Give High Awards In Court Of Honor Monday

The Boy Scout Court of Honor for Troop 32 Monday night, Nov. 8, when three boys receive Eagle Scout awards and one is made a Life Scout, will see the largest number of high honors in that organization that has been given at one time here in the last 15 years, Sandy Parsons, Jr., Scoutmaster, revealed this week.

The Eagle Scout awards, the highest rank in Boy Scout work, go to John Alvin Horton, Kelly Kern Pigg and Tommy Tollett, who now lives at Borger. Ray Henry will receive the Life Scout award, second highest, and ranking just below Eagle Scout.

Only one other Eagle Scout award has been made here for the past 15-year period, and that was to Ansel McDowell, Jr., now studying at the University of Texas School of Medicine, Galveston. His younger brother, Jim McDowell, completed his work for Eagle Scout here but the award was made at Hereford.

The Court of Honor, which will be held in the District Court Room, beginning at 8:00 p. m., is under the direction of the Rotary Club, sponsor of the troop.

In addition to the four high honors, approximately 12 boys will receive advancements and merit badges.

Both Rotarians and Scoutmaster Parsons are urging the parents to attend. Nowhere, they point out, can parents or friends learn better the work of a Scout troop than in attending a Court of Honor.

Mr. Reynolds said that that anyone wishing to inspect the property can contact him. It will be sold together, or separately, as the buyers desire.

Famous Circus Clown Coming

Right from the sawdust ring from the big tops of all of America's leading circuses comes that delightful and famous entertainer, Lew Hershey, Clown, complete with an amazing array of costumes and props, will appear at Wellington high school auditorium Tuesday, November 16 at 1:45 p. m. Supt. Bennett Goodloe has announced.

Adults may attend, and only a small charge is made. This program is sponsored by the Southern School Assemblies, and is one of a series of entertainment brought here during the year.

Hershey, the noted circus clown has been connected with all of the largest circuses in America since 1914. During that time he has appeared in every major city in the U. S. and Canada, visiting every state in the union and every province in Canada.

When the circuses paraded he played the callopie, and during the performance clowning throughout. He was with circuses when the old Barnum and Bailey circus was on the road before the Ringlings bought it, and was also in the employ of the Ringlings, Sells-Floto, John Robinson, Hagenback-Wallace Sparks, Al G. Barnes, Gentry Brothers, Patterson Trained Wild Animal Show, and others.

In the assembly program he is presenting he takes you back in the dressing room (so to speak) and shows all about how the clowns get ready to work, such as (Continued on page 12)

County Gins 17,821 Bales; Crop 70 Per Cent Out

More than eight thousand bales of cotton, ginned in the past two weeks, has brought county production to 17,821 to Tuesday, Nov. 2, at noon, when a survey was made of gin managers by The Wellington Leader.

For the county as a whole the crop will average 70 per cent out, with some areas reporting from 60 per cent to two thirds, and other areas around three-fourths harvested.

The crop continues to produce far more than growers expected when the season began. In most sections, plenty of pullers this week were reported.

Mechanical harvesters will begin running full time, and no difficulty in getting the crop out is expected.

Defoliation has been underway for several weeks particularly around Dodson and Wellington. The spraying has been by commercial aerial spraying companies, and this year, for the first time, some difficulty was experienced in getting a good defoliation.

Fields where the leaf kill was opened, have been harvested mechanically with little or no loss from the standpoint of grade and staple, a number of the ginners reported.

Coming into the spraying field around Dodson this fall was a Lawton company using a helicopter for the work.

Growers who own their own land are netting around $125 to $130 on a 500 pound bale after the pulling is paid, provided it is middling or strict middling, bringing around 32c. Seed, selling for $58 per ton uniformly over the county, is more than paying for the ginning, several managers reported. Most farmers are paying $2.00 per hundred for hand pulling.

Owners of mechanical pullers are figuring the cost of defoliating at around $2.50 per acre, and $15 to get it harvested and hauled to the gin. Custom mechanical harvesting is generally $1.00 per hundred.

Cotton is estimated at around three fourths gathered in the Dozier area. The grade and staple are reported as dropping some recently. Cotton on irrigated land is yielding around a half bale.

At Dodson, where cotton was poorer this year than usual, a bale to every five acres is estimated on (Continued on page 12)

Camp Fire Girls to Help

Legion Auxiliary Plans Poppy Day on Sat.

The Auxiliary Unit of the Frank King Post of the American Legion will sponsor the sale of Buddy Poppies in Wellington Saturday, November 6, between the hours of 9:00 a. m., and 5 p. m., Mrs. Paul Spillman, who is helping with plans, announced.

Mrs. Bryan Denley, Auxiliary president, has secured the help of a group of Wellington's Camp Fire

Girls, and both groups will be contacting local citizens, both on the streets and in their businesses.

"The success of the Auxiliary poppy program means occupational therapy for disabled veterans, giving them the privilege to earn a supplemental income for their families at home," Mrs. Spillman explained. "It means help to needy veterans' families in our own community; and aid to all veterans in the Veterans Administration hospitals through rehabilitation, and their families at home through Child welfare. The scope of the program depends heavily on the public support."

"The profits from the sales are used 100 per cent for welfare relief for service men and women and their families, thus fulfilling the true meaning of the poppy, an emblem of faith-faith which is being kept with all who died-through service to the living."

"The public is given an opportunity each year to help the great work of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary, as well as an opportunity to pay tribute to all who died in service, by wearing a poppy on Poppy Day," Mrs. Spillman concluded.

"It's the first real vacation I ever had," Mr. Hurst declared. Since returning here, he has accepted a place with Steve Owens in his collection department.

Quail School Reopens Nov. 8

The Quail school will reopen Monday, November 8, Supt. Herman Moseley announced this week.

While there is still about one-third of the cotton in the field in that area, it is believed that the itinerant pullers and machine harvesting can take care of the remainder of the crop.

All parents are urged to get their children in school on the opening day.

Condition of D. C. Camp Improved

D. C. Camp, prominent Kelley farmer who has been seriously ill for more than a month, is reported improved and is now able to talk. If his present rate of progress continues, he will be able to go home within a short time, Dr. E. W. Jones, reported.

Mr. Camp has been suffering from acute encephalitis, more popularly known as brain fever.

Frank King Post Observes American Legion Days

The Frank King Post of the American Legion, along with posts throughout the nation, is observing "American Legion Days," Commander Milburn Derryberry announced this week.

According to Commander Derryberry October 20 was the beginning of the new fiscal year of the American Legion and since World War 1, November 11 has been known as "Armistice Day."

"American Legion Days" will be concluded locally with the traditional all day open house November 11 which has now become known as "Veterans Day."

Commander Derryberry explained that Armistice Day, VJ Day, VE Day and other dates were all of great importance but it was decided to name one day in the year all veterans will be honored.

The Texas Legislature and the United States Congress have designated November 11 as "Veterans Day."

During the "American Legion Days" observance Legionnaires will make a special effort to inform veterans of World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict with the aims and purposes of the Legion, Commander Derryberry stated.

Agee Out With Knee Ailment

Rockets to Burkburnett For Conference Tilt

The Wellington Skyrockets will meet the Burkburnett Bulldogs Friday night, November 5, on their opponents field.

This will be the first of the games so far in which the Rockets will meet a team of about their own weight and speed.

"They've got a good club, and what we do to them depends on how well we rebound from the loss to Childress," Coach Maxey McKnight said Tuesday.

From the conference standpoint the teams are even. Burkburnett lost heavily to Seymour, but last week came back to defeat Electra 40 to 14 in a game that was sparked by a 52 yard run by Jerry McCabe.

The Rockets, after defeating Electra, lost a tight game to Childress last week.

The Bulldogs run off the single wing, and passing is their long suit. "We'll have to be sharper on our pass defense," the coach declared.

Injury continued to dog the Rockets, and Billy Frank Agee, Rocket co-captain and end, has an infected knee and Tuesday was sent home from school barely able to walk. It was almost certain he wouldn't be in the game against Burk.

Gary Phillips or Johnny Cartwright will replace Agee, or it is likely that both will see action. But Cartwright, too, is having knee trouble, as an injury received in the Dumas game is still slowing (Continued on page 12)

Oil and Gas News

Murmanill Buys Leases
On 8,000 Acres

Highlighting oil and gas news was the assignment of one-half interest in leases covering approximately 8,000 acres to the Murmanill Corporation by three Plains men, Leas Whitaker, James W. Witherspoon and J. A. Pittman.

All of this acreage is in the northeast part of the county, and local men acquainted with the leasing situation in the area point out that it rounds out the block acquired by Murmanill during the summer in a quarter-million dollar deal.

The consideration of the transaction this month was given at "ten dollars", a procedure frequently followed in land sales and leasing.

The leases transferred Murmanill cover:

The southwest quarter of section 90, block 12, leased originally by Clarence B. Lutes and wife, Thelma Lutes; section 95, block 12; section 87, block 12, and the south half and the northeast quarter of section 85, block 12, given by B. G. Glenn and wife, Eva Maude Glenn.

Sections 69, 72 and the northeast quarter of section 71, block 12, given by James Calvin Lutes and wife, Veryl V. Lutes; the above acreage plus the northeast quarter of section 89 and the east half of section 90, block 12, given by Elmer Lee Roth; the east half of section 75, block 12, given by Harold Hill and Virginia Hill; the northeast quarter of section 89, block 12, given by U. H. Mileur and wife, Ruby Mileur, and T. C. Young and wife, Mary Young.

C. Hofman and wife; the east half of section 31, block 17, given by C. E. Haws;

The north half of section 32 (less the south half of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter), block 17, given by Crecy Curry; the south half of section 32, block 13, given by J. C. Another assignment involved one-eighth interest in 1920 acres, also in the north part of the county. This was from E. A. Smith, Kennedy Building, Tulsa, Oklahoma, to W. J. Clay, 2003 W. T. Waggoner Building, Fort Worth — one-eighth interest in the following leases: the west half of section 71, block 12, given by H. C. Fitzgerald and Eddie L. In its first year, millions of motorists have proved the benefits of
Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP
The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

Here are the facts
proved by millions:

1. TCP boosts your car's power as much as 15% (because it neutralizes power-robbing lead deposits).
2. TCP gives you extra gas mileage (motorists report up to 3 miles more per gallon).
3. TCP is just like an engine tune-up (because it lets you enjoy all your car's built-in power).
4. TCP increases spark-plug life up to 150% (because it actually fireproofs your spark plugs).
5. TCP makes it possible for you to enjoy all the extra performance of Conoco Super's higher-octane ratings.

But don't take our word for it! Read what motorists, themselves, say about Conoco Super with TCP.

1 "I remember when tetraethyl lead was first put into gasoline 31 years ago. Now comes Conoco Super with TCP! It's lived up to my '51 Mercury—and now I get 3 more miles to the gallon."

Mr. John T. Knudsen, Traffic Officer
3089 South Fourth East, Salt Lake City, Utah

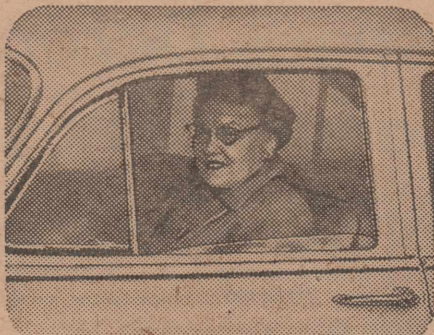

2 "Conoco Super with TCP is doing everything it's promised in giving our '53 Cadillac extra mileage, power, and performance. We won't take any other gasoline, because TCP has no substitute."

Mr. S. E. Brooks, Retired RR Engineer
107 North Third, Belton, New Mexico

3 "I maintain four cars and three trucks. In all of them, it's Conoco Super with TCP. I'm getting new-car performance! Starting on cold mornings is 50% better. I'm sold on Conoco Super!"

Mr. Ray B. Crowley, Wholesale Florist
Littleton, Colorado

4 "Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP does the job as no other gasoline has done before. My 1950 Chevrolet runs quietly, doesn't make knocking noises, starts right up and goes farther to the gallon."

Mrs. S. J. Crosby, Housewife
415 West 6th Street, Anaconda, Montana

5 "Conoco Super with TCP is a vitamin tonic for my '48 DeSoto. The engine starts promptly. And the mileage savings are like getting up to a gallon and a half of free gas to every tankful."

Mr. William Grabowski, Electrical Contractor
482 North Wirth Ave., Elgin, Illinois

Farmers Urged to Return Forms

Progress Lags on Farm Census; Workers Named

Progress of the 1954 Census of Agriculture is being delayed because farmers have not completed the forms which were sent to them by mail. This word comes from the director of the census to L. W. Thomas, County Agent.

Failure to complete the census questionnaire slows down the enumerators and greatly reduces the number of farms which can be visited each day, explained the cost of the undertaking.

The information which farmers are being asked to supply is not only valuable to them in planning future operations but to business men who supply the farm market's needs; agricultural leaders to whom farmers look for guidance and the agencies and organizations which service agriculture. Too, says Thomas the census information on the nation's agricultural resources is of vital importance to the 163 million citizens of the country.

The nation's taxpayers are footing the bill for the census taking job and Thomas points out that anything which a farmer can do to speed up the work will reduce the cost. All farmers who have not completed the census questionnaire should give it immediate attention so it will be ready for the census taker when he visits the farm.

Two workers for Collingsworth County have been named, Mrs. George Jones and R. A. Covey, Jr. and two or three more are being sought, Mr. Wright of Estelline, district director said.

Miss Scott Weds Calvin Aaron in Rites Sunday

In a formal ceremony spoken at the Church of Christ in Wellington Sunday, October 31, at 3:30 o'clock, Miss Nelda Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. (Pete) Scott became the bride of Calvin Aaron, the son of Mrs. J. D. Aaron and the late Mr. Aaron.

Minister G. B. Stanley officiated at the double ring rites, as the couple stood beneath an arch of greenery. Flanking this, to complete the chancel decorations, were tall candelabra holding cathedral tapers and arrangements of greenery and white carnations.

Preceding the ceremony, Ted Parker, vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer," then, as the wedding party entered, "Because" and "O Tell Me Why." His rendition of "O Promise Me" was used as the recessional.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white lace and tulle over satin. The fitted bodice with high neckline featured a lace yoke and long fitted sleeves. The gathered overskirt was of lace, while the bouffant tulle skirt extended into a chapel length train.

Seed pearls and rhinestones trimmed the dainty lace cap, and lace medallions accented the fingertip veil of bridal illusion. She carried out the traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue." The bride carried a white orchid atop a white satin-covered Bible, from which fell satin streamers, tied with stephanotis.

Mrs. Kenneth Maxwell was matron of honor. She wore a dress of baby blue velvet, styled with a draped bodice, short-off-the-shoulder sleeves, and full waltz-length skirt. Her bandeau-hat was trimmed in pearls, and she carried a blue velvet fan edged in white lace, from which fell satin streamers in which stephanotis was knotted.

Miss Eugene Black of Abilene, Miss Gracelle Scott, and Miss Joan Aaron, sister of the groom, were the bridesmaids. They wore dresses of Copenhagen blue velvet, styled like that of the honor attendant, and their headdresses and fans also duplicated hers.

Seldon Wood of Ranger was best man, and the ushers were Joe McCutchen, Floyd Keller and Gene

Miss Cooper, Mr. Cooksey Wed in Quiet Ceremony

A former teacher here chose Wellington for the scene of her marriage recently, when Miss Christine Cooper of Whiteface became the bride of Cullum Cooksey, also of that town. The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Useton, close friends of the bride, on October 16, at seven-thirty in the evening, with Minister G. B. Stanley of the Church of Christ officiating.

The couple stood before an arrangement of pink gladiolas and greenery, flanked by lighted tapers in tall holders.

For her wedding the bride chose a dress of navy crepe designed in princess style, and accented with a large white lace collar. Her matching velvet hat was trimmed with sequins and beads, and her corsage was of white spider mums.

Miss Virginia Cooper of Midland sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a green wool dress with brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. Useton was the best man.

Miss LaWanda Cooksey, sister of the groom, lighted the candles.

A reception followed the ceremony. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink roses and sweet peas, flanked by lighted candles. Miss Cooper and Miss Carol Ann Cooksey, sister of the groom, served the guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. A. Cooper, who now lives at Des Moines, Iowa. She received her degree from Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Oklahoma, and formerly taught at Quail and Wellington. Sparklers Down Childress Junior Team 18 to 7

The Wellington Junior High Sparklers defeated the Childress junior Bobcats on the Cats field Thursday night 18 to 7. At that time Childress was leading the district with five wins and one loss.

Blocking showed up good for the Sparklers. Benton Wauer ran the kickoff to the 40 yard line, then Carroll Nunneley took the ball thirty yards plus to the Cats two. Bernie Wauer again took the ball and plunged over for the touchdown. Try for the extra point was no good.

A little later, Childress drove down to the Wellington five yard strip, then fumbled and recovered for a touchback.

Childress scored next. The Rockets second touchdown came on a 20 yard run by Eulan Branch, and again the try for extra point was no good.

A high point of the game came on the 80 yard run from the kickoff by Teddy Wheeler, to give the Sparklers another touchdown. For the third time, the Sparklers muffed the point-after-touchdown.

Wellington's starting lineup included: Center, Ray Henry; Ends, Harry White and Sonny Ave; tackles, Ernest Peach Cager Wilkins; ends, Bart Cager and Eulan Branch; half-back, Wauer; full back, E. C. Wheeler and Bill Lockhart; back, Wauer; full back, E. C. Wheeler.

Other squadmen were Kent Carter, Jimmy Cummings, Robert Carter, Benson Long, Mike Rainey, Dennis McNeil, John Duncan, Joel Johnson, Don Maxwell, Clinton Gibbs, J. Frank Garrison, Bobby Harris and Bruce Crosby.

Veterans Questions And Answers

Question — I understand that a veteran may not receive Korean GI training benefits payments if they duplicate payments made by the Government under some other program. I plan to enroll in a land-grant college, which gets Federal funds from a non-VA source. Would I still be permitted to take my training under the Korean GI Bill?

Answer — Yes. The fact that the Government provides funds to land-grant colleges would not deprive you of your rights to enroll under the Korean GI Bill. The ban on duplicate payments would apply only if you yourself were to get money from two Federal sources — the VA and some other agency.

Question — I have a GI insurance policy. I have named by beneficiaries but I have not yet told VA how I want the money paid out. If something were to happen to me before I designate a method of payment, what will VA do with the money?

Answer — If you fail to select a method of settlement, the insurance money will be paid to your beneficiary in 36 equal installments. Your beneficiary, however, would have the right to choose some other settlement method so long as it is not a lump-sum payment.

Question — I am a disabled World War I Veteran drawing a VA pension. Recently I set up a small business that I operate part-time from my home. Do I have to count all the money I make from the business as income, for pension purposes?

Answer — No. In computing the income from your business, you are permitted to deduct necessary expenses of carrying on the business. It is your net income that counts, not your gross income.

Question — Would it be possible to attend a cooking school in France under the Korean GI Bill? This school is not a college.

Answer — No. Under the Korean GI Bill, veterans may train in foreign countries only at accredited colleges and universities. They may not enroll in any other type of school.

For any further information about any veterans benefits, contact Cecil F. Flynn, VA Contact Representative, second floor Library Building, Childress, Texas.

Rockets Lose Heartbreaker to Childress in Defensive Battle

Fans from Childress and Wellington saw one of the greatest defensive games ever played on Powell field as two super chared eleveners battled on fairly even terms with the breaks finally settling the score in favor of the Bobcats 12 to 7.

Never has a Wellington team fought more valiantly. The difference came in two things. Childress recovered six Wellington fumbles and Wellington recovered only one Childress fumble. The other difference was 170 pound fullback John Crews could and did make yardage through the Wellington line on their one sustained drive in the third quarter. Childress had other backs who made longer gains in Barron, and Raney, but it was the stout Crews who could plow through a terrific Rocket defense to get the needed yardage on their last important drive.

Frank Jones played his best game for Wellington both on offense and defense although the whole team played great ball and great praise can be given every lad on the line and in the backfield on their defensive playing; but it was big Frank who did so much to stop all the center rushes of Childress. They scored only when they began to skirt the ends.

The type of game may be gauged from the fact that the Rockets made 135 yards rushing and lost 30 while Childress gained 132 yards rushing and lost 87. In fact the Bobcats wound up the first half with a deficit of 58 yards.

The first Childress touchdown was set up when the Rockets after playing magnificent defensive ball, fumbled the ball on their own 14 yard line and it was recovered by the Bobcats, who either made or got every single break in the ball game, and there were at least six definite breaks. It took the Cats eight plays to carry the ball from the 14 across the goal line; but they finally made it on a fourth down attempt with the try for point going wide of the goal posts.

The Rockets came right back with Maxie Tarver taking the kick-off on his own 10 yard line and racing it back to the 25 before being brought down. Brock picked up two yards through the middle of the line, and on the next play Tarver ran 75 yards and was overhauled from behind on the Childress 2 yard line by Raney. On the second play Jameson rode behind a surge in the center of the Rocket line to go over the goal and Cobb's kick was good to make the score 7 to 6.

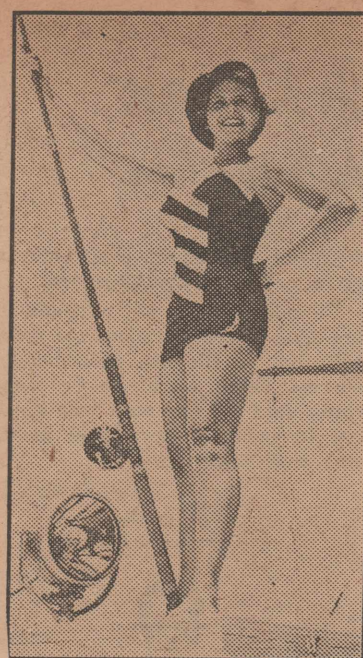

After two exchanges of punts the Rockets put on their most spectacular defensive show of the evening and on three plays set the Bobcats back from the 50 yard stripe to the Childress 4 yard line. It happened then; Childress got the ball on a punt on the 50 yard line. A try through the line was smothered, and on the next play Jim McCutchen broke through to down Odie Rippy for a fifteen yard loss. On the next play Johnny Brock made a terrific tackle to account for another 16 yard loss and Childress punted from their 19 only to be penalized 15 yards back to their own 4 for illegal use of the hands. Rippy got off a good kick and Wellington got the ball on the Bobcat 44 only to lose it on a fumble, but two plays later were still pushing Childress back as the half ended.

At the beginning of the second half Childress came back strong to make their first sustained drive of the evening to carry the ball from their own twenty to the Wellington 7 before being stopped. The drive didn't score; but it set up the second touchdown for after two faltering drives and two exchanges of punts, Wellington again fumbled on their own 23 and again it was recovered by the ball tackling Bobcats and after John Crews had made a first down on one play Barren carried over for the second and last touchdown.

Wellington's last chance to score came soon after they trapped the Bobcats on the Childress 14 after a fumble, but Childress recovered and ran out the clock on ground plays.

The game was a heart-breaker for the Rockets to lose, but it should go down in the record that this was the greatest defensive game ever played on Powell Field, for it should be realized that Childress had a great defensive team also.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

It Doesn't Make Sense

The Texas Safety Association asks a pertinent question: "Would you gamble with your life to save a minute?"

That sounds like a foolish question. But, believe it or not, thousands of people take that gamble every year and lose.

Watch people's actions in traffic for an indication of the terrible odds they pit their lives against. Perhaps they're dashing off to the office, or rushing home to dinner, or they're late for an appointment. Whatever it may be, they're pressed for time and they begrudge the minute — or the few seconds.

So to save that minute they take chances — cross against the lights, cross between intersections, dash out into the street from behind parked cars, gamble on beating an automobile across street when they know they have barely a chance to make it.

Very often they don't make it. And so the chance takers very quickly become quiet figures on hospital beds or mortuary slabs.

This isn't a pretty picture, but it's one that needs painting for Texas citizens.

Many pedestrian deaths and injuries would never have occurred if the persons involved had refused to gamble their lives to save a minute.

Think of this next time you're tempted to take a chance in traffic. No matter how important that mine is, it's not worth gambling your life on it.

Youth Points to Delinquency Cause

McGhee parents had their answer to the problem of juvenile delinquency and vandalism from the boys and girls themselves in a program sponsored by the Rotary Club here last Friday.

The answers and evidence given by the teenagers on the program point the accusing finger at the parents for the growing problems of juvenile delinquency throughout the nation. Furthermore their contention was supported by the ministers appearing on the program.

The total sum of the indictments against parents point to lack of proper and adequate home training and activities. It was charged that too many parents spend so much time following the pursuits of their own pleasures they hardly know their children and their problems. It was charged that too many parents are not a proper living example for their boys and girls and therefore cannot command their respect or attention in matters of discipline. It was agreed there is too little religious training and family worship in the home. Everyone agreed that there has been an ever-growing tendency on the part of parents to shift the burden of responsibility for home training on to the schools and the church as soon as their little ones are bundled off to the first grade.

There were undivided opinions about whether "steady dating" contributes to juvenile delinquency. Some thought that boys and girls in their teens were cutting themselves out of a lot of opportunity for widening friendships and broadening themselves by going steady.

Law enforcement officers were charged with discrimination in the handling of offenders for vandalism. Some teenagers pointed out that you rarely read newspaper accounts or even hear of punishment of sons or daughters of wealthy or influential citizens charged with acts of vandalism for the reason their parents usually get them out without punishment. They charged that this widespread practice among those charged with enforcing the laws contributes to further vandalism. They reason that the youth of influential parents figure they can get by with their unlawful acts and therefore have less regard for law and order.

This is a serious indictment against law enforcement officers but the primary responsibility still goes back to the home and the parents. There are exceptions to all rules but in the majority of cases the parent who continues to cover up or make amends for the sins of crimes of their children—that parent is doing the child a serious injustice. It is far better to face up to the situation, accept the responsibility that is ours and something constructive about it.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek writes about worry this week, a subject he is no authority on.

Dear editor:

Some people go to a lot of trouble to find out something nearly everybody else already knows.

The other day I was stretched out under a tree out here on my place admiring the September sky and not worryin about anything when I pulled a newspaper out of my pocket. I'd been savin and glanced through it and ran across an item about a survey the Gallup Poll has just taken.

Accordin to this item, Dr. Gallup's men have conducted a nationwide survey to find out what most people worry about these days, and after a careful scientific sampling of opinion and adding up figures and preparing complicated charts they have come up with the discovery that the chief worry is money.

How to get in enough money to pay the bills, how to keep ahead of the collectors, how to make income meet outgo, that's the thing that Dr. Gallup finds most people are worryin about.

You mean to say he went to all that trouble to find that out? I could have told him for a two-cent post card.

There are some things in life that you're supposed to know without having to be told, and the fact that keepin ahead of the hounds financially speakin is most people's worry is one of em. Furthermore that was what most people were worryin about last year and it's what they'll be worryin about next year.

And also, it doesn't seem to make much difference what income bracket a man is in. Nature has some sort of system whereby it enables a man's wants to keep two jumps ahead of his financial capacity to satisfy em. A man strugglin to pay for a wash pot has a neighbor strugglin to pay for an automatic washin machine. When some men finally get up in the class where they can write out a check for a new car, they find one car ain't enough, they need two and they're right back in the strain they was before.

Over-expansion causes more individuals and more businesses to go busted than anything else.

I'll tell you, I'm not recommending that anybody follow my method's, but in the big scramble for success there ought to be something said for the man who starts out in business in a hole in the wall and stays there.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Soil-Saving Farmers Get Tax Break Under New Law

Expenses incurred by farmers have been given favorable tax in the prevention of soil erosion treatment under the new 1954 Internal Revenue Code.

Prior to enactment of this new provision, the Internal Revenue Service had attempted, with varying success, to require the capitalization of expenses incurred in contour farming, terracing and other soil erosion work. Under this rule, expenditures could be deducted over a period of years, but the courts in some instances had allowed farmers to deduct these expenses in the year incurred.

The new law permits farmers to deduct in each year all expenditures incurred in that year for "soil or water conservation in respect of land used in farming, or for the prevention of erosion of land used in farming".

This deduction is limited, however, to 25 percent of the gross income derived from farming for the taxable year. Any excess over and above the 25 percent is deductible in succeeding years, but in each year the entire deduction is limited to 25 percent of gross income.

This liberalizing provision does not allow the deduction of expenditures for the purchase, construction, improvement or installation of depreciable machinery, tile, masonry, metal or wood structures, appliances and facilities such as tanks, pipes, reservoirs, canals, dams wells, pumps and conduits. Such expenditures as under the prior law, must be capitalized and deducted over the estimated useful life of the asset.

Those expenses which may be deducted include the cost of leveling, grading, terracing, contour furrowing, construction, control and protection of diversion canals, drainage ditches, earthen dams, water works, outlets and ponds, brush removal and planting of windbreaks and other treatment or moving of earth, provided that these expenditures are incurred for the prevention of erosion of farm lands.

A farmer may elect to deduct these expenses incurred in 1954 on his 1954 tax return, or if no such expenses incurred in 1954, may make the election on his tax return for the first year in which such expenditures are incurred. However, if the election is not made at that time, the taxpayer must obtain the consent of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue before being allowed to expense these items.

Once made, an election is binding for all subsequent years, unless the taxpayer requests and obtains authority to make the change.

(This column, based on Federal law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor:

I see where the Weather Bureau is getting some criticism for I guess this last rough one which they called Hazel has caused a lot of girls by that name to have to put up with some pretty lousy humor.

It is too late to help the Hazels now, but maybe the Bureau will save the Irenes from the fun-nyless jokers by naming its next across belonged to the male gender anyhow.

I guess the weather boys are finding out it is nearly as tough a job to name hurricanes so as to please everybody as it is to name a baby satisfactorily. You take one of these and wring out your thinker and wind up naming him after some distinguished public character and then, likely as not, it will come up embarrassing later on when this VIP gets his security clearance withdrawn, loses an election, or stumbles over a windfall.

County Gins—

most of the land not irrigated. There are plenty of pullers, at least they are pulling as much cotton as the gins can handle, however there are a few farmers in that area who say they need more help.

The grade and staple is holding up "pretty good considering everything," Marvin Wynn of the Davis Gin reported. Most of it is middling and strict middling, with some light spots, averaging 29/32 staple. The crop is estimated two-thirds out.

Use of mechanical strippers probably will start in the Lurie area this week, and growers there feel the loss of workers won't make very much difference. Here too, the crop is believed to be about two-thirds gathered.

W. L. Pate of Quail reported cotton making from a quarter to three quarters of a bale per acre, with the small irrigated acreage yielding a bale or more.

Mechanical stripping probably will begin next week, when the leaves have fallen and the late bolls opened from this week's frost.

The cotton around Rolla is estimated two thirds out, averaging a third of a bale per acre on the sand. More pickers than there is cotton was also reported here. While some of the cotton has been spotted, the Rolla Gin reported that not a single bale bought Monday had a spot grade.

Probably twice as many farmers south of town and around Fresno are using mechanical pullers than last year.

Around Wellington, the cotton is estimated at 75 per cent gathered and averaging a third of a bale per acre except in irrigated fields. Not much of the cotton has been harvested by stripper yet, but machine pulling is due to pick up since frost.

Most of the cotton, both hand and machine pulled, is grading strict middling and middling light 7/8 and 29/32.

Farmers in Wellington agree that picking the remainder of the crop in will be short work, and several said most of the farmers will begin scrapping next week and the crop should be in by around December 1.

the different "gags" are fixed and gotten ready, etc. Stories, experiences, thrills of the circus are unfolded, and an "inside" look at clowning is portrayed.

A special stage setting with amplified music and a myriad of clown "props" or equipment is carried and an unusual program is presented.

Mr. Hershey is proof that the circus is NOT the "hard life" as supposed, and with health and vigor shows that clean living and exercise "get you there" even with many years on the road.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY CHECKERBOARD NEWS

BY CHARLES LITTLE JR.

Singley Mill & Elevator

The time has arrived once again for the cattlemen to begin thinking about his winter feed for his range cattle. We are in a position to furnish you with a range feed that is better than ever. This has been made possible thru research by the Ralston Purina Company the largest feed manufacturing company in the world.

Fundamentally, the purpose of a successful range business is to produce meat animals in a large volume, that will be sold and finished for market under entirely different conditions. The calf crop then is the key to profitable range operations and it makes little difference in the overall program where the ranch is geographically located. The basis of all successful range operations is grass. The cow being a ruminant, is dependent on forage for her subsistence, and the results obtained are directly proportional to the amount and quality of roughage available, providing of course that other factors of BREEDING, MANAGEMENT, AND SUPPLEMENTAL FEEDING are also satisfactory.

Many times we overlook the range cows job but the job she has to do is a big one. We look at a range cow and think that all she has to do is have a calf, but what kind of a calf must she have. If we are to make money in this operation she must drop a big, strong calf, she must calve easily, she must produce a lot of milk, she must breed again to produce a calf next year, she must keep healthy, she must wean a big strong calf, she must have a long breeding life and she must produce beef economically. Improved feeding and management practices will help insure each of the factors, and when added together mean a profitable beef enterprise.

Gene Martin in now feeding Purina Range Checkers D to his cattle he has in a stalk field. P. E. Starr is feeding Purina Steer Fatena and ground grain sorghum to something over one hundred calves that he is going to sell.

Mr. Starr has been using Purina Steer Fatena in his calf feeding operations for the last few years. Buddy Yarbrough was by the store a few days ago to get Purina Range Checkers for his cattle.

To you ranchers that are in drought designated areas we would like to extend to you an invitation to come in and let us show you Purina's new 60% grain checker. It is 20% Protein Checker that is balanced in Protein, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals. Come by and see us and let us help fill your feeding needs.
