Sentenced To Death

Supported by Lake County Sheriffs' matrons, Mrs. Opal Collins, 25-year-old Hammond, Ind., housewife, hears a Gary, Ind., court sentence her to die in the electric chair Feb. 15, 1957. She was found guilty in the slaying of her paraplegic husband, Ben Collins Jr., her mother-in-law and two sisters-in-law. Mrs. Collins is the first woman sentenced to die in the Indiana electric chair.

Red Regime Gives In To Hun Rebel Demands

Secret Police Are Disbanded

VIENNA (AP)— Radio Budapest announced late today an agreement has been reached for rebels to turn in their arms and for Russian troops to quit Budapest.

At the same time, the government-controlled radio announced Interior Minister Ferenc Muennich had dissolved the dread Communist secret police. Muennich announced that secret police guilty of torture and oppression would be punished.

The agreement concerning the surrender of rebel arms was concluded by Defense Minister Karoly Janza. It was not announced who negotiated for the forces of the rebellion.

The broadcast said the agreement provided that Russian army forces will leave Budapest 24 hours after rebel weapons have been delivered.

Only a short time before this broadcast, British Foreign Secretary Lloyd told the House of Commons in London the Soviet Union is pouring more troops into Hungary.

He told the House of Commons some Soviet units and the Hungarian security police "behaved with the utmost ruthlessness" in attempting to put down the Hungarian revolt.

"With regard to Soviet troops, our latest information is that they have not yet withdrawn from Budapest," he said. "Our information is that further Soviet troops are being moved into Hungary and brought to the capital."

At the same time the West German Ministry for All-German Affairs announced in Bonn Soviet conscripts are reported moving into Communist East Germany to join the big Russian military force there. The Ministry said it got the news from a monitored broadcast of a Soviet station to Russian troops.

It was not made clear whether the conscripts are supposed to be replacements for troops who have returned to Russia or for Soviet divisions reported moved into Poland during the Warsaw crisis that preceded the Hungarian uprising last week.

Dissolution of the security police and departure of Russian troops from the capital would fulfill two of the extensive concessions made to the rebels by Nagy yesterday.

While the Communist government has not promised free elections, free press and other democratic institutions demanded by a large segment of the rebels, it was generally felt here the rebels have won a solid victory.

There were unconfirmed reports that Russian forces already have begun withdrawal from Budapest and other sections of the country. These could not be verified, but announcement of the agreement on rebel arms indicated a Russian withdrawal, at least from Budapest, was imminent.

In western Hungary, Soviet troops were still in their garrisons, but were not active. Rebels were in control of much of the area in which they were stationed.

Szabad Nep, official Communist newspaper in Budapest, published a statement by a revolutionary group of intellectuals today, conceding a first victory for the rebellion.

"The heroic freedom fight of the Hungarian people has achieved its first victory," the statement said. "As you have heard from the radio, Premier Nagy has announced the fulfillment of our main demands, the dissolution of AVH (secret police) and the pulling out of Soviet troops from Budapest.

"In vain the sinful clique of Ernoe Geroe has tried to isolate Imre Nagy from the revolutionary masses who for years was the first to oppose (Matyas) Rakosi's policy.

"The Geroe clique, in vain, slandered the heroic insurgents as counterrevolutionaries and looters. It ordered, in vain, the secret police to mass murder, it brought alien troops upon us in vain. The power of the people has been greater and has won."

Geroe is the former leader of the Hungarian Communist party.

'Few Thousand' Daring Youths Sparked Revolt

By ENDRE MARTON

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—The Hungarian Communist government has virtually capitulated to a six-day national revolution led by a few thousand daring young men.

The most important concession in principle is that the regime acknowledged this revolution as a great national uprising "caused by the grave crimes of the past decade."

All other concessions derive from this one.

The regime threw in the sponge. It was defeated by a whole nation, represented by those few thousand young men.

This is being written Sunday night.

(Many hours after this dispatch was filed the Budapest radio announced an agreement that rebels would turn in their arms and Russian troops would leave Budapest).

Premier Imre Nagy has just broadcast a program including most of the major demands voiced by the insurgents. The program includes a promise that Russian troops will withdraw.

Those who fought heroically for these demands would have been overjoyed by these concessions a week ago. Certainly many of the insurgents demand more concessions today. They demand free and secret elections with the participation of all political parties as the next stage.

Adlai Charges Ike Defeatist In Bomb Issue

By The Associated Press

Adlai Stevenson, renewing a hot campaign issue, charged today that President Eisenhower has an attitude of "hopeless defeatism" on "how to save the world from hydrogen devastation."

Eisenhower, his own campaign presumably enhanced by a favorable medical report, scheduled an early departure today for political rallies in Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., and Richmond, Va.

Stevenson's latest blast in the continuing debate over the wisdom of halting hydrogen bomb tests came in the form of a public statement and an accompanying 3,000 - word "H-bomb memorandum."

The Democratic presidential nominee said Eisenhower's own "white paper" on the subject last week "is remarkable for misstatements and distortions" of Stevenson's position in the argument.

Eisenhower said Tuesday night the United States could not "even dare" halt H-bomb testing without dependable worldwide disarmament control. To do so, he said, might result in erasure or reversal of "our present commanding lead in nuclear weapons."

The medical report, issued at the White House shortly after he returned from an overnight stay at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital, said Eisenhower "gives every appearance of being in excellent health."

Vice President Nixon said in Los Angeles there has been "a tremendous surge" toward Republicans lately and he now feels "we have an even chance to carry the Senate and a better than even chance to carry the House." Democrats now have a 49-47 Senate edge and a 232-203 margin in the House.

In Lima, Ohio, last night, Sen. Estes Kefauver took aim at Secretary of State Dulles, calling him "the world's champion zig-zagger" because of Dulles' Egyptian policy.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee said he had read that the State Department had "quietly resumed giving economic aid to Egypt." Kefauver said this was another in "a long series of complete reversals of course on the part of Mr. Dulles."

Exiles Demonstrate

A delegation of anti-Communist Hungarian exiles stage a memonstration before the U. S. embassy in Vienna, seeking air for peoples in rebellion against Hungary's satellite Communist government. Sign in center reads, "We remain people of (Cardinal) Mindszenty." The delegation delivered a message asking U. S. intervention to aid anti-Soviet rebels.

U. S. Evacuation On As Israel Mobilizes

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel mobilized its reserves and the United States began the evacuation of some of its citizens from four Middle East states today in the biggest Arab - Israeli war scare since 1948.

Israel, announcing the callup of reserve battalions in what it termed a "partial mobilization," denied it had any aggressive intent.

Tension in Israel has mounted since Jordan, which has the longest frntier with Israel of any Arab state, formed a joint military command with Syria and Egypt last week. A pro-Egyptian Parliament was elected in Jordan a week ago.

President Eisenhower, taking a grave view of the mobilization, sent two messages to Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion. Washington reports said Israel had mobilized from 150,000 to 200,000 men along her frontiers.

In the Israeli side of Jerusalem regular traffic and business were slowed by a heavy movement of troops, guns, tanks and reservists.

From 7,000 to 8,000 Americans in Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Syria were affected by State Department warnings and orders to leave for points of safety. Tourists, business people and others in the four countries not performing "essential functions" were urged to leave. Dependents of U. S. government officials will be evacuated "as soon as possible" by commercial planes, they were told.

Dependents in Jordan were told the first flight to take them to Beirut, Lebanon, was leaving at 2 p.m. today.

There are about 320 Americans in Jordan, 60 of them in Arab Palestine. About 100 of them are there in official capacities. There are 1,893 Americans in Egypt. Many are missionaries, teachers, newsmen and businessmen.

Because nonessential British personnel was largely withdrawn during the heights of the Suez crisis, similar warnings to Britons in the Middle East were not issued by the London government.

The air of crisis was heightened by the announcement of Israeli military authorities today that three suicide bands of Arab commandos had crossed into Israel from the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip last night and two of the groups were captured. Increased activity of these bands was one reason given for the Israeli mobilization.

The Israeli cabinet met in an emergency session for 2½ hours today. British and American ambassadors had separate meetings with Premier Ben-Gurion and Foreign Minister Golda Meir.

At Amman, U. S. Ambassador Lester Mallory called on Thsan Hashem, Jordan's Foreign Office undersecretary. In Cairo, U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare arranged meetings with Egyptian President Nasser and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi.

Jordan's tough little army, formerly called the Arab Legion, was reported deployed on the west bank of the Jordan ready to take the brunt of any Israeli attack. Jordan has defense alliances with Britain, as well as separate treaties with Iraq and with Syria and Egypt.

In Israel, special first aid centers continued a drive for blood donations.

The Israeli government, announcing the callup of the reserves, said it was "to block any possible enemy attack and afford sufficient breathing space in case of attack."

Israel denied any intention of aggression.

President Eisenhower sent two messages to Premier David Ben-Gurion cautioning Israel to "avoid any act "which would endanger the peace."

Lynching Feared In Florida Case

WILDWOOD, Fla. (AP) — A Negro farm laborer, placed in jail for protective custody at his own request after he was accused of insulting a white woman, disappeared under strange circumstances early yesterday.

Jesse Woods, 39, was missing from his jail cell when Police Chief Ed Mullis returned from chasing two speeding cars. There were blood spots on the floor and a bunk was overturned. A day-long search failed to turn up any clues on the disappearance.

Gov. LeRoy Collins asked the Florida Sheriff's Bureau and Sheriff M. H. Bowman of Sumter County for a full report and the FBI said it is looking into the case to determine if it has jurisdiction.

Since daylight yesterday all has been quiet in this little central Florida town, 75 miles north of Tampa.

William A. Fordham, president of the Florida conference of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said at Tampa, "From what I've heard it looks like a lynching. If it was, we definitely will make an investigation."

Woods was arrested Saturday afternoon at a grocery store, charged with disorderly conduct and drunkeness. Police Chief Mullis said he "insulted a white woman."

David Hutto, a clerk at the store, quoted Woods as saying "Hello there, baby" to Miss Mary Evelyn Hill, schoolteacher. She was not available for comment.

Woods was released on bond about midnight and left with his father MacArthur Woods and a brother. Soon they returned and Jesse Woods asked to be allowed to stay in the jail, saying some white men in cars had followed them and he was afraid.

About an hour later Patrolman E. H. Barry found the lock on the little jail door had been knocked off and Woods was gone.

About 150 officers, including state highway patrolmen and deputies from neighboring counties, supported by two airplanes, searched all yesterday without result.

SUCCESSOR NAMED

Jewel Barton To Quit Health Post

Miss Jewel Barton, city-county health nurse for the past five years, has tendered her resignation to the Howard County Commissioners Court.

Miss Ray (Bo) Bowen has been appointed to the position.

Miss Barton said she was leaving her post on Nov. 1. In her letter, she wrote that her reason for resigning was not due to any dissatisfaction with the office but because she was "mentally and physically tired." She added that the advanced age of her mother was imposing additional work which she had to perform and that she felt it advisable to relinquish her position with the health department.

The Howard County commissioners court, after hearing the letter read, accepted Miss Barton's resignation. A resolution expressing the court's regret that she was leaving her office and thanking her for her services was unanimously adopted.

Miss Barton said that Miss Bowen, currently with the Veterans Administration Hospital, would succeed her in her office. Miss Bowen, Miss Barton wrote, has had extensive experience and is well qualified for the position of public health nurse.

Miss Barton said she would be available to assist Miss Bowen in becoming familiar with the duties of the office and would be happy to help in any matter that might arise.

275 Due At C-C Banquet

LAMESA — With about 275 tickets placed, the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce is a "sell-out," C-C officials announced today.

The banquet will start at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Clyde Branon will turn presidency of the organization over to Walter Buckel, and other new officers will be installed. Louis Throgmorton, Dallas insurance man, will be the speaker. Other new officers are Tim Cook, succeeding Jake Lippard as vice president, and Fred Barbee Jr., who will replace Bill David as treasurer.

Presley Says He'd Quit Rather Than Spark Delinquency

NEW YORK (AP)—Rock 'n' roller Elvis Presley says he'd go back to driving a truck if he thought his type of entertainment contributed to juvenile delinquency.

"Money doesn't mean anything to me. It's this business I love," he said.

The 21-year-old singer said he had grossed more than one million dollars this year.

Earlier, about 1,000 squealing teen-agers were disappointed when Presley failed to appear at the unveiling of a 40-foot likeness of himself over the marquee of a Times Square theater.

Before a TV appearance, Presley received a Salk antipolio shot. City Health Commissioner Leona Baumgartner said he set a "fine example" for teen-agers who have not yet taken the Salk shots.

Wilson Sees Fear As Atom Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson says that stopping hydrogen bomb tests "wouldn't solve the problem that faces the world."

What scares the people of the world, he said during a CBS-TV interview, is not so much the testing of the bombs as the possibility they may be used in war.

Suit On Cotton Quotas Opens

Hearing opened today in Houston on an injunction suit in which four West Texas farmers challenge the legality of cotton quotas set up by the state Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee last spring.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Ralph White, president of the Howard County Farm Bureau, Floyd Smith of Martin County, William A. Hawkins of Castro County and George Smith of Jones County.

They claim the quotas set by the state ASC discriminate against West Texas and favor East Texas farmers.

Opposing them are attorneys for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The USDA claims it and the secretary of agriculture, Ezra Benson, should have been named defendants in the suit instead of the state ASC committee.

White and the others also filed a $10 million damage claim in connection with their suit, but they have said they will drop the claim but insist on an injunction against the state committee.

YOU'RE INVITED TO OPEN HOUSE

Don't forget the Daily Herald would like to have a date with you this evening.

Open house is being observed in the Herald's new home at Eighth and Scurry from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Many visiting newspapermen have described it as one of the outstanding newspaper plants in the country, certainly for its size.

Naturally we want you to come and see it and to observe all phases of our operations. Our entire family will be on hand to help you on the tour to explain activities.

UF Drive Leaders' Task 'Doubles Up'

The task of solicitation appears to be "doubling up" on United Fund leaders and division chairmen.

They may have to call on persons to whom prospect cards were issued before they can complete the drive for $87,550 for 10 welfare and youth agencies. The personal calls may be necessary to get unworked prospect cards returned to the UF offices, D. M. McKinney, general chairman of the campaign said today.

McKinney said there has been little response to his appeal for workers to return the cards, either worked or unworked. Drive leaders want all cards returned, so that they can be reassigned to other workers for completion of the drive.

"We hope we won't have to go get them, but if the cards aren't brought in we'll have to make personal calls on the persons who have them," McKinney said this morning. "The only way we can reach our goal is to work those cards, and we're going to do that — one way or another."

The chairman had requested that all prospect cards — worked or unworked — be returned to UF headquarters in the Settles by tonight.

Meanwhile, last phase of the drive was kicked off this morning by workers in the women's division. Headed by Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., the group plans to wind up its part of the campaign today and Tuesday.

It Was Inevitable

TOKYO (AP)—When the staff at Japan's central meteorological agency decided to hold a family picnic and field day they took no chances. Top forecasters were consulted as far back as July and all agreed that Oct. 29 would be just right, weatherwise.

Today, the picnic was postponed. It's raining.

GOP Brings In Heavy Artillery As Ike Prepares Texas Visit

By WHITEY SAWYER
Associated Press Staff

Democratic speechmakers outnumbered the Republicans four to one in Texas Monday, but the GOP brings its heaviest artillery in Wednesday when President Eisenhower makes a bid for the state's votes.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) speaks at Lufkin Monday, Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) at Lubbock, Rep. Poage (D-Tex) at Quitman and Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) at Fort Worth. All are supporting Democratic Presidential Nominee Stevenson.

The lone Republican is presidential aide Harold Stassen, who speaks at Wichita Falls.

Gov. Shivers will head a four-man reception committee greeting the President when he lands at Dallas.

Eisenhower will make a one-hour campaign appearance.

The reception committee, composed of Shivers, Bob Smith of San Antonio, state chairman of Texas Democrats for Eisenhower; Jack Porter, Houston, Republican state committeeman, and GOP Rep. Alger of Dallas, said the reception is being planned as a "totally Texan" event.

Police Chief Hannson said he expects 25,000 and is assigning 500 men.

Paul Cain, general coordinator of the Eisenhower reception committee, said 33 North Texas counties are planning to form car caravans to Dallas. He said Houston will send five bus loads.

Meanwhile, the Denison Herald came out editorially against its most famous native son, Eisenhower.

"We like Ike, but we're for Stevenson," the Herald said. "We're just plain Democrats and we believe in supporting the Democratic party," the editorial said. "We believe it is the party of the majority of people....and the party of progress."

The paper didn't take a stand either way four years ago.

Republican gubernatorial nominee William Bryant said at Fort Worth Sunday that with Price Daniel as governor, Texas would enter what he called "a period of strife, confusion, petty bickering and behind-the-door political maneuvering."

Bryant said Daniel, the Democratic nominee for governor, had failed to weld his party together. Bryant urged all voters, "regardless of party affiliation, to place the welfare of the state foremost," and vote Republican.

A group of Texas newspaper editors, members of The Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., predicted at Fort Worth that President Eisenhower will win in Texas Nov. 6.

In a poll, 19 editors predicted Eisenhower will capture the presidential election, while 16 said they believe Stevenson will lead.

Desalting Of Ocean Ready For Testing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is about ready to take its salt water conversion program to the seashore.

One difficulty is that the Interior Department's office of saline water has no beach it can call its own.

"We need an experiment station by the sea," said David Jenkins, government scientist coordinating research to find an economical method or methods of converting sea water into fresh water for industrial, domestic and specialized agricultural use.

"We have three processes now, and expect to have others developed in laboratories, that we have to take to the seashore where we can have an unlimited supply of sea water to work with. But there is no place to go.

"The result is that we are having to beg and borrow facilities."

Negotiations are on for the use of an industrial plant on the North Carolina coast to house a long tube vertical evaporator of the type used by the salt industry. In this case, however, W. L. Badger of Ann Arbor, Mich., has worked out what Jenkins describes as "one of the best looking processes" for the use of the evaporator to take salt out of water.

"Badger believes," Jenkins said, "that it is possible to obtain water by this method at a cost of $100 to $125 an acre foot, if only the formation of scale in the equipment can be eliminated."

The prospects are so favorable that the saline water office has allocated $135,000 of its $550,000 appropriation for this year to set up one operating model 30 feet high at a seaside location. More money will be needed next year if this year's tests are successful.

"It will operate on sea water under various conditions to determine the best means of controlling scale," Jenkins said.

Another five-acre plot of seaside property is being leased from San Diego, Calif., as a site for the construction of a solar still designed to use the sun as the source of heat for the evaporation process.

Pilot Who Shot Himself Down

Tom Attridge, a test pilot of a Navy supersonic jet fighter who shot himself down when in diving his plane he "overtook his own load of bullets," uses a model of the F11F1 to show his daughters where one of the non-explosive shells hit the plane. Attridge was injured when he crash-landed the disabled craft near Grumman Aircraft's test field on Long Island, N. Y.

Midland Residents Lauded For Action

Col. C. M. Young, commandant Webb Air Force Base, has sent an open letter to the press in Midland in which he expresses his gratitude to the citizens, officials and press of that city for their wholehearted cooperation in the recent air tragedy there involving a jet trainer from the local air base.

The letter, dispatched Saturday to the Midland Reporter-Telegram, reads:

"Dear Sir:

"May I express the appreciation which we here at Webb AFB feel for the understanding and help received from citizens of Midland following the recent air crash there?

"My officers and men who investigated the accident, estimated damages and cleared debris, all have commented upon the amazing efficiency and cooperation of the Midland civic organizations, city and other officials, and private individuals. The police and fire departments, they say, are the best trained such organizations with which they have ever had contact; the mayor and other city officials, they add, worked just as smoothly and tirelessly.

"There has been equally warm praise expressed for other groups in Midland — the sheriff and his aides, the National Guard, the Midland County Chapter of the American Red Cross, local representatives of the State Department of Public Safety, the Midland press, and others.

"This letter would be impossibly long if I should attempt here to thank all of the heads of these organizations and individual members simultaneously. What I am trying to do now is to speak personally and individually, through the Reporter-Telegram's pages, to all of Midland's residents, whether or not they belong to any of the formally organized groups which helped at the scene of the accident. From the persons who lived at the crash site to those drawn there by the tragedy, we received an unbroken impression of sympathy and desire to help — to help the residents whose property war damaged and to assist the Air Force in its investigative and rescue work.

"From those dwelling nearby who, although their peaceful homes were already disrupted, gladly opened their doors to a constant flow of rescue workers and news and information specialists telephoning for aid and to relay news flashes, to the Red Cross and prjvate firms providing free refreshments for rescue workers, we met nothing but kindness. Even the individuals whose property was damaged most heavily displayed understanding and helpfulness that I have never seen matched anywhere.

"It is difficult to put into words all that we at Webb feel.

"I can but say 'Thank you all—from the bottom of my heart!' "

Revolt May Result In Russ Discontent

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

The most important thing about the revolt in Hungary is the ultimate effect it is going to have in the hearts and minds of Russians.

There's no point in expecting quick results. But when the fact finally sinks home among Soviet army men that it is they who have played the Cossack, shot down workers peacefully demonstrating, and served with their guns the oppressors of the peoples, big things will perhaps begin to happen.

Russians have had their consciences and idealism systematically dulled and corrupted by the Soviet government for many years. It takes a lot to arouse them. But one thing they still believe in is the Russian Revolution. They believe in it passionately. Though they can doubt at times their government, they still think of it as representing the working class, the proletariat.

But this morning near Budapest there are Soviet soldiers who are awakening with the memory in their minds of Hungarian workers they shot down yesterday, of Hungarian workers they may be ordered to shoot down today.

Admittedly most of these Russian army men are immediately concerned with how they can conduct themselves so as to save their own necks and thus survive until the battle is over.

But some of these Russians must realize that when they pull the triggers on their automatic weapons to shoot down Hungarians they are at the same time annihilating their own integrity as sons of the Russian Revolution.

The present Soviet government's only claim to the right to rule is that it represents the working class in the Soviet Union and outside it.

And it's as sure as the sun will rise tomorrow that on the day the Russians become convinced that their government does not represent the working class, they will throw out that government despite all its secret police, despite its massive army, despite its propaganda apparatus, despite everything.

And it may well be that the day is not far off when Russians will come to realize their government does not represent the working class.

Russian soldiers have shot down workers in East Berlin, in Tiflis, in Vorkuta — and now in Budapest.

The record is there for all the world — and the Russians the most of all.

Wayne Morse Biggest Issue In Oregon Politics

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse — his past and his future — is the biggest issue in the Oregon political campaign.

His past is getting a daily pummeling from Republicans. His future, at the moment, seems moderately secure.

The Republican fight to replace him with Douglas McKay dominates election talk; the presidential campaign is secondary in public attention.

Morse, twice elected as a Republican, is making his first appearance as a Democrat. This is part of the issue.

Foreign policy and farm troubles provide some of the issues, but the regional topics of hydroelectric power development and conservation of natural resources stir the voters most. At its simplest, it's the split between federal and private development with Morse favoring the former.

When the Republicans get away from these topics they devote most of their attention to the switch Morse made in quitting the Republicans and joining the Democrats at a time when it gave control of the Senate to that party.

Morse has hit away at the Interior Department under McKay. A standard accusation has been "giveaway," ranging from oil leases in game refuges to mining claims on national forest land.

Much of McKay's time has been devoted to defending himself. Morse has been almost entirely on the attack, with only an occasional answer to critics of his votes and attitudes.

McKay's reason for going after his party's nomination, he said, was simple: "To bring a showdown the question whether the President's program is to be jeopardized in the future as it has in the past by those seeking personal gratification and notoriety at the expense of the national welfare." He was talking about Morse.

Polls show Morse comfortably ahead in a state which only recently developed a Democratic majority.

'Kinsey Report' Out In Britain

LONDON (AP)—A British "Kinsey Report" today estimated that 25 per cent of the unmarried women in the United Kingdom have had sexual relations.

Among married women contacted in the survey, 40 per cent admitted they had premarital sexual intercourse.

Dr. Eustace Chesser and a team of assistants compiled the report from questionnaires answered by 6,251 British women.

Chesser reported:

Most girls in this country have their first sexual experience between the ages of 18 and 20.

British girls looking for husbands hold physical strength in far higher esteem than good looks.

No Leads On Missing Mom

DALLAS (AP)—Detectives said yesterday they had no fresh leads to the whereabouts of a young Dallas mother who left her frail 5-month-old daughter with a Dallas family and never returned.

Mrs. Hazel Southern told police Mrs. Elizabeth Luetz left the baby with her and promised to return in a little while.

That was Friday. Mrs. Southern called police when the mother didn't show up that night.

The baby was taken to a county-operated orphanage.

"I'd love to have the baby—she's been a perfect doll. But it's hard enough taking care of ourselves," Mrs. Southern said.

Weekend Violence Kills 14 Texans

By The Associated Press

Weekend violence in Texas killed at least 14 persons.

An Associated Press count showed nine killed in traffic, three in plane crashes and one each by fire and drowning.

Flight Described

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Pilots said their four-engine, turboprop transport plane made a round trip from San Antonio to Los Angeles in seven hours yesterday. The VC 121F Lockheed has an estimated speed of 430 miles an hour. The pilot on the 2,400-mile flight was Maj. William Stanton.

Dear Janice: Why Don't You Just Stick To Santa Claus?

By ED GRIFFITH
Bakersfield Californian

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Janice Anderson of McFarland is a little girl with a big question.

And, like another little girl who received the answer to her big question in the famed "Dear Virginia" editorial of the New York Sun many years ago, Janice has directed her query to a newspaper. Here is the question she has posed to the Bakersfield Californian:

"Dear editor:

"My name is Janice Anderson. I am 10 years old. I would like to know the difference between Democrats and Republicans. My mother and father are Republicans and my neighbor is a Democrat.

"My father and mother explained it, but I still can't understand it.

"Thank you. Yours truly, Janice Anderson, Rt. 1, Box 426, McFarland, Calif."

Managing Editor Jim Day asked Kern County party leaders for help in replying. The best he got was, "Now, that's a tough one to answer."

Consulting Webster's 1955 Unabridged International Dictionary, the Californian found these definitions:

Democratic party—"It has advocated a strict construction of the Constitution, sharp limitations of powers of federal government and a broad construction of reserved rights of states. It has generally pronounced in favor of a low tariff, practically for revenue only."

Republican party—"Among the policies with which the Republican party has been identified are a liberal construction of the Constitution, esp. in the direction of federal power, maintenance of the gold standard, and a protective tariff system."

The Californian's editor wondered: Is Webster really accurate?

Next Day wrote President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson.

After some delay, Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary to the President, replied for the Republicans and Stevenson himself answered for the Democratic party.

Snyder wrote:

"It is not possible for us to give you a presidential statement" on Janice's question. Snyder offered what he termed "an excellent exposition on the subject," delivered in Minneapolis last month by Arthur Larson, undersecretary of labor. (It was two long pages of single-spaced typing.)

As his answer, Stevenson sent directly to Janice a seven-page, double-spaced copy of a speech he delivered in August to members of the United Auto Workers meeting in Washington. The Illinois Democrat wrote to Janice he hoped that "perhaps your mother and father will be able to help you understand" the difference between Democrats and Republicans by "simplifying some of the more difficult passages."

The official Republican statement started out by saying there is an "underlying cleavage in philosophy between the two parties." Democrats, said Undersecretary Larson, have "a tendency, as to all sorts of human problems, to try collective and governmental remedies as against relying on individual, pluralist, and private activities."

His party "believes that the private and individual remedy should be tried first in all problems, with the government stepping in only if the job is too big for private, state or local efforts," Larson concluded.

Declared Stevenson: "It is the Democratic faith . . . that the government of a democracy must trust all the people it serves, that it must be made up of representatives of all the people, and that its obligations cannot be to any special interest but only to all the people."

Of the millions of people listening to the words now being uttered in campaign speeches, perhaps one might know a short, simple answer to Janice's question.

Meanwhile, Janice figures her search for uncomplicated truth has not been completely fruitless:

She has Stevenson's autograph!

Fake Photo Is Charged To GOP

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The Oregon Democratic party chairman today accused Republicans of "using a doctored photograph" to try to make Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse appear an unpopular man, shunned by fellow senators.

Republicans denied the charge.

Democratic Chairman Robert Boyer said the Republicans had distributed to every home in Oregon a pamphlet using a cropped photograph showing Morse speaking to an empty Senate chamber.

"Wayne Morse empties the Senate with his longwinded speeches. The Senate refuses to listen to him," was the picture caption, Boyer said, adding that in the cropping the Republicans had concealed the fact the photo was taken in the early morning hours of a Senate session.

"The truth is that the picture was taken at 3 in the morning when Sen. Morse was leading a band of determined liberals in a 13-day fight that prevented a complete giveaway to private monopoly of our atomic energy program," Boyer said.

Hall Denies Using Contract Influence

WASHINGTON (AP) —Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall says he does not control the award of any government contracts, and sought no donation from the Frederick Snare Corp.

Hall was asked during a filmed television interview yesterday about the award of a contract for a 43-million-dollar expansion of the government's nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba. Half of that contract went to the Snare Corp.

New Dodge Has Sports Car Look

The traditional family car has taken on a "sports car look," as Dodge introduces its 1957 Custom Royal four-door sedan. Longer and lower-slung, the car's styling is keynoted by the swept-wing rear fenders. Low center of gravity, new Torsion-Aire ride and extensive use of rubber insulation give the new Dodge a silent, vibration-free ride. The 1957 models go on display Tuesday at Jones Motor Co., First and Gregg.

Longer, Lower, Wider Dodge Will Be Shown Here Tuesday

Longer, lower and wider, and with refinements for smoother, quieter performance, the Dodge car line for 1957 goes on display Tuesday. The new models will be shown at Jones Motor Co., First and Gregg Sts.

An all-new suspension system and newly designed frame give the 1957 Dodge a much lower center of gravity, providing road-hugging qualities formerly found only in high priced sports cars.

Not only is this a major contribution to highway safety, but it also enabled Dodge to reduce car height by as much as five inches, so that the new Lancer hardtop stands less than 55 inches high.

The 1957 Dodge features swept-wing rear fenders comparable to the rudders of airplanes or racing boats. Keynote of the Dodge styling theme, they also have the definite functional purpose of stabilizing the car in crosswinds.

The old vertical coil front springs are gone from the 1957 Dodge, which presents a new type modern front suspension, Torsion-Aire.

Horizontal steel torsion bars have replaced the upright coil type springs, and the new springing is achieved by slightly twisting these sturdy, straight bars. The torsion bars give a smoother softer ride, last longer, require less maintenance and occupy less space — a major factor in lowering the car's overall height.

Rear leaf springs are mounted outside the frame rather than inside, substantially increasing the car's stability and reducing sway on turns.

Suspension and steering systems of the new Dodge, as well as the engine, are completely isolated from the frame with rubber insulation to eliminate metal-to-metal contact for smoother, quieter performance.

Dodge's new Torque-Flite push-button transmission gives livelier response in both acceleration and engine braking, and the smoothest kind of getaway performance.

Roof lines are thinner to accent the swept-wing look at the 1957 Dodge, but the roofs are stronger, yielding substantial improvement in driver visibility through use of 53 per cent more windshield glass.

The larger windshields wrap around at the bottom as well as the top, and on 1957 Dodge convertibles they also curve into the roof itself.

To further increase driver and passenger visibility, windshield wiper blades are four inches longer, clearing 38 per cent more area. The variable-speed wipers are electrically operated to guarantee constant action in all driving conditions.

Dodge offers a new line of engines for 1957. Displacement of the Red Ram V-8 has been increased to 325 cubic inches and the compression ratio to 8.5 to 1. The Super Red Ram engine (power pack) for Custom Royal models is equipped with four-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts and extensions, special distributor, special air cleaner and four-barrel intake manifold. A special D-500 engine, featuring a redesigned intake manifold and a four-barrel carburetor, also is available. Compression ratio of the Getaway 6 is 8.0 to 1 and the displacement is 230 cubic inches.

The trunk compartment of the new Dodge is more than six feet wide and provides substantially increased usable storage space. The seldom-used spare tire is now horizontally mounted, out of the way, at the rear of the trunk.

Two hold-over features of the 1957 Dodge are the Life-Guard safety door latches and the independent emergency braking system.

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

Today, more than ever before, music is an important factor in your everyday life. Have you even counted the times that you have, half-absent-mindedly, flicked on the dial of your radio? Whether in your home, car, or in numerous other locations, you hear a radio . . . and you hear music on that radio quite a large percentage of the time.

Some of this music you like, some you dislike. Some leaves you feeling pepped up, other leaves you very confused — confused as to how said music ever passed the censor line.

Then too, you hear music via phonograph in restaurants, drug stores, and in your home. Recorded music has proved to be a boon. This is proved by the number of records that are sold each week. Such astonishing variety in music is sold — popular, country and western, jazz, spiritual, semi-classical and classical.

Lucky is the entertainer who appeals to fans of all ages. Such is the case with Teresa Brewer. The little miss with the big hits had her first sensational record seller at the age of 16. Tax your memory a bit and remember her "Music, Music, Music," which sold over a million discs. Her current long-play record album entitled merely "Teresa" contains such favorites as "A Tear Fell," "Boll Weevil," "I Gotta Go Get My Baby," and "Goodby John."

Another entertainer with wide age range appeal is Julius LaRosa. Backed by Joe Reisman and his orchestra, Julius does justice to "Candy," "A Fellow Needs a Girl," "If I Had You" and "Ev'ry Time." This is his first LP album on RCA Victor.

With less of an all-around appeal, but unmarred because of the slight is "Peer Gynt Suite," a semi-classical and classical LP hi fi wrapped up by Columbia. The highlight of this album is "Anitra's Dance" which is done by the Philadelphia orchestra, with Eugene Ormandy conductor. Included in Suite No. 1 are four sections consisting of "Morning Mood," "Ise's Death," "Anitra's Dance" and "In The Hall of the Mountain King." On the back side of the record are Hungarian Rhapsodies No. 1 and No. 2 by Liszt.

Because of the fact that this group of songs has been enjoyed by generation after generation, America has moods for enjoying recorded music as done by the Norman Luboff choir. Such is the case with this group's LP record, "Just A Song." Distributed by Columbia, this selection of 12 songs embedded in the history and integrity of America, included "In the Gloaming," "Tell Me Your Dream" "Drink to me Only With Thine Eyes," "When You Were Sweet Sixteen," "After the Ball Is Over," and "Auld Lang Syne."

"Farmer's Tango" is a new release by Nelson Riddle and his orchestra which is a tango with exceptionally fast catchy rhythm.

If left to the fate of the largest percentage of record buyers, the teen agers, this record will undoubtedly never be listed as a best-selling record.

Uncle Ray:

Moon Is Too Large To Fit In Pacific

By RAMON COFFMAN

Among the letters which I have saved for quite a time to answer is one from a physician, Dr. Charles Waugh Reynolds. He wrote:

"I believe that the moon was blown into space by an explosion which took place eons ago, and that it left behind a vast chasm in the crust of the earth.

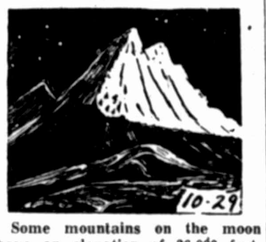

"The chasm may have provided the bed of the Pacific Ocean. It might prove interesting if we could compare the rough surface of the moon to the bottom of the Pacific, and discover how they would fit together."

Many scientists believe that various satellites in our solar system were flung into space from planets, and that our moon was among those objects.

If that theory is correct, the moon must have left the earth vast ages ago, before there were people to make a record of what happened. It is likely in fact, that the earth was in a half-liquid condition, extremely hot.

The moon may have come from the part of the earth which now holds the Pacific, long before that ocean was formed. The hole, or chasm, may have been filled rather quickly by hot magma or lava, which flowed into the opening from the sides.

I use the word "filled," but it is possible that the material which entered the hole stopped rising after reaching a level below the surrounding slightly hardened crust.

Some mountains on the moon have an elevation of 26,000 feet.

One thing is clear. The bed of the Pacific Ocean, as it exists today, is far too shallow to hold the moon. The moon has a diameter of 2,160 miles. The deepest parts of the Pacific Ocean go down hardly six miles. In most places that ocean is less than three miles deep.

If the moon could drop into the Pacific without destroying the earth, more than 99 per cent of it would be above the surface.

Everything Did Not Go Well

Those "neutral" and pro-Soviet countries which have been propagandized and amboozled into the belief that all was serene behind the Iron Curtain with respect to Moscow's relations with her satellites are getting disillusionment in large doses these days.

At least one purpose of the new "soft" policy of the Kremlin was to create the impression, not only among the neutral and friendly nations but throughout Western Europe, that Soviet Russia had turned over a new leaf, and was now operating on the policy of accommodation and live-and-let-live.

In pursuit of this softening-up process it is probable the Kremlin went too far and gave the satellites more latitude than was safe.

Poland reacted strongly, and rioting ensued.

Hungary reacted even more strongly and on a wider front.

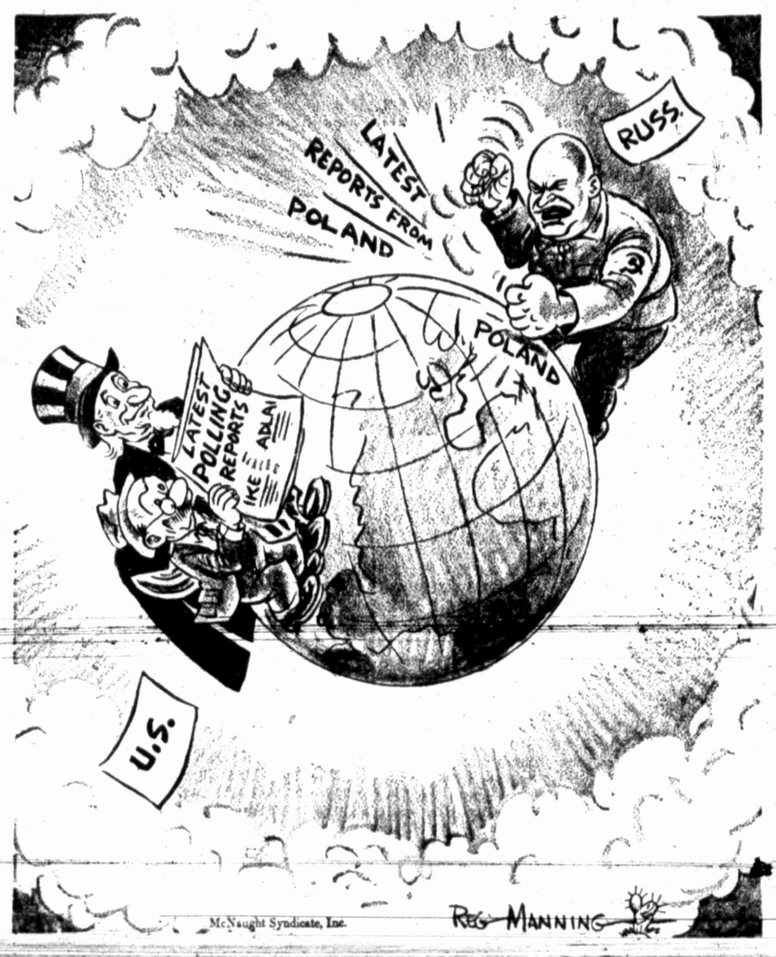

In Poland the new Communist government seems to have had fairly easy sailing in putting down open rebellion, perhaps because of the ruthless action taken after the Poznan incidents of some months ago.

In Hungary, where the old Communist government was ostensibly ousted in favor of a new, equally Communistic government, there has been more than an upheaval, more than public disorders. There has been open rebellion, in which some members of the Hungarian army joined hands with rioting civilians in making attacks upon or standing up to the Russian troops who were called into action to restore order. Some troops reportedly deserted to the rebels.

These outbreaks were undoubtedly embarrassing to the Kremlin, for they destroyed at once the fiction that Soviet de-Stalinization had gone smoothly everywhere, without bloodshed—in short, that the "new" Kremlin was able to ease controls without serious consequences. The purpose of this, of course, was to show the world that Russia was getting along swimmingly with her allies and neighbors—indeed, was in friendly accord with them all.

Had everything gone well, it would have been a tremendous moral and propaganda victory for the Kremlin, of course.

But everything did not go well by any means. On the contrary. The events of last week and this have demonstrated how false the sweetness-and-light propaganda of the Kremlin has been. The whole world—friendly, neutral and inimical—now knows that it's the same old gang at the Kremlin, using the same old Stalinist methods, as ruthless and unyielding as ever.

Polls And Poles

It Won't Be Long Now

There was a decided nip in the air during the weekend as temperatures in West Texas went to the low forties and in some areas in the Panhandle to the high thirties.

These goose-pimple temperatures reminded us of several housekeeping chores all of us must now see to, without delay.

One is to have the car winterized. Don't wait for the big rush for anti-freeze to keep the radiator safe. Better do it now.

Another is to have the furnaces checked and put into working order, or to hook up the stoves.

Also have the air-conditioning system prepared for the big freeze not too far ahead.

In personal matters, there is the electric blanket to check and hook up. There is the winter clothing to take out of mothballs and made ready for wear.

If you are of an age to enjoy solid comfort in winter, you might check such matters as heavy underwear, socks and sweaters.

Winter for most of us is preferred to summer, especially in these latitudes where it gets really cold on very few occasions. But precisely because we are not used to really severe winter weather a great many of us tend to neglect those essential little personal and household chores we must perform to protect health and insure enjoyment.

It won't be long now.

Stevenson's Shift Comes Very Late

CHICAGO — The point has been reached in this strange campaign when the Eisenhower magic is being described by some of the President's more ardent admirers with an almost mystical fervor.

If that magic is sufficiently strong, it will pull into office for a second term in the Senate Everett McKinley Dirksen, who has been one of the most consistent advocates of the Bricker amendment curbing the President's treaty-making powers. If it is really as potent as some of his disciples assume, then it will obscure the scandals of the Republican regime in Illinois and Governor William Stratton also will be re-elected.

There is nothing really mysterious about the Eisenhower magic. It is the magic of a warmly persuasive personality packaged with the great skill and energy of modern publicity and advertising techniques.

The symbol thus projected — the good and kindly man who wants all Americans to be happy, the husband father grandfather—has been made to dominate the political horizon.

It may be because this is Adlai Stevenson's home state that the discrepancy between promise and reality in the campaign, on both the Republican and the Democratic sides, should be most apparent. Only eight years ago Stevenson was little known, even in Illinois.

He was a newcomer to politics, a youngish reform candidate for Governor running against a Republican regime reputed to be ridden with scandal. To almost everyone's surprise he got a majority of 572,000, the largest ever given a candidate for Governor up to that time. And at the same time, Harry Truman, running for re-election, got a scant 33,000.

So Stevenson was launched on his political career. In 1952 as the Democratic Presidential candidate he made a profound impression on millions of Americans for the candor and good sense with which he discussed the issues. The powerful image was of a courageous leader rejecting the easy panaceas and the cheap compromises.

That image has been blurred in this campaign. The compromises may have been necessary to get the nomination and to enlist the support of hardboiled political leaders from ward and precinct on up. But the best evidence that the change has not been altogether a happy one is in Stevenson himself. He obviously has not been at ease in his new role, making promises to the big blocs of farm and labor voters.

Many have looked, and still look, to Stevenson to lead the way to more imaginative, vigorous and constructive policies both at home and abroad. An example is John Nuveen, Chicago investment banker and lifelong Republican.

Nuveen's experience in Europe in the Marshall Plan from 1948 to '50 convinced him that the Truman Administration had no long-range policy to win and hold Europe from communism. We were putting in money to shore up the old structure, but we failed to understand the need to push a basic remodeling job.

Nuveen came back to Chicago as one of the first Eisenhower-for-President backers and later became treasurer of the Volunteers-for-Eisenhower.

At the start of this campaign he came out for Stevenson, saying in a strong statement he believed the President had defaulted on his foreign policy promises putting old-fashioned isolationists in charge of programs in which they did not believe.

In his speech in Cincinnati last week Stevenson talked about foreign policy and the urgent and demanding needs of the hour. For many reasons this speech got little attention. But those who heard it recognized the kind of dedication Stevenson brought to his campaign four years ago.

If certain principals in the Stevenson camp have their way, this is the note that will be sounded from now until the end.

The draft and the H-bomb tests have been issues at the edge of the central problems of foreign policy. Now Stevenson is to go to the heart of the matter. But if this is to be a major shift in the direction of the campaign, it must be remembered that it is very late. What has gone before has set the tone.

What the President promises is not so much a promise put in words. It is an implied promise that if only you trust this great and good man, the next four years of your life will be even better than the best four years of your life. Before this smiling symbol promises put into words seem to have little weight.

The Gallup Poll

Who's Winning The H-Bomb Argument?

PRINCETON, N.J. — With both political parties rolling out their heaviest campaign artillery in the battle over the H-bomb, a special coast-to-coast survey just completed by the Institute finds sentiment 2-to-1 against calling off the tests for the present.

One person in every five questioned in the survey expressed no opinion on the issue which has precipitated a running controversy between Governor Stevenson and President Eisenhower.

The extent to which Mr. Stevenson's proposal has influenced American public opinion is perhaps best shown in a comparison of today's survey results with those of a similar Institute survey conducted in April, 1954.

To determine where public opinion stands, on the basis of the information that has been made available, the Institute assigned its nationwide field staff to put this question to a scientifically accurate cross-section of voters living in every section of the country:

"Some people say that the United States should call off hydrogen bomb tests for the present. Do you agree or disagree with this viewpoint?"

Ike Faces Tough Decisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower suddenly faces one of the most important moments of his administration — decision on Eastern Europe—and perhaps one of his greatest crises: the possibility of war in the Middle East. Both land on his doorstep in the midst of the political campaign. Neither may be solved before election day. But what Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles do is a test of their leadership and may be a turning point in history.

Israel, mobilizing its armed forces, has Eisenhower worried it may attack its Arab neighbors. Such a war, once started and engulfing the Middle East, might not be limited to Israelis and Arabs. Israel says she fears an Arab attack.

The United States and Russia both have a stake in the Middle East. Both have been contending for influence there.

In Eastern Europe the American government has hoped ever since World War II to see Russia's grip on the satellites shaken loose. That hope may now become a reality.

These are the problems for Eisenhower and Dulles:

The United States, trying to avoid making enemies in the Middle East, has refused arms to the Israelis, who said they needed them for defense.

But at the same time the United States gave the nod to the French to go ahead and supply the Israelis. They've been well supplied, according to reports here, and have now mobilized perhaps 200,000 men.

An attack by the Israelis on the Arabs now would serve the interests of the French, who have their hands full with the Arabs in North Afrida.

Also an attack now would come on the eve of the American elections when any stand taken by the Eisenhower administration on Israel — one way or the other — might influence the American Jewish vote a week from tomorrow.

But if the Israelis should attack and whip the Arabs —without effort by this country to stop them—the shattered Arabs would probably feel their only friend was Russia and turn to her for help, if not during the war, at least afterwards.

That would put Russia into the Middle East in a big way, the last thing the United States wants to see.

White Collar Class Growing

NEW YORK (AP)—Some things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail — or listen to election speeches:

That America's white collar class is getting bigger. Despite the spread of automation in business, the number of office workers has risen from 1,700,000 in 1910 to about 9 million in 1956.

That the country's parakeet population has increased even faster. These feathered pets have multiplied from a mere 1,300,000 five years ago to more than 14 million.

That probably a million Americans have diabetes but don't yet know it.

That Dr. Clyde Crobaugh, University of Tennessee business professor, has compiled a book listing 1,156 "dirty name-calling words for nice people who want to cuss in a hurry." Might make a wonderful Christmas present for your boss!

That some doctors — and probably all ranchers — believe you'd get fewer colds if you ate beef three times a day . . . by golly, come to think of it, you don't hear a cow sneeze every day, do you?

That Paul McCobb, noted interior designer, says living rooms cluttered with too much furniture often lead to marital claustrophobia. To keep your husband, lady, throw away that end table he's always tripping over.

That Gen. Douglas MacArthur once said he enjoyed doing crossword puzzles because they "take my mind off politics, the Far East, and sex."

That Michael Vapsaz of Worcester, Mass., who is only 2½, can tell any modern makes of automobile on sight. He also speaks German.

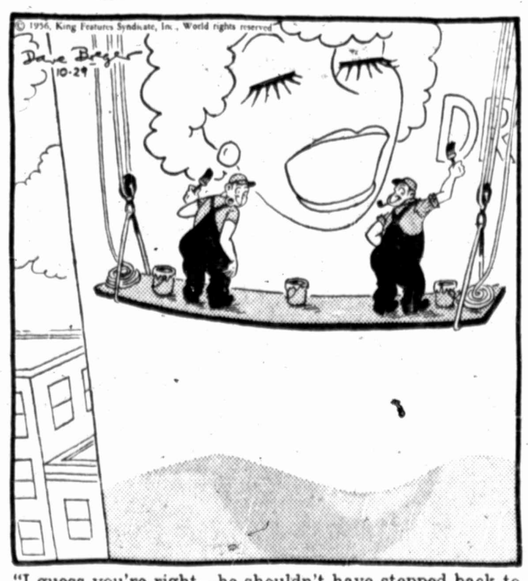

That a $100 gold and diamond ball point pen is now on the market . . . and its fully guaranteed to write as well as the $1.95 model.

That animals, as well as people, suffer from gout. But no scientist yet has proved that flat feet are an occupational disease with police dogs.

That France, in a new drive for U.S. tourist trade, is now building roadside motels—with restaurants that stock catsup as well as cognac.

That it was actor Paul Coats who observed, "The human race has been able to improve everything but people."

Mr Breger

"I guess you're right—he shouldn't have stepped back to admire his work . . ."

Women Hold Congress Posts For 40 Years

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Ever since a Montana suffragette broke the sex barrier exactly 40 years ago and was elected to Congress, women have brightened the ranks of the nation's lawmakers.

In this year's general election they're trying to double their strength in Congress. They're out to add another U.S. senator and capture 2 seats in the House of Representatives.

The feminine contingent in the outgoing 84th Congress — an all-time record number — included one senator, Maine Republican Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith, whose term runs to 1961, and 14 members of the House of Representatives — eight Democrats and six Republicans.

Even with this record total of 15 congresswomen, they have less than 3 per cent representation in the lawmaking body of the land.

Almost half of the 59 women who got into Congress in the years since Jeannette Rankin, 36-year-old Republican suffragette from Montana, paved the way in 1916, were appointed to unexpired terms or rode in on the coattails of husbands who died in office and virtually bequeathed them the seats.

This November, women are seeking Congress seats in 23 states. Eighteen states have one woman Congress candidate each; New York has three and California, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and West Virginia have two each. Fifteen are Democrats, 14 Republicans, one Prohibition and one independent-Republican.

The lone woman Senate aspirant, reportedly with little chance in a four-way contest in Connecticut for the seat of Sen. Prescott Bush (R), is Mrs. Suzanne Silvercruys Stevenson, Belgium-born sculpter, lecturer and painter who founded the National Organization of Minute Women. She is a sister of Belgian Ambassador Baron Silvercruys.

Of the current members, three women are sure of returning to the capital.

Mrs. Smith, member of four vital committees, is safe in the U.S. Senate for the five years remaining in her second term. She is the ninth woman to serve in the Senate.

Representatives Iris F. Blitch (D-Ga), 44-year-old mother of two children, and Mrs. Elizabeth Kee (D-WVa), widow of a congressman, have no opposition in their Solid South districts.

The other six Democratic and five Republican women in the thick of re-election drives are:

Democrats — Mrs. Gracie Pfost (Idaho, seeking third term); Mrs. Martha W. Griffiths (Mich., second term, Mrs. Coya Knutson (Minn., second term) Mrs. Leonor K. Sullivan (Mo., third term), Mrs. Edna F. Kelly (N.N., fourth term), and Mrs. Edith S. Green (Ore., second term).

Republicans — Mrs. Marguerite Church (Ill., fourth term), Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers (Mass., 17th term), Mrs. Cecil Murray Harden (Ind., fifth term), Mrs. Katharine St. George (N.Y., sixth term), and Mrs. Frances P. Bolton (Ohio, 10th term).

Around The Rim

Somebody's Always Asking

Two classes of people I don't envy are politicians and merchants.

Don't misunderstand me. Politics, even if regarded as a three-ring circus in America, is the most fascinating game on earth. And the merchant — well, they say the finest and most interesting profession is that of a salesman.

But it's what the poor guys have to put up with that causes me to want no part of it.

Take the politician, and most of us have tried, from time to time. The loftier position he holds, the more he has to put up with the moochers, and campaign workers.

If the office holder isn't having an ear bent by a party who is seeking an easy job, chances are he's being asked to dig down in his jeans to support some cause like the SFPOTTS (Society for the Preservation of Three-Toed Sloths).

The requests take every form and the people putting the bite on the public servants know just where to go to contact their favorite victims — the poor guys, once elected to an office, can't duck out, for fear of being accused of dereliction of duty.

The requests range from the sale of tickets to a box supper to just plain handouts.

The politician who can duck an issue around election time with the deftness a Billy Conn might show in a fight with Joe Louis finds he has little if any defense against such solicitations.

There's one place the poor guys can go for sympathy, however. Rare is the merchant who isn't similarly plagued.

The average merchant is as generous as he can be in his donations but there's a limit, even though he might be enjoying unlimited prosperity.

And, the more liberal he is, the more he's apt to be considered a "soft touch." The solicitors, quite likely, talk shop among themselves and are apt to go back to the same places time and time again.

I think there are any number of Santa Clauses who don't wear white beards. At least they are regarded as such because they find the word "no" hard to use much of the time.

Grasshopper On Your Canape Tray

Well, sir, Aesop, who gave the grasshopper a bad name to begin with, might be surprised today to discover where this happy-go-lucky insect has wound up.

It has wound up on that gustatory catch-all, the canape tray. Yes, sir, the latest thing in crispy, crunchy, crackling cocktail tidbits is fried grasshopper.

Long a Japanese delicacy, fried grasshopper is but one of the hors d'oeurves that this industrious people is beginning to export in quantity to the U. S. A., a country where any refuse unfit for manufacturing plastics is automatically made into canapes.

After sampling any number of Nippon's entries into this questionable field, I can say without fear or favor that the Japanese offerings are no worse than American cocktail snacks. They couldn't be. Fried grasshopper is merely the most exotic. It has a tangy, locked-in taste all its own, and that's no lie.

Anyone who goes to a cocktail party today and trifles with the canape tray lives dangerously, whether he admits it or not. So when the Japan Trade Center asked me to sample some of its goodies, I felt I had nothing to lose.

Nonetheless, the fried grasshoppers did take me by surprise. Deep fat fried, if you ask me, they are a rich, dark brown, verging on black. Sort of the color of coffee beans roasted too long.

It took me years to get up enough courage to take a flyer in French snails. But I am proud to say that with mine hosts' eyes upon me, I plunged right into the grasshoppers as if they were peanuts.

Well, I won't say you haven't lived until you've tried 'em. On the other hand, I won't say you won't live after doing and daring. Still and all, it is my candid opinion that they will never replace peanuts.

The Japanese have been frying and relishing grasshoppers for centuries, and I don't want to be too rash with my suggestions. However, I feel certain that if the Japanese would fry grasshoppers with a soupcon of garlic, as the French do with snails, they'd go down better.

Innumerable other cocktail snacks are offered by the Japanese, including excellent canned crab meat, smoked oysters, frogs' legs, quail eggs, scallions, mushrooms, abalone, rice crackers, sea weed, tuna in brine and dried bonita.

Undoubtedly every American food processor will be up in arms and screaming for prohibitive tarrifs against Japanese foods in the manner of American textile, camera, radio, et al, manufacturers. There is no question that Americans can learn to fry grasshoppers just as well as the Japanese.

Nonetheless, I would like to see the Japanese succeed in this canape field. It would serve us both right. And before my Lost Week-ender begins to look down his whisky glass at fried grasshoppers, let him remember that we Americans were the first people ever to can rattlesnake meat. And still are. As cocktail fodder. What else?

How Far In Eastern Europe?

The insurrection in Hungary has raised the question whether the anti-Russian movement in Eastern Europe will stop at Titoism or become an anti-Communist uprising. Nagy, who is the Hungarian Tito, was not able, it appears, to cope with the rebels in Budapest, and was compelled to call upon the Red Army to quell the uprising. There have been demonstrations in Warsaw which went beyond Titoism, being both anti-Russian and anti-Communist. But in Poland the Gomulka government seems to have had enough prestige and enough police power of its own to deal with the trouble without calling upon the Russians.

We are, we must realize, poorly informed about a situation which is in large part hidden from sight and in rapid flux. But, as a working hypothesis, I would say that the critical place to watch is Poland, and that in Poland the immediately critical issue is whether the Gomulka regime and the Kremlin are able to work out what amounts to a new alliance.

* * *

Poland is of all the satellites the critical country. Both Germany and Russia are vitally interested in Poland. The Russians are always vitally interested in Poland because the Polish plain is the avenue on which have marched all the armies that have invaded Russia. For the Germans, the Polish plain is not only the avenue of the Russian advance into Europe but, since World War II, Poland has annexed German territories which the German nation has never renounced.

Poland's pre-eminent importance lends credence to the report, which has come in this week, that Marshal Tito reached an understanding with the Kremlin during his visit to Yalta in which they divided Eastern Europe into two spheres of influence. The Poles would be in the Russian sphere and Hungary and possibly Romainia and Bulgaria would be in Tito's sphere.

* * *

The critical issue in Poland is whether the new Polish regime will stabilize its foreign policy, more specifically its policy toward Germany and the Western world beyond Germany. We know what Gomulka wants. It is to renew the Soviet alliance which guarantees him against Germany.

The old alliance, which goes back to the end of World War II was imposed upon a Polish puppet government by the Red Army, and it has depended on the infiltration of the Polish Army by a controlling apparatus of Soviet officers. Gomulka's uprising has destroyed the foundations of the old Soviet-Polish alliance. The question is whether a new alliance can be formed based not on Soviet domination but on the mutual interests of Poland and the Soviet Union. The indications are that Gomulka wants this to happen, and there are credible reports from Moscow that the Kremlin, despite what must be deep suspicion of Poland, wishes to negotiate with Gomulka.

* * *

Unless the Polish crisis is stabilized at about this point, with Gomulka in power, with the Russian military and ideological control dismantled, but with a Polish-Russian alliance renewed, then we may expect to see, I would guess, the Polish crisis becoming a far-reaching crisis of the European continent. For it will then spread to and involve not merely the rest of Eastern Europe and the Balkans but the two Germanys. There is no telling what would come of such a crisis. For the essential character of the crisis would be that there was no power and authority — be it Soviet, Western or local — to organize Central Europe.

In the interests of peace and of freedom — freedom both from despotism and from anarchy — we must hope that for a time, not forever but for a time, the uprising in the satellite orbit will be stabilized at Titoism. It is in the interests of the Western world that the Soviet Union be helped to accept Titoism in its empire, and that it should not feel its own security is menaced.

For with Titoism in Eastern Europe, the military threat that the Russian Army will invade Western Europe is radically reduced. The danger of a World War beginning in Europe will be even less than it has been these last two years.

It is not in our own interests that the movement in Eastern Europe should go so far that no accommodation with Russia is possible. For that could lead to bloody deeds in which we would be called upon to intervene, our honor being involved, though we could not intervene, knowing that the risks were incalculable.

Cold Flowers

An early season snowfall blanketed the Intermountain area of Salt Lake City, Utah. It spread a heavy white mantle over shrubs, with their leaves still on, and on potted plants, left too late on an unprotected porch. But the snow was wet and mushy and melted rapidly from streets and other paved areas.

Atom Fall-Out Effects On Our Heredity Are Point At Issue

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Is radioactive fall-out planting a time bomb in our heredity — dooming some future children to shortened lives, illnesses, deformities?

If so, how many, and can it be avoided?

These are points at issue in discussions over banning H-bomb tests, and when and how best to prevent nuclear war. They touch upon some knowns and unknowns in the science of genetics, and also involve morality.

Looking at some main aspects of facts and opinions on questions involving heredity and fall-out:

Q. How is human heredity determined?

A. By genes, or carriers of characteristics, in the sex of germ cells—the eggs and sperms. The genes you inherit determine color of eyes and hair, height, susceptibility to some illnesses, many other things about you.

Q. How does radioactivity affect sex cells and heredity?

A. X-rays and other radiation, and certain chemicals, can make genes change or mutate if they strike the germ cells. The altered genes can be transmitted to offspring, and then to their offspring.

Q. Are gene changes always occurring in humans naturally?

A. Yes, there are spontaneous mutations. Many are induced by the natural radioactivity around us. But also nonspontaneous changes can be produced by medical radiation treatments, and actually or potentially by fall-out, most geneticists believe.

Q. How much radiation are we getting now from each source?

A. In a study conducted by the independent National Academy of Sciences, leading geneticists and other experts said:

By age 30—the time at which parents have conceived half of their children—the average person has received this dosage of radiation:

From natural radioactivity which is inevitable: 4.3 roentgens.

From medical X-rays and fluroscopy: 3 roentgens.

From fall-out from tests made at the current rate: one tenth up to one half of one roentgen.

A roentgen is a unit or measure of radiation exposure.

The NAS study said the 30-year exposure from fall-out would be twice as high—two tenths to one roentgen—if tests were made annually at the rate of the two most active test years in 1953 and 1955.

Q. Does this mean that fall-out radiation is not important?

A. It shows fallout is not adding much relatively to the existing radiation that could produce genetic changes and damage. But it is adding something, which must be considered as a risk.

Q. How little radiation does it take to make human genes change?

A. No one knows. The NAS experts assume, from animal evidence, that it might take up to 10 roentgens to the sex cells from birth to age 30 to have an appreciable effect upon descendants if a person became a parent at that age.

Q. Are all gene changes caused by radiation bad ones?

A. Yes, so far as is known in virtually all cases, says the national academy report.

Q. Do the genetic changes from any radiation cause freaks?

A. They can, but this is probably rare.

Q. What are the effects of mutations?

A. Only a small fraction of mutations actually cause defects in children of irradiated people, says Dr. Curt Stern of the University of California. The majority of mutations don't appear until later generations, but the total could be distributed over thousands of years.

Q. Does the human race already have "bad" genes?

A. Undoubtedlyy, says the geneticists, and some persist.

Q. Are other things preserving inferior heredity?

A. Modern medicine, one geneticist observes, is probably preserving many persons who would otherwise die from inherited weaknesses or susceptibilities, but now live to have children and transmit those genes.

Q. Aside from genetic damage, what does the extra radiation from fall-out do to me?

A. Most body cells, except germ cells, can recover from small doses of radiation absorbed over a long period of time.

Q. What can be done to avoid any kind of harm, genetically or to my own body, from natural radioactivity?

A. Nothing.

Q. What can be done to avoid overexposure medically?

A. Medical use of X-rays should be reduced as much as is consistent with medical necessity, says the NAS report.

Q. What can be done to avoid exposure to bomb test fall-out?

A. This involves the question of the genetic risks as against military defense risks and other questions in the news now.

Q. Are present levels of fall-out increasing the rate of genetic changes, and how much?

A. The experts cannot put a number on this, except to say that radiation apparently has a cumulative effect, from whatever source, in increasing the likelihood of mutations.

Q. What do some leading geneticists say about the risk?

A. Dr. A. H. Sturtevant, California Institute of Technology, says natural radiation probably produces 30 to 40 gene changes per 100,000 germ cells per generation; fall-out to date might be creating 1 per 100,000 germ cells per generation.

Dr. Stern says perhaps 40,000 of the children born each year in this country are defective or different from normal in their genes, due to natural causes. So it would be most difficult to detect or prove an increase due to fall-out.

Dr. H. J. Muller, Nobel Prize winner in genetics from Indiana University, says it is false to think there is no danger at all to heredity from fall-out, and equally false to say all humanity is being undermined by H-bomb tests, and that tests should therefore be stopped for that reason alone.

Puts Lead 'Slugs' In Pinball Machine

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Carl Morris, 30, was arrested because he put lead "slugs" into a pinball machine. He said he pumped eight bullets from a .22 caliber target pistol into the machine because "it just won't pay off."

Morris said he "just got mad" after losing about $100 in four weeks to the machine. "I couldn't win on it. It just won't pay off," Morris charged. Said the wife of the cafe operator: "It's not supposed to pay off. It's for amusement only."

War Correspondent Shot By Russian

LONDON (AP) — The British Foreign Office was advised today that Noel Barber, a correspondent for the London Daily Mail, was shot in the head by a Russian sentry while covering the fighting in Budapest. Leslie Fry, the British minister in the Hungarian capital, reported the wound was not serious.

Schoolboys Held

DALLAS (AP)— Two schoolboys, 17 and two other teen-agers were held by police today after narcotics and hypodermic needles were found in their car.

Midland Oil Man Asks Ban On Imports

DALLAS (AP)—The president of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America said today there will be less drilling and less oil in the future unless restrictions are placed promptly on oil imports.

Robert Wood, Midland, said oil drilling activity in the United States has been inadequate because of the high level of imports.

"United States proved reserves have failed to increase in keeping with the growth in oil requirements the last two years," Wood said in opening IPAA's 27th annual meeting.

There was speculation the 1,000 oil operators from 30 states would be told this afternoon whether President Eisenhower will be asked to intervene in the imports dispute.

Dr. Arthur Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, was to speak at a noon luncheon, just one week after he opened a Washington hearing aimed at determining whether imports pose a threat to national security.

Under a 1955 defense amendment to the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, Flemming is charged with the responsibility of making recommendations to the President when and if imported commodities threaten national security.

Jake Hamon of Dallas, chairman of the board of the American Petroleum Institute, told the convention's opening session the long-range outlook for the industry is much better than the short-range picture.

Hamon said oversupplies of crude oil and refined products, shortages of tubular goods, rising costs, inadequate crude oil prices and the high level of imports cloud the current situation.

"You aren't making any money now, but if you can hold onto your holdings long enough, you will," he said.

"Hamstrung as we have been by tubular shortages and inadequate crude prices, the producers have been unable to do a proper job of finding new fields in the United States like they need to be doing to supply our ever increasing demands," he said.

The association's cost study committee reported today that total expenditures for finding and developing crude oil in the United States have increased 35 per cent, compared to a 10 per cent increase in revenue from crude sales.

Wood said reductions in crude oil prices are spreading in the face of increasing wages and rising costs of steel and other materials.

"The downward trend in the number of active exploration crews that started in 1954 has continued," he said. "Since the first half of 1954, the number of these crews has declined 14 per cent. This points to less drilling and less oil in the future unless restrictions are placed promptly on oil imports."

Higher operating costs and inadequate prices are reflected in oil well abandonments, he said, with a 40 per cent increase since 1954 in Kansas, 43 per cent in Oklahoma and 49 per cent in Texas.

If imports were restricted to their 1954 ratio with domestic production, Wood said, the United States will need to produce about three billion barrels of liquid petroleum next year.

"We have the capacity to do that and more if it is needed," he said. "We have in this country shut-in producing capacity of more than two million barrels daily. This is more than the entire daily shipment of Middle East crude through the Suez Canal."

Rain Follows TV Recount Of Deluge

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The first rain in months fell last night as a network television program retold the story of the deluge which hit San Diego in 1916.

A low-slung beauty with Flight-Sweep style: Swept-Wing '57 Dodge Custom Royal Lancer 2-Door.

It unleashes a hurricane of power
It breaks through the vibration barrier
It is swept-wing mastery of motion

SWEPT·WING '57 Dodge

How do you describe a car so daring in concept, so revolutionary in features and advances, so rewarding in beauty and performance?

How do you explain its newness when everything about it is new?

On display today is just such a car—the Swept-Wing '57 Dodge that steps you into the wonderful world of Autodynamics.

What is this wonderful world of Autodynamics? It is a world where everything is new from road to roof to achieve absolute mastery of motion.

Here's what it does in the Swept-Wing Dodge:

- It unleashes a hurricane of power from a thundering new aircraft-type Super Red Ram V-8 engine that's a spitfire in action!
- It tames a tornado of torque with a new TorqueFlite Push-Button Drive for the greatest get-away on the road!
- It breaks through the vibration barrier with a revolutionary new rubber-mounted suspension system—Dodge Torsion-Aire—that features race car torsion-bars. You ride in a "Realm of Silence," isolated from vibration, noise and road shock.
- It is swept-wing mastery of motion in a sleek, low-slung beauty barely 4½ feet high that has no equal in the way it corners, handles and rides.

You have never seen, felt or owned any car that compared with this new Swept-Wing Dodge. See and drive it today . . . now at your Dodge dealer's!

'Go Slow' Titoist Policy Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)— U.S. officials said today that Eastern European states trying to cast off Russian rule must be expected to go slow in seeking any American economic aid they need.

Secretary of State Dulles has declared the United States is ready to share its "abundance" with the Communist satellites as they gain independence. Without giving details, he said in a statement yesterday that this government "is actively concerned with the suffering" of the Hungarians and will do what it can to help them.

The State Department, anxious to exploit any cracks in the Soviet empire, has been working on plans for various kinds of assistance — financial, commerical, political and the like.

The weekend action of the United States, Britain and France in taking the case of Soviet military operations in Hungary to the United Nations Security Council represents a decision to give political aid.

But if Hungary is to secure independence from Soviet rule, if Poland is to anchor its own freecome of Russian domination firmly, each country will have to obtain outside economic aid.

U. S. officials, however, believe that Titoist type leaders in all the Eastern European countries want to maintain friendly relations with Russia, even though this means a slower attack on their rebuilding problems.

In a speech at Dallas Saturday, Dulles pledged this country "to seek, by all truly helpful means, that those who now die for freedom will not have died in vain."

For the United States he then outlined this three-point policy:

1. People who break with their "exploiting masters" can draw upon U. S. resources "to tide themselves over" periods of economic readjustment.

2. The United States is prepared to establish economic ties with such people without requiring that they adopt "any particular form of society." That means that Communists rulers may get American help as Yugoslavia's President Tito did after he broke with the Kremlin.

3. The United States will help these countries because it wants them as friends in a Europe increasingly united, and not because it regards them "as potential allies." These words of Dulles' were designed to assure the Soviets that the United States was not backing freedom in Eastern Europe with the aim of replacing Russian power with Western power there.

Police Radio Officers Will Meet Tuesday

LAMESA — West Texas and New Mexico Communications Officers Association will meet at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the Lamar Forrest community center here. About 60 are expected to attend.

Speakers on the program will include Joe Fletcher of Austin, assistant director of the Texas Department of Public Safety; Maurice Cole, chief police dispatcher at Abilene; Bob Bradberry, manager of Radio Station KPET, Lamesa; N. W. Broman, chief of communications for the DPS; Capt. K. K. Miller of the New Mexico State Police; and W. D. Berry of Big Spring, coordinator of Civil Defense for Howard County.

The group will be welcomed to Lamesa by Mayor Bob Crawley and Chamber of Commerce President Walter Buckel.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Mildred Creselius, chief of communications for the Lamesa police department, and Mrs. Henry Crump and Gladys Wells, Lamesa police dispatchers.

James Lanham of Roswell is president of the association. Cole is vice president and Mrs. Reba Cannady of Seminole is secretary.

Misplaced Purse Claimed By Owner

A resident today claimed her purse which was found in a cafe early Sunday morning.

It belonged to Betty Lou Orner and was found in the Asia Cafe. It contained a $10 bill, which was the amount reported by the owner.

Two Men Charged In Homan Burglary

Kent William Hubbard and David C. Mote are charged with burglary in separate complaints filed in the court of Walter Grice, justice of the peace.

The two are alleged to have burglarized the property of Harold Homan. Jack Shaffer, city detective signed the complaints.

The Big Spring American Legion post has scheduled a Halloween dance for 9 p.m. Wednesday at the Legion clubhouse south of the city. Activities will get under way at 9 p.m. The dance will be for Legionnaires and guests.

Probe Of Apparent Murder Near San Angelo Pushed

SAN ANGELO (AP)—An investigation into the apparent murder of a man found in an abandoned well near here late Saturday was awaiting a fingerprint report from the FBI in Washington today.

Sheriff Cecil Turner said fingerprints of the unidentified man were sent to Washington. A report is expected late today or early tomorrow.

Meanwhile, a parade of persons has filed through a local funeral home to view the body, but none has offered a clue to its identity.

The body of the man, between 50 and 60, was discovered after men searching for wood found a blood-soaked mattress and pillows in a concrete tank near the highway.

Deputy Sheriff Homer Goode found the body after following tire tracks from the tank to the well. The body was wrapped in a small tent and was covered with a light layer of dirt. Officers said the man had been dead about two days.

The slaying was believed done with a tire tool, a hatchet or an axe, officers said. Justice of the Peace O. L. Miller is conducting an inquest but will withhold a verdict pending identification.

Turner indicated that if a report of positive identification is not received from the FBI by tomorrow, the sheriff's office will assume he could not be identified by fingerprints.

Turner said the Department of Public Safety in Austin said it does not have a copy of fingerprints similar to those of the dead man.

Those inquiring at the sheriff's office this morning—there were a dozen by 10 a.m.—were shown photographs of the body and a specially-made belt buckle found with it. No identification was offered, officers said.

Wildcats Test Two Formations In Northwest Howard County

Standard of Texas is now testing the Dean at one location while operators tested the Spraberry at another.

The Standard No. 1 Harvey Adams tried the Dean below 8,090 feet, and the Standard No. 1 Burton acidized the Spraberry below 6,600 feet. Both are northwest of Big Spring and are wildcats.

Borden

Huber No. 1 Long is an old dry hole being redrilled instead of a new wildcat as was reported Saturday. The venture, C NW NE, 24-30-4n, T&P Survey, was drilled originally by Gulf Oil as the No. 1-A L. I. Long. Operator tested to 8,751 and plugged it in 1952.

The new operator will drill out to 6,400 feet and test the Lower Spraberry. Drillsite is about seven and a half miles southeast of Gail.

Standard No. 1-A Griffin, C NW NW, 35-25, H&TC Survey, pumped seven hours in the Spraberry and recovered 16 barrels of oil and 17 barrels of water. It then pumped 12 oil and 33 water in six hours and 11 barrels of oil and 22 water in 11 hours. It is still pumping.

Location is about six miles northwest of Vincent, and it is a wildcat being re-entered.

Trice No. 1 Morgan-Coates deepened to 6,510 feet in lime and shale. Location is C SE NW, 13-27, H&TC Survey, and 20 miles northeast of Big Spring in the East Vealmoor field.

Rutter-Wilbanks No. 1 Clayton and Johnson swabbed 23 hours and recovered load oil and water. It is still swabbing in an attempt to find oil in the Spraberry. Perforations are between 5,608-18 and 5,628-42 feet. It is C SW SW, 37-31-6n, T&P Survey.

Dawson

Humble No. 2 Lane deepened to 5,551 feet in lime and shale. Location is in the Jo-Mill field 3,100 feet from north and 1,800 feet from west lines, 45-33-5n, T&P Survey.

Humble No. 1 Hemphill, a Mungerville Southeast field location, drilled through sand, gravel, and redbeds at 423 feet. It is 660 feet from north and east lines, Labor 31, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey.

Texas No. 1 Beckham drillstem tested the Canyon between 9,485-925 with the tool open two hours. Recovered was 90 feet of gas-cut mud, 240 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud, and 270 feet of salt water. Operator took electrical logs but lost the testing tool in the hole and is now fishing. Location of the wildcat is C NW SW, 17-35-5n, T&P Survey, and a mile and a half south of Lamesa.

Camp-Jones No. 1 Wasson made a little oil and some water from perforations between 7,750-58 and 7,764-773 feet. Operator is now squeezing off perforations and will perforate higher in the Spraberry. Site is 550 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines, 24-34-4n, T&P Survey, and six miles north of Ackerly.

McRae No. 1 Landers, a 13,000-foot wildcat, projected to 9,059 feet in sand and lime. The venture is 14 miles east of Lamesa, 1,984.7 feet from north and 2,348 feet from east lines, Labor 4, League 280, Hutchinson CSL Survey.

Howard

Standard No. 1 Adams, five miles southeast of Ackerly, was swabbing load from Dean perforations between 8,152-72, 8,140-46, and 8,090-110 feet. The location is C NE SW, 47-34-3n, T&P Survey.

Standard No. 1 Burton perforated between 6,607-32 feet in the Spraberry and acidized with 1,000 gallons. It is C NE NE, 27-33-2n, T&P Survey.

Ashmun et al No. 1 Grantham cored between 7,035-85 feet and recovered 50 feet of sand and shale with slight oil odors. Operator then drilled to 7,248 feet and prepared to cut another core. Location is 13½ miles northwest of Big Spring, 1,957 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines, 8-33-2n, T&P Survey.

Massachusetts Adlai's 'Anchor'

By RELMAN MORIN

BOSTON (AP) — The presidential race in Massachusetts, at this late stage, looks like a stride-for-stride contest going right down to the wire.

Doorbell ringing indicates that if there is an edge today, President Eisenhower has it.

Top Democrats rate Massachusetts as an "anchor" state for Adlai Stevenson. If they lose it, they are "out of business."

A member of the Republican high command said, "I think we have a small plus there, but the picture is fuzzy."

A key to the uncertainty lies in this typical comment from a Haverhill housewife, Mrs. Ernest Valente:

"I'm an independent. I like Mr. Eisenhower but I don't believe in voting just for personalities. I haven't decided."

Over and over again, in talking with people across the state, these two words, "independent" and "undecided", crop up.

The largest single group of voters in Massachusetts — usually estimated at about 40 per cent of the total — falls in the category of independents or "indies." They hold the balance in elections.

They swung to Eisenhower in 1952 when he won Massachusetts by nearly 209,000 votes. Four years earlier, President Truman defeated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey by 242,000 in a smaller total vote.

The "indies" no doubt account for the fact that Massachusetts has a U.S. senator from each major party, a 7-7 delegation in the House of representatives, and a 3-3 split in the top offices of the state government.

This is a quicksilver group of voters, elusive, difficult to pin down.

What is likely to swing the "indies" this time? I've been all over and can't find anyone who really knows.

No single issue seems to be stirring voters.

A Marlboro housewife, complaining of the high cost of living, says, "I just can't make the budget stretch. If I thought Stevenson could do something about that, I might vote for him."

Stevenson may have gained some votes by his position on H-bomb tests. But the only two people who mentioned his statements to this reporter are both voting against him, they say.

The state looks exuberantly prosperous. Employment is high, even pages, of "help wanted" advertisements every day.

However, a merchant, Sam Weiss, tells you, "I must have heard a dozen people say they are switching to Stevenson. They say Ike's not for the small man. Me? Well, I haven't decided. I usually make up my mind the night before the election."

Three people mentioned the President's illnesses.

On a quiet residential street, you meet Stanley English, a teacher, and Joseph V. Cox, a retired policeman. Both have had heart attacks. Both are voting for Eisenhower.

But in Salem, a waiter, Dick Pritchett, said, "I may switch to Stevenson. After all, Ike's not a well man, and I get the feeling he's not running the show down there."

In and near Boston, foreign policy seems likely to play a part. The question of arms for Israel touches an estimated 135,000 Jewish voters there. The Cyprus dispute has special meaning for some 60,000 people of Greek origin.

Mrs. George McCarthy, wife of a shoe pattern manufacturer, echoes a frequently expressed opinion. "I think Eisenhower is doing a good job. Nobody can turn the world around in four years."

Massachusetts Democrats clashed recently over charges that Sen. Estes Kefauver, vice-presidential candidate, was being cold-shouldered by state leaders — presumably as an aftermath of his contest for the nomination with popular Sen. John Kennedy at the national convention. Kefauver is scheduled to appear in Boston Nov. 1.

In the gubernatorial race, former Rep. Foster Furcolo, a Democrat, is considered slightly ahead of Lt. Gov. Sumner G. Whittier at this point.

Neither party makes any extravagant claims about the 14 congressional elections. Leaders on both sides said they expect to pick up "one or two" seats, but did not specify the districts.

City Officials Back At Desks

The city manager and engineer were in their offices this morning after being out of town for different reasons.

Jack Bellamy, city engineer, attended the annual meeting of the League of Texas Municipalities in Lubbock Thursday through Saturday. He said it was one of the most informative sessions — in his category — he had attended. The sessions dealt with public works engineering.

Also attending the meeting in Lubbock was the city attorney, Walton Morrison. Duties here prevented Perry Johnson, tax assessor, and C. R. McClenny, city secretary, from participating.

Herbert Whitney, city manager, finished a two-week engineering course at Fort Belvoir, Va., Friday and returned Sunday. Whitney is a lieutenant colonel in the Army reserve and the training was part of his work.

The course was a general engineering refresher for field-grade officers. Fifty-four reserve officers attended from 25 states. The course included 88 hours of instruction.

Knott GOC Needs Adult Observers

KNOTT (SC) — More adults are needed in the Ground Observer training program, according to Bill Bolin, director.

Of the 36 members now active, most are students, Bolin stated.

The Knott corps had an alert from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday and seven workers reported for duty.

Those in the Knott area interested in serving with the GOC can contact eigher Bolin, superintendent of schools at Knott, or Sgt. Curtice of the GOC in Big Spring.

Back At C-C Post

Edith Gay, secretary at the Chamber of Commerce, returned to her post today after more than two weeks in a Fort Worth hospital. She will return to the hospital briefly Nov. 10 for a physical checkup.

Fines Exceed $300 Today

Fines assessed this morning in corporation court amounted to over $300 and one was a $90 charge for drunkeness.

Ten persons were fined for drunkenness, and all but the one were assigned $15 fines. Two persons were fined $9 and $6 for vagrancy.

Four speeders paid fines, including one for $25. Two were for $10 each, and the fourth was for $5. Gambling brought a $10 fine to one, and a defendant was fined $16 for driving without a license. Driving the wrong way on a one-way street cost one person $5.

Bond of $75 was set for a defendant who pleaded not guilty to four charges. He was charged with improper parking, improper left turn, running a stop sign, and speeding.

Cancer Society Will Reorganize

Reorganization of the Howard County Chapter of the American Cancer Society will be undertaken at a meeting set for 7:30 p.m. today in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Dick Simpson, a director in the Texas division of the American Cancer Society, will preside at the meeting. Already 65 persons have indicated they will be on hand, and all others interested in education and other phases of the fight on cancer are urged to take part. A film dealing with the subject of cancer is to be projected. Simpson is to name a nominating and by-laws committee for the chapter.

Long Released From Hospital

A. E. Long, county juvenile officer, a patient at Big Spring Hospital since last Wednesday night when he was injured in a car wreck, has been removed to his residence.

Long suffered painful facial injuries in a collision of an automobile in which he as a passenger with another car on West Fourth Street.

Mrs. Estella Yates, passenger in the second car, is making satisfactory recovery from serious injuries at the Cowper Hospital.

Engineers Chapter To Meet Tuesday

The Permian Basin Chapter of the Society of Professional Engineers will meet here Tuesday evening.

The session, which will attract engineers from Odessa, Midland and Big Spring, is set for 8 o'clock at Cosden Country Club. The documentary film on the construction of Cosden's rexformer unit will be projected.

All state registered engineers in this area are invited to take part in the sessions.

Appeals On TV, Radio Confuse Texas Voters

Campaign being waged on radio, televison and through other mediums to get voters out on Nov. 6 seems to have created some confusion in this area.

The confusion is largely centered in the minds of newcomers to Texas.

The basic theme of the "get out and vote" campaign repeatedly uses the phrase "make sure you register." The statements then go on to say "If you haven't registered you can't vote."

The newcomers in the state have paid their poll tax and inquiries have been made on how they register.

Officials point out that registration is not a requisite to voting in Texas. The person who is a qualified elector and who has in his or her possession a poll tax receipt for the current year is eligible to vote without further ado.

All the voter needs to do is to report to the voting precinct with the poll tax receipt. No registration is required in this state.

The registration angle is operative in other states, generally where there are no poll taxes collected. In these states, the registration books usually open 20 days or so before the election date. The voter, to be qualified to vote, must possess a registration certificate.

The poll tax receipt replaces the registration receipt under Texas law.

W. H. Nelson Dies Sunday

William H. Nelson, 79, who had farmed in Howard County for the past 34 years, died Sunday in a hospital after an illness of three days.

Services were to be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the River Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Luther Garner, Forsan Baptist minister, officiating. Burial will be in the George Creek Cemetery near Glen Rose after graveside rites at 2 p.m. Tuesday. The Rev. Garner also will officiate there. Grandsons will serve as pallbearers.

Mr. Nelson was born April 16, 1877, in Granbury. His wife preceded him in death by 38 years.

Surviving are five sons, Floyd Nelson, Milnesand, N. M., Lloyd Nelson and Lester Nelson, Big Spring, Troy Nelson, Sand Springs and Allen Nelson, Salt Flats, and six daughters, Mrs. E. T. Stalcup, Sand Springs, J. R. Pike, Forsan, Mrs. A. G. Murry, San Bernardino, Calif., Mrs. H. L. Petty, Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Doyle Hayworth and Mrs. W. L. Yarborough, San Diego, Calif.

He also leaves 27 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Luther May, Hope, Ark., and Mrs. Andrew Hovck, Marysville, Wash.

Car Hits Building In Only Accident

Sunday was accidentless except for a car hitting a building on the Northside.

Police investigated the accident but did not report the person who hit the building at 402 NW 3rd. He promised to pay for the damage to the structure, however.

Burglars Get $8 At Wooten Storage

About $8 was taken from Wooten's Storage over the weekend by burglars.

The burglars entered the building through a back door. Police officers said the money was all in change. Owners checked their stock this morning but reported nothing missing.

P-TA Delays Meet

KNOTT (SC) — The Knott P-TA meeting has been moved back from Nov. 1 to Nov. 8 due to conflict with homecoming activities this week, it has been announced. The P-TA usually meets the first Thursday in each month.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market bounded ahead briskly today with several leaders tacking on gains of around $1 to $2 a share.

Steels, coppers, aluminums and chemicals were among the major groups that led the upturn.

Brokers attributed the rise to last night's favorable report on President Eisenhower's health.

Optimistic reports on continued high demand for steel and bullish corporate reports were also seen as confidence-builders.

Kennecott Copper, on its higher earnings report, rose around 2 points. Anaconda was steady. International Nickel rose over a point.

Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown, and Jones & Laughlin were up around a point or more.

Du Pont was a 2-point gainer. Gulf and Texaco were up around a point. New York Central and Santa Fe were firm.

Kaiser Aluminum added around 2. Alcoa over a point.

It was the 27th anniversary of Oct. 29, climactic day of the 1929 stock market crash when 16,410,030 shares were traded, the alltime volume peak.

General Motors was up ½ at 47. U. S. Steel up ½ at 69¾ and Chrysler up ⅝ at 76¼.

Mid-East Situation Alarms Ike, Aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and his top aides were reported gravely alarmed today at the possibility that war may shortly break out in the Middle East.

Only the highest order of Israeli-Arab statesmanship, they were said to feel, could avert a Middle East explosion. Officials were described as looking mainly to Israel's Prime Minister, David Ben-Gurion, as the man who held the decision.

With war jitters mounting, Israel was reported to have mobilized from 150,000 to 200,000 men along its frontiers.

Eisenhower issued an unusual public appeal to Ben-Gurion that "no forceful initiative be taken which would endanger the peace."

"We have not heard of such large-scale mobilization in countries neighboring Israel which would warrant such Israeli mobilization," he said.

The State Department last night advised from 7,000 to 8,000 Americans in Israel, Jordan, Egypt and Syria to leave immediately unless they are "performing essential functions."

Secretary of State Dulles, minutes after returning to the capital from Texas, conferred by telephone several times with Eisenhower. He later summoned Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban to the State Department to back up Eisenhower's appeal with his own plea.

A responsible official, who is closely following developments, told a reporter it was impossible to overstate the seriousness of Arab-Israeli tensions. He said the next 24 hours would be critical.

The Unted States is urgently hoping, he said, that Eisenhower's public plea will cause Ben-Gurion and Arab leaders to take a sober second look at where their policies are leading.

This official, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the Middle East picture is far more serious than at any time since the 1948 Israeli-Arab conflict.

The main American fear seemed to be that Israel might regard the next few days as an ideal time to strike a blow at its Arab foes.

Israel might decide, officials felt, that Russia is so deeply involved in trying to cope with its Eastern European difficulties that it would not be apt to rush aid to the Arabs in the Middle East, and that the United States is so concerned by its approaching elections that it is not likely to take decisive action.

Road Dept. Gets Passenger Cars

Two new automobiles were purchased by the county Monday morning and plans were pushed for the purchase of a third sometime during the day.

The Jones Motor Company bid to supply two passenger cars for the road and bridge department was accepted by the Howard County Commissioners court. The county traded in three older cars — two passenger cars and a pickup — on the two new automobiles.

Sheriff Jess Slaughter was present at the court to ask that it replace the car wrecked last week in his department. R. H. Weaver, county judge, said that he had inspected the sheriff's car and felt the only solution was to buy a new automobile to replace it.

Dealers were asked to submit bids today to fill this need. The court waived the normal advertising period for bids and planned to accept a new car for the sheriff's department immediately. Dealers indicated that they would comply with the request.

Slaughter's official car and another automobile were involved in a serious collision last Wednesday night.

Four bids were received for the two new cars for the highway department. Tarbox-Gossett submitted a bid of $1,563.51 for a four-door Ford and $1,637.23 for a two door. In each of the bids, the three trade-in cars are figured in the prices posted.

Tidwell Chevrolet company's bid was $1,333.76 for the two door model and $1,320.24 for the four-door. Lone Star Motor Company posted $1,363 for the four door and $1,269 for the two-door. These cars are Plymouths.

Jones Motor company's bid, which was accepted, offered two 1957 Plymouths, one a four-door and the other a two-door model, for $1,107.76 and $1,172.26 respectively.

Arthur Stallings moved that the Jones company bid be accepted. The motion carried unanimously.

Poles Welcome Freed Cardinal

WARSAW (AP) — Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski made his first public appearance today since his release from house arrest. A crowd of cheering, singing Polish Catholics greeted him at his palace.

to Poland's problems. He asked that there should be no demonstrations and no disorders.

A government communique said last night the 55-year-old church leader had returned to Warsaw and resumed his church functions.

The cardinal had been confined to a country monastery in September 1953 after a vigorous campaign against Communist infringement on religious freedom. The government of then-Premier Boleslaw Bierut, a leading Stalinist who died last March, accused the churchman of constantly breaking a 1950 agreement between the Red Polish government and the Roman Catholic Church.

The cardinal never was put on trial.

(There was no immediate comment from the Vatican on the Polish announcement. After Cardinal Wyszynski's arrest, the Vatican had said no government could relieve a cardinal of his duties.)

The Polish government said a commission of government and church representatives soon will discuss outstanding issues between the church and state.

The freeing of Cardinal Wyszynski is certain to arouse fervent enthusiasm for a wide section of the Polish population, about 90 per cent of which is Roman Catholic. The clemency was another move by Wladyslaw Gomulka, the anti-Stalinist restored to power last week as chief of the Polish Communist party, to unite the nation for the all-out assault the government must make to ease Poland's economic difficulties.

Meanwhile, indications mounted that Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, Poland's Stalin-installed defense minister, is no longer in direct control of his ministry or of the Polish army. An informed source said Rokossovsky, one of the Soviet Union's outstanding commanders of World War II, is officially "on leave."

Tucker Services Set At Lamesa

LAMESA — Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Higginbotham Funeral Home for Wallace R. Tucker, 59, who died at his home, 1504 N. 7th, Sunday afternoon after a long illness.

Mr. Tucker was a member of the First Methodist Church and was a retired blacksmith. He is survived by his wife, his father, Joseph B. Tucker, one daughter, Mrs. Rosella Aten, and three grand children, all of Lamesa.

Interment will be in Lamesa Memorial Park.

Collision Sends Two To Hospital

Mrs. Henry Snodgrass, 1201 Barnes, and her daughter, Glenda, were taken to Big Spring Hospital at noon today for treatment of injuries received in a traffic collision at Fifteenth and Owens.

Glenda, 5, received severe cuts, but Mrs. Snodgrass apparently was only shaken in the mishap. City police were investigating the accident. They said Mrs. Snodgrass was going east on Fifteenth when her car was in collision with one driven by Nelda Ruth Garrison, 807 E. 13th.

Special Election Voting To Start

Absentee voting will probably be started on Tuesday for the special election on Nov. 13, said Pauline Petty, county clerk.

Ballot boxes for the special election absentee ballots will be set up today.

Voters are asked to vote on Nov. 13 on a proposed amendment to the state constitution. This amendment, designated as No. 9, deals with a suggested revision of public welfare laws to permit disabled persons to receive benefits.

48 At Conference

The youngsters attending the Hi-Y Youth in Government conference at Lubbock Saturday included 48 from Big Spring. Twelve adults sponsored the Big Spring delegation which saw Toni Thomas named a committee chairman.

Stand-In Model

Lt. Diane Seward, Webb AFB nurse (center), watches warily as Mrs. Ray Bodley and Col. Robert D. Whittington Jr., Hospital Commander, prepare to bathe a "model child" at the latest Mother and Baby Care Class held here at Webb. "Daily Care of the New Baby" was the subject of this day's lectures. No complaint was expressed by the subject of the bathing demonstration, insomuch as "he" was only a life-sized doll—a stand-in for one of the babies which zealous statisticians have figured are born each seven minutes to Air Force personnel around the world.

Local Artists Attend Abilene Show; Meeting

Meeting in Abilene Saturday, three representatives from Big Spring attended a district business meeting and art show.

Highlighting the session was the planning of the circuit art show which will be presented in five towns, Abilene, Sweetwater, San Angelo Brownwood and Big Spring.

Big Spring is the last town scheduled for the showing. The show will be here about the last of November or the first of December.

Three paintings by local artists will be shown throughout the circuit. The paintings were judged Saturday in Abilene. Winners are Mrs. Jess Blair, pastel titled "Autumn Symphony," Mrs. Richard Patterson, oil landscape, "Lake Thomas," and Dr. Normal Furlong, oil landscape, "Into the Light."

Mrs. D. W. Conway was elected the local director for the circuit showing here.

The following new officers for the circuit were elected, Dr. J. B. Smith, president, Abilene; Mrs. D. Wilson, vice president, Sweetwater and Mrs. Louella Lacy, secretary-treasurer, Abilene.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Balanced Menus Help Her Keep Weight Down

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — "I don't think there is any one thing which contributes to outward beauty as much as inward happiness," Jorja Curtright told me at tea the other afternoon. "I think courtship manners should not end with marriage."

Though Jorja Curtright plays the part of a "bad girl" in "The Revolt of Mamie Stover," in real life she works as hard on the success of her marriage as she does on her career.

"When I know my husband is coming home, if it is humanly possible I have my make-up on, a fresh blouse or hostess outfit, my hair neatly dressed and wear a sweet smelling cologne which he will be aware of when he kisses me. Occasionally, if something unexpected happens and I have not had time to dress, I always apologize to him in the same I would to a friend who came in unannounced and found me not well groomed."

Jorja is originally from Texas but you would never know it because she has worked to remove her southern accent.

"I have worked to remove my taste for southern cooking, too," she laughed. "I am so fond of delicious things such as fried chicken, hot bread dripping with butter, and sweet potatoes with nuts and marshmallows. My whole family loves to eat and has a tendency to be overweight. At one time I weighed 160 pounds. It took me a long time to get that fat but like so many foolish girls I wanted to lose it in a hurry. I went on every diet I heard of. But the one that made me lose the most was eating nothing but eggs and black coffee one day and prunes and black coffee the next. I lost thirty pounds but my system was so undermined I nearly ruined my health.

"Now I weigh every day and if I find I need to reduce, I do the sensible thing; eat balanced menus but cut my calories to 1,000 a day. When I diet I have a vision of what my figure will be like in shorts and it helps not to cheat.

"There is no doubt about it that the way you look has an impact on the way you feel. My whole personality changed when I no longer was a 'fat girl.' But any trouble you have making yourself look your very best pays off, in your social, business and married life," she concluded.

Diet Sensibly

Jorja Curtright recommends dieting the sensible way as she nearly ruined her health with get-thin-quick methods. She plays the part of a "bad girl" in "The Revolt of Mamie Stover," but in real life she works as hard on the success of her marriage as she does on her career. In today's Hollywood Beauty she tells of her methods of sustaining courtship manners.

Mother, Baby Classes Held At Webb Hospital

The first class in Mother and Baby Care to be conducted locally ended this week at Webb AFB Hospital. Conducted by two Air Force Nurses, 1st Lt. Alyce Peevy and 2nd Lt. Diane Seward, the 12-hour course is divided into six two-hour lectures: pregnancy; expectant mothers' nutritional needs; the birth; the new baby; daily care of the new baby, and the baby's first year.

Mrs. Robert Hayes, Red Cross Gray Lady, assists in the course. Upon completion of the training, expectant mothers will receive Red Cross certificates.

Prior to starting the course Lieutenants Peevy and Seward attended a one-week concentrated Red Cross nurse-teacher course in Mother and Baby Care given by the Denver chapter of the American Red Cross to become qualified instructors.

The instruction periods, which are held in Ward III of the base hospital during the afternoon, will be continued as long as there is a demand by expectant mothers to attend them and all interested should contact Maj. Margaret M. Fallon, head nurse of the hospital. Expectant fathers are also invited to sign up for the courses.

The series of classes will run continuously, and interested personnel may begin the course at any time — after contacting hospital officials. Classes are held from 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Formality Is Popular In Teen Set

Formal names are coming back quicker than you can say Rumplestilskin.

Diminutives are for the birds, say chic young moderns. And girls wearing boys names these days just aren't on the beam says a girl who has just assumed her christening name of Jacqueline, and dropped her nickname "Jackie" for good. She says:

"We had a variety of boys' names in our crowd until recently. There was a girl named Bill, another called Jeff and one named Charlie. But they've all bought new stationery. Now they're Wilhelmena, Mary, Kathleen.

Although the formal name is a trend even with boys these days, this particular group was brought back to collcetive femininity by a young man named Bill who was dating the Bill of the girl group. Lady Bill hadn't heard from just plain male Bill for a couple of weeks, and wondered what had happened when along came old debbil rumor: Bill was disgusted with the idea of dating a girl who had a boy's name, especially his. He said, the grapevine told:

"Imagine marrying a girl with your same first name. It would be confusing on the birth certificates of your children, to say nothing of the post office, bill collectors, and even new friends. I'm against the whole idea."

Other unusual names that are being shelved include: Coco, Candy, Honey and Sherry. These girls are likely to choose Hortense, Cynthia, Anastasia, Deborah or Pamela.

Names frequently reflect the era of their origin. The current one seems to reflect titles of historic novels, television characters and maybe even short story heroines that run in cycles.

Back in the Gay Nineties, the era of the stage door Johnny, girls were "Rose," "Daisy," "Blossom" and even "Peony." More scintillating showgirl types reflected the sugar daddy era with such names as Jewel, Opal, Pearl, Ruby, Sapphire. Then there were the romanticists who tied up with the tinpan alley era when April, May and June were likely to precede the names on a mailbox.

The most noticeable name switch to formality is Elizabeth. It used to be that an Elizabeth felt lucky because she could choose from a wide selection of nicknames one that fitted her personality when she grew up.

As a tiny tot she'd be Lillibeth perhaps. Witty, fun-to-be with types become Betty. Clinging vines were tabbed Betsy or Beth. 'Liz was the gay, party type. Elizabeth was only used for the Sunday-go-meeting prim types.

But not so any more. Credit the Queen of England, Elizabeth Taylor or the girl down the road. But today the trend is to wear Elizabeth if that's your name, and it's a popular one.

Boys names — Peter, William, George, Charles, Joseph, Edward, Mark, Luke and Francis — are to be heard on any sand lot these days. One parent says he named his boy Mark because "it'll be difficult to find a diminutive for it," besides the fact he likes the name.

Luann Lawson Is Elected District Four FHA Reporter

Luann Lawson was elected reporter of the district at the District 4 meeting of the FHA held in Sweetwater Saturday.

Fifty girls from the Junior High School FHA Chapter attended Saturday.

The theme of the meeting was "Youth Shows the Way." Following the theme of the meet, an address by George Leonard, Sweetwater, was heard.

A book review on "God Is the Answer" was given by Mrs. Allen Baker.

Five Women Attend Teacher's Workshop

Five Big Spring women attended the District 4 Classroom Teacher's Association workshop held in Lubbock Saturday.

Mrs. Roger Hefley, president of the local group, addressed the meeting on the provisions of the proposed Fourth Amendment.

Others attending were Mrs. Eulalia Mitchell, Mrs. A. C. Kloven, Mrs. James Wilcox and Mrs. Kelly Lawrence.

Time To Get Summer Clothes Ready To Store

Belated arrival of real fall weather and the absence of cold may have lulled a lot of folk into the illusion that this sort of temperature will go on forever and ever.

And it may have caused a lot of folk to neglect to get their summer clothing cleaned, pressed and made ready for storing away for the winter.

Science has demonstrated that a garment properly cleaned and pressed will defy the attacks of decay. That's why wise housewives always have all seasonal garments properly dry cleaned when the time comes to store them.

Most wise housewives in Big Spring depend on Ideal Laundry and Dry Cleaners, and City Laundry and Dry Cleaners to put their summer duds in shape when winter nears.

These folk know that these fine firms use the celebrated Sanitone process which guarantees the best possible cleaning a garment can get.

The two establishments have prompt pick-up and delivery service. All the housekeeper has to do is pick up her phone, call AM 4-6801 or 4-6231. The trucks will soon be at her door and in record time her precious garments will be back again looking like new.

Their laundry service is best in town, too.

So why not combine that dry cleaning job with the batch of laundry you need done up? Call either of the numbers named and be provided with modern, efficient and scientific work.

Remember, it's the Ideal and the City for the best.

Modernistic Drive-In

When Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rainbolt discovered a demand for first-line drive-in dining service, they promptly established the Wagon Wheel Drive-In at East Fourth and Birdwell. Since that time approximately a year ago, the establishment has proved to be one of the most popular in Big Spring. The Rainbolts have long been known as operators of the Wagon Wheel Restaurant, one of the finest in the Southwest. Their new drive-in is earning the same kind of reputation for good food and courteous service.

Pharmacy Sells Insulin At Wholesale Prices As Aid To Diabetes Sufferers

Insulin, the life saving element so needed by those unfortunate enough to be victims of diabetes, is sold the year around at the Edwards Heights Pharmacy at wholesale prices.

Edwards Heights Pharmacy doesn't want to make a penny off the bad luck of diabetics. The stock is kept fresh and comes from the best producers in the pharmacy world.

In fact, the Edwards Heights Pharmacy at 1909 Gregg, is about all anyone could ask in the way of a modern drug store. Its prescription department is equal to any to be found anywhere. The pharmacists who compound the prescriptions are skillful, careful and intensely concerned in producing exactly what the doctor ordered for you.

The store itself is complete in its range of stock. You will find anything at Edwards Heights Pharmacy you can find in any drugstore anywhere and a lot of interesting items that are seldom seen in such stores.

You can always find a free parking place at Edwards Heights Pharmacy. It has a modern fountain service which is widely patronized by friends of the store.

As a capping feature, every time you buy anything at the Edwards Heights pharmacy you get those valuable S&H green stamps. These little stickers mean a savings to you since they are redeemable in valuable merchandise.

If you are not already a regular visitor at the Edwards Heights Pharmacy, drop in today and get acquainted. The store is open daily from 8 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.

Nalley-Pickle Urges Respect For Highway Danger Warnings

"Respect highway safety signs and observe all precautions for safety around the home."

So recommends Coy Nalley, who should know about such things.

Nalley is part owner of the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, located at 906 Gregg Street in Big Spring.

When you fail to heed the signs and suffer a mishap, chances are Nalley or some member of his staff are the first to know about it. Quite often, Nalley-Pickle ambulances are used to carry accident victims to hospitals for medical attention.

The Nalley-Pickle concern, the motto of which is "understanding service built upon years of service," maintains three ambulances and competent drivers to act in all emergencies which might occur within the area.

Drivers and attendants are kept on 24-hour alert to respond to calls in times when tragedy strikes.

Both Nalley and J. C. Pickle, the junior partner in the concern, are qualified and licensed to serve as funeral directors and embalmers. Both have long experience in their chosen profession.

They plan any type and size service and are prepared to handle all details relating to last rites and burial of a loved one at a time when stress and strain is greatest on a family.

Too, the establishment maintains a large, modern chapel, completely equipped. Such equipment includes a Hammond electric organ for special music.

Dial AM 4-6331 for Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home service.

Arab World Erupts In Anti-French Riots

PARIS (AP) — Anti-French demonstrations have spread across the Arab world in sympathy with Algerian rebels trying to wrest independence from French rule.

Arab mobs burned the French consulate in the Old City of Jerusalem, smashed windows of the French-owned buildings in the Syrian city of Aleppo.

In Aleppo, a town of 350,000 in Syria, a mob ran wild for three hours, setting fire to four French mission schools and the French information center. Police shot into the crowd, killing one rioter and wounding 29.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Henry Armstrong, the "Human windmill" who many ring experts claim is the greatest fighter, pound - for - pound, ever to come down the pike, said during his visit here last week that a St. Louis newspaper which blew across his feet while he was working for a railroad section gang influenced him into taking up boxing as a career.

Headlines in the news periodical, open at the sports pages, leaped up at him. They said:

"Kid Chocolate Makes $75,000 In One Fight."

That ended his career with the railroad then and there. He immediately started training to become a fighter.

Early in life, Henry planned to study medicine. He was an A student in school. However, the depression came along and forced him to quit school and seek employment. It was boxing's gain, in the long run. He became one of the really great champions of all time.

Bob Milburn, the San Angelo scribe, is helping to build a case for the Big Spring Steers against his city's football Bobcats.

In a recent article, Milburn stated "the Steers shouldn't extend the (Bobcats) too much."

Could be, but the Steers intend to show up for their game Nov. 16, just the same.

Some of the scouts who have seen San Angelo in action are of the opinion the Cats are over-rated, that they've played a schedule full of patsies. They think more highly of Midland within District 2-AAAA.

I don't think the Tabbies have Chuck Moser, the Abilene mentor, worried much, either, although Moser is sending up the usual smoke screen. An Abilene observer who prefers not to be mentioned by name had this to say of San Angelo, in substance, recently:

"We beat out San Angelo last year (the score was 35-6), even when they had Marvin Lasater, who was a great back. Well, Lasater is gone now."

Bill Everett, coach of the Colorado City Junior High School football team which met the Big Spring Yearlings here last Saturday night, is the uncle of Donnie Everett, the Big Spring quarterback.

Bill and Buell Everett, Donnie's pop, are brothers.

Dean Lee, the Seventh Graders' fine running back here, would like to be known by his real name and not as "Dennis."

"Dennis" is the nickname hung on him by his coaches and some of his teammates.

They say attendance is sadly off at home games of the Breckenridge Buckaroos, who are experiencing one of their worst seasons.

The local coaches, Harold Bentley and Roy Laird, are of Jim Tatum's school of thought.

It was Jim who said that one victory can do more to restore morale than four defeats in a row can do to destroy it.

The local mentors found out a team and a community can rebound quickly with one triumph like the resident Steers scored recently over Sweetwater.

Lions Only Unbeaten Team In Pro League

By JIM KENSIL
The Associated Press

The Detroit Lions, never a real pro grid power until the 1950's, were the National Football League's only unbeaten team today, despite classy performances yesterday from the NFL's "old guard."

While the Lions continued to rule the Western Conference with a 16-7 triumph over the Los Angeles Rams, three teams that took turns ruling the loop more than a decade ago crashed through with major victories.

Washington's injury-riddled Redskins knocked off the previously undefeated Cardinals, 17-14 at Chicago; the New York Giants took advantage of the Cards' loss and jumped into a first-place Eastern Division tie with the Chicago eleven by thumping the Philadelphia Eagles, 20-3, and the Chicago Bears stayed right behind the Lions in the West with a 38-21 decision over San Francisco.

In battles of lesser import, the Baltimore Colts tied the Green Bay Packers for third spot in the West by whipping the Packers 28-21, and Pittsburgh's Steelers rebounded from a mid-week tongue-lashing by their coach, rallying for a 24-16 win over Cleveland's once-awesome Browns, now 1-4 and in last place in the East.

The dazzling Texan, Bobby Layne, was practically the whole show for the Lions. He kicked two field goals for a 6-0 halftime lead, and engineered a 57-yard TD drive in the third quarter which he iced with a conversion. Jim Martin contributed the other three Lions points with a 43-yard field goal.

The Cards blew a 14-0 first-quarter lead built on drives of 73 and 65 yards. Washington's Sam Baker kicked a 22-yard field goal in the second quarter, and the Skins capitalized on a roughing the passer penalty and a fumble in the second half to set up two payoff passes by quarterback Al Dorow.

The Giants threw up a solid defense to hold the Eagles to a 15-yard, first-period field goal by Bobby Walston. With that out of the way, the Giants struck for touchdowns by Alex Webster and Frank Gifford and two three-pointers by Ben Agajanian.

Coach Walt Kiesling called his Steelers "lackadaisical" the other day, and that they may have been for one period as the Browns grabbed a 13-0 lead. But then Steeler quarterback Ted Marchibroda took over and a 21-point second quarter made the difference.

Newcomer Lenny Moore went 72 and 79 yards for scores as the Colts edged the Packers. Tobin Rote tossed for two Green Bay tallies and carred for the other. John Unitas, subbing for injured quarterback George Shaw, passed for the other Baltimore six-pointers.

Stars In Upset Of Michigan

Minnesota Quarterback Bobby Cox (12) leaves the field at Ann Arbor, Mich., after sparking teammates to a 20-7 win over Michigan with Halfback Bob Schultz who scored the first Minnesota touchdown in the third period. Cox scored the other two touchdowns for Minnesota. (AP Wirephoto).

PLAY IN TEXAS

Hogs Are Menace To Ags This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
By The Associated Press

Arkansas' bounce-back Razorbacks are the menace this week for Texas A& Min its surge toward the Southwest Conference football championship.

The Aggies, unbeaten but tied in season play and undefeated in two conference games, get the Porkers at College Station Saturday. Coach Paul Bryant sees them as the toughest hurdle yet and the Aggies already have beaten the two teams expected to be the strongest—TCU and Baylor.

Arkansas walloped Mississippi 14-0 last week. Mississippi beat University of Houston 14-0 and Houston played A&M to a 14-14 tie.

Arkansas was walloped 41-6 by TCU.

A&M became a heavy favorite for the conference title Saturday when it edged Baylor 19-13.

The other team tied with A&M for the lead—SMU—didn't play last week but Saturday goes to Austin for a whack at faltering Texas. The Methodists will be strong choices to hang the sixth defeat of the season on the Longhorns, who were soundly whipped last week by Rice, 28-7.

In a third conference game Saturday Baylor and TCU clash at Fort Worth to see which loses its chances at the title. The winner will stay in the race although its hopes would appear remote.

The league broke even last week in intersectional warfare. Arkansas' victory over Mississippi made it 13 decisions for the season against seven losses. TCU added to the debit side by taking a 14-0 thumping from Miami.

Only three intersectional games remain on the schedule and one of those comes Saturday when Rice meets Utah at Houston. The others are Baylor vs. Nebraska Nov. 17 and Arkansas vs. Louisiana State Nov. 24.

Rice would appear a heavy favorite to beat Utah, a team that has lost three out of six games this campaign.

The apparent fadeout of TCU is the big surprise of the campaign. Here was a team favored by virtually everyone to win its second championship in a row and play again in the Cotton Bowl. But the Aggies think Baylor is a better team than TCU and the Bears might end the Christians' bid for a repeat title this week.

In talking about the Cotton Bowl, it brings up A&M again. The Aggies can't play in the Jan. 1 classic even if they win the conference championship—unless the NCAA lifts the probation. This will be determined Nov. 12-13 when the NCAA Council meets.

Stamford, Deer Meeting Ahead

By The Associated Press

Class AA of Texas schoolboy football rolls into its final three weeks before the playoffs with 10 undefeated, untied teams but with it still looking like Stamford and Deer Park in the finals.

Comanche, which had been eyed as a possible playoff team, was beaten by Hamilton 31-19 in Dist. 8 last week. It left Hamilton undefeated and untied and a shoo-in for the district championship.

Stamford ran its victory string to 25 with a 60-12 triumph over Nocona. Deer Park made it 37 games without defeat by demolishing Santa Fe 70-0.

Other undefeated, untied teams are Lockney, Grapevine, Lewisville, Bonham, DeKalb, Sweeny and West Columbia. Gilmer, Hebbronville and San Antonio Sam Houston are unbeaten but tied.

There are two feature games this week with Grapevine clashing with Lewisville in Dist. 10 and Sweeny meeting West Columbia in Dist. 26.

As the 29 districts move into the payoff tests there are only five undisputed leaders—Lockney in Dist. 2, Burkburnett in 9, Crockett in 18, Floresville in 27 and Hebbronville in 31.

Leaderships will be determined in two districts this week with Mineola and Terrrrell meeting for Mineola and Terrell meeting for that honor in 12 and Hillsboro jousting Marlin for the lead in Dist. 17.

The heaviest winners are Stamford and Hamilton, each having taken eight straight this season.

Only 35 Elevens Still Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

Led by the sudden and surprise demise of Michigan State, which lost to Illinois Saturday, the list of the nation's unbeaten, united college football teams fell to 35 today.

Most of the major unbeaten group have won five games, but some of the smaller colleges have already compiled six and seven game all-winning records. Major colleges with perfect records include second-ranked Oklahoma, Tennessee, Princeton, Georgia Tech and Iowa.

Homer Hobbs, Furman football coach, formerly coached the Navy line. He also played with the San Francisco 49ers under Ed Erdelatz, current Navy coach.

Aggies Just Like To Play, Coach Paul Bryant Says

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Paul (Bear) Bryant, who was given six years to rebuild Texas A&M's football fortunes but is doing it in three, said today his team would "have to play 110 per cent to win."

And the man who came here from Kentucky in 1954, charged with the responsibility of making A&M a gridiron power once more, indicated he thought his players might do just that.

They like to play. They are so eager he runs into situations like Saturday night when his Aggies were playing Baylor in the Southwest Conference's big game. Jack Pardee, the mighty Aggie fullback, was being held out because of a badly bruised shoulder. But Pardee kept pestering Bryant to get into the game.

"I had to let him go in so I could see the game," Bryant explained.

Pardee immediately led a drive that wound up with a touchdown, scored by Pardee. A&M won the game 19-13 and became a heavy favorite to sweep on to the conference championship with an unbeaten record.

It was the second week in a row for the fighting Aggies to surge from behind for victory. "The secret of my boys' success is guts and determination," he said.

But Bryant professes to fear every team left on the schedule, particularly Arkansas, which comes here Saturday night. Elmer Smith, the Aggie scout, told Bryant "Arkansas beat Mississippi like they owned them." the A&M coached winced.

"You know," he drawled, "Houston 'beat' us (A&M had to come from behind to gain a tie with University of Houston) and Mississippi beat Houston by two touchdowns: Now, here's Arkansas giving Mississippi a licking. Man, oh Man! I just hope we can win another one."

"Everybody wants to beat us and they're playing 105 to 108 per cent against us," he said. "Look at Baylor and how they played. So we have to play 110 per cent if we are to beat anybody."

Hope Is Casualty In Benefit Match

DALLAS (AP)—Bob Hope was the only casualty as he appeared with Gov. Shivers and other noted golfers yesterday in an exhibition to raise funds for the Cerebral Palsy Foundation.

Dizzy Dean hit an iron shot that struck the comedian on the leg while he posed with a pretty blonde for the benefit of the television cameras.

"Dean wanted to get me," Hope said, adding that his leg would "be stiff for awhile" and he wouldn't be able to play any golf "for at least three or four hours."

A crowd of 6,500 fans pressed in too close for good golf, and Hope said he thought it a miracle that no spectators were hurt.

Others playing were golf great Cary Middlecoff, former All-America football player Doak Walker and baseball star Mickey Mantle.

"Mantle nearly killed three people with his tee shot," Hope said, "and I shanked one there on the 17th and nearly hit a couple."

Bob Lemon of the Cleveland Indians is the fourth American League pitcher in history to win 20 games during seven different seasons. The others are Walter Johnson, Eddie Plank and Lefty Grove.

Tourney Plans Are Set Back By An Injury

By The Associated Press

Plans for a light-heavyweight elimination tournament to provide a successor for Archie Moore—if and when—have been set back by an injury to Willie Hoepner, German import. Hoepner was to have fought Chuck Spieser of Detroit Wednesday in a 12-round bout at Chicago.

The International Boxing Club had to scramble its schedule to fill the date, moving up the Joe Miceli-Carlo Sarlo match from Nov. 7. Hoepner's U.S. debut will be rescheduled when his injury has mended.

As a result of this change of schedule, the first light-heavy elimination scrap now will be Tony Anthony-Gordon Wallace at Madison Square Garden, Dec. 7.

The Miceli-Sarlo fight will be beamed on network TV (ABC).

Charlie Norkus and Joe Rowan, a pair of heavyweights with records to show they either knock out their man or get knocked out, top the Monday card at St. Nicholas Arena in New York (Dumont-TV).

Norkus, 28, has been in with the best during his 40-bout career. His record is 26-14 with 16 knockouts. Rowan, 22, has a 28-9-1 record for 38 starts with 13 knockouts. Each has been stopped four times.

Ike Chestnut, a ranking featherweight contender, takes on Gil Cadilli, at Houston in a big Tuesday show . . . Billy (Sweetpea) Peacock, and Rudy Garcia, two Los Angeles bantams, clash in another Tuesday bout at Los Angeles . . . On the same night, Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J. will attempt to strengthen his welter claims against Jimmy Ford at Miami Beach.

Steers Hold One Win Over OHS

The Big Spring Steers will be seeking their first victory since 1939 and their second in history over Odessa when they play the Bronchos in Odessa Friday night.

The 1939 Longhorns subdued the Hosses, 7-0. The following year, when Big Spring won a district championship, the two teams tied, 0-0.

The two clubs have met 11 times in football and Odessa has won on nine occasions.

The last time the teams tangled was in 1950, at which time Odessa won, 64-0.

Perhaps the best game of the entire series occurred in 1946 when Odessa, bound for the state championship, was held to a 12-0 victory by the Steers.

It was the closest game any school played Odessa until the Bronchos reached the state finals against Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio.

Olympic Outlook In Hungary Dark

LONDON (AP) — The Olympic status of Hungary, which has produced some of the greatest distance runners the world has known, was still clouded—officially—today.

Although Radio Budapest announced the team was being withdrawn, Hungarians at the Olympic Village in Melbourne said they had received word that the athletes would compete but would get to Australia a week later than scheduled, arriving about Nov. 10.

That would give the Hungarians less two weeks to acclimate themselves for the games, beginning Nov. 22.

Officials at the village said the word had come via cable from the Hungarian Olympic Committee in Budapest. Efforts to reach officials in revolution-torn Budapest have been unavailing.

The Budapest broadcast, monitored here, said the entire team had been withdrawn because "their training had been interrupted" by the revolution.

New Faces Will Appear In Bowl Games Jan. 1

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Whatever happens during the remainder of the college football season, there are bound to be some unfamiliar faces in the major bowl games on Jan. 1.

Old faithful Georgia Tech should win the Southeastern Conference title and thus play host in the Sugar Bowl. But beyond the Ramblin' Wrecks, the potential bowl teams will cause many a coach to raise an eyebrow and ask:

"Who're they?"

The fight for the home club in the Rose Bowl, for example, has developed into a scrap between Oregon State and Stanford, a couple of teams that have spent most of their time in the dungeons of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Southern California, UCLA and Washington are all ineligible for assorted subsidization infractions, so the Nov. 10 game between Oregon State and Stanford at Palo Alto probably will be the big game of the conference season.

Actually, both Stanford and Oregon State added considerably to their stature last Saturday. The Indians turned back Southern Cal 27-19 while State defeated UCLA 21-7.

The situation is much the same in the Big Ten, which produces the visiting team. Michigan State is ineligible, having played in the last game there. Ohio State, the logical choice, is being punished for making life too easy for its players, and is ineligible.

That left Michigan the favorite. But the Wolverines were horribly embarrassed by Minnesota Saturday 20-7. And upstart Iowa whipped Purdue 21-20, leaving Minnesota and the Hawkeyes the only unbeaten teams in the league. They meet Nov. 10, and Minnesota will be favored.

Then there is the Cotton Bowl, which uses the winner of the Southwest Conference (after a league vote) as the host. The favorite for this one is Texas A&M, which got over its big hurdle, Baylor, by a 19-13 count Saturday.

The last time the Aggies won the crown was 15 years ago and they were rank outsiders in the race this year. Now they appear to have fairly clear sailing.

Remember how the Orange Bowl promoters rubbed their hands in glee when they signed the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast Conference? They figured they had a natural and in years to come, they'll probably have the top game more often than not.

This year, however, it looks like Colorado against Clemson, hardly a match to cause palpitations.

The Big Seven has a rule which prohibits a team from playing the game two years in a row. That eliminates Oklahoma, which appeared last New Year's. Colorado is the logical second-place team, especially after its 16-0 triumph over Nebraska.

Maryland and Duke, usually the best of the AAC, are just two more clubs these days, the Clemson seems to have scrambled to the top of the heap.

So the Sugar Bowl, this time, should get the gold star as the No. 1 attraction, especially if the sponsors can line up a top team to go against Georgia Tech — say, Penn State.

Up at the top of the heap, Oklahoma will go after its 36th straight victory this week. The opposition will be supplied by Colorado, which has hopes of doing nothing more than making a respectable showing. The Sooners won No. 35 Saturday, a whooping 40-0 victory over Notre Dame.

Michigan State, the current leader in the weekly Associated Press poll, will be out to make amends for its 20-13 defeat by Illinois — the shocker of the season so far — and Wisconsin is the target.

Georgia Tech, No. 3 behind Oklahoma, tackles Duke after walloping Tulane 40-0.

SAYS JIM KELLY

Off-Season Is No Handicap To Team

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Head coach Jim Kelly of the American Olympic track and field team reiterated today that the off-season games in Australia will not handicap this nation's title hopes.

The white-haired pilot from the University of Minnesota was even more pleased after another trial by the U. S. team two days ago in nearby Santa Ana.

In this tuneup meet the team merrily broke three world records, and while two of them probably will not stand up for recognition, due to technicalities, the fact remains that the United States team is in top condition.

While Kelly would not comment, there still is an open question in two events. One involves world record holder Bud Held, San Diego, in the javelin throw, and a possible opening in the pole vault.

In the javelin, Held, an alternate who failed to make the team in the Olympic final tryouts in June, might get in. In the pole vault, Bob Gutowski, Occidental College star, could possibly take the place of Bill Mattos, who has been hampered by injuries since the tryouts.

Gutowski two days ago tied Bob Richards at 15 feet 5 inches, which is far better than Mattos has ever done.

Parry O'Brein exceeded his own world record mark in the shotput with a throw of 62 feet 8¼ inches. But this remarkable effort was nullified when it was discovered that the landing area of the shot was 9 inches lower than the putting ring.

Harold Connolly let loose with a hammer throw of 224 feet 8¼ inches which bettered a brand new mark set a week ago by Russia's Mikhail Krivonosov at 220 feet 10¾ inches.

However, it was discovered that Connolly's hammer apparently weighted one-quarter ounce light. Further weighings were ordered to determine whether he had beaten the Russian's mark.

In the 100-meter dash Leamon King, an alternate on the team from California, bettered the world record in defeating in order Thane Baker, Ira Murchison and Bobby Morrow in the time of 10.1.

Charley Arnold Loses Lead In Southwest Passing Gains

DALLAS (AP) — Gerald Nesbitt, Arkansas' raging fullback, added to his lead in ball-carrying but Charlie Arnold, SMU's passing quarterback, lost his last week by being idle.

Nesbitt hammered out 41 yards against Mississippi to make his total 437 yards for 75 rushes and give him a 46-yard bulge over second place Ken Wineburg of TCU. Wineburg made only 24 yards against Miami.

Arnold still leads in yardage but he has fallen behind in completions, now having only 43 compared to 45 for Joe Clements of Texas. The SMU star has passed for 464 yards compared to 495 for Clements.

Arnold easily held onto his lead in total offense. He has 648 yards in 132 plays compared to 618 in 127 by Clements.

Del Shofner of Baylor still tops the punters with a 43.0 yard average on 19 kicks.

Don Watson of Texas A&RM leads the punt returners with a 10.4 average on seven runs. Jack Hobbs of Texas tops the kickoff returners with 24.0 on five.

Walt Fondren of Texas leads the pass-receivers with 15 catches for 226 yards.

TCU still leads in total offense with 366.6 yards per game and the Aggies lead in defense by giving up only 212.8.

Wayne Fields May Be Out For Year

Wayne Fields, Big Spring's leading ground gainer through the first seven games, has probably been lost to the team for the remainder of the season.

Fields cracked a bone in one wrist in Friday night's game with Abilene and the doctor indicated the member would probably have to remain in a cast for two months.

Crow Is Honored

WACO (AP)—The man who has coached football longest in the Southwest Conference—Jim Crow—found out what Baylor lettermen thought of him. Jim, who has been in the Baylor athletic department 37 years, was given a testimonial luncheon, a life-sized oil painting and a check for $1,000.

Homecoming Is Set At Knott Friday

KNOTT (SC) — Invitations have been mailed to 600 ex-students of Knott High School to attend Homecoming celebrations here Friday.

Supt. of Schools Bill Bolin said those who had not received invitations have, of course, an open invitation to be on hand.

The celebration gets under way at 3 p.m. Friday and will be climaxed by the Ackerly-Knott football game, which starts at 8 p.m.

The Homecoming Queen will be crowned at halftime during the game.

Sure They'll Win

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Uncle Sam's weight-lifting team, called by its coach "the strongest we've ever had," is confident of defeating Russia in the Olympic Games at Melbourne next month.

Red Cedar Control Boosts Grass Yield

Clayton Stewart, Forsan rancher, has discovered this year that control of redberry juniper (red cedar) results in much more grass on his pastures.

Less than five inches of rain have fallen on the ranch but in spite of the drought, grass has made a good seed crop.

Grasses which are found in the dead cactus are cane bluestem, side oats grama, fall witch grass, vine mesquite, hall's panicum and silver bluestem. Stewart believes that these grasses going to seed each year will supply grass seed to the rest of the area.

Stewart began control activities on the red cedar in 1952 and has done 200 acres a year since that time with the exception of this year.

A total 720 acres are now under control.

He would have continued his brush control program in 1956 but he was injured in a two-car collision in November 1955. Stewart, who is 86 years old, was in the hospital for a long time as a result of this accident in which he suffered a broken neck. He is still wearing a brace as a result of this injury and has been handicapped in his normal activities of managing his ranch.

Over 3,000 acres of his range was rested from grazing with all livestock removed. On the remainder of the property he runs only a few cattle. He has mixed breed stock which are result of a cross between Brahma and Charbray. He creep-feeds his calf crop each year and gets an additional 100 pounds of beef on each calf.

Recently Stewart purchased 300 lambs to graze on his rested pastures this winter. He believes that stocking the pastures lightly and resting some of the land each year is good insurance against drought.

Stewart built a special dozer blade which he fits onto his farm tractor. He has made use of this machine every year since the first year the crawler type tractor was put into service. Hired help handle the cutting of small mesquite and in grubbing out prickly pear.

Stewart is a real pioneer in the Forsan area and has been ranching in the community for 42 years. Prior to that time, he was a rancher in Colorado and New Mexico. He became a cooperator with the Martin - Howard Soil Conservation District in 1954. Technicians from the Soil Conservation Service office, Big Spring, have assisted him in his program of rehabilitation at the ranch.

Servicemen's Survivors To Receive Information Book

More than 605,000 widows, children and dependent parents of veterans who died as a result of service are soon to receive a special booklet explaining the new law covering such persons' rights under the recently enacted Survivor Benefit Act.

Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional office, Lubbock, said that the pamphlets are to be placed in the mail on or soon after Nov. 1.

With each pamphlet, the VA will also include an application form for these survivors to send to the VA, if they elect to accept the benefits under the new law.

Sisson urged all widows, guardians and dependent parents now receiving compensation to study the pamphlet carefully before they submit an application form. In many cases, he said, it may be more advantageous for them to receive present death benefits instead of the payments provided under the new law.

It was stressed that the new law does not change death pension benefits to widows and children of veterans whose deaths were not due to service.

The act, which became a law on August 1, revises the death compensation program by providing monthly payments to widows partially related to the military pay of their deceased husbands; slightly increases uniform payments for orphan children and provides a sliding scale of benefits to dependent parents, subject to certain annual income limitations.

Survivors of veterans who die before Jan. 1, 1957, as a result of service, are eligible for the present form of death compensation and are protected within their existing rights.

Sisson emphasized, however, that widows are requested not to write VA for the sole purpose of obtaining information about the new compensation rates. Notice of the exact amount which may be paid will be sent to them as soon as that information is received from the armed forces concerning the basic pay for the veteran.

U.N. Members Rally To West In Hun Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western U. N. delegates expressed satisfaction today over the solid support they received both inside and outside the Security Council for their effort to end the bloodshed in Hungary.

Messages poured in from governments all over the world backing up the West's demands that Russia halt her military intervention. Some Western diplomats felt that this public pressure, plus the reported demands of the Hungarian government, might produce results.

The council recessed its discussions temporarily after 5½ hours of debate in an extraordinary Sunday session. Private talks were in progress to determine what the next step would be.

In the council debate the Soviet Union failed to rally a single country to support her claim that the United States had started all the trouble in Hungary and that Soviet troops were only helping the Hungarian government restore order.

Hungarian Delegate Peter Kos in a letter to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold had contended the events in Hungary "and the measures taken in the course of these events" were a domestic matter outside the jurisdiction of the U. N. But at the council meeting Kos said he would say nothing until he received instructions from Budapest.

Western delegates considered this especially significant since news dispatches were quoted in the meeting indicating that Premier Imre Nagy's version of the rebellion did not jibe with that of Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev.

The council met at the request of the United States, Britain and France to consider "the situation created by the action of foreign military forces in Hungary in violently repressing the rights of the Hungarian people."

Sobolev tried to get the issue thrown out, but 9 of the 11 council members overrode his objections. Yugoslavia abstained on this and on a Soviet effort to postpone the debate. Yugoslavia also sat out the debate without taking sides.

The Western Big Three received the support of the six other council members for their demands that Russia stop interfering in Hungarian affairs. In an unprecedented move, messages of support came pouring in from many nonmembers of the council, including Turkey, Argentina, the Philippines, Thailand, Italy, Austria, Ireland and Spain.

Doctors Find Ike In Good Health

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower "gives every appearance of being in excellent health," in the opinion of eight doctors who gave him a new physical checkup.

Their findings were made public late yesterday by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty. The doctors declined to hold a news conference to discuss their report.

The examination, conducted over the weekend at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital, had been promised the voters by Eisenhower in advance of the Nov. 6 election.

He had said he would bow out of his race for re-election any time he felt he was not up to the presidency. The checkup focused mainly on the condition of his heart and digestive system, since he suffered a heart attack Sept. 24, 1955, and underwent abdominal surgery last June 9.

Eisenhower told reporters at Walter Reed yesterday he feels "fine, just fine." The eight doctors — four civilian and four military — took about 1,000 words to say pretty much the same thing, and many of the words tongue-tied Hagerty when he tried to pronounce them.

Of the abdominal surgery, the formal report said:

"The President has made an excellent recovery from the operation for acute intestinal obstruction due to an old 'burnt out' ileitis. His bowel function is now perfectly normal."

Of Eisenhower's heart condition, the report said:

"The heart sounds are normal and there are no murmurs. The neck pulse is normal. The lungs are clear . . . The electrocardiogram shows the same residual changes of a well-healed heart muscle scar which has been present since recovery from the attack last year. The rhythm is normal at the rate of 75.

"The X-ray . . . shows no change in the general configuration or size of the heart. On fluoroscopic examination, normal rate and rhythm of the heart are noted.

"The healed . . . scar on the anteriplateral wall of the left ventricle is again noted and appears as a small area in which the amplitude of the pulsation is slightly diminished.

"There is no evidence of . . . bulging of the scar. The aortic pulsations are normal and there is normal xcursion of the diaphragm on both sides."

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who participated in the examination, later told newsnen in Cincinnati that "we believe it is all right" for Eisenhower to undertake his campaign trips. Three one-day trips are on Eisenhower's schedule for this week.

The report was signed by Eisenhower's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, and the commandant of Walter Reed, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton. Hagerty said the six others who helped them concurred in the findings.

Eisenhower, 66, was found by the doctors to have gained four pounds since his May 12 examination. Listed at 168 then, he was weighed yesterday at 172.

His weight was 178 at Denver when he fell ill in 1955 with a blood clot in the heart. When stricken with ileitis last June he dropped from 168 to 158¾ and went up again to 163 at the time he left Walter Reed Hospital June 30.

The new report called Eisenhower's left eye "normal" again. It had become inflamed after confetti lodged in it during a motorcade through Portland, Ore.

The report also noted Eisenhower still is taking medication to decrease the blood's tendency to clot. These anticoagulants had been discontinued for a time during recuperation from his operation.

Of the aftermath to that surgery, the doctors said, "The abdominal wall is firm and sound, with good muscle tone throughout." And, of the diseased portion of Eisenhower's intestine — bypassed by the operation which rerouted hns lower digestive system — the report said the bowel pattern is normal and "there is no evidence of extension of old disease process."

Chill Air, Rain In Northwest

By The Associated Press

Chill air and rain were reported in the Northwest today while the rest of the country had generally warmer weather with partly cloudy skies and scattered rain.

A cold air mass hovered over the Northwest from the Dakotas, Colorado and Utah into most of California. Temperatures ranged from the 20s in the north to the lower 50s in southern California. Showers were expected in Washington, Oregon and northern California and scattered snow flurries were on tap for portions of the Rockies.

Lower temperature readings were forecast today from Minnesota to Iowa and Kansas and in the Far Southwest.
