An Admiral In Good Samaritan Role—

Lubbock Army Officer Given A Lift By Adm. Mitscher Twice In Week After Hurry-Up Calls

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (AP)—Lt. E. J. McNeil, U. S. Army, of Lubbock, was back in Washington today to be with his sick mother. And he is very grateful to Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, deputy chief of naval operations for air for the second time within a week.

Unable to get from Washington to Lubbock to visit his wife and new baby, he asked the Navy for help. Adm. Mitscher, who was taking off for Corpus Christi to inspect naval air installations, gave him a lift.

Upon the plane's arrival in Corpus Christi, McNeil received word that his mother in Washington was ill and that he should return immediately.

McNeil told the Navy of his plight. The Navy told Mitscher. And the admiral again gave the lieutenant a lift.

Burning Mine To Be Sealed

Bodies Of Twenty Victims Will Be Left In Shaft

(By The United Press)

PINEVILLE, Ky., Dec. 31. — State Mine Inspector Harry R. Thomas announced at noon today that the Kentucky Straight Creek coal mine, now ravaged by fire and filled with gas, would be sealed beginning Wednesday and no more effort would be made to remove the 20 bodies remaining in it.

Thomas said the concentration of gas in the mine had increased since yesterday and that further work would be dangerous.

Bodies Are Sighted

At least two of the bodies remaining in the debris at the entrance of room six-left were sighted by rescue crews Saturday night, but were not brought out.

Thomas said the mine would be sealed to permit the fire in the coal to burn itself out before further work was begun.

Crews went into the shaft today to test the gas concentration and came out with the report that work would be impossible until the gas could be dispersed. The fire had taken to the coal seams and workers were unable to fight it because they faced suffocation in the bad air.

No Doubt Men Are Dead

Thomas said there was no doubt that the men remaining in the shaft were dead and had been dead several days.

Most of them, he said, apparently were buried in the debris which plummeted into the shaft when the tremendous explosion flashed out last Wednesday morning an hour and a half after the first crew went back to work after Christmas.

The last two bodies brought out —Foreman Nath Centers and Hobart Sellfridge — were in such bad shape that they were sewn in canvas before being brought to the surface.

Thomas would not estimate how long it would take to smother the

Champion 1945 Liar Saved City In Flood

BURLINGTON, Wis., Dec. 31 (AP) — The "world champion liar" of 1945, as adjudged by the famed Burlington Liar's club, is M. E. Linehan of Louisville, Ky., for his tall tale of how he saved the Kentucky metropolis from a flood.

Linehan's story topped 5,-872 other atrocious exaggerations.

The Kentuckian's prize winning entry in the contest:

"Very few people know it but it was through my efforts that the 1945 Ohio river flood was stopped before it spread out of control.

"On the day the water reached its peak and was expected to flood half of Louisville, I made a hurried call to the election board, had them arrange a special local option election, and we voted the town dry in a half an hour."

That, in Kentucky bourbon Louisville, was no mean feat.

Officers Given Busy Weekend

A hangover of investigations was bequeathed by the weekend to law enforcement agencies here.

The driver of an automobile that figured in the death of one Tahoka negro and the serious injuring of another at 3 a. m. Sunday 12 miles north of Tahoka on the Lubbock highway was sought for questioning.

A 44-year-old negro, Robert Fennell, was sought as a fugitive from Hale county jail.

Woman Is Stabbed

There were reports of a stabbing; a second theft of $150 within a week from the Salvation Army here and arrest of a 53-year-old suspect for questioning; investigation into informal charges that a 14-year-old negro boy raped a 5-year-old negro female; as well as pilfering of cars, burglaries, drunk driving, car thefts, dangerous driving, theft of livestock, and other offenses.

The state highway patrol said it was seeking for questioning a young Lubbock man and a woman in connection with the negro's death. Frank Williams, 45, was the dead man. Eunice McMillan, 29, was the man injured. He was in a Lubbock hospital. Patrolmen said evidence pointed to the negro's car as having struck that of the unknown driver in the rear. The white man believed to have figured in the wreck spent the remainder of the night with a young woman also known to investigators, at a Lynn county farm house, officials said. The car he was believed driving is registered to a Crosby county man.

Williams was dead when he and McMillan were brought to the hospital by H. H. and J. J. Reagan,

Police Seek Driver Of Wrecked Bus

PUEBLA, Mexico, Dec. 31. (AP)—Police continued a search today for the missing driver of an inter-urban bus which killed 35 persons and injured 30 others in a plunge from a mountain highway into a gorge 40 miles south of here.

Meanwhile, police sought an explanation of the accident, so far attributed to failure of the vehicle's air brakes, and also for the overloaded conditions. The bus carried 75 passengers at the time of the accident, although it had a seating capacity for 39.

The death list was scaled down from 38 when duplication of names was found. Of the dead, 16 were women, five children and 14 were men. Only 14 have been identified.

Taxi Driver Solves His Garbage Problem

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 31. (UP)—An Albuquerque taxi driver has devised a neat solution to the troublesome garbage collection problem at his home.

Seems that every day, just before he starts out, his wife places a gifty-looking parcel in the back seat of his cab. Inside the package is the family garbage.

Within two hours, the driver vows, the package mysteriously disappears. One time, he says, he watched in his mirror to see a woman passenger spend a furtive five minutes stuffing his box full of garbage into her well-filled shopping bag.

Kai-Shek Bids For Truce In Civil Strife

Plan Of Military Inspection Group Also Suggested

(By The Associated Press)

CHUNGKING, Dec. 31 — The Chinese central government countered a Communist plan for a truce today by proposing that Gen. George C. Marshall act as arbiter and that a military inspection mission, possibly composed of Americans, serve as impartial observers to see that any armistice was obeyed.

The immediate reaction in foreign quarters here was that there was nothing in the government offer to which the Communists could validly object and that General Marshall's approval must have been obtained before the suggestion was made for ending the civil conflict.

Makes Outright Bid

The move to bring the American special envoy into the peace picture came as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek made an outright bid to the Communists to join a government that would unify China and called a two-weeks meeting of the political consultative council to begin Jan. 10.

There was no immediate Communist reaction, as all leaders of the Communist delegation here were out attending a New Year's eve party.

The three-point government plan was submitted in writing to the Communists.

As translated by the ministry of information, it was as follows:

"Cessation of hostilities in the country has been the consistent wish of the National government. In order to attain this objective it is necessary for both sides to come to a concrete understanding on procedures to be followed. Otherwise the proposal to cease hostilities cannot be effectively carried out. For this reason it is proposed:

"1. That all hostilities within the country shall cease and railway communications shall be restored:

"2. That inasmuch as hostilities

Tax Slash To Start Tuesday

Millions Will Benefit From New Program

Spending Will Be Encouraged; Pay Checks Are Aided

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The government tomorrow hands the country a $6,000,000,000 incentive to expanded business activity.

The 1946 tax law, providing the first general cut in taxes since 1929, was written deliberately to encourage spending for reconversion and high peacetime production.

Federal officials expressed confidence today that it would have that effect.

Bring Out More Goods

They forecast too that it would bring a modest but noticeable upturn in the flow of civilian goods into the stores, because after midnight the producers will keep more of their profit from sales, pay less of it to Uncle Sam. This results from repeal of heavy excess profits tax.

Individuals will benefit by a total of $2,800,000,000, through cuts ranging from 100 per cent for some 12,000,000 low income persons to 10 per cent or more for the average taxpayer. This will bolster purchasing power at a time when pay envelopes and salary checks are getting thinner.

The official estimate was based on a national income of $130,000,000,000 in 1946. But the country enters the new year with its income clipping along at a $150,000,000,000 rate. Treasury and Commerce department officials now agree that their $130,000,000,000 figure was too low.

This means that government, industry and the public alike will

Stark Says Kimmel Got Ample Warning

Another Recess In Pearl Harbor Probe Looms; Legal Staff Expected To Quit

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Adm. Harold R. Stark asserted today that Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, Pacific fleet commander at Hawaii, was amply warned to be on guard before the Japanese struck Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

The 1941 chief of naval operations began his story of pre-war events when the Senate-House committee investigating the Japanese attack resumed its hearings after a week-long Christmas recess.

Another Recess Likely

Stark was called to the stand amid indications that the committee will take still another recess—possibly as long as 30 days — to find new counsel. The legal staff which has aided in the inquiry since it began in mid-November has announced intentions to quit, possibly after examination of Stark.

Along with a 25,000-word statement from Stark, the committee received voluminous correspondence which he wrote to naval officers during the months before the Pearl Harbor attack plunged the United States into war.

Efforts Not Supported

From Stark and these records, the investigators learned that:

1. Stark felt that neither Congress nor President Roosevelt fully supported his efforts to bolster the strength of the fleet before the war.

2. At the time Germany attacked Russia, Stark urged American entry into the war and at the same time expressed hope that Russia and Germany would "exhaust themselves" in conflict. A Communist-dominated Europe, he wrote then, was "no more an attractive picture" than a Europe ruled by Nazis.

Were To Seize Azores

3. President Roosevelt issued instructions on May 22, 1941, to get an expedition of 25,000 men ready to sail in 30 days to seize Portugese-owned Azores in the Atlantic.

He also said:

1. He wrote Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander of the Far Eastern fleet, on Nov. 7, 1941, that "the Navy is already in the war of the Atlantic." American ships were then convoying supplies for

Mine Sweeper Sunk By Blast

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 31. (AP)—Toll of casualties aboard the mine sweeper USS Minivet, which struck a mine Saturday off Kyushu island, Japan, was unknown today as aircraft and surface ships searched for missing crewmen.

The initial announcement by Navy headquarters reported "moderate loss of life and injury" among the crew of nine officers and 82 enlisted men on the 220-foot vessel which was engaged in mine-sweeping operations in Tsushima strait, about 50 miles northwest of Kyushu.

Tabulation Not Possible

Navy headquarters said exact tabulation of the dead and injured was not yet possible. Names of casualties will be announced by the Navy after next of kin are notified.

Commissioned last July, the Minivet was the first American mine sweeper sunk by mines since V-J day. More than 20,000 American and Japanese mines have been cleared from 84,000 square miles since end of the war.

The Minivet, a unit of task force 52, was supervising a sweep by Japanese vessels of a shallow mine field when it was ripped by the blast.

Lubbock Car Owners Warned To Save Tires; Shortage Still On

Mister, better not burn that thinning rubber on the old tire. Save it.

You can also save wear and tear on your nervous system too, by not racing at break-neck speed to local tire dealers expecting them to solve your automobile troubles simply because tire rationing is to be terminated at 12:01 tonight.

They Don't Have 'Em

Dealers would like nothing better than equipping everybody's car with a complete set of new tires, but it's impossible selling something they don't have. Namely, tires.

They're prepared for a rush on their stores which they predict will continue several months. Demand will far exceed supply even though they expect a slight increase in the number of tires received each month.

Expect To Get More

Two dealers were optimistic about the tire situation, saying they didn't have but a few on hand now but they expected to receive more in the near future. They said the situation would adjust itself within two months.

Another dealer, not quite so optimistic, said there wouldn't be

Greyhound Bus Strikers Will Halt Walkout

Two-Month Tieup To Be Submitted To Fact-Finders

(By The United Press)

Striking Greyhound bus employes in 18 Northeastern states prepared to end a two-month strike today, bringing the first recent break in the tangled labor situation.

At a Cleveland meeting with company and federal conciliation officials, union representatives last night agreed to call off their strike and submit wage demands to a government fact-finding panel.

Drivers To Return

The first of 4,000 drivers and maintenance men will return to their jobs at 5 a.m. Thursday, and local buses will begin rolling 48 hours later. Restoration of long distance service will take somewhat longer.

Return of the striking Greyhound employes was expected to reduce the national strike-idle to just below the half-million mark, 499,000.

In other labor developments, CIO auto workers leaders said they would contact General Motors officials in an effort to resume negotiations in the 41-day strike despite the company's refusal to cooperate further with a fact-finding board in the dispute.

Withdrew In Protest

The company withdrew from the Washington hearings to protest the board's intention to consider G. M.'s ability to pay a 30-per-cent wage increase demanded by the union.

Subsequently, GM said it was doing battle on behalf of all American business against "any surrender of the responsibility of management" to labor or government.

Meanwhile, Western Electric

Oregon Floodwaters Nearing Portland

More than 1,000 families were preparing to return to their homes in the 75-mile-long area between Eugene and Salem where water levels had surged as much as eight and 10 feet above flood stage and over-flowed hundreds of thousands of acres of the valley's rich farmlands.

Goering And Himmler Branded Traitors In Adolf's Last Will

NUERNBERG, Dec. 31 (AP) — Adolf Hitler's last will, calling Herman Goering and Heinrich Himmler traitors, created furore today among the 20 arch Nazis awaiting in the Nuernberg jail for their trials as war criminals to resume on Wednesday.

The sensational charges, written by the trapped fuehrer in the Berlin chancellory bunker on the eve of his suicide with his mistress bride, Eva Braun, were learned by the prisoners during a busy morning filled with conferences with their lawyers.

To Goering, Hitler's condemnation came as no surprise for the SS and SA had arrested him in Berchtesgaden on April 23 while he was expecting to become the new German fuehrer. The ousted reichsmarshal had not suspected, however, the full extent to which Himmler, suicide head of the gestapo, also had slipped from Hitler's favor.

Virtually all the other prisoners were reported surprised at the language used in the will in actions against the two Nazis, who next to Hitler had wielded the most power.

"Altogether from their disloyalty to me, Goering and Himmler

Three Others Are Injured In Accident Here

Sunday Collision Is Fatal To Mrs. Millard Wilkison

A Lubbock woman was fatally injured and three other persons were hurt early Sunday afternoon in an automobile collision at the intersection of Thirty-fourth and College.

Mrs. Millard L. Wilkison, about 35, of 1303 Arnett street, died in Lubbock Memorial hospital about two hours after the mishap occurred at 12:30 p.m.

The accident took a freakish turn when the car in which Mrs. Wilkison was riding with her husband and three children reversed its direction and came to a stop with the other machine resting on its rear end and jammed against a telephone pole at the southeast corner of the intersection.

Cars Badly Damaged

J. W. Chambers, 56, of Ropesville, was driver of the second automobile. He was accompanied by his wife and both were admitted to West Texas hospital for treatment.

Both the light coaches were badly damaged.

Investigating officers said that the Wilkison machine, being driven south on College, struck the Ropesville man's car on the latter's left side. The authorities said there was no evidence of high speed of either car. Chambers was driving east on Thirty-fourth.

Wilkison and Chambers both told investigators that they were not aware of the other approaching the intersection before the crash. The fact that neither driver applied his brakes was given as the reason for the bad damage.

Wilkison, 36, is operator of a radiator shop on Avenue H With him in his car besides his wife were their son, Billy Wayne Wilkison, 9; Dorothy Howell, 14, a foster daughter of Mrs. Wilkison, and Billy Lou Drury, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L.

Last rites were to be conducted at 4 p. m. today in Plains chapel for Jerry D. Andrews, 15-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Andrews of 1912 Ave. E, who died at 8:15 p. m. Sunday in West Texas hospital. Rev. Hershel H. Henkel of the East Side Baptist church was to conduct the service and burial was to be in Lubbock cemetery. Other survivors are a brother, Billy Vern, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Andrews of Lubbock.

Bert W. Self, who died suddenly at his home in Crowell Sunday morning, was a cousin of James R. Self, 2518 Twenty-seventh, and well known in Lubbock. He visited here frequently in behalf of interests as a grain dealer and cattle buyer. Funeral arrangements pend communication from relatives in Colorado and California.

A residence occupied at 1606 Twenty-second by the H. F. Montgomery family was badly damaged about 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon by fire. Firemen said overstuffed furniture apparently caught fire from a living room stove, when it became overheated, and that the living room was badly damaged. Smoke damaged other sections of the residence as well. Montgomery is a linotype operator of Avalanche-Journal publications. In another fire run, a city pumping station motor was burned out at 10:50 a. m., Sunday, at Fourteenth and Ave. B.

WLB To Recommend WU Wage Increase

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (AP) — The War Labor board today prepared a recommendation for a 12-cent average hourly wage increase for 50,000 AFL Western Union employes threatening to strike January 7.

As one of its final acts before passing out of existence tonight, the board voted Saturday to revise its October 17 directive calling for a four-cent hourly increase.

The AFL union had appealed for reconsideration, and both the union and the company stipulated they would be bound by the board's new recommendation.

The WLB also recommended, it was learned, a 55-cent hourly minimum rate which would raise the pay for several thousand messengers and other empoyes now receiving 40 cents an hour and up.

Vet Is Disappointed At Not Getting Jeep

TYLER, Dec. 31 (U.P.)—The Army is giving out no jeeps with discharges and one ex-soldier is extremely disappointed.

"Where's my jeep?" the veteran asked when he received his discharge at the Camp Fannin Separation Center.

"What jeep?" an officer at the center rejoined.

Then the story unwound. Someone told the soldier at Marseille, France, an embarkation port, that he could obtain a jeep in the place of his $300 mustering out pay, if he so chose.

Batavia Police Force Is Held

BATAVIA, Dec. 31. u — The British announced today they were holding for questioning all 743 members of the Indonesian police force of Batavia, ousted Saturday when British troops seized police stations here.

The Indonesians, some of whom are suspected by the British of collaborating in recent kidnapings, are being held at the central police station.

Marines To Disembark

Meanwhile, 2,000 Dutch Marines, trained and equipped in the United States, were preparing to disembark from a ship which arrived off Batavia yesterday. A British announcement said the Marines would disembark within a few days.

Indonesian leaders have protested against the importing of additional Dutch forces into troubled Java, but agreed some time ago, in this particular case, to allow the Marines to be brought in to replace Amboinese natives serving in the Dutch Army, said Premier Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized Indonesian republic.

Intermittent fighting continued at Buitenzarg, where Indonesian snipers killed two British Indian soldiers and wounded two Dutch internees, and at Semarang, where the natives shelled an airfield.

British authorities announced the arrest in Batavia of 91 persons, including seven described as "well known Indonesian terrorist leaders."

LAAF Will Be Closed Today

Today marks the final day for Lubbock Army Air field to remain open as a military installation.

Tonight at midnight the field will be officially closed and be placed on a stand-by basis. A total of approximately 100 military personnel, officers and enlisted men, and 60 civilians will remain at the field to complete the process of sending out records and supplies.

To Become Sub-Base

After today the base will officially become a "sub-base of Goodfellow field at San Angelo," Lt.-Col. Wm. G. Snaith, commanding officer, announced Saturday.

The post exchange at the field, which has served thousands of Air Corps enlisted men for the past three years with about everything from cigarets to diamond rings, closed for the last time on Dec. 22. Capt. A. B. Wade of the Eighth Service command at Dallas is here to liquidate the exchange.

Surplus equipment will be disposed of to civilians Friday and Saturday on sealed bids at the exchange.

Capt. Wade said the exchange had been "one of the most efficiently operated" in the Eighth Service command area.

Lubbock's 1945 Traffic Toll Slightly Above 1944; Two Killed, 99 Injured

Two persons were killed inside Lubbock in 1945 as result of automobile mishaps, and 99 were injured.

So reported police this morning, a few hours before the old year passes amid echoes of a fatal crash Sunday afternoon that "lacked only a few feet of having been inside the corporate limits."

Capt. Lewis Kittrell and Sgt Bill Lamb were referring to a Thirty-fourth and College Ave. crash that caused fatal injuries to Mrs. Millard L. Wilkison of 1303 Arnett.

Just Outside Limits

The middle of Thirty-fourth describes the southern limits of the city. The crash was just south across the center of the road.

Police said the fatalities compared with two for the year of 1944, and with 97 injuries. In 1944 there were 547 automobile accidents.

Police broke down their figures to show that there were five pedestrians struck by cars in 1945. All were injured, none was killed. In 1944, three pedestrians were struck by car. One was killed, the other two injured.

There were no fatal bike mishaps either year. Three bike riders were injured in 1945 in three mishaps, two in 1944 in two mishaps.

Mishaps Claim Eleven Hunters

AUSTIN, Dec. 31. (U.P.)—The deer hunting season that closes today in Texas took a toll of at least seven hunters who lost their lives. Four deaths of duck hunters also have been reported. Duck and goose shooting season runs through Jan. 20.

All of the deaths were not from gun accidents. Col. Harold Weiler of the State selective service staff lost his life when an automobile crashed into a duck blind.

Another, 63-year-old Frank Lubke of Concho county died from a heart ailment while hunting in Menard county.

Non-Fatal Accidents

Beside the fatalities there were a number of non-fatal hunting accidents. These included a broken hip suffered by the Rev. J. E. Moore, Dallas. He fell from a tree near Mason while waiting for a deer. Bobby Ligon of Menard didn't let a leg wound keep him from getting a deer on his 17th birthday. He was shot accidentally by a companion.

Fatalities listed for the hunting season in addition to Col. Weiler and Lubke include:

W. D. Durham, Beaumont, whose body was recovered in Batson Marsh after being missing nearly a month.

J. E. Masters jr. of Marlin from gunshot wound while hunting near Lott.

Edward Cecil Bauer of Victoria, killed while duck hunting at Powder Horn lake.

Roswell Woman Held In Mate's Shooting

ROSWELL, N. M., Dec 31. (U.P.)—Preliminary hearing for Mrs. Mary Courtney, 43, in connection with the fatal shooting early Saturday in Roswell of her husband, Joseph Courtney, 41, depends on rapidity of her recovery from what officers describe as self-inflicted cuts on both arms.

Police found the World War Two veteran fatally wounded in the couple's living room, and discovered his wife, Mary, lying in the gas-filled bathroom with both wrists and her right arm slashed, according to District Attorney G. T. Watts.

A six-man coroner's jury returned a verdict late Saturday that Courtney died from gunshot wounds inflicted by his wife. A complaint, charging Mrs. Courtney with murder, was filed yesterday afternoon at the district attorney's office here.

Meanwhile, hospital attendants report Mrs. Courtney's condition as "good."

The couple was married at Roswell last August, and Courtney was discharged from the Army in October.

Four Dead In Texas Flames

(By The United Press)

Four persons were burned to death in Texas over the weekend, two of them in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Mary Williams, about 25, of Fort Worth was burned to death when she was trapped in the cab of a blazing wrecker truck which overturned and caught fire near Oden, five miles west of Ranger.

Daughter, Also Dies

Her daughter, seven-year old Judy Carroll Waco, suffered burns which later proved fatal in the same accident. Her mother managed to shove her out a broken window, but too late to save her life. Heat prevented rescuers from getting Mrs. Williams out.

Mrs. Georgia Alice Ellison, a bride of a few weeks, died in a Temple hospital from burns received in a rooming house fire there.

Milton Wallace, 88 year old negro hotel operator, was burned to death at Stephenville when the hotel was destroyed by fire. His son, Ernest, received minor burns.

Herschel Hardesty, driver of the wrecker in which Mrs. Williams and her daughter were burned, also was burned and was in a critical condition in a Fort Worth hospital where the girl died last night.

Boom In Texas Industry Seen

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Texas is swinging into a new year—and a new era.

Long dependent on ranching and farming and later oil for its place in the sun and livelihood for its citizens, Texas today looms as a new center for American industry.

The change had begun before the war. But the war gave it impetus.

Industry was decentralized after Pearl Harbor. It was done for various reasons: as a safety measure, to utilize scattered labor, to move closer to raw products.

The action brought to industrialists the realization that most of these same factors are as sound in peace as in war.

Found Climate Good

Peace offers an added inducement—proximity to markets, thus saving transportation.

Industrialists also found the climate good. Year-round production is no difficulty.

The success of war plants in Texas has virtually assured further industrial expansion in the Southwest, many believe. Production was among the best in the nation. Texas labor was found willing and capable and plentiful. Transportation is available by air, land or sea.

The raw materials of Texas have been hardly scratched.

Plants Reconverting

The majority of war plants will remain in operation in Texas.

They have reconverted or are in process of reconversion. New plants are planned and expansion of current plants is well beyond the blueprint stage.

To give a few specific examples:

Airplanes are being built by two factories in Dallas; tires are being made in Waco; leather goods in Amarillo; nails, wires, structural steel and oil well drilling equipment in Houston; furniture is being made in a former shipyard in Brownsville; clothing is made in Dallas; bottles in Waco; books in San Antonio; the food processing industry in the Lower Rio Grande valley is making available canned fruit juices, vegetables, and quick-frozen articles; textiles in Hillsboro, Corsicana; cheese in Denison.

Big Names Represented

There are literally thousands of small factories scattered over the state, but there are big names, too. Names such as Sheffield Steel, Kraft Cheese, Luscombe Airplane company, General Tire and Rubber company.

Industrialization of Texas has brought new problems. One is labor. But it is being solved.

New markets, new raw products, good labor, good climate, a goood wartime industrial record, excellent transportation — these combine to make Texas' future bright as a new industrial center of importance.

One Killed As Plane Crashes Into River

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (U.P.)—Salvage work was begun today on the Eastern Air Lines transport plane which crashed in a fog into the East River off LaGuardia field, killing a woman passenger.

None of the other 13 persons aboard the plane were injured seriously, but all were treated for shock, submersion and minor lacerations.

The crash occurred at 9:14 o'clock last night when the Miami-New York transport overshot the runway while trying to land and dumped its 11 passengers and three crew members into the cold waters of the river.

The lone victim of the crash was Mrs. James Scully, 49, New York.

MacArthur Opposes Jap Control Plans

TOKYO, Dec. 31 (AP) — Sources close to General MacArthur reported today that the Big Three's new control plan for Japan already has caused confusion among the Japanese and may cause the general to lose face in a country where face is all important.

The control plan, which MacArthur bluntly stated yesterday had been made over his protest and behind his back, may result in a slackening of Japanese efforts to put into effect directives already issued — and which they had accepted only slowly and grudgingly — the sources said.

Terms Not Acceptable

MacArthur's 150-word statement said "the statement attributed to the Far Eastern commission (press) officer (Thomas Blake in Washington) that I 'did not object to the new Japan control plan before it was approved at Moscow' is incorrect. On Oct. 31 my final disagreement was contained in my radio to the chief of staff for the secretary of State, advising that the terms 'in my opinion are not acceptable.' Since that time my views have not been sought."

The general also denied that he had been consulted during the Moscow conferences. However, he concluded that "whatever the merits or demerits of the plan . . . the issues involved are too vital for the future of the world to have them bog down . . . it is my fervent hope that there will be no insuperable obstacles . . . it is my full purpose to see it through."

Receives First Word

MacArthur received his first word of the Moscow decisions from the Associated Press, which delivered its report of the communique to him. Hours later, the complete text came through.

The Moscow plan created a four-power council of the United States, Britain, China and Russia to advise MacArthur and review his actions and set up an 11-nation commission to fix policies concerning Japan. The council has power to veto his policies. Although the general did not so state, it was believed here that his objection principally was to the veto power.

Byrnes Speaks On "Big Three"

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. —Secretary of State Byrnes prepared today for his fourth trip abroad in six months after telling Americans why he believes his third contributed to lasting peace.

Also in his radio report last night on the Moscow conference of foreign ministers, Byrnes assured the nation that new international machinery set up for control of Japan will not obstruct "the outstanding and efficient administration" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. It will, he insisted, leave the United States in a top policy-making role.

Ignores MacArthur Protest

The cabinet officer ignored a tartly-worded statement MacArthur issued in Tokyo earlier in the day in which the supreme commander said he had not been consulted during the Moscow talks and declared: "I have no iota of responsibility for the decisions which were made there."

Speaking from the conference room of the State department, Byrnes described how this country, Russia and Britain reached agreement on issues involving Japan, atomic energy, peace treaties, China, Korea, Romania and Bulgaria.

He said too he and Foreign Ministers Bevin of Britain and Molotov of Russia almost agreed on a three-power commission to study problems of troubled Iran. He added he was "not discouraged" by the near-miss.

Have Another Chance

They will have another opportunity to agree on an Iranian policy in London at the first meeting of the United Nations assembly next month.

The Iranian government has said it will lay before the assembly its charges that the Azerbaijan revolt was assisted by Russian occupation forces.

Byrnes will fly to London for the opening assembly session January 10.

Byrnes went into greatest detail on the two Moscow decisions most discussed in Washington — the plans for governing Japan and controlling atomic energy.

Allied Responsibility

Of Japan, he said this country from the very beginning had planned to make control of that defeated nation an Allied responsibility. He supported his contentions that the 11-nation policy commission and the four-power control council would neither minimize the U. S. role nor hamstring MacArthur by asserting that:

Because of the Big Four veto power on the commission, no basic Allied policy for Japan can be adopted without American approval.

The U. S. retains power to issue interim directives to MacArthur on a wide variety of matters if the commission has not acted on them.

No Secrets Disclosed

The secretary emphasized strongly that no atomic energy secrets were disclosed at Moscow and that none would be until effective safeguards are set up.

Byrnes said the subject of atomic energy was placed last on the agenda at Russia's suggestion and that discussions were confined to the British-American proposal for a control commission set up under the United Nations.

Byrnes said the agreement to hold a general European peace conference before next May 1 was a concession to U. S. insistence that "all states which took an active part in the war should participate in the peace."

The secretary also said he was not entirely satisfied with agreements for broadening and democratizing the governments of Romania and Bulgaria, but expressed hope for a "substantial improvement in the Democratic character" of the two regimes.

Last Will

have brought irreparable shame on the country and the whole nation by secretly negotiating with the enemy without my knowledge and against my will and also by illegally attempting to seize control of the state."

Arthur Seyss-Inquart, named in the will as Joachim von Ribbentrop's successor as foreign minister, was understood not to have known before of such an appointment. He was reported to have received the tardy word of this dubious honor today with his usual phlegmatic calm.

Hid His Disappointment

Ribbentrop was said to have hid whatever disappointment he may have felt at learning the will ignored him completely. He has described himself as "the last foreign minister of defeated Germany."

Ernst Kaltenbrunner and Grand Adm. Erich Raeder stil were unaware of the will. Kaltenbrunner is under treatment at the U. S. Army hospital for cranial hemorrhage which may require another month of convalescence. Raeder, whose health has been poor, stayed in bed in his jail cell.

Hitler sought to picture himself as a martyr. He bequeathed the German people the Nazi creed of fierce loyalty to the state and hatred of the Jews.

His Final Admonition

His final admonition was:

"Above all, I rejoin the government of the nation and the people to uphold the racial laws to the limit and resist mercilessly the poisoner of all nations, international Jewry."

The text of the political testament—together with texts of Hitler's personal will, an appendix to the testament by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and a document recording Hitler's marriage to Eva Braun—was released yesterday by Allied authorities.

Hitler's testament indicated he preferred suicide in a reichschancellery bunker to trial before an Allied court.

LOSERS IN EVIDENCE

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP) — The stock market today somewhat wearily rang the bell on 1945, its best year since the booming 1928, and, while scattered favorites stepped out of the final session with modest gains, numerous losers were in evidence.

Last week's buoyant liquors spurted at the start but most ran into profit realizing and failed to hold. Steels, motors and rails were irregularly lower at the close. Except for sizable blocks of "cash" sales for income tax purposes, dealings were slack throughout. Transfers of around 1,000,000 shares were among the smallest for a full stretch in the past month.

In addition to year-end adjustments and shifting of accounts, buying hesitancy generally was blamed on the darkening labor outlook for the coming year. Dividends, earnings and split-up talk aided individual issues.

Ahead at intervals were Distillers Corp., American Distilling, United Aircraft, Dupont, American Telephone, Southern Railway, American Water Works and International Nickel.

Inclined to falter were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Schenley, Montgomery Ward and Standard Oil (NJ).

Bonds were narrow.

Many Have Orders

"The lifting of rationing on tires has moved the responsibility of distribution from the board to dealers," he added. Dealers will be compelled to place tires where they are most needed, and it will be at least six months before they can fill orders already placed.

All dealers urged that motorists continue to avoid excessive driving and to care for their tires as in the past. There will be many who will have to wait to get tires.

Korean Hotheads Fight, Throw Stones At American Soldiers

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 29. (Delayed). (AP) — Korean hotheads fought in the streets of Seoul and threw rocks at American soldiers today in violent protest against the Big Three's five-year trusteeship plan for their country.

Rightist speakers addressed a mass meeting which demanded immediate recognition of a Korean provisional government, called for a strike of Koreans employed by the American military government, and branded opponents to independence-now as traitors.

In an attempt to forestall more demonstrations against the trusteeship program, announced after the Russian-British-American conference at Moscow last week, American military authorities who control southern Korea ordered an 8 p.m. curfew.

(There was no report of the Korean reaction to the program in northern Korea, where the Russians are in control.)

Huge posters on Seoul buildings charged the Communist party with responsibility for the trusteeship plan.

Hundreds of Koreans employed by the American military government walked off the job; a mob attacked the office of a newspaper which rightists declared had Communist leanings; banks closed and policemen left their posts.

A Communist party spokesman, blaming the rightists for the outbreaks, said all leftist groups, including the Communists, had been advised to limit their actions to peaceful protests.

Headlines Are Changed

Readers of Tuesday morning newspapers will peruse sharply different headlines from those that blackened the front pages a year previously. Then, the headlines told of an improvement in the situation of the "Battle of the Bulge," with General George S. Patton's Third Army divisions cutting through the southern flank of the Nazi salient near Bastogne, destroying or putting out of action 94 German tanks. American airmen putting the heat on Tokyo and other Japanese cities with their big ships belching millions of incendiary bombs. Fifty persons died and 60 were injured in a train wreck near Ogden, Utah. The Luftwaffe had been out in force on the western front, losing 125 planes to the Allies.

The big local news was the resignation of Ed D. Allen after 12 years as county clerk and the appointment of Louie Moore as his successor.

Some of the bigshot "thinkers" predicted 1945 as a victory year, but the majority of their readers looked for several more years of warfare. Victory did come, and thus made 1945 a year indelibly imprinted in the hearts and minds of every American.

fire, but some mines have been known to burn for years.

Had Abandoned Hope

The relatives and loved ones who had maintained their long wait at the mine head were not surprised by Thomas' announcement. They had known for days that there was no hope that the rest of the men could be alive.

They turned away to their homes on the hillsides, some of them to get ready for the funerals of the latest to die, others to decide what to do about hunting work in other mines.

Mine officials and safety men held a conference last night and decided to postpone the final decision on abandoning the search until a new air analysis could be made. However, members of the United Mine Workers were opposed to discontinuing rescue operations.

The sixth victim of the explosion died yesterday. He was Tom McQueen, one of the nine men found alive in room "five left" Friday. McQueen died in an oxygen tent in the Pineville community hospital.

Albert Bennett, 64, who also was rescued Friday, had died previously, leaving only seven survivors of the 31 men trapped by the blast.

Stadium Fund Is Increased

Twelve checks totaling $445 were received by the Texas Tech college Alumni association this morning to be contributed to the Tech Foundation for the projected $300,000 athletic stadium, Jason O. Gordon, president of the Lubbock ex-student chapter, announced.

The drive was opened Dec. 18 by the ex-students, separate from other fund drives being conducted, and the checks received this morning were the first donations turned in by the alumni.

Seek Small Donations

Names, addresses and the amount contributed were filed at the college business office and will later be added to the general fund. The drive by the ex-students is aimed at the "little" contributors according to announced plans.

The alumni campaign will be climaxed with a stadium rally in a local hotel Monday, Jan. 7, where a program will be presented to assembled ex-students. Tentative plans also show plans for a rally of ex-students to be held in Tahoka soon, Gordon said.

The Lubbock chapter president also announced hopes that other groups of ex-students in various communities would stage meetings to outline the drive, the need for a stadium, and to raise funds to add to the slowly growing alumni list of contributors.

Approved By Board

The stadium was recently approved by the board of directors of the college at a meeting where Clifford B. Jones, president emeritus of Tech, underwrote the plant for $100,000 and the directors guaranteed another $50,000. The fund, already more than half completed, is to be used for construction of the stadium, at least partially, by the 1946 football season.

The alumni hope to raise at least a third of the remaining amount needed. Those wishing to contribute are requested to mail their donations, by check, to the Texas Technological College Foundation, Box 96, Tech station. All contributor's names are being placed on file at the college and with the alumni.

Officials said the negro baby that had been assaulted was rushed over the weekend to a hospital for treatment. Juvenile officials were handling the investigation.

Both city and state policemen said there had been numerous wrecks over the area since Saturday, but few persons had been reported injured.

Levelland Victim Of Collision Improving

LEVELLAND, Dec. 31. (Special)—Condition of George Bond, a 36-year-old lieutenant colonel on terminal leave after 25 months of fighting in the South Pacific, caused relatives to be hopeful for the chances of the former Martin county farm agent who was injured Saturday night in a two-car collision here.

Bond's car was in collision with one driven by Alvin R. Allison, Levelland attorney, where highway 51 crosses highway 290.

The officer had been to Stanton, where negotiations were reported underway for his resuming his agricultural post. He had planned going to Texas A. & M. college today to take a refresher course before reporting for work, Mrs. H. E. Miles of Marshall, his mother-in-law, said here today. Mrs. Miles and her daughter had arrived here Sunday.

2. On Nov. 25, he wrote Kimmel he had just talked with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull and "neither would be surprised over a Japanese surprise attack." (Stark added in the letter that he himself did not give the possibility "the weight others do.")

Sought More Strength

On the point of his earlier efforts to strengthen the fleet, Stark cited that in November, 1939, he sought to bring its complement to 100 per cent. He said it was then only 89 per cent manned and that the budget bureau approved increasing manpower only to 90 per cent.

In January, 1941, Stark observed, he asked for a 25 per cent increase in the Navy but Congress cut it to 11 per cent.

He said he wrote Kimmel on Feb. 10, 1941:

"I am struggling, and I use the word advisedly, every time I get in the White House, which is rather frequent, for additional men. It should not be necessary and while I have made the case just as obvious as I possibly could, the President just has his own ideas about men."

Man Tells Of Killing Pair

CONVENT, La., Dec. 31 (AP) — Chief Deputy Sheriff Gaston Brignac said murder charges had been filed against Alonzo Ellis Jones of Birmingham, Ala., accused of killing two persons and injuring another after they befriended him with an automobile ride.

Brignac said the 27-year-old former painter and paperhanger told him he had no motive for the slayings.

Jones was arrested Saturday near Mobile, Ala. In New Orleans, Chief of Detectives John J. Grosch made public a statement he said Jones had signed. In the statement, Jones said he had ridden with his benefactors Thursday until they stopped on the highway near Lutcher, La., for a rest period.

Had No Words

"There was no words between us," the statement continued, "and I commenced firing. I don't know how many shots I fired or how many men I hit. It seems like one of the men hollered. After the shooting I got in the car and drove away. . . ."

Those killed were Corp. Irvin Pincus, Camp Plauche soldier who was driving the car that picked Jones up, and Walter J. Smith, 22, of Long Beach, Calif.

The wounded man, Gordon W. Ray, a sailor, identified Jones as his assailant.

Plainview Attorney Speaks At Meeting Of Methodist Men

"If principles of control of this great era are not founded on the standard of the Ten Commandments, then I'm fearful of the outcome," Chas. Dean, Plainview attorney and district governor of Lions International declared in a talk at the luncheon of the Methodist Men's club in Lubbock hotel today noon.

"As we go into this great atomic era, somebody must give us the standard by which to live and I know of no other than the same principles which have controlled in other eras," Dean said.

"We're standing at the close of a war and we've looked forward to a post-war era," he continued. "Many of you remember the era after the last World war, when a lot of our leaders said the church had failed and we went off into a great period of atheism and paganistic teachings, particularly among some of our leaders.

Doomed To Failure

"We're coming out of this one, not saying that the church has failed, but we're likewise going off on a paganistic slant again. . . We're paying lip service to the church, yet America is thinking we have to rule by force — God-less force — the same on which the dictators relied. . . We're just as much doomed to failure and another tragedy 20 or more years later as we were before. . .

"God's church and its teachings, and those alone, can save us," Dean declared. "Our form of government is based on God's law. . . The rights set out in that great thesis are our rights, not because they are listed there, but because our Creator endowed us with those rights. . . But I'm afraid we're going to lose them unless laymen, like you and I, begin to apply them in our daily lives. . .

"It's a dangerous thing when lawmakers or judges write the statutes or interpret them with an eye looking to pressure groups."

Dean was introduced by W. W Campbell, program chairman. Guests at the luncheon included Lts. R. C. Harris and Doyce Barrett and Rufus Rush, recently released from military service.

Tax Slash

benefit: The government from bigger revenues than anticipated under the new tax rates, business and the public from the fact that they will make more money than expected and more of it will stay in their tills and pockets.

Officials concede that leaving more money in consumers' hands is an inflationary move, but the Treasury department believes the net effect of the new tax law will be a stabilizing one for these reasons:

Production To Go Up

1. The cut for corporations—especially the excess profits tax repeal—will remove major obstacle to the production of more goods, and high production is the best cure for inflation.

2. Much of the reduction goes to taxpayers in the lower income classes. In the case of the 12,000,000 who will be excused from paying any tax at all, most of the saving will be spent for food. And food will be out of the scarcity class before automobiles and washing machines.

3. While the effect may add to inflationary pressures during the first half of 1946, this may come in handy in the last half to offset deflationary tendencies.

About 50,000,000 taxpayers will benefit from the tax slash. Besides those going off the tax rolls entirely, persons making up to $50,000 a year will get reductions of 10 per cent or more. Smaller reductions will apply to those making over $50,000.

Approximately seven per cent of the students in Nebraska public schools suffer from defective speech, according to the chairman of the state university's department of speech.

Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. — If you like your congressman, be sure to extend to him your best wishes for the new year. He'll need them.

When Congress dropped everything to go home for the holidays, it left hanging an explosive collection of issues — including the control of atomic energy.

These issues will have to be dealth with, one way or another, sometime in 1946. And 1946 is the year when all representatives, barring those who want to quit, and many senators come before the voters for re-election.

Affect Every Family

The issues are such that they are bound to affect every family. On many of them there isn't any clear-cut division of opinion in Congress. Many congressmen haven't made up their minds.

The reason for this stand-offishness isn't hard to find. In the galaxy of issues up for a vote it's going to be hard for any member to take a position without offending somebody.

The labor issues alone are enough to put most congressmen on the spot. President Truman wants a law authorizing fact-finding in labor disputes, and organized labor doesn't want it. The Smith-Connally law faces repeal and the chances are that some other labor legislation will be proposed to replace it. The full employment bill, strongly supported by the CIO, is still to be handled. The final outcome is certain to be a toned-down version.

Bitterness Expected

The fair employment practices bill will cause some bitterness in Congress. President Truman's recommendation for higher unemployment compensation benefits remains pigeonholed in the House Ways and Means committee. Bills to increase the minimum wage are still to be acted on. Congress will decide whether to return the employment service to the states or keep it in the federal government for two more years, as the President insists.

Even the controversial labor issues are minor, compared with some other matters Congress will have to wrestle with. The present draft law expires May 15 and Congress will have to decide what to do about it—as well as the President's proposal for universal military training.

There are other military items, such as the Army-Navy merger proposal, peacetime budgeting for the armed services and control of atomic energy.

More Vet Legislation

The probabilities are that, as more and more veterans return to civilian life, there will be more and more veterans legislation proposed.

As a matter of fact the war isn't over for Congress. The war powers act, which involves the government's right to control prices, ration commodities, assign priorities and direct transportation, expires June 30. There'll be a small war over whether to continue it or not.

Taxes will come up for action again. The tax reduction bill Congress rushed through after the fighting stopped was only a stopgap. Soon after they come back here Jan. 14, Congress will start working on new tax bills.

Budget revision, transferring the nation's finances back to a peacetime basis, will be a long job, involving some determinations on what kind of peacetime government congress wants to authorize and how much of the military establishment will be retained.

The congressmen also will have to decide the ticklish question of raising their own salaries and allowing themselves pensions.

All in all, it's not a rosy prospect for an election year.

Chinese Envoy Talks With Soviet Leaders

MOSCOW, Dec. 31. (AP) — Discussions continued today between Russian officials and Chiang Ching-Kuo, elder son and personal representative of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, who arrived here yesterday.

The Chinese envoy conferred last night with Premier Stalin, in a meeting also attended by Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov and Chinese Ambassador Foo Peng Sheung.

Chiang, who will remain in the Soviet capital for about a week, was warmly welcomed at the airport by representatives of the Soviet foreign office.

Blue Baby Given New Hope Of Recovery

DALLAS, Dec. 31. (U.P.) — The parents of five-year-old Gaylord Gilliam, a "blue baby" whose legs have never developed enough to permit him to walk, continued to be optimistic today over the chances that their chubby-faced son would not die as expected.

Fresh hope was given them yesterday by Dr. T. R. Harrison, Dallas specialist, who recommended that ex-paratrooper Gilliam take young Gaylord to Baltimore, Md., for a delicate surgical operation that could save his life.

Born with an open valve in his heart, Gaylord has suffered with the congenital disease that leaves his face and toes tinged with blue.

Citizens Pledge Aid

Generous Houston folk, reading of the family's plight in the Houston Press last week, rallied to the veteran's aid with pledges of more than $2,000 to help defray expenses incurred in trying to save the child's life. Gilliam had applied for a $1,000 loan under the GI Bill of Rights but was informed it made no provision for sickness expenses.

Dr. Harrison said he would forward reports of his diagnosis to Dr. Alfred Blalock of Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore — one of the two surgeons in the nation who have successfully performed operations on blue babies.

He said that final decision to operate would be up to Dr. Blalock.

Demo Union Names Peron's Opponent

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 31. (AP) — Dr. Jose P. Tamborini, physician and radical party leader, has been chosen by the Democratic union as its candidate to oppose Col. Juan Peron in the presidential elections in February.

The Democratic union represents a coalition of the radical, socialist, communist and progressive democratic parties, which have adopted a platform calling for betterment of Argentina's relations with the other nations of the Western hemisphere.

Tamborini, a former senator and former minister of the interior, will be 60 years old on Feb. 22, two days before the election. He was a leader in formation of the coalition front against Peron, who is now campaigning in the provinces in behalf of himself and his new labor party.

The conservative party, which is opposing Peron but is not a member of the democratic union, is expected to place a third candidate in the contest.

Most New Flu Cases Are Never Reported

AUSTIN, Dec. 31. (AP) — There were approximately 140,000 new cases of influenza in Texas during the week ended Dec. 22, the State Department of Health estimates.

While there were only 14,196 cases actually reported, the department's statisticians estimate that only one case in ten is turned in. The disease remains epidemic in some sections of the state.

The median for the week is 1,320 cases.

Evidence Piled Against Nazis

NUERNBERG, Dec. 31 (AP)—Allied prosecutors marshalled evidence today by which they hope to link each of 21 top Nazis to war crimes conspiracy charges when the international military tribunal reconvenes here Wednesday after a 21-day Christmas recess.

Naval Lt. Whitney R. Harris of Los Angeles, a member of the American staff of prosecutors, disclosed that for the first time an effort will be made to show the individual role played by each of the defendants in relation to the crimes charged in the indictment. The evidence heretofore has been directed largely against the organizations each represented.

Kaltenbrunner, First

First of the defendants singled out for individual attention will be ailing Ernst Kaltenbrunner, former chief of the Nazi security police. It is unlikely, however, that Kaltenbrunner himself will be on hand to hear the evidence, for he is now in the prison hospital, having suffered a relapse after partially recovering from a brain hemorrhage with which he was stricken two days before the trial began Nov. 18.

It was considered doubtful, too, whether all members of the court and prosecution would be on hand for the re-opening. The members were scattered across Europe and part of Asia during the recess, and flying schedules have been disrupted by adverse weather.

Robert Bruce, the Scottish king, was a leper.

New Year's Grid Games To Attract Almost 400,000 Fans

Alabama, Sooner Ags, Miami, Texas And Georgia Favorites

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (AP)—The thump of the booted pigskin will be heard once again in the warmer climes of the nation tomorrow when selected football teams square off against each other in the 13 New Year's day extravaganzas that are expected to attract a total of 400,000 grid enthusiasts.

The top crowds of the day will be concentrated in Pasadena's Rose bowl where all-conquering Alabama will engage the thrice-beaten Trojans of Southern California before about 90,000 fans and in New Orleans where the unbeaten and untied Oklahoma Aggies will tangle with the once-beaten Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's before about 72,000 customers in the Sugar bowl.

Alabama's Crimson Tide has been made a 13½ point favorite to stop the west coast representatives. This game should provide a spectacular duel between Harry Gilmer, the southerners' gifted aerial artist, and Ted Tannehill, the vaunted Trojan touchdown ace.

Aggies By A Couple

The Aggies, paced by All-American Bob Fenimore, are rated 13 points better than the youthful

The annual Shrine contest in San Francisco between the Eastern and Western All-Stars finds the latter team a 1½ point choice. About 60,000 fans will see the "dream" squads in action.

Despite that Holy Cross' triple threat, ailing Stan Koslowski, is almost certain to start, the once-beaten Crusaders are 12 point underdogs to Miami's Hurricanes in the Orange bowl where a 36,000 crowd is expected.

45,500 At Dallas

The Dallas Cotton bowl matches the once-beaten Texas Longhorns, champions of the Southwest conference, against thrice-beaten Missouri, the Big Six king, with Texas a 13-point favorite. The game is expected to draw 45,500.

Charley Trippi and his Georgia mates have been given a 5½ point edge over Tulsa in the Oil bowl at Houston. Both teams were defeated twice but a crowd of 27,000 is expected.

Crowds of 15,000 are expected for the Sun bowl fray at El Paso, Texas, matching Denver against New Mexico; at the 'Gator bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., where Wake Forest will encounter South Caroline; and for the Raisin bowl tilt at Fresno, Calif., where Drake will engage Fresno State.

Other Games Slated

Between 5,000 and 7,000 fans are expected to turn out for Birmingham's Vulcan bowl contest between Tennessee State and Texas college, Jacksonville's Flower bowl game between Louisiana Normal and Lane college; Orlando's Azalea bowl where Knoxville college and Florida N. and I. meet and Miami's Coconut bowl game between Bethune-Cookman college and Albany (Ga.) State Teachers.

In the first post-season game, a group of Northern All-Stars took advantage of the Southern team's fumbling to score a 26-0 upset victory in the eighth annual Blue-Gray game played before a near-capacity crowd of 20,000 in Montgomery, Ala.

San Angelo Coach To Head College Eleven

HOUSTON, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—One of Texas' finest high school coaches has moved into college football circles today.

He is Jewell Wallace, former Texas Christian university star athlete, who is quitting the head coaching job at San Angelo High school to become head coach at the University of Houston.

As a grid coach at Greenville, El Paso and San Angelo, Wallace saw his teams win 77 per cent of their games. His cage combinations did even better, winning 88 per cent of their basketball contests. Wallace produced state champions in both sports.

Houston University's action was in line with its plan to enter Lone Star conference athletics.

Deer Season Closes Today

AUSTIN, Dec. 31 (AP)—After today, Texas sportsmen will have to concentrate on quail hunting. The deer season which opened Nov. 16 closes today.

Quail season in both the north and south zones remains open through Jan. 16.

Game commission statisticians believed the final figures on the 1945 hunting season would set some records, in the number of hunters, the number of deer killed, and in law violations.

Kill Reported Heavy

Sale of licenses through Dec. 1 was nearly 90,000, and many hunters bought permits after that date. Field men of the game commission report that the kill was very heavy in the hill country, and many mule deer were taken west of the Pecos in the short season there.

Open season on turkey and bear ends simultaneously with that on deer. There was an apparent decline in the turkey take, and if anybody killed a bear, no report has been made on it officially.

Selection Of All-State Schoolboy Teams Remains Before Grid Season Rung Down; Highland Park And Waco Co-Champions

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

For the third time in the 26-year history of the Texas Interscholastic league, it had co-champions ruling the football roost today.

With only the selection of the All-Star teams remaining before the final curtain is rung down on the 1945 gridiron race, the state class AA laurels were shared by Highland Park and Waco.

None To Dispute

And there was none to dispute the fact that both deserved their ratings after the 7 to 7 thriller they put on before an all-time record schoolboy football crowd of 45,00 in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Saturday.

Representatives of the two schools had agreed on the share-the-title plan in case of a tie prior to the game. If they had not, the Highland Park Scotties would have been the undisputed champions under the leagues penetration rule by a three-to-two-margin.

Other co-champions in the league's history were Cleburne and Houston Heights (now John Reagan High) in 1920, the first year of the league, and Port Arthur and Breckenridge in 1929. Both games were scoreless ties.

Spectators Disgruntled

Although many of the record throng were disgruntled because of a general mixup in seating arrangements at the start of the game their anger soon was forgotten in the heat of the game turned in by the champions.

The game was all in favor of the Scotties who, incidentally, gained their first share of a state crowd, in the opening half. But, in the final period the tide turned equally in favor of the Tigers, who gained a share on their fifth state championship—a record no other team in the state can match.

Run Was Nullified

The Scotties drove within the Waco 20 three times in that first half, losing the ball on a fumble the first time after marching down to the 11, being turned back on downs on the two the second time and punching across a score on the third try. In addition, they had a 64-yard aparent scoring run nullified when officials ruled Bill Weatherford nicked the line while doing a tight wire act down the sidelines on a punt return.

The score came on a two-yard smash by Bill Elliott after he had lugged the ball to that point from the 23, where Tackle Bob Tenison recovered a Tiger fumble. Art Kirby converted.

With Cliff Lindloff, Jack Scarborough, and Harv Brenner in the starring roles—defensively as well as offensively—the Tigers dominated the last half when they scored on the only pass they completed all day, an 84-yard hair-raiser from Lindloff to All-State End Froggie Williams midway the third quarter

Backed Down To 14

They had been backed down to their own 14 on a punt out by Bill Moxley when Lindoff shot the game-winning toss while standing on the five to Williams who was running at full stride two or three steps ahead of Safety Man Weatherford on the 42 when he snagged the ball. He outran Weatherford the remaining 58 yards to pay dirt then calmly booted the all-important tying point.

With two minutes to go, Williams threw a scare into the Scottie fans when he tried a field goal from the 14-yard line after a drive had bogged down on the seven. His kick was wide by a couple of feet.

Williams, Scarborough, Brenner, Lindloff and Tackle Ralph Murphy were the standouts for Waco, while Moxley, the workhorse of the day, Teddy Bristol, Weatherford, Center Jim Flowers, Tenison and Guard Herbie Wales played superb ball for the Scotties.

Southwest Conference Basketball Race Will Open This Week; Arkansas Is Rated As No. 1

(By The Associated Press)

Six games this week will launch the Southwest conference basketball title race with Arkansas rated No. 1 and Baylor and Southern Methodist chief threats.

Baylor, a team of smooth-working freshmen among whom is Jackie Robinson, last season's Texas schoolboy great, has the best practice showing. The Bruins have dropped only one game out of nine—that to terrific Oklahoma A. and M. in the All-College tournament at Oklahoma City. Baylor lost 65-46 but looked very good nevertheless.

Still Rated Tops

Arkansas didn't play any games last week, having folded its tent and stolen away for a rest after George Kok, giant center, went out with an ankle injury, but the Razorbacks still rate as prime choices to unseat Rice as the champion. Rice dropped three games in the practice grind.

Arkansas opens the championship race Friday night with Texas at Fayetteville. These teams play again Saturday night.

Southern Methodist journeys to College Station to meet Texas A. and M. Friday night while Texas Christian and Rice are swapping field goals at Houston. Saturday night Texas Christian plays A. and M. at College Station and Southern Methodist tangles with Rice at Houston.

Great Salt Lake, Utah, is the second largest lake entirely within the boundaries of the United States.

Sudan Players Will Not See Bowl Tilt

SUDAN, Dec. 31. (Special)—Members of the Sudan Hornet football team, undefeated during the last season in district 5-A, will not see the Cotton bowl game at Dallas as originally planned, it was announced this morning by Coach Francis Smith.

The trip was cancelled because of a ruling by the Texas Interscholastic league which limits the "valuable consideration" which may be paid high school teams.

Sudan's season was marred only by a 20-20 tie with Littlefield, given the championship by a margin of one penetration.

Coach Smith foresees another good year in 1946 with all his first team members due to come back except one.

That Girl on Broadway says few persons can be proud of their accomplishments if they compare them with what they are really capable of doing.

* * *

"Labor and management are as far apart as the poles," declares a contemporary editor.

Yeah, and there are lots of times when most of the rest of us wish they were there!

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says the atom is one of the few things that lived up to its advance notices by being everything it is cracked up to be!

* * *

WELL, the Old Guy with the Scythe has come around again and whacked another year off'n everybody's life and something like 140,000,000 of us today are faced with the difficulty of learning to make a "6" the last digit on our check stubs instead of the "5" to which we have been accustomed.

As the more erudite always put it, we now "stand on the threshhold of a brave, New Year, with its challenge to one and all to improve their lot, and that of their fellows on this mundane sphere."

* * *

Upon occasions such as this one, it is customary to say that "never before did the American people face a year more pregnant with possibilities, nor more fraught with serious problems than at this time," and far be it from The Plainsman to depart from the traditional.

Let us say, here and now—and then forget it—that 1946, if it is to be a fruitful twelvemonth, will exact from us all the very best that is in us, etc.," ets., and a jolly old etc.

Yea, and verily, the world is in terrible shape and our own particular nation is teetering on the verge of an abyss at the bottom of which is naught but chaos and confusion. But so were both a year ago, two years ago, five years ago and, as far as we know, 100 years ago today.

Therefore, it is comforting, if not reassuring, to know that no matter how bad things may look today to the serious thinkers, they have looked that bad at New Year's time for as far back as man can remember.

* * *

AS far as The Plainsman, personally, is concern, he aims to hold his nose and jump into 1946 just like he has done ever since he was old enough to know that "perfection," "peace," "justice," "tolerance" and, in fact, "Utopia," are just words in a book first popularized by a fellow name of Noah Webster.

Following our usual custom, we shall make no New Year's Resolution on the theory that any Resolutions anybody makes at this stage of any calendar call for unpleasantness, discomfort and dislike and likely won't be kept anyway; or, if they are, will just result in the individual's mounting unhappiness as she wends his weary way through this vale of tears.

We ain't perfect, we know. But we don't figger we will be any more perfect by playing like we're going to quit doing a lot of things we've been doing; or start doing a lot of things we ain't been doing; when we know all the time we'll do no such thing for any appreciable period of time.

The truth is that while we'd like to wind up 1946 a lot better than we've wound up 1945, we don't expect to and we might as well be honest about it.

This may not meet with the approval of our family, friends and the Rev. Jack M. Lewis, but neither will it surprise any of them one bit!

* * *

Now that we've got the Yuletide spirit carefully laid away in mothballs until about December 20, next (as has everyone else if they'll admit it) we might just as well tell the truth and say we figure everybody's got just so much meanness in 'em; just so much carelessness; just so much ignorance and just so much selfishness, that they can't do much about it—at least on the spur of any moment.

All the beautiful New Year's Resolutions are but sounding brass and tinkling cymbals until they've been transformed from words into action, and if every reader doesn't realize that fact he's just kidding himself.

Like all kidders, The Plainsman doesn't enjoy kidding himself. Hence happily refrains from so doing at a time when the action is so universally popular!

* * *

TRUTH of the matter is, we believe 1946, when it bows out, will see Broadway in Lubbock still running East and West; the churches largely filled on Sundays and the jail just as largely filled on Saturday nights.

We expect the customarily liberal portion of suspicion and distrust to be in vogue between men and between nations as well. But on the other side of the ledger we believe there will be the usual amount of kindness and decency and evidence—enough, as is always the case, to make the world worth living in.

We believe the coming year will see some people dying, others being born; a fair share of happiness around and about; some folks getting rich or richer, and others getting poor, or poorer. In spite of sulfa drugs and pennicilin, some people will be sick. And in spite of over-eating ,over-drinking, too little sleep and exercise, some people will be as healthy as all get out, even though medical statistics are tied into knots in the process.

In short, 1946 looks to us like another year: some good, some bad, some so-so—and those of us who don't turn up our toes during its run will live through it.

* * *

Although we are no Roger Babson or Drew Pearson when it comes to peering behind the curtain hiding the future and telling folks, in advance, what not to expect, we've got a pretty good idea about a few events that will take place in 1946.

Starting on the very first morning, 7,642,976 men will gulp down a couple of aspirin tablets, inspect (their bloodshot) eyeballs in their shaving mirrors and then swear they won't take another drink in 1946. While they are swearing, the wives of 23 of them will promise themselves that no matter what their husbands do in the months ahead, they'll never, in 1946, talk to them as they did in the wee sma' hours of the very same day!

Around July 1, some guy who wears a beard, goes barefooted and carries a shepherd's crook around the streets of Los Angeles will freighten the nation's nitwits right out o ftheir pants by solemnly forecasting the ned of the world within a matter of days or weeks.

And about September I, the football coach whose team a few weeks later will have completed an undefeated, unscored-on season will tell sports writers that he hasn't got a thing," and said sports writers will play right into the coach's hands by putting his statement in the paper.

* * *

SINCE 1946 will be an "on" year, politically speaking in Texas, we forecast that of the 11,369.5 candidates for state, district, county and precinct offices, 97 per cent will learn that there's a great difference between the number of people who say they're going to vote for a candidate and those who actually do vote for him. We fully expect the "ins" to run for reelection on what they say are their "records," and the "outs" to promise better administration if the "ins" are ousted. Further, we forecast that no matter who is elected to anything, the public won't be able to tell the difference 30 days after new terms start.

While juvenile delinquency (which is a subject oldsters decry in order to hide their own shortcomings by laying all the blame on youngsters) may lose out as the No. 1 "problem" in 1946, we anticipate that some other "problem" fully as nebulous and difficult of solution will take its place.

The New Year will accomplish no miracles internationally speaking, either, and Russia will continue blandly to take what she wants while our "diplomats," for some strange reason, decline to talk straight-from-the-shoulder and refuse to use as trading material the vast and numerous advantages that naturally are ours.

All this may sound pessimistic, but it really isn't. It's just an honest, if perhaps cockeyed, appraisal of the 365 days to come.

And just to keep anybody from wrongly thinking we've gone plumb sour, we hasten to start of a twelvemonth which looks no better and no worse from the rest of the customary greeting to one and all of

THINKING about your New Year's resolutions yet?

Well, how about remembering some of those reslutions you made during the war for the time when it would be over?

Resolutions like:

Keeping living as simple and as uncomplicated as possible, so as to have time for some of the things you consider really important and worthwhile.

Refusing ever to get caught again in the rat race of maintaining a boring social life just because it is so much easier to say "Yes" than to say "No, thanks."

Worrying over trifles, instead of waiting until you have something real and important to worry about.

Putting an end to keeping up with the Jonses.

Being grateful for such blessings as having a family all under one roof.

Not attaching too much importance to "things"—many of which you have learned you can get along very well without.

Doing the things you want to do now instead of putting them off.

Finding time for your family.

* * *

TAKE ON RESPONSIBILITY

ASSUMING your share of the responsibility for the way things are run in your community and in your country instead of doing nothing and then blaming somebody else for the resulting mess.

Making your own private postwar world as satisfying as you used to think it was going to be—instead of slipping back into old ways.

Those are some of the things the war taught you. And you could not do much better by the New Year when it rolls around than to review them and make the same vows in peacetime you made when the war forced you to see things in their true perspective.

"Which is the smarter sex?" asks a columnist. Well, which sex gets the most for the least effort?

LUBBOCK FACES 1946

The Year 1946 is due to be an historic one for Lubbock, for it will mark the beginning of a new and important phase of the city's growth. It will be a year in which the city should commence to discard the last characteristics of a small town and assume progressively more of the features of a metropolis.

The year will see the first contracts let on the city's $5,894,000 expansion program which will extend over a period of five years. Despite the indicated continuation of the shortage of labor and materials, public and private building will go forward at a rate unprecedented in recent years. Even now, new residences, new business houses and new industrial establishments are popping up all over the city.

Perhaps it would not be wild to estimate that Lubbock is even now beginning an over-all, $25,000,000 building program. That much construction is either under way, or in the planning stage. Possibly contracts for $10,000,000 of that figure will be let in the coming year. Indicative of what may be ahead in construction is the expectation that building permits issued by the city this month will reach a total value in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

The financial picture is bright. Bank deposits are at a record high and the county and city governmental agencies are in good financial shape. Business will continue good as once-scarce items become more plentiful. Fortunate in having no large war industry, the city will not suffer from reconversion problems. Farmers are well off, and the recent, substantial snow which put some important "seasoning" into the ground gave promise that the weather may be cooperative next year, in contrast with that of 1945.

There is nothing in sight that will hinder the city's growth, which many well-informed citizens expect to result in a population of 100,000 in the next 10 or 15 years. The "raw materials" are present. All that is needed is work and a public spirit, and the people of Lubbock and the South Plains have already shown that they are not lacking in these qualities.

U. S. Diplomats Must Work At Their Job

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.— Some people, if they have read this far in my series on putting Christianity into diplomacy, will have concluded that I am a nut on the question of peace. Perhaps they are right. In that connection I should warn that I belong to a religious group, the Society of Friends (Quakers), which tries to practice the doctrine of peace.

With that warning, therefore, I return to the fact that Christ was a man who went out and worked at His religion. He didn't stay in one place. He didn't hide His candlestick under a bushel. He battled so hard for His cause of peace on earth, goodwill toward men, that eventually He sacrificed His life.

PEARSON

He had what He thought was a gread idea and He travelled day and night trying to sell it.

Now we in this country have a great form of government and a great basic concept of getting along with our neighbors. And it's time we went out as Christ did and tried to sell our American religion.

* * *

SELLING THE IDEA

WE can's sit passive in big, ornate houses as most of our ambassadors do, giving ritzy cocktail parties for upper-crust old ladies and other has-beens. Our diplomats have got to go out and talk to the real folks that make up the backbone of the country.

This is not just theory. It works out in practice that when the people of a country are behind you, you don't have to worry about their government. Their government, even an out-and-out dictatorship, can't make war on you. The people won't let 'em.

Take, for instance, the case of Joe Stalin in 1942 and '43. He was constantly griping because we didn't start a second front against the Nazis. And in order to spur us into a second front, he kept hinting that he might make a separate peace with Germany. U. S. advisers were worried about this. But Churchill wasn't. He kept telling Roosevelt that there wasn't a chance in the world that Stalin would make a separate peace with Germany because the Russian people wouldn't let him. He would be kicked out of office overnight.

Take some other cases nearer home. We and our Pan-American neighbors have propably done a better job of warding off wars than the rest of the world, partly because we work at it harder, partly because we have a free press and can mold public opinion. Several times within the last decade, Colombia, Peru and Ecuador have been on the verge of war. Once or twice their armies actually started to march. But their neighbors all sat round the ring, held on to their coat-tails, and fanned public opinion into a hot flame against the foolishness of war. In the end the South American generals, who were the only ones who actually wanted to fight, had to take a back seat.

* * *

SHIRT-SLEEVE DIPLOMACY

THIS took a lot of hard, skillful work. The men who did it—Sumner Welles, Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, Padilla of Mexico and others—didn't just sit back and say they had faith that things would come out all right. They didn't merely sit around at cocktail parties. They went out as Christ did and sat in all-night conferences and wore out their nerves trying to hammer home the religion of peace. And, most important of all, they mobilized public opinion against war.

Another dispute which General Pershing tried to settle was the Tacna-Arica row between Chile and Peru. It dragged on until armies were lined up on both sides ready to invade. Finally Carlos Davila, a practical Chilean diplomat, persuaded both sides to resume diplomatic relations and go about the normal business of trade and cultural intercourse for a couple of years. During that period, the people of both countries discovered what good friends they could be and there hasn't been any trouble since.

In other words, if the people of one country like and understand the people of another, no government or dictator or clique of generals can push them into war.

* * *

SOVIET FEARS DEMOCRACY

THAT brings us back to the all-important problem of Russia, which our military men frankly classify as a serious potential enemy. Basically, however, there should be no quarel between the Russian and American people. We have no territory to argue over, and nothing to quarrel about.

I personally, can't get enthusiastic over the Russian rulers, who once threw me into a Siberian jail. But with the Russian people I could always get along, and every American soldier or visitor to Russia who has mingled with them will say the same. As General Eisenhower says, the Russian people are very much like us.

However, if the Russian people are fed by a controlled press and radio only what their politburo wants them to know about us, then the problem becomes more difficult. And if any large segment of Americans should listen to the distorted raging of the Chicago Tribune, then the situation would become more complicated on this side. Unfortunately, our State department played into the politburo's hands for 17 long years by boycotting Russia and saying they were a pariah nation not fit to touch.

During the 17-year boycott, the State department was afraid of the spread of Communism. Now the situation is reversed. Believe it or not, the boys in the Kremlin are now much more afraid of the spread of Democracy than we are of Communism. They are adopting exactly the same system toward us that for 17 foolish years the State department adopted toward them.

They don't want their people to mix with ours, they don't want American newspapermen or preachers to circulate over there. They don't even like children of the Russian embassy in Washington going to our schools. Because they have seen that whenever a good Russian Communist stays long in this country he comes to realize that we have a pretty good system and he becomes ruined for keeps as a Communist.

* * *

25,000 STUDENTS

THIS makes the problem difficult but not insoluble. After all, use of the atom up until a short time ago was considered insoluble.

The solutin, as I see it, is to go over the heads of the Soviet isolationists and win over the Russian people. If the Russian people are on our side and know they have nothing to worry about from us, then we take the wind right out of the sails of the politburo.

If, for instance, Jimmy Byrnes had insisted in Moscow that before we share the atom secret, before we extend any credits to Russia, we must make sure that the Russian and American people understand and know each other; if he had required that 25,000 Russian students come to the U. S. A. at our expense to study and see that we have no designs on the Russian people; if he required that 25,000 American students go to Russia and study Russian customs and language; if he required that fair-minded American newspapermen have the right to travel in Russia; if he required that American scientists be able to mingle freely with Russian scientists; then I am convinced that we could break down suspicion and work out a friendship which would stump the brass hats of both nations.

The boys in the Soviet politburo, of course, won't have to do this. They are much more afraid of Democracy than even the Chicago Tribune is of Communism. But a secretary of State who is both wise, friendly and tough can do it. And by doing it, the side-problems of Iran, Turkey and the Balkans will solve themselves. An enlightened and more Democratic Russian people their suspicions allayed, eventually will force the politburo to behave differently toward their neighbors.

Of course, I may be crazy and a chronic liar, but anyway this is my small contribution to the goal of a warless world which I am convinced is quite possible of attainment

THE CINEMAGICIANS: The film adaptation of "They Were Expendable" is a deeply stirring motion picture reaching down to the roots of the heart. Packed with realism, the PT-whizzers' exploits come through with a Halsey wallop. You can almost feel the tang of salt spray. . . "House of Dracula" joins the gargoyle set and evokes chills like New York's igloo temperatures. . . "Sing Your Way Home" has Jack Haley breathing laughs into very pale dialogue. . . "The Strange Mr. Gregory" spawns a plot costarring hodge and podge . . "Frontier Feud" is the type of sillyloid that will make television prosperous.

THE Radio: Red Shelton's adroit fooling whisks away the blues, but his version of a teen-age brat is a Baby Snooks facsimile without her amusing qualities. . . The Thittir Guild dusted off "The Royal Family" for dealers. Gifted with Fredric March's spoofing, the farce still has more dimples than wrinkles. . . Another slick bit of kilocycle greasepainting was wafted by Jimmy Stewart on the Radio Theatre.

THE PRESS BOX: The conductor of the Topics of the Times column discussed radio in his pillar the other ayem. He concluded: "While giving thanks for the good things radio does for Sunday evening in the home, we may still wish that it had at least one great radio personality of a spiritual or at least serious quality that could hold the attention of the family, old and young. Is there no great preacher or teacher who can compete for a Sunday evening hour? . . How about Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, heard Sunday eves at six p.m.? IN OTHER WORDS: George Price, the star (who is a broker in the stock exchange) was discussing the "break" in the market where values were reduced at least a billion dollars. . . The fellow phoned Price a few days later and intoned: "I have you to blame for what happened to me. I heard you say something about W. B.'s, and I plunged on Warner Brothers!"

"Who said anything about Warner Brothers?" asked George. "I was referring to War Bonds, you chump!"

QUOTATION MARKSMANSHIP — John Mason Brown: His spirit was so relaxed that it yawned. . . Paul Geraldy: As soon as you cannot keep anything from a woman—you love her. . . Isabel Moore: A mouth still set in the curves in which a lover's kiss had left it. . Felix Noland: The heart makes a record of every shining thing and plays it back like music through the years. . . Political Parties Needed With Vigor And Foresight

Harold Stassen May Lead A Revolt In The Gop

BY MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — No New Year gift could mean more to the nation than a new and courageous leadership for the Republican party.

The two-party system is vital to our political well-being. In ordinary times we could worry along with two parties that had all the striking differences of those famous twins, Tweedledum and Tweedledee.

CHILDS

But these are not ordinary times. It is not enough today to sit back and hope that eventually the political grand prize will fall into your lap. It is not enough to count on the force of reaction to sweep the party into power.

This may explain why the GOP got such a drubbing, both from within and without the party, after the recent National Committee meeting in Chicago. The so-called platform that came out of the Chicago meeting was so vague and so shaky that it would not support even a mouse; to say nothing of a large and ancient elephant.

* * *

More Vigor For GOP

Then when Chairman Herbert Brownell appointed a National Policy committee to inject more vigor into the interim platform, he named to that committee for the most part the reactionary moguls who have kept the Elephant in chains. These are the same men who have helped to lose earlier elections.

What makes this seem even sadder is that there is good material within the party. There are vigorous men and women; men and women with ideas who never seem to get a hearing. They are here in Congress; they are back in the states.

Kentucky's Republican Governor, Simeon Willis, has just released a report by his post-war advisory planning commission which is quite a remarkable document. As worked out under the chairmanship of H. F. Willkie, it calls for a vigorous attack by government and business working together on the problems of the state.

* * *

THIS is forward-looking. It is not just the ancient siren song of turnback to the "good old days."

In the Senate are men like Morse of Oregon, Tobey of New Hampshire and Aiken of Vermont. In the House are a number of Republicans such as Charles LaFollette of Indiana, Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut, Christian Herter of Massachusetts, who are to be found on the constructive, creative side.

In fact, I believe that the raw material of a revolt within the Republican party is at hand. What is more, the party has a man who could lead that revolt. Under former governor and former Captain Harold Stassen the Republicans could take the progressive leadership away from the Democratic party.

President Truman's course has been uncertain and often confused. He is badly handicapped by the Southern reactionaries who are determined to keep any program within narrow bounds.

* * *

Opportunity For Young Leader

This is the opportunity for a young leader like Stassen who is not handicapped by previous commitments and past prejudices. Yet what do you hear about Stassen? You hear that the powers within the Republican party are determined to kill him off before 1948.

Naturally they are afraid of him. They are afraid of him because he has vigor and because sometimes he is frank enough to say what he really believes. They are afraid of him because they know they couldn't control him.

They may succeed in killing him off. It is hard to be on your own in the face of a tight organization where the old school tie of cash paid on the line through the years and unflagging party loyalty count for more than anything else.

* * *

IF the revolt comes, it will have to come from within the party. It will have to unseat the men and women who think the Republican party is their personal property because for so long they have put up the dollars to keep the top organization going.

Conceivably reaction might sweep the GOP into national power. But the danger is the sweep would go so far that we would end up with something very like fascism.

Meet The People—

Vet's Wife Faints As He Comes Home

TYLER, Dec. 31. (U.P.) — Meet a man whose wife was not surprised to see him back from overseas. She was overcome.

Meet Cpl. Horace J. Reeves, infantry rifleman of the 36th division.

The European veteran wrote his wife that he was on his way home from Europe. That's all. No further message.

He landed with his outfit on the east coast, came to Camp Fannin by train, whipped through a fast day at the separation center, then came into town to join last-minute Christmas shoppers.

One of the first persons the corporal saw and recognized in the crowds was his wife, Lillian Marie.

The meeting was too much for Mrs. Reeves — she looked, recognized her husband, and fainted.

Reeves had to grab and hold her to keep his wife from falling.

Today's Thought

Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.—Peter 5:5.

* * *

Humble things become the humble.—Horace.

"Try And Stop Me"

By Bennett Cerf

VOLTAIRE had a visitor one day who remarked that he had encountered another literary notable of that era on the way. "Ah," said Voltaire, "a very able man, a fine character."

"That's very kind of you," said the visitor, "because he said that you were a villainous old wretch."

"Well," said Voltaire with a smile, "perhaps we are both mistaken."

When Rousseau wrote his ode "To Posterity" he sent an advance copy to Voltaire. Voltaire read it with a frown and remarked, "This poem will never reach its destination."

* * *

MORE stories about Mark Twain relate how his genteel wife heard him cuss one morning when he cut himself while shaving. To shame him, she repeated every blasphemy he had spoken. Twain listened calmly, and told her, "You have the words, my dear, but I'm afraid you'll never get the tune." She had an appointment to meet him one day for luncheon, but was very late. He left a note for her with the headwaiter, "Never the Twains shall meet!"

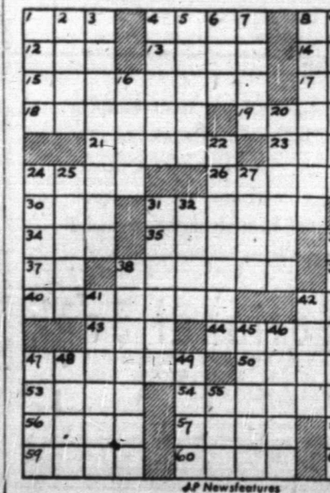

Of his father Twain said, "When I was twenty, I thought him the stupidest man I had ever known. When I was thirty, I was amazed to learn how much the old man had learned in the past ten years."

Legislator Opposes Special Session

AUSTIN, Dec. 31. (AP) — Rep. F. G. Swanson of Tyler, representative from the 33rd district, has notified Gov. Coke Stevenson that he is opposed to calling a special session of the legislature.

"While I am glad the responsibility is yours, not mine, I admit I have no formulated program to raise additional revenue, and without it, I would hesitate to urge you to call a special session for extra spending," said Swanson in a letter he released today.

Stevenson recently has been urged by various groups to call a special session in the face of what appears to be a certain cut in average pension payments. The Young Democratic clubs of the state last week joined in the plea.

Much of the urging has come from individuals or groups who have noted that while the 49th legislature made it possible for some old age pensioners to receive a maximum of $40 monthly of both state and federal funds, it did little to increase revenues.

Swanson wrote than any special session, especially without some definite and practical revenue raising plan "is a waste of taxpayers' money."

Gold Found Under Street In Helena

HELENA, Mont., Dec. 31. (AP) — They found gold under Helena's Main street today but not enough to warrant tearing up the downtown district to get it.

While contractors were excavating for a building an old miner mused out loud that there was gold on that spot—the same precious stuff that gave Helena a $16,000,000 boom in the last century when Main street was known as Last Chance Gulch.

"Gold!" The magic word flew through Helena and by late afternoon sidewalk kibitzers had lined up three and four deep.

Spectators Look On

Henry Kasman, a placer miner, poked out some of the dirt with his pick and panned it in icy water while Mayor John J. Haytin, some county commissioners, mining men and a U. S. Bureau of Mines representative looked on silently.

Pretty soon Kasman straightened up, holding in his hand a tiny bit of black sand.

"By gosh! It's gold all right," exclaimed the mayor.

And everybody agreed — a dozen small pieces of the precious stuff, one of them the size of a small lady bug. A dredgemaster down the street estimated the gold would run $1.75 per square yard.

But even for that much you don't rip up the main street of a state capital.

Mirando City Man Shot While Hunting

LAREDO, Dec. 31 (AP) — The death of Herbert Danmier, 48, truck operator of Mirando City, who was shot yesterday while hunting north of Aguilers, Webb county, has been pronounced death by accident by Justice of the Peace Francisco Lopez, Oilton, who conducted the inquest.

Danmier was hunting with friends from Wichita Falls.

They told Lopez at the inquest that the three members of the hunting party became separated and that Danmier had been mistaken for a deer in the heavy fog of early morning.

He is survived by his widow and young son.

Bowl Games, Resolutions And Hangovers

Old Man 1945 Is Gasping His Last Breath Today With 1946 Standing By To Take The Helm

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

This is a day commonly known as New Year's eve. Tomorrow is New Year's day, usually full bowl games, resolutions, and hangovers.

Also, today is the last day you can use the "I-won't-get-another-haircut-until-next-year" gag.

State police won't be able to celebrate tonight, but everyone else probably will. The police have to take care of those who plan to have fun.

Traffic Jam Expected

They warn that a heavy traffic jam is anticipated, maybe heavier than around Christmas, and plead with those who have taken on too many rum and coca colas not to drive automobiles.

After all, others may want to live a while and see what 1946 is going to offer.

Among things that can be depended upon definitely are income taxes (due in a couple of months), new telephone books, and new automobile licenses.

The new year is an election year, too. Fireworks.

Dream Of Nylons

The fond dream among women is that 1946 will bring nylons. They'd rather have nylons than anything else the bright postwar world has to offer. The only interest they have in atomic energy is that maybe factories can use it to make nylons faster.

Men want clothes. Just plain clothes.

You're tired by now of being reminded that "this is the first peacetime apple week since Pearl Harbor" but here it goes again: This is the first peaceful New Year's eve since Pearl Harbor. Tomorrow is the first peaceful New Year's day since Pearl Harbor.

A Year Of Peace

The year starts off as a year of peace and everyone hopes fervently it will stay that way. Even women pining for nylons want peace more than anything.

The year 1946 looks good, with only one slight shadow—a possibility of unemployment.

But that's looking to the future—today and tomorrow let's have fun.

And don't forget—when you sign checks tomorrow, it's Jan. 1, 1946.

Douglas Fairbanks Back In Movieland After Long Absence

BY BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 31 — After a four and a half year absence, Douglas Fairbanks, jr., is back in the town where he first inherited fame, then made a name for himself.

The son of the late, great movie star and polished actor in his own right arrived with four decks of service ribbons on his chest. In his five years in the Navy he has probably seen more phases of the war than any other movie personality. Now a commander, he will go on inactive duty in February.

Asked About Plans

I asked about his plans for the future and he said he intends to make "Sinbad the Sailor" for RKO. I suggested it sounded like one of his father's opuses.

"It is somewhat," he said, "but I would never want to do anything that my father did. I try to get the same adventurous spirit into everything I do, but no one could imitate him."

After "Sinbad" he plans to go into production for himself.

One of Doug, jr.'s first functions was to serve as deputy at the party Director Edmund Goulding gave for David Niven, also newly returned. The party had everything — except the guest of honor. Niven was ill abed with the flu and attended only via telephone, which permitted him to hear everything and speak to the gathering. Doug subbed for him.

Dinner For "Cads"

The invitation read "a dinner for cads," but I accepted anyway. More than 200 "cads" showed up in black tie and tux at Romanoff's and their combined income taxes could buy a couple of battleships. The stags included Robert Montgomery, Walter Pidgeon, Henry Fonda, Pat O'Brien, Frank Morgan, George Sanders, etc., etc.

The menu was in French but I discerned that the first course was avocado stuffed with oyster, shrimp and caviar. Other courses were similarly ornate. At one point, a bagpipe troupe toured the room, followed by waiters bearing large blocks of ice which spelled out "David."

Seeks New Sponsor

An informant who should know tells me that Bing Crosby will not return to his old sponsor, with whom he has been playing tag for the past six months. The groaner wants a change. His claim will be that a 10-year contract is not valid in California . . . Meanwhile Eddie Duchin has been added to the present Music Hall program . . . Anne Baxter and John Hodiak are New Year's eve-ing . . . Rita Hayworth and Producer S. P. Eagle an item at Ciro's . . . Frank Morgan's New Year's resolution: Not to go on the wagon . . . Robert Taylor will hunt game with Governor Davis in Louisiana next month.

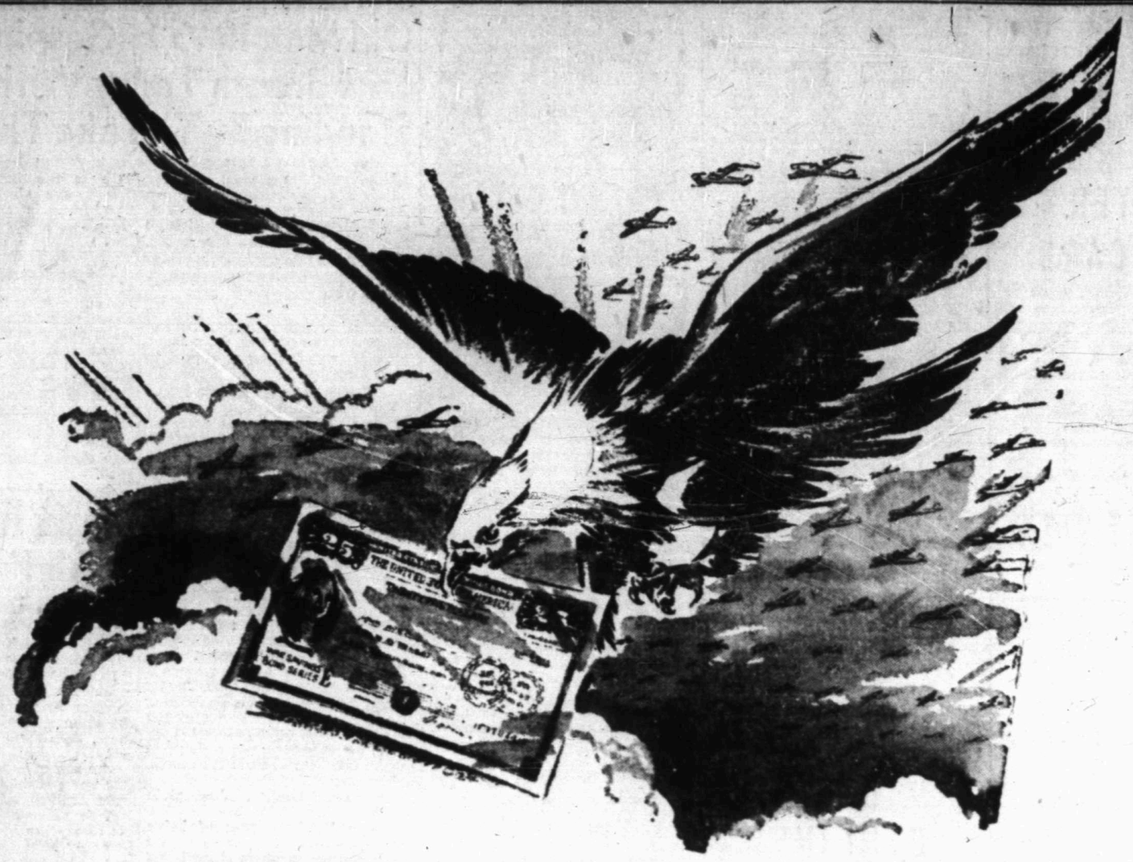

Thomas A. Edison perfected the first filaments for the incandescent electric light while at the mining town of Encampment, Wyo., according to reports.

NEW YEAR 1946!

LET'S LOOK BACK, FOR A MOMENT, TO THE WAR YEARS 1942-1945

At this season when a balance is struck and we look back to events which have gone before, of course, uppermost in our minds are the events of the war years and the various contributing factors which brought us the final and complete victory. When we look back over this period certain things come to our mind which, in combination with similar things you and others have done, had at least some bearing on the war effort.

For the War Years 1942 through 1945, Hemphill-Wells Co., Lubbock and San Angelo, Made these Contributions to the WAR EFFORT

IN MEN

From our two stores 49 of our employees served honorably in the various armed forces of our country. Some were G. I.'s, some were Gobs, some served in the Marine Corps, others in the Coast Guard and the Sea Bees. We are most happy that none of these were called upon to pay the supreme price, however, many of them faced the tortures and torments which were the lot of prisoners of war.

In 'Second Generation' Men

In addition to these men who saw service, another group of "second generation" men, sons of our employees, also served in the various armed services of our country. The number in this group was 52. All of these service men also returned or will return after the various hardships and dangers of an active campaign.

IN WAR BONDS

In the field of material things as a contribution to the war effort our company participated actively in all the various bond drives and during the years of the war, 1942 - 1945, purchased $1,067,666.00 worth of bonds of the various classes which were offered by our government. Of course, in addition to this a sizeable additional amount of bonds were purchased by our various employees as individuals.

IN FEDERAL TAXES

As a direct contribution to the war effort in a monetary way, our company paid and will pay into the federal treasury, in the form of various federal taxes, a total of $1,316,800. This includes amounts which will be paid for 1945 taxes. Said in a different way, this sizeable sum was accumulated by reserving 14c from every dollar of sales for government taxes.

Mr. Little Guy Bewildered By Events Of 1945 But Has High Hopes As He Dives Into 1946

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31—Once more the Man of the Year is the bewildered little guy, any little guy who has lived through another 365 days, trying to understand them, day by day.

Bumping along in the bus this last day of the year, he shuffled again in his mind the pieces of 1945. It was like taking a deep breath before diving headlong into 1946.

Remembers 1945

He remembered with a strange, uncomfortable feeling the dark beginning of 1945. The Germans had banged through at the Battle of the Bulge. (The war with Japan. The end, when?

President Roosevelt for the fourth time took the oath of office, an old and tired Roosevelt now. He went to Yalta. The unforgettable pictures of him there: That sick, thin face.

We were choking the Germans now. The Krauts heaved and shook and trembled.

President Roosevelt said "I have a terrific headache" and died.

Truman Takes Over

Harry S. Truman stepped into Mr. Roosevelt's place. It was a place in history. He knew it. Everyone did. America wished him well, and waited.

The roof fell in. Mussolini was killed and hung upside down like a pig on a hook outside a filling station in Italy.

And Hitler, the unhappy bridegroom, went up in smoke. Or did he? He was such a liar. The dignity of man was something he never understood.

Troops came home or went to fight Japan and—bang. The atomic bomb. It took the little guy a while to realize what had hit the world when the bomb hit Hiroshima. He soon learned.

Plenty Said About Bomb

Plenty of people said plenty of things about the bomb. Enough to make the little guy shiver. In his life time, he wondered, would the world bury the bomb and find a way to let the atom run his car or light a city.

Now the troops were coming home by millions. America turned to peace. Taxes come down, starting tomorrow.

Strikes burst like flames across the land.

We had joined the United Nations. Congress did what it should, internationally. But it turned a cold and stony face toward the things President Truman wanted done at home.

Know All Not Well

The little guy knew, deeply and uneasily, that all was not well with the world. There was the huge suspicion between America and Russia. There was fighting in Java, trouble in Iran, bombings in Palestine.

The little guy was going home to steaks and butter.

But as he got off the bus he thought of shattered, cold, bleak, hungry people, of disheartened hungry people everywhere.

He hoped it would be a little easier and a little better for all men in 1946.

Flashes Of Life

(By The Associated Press)

BETTER LATE

DEARBORN, Mo., (AP)—Dr. F. L. Durham arrived at a farm home near here ten minutes too late to deliver a baby daughter to Mrs. Cecil Foster, but just in time to discover a fire in the home.

The doctor bundled the mother and baby in blankets, and as the flames destroyed the farmhouse, rushed the mother and infant to a St. Joseph, Mo., hospital.

NUMBER, PLEASE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., (AP)—Illinois motorists, applying for 1946 license plates didn't want any part of the number "13" says Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett.

Some 50,000 motorists had put in requests for the first 10,000 numbers, he said. The most popular numbers? Seven and eleven.

HE ASKED FOR IT

MILWAUKEE, (AP)—George M. Lisatz 47, told District Judge Harvey L. Neelen that when he told some men in a tavern at 1 a. m. that he had no place to sleep they suggested he turn in a fire alarm and he would be assured a night's lodging.

He said he followed their suggestion and turned in an alarm and was given a place to sleep—in jail.

Judge Neelen said he would be sleeping in jail for the next 30 days, the sentence for turning in a false fire alarm.

NORMAL THESE DAYS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — Lt. Col. John Galloway of Wichita Kas., an Army public relations officer, telephoned a railroad office to find out about a train his wife, Elizabeth, was arriving on.

"Is that train normally on time?" asked John.

"Normally, yes," replied the information clerk, "but it hasn't been for four years."

SUPER SALESMAN

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A suburban realtor ran an ad in a Portland paper urging residents to "get out of town" and buy property where they would have "atomic bomb protection."

GOOD DEAL

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A man told police he considered it a bargain when he was robbed of $200 by a man and a woman.

While the woman searched him, he reported, her accomplice held a knife at his throat and warned "hand it over or your head comes off."

Vets Wary Of Postwar Jobs

BY RANSOM H. AUSTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 31 — Texas' World war II veterans are taking slow, cautious steps back to civilian life with their sights aimed at postwar betterment and security.

Such is the conclusion to be drawn from reports by state employment experts, including those of the U. S. Employment service.

Since V-J day, USES has dealt with some 125,000 veterans, approximately half the total number of Texans discharged to date, and has found most of them a cooperative, yet determined, lot of men — bent on finding something better, more promising than what they had before taking up the cudgels of arms.

Most Want Council

Of the 125,000 veterans contacted, USES regional director J. H. Bond said that only about one-fourth agreed to placement, while the remainder merely wanted counsel in their re-adjustment problem.

At the same time, Bond cited factors which he said were bearing heavily on veterans' irresolute frame-of-mind and which have retarded many of the men.

1. Finding jobs easily and readily adaptable to skills acquired in service.
2. Pondering the advisability of taking advantage of the G-I education program.
3. Seeking employment in home communities, preferably new and compatible with military training.
4. Scarcity of building materials which bottleneck business desired by veterans.
5. Adverse living conditions.

Should Not Be Critical

Because of these factors, Bond explained, the public should be neither critical nor surprised to see veterans, particularly those with only combat training, frequently switching positions and hesitating in their decisions.

Said he: "Experience is showing that many veterans are changing jobs several times as they try to find the right jobs in civilian life. This is a normal and even desirable thing, for having lost two, three or five years of civilian job time, it is especially necessary that they find an occupation suited to their abilities and interests.

"Having found the right job they will prove unusually stable workers, for their military experience has shown them the values in stability and job satisfaction."

Proved Efficient So Far

Bond also observed that a majority of men thus far placed by USES in Texas have proved exceptionally efficient workers. In this connection, he asserted that many handicapped veterans — some with leg and arm amputations — have proved their worth.

Bond explained that the handicap program had become an integral part of the agency's veteran re-adjustment work and that, in administering it, "we emphasize what he has, not what he hasn't."

With thousands of more Texans awaiting discharge, USES expects the tempo of job activity to speed-up considerably. The agency has laid careful plans for this almost certainity and has worked out a strategy it hopes will prevent any sizeable amount of unemployment.

Brakeman Badly Hurt When Hit By Train

FORT WORTH, Dec. 31, (AP) — David F. Travis, 28, of Wichita Falls, a brakeman for the Santa Fe railroad, was injured critically late last night when he was struck by a train in Fort Worth.

Police said Travis stepped from a freight train into the path of a passenger train on an adjoining track. The impact hurled his body clear of the rails.

St. Joseph's hospital attendants said he suffered internal injuries.
