MID-CONTINENT PROSPEROUSLY AWAITS BOOST

If Pennsy Increase Means Light Crude Hike Dull Summer is Gone

BETTER AND BETTER

New Standard Head, Sailing For Europe, Predicts Nation-Wide Rise

A blanket prediction from oil men that North Texas would for once in its history experience a lively and eventful summer so far as its oil industry was concerned was made by Wichita Falls operators and oil men yesterday following the announcement of a 15 to 25-cent increase in all grades of Pennsylvania light oil. The prediction was based on the saying, "as Pennsylvania goes, so goes the Mid-Continent,"—not always true, but true often enough to make the fluctuations of Pennsylvania crude very interesting to the Mid-Continent producer.

Highest in Years.

An increase in Mid-Continent crude would do two things for North Texas, first, give its oil producers the highest price they have received in several years for their product, and second, serve as an incentive for a drilling campaign in the midst of a season that is usually as dead as the grave.

There were no local increases yesterday. One big company representative in denying the rumor that his company had posted new offerings, while refusing to state he was expecting authorization for new postings, did say that conditions were very favorable for Mid-Continent increases.

Colonel R. W. Stewart, new Standard head, on sailing for Europe yesterday, forecasted a light oil advance over the entire nation very shortly.

Independents Sell.

In the meantime some twelve or thirteen thousand barrels of production has been taken from the hands of the North Texas independents within the last few months by the Prairie Oil and Gas company, the Texas company, and others, leases to be operated at the same cost regardless of whether the oil is bringing $2.25 or $3.00—or for that matter, $1.25. A dual reason for these purchases may be seen in the prospective crude advance.

The light oil situation has been pronounced sound since Wortham passed its peak. The threat at Bazette and at Buffalo-Mabank left the market structure unhurt and the influx of Smackover crude oil and the development of that pool into the largest single producing area the world has ever known failed to dampen the ardor of the light oil producer. Production continued to fall off, and consumption to increase.

More Than Sound.

After a week or so of uncertainty and the usual spring slump, more a matter of habit than anything else, the conviction that the market was safe and sound began to carry. A few weeks of this, news of increases have led operators to regard their market as more than safe and sound, to regard a rise in prices as almost certain.

Be that as it may an increase in Mid-Continent crude prices, when it does come, if that is ordained to be, will find a perfect receptive background among operators and producers—the background of expectation.

Gas Stocks Decrease.

In this connection it is interesting to note that gasoline stocks decreased 296,000 barrels during April, said reports Wednesday by the American Petroleum Institute as quoted by Associated Press dispatches covering 64 per cent of the operating capacity of the United States. Pipe line and tank farm crude oil stocks east of the Rocky mountains decreased 1,588,000 barrels in April.

The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 67,600 barrels for the week ended May 16, totaling 2,305,950, according to the institute's weekly summary. The daily average of production of Smackover, Ark., heavy oil field increased 47,750 barrels. The daily average production excluding Smackover heavy increased 19,850 barrels. The daily average production east of California was 1,703,450, an increase of 63,100. California production was 602,500, an increase of 4,500.

Oklahoma's daily average production was 444,700, a decrease of 350; Kansas 100,150, an increase of 4,500; North Texas 90,400, an increase of 550; East Central Texas 130,400, an increase of 150; West Central Texas 85,000, an increase of 1,650; North Louisiana 51,950, a decrease of 400; Arkansas 448,800, an increase of 47,000; Gulf Coast 105,400, an increase of 6,400; Southwest Texas 52,850, an increase of 4,000; Eastern Texas 104,000, an increase of 500; Wyoming, Montana and Colorado 89,600, a decrease of 900.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week were 193,000 barrels compared with 226,714 for the previous week. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf coast ports were 74,857 barrels compared with 105,143 for the previous week.

30th Court's Dignity At Archer City Disrupted As Evidence Explodes

ARCHER CITY, May 20.—Vision of trouble and plenty of it danced before the eyes of District Attorney James V. Allred Jr., and other court officials here today when a resounding bang disrupted dignity in the 30th district court room.

A suit over an alleged violation of the state prohibition laws was on trial and the district attorney was in the midst of a strong argumentation of the affair. Behind him on the counsel table were several bottles of choc beer that had been used as evidence.

They looked harmless enough, but suddenly without any warning whatsoever one of the bottles exploded with a crash audible on the streets below. There then followed other reactions that upset the equilibrum of the court.

Time out was necessary until the mess could be cleared away and the case resumed.

W. H. Pettigrew and W. S. Henson were the names given for the two defendants, each of which was sent to the state penitentiary for five years. They were arrested in connection with the finding of more than 600 bottles of liquor in a tent near Megargel.

FINE POINTS IN LAW PUT AXE ON CONVICTIONS

One Wichitan Escapes Pen Because Initials Are Lacking

A seven-year sentence assessed in district court here nearly a year ago against John Parrish, found guilty of incest, was affirmed in a ruling handed down Wednesday by the court of criminal appeals at Austin. Parrish, formerly a member of the Wichita Falls fire department, has been at liberty on bond since his conviction. The prosecutrix in the case against Parrish was his niece.

Another Reversed

In a ruling handed down Wednesday by the court of criminal appeals at Austin, the four-year sentence imposed on Albert Zeff of Electra, convicted in district court here on charges of receiving and concealing stolen property, was reversed and remanded.

The defendant was alleged to have been implicated in the disposition of some oil field material stolen from the Magnolia Petrolia company.

A three-year sentence in the case of the state vs. M. S. Carter, convicted in Wichita county in 1922 and sentenced to five years in prison for highway robbery was also reversed by an appelate court ruling.

No Initials Shown

Zeff won his reversal, because of the "lack of diligence of the grand jury in getting the initials of the injured party."

Rehearing was overruled in the case of Charles Coney, Wichita, two years for embezzlement. The court reversed and remanded carter's sentence because of error of the court in refusing a new trial, when the state had not controverted his motion.

For the second time in two weeks run-away boys have been located and returned to their parents through the medium of the Record News. Wayne Williams, wandering son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Williams of Iowa Park, who has been missing since last week was returned to the fold when he was found working in a Wichita Falls bakery. According to Mr. Williams they were notified over the telephone by someone who said he had read of the youth's disappearance in the Record News.

Riff Rebel Forces Reported Increasing

PARIS, May 20.—(AP)—Late reports from Morocco say that the forces of Abd-El-Krim, the rebel leader, on the Ouergha river, which were estimated at 20,000 men, when the first drive began, have been largely increased.

He is believed to be making ready for a hard push toward Ouezzan.

The rebel leader's attempt to transform his movement into a holy war is believed to have failed, because he is at the head of a mass of Berber tribesmen, who have no sympathies with the Mussulmans.

BUILDING HITS A SLUMP

In Spite of Low Totals, May Permits Likely to Go Over Half-Million.

Building permits for Wednesday struck another low level in contrast to the mark of nearly $350,000 set Tuesday. Yesterday's permit record amounted only to $5,500, represented by five permits. The largest was for $3,000 residence.

Despite the lack of activity as manifested Wednesday, permits for the week will establish a record for May and will probably be the means of putting the May total over the half-million dollar mark. A permit for $320,000 was issued Tuesday for erection of the new Perkins-Snider building at Ninth and Indiana.

REHEARING FOR GRIFFIN RULING TO BE SOUGHT

Humphrey May Go to Austin Today to Make Application to Court

CONVICTION NILLED

Court of Criminal Appeals Holds Error in Trial Court's Charge

Although his conviction and 25-year penitentiary sentence for the murder of Hugh Reilly Jr., was reversed and remanded Wednesday by the court of criminal appeals, Herbert Griffin, wealthy Dundee rancher, must remain in jail until still further steps may be taken by his atorneys to secure his release. Any efforts to secure Griffin's release, at least until a state application for a rehearing is denied, will be met with vigorous opposition, District Attorney James V. Allred declared Wednesday.

It was believed Wednesday night that the state's motion might be presented before the court some time Thursday. Leslie Humphrey, special prosecutor retained to assist in conducting the case against Griffin, planned to go to Austin today, if possible, and make the application. The state has 15 days in which to seek a rehearing.

Morrow Withdrew.

Judge W. C. Morrow, chief justice of the court of criminal appeals and father of Tarlton Morrow of Weeks, Morrow, Francis and Hankerson, leading counsel for Griffin, did not sit in hearing of the appeal. He announced some time ago that he would disqualify himself from any connection with the case in which his son was interested.

A clause in the charge of Judge H. R. Wilson, before whom the case was tried, relative to dueling, was one of the principal causes for the reversal. In his charge the trial court had the following to say:

"A duel is a combat or fight engaged in by two persons with deadly weapons by agreement or pre-arrangement. Any person who wounds another in a duel from which such wounded person dies within three months thereafter, is guilty of murder. If you find and believe from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant, Herbert Griffin, and the deceased, Hugh Reilly Jr., engaged in a combat or fight with deadly weapons by agreement or prearrangement and that in such combat, if any, the defendant wounded the said Hugh Reilly Jr., from which wound the said Hugh Reilly Jr., died within three months thereafter, then you will find the defendant guilty of murder and assess his punishment at death or confinement in the state penitentiary for life or for any term of years not less than five."

Defense Objection.

An objection was raised to this part of the charge by the defense attorneys, and in reviewing it the appeal court said: "The facts do not raise the issue of dueling. The charge upon that subject should have been omitted. That it was injurious is patent."

Continuing further with its opinion, the appeals court found error in

Wichitan Elected To Head Labor Council; May Meet Here, 1925

The convention endorsed Wichita Falls as the next meeting place. Whether or not the convention will meet in that city next year depends, however, upon whether or ont the state federation of labor selects it as the location for its annual meeting, since the council resolved Tuesday to hold its meeting each year in the same town as the federation.

MOB ABOUT DALLAS JAIL CALLS FOR NEGROES WHO ADMIT TERROR

DALLAS, May 20.—(AP)—Several thousand persons gathered about the Dallas county jail here tonight demanding Frank Noel, and Lorenzo Noel, negro brothers, who police announced, confessed today to the murder of Ryan Adkins and assault on his companion, Mrs. Mary Steer, last month.

A large portion of the crowd was women.

Several companies of the fire department were called out to keep the mob back with streams of water, which they played into the street in front of the jail. Police reserves also were on duty.

The negroes were indicted today on six charges of murder and assault for the deaths of Adkins and W. L. Milstead and assaults on Mrs. Steer and Mrs. Mabel Berry.

The negroes were arrested last Friday. Saturday Mrs. Berry, who is still ill from the assault, identified Frank Noel as the negro who killed her escort, Ryan Adkins, and later assaulted her. Since then the police have been piling up evidence against the two negroes, and today they obtained from Frank Noel a written confession which is said to establish that the two are the "black terrors" which have been committing a series of murders and holdups in Dallas during the last few months.

Trial for Frank Noel was set for May 28 and for his brother June 4 in criminal district court here.

Assistant District Attorney Perry, who was a victim of the robbers, will assist in the prosecution.

Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Steer went before the grand jury today to give their testimony. Mrs. Berry was carried to the jury room in a chair.

IOWA PARK TO DISCUSS NEW WATER BONDS

Mass Meeting Called For Consideration of Dam Project

IOWA PARK, May 20.— Amass meeting will be held here one night next week to discuss the proposed bond issue for building a dam and providing an adequate water supply for the city. Engineers from Dallas have made a preliminary survey and place the cost at $125,000 to complete the project.

Wednesday afternoon Fred L. Haskett, assistant manager of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce, visited here at the request of the local chamber of commerce. Haskett waged a four years campaign in Childress for a water supply for that city, which now has one of the best lakes and water systems in Texas.

Water Is Bad

Due to oil wells having been drilled near the city wells, salt water has entered the water bearing strata of the city supply. It is planned to build a dam that will impound close to a billion gallons. The site was visited by Haskett, who gave as his opinion that it would be an ideal one for a dam and lake. About 100 acres will be submerged to a depth of 25 feet. The distance from Iowa Park is only two miles and a large reserve reservoir can be placed on the hill near the northwest edge of the city. The hill is slightly lower than the present water reservoir, which is 100 feet high.

Interest on Issue

It was figured that the interest and sinking fund on a bond issue sufficient to build a dam and lay a pipe line into Iowa Park will be $8,000 yearly. Due to hardness of water now used the residents of the city are paying $8,000 yearly as extra cost of soap alone. The saving in plumbing and reduction of the fire insurance key rate would almost amount to several thousand dollars annually. It is also planned to contract with the Fort Worth and Denver railway to use water from the lake, which can be piped to the tracks and delivered by gravity flow.

Tulsa Oil Operator Files a Voluntary Bankruptcy Petition

TULSA, Okla., May 20.—Loring G. Bradstreet, a Tulsa oil operator, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in federal court here today, listing liabilities of $1,202,038.33 and assets of $814,199.55 for himself and three oil corporations which he operates. The corporations are the Bradstreet Oil company, L. G. Bradstreet, Inc., and the Bradstreet corporation.

Officials of the corporation said heavy adverse investments in the Smackover, Ark., oil region and the decline in production and the price of oil there was principally responsible for the resort to the bankruptcy court.

Sterling Exchange In N. Y. Approaches Dollar Parity Mark

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Sterling exchange today approached within one-half cent of dollar parity —$4.86⅝—which goal has not been reached since November, 1914.

Demand bills on London were quoted at $4.86 5-8, an overnight gain of one quarter of a cent when the market opened and rose steadily until they reached the top figure of $4.86 4-16 in the early afternoon slipping back slightly just before the market closed.

Foreign exchange dealers reported a tremendous increase in sterling transactions.

The world-wide interest in sterling's remarkable recovery from the extreme low of $4.19, in February, 1920, was evident in the far east, Australia, South poured into New York during the last week from the far east, Australia, South dent from the buying orders which have Africa, South America and other remote corners of the globe as well as from London, Paris, Berlin and other European countries.

JAZZBABY NOW SANE; TO FACE TRIAL FOR LIFE

Dot Ellingson Adjudged Rational After Close Medical Observation

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—(AP)—Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old San Francisco matricide, is sane, and must go to trial on a charge of murder. Dr. J. M. Scanland, medical superintendent of the Napa State hospita and his staff of seven other physicians, today presented a report to District Attorney Matthew Brady saying that a close observation of the girl for a period of more than 30 days has determined that she was in full possession of her faculties and mentally responsible in every way.

Dr. Scandland came to San Francisco to present the report in person.

Assistant District Attorney Harmon D. Skillen, the prosecutor in the case, said that he expected to have the girl returned to the county jail tomorrow. He was ready to go ahead with the murder trial on Monday, he said.

The girl was committed to the hospital on April 9, after a jury had found her insane. The insanity hearing was substituted for the murder trial because of the girl's hysterical outbursts in the court room during the latter hearing.

Dorothy Ellingson, "jazz mad" disciple of the night life, shot and killed her mother, Mrs. Anna Ellingson, at their home here on January 13 after being refused permission by the elder woman to attend a liquor party that night. The girl attended the party and was arrested a day later.

The jury deliberated three hours.

The audience applauded tumultously. Governor Davis dashed into the private chamber of District Judge James A. McClure as soon as he was able to break away from friends in the court room.

"Thank you judge," he said, grasping the jurists' hand.

"Congratulate my wife—this is her victory," declared the former governor when a friend patted him on the shoulder.

Mr. Davis made this brief statement to the Associated Press:

"Its the kind of vindication I expected and deserved."

Then he rushed from the court house saying he would rest well tonight.

Oil Co. Earnings Probably Due For Increase—Sinclair

NEW YORK, May 20.—Present earnings of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation are running at an annual rate of $30,000,000 and probably will increase, Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the board, told stockholders at the annual meeting today. For the first time, he said, 100 per cent of the company's facilities and capital were working, whereas there has been times when from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 had been engaged in constructing new facilities. Inevitable Capitulation to Time Warned U. C. V.

Resolution Proposes Abandonment of Annual Reunion of Vets

DALLAS, May 20.—(AP)—Veterans of the Confederacy prepared today to surrender to their final foe—time. A proposal to discontinue the annual reunions because of the advanced age of the survivors and to hold department reunions instead was made at the thirty-fifth reunion opening here today. The plan will be considered in detail tomorrow.

Resolution Offered.

A resolution offered by Colonel J. B. Lewis of Anderson, S. C., and General W. H. Cely of Greenville, S. C., indicated that the veterans themselves recognized that the inevitable dissolution is at hand and that they cannot long continue the general gatherings that have brought them together for the last 35 years to recount the battles which they fought in the lost cause.

The plan is to have reunion in their department, each department then to send delegates to the annual convention to be held in New Orleans, La., the headquarters of the veterans association. Each of the 17 divisions of the organization would be reported at the annual convention by the one delegate. The inability of the veterans longer to stand the wear of long travel, as well as the expense of the annual reunion, are among the reasons given for the proposal to discontinue the general gathering.

Reunions Strenuous.

"The time is drawing near, if not already at hand, when we should put our houses in order to meet the changes that are necessary at this time," reads the resolution. "Our members are being rapidly demolished by the passing away of our comrades. Each year adds to the infirmities of our members, who are left with us. The expenses of transportation are burdensome, and the distances to be traveled in order to attend our annual reunions are too great, and the strain of the long trips from the extremes of our territory are too exacting to be borne by the majority of those who would otherwise make the effort.

"The dues from the camps, and contributions from the officers of the camps, brigades and division are not sufficient to cover the necessary expenses at headquarters in New Orleans."

Where Buyer and Seller Meet

Refined Market Strikes Bullish Stride As Pennsy Gets Increase

ALL PRODUCTS RESPOND WITH GASOLINES UP

Both High And Low Gravities Going Good In North Texas

NATURAL GAS, TOO

Atlantic Cleans up Gas Oil Supply in Wichita Falls

A stiff market for refined products marked the passing of the mid-point in the current week yesterday afternoon. A general spirit of optimism, occasioned by the news that Pennsylvania grades of crude oil had responded to the declining light oil production and been given a 15 to 25 cent increase on all grades served with news of retail gasoline increases in Fort Worth and other points to perceptibly strengthen an already bullish market and at the close of business yesterday the outlook was more distinctly favorable, in the eyes of most refiners and oil men in the district, than it has been in several months.

One Jump Ahead.

The Pennsylvania increase places the crude in that state where it was a little more than a month ago—one jump ahead of the Mid-Continent. In the series of early spring and late winter increases the Pennsy grades were given one more raise than was Mid-Continent oil. This was counteracted a short while ago by a decrease that was not handed the Mid-Continent. Now an increase again. Not always, but lots of times the Mid-Continent follows its eastern sister producers.

Atlantic, Sinclair and Carson were still buying yesterday in the high gravity market, with prices quoted from one-quarter at 14 to 14 1-4 cents 64-66 gravity. End point 450, 56-58 motor fuel was stronger than in some time at 11 1-4 cents minimum, with the navy grade, end point 487 quoted at 11 1-2 to 11 3-4. Fuel oil was stronger at about 90 cents, the Smackover increase again strengthening this commodity.

Atlantic Gets Gas Oil.

Kerosene was reported fairly active, and was being quoted at about 4 1-4 cents. Atlantic has recently taken something like 100 to 145 cars of gas oil out of North Texas alone, and a price of 2 7-8 was being quoted yesterday with little to be had.

Natural gasoline is keeping pace with straight run gasolines, and the "A" grades were firm at 13 3-4 cents and "B" and "XX" grades at 12 3-4 cents. The first is an advance of nearly a full cent in 48 hours, and one-half cent on the later grades. The increased demand for gasoline and the plan of refiners to draw on stored motor fuel so the current runs can be stored, is developing an increased demand for natura gasoline.

F-H-E Pool Southwest Of Olney Shows Three Wells—Much Starting

New Area Bears Much promise For Development; Three Wells Make 200 Barrels.

By A. HALLMAN.

One of the most promising small areas in north Young county today is found about two miles southwest of Olney, where the F-H-E Oil company and the Olney Refining company and Anderson have three wells making between them about 200 barrels a day from sand just below 1,000 feet. Four more wells are spudding or preparing to spud, three or four other locations have been made, and the section inside of a week should present one of the most active areas in the district.

Three Wells In.

The best well is that of the F-H-E company, Hardesty and others, in the northeast corner of the G. W. Dunagan farm, TE&LCO survey, block 170, pumping better than 100 barrels from two feet of sand at 1,024-26 feet. It is slightly south and west of thed iscovery, making about 20 barrels of oil and some water from about the same sand depth.

North of the F-H-E well is that of the Olney Refining company and Poke Anderson, making about 70 barrels of oil and some water. The three are the only wells in the area.

Just north of the Olney Refining company et al hole that concern will put down a second test.

A location north of the discovery well location has been made for the No. 3, the No. 2 showing dry just to the east of the discovery. A location west of the No. 1, G. W. Dunnagun, F-H-E is spudding on its No. 2, while 600 feet west of this test Roamer Oil company is spudding and drilling on its No. 1 G. W. Dunagan.

A location west of the Olney Refining company-Anderson well, J. S. Bridwell is moving in a rig, while in the center east and west and 150 feet north of the south line of west ten acres of the east fifty acres of the south 100 of the north 213, Consolidated Oil company has made a location.

Gulf has made a location in the northwest corner of the south portion of their Swain lease in TE&LCO survey, block 161, while Swastika Oil syndicate et al have a rig running a short distance to the south.

The area is almost directly between the Peter Kemp district and the city of Olney, about two miles from Olney and about twice that distance from the Peter Kemp district. In the light of other south Archer and north Young discoveries, none so far away the development of a pool of major importance in this locality would not be surprising.

Atlantic, Mitchell

Atlantic Oil Producing company's No. 1, Mitchell, a north offset to the Roberts and Hill annd Craig second producer in the new Howell pool southwest of Iowa Park, Wichita county, was reported yesterday drilling at a depth of 847 feet. This is the fourth of the wells in the four corners of the new pool, one of the remainder being dry and the other two wells.

Palo Pinto County

Mark Dalton has moved a set of tools in for a 4,500-foot test to be spudded before the end of this month on the Dalton survey, midway between the Ferris-Givens and the McGarr wells, Palo Pinto county.

Approximate depths yesterday on wells in the Noble area of southeastern Wilbarger county are as follows:

Sloan-Browning No. 2, south of the No. 1, section 42, block 4, about 1,100 feet.

Dyson et al No. 1, Waggoner, southeast corner of section 46, northwest of the well, about 1,500 feet.

McKanna No. 1-A, about 1,100 feet southwest corner of section 48.

Owens et al, Mitchell

Owens-Howell-Pace were reported late yesterday afternoon coring a sand at 1,646 feet in their No. 1, Mitchell, located about 1,500 feet north and a bit west of the Howell et al discovery southwest of Iowa Park, Wichita county. The well missed the first sand from which the Howell well is producing altogether.

Wood, McGill

G. C. Wood et al are shut down for three or four days after setting ten-inch at 965 feet in their No. 1 Mrs. T. G. McGill, located in the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 11, block 9, H&TC RRCO survey, just south of the junction of the Pease river and the west Wilbarger county line in Wilbarger county.

SUFFERED AFTER BIRTH OF BABY

Trouble Caused by Getting Up Too Soon. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Talcville, New York. — "I thought it would interest you to know what benefit I have derived from taking your medicine. A few days after the birth of my third child I got up too quick. Then just before my fifth child was born I had inflammation of the bladder and displacement. Seeing your advertisement in a Liverpool (England) paper I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and that was the best confinement I had. Whenever I feel run down I always take the Vegetable Compound as a tonic. We have just removed from Brockville (Canada) so I was pleased when the store ordered the medicine for me and I got it today. I would not be without it for any price and I recommend it to ladies around here because I feel so sure it will benefit any woman who takes it." — Mrs. AGNES WIGNALL, Talcville, New York.

Women can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve them from ills peculiar to their sex. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Stewart Predicts Higher Prices For Light Crude Oil

NEW YORK, May 20.—Higher crude oil prices in the near future were forecast by R. W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, who sailed for Europe today. "The market for crude oil in the last two weeks has changed from a buyers' to a sellers' market," he said. "Light crude in the Mid-Continent is getting very scarce and there may possibly be a shortage. Conditions certainly show all the earmarks of higher crude prices. Our refineries are working at 100 per cent capacity."

Gross earnings of the Pan-American and Transport company for the first four months of the year were approximately $30,000,000 with April's total at $9,028,000, Herbert G. Wylie, president, said on his departure for Europe. At present the company was taking out about 150,000 barrels of oil daily from its holdings, which could be largely increased if the necessity arose, he said.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

In calling upon State Revenue Agent W. J. Miller to dismiss the suit which he caused to be brought against the Ford Motor company, Governor H. L. Whitfield of Mississippi has set an example worthy of emulation by other state executives and the federal government.

Governor Whitfield points out that there cannot be two attitudes of government toward busoness; that the government which would encourage industry ought not to attack it. "At the very moment," he declares in evident exasperation, "when, as chief executive of the state, I have been bending every effort to encourage new industries to establish themselves in Mississippi, the press of the nation is proclaiming that 'Mississippi is gunning for damage money' and making war on big business."

The case which has so stirred the governor of Mississippi appears to be a peculiarly glaring one. The Ford company and Ford dealers were sued for $12,000,000 for alleged breach of anti-trust laws because the manufacturing concern had fixed the retail price of cars. Agreement on this point was held to be illegal, although a majority of manufacturers fix the retail prices of their products as a guarantee of value, and the agents handling these products are more than willing for them to do so. The grounds for prosecuting the Ford company were exceedingly slender and the penalty demanded impressively large.

But Mississippi's revenue agent did not stop at suing for a mere $12,000,000. In order to secure payment of penalties in case of a judgment is rendered in favor of the state, deposits of the Ford Motor company iMississippi banks have been attached. It is said that practically all the financial institutions of the state are involved. Many lines of business would be made to suffer for fund if the case was prosecuted to a finish—particularly if it should be long drawn out.

The fragrancy of this particular case, however, does not limit the principle involved, which should be carefully regarded by all governmental bodies professing to be friendly to business progress. It is a habit of spokesmen of the federal government to declare in the same breath what has been done to help business and what has been done to restrain it. This inconsistency needs to be cured. The government cannot be sincere in assuming at one moment, that business is the enemy of the people and must be crushed, and at the next moment professing the warmest desire to befriend and encourage business.

WHY AN EXTRA SESSION?

"Why an extra session?" asked Senator Archie Parr of Duvall in response to an invitation made by a political writer asking the political boss of the magic valley to take the people into his confidence. Widely known is Senteor Parr. Many of his intimates call him Archie, while the more reverent call him "the Bishop," regardless of the fact that the senator is a ranch man and not a theologian.

Senator Parr predicted that the next session of the legislature would be the fortieth legislature in regular session, which will be in January, 1927. He volunteered the opinion that the managers of the Texas prisons would manage to worry along without the lawmakers coming together to pass necessary appropriations and that the tick exterminators might find it necessary to slaughter the tick on credit after the $100,000 appropriated by the thirty-ninth has found its way into the pockets of the manufacturers of vats and the dip liquid used to remove life from the pest.

Senator Parr is said to be very close to former Governor James E. Ferguson. He is said to enjoy the confidence of the former governor. In making his prediction or forecast, doubtedless he based what he had to say on inside information.

"The Bishop" is always on the inside when the administration is friendly. He is on the outside when the administration is unfriendly. There are eleven hundred qualified voters in the county of Duvall. When the balloting comes one thousand and ninety-eight are for the Archie Parr ticket, and two are for the candidates who are without the Archie Parr pale. These two must be republican postmasters.

SECRECY IS THE THING.

Now the federal trade commission will conduct its proceedings in secret and its decrees will not be given to the press. By a vote of 3 to 2 the commission declared against publicity. Now when a trust has been investigated the commission will save from adverse publicity any corporation which confesses that it is violating the law and which promises to sin no more.

Commissioners Thompson and Nugent constituted the minority. They declare they will publish their findings every time a corporation is let off from prosecution unfairly. Commissioners Van Fleet, Hunt and Humphrey constituting the majority, are for the secrecy program and the slap on the wrist.

Isn't guilt personal? If so, why should a crook in high place be protected from public exposure? Shouldn't there be one law for all?

CREDIT FOR THE PEN SYSTEM.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson made an interesting announcement the other day. Houston business men are willing to advance a credit of $400,000 to the penitentiary system after the management has expended the $100,000 appropriated by the legislature.

To be exact, the Houston business men will sell $400,000 worth of prison supplies on credit and take their money whenever the lawmakers of the state are willing to appropriate it for them.

This will not be buying supplies in the open market with cash on the barrel head payment for the same. It is impossible for an individual or a corporation or a government for that matter, to purchase on credit and at the same time be given bargain prices. It must be true that money talks.

THE GREEK AND THE GOTHIC.

There are two outstanding styles of architecture, the Greek and the Gothic.

In common terms we may say that the Greek consists in plain lines and in simplicity and directness, while the Gothic is pointed and ornate.

Corresponding to these two styles of architecture there are two kinds of minds.

There is the Gothic type which functions in mystery, poetry, darkness and hints. It runs to ornateness and adornment.

Such minds are those of Shakespeare and of William Yeats.

On the contrary, there is the Greek mind, which is the mind of a lawyer or a scientist.

It moves in straight lines. Its beauty lies in its simplicity.

There are some people who ridicule those who study art. They say that music is an adventitious advantage and that all beauty and adornment of life is entirely unnecessary. These are the Greek minds that ridicule the Gothic.

On the other hand there are Gothic minds that ridicule the Greek. They are artists who declaim against the business man, the lawyer, the doctor and the scientist. They call these men plodders, routiners, and use other opprobrious epithets.

There is the same conflict between the fundamentalist and the modernist. One seeks adornment, seeks mystery and darkness, and the other is all for simplicity and logic.

There is no necessity for conflict between the two types of mind. We need them both.

Perhaps the best sort of person is one that can appreciate the simplicity of the Greek and also the charm and mystery of the Gothic style.

AN EPOCH-MAKING CONVENTION.

The convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, now in session at Houston, is destined to prove epoch-making in severa lrespects. It emphasizes the world's discovery of Texas as a treasure house of inexhaustible resources, a future industrial empire and the abiding place of reserve energy, initiative and enterprise not elsewhere equalled. It marks a further step in the development of Anglo-American co-operation and the increase of Anglo-American friendship. And it illustrates the influence which satisfactory commercial transactions and honest publicity can exert for world peace.

The great meeting of the adevtrising clubs in London last year, which was accorded the favor of royalty, followe da previous meeting in Texas. After having steeped themselves in the consciousness of what Texas was doing as a member of the American Union, the representatives of the clubs acquired a world view strongly tinctured with American and British purposes. They now come on a second visit to Texas, and it is inevitable that they will accommodate the international view to the local view which they will find here. In London and the other capitals of Europe, they have been prepared for their trip by information about the state presented by leading publications. Intimate contact with Texas people and their prospering affairs will impart life and color to this information. Post-convention tours will cover the state, taking in the Rio Grande valley, the central protion, the east coastal region and the northeast section. Besides traversing Texas, the delegates will visit the Mexican border and, probably, will enter Louisiana. Such an itinerary following the convention's deliberations will help our visitors to understand Texas in her manifold relations to the other states and to the world.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

Full Value.

An associate of Russell Sage, who when he died was one of the richest men in America, once told me this story of the old gentleman, who had the reputation of being extremely careful in money matters.

Mr. Sage never liked to buy a new hat. The hats he wore, particularly the straw hats got rather weather worn after a year or two, but he kept them as long as he could. One spring day I came into his office, and noticing a rather battered straw hat hanging up on a rack near him, I said:

"'Mr. Sage, why don't you go out and buy a new hat like this one?' pointing to a new one I had just purchased.

"He looked up at my hat attentively. Then he said: 'That is a fine looking hat. I would like to have one just like it. But that hat behind me there has lasted me for two years now. It cost a dollar when I bought it. And by the way, it ought to be earning interest on that dollar.' And he clapped it on his head."

It was perhaps a trifle overdoing the matter of getting value out of investment—this behavior of a man who was worth many millions, but it at least teaches the lesson that those who build up fortunes do not do it by throwing away money or overlooking any opportunity to make their money work for them.

The purchaser of a good automobile strives to get all possible use out of it while he has it, and to keep it in such condition that the resale value will not have vanished utterly when he comes to sell it.

A great many men who could afford a new suit of clothes every day in the year if they wanted one, take extreme care of their clothes, and note carefully how long each suit lasts.

The wise and successful factory manager has a checking system which tells him just how much is the output of every machine. And if a new set of machines is offered him which can do more work than the old set, he gets rid of this as junk if necessary, and installs the new ones.

Most of us earth dwellers do not possess fortunes or direct factories.

We do not have great sums of money or sets of machinery working for us.

All that we have is a body and a mind, and we are not always careful to see that we get anything like full value out of them.

Our bodies, through sheer neglect and careless dieting we permit to run down until they are about 50 per cent efficient, and are continually laid up for repairs.

Our minds which require constant exercise to get the most out of them we refuse to drive to anything like their full capacity, with the result that we do not get anything like the quality or the amount of the work out of them we ought to.

Yet mind and body are our only assets, and they are together capable of caring for us and doing the job well.

A little thought about ways and means of making them work for us, and keeping them in condition to work for us would be amply repaid by results.

Yet because thought is difficult, and because neither mind nor body will work unless driven, we run along on about half capacity, and wonder why it is that so many men of less ability get so much farther than we are able to.

Irrigation

Irrigation projects, whether built privately, under the Carey act, as irrigation districts or by the government reclamation service have been, from a financial standpoint, almost 100 per cent failudes.

In many cases the cause of financial disaster has been the fact that the land water logged before the financiers could get their money back from the farmers who had settled on the land.

Except in the case of the U. S. reclamation service, projects were generally financed by issuing bonds. These bonds were secured by assets of the project which was the irrigation system and such mortgages as they might hold on land and water sold.

The bonds were sold to bond houses which took them often at a considerable discount. To sell the bonds to investors the bond houses would guarantee their principal and interest payments. This of course made the bond people responsible if the farmers did not pay.

There were three large cities which had bond houses which dealt with irrigation securities. Chicago was the main market with St. Louis and Pittsburgh in the running. There were at least seven or eight bond houses of large size in Chicago which had invested heavily in irrigation securities.

As project after project failed to meet their obligations so did bond after bond house go broke. The man who built the Texas state capitol at Austin is reputed to have been ruined by the investment made by his bond house in irrigation paper.

As one bond man phrased it, "irrigation securities have left behind a trail of blood." The consequence of all this disaster was that it was almost impossible to get into the market and secure money to build an irrigation project of any kind.

With such a condition to face it can readily be seen what a difficult situation Mr. Kemp and his associates faced in trying to get money to build this project.

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE FOREST MAID

O fairest of the rural maids!
Thy birth was in the forest shades;
And all the beauty of the place
Is in thy heart and on thy face.

The twilight of the trees and rocks
Is in the light shade of thy locks;
Thy step is as the wind that weaves
Its playful way among the leaves.

Thine eyes are springs, in whose serene
And silent waters heaven is seen;
Their lashes are the herbs that look
On their young figures in the brook.

The forest depths by foot impressed
Are not more sinless than thy breast;
The only peace that fills the air
Of those calm solitudes is there.

HOW IT STARTED

A "Knight of the Road."

It may exhilerate the tramp who rides surreptitiously in the baggage car and solicits pie at the kitchen doors to realize that in the name "Knight of the Road" with which we have humorously dubbed him, he is descended from the aristocracy of old.

In the same spirit in which we today call the vagrant a "Knight of the Road" the term was applied in the old stagecoach days t othe old highwayman who took toll from travelers whom he regarded as his legitimate prey. Because of occasional acts of kindness to his victims, or chivalrous action to women among them, these characters took hold on popular imagination and romantic stories were woven around them like the lightful outlaw, Robin Hood.

The original "Knight of the Road" however, takes us back still further to the shma gentry, but to the true and literal knighthood of Europe during and subsequent to the Crusades. Our modern phrase had its beginning with the "Knight Errant," "errant" meaning to wander, being derived from the old French errer, "to travel." He was the wandering knight who, after the objective of the Crusades had been removed, traveled through France and Spain in search of adventure, of a mission, of work

What Today Means To You

Taurus.

Today's planetary aspects are quite excellent and continue so until the evening when, although not adverse, they are not so favorable as earlier in the day. Plans which have been prepared with care and deliberation, and about the launching of which you have been in doubt, can be safely and wisely put into execution, as the successful outcome is assured. The signs presage exceptionally good results for business enterprises, and more especially for those that are new in conception and original in design: a certain sense of disappointment will be experienced, but this will be transitory, and in no way affect the general results of your efforts.

More than ordinary sickness during infancy, albeit a strong, physical maturity, is assured the child born today, as well as a career marked with material success and felicity. Great care must be taken of this child in its early days, and its future health will very largely depend upon the nutrition it receives as an infant. It will very freely participate in all sports and recreations suitable to its age, while, in no way neglecting or skipping its studies. It will always be a good mixer, and possess many charms that will endear it to the members of its own social set. It will be quite successful in any line in which it may embark, as it will always bring to the prosecution of any task tenacity of purpose, keen judgment, as well as a high order of intelligence.

Those, whose birthdays are celebrated today, are rather of the "up and down" variety; very easily and quickly depressed, and just as unexpectedly elated. In proportion that their pessimism bears to their optimism, so will their material success be either great or small. Many, if not most, of them will have the unhappy faculty of commencing a new undertaking with enthusiasm and a vim that, if persisted in, could not brook defeat. The spirit, however, wanes, pessimism replaces optimism, difficulties are exaggerated, obstacles are magnified, and that which promised success, ends in failure.

In their affections the same conditions prevail, and, owing to the variable atmosphere, they never experience the happiness and contentment of a constant love.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE RUINED ROMANCE

The sheik he rode upon his course,
Alert and open eyed,
He bore away upon his horse
A main he had espied;
Said he to her quite savageles,
"Restrain your futile strife,
Despite your wails you're going to be
My lovely desert wife."

And then his valet, Abdel Slim,
In quiet accents said to him:

"She's only a movie actress,
She only came out for the ride,
She's been married twice—
So it wouldn't be nice
To make her your desert bride!
She loves the husband that last she wed,
She don't care a hang for you,
It was only in fun that the lady done
What her press agent told her to."

The sheik he pulled a puzzled frown,
His parching face he fanned,
And then he set the lady down
Upon the burning sand.
"There's no romance in this," said he,
"If she is what you say,
I certainly ain't going to be
A booster for no play.

It surely's going to make a diff
In my domestic program if—

She's only a movie actress, etc."

WORTH DOING

Mr. Coolidge is trying to save the country $800,000,00. Other politicians are just trying to save the country.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

SHALL THE YOUNG MARRIED WOMAN KEEP UP WITH HER OLD GANG OR GO WITH THE MARRIED SET?—WHAT CAN A WELL-TO-DO MARRIED WOMAN DO WITH IDLE TIME? WHICH NATION PRODUCES BEST HUSBANDS?

Dear Miss Dix—I am 22 years old, and have been married four years. I have two sets of friends, a bunch of high school girls and some married women who are older than myself. Each set is demanding more and more of my time. Which one shall I cling to? F. B. E.

Answer—I think it will be better for you to choose the married women, into whose class you passed when you married. The old proverb says that you cannot run with the hare and hunt with the hound, and this is as true in matrimony as elsewhere. You cannot be a young girl, with a young girl's freedom, and have the privileges of a married woman.

When you go with the crowd, you have to do as the crowd does. That's the gang ethics. You must dance, flirt, have dates, spend your time amusing yourself, and these things are incompatible with being a good wife.

One of the main reasons why so many young wives are so disgruntled and dissatisfied, and think that they have fallen out of love with their husbands and in love with some other man, is because they are still running with their old girl friends and trying to do as they do.

They think they are being persecuted because they have to rush home and get dinner after the movies or a matinee, instead of meeting a lot of boys and loafing around at a soda fountain for an hour or two, as Mary and Sallie, and Hilda, and Susie do. They think their husbands are unkind because they will not take them out to dances every night, as the girl's steadies do. They think that they should have the money for clothes instead of paying it on a house, and they can't see any harm in having men make love to them as they do to the other girls.

They forget that when they got married they undertook the serious business of life, that they voluntarily gave up their playtime, that they assumed responsibilities which they are in honor bound to fulfill.

So I think, Mrs. F. B. E., that a young wife is much happier and safer if she chooses her companions among young married women who have the same interest in their homes, in their husbands and in their babies that she has; women who are struggling to help their husbands get a start in the world instead of running around to jazz parties, and who are pushing perambulators instead of going joy riding with sleek haired youths. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am married to a man who is able to support me in comfort, and who gives me servants to do my housework, so that I really have nothing much to do. I have a number of friends who are business women, and they think that I should put in my time going to school taking a business course, but I am not of the business type. What do you think I should do. W. M. R.

Answer—I see no reason why a woman should work outside of her home unless she needs to do so, or has an inner urge to express some talent that it would make her miserable to suppress.

On the contrary, I think that the rich woman should not enter into competition with the poor woman. She should let the girl who needs the situation as secretary, or saleswoman, or buyer, and to whom the pay envelope means food and clothes, or hunger and rags, have it. Of late, it has been a fad for society girls and restless, dissatisfied married women to use their social influence to get the big places in offices; whereby they have worked a great and unconscious cruelty and wrong on poor girls who were in desperate need of the jobs that they plade with for a few months and tired of and threw up.

Making a happy home isn't necessarily dependent on doing your own cooking, and scrubbing and sweeping. It is a matter of brains and spirit. It is the finest work in the world, and if you do it properly you will not find that you have much time hanging on your hands.

I agree with your friends as to the necessity of every young woman studying something and improving herself continually, so why not join some class which is studying literature, or French, or art, or some cultural subject? You would certainly find this as improving as studying bookkeeping or stenography.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a very popular girl among the younger set and have many admirers, but they belong to a variety of nationalities. Please tell me which nationality makes the best husbands? BLACK EYES.

Answer—American. There is no other husband in the world who is the equal of the great American husband, and the American wife is envied by the women of all other countries.

No other men treat their women with such generosity, such kindness, such liberality as American men treat theirs. No other women have the freedom that American women have. It is only in America that husbands stay at home and work in order that their wives may have the money to travel abroad and enjoy themselves. Every summer in Europe you can see thousands of American women taking the grand tour alone, but you never see the European women doing so unless they are rich old maids or widows.

In America it is the wife who dominates the home, who decides where they shall live, who picks out the house and furniture, and fixes the style of living. In Europe it is the man who decides everything, and the woman meekly accepts.

In America the best of everything goes to the woman. They are our leisure class. In Europe the wife is generally just the housewife, and her business is to make her husband comfortable and bear him children.

It is because the American husband spoils his wife that international marriages are so often unhappy. The American girl cannot adjust herself to the European standard of husbands, and she thinks she is ill-used when her husband treats her as he has seen all other men of his acquaintance treat their wives.

Million Miles In Area Is Continent Dream of Explorer

NEW YORK, May 20.—Donald B. MacMillan, noted explorer in town today for the christening of the "Peary", one of the two ships which will leave for the north, June 17, under his command, told of the mirage of an unknown continent which is luring him to the arctic again.

"We believe that here is vast, unexplored continent possibly 1,000,000 miles in area to the west or northern Greenland," he said. Admiral Peary named it Crocker land but we have only indirect evidence of its existence. Both Admiral Peary and myself have seen the mirage, or reflection of it in the sky repeatedly, and the action of the tides and the condition of the ice surrounding the area, is additional scientific indications of its existence.

Commander MacMllan said the area was impossible to ships, and dog teams, and for that reason three naval planes were being taken.

Paavo Nurmi Raps U. S. Press; Fears Final Race Soon

NEW YORK, May 20.(AP—Newspapers and photographers are no good—this is from Paavo Nurmi, greatest of all runners, whose pictures and deeds have filled many columns of the nation's periodicals.

The Finn was approached today in the locker at a field where he is training for his mile race at Cambridge Friday and his final appearance in America at the Yankee stadium in New York on Tuesday.

Nurmi's face was a picture of disgust as he turned to respond to a reporter's query for an opinion of the American Press:

"Newspapers? no goot, no goot—photographers—no goot, no goot," blurted out the Finn.

The attendant of the locker room offered the information that he had asked Nurmi one day about published reports that he would return to America.

"No come back! no come back!" had been Nurmi's reply, he said, adding the opinion that he believed Paavo was "disgusted."

According to the attendant, the Olympic champion fears chiefly his farewell test here with Alan Helffrich, the Penn State athlete.

DIFFERENT LINES FOR DIFFERENT MEN.

What kind of a line do you use?

Is it the gay collegiate patter that amuses people who haven't forgotten when they were young?

Is it the sophisticated twaddle that intrigues boys your own age, and makes them believe you're a wise woman of the world?

Is it the shy, sweet girly-girly type of conversation that attracts strong men who want to protect some clinging vine?

Or perhaps the man-to-man, frank and breezy chatter of the girl who meets men on their own ground and talks honestly and convincingly?

Better than all these—is it a combination of lines which can be changed to suit the different men you meet?

After all, you have to be just as careful not to mix your lines as not to mix your dates.

You can't interest the modern college boy by assuming a quiet maidenly-modest air, casting down your eyes and lisping sweet nothings.

No more can you amuse an older man with a line of small talk about the latest dances you attended, the fascinating new step you learned the other evening, the marvellous way Tommy Jones parts his hair in the middle.

Some girls I know are extremely popular with the younger set—because of their peppy, up-to-date conversation on every conceivable subject of interest to young people. But they fall absolutely flat when they find themselves with older people.

Other girls have regular cut-and-dried lines which they use over and over again, with great success—until they happen to go out with the same crowd once too often. Then they begin to be boring.

Then there's the girl who always assumes the world-weary attitude of the woman of 40. She makes a tremendous impression on a certain type of boy who yearns to be sophisticated himself, and admires in others the quality he lacks.

But woe betide the young lady if she meets the boy who's tired of running around—who's bored with sophisticated people. He will put her in her place so fast, she'll be utterly crushed.

And it will be her own fault, too. She should have sounded him out first.

It's the worst policy in the world, to have only one type of line, and to use that consistently on every type of man and boy.

Better—far better — to have several brands of conversation — and to forego using any one of them until you've formed some definite ideas as to the person to whom you're talking.

Then when you've pigeon-holed your man—decided whether he falls in the gay college boy, serious business man, or quiet-stay-at-home class, you'll be all set to "shoot" the line that will make the biggest hit.

Chicago Robberies Net Huge Fortune In Uncut Diamonds

CHICAGO, May 20.—(AP)—Two robberies in downtown jewelry stores today netted robbers unset diamonds and other jewelry valued at upwards of $100,000.

In one robbery four men, cursing and threatening death to all who stood in their way, invaded the offices of Julius Heinsius, jeweler on the eleventh floor of the capitol building formerly the Masonic building and escaped with unset diamonds valued at between $55,000 and $60,000. Most of the jewels were owned by Charles P. Goldberg, New York jewelry salesman. They bound their victims and fled.

In the second robbery, three men raided the joint offices of three diamond merchants in East Madison street, held the merchants at bay with pistols, slugged a salesman and escaped with diamonds estimated at between $25,000 and $50,000 after attempting to shoot half a dozen persons who tried to interfere with them. One of the robbers was captured later by an elevator man.

Clowns Go Through Paces In Practice for Circus Of Church Young People

Clown practice for the first annual Methodist young peoples circus Friday, May 29, and Saturday, May 30, was started Tuesday night at the First Methodist church with Herman Munden as the coach.

Mr. Munden put his 15 funny entertainers through their paces in regular circus fashion in preparation for some of the funniest clown acts to be found in the professional circuses, according to Harold White, chairman of the young peoples week. Mr. Munden traveled as a professional clown for a number of years before making his residence in Wichita Falls.

It was announced Wednesday at circus headquarters that a regulation big top had been secured and that a sawdust ring and flying trapese would be constructed on the lot south of the church for the circus.

Fifteen main acts interspersed with clownish performances, together with the coronation of "Queen of the Circus" will complete the main show on Friday, May 29, and on Saturday night the circus events will be repeated but a beautiful pageant with more than 150 children and young people in the cast will enhance the program.

Mrs. R. A. Faver will direct the pageant, "Will O'Wisp," for the circus. Admission to the circus will be 15c and 25c, according to Harold White.

MID-CONTINENT

C. W. Carson Jr., cashier of the First National bank at Spearman.

"A long period of falling prices," he told the Texas State Bankers association at its annual convention here today, has apparently been definitely succeeded by an upward movement, occurring just when it should occur."

The statement was based on the assumption that the usual 14-year cycle of high and low prices will behave normally.

"If the present trend," he said, "is not the start of a new constructive period for the industry, all present signs are deceptive."

Pew Talks on Oil.

J. Edgar Pew of Dallas, a widely known Texas oil man and president of the American Petroleum Institute, traced the history of the oil industry in Texas and with it, the removal of prejudice in the state against the Standard and other oil companies. He scouted the widespread theory that oil supplies are on the verge of exhaustion and predicted that it would be ample for centuries with improvements in methods and the advance of progress.

"It merely is a matter of cost," he said, referring especially to extraction of oil from shale, probably still deeper drilling for the oil itself and utilization of oil which is now produced in such a way that it cannot compete with that which now is secured under ordinary present day processes.

Thomas R. Preston, president of a Chattanooga, Tenn., bank, discussing laws, bureaus and tax, noted tat two million laws are on the statute books of the United States. "More laws," he said, "than have been passed by all the other countries of the world since birth of Christ."

or Fewer Laws.

"I can think of nothing," he said, "that will help law enforcement any more than to make laws few and simple and enforce them."

O. C. Waker, cashier of a Brownwood bank, outlined some of the mistakes he had made as a banker. A cotton account which his bank took on in a western city, and a loan to the Brownwood municipality were enumerated.

Of the cotton account, which happened to be 'that of a farmers' cooperative organization, he said, "Never again for me." The Brownwood loan, which was for a sewer system, involved the bank in litigation. Losses in both instances, he said, finally were nominal.

E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, was introduced by President R. L. Thornton of Dallas as the bearer of an important message. Mr. Simmons spoke on "free markets and popular ownership."

Politics began to buzz around the convention today. Apparently Francis H. Welch, president of the First National bank of Taylor, is slated for the presidency. Galveston and El Paso were prepared, it was said, to bid for the next meeting, with Galveston a favorite. Both selections are to be made tomorrow.

REHEARING

failure of the trial court to charge upon the defense of property. This part of its ruling was as follows:

"The court gave no charge upon the defense of property. Proper objection was made because of such ommission, and several special charges in the subject were asked and refused. . . . as the matter is presented by defense evidence, deceased had already made an unwaranted entry on land in defendant's possession and through employes of deceased was proceeding to construct a fence and take possession of defendant's land. Deceased had refused to discontinue the fence building but on the other hand, expressed a determination to go on with it, making a threat against defendant in the event of later interference.

"Deceased, apparently in pursuance of this intention, was engaged in an effort to make an unlawful trespass by force of arms upon the property of the defendant for the purpose of to and directing further construction of the fence, or the resumption of its construction, and with the intention of effecting that purpose at all hazards and by the use of arms.

"Under our statute before a person can justify a killing in the protection of property all other means then available must be resorted to. Under the peculiar facts of the present case, we are inclined to view that upon another trial this issue should be submitted under appropriate instructions."

Reference to the fence deals with the construction of a wire barrier being put up by a group of Reilly's workmen along a boundary line under dispute by Reilly and Griffin. Both men owned large tracts of land in the vicinity of Dundee and the diversion dam of the irrigation project. It was near the dam that Reilly was shot once through the head with a high powered rifle early in the afternoon of May 16, 1924.

Gave Himself Up.

Griffin went voluntarily to Dundee immediately after Reilly was shot, directed a physician to go to the wounded man and then went on to Archer City to give himself up to the sheriff there. Reilly was rushed to the general hospital in this city but died at 1 o'clock the following morning.

Griffin was subsequently indicted and his case sent on a change of venue from Archer to Young county, where it was tried in the 30th district court. W. F. Weeks and F. E. Taylor headed Griffin's defense, while District Attorney James V. Allred and Leslie Humphrey, special prosecutor, handled the case for the state.

The case was completed September 23, 1924, and the jury, after being out only a short time, returned a verdict of guilty and assessed Griffin's punishment at 25 years in prison.

Two developments in the tragedy have come within the past few days, the first being revealed little over a week ago when Griffin was moved from the Young county jail at Graham to the Wichita county jail in Wichita Falls. The change was made on order of Judge Wilson, acting on the request of District Attorney Allred.

Last Saturday, May 16 — exactly one year from the time her husband was killed) Mrs. Hugh Reilly filed suit in Archer county district court, asking damages of $130,000 from Griffin as a result of Reilly's death.

Rights of Others Cause for Laws, Rogers Tells Lions

"Every man, woman and child is at liberty to do anything, so long as it does not interfere with the rights of others," Judge Guy Rogers told Lions at their weekly luncheon at the Kemp Wednesday, in an address on "Liberty" the first of a series of talks on Lionism.

"This right brings the need for prohibitive laws, to protect others in their privileges. Liberty has ever been foremost in the mind of man. It tore down the walls of the Bastile; it was present in the long sessions that formed the constitution of the United States; it inspired the writing of the Declaration of Independence.

"The three points of liberty: personal liberty, political liberty, and personal freedom, have been the moving spirits in the unification of all nations."

A musical program preceded the address in which Mrs. Louella B. Thompson, contralto, sang a group of solos with Mrs. Felix Collard at the piano. Miss Oscar Lillian Bilbro played a violin solo accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. W. Akin, Jr.

Lemon Juice Whitens Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitner, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

Who's Who in the Story.

Rosilyn Ridgeway learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an overworked little drudge in her father's inn.

Landis Ridgeway, her husband, is a brillian, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother,

Florence Ridgeway, an aristocratic old lady, who saw poverty staring her in the face, and chcose the easiest way out. Rosilyn loving her husband, knows that he is still in love with

Lydia Harbrook, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying

Stevie Van Vorst, a wealthy old roue, although she is really fond of Landis in her selfish way. She is in Paris when she hears of Landis' marriage, and immediately returns to the United States. With her goes

Rupert Briscoe, a dissipated man of the world, who has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and when the two reach New York, she suggests that they ask the young Ridgeways to join them for dinner. She and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby through an apparent misunderstanding Rosilyn and Briscoe will be left alone together all evening, while she will be with her beloved Landis. Thus happens that Landis is amazed to find her waiting for him in the lobby of Claridge's.

Landis phones to find out why his wife has not joined them, and learns that she left the hotel with Briscoe —leaving word that they will join Lydia and Landis in a few minutes. Left alone with Lydia, Landis finds himself swept off his feet by her beauty.

Meanwhile Rosilyn is being escorted to the Clarendon by Briscoe, who tells her that he is doing his best to get in touch with Landis and Lydia.

Had he caught at tonight's opportunity to slip away from her?

At the night club, Rosilyn under the influence of some wine begins to sparkle and jest.

In Paris Stephen Van Vorst is lonely for Lydia. He is on the way to see Marietta, a dancer, a one-time sweetheart of Briscoe's, who, he hopes will be able to help him.

Van Vorst finds Marietta weeping over Briscoe's desertion. He tells her to buck up and come along for a ride with him—he wants to talk over a plan for him.

Long after Rosily's return home Lydia, by a clever ruse persuades Landis to take her for a taxi ride to Jersey. There in the early dawn speeding through the country side his old infatuation asserts itself and he gathers the girl in his arms.

* * * * *

In the pale, soft light he looked at her. That little golden head of hers emerged just like a sunflower from the high fur collar of her evening wrap. Her face was like a moonbeam, pallid and elusive, and so beautiful that his breath caught in his throat as he regarded her. Her lips formed a perfect Cupid's bow, deliciously reddened. Those lips drew him, lured him, lured him on, so that suddenly—his better self defeated by the sheer headiness of the lovely creature at his side—he stopped and kissed her, as often he had kissed her in the days gone by—long—passionately—with a sense of uttermost intoxication.

"You aren't angry with me, Landis darling, for having lured you on this heavenly motor-run? Please say you aren't angry?"

"Angry? Oh, Lydia — !" he breathed. Then to the chauffeur:— "Drive on—anywhere—"

The red lips had won.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.
Landis Leaves——

The suite was wrapped in silence when Landis entered it. In the tiny entrance hall, a subdued light burned.

Like a man intoxicated, he stumbled into the sitting room where daylight filtered through the shaded windows.

Had Rosilyn returned? Was she asleep?

What would she think of this evening's work?

Well, wasn't it her own fault, for not turning up at the proper rendezvous? Hadn't she practically pushed him into Lydia Harbrook's arms?

And anyway—come to think of it—what right had she to criticize his actions? She had as good as confessed to him that she had entered on this marriage contract solely for her own advancement.

Briscoe and she between them had evidently arranged to dine alone somewhere, and so had "let him down."

Tripping over a footstool or cushion, he stifled a curse, his nerves on edge.

Somewhere inside, a still small voice was whispering:—

"Landis Ridgeway, you are weak and vacillating! Lydia has got you back into her toils! Can't you be a man, and play the game with this unfortunate child who is your wife?"

He strode across the room and drew the curtains, flinging the windows wide. The soft air blew against his forehead.

Throbbing minutes passed.

Then, quietly, he went to his wife's closed door, tried the handle, and found it locked.

His lips curled whimsically.

"Not wanted here."

Odd that she should have locked her door tonight! He had never crossed the threshold of that room, nor would he. They had their difinite "understanding."

But the insinuation was something of an insult, wasn't? As though he were a cad—.

She evidently feared him and mistrusted him. No doubt, too, she was angry.

She would be angrier still—make jealous scenes, maybe—if by any chance she heard of the magic motor ride with Lydia Harbrook—.

But he had forgotten that she didn't care for him. On their wedding night she very definitely had told him so. A "marriage of convenience"—on one side his social prestige—on the other her newly inherited wealth. A fair bargain, wasn't it?

And yet—

He couldn't sleep here in the suite, somehow. In his present frame of mind, with the knowledge of the last few hours whirling like a delicious but forbidden dream inside his consciousness, he couldn't linger within the radius of his wife's presence—in the expensive rooms her mony paid for—as her guest!

Lydia!

Enchantment!

Stolen ecstasies

Delight!

He lifted his hat and coat from the rack in the little hallway, and let himself out of the hotel suite quietly, walking down the four flights to the street. Neither his coming nor his going had been remarked by the night porter, who was somewhere in the kitchen regions, looking for refreshment.

"I'll get a bath and a couple of hours' sleep at the club," reflected young Ridgeway as he strode away, the cool air blowing on his forehead.

How the hotel suite had stifled him! How the sudden consciousness of Rosilyn's money had pressed him down!

To have been bought—been trapped—by a girl's wealth!

It was humiliating. Nay, more, it was contemptuous!

No link, beyond the legal tie, existed that could bind them. What had the pair in common?

Not a single thought!

Tonight's companionship with Lydia had shown him, clearer than anything since his wedding day, what an insufferable bond the whole thing was—.

It was significant of the latent generosity of Landis' character that not for one single moment did he blame his mother and her machinations.

He cursed himself for a traitorous cad, a paltry hanger-on.

In this mood his club was reached. He bathed and shaved and then lay down in the hopes of wooing fugitive slumber.

But the noises of the waking city roused him. And with the rush of day, and a fuller realization of his queer, anomalous position, misery settled on him like a pall—misery that did not lift until, about 11 o'clock he was summoned to the telephone and the thrill of Lydia Harbrook's voice, so gentle and cajoling that a man's pain must melt before its magic!

Clowns Go Through Paces In Practice for Circus Of Church Young People

Clown practice for the first annual Methodist young peoples circus Friday, May 29, and Saturday, May 30, was started Tuesday night at the First Methodist church with Herman Munden as the coach.

Mr. Munden put his 15 funny entertainers through their paces in regular circus fashion in preparation for some of the funniest clown acts to be found in the professional circuses, according to Harold White, chairman of the young peoples week. Mr. Munden traveled as a professional clown for a number of years before making his residence in Wichita Falls.

It was announced Wednesday at circus headquarters that a regulation big top had been secured and that a sawdust ring and flying trapese would be constructed on the lot south of the church for the circus.

Fifteen main acts interspersed with clownish performances, together with the coronation of "Queen of the Circus" will complete the main show on Friday, May 29, and on Saturday night the circus events will be repeated but a beautiful pageant with more than 150 children and young people in the cast will enhance the program.

Mrs. R. A. Faver will direct the pageant, "Will O'Wisp," for the circus. Admission to the circus will be 15c and 25c, according to Harold White.

C. W. Carson Jr., cashier of the First National bank at Spearman.

"A long period of falling prices," he told the Texas State Bankers association at its annual convention here today, has apparently been definitely succeeded by an upward movement, occurring just when it should occur."

The statement was based on the assumption that the usual 14-year cycle of high and low prices will behave normally.

"If the present trend," he said, "is not the start of a new constructive period for the industry, all present signs are deceptive."

Pew Talks on Oil.

J. Edgar Pew of Dallas, a widely known Texas oil man and president of the American Petroleum Institute, traced the history of the oil industry in Texas and with it, the removal of prejudice in the state against the Standard and other oil companies. He scouted the widespread theory that oil supplies are on the verge of exhaustion and predicted that it would be ample for centuries with improvements in methods and the advance of progress.

"It merely is a matter of cost," he said, referring especially to extraction of oil from shale, probably still deeper drilling for the oil itself and utilization of oil which is now produced in such a way that it cannot compete with that which now is secured under ordinary present day processes.

Thomas R. Preston, president of a Chattanooga, Tenn., bank, discussing laws, bureaus and tax, noted tat two million laws are on the statute books of the United States. "More laws," he said, "than have been passed by all the other countries of the world since birth of Christ."

or Fewer Laws.

"I can think of nothing," he said, "that will help law enforcement any more than to make laws few and simple and enforce them."

O. C. Waker, cashier of a Brownwood bank, outlined some of the mistakes he had made as a banker. A cotton account which his bank took on in a western city, and a loan to the Brownwood municipality were enumerated.

Of the cotton account, which happened to be that of a farmers' cooperative organization, he said, "Never again for me." The Brownwood loan, which was for a sewer system, involved the bank in litigation. Losses in both instances, he said, finally were nominal.

E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, was introduced by President R. L. Thornton of Dallas as the bearer of an important message. Mr. Simmons spoke on "free markets and popular ownership."

Politics began to buzz around the convention today. Apparently Francis H. Welch, president of the First National bank of Taylor, is slated for the presidency. Galveston and El Paso were prepared, it was said, to bid for the next meeting, with Galveston a favorite. Both selections are to be made tomorrow.

failure of the trial court to charge upon the defense of property. This part of its ruling was as follows:

"The court gave no charge upon the defense of property. Proper objection was made because of such ommission, and several special charges in the subject were asked and refused. . . . as the matter is presented by defense evidence, deceased had already made an unwaranted entry on land in defendant's possession and thrgugh employes of deceased was proceeding to construct a fence and take possession of defendant's land. Deceased had refused to discontinue the fence building but on the other hand, expressed a determination to go on with it, making a threat against defendant in the event of later interference.

"Deceased, apparently in pursuance of this intention, was engaged in an effort to make an unlawful trespass by force of arms upon the property of the defendant for the purpose of to and directing further construction of the fence, or the resumption of its construction, and with the intention of effecting that purpose at all hazards and by the use of arms.

"Under our statute before a person can justify a killing in the protection of property all other means then available must be resorted to. Under the peculiar facts of the present case, we are inclined to view that upon another trial this issue should be submitted under appropriate instructions."

Reference to the fence deals with the construction of a wire barrier being put up by a group of Reilly's workmen along a boundary line under dispute by Reilly and Griffin. Both men owned large tracts of land in the vicinity of Dundee and the diversion dam of the irrigation project. It was near the dam that Reilly was shot once through the head with a high powered rifle early in the afternoon of May 16, 1924.

Gave Himself Up.

Griffin went voluntarily to Dundee immediately after Reilly was shot, directed a physician to go to the wounded man and then went on to Archer City to give himself up to the sheriff there. Reilly was rushed to the general hospital in this city but died at 1 o'clock the following morning.

Griffin was subsequently indicted and his case sent on a change of venue from Archer to Young county, where it was tried in the 30th district court. W. F. Weeks and F. E. Taylor headed Griffin's defense, while District Attorney James V. Allred and Leslie Humphrey, special prosecutor, handled the case for the state.

The case was completed September 23, 1924, and the jury, after being out only a short time, returned a verdict of guilty and assessed Griffin's punishment at 25 years in prison.

Two developments in the tragedy have come within the past few days, the first being revealed little over a week ago when Griffin was moved from the Young county jail at Graham to the Wichita county jail in Wichita Falls. The change was made on order of Judge Wilson, acting on the request of District Attorney Allred.

Last Saturday, May 16 — exactly one year from the time her husband was killed, Mrs. Hugh Reilly filed suit in Archer county district court, asking damages of $130,000 from Griffin as a result of Reilly's death.

Rights of Others Cause for Laws, Rogers Tells Lions

"Every man, woman and child is at liberty to do anything, so long as it does not interfere with the rights of others," Judge Guy Rogers told Lions at their weekly luncheon at the Kemp Wednesday, in an address on "Liberty" the first of a series of talks on Lionism.

"This right brings the need for prohibitive laws, to protect others in their privileges. Liberty has ever been foremost in the mind of man. It tore down the walls of the Bastile; it was present in the long sessions that formed the constitution of the United States; it inspired the writing of the Declaration of Independence.

"The three points of liberty: personal liberty, political liberty, and personal freedom, have been the moving spirits in the unification of all nations."

A musical program preceded the address in which Mrs. Louella B. Thompson, contralto, sang a group of solos with Mrs. Felix Collard at the piano. Miss Oscar Lillian Bilbro played a violin solo accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. W. Akin, Jr.

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

Who's Who in the Story.

Rosilyn Ridgeway learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an overworked little drudge in her father's inn.

Landis Ridgeway, her husband, is a brillian, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother,

Florence Ridgeway, an aristocratic old lady, who saw poverty staring her in the face, and chcose the easiest way out. Rosilyn loving her husband, knows that he is still in love with

Lydia Harbrook, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying

Stevie Van Vorst, a wealthy old roue, although she is really fond of Landis in her selfish way. She is in Paris when she hears of Landis' marriage, and immediately returns to the United States. With her goes

Rupert Briscoe, a dissipated man of the world, who has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and when the two reach New York, she suggests that they ask the young Ridgeways to join them for dinner. She and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby through an apparent misunderstanding Rosilyn and Briscoe will be left alone together all evening, while she will be with her beloved Landis. Thus happens that Landis is amazed to find her waiting for him in the lobby of Claridge's.

Landis phones to find out why his wife has not joined them, and learns that she left the hotel with Briscoe —leaving word that they will join Lydia and Landis in a few minutes. Left alone with Lydia, Landis finds himself swept off his feet by her beauty.

Van Vorst finds Marietta weeping over Briscoe's desertion. He tells her to buck up and come along for a ride with him—he wants to talk over a plan for him.

Long after Rosily's return home Lydia, by a clever ruse persuades Landis to take her for a taxi ride to Jersey. There in the early dawn speeding through the country side his old infatuation asserts itself and he gathers the girl in his arms.

Quartet of Non-Stop Wallops Beats Waco for Spudders

TOP O' MORN STUFF

By BLONDY CROSS.

ONLY HITCH ABOUT THESE MULTITUDES OF CIRCUIT SMASHES WOPPED OUT IN THESE ALLEGED CIGAR BOX BALL PARKS OF SOUTH TEXAS CLUBS COMES FROM THE VIEWPOINT OF THE HOME FANS WHEN OUR NOBLE SPUDDERS ARE IN TOWN.

It's Spudder pitching, my boy. For the home runs continue to get walloped, all right—by the Spudders.

SPEAKING OF BREAKS.

You can say all you want to about the Cats not getting more than their share of breaks if you want to, but Wichita Falls fans who saw Sunday's Panther-Spudder frolic in which Carl Williams lost a 1-0 verdict to Joe Pate down in the Cowtown orchard are downright hostile over matters leading up to the Williams demise.

* * *

It's believed by many over the circuit that most if not all of the Texas league's arbiters are buffaloed by the stockyards brigade. And some say that it's a tendency of the umps to try to earn recommendation to the Dixie series each year, naturally.

* * *

But your rabid fan would rather see any other team than Fort Worth's, declares the indicators are not only buffaloed by the Cowton fans and team but play favorites with the Cats hoping to get the series appointments. Fort Worth has grabbed the Texas league championship so often that the majority of umps have fallen into a habit of expecting the Dixie selection to come from the stockyards village.

HOW ABOUT IT?

That the Spudders lost Sunday's ball game because of poor arbiting, every Spudder fan who witnessed the affair will tell you, and a number of Fort Worth enthusiasts admit the same.

* * *

We've been told that Umps Ernie Osborn, who called Tanner out in the ninth on a close play at first for the third out of the inning with Dorman crossing the platter admitted afterward that he had missed one.

But They Lose Anyhow.

Osborn can be praised for admitting his error, if there was an error and he did admit such, but the fact still stands that the Spudders lost a ball game to the league leaders on that specicic play.

Dorman had got on with a single. There were two away. Tanner batted for Golvin, and as Pop Boone, Record sports scribe, puts it, topped his shot and hit a high bounder to Pate. Dorman was away fast, naturally, there being two down. Pate deflected the ball off his glove and Mullen, according to Pop, made what looked like a hopeless shot to Koney. It was a close play and Osborn's hand went up to end the game, writes Pop.

* * *

But she "looked like a hopeless play," and Osborn admitted that he was wrong. That's the way the Cats beat the Spudders in one. Not so good.

* * *

Now that Tanner's crew has stomped Waco in the series' second straight we can't resist airing a few breezy remarks made by Jinx Tucker, voluble but forever mistaken Waco News Tribune author.

NOW JINX LOSES MIND.

Jinx possibly writes more words than ony other scribe in Texas. He spreads his dog in columns and columns of type daily. He's something like Tennyson's well known brook. The brook runs on and on, but Jinx every now and then falters, apparently hesitates almost at the end of his string, and then revives with something very original, in fact, so original and out of reason that it's almost next to impossible for anybody else to duplicate. But it serves to give Central Texas fans breakfast table literature of a sort, each morning. And, after all, it's not so much whether a scribe is always right or always wrong but whether or not the bugs will read him. And it doesn't matter if they don't like his stuff just so they READ him. That, no doubt, is the situation to a great extent down in the Brazos river village.

Jinx' latest bombastic miscue came Tuesday morning under the head of "Jinx Sport Hotshots." It was a hot shot all right, all right. The wrong-as-usual Waco lynotyper averred San Antonio and Fort Worth teams seem the class of the loop. Possibly, he wasn't so far wrong there. But he opined that San Antonio has it on the Cats. Wrong again. His next cracks was to rate Houston third. He may be correct, we have our doubts, but time will tell. Jinx just couldn't see our noble Spudders. Had the lack of finesse to cast all performances of the teams to the winds and place Waco fourth, Shreveport fifth and Wichita Falls sixth. And that after the Spudders had cleaned the daylights out of the Louisianaentry in fire of seven games played, had dealt the Cats fits, and given everybody else trouble but the Bears. And any follower of Texas league baseball should realize with no mental exertion at all that the Spudders were in one of the most deadly batting slumps that ever hit a team when they tangled with San Antonio. Jinx figures Dallas for seventh place and Beaumont last. He's probably correct about Beaumont, the only guess he stands a chance of coming through right on. And under the existing circumstances who wouldn't prophesy the Exporters for the cellar berth.

THE FACT REMAINS WICHITA FALLS IS NOT SIXTH IN THE PERCENTAGE COLUMN, NOR WACO FOURTH. AND THOSE BEARS CERTAINLY HAVE MUTILATED JAKE'S CATS THE PAST TWO DAYS, HAVEN'T THEY?

Jinx, we might add, is the lad who thinks Johnny Celmars a world's champion and Jimmy Carrol the most formidable contender.

GEORGE, AL, AND CAL

"Budd Tanner Day" Billed At Waco in Honor Of Skipper Today

WACO, May 20.—Bob Osborne was in fine form today, while Lyle allowed four home runs, and the Spudders defeated Waco, 7 to 2, in the second game of the series. Thursday will be "Buddy Tanper Day" in honor of the Wichita Falls manager who played with the old Waco Navigators in the Texas league.

Callaghan, Distel, Tanner and White contributed circuit blows to win the contest for Osborn.

Cubs Score First.

Waco got to the veteran Spudder right hander in the opening round for its pair of runs, and then was blanked the remainder of the route. Menze led off with a hot single through the box. Foss followed up with a single to right, but Menze was put out at third on pretty throw to Tanner by Callaghan. Brown fanned. Wilson Walked, and Jeems Galloway doubled to left, scoring both runners. Osborn tightened, and was never in any very serious danger the rest of the game.

The Spudders tore out in front during the third inning. They scored four runs. Two home runs came in this inning. White singled to left. Query grounded out and Osborn drew a pass. Callaghan then came through with a clout over the right field fence. This put Wichita Falls one run ahead. Then Distel did the unexpected by immediately belting another four-bagger. Fitzgerald lined one out to second, and Bodie walked, but Tanner flied out to center.

Those Home Runs.

The Spudders went scoreless until the sixth when Tanner hit his home run. The bal lcarried far over the left field fence.

Wichita Falls scored two more in the eighth and it was the same story, just another home run. Bodie got on by singling past second. Golvin grounded out, and White followed with a high drive over the left field wall.

The Spudders will finish the series here Thursday, Manager Tanner said he probably would use Carl Williams. Crumpler is the probable choice for Waco.

Miller and Bauman also cracked out home runs, accounting for the Steers' other runs.

CATS AVALANCHE BEARS

SAN ANTONIO, May 20.—After futile attempts to step the Fort Worth Panthers with Bob Couchman and Frank Watt pitching the San Antonio Bears ran in a new pitcher in the person of Garnett Boco to stem the tide in the second slaughter of the present series Wednesday, which resulted in a score of 29 to 9. Two thousand faithful fans saw the Bears go down to ignominious defeat. It was probably the worst drubbing that was ever administered to a San Antonio team rated as a championship contender.

SPORTS HAMMER HOUSTON.

SHREVEPORT, May 20.—Shreveport hammered Benge and Goodwin hard in the seventh and eighth innngs and won the second game of the series 12 to 6. Until that period the battle was a close one with the score 2 to 1 in favor of the locals. Joe Burns opened the seventh with a home run. Five two baggers followed, with Burns getting one of the two sackers on his second trip to the plate. Goodwin then relieved Benge with one out and four of the runs in the seventh were scored against him.

SAND LOT SLANTS

FLASHES ANYHOW.

Oran Daniels of the First Baptist nine, had a bad trench to cope with in the game with the Presbyterians, on the old high school diamond. In right field is a ditch. A pair of balls hit into that field, led Oran over this into this territory and forced him to take them over his head and behind him with one hand.

Norman Ros esrdamewsaehUNUN Norman Rosser made a sweet catch of Harvey's short fly in the fifth inning of the Tuesday Sunday School league scramble. The ball looked good for at least a single, but Rosser raced in and robbed him of the bingle with a neat snare off his shoe tops.

TWIN MURDER!

The double killing those Presbyterians pulled in the sixth was as clever a piece of work as has yet been pulled in the loop. Daniels had reached second through a walk and a stolen base. Beck slashed one to Lefty Roberson, and in his hurry to get the runner he heaved a bit wild. Taylor knocked it down and recovered while yet several feet from first base. He slid at the bag, head first, hand and ball reaching out ahead of his slide. Beck was beat by a half stride. Fritz promptly saw Daniels reach third and start home. A quick peg to Shipley nipped Daniels by a narrow margin.

SHIPLEY A PITCHER?

Boss Hartt's new hurler, Shipley, looks pretty good, that is, if one inning can be called a criterion, which it can't, of course. However, Earl took the hill in the seventh of the First Presbyterian-First Baptist tilt Tuesday after the Presbys had sewed the game up and turned 'em back three in a row. Moore and Roseer struck out, and Owens grounded out, Shipley to Taylor.

Hartt is planning to play-off with Grace Methodists, providing it is agreeable with both clubs, this week, probably Friday. The clubs were unable to play their scheduled game of Monday because of wet grounds.

* * *

Spangler of the Baptists pulled a nice play in the second inning of the Baptist-Presbyterian game. The Presbyterians had counted six runs in that inning and had Burks on first and Francis at second. Marvin Roberson hit a hot one down the third base line. Spangler stopped it after a hard try. The ball was momentarily fumbled but recovered in time to tag Francis as he came by on his way to third.

CLOTHIERS BETTER HUSTLE.

Speaking of play-off games, Ben Smith's Ludlam and Riggs Twilight entry must buckle down soon and erase the three games chalked up against it on the postponement slate or the bunch is liable to be left out in the cold. Two of the contests were held up by poor weather, and the other as a tie affair with Security Nationals. So far the clothiers have been unable to break into the win column, playing two and losing 'em.

The Ludlam and Riggs nine has been crippled the greater portion of the season todate, but is coming around quickly now. Fats Mathis, regular first sacker, probably will be seen in the lineup next week in the game with Monroe's Travelers. Dick Gordon was back in this week's game after a long layoff. Abe Bashara joined the club at third and Watson played a bang-up game at the initial station.

* * *

When they once get started Ludlam and Riggs may prove a pretty hard nine to hold. The gang seems rather weak at bat right now, but every one of 'em stacks up as a good hitter. They just haven't found their slugging eye yet.

LEN'S MIGHTY WALLOP.

Len Smith has hurled many an air-tight ball game, and pulled off some mighty nifty pitching feats, but the chances are that when he gets to be an old man the story he'll tell the younger Lens will not be about games won on the hilltop, but about that mighty circuit wallop he clouted off Gabe Harris in the Security game, tying the count at one-all, and overcoming a lead that was beginning to look unsurmountable.

These pitchers like to get their base knocks just as much as anybody else, and when the Ludlam and Riggs leader busted the pill clear over Tank Horten in left and hooted it around the paths on non-stop voyage that meant the run which saved the game when all the other hitters were falling down on the job before the delivery of Harris, boy, don't you know that pitcher was a happy man. That's the big baseball yarn this athlete will tell the rest of his life, all right, all right. No doubt about that.

Rotan Takes Lead in Texas State Amateur Golf Tournament With 74 For Medal Cup in Qualifying Play

Munger Second—Badger and Champion Cochran Each Shoot 76 for Third Honors

WACO, May 20.—George V. Rotan of Houston, five times amateur golf champion of Texas, got off in the lead again today, with the opening of the annual tournament on the Spring Lake course. In spite of erratic putting, which kept him out of birdies time and again, when he had sent brilliant shots to within a few feet of the pin, the Houstonian turned in a 74 for the medal cup. This was four above par, but C. H. Munger of Dallas took 75 for second place. Al Badger of Dallas, and Tommy Cochran of Wichita Falls, had 76.

Rotan came up last time, arriving on the course only half an hour before time to tee off.

The fate of the draw gives Rotan easy sailing until the semi-finals, compared with his foremost opponents. In the first round, Rotan will meet Clarence Hubby, Jr., of Waco, playing from the Temple Country club, who qualified today with only three strokes more than Rotan. However, Rotan and Hubby have met frequently in tornaments and the results have always been in Rotan's favor. Al Badger is at the other end of the upper bracket, and if both run true to form, they should meet in the semi-finals.

Ossie Carlton of Houston and C. H. Munger of Dallas meet in the first round of the lower bracket, in what may be the most interesting round of the first day. M. L. (Happy) Massinghill of Fort Worth, meets F. M. Lewis, Jr., of San Antonio.

Champion Tommy Cochran should have easy running the first day, but might catch a tartan the second day in Jack Spear of Houston.

Simpson Hopes to Make Third Time Charm Over Duke Tonight In Legion Scrap, But Can He?

JOHNNY'S BROTHER TANGLES WITH TORRES--BOTH SIMPSON BOYS'LL LOSE, AVERS CROSS

Murdock Hooks Alexander in Semi-Final Tilt—Poor Boy Takes on Kid Norford

By BLONDY CROSS

Johnny Simpson returns tonight for his third fling at Duke Trammel. Cowtown's husky young walloper has beat Johnny twice, but the San Antonio lad still packs the determination and belief that he can turn the tables.

Both Trammel and Simpson are said to be in pretty good shape for the battle. They're to go over the 10-round route as the feature event of the American Legion card in the new arena at Eleventh and Ohio. Curtain raiser is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock.

Can simpson, beaten by Dukum twice, overcome the advantage of the Fort Worth punchers' well known hefty right hand wallop and make this third attempt the charm? Many fans are asking this question. Some believe he can. Personally, the writer doesn't.

Had Trammel used his head in his second match with Simpson, and bored in right at the start and kept it up he no doubt would have won by a knock out, for at the close of the last round Johnny was tottering, and hanging on for life.

Johnny may be in better shape this time, and he may be a wiser battler, but we don't believe he has improved sufficiently to take Duke's measure if the Stockyards socker will stay in and pitch and not try to outbox or get on the defensive and measure his opponent from the shell, a failing Duke has displayed quite often.

Johnny, of course, may tear in and whip the sox off Dukum, thereby proving the writer a prevaricator, but the chances for such, we believe, are two to one against him.

However, the battle should prove a whale of a bout, and there's quite a possibility of it being a closely fought affair. Wouldn't be surprised if the referee didn't call it a draw, that is, any third man in the ring other than the little Mexican fellow who has been indicating for the Legion of late. This referee is the only one to handle a Legion bout this year who isn't afraid to call a shade decision a shade. The rest of the boys when they think it is fairly close invariably call it a draw.

Johnny brings with him Steady Simpson, his brother, who picks a tough one in Renato Torres, clever Mexican battler. They're billed to step ten rounds. We haven't anything against the Simpson family, but both of the boys are going to have to accomplish some tall maneuvering to keep from getting cleaned up tonight. Torres is the logical selection for Trammel, but Johnny couldn't fight Steady and they both wanted to do battle, so the Legion matched 'em the way they are. If Torres beats Steady and Duke licks Johnny the Mexican and Cowtowner will mix it next week, advises Promoter Wofford.

Steady is a new one as far as Wichita Falls fistic circles are concerned, and he may be packing a surprise for Renato, but the chili and enchilada champion is a tough hombre, no doubt about that.

Should see lots of action in that fisticuff.

As a semi-windup offering, the Legion has matched Kid Alexander of San Antonio with Young Murdock, the Sulphur feather. They're slated for six rounds.

Poor Boy, darktown battler, takes on Kid Norford in a four-rounder. Norford has all the negro battlers scared away, they say, all except Poor Boy.

They'll be some kind of a curtain raiser. Probably a couple of germ weights in a three-rounder.

Cobb Starts Rally In Eighth That Cinches The Game

DETROIT, May 20.—The Tigers won their second consecutive game here today defeating Washington 7 to 3. Cobb, first man up, started a rally in the 8th hitting out a triple off Reuther's delivery. Reuther was removed in favor of Russell but three hits, a wild pitch and a base on balls gave the Tigers three runs off the new pitcher in addition to the one off Reuther. Score:

Christians Forfeit Tilt, But Practice With Methodists

Walker Wins, 16 to 3, But Allows Only One Bingle

First Christians forfeited to First Methodists Wednesday afternoon by not turing out a full team to play a scheduled Sunday school league contest with the Methodists.

The Christians picked up enough outside players to make a team and the clubs then hooked up a practice affair. The Methodists won, 16 to 3.

It was a free hitting affair with the Methodists collecting a total of 13 hits. McDuffy and Walker held the Christians to one lone hit. The three runs were made on a pair of walks, and a couple of errors. Gerard Boone smasked out a pair of triples and a sacrifice bunt in three trips to the plate. McMahon also hit a three bagger.

Hood Kizziar, Texhoma shortstop, seems to be a fair pitcher. He relieved Taylor in the fifth and after allowing a pair of tallies fanned Ward, Doke and Walker in succession.

SUMMER WEATHER HERE

Thermometer Stays Over 90 Degree Mark Most of Wednesday.

With the thermometer hovering above the 90 degree mark most of the day, Wichita Falls was gripped again Wednesday with a summer climate that smacked of more heat and discomfort to come. It was another 24-hour period of almost cloudless sky and gleaming sun.

Apparently, the rains which have gripped this section for several weeks have subsided.

STOCKS.

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Expanding public participation was the chief characteristic of today's rising stock market. More than two score issues, including a large assortment of public utilities, mounted to new high levels for the year, net gains in several cases running as high as ten points or more. Total sales exceeded 2,000,000 shares and were the largest of any session since the middle of March.

Strength of sterling exchange which advanced to the highest price in eleven years and within one-half cent of parity received as much attention from the banking fraternity as the bullish demonstrations in stock.

International bankers were generally agreed that sterling's relation to parity is only a question of hours, and that it will have an important psychological effect on financial centers throughout the world.

Increasing activity was noted in the standard industrials. United States Steel common closed a point higher at 119⅜, the highest price since the March decline and more than 10 points above the year's low. American Can attained new high ground at 193. Baldwin closed fractionally lower at 114¾, after selling as high as 115⅝. American Smelting was again active, closing nearly a point higher at 100¼, after having touched 101⅜.

Utah securities was the outstanding strong spot in the public utility group, touching a record figure of 157⅜ as compared wit ha low of 41⅛ only a few months ago, and then slipping back to 152¾, where it was up 8¾ on the day. Other issues in that group to break through their previous high levels were Electric Power and Light certificates, Standard Gas and Electric, Detroit Edison, Twin City Rapid Transit, Columbia Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, Brooklyn Edison and Mackay Company.

Strength of Pan-American B which closed nearly three points higher at 81,

Oct.	22.23	21.80	22.04-08	22.10
Dec.	22.43	21.89	22.15-17	22.19

Opening: January 22.09 bid; May 22.98; July 22.98; October 21.98; December 22.07.

NEW ORLEANS, May 20.—The cotton market was fairly active today with periods of real feverish excitement. After opening easier and losing 22 points on July in the early trading bringing that month down to 22.85, and 30 points on October with that month at 21.80, prices rallied sharply during the latter part of the morning owing to a sensational jump in the July position and active covering by shorts.

July at the highest trade dat 23.62, or 77 points up from the low and October advanced to 22.33 and December to 22.43 or 5 3to 54 points up from early lows. A fair part o fthe gain was lost in the last hour of trading on realizing and more or less selling and the close showed a net gain of 13 points on July but net loss of 4 to 6 points in active new crop months.

The early decline was due largely to Liverpool coming in lower than due, the English market being influenced by favorable weather and crop accounts and by the fact that shorts had all covered. A favorable weather map and a generally favorable weakly weather and crop report contributed to the early selling. The official forecast was for fair and warmer weather in the belt.

The sensational jump in July from the low of 22.85 first to 23.40 and later to 23.62 was the main feature. The sudden advance was due to covering by July shorts who had become frightened y the steady shipping out of the certified stocks both here and in New York. It is understood that spot interests controlling the supply of certificated cotton intend to demand delivery which shorts regarded as a serious problem with the stock steadily dwindling. The later months were carried up by the advance in July but eased off again when the pressure back of July was reduced. The certificated stock here is down to 72,867 bales.

Exports today were 17,269 bales, of which Houston contributed 15,011.

DALLAS, May 20.—J. L. Walker, former grain dealer of Fort Worth, was ordered to pail last night by Judge William H. Atwell of U. Tax Board to Meet First Week in June

The board of equalization for the adjustment of city taxes will meet some time between June 1 and 5, Tax Assessor and Collector W. R. Hyer stated Wednesday in sounding another warning that only eight more days remained in which renditions on city property would be taken. The rolls for 1925 will close May 30 and after that date all property for which valuations have not been turned in by the owners will be placed on the unrendered roll. Valuations have been coming in steadily the past few days, but a large number are yet to be received.

It is Mr. Hyer's hope that the board of equalization can be appointed and set to work immediately, thus giving him an opportunity for an earlier start on compiling his rolls for the year.

Claim Quanah Death Not Due to Foul Play

The management of Lake Pauline, located seven miles west of Quanah, where the body of Jimmie Spell was found in shallow water Tuesday, called the Record News by telephone yesterday and read two signed statements, one by a coroner and the other by a physician, both of Quanah, on results of examinations of the body.

The management stated the coroner had been unable to find indications of foul play, and that the doctor believed death was due to heart failure instead of by drowning.

D. O. D. TEACHER IS HONORED BY SUNDAY CLASS

Miss Verna Sellers Given Framed Poem By Pupils

A handsome framed poem, with hand illuminated border in gold and colors is the unique and original gift presented to Miss Verna Sellars, teacher, by members of the D. O. D. Sunday school class of the First Methodist church, south, which she has so successfully directed during the winter months. Miss Sellars, who has gone to Fort Worth for a short visit, will be in Denton for the summer teaching at the College of Industrial Arts, and will return again in the fall to teach the D. O. D. class when she resumes her duties at the Wichita Falls Junior college where she is head of the English department.

Written by Wichitan.

The poem, a lovely bit of sentiment expressing the regard and appreciation of the class members, was written by Miss Chella Hendrick, also an English teacher at the college. Composed especially for the occasion, the verse rings true, and is beautifully bordered in a quaint design of pen sketching and hand painting by Miss Florence Barrier, art director at Alamo school. The gift, inspired by the devotion and loyal work of Miss Sellars as teacher of the class, and fashioned by loving fingers with many minds sharing in its giving, impresses one as a remembrance of extraordinary value.

The class, under Miss Sellars' direction, has done noteworthy work during the winter season. Functioning actively and productively in all lines of class activity they are carrying as an extra charge, an orphan girl in the Methodist home at Waco whom they clothe and care for in every way. An interesting part of their fellowship is the "capsule plan" which gives much joy to the members. Four times a year, each member places her name, birthday, address and phone number on a small slip of paper which she rolls tightly and places in a quinine capsule. The names are then collected, shuffled and each member draws one keeping it strictly secret. The "capsule" then becomes her special charge whom she remembers with dainty gifts at birthdays, Easter, Mothers' day, holidays and sometimes out of a clear sky for no special reason at all. The cards in the gifts read, "From Your Capsule," and care is taken to keep the recipient from discovering the donor. Meanwhile, the donor is receiving a string of gifts from her unknown benefactor, according to the plan. Three months later, members in class meeting rise in turn and announce the name of their capsules, to the surprise and delight of every one concerned. The names are then shuffled again and the interesting custom repeats.

Mrs. Hardy Teacher.

Mrs. Dan Hardy has been selected as teacher of the class during Miss Sellars' absence, with Mrs. G. D. Hall, assistant teacher. Mrs. W. C. Darby is class president; Mrs. J. G. Kilgore, vice president; Mr. L. G. Childs, secretary; Mrs. A. C. Walker, welfare chairman; Mrs. Mack Thomas, social chairman; Mrs. E. B. Kirby, custodian of the capsules; Mrs. J. W. Carden, treasurer; with Mrs. R. T. Sloan, chairman of the flower and telephone committees.

Class members are Mesdames J. D. Bright, H. F. Calhoun, W. P. Crews, George Dobson, J. K. Flauntleroy, B. M. Finger, E. B. Gorsline, E. P. Haney, C. E. Huffman, W. T. Ivers, Mattie Jaco, J. P. Jackson, T. H. Lawson, W. W. Lynn, H. J. Parish, E. E. Smith, O. G. Scott, Mary Spiker, A. L. Sullins, L. B. Tekell, Mack Thomas, W. F. Turner, W. J. Willson, E. H. Yager, M. E. Beck, Muir, Peterson, C. E. Pross, E. E. Bedell, C. W. Gilliland, Chas. Rhader, R. L. Underwood, J. W. Akin, C. M. Miller, R. T. Sloan, B. P. Williams, A. H. Fell, W. J. Johnson, L. G Childs and C. B. Montgomery.

Index of Wichita County Automobiles is Compiled By County Tax Assessor

Index, classified, numbered, lettered and named, automobiles and automobile owners of Wichita county have been catalogued and tabulated by County Tax Collector Guy C. Raley and his deputies in order that the public, if it so wishes, may gain speedy and accurate information concerning the motor population of the territory. The complied list, which includes all pleasure cars, trucks, tractors and trailers, was made public Wednesday afternoon.

It shows all auto registrations for 1925 up to May 1 and, among other things, tells the old license number, present license number, motor number, make and model of car, the name and address of the person for whom it has been registered. It is a model of completeness and represents a vast amount of unobligated work on the part of the tax office force, which undertook the task merely as a service to the public.

The lists, of course, will be open for public inspection free of charge at any time. Copies of the two volumes containing the 24,000 names will be on sale.

In connection with his survey of the auto field of the county, Mr. Raley found that of approximately 1[illegible]0 machines of all kinds registered approximately 12,000 were Rords.

Glenny Is Indicted For Murder of Son; Trial to Be June 8

HENRIETTA, May 20.—Charles Glenny of Byers was indicted here today by the Clay county grand jury for the murder of his son, Robert Glenny, age 20, on April 11. The bill against the father was returned after several hours of investigation by the jury. Date for trial was set by Judge Vincent Stine for June 8, and a special venire of 200 men was ordered summoned.

Bond fo rthe defendant was set at $10,000, the same as the amount set two weeks ago by the court of criminal appeals, which Glenny was unable to perfect at the time. Attorneys were working on the bond yesterday afternoon and hoped to have their client free before night, but were unable to complete the amount.

Glenny has been in the Henrietta jail since the night of the fatal shooting when he was captured in southern Oklahoma after an exciting four hours chase. He was denied bail at the time and appealed. Following the decision by the appeal court, attorneys asked for a rehearing, claiming the amount was above the resources of their client. No action has been taken yet.

Epworth League To Hold Busy Meet At Burk Over Week End

With a busy program mapped out for both days, the fourth quarterly convention of the Wichita Falls district Epworth league will meet Saturday and Sunday of this week at Burkburnett. Election of district officers for the coming year will climax the meetings.

The first session will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday night with Rev. E. V. Cole, pastor of the First Methodist church, Electra, as the principal speaker. At 7:30 Sunday morning an early morning prayer service will be held and at 11 a. m. a special service for young folks will be delivered at the First Methodist church in Burkburnett.

Election of officers, other business matters and laying of plans to attend the summer league assembly at Sherman June 9 to 15 will be taken up at the business meeting Sunday afternoon.

The convention will close Sunday night.

Chief Hodgins Back From International Police Meet at N. Y.

Well stocked with a pocketful of new ideas and warm in his praise of the convention as a whole, Chief of Police George H. Hodgins, returned Wednesday afternoon from New York City where for the past ten days he has been attending the international police convention in session there. He was one of two Texas chiefs of police at the big session, the other being R. E. Kennedy of Beaumont.

Police department executives from 44 foreign nations, 85 of the largest cities in America and from 44 different states attended. There were more than 700 all told.

While at the convention Chief Hodgins paid special attention to the lectures, demonstrations and studies of traffic control problems and found, he believes, a number of pointers that will be of value to this city in its efforts to iron out its troublesome traffic difficulties.

Other matters effecting various branches of handling crime were also studied attentively by the chief.

Watch his milk!

A baby's health—often it's very life—depends on the nourishing quality of its milk. And remember this—the best milk loses its wholesomeness rapidly when exposed to a temperature warmer than 50 degrees. A well-iced refrigerator is the only safe place to keep milk. Don't take chances with your baby's health. Take ice regularly.
