House Anti-Viet Hearing Disrupted By Hecklers

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hearings into anti-Viet Nam war activities erupted today with loud challenges to the House Committee on Un- American Activities. At least eight persons were carried and dragged from the hearing room.

Rep. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., presiding at the hearing, ordered removal of persons who disrupted the session. The eight were hauled away after standing at various intervals and shouting denunciations of the committee and the first witness, Philip A. Luce of Washington.

Luce, a pull-out from the pro-Communist Progressive Labor party, testified that group controls the executive board of the May 2 Movement, an organization established to organize protests against U.S. participation in the Viet Nam war.

"Let's stop this fink testimony!" shouted Jeffrey Gordon, a member of the Progressive Labor party.

"This sure is a funny hearing!" screamed another man.

Both were carried out of the room which was packed with representatives of various peace groups, police, federal marshals, and reporters. Outside the room, hundreds more milled in the corridors.

More protesters went the same route.

The hearing got under way under a continuing threat of court action to stop the proceedings.

Only seconds before the start of the session a special three-judge federal court threw out a temporary restraining order granted Monday by a U.S. district judge in an action brought by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of two of the subpoenaed witnesses.

But the three-judge panel offered to hold a hearing on the constitutional issues at any time and the plaintiffs promptly took up the offer.

As the hearing at the Capitol got under way it was announced the tribunal will hold a hearing at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday on the challenge to the mandate setting up the committee.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Joseph M. Hannon said the issue will be a request for a temporary injunction, a step beyond the restraining order voided today. A restraining order is good for 10 days but is renewable. A temporary injunction remains in force until further order of the court.

At the start of the hearing two witnesses were dragged to seats by marshals when they tried to make speeches as they were being handed copies of the committee statement on the reason for the hearings.

The statement from the acting chairman, Rep. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., denied the inquiry represents any infringement on the First Amendment right of free speech or the right of dissent. Pool said the aim is to develop legislation to cut off "overt acts" such as interference with troop and supply movements, and actions damaging to troop morale in a wartime situation.

The acting chairman contended special legislation is needed because the absence of a declared state of emergency leaves inoperative wartime laws on such points as treason.

Cheers, boos and applause broke out from a portion of the audience of more than 300 that packed the big committee room.

Striking Mechanics Study Pact Details

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking mechanics receive today details of a tentative agreement aimed at ending by Friday the shutdown of five major airlines.

The idled airlines said they could resume some flights this weekend if the agreement is approved by the strikers at meetings across the nation Friday. The strike is now in its 40th day.

P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, called the settlement, reached about dawn Monday, "the best ever in one set of negotiations by any union."

Details of the contract were to remain secret until the 35,400 strikers received a letter from Siemiller in which he said he recommended ratification of the agreement reached with the airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United.

Informed sources said, however, the contract was a three-year package worth about $90 million — an estimated 8 per cent increase for the machinists.

This would mean a $1 per hour increase over three years for top mechanics now earning $3.52 per hour plus benefits that bring the total to $4 per hour.

The agreement is believed also to contain a cost-of-living wage escalator clause, a key union demand. Lack of such a clause reportedly was instrumental in union rejection of an agreement negotiated under White House auspices July 29. The White House had no comment on the new agreement.

Officials believe another reason for the 3-1 vote against the first agreement was lack of understanding of its provisions.

In an effort to get a speedy ratification of the July 29 agreement only terse telegrams were sent to the locals and the vote was taken two days later.

This time, however, Siemiller mailed personal letters to all striking union members for whom the headquarters had addresses — an estimated 28,000.

Teenagers Hurt In Area Mishap

Four Scurry County teenagers were injured in a one-car accident at the Fluvanna cutoff on the Lubbock Highway about 9:45 p.m. Monday. They were all taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bell-Seale ambulance.

Injured were Bill, Murray Ann and Marie Jackson, children of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Jackson of Union, and Lou Alice Mathis, daughter of Wayland Mathis of the Lamesa Highway.

The Mathis girl was transferred to Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene after receiving treatment for a back injury. Her condition was described as fair.

The condition of the Jackson children was described as fair. Murray Ann was the most seriously injured of the three. She had head and shoulder injuries and a concussion. Marie was treated for facial lacerations and Bill sustained a fractured hand.

The young people were returning from Fluvanna at the time of the accident. They had attended church services there. Their car apparently failed to stop at the Lubbock Highway. It careened across the road and plowed into an embankment on the east side of the highway. The vehicle, a 1966 Oldsmobile, was a total loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bentley, grandparents of the Jackson youths, were one of three couples who died in a motor vehicle accident on the Lubbock Highway between Snyder and Post about 10 years ago.

AIR FORCE BOUND — Miss Winnie Poyner is shown with her registered German shepherd, "Duke," who will be inducted into the United States Air Force today at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio as a sentry dog. Duke weighs from 75 to 80 pounds, and has the I. Q. of a seven year old child.

US Forces In Viet Nam To Get Scurry Sentry Dog

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

A 19 month old resident of Snyder will be inducted into the United States Air Force today at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

In Snyder he is simply known as "Duke"—a registered German shepherd dog that is owned by Miss Winnie Poyner of 3605 Hill Ave.

Duke was accepted by the Air Force earlier this week after a complete physical at Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring. The beautiful German shepherd will now begin extensive training at Lackland, and there is a possibility that Duke will see action in Viet Nam.

At Webb, Duke was put through two and one half hours of tests. There are four points that the Air Force requires of all dogs that are entered for examination — aggressiveness, size, strength and most of all intelligence.

Duke passed on all accounts, and was termed in excellent condition for the Air Force program. He stands at 24½ inches at the shoulder, and all dogs must be at least 24 inches at this spot.

He was also tested to see if he was gun shy by placing him through a series of maneuvers on the firing range. As far as strength is concerned, Duke has a bite that can exert 700 pounds of pressure per square inch which is enough to easily rip off a man's arm.

Experts say Duke has the I. Q. of a seven-year-old child, and has the ability to learn 100 commands. Duke weighs between 75 and 80 pounds which easily was over the 60 pound requirement. Also Duke's hearing, vision, teeth and blood were checked.

Duke reported for his physical July 21 at Webb, and is to report at Lackland sometime today. Duke will be used in the capacity of a sentry dog, and will probably be trained for several months before being sent to another assignment.

The German shepherd is now among the 10 most popular breeds in America. He is handsome smart and intelligent enough to do almost any kind of work, such as police, army, obedience, herding or guide dog.

The German shepherd is highly responsive and his devotion to his own family is unshakable. His ability to train makes him ideal in many military situations, and the Air Force is taking advantage of it.

Miss Poyner reported that anyone having a dog of this caliber who is interested in the program should contact Mervin R. Fink, Contracting Officer, Sentry Dog Branch, Military Training Center (MS-BP), Lackland A.F.B., Texas 78236.

For Duke it is the start of a new career, and many everlasting friendships. Bombs away Duke.

Market Takes Dive In Afternoon Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market plunged to new lows for the year in fairly heavy trading early this afternoon.

The market sank from the start as discouraged selling — mainly in small lots — broke down prices in most major sections of the list.

No immediate news was linked with the decline.

Early in the session the Dow Jones industrial average broke below its 1966 closing low of 832.57 made on Aug. 2. This triggered additional selling.

Casualties To Date Count 288 Texans

AUSTIN (AP)—The Viet Nam War has taken the lives of 288 Texans since January 1961, figures compiled by the Texas adjutant general's office show.

The toll includes 218 killed in action and 70 who died from causes other than hostile action.

Navy Skyhawks Dodge MIG Fire

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Two MIG17 fighters loosed 37mm cannon fire at four U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawks which were attacking a train 70 miles south of Hanoi today, but the heavily laden Skyhawks took evasive action and none were damaged, the U.S. Command announced.

The light attack bombers, from the carrier Oriskany, were reported to have damaged four boxcars of the train.

Though each is ordinarily armed with two 20 mm cannon and various rockets, a spokesman said they did not fire back at the Soviet-built MIGs. He said the 680-mile-an-hour Skyhawks are a shade slower and were in no position at the time for a successful fight. The four were operating without the normal top cover by Phantoms or Thunderchiefs.

The encounter came the farthest south that enemy jets are known to have ventured in the war. American pilots have reported the destruction of 17 MIGs. The enemy fighters have shot down five U.S. planes.

Most of the previous aerial battles with Communist MIGs have occurred north and northwest of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

The dogfight followed a day of near-record pounding of targets in North Viet Nam by U.S. fighter-bombers.

Navy, Air Force and Marine planes flew 133 missions Monday against the Communist north, hitting 17 oil storage depots and other targets, most of them in the Haiphong area and the southern panhandle. The strikes approached the record of 139 missions flown against the north earlier this month.

In South Viet Nam, ground action dwindled to light and scattered fighting.

Even in the central highlands where a big scrap appeared to be shaping up, no contact had been reported since noon Monday.

Five Hurt In Washington Outbreak

WASHINGTON (AP)— Five persons including a policeman were injured and 10 others were arrested early today after about 50 rock-throwing Negroes gathered in southeast Washington to protest an arrest.

Patrolman James Hanes suffered minor head and hip injuries when he was knocked down and beaten during the two-hour demonstration. Four juveniles were taken to a hospital but were not believed seriously injured.

About 65 policemen were summoned to quell the outbreak. Police said the call went out after the crowd began throwing rocks, bottles and firecrackers at passing cars and officers.

The incident apparently was sparked by the arrest two hours earlier of William Foote, 19, and a juvenile, 17, on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, according to the police report.

During the arrest at the southeast neighborhood house, Len Covington, 31, a neighborhood "poverty" worker, was charged with interfering with police and taken to a station.

Leaders Vow To Continue Chicago Rights Marches

By The Associated Press

Civil rights leaders say the marches into white neighborhoods of Chicago will be expanded and "will continue until Negroes can move into housing wherever they choose."

The promised continuation of the demonstrations came from Albert A. Raby, convenor of the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations, at a rally Monday night.

Eight groups of marchers are to go into previously picketed areas today—three going to Jefferson Park, a Northwest Side neighborhood, and five going to downtown locations including the Chicago Real Estate Board.

Planning continued for a summit meeting on housing Wednesday. The Rt. Rev. James W. Montgomery, bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, said the conference was called to discuss open housing—not to seek an end to the marches which have led to violence on many occasions.

In New Orleans, a federal appeals court reversed the convictions of two Negroes who have been in solitary confinement on death row for 13 years—a modern record.

In another of its landmark decisions, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that Edgar Labat and Clifton A. Poret, both of New Orleans, did not get a fair trial because Negroes were excluded from the trial jury.

The case was the last of eight in which the appeals court set to shape guidelines for selection of grand juries and trial juries in Southern states.

Labat and Poret, convicted of raping a white woman, are subject to reindictment.

In Washington, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said the problem of racial discrimination in housing requires more study. He told newsmen he had spent a weekend poring over the House-passed civil rights bill and is as convinced as ever that its open housing section is unconstitutional.

Mercury Up In Texas

By The Associated Press

Moisture dwindled and the mercury started climbing across Texas again today.

Skies turned clear to only partly cloudy in most sections.

Rains which drenched many sections late last week were credited, meanwhile, for easing drought which was beginning to hurt many farmers and ranchers.

Garner State Park, where up to 11 inches of rain on the headwaters sent the Frio River on the rampage, was reopened. The weekend deluge had forced about 2,500 campers to flee.

In arid far West Texas, however, 2 inches of rain soaked into thirsty ranges Monday around Study Butte, 80 miles west of Alpine, before the showers dried up.

Top afternoon temperatures Monday reached 102 degrees at Wichita Falls and 100 at Cotulla and Laredo.

Call Of Reserves Senate Key Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate faces a bipartisan effort today to give President Johnson authority to call into service for 18 months thousands of young men now in the Ready Reserve.

The move by Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., looms as the key issue as the Senate takes up the $58-billion defense appropriation measure. Russell is chairman of the Armed Services Committee, Saltonstall its ranking Republican member.

As the law is now, the President would have to declare a state of emergency before he could summon the Ready Reserve to active duty.

But Russell, manager of the appropriation measure, calls it a scandal that "men who have enough pull to get into Reserve or National Guard units are not being sent to fight, while the man across the street who is drafted lands in Viet Nam."

Russell and Saltonstall plan to ask the Senate to include an amendment in the appropriation bill that would authorize the President — but not require him — to call up for "not more than 18 consecutive months" those ready reservists who have not served on active duty other than for a training stint.

One source estimated this would cover more than 500,000 men.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, with obvious backing of Johnson, has opposed any call up of the civilian reservists for Viet Nam duty.

But as an indication of the support Russell and Saltonstall may draw for their amendment, the Appropriations Committee voted unanimously to include in its report a demand for greater use of the reserves.

The committee said it would be "in the national interest to utilize a reasonable portion of the reserve forces of all the services" to fulfill commitments in Southeast Asia and elsewhere.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My brother, who just came back from the navy, told me that he and some of his buddies were sitting around talking about what kind of girls they wanted to marry. And 9 out of 10 men said they wanted "nice, pure" girls.

But what puzzles me is this: I just finished my sophomore year at college, and some of us girls were sitting around the sorority house talking about what kind of men we wanted for husbands, and almost all the girls said they wanted an "experienced" man. This doesn't add up. Or does it?

FRANKLY PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Regardless of what they say, in their hearts, decent men or women prefer other decent men or women when it comes to marriage. "Experience" can mean emotional maturity, proper motivation and sureness of purpose in a man, and not necessarily "skill thru practice" in the art of love-making. If it doesn't in this case, then your sorority sisters are talking clinical gibberish that would puzzle anybody. Including me.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a professional man and I know that he is attractive. I handle all the social arrangements. My problem is what to do about women who telephone my husband at his office on the pretense that they can't reach me at home.

My husband is a good, trustworthy man and when this happens he asks me to return the lady's call, and when I do she seems so crestfallen. I know that some women use this foursome get-together scheme to get next to somebody else's husband, but how does a wife combat it?

JUST THE WIFE

DEAR WIFE: She doesn't. She lets her husband field the wild ones.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: How can I make my older sister realize that she is robbing herself and her husband of the joys of parenthood? They have been married for 11 years and are still childless, altho I know they both love children. I am sure the problem is my sister. She is so modest she won't even have a chest X-ray taken.

Shouldn't someone talk to her about it? She is 33 and her husband is 36 and they aren't getting any younger. She keeps saying, "One of these days I may go to a doctor." What do you think?

YOUNGER SISTER

DEAR SISTER: I think that when your sister becomes sufficiently concerned and eager to have a family, she will go to a doctor with no coaching from the sidelines.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My mother says that you are the one I should write to because if you put this in yur column a lot of people might see it and change their ways.

I am 12 years old. My father is a waiter in a very well-known restaurant. He has always been a waiter. Could you please tell people that when they sneak out of a restaurant without paying their check the waiter who served them has to pay it.

My father has had to pay checks for people who walked off without paying while he was in the kitchen. I think this is just terrible. Some nights my father has had to work for nothing. Thank you for printing this, if you do, and I hope you do.

Flight Leads To Firing Of Colonel

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force colonel has been fired from his post for approving a commercial picture taking mission June 8 in which ace test pilot Joseph S. Walker and another flier were killed.

Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown, announcing the disciplinary action Monday, also said written reprimands have been or will be given to three other officials involved in the mission resulting in the crash of the $500-million XB70 and an F104 chase plane in California.

In a memorandum to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Brown said the photographic mission was of "questionable propriety" and did not follow the letter and spirit of existing guidelines.

Besides Walker, who was piloting the F104, Maj. Carl S. Cross, copiloting the XB70, also was killed. Walker was holder of the world's altitude and speed records.

Brown said Col. Albert W. Cate has been relieved of his duties as deputy for systems tests in the XB70 programs. An Air Force spokesman said Cate was reassigned to the Contract Management Division of the Air Force Systems Command at the Los Angeles Air Force Station.

Receiving the reprimands are Col. Joe Cotton, test force director; Col. James G. Smith, information director for the Air Force Flight Test Center at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., and John S. McCollom, director of research vehicles in the Air Force Systems Command at Wright Patterson AFB, Ohio. None was available for comment.

Residents Safe As Hotel Burns

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP)—Twenty persons reached safety early today when the downtown Logan Hotel, a two-story walkup, burned.

The loss was estimated at $80,000 and 75 per cent of the structure was damaged beyond repair. Fire Chief Harry Herbert said the blaze apparently started in a hot water heater in a small utility room.

Personal Incomes Climb To Record High In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income during July climbed to another record despite the airline machinists strike and a shutdown of automobile plants for their annual model changeovers, the Commerce Department announced today.

The $2.5 billion rise boosted personal income to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $579.7 billion during the month.

An increase of $2.8 billion in wages and salaries more than offset decreases in some other areas, the department added.

One limiting factor was the start of the medicare program on July 1. Persons who enrolled in the supplementary insurance program started paying $3 a month to help them finance doctor and drug bills. That increased contributions for social insurance by about $500 million, which the department said is counted as a reduction in personal income.

Partly offsetting this were increased benefits under the health care program for the elderly which the department estimated boosted personal income by $100 million.

Personal income resulting from wages and salaries, proprietors' income and property income was up $2.7 billion during July, about the same as the average gain during the past two years.

The July gain in wages and salaries centered in distribution, services and government, with a pay raise for federal civilian employes and military personnel helping to swell the total. Total wage and salary income during July was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $393.3 billion.

Chicago Newsman Dies In Bogota

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jules Dubois, Latin-American correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, died today in Bogota, Colombia, the State Department announced.

The department said the U.S. Embassy in Bogota advised by telegram that Dubois had been found dead in his hotel room.

The department said it had no details.

Dubois was in Bogota to report on a meeting of presidents of three Latin-American nations on a general program of economic cooperation.

Critic Of Exchange Elected President

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph S. Saul, a sharp critic of the American Stock Exchange while he was a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission, was elected president of that exchange today.

An exchange spokesman said Saul is expected to replace Edwin D. Etherington in the $100,000 a year position "sometime in early winter."

Etherington has accepted the presidency of Wesleyan University.

Saul, 44, was elected at a special meeting of the 32-member board of governors of the Amex, the nation's second largest securities exchange.

Yellowstone, which became the first national park in 1872, is still the nation's largest with 3,472 square miles.

Others from the Snyder area attending were Mr. and Mrs. Lindy Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Max von Roeder, Mrs. Opal von Roeder, and Edgar von Roeder. A good time was reported by about 170 guests even though they were nearly rained out on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Todd, Verna and Janice have returned from a week vacation trip to Couiles, N.M. They were accompanied by Mrs. P. A. Duggar Jr., Shiela, Brian and Brenda of Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lewis and Ceth of Plains.

Debra Jones of Plains is visiting this week with Verna Todd.

Bro. and Mrs. Whitlock and sons are moving here this week from Fort Worth to begin duties as pastor of Knapp Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Tucker of Yoakum visited Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Tipping. Their daughter, Nancy visited with Melissa Sterling.

Mrs. N. D. Neyman, Kevin and new baby, Norman Ocie of Eunice returned home Friday after spending the past two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Tipping.

Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Sterling, Melissa, John Robbi and Zane have returned from vacationing in South Texas. They attended games at the astrodome at Houston, Aqua Marina at San Marcus, zoo at San Antonio and also Rock Port.

Bro. and Mrs. Charles Whitlock of Fort Worth were dinner guests Sunday in the Mickey Sterling home.

Leroy Key was in Lubbock Wednesday undergoing medical tests.

Junior Girls Unit Meeting

The Scurry County Junior Girls Unit of 8231 held their regular business meeting Monday evening with unit chaplin Cathy Spivey presiding.

Unit counselor reported that she had mailed additional boxes to Scurry County boys serving in Viet Nam and that more letters were needed for additional boxes to be mailed at a later date.

Eight members were present for the meeting.

Certain Color Match

Matching the colors of kitchen and bathroom fixtures and appliances to wall surfaces and fabrics isn't always the easiest job. The largest, most durable items should be matched first. The trade association of the nation's ceramic tile manufacturers says that it is often possible to take along some color samples of ceramic tile to match up with the color of appliances when they are being selected.

LEADS AREA 3 — Marlin Terrell, service agent for Scurry County Farm Bureau, was the outstanding agent in 36 southwest Texas counties during the month of July.

Two Trophies Awarded Area Farm Bureau Agent

Marlin Terrell, service agent for Scurry County Farm Bureau, was awarded two trophies for outstanding work in area 3 at a recent meeting held at the Ramada Inn in Midland.

The "rooster" award represents the "cock-of-the-walk" for outstanding individual life production for the month of July. The other trophy was for heading the leading agency in area 3. There are 36 southwest Texas counties in area 3.

This is the first time these trophies have been awarded to Scurry County service agent Marlin and his wife Martha moved to Snyder from Bryan field in December of 1965 and they reside with their two children, Gary and Judy, at 3000 El Paso.

Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, the first American to step outside a spaceship, revelled that on June 3, 1965 "I was taking some big steps the first on Hawaii, then California, Texas—lightly in deference to the President—Florida and the last on the Bahamas and Bermuda."

The three policemen were slain as they stopped to question three men in an aged, pale blue staion wagon. It had a souped-up engine capable of more than 90 miles an hour.

Police questioned a man who said he had sold the car to a stranger for $42 less than three hours before the crime.

It was found Sunday in a dingy garage underneath a railway arch near London's Waterloo Station. Police were tipped off by a woman who saw it being driven in. The woman's name is being withheld and she is under police protection as are other persons who have aided the inquiry.

The murdered men were members of an undercover squad who acted more or less independently and the Yard did not know what particular trail they were following at the time they were killed.

The suspicion in official quarters was that they were on the trail of one of the big gangs operating in the metropolis.

Swine Class Underway At Fluvanna

FLUVANNA—Seventeen persons were on hand here Monday night for the first session of the swine short course being sponsored by the Fluvanna Young Farmers Chapter.

The course is being taught by Joe Tocquigny, swine specialist with the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University. At the opening session Tocquigny outlined the four basic types of swine operations, including those who "farrow and finish," the producers of feeder pigs, the feed lot operators and the breeders.

Also discussed were chronic diseases to which pigs are susceptible. Tocquigny said he would cover any aspect of the swine industry in which particular interest is shown in the remaining three sessions. Those interested may still enroll for the Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday sessions.

Fluvanna Young Farmers will have their August meeting Thursday night following the swine class. A program for next year will be discussed and officers will be elected.

Conductor Is Killed

MOSCOW (Tex.) (AP) — A conductor for one of the shortest railroad lines in the world was struck and killed by a train in switching yards at this East Texas village Monday night.

He was Carl Vinson, 65, conductor for the Moscow-Camden and San Augustine Railroad which has only seven miles of track.

The railroad runs from the W. T. Carter and Brothers Lumber Mill at Camden to Southern Pacific switching yards at Moscow, and is a key tourist attraction in the East Texas region.

Conservationists Study Pollution

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — The pollution of America's rivers, streams and lakes "might be called the 20th Century's greatest tragedy," conservation experts from around the country were told today.

All levels of government plus industry and agriculture must work to halt pollution even though the program could cost billions of dollars, speakers told the soil conservation society of America.

Pollution, its cause and cure—was the topic at the society's convention, which is discussing the role of water in America's future.

"The cost of this program will run into billions of dollars," said R. C. Smith of Arlington Heights, Ill., an industrial representative at the meeting. "In fact, it may cost more than the (interstate) highway system that is now in the process of being completed."

He said pollution, as a 20th Century tragedy, was caused by cities dumping raw or partially treated sewage into lakes and rivers.

"The run off water from our farms is another cause. Soil erosion is adding its murky toll. And the waste from industrial plants is increasing the contamination of our lakes and streams," he said.

William Greiner of the State Soil Conservation Committee at Des Moines, said states have a big role to play in pollution control but if they fail to meet their responsibility the federal government should assume the role.

He called for adequate laws to curb pollution, adequate trained staff to enforce the laws and training and certification of operators of waste treatment plants.

Agriculture has the responsibility of controlling erosion sedimentation, which is the major source of water pollution, Gladin Young, associate administrator of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, said in a paper he submitted. It was to be read in his absence by Hollis Williams, deputy director of the federal agency.

There is a major lack of control of erosion "from poor farmlands, the unmanaged lands awaiting urban subdivisions, and the cuts and fills that level the landscape for urban developments and highways," he said.

Austrian Embassy Reports Air Crash

VIENNA (AP)—The Austrian Embassy in Bucharest said today a Romanian Airlines passenger plane crashed near the town of Sibiu last Thursday, killing about 24 passengers and crew members.

An embassy spokesman reached from Vienna by telephone said Romanian authorities so far have not published a report about the Aug. 11 crash.

The embassy was informed about it because an Austrian married couple was among the victims, the spokesman said.

The exact number of casualties was not known to the embassy, he added.

Changes Made In Pro Camps

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Davis, the New York Giants' massive tackle, weighs a svelte 283 pounds today and Jeff Smith, a rookie linebacker from Southern California, couldn't be happier about it.

Smith won a $13 Guess the Girth pool that the Giants got up when Davis visited their National Football League camp last month en route to the College All Star Game and weighed in at a chubby 319 pounds.

Coach Allie Sherman was visibly shaken at the sight of the promising youngster from Los Angeles State and ordered him to follow a strict diet. The pool among the players, on what weight Davis would get down to, followed and Smith's 285 was the winner.

Davis turned out to be a winner too. He and Francis Peay of Nebraska, another All Star Game returnee, went all the way at the offensive tackle spots in Saturday night's 14-7 victory over Atlanta, and both Sherman and quarterback Earl Morrall praised their work.

"For men who had worked out with the club only four days," Sherman said, "they did a good job. They did the best job we've had done there by anyone in the camp so far."

With the two rookies handling the pass blocking, Morrall completed 20 of 35 passes against Atlanta. The performance of their defensive backfield against New York's air attack may have had something to do with the Falcons' player move Monday.

Atlanta acquired veteran defensive back Hank Gremminger from Dallas for an undisclosed draft choice. Gremminger, starting his 11th season in pro football, had left the Cowboys' training camp earlier over a salary dispute.

Washington moved to bolster its injury-ridden defensive backfield. The Redskins acquired Brig Owens, a rookie from Cincinnati, from Dallas in exchange for a draft choice. Tom Walters, Jim Steffen and Lonnie Sanders are injured, leaving Washington short of safeties and cornerbacks.

In other player moves, the Redskins traded halfback Billy Hunter to Baltimore for fullback Dave Hayes and cut linebacker Jerry Fishman, of Maryland, end Dave Wells of Mississippi and linebacker Ron Corbett of Arizona State.

The Boston Patriots of the American League placed halfback Tom Carr of Bates on waivers, reducing their roster to 47, one under the AFL's current limit.

Scouting Report

The coaching staff of Snyder High School was pleased with the first day of workouts Monday as the Tiger squad prepares for the 1966 season.

"We were real pleased especially with the spirit," said head coach Keith Miles. "The boys were tired, but that was to be expected. We've got to do a lot of work on fundamentals."

The Tiger mentor praised the efforts of quarterback Murry Bowden and tailback Curtis Clay during the first drills. He also singled out linemen Jerry Simons and following the arduous two-a-day drills.

Coach Miles said he was pleased that several coaches are helping with the drills. "Each boy can receive plenty of individual instruction this way," he added.

The twice daily sessions will continue until school begins.

None of the boys have dropped from the squad. Three of the four candidates who missed the first drill were on the field this morning as the second day of practice began.

FOOTBALL IS HERE — Coaches Roy Carter and Jerry McLeod are shown putting Tiger hopefuls "through the grind" during Monday's football sessions. The Tigers will work out two times again today with the afternoon session to begin at 5:15 p.m. The Tigers went through spirited workouts Monday.

Baltimore's Untouchables Win Again In 11th Frame

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three wings by Boog Powell were just enough for the Baltimore Orioles. One swing by Andy Kosco was too much for the California Angels.

Powell snapped an 11th-inning deadlock with a two-run homer, his third blast of the game and 30th of the season, giving the Orioles a 4-2 victory over Boston Monday night.

Kosco, given a reprieve after apparently striking out, broke a seventh-inning tie with a run-scoring single, sparking Minnesota to a 5-3 victory over the angry Angels.

Powell's three big swings preserved the Orioles' 13½ game lead in the American League. Kosco's extra swing sent California Manager Bill Rigney into a rage.

With two out in the Twins' seventh and the lead run on second base, Umpire Jim Odom called Kosco out after he swung at a two-strike pitch. But Al Salerno, the umpire at first base, ruled that the ball had tipped Kosco's bat.

Kosco then singled to center, sending the Twins ahead 3-2.

A moment later, with Minnesota pitcher Jim Kaat at bat, Rigney tossed a towel and warmup jacket out of the California dugout, then rushed out himself to do battle with Odom.

The umpire tossed Rigney out of the game, and Kaat lashed a two-run triple, putting the Twins out of reach and insuring his 17th victory — tops in the league.

Two-run homers by Jim Gentile and Chuck Hinton powered Cleveland past Washington 4-3; Norm Cash's 200th career homer helped Detroit edge New York 6-5 and Don Buford's run-scoring single in the 10th inning gave Chicago a 4-3 decision over Kansas City in other AL games.

Los Angeles shaded Cincinnati 4-3; Philadelphia crushed Chicago 11-5 and Atlanta defeated Houston 4-2 in the only National League games scheduled.

Powell, who has slammed eight homers in his last 13 games, sent the Orioles ahead 1-0 with the first of his three opposite-field drives in the fourth inning.

Tony Conigliaro's 23rd homer, a two-run shot in the sixth, put the Red Sox on top, but Powell connected again with one out in the ninth, sending the game into extra innings.

Frank Robinson drew a lead-off walk in the 11th and, one out later, Powell smashed a John Wyatt pitch into the left field screen.

California's George Brunet yielded only three hits before the stormy seventh but suffered his ninth loss in 20 decisions.

Harmon Killebrew hit his 26th homer for the Twins and Joe Adcock homered twice for the Angels.

Gentile hit his first homer as an Indian after Rocky Colavito walked in the fourth inning and Hinton connected in the fifth after a single by Leon Wagner. Paul Casanova's second homer of the game, with one on in the ninth, closed the gap before Luis Tiant rescued winner Sonny Siebert.

Cash sent Detroit ahead 4-2 with a two-run homer in the fifth and the Tigers added two more runs, then held off a Yankee rally in the ninth. Bobby Richardson rapped four hits, including a homer, and Tom Tresh hit a two-run shot for the Yankees.

Buford's 10th inning hit scored Al Weis, who had led off the inning with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice. Bill Skowron's pinch hit homer in the seventh had pulled the White Sox even.

Broncos Getting Rid Of Cookie Gilchrist

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Denver Broncos were reported to be dealing with the Oakland Raiders for a trade for rebellious fullback Cookie Gilchrist.

Bronco Coach Mac Speedie said Monday the American Football League deal "has not been consummated yet and may not be for another couple of days."

The deal reportedly would see Gilchrist traded for a veteran lineman whom Speedie would not identify.

Gilchrist has refused to play for the Broncos this year, turning in a resignation accompanied by a blast at the Denver management for allegedly not trying to produce winning teams.

Halas Has Hopes Of Championship

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ENSSELAER, Ind. (AP) — The camp of the Chicago Bears is something special.

Tucked away in the tall corn country of Jasper County, on the campus of St. Joseph's College, the Bears simmer in the hot Indiana sun. They are several light years removed from the honky tonks of Chicago's Old Town.

George Halas, the hardy pioneer who dates back to the birth of the National Football League, is the boss. No matter what titles he owns officially, he is the coach, general manager, owner, publicity man, police force and father confessor.

The Papa Bear, now 71, roams the wide range in a motorized golf cart, pausing and then to check his minute-by-minute schedule for the day.

"Camps are tougher now than they were in the old days," he said while he referred to his timetable. "Every phase of the day is divided into 15-minute sectors and some of them are split into 7½-minute periods. We work one hour and 40 minutes now that the two-a-day season is over. That is equivalent to over two hours in the old days."

The flat land stretched off in all directions, broken only by a few new buildings on the growing campus, one of them known as Halas Hall.

"Too bad you can't stay over," Halas said to some visitors. "I wanted to show you the Great White Way of Rensselaer after dark. We lost the Ace Hardware, but we have a new drug store."

Just in case the Bears are overcome by wanderlust, Halas insists they be in their rooms in the dormitories at 11 p.m. "Just so we know they are around." Lights flick out at 11:30 p.m. "for silent communion with themselves." They are up and at 'em at 7:30 a.m.

As Halas drove away, you could see a piece of paper in front of him on a clip board. In capital letters the following message was printed: "OFFENSE 1966; BE A CHAMPION."

Once again the Bears are back home in Indiana.

Two Veterans Hold Out On San Diego

ESCONDIDO, Calif. (AP) — The San Diego Chargers are without two veteran players today in the wake of a salary dispute.

Frank Buncom, a five-year linebacker, and Ron Mix, a six-year tackle, left training camp Monday, saying they were unable to get the salaries they had requested.

15-ROUND DECISION

Cotton Thought He Won, But Torres Remains Champ

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The cheers went to Eddie Cotton, a tough old battler from Seattle, and the jeers fell to the light heavyweight champion Jose Torres.

But it was Torres who headed home to Brooklyn today with his world title intact, after winning a unanimous 15-round decisions over 40-year-old Cotton in the Las Vegas Convention Center Monday night.

Ancient Eddie was the sentimental favorite, but a 7-2 underdog, and most of the crowd — it was announced as 4,300 but appeared to be more like 3,300 — thought he had won the championship.

In the dressing room later, Cotton was the picture of dejection and frustration, the latter a characteristic that has been his life of almost 20 years in the fight game.

"I won the fight," said Cotton. "I know I won the fight. There's no doubt in my mind about it. Certainly I'd like to fight him again if he will give me the chance."

Ring officials disagreed with Cotton over the outcome. Referee Nate Morgan had it 70-67, and judges Ron Amos and Mike Petrovich had it 69-67 and 68-67, respectively. The Associated Press scored it a draw, 69-69.

Torres, at 30 no youngster himself, was less than happy about his performance in a fight which was serious in spots but in which neither inflicted any terrible damage.

"After the second or third round I told my trainer, Johnny Manzante, 'Don't worry. I'll take this fellow out.' Torres said.

"But I don't know. I was tight. I went back in and couldn't throw punches. Maybe I wasn't concentrating."

National exposure in the televised fight apparently harmed neither boxer.

Matchmaker Harry Markson, of New York, was on hand to offer Torres a fight in Madison Square Garden Dec. 16 with former middleweight champion Dick Tier for Jose's title. Torres' advisor, Gains Young, said he was interested but would decide later.

And a $50,000 guarantee, by far the largest purse Cotton was ever offered, came from the promotional team of Mrs. Aileen Eaton, of Los Angeles, and Don Chargin, of Oakland, for Eddie to box Bobo Olsen in Oakland's new sports arena Nov. 14.

Torres, however, said he was not impressed with Cotton, but he thought Wayne Thornton, whom he beat last May 21 in the first defense of the title, was a better opponent.

"The only body blow Cotton hurt me with was foul," Torres said. He referred to a low blow in the 10th, which cost Cotton a valuable point.

Gate and television receipts were to be announced today. The champion was guaranteed 50 per cent of the live gate and TV money, and Cotton 15 per cent.

Rains Breaking August Drought

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—The first part of August dealt farmers and ranchers its usual drought miseries, John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Service, reported last week.

However, rains late in the week dotted portions of the state and brought considerable relief, particularly in east and central sections, and near the upper coast.

Where the rains failed to fall, ranges toasted and stockmen faced the prospect of early fall feeding. Irrigated crops progressed but dryland crops were withering.

District agents gave this appraisal before the rains toward the end of the week:

Panhandle moisture is short to very short, although cotton progress is good. Irrigated cotton, sorghum, soybeans and castor-beans are making excellent growth. Dryland grain sorghum is severely damaged. The onion harvest is near completion.

A few counties have received showers, but the entire Rolling Plains (Vernon) needs a soaking rain: Soybeans and other crops are fair to good. Cotton insect damage is increasing in several counties. Harvest of early sorghum hay is general.

All North Central Texas reports moisture shortage. Most crops are standing up need rain badly. Pastures and livestock are fair.

Far West Texas as usual needs rain. Ranges are powder dry with grass fire danger. Livestock are in fairly good shape. Melon harvesting is underway. Dryland crops are at a standstill, but irrigated crops are making fine growth.

Scattered rains in West Central Texas failed to remedy the overall drought situation. Stock water is so low in some places that producers are hauling water. Pastures are adequate, but not green. Prospects are for early feeding. Cotton is wilting and shedding. The sorghum crop appears short. Combining and baling are underway.

In Central Texas, Bell County had its first bale of cotton. Harvesting is on in Hill and McLennan counties. All crops need moisture. Cattle are losing weight in dry pastures. Peanuts are holding up.

The drought has reached into East Texas, where outlook is short to very short. The hay crop has been hit hard. Pastures are average to below. Cattle are still in good condition, with a steady market. Cotton is opening.

Recent downpours have kept the Gulf Coast area green. Pastures are average and cattle good. Cotton harvesting is underway in a few counties. The corn harvest is starting. Hay is being cut. The pecan crop is light to fair.

Moisture is short in most of the Rio Grande Valley area. Showers have fallen but have succeeded only in delaying some harvesting. About 10 per cent of the cotton crop in the Coastal Bend and the Valley has been harvested. Peanuts are being harvested, and the corn harvest has started in the Winter Garden. Seed beds are being prepared for vegetables. Peppers and carrots are being planted. Pastures need rain, but livestock are in good condition.

No reports from South Central and Northeast Texas districts.

Sentenced For Matador Robbery

MATADOR, Tex. (AP)—Sammy Jim Horton, 24, who pleaded guilty of robbing the First State Bank of Matador last June 26, was sentenced to 10 years in prison Monday by Dist. Judge L. D. Ratliff.

Horton, a senior student at Texas Tech College at the time of the robbery, was caught while driving an automobile commandeered from a farmer near Floydada. He had $9,046 of the bank robbery loot when caught.

Travel Takes Giant Strides Since Days Of Wiley Post

By LARRY PHIPPS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — The short, stocky pilot with the patch-covered eye grinned at his lanky companion and revved up the engine of his second-hand Lockheed Orion for another takeoff into the Alaskan fog. Only 15 miles to go to Point Barrow.

The Eskimo, who had just given the men directions to Point Barrow, said trouble began almost as soon as the pontoon plane lifted from the waters of Refuge Bay. The engine faltered and then quit.

The red-winged monoplane, only 50 feet into the air, wheeled to the right and plunged into the icy waters off the bleak shoreline.

The Eskimo and his wife were the only witnesses that day — Aug. 15, 1935 — to the accident which killed famed humorist Will Rogers and Wiley Post, globe-circling pioneer of the air.

Both men have achieved their own immortality. In the 31 years since Post died, air travel has moved into space and men in capsules span the earth in hours.

It took Post and his navigator, Harold Gatty, 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes in 1931 for their record-smashing flight around the world in the Winnie Mae.

Two years later, Post made man's first globe-girdling solo flight. It took 7 days, 18 hours and 49 minutes — again in the Winnie Mae. The plane now rests in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

But the contributions of the Oklahoma boy, who left school at the age of 14, weren't limited to endurance records.

Some of the technical achievements Post marked up have made little-publicized contributions to modern flight.

For example, his interest in high altitude flight led Post — working with B. F. Goodrich Co. engineers — to design a workable pressurized flight suit.

During high altitude tests over Bartlesville, Okla., in 1934, Post ran into other troubles connected with reduced air pressure. The engine's ignition system failed, and radio condensers changed their tuning, making selective listening almost impossible.

Post drew on his own observations and World War I training in radio operations to design a sealed system into which compressed air was forced to maintain sea level pressures at high altitudes.

"The supercharger, pressurized radio and oxygen techniques Post pioneered are routine for all commercial and military flights today," says Dr. Stanley Mohler, director of the Federal Aviation Agency's aeromedical research program.

While straining for higher altitudes, Post also worked out a method of shedding the landing gear to lessen air drag. A skid attached to the undercarriage of the plane was used for landing. This is similar to the technique used today for landing the experimental X15 rocket plane.

Perhaps one of the more practical discoveries made by the pioneer aviator was during another 1934 flight.

Over Chicago, Post ran into mechanical trouble at 40,000 feet and failed in his effort to crack the 47,000-foot altitude record held by an Italian pilot.

But he did find that between 25,000 and 40,000 feet he had been able to shoot the speed of the Winnie Mae from a normal 170 miles per hour to more than 300 m.p.h. Post had found the then only-suspected jet stream.

Gasoline Demand Continues Climb

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Nationwide gasoline prices that ended a seven year downward trend in 1965 are continuing their comeback.

Products price stability and increased sales volume are being listed as important factors behind healthy financial reports of many major companies on operations during the first half of 1966.

A recent survey indicates a record January-June demand of gasoline was 4.5 per cent above the year earlier level.

A 52-city survey by the Oil and Gas Journal also indicated an average major brand regular gasoline price of 20.95, excluding federal, state and local taxes that average about 10 cents per gallon. The year earlier average was 20.20 cents per gallon, giving 1966's January-June first half an increase of about three-fourths of a cent per gallon.

The Journal's mid-year report said higher 1966 retail gasoline prices were recorded in all except two major marketing regions—the West Coast and the Rocky Mountain areas.

West Coast prices were unchanged at 20.6 cents a gallon. Rocky Mountain averages declined from 21.1 cents in 1965 to 20.9 cents.

Meanwhile, Midwest prices advanced 1.5 cents to 21.8 cents a gallon. Smaller increases averaging seven-tenths of a cent boosted the East Coast to 21.0 cents a gallon, the South Central area 20.9 cents, and Texas prices to 19.8 cents.

The Journal said the 52-city pump price, including taxes, averaged 31.27 cents a gallon compared to year earlier average 30.49 cents.

John E. Swearingen, board chairman of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) is among the executives who have described the general firming of domestic gasoline prices as one of the health-developments in the petroleum industry the past year.

Swearingen says a 1965 increase that averaged less than one cent a gallon has drawn some criticism from sources that have failed to take into account the decline of the seven preceding years.

Swearingen, writing in the summer edition of his company's shareholder-employe publication "Span," said the prices of 1958 through 1964 declined under the impact of heavy sales competition.

"The increases last year left prices still below the level of 1960, which certainly is no inflationary record," he said.

However, during this 1958-1964 period, Swearingen said, gasoline quality was being steadily improved despite the price decline.

"Each of these improvements in quality has added to the cost of making the product," he said. "In any event, the consistent rise in state and federal taxes on gasoline cannot be ignored. These taxes have increased about 1½ cents per gallon in the last seven years."

Swearingen said taxes now add about 50 per cent to the price of regular grade motor fuel.

"What has kept prices down has been intense competition and it is our firm belief gasoline prices should continue to be determined by competition rather than by views of anyone outside the industry as to what is or is not a proper level.

"As the record shows, competition has served the motorist very well indeed."

Seattle School Helps Train Many Natives Of 49th State

By DALE NELSON

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Minnie Trader wants to be a beautician.

So do lots of other girls, but Minnie has a special problem: There aren't any beauty schools in Emangak. So she is going to one in Chicago. And that's where the Seattle Orientation Center of the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs comes in.

Minnie, 25, who grew up in an Eskimo village on the Kuskokwim River in western Alaska, is one of about 750 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians from the 49th state who have passed through the center since it was founded three years ago.

Like the others, she is getting a helping hand from Uncle Sam under a program designed to provide Alaska natives and Indians with jobs and training to keep them off welfare rolls.

The Seattle center, housed in seven units of a motel, was established to ease the transition from village to city life for the Alaskans. Many of them have never ridden a bus, used a telephone, shopped in a supermarket or made a budget. On arrival here, they are given an allowance—$25 a week for single persons and a little more for families — and left to do their own budgeting. The bureau pays their rent.

Mrs. Jimmie Owens, a transplanted Texan who heads the center, periodically gives them assignments which require them to take buses to designated locations, shop for specific items and report back by telephone. They also visit factories, libraries and other institutions.

At group counseling sessions, in the dinette of the headquarters motel unit, the problems they encounter are thrashed out. After they finish here, the Alaskans go on to vocational schools or training jobs in other parts of the United States.

"Don't sell our students short because they don't know some simple things," says Mrs. Owens. "How would you make out if someone plunked you down in the middle of Beaver, Alaska, and told you to make it on your own? It would be a rough go."

Mrs. Owens knows what she is talking about. She has visited 19 native villages in Alaska since coming here from Dallas, where she was an employment officer for the bureau. To prepare for her assignment, she got a crash course from a team of psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers.

She and her assistant, social worker David Harley, say 5 to 8 per cent of those who come to the center return to Alaska without completing the course. Some have drinking problems. Some withdraw into themselves and refuse to speak. One became so depressed he wouldn't eat.

Mrs. Owens estimates that more than 200 young natives leave Alaska permanently each year.

"Alaska needs trained people," she says. "We try to get them into things that they can use if they go back, and we encourage them to go back."

For example, the Distant Early Warning stations in Alaska were once manned entirely by workers from what Alaskans call "the lower 48." Now many of them are manned by natives.

Ignati Jacob, an Eskimo from Napaiskak, signed up for the training program which he hopes will give him a trade as a welder.

"I just got tired of lying around," said Ignate.

About half of the enrollees are single men, a quarter young women and another quarter men with families.

The course here takes about six weeks, but varies according to how well the student is doing. Once, for instance, a young man about to ship out for Chicago got lost on an assignment and walked almost all night before he got back to the motel.

"We called Chicago and said we thought he had better stay a couple of more weeks," says Mrs. Owens.

Demos Study Nominees

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP)—The 62-member State Democratic Executive Committee will choose a nominee to run in place of Rep. Bill Satterwhite of Ennis this November.

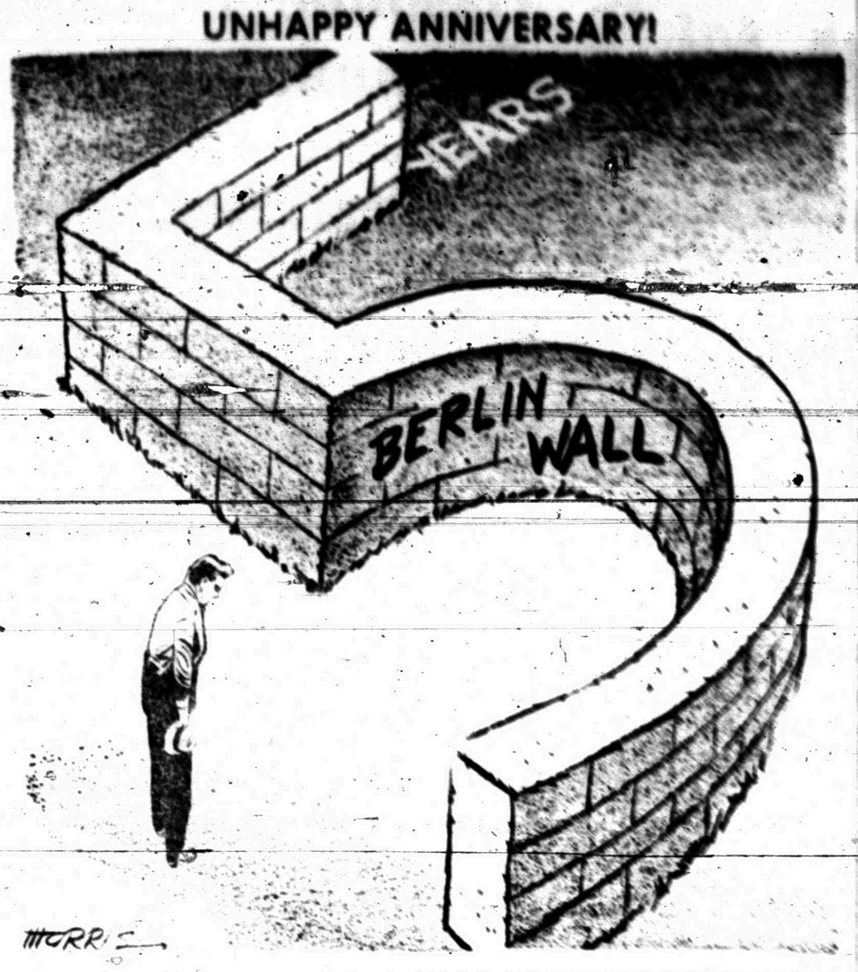
The Ellis and Hill Counties' Democratic chairmen deadlocked Monday on selecting a successor for the nomination and will submit resumes on their candidates for the full committee.

Waxahachie lawyer Steven Chapman and retired Air Force Gen. Aubrey Moore of Hillsboro were the men's nominees.

Also considered were Miss Virginia Duff of Ferris and L.W. Harris of Whitney, both former representatives; Joe Liska, Ennis butcher, and Bud Webb, Whitney lawyer.

Satterwhite has turned down the nomination to take a job with Lone Star Gas Co. in Dallas.

The hydrofoil ship Victoria was luanced in Baltimore in July 19655. She is designed to carry as many as 75 passengers across Puget Sound between Seattle, Washington and Victoria, D.C.



LBJ Says Reds Can't Win; But Reds Are Unconvinced

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is talking confidently under a gloomy umbrella.

He is more frank about Viet Nam than President John F. Kennedy was and shows more realism about it than used to be exhibited by Robert S. McNamara, who is his secretary of defense and was Kennedy's.

Although this country pumped billions of dollars in economic and military aid into South Viet Nam under President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Kennedy, that country was in danger of being lost to the Communists because the American-backed dictator President Ngo Dinh Diem did not put in the reforms the United States insisted upon.

You ddn't hear much about it from Kennedy. Apparently he felt that if Diem went, all hope went, until at last he cracked down shortly before Diem was assassinated. After that event things picked up. Gradually American forces there were built up.

McNamara seemed to have such a poor understanding of what was happening meanwhile, and of what lay ahead, that as late as 1964 he told Congress even if the war didn't go well this country should still withdraw most of its troops by 1965.

He said the Vietnamese had the primary responsbility for winning the war, which was true. But that always had been true. And if the South Vietnamese had been left to themselves, the Communists would have overwhelmed them, which was exactly what this country didn't want.

And there were McNamara's seemingly endless expeditions to Viet Nam for a look-see and his returns with statements almost always sunny, like things are progressing very well out there" or "the Vietnamese are on the right track" when, as it turned out, things weren't and the Vietnamese weren't.

Over the weekend the American commander in Viet Nam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, flew to Johnson's Texas ranch and talked with him four hours about problems, present and future. Then the men met with reporters.

Then — this was the confident part — Johnson said the Communists will not defeat the American forces in Viet Nam and that a victory for them is not only improbable" but "impossible."

Then he stood under this gloomy umbrella. Although he he said the Reds can't win, he admitted he doesn't know when until the Communists, recognizing the futility of their ambitions, either end the fighting, or seek a peaceful settlement."

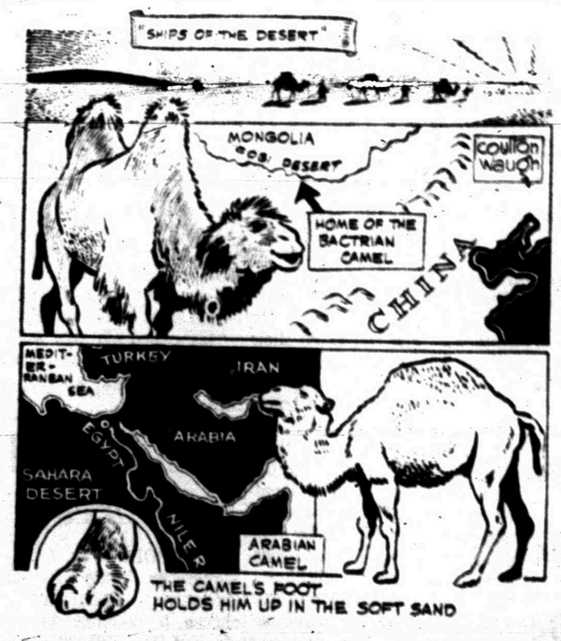
And further, because no one can say when the Communists will admit they can't win, no one can say now how many more Americans will be needed in Viet Nam to convince them.

At this moment there are about 291,000 American troops in South Viet Nam and Westmoreland said more than that will be needed, although he didn't say how many.

Or, as he put it: 'The single most important factor now is our will to prosecute the war until the communists, recognizing the futility of their ambitions, either end the fighting, or seek a peaceful settlement."

But he did reveal there are 280,000 enemy Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

Junior Editors Quiz on CAMELS



QUESTION: How is it possible for a camel to go without water for long periods?

* * *

ANSWER: Camels have worked for man longer than any other animal and have been of inestimable value to him. Without them, men could not have lived in the dry desert country of the Near East—and it was here, remember, that the first civilization started. Camels have the ability to go without water, and also without food, for considerable lengths of time. They can survive severe desert conditions which would destroy other creatures.

Many people believe that the camel carries a reserve of water in his hump, but this is not true. The camel has reserves of fat stored in his hump, and this acts as nourishment when he can't get anything to eat. Camels can go for long periods of time without water but will drink a great deal when they have a chance. Unlike most animals, they do not sweat—so their water supply lasts longer.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Ask a friend if he knows where camels live. He'll probably say Arabia and the Near East. He'll be right about one kind of camel; but you can tell him about the Bactrian Camel, which lives in north central Asia in such places as the Gobi Desert. This is the kind of camel with two humps. 8-16

Singer Had Early Start At Earning

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Kaye Stevens, red-haired bombshell of the night clubs, had an earlier career as probably the nation's most successful teen-age singing pilot salesman.

"I got used to money at a very early age," remarked the young singing comedienne. "I was just turning 7 when I won $7.50 in an amateur contest—and I gave it all to the church."

When she was 14 her father, a Cleveland, Ohio, mechanic, died, and she had to go to work in earnest. Kaye, a self-taught singer who also plays bass drums and the guitar, soon was making $150 a week.

But the girl is a hard worker. On graduating at 16 from high school she wanted to find something to occupy her days. She answered an ad requiring an ability to meet people.

"The job was selling cemetery plots, and I loved it," said Kaye. "I wore a black dress and black-rimmed glasses and made myself up to look a mature 22.

"I made a minimum of $500 a week. Whatever you do, be good at it—that's my motto.

"It lasted a year and a half. Then I quit it for a job singing in Buffalo at $125 a week. That doesn't seem like good business, but it was what I wanted to do. Besides, we had sold all the lots in that cemetery, and I'd have had to find another one."

There followed several years in which she toured the country with a lounge trio and had a brief fling at the movies.

Miss Stevens got her big break when she responded to an urgent call to replace ailing Debbie Reynolds in a Las Vegas spot. She chartered a small plane and flew through a storm to fill the engagement.

The trip was so hurried that her hairdresser was still combing out her long red hair when the spotlight came on and Kaye broke out with the notes of "Put on a Happy Face."

Alerted to her race against time, the audience gave her a big hand—and as the show business saying goes, a star was born.

Kaye now romps about the nation's night clubs, kissing some 300 bald men on the pate each year and gets up to $20,000 a week for her singing chores.

She puts the stamp of her own talent in every feature of her act. She writes much of her own material, arranges songs, designs her own glamorous wardrobe, and even works with the engineers on lighting problems.

Miss Stevens also still believes in cemetery plots, and the advisability of buying them in advance.

"I own 12 cemetery lots myself," she remarked. "They're nice to have.

"Did you know that if you go bankrupt, that's one thing the government or your creditors can't take from you — your cemetery property. It's a good investment and keeps going up in value."

New President May Find Middle Road Hard To Hold

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemala's new civilian president started his four-year term last month on a political tightrope.

If Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro steps too far to the left he may be tripped by strong conservative forces. Some disgruntled military officials who wanted to block his accession to power by a coup d'etat are still around.

But if he does not move far enough and fast enough along the reformist line, he may be shaken by leftist political opponents.

And a couple of underground Communist groups have sworn they will try to push him out no matter how delicate his footwork.

While promising economic and social reforms, the former law school dean appears to be starting his administration carefully near the middle of the road, seeking as broad a base of support as possible.

The successful candidate of the moderate leftist Revolutionary party is still enjoying a political honeymoon following his inaugural call for national unity. He needs all the support he can get to cope with the tremendous problems of this Central American republic.

Two Marxist guerrilla groups, pledged to the violent overthrow of the government, are operating in the northeastern mountains.

Most of the country's 4.4 million people — over half of them Indians — live in shocking poverty. Seventy-five per cent of the population — mostly peasants — have a per capita income of only about $100 a year.

The housing deficit is calculated at over 700,000 units.

The illiteracy rate is estimated at 75 per cent.

The government is suffering serious financial woes. Its internal debt is $95 million; its foreign debt, $55 million. Of its current $155 million budget, $19 million go to pay off debts.

To blunt the guerrilla threat, Mendez Montenegro offered amnesty to all who would lay down their arms within an eight-day period which ended 10 days ago. But before the eight days were up the guerrillas had scorned the offer.

Luis Augusto Turcios Lima, 24, leader of the rebel armed forces told local newsmen at a clandestine meeting in the capital: "Our struggle continues. Our objective is to seize power and give it to the workers and peasants. The army should give its arms to the people who are being exploited by the powerful ones."

Marco Antonio Yon Shosa, 36, leader of the 13th of November Revolutionary Movement, called a couple of newsmen to a mountain hideout to announce that his group would continue to fight "to install a revolutionary socialist regime in Guatemala."

President Mendez Montenegro is primarily concerned with getting programs started to improve rural conditions. He intends to press forward with a series of projects to construct new roads, build electric power plants, overhaul old, badly managed agrarian colonies, and use government-owned finacas or large farms as the basis for new agrarian colonies, probably organized as cooperatives.

He hopes to build new schools and health clinics in the countryside.

Where will the money come from? Finance Minister Alberto Fuentes Mohr plans to raise funds by increasing government revenues and getting long term loans from international lending agencies.

Guatemala did not have a personal income tax until 1963. But Fuentes Mohr comments: "It's not a tax law; it's more of an exemption law." He wants to reduce the exemptions and close the loopholes. Income tax — personal and corporate — is expected to bring in $12.6 millions this year, while import duties are to raise $33.6 millions.

Another tax source being eyed by the minister is the territorial, or estate, tax. The minister thinks its expected yield of $3.5 millions could be raised substantially — just by more realistic assessment of property values.

Missions from the World Bank, the Inter-American Development Bank and the U.S. Government have been conferring with the new government, expressing willingness to help.

TO GRADUATE—Dick Clemmer, 1961 graduate of Snyder High School, will receive the bachelor of arts degree Friday at McMurry College in Abilene. Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr will be the commencement speaker and will receive an honorary degree, along with Dr. John Frederick Olson, president of Oklahoma City University. Clemmer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Clemmer, formerly of Snyder.

Marbury vs. Madison is the first case in which the Supreme Court exercised its power to declare an act of Congress unconstitutional.

Army Pays Tab For Fishing Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has paid off the Navy for that splendid hit of fishing for a hydrogen bomb off Spain last April.

A Pentagon spokesman said today the settlement came to $5.34 million, which the Air Force paid the Navy by check.

This may be a decent wage for hauling up a supervaluable hydrogen bomb from 2,500 feet deep in the Mediterranean Sea.

It comes out to around $65,000 a day, considering that the nuclear device was missing for 80 days after it was dropped from a disintegrating B52.

The approved billing isn't a great deal more than the $5 million claim posted against the U.S. government by lawyers for Spanish fisherman Simo Orts, proclaimed as "the hero of the recovery" by U.S. Ambassador Angier Biddle Duke.

Orts saw the parachute floating the bomb after the B52 and a KC135 tanker collided. He told authorities it went thataway.

It remained for the Navy to haul it up after an extensive sea bottom search.

By joint service agreement, the Air Force was obliged to pay for the cost of recovery. After all, it was an Air Force bomb, signed for by the pilot of the B52 before he took off on what the United States called a training flight.

Actually, this was one of the daily flights by nuclear bomb-equipped planes the United States keeps airborne — just in case.

The cost of recovery, a spokesman said, included billing for the special equipment that was used and other "out of pocket expenses." But not figured in was the cost of normal operation of 15 or so naval ships nor salaries for scores of naval personnel who participated in the seahunt.

At the end of the fiscal year, the spokesman said, the Air Force came across with the check which covered these major items:

Oceans Systems Inc. — which leased the shallow-water operating submersible, the Cubmarine — $1.84 million.

Aluminaut, the deep-water submersible which, with the Navy's snub-nosed Alvin, played a key role in locating the bomb — $1.5 million.

The Mizar, an oceanographic research ship, $150,000.

The surveying ship Dutton, $348,000.

That amounts to about $2.92 million, which leaves an unexplained balance of about $2.42 million — "out of pocket expenses," you know.

Snyderite Due To Graduate At HSU

ABILENE— Mrs. Melba C. Worley, 3108 Avenue B, Snyder, will receive the bachelor of science degree at summer commencement at 8 p.m. Thursday at Hardin-Simmons University.

A hundred students from 12 states, Japan and the Canal Zone are scheduled to receive bachelor of arts, bachelor of business administration, bachelor of music, bachelor of science, master of arts, master of education and master of music degrees. Dr. Gordon Clinard, pastor of First Baptist Church in San Angelo, will be the commencement speaker.

Park Panel Studies Land Acquisition

AUSTIN (AP)—A $100 million land acquisition program through the year 2000 will be considered by the State Parks and Wildlife Commission next month, sources said Monday.

Gov. John Connally lent interest to park purchase plans when he stated late last year he was considering a land acquisition program costing between $25 million and $50 million over the 1967-69 fiscal period.

Sources said the program being prepared by the commission staff calls for purchase of more than 100,000 acres of land.

The governor's office received a land purchase plan from J. Weldon Watson, who quit in June as executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department, but sources in the governor's office said the commission recalled it for revisions.

Scenic areas, historic sites and recreational areas are included in the plan, which follows some features of a plan issued by Texas Tech in 1963. Several of the Tech planners are now employes of the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Sources said three guidelines were followed that would give priority to parks associated with water recreation, are near metropolitan areas and have statewide significance.

Countdown In Japan Began With Itokawa's Tiny Pencils

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

TOKYO (AP) — His first rockets were so tiny that they were nicknamed "Itokawa's pencils."

Prof. Hideo Itokawa of Tokyo University and Japanese missile technicians were forced to watch the United States and the Soviet Union get a head start in the space age. Allied occupation authorities prohibited the manufacture of rockets in Japan.

When the occupation, and the ban, ended Itokawa began experimenting with pencil rockets less than nine inches long. His tests had more the air of a man playing with toys. But that was 250 rockets and 10 years ago.

Now Japan's technicians are well advanced in the business of rocketry. They have great hopes of making Japan the fourth country in the world — after the United States, the Soviet Union and France — to place a satellite in orbit with one of its own rockets. The first Japanese space vehicle could start circling the earth next month.

Japan's space program is pegged to peaceful research but it has political and military implications that undoubtedly have led the government to push it. With Japan renouncing the use of nuclear weapons, the program gives this country a chance to demonstrate to the world that it is no less a modern power than neighboring Communist China with its nuclear bombs.

The rocket development obviously gives Japan the potential to deliver a nuclear warhead should it ever decide there is a need for an atomic arsenal.

Space exploration in Japan is supervised and subsidized by the state. But rocket development and testing for peaceful purposes have been almost exclusively the work of Tokyo University's Institute of Space and Aeronautical Science.

Itokawa, who has written scholarly articles on the manufacture of violins as well as missiles, is a central figure in the university program. The professor, 53, is a giant in Japan's aeronautical world. He served as an engineer at the Nakajima Aircraft Company which made most of Japan's World War II planes. In 1948 he became a professor in Tokyo University's engineering department. Rockets he designed were sold to Yugoslavia and Indonesia.

His institute has announced plans for a test flight this fall of a Japanese-made four-stage rocket called a Lambda 4-S. It is expected to reach a height of 200 miles or so.

"Japan's rockets are finally entering the four-stage era aimed at launching a satellite," says Itokawa.

The projected Lambda-4S — to go up sometime in September — will carry a titanium globe 18.7 inches in diameter with a number of instruments as its last stage. This object will weigh 86 pounds. It is possible it may go into orbit.

However, the placing of such a satellite into orbit, officials say, would be incidental to the main purpose of the flight which they describe as a test of a position control device.

Japan's space development program is a shoestring operation compared to the money spent in the United States the Soviet Union or other countries for such projects.

The total cost for all Japanese space projects last year was about 3.6 billion yen — $10 million — of which $6.8 million was spent by Itokawa's institute. Its annual budget was only $1 million five years ago.

Institute officials say the low cost is due to the use of Japanese-developed solid fuel instead of more expensive liquid fuels for the rockets.

The government's Science and Technology Agency also has a modest program of its own. So far it has launched 14 two-stage rockets using both solid and liquid propellant.

Japan's Defense Agency is developing short-range interceptor type rockets — the only outright military purposes.

More Texans Are Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) —Eight more Texans have died in Viet-Nam, the Defense Department said Monday.

Killed in action were Army Pfc. Robert O. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Davis, Colorado City; Army Pfc. Robert D. Findley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Findley, Houston; Army Pfc. Jimmy L. Hockaday, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Hockaday, Mount Pleasant; Army Pfc. Donald L. Richardson, husband of Mrs. Glenda S. Richardson, Corsicana; Navy HN Lawrence T. Steiner, husband of Mrs. Eileen L. Steiner, Freeport; and Marine Sgt. Walter Muller Jr., husband of Mrs. Walter Muller Jr., Galveston.

Dead of non-hostile causes were Army Pfc. A. Marroquin, husband of Mrs. Alma Marroquin, Mercedes, and Army Pfc. James R. Rice, son of Jimmie E. Rice, Fort Worth.

Lunar Orbiter Scans For First Targets For Cameras

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — America's camera circling the moon—Lunar Orbiter—was scanning swiftly over the pock-marked lunar surface today as scientists prepared for the main payoff—pictures.

"We're just waiting now planning to bring the picture sequence Thursday," scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

The first pictures, taken by the craft's precision camera package and relayed to earth by radio, probably will be released as they are received, said spokesmen for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

First target for the cameras will be the east edge of the moon, an area never seen by earth-based telescopes. Engineers expected the pictures to be televised first between 5:18 and 6:03 p.m. EDT, with later showings planned.

After the first series of pictures, Orbiter will be dropped into a lower orbit of the moon—28 miles by 1,150 miles above the surface—Sunday for its primary photographic goal.

That goal is to shoot more than 300 pictures of a 2,000-mile-long strip of lunar terrain along the equator where nine potential landing sites for American astronauts have been selected.

Victims Of Sniper Plan Wedding

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

GARLAND, Tex. (AP) — "You can't keep a girl down when she's getting married," said Janet Paulos, one of the Austin sniper's victims who spent much of the time in a hospital bed to plan for her wedding next week.

Janet and Abdul Kashab of Baghdad, Iraq, postponed the wedding from this Saturday until Aug. 27 but they'll both walk down the aisle without assistance and with no bandages showing.

The couple was on Austin's main street by the University of Texas on Aug. 1 when they were knocked down by Charles Whitman's bullets from the tower. Whitman shot 44 persons from the tower, killing 14.

We were some of the lucky ones," Janet said, adding that neither her left shoulder or her fiance's right elbow would be permanently impaired from the bullet wounds.

Janet was hospitalized 10 days and her fiance 11 days. Since her return home last Wednesday, Janet says she has been scurrying around taking care of details for what she hopes will be a quiet, simple wedding at the church.

She's hoping the publicity surrounding her injuries won't mar the chances of such a ceremony.

Her mother has been screening most of her telephone calls but Janet says friends and relatives she hasn't heard from in years have called to see how she is.

After the marriage, Janet and Abdul will live in Austin while she completes her senior year in history and he writes his dissertation for a doctorate in organic chemistry.

They plan to live in Baghdad eventually.

Showers Skip Some Areas

AUSTIN (AP)—The U. S. Department of Agriculture says dry conditions were relieved in some parts of the state by widespread scattered showers last week.

The department's weekly crop-weather report said areas skipped by shower activity "remain extremely dry and continue to need moisture."

Cotton harvesting continues "unusually slow and late," the report said. Statewide, the crop is about 3 per cent harvested, compared with 9 per cent a year ago.

Sorghum combining is at 32 per cent, compared with 34 per cent a year ago.

Rice cutting is one-third complete, compared with 56 per cent in the same week of 1965.

The main potato crop in the High Plains is nearing completion.

Pepper and cabbage planting continued in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The citrus crop is being irrigated 'and continues to look good," the report said.

BUSY SHOP — Ronald Bearden (left), shop foreman, and Bob White, service manager of Snyder Heating and Air Conditioning Co. on the Big Spring Highway, are busy with installation plans for evaporative coolers during the special sale now being offered by the company

Evaporative Coolers Move Fast In Special Offering

"Get 'em while they last!" That was the suggestion given by officials of Snyder Heating and Air Conditioning Co. as it launched a recent sale on evaporative coolers.

The Lennox coolers, which are made of heavy steel and don't rust as fast as other coolers on the market, are being offered at a special price.

"We still have a few models in all sizes," said Vernon O. Rannefeld, owner of the firm, "but they are going fast."

Workmen at Snyder Heating and Air Conditioning can tell what size of cooler is needed for any house by taking a survey in which they measure sizes of windows and doors, etc. at no charge.

"We'll be glad to make a survey for you at no obligation on your part," said Rannefeld.

Now is the time of year also to think about repairs to the heating system. If you've had problems last year with your heating system, you still have time to get Snyder Heating and Air Conditioning Co. to make the necessary repairs before cold weather gets here.

Old hands at the heating and air conditioning business, employes at Snyder Heating and Air Conditioning can install electric or gas heaters that will fit any size house.

The Lennox coolers that are on special sale require very little maintenance and they run quietly and efficiently. The prices for these coolers are the best that can be offered.

Planning to build a new home? Most new homes that are built now are equipped with refrigerated air conditioning. Refrigerated air conditioning is the coming thing. It's something that is in everyone's future.

"Some people have the idea that refrigerated air conditioning is expensive," said Rannefeld, "But the refrigerated coolers we have on the market today can provide you with more comfortable, drier air at less than 50 cents per day with an average size house."

The refrigerated air conditioners last four times as long as evaporative coolers.

Snyder Heating and Air Conditioning Co. guarantees all of its work. Drop by the company offices on the Big Spring Highway or dial HI 3-4411 for a free estimate. Easy payment plans also can be arranged.

Strike Stops Beer Delivery

HOUSTON (AP)—A brewery workers strike bottled up an estimated 70 to 80 per cent of beer deliveries here Monday but an informal survey showed barkeeps and beer lovers hadn't panicked yet.

Truck drivers, helpers and warehousemen of Brewery Workers Union Local 111 set up pickets at Pearl and Falstaff outlets only. Jax and Lone Star managements locked out employes when they reported to work.

Distributors of all four brands are members of the Greater Houston Wholesale Beer Distributors' Association.

The union, seeking higher commissions for drivers and helpers as well as larger benefits, had reported it was striking only Pearl and Falstaff because it didn't want to "dry up the town."

Other distributors refused their employes' work because they said all four had been negotiating a joint contract with the union.

FRESH FLOWERS — The experienced designers at Hinshaw's House of Flowers on the Big Spring Highway work with fresh flowers every day. Trucks bring in flowers to Hinshaw's Mondays through Fridays to assure local patrons of the best in quality and freshness. Busy with a special arrangement are, from left to right, Jesse Criswell, Mrs .Garland Shaw, Mrs. Hinshaw and Hershell Hinshaw.

Hinshaw's Keeps Constant Supply Of Fresh Flowers

Fresh flowers for every day and for every occasion.

That statement pretty well sums up the quality products and service Hinshaw's House of Flowers on the Big Spring Highway just southeast of the Deep Creek bridge provides its patrons in the Snyder area.

Monday through Friday, Hinshaw's has trucks coming into town with fresh flowers. This guarantees their customers fresh flowers every day. The company has a sufficient volume of business with a good turnover to assure that the flowers you buy will be fresh.

And with four qualified designers, Hinshaw's makes sure that its patrons receive quality in design as well as freshnes in flowers.

"We are striving to give Snyder and Scurry County people better than the best in flowers," explained Hershel Hinshaw, who operates the House of Flowers with his wife, Mrs. Pat Hinshaw.

Mrs. Garland Shaw, a former employe, has returned to Hinshaw's where she can use her special talents as a designer. The other top designer at Hinshaw's is Jesse Criswell.

Whatever the occasion—for birthdays, weddings, funerals or anniversaries—Hinshaw's has fresh flowers of many types and shades of color to suit every taste and pocketbook.

The floral shop has cut flowers, pot plants and artificial arrangements with a wide selection of ivy planters and large planter tubs. Hinshaw's also has a variety of ceramics and brass containers that would make ideal gifts.

But, whatever the occasion, you can be sure that if you purchase flowers from Hinshaw's they will be fresh—regardless of the occasion or day of the week.

Refrigeration is maintained in both the floral shop and in the delivery trucks.

McDuff Trial Transferred

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — An examining trial for Kenneth McDuff was shifted to a courtroom near the county jail Monday when the sheriff expressed fears for his safety.

McDuff, 20, and Roy Green, 18, are charged with murder in the shooting death of two teenage youths and the rape-slaying of their companion, Edna Louise Sullivan, 16.

The sheriff's office asked that the Wednesday examining trial for McDuff be transferred from a peace justice court one block from the jail to a criminal district courtroom in the same building with the jail.

McDuff is accused of shooting to death Robert Brand, 17, of Alvarado and Marcus Dunnam, 16, of Tarzana, Calif., and stuffing their bodies in the trunk of a car found south of here Aug. 7. The body of the girl was found several miles away the next night.

Texans Killed In Georgia Collision

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Two cars, one carrying a family of five from Henderson, Tex., collided at an intersection and burst into flames Monday. Nine persons, seven from Georgia, were injured.

Two of the victims burned to death.

Killed were Lewis Anderson Wright, 35, Willie Wright, 66, and Lesa Wright, 6, all of Henderson.

Among the injured were Mrs. Bonnie Belle Wright, 63, and Donna Wright, 8, also of Henderson. Mrs. Wright was in critical condition and the child in fair condition.

Lake Nicaragua, Nicaragua, is the world's only freshwater home for swordfish and man-eating sharks.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Q—My return was audited and the agent disallowed some of my deductions. Is there any way I still might be able to claim them?

A—When you receive the notice of the proposed adjustment to your tax liability, you may request a district conference. This will enable you to present your side of the story to a conferee. Procedures for requesting this conference are described in the letter you will receive enclosing the agent's report.

Q—"We sold some furniture in our home at a loss when we moved. Can we deduct this?

A—No. Loses on the sale of personal property are not deductible.

Before you file next year's return, be sure to look into the deductions and exclusions you might be entitled to as a result of your change of residence, however.

Q—I'm a doctor and have my own private practice. How much can I put aside a year for retirement?

A—You may contribute to a retirement plan as much as $2,500 a year or 10 percent of income earned from your practice, whichever is less. Your deduction for such contributions is limited to half the annual amount, up to $1,250. Remember that if you set up such a plan you must include each of your full-time employees who has completed three or more years of consecutive service.

IRS Document No. 5592, "Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals," explains the rules and filing requirements for these plans. A free copy is available by writing any district director.

Q—My employer wants me to take a single course in business administration which will help me in my job. If I do this, will my costs be deductible as an educational expense?

A—If your employer requires you to take the course to retain your present job, status, or pay or if it is necessary to improve or maintain the skills needed for your present job, then the costs are usually deductible. If the course qualifies you for another job or a promotion then the costs will not be deductible.

When you have a deductible educational expense, tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees and similar items are covered. Travel expenses including meals and lodging may be deductible too, if incurred in connection with deductible educational expenses.

Q—Are traffic violation fines tax deductible? We got stuck with one while on vacation.

A—No, they are not deductible.

East Texas Marchers Cancel Plans

AUSTIN (AP) — Would-be sponsors of an East Texas march on the state capitol say they are not marching but are glad another group has started a march out of Huntsville to Austin.

The Texas AFL-CIO headquarters issued an official statement late Monday saying that Kermit Davison, public information officer, could not follow his original plans to lead a march of East Texas Negroes because he was a student counselor at a week-long youth citizenship conference in Austin.

"I had originally planned to have a march leave Huntsville today (Monday) but another group left Sunday for Austin," Davison's statement said. "The proposed march sponsored by organized labor was not a civil rights demonstration, but an indication of support for a minimum wage law of $1.25 an hour. East Texas Negroes need such a law as much as the Valley farm strikers and all laboring people in Texas. We are happy to see the Huntsville marchers join the battle of the working people of Texas."

Earlier Monday there were reports that 16 placard-carrying marchers walked along Interstate 45 south of Huntsville. They were accompanied by Booker T. Bonner, Austin Negro who has had a part in several civil rights demonstrations in Austin and Huntsville.

The state AFL-CIO office said it had no information on Bonner's group or the route it would follow.

Davison's announcement several weeks ago of a march said his East Texas group planned to meet a march of farm workers from the Rio Grande Valley in Austin on Labor Day for a rally in support of a state minimum wage bill.
