Love, Friess Win Awards At SCS Camp

A letter received by Joe Brown Ross, President of the Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District, last week complimented highly the district's choice of boys who attended the Range Management Camp in Junction last month.

"On behalf of the Youth Committee of the Texas Section, American Society of Range Management we wish to express our sincere appreciation to you and your organization for sponsoring Tommy Love and Joe Friess to our second annual Range Camp. We feel that your $50.00 was spent wisely as the boys received valuable information on how to conserve soil and water, plan various grazing systems and how to manage a ranch on a sustained yield basis.

"Tommy was the over-all corporal elected by the boys to run the Range Camp and he certainly did an outstanding job of it. He demonstrated outstanding leadership and ability throughout the camp. Without a boy like Tommy to help us run things we would have had a very hard time making the camp extremely successful. Tommy took the leadership in developing the Range Camp display, participated in all sports and other activities and prepared a very good herbarium and notebook in spite of all these other activities which took so much time. It was certainly a privilege to have Tommy with us. We are sure that through demonstrations and talks he could do a good job in presenting the information learning to other club members. Tommy received the blue ribbon award for his outstanding work.

FIREMEN CALLED TO AID IN TRUCK FIRE WEDNESDAY

Sonora Volunteer Firemen answered a call shortly after noon Wednesday when a truck caught fire some four miles east of Fort Terrett Station on U.S. Highway 290.

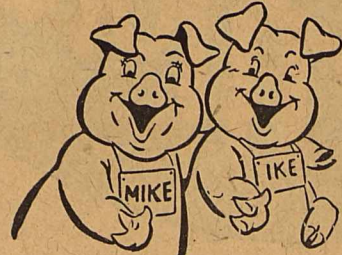

The fire is believed to have been caused by faulty brakes. Back tires of the truck were completely destroyed and there was some damage to oil field equipment which the truck was hauling.

"Joe received a white ribbon for his over-all participation and cooperation on all activities of the Range Camp. Joe's wit helped supply entertainment at off hours during the camp. Even though Joe knew considerable about plant identification he did do a very good job with his herbarium and also helped other boys with their herbariums. Joe stated that he obtained information that can be applied on the ground at his ranch.

"You are to be commended for your interest in sending Joe to our Range Camp to further his knowledge in the management of soil, water and grassland conservation.

"We hope that your organization will sponsor another boy to attend the camp next year."

Work will begin soon on a new motel to be constructed by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Shurley. The motel, which will be of modern design, will contain 20 units plus living quarters for the Shurleys, who will be active managers of the motel.

Excavation for the swimming pool which will be a feature of the tourist court has already begun and construction of the motel itself is expected to get underway within the next month. An estimated four or five months will be required to finish construction and the motel should be

Ozona Man Shot In Fray At Crockett Line

Marvin Schneider, about 40, of Ozona underwent emergency surgery at Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital early Sunday morning after receiving bullet wounds in an altercation at the County Line Inn about 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

Free on $2,500 bond and charged with assault with intent to murder with a deadly weapon is Willard Martin, about 30, also of Ozona.

Local law enforcement officers arrested Martin after being called to the scene of the shooting. Schneider is still hospitalized and receiving treatment at the local hospital.

Sonora Line Leads Way In Running Battle Here Friday Night

A crowd of some 1,060 fans watched the Sonora Broncos romp over the Bandera Bulldogs by a score of 42-12 Friday night in one of the best offensive and defensive games the Broncos have played in several seasons.

Sonora received the kickoff on the 50 yard-line. From there Badillo carried to the 35 and Wall to the 30. Johnson then took the ball and with perfect blocking, ran the remaining yardage to score. The point was good and the score stood at 7 to 0. For the remainder of the first quarter Wall, Badillo, Johnson, Ratliff and Love could only gain five to eight yards per play. Their passes failed to click.

At the first of the second quarter Johnson broke away for a 60-yard run with the Sonora line throwing blocks all the way to make the run good for another by Adams, Smith and Neville. Excellent line work allowed Johnson to run 80 yards to score. The point after was good and the score 42-6.

Sonora kicked off to Bandera and a see-saw battle followed until Bandera recovered a Sonora fumble and went on to score 12 to 42.

At this point Turner put in his reserves who held the score 42 to 12 until the end.

Standouts in the Sonora line were Tommy Adams, Preston Love, Juan Ibarra and Shannon Ratliff with the whole Bronco team playing real heads-up ball.

Work On Plans For Flood Control Project Scheduled For April 1957

According to word received here this week from State Conservationist H. N. Smith, a planning party should be ready to begin work on a work plan for a series of flood control dams on Lowrey Draw sometime during April 1957. The planning party from the Middle Colorado River Watershed will begin the work as soon as they have completed a watershed work plan in the Comal-Hays-Guadalupe Soil Conservation District. This project will be begun in October and should be finished by April 1, at which time the party will move into the Lowrey Draw area. It will be necessary to submit Lowrey Draw to the State Soil Conservation Board for priority for approval of planning and upon favorable action by the State Board a request will be made to the Administrator of the SCS to approve it for planning. No difficulty in obtaining this priority and approval is anticipated and these steps should be complete about January 1.

Flood control projects of a similar nature on Dry Devil's River are still considered impracticable at this time since a favorable cost benefit ratio could not be obtained.

Contributions to the fund for financing the Lowrey Draw work plan have meanwhile reached the $14,392.00 mark as of Wednesday with new contribution coming from West Texas Utilities Co. and the General Telephone Co. Workers are still receiving contributions with the goal of $15,000.00 which the work plan is estimated to cost clearly within sight with only $608.00 yet to be raised.

ODDS & ENDS

A good stand of Bermuda grass is coming up on the Little League Park infield. If Joe Nance keeps up his dawn-to-dusk watering and if we don't get an early frost, the infield should be covered with a good turf for the boys to play on.

And here a note of thanks to Dan Cauthorn who "cyclone seeder" E. B. (Grassy) Keng borrowed some two or three years ago to seed the elementary school playground. Since then old "cyclone" has seeded the Girl Scout grounds, several yards in town, 30 acres of panic on the H. Friess ranch, some on the SCD area, and now the LL park.

We hope Dan gets it back before it is worn out but, if not, it has done at least its share for the community.

Each time a dictionary is republished we find the compilers including more and more technical and trade terms. You'll find the following pretty tricky though, even though all the words are familiar. See if you can make it out:

"A Spook Sunshower looked at a Derby with a stick, harp, and a stove. He had a dog crate with spats as a trade. He wanted a straw hat but couldn't afford it. This guy's a real pelican but after

W. R. Johnson is another Amarilloan who made the long trip to Sonora to give blood transfusions to Pat Cooper. Johnson, like his fellow townsman Archie Wheeler, has a rare blood condition known as polycythemia vera which results in a surplus of blood.

Direct transfusions are most desirable in Cooper's disorder, aplastic anemia, so Johnson made the 400-mile trip to help our Cooper.

a high ball and the switch pitch he finally hooked his sticks when the pencil artist gave him a real cool pumpkin with new skins."

This is all in the language of automobile salesman and here's the translation:

"The wandering shopper said, 'I'll be back after I talk it over with the wife', when he looked at a hard top convertible with manual shift transmission, radio and heater. His trade-in was a station wagon with detachable fender skirts. He wants a convertible but couldn't afford it. He was undecided, but after offering a high trade in allowance and then switching him a low appraisal, he finally mortgaged his furniture to get the down payment. The salesman with the quick figures and fast talk wrote up the sales contract with weekly pick-up payments. The car was in good condition with new tires." Data.

Rites Held For Mrs. K. K. Davis In Dallas

Funeral services for Mrs. K. K. Davis of Dallas, formerly of Sonora, were held in Dallas Wednesday. Mrs. Davis was killed early Saturday in the crash of a truck and two automobiles near Commerce.

Mrs. Davis is the former Hattie Taylor of Sonora and daughter of R. E. Taylor and the late Mrs. Taylor. She was a graduate of the Sonora schools and a graduate of Shannon Hospital School of Nursing in San Angelo.

During World War II Mrs. Davis served in the Women's Nursing Corps and saw service in England. She was formerly a technician at North Texas State College in Denton. She had been in juvenile work in Dallas County during recent years.

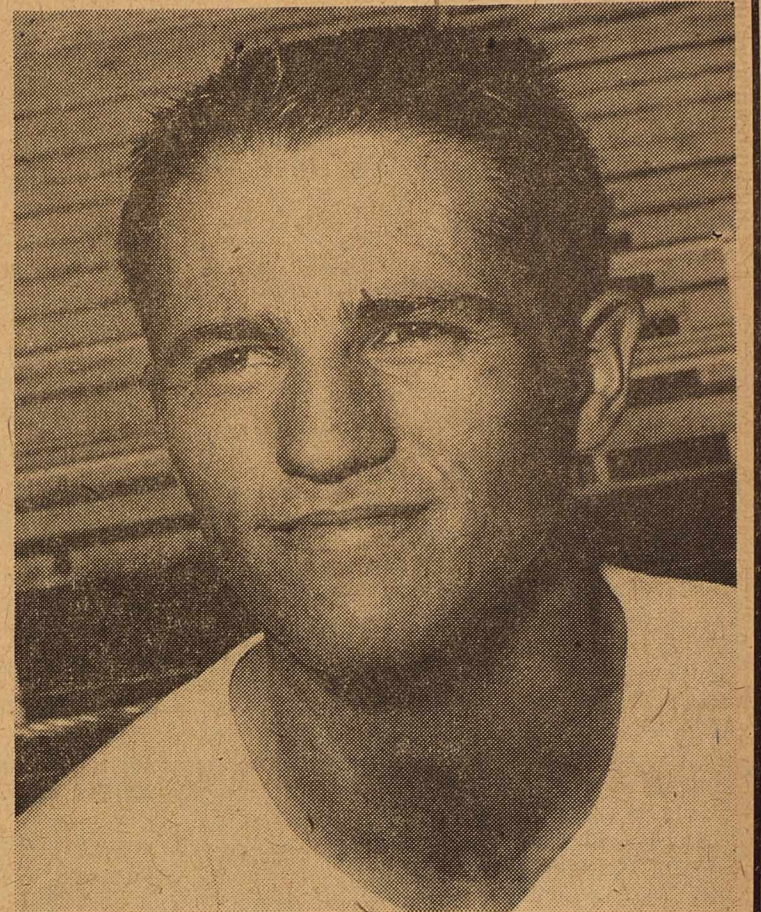

Survivors include her husband; her father; three sisters: Mrs. Sarah McKee of San Angelo, Mrs. Russell Reynolds of Springfield, Oregon, and Mrs. H. F. Sofge of Mertzon; and six brothers: C. W. Taylor of Sonora, R. E. Taylor, Jr., Basel Taylor and Pete Taylor, all of San Antonio, Tom Taylor of Del Rio, and Major Jim Taylor of

SHE KNOWS... IT'S FEEDING TIME!

This cow's telling you something you probably know . . . it's time to start feeding. Grass is brown, tough, and doesn't have much food value. If her owner wants her to drop a husky calf come spring, then he'd better start supplementing her range.

She'd like Purina Range Checkers. They're easy to feed, tasty, contain a variety of proteins and carbohydrates and carry vitamins and minerals that the tough grass doesn't have. Cows must have these materials to build the unborn calves.

Next time you're in town, drop in and let us tell you more about Purina Range Checkers. They're proved right, made right, priced right.

Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District News

By E. B. Keng
Soil Conservation Service

The Texas Section of the American Society of Range Management held a range field tour near Marathon and in the Big Bend Park last Friday. Leo Merrill, chairman of the Texas Section, and E. B. Keng, secretary, attended the tour from Sonora.

The first stop was made on the Pope Estate ranch south of Marathon to inspect a new water-spreading system on Maravillas Creek. A large diversion terrace diverts part of the overflow water from Maravillas to some 300 acres of adjoining flat land. An excellent stand of lush Johnson grass about waist high was observed on the formerly eroded-tar bush flat.

The stream has flowed twice this summer from rains higher up in the mountains, and the water-spreading system has functioned nicely. Holes in the earth dyke ration water to land below at intervals. The water is further spread over the field by net wire diversions which break up the concentrated flow and spreads the water out.

On Tornillo flats in the Big Bend Park the group saw grass seeding in large bull dozer pits and in regular pits. Efforts are being made by the Park Service to reestablish vegetation of thousands of acres of naked, badly eroding land.

Runoff is severe following rains, and the pits are being used to trap enough water to start grass seedlings. A good stand of small blue grama seedlings were present in the bull dozer pits. Some 10-15 bull dozer pits were made per acre. Made with one "swipe" of a bull dozer, downhill, the pits are some 10-15 inches deep, 9 feet wide, and 8-12 feet long, with a flat bottom. These large pits will store more water and help insure establishment of a grass stand.

Rainfall has been critically short in the Park for several years and considerable vegetation has died. Recent rains of from .50 to 1.50 inches are expected to start new grass growth.

Low shower clouds were hanging over the Park last Friday, with clouds below the mountain tops. The rugged Chisos Mountains surrounding the Big Bend Park "basin" were especially beautiful.

The Edwards Plateau SCD trial area on the Herbert Fields ranch has received 4.56 inches of rain in 1956, and only 5.06 inches during the past 11 months since October 1, 1955. The 1956 rain has fallen in 12 showers, only two of which were over .50, and the largest was only .84 inch.

This is indeed critically low rainfall, and though most of the grass appears to be alive, little or no new growth has been possible. Livestock were removed in May, and the 367 acre trap has been deferred all summer.

Net wire diversions would be a very beneficial practice on most ranches in the Edwards Plateau SCD. Where old wire and posts are on hand the low wire fences can be put in with little or no out of pocket cost to ranchmen. The Sutton County ASC program will allow $10.00 per one hundred feet of net wire diversion constructed.

With the drought continuing on most ranches, there will be a great increase in gully erosion when heavy rains again occur. Net wire diversions can be installed to spread water out to grow grass, and at the same time reduce gully erosion.

Eight hundred people were seated Tuesday morning in the auditorium of the school and a number were standing in the doors and corridors when the Eldorado school opened its 1956-57 school year with an assembly program. Texas Mohair Weekly —

Approximately 65 spelunkers will enjoy the facilities of Rock-springs, Saturday, September 15, when the Texas Speleological Society will hold its regional convention.

The convention people will be entertained with a barbecue supper by the Edwards County Chamber of Commerce. Members of the Chamber of Commerce and their families will also be invited to the barbecue.

Neill Reports Banks Furnish Most Ranch Loans

Texas farmers and ranchers met their credit needs during 1955 chiefly through loans from their local banks, according to George H. Neill, President, First National Bank of Sonora, who represents the Texas Bankers Association as Sutton County Key Banker. During the year, the state's banks provided more financial aid to farmers and stockmen than any other lending agency, he pointed out.

"The efforts of the state's banks to meet the increased needs for intermediate-term (one to five or more years) loans are reflected in the figures for both real estate and production loans outstanding," Neill said. "It is estimated that about three-fourths of the farm real estate loans are for purposes normally associated with intermediate length loans.

This would include such projects as the purchase of new machinery, improvements of livestock herds, etc. Beyond that, a substantial portion of the production loans in banks at the beginning of 1956 carried a repayment period of longer than one year."

Neill gave several reasons for the increasing importance of intermediate-term credit in financing Texas agriculture. "First," he said, "farmers haven't had as much income to repay their obligations during recent years as they had during the war and early postwar years. Second, farm and ranch capital requirements have increased to a very high level. Finally, changing habits of farmers' customers have caused a notable shift to different cropping programs. Each farmer who has made such adjustments employed new capital to do it."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haskett have as their guest this week his brother, Minor Haskett of Kingsville.

Drivers Must Stop For School Bus

Texas school superintendents, news editors and other citizens have been requested to give statewide emphasis and interpretation to the oft-neglected Texas law which requires all vehicles to stop when approaching a school bus loading or unloading children.

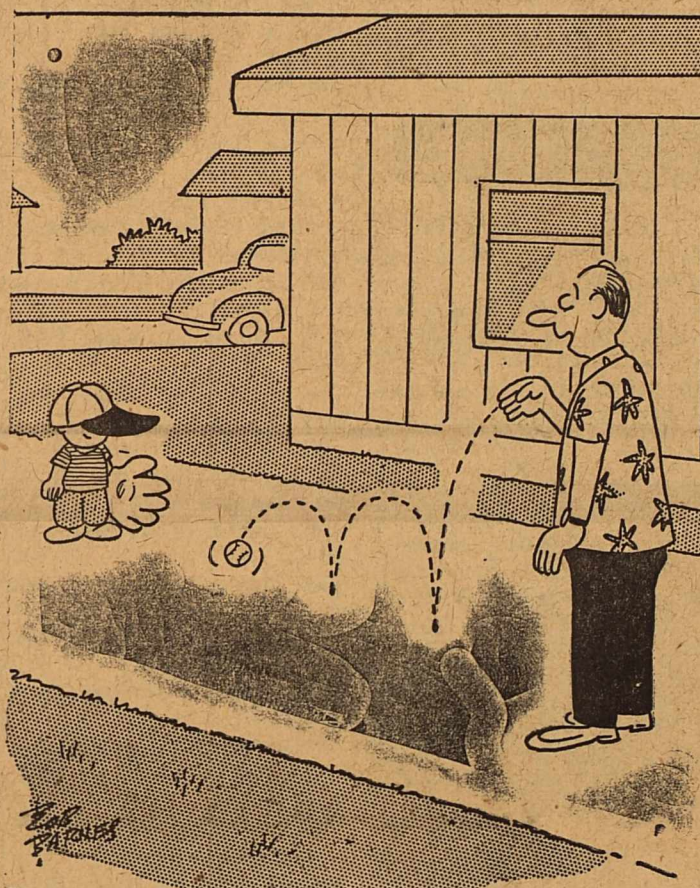

Texas school buses were involved in 379 accidents in rural areas (outside city limits) during 1955. Three children and two adults were killed in these accidents.

"Even one preventable accident, as we all know, is one too many," said J. W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education. "A study of the various replies which have been made to the question of what drivers or other vehicles should do when they approach a school bus which is loading or unloading children reveals a startling lack of understanding and a great deal of misunderstanding concerning what the statutes require."

The law says, in effect, that upon meeting or overtaking from either direction a school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging children, the driver shall stop immediately before passing, then proceed with due caution at a speed which is prudent and does not exceed ten miles per hour. The law does not apply within city limits.

Edgar said motorists can identify a school bus easily because "SCHOOL BUS" appears in large letters across the front and rear of each bus. "ALL public school buses are painted in a uniform yellow color and trimmed in black," he pointed out. "School buses are equipped with flasher lights front and rear and usually mounted high on the bus. Flashers are used only when the bus is in the process of stopping or is stopped to receive or discharge children.

Editor, The American Peoples Encyclopedia

MOTHERS-IN-LAW had a bad time of it with early American Indian tribes. There was a tabu which forbade a man to have any communication with or even to look at his wife's mother, and vice versa. This was true of the Plains tribes, the Navaho and Apache.

Although Timothy Dexter, an eccentric American merchant, acquired a large fortune, as a leather dresser and in various business transactions, he wasn't a very good author. He died in 1806, with the self-appointed title of "Lord." At his home in Newburyport he built a baroque mansion, on the grounds of which he erected a number of wooden statues of celebrated people, including himself. Almost entirely illiterate, he wrote a curious book entitled "A Pickle for the Knowing Ones." In answer to those who complained of the lack of punctuation, he appended to the second edition a page of punctuation marks and his advice to readers to "pepper and salt it as they please."

Swedes are proud of the fact that they are probably the purest remaining Teutons. In 1950, the population of Sweden was more than 7 million. The country's foreign population numbered only 83,000.

BEHIND-the-scenes dissatisfaction with the development and growth of the Atomic Power Industry in the United States has boiled over onto the floor of the United States Senate.

With passage of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 opening up the peaceful uses of atomic energy to private business and ending the government monopoly, private industry and particularly the Electric Power Industry, expressed great satisfaction and only urged that the government "give them the ball" so they could run with their new-found freedom to expand in this new atomic era. All has not been a bed of roses, however. Expressed dissatisfaction with the regulations of the Atomic Energy Commission, with the secrecy which has and continues to surround much of the government's experimentation in atomic energy has rankled in the private business collective mind.

The great American system of private enterprise found many road blocks in the path of early adaptation of convention systems of electric production to the atomic or nuclear production. Many of these road blocks were in private industry itself.

1-Suitable metals for withstanding the heat and corrosion peculiar to fissioning of uranium remains a road block. Metals such as zirconium, beryllium, thorium and boral are in short supply and high in cost. Metallurgy has not kept pace with the atomic age.

2-There is a tremendous shortage in manpower, that is men trained in atomic energy techniques and the physical sciences.

3-The insurance industry has been unable to come up with sufficient insurance to cover third party liability in case of a thousand-to-one gamble on a catastrophe.

4-Management has found corporation stockholders unwilling to risk large investment on construction of nuclear reactors which are not yet competitive with conventional fuels such as coal, gas and oil, and hence not yet profitable.

5-Although some fifteen applications for reactor construction have been filed with the atomic energy commission, the first more than a year ago, no license has yet been issued for a power reactor, and only two for research reactors. As a matter of fact this is not wholly the fault of the Atomic Energy Commission, for the applicants for power reactors are not yet ready to go ahead, have not furnished the Commission with all the data called for by the rules and regulations, some demand subsidies, some ask for other special concessions.

During the hearings on the state, growth and development of the Atomic Energy Industry as required by the law, the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy was faced with these further demands from private industry:

1-That Government provide indemnity for losses on public liability which might be incurred in any reactor accident;

2-That Companies who join in a holding company or pool resources to build a nuclear reactor be exempted from the provisions of the Utility Holding Company Act;

3-That money spent in experimentation, which runs into millions of dollars, be declared deductible for income tax purposes.

43 YEARS AGO

C. S. Halcomb has opened the market and is furnishing some very fine meats. J. L. Cook is doing the carving.

—43—
August Moos and Jim Stewart were in town this week. Mr. Moos has a 45 horse power car but has not taken the speedbug yet, although when last seen he was wearing a cap.

—43—
Miss Lilly Trotter of Water Valley arrived Wednesday. Miss Trotter will teach the children of Mr. and Mrs. Giles Hill on the ranch.

—43—
John Eaton, the Sonora Water Works owner, is at last confident that he has the system under control and that Sonora will not meet with the experience of the past. Mr. Eaton is so confident he has the works in a dependable condition that he will shortly be prepared to take up the matter of water for fire protection. He feels assured that he will be able to fulfill a contract that will reduce the insurance rate according to the requirement of the State. It is an important matter that may be called before the people at any time.

—43—
T. B. Adams bought from Ira Word the lot on the corner of Concho and Oak Streets for $800. Mr. Adams plans to remove the present building and improve and remodel his residence. This property can be made one of the attractive residence places in town.

—43—
Prof T. A. Williams has organized a ball team and sent a challenge to the Ozona school team for a series of three games. Mr. Williams expects to have a grand stand erected at the school grounds and make school life as interesting as possible for the Sonora boys and girls.

—43—
Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Yaws were in Sonora this week from the Middle Valley. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Vander Stucken.

—43—
Wm. Mittel, the stockman farmer, was in town this week. He does not expect school will be held this session in his neighborhood because of lack of funds due to so many transferred to the Sonora school.

—43—
Joe Murray was over from the Massie and Puckett ranch on a visit to his parents this week.

—43—
George B. Hamilton is spending a few days on the ranch with his brother in law, Will Wyatt.

—43—
Mrs. W. R. Nicks of Eldorado is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Maddox, this week.

—43—
Curt Allison is home from Oklahoma from which place the dry weather necessitated the re-shipment of the Glasscock and Allison cattle to Texas for winter pasture.

—43—
R. F. Halbert of Eldorado was in Sonora Friday. He reports the cattlemen in Schleicher County dipping to eradicate the cattle tick.

—43—
Fred Simmons and sister, Miss Mattie, went to Ozona this week to meet Mrs. Pat Lee who is going to make her father, Dock Simmons and family, a visit. Miss Carra Karnes accompanied them on the trip.

—43—
Mrs. D. A. Johnson is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Laura Decker. Mrs. Johnson is not in good health.

—43—
Mrs. Grady Lowrey of Del Rio and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Howell of Austin, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lowrey.

Looking Through The Windows Of Life

By W. H. Marshall

Memories come and go. I am thinking of an old time kitchen, a box of wood near by. A little woman cooking dinner. She is my mother. The old iron pot in which mother cooked beans, cabbage and turnip greens. My. Don't I wish I was a boy again just now and could hear my dear little old mother call: "Boys, dinner is ready." And did the boys come. We sure did, like a bunch of half grown steers.

Vitamins. Man we got them out of the old iron pot! Hanging on to a hoe handle eight hours a day helped a lot, too. Then morning and evening, there was wood to cut and cows to milk and hogs to feed, the horses had to be cared for. Yes, we got a lot out of life back in those days.

The Old Swimming Hole! I will never forget it. On Sunday we would bring boy friends home with us for dinner and after dinner we would take off for the swimming hole. Did we have a time?

Then at least once a year we would hitch a pair of horses to the old farm wagon and take off for the river some miles away for two or three days fishing. When we got home we felt like we had been in a foreign country and that we had been gone a month.

I remember the weekly parties through the summer. Of course the girls were all pretty and the boys were handsome, at least we thought we were. Love, well, us boys thought we were in love with all those pretty girls. But time does funny things. Few marriages came out of those days of courtship.

Yes, there were some wild steer riding, too. That was a game we enjoyed Sunday afternoon.

When the winter came along and the snow fell deep enough, we would have some real snow battles on the school ground. Once in a while some of the girls got a little too close and the boys never did know what they told the teacher we did to them, but we got called in and made to sit for a long time in our seats. We didn't like it a bit, but you can bet your dollar we didn't tell the teacher we didn't like it. We kids had great respect for our teachers and we loved every one of them.

Well, I might as well tell you, we did have a fight or two when at school. Not every time did we come off winner. And when a fight came off and the teacher found it out, and she usually did, two boys got a good whipping for being mean at school. And, looking back, I think the teacher did just what she should have done. And our parents at home backed the teacher 100 per cent.

Sure it was great to live back in those days when you never saw an automobile, never heard of an airplane and hardsurface roads would have been an impossibility.

When Sunday morning came we all went to church. Took part in the worship services and were better the next week for having gone to church.

When a neighbor got sick we all pitched in to help do what ever needed to be done, from planting to harvesting his crop. When a neighbor died the whole community was made sad and it took us a long time to get over it.

Check Credits
Security Office

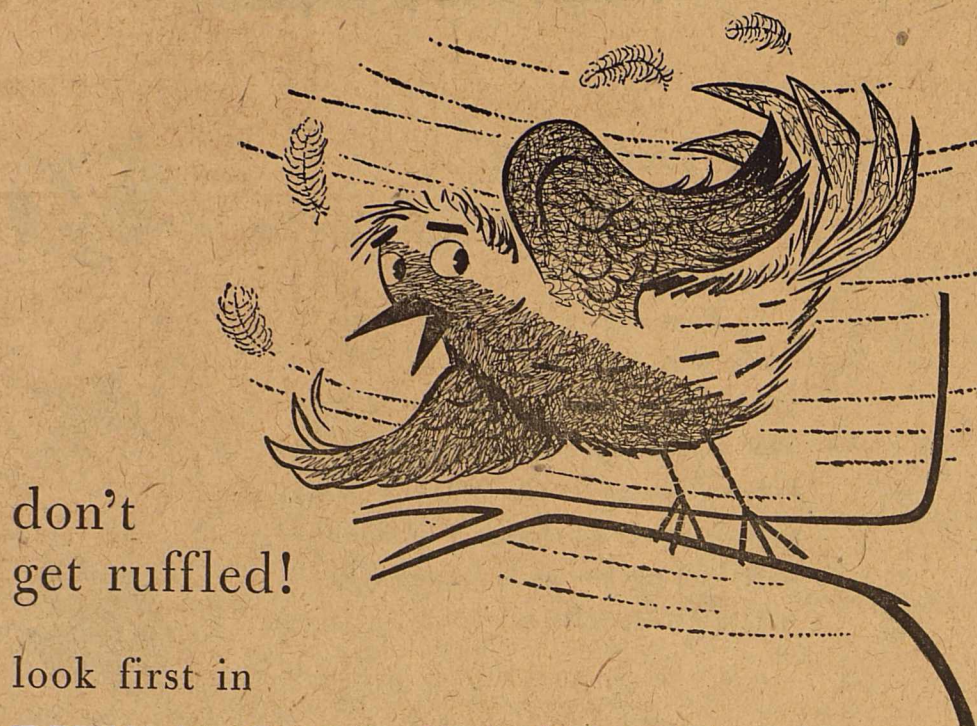

Social Security accounts, as well as bank accounts should be checked periodically to be sure of proper credits, advises Ed Bowers manager of the San Angelo Social Security office.

Everyone in Sutton County who has worked under social security during the past three years or more should check to see that all of his earnings have been properly credited, Bowers continues.

Yes, back in the good old days, we had a lot to live for.

A social security account can be checked by getting a free post card from the Social Security District Office at 307 Federal Building, San Angelo. The Statement which will be received as a result of mailing the form can be checked against personal records of wages and self-employment earnings.

Neil Tarvin, Field Representative of the San Angelo District Social Security Office will be in Sonora on Thursday, September 20, at 9:00 a.m. in the County Judge's Office to assist you with your problems concerning your rights and benefits under the Social Security law.

Rev. Brown Has Article In Range Journal

An article on "Conservation of Soil and Soul", by the Reverend Alanson Brown, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, appeared in a recent issue of the Journal of Range Management. We reprint here excerpts from the article:

"Conservation and proper management of our natural resources are basically a religious problem and this fact determines our technical, social, economic and political approach to a solution. This is my conviction and contention. The god or gods a man worships determines what he does with his natural resources and how he approaches life in its totality. This is the key to our problem as a nation and as individuals interested in and dedicated to the conservation and proper management of what God in His goodness has given us; whether it be farm land, range land, forested land or the minerals in and under the land. The worship of false, greedy gods results in the destruction of this resource while the worship of the one, true God of all Creation results in the conservation of His precious gift to us.

"You and I know what has been done by our government and certain inspired individuals in the field of agriculture, yet none of the plans offered have solved our basic problem—the loss of our land resources. The USDA has printed thousands of bulletins, the Extension Service has demonstrated, the Experiment Stations have experimented, and the Soil Conservation Service has 'put it on the ground' but still we have not solved the problem.

"The root of the problem is the sickness of man's soul and until that sickness is cured we can only treat the symptoms of his disease. The cure is for man and all men to acknowledge God as their Creator—the Source of all our Bounty. We are dependent on Him for all that we have and at the same time we are stewards of all that He has given us. Once we recognize the root of our problem and get on with the job of conservation of souls then we can get on with the job of saving our land resources."

Bill Decker has returned from Austin where he spent several days visiting with his uncle, Frank Decker.

Mrs. Edith Phillips left for Mexico City Thursday after spending several days here with her brothers and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Cooper.

LIONS ROAR

At their regular Tuesday luncheon meeting at the First Methodist Church, Sonora Lions saw a film on highlights of the 1955 Southwest Conference football games. The film was furnished by the Humble Oil and Refining Corporation through the courtesy of Mat Adams.

Lions President W. T. Hardy announced that the club will not meet next Tuesday at noon but will hold the annual joint Lions Club-PTA barbecue honoring members of the faculty of Sonora schools. Members of the committee to assist in arrangements are E. A. Brodhead, Bud Smith and Boyd Lovelace.

Seventy-two Lions are the following guests were present: J. C. Cherry of Junction, Lion Brooks of Eldorado and Pat Cooper.

WANTED BY THE FBI

FLENOY PAYNE

A complaint was filed before the U. S. Commissioner at Clarksdale, Mississippi, on September 22, 1953, charging Payne with a violation of Title 18, U. S. Code, Section 1073, in that he fled from the State of Mississippi to avoid prosecution for the crime of murder.

Payne is described as follows: Age 47, born July 18, 1909, Scott, Mississippi; Height, 5' 11"; Weight, 139 to 160 pounds; Build, slender; Hair, black, kinky; Eyes, brown; Complexion, brown; Race, Negro; Nationality, American; Occupations, laborer, farmer; Scars and marks, cut scar on right temple, cut scar on chin, spot and cut scar on left forearm, vaccination scar on left arm, cut scar on lower right buttock, two spot scars on back of head; Remarks, may be wearing mustache, has a loud voice.

Payne has been convicted previously for murder. He is reportedly armed with a pistol at all times and should be considered extremely dangerous.

Any person having information concerning the whereabouts of Flenoy Payne is requested to contact the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., or the Special Agent in Charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation Office nearest his city.
