, steadier, safer ride than other cars in its field. That reason is that Chevrolet alone has the original Unitized Knock-Action Ride, backed by more than 14 years' experience in Unitized Knock-Action units. This feature is found elsewhere only in higher-priced cars.

Your No. 1 Choice for PERFORMANCE WITH ECONOMY

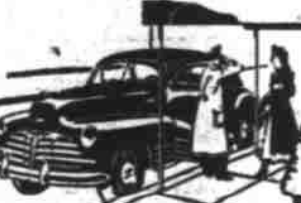

You will enjoy much finer performance with economy in Chevrolet. Its world's champion Valve-in-Head Thrift-Master engine holds all records for miles served, owners satisfied, and years tested and proved. And Valve-in-Head engine design, like so many other Big Car quality features, is an advantage that is found only in Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

Your No. 1 Choice for ALL-ROUND SAFETY

You and your family will ride in safety, thanks to extra-strong Fisher Unitized Body-Construction—safety plate glass in windshield and windows—the unmatched road-steadiness of the Unitized Knock-Action Ride—and the greater stopping-power of Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes—four-wheel safety-protection exclusive to Chevrolet and more expensive cars!

Your No. 1 Choice for TASTEFUL BEAUTY

You know—and your friends know—that the emblem, Body by Fisher, is the hallmark of bodies that are better by far. Chevrolet's Bodies by Fisher reveal this finer quality inside and out—in every detail—including the hardware, the upholstery and all appointments. Naturally, these finer bodies are exclusive to Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

Teacher Makes Sudden Decision To Leap After Bold Attempt To Escape Fails

(Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

On today's article Mrs. Kaseenkina's story reaches its climax. She tells of her attempt to escape the consulate and how it was frustrated by Lomakin, who waited for her in the Soviet consulate, how she came to her decision and her leap to freedom.

Installment 27

By OKSANA S. KASENKINA
Edited by Isaac Don Levine

The five days and nights of my confinement to the third floor of the Soviet consulate became a mounting nightmare for me. I had no rest. Presumably I was free to move about. In reality I found myself under domestic detention.

"Why do you keep me here? Why are you making a nervous wreck out of me?" I would keep asking either Lomakin or Chepurnykh. "With all that noise outside and all those curiosity-seekers, why don't you let me go to Glen Cove?"

I hoped that there, at the Long Island estate which was being used as a rest-home for Soviet officials, I would find it possible to escape to freedom. But these pleas of mine fell on deaf ears.

"Skor poyedem — we'll be leaving soon," Lomakin would answer, indicating that he, too, expected to journey back to Russia.

One day Lomakin reported to me that Countess Tolstoy had declared to the press that I had a sister in England and that my husband had been purged. He feigned surprise at these facts which I had confided to Miss Tolstoy, and queried me about it in a significant tone.

NO MORE DOUBT

There was no longer any doubt in my mind as to what fate had in store for me upon my return to Russia. The deadline for my appearance in court had passed and those surrounding me now felt that I would not be surrendered to the American authorities for questioning.

I began to figure out possible ways and means of escapism. I feared among the onlookers in the street there might be Soviet agents planted by the consulate to see if I were communicating by signals with confederates outside.

ASKED FOR TRANSFER

I asked to be transferred downstairs. To show me that there was no other room available in the building I was taken down to the basement which was used as a storeroom. After this I preferred to return to the third floor. I had noticed that there was a grilled iron door leading from the basement passageway into the courtyard.

"You can see that we have no space," Lomakin assured me, "but you can come downstairs any time you want to. You are free to go about as you please."

The implication was that my stay in the consulate was all for my protection.

The afternoon of Thursday, Aug. 12, I decided to put Lomakin's words to the test and make an attempt to get out. I dressed for the street, put on my gloves, and boldly walked downstairs, making for the front door.

Suddenly I was surrounded by a band of men. There must have been 20 of them and they seemed to have sprung out from every corner.

"Where are you going?" "You mustn't leave." "Don't you see what's going on in the street?"

"Go back to your room!" "UP YOU GO!"

Lomakin himself appeared. "podnimites! — Up you go!" he snarled, repeating the order.

I was hustled up the stairs. Two of the consular females were immediately assigned to me. One of them was my former landlady, Zoya Porojnikova, who had her little girl, Olechka, with her. They asked, "Do you think that you're under arrest?" Zoya remarked with a sly smile.

"Why?" I cried, breaking into a fit of sobs.

"What shall I do now?" I kept saying to myself. "I must do something. I must do something."

"They don't let me go out! I'm stifling here without air. I'm To quiet her I went across the hallway to Lomakin's alcove to get a soft drink out of the refrigerator for the child. I noticed that the window in the back was open.

I poured out the drink for the little girl and took it to her. Her mother and Petrova were in my room. They were trying to soothe the tot with the cold beverage.

THE LEAP

I made a dash for Lomakin's room, closing the door behind me. I climbed up to the window sill.

saw a wire attached to the outside wall of the house, and looked down as I shivered with a chill of terror. I crossed myself, seized the wire, and leaped.

In an instant I was lying down in the courtyard in a heap. And I was alive! I had not lost consciousness. As it appeared later, I had burned the two fingers which gripped the wire as I pulled it off the building. It was a telephone wire and fell all about me.

As I was groaning and calling for help, there were outcries and sounds of alarm in the air above me. There were people fumbling at the iron door leading from the consulate building into the courtyard. As I only learned subsequently, the door had been locked long ago and the Soviet officials could not locate the key for several minutes.

The American police officers, having climbed over a fence separating the consulate grounds from the adjoining building, were at my side.

"American hospital," I murmured, my wishes to them as I lost consciousness.

I leaped in terror to a stone-hard pavement, but found myself in the warm embraces of the American people.

In the Roosevelt Hospital I at last discovered the America which had eluded me during more than two years of my quest as a teacher in the Soviet service.

I have discovered that there is no better way to gauge the temper of a country, the standard of its living, and its social progress than by being a patient in one of its hospitals.

I wonder how many of the thousands of distinguished foreigners who have visited Soviet Russia have had such an opportunity to observe the true condition of the masses there. From all I know very, very few of them had ever seen Soviet life from a hospital cot.

If they had, they would have caught a glimpse of the lower depths in which my people were plunged by the Soviet experiment.

When I begged the police in the courtyard of the consulate, where I was lying in a heap, to be taken to an American hospital, I feared that my captors would try to defame me in a critical condition under their roof.

EXPRESSED WISHES
Even before the ambulance took me to the hospital, I had made it clear that I did not want to be left in Soviet hands. The consuls and their aides could not have mistaken my express wishes in this regard.

Yet no sooner was I installed in a room, under the protection of the police who saved me, than my erstwhile jailers, Lomakin and Chepurnykh, had the audacity to appear in the corridor outside my door and claim jurisdiction over me.

I informed the police that I did not want to have anything to do with the Soviet officials, that they had kept me in the consulate against my will, and that I jumped to escape from them. Only later did I learn that Lomakin sought to have the room across the hall from me set aside for Soviet "protectors" ostensibly to help me. The American authorities respected my wishes and turned down the request. I doubt if I could have survived a second siege.

So anxious were my Soviet masters to lay their hands on me that they returned the following morning and were allowed to see me. I beheld Chepurnykh and one of the consulate women at my bedside, and immediately made it clear that they were not welcome.

AN EMPHATIC "NO"
When Chepurnykh asked me if I desired to be moved to another hospital, I quickly perceived his design, and answered emphatically, "No."

To indicate that I did not want him to stay any longer, I shut my eyes and declared:

"You held me prisoner, and wouldn't let me out. I don't want to see any of you."

This is the last I ever saw of the Soviet rulers under whom I had lived and suffered for over 30 years. My conscience was clear. I had served my people loyally as a teacher through a lifetime of agony. I had discharged my debt with a vengeance to the insatiable Soviet regime, having sacrificed my innocent husband to its lust for power and my only son to its inhuman system.

Before God, I felt fully entitled to live my own free life from now on. The new world which had opened up before me was to one inured to Soviet existence like another planet. From the police chiefs to the detectives and interpreters around me, from the chief surgeon, Dr. Penneyer, to the nurses and nurses tending me, and from the hundreds of inspiring letters which have reached me, there came to me a realization that America is not only a land of freedom, but also a land of human love.

Veterinarian Talks To ABC

Dr. Howard Schwarzenbach discussed high points of the veterinarian's profession at Friday's ABC club luncheon in the Crawford.

His address was the third in a series of club members on their respective businesses and professions. Dr. Schwarzenbach commented on the prevalence of rabies among dogs and described proper treatment for rabid animals. He outlined the stages of development of the disease in animals and concluded with advice on what animals' owners should do while awaiting arrival of a veterinarian when animals develop symptoms of rabies.

Doug Orme, district six ABC president, announced that all clubs in the district had been notified to contribute to a general fund to be used for convention expenses. The fund will supplant registration fees at district convocations.

Lee Harris announced that the local club has purchased five school safety zone signs to be erected at South Ward and Lakeview schools.

Gilchrist Says Texas A&M System Has Greatest Chance To Help Agriculture

The present-day frontier of Texas brings the Texas A&M college system to the threshold of its greatest opportunity and a recent change in the system has been designed to take full advantage of equipment available for the tasks. Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist told agricultural and home demonstration agents from approximately 75 counties here Saturday.

Gilchrist's address climaxed a regional meeting for extension service personnel of three districts which closed Saturday afternoon. He appeared on the morning program which included addresses by D. W. Williams, vice-chancellor for agriculture; Dr. Ide P. Trotter, director of the extension service; D. W. Weddington, executive assistant; and Dorsey Hardeman, state senator from San Angelo. Both Gilchrist and Williams stressed the importance of coordination for the various units of the

Robber Forces Liquor Storeman To Hitch-Hike

DUMAS, Oct. 23. (AP)—An armed robber took $90 from a liquor store here last night and forced the store owner to go with him on a hitch-hiking jaunt to Stinnett.

A charge of armed robbery was filed against John Irvin Nicholson, 21, Dumas, after he was arrested in a Pampa bus station. The charge was filed with Justice of the Peace R. E. Sims here.

The store owner, Roy Park, said the robber took the money and forced Park to close his store. He then forced Park to walk with him through Dumas out to the Berger highway, where they picked up a ride with Slim Feldschneider, Dumas, in a pickup truck.

The robber sat between the two men and told Feldschneider that Park wanted out at a tavern near Stinnett. Park got out and immediately called police.

Feldschneider, who said he had no idea of what had happened before hand, drove on with Nicholson toward Pampa, where he let the robber out.

Pampa police picked him up in the Pampa bus station where he was attempting to board a bus.

A&M system, largest of which is the extension service.

"Our frontier now lies between today's production and the potential production of our lands," Gilchrist declared. The State of Texas embraces some 170-million acres, and although some of it is "rough land" its production can and will be increased, he said. Even if the production value is raised only $1 per acre the state's income would receive a tremendous boost, the chancellor explained.

"The extension service is our agency for carrying the knowledge gained from research to the grass roots. Other units of the system cannot attain results unless these extension service workers, who comprise the front line of the organization, are there to pass it on to the public," Gilchrist asserted.

The chancellor said the revamped system will give him and other top officials of the system more time for field work, which he regards as essential for desired coordination.

The system includes the main college at College Station, Prairie View college for Negroes, John Tarleton junior college at Stephenville, North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington, as well as the extension service, forestry service, etc. Gilchrist, formerly president of the main college, was made chancellor of the entire system under a new plan.

Dr. Trotter, who recently completed a trip for the office of foreign agricultural relations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, discussed cotton production and research in Japan, China, Pakistan, India, Turkey, Italy and Portu-

WINGS OVER BIG SPRINGMagazine Article
Lauds Muny Port

Big Spring Municipal Airport has been recommended as a particularly desirable facility for private fliers in an article published in the October issue of Southern Flight, well known aviation magazine. The article is one of a series written by Slim Kidwell of Los Angeles, Cal. He and Mrs. Kidwell made an extended tour of the country in their own plane, landing at all airports, large and small, that would accommodate their craft. They operate the Central Port in Los Angeles, one of the largest private airports in the United States. After completing their tour, Kidwell began a series of articles for the magazine designed to provide first hand information on all airports to private pilots.

The October article describes the service facilities at the Muny port as among the best in the country. It is recommended as a major stop on the Skyway No. 1.

States' Righters Will Plan Permanent Party

MEMPHIS, Oct. 23. (AP) — Campaign strategy and plans for a permanent party will be discussed by States Rights leaders here tomorrow.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the movement's presidential candidate, will head a group of 40 expected to attend.

Another meeting for local fliers interested in the Civil Air Patrol is due to be held within the next week or 10 days. Some 35 or 40 local pilots expressed interest at a preliminary session, and application blanks for individual memberships have been received. Reorganization of the local CAP unit is expected to be completed soon. Under its present program, the CAP is an actual auxiliary of the Air Force.

A new plane for instrument flying is expected to be put into operation at Hamilton Field within the next few days. It will be used primarily for training purposes in the Hamilton school for private pilots.

Although unsettled weather conditions to the west caused a decline from last week's volume, Navy traffic continued at a steady clip at the Muny port.

Candidate For Judgeship In Radio Address

First of a series of radio addresses, marking an acceleration of his campaign for county judge, was delivered Friday evening over KBST by R. L. Tollett. Tollett has other talks scheduled for next Friday, and on Monday and Tuesday of the following week.

His name appears on the Nov. 2 ballot in the Republican column. Tollett's address Friday night dealt principally with the functions and duties of the office of county judge. He pointed out the judge's responsibilities in presiding over a court-at-law, in handling important probate matters, and as presiding officer for the county commissioners court.

The candidate recited his own training and experience as a lawyer and accountant (he is a member of the State Bar, and a Certified Public Accountant) and of his career as an agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He also reviewed his residence in Big Spring as business administrator and civic leader, and said he would put his talents and background to "the best use I know how as your county judge." He pledged to devote "sufficient time" to handle the affairs of the office.

Tollett concluded: "Stories are going around that I cannot be elected because I was nominated by the Republican party. I am a Republican but an independent Republican. I have voted in many Democratic primaries, because I wanted a voice in government. x x x I am not nearly so interested in the party as I am in good government."

The Week

Wiggins, gave another of his thought-provoking talks here.

One of the largest real estate transactions in many a moon was the sale, by L. E. Coleman, of the tourist courts bearing his name. Miss Beuna Page of Mount Pleasant acquired the property for $100,000. Mr. Coleman says he's going to catch up on his hunting and fishing, and he has a lot of friends who wish him good leaving.

The radio hams, a bunch who have as interesting a hobby as there is to be found, are tightening up their local organization. They're going to be ready to be of communication service in event of any local disaster, working in conjunction with the Red Cross. It's a fine thing when men of technical skill can put that skill to work in a beneficial manner if such is ever needed.

Big Spring is host to another state convention this week, when the Gideons convene for a three-day meeting. This world-wide organization is really a do-good one, and accomplishes its objectives with a minimum of fanfare. Actions speak louder than words.

If you think the Community Chest has done well in going beyond the half-way mark, just remember that the last half of a fund campaign is always the hardest. The Chest is not to be supported, remember, just by individuals and organizations who give $250, $500, or $1,000. It also must have the backing of the $5 and $10 and $25 people. If your name is not on the subscription list, you ought to get it there promptly.

GOP ACTIVITY UP IN TEXASVoters Will Be Confronted With Huge Ballot Nov. 2

Voters who go to the polls a week from Tuesday may, after examining the huge ballot presented them, reason that the Electoral college has been abolished altogether.

Such is not the case. Names of the presidential and vice-presidential candidates of each of the six parties "fielding" teams are listed on the ballot. In previous years, when presidential elections were held, the names of the candidates were omitted in place of the members of the Electoral college.

PASADENA, Calif., Oct. 23. (AP) — Physicians say a war heroine is recovering from a heart infection after receiving what they believe to be a record amount of penicillin.

Mrs. Lorenza de Amunategui O'Malley, Spanish heroine of the Philippine underground during the last war, has been getting a mammoth dosage of 20 million units of the drug per day for a staphylococcus heart infection.

A patient at McCormack General Hospital, Mrs. O'Malley has received 1,120,000,000 units so far. And doctors say she has shown indication of full recovery. The treatment will continue past the eight-week period originally prescribed.

GOPs Tell Expenses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP) — The Republican National Committee reported to Congress today that it had received contributions totaling $1,464,733 since the first of the year and had spent $1,706,370. The financial statement covered the committee's activities through Oct. 18.

who actually elect the chief executive and his running mate.

The ballot is one of the biggest ever to be presented Howard county voters. For the first time in years, the Republicans are out in force in the campaign for state and local offices.

The local GOP's have nominated R. L. Tollett for county judge, G. L. Monroney for county commissioner Precinct 2 and L. E. Eddy for county commissioner Precinct 3 in local races.

Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democrats' nominee for United States Senator from this state, finds himself with two opponents, only one of whom is expected to offer any serious opposition. That would be Jack Porter, the Republicans' choice, who has been endorsed by several papers within the state, as well as by Coke Stevenson, who opposed Johnson in the Second Democratic Primary election.

Sam Morris is running on the Prohibition party's ticket for the senatorial office.

Voters will also decide the fate of eight suggested amendments to the Constitution, including proposals for a Workman's Compensation Insurance program for county employees and the order of gubernatorial succession in the event the Governor should die or retire.

Polls in 15 voting precincts within the county, including five in Big Spring, will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. election day.

Albaugh Test In Sterling Is Down To 2,080

Ray A. Albaugh No. 2 Nellie Cannon Parramore, slated 4,000-foot wildcat in Northwest Sterling County, 15 miles northwest of Sterling City, and 2,130 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of section 201, block 29, W&NW survey, had reached 2,080 feet, and was drilling ahead.

It is to test into the Permian lime and try to develop production from a formation which showed some possibilities in a nearby deep dry hole.

Ellenburger failures plugged were Ray A. Albaugh and Progress Petroleum No. 1 Parramore in northwest Sterling county, in section 203-29-W&NW, at 9,216 feet, and Jergins Oil Co. No. 1 M. D. Self in southwestern Crane county, in section 12-3-H&TC, at 6,190 feet. Both struck sulphur water.

Application was made for a new field designation and discovery allowable for Al G. Hill of Dallas

No. 2 Ralph H. Harris estate, a short distance east of the south end of the Jameson (Strawn) lime field in northwestern Coke county.

The well flowed naturally 538 barrels of 48.4 gravity, pipeline oil in 24 hours through a 12-64 inch tubing choke from Strawn sand at 5,806-48 feet. The sand is shallower than the crinoidal reef lime pay in the Jameson field. No. 2 Harris estate is 846.6 from the south, 1,738 feet from the west lines of section 522, V. Homann survey.

Farmer's operating expenses in six major farming areas have soared 80 to 160 per cent above the 1937-41 prewar level, the Agriculture Department reports.

Yet by 1947 farm income had climbed so high that these much greater expenses constituted a considerably smaller proportion of the farmers' income than before the war, indicating higher farmer profits.

Farm costs vs. returns are the subject of a new study by Wylie D. Goodsell of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Among the areas studied were the corn belt and the winter and spring wheat zones of the Middle West.

Goodsell said that on hog-beef fattening farms in the corn belt, operating expenses in 1947 took 27 cents of the gross income dollar.

In the 1937-41 period, they consumed 41 cents.

In the winter wheat belt stretching through Western Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, expenses in the 1937-41 years ate up half the farmers' income dollar but took just 13 cents of it in 1947.

In the spring wheat region of the Dakotas, operating costs used 44 cents of each income dollar in 1937-41, but the ratio was down to 15 cents last year.

These favorable changes occurred in spite of the big rise in farm costs.

Goodsell indicated there were other reasons besides record income in explanation of the beneficial change, saying:

"Operators of these farms now are more efficient producers than in prewar days, and they have stretched gross incomes farther."

Texas Building Still On Upsurge

AUSTIN, Oct. 23. (U)—Texas building activity continued its seasonal upsurge this week with contract awards totaling $39,164,004.

The Texas Contractor, trade publication, reported the busy week for all three major construction classifications. Non-residential slightly led residential work.

Non-residential awards totaled $17,207,665. Business buildings accounted for nearly half of the total. School awards ran close behind.

Residential awards totaled $14,790,438. Contracts included 868 residences costing less than $7,000 and 43 more expensive residences.

There were no apartments or duplexes started during the week.

Engineering projects amounted to $7,165,901. Awarding of the construction contract on the new Benbrook Dam in Tarrant County was the major engineering project of the week.

The active building week was approximately $4 million ahead of last week. Accumulative construction total for the year went to 754,462,718.

Cotton Laborers Are Migrating From West Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 23. (U)—Migration of cotton harvest hands away from the West Texas cotton counties is increasing and may cause a real labor shortage in some sections, the Texas Employment Commission reported today.

Henry LeBlanc TEC farm placement chief, said cotton pickers arrived from the Valley two weeks early in the West Texas area this season. The cotton was small and not ready to harvest.

"This, coupled with the fact that the workers refused to harvest the ready cotton at the prices being offered at the time, caused them to return to the Valley in great numbers and to other areas where the wages were purported to be higher," LeBlanc said.

He believed there would be ample labor to harvest the West Texas irrigated cotton, most of the large labor demands being in areas where nothing but dry-land cotton is ready for harvest.

LeBlanc said the cotton in one West Texas county is so poor that one farmer sold 100 acres of cotton for the field for $5 an acre. He did not name the county.

Truck, Car Collide, Occupants Unhurt

ACKERLY, Oct. 23 (Sp)—Collision of a truck and an automobile on Highway 87 immediately east of here Friday evening demolished the car and heavily damaged the truck.

The occupants, however, escaped serious injury. The truck was being driven by Jaun Lanisi, a cotton picker, and the car was driven by Tom Blanton, salesman of Abilene.

The mishap occurred as Lanisi was crossing the highway.

Campbell Test Is Drilling Ahead

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 2 Tora Campbell, slated 10,000-foot wildcat in North-Central Howard county, and 680 feet from south and east lines of section 29, block 32, TP survey, T-3-N, had reached 9,194 feet in lime and was drilling ahead.

This venture is adjacent to the Vealmoor field, where the present production is from the Canyon-vanum lime above 8,000 feet. The No. 2 Tora Campbell is to continue until it finds and tests the Ellenburger.

Seaboard No. 1 Mayme Clanton, in Southwest Borden county, and one mile northwest of the Vealmoor field, was bottomed at 5,210 feet in lime, and had set a whipstock at 3,840 feet, to try to drill by lost tools in the hole which could not be recovered after an extended fishing effort.

This exploration is 1,980 feet from the south and 680 feet from the west lines of section 20, block 32, TP survey, T-3-N. It is slated to dig to around 8,000 feet to test into the Canyon lime.

Kingery Bros. and South Texas Development Co., both of Houston, finalized No. 1 Pond & Merritt, northwestern Mitchell county discovery at 2,829 feet for 21.6 barrels of 28 gravity oil plus 10 per cent water in 24 hours, pumping

Hunt and Montgomery property about one year ago.

Several months ago he sold a lease on 4,000 acres of the spread to Phillips Petroleum Company, for an unannounced consideration. That acreage was on the southwest side of the block.

After that sale was Magnolia took a "shooting" option on the remaining 12,000 acres of the ranch, and since that survey was completed the company has secured a lease on the 4,775 acres from Bodkins.

No drilling obligation is included in either the Phillips or the Magnolia sales.

The property is in block I, J, and NG, in the GC&SF surveys.

Bodkins still retains ownership of more than 7,000 acres of leases on the Hunt and Montgomery property.

He has also recently acquired an oil and gas lease on a 9,045 acre block in Central-South Crockett County, on a ten-year commercial basis.

Half-Million Lease Deal Made On 4,775 Acres In Crockett Co.

An oil and gas lease on 4,775 acres of land in South-Central Crockett County, has been turned for a reported consideration of in excess of $500,000—part cash and a part out of oil.

The transaction was between J. D. Bodkins, of Midland, and Magnolia Petroleum Company. It involves acreage on the 16,000 acre which sets in about ten miles southwest of Ozona.

Detailed information regarding the tracts which are being acquired by Magnolia has not been secured.

The deal was made after that concern had made a seismicograph survey of the Bodkins block.

Plans Are Laid To Purchase Land For Boys' Co-Op

Plans to purchase the 965-acre tract of land near Tankersley by Nov. 1 have been outlined by leaders of the West Texas Boys' Co-op Ranch. Cost of the ranch is $75,000.

The purchase of the land is the first step to establish a home for neglected and dependent boys in 32 West Texas counties. The ranch is to be representative of West Texas. Cities and towns from Brownwood to Marfa will have a hand in its establishment.

M. D. Bryant, regional big gifts chairman for the fund drive, has returned to San Angelo and has tackled the problem of raising the money necessary to obtain possession of the land.

Meanwhile, the big gifts in Big Spring has started under the chairmanship of R. L. Tollett. Drives are scheduled to get underway in Junction and Mason by midweek.

Pecos has virtually completed organizing for that district's big gifts drive, while Fort Stockton, Sweetwater and Brownwood districts are now in the process of organization.

Hoffman Happy Over Progress Made In Europe

ROME, Oct. 23. (U)—Economic co-operation Administrator Paul Hoffman said today "there should be less money required for ERP next year because there has been substantial recovery in Europe this year."

"For the first time," he said, "there is a general trend in Europe away from strict nationalism toward co-operation, which means greater prosperity for all."

He told a news conference here that his meetings in Paris with the representatives of 16 nations getting European recovery program aid showed almost every one of them "making fine progress, most reporting steel and coal production above their targets for the first eight months."

Give Now And Give Enough As Your Part Of Community Chest

During the past week the Community Chest has picked up momentum, so much so that virtually all phases of the organization now are in action. Equally encouraging has been the rate with which contributions have been swelling.

There now appears only two things which would prevent the Chest from reaching its announced goal of $37,000 for five agencies and itself. Those are the temptation on the part of volunteer workers to put off until tomorrow the important assignment of contacting prospects; and the failure of the public to rise generously in response to the challenge.

The slogan of Give Enough, Give Now pretty well sums up the need of the moment. So far most people contacted have given gifts of which they could be proud; most of the larger donors have rallied with substantial increases to help close the gap between what the Chest raised last year and what it requires this year. The number who have responded with less than what they ought to have done are fortunately few.

Now as the rank and file are approached for Chest gifts, it is proper to suggest that the minimum be a day's pay. Those who earn beyond $3,000 a year will not find one per cent out of line as a combined investment in the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Salvation Army, the Chest administrative and contingency fund. The A-Cub maintenance quota already is assured.

It is fitting, and even suggested, that those who give exercise the right of saying how their gift shall be divided. But most important of all is the need to GIVE

Thanks For The Difference Between Americans, Europeans

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Staff Writer

Hal Boyle of the Associated Press recently interviewed one of a group of 15 of the American Press Institute of Columbia University and came up with some pretty meaty stuff.

The German editor's name is Hans Norbert Finkel, political editor of the America licensed news agency called Dena. Finkel is 28 years old and only four years ago he was a prisoner of war in a Middle American camp.

First off, Finkel was asked what he found most disappointing in this country, and his reply was: "The spirit of superficiality, and I don't mean just in politics."

In America, he said, "You get an idea, you try to do something with it fast—give it a practical application. You say, 'Let's try it.'"

"In Germany we try first to find the theory underlying the idea. The German is bound to ask, 'What lies behind it?' And this is true of all Europeans."

The observation itself sounds deceptively superficial. Actually, it sets forth a profound truth. We Americans are always getting ideas and doing something about them; that's a trait that has made us the world's greatest inventors.

Germans and Europeans generally are always asking, "What lies behind it? Will it work? Let's think this thing over." That has kept them from being great inventors and improvisers, but has made them great perfectionists. They take our inventions and improve and perfect them. But the most interesting thing in Boyle's interview with Finkel concerned the American press and the reading habits of the American people. He called both superficial. He says the average American looks at the comics first, the baseball results second, the weather forecast third and the headlines last.

"The German," said Finkel, "has a different approach. He looks at the newspaper. He looks to it first for advice, education and information. Our papers are much more influential politically than those here. The German reader has to feel that what his paper says is right."

We submit that this, too, is a profound observation correctly differentiating between German and American habits.

The American likes to make up his mind on the basis of news. He is influenced more by the daily gist of news, impartially presented, than by editorial expression. For this reason the American press is much more influential than the visiting German imagines, for it emphasizes news coverage.

On the other hand, the German likes to have things done for him, even his thinking and his political philosophizing. The fact that he swallows whatever his favorite thinker dishes out for him, without question, explains Hitler, it explains how Josef Goebbels became a mighty force in German life, it explains why Germany periodically becomes dangerous to the peace of the world.

The American thinks for himself, looks with bored impatience upon would-be self-appointed leaders, and believes what he reads in the newspaper only if it makes sense to him. Nobody is leading him around by the nose. We'll take the "superficiality" of American life in preference to the sheeplike subservience of the European to all who are in authority over him. And that goes double for the Russians.

Many Join Reds Because They Can't Face Problems

WASHINGTON, D.C.—I HAVE A friend, a man who worries a great deal about the world he lives in.

When I saw him a few years ago he was more than ever deeply troubled. He was tense and unhappy.

He told me he was thinking of joining the Communist party. Why?

He said he thought the Communists were the only people who had the answer to the world's sickness.

He said they would wipe out racial discrimination and make all people equal politically and economically, as well.

Recently I saw him again and I asked him: "Have you joined the party yet?"

He said no. Why?

"Because of the stand they've taken on genetics," he said. "It's unscientific."

LAST AUGUST THE LEADERS OF the Communist party in Russia, not scientists themselves, bounced the top Russian scientists who disagreed with them and announced their own new theory of how plants and animals and men can be made better—chiefly through environment, rather than heredity.

Immediately the scientists outside Russia called this a scientific swindle, a perversion of science to help the Communists' political ends: The spread of Communism. Deep within him my friend may have been moving away from the Communists quite a while. Perhaps, without realizing it, he seized on the new genetics theory as the excuse he could make to himself for not joining.

Whatever the deep forces at work in him, he said he was shocked by the perversion of science which the new theory meant. But why should he have been shocked by that, if he understood Russian Communism at all?

THE ONLY REASON I WRITE THIS story is that I think it explains a lot of people, including my friend, who are Communist sympathizers or who join the party in this country and later quit in pain or dismay.

Through emotion or dissatisfaction with conditions in their own countries, they want a quick solution. And, without thinking the problem through, the accept blindly at first the idea of Communism as a cure-all.

But if my friend could accept everything else involved in Russian Communism, the perversion of science, if it helped Communism, should not have shocked him.

It would have made a lot of sense to a real Communist who thinks the end justifies the means—and means—so long as the end is reached: World Communism at last.

The true Communists—or the Russian Communists—know they have a long struggle ahead.

In trying to reach their goal they've already made switches, compromises, backtracks, and side shifts.

FOR EXAMPLE: SAY THEY LOOK forward to a struggle of 100 years. (Lenin pointed out that they must think in terms of decades.) Then, with their view that the end justifies the means, the perversion of science for 10 years or 100, so long as it helps the struggle, is justified.

So a Russian Communist probably would look upon the views of my friend as childish. But my friend shocked me.

He didn't turn away from Communism because the individual has no freedom in Russia; or because it's a police state; or because it uses tactics of terror; or because it's a dictatorship whose end no man living can see positively.

He forgets that men in the western world have fought for hundreds of years and at vast sacrifice of their lives to gain political independence in a Democratic society—where the state exists for the individual and not the individual for the state.

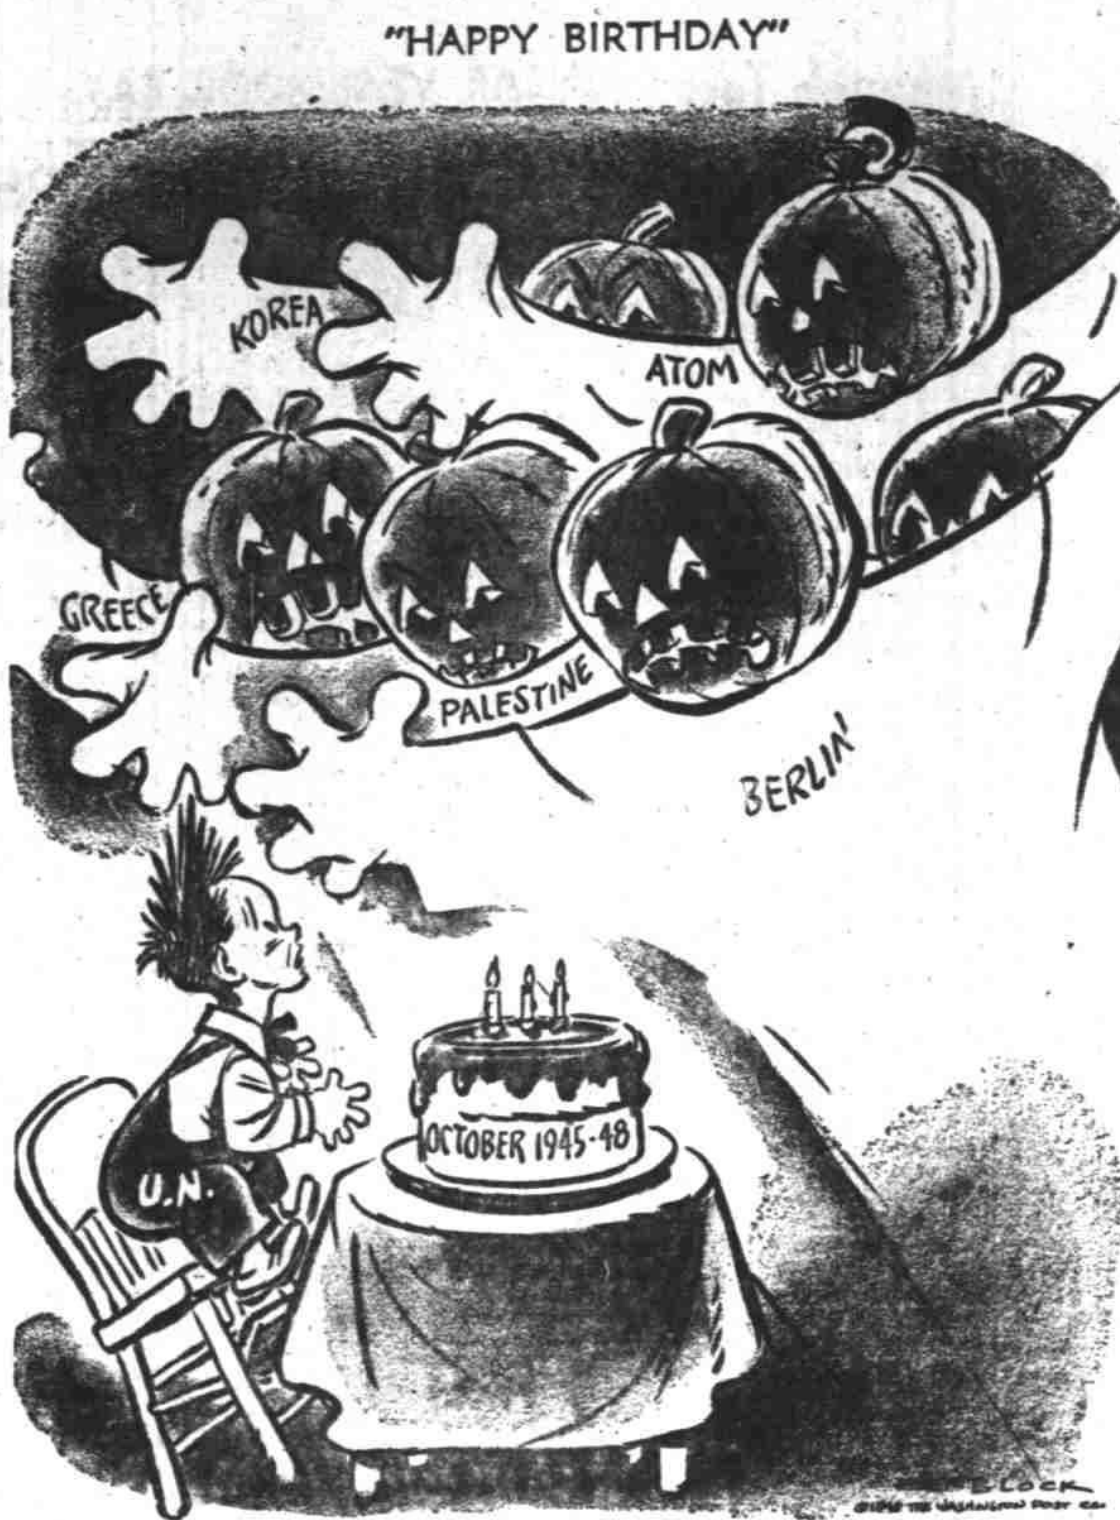

THEY FOUGHT AGAINST THE tyrannical dictatorship of kings, with bitter cost, so man could be free at last, or fairly free.

My friend forgot all that and all that freedom means: Freedom to work democratically toward a better society.

He forgot that once tyranny, through a dictatorship is set up in the world, as it is in Russia, it may never end.

He forgot that this very dictatorship makes Russia not a land of progress but a land of black reaction, ruled by a group of feudal lords who refuse to let the people think for themselves.

So my friend, like others before him, instead of rejecting Russian Communism on the basic grounds just mentioned, rejected it because of a minor detail, like the new genetics theory.

Middle West Farmers Aren't Happy About Big Capitol Grain Lobbies

Copyright by Ben Bradlee, Inc.

CHICAGO — Out here in the Middle West, farm voters have begun to learn something about the big Washington lobbies and what they did to the 80th Congress. The farmers learned the hard way — and they aren't too happy about it. For the lobbies have helped to send the price of corn skidding to uncomfortable lows.

Most interesting thing about the big grain lobby is that its backstage operators were largely Argentine and French refugees. Working behind the scenes through American stooges, they put the following two vital provisions through the 80th Congress.

1. Prohibited the government from acquiring more storage space for wheat and corn purchased at parity prices from farmers. Since the government is barred from renting additional storage for the bumper crop, it can't buy all of the grain now going to market, and farmers lacking storage have to sell at lower prices.

2. Tucked into the Marshall plan act was an innocent provision that the Marshall Plan administrator shall "utilize private channels of trade." The grain lobby not only put this through Congress, but has now pressured Paul Hoffman into ruling that the Commodity Credit Corporation, highly efficient U. S. agency which has bought grain for Europe for years, is now by-passed, and more expensive private brokers will buy the grain instead.

Farmers and the taxpayers bear the extra cost. REFUGEE LOBBY

The "Big Three" of the grain trade are the chief beneficiaries from the latter 80th Congress joker. They are:

1. Bunge Corporation, owned by Bunge and Born of Argentina and Uruguay.

2. Continental Grain Corp., owned by the following Park Avenue refugees: Jules, Rene and Michel Fribourg, Louis Ullman and Lucien Lang.

3. Leval and Co., controlled by a three-man voting trust — Fernand Leval, Leopold Stern and Jacques Kayloff.

These three groups worked with and through the North American Grain Export Association and the National Grain Trade Council. Their chief buttonholder on Capitol Hill was ex-Congressman Roger Slaughter of Kansas City whom President Truman purged in the 1946 elections.

Slaughter, though a Democrat, rates higher with Republicans than with his own party, and had no trouble corraling congressional votes. In fact, he did a masterful job.

Slaughter's ace-in-the-hole was his old friend, Congressman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, who insisted on inserting a provision in the Commodity Credit charter that the government could not acquire additional storage space.

Formerly the government could store 300 million bushels, but this year only 50 million; so the price of grain received by many farmers has tumbled below parity.

NOTE — Despite the lobbying law, Slaughter failed to register as a lobbyist. However, the Justice Department unearthed a letter written by the Northwestern Grain Export Association, March 31, soliciting contributions from its members to pay Slaughter's salary. The Justice Department put Slaughter's case before one grand jury, but did not push prosecution — perhaps because it was feared Truman would be accused of persecuting an old political enemy.

GAMBLING POLITICS

One of the most respected and efficient members of Congress during the past decade has been GOP Rep. Everett Dirksen of Pekin, Ill., now stepping out to join the Dewey entourage. Out in rock-ribbed Illinois, the Republicans aren't too happy about the man they are supposed to elect as his successor—Judge Harold Velde.

Velde has received heavy financial support from Bill Degaris of the night-club gambling fraternity, and the other day one of his campaign managers had a highly significant conversation with Harry Neumiller, president of the Huntbute Manufacturing Co. of Peoria.

Mistaking Harry for his brother, L. B. Neumiller, who is president of the Caterpillar Tractor Co., Velde's solicitor asked for a campaign contribution. Harry Neumiller declined.

"Yoh better think that over," replied Velde's money-raiser. "Don't forget that Judge Velde sits on the Tazewell County Court and has a lot to say about fixing taxes for the county. Don't forget that the Caterpillar Tractor Company's property is all in Tazewell County."

"You happen to have the wrong man," replied Harry Neumiller. "But if you think blackmail will get a campaign contribution out of either me or my brother, you're mistaken."

Later Harry's brother, L. B. Neumiller, head of the Caterpillar Tractor Co., was approached for a Velde contribution.

"You know perfectly well it's against the law for a corporation to contribute," L. B. Neumiller replied.

"Yes, but there are ways of getting round that," was the pointed suggestion. Neumiller, however, did not take the suggestion.

Meanwhile Velde has had lots of financial support from the gambling-liquor fraternity which, in Tazewell County and Peoria County alone, contributed $35,000 to the 1944 campaign of Velde's political friend, Gov. Dwight Green.

NEGRO'S GREAT FRIEND

One interesting point being watched by the politicians is whether Curley Brooks, Republican, "The Chicago Tribune's Senator," will be able to capture the huge negro vote of Chicago and East St. Louis.

Brooks is now claiming to be the great friend of the Negro. But—more than any other senator was responsible for the success of senate filibusters against civil-rights measures.

He blocked them by a quite simple procedure. As chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, he failed to bring out a resolution on cloture—to shut off filibusters. As early as April 3, 1947, a majority of Brooks's rules committee approved an anti-filibuster rule.

But the redoubtable Curley let the measure gather dust in his committee. For more than a year he would not and did not bring it out for open debate. As a result when the anti-poll tax bill came up in July, 1948, it was promptly filibustered out of the senate.

Two Republicans referred to this at the time—Vandenberg of Michigan and Morse of Oregon. But Sen. Brooks remained motionless. Now he claims to be the great friend of the Negro.

Dorothy Lamour May Quit Paramount Job

HOLLYWOOD — Dorothy Lamour plans to seek complete freedom from Paramount, where she got her start in pictures.

The New Orleans sassy girl left the home lot a year ago, but the studio retained rights for one film yearly. This year's commitment has been given to Fine.

Thomas for "Betrayed" with Dan Duray. Lamour's "Betrayed" is being shunted to the independent unit, even if it is for a high-budget picture.

Lamour, who has been busy on the independent film circuit and with her air show, has two more films to make for Paramount. Whether she'll win a release is problematical. The studio might want to keep her on tap in case Bing and Bob hit the "Road" again.

When Jane Wyman signed her Warner contract in 1939, she wrote this in her biography questionnaire: "My ambition is not to be just an actress, but The Actress of Warner Bros." It took a long time, but—after "Johnny Belinda"—she just about has her wish.

Ingrid Bergman proved mighty popular with her countrymen when she returned to Sweden, even though she said she and her husband will probably soon become U.S. citizens. Crowds greeted her everywhere she went, until she longed for the quiet life of Beverly Hills.

Adventure And 'Atmosphere' Packed Into Names Of Trains

If any of you happen to have a hobby of collecting and studying names of trains, you might be interested in a little booklet which recently came across my desk which lists most of the named passenger trains in the U. S.

It's a rather fascinating topic, at that. The people who name the Pullman cars wander off into the woods and lake country, it seems to me, and almost get into sheer fantasy.

But the naming of trains is a bit more earthly, and a lot of the titles convey a tremendous power of suggestion. Nobody relishes saying he took a trip on No. 17, but it's nice to be able to say that you traveled via the Blue Ridge Limited.

Trains are named for times, places, events and people. Historical figures and events are relied upon heavily, and there are a lot of geographic designations.

In the last-named field, the railroads go at it two ways. There are some rather prosaic appellations, like the Bostonian, the Arrowtook Flyer, the Carolina Special, the Dakotan, the Columbia River Express, and a host of "City of ——" Other trains have grasped the geographic angle with more finesse and color, to give you such as:

The Knickerbocker (New York), the Wolverine (Michigan), the Ak-Sar-Ben (Nebraska), the Beachcomber (shoreline road), the Blue Grass (Kentucky), the Buckeye (Ohio), the Cracker (Georgia), the Cotton Blossom (down South), the Gopher (Minnesota), the Choctaw Rocket (Oklahoma), the Flying Yankee (Maine), the Laurentian (Canada), the Mohawk (New York), the Pelican (to New Orleans), the Ozark (Arkansas), the Peach Queen (Georgia), the Piedmont Limited (North Carolina) and the Sooner.

A lot of train names honor historical personages. To recite a few:

The Abraham Lincoln, The Commodore Vanderbilt, the Ann Rutledge, the DeWitt Clinton, the Edison, the General Pershing, the Irvin S. Cobb, the James Whitcomb Riley, the Jeffersonian, the Mark Twain, the Nancy Hanks, the Paul Revere, the Pocahontas, the Will Rogers.

Others are reminders of some bits of history, such as the Frontenac, the Fort Pitt, the Minute Man, the Pony Express, the Tippecanoe.

A great many trains strive to build up the atmosphere, and effect of speed, which is always impressive to the passenger, as well as to the barefoot boy who stands at the water-tank and watches the cars whiz by. They've come up, of course, with a number of Limiteds, Expresses, Specials, Flyers, and Zephyrs, and then there are such designations as the Antelope, the Cannon Ball, the Rockets, Comets, Arrows, Meteors and Streaks.

Some train names actually create a picture in your mind. For instance, the Azalean, definitely ridden by ladies in crinoline and by gentlemen who sip mint juleps in the lounge car; the Empire Builder, aboard which are plump tycoons with big watch chains draped on their vests; the Ponce De Leon, loaded with gray-heads looking toward a bit of a youthful fling; the Night Express, on which are weary traveling salesmen interested only in getting George to make down the berth; the Senator, in whose smoke-filled drawing rooms the next legislature shenanigans are being pondered; the Varisty and the Rainbow Special, loaded to the windows with pennant-waving college kids; the Sun Chaser, carrying winter vacationists, and the Skyland Special, carrying mountain-bound folk in the summer.

And there's the train you'd most like to take, when you're far away and want to get home—the Bluebonnet. And the one on which you'd bundle all the kids to take 'em to the fair, and which you'd expect to make all the whistle stops—the Miss Lou.

It seems to be that if I were looking for a real adventure train, I'd want to ride one with a name like the Argonaut; if I wanted speed, I'd be tempted to buy a ticket on the Cannonball; if I were traveling veddy, veddy first class, I believe I'd board the Cavalier or the Mayflower.

But what about the poor New York Central which, unless it expects to be out-moded, is going to have to change the name, in about 52 years from now, of the famed Twentieth Century Limited? Can you imagine a super de luxe streamliner being called the Twenty-First Century Limited?—BOB WHIPKEY

Even Desert Is A Prize In Palestine Conflict

By RELMAN MORIN
For DeWitt MacKenzie

A DESERT IS ONE OF THE STAKES, in fact a prize, in the Palestine conflict.

The Israeli government announced Thursday that its troops have taken ancient Beersheba in the very heart of the Negev, a wasteland.

Why fight for a wasteland? In the days of appeasement, Mussolini was offered a similar territory in Africa, and he rejected the offer with the scornful wisecrack, "I am no collector of deserts."

Nor is any nation if it has a choice. For Israel, there is not much choice. Her spokesmen contend that she must have the Negev, not only for future expansion, but to achieve the Jewish dream of a modern state with an economy evenly balanced between agriculture and industry. The Negev is a pretty poor area.

IT IS A LITTLE SMALLER, IN square miles, than Connecticut, but there is no further resemblance between them. The Negev is barren, waterless, bleak, brown and unfriendly. It looks incredibly old, and if it ever had any value for humans, none is apparent now.

For this reason, it has never been mapped. Probably it has never been entirely explored.

Nevertheless, Israel claims it, and is expending blood and treasure to get it. These are the reasons:

The new state is already feeling population pressure. Immigration since the end of the war, and particularly within the past year, has brought the population mark to nearly 800,000.

Many thousands more are waiting to go into Palestine. The coming of the Jewish majority, before the war, embraced about 1 million people. Some 600,000 Jews were then living in Palestine.

To carry out this program, the Israeli government contends that it must have that desert territory.

The new state cannot expand northward, except at the expense of Lebanon. On the east are Syria and Trans-Jordan. The sea is on the west. Hence, the Jews must look to the south, toward a desert.

Population is not the only factor. Industrial potentiality—and it is only a potentiality now—is equally important.

During the years of the British mandate, the Jews conducted extensive experiments, and with considerable success, in areas not greatly different from the Negev.

They were able to organize collective farms in other desert lands, and make them produce. They propose to do the same thing now in the desert of Negev.

Octogenarian Is Sent To Prison

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23. (AP)—Eighty-year-old John Hoopengardner enjoyed a 4-hour ride to Western Penitentiary—his home for the next 10 years or more—but he hopes "it won't get no worse." Hoopengardner yesterday began 10-to-20 year sentence for second-degree murder in the shotgun slaying of 37-year-old Ambrose W. Fisher of McConnellsburg, Pa. His steps shaky, the octogenarian squared his shoulders as he entered the jail.

TEXAS POLL

Survey Analyzes Liberal And Conservative Demos

By JOE BELDEN

Director, The Texas Poll
AUSTIN, Oct. 23. — Hottest political fights in Texas are usually between "liberals" and "conservatives."

In Fort Worth, liberals won control of the Democratic Party convention and booted out conservative delegations who were bent on scuttling Truman's chances in Texas.

Liberals claimed another victory when Lyndon Johnson won the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator over Coke Stevenson.

In view of the intense heat that is often generated in fights between "liberals" and "conservatives," it is interesting to note that only half of the voters march under these political banners. To the other half of the electorate, it doesn't make much difference whether a candidate is labeled "conservative" or "liberal."

This finding is based on a statewide survey by the Texas Poll in which a cross section of 1,500 voters was asked:

"As a general rule, do you personally favor candidates who are classified as liberals or conservatives, or does it make much difference to you?"

A study of the views of "liberal" and "conservative" voters reveals:

1. Liberals are backing Truman for President by a two-thirds majority, while less than half of the conservatives have made up their minds to support Truman.

2. Large majorities of both liberals and conservatives are inclined to feel that government regulation of labor unions should not be relaxed.

3. As groups, both liberals and conservatives are about equally anti-isolationist in foreign policy.

4. Most voters in both groups look upon Lyndon Johnson as a liberal and Coke Stevenson as a conservative. However, there is an indication that conservative voters are not so sure that Johnson is a liberal.

In its study of the views of liberals and conservatives, The Texas Poll asked these questions:

"For President of the United States, do you favor Thomas Dewey, Harry Truman, Henry Wallace, or Strom Thurmond?"

WEEK'S BUSINESS

Real Estate Is Given Big Boost Here

One major transaction gave local real estate activity a boost last week, sending the year's figures close to the two-million dollar mark. The week's aggregate came to $120,110, with $100,000 attributed to the sale of Coleman courts. Miss Beuna Page of Mt. Pleasant purchased the courts from L. E. Coleman, with C. E. Read, local realtor, handling the negotiations. The total figures for the year, based on warranty deeds recorded in the county clerk's office is $1,896,921.

City building figures continued to move forward, with heavy demands for permits for repair and remodeling work, with a few new projects as well. Total estimated costs for the week amounted to $22,625, which pushed the year's total up to $6,716,100.

New motor vehicle deliveries he continued at about the usual rate, according to registrations at the county tax assessor-collector's office. Licenses were issued for 18 new passenger cars, four trucks and one motorcycle during the week.

CHILD BURNED AS PUNISHMENT

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23. (AP)—The parents of eight-year-old Edward Kremer thrust the youngster's left hand into the open flames of a gas stove to punish him, they told a judge, not to "freely burn him."

But the Allegheny County judge decided otherwise. He convicted the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kremer, on charges of cruelty to a minor child. He fined them $200 each and jailed both for 90 days.

Edward testified yesterday: "Because I stopped to play with some of my friends and was late coming home, they were angry. My father grabbed me and held his hand over my mouth and my mother held my hand over the fire."

Your Vote, First Of All, Should Be For

GOOD GOVERNMENT

R. L. TOLLETT

IS QUALIFIED To Give You Good Government As COUNTY JUDGE

VOTE FOR TOLLETT ON NOVEMBER 2

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

R. L. Tollett is 40 years of age, has resided in Howard County since 1940. Since before moving to Big Spring, he has been president and general manager of Cosden-Petroleum Corporation, and has by his record with this company demonstrated his competence as a business executive.

LEGAL KNOWLEDGE and EXPERIENCE

R. L. Tollett is an attorney at law, and has been a member of the State Bar of Texas since 1932. He has had both civil and criminal experience, has the legal training and knowledge to conduct properly and efficiently the legal matters that must be handled by your County Judge.

ACCOUNTING KNOWLEDGE and EXPERIENCE

R. L. Tollett is a Certified Public Accountant, having passed the Texas examination for such a certificate in 1933. He has had experience in handling county audits and investigations, and has the training and knowledge in accounting and financing to handle the county's fiscal affairs in the soundest way.

KNOWLEDGE OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS

R. L. Tollett has served as Special Agent, and Special Agent in Charge, with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), U. S. Department of Justice, from 1934 to 1937. This provided him with experience in court procedure, in proper conduct of public affairs. He knows what good government should be.

This is not simply a contest between a Democrat and a Republican. R. L. Tollett's name appears in the Republican column on the Nov. 2 ballot, but he is an Independent Republican, and has voted in Democratic primaries because he wanted a voice in government.

References to "splitting the ticket" and "party pledges" are not vital here, because GOOD GOVERNMENT is the main principle. Every qualified voter is entitled to vote for one man for each office, and it is the obligation of the voter to cast his ballot for the man best qualified to fill that office.

You may (a) Scratch the Democratic candidate's name, and write in Tollett's name in the Democratic column (scratching all other columns); or (b) You may scratch the democratic candidate's name and leave Tollett's name in the Republican column; or (c) You may enter Tollett's name in the write-in column (extreme right of ballot) and scratch all other names for the office of County Judge.

There is no danger of casting a vote that will not be counted so long as you vote for only one man for each office.

The support of Howard County citizens who usually vote in the Democratic primary is needed, and is solicited, in this appeal for a business-like, progressive administration for Howard County.

A black and white cartoon illustration. In the foreground, a man, a woman, and a young boy are standing on a sidewalk. The man, on the right, wears a dark jacket, light trousers, and a hat, gesturing with his hands towards a doorway. The woman, in the middle, wears a light-colored dress and a hat. The boy, on the left, wears a striped shirt and shorts. To their left is a trash can and a fire hydrant. In the background, a building with several windows is visible. A sign on the building reads: "APARTMENTS TO LET RENTING AGENT ~~DR. BREMMER~~ IN WORKHOUSE". The signature "K. 1964" is in the bottom right corner.

"... And to show how ignorant the man was, I ran into ... he kept screaming about 'Sunday drivers' ... when anybody knows it's Saturday ..."

Texas Steers Fight Back To Win, 20-7

Flock Ahead At Half Time

HOUSTON, Oct. 23. (U)—The Texas Longhorns sputtered against a rugged defense for two periods today then struck for three last-half touchdowns to defeat the Rice Owls 20-7.

It was Texas' second Southwest Conference victory and Rice's second loss.

An overflow crowd of 32,000 saw Rice push the favored Longhorns around for a half and take a 7-0 lead before Texas started moving on the ground and in the midway of the third period.

A 53-yard drive knotted the score at 7-7. And in the final six minutes the Longhorns stormed to two touchdowns. One was on a 78-yard pass play from Paul Campbell to Byron Gillory. The other came after a 40-yard run by Ray Borneman. He slashed over from the one-yard line.

Rice scored with a 55-yard surge climaxed by Bobby Lantip twice blasting the line from the Texas nine for the touchdown. The tying tally was made on a 54-yard drive with Randall Clay hammering over from the two.

Ackerly Loses To Union, 20-8

ACKERLY, Oct. 23.—A hard-charging, alert Union six-man football team improved its chances for the District Four championship by turning back the Ackerly Eagles, 20-8, here Friday afternoon.

The Bobcats scored from the yard line early in the second quarter and tallied again when Billy Lambright accepted a pass.

A straight plunge in Round Three enabled the Cats to score again before Ackerly could get started. Gerald Rogers intercepted a pass and ran 35 yards for the lone Ackerly score and Jack Rogers added two points in a drop kick.

Union 0 14 6 0-20
Ackerly 0 0 8 0-8

Bengals Crush Iowa Staters

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 23. (U)—Missouri started slowly but gained momentum to crush Iowa State 49-7 today in the Tigers' Big Seven Conference football opener.

A crowd estimated at 22,000 persons, the largest ever to see a contest between the two teams, was on hand for Missouri's fourth straight triumph.

The Tiger touchdowns were scored by seven different players. Bob Dawson, who was released from a hospital this morning after an attack of appendicitis four days ago, converted after each of the touchdowns. He ran his string of perfect boots to an even dozen.

Bus Entsminger, the Missouri field general, completed five of six passes for 88 yards. Mel Sheehan, veteran end, was on the receiving end of the five tosses. The sure-fingered Sheehan also proved himself a defensive stalwart.

The passing of Don Ferguson featured a first quarter drive that carried 70 yards for the Cyclones' only touchdown. After a series of Ferguson passes to Dean Normas, Don Laun and Webb Halbert, Ferguson plunged over from the one-yard line. Joe Brubaker converted.

After that, Missouri was in complete charge and continued to score even after Coach Don Faurot sent in his second and third stringers.

Aggies Humble Temple, 41-7

STILLWATER, Okla., Oct. 23. (U)—After an even first half that ended 7-7, the Oklahoma Aggies broke loose with fancy runs and power plays to humble the Temple Owls 41-7 here today.

The victory before 20,000 homecoming spectators was the Aggies' fourth straight. It was Temple's fourth loss against a tie this season.

Temple took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when Tom Sikladany scored from the one-yard line on fourth down after Paul Debenetsky put the Owls on the way with a 43-yard return of an Aggie fumble to A&M's 47.

Kentucky Claws Marquette, 25-0

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 23. — Kentucky's clawing Wildcats exploded for three third-quarter touchdowns today to smother Marquette, 25-0, in an otherwise drab intersectional football game.

The Hilltoppers, playing before a meager homecoming crowd of 15,000, weren't even in the ball game after the first few minutes as they dropped their fourth game in five starts this year. The victory for Kentucky was its second in five outings.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., Oct. 24, 1948 11

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The Big Spring high school football Steers will play non-conference games with Austin high school, Brownwood and Brownfield again in 1949. Coach Mule Stockton will probably try to book Cisco again next fall. The Austin contest will take place in El Paso while Brownwood and Brownfield will be met here. The Austin team, next opponent of the local team, has a reserve tackle (Fred Villalba) who weighs 221 pounds. Steer grid scouts covered a wide front Friday night. Stockton was at San Angelo, taking notes on the Bobcats. Conn Isaacs, Good Graves and Roy Baird were scouting Midland and Abilene at Abilene and Johnny Malaise, Wayne Bonner were following the Sweetwater Mustangs in their games with Lamesa. Incidentally, the Steers will go into their game with Austin without benefit of scouting. Stockton did not have a chance to get a line on the Border City team. Arliss Davis, the local back, can wing a football 60 yards but needs radar when trying to hit a receiver. In practice Thursday, Davis kicked dead on the second team's four yard line from 40 yards out, a feat which caused Stockton to remark: "That's good, Arliss. Now remember how you did that when we came up against Austin." Fred Herrington, a second-string Steer end, sometimes had to eat as many as three handfuls of sugar before a game. He's being treated for diabetes. Odessa's Bronco lost only one regular back via graduation this fall; Jim Patterson. Best looking Yearling back in the Big Spring-Sweetwater game Friday was Doyle Maynard, a seventh grader. All the other boys are eighth and ninth graders.

Malaise Pleased With New Playoff

Steer Basketball Coach Johnny Malaise has booked practice games with Snyder for Dec. 3 and 5. The two teams will clash here on the former date. Incidentally, John is pleased more than a little bit with the new playoff arrangements for the district championship, which calls for first round games to be played at sites agreed on by coaches of competing teams. One of those parties who says Nevada university's Wolfpack is every bit as good a football team as the University of California Bears (supposedly the best in the Far West) is Joe Verducci, whose St. Mary's eleven has been walloped by both clubs. Verducci said: "Nevada is as good as Cal."

HSU Due To Have Great 11 In 1949

Shirley Robbins, the local golf pro, plans to go to Wichita Falls Thursday where he'll compete in the pro-amateur tournament. First prize is $80 in that one, entry fee $5.50. The Maxwell twins, Bobby and Billy, have reportedly sold themselves to the SMU golf coach, who expects great things of them next spring. The Mustang mentor knew Bill could out the butter and says Bobby has developed even better than expected. Billy Womack of Our Town and V. T. Smith,

California might beat Nevada but it would happen in the fourth quarter after Cal had worn the Nevada boys down. Cal has a better line, only because the Bears are three-deep while Nevada is only one-deep. But I'll take that Nevada backfield over California's any day. Cotton Bowl officials, are you listening? Stan Heath, the Gilbert Johnson of the Nevada backfield, completed 20 of 24 passes against St. Mary's last Sunday. We liked what Gene Bearden, the Cleveland baseball hurler, is supposed to have asked Satch Paige, the Indians' venerable hurler. Queried Gene: "Tell me confidentially, Satch—how did you pitch to Connie Mack?"

Fenton And Trudell Team Up Monday Against Trout And Estes

Rod Fenton and Benny Trudell, who create quite a stir individually, team up at the O'Dowdy Sportatorium on East Third street Monday night to battle Sailor Dick Trout of San Diego, Calif., and newcomer Balk Estes, Elk City, Okla., in an Australian Tag match.

Estes comes here with great promise. Promoter Pat O'Dowdy can personally vouch for his ability. The two attended college for a year together in Oklahoma and Estes was already soaking up a lot of knowledge about the grim business of wrestling.

Balk and Trout will need all their ring acumen Monday, however. In Fenton and Trudell, they'll be matched with two of the roughest if not the toughest men in the game.

Trudell is the goateed gentleman who likes to bounce the opposition around the ring like a rubber ball. Trout should be of great help to Estes, if he wrestles as well as he did in his debut last week. The sailor has the background of a fighting man. As a member of the U. S. Navy, he saw combat action in a Chinese rebellion. Incidentally, he was in the initial survey party that visited Wake Island for the purpose of determining its eligibility as a U. S. base.

Dick started his grappling career in the service and eventually won both the middleweight and the lightweight championships of the Pacific fleet. Later he was crowned lightweight champ of both the Pacific and Atlantic fleets.

Trout's best hold is the airplane spin. He used it to sparkling advantage here in his opener last week.

Jayhawks Surge To 27-7 Win

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 23. — Strong armed Dick Gilman threw three touchdown passes today as the high-strung Kansas Jayhawks surged to a 27-7 Big Seven conference football victory over the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

The Kansas were almost completely bottled up on the ground, and a homecoming crowd of 36,500 might have been disappointed if it hadn't been for Gilman's great throwing in the clutch.

The 181-pound junior who spent most of last season on the bench as a fourth-string halfback, brought his touchdown passes to an even dozen for the season. One of his pitches—to Bryan Sperry—clicked off 80 yards for a score in the third period. The bullseye toss went 36 yards and Sperry hustled 44 more to the goal line.

Dartmouth evened matters with an 80-yard drive in the second period, climaxed by Bill Dey's buck from the four yard line.

Dartmouth won out in the finale on Joe Sullivan's eight-yard touchdown romp. That capped a 65-yard parade.

Yale Flattened By Vanderbilt

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23. (U)—Twice beaten Vanderbilt, led by Bob Berry, Dean Davidson and Zealand Thigpen flattened Yale's football hopes today by a surprisingly decisive 35 to 0 score. Yale, flushed with its victory last week over Wisconsin, 17-7, never had a chance against the big Vanderbilt line behind which Berry and a half dozen other hard driving backs feinted and ran with the greatest of ease.

Party Bags Elk

Two local dentists, Dr. C. W. Deats and Dr. Wofford Hardy, returned Friday night from Glenwood, Colo., bringing with them an elk they bagged on a hunting trip into that section. The two were gone about ten days.

Baylor And Texas In Tie For Lead

By the Associated Press

Baylor and Texas went into a tie for the lead in the Southwest Conference football race Saturday as they scored victories over Texas A. and M.'s sixth straight defeat. Both had to come from behind to do it. Baylor tallied in the final period to beat A. and M. 20-14. A. and M.'s sixth straight defeat for the season in which the Aggies made 14 points.

Texas roared back to tie the score at 7-7 then got two touchdowns in the last quarter to beat Rice 20-7. A 78-yard pass from Paul Campbell to Byron Gillory featured the Texas drive to victory.

There were only two conference games Saturday.

MERRICK'S RED JOE TRIES FLY BIRD

The Sheriff's Poses is making plans for two days of quarter horse racing at its track west of town next weekend.

The program, being arranged in conjunction with the 1948 Howard County Fair, will take place on Saturday and Sunday.

Today's card, booked to get underway at about 2:30 p. m. will feature a quarter-mile sprint between V. A. Merrick's "Red Joe" and Roy Foreman's "Fly Bird." Foreman is from Lamesa.

Track officials have predicted that duel will be one of the best staged at the oval this season.

For those who enjoy speed with a few spills, there will be a 16-horse relay race with four riders doing all the work. The entire 7-8-mile track will be used.

The jockeys will be Perry Walker, Son Rice, Bud Petty and Harvey Wooten.

At least three other races will be included on the program and prospects are bright that other horses will be matched.

SMU Ponies Humiliate Santa Clara Broncs, 33-0

DALLAS, Oct. 23. (U) — Southern Methodist humiliated Santa Clara 33-0 tonight with the Pacific coast team never able to threaten a score.

The magnificent Doak Walker passed for two touchdowns and set up another before leaving the game and a Methodist reserve backfield got two more touchdowns in the final period to thoroughly crush the touted powerhouse from California.

Santa Clara never got closer to the Southern Methodist goal line than the 33-yard mark.

Southern Methodist rolled up 288 yards on the ground and 146 in the air for a total of 434 compared to only 113 both rushing and passing for the Broncs.

A crowd of more than 30,000 was in the Cotton Bowl for the game played as a feature of the Texas State Fair.

The first Southern Methodist touchdown came in the last minutes of the opening period and was on a 77-yard drive with 20-yard pass from Walker to Kyle Rote scoring. Walker converted.

The next one came after a 64-yard runback of the kick off by Paul Page who was knocked out of bounds on the Santa Clara 15. Rote and Walker rumbled the line for four yards then Walker passed to Raleigh Blakely on the goal line for the score. Walker missed the conversion.

The Methodists took the kick-off opening the second half and paraded 81 yards for another touchdown. A pass from Walker to Rote for 16 yards set the ball on the Santa Clara nine from where Rote rumbled center and cut back over tackle for the score. Walker kicked the point.

Medalist Loses In 1st Round

Thelma Jean Black and Billy Dillon clash today in the 18-hole finals for the Big Spring country club women's golf championship.

Mrs. Black attained the finals Saturday by defeating Dorothy Ray Edwards, 3-2, while Mrs. Dillon was disposing of Bernice Jordan, 4-3.

Mrs. Edwards had upset the medalist, Lois Hodges, Friday by a score of two up. Mrs. Black cleared the preliminaries by drubbing Jane Beale, 4-3. Mrs. Dillon proved superior to Marjorie Ramsey, 3-2, while Mrs. Jordan won over Pat Moon, 7-5.

Mrs. Hodges advanced into the finals of the championship consolation by trouncing Mrs. Beale, 5-3. She will meet Mrs. Moon, who turned back Mrs. Ramsey, 5-4.

In first flight consolation, Roselle McKinney and Peggy McKinney were the survivors. Roselle McKinney edged Edith Liles, 4-3, in the semi-finals after getting by Thelma Howze in first round play. 4-3. Peggy McKinney turned back Edna Mae Morgan, 4-3, after drawing a first round bye.

Mrs. Howze was declared the winner in first flight consolation, since she was the only entry.

Bulldogs Halted By Iraan, 32-0

IRAAN, Oct. 23.—Iraan handed the Coahoma Bulldogs their second defeat of the season here Friday night, 32-0.

Longhorn Loop Dads Session

Directors of the Longhorn baseball league will gather at the Windsor hotel in Abilene at 2 p. m. today for an eventful business session.

The executives will receive a report on the financial status of the circuit, pass on proposed amendments with respect to the player and salary limit, and hear reports from the membership with regard to 1949 operation.

The 1948 season, from any standpoint, was a most successful one for the Class C circuit. It registered a gain of 115,000 in attendance.

Two franchise changes have been effected since the close of season's play. The Del Rio franchise has been switched to Ballinger and the old Ballinger franchise to Roswell, T. M.

Pat Stacey and Les Maulden will present the Big Spring club at the parley.

Oklahoma Noses Out Frogs In Brilliant Test, 21-18

Visitors Come From Behind

FORT WORTH, Oct. 23. (U)—Oklahoma squeezed by Texas Christian university here tonight, 21-18, in a wild offensive struggle.

Six times the lead changed hands and in the end it was 19-year-old Lindell Pearson that gave Oklahoma its third victory in a row over a Southwest Conference team this year.

Pearson, a bull of a halfback, broke through the entire Texas Christian team, shook off a couple of would-be tacklers and scampered 38 yards for the touchdown that beat the Horned Frogs. It happened on the second play of the fourth quarter and from then on the Sooners battled to stay in front.

A safety in the first quarter put Texas Christian ahead and the Horned Frogs came from behind with one touchdown in the second period and another in the third. Another safety in the fourth cut the Sooners' margin.

A 14-yard run by Jack Mitchell climaxed an 89-yard Oklahoma drive in the second and in the third Pearson plunged over from the one yard line.

Les Ming kicked three extra points for Oklahoma. Homer Luder two for TCU.

Jack Archer took a handoff from Lindy Berry and went 29 yards for Texas Christian's first touchdown then two plays after Oklahoma's second tally Berry cut loose with a 71-yard scoring run—the finest individual exhibition of the game.

Oklahoma's terrific power ate up 360 yards on the ground. A hard charging line led by Guard Paul Burris held the Frogs' to 189.

Darrell Royal fumbled in his own end zone in the first three minutes of play and the ball hit the goal post to give Texas Christian an automatic safety.

With less than a minute left in the game the Horned Frogs got another automatic two points. Jack Mitchell, trying to kill time, ran back to his own end zone, then when he tried to get out slipped and fell.

Mitchell, George Thomas and Pearson were Oklahoma's standouts while it was Berry, end Billy Moorman and big Pete Stout that glittered in the Frog lineup.

16-Team Girls' Volley Ball Loop Begins Activity Tuesday Evening

First round in the YMCA girls' volleyball league, which puts 16 teams in competition with each other, gets underway Tuesday evening.

Under the schedule arranged by Arsh Phillips and Anna Smith, who will supervise the program, play will be on a weekly basis over a nine-week period.

At half hour intervals, games will be played starting at 6 p. m. and ending at about 10 p. m. except on the final day, Dec. 17, when 16 games are slated in a 12-hour period from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

All the participants are high school girls, said Lee Milling, executive secretary of the YMCA, and have been divided into teams which have a variety of colorful names.

"We feel that we are fortunate in being able to include this league in the YMCA program, and particularly in having Miss Smith and Miss Phillips supervise it for us," said Milling. "Both have been faithful friends of and workers in the YMCA and the program will need no more recommendation to the several score girls who take part than to know it is in such good hands."

The schedule for the nine-week period follows:

Aussie Horse Sets New Mark

ALBANY, Calif., Oct. 23. (U) — Neil S. McCarthy's Shannon II today won the $75,000-added Golden Gate Handicap in 1:59 4-5 to equal the world record and set a new standard for American tracks at a mile and one quarter.

Two lengths behind the Australian importation was See-See, which finished a half length ahead of Stepfather.

Shannon's running mate, On Trust, was fourth.

The recognized international record for the distance was established by Saint Andrew II at Brighton, Eng., on June 21, 1933.

The American record of two minutes flat was held jointly by Whisk-broom II and Cover Up. The latter set its record in the 1947 Hollywood Gold Cup.

Baylor Bruins Keep Slate Clean By Halting Aggies

Losers Stage Late Uprising

WACO, Oct. 23. (U)—Baylor's Bears started fast and finished strong—at least strong enough—to squeeze by Texas A&M 20-14 here today and stay undefeated in Southwest Conference play.

The Bears, whose season record holds only the blemish of a tie with Mississippi State, came from behind twice during the stirring offensive battle that wasn't settled until the final seconds.

The game kept the capacity Baylor homecoming crowd of 20,000 on its feet most of the time. The Aggies, who fought toe to toe with the Bears throughout, were storming at Baylor's goal line in those thrill-packed closing minutes with James Cashion's passes as dangerous as dynamite.

Then big Eugene Huebner rose up from his line-backer's spot and intercepted a Cashion toss on Baylor's one-yard line. There were seconds only to go. And Baylor clung to the ball, running three time-killing plays into the Aggie line to end and win the game.

Baylor's first score was on a 71-yard sustained drive mixing line plays and passes. George Sims and Adrian Burk sparked it, and it was Burk's pass over the goal line to end Harold Riley that brought the score. Henry Dickerson's try for the extra point was wide.

Bob Goode's 20-yard pass to end Charlie Wright in the second period gave the Aggies their first score and Herb Turley's neatly placed try for point put A&M into the lead.

Baylor came storming right back in another 71-yard drive. Bobby Griffin carried over the middle for the score. This time Dickerson's point try was good.

Goode, Cashion and James Boswell shredded the Baylor defense and Goode made the Aggies second touchdown on a plunge. Turley's conversion was good and A&M led, 14 to 13.

Lyle Blackwood and Sims featured the next Baylor drive and Sims' slash through tackle brought the score. Again Dickerson's point was perfect and Baylor went ahead.

Spartans, Lions In 14-14 Tie

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 23. (U)—Michigan State's battle-toughened Spartans gave unbeaten Penn State the scare of the season and a banner homecoming crowd an in-curable taste of jitters today. The final score was 14 to 14, preserving Penn State's unbeaten record for 14 consecutive games.

But any way you look at it, this thriller was a game that Michigan State could have won and might have won but for bad luck and a desperate last-ditch defensive stand.

Twice the home team had to come from behind to tie the score. Twice Michigan State runners crossed the goal line—one on 100 yard dash with an intercepted pass just as the first half ended—only to be called back. And four times in the final quarter, Penn State turned back the furiously charging Spartans inside their own 25 yard line.

The last successful stand came just as the game ended when Fran Rogel, who played a great game at rightback intercepted a Spartan pass on his own five yard line.

The high spot was George Guerre's 100-yard dash that didn't score. Taking the ball in the last minute of the first half, Penn State ran and passed from its own 20 yard line to the Spartan six. Little Elwood Petchel, Penn State's all-around backfield star, threw one final pass and the equally small Guerre grabbed it right on the goal line. Aided by fine down-field kicking, Guerre went all the way.

But Field Judge Karl W. Bohren detected an unidentified Michigan State player clipping John Finley. Penn State tackle on the 20 yard line and the touchdown was ruled out. Time ran out for the half while Guerre was running.

Guerre, a pint-sized player among the 200-pounders in the two lines, and Petchel, slightly taller and lighter, were the two standout backs.

Guerre, five-foot-five, weighs only 137 pounds and Petchel, five-foot-eight, weighs only 146.

It was Guerre who scored Michigan State's first touchdown, who put the Nittany Lions in the hole time after time with fine kicking and who made the Spartan team click. It also was Guerre, incidentally who threw the pass that Rogel intercepted at the end. Petchel not only ran effectively for Penn State but threw all the passes, two of which clicked for touchdowns.

In the line, where Penn State was expected to excel, the lighter Spartans at times out-charged their rivals and opened huge holes. But they couldn't do it often close to the goal. The Penn State forwards often appeared mystified by the tricky spinners and handoffs and reverses which Coach Biggie Munn incorporated in his Michigan style of attack.

Penn State relied mainly upon straight single wing power plays.

Crippled Steers Face Austin Panthers Here Friday Night

Visitors Are 4AA Favorites

Austin high school's Panthers of El Paso, who come here Friday night for a non-conference football game with Mule Stockton's Big Spring Steers, rule as District 4AA favorites.

The Austins have lost only one contest to date, that a game to a powerful Walte high school, Ohio, club.

Several weeks ago, the Panthers clamed the Midland Indians, 29-6, without a great deal of trouble.

The Austin line will average about 163 pounds, which puts it on a par with Big Spring, and the backfield actually looks smaller on paper.

However, the Panther attack is built around Fred Edens, who weighs 203 pounds and who uses all of it to good advantage. Edens is given valuable help in the backfield by Rosendo Gutierrez and Billy Walsh, each of whom weighs 138, and Walter Baker, 143.

Heaviest man in the Austin forward wall is Royal Gorman, a guard who comes in at 193. However, the Austin team is well stocked with reserves who weigh as much as 220.

The local team is in poor shape for the bout. Paul Fortenberry, favoring a leg injury, may be out for the year. Richard Laswell broke an arm last week and is through for the season. Both are tackles, though Fortenberry played in the backfield against Brownfield.

Kelly Lawrence, a back, hasn't returned to the practice field yet and is giving little chance of playing Friday. Don Williams, a tackle, is out but isn't using any shoulder pads. The same goes for Donnie Carter, a center and back.

It appears that Jimmy Jennings and Arlis Davis will again have to carry the offensive load for Big Spring. Both looked exceptionally good against Brownfield.

Jennings, who weighs but 119 pounds, will call the signals for the Steers. His speed may give the Panthers a lot of trouble.

The Austin High Panthers of El Paso will be the guests of Big Spring's Steers in a non-conference game. The Panthers will be favored to win.

Lamesa will be idle while San Angelo tries to regain some face in a game with Midland at Midland. That could be a toughie for the Bobcats, who haven't lived up to advance promises.

The other circuit contest last weekend, the Abilene Eagles showed a return to form by hobbling Midland, 21-0. Big Spring was idle.

Odessa will be idle next week, returning to action with Sweetwater on Nov. 5. Abilene hosts Sweetwater Friday night and may be capable of upsetting the Ponies.

Bronchos Near District 3AA Crown Again

Three up and three to go, that's Odessa's football Bronchos. The perennial champion of district 3AA mopped up on San Angelo's crippled Bobcats Friday night, 33-6, to win their third league start, now have only Sweetwater, Lamesa and Midland with which to contend.

Sweetwater is expected to be the toughest. The Mustangs are unbeaten and untied and walloped Lamesa after a slow start, 34-7. Previously, the Ponies had beaten Midland, 33-20.

In the other circuit contest last weekend, the Abilene Eagles showed a return to form by hobbling Midland, 21-0. Big Spring was idle.

Odessa will be idle next week, returning to action with Sweetwater on Nov. 5. Abilene hosts Sweetwater Friday night and may be capable of upsetting the Ponies.

The Austin High Panthers of El Paso will be the guests of Big Spring's Steers in a non-conference game. The Panthers will be favored to win.

Lamesa will be idle while San Angelo tries to regain some face in a game with Midland at Midland. That could be a toughie for the Bobcats, who haven't lived up to advance promises.

The other circuit contest last weekend, the Abilene Eagles showed a return to form by hobbling Midland, 21-0. Big Spring was idle.

Odessa will be idle next week, returning to action with Sweetwater on Nov. 5. Abilene hosts Sweetwater Friday night and may be capable of upsetting the Ponies.

Sweetwater May Vote On Bond For New Park

SWEETWATER, Oct. 23. —Petitions asking for a $25,000 bond election in Sweetwater, which would be used to finance improvements on the 1 1/2 park, are being circulated and will be presented to the city commission Monday night.

The petition, bearing the names of 400 registered voters, has been filed with City Secretary W. H. Whatley.

The park would be used by the Sweetwater Sports of the Longhorn league and the Sweetwater high school and amateur teams.

The present facilities have already been blacklisted by the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues. If the park is not improved, the franchise will be moved to another town.

Illini Blasts Purdue, 10-6

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 23. (U)—An alert and scrappy Illinois team upset luckless Purdue 10-6 today to win its first Big Nine football triumph in three starts this season.

A home throng of 56,451 fans roared approval as the underdog Illini snapped a three-game losing streak by taking advantage of two breaks.

In the second quarter, Purdue gambled on a first down near its own goal but failed to pick up the required four feet on the last try.

Illinois took over on the Bollermakers' 16. A pair of five yard infractions nullified efforts to shove over a touchdown and Don Maechtle eventually booted a 21-yard field goal.

In the third period, Trackman Jack Pierce darted 34 and 11 yards during a 78 yard push which Purdue stopped on the 2. Then the Illini capitalized on another break.

George Pumzelt, attempting to punt from the end zone, fumbled the kick out of bounds on the 17. Illinois ate up that yardage in three plays with Bernie Krueger going a four yard wriggle into the touchdown one. Maechtle added the point.

Pittsburgh Upsets Indiana Hoosiers

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23. (U)—Little Louis (Bimbo) Cecconi, a 165-pound Pitt halfback with a penchant for the dramatic, did it again today. He pitched the Panthers to a 21-14 victory over Indiana University in a movie ending to daylight.

17,118 amazed fans. Cecconi waited until the last minute and 13 seconds or a Herculean heave to halfback Jimmy Joe Robinson of Connelville, Pa., for a touchdown play which covered 63 yards.

Pioneer Asks To Add New Air Routes

HOUSTON, Oct. 23. (U-Pioneer Air Lines has applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to add new routes involving 13 cities in Texas and Oklahoma to current service. Robert J. Smith, president, announced today.

The new routes would cover 1,359 miles.

Smith said the company has asked for either temporary or permanent certificates of public convenience for extending its routes to the Oklahoma cities of Enid, Ponca City, Bartlesville, Tulsa, Okmulgee and McAlester.

Permission also is asked for additional routes between cities now being served in Texas and New Mexico, including proposed connections between San Antonio and Dallas and Amarillo, and Lubbock and Roswell, N. M.

The new route into Oklahoma would add the Texas cities of Denison, Sherman, and Pampa to the Pioneer system.

General's Wife Dies At Austin

AUSTIN, Oct. 23. (U—Mrs. Gladys Perrine, 49, wife of Brig. Gen. Nat. S. Perrine, died in a hospital here last night.

She had suffered a stroke earlier in the week. For the last three years she had been ill of high blood pressure. Her doctors said the illness was caused by emotional strain during the war when her husband and son were overseas.

Survivors include her husband, now retired; a son, Lt. Col. Nat. S. Perrine, Jr., Washington, D. C., and a brother, Russell W. Hall of Houston.

Funeral services will be held at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Wood-Corley Funeral Home here. The Rev. Charles Summers of St. David's Episcopal Church officiating.

The body will be sent to Washington for burial in Arlington Cemetery.

Gen. Perrine commanded the 141st-142nd infantry regiment of the 38th division when the National Guard was mobilized for World War II.

WCTU To Meet At Corsicana

CORSICANA, Oct. 23. (U—The 68th annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Texas will be held here Monday.

Dr. Sam Morris of San Antonio, prohibition party candidate for the United States Senate will address a pre-convention mass meeting at the First Baptist Church tomorrow afternoon.

The convention sessions will be held at the First Methodist Church. A reception and banquet will be held at the Kinsloe House Monday night.

Mrs. Claude DeVan Watts of Austin is state president. Dr. Lucile Dickson of Corsicana is district hostess and general chairman.

Clark Charges GOP With Sensations

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 23. (U—The "Republican bosses" have been "staging alleged sensations about 'spy rings'" to divert voter attention from high prices, says U. S. Attorney General Tom C. Clark. "They have all their candidates speaking about Communism," Clark said last night at a Democratic rally. "And they used similar tactics in the elections of 1946."

Five Major Paint, Varnish Firms Fined For Price Fixing

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23. (U—Five major paint and varnish firms and six of their officers were fined a total of $42,500 on anti-trust violations charging a conspiracy to fix prices.

Parcel Post Enjoys Small '48 Bonanza

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (U—Uncle Sam's parcel post system has enjoyed a small-time bonanza this year. Both the parcel it handled and the revenue it collected increased markedly.

Postoffice men lay this in large part to the fact that the Railway Express Agency increased its rates last January. They point out that the postoffice plans to increase its rates also next January.

Here's how the parcel post system jumped its business this year: In the 12 months ending last June the system handled 6,085,000,000 pounds of parcels. In the 12 preceding months it handled 4,958,000,000 pounds.

In August this year, revenue had jumped 24.4 per cent over August 1947. It was $19,965,000 this year. Last year it was $15,796,000.

But the postoffice is losing money. On top of that the post office employees have not only demanded, but they've been granted, a pay increase.

The last Congress voted to increase rates beginning Jan. 1, but not enough, postoffice men say, to cover new wage costs.

However that may be, the one-pound package is going to cost you two cents more across the country. The five-pound package will cost three cents more and the 10-pound package five cents more.

In a hundred years the post office has been in the black only 17 years. It was in the black in 1943, 1944 and 1945, when GI's and their families did a lot of mailing. Before that, the last time the post office did all right was in World War I.

Louisiana Forest Fires Controlled

ALEXANDRIA, La., Oct. 23. (U—The Woodworth office, Louisiana Forestry Commission, today reported nine forest fires in Central Louisiana were either under control or were out. Approximately 2,000 acres were burned yesterday.

James E. Mixon, state forester, said.

No houses were lost and none was in danger today, the Woodworth office said. The U. S. Forestry Service said minor blazes in the Kisatchie National Forest in Grant Parish were out.

No immediate danger is seen to the U. S. Veterans Hospital at nearby Pineville, which reported woodlands fires some two miles distant.

The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

This is One of A Series of Articles Published in The Public Interest To Explain and Illustrate The Practice Of Chiropractic.

STOMACH TROUBLE. All forms of stomach trouble can be classed under two great divisions, namely, the organic and the neurotic. Organic disorders consist of those diseases which involve structural changes in the wall of the stomach. For example, ulcers of the stomach. Neurotic disorders are those conditions wherein the gastric juice is not normal in quantity or in quality.

There is often a confusing similarity between the symptoms of many forms of stomach trouble. A correct diagnosis is difficult to obtain. That is why one practitioner will often diagnose your case as one thing and another diagnose it as an entirely different condition. However, Chiropractic does not depend for its success upon a diagnosis of the case. The Chiropractor does not concern himself with whether the patient is suffering from gastritis, peptic ulcer or nervous dyspepsia.

THE CHIROPRACTOR KNOWS that something is wrong with the stomach; he knows that there are certain nerves supplying the stomach; and that these nerves branch out from the spine. He knows that these nerves must be free to carry nerve energy from the brain to the stomach, and that the only point along the entire course of the nerves where the carrying capacity can be interfered with is where the nerves emit from the spinal column.

So what does the Chiropractor do? He analyzes the spine, and where he finds a subluxation (a condition where the segments of the spine are not in proper alignment), he adjusts it with his hands, and because of this adjustment the pressure (or pinching) is removed from the nerves supplying the stomach. Now the nerves can carry their vital energy in normal quality and quantity to the stomach and under those conditions disease cannot exist. PERMANENT RELIEF. The relief which follows Chiropractic adjustments for stomach trouble or any condition of abnormality is not a temporary one, but permanent, because the cause of the disorder has been removed, and without cause there absolutely can be no disease.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION concerning the modern Chiropractor and what he can do for you, Phone 419.

Big Spring Chiropractic Clinic 409 Rannels

Fined yesterday by Federal District Court Judge R. M. Gibson were:

General Paint Corp., San Francisco; Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.; Devco and Reynolds Co., Inc., New York City, and the Interchemical Company, New York City, all fined $5,000, and American-Marietta Co., Chicago, $10,000.

R. D. Sullivan, vice president of General Paint, $1,000; Neil L. Fleming, Pittsburgh Plate, $3,000; David Eichelberger, American-Marietta, $2,000; Joseph Esposito, Interchemical, $3,500; Elliott Phillips, Devco, $2,000, and C. S. Weaver, American-Marietta, $1,000.

All pleaded no defense to the federal charges.

"We do not concede guilt to violations of the anti-trust laws," said Attorney Joseph Owens of Pittsburgh Plate, "but take this action (pleading no contest) to save time and expense of litigation regardless of the outcome of the trial."

The indictments charged the defendants with a "combination and conspiracy to fix, stabilize, maintain and control the prices, discounts, allowances and terms of sale of their products."

Fish Story Is No Tax On Credulity

DALLAS, Oct. 23. (U—Dr. W. M. Longnecker, Southern Methodist University science professor, is known as an artful angler, but he's having a hard time convincing his friends of this fish story.

Longnecker was fishing recently at Bluebonnet Lake, near Grand Prairie. The wind was high and his boat blew into shore.

The professor laid down his rod and began paddling. He said he was startled at that point when a bass, trapped between the boat and the shore, leaped into the boat.

The bass weighed around four pounds and was the largest fish the SMU prof has bagged this year.

LIKE TO FEEL THIS UNDER YOUR TOE?

Step out with Brand-New Fireball Power in your old Buick

THIS is a brand-new Buick engine. It's fresh from the factory—straight from the same assembly line where the engines in 1948 Buick cars are built.

If you'd like to boss it around—mister, that's easy, if you have any Buick built since 1937.

All we need to do is take out your old engine—and put this one in.

Then you can feel the thrill of a brand-new Fireball engine. You can enjoy all the pep, power and performance that you'd get if you had a 1948 car.

It's spick and span, from head to pan, with all the features that make today's Buick engine the pacesetter of the power parade.

And it can be yours in less than two days. Look at the list of what you get—the most complete power package ever. There's a brand-new ignition system—brand-new clutch, pistons, pins, rings, valves—even the water pump.

We can make this offer because engine output has outstripped new-car production at the factory. The cost? Much less than you think, although it varies a bit from model to model.

Come in today for detailed figures on bringing your old Buick right up to date on power.

Scientists Say Meteors Will Endanger Space Ships

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor
NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (U.P.) — A space ship has a 50-50 chance of being drilled by a shooting star, or meteor — about once every two years of flight time.
These calculations are made by

G. Grimmering, of the Douglas Aircraft Co., Santa Monica, Calif., and released today by the Journal of Applied Physics.

For this rate of risk, Grimmering says, the ship should be flying at 300 miles or more above the earth.

Lower down, the atmosphere would slow the speed of shooting stars, or burn them, and reduce the dangers.

He figures that for a ship making a flight of only 20 hours in space, the chances are 1,000 to one against its being hit.

These meteors are particles of stone or metal, ranging in size from less than a pin head up to 20 tons.

The latter are so scarce as to be considered no risk.

There are, Grimmering says, about six a day, weighing between 100 and 200 pounds, that set through the air to the earth's surface.

These hundred-pounders also are not much risk.

The hits that might drill holes come from very small particles, of which many million a day hit the upper atmosphere.

Their size is not important, but their speeds average 30 miles a second, and some go as fast as 50 to 60 miles a second.

Many of these are so small that Grimmering figures they will rattle off even a thin metal skin of a space ship.

That still leaves a certain number that will drill holes.

Grimmering says these risks cannot be completely calculated because the heating effects of the very high speeds are not well enough known.

CLANCY TAKES STALIN PLACE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (U.P.) — Stalin is on the way out—in favor of Clancy.

The Federal Bureau of Geographic Names has been asked to make that substitution in the name of Stalin Lake, Michigan. It's one of 27 name-changes suggested for the Manistee National Forest by the Michigan Geographic Board, the Mason County Board of Supervisors and the U. S. Forest Service.

Some of the others: Bass Lake to Ashesun — the Indian word for bass; Mud Lake to Gytja — the Swedish word for mud; Bear Creek to Muckwa — Indian word for Bear; Twin Lakes to Nijode — Indian word for twin.

Clancy is not the Irish word for Stalin. Clancy was an early settler in the Wolverine State. No one knows where the lake's present name came from—at least, no one's saying.

Explosion During Operation Kills Pennsylvanian

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 23. (U.P.) — An explosion of anesthetic gas apparently killed Mrs. Anne Barbara Vugrinec, 59, on the operating table at the Harrisburg Hospital, Supt. Webster S. Kohlhaas said today.

Two anesthetists, Miss Frances Metz and Miss Dolores Cartier, were slightly injured in the blast but kept on working, Kohlhaas said. The surgeon, Dr. Norman B. Shepherd, and his assistant, Dr. Thomas E. Davies, were uninjured.

The accident occurred yesterday as the woman, mother of five children, was undergoing an abdominal operation.

Kohlhaas said the operation was about completed at the time of the blast. However, Mrs. Vugrinec was still under anesthetic.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith B. Marks and son, Don, are visiting Mrs. Marks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde V. Glover. The Marks are from Dallas.

Church's Aerial Publicity Drive Foiled By Law

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 23. (U.P.) — It cost a pilot $50 in fines for dropping leaflets on Pottsville, urging the residents to go to church.

The pilot, 21-year-old John J. Geier, was hired by the First Methodist Church of nearby St. Clair and the St. Clair Kiwanis Club to drop leaflets last Oct. 2 urging church attendance on the next Sunday which was Worldwide Communion Sunday.

But, reported State Policeman Stanley Kramer, Geier flew too low over the houses.

Alderman Robert J. Kalbach, who heard the case last night, agreed with spokesmen for the church and Kiwanis Club that Geier was working for a good cause, but, he added, "the law says you can't fly below 100 feet." — Associated Press.

Wall Street Has Best Week Since Mid-May

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (U.P.) — This was the best week the stock market has had since a spectacular mid-May advance.

About $2 billion was added to the market value of all shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The week closed on a rising note. In today's short session the powerful momentum of Friday's market slowed down but there was little question that the price curve still slanted upward.

Several steel issues reached new highs for the year or longer and gains generally ran from fractions to around a point.

Turnover amounted to 680,000 shares, the busiest Saturday since the exchange resumed week-end trading after a summer recess.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 2 of one point to 71, a peak since the same level was reached on July 15. High for the year is 72.4, hit earlier in July.

Public interest in the market heightened and the week's volume increased to 6,933,120 shares, which has not been equalled since mid-July.

Probably the major contribution to more intense demand was Wall Street's interpretation of political news. The market in other words, acted in its familiar role as an appraiser of the economic future.

In downtown Manhattan a Republican president is regarded almost as a sure thing. Brokers say it is felt that a change in the administration would bolster business confidence and perhaps take away or modify some of the taxes and curbs which have rubbed raw the hide of many a capitalist.

GOP Is Termed Reaction Voice

BELTIMORE, Oct. 23. (U.P.) — The Republican Party was labeled last night as a "reactionary voice of liberalism" by the Democratic candidate for vice-president, Sen. Alben W. Barkley.

The Senate minority leader told an estimated 2,400 at a Democratic rally that the "Republicans haven't had an idea in 76 years—and the 80th Congress is no exception."

Babe Ruth hit more home runs off Detroit pitchers than those of any other team in his career—123. Rube Walberg of the Philadelphia Athletics was Babe Ruth's leading "cousin" during his major league career—Ruth hit 17 home runs off him.

Former Actress Is Feeling Fine After Jail Stay

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23. (U.P.) — Midge Meredith is at liberty today, feeling "just fine" and having gained 25 pounds in jail.

The former actress posted $15,000 bail to gain her release after 11 months incarceration while she was awaiting action on an appeal. Originally $100,000 bail was required.

Miss Meredith, 26, who was Marjorie May Massow of Iowa Falls, Ia., was convicted Dec. 11, 1947, and sentenced last January to five years to life imprisonment for kidnapping and assaulting her former manager, Nick Gianacis, in June, 1947. Three men were convicted with her. Miss Meredith and Gianacis, who previously had guided her film career, had quarreled over joint ownership of a house.

The state has until Nov. 20 to file reply briefs in the appeal case.

Long Cancels Special Vote

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 23. (U.P.) — Gov. Earl K. Long today called off a special election and declared elected two unopposed Democratic nominees for the legislature from New Orleans.

The new representative are Patrick McGittigan of the second ward and William J. Hankins of the seventh.

Secretary of State Wade O. Martin, Jr., announcing the cancellation, said the governor acted under a statute permitting him to dispense with a special election when only one candidate qualifies. The elections for representatives were specially called to fill vacancies, though they were to coincide with the regular general election Nov. 2.

Riot Explanation

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 23. (U.P.) — The French embassy said today it had been informed that rioting mobs who attacked French administrative offices in Mahr yesterday came from outside the town. The administration was temporarily paralyzed after some 10,000 persons invaded the offices in the French Indian town and burned records.

Credit Women's Club Installation Is Held

Mrs. Veda Carter was the program director, and Mrs. Virginia Schwarzenbach the installing officer, when members of the Credit Women's Club met in the First Methodist Church Friday evening for a dinner and installation of new officers. Mrs. Fay Colthorp, new president, was installed by proxy. Other officers installed were: Mrs. Dorothy Reagan, vice president; Mrs. Mae Hayden, secretary; and Mrs. Johnnie Morrison, treasurer. Directors are Mrs. Ina McGowan, Mrs. Velma O'Neal and Mrs. Veda Carter.

Tables were decorated with an arrangement of miniature fences covered with vines and surrounded by miniature horses, forming a farm scene. Greenery and tiny trees completed the setting. White candles in candleabra decorated the head table which was centered with an arrangement of large yellow mums. Jessie Lee Townsend of Estah's Flowers donated the door prize which was won by Margarette Wooten.

A past president's pin was presented to Mrs. Carter, retiring president. Gifts were presented to the outgoing secretary, Fern Wells; and the outgoing treasurer, Georgia Johnson. Clara Zack made the presentations. Ruth Ramsdell, who was accompanied by Helen Duley, furnished vocal music. The guest list included: Velma O'Neal, who gave the invocation; Ina McGowan, Dorothy Reagan, Mae Hayden, Virginia Schwarzenbach, Veda Carter, Johnnie Morrison, Fern Wells, Clara Zack, Theo Covert, Jessie Lee Townsend, Josephine Raouel, Mary Lee Shursen, Florence McNew, Martine McDonald, Katherine Homan, Pyrie Perry, Gertrude Hull, Odie Lane, Gillie Fitzpatrick, Lois Marchbanks, Edith Trapnell, Marguerette Wooten, Reba Baker, Jewel Kuykendall, Marie Parker, Pauline Sullivan, Ruth Ramsdell and Helen Duley.

Get Set For New Age Of Plastics In Your Home

AP Newsfeatures
NEW YORK—You won't live in an all-plastic house anytime soon. But plastic manufacturers predict that day isn't too far off. Right now at the National Plastics Exposition, they're trying to show how plastics have taken over in the home.

For kitchen chefs there are plastic dishwashers, butter dishes, drinking glasses, trays, spice cabinets, salad bowls, measuring spoons, dinnerware, coffee pots, knife racks, wall sheeting.

In the boudoir there are plastic hangers, hair dryers, powder boxes, clothes (except for the works), combs, brushes, closet accessories, bottles that can be squeezed to emit a spray of powder or cologne.

Baby gets his plastic too. Little toy cars, rattles, baby pants and dolls are just a few plastic wonders for a little tyke.

Dad and mom wear plastic belts, wrist bands, goggle frames, pocketbooks, watch cases. Their records and radio cases are plastic.

The sportsman can find plastic duck decoys, boats and bait boxes and that the stuff has gone to his fishing reel and gun handles. Even the garden hose is plastic.

Oh, yes, dad goes to work in a plastic lunchbox, they say. And when he needs a new set of teeth, he can get them—in plastic.

Big Spring Garden Club Announces Plans And Rules For Flower Show

Members of the Big Spring Garden Club have completed plans for their first annual flower show to be held October 28, 29, and 30 and will open the show to the public on October 28 from 3-11 p. m. and from 9 a. m. to 11 p. m. on October 29 and 30. Their flower show is being held in connection with the Howard County Fair and will have headquarters at the fair ground.

Exhibitors are open to residents of Howard County. Entries will be received from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. Thursday, October 28. Late entries may be shown but may not compete for awards. Entries must remain until end of the show and removed by 5 p. m. October 31. Awards will be made October 28.

In classes of three exhibits or less judges may award ribbons at their discretion. Exhibits will be judged not against each other, but against perfection. All persons except the flower show chairman, the clerk and the judges will be excluded from the show while the judging is taking place.

Exhibitors must be amateurs, who raise and cultivate flowers purely for pleasure and ornament. One entry per person per class is permitted. Exhibitors must maintain or replenish entries until the end of the show. If allowed to become unsightly, entries will be removed.

Naming increases the value of the exhibit in all cultural classes and preference will be given named specimens in close decisions.

Dried materials with live materials in arrangements is prohibited. Tying, wedges, wiring, twisters, scotch tape and other mechanical aids in making arrangements are permitted but must not be visible. Wiring stems as the florists do is prohibited. Foliage, other than the plants' own foliage and grasses may be used in arrangements. Accessories may be used. Ribbons and fancy ornaments are not permitted except in period arrangements since such were really used when those arrangements were fashionable. Horticulture specimens and materials used in arrangements must be grown by the exhibitor. Fruit for fruit arrangements may be purchased.

Exhibitors are to furnish their own fruit jar specimen containers and whatever type of container they want to use for their arrangements. The show committee is not responsible for containers and other property, but reasonable care will be exercised. All items should be marked with the owner's name.

Conservation material is not permitted in arrangements and may be shown for educational purposes only. It is considered native material.

Professional help is prohibited in making arrangements.

The following definitions will be used in the show:

specimen: a single fruit, vegetable, plant, bloom, spray, cluster, spike or stalk.

spike: a flower structure with flowers stemless on a common lengthened stalk. Used sometimes where stems are individual flowers and very short.

spray: portions of plants with a number of flowers on one stem.

stalk: a stiff stem which may or may not branch and with one or more flowers and buds.

bloom: individual flowers, one in bloom on a stem.

cluster: several blossoms or fruits growing close together on the same stem.

Specimen exhibition blooms of Teas, Hybrid Teas, Hybrid Perpetuals and other exhibition types must have been grown disbudded. If side buds are present, the judges will disqualify the bloom. These buds should be removed as soon as they appear and only one bud should be allowed to develop. A specimen of Tea or exhibition roses is 1/4 to 3/4 open.

A specimen of climbers and ramblers is one bloom lateral and does not need to be disbudded.

In the horticulture division, one specimen per person per class will be admitted. Some of these classes are aster, azalea mums, berrie branches, cannas, cockscomb, cosmos, daisy, fruit branch, iris, gallardia, marigolds, dwarf and large, chrysanthemums, small, medium and large, petunias, single, ruffled and double, phlox, annual and perennial, roses, tea, climbers and polyantha, snapdragons, sunflowers, scabiosa, zinnias, dwarf, large and fantasy. A class for unusual flowers or those not listed above will also be in this division. There will also be a class devoted to dahlias, including formal decorative, informal decorative, cactus, semi-cactus, incurved-cactus, ball, miniature, pompon and single flowering.

Women's Artistic Arrangement Class will include the following types: arrangements of mixed flowers; arrangements of one variety of flowers; arrangements of berries and flowers; arrangements of fruit; miniature arrangements, not to exceed three inches; small arrangements, four to ten inches overall.

Junior's Division will include miscellaneous arrangements of children. Awards will be made.

Native and Wild Rose arrangements will be included in the Conservation Material Class which is for educational purposes only.

Mrs. Cliff Wiley is the flower chairman; Mrs. D. M. Penn, co-chairman; Mrs. J. C. Daugherty, horticulture and Mrs. Lloyd Wasgon, arrangements.

Juanita Wilkerson Becomes Bride Of Algie Shortes Saturday Night

Juanita Wilkerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wilkerson, 1710 Austin and Algie Shortes, son of Mrs. S. James, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony in the Assembly of God church Saturday evening.

The Rev. C. R. Love, pastor, read the informal double ring rites as the couple exchanged vows before the altar banked with white gladioli and fern. Tall cathedral tapers illuminated the chapel.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Ed Wilkerson, sister-in-law of the bride, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. C. R. Love. Mrs. Love also played the traditional wedding marches, Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

The bride was attired in a dove grey tailored suit, black accessories and a pink blouse, fashioned with ruffled jabot and wristlets. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and pink sweetheart rosebuds, placed on a white Bible. For the traditional something old, she wore a wedding band belonging to her mother; something new, a linen handkerchief; something borrowed, the white Bible, belonging to her sister, Dorothy Wilkerson, and something blue, was a ribbon marker in her Bible.

Dorothy Wilkerson acted as maid of honor. She wore a navy blue dressmaker suit, with navy accessories and a white blouse fashioned after the bride's. Her corsage was of pink carnations and she wore a carnation in her hair.

Veda Wilkerson served as bridesmaid. Miss Wilkerson chose a pink wool dress, with black accessories and her corsage was of white carnations.

The candlelighters, Evelyn Ray and Mary Howard, wore grey tailored suits, with black accessories and pink carnation corsages.

C. C. Shortes, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Granville Hahn acted as groomsman and ushers included Tommy Weaver and Alfred Herring.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Wilkerson, was attired in a black crepe dress of shirtdress style and black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. James, chose a black crepe two-piece dress, with peplum effect and she wore a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Shortes graduated from Big Spring high school in 1946 and is employed as secretary in the Howard County health department. The bridegroom attended Knott high school. He served 18 months with the Armed Forces, ten of them overseas. He is now associated with the Rio Grande National Life Insurance company.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Those in the receiving line included the bride and bridegroom, members of the wedding party, the bride's mother, Mrs. Wilkerson and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. James.

LEAP YEAR AND RENTAL DILEMMA

CHICAGO, Oct. 23. (U.P.)—John Bardo, 78, owner of an apartment building, told Municipal Judge John T. Zuris yesterday that one of his tenants wants to marry him to avoid paying her rent.

Bardo, a widower, said it's embarrassing because the tenant, Mrs. Pecia Stranc, 68, a widow, says she won't pay the rent until he marries her. And if he marries her, he said, he won't get the rent, anyway.

Bardo was in court on a disorderly conduct complaint signed by Mrs. Stranc after he had refused for the sixth time to marry her and insisted she pay her rent.

Judge Zuris dismissed the complaint. He also suggested Bardo think over Mrs. Stranc's proposal.

Mrs. R. O. Mealer presided at the guest register. Mrs. C. C. Shortes cut the three tiered wedding cake and Mrs. Leonard Wilkerson attended the punch service.

The lace-laid table was centered with an arrangement of white carnations, surrounded by pink rose petals in a crystal bowl. Other floral arrangements were placed at vantage points in the reception rooms. Table appointments were of crystal and silver.

Out of town guests attending were Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Sadler of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Huett and Elita of Abilene and the Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Sheats of Lubbock.

For traveling the bride chose a teal blue tailored suit with black accessories.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Big Spring.

Rites For Rancher

AUSTIN, Oct. 22. (U.P.)—Funeral services were held here today for Charles Real, 79, prominent as a ranchman and former county judge of Kerr County. He died in a local hospital yesterday. Burial was in the Real cemetery near Kerrville.

Sale Of Vulture Plant Approved

FORT WORTH, Oct. 23. (U.P.)—Purchase of the former Consolidated Vulture plant at New Orleans by the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation for $2,100,000 was approved Friday, by War Assets Administration subject to final approval of the National Munitions Board and Department of Justice.

The Pittsburgh, Pa., firm plans to spend $3,000,000 in converting the plant and to employ 600 persons in production of its line of vitreous China and plumbing fixtures.

NOTHING ELSE BUT A. P. STORY

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 23. (U.P.)—A. P. Story, Jr., is listed as a student publicity chairman in a Cornell University directory.

His full name is Austin P. Story, Jr., and he's president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Fraternity brothers refer to him as "Associated Press."

Eager Beaver Club Halloween Party Held

Members and guests of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club held a Halloween and tacky party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Johnson Friday evening. Entertaining rooms were decorated in orange and black, pumpkins and black cats. The serving table was centered with a pumpkin and trimmed with orange and black ruffles.

Mrs. Dick Hooper was the fortune teller for the evening.

Bingo, forty-two and Halloween games were played.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kendrix and Janet; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bruton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riddle and Wayne and Jimmy; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Clayton and Barry; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bruton, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jerrigan and Patsy Ruth and Mary Loh; Mrs. R. L. Findley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Yates and Iva Nell; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Findley and Sarah Lee; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Findley and Donnet; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hooper, Billy Fred Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bryant; Edna Marie Gaskin; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spivey; Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Beverly, James Leonard, and Jessiere; and two guests, Leonard Johnson and V. C. Barber.

First Baptist Alathean-Pollyanna Classes Observe Third Anniversary

Members of the Alathean and Pollyanna classes of the First Baptist church celebrated their third anniversary with an annual banquet in the church parlor Friday evening.

The Mexican motif was used throughout the party rooms. Tables were placed in a U shape and the Mexican dinner was served buffet style. Straw was placed on the floor and in the center of the room was a simulated wishing well, boasting an old fashioned bucket. Sombrosos were on the walls and a hand-painted picture of a Mexican hacienda was featured at one end of the table. Potted plants of cacti and colored berries were placed at vantage points in the rooms. Dinner was served by candlelight.

Mrs. Tracy Smith led the invocation. Bobbie Pope acted as master of ceremonies presenting the program of "Life South of the Border."

Those on the program were at-tired in typical Mexican costumes. Mrs. Viola Johnson sang "Serenade of the Bells," accompanied by Mat-tie Belle Tompkins. Addie Mahoney performed as an unambitious Mexican girl, who required an after-noon siesta. She sang "Manana" and was accompanied by Mattie Belle Tompkins.

Bobbie P. the pa-tade of the matadors comprised of Louise Boykin and Addie Ma-honey. The highlight of the enter-tainment was the bull fight, with Kate Irons and Marie Horton as the main participants.

In conclusion, the Lopez trio sang "My Adobe Hacienda," "I Tipped My Hat and Slowly Rode Away," and "Now Is the Hour."

The class watchword was re-peated in unison.

Those attending were Mrs. Ed-die Savage, Eva Lee Trotter, Al-pha Peters, T. F. Horton, Jack Irons, Dwain Winters, Orville Bry-ant, Mrs. Red Womack, Wayne Nance, Anna Proctor, Mrs. C. W. Mahoney, Leonard Coker, Mrs. Ted Phillips, Mrs. Bill Johnson, Bobbie Pope, Relece Jones, Mrs. Bledsoe O'Brien, Mrs. Paul D. Sledge, Mrs. J. C. Pickle, Mrs. C. O. Isbell, Mrs. Homer Ward, Mrs. J.

Informal Church Ceremony Unites Jean Cornelison - C. A. Tonn, Jr.

In an informal candlelight ceremony in the First Baptist church Saturday evening, Jean Cornelison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cornelison, became the bride of C. A. Tonn, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Tonn.

The Rev. James S. Parks, pastor of the East Fourth Baptist church officiated at the double ring service. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The altar was surrounded by baskets of pink gladioli and greenery. White tapers in bronze candelabra were placed at either end of the altar, with other floral arrangements of pink and white.

The bride was attired in a white wool street length dress, with a fitted bodice, full skirt and three quarter length sleeves. The dress featured gold buttons and a gold belt. Her hat was of gold and white. She carried green orchids atop a white Bible.

In carrying out the traditional something old, and something blue the bride wore a wedding band, hanging from a blue ribbon belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. E. Thornton or Stanton; something new was a necklace of pearls, a gift from her father; something borrowed was a wrist watch, belonging to Barbara Lytle. She wore a penny in her shoe for luck.

Mrs. H. M. Jarrett played the pre-nuptial wedding music and the traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied Joan Cornelison, cousin of the bride from San Antonio, as she sang, "Because, 'I Love You Truly' and 'Wedding Prayer'."

Billie Jean McClure was matron of honor. Mrs. McClure chose a white wool street length dress, fashioned with bustle effect. She carried a colonial bouquet of pom-poms.

Jean Meador and Patsy Phillips served as candlelighters. They wore identical dresses of white wool, fashioned with a fitted top and full skirt and wristlets of tall-man roses.

Arnold Tonn, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. R. E. McClure, Jr. and Gorman Rainey acted as ushers.

Mrs. Cornelison, mother of the bride, was attired in a black crepe fitted dress, with black accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Tonn, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black dress and black accessories with a corsage of white roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor.

Members of the house party included the bride and bridegroom, the wedding party, the bride's mother, the bridegroom's mother, and Mrs. Thornton of Stanton, Mrs. W. B. Younger and Mrs. Vernon Logan of Lamesa, Mrs. Larson Lloyd and Mrs. Harold Meador.

Frances Bigony presided at the bride's book. Mrs. W. B. Younger and Mrs. Bill Edwards alternated at cutting the cake. Mrs. Vernon Logan and Mrs. Larson Lloyd attended the punch service.

The lace-laid table was centered with an arrangement of orchid mums.

The bride is a 1946 graduate of Big Spring high school and attended Baylor University, where she was a member of Phi Beta Mu sorority. The bridegroom attended Big Spring high school and is now employed at the Safeway store.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside at 104 Lincoln.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Eunice Morgan of Tulsa, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stephenson, Bob and Bill of Stanton, Mrs. E. Thornton of Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Cornelison, Joan, Davy, Mark and Martha and Bob Stauffer of San Antonio and Ions Cornelison of Houston.

Proud Parents Announce New Family Additions

Thirteen families announced additions during the past week. At the Hogan and Malone Clinic-Hospital, two girls and a boy "weighed in." Mr. and Mrs. Charles Long announced the birth of Theda Elizabeth, 7 pounds, 3/4 ounce; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bruce of Midland, a daughter, Glenda Louise, 6 pounds, 2 ounces; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Fillmore Eply of Stanton, a 7 pound, 3/4 ounce boy, as yet unnamed.

Three infants were born at Cowper's this week. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Turner of Coahoma, announced the birth of a son, Gary Dennis, 6 pounds, 8 ounces, on October 20. October 18, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Peek of Forsan, announced the birth of a daughter, Alana, 6 pounds. On October 19, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Polson announced the birth of a daughter, Nellie Joe.

At the Big Spring hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sonnershein became the parents of a daughter, Charlotte Ann, weighing six pounds ten ounces. The infant was born at 2:30 a. m. Oct. 17.

William Howard Reinbaugh was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reinbaugh Oct. 17 and weighed five pounds, 15 ounces.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Brown, a daughter, Barbara Karen, Oct. 19 at 11 a. m. and weighing six pounds, ten and one half ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. David Elrod became the parents of Karen Margaret Oct. 19 at 2:05 a. m. The little girl weighed seven pounds and five ounces.

Danny Ray McCarty was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. O. McCarty on Oct. 21 at 8:55 p. m. and weighed six pounds, 15 ounces.

Sandra Sue Gregg is the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gregg. Sandra was born Oct. 23 and weighed six pounds and 12 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Johansen are the parents of John Earl, who weighed seven pounds and two ounces.

"Sweetest Day" Doesn't Have A Sour Note-No?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Newsfeatures Writer NEW YORK CITY now has, by proclamation of its mayor, a "Sweetest Day." It falls upon the city, like a warm blanket of snow. And a very exciting thing it is too.

As a patriotic, public-spirited American I try to observe all of the hundred-odd special days. Weeks and Months which are proclaimed of course to be "usual, and-famous ones like Christmas, Believme one. Before "Sweetest Day" crossed my horizon, my favorite observances have been National Knit Glove Week, National Optimist Week and, of course, Sew and Save Week. But from here in, I'm a "Sweetest" fan. Its motto is "Make Someone Happy!" But I sort of suspect the idea is to make someone happy with c-y.

The "Sweetest" sponsors are very wise. The day is observed in a handful of cities in October, when people are fresh and enthusiastic. The Day and Week people figure everyone is out of town and vacation-minded during July and August, leaving you nothing to whoop it up about except the Fourth of July, which is pretty old hat. So the true celebrant's year starts in September, and from then on until June it's pretty much of a rat-race. The tough period is May, a mad whirl including very important observances like National Cotton Week, on into Restaurant, Be Kind to Animals, Golf and Foot Health weeks. Golly gosh, it makes me dizzy to think about last May!

The narrowest squeak I ever had was a dreadful episode during National Noise Abatement Week. I remember it so well, because it came right after exciting National Packaging Week. Anyway, I went around on tippy-toes for days, glaring at backfiring autos and honking taxis. But every night I was shocked and dismayed at the attitude of the family next door, on could hear the racket right through the walls: singing, piano playing, and the radio. Heck gee, their decibel count on my counter was several degrees higher than a single-engine plane warming up. I stood it as long as I could.

Finally I just went over there. The whole family were gathered around the piano, singing at the top of their lungs. "Mrs. Brewer," I said sternly. "Mrs. Brewer, don't you know this is National Noise Abatement Week?"

She wasn't even embarrassed. "Well," she fires right back, "don't YOU know this is National Music Week? And since that obviously means nothing to you, it is also National Family Week. And my family is observing them both together."

It was, too! I'd neglected to make a final check and hadn't realized there were three important weeks rolled into one. Well, the Brewers and I stopped speaking. The whole episode took the enjoyment out of celebrating Days and Weeks for a long time. I couldn't eat a thing on National Donut Day; I never cracked a smile during National Laugh Week. Wild Life Restoration, Pharmacy, Fellowship, Fishermen's, Sweater and Nationally Advertised Brands Weeks passed slowly without even a nod.

But now I've got "Sweetest Day," and I made the Brewers happy. It's changed everything!

Youngest First Lady Cheers Her Candidate

COLUMBIA, S. C.— Attractive, dark-haired Jean Crouch Thurmond, bride of Dixiecrat presidential candidate J. Strom Thurmond, is the youngest governor's lady in the land: 22.

Five days after the general election next month, the South Carolina governor who heads the States' Rights Democratic ticket, will celebrate the first anniversary of their marriage.

And ever since the wedding—at an improvised altar in the governor's mansion—she has been in a whirl from one public function to another.

As a loyal wife and by her own convictions, Jean Thurmond is an ardent supporter of the principles of "states' rights," but as a woman she still finds time to consider such important items as clothes and cuisine.

She's a real beauty, slender, fairly tall and with a quiet, gentle manner. She is most fond of tailored clothes, and South Carolinians like her taste. For public appearances, she goes in for a dark, basic color. She uses jewelry sparingly and doesn't go in for many frills and furbelows.

Part of her smart wardrobe, at least, is due to efforts of her sister, Frances Crouch, a talented girl with a needle. Jean Thurmond is at home with scissors and needle in hand, but at the moment she's had only time to "touch things up." Both the Crouch girls learned their way around a sewing basket at Winthrop College, the state's women's college at Rock Hill.

The executive mansion boasts a corps of domestic help, but Mrs. Thurmond likes to get into the kitchen from time to time, whipping up a surprise dish for her 16-year-old husband. At the moment she's entranced with a new recipe for deviled crab, but she has a sizable store of Southern recipe secrets, such as hominy grits, fried chicken and "good ole corn bread."

In spite of the difference between her age and her husband's, she has to race to keep up with the athletic-minded governor. It's nothing unusual for the Thurmonds to take a five- or six-mile hike.

"Of course, I'm worn out on these treks," she confesses.

The Thurmond-Crouch romance sprang from a childhood admiration and a breezy courtship of the boss and his secretary. Soon after

JEAN THURMOND
Governor's Lady at 22

Jean graduated from college, she began working as a secretary in the governor's office.

By the end of the summer, their engagement was accepted as fact by South Carolinians although it was not announced formally until early last fall.

The governor had first met Jean before the war when he was a circuit judge and she a high school teacher in her home village of Elko. She has a fond memory of the occasion because the handsome judge told her she had pretty eyes.

Before she finished her formal studies, the governor named Jean "Miss South Carolina" for the 1947 spring azalea festival at Charleston.

Her help extends beyond taking notes for him in shorthand, too. She plays the piano, violin and saxophone. But, true to Southern tradition, she thinks she should stay in the background as far as her husband's public career is concerned.

HCJC To Hold Carnival, Dance

Hallowe'en activities at Howard County Junior college will feature a carnival and dance on Thursday night, it was announced Saturday. The carnival will open at 7:30 p. m. in the college gymnasium (post building No. 67).

No less than 32 attractions will be lined up on the midway, and a prize will be awarded to the couple reporting in the best costume attire. Costumes, however, are optional.

A highlight of the evening will be the crowning of the college carnival king and queen.

All administrative and faculty personnel of the college will participate in the event. No admission fees will be charged, and the public is invited to attend. Proceeds derived from the carnival will be submitted to the senior class fund.
