February is the shortest month, but it has its own claim to fame, and much of it gets recognition this week. You probably knew that today is Lincoln's birthday, but did you know that it also is "Long Room Day?" The purpose of the latter observance is to commemorate the staging of America's first puppet show, which took place in historic Fraunces Tavern building's Long Room on Feb. 12, 1738.

And possibly you have heard that, in addition to St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14 also marks the anniversary of the admission of Arizona and Oregon to statehood. Arizona became a part of the Union in 1912, while Oregon made it in 1859.

But did you know that Feb. 14 also launches the annual observance of National Kraut and Frankfurter Week? Its avowed purpose is to celebrate the century-old alliance of kraut and frankfurters.

And Friday, Feb. 15, is Susan B. Anthony Day, for the obvious purpose of celebrating the birth of the noted woman suffrage leader.

Which reminds that somebody came out with a piece the other day advising that women are getting closer to true equality every day, the latest being their motor vehicle accident rate. There was a time when men could boast of many more accidents on the streets and highways, but the girls have just about caught them.

However, the over all accident toll continues to amaze most observers, now that lower speed limits are in force and the gasoline shortage apparently has reduced the number of vehicles on the road.

If this welcome reversal of statistics continues, it must be taken into account if and when the travel situation returns to normal. The analysts continue to study the figures, of course, but the big thing, regardless of the weight of various contributing factors, is that much fewer lives are being lost on the streets and highways.

Don't stifle that yawn!

This advice comes from Northwestern National Life Insurance Co., which reports that yawning is good for you. And it is not necessarily an indication that you are bored, sleepy or hungry. It is a method of releasing tension and pent up nervous energy.

"Think of the poker player across the table, who, feigning boredom, casually yawns as he looks over the cards you have just dealt," say the researchers. "He goes on to win the hand with four-of-a-kind.....A yawn is invigorating and stimulating—a natural activator that puts you on alert."

So, the yawn, long regarded as something rather rude and something to cover up, may now be headed toward respectability.—WACIL McNAIR

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 12, the 43rd day of 1974. There are 322 days left in the year. This is Lincoln's Birthday.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1809, Abraham Lincoln was born in what was then Hardin County, Ky.

On this date:

In 1554, Lady Jane Grey, who had been Queen of England for 10 days, was beheaded after being charged with treason.

In 1733, English colonists led by James Oglethorpe landed at Savannah, Ga.

In 1870, all women in the Utah Territory were granted full suffrage.

In 1912, China became a republic as the Manchu Dynasty was overthrown by Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

In 1914, ground was broken for the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

In 1953, the Soviet Union broke off diplomatic relations with Israel after terrorists bombed the Soviet legation in Tel Aviv.

Ten years ago...British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home arrived in Washington for talks with U. S. officials about fighting on Cyprus and other international problems.

Five years ago...The civil rights leader, James Farmer, was named assistant secretary of Welfare.

One year ago...The United States announced a 10 per cent devaluation of the dollar.

LONGER CONFERENCE LOOMS

Energy Session Hits Snag

By ENDRE MARTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The opening of today's session of the Washington energy conference was delayed 30 minutes as ministers of the nine Common Market countries tried to iron out their differences on how to respond to the U.S. position.

There is already serious talk among diplomats that the conference of 13 major oil consuming countries might not end today as planned or, if concluded, that there will be no final communique unless — as one diplomat put it — "By some miracle we can agree on one."

The caucus had been scheduled to last for one hour to permit the opening of the conference at 10 a.m. The ministers broke up at 10:30 a.m. and agreed to meet later in the day in a third effort to formulate a joint position.

The Europeans, in their caucus, did not close the gap between the French position and the views of the other eight on how to cooperate with the United States on energy problems, Western diplomats reported.

In a related development, President Moammar Khadafy of Libya retaliated against the conference by completing the nationalization of Libyan properties of three American oil companies — California Asiatic Co., owned by Standard Oil of California; the American Overseas Petroleum Co., owned by California Asiatic and Texaco; and the Libyan-American Oil Co., owned by Atlantic Richfield.

There were expectations the conference will schedule another high level meeting at which producers and consumers, including those from developing countries, could participate.

But otherwise speeches by foreign and finance ministers Monday appeared to confirm the prediction that the problems of the energy shortage go far beyond what a two-day meeting could resolve.

A communique to be issued tonight will show agreement on the seriousness of the situation and on the need for more study and further consultations. But, it is likely to camouflage the gap between the United States, on one extreme, and France, on the other.

The United States, represented by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, is pleading for complete cooperation and promising assistance to its friends and allies who are far more dependent on Arab oil than this country.

Michel Jobert, France's foreign minister, does not want to hear of such close cooperation which, he contends, is impossible because the United States, a major oil producer, cannot be compared with other countries that have to import every drop of oil they need.

Jobert, in an uncompromising speech, said that Europe must be free to tackle the problem and that it was "not desirable to establish a system of preliminary consultations with the other big consuming entities," such as the United States.

IN LIBYA

US Oil Firms Nationalized

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — President Moammar Khadafy has retaliated against the Washington oil conference by completing the nationalization of the Libyan properties of three American oil companies.

The "fresh slap in America's face," as Radio Tripoli termed it, promised stormy weather later this week for Egypt's proposal to ease the Arab oil embargo against the United States. The proposal will be argued at a meeting of the Arab oil nations opening Thursday in the Libyan capital.

Khadafy last September took control of 51 per cent of all foreign oil holdings in Libya. A decree Monday issued by his Revolutionary Command Council ordered nationalization of the other 49 per cent of the California Asiatic Co., owned by Standard Oil of California; the American Overseas Petroleum Co., owned by California Asiatic and Texaco; and the Libyan-American Oil Co., owned by Atlantic Richfield.

Libyan-American is a minority partner in an Exxon concession in Libya, but oil sources said Exxon's holdings were not affected by the nationalization decree.

The nationalized properties produce 124,000 barrels of crude oil a day, or about five per cent of Libya's total daily production of more than two million barrels.

The other American companies operating in Libya are Mobil, which produces 120,000 barrels a day; Oasis, jointly operated by Continental, Marathon, Amerada Hess and Royal Dutch Shell, and producing 700,000 barrels; Occidental Petroleum, 370,000 barrels; Amoco (Standard Oil of Indiana), whose daily production of 6,000 barrels was suspended by the Arab oil embargo because it went to the United States.

Clyde Explosion Probed

CLYDE, Tex. (AP) — Investigators sought today to determine the cause of a truck fire and explosion north of here in West Central Texas which left three persons dead, including two firemen, and several others injured.

Authorities said firefighters had pulled their truck alongside a blazing pickup belonging to an oil well casing company at a well site eight miles from Clyde when the blast engulfed both vehicles.

Firemen Ira R. Akers, 42, and Roy Lee Goin, 55, both of Clyde, and bystander Michael Ronald Warren, 25, of Abilene died in the flames.

Another fireman, Mark Kent Gilmore, 23, of Clyde, was taken to an Abilene hospital in critical condition.

Two others injured in the blast required hospital treatment. They were reported in good condition.

Firemen battled a brush fire resulting from the blast for several hours after sunset.

Meeting To Discuss I-27 Set

Snyder will be the site of one of several public meetings in connection with a feasibility study for extending Interstate 27 from Lubbock southward, it was announced today.

The meeting in Snyder is set for 7 p.m. March 18 at the Scurry County Coliseum.

The Texas Highway Dept. announced that other hearings would be held at Big Spring on March 20 and at Abilene on March 22.

All individuals and groups interested in the Interstate 27 project are being requested to make plans to attend one of the meetings. Expressions of opinion, information and any pertinent data, both oral and written, which might have a bearing on the feasibility study, will be sought.

Interstate 27 has been designated as far south as Lubbock. It is due to be extended to the south to intersect Interstate 20 and then further to intersect Interstate 10. Snyder and other cities along U.S. 84 and on connecting routes to the southeast are proposing a route that would provide a direct route from the Panhandle-Plains region to Austin and Houston. The extension of Interstate 27 could fill that need, observers say.

Lincoln's Birthday Almost Unnoticed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today was Abraham Lincoln's birthday, but the occasion passed almost unnoticed in many areas.

Motorists in some states were more concerned that it was an even-numbered day and, in areas which instituted an odd-even rationing system, that meant cars with even-numbered license plates could get gas.

Lincoln, the 16th president, was born Feb. 12, 1809. He was elected president in 1860 and was re-elected four years later. He was shot on April 14, 1865 — five days after the South formally surrendered — and died the next day.

Nixon Subpoena Lost In Mail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service is trying to trace a missing registered letter containing a Los Angeles judge's subpoena for the testimony of President Nixon.

The subpoena, mailed by Superior Court Judge Gordon Ringer's clerk on Feb. 4, had not arrived in Washington, D.C., Superior Court by midmorning today.

The judge said, "I'm rendered speechless."

Los Angeles Postmaster James J. Symbol said such a long delay in delivery of registered mail "is not normal at all" and that he was ordering a trace on the letter.

Ringer issued the order for Nixon's testimony at the request of the President's former top domestic adviser, John D. Ehrlichman.

The document asks Nixon to testify at a hearing Feb. 25 and at the trial of Ehrlichman and two other former White House aides, G. Gordon Liddy and David Young on April 15.

Liddy's attorney, Charles Gessler, raised the possibility that the Feb. 25 hearing might have to be postponed if the subpoena is not found and delivered soon.

The White House has said Nixon will resist the order to testify, but it is likely that the Los Angeles hearing would not proceed until the matter of his possible appearance is settled.

The Washington court, under the uniform code covering out-of-state witnesses, was to hold a hearing on the matter following receipt of the subpoena.

SHS Play Setting In 'Good Old Days'

The "so called good old days" will be re-created on the Snyder High School Stage this Thursday evening when the Drama Department unveils its winter production of "I Remember Mama."

The play takes its setting in turn of the century San Francisco and involves a family that is proud, self-reliant, warm and hymerous. At its helm, as the title implies, is Mama, who sees her family through crisis after crisis without collapsing to the strain of things.

A Victorian Era setting has been constructed for staging the play. A number of antiques and furniture selections have come out of Snyder Homes to add to the setting. Items which could not be borrowed have been re-created by stage-craft groups at the high school.

Among items no longer seen in the typical home, but which will be seen in the play, are: Foot-powered sewing machine; hand-crank wall telephone; pewter kerosene lamps; flat irons; a very old wood plane and pot bellied stove.

Three thrust stages jut out of the main stage to carry the action closer to the audience. These smaller stages are fenced in old fashioned wrought iron, in order to give a more "turn of the century" look to the staging. The main stage will be a Victorian Kitchen-Family room with stairway to an attic.

Costumes have been created that are in keeping with early 1900's appearance. High necklines and long skirts for the women; Vests and high collars for the men will prevail.

Jerry Worsham, Drama director at the school, said he has been surprised but pleased at the appreciation his students have shown for this era of history. They are very excited about the old fashioned things which have been borrowed or constructed and are very sensitive about the way life was "back then."

The play will open on Valentine's Evening (Thursday, Feb. 14) and run through Saturday, Feb. 16, at 8 o'clock each evening.

Hearsts Get 2nd Letter

By WILLIAM HELTON
Associated Press Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A second letter from the terrorist kidnapers of newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst demanded today that $70 worth of fresh food be given each welfare recipient, person on probation and aged person in California.

The letter, sent to radio station KPFA here, said: "If this is not done, we will assume there is no basis for negotiation and we will no longer maintain in good health the prisoner of war."

The revolutionary Symbionese Liberation Army, which has claimed responsibility for the kidnaping, also demanded that a casette recording with "my voice and Miss Hearst's" be broadcast fully.

The "my" in the letter was not identified. The casette recording was enclosed with the letter.

It further demanded that the SLA's seven-headed cobra emblem and its latest letter be published in newspapers.

"It's supposed to be some kind of demand for food for poor people and it's supposed to have a cassette with Patricia Hearst's voice on it," said Charles Bates, special FBI agent in charge in San Francisco.

"I assume this is proof she is OK and they have her."

First word of the letter was given by Miss Hearst's father, Randolph A. Hearst, who leaned out a window of the family's Hillsborough mansion and shouted to newsmen: "A letter has arrived at the station."

The letter was received by radio station KPFA in Berkeley, which received a first letter last Thursday from the Symbionese Liberation Army. The mysterious terrorist group has claimed responsibility for kidnaping Miss Hearst last week.

Hearst sent two members of his family to pick up the letter.

An FBI official had predicted earlier that the family would hear from the abductors by tonight.

More Trucks Are Rolling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Produce and meat were pouring into the nation's marketplaces at near-normal levels today as the independent truck drivers' walkout appeared near an end. Governors in two states ordered the deactivation of National Guard troops.

Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr., announced a "phased deactivation" of troops in a five-county area of northern West Virginia where an emergency situation had been declared because of the independent truckers' protest.

WTC Considers C-City Classes

Trustees of the Scurry County Junior College District took action on a routine business agenda last night and then accompanied Western Texas College administrators to Colorado City where they met with the school board to discuss the possibility of providing extension classes there.

The proposal for extension classes there is awaiting approval by the Coordinating Board of Texas Colleges and Universities.

Cary Billingsley and Donald Sellars of the WTC Student Senate, got the board's approval to take a proposal for widening Round Top road to the City Council and the County Commissioners Court. The students said they hoped that the city, county and college district could enter into a joint project to widen Round Top Road and install curb and gutter from Cogdell Center to the WTC campus.

Rejected by the board were proposals for a maintenance contract for elevators and for installation of a watering system for a proposed golf course on the WTC campus. After considerable discussion, the board agreed that the golf course project could be handled by the college's own maintenance department with some extra labor and at a considerable saving.

The board approved a modification to automatic temperature control system in the WTC dormitory complex, and a new contract between the WTC Rodeo Club and Scurry County Rodeo Association for use of the association's facilities by the college rodeo team. The rodeo contract calls for a fee of $300 annually.

The personnel policy concerning salaries for non-classified personnel was approved to provide a higher maximum and $25 per month above regular rate for custodial night crews.

Gene Robertson, dean of occupational-technicaleducation at WTC, told the board that several new occupational-technical programs are being studied and that possibly some of them will be proposed for next fall. Included are such vocations as child care and development, data processing, drafting, finance and banking and fire protection technology.

'Independence' To Cost People

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the United States to be energy-independent by 1980, the U.S. consumer will have to drive a more economical car and pay higher gasoline prices, the Federal Energy Office says. There's more.

Energy officials say independence also will mean higher parking fees, vehicle registration fees and fuel taxes, and maybe a tax on high energy-consuming appliances.

Industries must cut the energy they use in manufacturing, recycle more of their materials, and shift their schedules to spread their use of electricity more evenly over the calendar and the clock.

The electric power industry itself must shift more of its plants from burning oil to burning coal, the FEO says. As a result the nation must put off for five years the achievement of some of its clean-air standards. While all this is going on, coal production must increase 60 per cent, oil production 22 per cent, natural gas production 15 per cent, and atomic power — now only a small contributor — must multiply tenfold.

All this, it turns out, is what President Nixon meant by "Project Independence," his call last month for a drive to make the United States self-sufficient in energy by 1980.

The Federal Energy Office unveiled the details Monday in a background paper issued at the conference of major oil-consuming nations.

With the sudden tripling of foreign oil prices since last October, the FEO paper said, "it is clear that there has been a fundamental change in the economics of petroleum production.

In recent years, the report said, U.S. energy production has grown about 3 per cent per year. It must grow about 4.6 per cent per year to achieve energy independence by 1980.

U.S. energy demand has increased more than 5 per cent annually for the last three years, and the FEO said studies indicated a long-range growth of about 3.6 per cent per year, or more.

The growth of demand must, instead, be cut to 2 per cent a year, the FEO said.

Judge Orders 3,000 Word Paper

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — Three Somerset County men who pleaded guilty to marijuana-posession charges were placed on probation and ordered to pay court costs.

Then Somerset County Common Pleas Judge Norman Shaulis added another requirement.

He ordered Dennis Critchfield, 21, Stanley Housel, 20, and Terry Holler, 18, to write a 3,000-word paper on the evils of marijuana and submit it to the court within 90 days.

Shaulis ordered the three not to write anything good about marijuana and told them to include medical research obtained through an interview with a physician, paying the doctor for his time if necessary.

Roloff Goes To Jail

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — The Rev. Lester Roloff, a man who claims the state has no business licensing private religious schools and homes, walked into jail this morning waving a Bible and blaming the press for his troubles.

Roloff smiled to a group of about 20 supporters gathered in front of the Nueces County jail as he went in to begin serving a five-day sentence for contempt of court.

Roloff had asked for the jail term in a contempt hearing in which Roloff Evangelistic Enterprises was fined $5,400 for failing to comply with a state order to reduce the number of juveniles in the Rebekah Home for Girls in Corpus Christi.

Roloff had said he wanted the jail term to provide the basis for an appeal. One of his lawyers was reported in Austin today to file a writ of habeas corpus.

Roloff looked at photographers and newsmen as he walked into Sheriff Johnny Mitchell's office and accused the press of instigating his problems.

The contempt action says Roloff has failed to reduce the number of girls at the Rebekah Home from seven to six.

Leggings For Heart Patients

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A pair of inflatable leggings soon may help some heart patients survive severe cardiogenic shocks, a sudden loss of blood to the heart muscles.

The rubberized leggings are a series of five connected, inflatable collars. They are synchronized to squeeze blood back toward the heart between heartbeats.

The device is the first designed to be applied completely outside the body, and it eliminates the present need for dangerous surgery on seriously weakened patients, according to Dr. Lawrence S. Cohen.

It will be used on the first cardiogenic shock patient within about six months, said Cohen. He is chief of cardiology at Yale-New Haven Hospital. He has supervised development of the leggings over the past six years.

Dr. Rene Langou, Cohen's assistant, presents a formal report on the project today to the American College of Cardiology in New York City.

Death comes to about 85 per cent of the persons stricken by cardiogenic shock, Cohen said.

"We hope this device will tide the patient over the critical period of six to 12 hours."

Author Quizzed

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet police dragged Nobel Prize-winning author Alexander Solzhenitsyn from his wife's Moscow apartment today and took him away for questioning, his mother-in-law said.

She told Western newsmen by telephone that six plainclothes security agents and two uniformed officers barged into the apartment on Moscow's Gorky Street shortly after 5 p.m. She said she and her daughter, Solzhenitsyn's wife Natalya Svetlova, attempted to hold the police back but "they were very rough."

"They took Alexander Isayevich away forcibily," the mother-in-law said.

There was no official confirmation of an arrest.

Solzenitsyn, under harsh, official criticism for publication in the West of his latest book, "Gulag Archipelago," had declined to answer a summons from the Soviet state prosecutor to appear for questioning.

The action against Solzhenitsyn, the winner of the 1970 Nobel Prize for Literature, culminated a vicious six-week official campaign in the Soviet press which damned the author for the publication in the West in late December of his "Gulag" book. The book chronicled the terror of the Soviet secret police and the nation's labor camp system from 1918 to 1956.

Last Friday and again Monday, the Soviet state prosecutor's office summoned Solzhenitsyn. But he refused to appear or acknowledge the legality of the summons.

Inventory Sales Can Offer Real Bargains

COLLEGE STATION—Inventory sales can offer observant shoppers some real furniture bargains, one authority noted.

"However, don't buy on impulse—no matter how enticing or low the prices," Anna Marie Gottschalk, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, warned.

"Always consider design, size, function and cost when selecting—and buying—furnishings.

"In considering design, two things are important. First, evaluate design of the piece itself—study such things as line, color, texture and shape. Second, evaluate design of the piece as part of a room—it should maintain unity, yet add interest.

"Also, size of a new piece should be in scale with the room and existing furnishings.

"Another factor in furniture selection is function—how the item will be used. Unless useful to the consumer, it's no bargain at any price," Miss Gottschalk stressed.

"Keep costs within the budget—but consider the purchase an investment. Such purchases should last a long time."

Noting that quality may vary from one sale to another, the specialist said careful study insures a wise investment.

"Quality of merchandise from an excessive warehouse inventory probably equals regular-price quality.

"Thus, buying at the sale price saves money—if the item meets the purchaser's needs.

"On the other hand, check showroom-floor clearance-sale items for wear and damage—while keeping maintenance simple," she added.

"If it's damaged, carefully decide whether an item is worth the sale price. Sometimes it's better to buy an undamaged piece at the original price."

Museum Workshop Attended

Sixty-five persons representing the twenty-six Museums in the Permian Basin met in the Rare Books Room of the University of Texas PB in Odessa on February 7.

Mr. John Ben Shepperd, president of the PB Museum Institute, opened the meeting and introduced Mrs. Ralph Randel, founder of the Square House Museum at Panhandle, population 2100. Her subjects "It Can Be Done in a Small Town" and "The Responsibility of the Museum Volunteer" were highlights of the program and very encouraging to workers in small museums. The Square House Museum was opened in 1967 and has grown from seven volunteers to one hundred and twenty-five, an annual budget of $14,000.00, and is one of the very few small museums accredited by the American Association of Museums. Other speakers were Julian Read- from Read-Pollard Advertising of Dallas, "Merchandising your Museum", and Mrs. J.E. Blakey of Ranch Headquarters in Lubbock, "Your Museum and Publicity". Truett Latimer, Executive Director of the Texas Historical Commission, spoke briefly on Grants.

Representing Scurry County Museum Assn. were Mrs. Pat Bills, Mrs. W.D. Sims, Mrs. H.P. Redwine, and Mr. Mickey Schmidt from Western Texas College.

Window screens last for many years, unless they have been damaged by an outside source, which can be anything from a boy's baseball to a cat's claws.

A certain amount of maintenance is necessary, though, to maintain the appearance of the screens as well as to keep out insects. Most persons are aware of this and will do such things as painting wooden frames, tightening joints and patching small holes.

Replacement of the entire mesh seems a more formidable job — and is, to a degree — with the result that a lot of screens are thrown out when new screening material would have given them many more years of life. First, some details about replacing the mesh in a wooden frame.

The old narrow molding that runs along the inside of the frame should be pried up with a putty knife or other flat tool. If the molding is still in good shape, do the prying very carefully so that it can be used again. Take off the screen material, which is held in place with either tacks or staples. Measure the opening and allow about one-half inch extra on each side. This will give you the measurement for the new mesh so that when you purchase it you will get a piece on which there will not be much waste.

A time-tested method of making the mesh taut on the frame is to place the wooden part on a sturdy flat surface. Place two boards about one inch thick under each end of the frame. Now use clamps to bend the long edges of the frame downward so that it touches the surface of the table or whatever else is being used. The screen frame now will have both ends higher than the center. Attach the screening to the frame, using either tacks or staples, the latter being the more modern material for this purpose. When the clamps are removed, the bowed frame will spring back into normal position, automatically making the mesh tight. Trim away any ragged edges.

If you decide to repaint the molding, do it before replacing it.

Market Depression Is Blamed On Big Banks

BY JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You can choose from dozens of theories that attempt to explain the stock market depression, but one that seems to be picking up believers is that the big banks are responsible.

Surprisingly, among those who have been especially vocal in their belief are rather well-to-do executives who run companies that do hundreds of millions of dollars in business and employ thousands of workers.

The banks, they maintain, have concentrated billions of dollars in shares of a relatively few extremely large companies, leaving hundreds of other "second tier" companies to scrounge for the leftovers.

Because these leftovers are insufficient to support corporate expansion, so goes the theory, the second tier companies have to borrow money from the banks at high interest rates.

As a result, the debt to equity ratio of some companies is said to be not only adverse but dangerous, and some executives are complaining to Congress about it.

Michael Dingman, president of Wheelabrator-Frye, recently explained the market predicament of his company to a Senate subcommittee in these words:

"The stock of Wheelabrator-Frye, Inc., is listed on the New York Stock Exchange. We are active in 22 countries. We have over 6,000 employes in this country alone, and over 80,000 public stockholders...

"Despite the fact our sales have grown 33 per cent compounded over the past three years, and earnings per share from continuing operation have grown 71 per cent...our stock is selling at 13, which is just about its book value."

Dingman was speaking as a member of the Committee of Publicly Owned Companies, made up of scores of corporations which find their future growth thwarted by their inability to attract interest in their shares.

And the big reason, many of the committee members feel, is that the big trust departments, which manage billions of dollars in pension funds, just aren't interested in them no matter how profitable they are.

To committee members, the situation not only is unjust but tragically wasteful.

"The figures that we are submitting show, for example, that while in 1973 the Dow Jones industrials were down 13.6 per cent, the U.S. Trust Co., 'Common Fund' was down 22.85 per cent and Morgan Guaranty was down 20.78 per cent."

Among other recommendations therefore, the committee asks for a "limitation on concentration of investment by pension funds."

A limitation will, committee members believe, protect 30 million workers who are the beneficiaries of pension plans as well as:

"... Help to prevent a few large banks from achieving excessive control over our economy by investing pension fund money which they control so as to acquire a dominant position in our leading corporations."

Chatham, N.B., was named after William Pitt, Earl of Chatham, by Francis Peabody in 1800.

Junior Editors' Quiz on KOOKABURRA BIRDS

QUESTION: What can you tell me about the Kookaburra bird?

* * *

ANSWER: The Kookaburra is a member of the Alcedinidae or Kingfisher family of birds. This is a large group with more than 250 species and subspecies. Most of them are found in the Malayan Archipelago and in the islands of the Pacific. Only four members of this bird family are found in North America. A large head, long heavy bill, short and stout body and tail, and small feet are characteristics of this breed. Some are brilliantly colored. Kingfishers usually reside near lakes, ponds and streams, since fishing is one of their chief activities.

The Kookaburra is a large Kingfisher about 17 inches long. It lives in the woodland sections of Australia and New Guinea. It lives in forests near houses and has brown, black or white plumage. It lives on fish, frogs, worms, small mammals, or other small birds and insects in flight. It makes its home in tree holes and lays two or three white eggs. The male bird fiercely defends the nest. Sometimes Kookaburra feathers are used to make artificial flies for fishing.

Pachinko Popular In Japan

By LEONARD PRATT

TOKYO (AP) — What's half pinball machine, half slot machine and mostly luck?

It's pachinko, Japan's answer to the question of how to relax after a frantic day in a hot, noisy office crowded with dozens of people, each thinking only of making money.

Which is odd, because pachinko is a frantic game, played in a hot, noisy room crowded with dozens of people, each thinking only of making money.

The Japanese themselves disagree on the origins of this national preoccupation, other than being sure it started in Nagoya, a large industrial city 160 miles west of Tokyo. Beyond that, all they can agree on is that pachinko is one of the handier ways of escaping for a few hours from the tight web of Japanese society, which has a place for everyone and everyone in his place.

The game is deceptively simple. You get 33 small steel balls for 36 cents, drop them in a tray and fire them into what looks like a vertical pinball machine about 18 inches high. A winning shot gets you more balls and the balls exchange for prizes or, where gambling is legal, small amounts of money.

All this is conducted amidst a thick cigarette haze and dizzying noise — clicks and rings from the machines and loudspeaker music that matches the rhythm of the game, like the Japanese navy's World War II marching song. Nobody talks much — they're all too busy staring at the machines.

True pachinko addicts are a finicky lot.

They won't play unless they think they have a good shot at winning, so a pachinko parlor that gets a reputation for having tough machines might just as well close up and turn itself into a raw fish snack shop.

Because the word about a good machine gets around faster than you can say "revalue the yen," there is a scramble for the best ones when the parlors open. And because unpopular machines are ignored, they have to be replaced every couple of months or so.

Really high class pachinko parlors get all new machines every few months, an event that is advertised much as would be discovery of a cure for the common cold. People fight to get in.

Pachinko parlors are invariably on the ground floors of buildings, and always have lots of broad windows. All good pachinko addicts are certain that machines near a door or window play better than those at the back of the parlor.

A regular knows to pick a machine with a full ashtray. That shows someone spent some time there, and he wouldn't have done that if the machine was a loser.

Serious pachinkors also prefer playing on rainy days. Humidity in the air warps the machine's wooden backboard slightly, increasing its slant and giving a faster game with more chances of dropping the ball into the right hole. Playing with several hundred balls at once — instead of just a few as amateurs do — has the same result, the weight of balls inside the machine throwing it off just enough.

Some people are actually reputed to make their living at the game, either selling the prizes or collecting plenty of jackpots in districts where you can trade in the balls for money.

Daytime is the housewives' pachinko hour, with the parlors doubling as tea klatches after the shopping's done.

Parlors aren't supposed to allow players under 18 years old.

Two Year Olds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two harness horses bought for a total of $27,000 were voted the best 2-year-olds among 1973 standardbreds. Starlark Hanover, bought for $7,000 at Harrisburg, Pa., in the 1972 yearling sale, was voted the best 2-year-old trotter by the U.S. Harness Writers' Assn. She is owned by Courtney and Constance Foos Jr. of Malvern, Pa.

Boyden Hanover, purchased for $20,000 in 1972, was voted the top 2-year-old pacer. He is owned by Catherine Picciano, Frank Allecia and trainer-driver George Sholty, all of Westbury, N.Y.

Starlark Hanover won 21 of 22 starts while Boyden Hanover won 13 of 21 starts.

S'West Schools Sign Grid Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A quietly confident Coach Darrell Royal of the Texas Longhorns today signed Earl Campbell, the state's most highly touted high school running back from Class 4A state champion Tyler John Tyler.

"We're starting our recruiting like a lot of other schools wanted," said a smiling Royal after he signed Campbell, a 6-foot-0, 215-pound speedster who scored 28 touchdowns last fall.

Campbell was tabbed by eight of nine Southwest Conference coaches as a blue chipper capable of college stardom.

"Earl has the ability to play his first year," said Royal, whose Longhorns already have won six straight SWC titles.

Twenty-five persons were on hand for Campbell's signing at his small frame home in Tyler.

"Now we're going to see if we can get Earl some teammates," Royal said as he jetted off to other Texas points.

Two of the state's other 12 blue chippers were signed in the day's early hours.

Oklahoma signed Waco Richfield guard Jimmy Green to a Big Eight letter of intent, although the 6-2, 260-pounder already had signed with Tyler Junior College.

North Carolina State Ranks 2nd

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

A week ago, Creighton University couldn't even be found in that basement category known as "Others receiving votes." Today, the Bluejays from Omaha, Neb., are living in the high-rent district known as The Associated Press College Basketball Poll.

They may not be up there with perennial penthouse dweller UCLA or up on Nob Hill where North Carolina State, Notre Dame, North Carolina and the rest of those high-rollers reside.

Creighton is No. 17, one of three new members in the elite Top Twenty. But while the Bluejays bounded into the listing without so much as a stopover among the "others," 19th-ranked Utah and No. 20 Arizona came out of that alphabetical, non-numerical pack.

Creighton achieved its lofty perch — and knocked Marquette from the No. 6 rung to No. 9 — by upsetting the Warriors 75-69 last Saturday. The feat brought the Bluejays' record to 18-4 and brought them 40 points in the voting by The AP's nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

In the "so what else is new?" category, UCLA retained the No. 1 berth. The Bruins, who flattened Oregon's Ducks 84-66, then got shook by Oregon State's busy Beavers before prevailing 80-75 to raise their record to 18-1, garnered all but one of the 50 first-place votes for 998 points.

Notre Dame, also 18-1, got the other No. 1 vote. But the Fighting Irish, who squeezed past Michigan State 91-89, then romped over LaSalle 98-78 and Duke 87-68, wound up third again with 797 points.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through games of Saturday, Feb. 9 and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1.	UCLA (49)	18-1	998
2.	N. C. St.	17-1	893
3.	N. Dame (1)	18-1	797
4.	N. Carolina	17-2	642
5.	Vanderbilt	18-1	576
6.	Maryland	15-4	431
7.	Pittsburgh	19-1	386
8.	Alabama	16-3	331

Girls Cage Playoff Set Tonight

The Slaton Tigerettes, champions of District 5-AA, and the Hamlin Pipers, champions of District 6-AA, will tangle at 8 o'clock tonight in the Snyder High School gym in a girls bi-district basketball playoff game.

Slaton has a 25-4 record, and Hamlin is 15-6 for the season. Coach of Slaton is Gay Benson. Betty Jo Davis is coach of Hamlin.

Tickets can be purchased at the door at the rate of $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Snyder Girls Win 3 Tilts

PLAINS—The Snyder High School girls volleyball teams won three matches with Plains here yesterday. The varsity won 15-12, 13-15, 15-9, led by Kathy English and Robin Nail, who scored 15 points each.

The junior varsity beat Plains 5-15, 15-8, 16-14. Debra Davis and Jane Ann Womack were high point girls with 15 and 12 points respectively.

The Snyder sophs beat Plains 15-7, 2-15, 16-14. Karen Webber scored 16 points, and Myra Grant tallied nine.

The varsity girls will meet Seminole at 3 p.m. Friday in the first round of the Denver City Tournament.

Darrell Knowles worked all seven games as a relief pitcher for Oakland in the 1973 World Series. He pitched less than seven innings.

Snyder, Coronado Vie Here Tonight

The Snyder Tigers, in the thick of the fight for the District 4-AAAA second half championship, face another tough roadblock tonight when they host the Lubbock Coronado Mustangs. Tipoff is on tap for 7:30 p.m. following the sophomore tilt at 4 p.m. and the junior varsity clash at 5:45 p.m.

The Tigers are 10-17 for the season and 2-0 in second half play. Coronado, the pre-season favorite to win the district championship, is 13-15 for the season and 0-2 in second half play. The Tigers beat Lubbock and Plainview in the second half while the Mustangs have lost to Monterey and to Plainview.

Despite the better showing in the second half, the Tigers realize the Coronado team will be tough to beat. They beat the Tigers worse than any other team in first half play, scoring a decisive 66-50 triumph on Jan. 25 in Lubbock.

Snyder got off to a slow start in that game and trailed the Mustangs by a whopping 33-17 margin at halftime. Coronado, boasting superior height and experience, also held a big edge in rebounds.

Probable starters for Coronado are post men Pat Malone (6-6) and Dennis Brown (6-4), guards Chris Fairley (6-0) and Tom West (6-2), and center Charles Quisenberry (6-4).

Coach Bob Moore of the Tigers said Greg Gafford, 5-11 junior, missed workouts yesterday due to illness. In the past couple of weeks, the Tigers have had six lads to miss drills due to the flu.

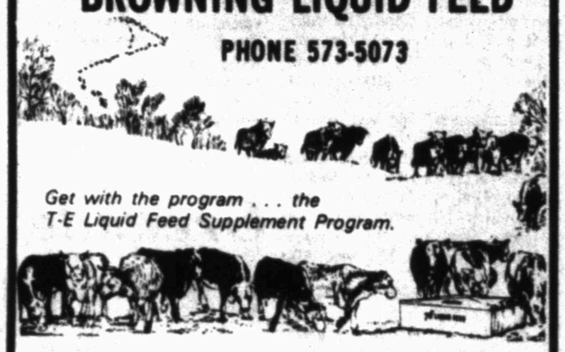

"They've just about recovered, but some of the boys are still weak," said Coach Moore.

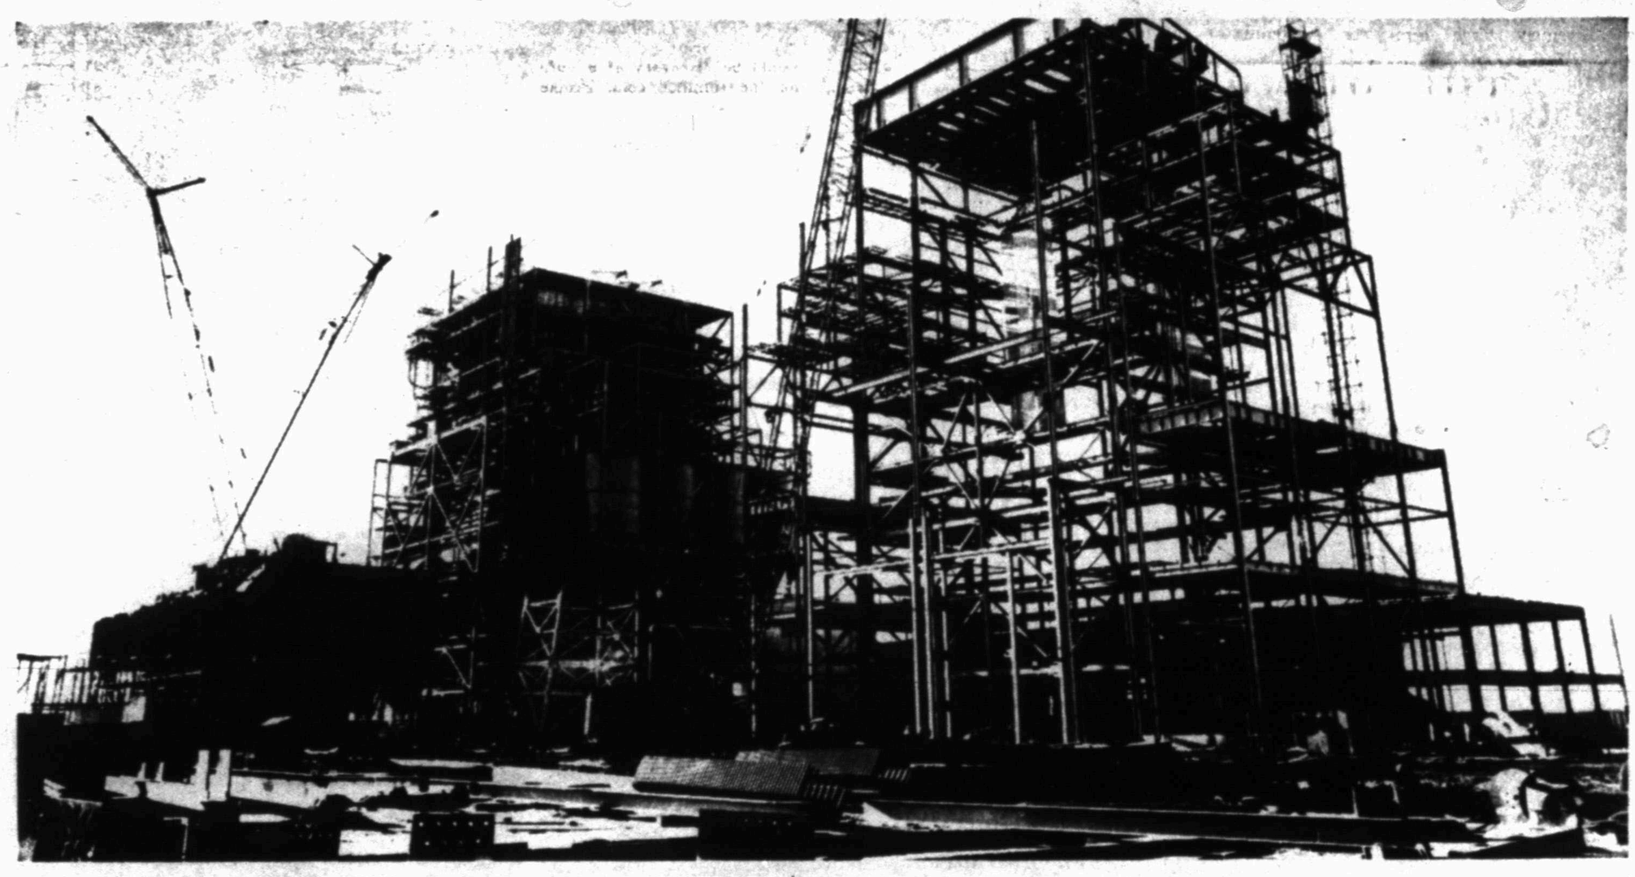

He listed probable starters tonight as being Welton Cobb, 6-0 junior, Larry Johns, 6-3 junior, and Roy Carter, 6-2 junior, at post with Chester Cobb, 5-11 sophomore, and either Tim Jones, 5-8 senior, or Robert Alderete, 5-9 junior, at guard.

Other Tigers eager for action are Greg Gary, 6-4 junior; Sid Perry, 5-11 junior; Greg Gafford, 5-11 junior; Randy Gressett, 6-2 sophomore; Eric Schrader, 6-2 junior; and, Danny Brumlev, 5-10 junior.

National League batting champion Pete Rose hit .511 against the Philadelphia Phillies last season.

What TESCO is doing to provide the electricity you'll need.
We're spending $700 million on new construction during the next five years.
We must have new plants that will permit us to diversify the types of fuel we use to generate electricity.
Natural gas is our major fuel at Texas Electric now, with oil used on a standby basis. But both these fuels are in increasingly short supply.
So Texas Electric, along with two other electric utilities, is building plants in East Texas that use lignite coal, a fuel that is not being used extensively for any purpose other than the generation of electricity.
One lignite plant already is in operation, and two others are being built. But it costs about twice as much to build a lignite plant as one that uses natural gas.
A nuclear-fueled plant is scheduled to be operational near Glen Rose by 1980, and this one will cost more than three times as much as a gas-fueled plant.
Financing the essential expenditure of more than $700 million in just the next five years is what makes an increase in electric service rates necessary.
We're working to supply the electricity you'll need, but it will have to cost more in the future.

Toll Is Heavy In Shellings

By DENIS GRAY
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian military command today reported 139 killed and 46 wounded in the artillery and rocket barrage that hit the southern part of Phnom Penh Monday.

Newsmen counted at least 200 wounded in the city's hospitals, and the military command said the death toll might go higher. Some of the wounded lay bleeding on cots in hospital hallways. Doctors said they were running low on plasma and medical supplies.

Fires caused by the shelling reduced hundreds of homes to ashes. Police and rescue workers searched for more victims in the debris.

Almost all of the dead were civilians, and many of them were women or children. Some sources said as many as 10,000 persons may have been made homeless.

The Khmer Rouge gunners poured 73 rounds of high explosive shells and 122mm rockets into densely populated market and slum areas in the southern part of the city during the middle of the afternoon. It was the war's most devastating bombardment of the Cambodian capital.

Two rounds also landed in the presidential palace compound, killing eight persons and wounding a dozen more in shacks housing the palace guards and their families. Another round fell within 100 yards of the United States Embassy.

The Khmer Rouge batteries were believed located just across the Prek Thnot River, six miles southwest of Phnom Penh. President Lon Nol ordered helicopter gunships and planes to attack the area.

Phnom Penh's worst previous bombardment occurred in March 1972, when 112 persons were killed and 248 were wounded. The city has been shelled almost daily since Dec. 23; the attack Monday raised the total casualties to more than 300 dead and at least 700 wounded.

In South Vietnam, the Saigon government released more Viet Cong civilian prisoners today and received 100 South Vietnamese military personnel from the Communists in the third day of a three-week exchange schedule.

The plan calls for more than 4,000 civilian and military prisoners to be exchanged by March 1.

By late this afternoon, the Saigon government had released 168 civilian prisoners to the Viet Cong. Eight others refused repatriation to the Communist side, saying their families were in government controlled areas.

Since the exchange was resumed last Friday, the South Vietnamese government has released more than 500 civilian prisoners. The Paris peace agreement called for prisoner release to be completed nearly a year ago, but it has been repeatedly stalled by procedural differences.

Gulf To Challenge Fed Rules

HOUSTON (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. says it plans to file sometime this week a court suit challenging the validity of the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973.

The exact natura of the charges were not revealed in the Monday announcement by Z. D. Bonner, executive vice president. However, he said the law suit also will challenge Federal Energy Office rules and regulations developed under the act.

The FED's crude oil allocations order, Bonner said, would force Gulf to reduce its refining operations to 76 per cent of capacity although its has sufficient crude oil to operate at 91 per cent capacity.

Gulf is being compelled to divert itself of some of its crude and share it with such companies as Texaco, Standard of Ohio, Getty, and Atlantic Richfield, Bonner said.

"Without a doubt, this amounts to the unwarranted and, we feel, unlawful taking of private property," Bonner said.

Bonner, who also serves as president of Gulf's domestic operations affiliate, Gulf Oil Co.—U.S., said Gulf had no alternative except to file the suit even though the company generally is in sympathy with the efforts of FEO.

He said Gulf "has attempted to initiate the formal hearing procedure before the FEO but without success."

Dutch Test Windmills For Power

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shades of the Netherlands!

A federal agency is developing a windmill for placement atop homes to provide electricity that will help out in the energy shortage.

This windmill would not look like the ones scattered across the Dutch landscape. Instead, it would look something like a glorified egg-beater.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says the windmill, estimated to cost $500 to $1,000, would provide "inexpensive and non-polluting" electricity for home use.

The first full-scale experimental model already has been erected atop a two-story building at NASA's Langley Research Center in Hampton, Va., and initial tests are being planned, the agency said.

If tests pan out well, NASA says, such devices might someday be used initially as auxilliary power sources for average homes.

Eventually, says the agency, such housetop windmills, in conjunction with other envisioned developments, might furnish a complete power system for an individual home.

Grenade Removed On Soccer Field

By CARL D. ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — For one week, the young Cambodian army soldier didn't dare speak.

In a hospital where other wounded slept two and three to a bed, he had a room all to himself.

Pvt. Pok Sarim was in danger of blowing up.

In a minor scrap northeast of Phnom Penh last week, a Khmer Rouge fired an M79 grenade at him from a distance of 15 yards. The round, the size of a tennis ball, smacked into Pok Sarim's right cheek and jammed into his jawbone. It didn't explode.

The same thing had happened half a dozen times before in the Vietnam war. Usually the round lodged in a fleshy area. But Pok Sarim's was tight in the jawbone, and the surgeons feared the slightest movement would blow up the patient — and themselves.

Three days after he was wounded, the 21-year-old soldier and his pregnant 18-year-old wife were brought by boat to a military hospital in Phnom Penh. Doctors scheduled surgery for noon on Monday on the soccer field when the sun would provide an overhead operating lamp.

More than 200 soldiers, military families and medical personnel gathered on the grass to watch.

The operating team wore flak jackets under their smocks and steel helmets above their surgical masks.

Pok Sarim was brought onto the field on a stretcher, wearing a sarong. Military police blew whistles to move the crowd away.

The doctor slowly made his incision. Wind blew sand and dust across the operating area. A lone cow ambled about.

In less than five minutes, the operation was over. A collective sigh and a smattering of applause and cheers went up from the crowd as the doctor pulled the brass-colored round from Pok Sarim's jaw and gingerly rushed it to a nearby sandbag container.

The operation went so quickly that the army ordnance officer who was to take charge of the grenade showed up after the doctor had disposed of it.

Congress Gets Low Rating

NEW YORK (AP) — A recent Harris survey has given Congress the lowest marks for performance in more than 10 years of polling about the federal legislative branch.

The survey reported Monday that 69 per cent of those asked, "How do you rate the job Congress is doing?" said fair or poor. Twenty-one per cent said good or excellent, and 10 per cent were not sure.

On individual topics, Congress received an 88 per cent negative rating on controlling inflation, 83 per cent negative rating on keeping spending under control and 82 per cent negative in inspiring confidence in government.

Faring better was William E. Simon, the man in charge of the nation's energy policy. He received a 35 per cent negative rating and a 26 per cent positive rating. But 39 per cent were not sure how to rate his performance.

Letters To Editor

To The Daily News:

To protect freedom is an obligation, and freedom for women and children to be protected from rapists and insidious beastly murderers is part of that obligation. Man's best defense is his mind, and he should be able to peer through enough of the future to realize criminal activity will increase. I have suggested to Governor Briscoe to create the Texas Bureau of Investigation patterned after the FBI, free from political influence and staffed by highly trained criminal investigators to help stop the senseless killings of children by persons who have no concern or mercy for the life of a human being. God said put these people to death. State Rep. Billy Williamson of Tyler remarked that "a private club is a compromise. It is not as wet as the wets want it, and not as dry as the drys want it."

Under our democratic system of voting, the majority usually wins. However, under Billy Williamson's reasoning, Nixon should compromise with McGovern and give McGovern a piece of the action. Me or Thomas Alva Edison or Albert Einsten could never qualify for the office of county school superintendent. Me and Thomas were kicked out of school in the fifth grade and old Albert said school was "a bore" and quit. You must have a degree to be county school superintendent and some of the most ignorant people I ever met had degrees.

The people in charge of our government in Washington have degrees and some of those great advisors are taking degrees to prison. I intend to vote for the man who will keep the county school superintendent's office just as it is now. If there were any savings, which I doubt, it would find its way to help some foreign country. To hell with the abolishment of this office. If people here with their degrees would spend their money here at home where their job is to start with, instead of spending it out of town it would go far to help the economy of Snyder.

Nixon wakes up in a new world every morning. We jump from crisis to crisis with very little if any hope for the future from Washington. We will not have a depression. There will be some depressed areas such as Elkhart, Ind., and other cities dependent on manufacturing alone. Two presidential hopefuls, one Democrat and one Republican if elected have offered me a job in 1977 which I will turn down for health sake, just as I turned down a job in Austin two years ago. But if I did accept I would do everything within my power in whatever way I could to help Snyder become a very prosperous town. You see, you don't have to have a degree to be an advisor to the governor or the president and more than likely neither one would accept any advice to begin with.

HINSHAWS
House Of Flowers
"Flowers For Every Occasion"
2803 College Ave. 573-9600

EXPRESS LOVE—Flowers can express your love for that special person in your life on Valentine's Day. You can order them sent from Hinshaw's House of Flower's, 2804 College Avenue just by dialing 573-9600. Hinshaw's also has a good supply of candy, which also would make an ideal Valentine Day's gift.

Flowers Remain Most Popular Of Gifts For Valentine's Day

From time immemorial flowers have been a mute but beautiful expression of love. Whether you say it with flowers or candy, Hinshaw's House of Flowers, 2804 College Avenue, can provide you with either to express your feelings to that special, loved one on Valentine's Day.

"We hope to have ample roses," said Hershel Hinshaw, who operates the House of Flowers with his wife, Pat. "We've put in for a big order of them," he added.

Hinshaw said roses have always been the most sought after flowers on Valentine's. But, he pointed out that nosegays also have become very popular.

Whatever your preference in flowers, Hinshaw's House of Flowers can order you what you like to express your love for that special person on Valentine's Day. Hinshaw's always has fresh flowers for all occasions.

"In potted plants, we have tulips, hyacinths and azaleas, as well as other blooming plants," Hinshaw observed.

Words are often inadequate to express our feelings of love, but flowers can tell that special person in your life without words how deeply you feel about her. Flowers have aptly been described as poetry in nature. What better gift to give your wife or sweetheart on Valentine's Day?

Hinshaw's House of Flowers also has a good supply of candy that would make an ideal gift on Valentine's Day. They order it direct from the Lee's Country Kitchen factory at Fort Worth. Included among their supply of candy are heart-shaped boxes of fudge, creams and assorted chocolates.

"It may be best to get your order in early," Hinshaw suggested, "but we'll still be open all day on Valentine's."

When you say it with flowers or candy from Hinshaw's, your loved one is just as close as the telephone. All you have to do is dial 573-9600 and tell them where you want the gift sent.

It makes no difference if they live out of town or across the country or even in a foreign country. Hinshaw's is a member of a floral telegraph delivery system, and they can have your flowers sent virtually anywhere.

SPECIAL PROCESS—Art Roberts, manager of Joe Graham Cleaners, will be glad to pickup or deliver your clothing. Just dial 573-3401. Roberts can be seen almost any day making deliveries around town. He is proud of the Custom Care cleaning process used by his firm. It restores the original finish, newness and body to limp fabrics.

Joe Graham Cleaners Can Take Work Out Of Spring Cleaning

Why not take the work and worry out of your spring cleaning, and have Joe Graham Cleaners, 2417 College Avenue, do it for you?

Operated by Art Roberts, the Joe Graham Cleaners provides a professional service. The firm specializes in the finest cleaning fluid that can be used—the exclusive Custom Care process.

"We can keep you looking your best with our new exclusive Custom Care process," Roberts said.

"Our new process puts 'life' back into your garments," he said, adding, "It's more than just dry cleaning. Custom Care restores the crisp smartness, body and drape to your clothes. Try our exclusive dry cleaning service and see the difference."

Custom Care restores the original finish, newness and body limp fabrics. Custom Care takes out the tired, puckered appearance that seams and lapels sometimes get. Replace the droop with a drape—use Custom Care at Joe Graham Cleaners.

Ordinary drycleaning just won't meet the challenges posed by today's fabrics and soil. Be sure your fine garments enjoy only the finest professional dry cleaning to always keep them in a "store-new" condition. You can do that by taking your cleaning to Joe Graham Cleaners, 2417 College Avenue.

Joe Graham Cleaners has a night delivery box to make it easier for people to drop off their articles at the cleaners. It is especially handy for people who can't get away from the house until night time.

The employes at Joe Graham Cleaners are professionals who take pride in their work. You can be sure that clothing entrusted to their care will be handled just as if it were their own.

Need a hat blocked or some alterations? Just dial 573-3401 and the friendly personnel at Joe Graham Cleaners will take care of your problems.

'Mrs. Friendly' is too friendly to young lad

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy—nearly 18, and I've always been big for my age. I live with my mother and a younger brother in a nice, friendly neighborhood. That's the trouble, it's too friendly.

One of my neighbors is my mother's friend. She's married to a great guy in his forties, and they have two nice kids. They're beautiful people, and "Mrs. Friendly" has always treated me like one of her kids—until lately. She's been petting me, kissing me and running her fingers thru my hair. This was okay when I was 9, but now she gets me all aroused. It's not like she doesn't know what she's doing either. She does it on purpose.

Now I find myself hanging around her place, and I know this is not going to get me anywhere but in trouble. Don't tell me to stay away from her. I know that's what I should do, but I keep finding reasons to hang around her. She's a good looking lady for her age, and half of me says, "Stay" and half of me says, "Run."

Have I got a problem or not? HALF AND HALF

DEAR HALF: You bet you have. But you're bright enough to see it coming, and wise enough to ask how to head it off. Listen to the half with the brains in it, and stay as far away from "Mrs. Friendly" as you can.

DEAR ABBY: An 18-year marriage has me bored stiff and dissatisfied. A moderate income provides adequate clothes, food and a small home with nothing left for my purse, vacation trips and those extra wants. People say, "Count your blessings," but I ask myself, "Am I supposed to be satisfied with so little as a home, three healthy, trouble-free kids, a vice-free husband who's home every night, who helps with the housework, embraces, and compliments me daily, and is good in bed [but his age is beginning to rob me of that]?"

Would anyone blame me if I left for a man who can show me some fun—even if only for a little while?

BORED

DEAR BORED: I would be among those who would remind you to count your blessings. And yes, I would "blame you" for jeopardizing those blessings for "some fun," even if only "for a little while."

DEAR ABBY: I have a 2-year-old son, and whenever we are in public a stranger is sure to say, "My, what a cute little girl!" This happens even when he's wearing his football suit.

I never dress him like a girl. His hair is cut like most boys his age, but what really disturbs me is after I correct people, they go right on saying, "What a beautiful little girl he would make."

My son is learning the difference between boys and girls, and when people mistake his sex, they confuse him. I worry about what will happen to his development and self-image.

Abby, please tell people to keep such comments to themselves. There are other mothers who have the same problem, so please print and I'll get 10 copies to hand to thoughtless people. MOTHER OF AN ALL-BOY BOY

DEAR MOTHER: Consider it done. And equally damaging to a child's self-image is the little girl who is constantly mistaken for a boy!

CONFIDENTIAL TO VIRGO: It is not true that people who threaten to commit suicide "never" do. Your friend needs help. I urge you to involve yourself and insist that she get it. Your Suicide Prevention Center offers free [and excellent] counseling in the Los Angeles area. Tell her to call 381-5111 for help.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Sandy Baron Calls Manager

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Sandy Baron says he is well and wants to remain in seclusion.

Baron, who disappeared after checking out of a New York hotel on Jan. 8, called his manager, Walter R. Scott, Monday and said he was staying at a friend's apartment.

"He told me that ... he just felt that the pressure of his personal life and his professional career made him want to get off by himself and decide what his next step would be," Scott said.

Baron, 37, was reported missing after he failed to return to the West Coast.

Killeen Family Asphyxiated

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — Preliminary reports indicated Killeen lawyer Robert O. "Bucky" Harris Jr., his wife and granddaughter, found dead at their residence here Monday, died of asphyxiation.

Another granddaughter, Elizabeth Harris, 6, remained in satisfactory condition late Monday at a Temple hospital.

Justice of the Peace A.M. Turland said blood tests showed lethal doses of carbon monoxide in the bodies of the dead.

Police continued a search for the source of the poisoning, but refused to discuss the investigation. Earlier, officers had suspected food poisoning.

Officers said the dead man's associate, Clay Peebles, and his secretary, Connie Waters, discovered the deaths when they went to the Harris residence after Harris failed to arrive at work.

A neighbor admitted the pair to the house where the bodies of the couple and their granddaughter, Robin, 4, were found on the floor.

Besides the second granddaughter, four pets in the house also survived. Two dogs were flown to Texas A&M University for tests to determine if the family had died of food poisoning, but the preliminary report indicated asphyxiation.

The children are the daughters of R.O. Harris III, who is a law student at Baylor University along with his brother, Bill.

Texaco Inks Judgement

HOUSTON (AP) — An agreed judgment has been signed by Texaco, Inc., and the State of Texas requiring the oil company to pay $34,000 in air pollution fines and install pollution control devices at its Port Arthur refinery.

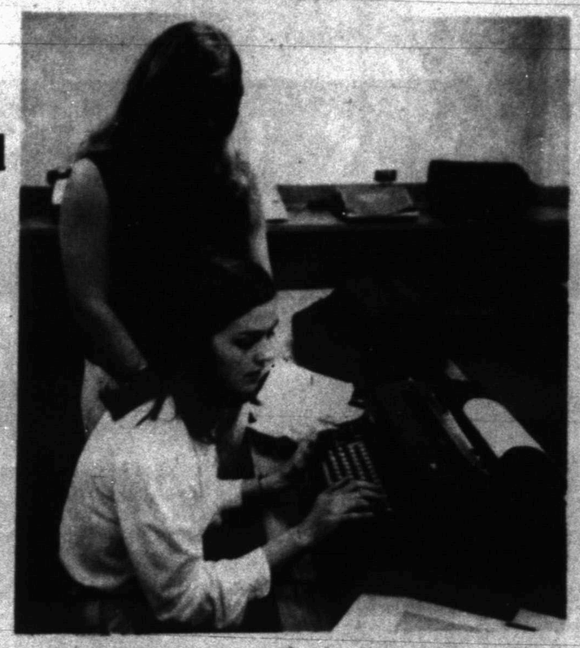

The judgment signed Monday by District Court Judge Paul Pressler requires Texaco to extend the height of the stack of its Port Arthur sulphur recovery unit by 200 feet before April 1.

The company must install a recycling system before Dec. 1, 1975, and prior to May 31, 1971, it must install devices to control erratic hydrogen sulfide flow and install an analyzer, pots and other equipment to improve the system.

Texaco lawyer Oliver J. Butler said approval of the judgment does not constitute admitting that the company violated the Texas Clean Air Act or regulations set by the Texas Air Control Board.

Joseph Cunard established a branch of his famous ship business in Chatham, N.B.

VOE STUDENTS—Caroline Melton, standing, and Connie Williams, seated at an IBM Magnetic Card Selector typewriter, are among the Vocational Office Education students enrolled at WTC. Miss Melton is a senior at Hermleigh High School and Miss Williams is a Snyder High School senior student. VOE students also receive instruction in the use of various other office machines and participate in an office simulation program.

HS Students In Vocational School

(This is one of a series of articles prepared in conjunction with Vocational Education Week, Feb. 10-16.)

High School students in the Scurry County area have an opportunity to enroll for a variety of vocational courses at Western Texas College while they continue their high school studies.

WTC has been designated an area vocational school, and the courses offered in the high school program are not duplicated at other schools in the area. Subjects being offered in the current semester are automotive mechanics, welding, diesel mechanics, and vocational office education.

Instructors in the program are Jimmy McDonald, Jimmy Clark, Delwin Murry, and Mrs. Carol Martin.

High school students enrolled in the program this semester come from high schools in Post, Colorado City, Fluvanna, Borden County, Hermleigh, and Snyder. The students ride buses from their high schools, arriving on the WTC campus about 1 p.m. Classes continue until 3:30 p.m. and the students are then returned to their schools. About 50 students are enrolled this semester.

Because the students are enrolled as full-time students in their high schools, the schools continue to receive state funds just as if the students were in attendance for the entire class day. Under a new provision, effective this year, the state also pays the cost of transporting the students to their vocational classes.

The possibility of offering additional courses for high school students is being studied. Courses in air conditioning and refrigeration, radio and television repair, and data processing are among these. Courses of special interest to women are also being studied.

Dino Martin Is Indicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dino Martin, 22-year-old son of television personality Dean Martin, has been named in a two-count federal indictment on charges of illegally possessing and transferring firearms.

A grand jury accused Martin on Monday of having eight machine guns and one antitank gun and of illegally transferring two of the weapons to a federal agent, a spokesman for the U.S. attorney's office said.
